Liability is key 'hump' in proposed regulations

The question of whether to require liability insurance for freelance operators may be the largest hangup in approving proposed rules and regulations for the airport — if the members of the airport board and commissioners court can look past some deep-seated conflicts between themselves.

About 20 members of the public met with the commissioners court and Development Corporation of Snyder Executive Director Doug Hutchinson in a public hearing Tuesday to go over the proposed rules.

Both County Judge Bob Doolittle and Hutchinson, in opening remarks, attempted to allay fears that the rules would be voted on at the meeting. A letter received by the commissioners court earlier in the day from the airport board asked that the court hold up making a decision until the board could review the documents.

"This is never, there was never, any intention of voting on this tonight," said Doolittle. "This is a starting place. And that, gentlemen, is really where we are — at the start."

Hutchinson said the documents were prepared in order to be prepared to attract business to the county and to the airport.

"We're going to need input. This is not meant to be a final document," said Hutchinson, who added, "This was not written for any agenda, hidden or otherwise."

Darryl Calley, secretary treasurer of the Scurry County Pilot's Association, suggested about 18 to 20 changes in the proposed rules and regulations. Many were rules which the association feels are not applicable to Winston Field or are redundant.

Seemingly, the only controversial regulation is that of requiring those who conduct business at the airport to carry liability insurance. Some of those in attendance expressed that requiring insurance for free lance operators would result in more expense or longer delays in repairs.

Hutchinson said the intent is not to limit freelance operators, but to have everyone "under the same rules," and accountable for liability. "If a guy wants to work out of his pickup truck, he can, provided he registers with the county so that you know who he is, and that he has insurance," said Hutchinson.

"Either you need insurance across the board, or none. And I can't see the county not requiring any insurance. It just doesn't make sense. And it's not just the county. It (insurance) is there to protect the other pilots, too."

After discussion, Doolittle suggested that more research into the insurance questions should be conducted.

"I think we (the county) might be covered (under county insurance). We have limits of liability. How that applies back to the county, I don't know. We need to tap some resources. We need to get with the county attorney concerning exposure, and with the county insurance carriers and discuss this."

As most of those in attendance began leaving, county resident Kay Shifflett brought up some concerns she had with the proposed rules and regulations. She questioned some 50 items on the 32-page document. Many were requests for interpretations of how the rules would be applied.

In closing, she asked that the commissioners court "consult with the board a little bit more."

Shifflett brought up the fact that the coliseum board recently voted not to meet — a result of members' frustration that the commissioners court was not taking their ideas seriously. She suggested that the airport board was having the same problem.

"The (airport) board was consulted, early on in the process," said Doolittle. "They are a voluntary, appointed board. They are not paid to sit here and take on issues hour after hour. We are...However, ultimately, responsibility lies with the county. Suggestions are made and considered, but ultimately we have a responsibility to a large whole (the entire county). We have to take everything into consideration," said Doolittle.

"As to their involvement, it's a two-way street. If they feel neglected, why haven't they been on the courthouse steps taking issue with it," said Doolittle, who then noted that only two of six airport board members — Wayland Huddleston and Doug Buchanan — attended the meeting.

"Where's the interest?" he said.

Huddleston, who is also a candidate for county commissioner, said, "We send in requests and they are totally ignored."

"No they're not," said Doolittle. "They are put on the agenda and

Two girls suspects in burglaries here

Scurry County sheriff's deputies cleared two burglaries Tuesday with the identification and incarceration of two juvenile suspects.

