Viet Troops Break Up Huge Demonstration

Hundreds Riot in Binh Minh

SAIGON (UPI)—Seventeen hundred persons demonstrated in favor of the Communist Viet Cong Tuesday in Binh Minh Province 30 miles north of Saigon, it was disclosed today. Government troops broke it up by shooting and killing one agitator and arresting 10

In Saigon today, police broke up a news conference called by the Cao Dai religious sect to announce still another plan to make peace with the Viet Cong. It was the fourth attempt in less than a month in Saigon to organize a peace movement.

The Binh Minh demonstration occurred in the village of Phu My 25 miles northwest of the provincial capital of Qui Nhon. It was here a military spokesman said B57 jet bomber strikes had broken the back of a Viet Cong offensive.

Fire On Leaders

The official Viet Nam press news agency said the demonstrators from several villages in the area were marching in four columns on Phu My when government troops met them at the edge of town and opened fire on the leaders.

No major action was reported today on the military front but the commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet told newsmen American planes were poised to bomb the north on a once-a-day basis. The Communist capital of Hanoi was reported bracing for air raids.

Of more concern to authorities was the spread of peace movements in the south and the fear this could lead to a slackening of the military effort.

The Cao Dai is a 40-year-old religious sect which claims three million members but probably has one million. It has a history of armed rebellion against previous Vietnamese governments but at present it supplies many anti-Communist fighting men to the army.

Calls For Red Withdrawal

Its peace plan calls for withdrawal of all Communists from South Viet Nam, imposition of a U.S. military cordon to prevent infiltration until peace is restored and eventual withdrawal of American troops. Officials said the sponsor of the plan had been arrested.

Earlier peace plans got a chill reception from the government. One plan launched by Saigon professional men called for an immediate cease-fire. Three of its leaders have been condemned to exile in North Viet Nam as soon as the government decides how to send them there.

King Demands Apology For Attack on Marchers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said he would lead a march on the courthouse today and demand another official apology for an attack upon civil rights demonstrators by mounted officers.

The march, scheduled for this afternoon, also was to promote Negro voter registration. A similar protest march was to be staged simultaneusly at Selma, 40 miles away.

About 30 clergymen went to the Capitol for a prayer vigil Tuesday night but were not allowed on the steps. They vowed to spend the night on the sidewalk, where they were encircled by state troopers.

"They wouldn't let us on the steps, so I guess praying on the side-walk all night is equal to one prayer on the steps," said one minister.

However, the group reached agreement with police shortly before the vigil broke up about 3 a.m. CST after five hours and 45 minutes and was allowed on the bottom steps where they knelt and recited the Lord's Prayer.

Then they were escorted by police to a Catholic Church about six blocks away and dispersed.

During the long vigil on the sidewalk, the clergymen sang folk songs, religious hymns and the anthem of the movement, "We Shall Overcome."

Mounted deputies and state troopers, apparently because of a "mixup in signals," raced among 600 demonstrators Tuesday night, swinging ropes, clubs

Panhandle City Turned Into Ireland for A Day

SHAMROCK (Spl) — This little Panhandle city turned green with Eire today for the annual St. Patrick's Day parade and festivities which transforms it into Ireland for a day.

More than 40,000 Irishmen-it matters not if they be Irish by birth, descent or simply in spirit-were ready to march, jig and reel their way through the emerald green-bedecked heart of this city in a day-night wave of mirth and music.

The weatherman said the festivities should be accompanied by a wee bit of chill but then a bit of Irish mist wouldn't be inappropriate.

Some green from Ireland was flown to Amarillo and then transported here by car to get things started off right.

Battalions of marchers, from over the Panhandle and the state across the Red River kicked off an 11:30 a.m. parade. Prizes for the best band, best float, etc. were presented this afternoon.

Pampa was not without its representatives.

A bus load from this city took in the parade, which had a float from Pampa, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

A Pampa girl, 17-year-old- Linda Cox, vied for honors as 'Miss Irish Rose' as that contest got underway this afternoon.

Then there was the beard and fiddlers' contest, and the dance tonight which will wind up the festivities.

Elsewhere across the nation other Irishmen were celebrating.

The St. Patrick's Day parade is one of New York's favorite outdoor events. On this day everyone is an honorary Irishman and by nightfall the Blarney Stone will have been thoroughly polished by Eire's sons-for-a-day.

Few details of St. Patrick's life are known with certainty. He was born in Britain, but historians can't be sure whether his birthplace was in South Wales or Scotland, or whether his birth year was 373 or 389 A.D.

Few Reliable Facts

The only reliable facts about him come from two documents in his own hand: An autobiographical "Confession," and a letter to some soldiers who had captured a group of his converts.

From the autobiography, it is clear that he was kidnaped during his youth by Pict pirates, and that he grew up as a slave among the barbarians of Ireland. At length he escaped to France, where he became a monk. In 405 A.D.—or maybe it was 432—he returned to Ireland as a missionary, and spent the rest of his life preaching to the pagan tribes and winning many converts. He was made a bishop, and died in 461 A.D.

New Cold Wave Due To Cover Panhandle

Pampans braced for a new blast of cold air which was expected to move over the Panhandle this afternoon. The new cold wave was preceded by a wintry blast late yesterday that caused at least one tornado in East Texas.

Winds blew up to 60 miles an hour in Pampa last night. At least six television antennas were blown down by the storm and a plate glass window was reported blown out at Master Cleaners, 218 N. Cuyler.

In addition to the winds yesterday, the local weather scene was a mixture of rain, wind and dust.

The Amarillo Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for all parts of the Panhandle. The forecast predicted snow flurries and considerable drop in temperatures by late tonight.

With the advent of spring still three days away, the spring-like temperatures and turbulence were expected to be replaced with snow and the cold temperatures for at least the next three days.

A wind storm and what police called a tornado smashed through a 20-block section of Tyler shortly before midnight.

There were no injuries.

The twister struck while a wide swath of Northeast Texas was hit by heavy rains and high winds. Another tornado was reported 10 miles south of Aledo, between Fort Worth and Weatherford.

Hail hit parts of Fort Worth.

Much of North Central, Central Texas, the eastern Panhandle and the Red River Valley was under a twister and hail alert most of Tuesday.

Winds of up to 60 miles an hour blew dust across the South Plains. The Lubbock airport reported "the sky is full of dust."

In Tyler the storm started at about 11:40. Police dispatcher E. A. Latham said the station recorded .29 inch of rain in 10 minutes.

He said the twister skipped down on the eastern section of the city destroying a furniture auction barn and a welding shop. One home was unroofed. Numerous homes also sustained some damage, he said.

The tornado lifted, then struck along the old Longview road damaging heavily two

Prayer Vigils, Student Marches Continue in U.S.

By United Press International

Student demonstrators and prayer vigils continued today in support of Alabama Negroes. Scores of college students headed for Washington.

About 40 demonstrators, most of them college students, marched in front of the White House through the night.

The Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) planned a mass demonstration in Washington later today. It was believed the students would meet with their congressmen and then march or demonstrate in front of the White House.

About 100 students from the greater Boston area left for Washington on two buses Tuesday night. A spokesman said they would join students from other cities to protest Alabama racial violence and to demand that federal forces be sent to Alabama.

More than 100 students and faculty members from Wisconsin were also bound for the Washington demonstration. Six students from Ripon (Wis.) College, traveled on a $400 allocation from the student senate, but 400 fellow students protested the trip.

Other students in the Boston area today maintained a 48-hour vigil at the city's Federal Building. Demonstrators picketed the building in shifts and carried signs reading: "President Johnson: Federal troops are needed in Alabama."

About 400 persons marched at Lebanon, N.H., Tuesday in support of President Johnson's civil rights address to Congress and to protest racial violence in Alabama. They sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as they marched.

In the Chicago area, students and faculty members of a Catholic college for women and a co-educational Lutheran college joined forces for a silent march through two suburbs. The group of 500 persons recited the Lord's Prayer in front of the Oak Park Post Office.

Tower Criticizes Cut In Military Spending

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)— U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., today made a plea for increased spending on a military force "capable of almost immediately ending brushwars."

In a speech written for delivery before the Texas chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Tower criticized the Johnson administration for cutting $8 billion from the spending requests of the joint chiefs of staff.

"We see that money, or a goodly portion of it, channeled into welfare projects of questionable value," he said.

"We see no new manned bomber program in the works, or in the offing.

"We have no fleet in the Indian Ocean, which bids fair to become a tinderbox," he added.

The Texas junior senator suggested developing the F111 (TFX) into a manned bomber "while research and development work on still more advanced aircraft continues."

Tower said this country's current reliance on deterrent missiles cannot prevent guerrilla movements or "protect friendly governments in small, emerging countries from Communist infiltration, subversion and attack."

