ANSWERLINE

Q. What is the difference in the 'single-track' and 'multi-track' systems as they relate to school districts that are going to, or are considering year-round schooling?
A. In a single-track system, all students observe the same school calendar. In a multi-track system, groups of students are on staggered calendars.

Second drowning in county this summer

Snyder man drowns in Lake Champion

A 28-year-old Snyder man drowned late Sunday afternoon at Lake Champion, south of Colorado City.

Santos Ortiz, an employee of the Snyder Co-Op Gin, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Keith Ruddick.

The drowning is the second which has occurred in Mitchell County this summer.

The Mitchell County Sheriff's Office received a call at 5:20 p.m.,

Sunday evening, of a reported possible drowning at the lake.

Deputies including Mike Redwine and Mike Holloway responded to the lake-side residence of Roland Elrod, Ortiz' brother-in-law.

Authorities said that Ortiz was one of several family members who were working on a private boat ramp that involved a set of two-inch pipe tracks which would allow a boat to be loaded onto the trailer and winched from the water. Ortiz was reported to be working on the ramp when the cable which held the trailer broke and caused the trailer to slide down the ramp and possibly knock him into the water.

The victim was found about 55-minutes later by Game Warden Randy Bullard and Department of Public Safety trooper Kenny Wadsworth, who joined the rescue effort.

An autopsy was ordered by Justice of the Peace Keith Ruddick and the incident remains under investigation by the Mitchell County Sheriff's Office.

Services for Santos Ortiz were held Wednesday at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church of Snyder, with interment conducted at Hillside Memorial Gardens.

He was born July 8, 1964, in Rotan and had moved to Snyder in 1986.

Ortiz was the Recorder for the Knights of Columbus chapter in Snyder and was also Secretary of the Family Society.

Survivors include his wife, Kathleen Ortiz; his mother, Mrs. Manuel Ortiz of Rotan; three brothers, Manuel Ortiz and Lupe Ortiz, both of Rotan, and Martin Ortiz of Abilene; four sisters, Maria Mize of Colorado City, Jessie Guzman of Snyder, Juanita Munoz and Trina McGough, both of Rotan.

Rowe named chairman of museum board

Long-time museum supporters have accepted responsibility and become new officers on the board of directors at the Heart of West Texas Museum.

A. W. Rowe was elected to serve and guide the organization as chairman of the board.

"I am excited about the opportunity," Rowe said, "and will continue to work for the advancement of the local museum."

Others who were elected to serve as officers on this year's board include Flo McKenney, secretary; Marion Bassham, treasurer; and Liz Connell, director.

"Thanks for all you have done so far," the new officers were told by museum directors, "and for all we know you will do in the future."

The museum board noted the support and service which have been provided by two officers who stepped down from board officer

Commissioners work on '92-93 proposed budget

County commissioners are expected to continue meeting throughout this week to arrive at a proposed budget for the coming fiscal year.

Departmental requests which have been turned into County Auditor George Griffith are being examined by members of the court in a series of meetings which began Monday and are expected to continue through Friday.

County Tax Assessor/Collector Mike Burt has indicated that he expects to present the local entities with a certified tax roll and the effective tax rates on Friday, which will indicate the amount of money which will be raised by last year's tax rate.

The county is working through the budget process to provide a budget that will take effect on January 1 of next year.

Bees will not be welcome in Colorado City after Sept. 14

It will soon be a misdemeanor to keep bees in Colorado City, after councilmen approved a health related ordinance at Tuesday's meeting.

The law was passed by council members who noted the health hazards of bee stings and that the African 'killer' bees may make bees an even greater health hazard in the near future.

City councilmen approved the ordinance after several months of deliberations which included testimony from children who have been stung numerous times while in their yard.

"When we are shown pictures of people stung by bees and see pictures of the swelling caused by the stings," Mayor Jim Baum said, "we are faced with the conclusion that something must be done."

The new law makes it unlawful for beehives or other structures for the purpose of attracting and keeping bees for the production of honey or otherwise to be possessed in the city limits.

Local beekeeper Arlene Morris told councilmen that he had kept bees for over 30-years and that this was the first complaint he had heard of being reported during that time.

In discussing the 'killer bee' scare, Morris said that the African bees might migrate to this part of the state but that bees do not join existing hives.

Approval for the ordinance was on a split 4-2 vote with Mayor Baum, Mayor Pro-Tem Bob Reilly and Councilmen Sammy Contreras and Gary Redwine voting in favor of approval and Councilmen Brian Bassham and Rex Thackerson voting against.