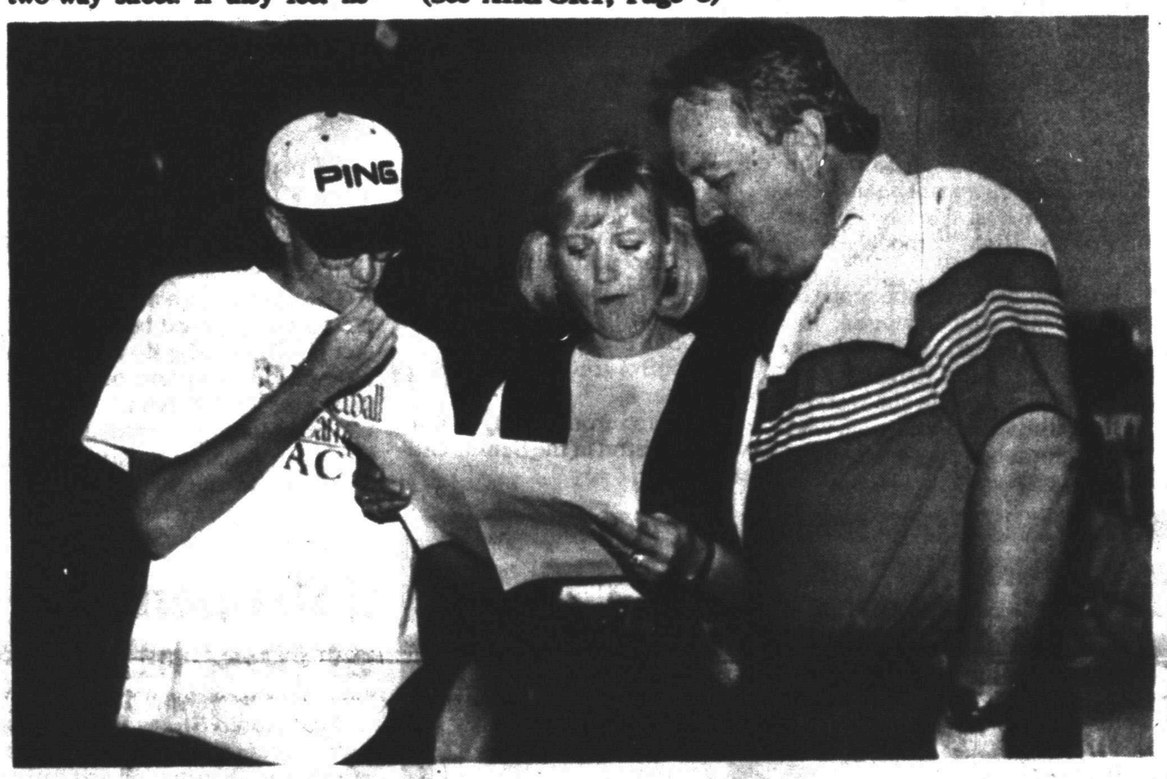

Taken into custody for burglary were two girls, ages 15 and 16. They have been transported to the juvenile facility in Sweetwater.

The girls are suspects in the Tuesday night burglary of the Steve Dillaha residence on Dillaha Road and of a Sept. 12 burglary at another residence.

Taken in the Dillaha residence burglary were numerous household items, most of which have not been recovered. However, some papers from the residence have been recovered. Deputies said the papers were partially burned in an attempt by the burglars to destroy them.

The burglary was reported at 9:18 p.m. and the subjects were identified about 10:30. A consent to search the house where the two girls were residing was given and it was at that time that deputies located property taken from the Sept. 12 burglary. Recovered were electronic equipment, jewelry, cassette tapes and other items.

Deputies said Tuesday's burglary is still under investigation.

25 schools slated for 'college day'

Area high school seniors will have an opportunity to visit with recruiters from 25 colleges and universities on Thursday.

Western Texas College will host the recruiting stop in Snyder which will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the WTC gym.

Coordinating the local event is Dr. Duane Hood, WTC dean of student services, and Dr. Mary Hood, director of counseling.

Schools represented will be Angelo State University, Baylor University, Cisco Junior College, Clarendon College, Frank Phillips College, Hardin-Simmons University and Howard College.

Others are Lubbock Christian University, McMurry, Midwestern State, University of North Texas, Northwood University, South Plains College, Stenograph Institute of Texas and Sul Ross State University.

Also, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech, Texas State Technical College, University of Texas-Arlington, University of Texas-Austin, University of Texas-Permian Basin, Wayland Baptist University, West Texas A&M and Western Texas College.

Plenty of activities planned for Hermleigh Fall Festival

Hermleigh United Methodist Church will hold its annual Fall Festival on Saturday at the Hermleigh Community Center.

Hours will be from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Arts and crafts, including wreaths, old-fashioned Santa Clauses, other Christmas items, quilt jackets, woodwork and other items will be for sale.

A large flea market, featuring antiques to new and used items, will also be held. Canned goods and produce and cakes, pies and other baked items will be available at a Farmer's Market.

Drawings for door prizes will be held throughout the day.

Those attending are invited to a barbecue lunch, which will be served beginning at 11 a.m. The meal will consist of brisket, sausage, roast pig and trimmings.

Antiques and collectibles will be auctioned during lunch and The Richburg Band will at that time and throughout the afternoon.

A Chinese Auction will feature donated artwork.

A special drawing for three grand prizes will conclude the festivities and will begin at 2:30. The prizes are a VCR; a framed artwork, "In the Lead," by Wayne Baize; and a handmade quilt featuring the Glorified Nine-Patch Pattern.

All proceeds from the festival will go to the church. Hermleigh Community Center is located in the community. To reach it, travel to the caution light outside of Hermleigh along U.S. Highway 84, then turn east one block and north another block.

Ritz season tickets sold

Season tickets will be available until Oct. 23 and are priced at $30 for 6, $60 for 12 and $100 for 24.

The Ritz Community Theatre has announced its roster of plays for the 1994-95 season.

"The Cemetery Club" will be held Oct. 21-23 and 28-30 at the former North Elementary auditorium.

The Christmas production will be a children's play entitled "The Toys Take Over Christmas." It is scheduled for Dec. 2-5 in the Western Texas College Fine Arts Theatre.

The spring production will be a "Broadway Musical Revue" and dinner theatre at Martha Ann Woman's Club on Feb. 24-26 and March 3-5.

'Nice People' debuts tonight at theatre on WTC campus

"Nice People Dancing to Good Country Music," a comedy written by Lee Blessing, debuts tonight at Western Texas College.

Curtain time is 8 o'clock in the Fine Arts Theatre. Tickets, available at the box office, are $5 for adults and $3 for students.

Cast members are Rick Freeman of Snyder, playing Jim; Emily Hataway of Fluvanna, playing Eva June; Blake Durham of Snyder, playing Roy; Rachel Brown of Jayton, playing Catherine; and J.J. Hawkins of Graham, playing Jay Bob.

Performances are also scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The play was originally to have run here in mid-February as a joint production of the Ritz Theatre and WTC drama department. However, the production was canceled after a small group of people voiced complaints. The criticism followed a description of the play provided by the producers which pointed out that two characters were living together but not married, and that a central character in the play owns a bar.

Despite the earlier criticism, director Michael Endy said, "It's a nice little play that people can laugh at and enjoy. It's all about people trying to get along and enjoy life in Texas. It's meant to be a good laugh, and that's all."

The SDN Column — By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Only lawyers enjoy hearing about your troubles — and they get paid for it."

It's a matter of perspective. If you compare Ira, Dunn, Hermleigh or Fluvanna to Snyder, then Snyder is a big town.

If Snyder is compared to Lubbock or Abilene, Snyder is the small town. A Lubbock, when compared to Dallas or Houston, doesn't look as awesome.