He said the United States is paralyzed with fear that strong action against Communist aggression will mean global war.

He also criticized plans to remove the Connally reservation in the statute allowing American participation in the international court of justice (the World Court).

He said the reservation written by U.S. Sen. Tom Connally of Texas kept the World Court out of disputes within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States, but that the Johnson administration through Secretary of State Dean Rusk has announced its intention to remove the restriction.

Tower said that this would mean that the court would decide alone upon the extent of its jurisdiction. He pointed out that Vice President Hubert Humphrey sponsored a Senate resolution in 1960 to remove the Connally reservation. It failed.

"The reservation remains part of American law. But they are back again," Tower said. "And I am afraid they will continue to come back again and again.

Britain Wants Geneva Talks

LONDON (UPI) — Britain today called on the Soviet Union to agree to reconvene the Geneva disarmament conference as soon as possible and negotiate a ban on the spread of nuclear weapons.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart conferred with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko this morning in an effort to win his approval for a speedy reopening of the conference, which has been in recess since last September.

Gromyko flew into London from Moscow Tuesday to begin four days of official talks with British leaders.

Stewart opened the talks by trying to win Russian backing for a cease-fire in Viet Nam as a first move toward a possible negotiated settlement of the crisis in Southeast Asia. He failed.

Gromyko politely but firmly brushed aside all suggestions that Britain and Russia, as cochairmen of the 1954 conference which "ended" the war in Indochina, should promote a cease-fire in the current hostilities.

Diplomatic sources said Gromyko in effect served up a double "nyet" by also refusing to offer any counter-proposals for negotiations in Southeast

Army Sergeant Held for Investigation in Spy Case

LONDON (UPI)—A British army sergeant arrested in Britain's second espionage case in two days made a brief appearance in court this morning and was ordered held for further investigation.

The sergeant, Peter S. Allen, 33, who had been attached to the British War Oiffice, was arrested Tuesday on charges he passed secrets "useful to an enemy."

Officials said Allen's case had "no connection at all" with that of a civilian engineer arrested on similar charges Monday.

Allen was hauled into court for one minute. He wore a dark green suit and gripped the court railing tightly with both hands.

In Police Custody

Asked if he was prepared to remain in police custody, the sergeant answered that he was. Then the judge orderd him held until next Wednsday pending further investigation.

The public gallery of the courtrom was packed despite a lack of official information on Allen's case.

The official charges said merely that he communicated to others "documents which are calculated to be or might be or are intended to be directly or indirectly useful to an enemy ... for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the state." The "enemy" country was not identified.

Engineer Arrested

Earlier Tuesday, officials announced the arrest of a civilian engineer employed in the electronics and guided weapons section of the Ministry of Aviation.

The engineer was identified as Frank C. Bossard, 52, who was ordered held until next Wednesday pending furthr investigation of his case.

He was charged with obtaining, collecting and recording official documents classified as secret.

Bossard, who is married to an Austrian, served with the British Embassy in Bonn, West Germany, before joining the guided weapon section in 1960.

OPEN HEART SURGERY SUCCESSFUL

Pampa Youngster 'Fine' After Operation

By RON CROSS

Nearly two and one-half years of sleepless nights, worrying and careful watching came to a peaceful end Tuesday for a young Pampa couple.

Their fears and anxieties ended when a team of Oklahoma City doctors successfully performed open heart surgery on the couple's two and a half year-old son Tuesday morning in Oklahoma City's Mercy Hospital.

Mark Lynn Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Fletcher, 709 Bradley Dr., can run and play now and won't have to be watched more than a normal two and a half year-old.

His mother, Louise, said Tuesday afternoon, doctors reported her son was doing 'quite well' and might be home before the usual two week waiting period.

"We're terribly happy," Mrs. Fletcher said. "It's just wonderful. I feel like a new person."

Pampa physician, Dr. Richard D. Falkenstein, discovered young Mark's ailment at age five weeks.

Dr. Falkenstein sent the Fletcher family to Amarillo to Dr. Loyde Hudson.

A trip to Oklahoma City was next and Dr. W. T. McCollum advised the couple it would be best to wait until Mark reached a certain age.

That time arrived Tuesday morning at 7:15. The youngster was taken out of surgery and to the recovery room at 11 a.m. Four doctors took part in the surgery and a team of 20 doctors and nurses were standing by in case of trouble.

Mark was operated on for a ventricular septal, a condition which does not allow the blood to flow into the heart properly.

Mark will lead a normal, healthy life now, and come July 18 he'll celebrate a happy third birthday.

Fast Work, Good Weather Saving $11 Million on Dam

PLAINVIEW (UPI) — Good weather and fast work are saving $11 million on the estimated cost of building a great earth- filled dam that will impound Lake Meredith on the Canadian River.

Work is ahead of schedule, aided vastly by lack of flooding since it started in March of 1962, and is expected to be finished in June, officials said today.

The estimated cost of $96 million has been revised downward to $85 million because of the rapid work.

Already the 199-foot high, almost two mile long dam is holding a two mile long lake 14 feet deep at the dam and is expected to normally catch 33 billion gallons annually for distribution through a 200-mile long aqueduct system to 11 Panhandle and Plains towns.

Named for Pioneer

The lake, constructed under the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, is named for the late A. A. Meredith, who was secretary of the authority for a number of years and who was among the pioneers of the project.

Phil Kensley, U. S. Bureau of Reclamation resident engineer on the project said the dam should be complete by June and work is slightly ahead of schedule. By 1967 the aqueduct system is to be complete and cities that will receive shares of the water should have their purification and distribution facilities ready for operation.

Sportsmen over the Plains region "where you can find good fishing 50 miles in any direction" are eagerly contemplating the angling and water skiing potentials of the lake that when filled to capacity will be around 20 miles long.

Gravity Flow to Lamesa

Water will be taken directly from the lake through 1,325 feet of concrete pipe 16 feet in diameter to a pumping station where it will be forced by Herculean pumps at three stations uphill 760 feet to the city of Canyon more than fifty miles south. From there it will flow by gravity south as far as Lamesa.

The three pumping stations now about 60 per cent complete are to be finished by the end of this year. Four surge tanks 192 feet tall and each with a capacity of 700,000 gallons of water are complete. Their purpose is to provide even flow.

The 110 miles of aqueduct from the lake to Plainview is under construction and is to be completed as far south as Canyon late this year. The approximately 40 miles from Plainview to Lubbock is about 10 per cent complete. The aqueduct will cost about $55 million.

It is possible to lay daily 1,000 feet of the 22-foot long aqueduct concrete sections weighing 44,000 pounds each.

Relieve Underground Use

The Canadian project is the first Bureau of Reclamation source of water for domestic use only. Engineers point out that indirectly Lake Meredith will aid Plains irrigation by relieving to some extent the steady drain on underground sources by municipalities.

The towns composing the authority are Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Plainview, Lubbock, Levelland, Brownfield, Slaton, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa. The towns will bear the cost of the project on the basis of their distance from the source of water, the debt to be retired by revenue from the water.

Water will come to the lake from the mountains of New Mexico, where the heaviest snows since 1954 have fallen this winter.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I would like to offer today a few words in defense of cavities.

Cavities, I admit, are not entirely defensivel, or even desirable, but at times they seem decidedly preferable to the alternatives offered in the value structures of at least two sets of television toothpaste commercials.

In one set of these major nation commercials, a young person who admits being inferior to his competitor in various respects gloats at the fact that at least he won a toothpaste test, which presumably is partial compensation for not being class valedictorian.

One must suspect that the creators of these commercials have duly taken note of the fact that, with good schools getting tougher and tougher to get into, the losers constitute a psychologically more accessible audience. Also that the winners are too smart for such blah.

I do not want to bother much with this first set of commercials except to suggest that if you are a young man or woman, and you are given the rare chance to choose between being a superior human being or winning a toothpaste test, be a superior human being.

A far more tempting set of commercials, but also a challenge to last-ditch defenders of such pleasurable sensations as taste and smell, is the group of advertisements that has pushed the idea of brushing after each meal.

It is true that these commercials, in keeping abreast of modern realism and corporate palship with the consumer, now suggest the smoother possibility of brushing whenever one can. But note that the modification here relates only to convenience, that the implication is that you really should brush after each meal if at all possible, and that being antiseptic is automatically and unquestioningly rated as a more natural state than, say, enjoying the after-taste of a good cigar.

Defenders of the pleasurable senses, arise! You have nothing to lose but a few dollars for for dental care if you don't let things get out of hand. It is a worthy cause in an automated, antiseptic age.