The law will become effective on September 14, the 60th day after the approval.

Colorado River clean up proposal heard by council

Fina officials outlined a state-of-the-art plan to reduce the amount of oil at the Col-Tex site from seeping into the Colorado River -- that is expected to be operational within eight-months -- for city officials on Tuesday.

The plan was reported by Fina officials to cost over $566,000 to implement -- a cost which Fina officials noted they would pay in order to proceed and halt the oil seepage.

"You don't have to be a rocket scientist to know that the seepage going into the river is contaminated," said Fina senior staff environmental specialist Diane Perkins of Dallas.

Texas Water Commission (TWC) officials have approved the Fina devised abatement plan which includes installing a 6-inch PVC pipe along the bank of the Col-Tex refinery site, approximately 50-feet from the center of the Colorado River.

The 430-foot long pipe will be placed 21-feet below the surface on top of the sandstone substructure.

This recovery trench will have a sump pump attached to it, allowing the oil moving through the sand and gravel above the sandstone level to be recovered.

Fina officials said that this system will reduce the seepage migrating into the river by "knocking off the hydraulic head."

An on-site water treatment system will be installed to handle the water recovered from the recovery trench -- and councilmen have been asked for permission to send the water to the city's water treatment plant.

Oil materials which are recovered from the system will be transported to Fina's Big Spring

Lodging needed for exchange students

Students from different parts of the world will be visiting Colorado City and enable people of the community to learn about different cultures and societies of the world.

The community is asked to assist in housing a busload of foreign exchange students that will be visiting Colorado City later this month.

The students will be coming to spend Friday night, July 24, in Colorado City under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club.

The Rotary Club is asking for the support and participation of the community and those who would be able to house students for the one night should contact Rotary Club members or project chairman Robert Lewis Ramage.

Approximately 50 students from various foreign countries will compose the group that will make a tour stop in Colorado City.

The students are expected to arrive between 5 and 7 p.m. on Friday, July 24, and those able to house students for the night are asked to provide supper on Friday night and a Saturday morning breakfast.

Providing lodging for the students is the main requirement, also many of the students will have a need to wash clothes and would like use of a washing machine while they are in town.

Robert Ramage has a list of the students names that tells where they are from so that those willing to lodge part of the group can know something about the students.

Sign up early for the number of students that you can lodge for the evening.

Ranching is... ...as told by Toni Everett

Part of the 'Ranch Tour' recently sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce included a visit to the '96' Ranch owned by Bill and Toni Everett, where those attending heard a touching presentation by Toni concerning the hardships and rewards provided by the ranching lifestyle.

The following story 'Ranching Is ...,' is reprinted with permission of author Toni Everett.

Ranching is.... Breaking ice on frozen stock tanks.

Calving heifers in snowstorms and bringing new calves in the house to warm up.

Calling Alfred Vardeman, DVM, at 3 a.m. in a blizzard to perform a C-Section on a first calf heifer whose calf is delivered unable to breathe; watching in amazement as Alfred continues post op repair work on the cow, while husband Bill and Lynn Bradbury work with combined efforts to sustain the life of the newborn calf, performing make shift chest compressions and rescue breathing. The cow and calf both lived. What a code team!

Ranching is.... Artificially inseminating your cows when the north wind is blowing Forty M.P.H. with a temperature of -2 degrees because this is the day they all come in heat because you synchronized their heat cycles 11 days ago when it was 70 degrees.

Ranching is.... Having an excuse to get out on icy roads when winter weather advisories are prohibitive. Hungry cows must have hay.

Ranching is.... Putting up water gaps in 40 degree water.

Repairing washed out water gaps because it rained in Scurry County, the river came up and destroyed your gaps, but you didn't get any rain.

That good smell that cows have; that "milkin' smell", as they nurse their babies.

Ranching is.... Wondering why Kay McCarley always gets more rain than you do.

Shutting everything down to watch the weather at 6:15 and 10:15.

Well water with mineral deposits.

Not owning a car, and the one car you did own a couple of years ago was a '59 Olds and you drove it because you were broke, and not because it was a classic.

Ranching is.... Having two pickup trucks that always look like someone lives in them, and often smell like someone died in them.

Squeezing 200,000 miles out of a pickup truck.

Deciding whether to take the kids to Six Flags, like you've been promising for the past two summers, or to buy new tires for the ranch truck.