On various occasions, we see lists or descriptions of small towns. You will probably be able to identify with some of them.

A small town is:

--the only place on earth where people past middle age are called by their first names when they saunter down the street.

--where you don't have to guess who your enemies are. Your friends will tell you.

--where everybody knows everybody else's car by sight, and also where and when it goes.

--where you drive into the ditch five miles out of town and word gets back into town before you do.

--where you are run off main street by a combine or tractor.

--where you dial a wrong number and still talk for 15 minutes.

--where it's hard to walk for exercise because too many people stop and offer you a ride.

--where there's nothing to do, but there aren't enough nights in the week to make all the functions.

--where everyone becomes a neighbor when there is a need.

--where young people say there is nothing to do and then are surprised when they learn kids in the big city are saying the same thing.

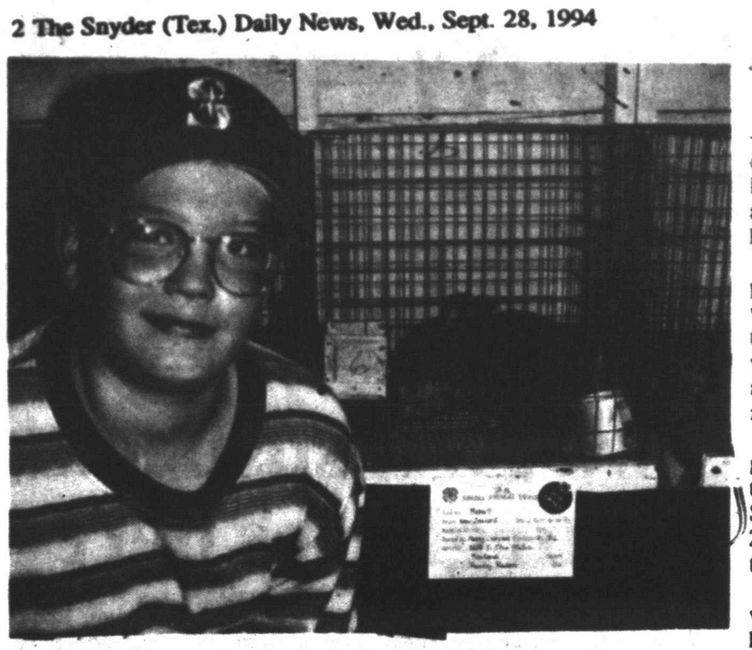

--where businessmen dig deep many times to help with countless fundraising projects.

--where you miss a Sunday at church and get a host of get-well cards.

--where, when all is said and done, it's a pretty good place to live.

--where most people are thankful that they live there.

Johnson shows champion rabbit

Johnson's rabbits were purchased by the Bla Bar Ranch at the stock auction. He and his brother, Sean, also had animals in the sheep division.

Johnson, 13, is the son of Devin and Sonia Johnson of Hayden Lake and the late Kirk B. Kimmel of Snyder. Grandparents are Bill and Gay Kimmel of the Dunn community.

Great grandparents are Dotty and Bill Hart of Snyder and the late P.W. Birdsall and the late J.H. and Dixie Kimmel of Snyder.

Suit continues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Superior Court judge has a message for Bob Barker: Come on down!

Judge Edward Ross refused Tuesday to dismiss an $8 million sexual harassment suit against the game show host filed by former "Price is Right" model Dian Parkinson.

But Ross narrowed the scope of the lawsuit and dropped the show's producers as defendants.

Parkinson claims Barker forced her to have sex while she worked on the game show. Parkinson, who worked for the show for 18 years, quit in 1993.

Alaskans rally around polar bear in zoo

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A polar bear that chewed on a couple of folks may seem an unlikely cult hero. But this is Alaska, and, well, things are different here.

Not that people don't feel sympathy for those nursing their wounds. It's just that Alaskans think you get what you deserve when you act stupid around a wild animal — even one that lives in a zoo.

"I feel sorry for the people who got hurt, but in both cases it was their own fault," says Sammye Seawell, director of the Alaska Zoo in Anchorage, where Binky the polar bear lives.

The first problem arose in July, when an Australian tourist paid a high price for venturing too close to Binky's cage.

The woman was climbing over the second of two safety rails to get a close-up photo when the 850-pound bear stuck his head through the bars and grabbed her in his jaws.

She escaped with a broken leg and bite wounds. Another visitor caught the scuffle on videotape, including a shot of Binky pacing around his pen later with the woman's red tennis shoe in his mouth.

That attack spawned a T-shirt featuring Binky, the tennis shoe and the words "Send more tourists — this one got away."

Alaska shook its collective head and chalked the mauling up to tourist naivete. The woman later earned a measure of local respect by admitting she was at fault and promising not to sue.

Six weeks later, the 20-year-old bear was back on the front page. Two Anchorage teen-agers decided — apparently after a long night of drinking — to take a dip in the pool Binky shares with his furry companion, Nuka.

Police say the pair snuck into the zoo and were stripping down in front of the cage when Binky showed up and locked his jaws onto one of them.

The teen was pulled away by his friend, but not before Binky had left him with leg injuries. Both teens face trespassing and underage drinking charges.

Since then, it's been take-no-prisoners Binkymania.

There are jokes — "The state won't be asking for any jail time for the kid — it already has its pound of flesh."

There are more hot-selling T-shirts — "Binky for Governor: Take a Bite Out of Crime."

There is music — a local comedy revue worked up a rap song by "Bad Blood Binky" that includes the lines "Drink a case of Bud and act real cool/Like a teenage mutant brain-dead fool."