CLERGY TEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Leo H. Bartemeier, medical director of Baltimore's Seaton Psychiatric Institute, believes it might be a good idea for all clergymen to undergo psychoanalysis.

Bartemeier told the annual meeting of the Academy of Religion and Mental Health Tuesday he does not believe that mental illness is any more prevalent among the clergy than among other segments of the population.

But, he said, cerlgymen are increasingly engaged in pastoral counseling, and it is important for them to know themselves so they can avoid projecting their own neurotic problems into the lives of those who come to them for help.

PIANO DUO HERE TOMORROW

Concert Renewals Being Taken for Coming Season

The noted piano team of Ferrante and Teicher will close the current Community Concert Association season in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium tomorrow night.

Dudley Steele, concert association president, said today a table will be set up at tomorrow night's concert for renewal of memberships for the coming concert season.

Renewal memberships are being taken this week and present concert patrons will have first opportunity to get seats for next season.

Beginning next week, Steele said, memberships not sold on a renewal basis will be opened to the public.

Renewal memberships for the season are the same this year as last — $10 for adults and $5 for students. No tickets are available for single attractions and none is sold at the door.

The association already has contracted for two outstanding attractions for the 1965-66 season. Arthur Fielder will conduct a Pops Concert with the Buffalo Symphony. Also booked is the Norman Luboff Choir from California.

Three and possibly four concerts will be booked for the season, according to association officials.

The public sale of memberships will start next Monday when more than 100 workers go out from headquarters in the Southwestern Public Service Co., 315 N. Ballard. Memberships also may be purchased at the headquarters office.

A kickoff dinner honoring this year's drive workers is scheduled for next Tuesday night in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Tomorrow night's performance will begin at 8 p.m. with admission by membership only. Since concert attractions are not available by single admission, Mrs. Eben Warner, drive chairman, urged the public to obtain memberships for the coming season in order to take advantage of the outstanding productions which are brought to Pampa and the surrounding area by the concert association.

Absentee Balloting Opens for City Vote

Although today was the first day for absentee balloting in the April 6 municipal election, no absentee ballots had been cast up until noon.

City Secretary Stanley Chittenden said the absentee balloting period will run through April 2.

There are contests in four of the five offices to be filled in the city election.

Police Probing Separate Thefts

Pampa police were probing three separate incidents of theft today involving approximately $160 in stolen merchandise.

Bill Self, owner of the Self Car Wash, Foster and West, told police that a vacuum hose and wringer washer were stolen sometime between Sunday afternoon and Monday afternoon.

Self said the missing items were valued at $55.

Earl Davis, 410 N. Russell, reported to police that a bicycle valued at $90 was stolen from Sam Houston School between noon and 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

E. L. Boots, 1122 Mary Ellen, reported the theft of a $12 set of hubcaps from his auto yesterday. He told officers the theft occurred at his house between 6 and 8:30 p.m. yesterday.

farm houses and two barns.

Power was out for a large section of Tyler. Two hospitals were forced to depend on emergency sources for electricity for operating rooms until about 2 a.m.

All police and the reserve were called. Latham said they were hampered in their tasks by the number of power line flattened by the storms. He said all available electric company maintenance workers were rushing to restore power by shortly after dawn.

The wild weather was spawned by a cold front extending as far south as Laredo.

The Weather Bureau said another front—with much colder air—was to push into the state today.

The early morning weather report indicated showers in East Texas, Houston and along the coast to Victoria.

Snow was predicted for the Panhandle tonight with much colder temperatures. The rain was to continue in Southeast Texas and dusty on the upper South Plains.

Officials Discuss Plans for Pampa Highway Projects

State Highway Department officials told a Pampa delegation in Amarillo this forenoon that it will be up to the city to initiate its own highway improvement programs inside the city limits and that state cooperation would follow.

City Manager Jim White, City Engineer Harold Foreman, City Commissioner L. P. Fort, Resident Engineer G. K. Reading, and Wayland Merriman, consulting engineer, met with District Highway Engineer Chili Smith and his aides for a conference on highway improvements in the Pampa area.

The Pampa officials, according to reports from Amarillo, were told that contracts for completion of the Pampa-McLean highway paving project on a seven-mile strip through Lefors are expected to be let within the next month or so.

Discussion of the traffic on N. Hobart St. brought forth a proposal for progressive traffic lights on the street north from Alcock St. to the city limits.

The conferees also were discussing plans for improvements of Hwy. 60 and SH 152 on Alcock St. The meeting was still in progress late this forenoon.

Circuit Solicitor David Crosland, who ordered the horsemen into action, said "we are all sorry that the thing happened as it did." Crosland said he told the horsemen to disperse about 100 demonstrators who had broken from the main group and darted across a street blocked by police.

Prospects Bright for Good Crops This Year

"With wheat harvest time just a little over 90 days away, indications point to one of the best crops in years," Foster Whaley, Gray County agricultural agent, said today.

Whaley pointed out that wheat harvesting usually starts in the county about June 10th. He said that so far this year we have had excellent weather for wheat and with just a little additional moisure between now and harvest dates the crops could blossom into one of the best in recent years.

"The rains have been a tremendous value to the wheat," Whaley said, "and if we can make it a few more days, the wheat will be up enough so that it won't be affected by wind."

The moisture in Gray County the past week has totaled approximately .90 of an inch, which was followed by the type of weather which allowed the soil to soak up much of the moisture, Whaley said.

"Last year's crop also looked like it was going to be a big one," Whaley said, "but hope fell through when we received absolutely no moisture following the big snow storm."

Medical Care Draft Goes to House Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee today received the third draft of a bill proposing a broad medical care program for the elderly.

For the past week the committee has been revising benefits and cost estimates to try to arrive at a workable plan. No votes have been taken, but a majority has been reported ready to vote for a bill including President Johnson's compulsory hospital care program under Social Security.

In addition, the package was to contain a voluntary insurance program to cover doctor bills and other medical costs, and a general upgrading of present medical benefits paid under federal-state welfare programs.

Although there is agreement on the general objectives of the bill, the committee has run into some problems in connection with its implementation. Most members felt, however, that a bill would be approved by the end of the week.

Other congressional news:

Banks: Testimony continued before the Senate investigations subcommittee to determine what efforts were made to stop the failure of the San Francisco National Bank last January. The subcommittee is investigating a number of recent bank closings.

Education: House Republicans planned to go before the House Rules Committee to try to hold up President Johnson's $1.3 billion aid to education program until a bill of their own is considered. The Republican effort was expected to be fruitless.

Disability: The House Judiciary Committee met to consider a proposal of its own to provide a procedure for the transition of power in cases of presidential disability. If approved by the House, the measure would require further action by the Senate, which already has passed a proposed constitutional amendment on disability.

Voting: President Johnson was to send to Congress his bill to ensure voting rights for Negro citizens. Senate leaders were to meet with Justice Department officials to work out support.

Taxes: The joint House-Senate Economic Committee issued a report recommending excise taxes be reduced more than the $1.7 billion requested by President Johnson. The report suggested no specific figure, however.

Something for Everyone Makes Art Show a Success

BUFFALO (UPI)—Want your art show cup to runneth over? With everyone from torn teeshirt advocate to nob hill socialite?

Try this:

Offer a couple of nude dancers; a technicolor movie of a woman giving birth, a play that tells its audience they're square; a museum full of futuristic art that resembles something from a Schizo's imagination; and "Whistler's Mother."

The recently completed Buffalo Festival of the Arts today proved that it works.

It had to work simply because it offered something for everyone — nudists, mothers, masochists, bearded beats, and simple art lovers.

Once upon a time an arts festival meant palid paintings and actionless exhibitions. It resulted in limited audiences and limited reaction.

The sponsors of the Buffalo Festival of the Arts, however, came up with a wild, energetic and entertaining eight days that left the city excited, angry or generally confused.

Attendance records were set at the Albright-Knox Art Gallery, site of a kinetic and optic art exhibit — a mainstay of the festival.

Festival officials estimated that more than a quarter million saw the art shows, plays, lectures, dances, concerts and movies.

The festival, in the works for nearly 18 months, has left this city crying for more. The gallery may keep the kinetic art exhibit weeks longer than scheduled, after more than 225,000 stood in long lines and wet snow to look at something probably most could not fathom.

Dear Abby....

Sick of it All Wife Has Sicker Husband

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for five years and have two children. My husband does not permit me to charge anything. He counts out money to me, by the penny, for things I have to buy. I am usually short because I never know to the penny how much I will spend in the grocery store, for instance. My children wear hand-me-downs from the relatives, but if my husband wants something, nothing is too good.

He takes me to the local movie theatre three times a year. That is my entertainment. He never looks at the children. When he gets mad, he kicks anything in sight. He won't leave the house unless he has suntan lotion on his face, and sunglasses. (In the winter!) He goes out with single friends and leaves me home almost every night. Do you think he needs medical attention?