Ranching is.... Seeing buzzards circling as you come in the front gate and wondering if your best cow is dead.

Thinking how you are going to explain to your banker that some of the cows have got out, and you have ridden over half of the county looking for them, and it is the strangest thing - the ones you found are yours - hope he has as much luck finding his.

Ranching is.... The smell of freshly stacked hay.

The smell of cedar on a cool morning.

A good veterinarian.

An understanding banker.

Bluffing order buyers.

Bottle feeding orphaned calves.

Listening to a set of newly weaned calves bawl all night in the pens outside your bedroom window.

The bonds of friendship that develop while working calves with neighbors.

Wishing you has just one good oil well.

Making sure you have plenty of milk, bread, and diapers before you leave town.

Ranching is.... Being able to cope with drought, death, disease, market fluctuations, and still persevere.

Ranching is.... Leaving the land to the next generation in better shape than when you received it.

Ranching is.... Teaching your children the value of a dollar.

Ranching is.... Realizing that your way of life is a gift from God and that he has only loaned you a small portion of his earth.

Ranching is....

Misunderstood by most environmentalists and people in cities.

Believing in yourself

Maintaining the delicate balance between the rules of nature and financial obligations.

Believing that wealth is not measured in money.

Texas Lottery off to fast start

FROM

TEXAS COMPTROLLER OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Thanks to millions of fun-loving Texans, the new Texas Lottery is off to a fantastic start. In its first record-destrorying month of fun and excitement, the Lottery sold an average of 6,620 tickets per minute, that's 110 per second.

After we broke all-time lottery sales records for the first day and the first week, we expected things to calm down some. But daily sales volumes have averaged better than $9.5 million, and sales actually accelerated toward the end of the month.

And all of that happened seven weeks ahead of time. Remember, the Lottery wasn't even supposed to start until the middle of July.

The Lottery's $286 million in sales from May 29 through June 28 amounts to nearly 25 percent of what we had originally projected for the entire two-year budget cycle. In its first month of operation, the Lottery paid about $114 million in prizes on sales volumes that could earn as much as another $114 million for the State Treasury.

If those sales volumes hold, our office will be able to certify that Lottery proceeds to the state will exceed the $461 million projected for the current budget cycle. State law requires that we apply the first available extra funds to a pay raise for state employees. After that, any excess would go into the state's General Revenue Fund for distribution as the members of the Texas Legislature see fit.

refinery where the product will be recycled.

The abatement plan was one of four items which the TWC asked Fina to provide. The other three include fencing, booms located or the river and netting over pits -- all of which has been maintained by Fina.

"Fina is doing this to proceed in a judicious manner," said Fina's Big Spring refinery manager Jeff Morris, "and because it needs to be done."

Fina officials said that it is their intent to address the problem, but noted that Fina does not own the property and that they are working with the TWC to be reimbursed by 'potentially responsible parties.'

The clean-up efforts to this point have amounted to over a million dollars, Jeff Morris said, who indicated that the complete effort could take between 5-10 years and cost over five million.

TWC official Allan Seils of Austin said that two activities are being conducted with the commission which include securing the site and investigating the site to see if it will meet State Superfund guidelines.

The site investigation includes identifying potential responsible parties and studying a plan of remedies and could take several years to complete, said Seils.

City officials were asked to assist by allowing Fina to transfer treated water to the water treatment plant and in obtaining a permit from the Department of Transportation to lay a connecting line.

The council will study rate charges to Fina for the estimated water in the amount of 5600 gallons-per-day and set standards for the treatment of the water.

I understand that congratulations are in order for Larry DeBusk and KayNell Cornutt. They have just become "grandparents". Last fall because of the rain, Larry's office ceiling at the School Administration Office, developed a leak. It became necessary to move his computer (Irving) across the hall, and in with KayNell's computer (Clydine) in the Appraisal Office. Now several months later a "baby computer has been added in Larry's office. They chose to name it Irdine (after it's parents!). Larry says see what happens when our computers spend the night together!

It's always fun to "tell" on someone who did something above and beyond the call of duty. It seems that every year Connie Penland takes her vacation during the week of Vacation Bible School. No not to get out of town! She takes it then so she can help teach. Thanks for caring, Connie.

Some people have more energy than should be allowed for one person. Penny Edwards, after a hard workout at aerobics had enough life left to get out and mow her lawn! Doesn't she realize that makes the rest of us look bad?