There have been editorial cartoons — one shows Binky saying to Nuka, "Mauled teen-ager, my butt — how about 'Hero bear prevents youth from drowning?'"

And there have been letters to the editor of the Anchorage Daily News. Lots of them, all pro-Binky.

Seawell says she's gotten more than 100 letters from around the world, and not one of them blamed the bear.

To protect the bears from the visitors, the zoo has erected two strands of electric wire outside the cage and installed a motion sensor that blares an alarm.

Exibition of quilts set Oct. 8

Local residents are invited to participate in a quilt exhibition being planned October 8 as part of the White Buffalo Days celebration.

The quilts are to be taken to Snyder National Bank between 1 and 5p.m. Friday, Oct. 7. The bank will open from 1 to 5 p.m. on October 8 so visitors can see the quilts and the gold DeLorean automobile in the bank lobby.

The quilts are to be picked up on October 8.

Food booth applications necessary

All persons who plan on operating a food booth during the White Buffalo Festival on Oct. 8 must first fill out an application with Scurry County Health Unit.

The application must be completed and returned before 5 p.m. Oct. 5. Those who do not turn in an application will not be allowed to operate a food booth.

All potentially hazardous foods must be prepared on site, not at home, health unit employees note.

Scurry County Health Unit is located at 911 26th St.

Job openings at post office

The United States Postal Service is accepting applications for processing, distribution and delivery positions in the post offices with zip codes beginning with 795 and 796, which includes the Snyder area.

Applicants who have previously applied must reapply and compete in the new examiniation to re-establish eligibility.

Applicants will be required to take a written exam. The examination and completion of forms will require approximately two hours and 15 minutes.

Applications must be submitted between Oct. 3 and Oct. 7 at the local post office, or at postal offices in Abilene, Anson, Aspermont, Baird, Clyde, Coahoma, Colorado City, Hamlin, Haskell, Hermleigh, Knox City, Merkel, Roby, Roscoe, Rotan, Stamford, Sweetwater, Tuscola and Winters.

At the time of the exam, the applicant may select any or all of the six different jobs: city carrier, $12.54 per hour; clerk, $12.54 per hour; district clerk, machine, $12.54; mail handler, $10.61; mail processor, $11.81; or mark up clerk, $11.81.

Abilene is the only office that will have all six positions available. Other offices may have only one position available.

Applicants will be notified of the date, time and place of the exam and will be sent material to prepare for the examination.

A qualification for postal employment is to be drug free. This is determined through the use of a urinalysis drug screen. Applicants who qualify on the exam and are in consideration for employment will be scheduled for a drug test.

Assistant store manager hurt

FORT WORTH (AP) — An assistant manager who tried to stop a group stealing cigarettes from a suburban grocery store was in critical condition after he was run over in the parking lot, officials said.

Eight suspects, identified by a Fort Worth police gang officer as gang members, have been arrested.

Eric Brian Harman, 35, of Fort Worth suffered a head injury in the Tuesday incident at a Food Lion in Edgecliff Village and was being treated at John Peter Smith Hospital, officials said.

Sheriff's deputies arrested the suspects at a nearby Fort Worth apartment complex after a maintenance worker called authorities after seeing two carloads of people speed into the parking lot and run into an apartment, officials said.

The eight, who range in age from 17 to 22, were being held Tuesday night at the Tarrant County Jail on suspicion of aggravated robbery.

The incident began about 1:45 p.m. when Harman spotted several people who he believed had shoplifted previously, said Lt. G.M. Hendrix, a Tarrant County Sheriff's Department spokesman.

The people grabbed several cartons of cigarettes and ran to two cars with Harman in pursuit, he said. Harman was struck and run over by a Honda Civic, Hendrix said.

The store's manager, Benny Throne, 47, also tried to stop the group and sustained minor injuries that did not require hospitalization. He was not hit by a car, Hendrix said.

Doyle Meador, a former Edgecliff Village council member, said shoplifting has been an ongoing problem at the store.

"The cigarettes are right up front, and people will come by at 3 in the morning and break the glass and take cigarettes," he said.

Dear Abby

Divorced Father of the Bride Sits Down and Rocks the Boat

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: A year and a half ago, my daughter (I'll call her Betty) was married in a beautiful church wedding. Although her mother and I have been divorced for seven years and we have both remarried, I paid for half of everything. My present wife urged me to make sure Betty had a first-class wedding, and I did.

Now the problem: Betty wanted me to sit with her mom during the ceremony. I thought it would look strange if her mom and stepfather and I, plus the groom's parents, all sat together, while my wife sat alone; so I sat with my wife.

Since then, Betty has been very cool to me. She hasn't called or come by — nothing.

Abby, I love my daughter very much. I sent her to a fine girls' college and saw to it that she had the best clothes and a car of her own. I apologized to her and told her I didn't realize it meant so much to her to have me with her mother. Was I wrong to sit with my wife?

SAD DAD, MEMPHIS, TENN.

DEAR SAD DAD: Don't let your daughter lay a guilt trip on you. You acted appropriately when you chose to sit with your wife rather than have her sit alone.

DEAR ABBY: Occasionally one hears someone described as a "good Christian" — or someone did the "Christian" thing. I think what is meant by this is that the person is of good character.

Abby, this type of person can be found among all faiths: Muslim, Buddhist, Hindu, Jewish, B'nai, and even atheists.

The use of the word "Christian" to mean "of impeccable character" is hurtful to those who are not Christian. If we all want to live together on this planet with respect and acceptance, we need to find a better way to describe good character.

I happen to be a good person, but I am not a Christian. If you use my letter, please sign me ...