SICK OF IT ALL

DEAR SICK: Your husband is much sicker than you are. Yes, I think he needs medical attention desperately. Talk to your doctor about your husband's behavior, and follow his advice.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this sounds silly to you, but I know lots of girls with the same problem. My mother leaves the porch light on when I go out on a date, and I can't decide whether to let my date kiss me goodnight or not. I can't kiss him goodnight in the car because if I sit in the car half a minute after I get home my father has a fit. If we come inside the house I am afraid I will wake my Mom and Dad as they are very light sleepers. And if I kiss him on the porch, the whole neighborhood will get a show. So what should I do?

TOO MUCH LIGHTING

DEAR TOO MUCH: Bring the young man inside and say goodnight to him there. And don't worry about waking up your parents. If they are like most parents, they'll still be up.

DEAR ABBY: We have a new baby which will be christened shortly. My husband wished to ask his best friend to be godfather, but he does not want this man's wife to be godmother. I have never heard of asking one of a married couple without asking the other. I always thought you should ask both man and wife or neither. What is your opinion? If my husband is going to ask his best friend to be godfather, then shouldn't I ask my best woman friend to be godmother? I am really confused on this and feel so stupid asking my minister.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: It is not unusual at all to ask one of a married couple to be godfather or godmother. The mother usually selects her best friend and so does the father. They need not be married to each other.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "Tim," whose girl, "Mona," was embarrassed when she went swimming with him and discovered that he was hirsute, I just had to write. This girl Mona must be "out of her tree." The girls at work agreed that a man with a lot of hair on his chest, back, arms, shoulders and legs is more alluring. Besides, it is a sign of manliness. Tim should know that lots of girls would like to have him just the way he is.

Program Is Given By Mrs. Matheny

Mrs. Thelma Bray was hostess to Pampa Garden Club members when the group met recently in the Bray home at 1305 Hamilton. Serving as cohostess was Mrs. Ed Parsons.

Presiding over the business meeting was Mrs. Parsons, second vice president. A thank you note was read from Mrs. Lois Skidmore and Mrs. Myron Dorman Jr. announced that Garden Club members, who attend the district meeting to be held May 9 in Amarillo, will be priviliged to visit the Alibates Flint Quarries near the Canadian River Dam and hear an explanation of the historical background of the area.

Mrs. C. C. Matheny presented the program, "Wild Flowers of Texas and Their Use in Our Gardens," stating "The best source of wild flowers comes from reliable seed catalogues as they do not transplant easily. There are more than 40,000 species of wild flowers in the United States."

Mrs. Matheny also spoke on the subject, "Birds of Our Own Locality," and commented on some of the many species of birds which are native to this area.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. W. R. Campbell, Myron Dorman, Owen Gee, Carlos Grissom, W. E. Hogan, C. C. Matheny, James McCune, A. J. Mitchell, V. N. Osborn, Melvin Stephens, Joe Weaver, W. R. Pairsh, Harry Vanderpool and the hostesses.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

Pampa Garden Club is now in the process of planning a spring flower show which will be in the form of a placement show, the first of its kind to be sponsored by this or any other club in recent years in Pampa. A placement show is staged in homes with arrangements made for designated places. The show will be May 15, 2 to 6 p.m. at the Lee Harrah home, 2401 Duncan St., the Melvin Stephens home, 2536 Mary Ellen and the garden of the H. H. Boyntons, 1035 S. Hobart, where refreshments will be served. Tickets will be $1 and can be purchased from any Pampa Garden Club member or at each home on the day of the show.

General chairman of the show is Mrs. Ed Parsons. Other chairmen are, tickets, Mrs. Owen Gee; advanced reservations, Mrs. C. C. Matheny; schedule, Mrs. Melvin Stephens; judges, Mrs. V. N. Osborn; classification, Mrs. Ira Carlton; hospitality, Mrs. Tom Price; awards, Mrs. Myron Dorman Jr.; dismantling, Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, and publicity, Mrs. Thelma Bray.

Garden club women are looking forward enthusiastically to a district meeting to be held in Amarillo April 8-9. These district meetings have been held on Texas Tech campus in Lubbock for many years so that a short course could be incorporated with the convention. Very special activities are planned including a program presented to national flower show judges by Irene Haddox who is an outstanding lecturer on flower arranging.

A highlight of the convention will be a bus tour to the Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument near the Canadian River Dam. The significance of this area is noted in the following quote from the Amarillo Globe News of May 17, 1964: "This should become one of America's most dramatic and intriguing National Monuments. It will center one of five large recreation areas shorelining big Lake Meredith. There it will be one step literally from the Twentieth Century into man's deepest known American shadows — the Hundredth Century before Christ. More important, here only in all America, you can turn and backtrail man up the millenia to his todays."

R. L. Studebaker, former Pampan and now horticulturist for the Tulsa Park Dept., has donated over 50 canna bulbs, the "President," to the garden club for use in Pampa parks.

A few drops of lemon juice sprinkled on freshly cut fruit keeps the fruit from turning dark. The juice is a mild bleaching agent — it's also effective in keeping white vegetables white.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Child's Wagon Makes Good Painting Helper

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — Last fall I painted the outside trim on our house. I put all my painting supplies in the children's wagon and when I finished one window, I wheeled my supplies right to the next one. This saved time as I did not have to gather up the paint bucket, rags, brushes and so on. I poured the paint in a coffee can and when I had to answer the telephone or feed the children, I put a plastic cover over the can, which was easier than holding a big bucket and then having to pry off the lid each time it was covered. Kept paint off my fingers, too.

—JERRY

GIRLS—Don't misunderstand —Jerry is one of the girls. Our gentlemen friends will have to take their hats off to her ingenuity and determination. Just hope they do not get any wrong ideas about whose job it is to paint the outside of the house.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I had the same experience as Velma did with the glare from the chrome plate on my sewing machine. I painted the plate under the needle with black stove enamel. Any dull finish black paint would do as well—just be careful not to get high-gloss enamel.

—FLORIDA READER

DEAR POLLY — I found this hint in a hospital kitchen. A 3 by 6-inch kitchen sponge is much easier to use for dishwashing if it is cut diagonally from corner to corner. The small pointed end gets into small glasses, etc. and the large end and flat surface are just as convenient for other dishes as a large sponge.

I keep my pastry brush, wrapped in foil, in the refrigerator. I do not clean or wash it after each using and find it is very convenient to get out and sometimes has enough fat left from the last use to grease a pan.

Even in our lowest-priced Chrysler models, 383 cubic inches of V-8 engine is standard. So is our big size – the factory doesn't build jr. editions. And nearly half our '65 models are priced only a few dollars a month more than some of the most popular small cars, comparably equipped. That figure includes power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, radio and heater. When you get ready to plunk down the cash, remember: If you're going to pay the price of a Chrysler, get one. See us. We deliver.

Imports Still a Source Of Bitter Controversy

Imports have long been a source of bitter controversy in our country. Throughout our history we have generally found goods, wares, and products available from foreign sources at a price cheaper than prevailed in this country. This is so primarily because of the high standard of living that we in this country have built up under our philosophy of government. This standard of living is not confined to one group or one segment of our economy. It is available to all, regardless of the economic strata in which they find themselves, as compared to counterparts in all other countries of the world. Our particular 18th Congressional District of Texas is directly affected by this import problem in oil, in cattle, and in sugar. All of these are national problems of great consequence, but are of particular interest to our Panhandle because any adverse action relating to any of these products is immediately felt in our local economy.

The oil import problem is presently under study by the Department of the Interior. A sweeping review of U.S. policies under the "Mandatory Oil Import Control Program", now in its sixth year, is underway at the present time. Hearings last week in the Department of Interior auditorium brought more than 130 witnesses, including State governors (Governor Connally appeared not only as Texas' governor but also as Chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission). Our own Panhandle was represented by R. P. Herrmann and Don Watson, who appeared on behalf of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association. The appearance of government officials, organization officials, spokesmen for oil industry associations, executives of oil companies, leaders in associated segments of the oil industry such as labor organizations, business groups, etc., helps measurably.

The inquiry seeks to determine whether the program is meeting its objectives. It was originally designed to maintain strength in the domestic oil industry by keeping imports in satisfactory proportion to domestic petroleum production. Everyone recognizes that the national security requirements of our nation demand a strong and vigorous domestic oil industry. Such an industry cannot be maintained unless incentive is present for our own citizens to be willing to risk their money in further exploration and development of oil and gas deposits in our nation. The number of exploratory wells has been falling far below prior years. Domestic production has not been increasing at a pace equal to demand. Adequate reserves are not being located. Operation of drilling rigs dropped sharply. When these things happen, all associated businesses in and around oil development areas suffer, whether they be the corner hamburger stand, the doctor's office, or the department store. Many U.S. oil experts feel that the Mandatory Oil Import Control Program has not gone far enough to bring imports into proper balance with domestic poduction. Many of the independents in our area have most impressive statistics to prove their position in support of curtailment of imports. Unless this problem can be worked out within the Department of the Interior, it can be expected that import control legislation will be sought.