The Kiwanis hosted their "Hotter than Heck" BBQ dinner and volleyball tournament this past weekend at the Ruddick Park. Friday evening everyone was invited to take advantage of the BBQ dinner that was deliciously prepared by members of the Kiwanis Club. Elmer Martin and Jack Strain made themselves helpful by serving all the hungry guests. A Volleyball tournament was also held in conjunction with the dinner, but continued through Saturday afternoon. Fourteen teams were involved, several being from out of town. The winners of the tournament were: 1st place - several young men from San Angelo, they received a new Volleyball for their efforts. 2nd place - Robbie Smith, Jason Lawson and a young man named Wes from out of town! 3rd place - Greg Stuckey, Leslie Jones and Bryan Cave of Snyder. Everyone winning received a "Hotter than Heck" T-shirt.

Misty Watkins, Nicole Neff and Christopher Spear showed a little of what they had learned during VBS which was held at the First Baptist Church recently. They did a fine job of reciting Bible verses.

Tim and I had an exciting adventure the other day. We were looking at new cars and had decided to take one for a test drive. The dealer then took it upon himself to explain where the blinker and other gadgets were located (like we wouldn't know!) He also thought it was necessary to drive the car for us. Tim climbed into the back seat, wondering if he would ever get to drive the car. Also in the back was a new salesman, the dealer was "breaking in". Maybe he was trying to show off the new guy or something but the dealer was going very fast on the service road, that is until he crashed into the truck in front of us!! As you can tell--we survived! Needless to say, we won't be buying THAT car!

COOK'S CORNER

Donna Johnson and her family are relatively new to Colorado City. They lived here for two years before moving to Dilley, Texas, where her husband, Curtis, worked for Atkins Supply. They lived in Dilley a short 14 months then came back "home" to Colorado City. Donna is a stay-home Mom. She keeps herself busy with their two children: Bryson 10 and Sydney 2. Curtis is employed by Atkins Supply of Ira where he works as store manager.

Donna enjoys cross stitch, decorating cakes and what Curtis says she does best - cooking and talking on the phone! She learned to cook from her dad at the age of 10 and by age 13 she was cooking most of the family meals.

Donna remembered a cooking goof from many years ago. Once she made gravy. When she picked up the spoon which was in the gravy, the bowl came with it! Maybe it was a little thick! Recently she made a new butterscotch pie recipe from scratch. Something went wrong, it tasted horrible and made the whole house stink! Donna is determined to try the recipe again to see if it was her or the recipe's fault.

Donna's helpful hints:

1. To encourage yeast to grow, add 1 teaspoon of sugar to the yeast and water.
2. To keep a cake from sticking, spray the pan with Baker's Joy and after it's done remove it from the pan immediately.
3. When shucking corn, use a toothbrush to remove the small slick pieces.

New Scout Center is dedicated

The Thomas Price Womack Scout Service Center opened recently in Odessa.

The new center is located in the recently restored Henderson Drug Building, a historical landmark at 2nd & Grant Street in Odessa, Texas. It will service some 17 West Texas counties.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies and dedication for the opening were held Thursday, July 9, 1992. The new center was named in honor of Price Womack, active in scouting and civic work, who was killed last year in a sky diving accident.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I asked to have a beautiful bush cut back at the corner of South 17th St. East side of Austin, as it made a blind corner for North Austin St. and West 17th St. traffic.

The bush has been cut back before what patrolman's car had a wreck at this corner for this reason.

I recently had a very unpleasant and unnecessary telephone call about this matter. I asked this for my safety as well as anyone who drives this route. Isn't any street in town anyone's choice to drive and shouldn't it be safe to drive?

The man that called wouldn't tell me who he was. I called the City Hall and reported it. Who talked out of school for my report to be made public. God forgive him. If he doesn't care to respect Senior Citizens, please have respect for your self.

I had a statement made to me a few days ago that there is so much hate in this town. Is my phone call the new starter for more hatred? I hope its the end. As the Home Health nurses have been watching me very closely for over two months and keep me in touch with my doctor. This telephone call was abuse to me, with the health problems that I'm having.

If God would give me my only wish, it would be to push a button. It would be to make everybody love one another, be happy and enjoy all the wonderful things that He has given us. Remember He has given us a beautiful world, which He meant for us to enjoy.

The greatest thing this world needs is a lot of His tender loving care. I'd love to see this happen soon.