GOOD, BUT NOT A CHRISTIAN, IN LA HONDA, CALIF.

DEAR GOOD: You are right — Christians do not have a monopoly on good character. Better to say, "So-and-so is a good person," or "So-and-so did a good (or kind) thing." One can find people of good character — and bad — in every religion (and race).

DEAR ABBY: I bought my daughter a lovely wedding gown for her wedding 10 years ago. Unfortunately, that marriage didn't last very long.

My daughter is planning her second wedding, which will take place in our home. Many of the same friends and family members will attend.

I was aghast when she said, "I still have the wedding gown that I wore at my first wedding, and I want to wear it again."

What do you think, Abby?

AGHAST MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think it should be your daughter's choice.

The impossible takes longer

By Phillip Alder

A reader from Puyallup, Wash., sent me today's deal, which she played in a club duplicate. She had reached the reasonable six-diamond contract, but had gone down when both heart finesses lost. At the end of the evening, she checked the other results and noticed that two declarers had won 12 tricks. "How?" she asks. "I don't believe the other two pairs are that much more astute than I."

Well, do you see how it is possible to make a slam in diamonds after West has led the spade king? (True, a heart lead would be fatal.)

Two spades was fourth-suit forcing, showing game values and asking for more information. If instead North had jumped to three diamonds, it would have been invitational, not forcing.

The exact sequence can vary, but it goes along these lines: Declarer wins the first trick with dummy's spade ace, ruffs a low spade in hand, plays a club to dummy's jack and ruffs another low spade. A club to the queen is followed by three rounds of trumps, ending in hand. South cashes the A-K of clubs, throwing the heart three and spade six from the dummy. Left with 9-8-7 of hearts opposite A-J-10, declarer leads a heart to the 10 for a textbook endplay. East wins with the queen but has to lead back into dummy's remaining tenace.

However, if East started with four spades and only one heart honor, this line of play wouldn't work too well. I have a feeling that the successful declarers (both of whom were actually only in game) were helped by a spade bid from West.

Bobbitt found guilty again

LAS VEGAS (AP) — John Bobbitt was convicted of a second domestic battery charge Tuesday and ordered to serve 30 days in jail by a judge who called him a "bully."

Kristina Elliott testified her former fiance twisted her arm behind her back and threw her against an apartment wall on May 6.

Bobbitt served 12 days of a 15-day sentence earlier this month for battering Elliott in a separate incident.

"One thing is apparent and that is that you are a bully," Municipal Judge Ron D. Parraguirre said. "I don't know how we're going to get this across to you that this is unacceptable behavior."

Bobbitt gained national attention when his wife, Lorena Bobbitt, sliced off his penis last year, claiming he had sexually assaulted her. The penis was surgically reattached and Bobbitt was acquitted of assault charges.

Mrs. Bobbitt was found innocent by reason of insanity and filed for divorce.

Bobbitt, 27, met Elliott, 21, a former exotic dancer, while in Las Vegas on a publicity tour.

Bobbitt took the stand, admitting that he was "frustrated" that night, but said he never hurt Elliott.

EMILY ZECK

Zeck gets 1st chair

Emily Zeck, Snyder High School sophomore, was selected first chair alto saxophone in the TMEA Region XVI Jazz Band auditions Monday at Lubbock Cooper High School.

Band rehearsals will be held Sunday through Oct. 9 at the Texas Tech band hall.

The Region Jazz Band will perform in concert Monday, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hemle Recital Hall at Texas Tech University.

The Region Jazz Band performance will be followed by a special appearance of the Texas Tech Jazz Band.

Selection to the Region Jazz Band qualified Zeck to audition for the All State Jazz Band.

Zeck plays alto sax and xylophone in the SHS marching band and is saxaphone rank leader.

Ex-director target of suit

FORT WORTH (AP) — A backer of Biosphere, a $226 million ecological experiment in Arizona, has filed a $5 million lawsuit against the project's former director.

The lawsuit filed last week in federal court by Ed Bass against Margaret Augustine accused her of overpaying herself through an architectural firm she controlled that did business with the project.

It accused her of "acts of self-dealing, conflicts of interest and fraudulent activities" while she ran the experiment in the foothills outside Tucson, Ariz.

Also sought in the lawsuit is $103,000 from former Biospherians who have claimed responsibility for damages to Biosphere.

The project has been the subject of several lawsuits.

Bass also seeks the dismissal of an Arizona lawsuit that Ms. Augustine filed in which she seeks more than $4 million in actual damages and $40 million in punitive damages from Bass.

Dee Kelly, a lawyer who represents Bass, declined to comment on the lawsuit as did Martin C. Bowen, who was appointed in March as a receiver for the project, according to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

In addition to Bass, Bowen and Bass' company, Decision Investments Corp., are listed as plaintiffs in the lawsuit.

"I have to leave litigation matters in the hands of our attorneys," Bowen said.

The newspaper also reported that Ms. Augustine could not be reached for comment.

How to overcome substance abuse

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In a recent column you wrote that you could not say why a woman's friend took glutamine. Perhaps I can enlighten you. Glutamine is well-known and used in addiction treatment circles. It controls cravings for alcohol, tobacco, sugar, caffeine, and is also believed to improve memory and other brain functions. I'm a 70-year-old recovering alcoholic, sober and abstinent for the past year, thanks to glutamine, vitamins, zinc and oil of evening primrose.

DEAR READER: No reputable authority on drug addiction endorses glutamine (an amino acid) as a valid method of overcoming drug-dependency. It probably works as a placebo: a substance having no direct effect other than the consumer's conviction that it will do some good.

Of far more value for individuals with substance abuse are the many 12-step programs, such as Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous.