The oil import problem is only one facet of the larger problem of imports generally. In the past it has been the practice of those affected by imports to remain separate and apart from other segments of the economy and to try to press for action on their own separable problem. This meant that there was no coordination between the domestic producers of cattle with the domestic manufacturers of pottery or bicycles or clothespins or steel, or the farmers trying to produce sugar, to name only a few of the groups that find imports a constant threat. The percentage of imports varies with the different products, even as regards those products in which this country could be wholly self-sufficient. For instance, it would not be necessary for this country to import cattle, yet between 10 per cent and 15 per cent of the beef consumed in this country is imported. This country could produce all of its sugar and enough to export, yet it is importing from foreign countries approximately 43 per cent or almost half of our domestic consumption. One person admonished me for supporting a reduction in sugar imports. He told me that the foreign sugar could be acquired much cheaper than domestic sugar. My reply to him was that the same rule would apply to everything from oil to automobiles and from hairpins to cattle, which happened to be this fellow's business. I told him about a former Member of Congress who made a speech almost every day advocating "Buy American." Every afternoon this same member would pass me on the way home, driving his Mercedes-Benz.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Another way to define freedom of speech is to say it gives the right to disagree.

In a democracy it is one of the most guarded of the human freedoms. In a totalitarian state it is one of the most quickly abolished and it applies to all forms of communication, even to abstract art.

Polish artists, for example, are acknowledged to be among world leaders for their abstracts. Yet, in Poland, their works are rigidly suppressed. Polish film technicians also are among the best, but their works also are suppressed and Poland has not won a major film award in the last two years.

A Strong Urge

Throughout the Communist bloc, western newsmen are suspect because these totalitarian governments cannot really conceive of western-style objectivity or of a newsman who does not in some way function as an arm of his own government's intelligence service.

Yet even in the totalitarian states, the urge to disagree is strong.

Suppressed in the controlled press, they find other means of expression. One of the most effective has been found in the publications of the various literary organizations. These publications have received some of the credit for creating pressures leading to a certain relaxation of Red rule in Czechoslovakia.

But events also show that even guarded criticism can create danger for the authors.

Young Author Jailed

The most recent example is Yugoslavia which boats that its press is the most free of any Communist country.

In Yugoslavia a young scholar named Mihajlo Minajlov has been jailed for an essay called "Moscow Summer, 1964."

The essay accused the late Josef Stalin of preceding the Nazis in genocide, the systematic attempt to wipe out a race or culutre.

It stirred the sensitivities of the Soviets, who in turn protested to President Tito.

Minajlov thus was jailed.

The most noted case of an author who overstepped the bounds in recent years is that of the late Boris Pasternak.

Pasternak's book, Dr. Zhivago, won for him a Nobel Prize in 1958. But the book was critical of the Soviet regime. Pasternak escaped banishment only by a personal appeal to Khrushchev that "leaving the motherland will for me equal death."

Lewis, Williams Award Winners

By RONNIE OLER
News Sports Reporter

The tears of both the Hustling Basketball Harvester and the Basketball Queen, the stentorian voice of speaker Berl Huffman and an impromptu musical recital by several of the coaches and athletes highlighted the second annual Pampa High School All-Sports Banquet last night.

A crowd of 550 watched Lanny Lewis receive the Hustling Harvester award with tears in his eyes and Pat Masterson receive the Basketball Queen title also with flowing tears. San Williams was named the "Fighting Heart" winner in football and Carletta Johnson was named "Football Queen," both with smiles of happiness.

Larry "Shotgun" Gregory, now catching for Amarillo College, was named the Outstanding Competitor in baseball, Mark Westbrook won the track honor, Gene Eads the tennis award, Jan Little the volleyball award and Grover Heiskell the golf honor.

The coaches opened the dinner by introducing their players, grid coach Otis Holladay naming his, and basketball coach Terry Culley in a rather lengthy introduction of his cagers. Track coach Norman Phillips topped the occasion with some dry wit.

The Swing Kings and soloist Marilyn Milliron entertained, after which Warren Hasse drafted coaches Culley, Eural Ramsey and Deck Woldt, and athletes Phil Smith, Dean Evans and Little Richard Fatheree to the stage, handing them an assortment of "unusual" musical instruments with which they rendered an impromptu concert which was the hit of the evening.

Holladay named Williams as a player "who had done more with less and gone further on desire than any other boy he had had."

Culley kept the audience in suspense while he said that he thought all the 15 varsity players should have received the award, at least all the seven seniors, following which he listed each one and their accomplishments before naming the little team leader. Lewis, to a standing ovation, said in a choked and tear-dimmed voice that this was "a dream come true."

All-district certificates were presented by Jeffrey Cohane to football players Kerry "Ropes" Roper, Lewis, David McDaniel and Kenneth McWilliams. Football certificates were given to Jerry Goodwin, Keith Griffith, Carl Johnson and Joey Roden. All-district baseball players Gregory, Steve Molberg, Kenny Hebert, Rick Stewart, Jerry Garrison, Jim Arthur and Claude Middleton were recognized by Malcolm Douglass, who presented the Outstanding Competitor awards.

Eads and Miss Little were not present and their awards were accepted by Larry Eads and Mrs. Rex Little.

Miss Masterson was escorted by Roper, with Princesses Jane Wells and Carla Matson escorted by McDaniel and Lewis respectively. Miss Johnson was escorted by Griffith, Dorothy Davis by Williams and Carolyn Marak by Jim Arthur.

Huffman, a rugged-faced man who looked and talked like a clean-shaven Abraham Lincoln, started with a few jokes anent Texas Tech, White Deer and coaching problems, and then went into a socio-political - religious speech that sounded very similar in delivery to that of president Lyndon Johnson the other night, the gist of which was that athletics is one of the most important things in life, and that the athletic programs and clean living are what keep American boys from juvenile delinquency and make this county strong.

Major League Roundup

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

It's a good thing for the St. Louis Cardinals that the New York Yankees didn't look as invincible to Johnny Keane last autumn as they do this spring.

The Yankees are playing as if Keane has a clause in his contract permitting him to return to the Cardinals the first time he loses a game.

Rarely a good spring team, the Yankees have reeled off five straight victories under their new manager, who is beginning to wonder how he managed to beat them in the 1964 World Series.

The American League champions made it five in a row in Grapefruit League competition Tuesday when they rallied for a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Mickey Mantle clouted a homer in the fifth inning but it was the Yankee second-stringers who actually pulled out the game with a five-run rally in the ninth.

Billy Madden tripled home two runs and then scored the winning run himself on a single by Mike Hegan. The Pirates had seemingly wrapped up the win by scoring five runs off Al Downing in the seventh.

The world champion Cardinals, meanwhile, looked something less than invincible as four Los Angeles Dodger pitchers combined for a two-hitter and a 5-1 victory. Jim Brewer and Joe Moeller held the Cardinals hitless until the sixth when Lou Brock doubled and scored on a wild pitch. Bob Uecker singled in the seventh for the other St. Louis hit.

The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Minnesota Twins, 8-4, the Detroit Tigers shaded the Houston Astros, 5-4, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3, the San Francisco Giants downed the Chicago Cubs, 6-5, the Cleveland Indians shut out the Los Angeles Angels, 7-0, the Washington Senators outslugged the Chicago White Sox, 7-5, and the Cincinnati Reds topped the Kansas City Athletics, 6-3, in other games.

Alex Johnson hit two homers and two singles to lead the Phillies' 13-hit attack and Dave Bennett pitched three hitless innings. Tony Taylor and Tony Gonzalez also homered for the Phillies while Earl Battey connected for the Twins.

BUDDY RAWLS

GRAHAM — Buddy Rawls, Graham High School coach and former Pampa High and Abilene Christian College football player, has signed a professional football contract with the Los Angeles Rams.

Rawls was the PHS Fighting Heart award winner in 1959, following which the little halfback started for ACC for three varsity years, graduating last year and going to Graham. Rawls, married with two children, has resigned his coaching position for the professional opportunity.

Terry Culley Fights for Job

A battle royal for players and coaching positions is going on for tomorrow night's charity basketball doubleheader at Harvester Fieldhouse.