Thank you,
Nellie Bunch

LORAINE PERSONALS

Good morning on this beautiful day. Sure hope all is well at your house. When we look about we find so many big problems compared to our smaller ones. We hope Bobbie Rankin will soon be well and strong again. Her sister-in-law called to tell me that Bobbie was doing fairly well but she is quite handicapped with both wrists broken. She also has a spot on her leg that has them worried, sure hope that doesn't amount to much. While you are saying your prayers included Roy and Bobbie. I know they will appreciate.

Also I told you that Mrs. Clara Martin broke her hip, but was told this week that she didn't break it. She was really banged and bruised up in her fall, but is better I think. The one big thing that happened to her was that she lost her independence to an extent. When she first got sick several months ago, she wasn't able to stay by herself so a daughter moved her to Sweetwater to live with her. Clara always had this dream that one day she would be able to come to her little home in Loraine and live by herself as she had done ever since Ross got killed in a car wreck. Well, she came home and stayed a few days and was real happy. Then she fell and realized she could not live alone. It is so sad when you know her independent nature.

May God bless you Clara and your family.

I have told you how much I enjoy our mini park along with a lot of other people. One of the ladies at the bank told me one day how much they enjoyed looking across the street at its beauty. She kinda hinted that I might like to make mention of it and I did, but I did not know at that time the Home Demonstration Club did take care of it. I write what I see most of the time, and the mayor's family are the one's I see down there. I have been told that they are working on the other lot south of the park. I hope that is correct this time. "Ladies, I did not plan to cut you out, I just never did know it when I wrote about it, therefore, I named the ones I saw working and of course I don't see everything. Sorry ladies for not giving you the credit due you, I am sorry about it and will not make that error again.

I had a nice telephone visit with Gertrude Sims the other day and I really did enjoy visiting with her. She was the one who told me Clara's hip was not broken. Thanks, Gertrude, you are a true friend.

There has been some meddling going on up and down our streets, some of it destruction and some of it theft. Someone took a sign board out of Iva Armstrong's yard. It belonged to her mother and she says if you will bring it back sometime when everyone is asleep, she will appreciate it and no questions asked. It has lots of fond memories for Iva, so why don't you quietly return it, and we will all be happy. Thanks.

TRIATHLETE CHAMPION: Wendy Sullivan of Colorado City, daughter of Nancy Sullivan, was part of a team that took second place in the Buffalo Spring Lake Triathlon, held in Lubbock on June 28. Wendy ran the 10K portion for the team that competed in running, biking and swimming as part of the South Midwest Regional Championship.

Little Brandon James Mitchell came to live with Randy and Teresa Mitchell on June 13, 1992, in Littlefield, Texas. He promised to be a good boy and Randy and Teresa promised to be good parents and everyone is happy including Grandmother Shirley Clifton, Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Olen Lee, all of Loraine and Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. York of Oklahoma. The mother in is the former Teresa Clifton, daughter of the late Jim Clifton, and Shirley Clifton.

Jennifer Clifton goes to school in Snyder two nights a week and works at Pizza Hut in Colorado City. She is a busy girl, but not too busy to enjoy her new nephew.

Mrs. Ruth Burnett has moved to Mitchell County. She is the mother-in-law of Jeff Wooddell. He brought her to the Cree Mee the other day for lunch. It was a pleasure to meet her, she seems so nice and friendly.

Also found out Jeff Wooddell passed out the other day and was taken to Mitchell County Hospital, where it was determined that he has a real high blood pressure. Jeff, your life will be different, the pills, the diet with many good things cut out. If you are at the black out stage, you had better walk the chalk. It can be controlled you know, so get with it.

Won't you join in a prayer each day for Shirley Clifton's brother who lives in a care home in San Antonio. He has been there fifteen years because he was shot through his brain and it caused lots of problems for him. And we think we have problems!

Everybody seems busy putting up peaches and other garden products fro a later day. Nearly everyone's peaches are a good big crop, in fact too big they are breaking down a lot of trees.

We are pulling up grass burs and also spraying them, but they don't just go away. I don't know why we have been punished with so many of them. Hope you don't have any or many anyway.

Raymond and Lorene McNeil are both sick. Lorene is in a San Angelo hospital or maybe out by now. They may also go to East Texas where some of Lorene's family lives.

Our church will host a Centennial Celebration Day on August 16th. You are invited to come and enjoy the day of music singing, former pastor's, and we will feed you lunch. Make plans to come.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

I wish more of us could have known John Loving Doss, buffalo hunter, adventurer and all around nice guy. Pretty shrewd businessman, too. If a movie had ever been made about his life, John Wayne would have been a likely candidate to portray the real life West Texas hero.