Having said this, I should add that if your program works for you, great. I can't argue with success. Keep it up. The important feature is that you are sober; I don't have an axe to grind by analyzing the theory that got you there.

But I do feel compelled to caution other readers with substance abuse problems to stick to treatment strategies that have a proven track record. To a large degree, any person who is addicted to a substance (or a behavior) has a bad attitude, which must be addressed along with the physical consequences of the addiction. Therefore, 12-step programs with or without detoxification (acute medical care) and ongoing counseling, achieve a high degree of success because they address the WHOLE person: the disease AND the unhealthy attitude.

Congratulations on your year of sobriety. Keep up the good work.

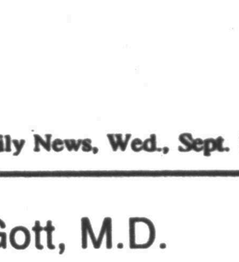

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help II: Mental/Substance Abuse." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: You recently provided an address for literature on Crohn's disease, yet my letter was returned as undeliverable. Perhaps your readers would like an update: The Crohn's and Colitis Foundation of America, 386 Park Avenue South, 17th Floor, New York, NY 10016. Telephone 1-800-343-3637.

DEAR READER: Thank you for writing and correcting me. As a rule, I verify addresses and telephone numbers before publishing them, but on occasion I slip.

Editor-publisher of Panhandle newspaper arrested at office

STINNETT (AP) — The four-week-old Stinnett Journal has been closed after the editor and publisher was arrested on charges of parole violation.

Steve Ramos was arrested at the newspaper office Tuesday.

A Texas Ranger from Dumas called Stinnett Police Chief Randy Hooks and told him he recognized Ramos as a fugitive after seeing his picture in Tuesday's Amarillo Globe-News, Hooks said.

The Amarillo newspaper had written a story about the budding weekly newspaper, Stinnett's only medium.

"He contacted my department and wanted to know if (Ramos) was still in the area," Hooks said. "The agency advised me to check his record, and it was determined he was wanted for parole violation."

Ramos was on parole for theft charges that originated in Moore County, Hooks said.

The police chief said that in 1993, the Texas Department of Criminal Justice's Pardons and Parole Division in Austin issued a warrant for his arrest for violating that parole, Hooks said.

Local authorities do not know what parole terms the 36-year-old Amarillo man is accused of violating, Hooks said.

Efforts to contact the TDCJ's Pardons and Parole Division in Austin were not successful Tuesday night, the Amarillo newspaper reported.

Moore County Chief Deputy Bo DeArmond said Ramos has a history of theft convictions and parole violations in Texas.

"Since 1985 we have had extensive contacts with this person, some of them being felony charges," DeArmond said. "He has been handled numerous times for felony theft charges."

Julia Fay Barker, a volunteer staff member, said the newspaper is defunct because of Ramos' arrest.

"It's out of business," she said.

'Early bird' sale of SHS annuals concludes Monday

WTC golf team places 6th at Bossier Parish

The tournament was won by Midland College with a total 887. New Mexico Junior College took second with an 889, followed by Paris JC and McLennan Community College with 920s, Bossier Parish with a 924, and Western Texas' 929.

Despite the sixth place finish, WTC was just 9 strokes out of third place, and is showing improvement, said coach Milton Ham.

"We're getting better and continue to improve," said Ham, who called the Palmetto course "very tough."

"It has bermuda greens and we're not as familiar with that," he said.

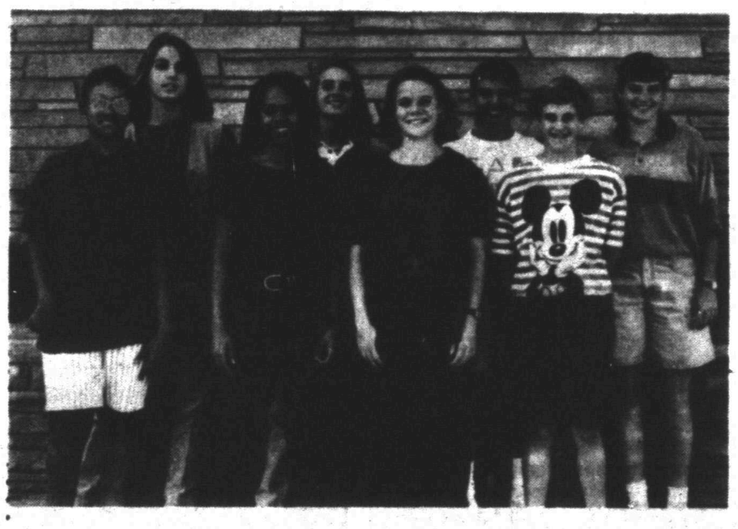

Returning sophmore Cory Stone led Western Texas with a three-round 225, including a 74. Sean Waddell shot 230, aided by a first-round score of 75, while Stan Scarborough carded a 237 and also turned in a 75.

Mark Smith shot a 240 and Jon Hopfner a 242.

Tournament medalist was Midland's Jason Brooks.

Next action for the Westerners will be Oct. 9-11 in Denison at the Grayson County Invitational.

Sharp says UT to rule UIL

AUSTIN (AP) — The University Interscholastic League needs to improve its accountability and should be under the direct purview of the president of the University of Texas at Austin, according to an audit released Tuesday by state Comptroller John Sharp's office.

"In an effort to increase public confidence in the organization, we recommend that UIL be under the direct responsibility of the president of UT-Austin," Sharp said. "This will increase the league's accountability to the Legislature, the governor and, most importantly, the public."