The prelim game pits the "Pampa Mistakes," a team of local newspapermen, against "Birddog's Bruisers," a team of Pampa football coaches, and no hassle except who will outlast who is going on in that one.

However, the nightcap, pitting the Pampa Newsboys, a team composed chiefly of ex-Harvester cagers, against "Culley's Cool Cats," a team of local cage coaches, has bitter arguments ensuing.

Both the Cats and the Newsboys are arguing over the services of Charlie "Sleepy" Snuggs. Snuggs was one of the original members of the Newsboys, and has played in every game with them. However, the former Harvester guard was a volunteer assistant seventh grade coach at Lee Junior High this past season, and coach John "Granpa" Hale is stubbornly insisting that the coaches have first crack at his services.

The other argument is between PHS cage coach Terry Culley and Pampa Junior High coach Frank Craig as to who is to coach the outfit of coaches. Culley, who insists that he has hung up his sneakers, feels that as top coach and ex-player, he should be the head coach. Craig, however, pointing to his gray hairs, years in service and formidable embonpoint, insists that he is in no shape to play and should be the coach, while the former North Texas State ace should show his juniors how.

Top threat for the Cats will of course be 6-5½ B team coach Gary Griffin, former All-State and Rice University star. Joining him will be Tex Nolan, former Lefors star and college cager; Roy Hunter and Hale from Lee, as well as J.W. Smith, a renegade teacher and former Oklahoma college player. From the ranks of PJH will come Harold "Happy" Moore and Ken "Forgetful" Frieml, a White Deer refugee.

It is also rumored that Culley and Hale are attempting to recruit some of their former players and also some of the area coaches.

Facing them will be a crew made up primarily of former Harvester, Shocker, Rebel and Reaper stars. Three members of this year's champion team, Kerry "Ropes" Roper, Davy McDaniel and Lanny Lewis, will take the floor along with Snuggs and Danny "Rock" Heil, Frank Phillips JC all-conference, both of last year's squad.

Gary Sikes of the '62 district champs and Ronnie Chase of the '61 team will join them, with former Shocker Gerald "Little" Sikes rounding out the group of pupils who intend to take on their teachers.

A White Deer all-state, Carroll Russell, and two Lefors all-state nominees, Terry Bromlow and Don "Squash" McCool, make up the Newsboys squad.

The first game will pit athletic director Weldon "Birddog" Trice, head football coach Eural "Skinhead" Ramsey and assistants Don "Mousie" Myers and David "Irish" Kelley, baseball coach Deck "Baldy" Woldt and assistant principal Billy "Daddy" Longlegs" Cooper against the Mistakes. The Mistakes, a woeful conglomeration of out-of-shape newshounds, feature Chico "Midget" Ramirez, Ron "Double" Cross, Jeff "Swami" Cohane, Mike Velasquez, Ray Rodgers, Jerry Trollinger, Ronnie Oler and other denizens of the world of typewriters.

The opening game starts at 7:30, with six-minute quarters so the ancients can survive. The second game, at 8:30, will be 10-minute quarters. All proceeds will go to the YCC for youth activities. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Jerry Roberts Makes 3rd Team All-State

By United Press International

Calvin Gerke, who led Snook's strong Bluejays to the state championship, was the top Class B boys' baketball election on the 1965 all-state team announced Tuesday by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Gerke, who also was named to the all state-tournament team, was joined on the first unit by Charles Herrin of Forreston, Lou Walker Jr. of Fort Davis, Billy Rasberry of May and Paul Pendergrass of Meadow.

Herrin's 33 point-per-game average was the top record and at 6-6 he was the team's tallest player. Gerke was 6-5, Rasberry 6-3, Walker 6-2 and Pendergrass 6-1.

Gerke, who sparked Snook to a 50-1 season record, was the only junior on the first team.

Dick Davis of state runnerup Deweyville headed up a second team that also included Larry Holder of Kyle, Walker Kemph of Yancey, David Reinhardt of Hutto and Randy Sherrod of Channing. Kemph and Sherrod both are juniors.

Ties in the voting gave the third unit seven players—James Earl Van Meter of McAdoo, Philip Pyland of Avinger, Sidney McCown of Miles, Roy Neff of McAdoo, Carl Wright of Eula, Jerry Roberts of Groom and Jimmy Moore of Frankston. Roberts is a junior. He was also third-team in football and is the only junior in history to make both teams.

North Texas Coach Quits

DENTON (UPI)— Charles Johnson, head basketball coach at North Texas State University for the past six seasons, resigned Monday.

Johnson, 35, led an often outmanned Eagle team through one suicidal Missouri Valley Conference schedule after another. His six-year record at North Texas was 36-114.

"I feel like I have worked hard on the basketball program here," said Johnson, "but I don't feel like I've accomplished the job I desired."

The coach has been the subject of four effigy hangings on the campus during the past week.

Texas Boxers Win GG Bouts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Texas boxers won fight matches Tuesday night in the 38th annual golden golves tournament of champions to give Texas a tie in the team title race.

Three more Texans advanced to the quarter-finals after Tuesday night's action—Jess Valdez of Houston, Gene Guess of San Antonio and Lynn Farr of Fort Worth.

Another fighter, Mark Tessman, lost his first round match in the 175-pound division.

The Texas boxers, representing Fort Worth, piled up 12 team points to tie Kansas City and Los Angeles for the lead. Detroit trailed with 9 points.

One of the most impressive wins of the night was scored by Valdez, the national AAU boxing champion. Valdez fights in the 147-pound class. He knocked out Terry Hogg of Muncie, Ind. in 18 seconds of the second round.

Valdez had drawn a bye in the first series of matches.

Gene Guess won two decision to advance into the quarterfinals of the 160 pound class.

Army, NYU Move Into NIT Semis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tates Locke resembles a pint-sized cadet, but don't let his appearance fool you.

The blond, crew-cut Locke at 28 is one of the most successful young basketball coaches in the nation and Tuesday night he directed Army into the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament and assured the Cadets of their winningest basketball season in history.

Army trimmed Western Kentucky 58-54 by sheer hustle and aggressiveness — two qualities that personify Tates. The victory was the 20th — most ever for an Army team — against seven losses.

Thursday night Tate's Cadets face St. John's, coached by 63 year-old Joe Lapchick, who will retire at the end of the tourney Saturday.

New York University defeated Detroit 87-76 in the nightcap of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader Tuesday night to move into the semifinals opposite top-seeded Villanova Thursday.

Welcome News from Austin

It was good news for taxpayers that came out of Austin this week when the House of Representatives turned down the Texas Municipal League-backed local option municipal sales tax bill.

At least that's one more tax that won't be saddled on the people within the near future.

The House slapped down the sales tax bill, sponsored by Rep. John Treager of Seguin, by a decisive 84 to 56 vote.

It seems that cities everywhere keep getting deeper and deeper into debt and finally the day comes when the bills have to be paid.

Proponents of the bill thought the city sales tax on items already bearing a state sales tax would be a slick way to pay off some of these debts.

Opponents of the measure pointed out that a city sales tax would work a hardship on merchants, driving business to cities that didn't approve it, and also might eliminate a source of additional revenue for the state.

A word of praise goes to Rep. Grainger McIlhany of Wheeler for voting against the measure.

The Pampa News opposed it mainly because it was another tax burden for the people.

The taxpayer is so bowed down now with the tax load on his back that he can scarcely make a go of it.

So, in Texas, he won't have to worry about an additional sales tax for awhile, at least.

Joe Doaks, Art Patron

Every taxpayer will be a patron of the arts unless some developments in Washington are brought to a halt, as they should be.

The proposal that the Federal Government subsidize the arts keeps bobbing up, and it has a better chance than ever in this Congress. Art is worthy, by and large, but this is hardly enough justification for paying for it out of our withholding taxes from our paychecks.

The art our public wish to pay for, they may now pay for. And millions upon millions are spent voluntarily each year on literature, music, paintings, opera, theater and architecture. What we are being asked to do essentially is to buy out of tax money thae art that nobody is willing to buy volunarily.

The proposition that anyone who considers himself an artist is entitled to high living standards at public expense is a foolish one. There are great artists who have no trouble earning fine livings, and there are mediocre and poor ones who probably should be encouraged by their failures to turn their hands and minds to other matters. It is hard to see how a Federal Government capable of erecting an esthetic outrage like the Rayburn office building can tell the good from the bad.

This seems to have occurred to the authorities, who propose that a commission of experts decide who qualifies as an artist and who does not, what is art and what is not. Where this leads, nobody knows.

C. of C. Seeks Spending Cut

The United States Chamber of Commerce has come up with specific recommendations for reductions in the federal spending programs.