Doss once told about a time when he and his cousin, J. A. Doss and a couple of other men, left Ft. Griffin, in a wagon en route to hunt buffalo. At night they camped, and as luck would have it, their team of horses got away during the night.

"I got up next morning and told the boys, 'You boys get some breakfast and I'll walk back down the Coffee Flat and see if I can see the team.' The story was related to historian J. Evetts Haley in a 1935 interview.

"I followed their trail and kept walking. I got up three or four miles from the camp afoot and I saw a bunch of Indians coming.. twenty-eight or thirty (of them). I didn't have a gun or anything," Doss recalled.

The predicament called for quick thinking and that's exactly what John Doss did.

"I was a tenderfoot from Alabama...so I began to think, 'What in the devil am I going to do?' They began to yell and throw up their guns and charge around.

"I had always heard that they'd spare a brave man quicker than they would a coward, so I didn't run. I walked right up towards them, and the chief rushed up and threw his gun down on me and says, 'He heap brave. No scare.'

To which Doss replied, "The hell you think I'm not scared."

The Indian then said to Doss, "Brave, me Tonkawa. Me no harm you."

Later the two became good friends. In the meantime, the chief sent "some of his boys after my horses and brought them in to me," Doss added.

John Doss had left home in 1876 and at the age of 24 set out to conquer the world. Or, at least the west and all the herds of buffalo he could find.

In the 1870's and early '80's he roamed far and wide, spending much of his time in what would become Mitchell and Howard Counties. When the buffalo herds were gone, he returned to Weatherford, Texas, and went into the grocery business.

But, West Texas was in Doss' blood, so in 1882 he came back to the town of Colorado City. He opened a drug store (on Oak Street). Two years later, he sent for his brother Will L. Doss, and they operated a store known as Doss Brothers Drugs. It was here that they and their families would spend the rest of their lives.

John Doss was as successful in business as he had been in buffalo hunting. The Doss brothers business flourished as the town of Colorado City burgeoned to a population of 6000 in 1886.

By 1900, John had invested in a new bank and by 1906 he was president of the institution. (City National Bank). He served in that capacity until 1914.

In 1937 the Doss brothers were honored by the chamber of commerce for their more than 50 years in the drug business.

A banquet attended by some 90 friends and members of the Doss families heard speaker after speaker praise the two brothers for the "material contributions they made to this city and this section." The tribute took place at the Colorado Hotel.

Later that same year Will Doss died. His brother John lived another two years before passing away on January 21, 1939. He was 86 years old and had been in ill health only a short period of time.

Mrs. Henry Doss recalls the time she and her husband took "Uncle John" to Carlsbad, New Mexico, only two years before the pioneer Mitchell County resident died.

"He was in good health and we had such a good time," Mrs. Doss said. "He was the cutest thing. I'll remember that trip for as long as I live."

And Margaret Oyler remembers John Doss, too. "He was tall, husky and had snow-white hair. He was always polite," Mrs. Oyler recalled.

The Doss home was an old stone structure at 504 East 7th. (It still stands). The house is ruggedly handsome. Durable too. Come to think about it, that pretty well describes John Doss, also.

Preview ASU 1992 begins Sat., July 25

Angelo State University will hold its Preview ASU 1992 orientation sessions for entering freshmen students Saturday, July 25 through Saturday, Aug. 1.

The one-day orientation programs afford students and parents a look at all aspects of university life.

According to Nolen Mears, associate dean of student life at ASU and director of the orientation activities, one of the most important facets of Preview ASU is the preregistration procedure for the 1992 Fall Semester. Students meet with academic advisors in regard to selection of majors and course work and student counselors are available to assist with class scheduling. The preregistration process is completed, and participants will have copies of their fall semester schedules before they leave the campus.

Another feature of Preview ASU is diagnostic testing for students who may need developmental work in certain core curriculum areas.

Mears stressed that although many students attended the College Days programs at ASU last Spring, they are encouraged to attend preview to avoid class availability conflicts and confusion during the registration process in the Fall.

Openings for the program are still available for several weekday sessions, including Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, July 29-31, and Saturday, Aug. 1. Interested students should check with the Dean of Student Life Office, 942-2191, to confirm openings and register for the Preview activities.

Registration fee is $12 per student and $6 for each parent or guest. Both fees include lunch for the day.

In addition to reviewing facilities, courses and student activities, students will be able to tour the campus and meet with representatives of student organizations, academic advisors and the counseling staff.