The comptroller's office, carrying out a mandate from the Legislature, began an audit of the UIL in May with public hearings in Austin, Odessa, Lufkin and San Antonio.

The audit recommends several changes in the way the UIL conducts its business as the organization that oversees academic, athletic and music competitions among public schools.

The study by Sharp's Performance Review Team marked the first time the UIL has undergone a comprehensive review in its 82-year existence.

The most sweeping recommendations include:

— Refining the UIL's system of punishment so that students aren't needlessly victimized by rules violations committed by coaches and administrators.

— Instituting fines for schools and individuals who violate UIL rules and regulations.

— Establishing hearings before an administrative law judge for persons reprimanded under the complaint and investigation process.

— Rewriting the UIL Constitution and Contest Rules Manual to make it more user-friendly.

— Establishing targets to increase the representation of parents, students, minorities, women and people with non-athletic backgrounds on the UIL Legislative Council.

— Broadening corporate sponsorship of events to include academic and musical competitions, in addition to a few athletic events.

The audit suggests the league could save $1.2 million over the next five years by making cuts in such areas as printing and mailing. The UIL has an annual budget of $3.2 million, Sharp said.

"We believe the recommendations contained within this report will help to make the UIL more efficient and effective, more accountable, and more responsive to the needs of all Texans," Sharp said.

UIL Executive Director Bailey Marshall said, "Anything in the audit that makes our operation better, we are certainly going to look into it. If it's at all feasible, we will incorporate it into our organization."

UT President Robert M. Berdahl said he questioned whether making the UIL directly accountable to his office or to the office of one of his designees would improve the league's accountability.

Lady Tigers get back on the winning track

LUBBOCK — Snyder's Lady Tigers rebounded from their loss to Levelland on Saturday by pummeling the overmatched Estacado's Lady Matadors 15-0, 15-3 Tuesday and improve their record to 12-13 (1-1 in District 5-4A).

Although the Lady Tigers made quick work of Estacado, it took almost two hours of waiting before the match could begin.

Only one official showed up for the match, prompting Snyder coach Patty Grimmett to wait for a second one.

"I wasn't about to start a district match with only one official," she said. "The Estacado people were ticked off when we beat them after they had to wait so long, but district matches are important and I wasn't going to take a chance."

Grimmett felt her team turned out an outstanding serving performance and remarked that it was hard to know what the Estacado team was going to do.

"They (Estacado) were very sporadic," she said. "They did things we just weren't expecting.

"It is harder to play a match when the other team does unpredictable things. They were hitting the ball over the net off the serve."

Because of the Lady Matadors' style of play, Snyder never had a chance to really get into their offense. Setter Sterling Cave and hitter Edwina Brooks were the only players who had the opportunities to get into any type of rhythm.

"Sterling did well with her service and Edwina really hit the ball into the ground," Coach Grimmett said. "No one really had the opportunity to hit, though."

Snyder's next opponent will be district rival Lamesa. The two teams square off Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Snyder High School gym.

"They (Lamesa) will be tough," Coach Grimmett said. "Lamesa and Snyder are big rivals.

"It doesn't matter if one team is better than the other, it is both teams' biggest game."

Scoring for the Lady Tigers were Sterling Cave, who had 9 service point winners, 5 of which were aces. Haley Boaz notched 6 points and Joannie Wemken had 4 points and 2 aces. Kelly Kallemyn had 3 points and 2 aces, while Raechele Wemken had 3 points and an ace. Trish McGrew scored 3 points, Bianca Rocha had 1, and Kelly Clay got her only point on an ace.

Edwina Brooks was the only Snyder player to get a kill. She had five in the game.

Lethridge, Graham are SWC players of the week

COLLEGE STATION, (AP) — He's the old man of the current Texas Aggie linebacking corps, but he doesn't play old.

Senior Reggie Graham manhandled the Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles with 10 tackles and a sack and broke up one pass to help the Aggies to a 41-17 victory on Saturday.

For his third straight solid effort of the season, Graham was named The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week.

Freshman quarterback Zebbie Lethridge, who led Texas Tech to a 35-7 victory over Southern Methodist, earned The AP Offensive Player of the Week honor.

Lethridge completed 14 of 26 passes for 146 yards and two touchdowns and ran for one score.

Graham had earned the respect of coach R.C. Slocum, and now Southern Mississippi understands the coach's feeling.

"It was a tough game out there," Southern Mississippi running back Chris Buckhalter said. "I have to give credit to Texas A&M's defense, they played well. They refused to allow me anything.

Graham, a senior from League City, had a pair of 12-tackle performances last season against Houston and Baylor, a result of bulking up 31 pounds since coming to Texas A&M.

His combined power and speed have made Graham a factor in the Aggies' early run of successes this season. He had six tackles, a sack and one tackle for a two-yard loss in the season opener against Louisiana State.

Graham is a winner in the weight room too. Last spring, he had the team's top mark of 341 pounds in the power clean and was third on the team with a bench press of 410 pounds.

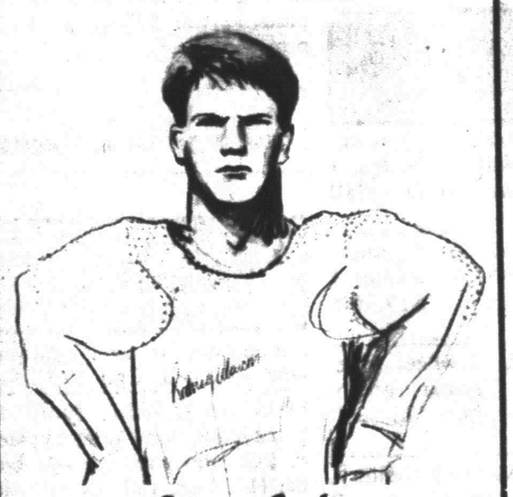

"I gained most of it my first year but I never thought of myself playing at 235," Graham said. "I don't think it's hurt my speed at all. In fact, I think being stronger has helped."