While President Johnson talks about a budget of less than $100 billion, the Chamber points out that a total of $112.3 billion in new spending authority has been requested of Congress. Cuts recommended total [illegible] billion from this larger figure.

The Chamber has reviewed more than 600 budget items and has come up with specific recommendations of cuts in spending.

Henry C. Coleman, chairman of the Chamber's committee on government operations and expenditures, said the cuts could be made "without impairing essential services of national security." While our ideas of "essential services" of the government probably will be different from those of the U.S. Chamber, certainly some of the recommendations should be considered by the members of Congress. Some of the major recommendations are:

—Elimination of the entire $1.2 billion for federal aid for elementary and secondary schools. The Chamber believes that general school needs can and are being met by local and State authorities and that no federal intervention is needed.

—A reduction of $706 million in the $1.465 billion requested for the anti-poverty program: the Chamber noted that $760 million was authorized for this program in late 1964 and that there has not been sufficient time to decide which facets should be curtailed or enlarged.

—Elimination of the entire $675 million for the Urban Renewal Program whose "documented failures and inequities," the Chamber said, "are evidence that the program should be terminated."

—Elimination of the full $400 million requested for the Area Redevelopment Administration's program of aid to so-called "depressed areas." The Chamber said ARA, due to expire this year, should be allowed to die because it has been a failure and frequently transplanted unemployment from one area to another.

GOP Finds Live Wire With Ideas

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Republican party has no more energetic, inventive rebuilder today than a tall, slatlike fellow named Craig Truax, 36, the Pennsylvania GOP chairman.

He is one of the toughest-fibered young professionals to appear on the scene in years. About half the time, however, he acts like a kind of rangy elf who hasn't a serious care.

It's a nice cover. While Truax is smiling impishly, he is busy checking his 30 or 40 irons in the fire and adding more.

Throughout the struggle to oust Dean Burch as national chairman, Truax was being discreetly feverish in the background, happy that Midwesterners, many of them Goldwaterites, were lugging the ball. In those days Truax was using the long distance telephone like a family intercom.

He's in the thick of an effort by party seniors to take the Young Republicans' chairmanship out of the grasp of arch conservatives at the YR convention this June in Miami.

Truax turned up at the YR's recent "leadership school" in Washington and quietly insinuated himself as a uninvited panel member for a closed-door discussion of campaign planning.

In Philadelphia he piloted a Pennsylvania-New Jersey, Delaware meeting of party people aimed at projecting Republicans deep into the business of attacking complex urban problems — as a step toward winning the city-suburban vote.

His interest in getting good candidates for high office in many places is considerably more than vocal. But he's active vocally, too. Since November he's made a flock of hard-hitting speeches telling Republicans they've got to meet the nation's problems if they ever expect to be taken seriously as an instrument for governing.

Amid this whirlpool of endeavor, Truax chases around Pennsylvania on state party chores. A bunch of specialists are being launched into researches that may help Republicans figure what kind of a Pennsylvania they'll have to adapt to in the next 20 years.

If you clocked his mileage, verbal and otherwise, you'd swear Truax was running for office, but he insists he's not. Says he:

"The political life of a party chairman is about as long as a moth's. He's got one moment in the larger picture to do something for his party."

This wiry type from Pennsylvania offers any biographer a few surprises. He's an Indiana farm boy telling a court-house-oriented major party to get with it in the city.

He came off a 40-acre farm that barely operated above the subsistence level. He joined the Army at 17, served post-war in Japan, was discharged as an anti-tank platoon sergeant. In the Korean war he jumped into the Navy, where he became an information specialist.

In 1954 he became editor of the Wellsboro (Pa.) Gazette. Two years later he was with the State Republican Committee, where — except for a short interlude, elsewhere — he rose steadily to the chairmanship in early 1963.

Truax lives and talks politics with the zest of a Boston Irish Democrat. Talking it candidly with newsmen, he really needs a clerk at his elbow to record the times he goes off the record by saying: "You're not a reporter, RIGHT?"

Who says Republicans can't be fun? This fellow has the stuff of which majority parties are made. He goes at it with endless drive, with ideas, with unquenchable good spirit.

He deserves to live longer than a moth.

New Surplus Food Policy Proposed by Agriculture: Using Private Organizations If Local Governments Balk

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department is considering a revolutionary change in its distribution of surplus farm commodities to the poor, that could have far-reaching impact on local and state governments.

The new policy, if approved, will permit private organizations, including civil rights, student and church groups, to handle the distribution of this food in counties that have refused this federal aid.

For the first time since the food program was set up by Congress after World War II and expanded in the 1960s, local authorities and agencies would be bypassed and their counsel disregarded.

Testing area for this controversial program will be in Mississippi's racially explosive counties, where the U.S. Youth Council and one of its affiliates, the National Student Association, have requested authority to distribute the food.

These liberal-leaning organizations propose to use the facilities of a host of civil rights groups and the National Council of Churches in the South to store and dispense the foodstuffs to both Negroes and whites in areas without programs.

Under long-established policy, the Agriculture Department offers surplus dried milk, dried meat, peanut butter, sugar and flour to state, county and city governments for distribution to those on relief and low-income families.

Local welfare departments or corresponding local government agencies are responsible for seeing that it goes to the right people.

However, in a number of areas, including many counties in the South, local officials have balked at setting up such programs or accepting the government's offers of free surplus food. Reasons for their lack of enthusiasm range from dislike of federal aid to a belief the food is not needed.

THE NEW ELEMENT—When faced with such local opposition in the past, Agriculture authorities went no further, on the ground it was official policy to distribute the surplus food only through local governments.

While some Agriculture officials still maintain this was the intent of Congress in setting up the program, Assistant Secretary George Mehren is taking a broader view.

Supported by rulings of his department's legal office, Mehren, in backstage discussions on the policy change, contends it is legal to resort to private groups if local governments refuse to handle the food.

The unannounced rulings have opened the way for Secretary Mehren to consider the student groups' proposal, pending in the department since December, to distribute food in Mississippi.

According to their plan, the student leaders would initiate their operation by selecting one of the 16 counties in Mississippi without surplus food programs.

They intend to recruit a staff from civil rights, church and other student groups to contact families in need of the food. As local government agencies usually do, the private organizations would pay for this distribution.

If this proves workable and successful, the student groups will expand their operations to other Mississippi counties and later to other areas of the country.

THE DANGERS — Several of Mehren's advisers, while approving the surplus food program as it now exists, are cautioning against going over the heads of local governments.

They hold the Agriculture Department should encourage these local authorities to set up programs and not provoke trouble by turning the job over to private groups involved in civil rights.

Failure of local officials to act, also is advancing a growing trend in Washington to bypass local and state governments in allotting federal aid for anti-poverty, education, food and other projects.

They stress that if the student groups are permitted to hand out the surplus food, they will evenutally seek funds under the anti-poverty program to pay for part or all of their operations.

"If the local governments do not take control and administer these aid programs," warned one of Mehren's counselors, "these officials are going to wake up one day and discover that these private groups have moved into their state using federal aid to create a new power structure. If they don't believe this can happen, they should read some of the speeches of Dr. Martin Luther King, James Farmer and Walter Reuther."

The odds at the Agriculture Department are that Mehren and his boss, Secretary Orville Freeman, will approve the private distribution unless the White House steps in and bars a policy change.

WHITE HOUSE NOTES — Adam Yarmolinsky, barred from a top post in the anti-poverty program by congressional critics, is now helping select top officials for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which bosses the project. Although continuing on the payroll as Assistant to Defense Secretary McNamara, Yarmolinsky spends almost half his time at the White House, helping Civil Service Commission Chairman John Macy Jr. in his talent search for the anti-poverty program as well as other governmental departments. White House aides say Yarmolinsky is more powerful than ever. He also has teamed up with Richard Goodwin, another free-wheeling holdover from the Kennedy Administration, to write speeches for President Johnson. Goodwin is on the White House staff.

It takes a lot of planning and a lot of buying to send one of those luxury liners on a cruise. The food supply on a recent voyage of the French Line's "FRANCE" consisted in part of 15 tons of meat, 4 tons of poultry, 5 tons of fish, 30 tons of vegetables, 13 tons of fresh fruit, 68,000 eggs, 3 tons of cheese, 4000 quarts of milk, and 1000 quarts of cream. Just so no one would complain of being thirsty, the wine steward also loaded aboard 6000 bottles of champagne, 3000 bottles of wine, 2000 bottles of hard liquor, 7500 bottles of table wine, 150 bottles of liqueurs, plus 10,000 bottles of wine for the crew.

The ice cream sundae was invented at Evanston, Ill., in the late 1890's. At that time the town was nicknamed Heavens-on because of its large population of Methodists. They resented the dissipating influences of the then new soda fountains and passed an ordinance forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday. Enterprising fountain operators circumvented the law by serving ice cream with syrup instead of soda. The new concoction, called a "sundae," became so popular it was ordered every day of the week.

Thoughts while shaving: You never see a living person portrayed on a postage stamp because there's a U.S. postal law forbidding it. That's why no President appeared on one while in office. Gone are the buffalo, the savage Indian, the mustang pony, the range, the old-time cowboy and the only remaining vestige of the Old West is the weather-beaten pioneer and his ranks are growing thinner year by year. He has outlived the wild deer and the antelope and 50 years ago if he could have seen the Panhandle of today he would not have believed. . .And now another pioneer is gone. "Lengthy" Sutton knew the plains when the range stretched illimitably in every direction. The great, grassy domain of the late '70s and '80s was his first love, and he always came back to it regularly, though he lived at the top of the United States in Montana. He died on a trip back to see again the landscape that was dear to him. Fresh and utterly sweet to him were the memories of the days when he worked on ranches in the Panhandle, and he always remembered how the first plains looked the day he first saw them when grass was knee-high and one could ride for days and not see a house. No fitting epitaph on the tomb stones of such men as Lengthy Sutton for the Panhandle of today is their monument, their epitaph, but still there are those who will honor Lengthy's memory as long as they live because he was their friend, and because he lived chivalrously in the magnificent age and setting. . .now gone.

I would appreciate if any old friends or relatives could send me some early day history of Jim Sutton.

The Phony Peace Drive

It is amazing and deeply disturbing to note the speed and efficiency with which a nationwide campaign has been launched to bring pressure on the U.S. government to abandon South Viet Nam to the communists.

In the last few weeks THE NEW YORK TIMES has contained a number of advertisements in which professors from eastern colleges have portrayed the U.S. as an aggressor in Viet Nam, a a nation guilty of barbarous and inhumane practices. These advertisements completely ignore the fact that the U.S. is fighting communism across the Pacific.

The scope of the appeasement effort may be gauged from the fact that one group — the Universities Committee on the Problems of Peace and War — says it speaks for 10,000 faculty members at 282 American colleges. It is truly alarming to think that there are that many college teachers who have been duped into supporting the surrender cause in Viet Nam.

Joining in the clamor are the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches, who urge an immediate negotiated settlement in Viet Nam. Here again, they ignore the fact that the Communists have been on the offensive from the very beginning, that as long as they are on the attack there is nothing to negotiate.

Isn't it strange that these groups did not agitate until we started hitting back? All these people are the kind that Stalin once very aptly described as "useful idiots" — not Communists, but pursuing the Communist line.

Fortunately, in the Congress, the appeasers are failing to make gains. The nation's legislators apparently see through the phony peace campaign. But the Congress should take a much more active part in tearing the mask off the organizers of the "get out of Viet Nam" effort. The House Committee on Un-American Activities and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, for example, should summon the leaders of the "peace" drive and learn their organization connections and financing.

The Congress, unfortunately, has been slow to expose the activities of radical groups. The Fair Play for Cuba Committee, which Lee Oswald — the assassin of President Kennedy—supported, was investigated only reluctantly and without any great thoroughness or promptness. The Congress should look into the groups trying to hurt the nation's war effort in Viet Nam. They may move to more dangerous activities than issuing statements. At least one group has urged that young Americans not serve in Viet Nam and that citizens try to block the flow of munitions overseas. Such appeals unquestionably are a violation of the law.

It is hard to believe that the signers of the anti-Viet Nam petitions are sincere. If they are so concerned about the people of Viet Nam, why is it they haven't been issuing petitions against the terrorism of the Viet Cong? Why didn't they express shock at the bombing of U. S. billets in Saigon? Why haven't they protested all the varied aggressive moves and schemes of Red China? The truth is that they are strangely disinterested in protesting any actions taken by the communists.

Then, too, it is worth bearing in mind past campaigns against book burnings. Every time a town or state censors a book, there has been a nationwide uproar from liberal elements. But in the last few months the Indonesians, who work closely with Red China, have been turning mobs loose on U. S. libraries in Indonesia. But there has not been a squeak of protest from the liberal element.

The fact is that the domestic radicals, who are strongly entrenched in a number of colleges and universities, have a double standard. If an anti-communist government makes any move to assure its security, a global propaganda drive is begun against it. Thus the liberal-leftists are going all out in their propaganda drive that virtually stabs in the back American servicemen in Viet Nam. Yet these same liberal-leftists, many of them in university ivory towers, or clerical robes, can find all manner of excuses for pro-communist governments that injure our citizens, destroy our property, or otherwise do damage to American rights and interests.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone)

Question: "In the battles between communist and American forces currently being fought, is there any way to tell if there has been a single Russian casualty, or are ALL the combatants from other nations?" W. R. Williams, San Benito, Tex.

Answer: We have seen no information in the press service reports of any Russian casualties. Of course, in the communist nations, the press facilities are owned and controlled by the government, and if there were it is unlikely that any information would be disclosed.

From all accounts, the Russian communists are more inclined to let others do the fighting in most instances. The one case in which Russian troops moved in to participate in the fighting was in Hungary after the "Freedom Fighters" appeared to have won over the ruling regime, Russian tanks then moved in to subdue the revolutionary forces.

Wit and Whimsy

We're not saying Uncle Buckle is cheap, you understand. But yesterday he lost his first golf ball in ten years. The string broke.

A salesman had sold everything that was necessary for the furnishing of the lawyer's office, when he had a happy thought.

Salesman — Oh, yes, I nearly forgot, you need a doormat!

Lawyer—Fine! But bring me one that is well worn.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —When the National Press Club here was robbed recently of more than $1,000 in cash and checks, it caused great consternation among the members. Those who had not cashed a check at the club that day were terribly upset.

Some told me that from now on they intend to cash a check there every day on the chance that the place will get knocked off again and they will thus be ahead of the game.

"I doubt, however, that there will be a recurrence of the crime. At least not if the management adopts a robbery prevention plan being advocated by a few of the more thoughtful members.

This plan is so foolproof, I felt that I should pass it along so that other professional and social clubs around the country could consider taking similar measures.

Collection of Bores

It entails keeping on duty by the door at all hours one of the club's splendid collection of deadly bores.

Then, if a robber entered the club and tried to hold up the cashier, the bore would saunter over and engage him in conversation.

Robbers have been known to escape police custody, from jails and from prisons, but nobody yet has ever managed to escape the clutches of a press club bore.

Any robber so entrapped not only would rue the day he embarked on a life of crime; after having his ear contorted for 30 minutes, he undoubtedly would resolve to go straight ever afterward.

Generally speaking, club bores can be divided into two categories. One group only induces tedium while drunk; the other, only when sober.

There are, of course, a number of two-way players, better known as all-purpose bores. They should be used to form the nucleus of the robbery prevention squad.

Bores who volunteer for this important function naturally should be accorded special recognition.

BORROWS $15 MILLION

CHICAGO (UPI) — National Can Corp., announced Tuesday it has arranged to borrow $15 million for 20 years to refinance $7.1 million in present obligations and provide funds for expansion. The lender and the terms were not disclosed.

AMERICANS LEAVE — Mrs. George Cooper, the wife of a United States Information Agency employee in Jakarta, Indonesia, packs the family belongings with the help of an Indonesian woman. Nine American families who worked for the USIA in Jakarta will move to new assignments after the U.S. ordered an end to USIA activities in Indonesia.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edward A. Viner & Co., Inc. says the market's internal strength as exhibited by the supply-demand major price decline will begin in the next three months, at the minimum.

The firm believes that it may be even longer before a decline occurs since consumer confidence plus planned business capital spending promise a continued favorable economic climate for the rest of 1965.

Bache & Co. continues to advocate a policy of making new offering good relative fundamental value.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone Inc. says the market's next real test should be the 905-910 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average. Ward says any failure of the average to break through this barrier could well be the forerunner of a deeper correction.

GREAT PRIZES

SALISBURY, England (UPI) —Cigarettes were offered as prizes in an anti-cancer campaign raffle here. They were later withdrawn following complaints that the prizes were hardly appropriate.

"YOUTH" IS SERVED

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Frank Morgan, 77, retires as chairman of the giant Prudential Assurance Co., shortly to make way for a younger man — Sir John Mellor who is 71 years old.

RESTROOMS CLOSED

COVENTRY, England (UPI) —Two public restrooms were closed for several hours here when university students masquerading as city officials ordered attendants to the hospital for a checkup.

IT HAS

REIGATE, England (UPI)— Burglars who broke into a branch office of the Crusader Insurance Co., here left a note for the manager. Written across a leaflet about burglary insurance entitled, "It can hapen to you" were the words, "it has."