Graham gets Slocum's vote as one of the team's hardest-working workers.

"I'm really proud of what Reggie has done with our defense," Slocum said. "He played some last year, but he's really taken on a leadership role this season.

"He's always had good speed, and now he's got the strength to go with it. I think he worked harder in the off-season than any of our players. He hasn't reached his peak. He'll get better this season."

Lawsuit seeks to remove Kerr County judge

AUSTIN (AP) — A county judge who was reprimanded for declaring several people free of Texas and federal laws is now the target of a lawsuit seeking his removal.

Kerr County Judge William Stacy should not be allowed to hold office because he issued eight judicial orders in May which declared various Kerr County residents "sovereigns," Kerr County Attorney David Motley said Tuesday.

The orders were later voided by Stacy.

"He more or less loaned the prestige and power of his office to a group of friends to determine what they want to do," Motley said of Stacy.

One of those receiving an order from Stacy tried to use it to challenge a municipal court's jurisdiction over him in 10 traffic case, officials said.

Messages left by The Associated Press for Stacy at his office and home were not immediately returned.

Last week, the state Commission on Judicial Conduct issued a public reprimand of Stacy. The commission said Stacy showed "a lack of competence in the most fundamental principles of law."

Stacy had called the reprimand "a continuation of the Austin vendetta against Republicans."

He said he made the orders simply to help people "who feel their constitutional rights are being violated."

Stacy, 68, was defeated in the Republican Party primary.

SPEEDY PRINCE

Speedy Prince

1935-1994

Funeral service is set for 2 p.m. Thursday in the First United Methodist Church for Billy "Speedy" Prince, 59, who died Tuesday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a sudden illness.

Officiating will be the Rev. David Robertson, pastor of the Forrest Heights Methodist Church in Lubbock, and the Rev. Ernie McGaughey, pastor of Snyder's First United Methodist Church. Burial will follow in the Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

Born on May 20, 1935 in Snyder, Mr. Prince was a lifelong resident of Snyder. He married JoAnn Henderson on Nov. 4, 1955 in Snyder. They were co-owners of Friendly Flowers.

For some 20 years, Mr. Prince had worked as a service technician for C.E. NATCO in Snyder. A former member of the Army National Guard, he was active in the Goodfellows organization and the Snyder Kiwanis Club. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Romia and Mattie L. Prince.

Survivors include his wife, JoAnn of the home; a daughter and son-in-law, Janie and Mark McCormick of Snyder; two sons and a daughter-in-law, Timmy Prince of Levelland and Scotty and Shelly Prince of Snyder; two brothers, Hays Prince of Jayton and Duwayne Prince of Lubbock; and two grandchildren, Matt McCormick and Megan McCormick, both of Snyder.

FD responds to two calls

Snyder Fire Department responded to two calls Tuesday.

At 8:47 p.m., fire officials responded to a reported building fire at the former Texan Restaurant, 1703 College Ave. They extinguished a small fire in an evaporative cooler in the roof.

Firemen responded to a reported pickup fire at 9:04 p.m. at 30th Street and Avenue C. A fire which began in the engine compartment of a Ford pickup owned by David Cunnington extinguished itself when it burned through a water hose.

SJHS yearbook orders underway

The 1994-95 "Tiger Times" yearbook will go on sale today (3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.) during open house at Snyder Junior High School and continue through November 4.

The full $14 price may be paid when the yearbook is ordered or else a $7 deposit with the balance of $7 due when the yearbooks arrive in the spring.

Orders will be accepted anytime in Room 118 or the office. No extra copies will be ordered. Everyone is encouraged to order their yearbook early.

Officers note single arrest

Snyder area peace officers made one arrest and investigated reports of traffic accidents and assault Tuesday.

Police arrested a 20-year-old man in the 2600 block of Avenue J at 9:14 p.m. on a warrant for violating a promise to appear.

A woman came to the police department at 3:51 p.m. Tuesday in reference to someone assaulting her daughter. A report for Class C assault was filed.

Don's Value King employees contacted police at 7:31 p.m. in reference to having two juvenile shoplifters in custody. The juveniles were later released to their parents. A report for Class C theft was filed.

A woman contacted police at North Avenue O and Lear in reference to a juvenile sitting on a fence and shooting a pellet gun at a trailer house. Some windows were broken out at the house. The resident was not at home and the report will be filed pending charges by the owner.

A caller contacted police at 12:49 a.m. today to report that a man was lying in the road at the blinking light at Union. He advised the subject does this every evening between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. Officers were unable to locate a subject, however.

Police investigated a two-vehicle mishap at 7:50 a.m. Tuesday in the 1800 block of 26th Street. Involved were a 1986 Hyundai driven by Claudette Costilla of 2104 41st St. and a 1993 Ford driven by Edgar Clary of Colorado City.

acted on."

"Well," said Huddleston, "not ignored, but they are not followed."

"I don't know how you feel that way. If they are discussed then they weren't just blatently ignored," Doolittle said. "They were brought up before commissioners court."

"Some things were ignored. They've come up time and time again," said Huddleston.

"So has no smoking at the coliseum," Doolittle retorted.

Doolittle, a lame duck county judge whose term ends following November's general election, said that conflicts between the airport board and court have been ongoing and should stop.

"I'm going off, and I don't mind saying things the way they are. At some time, this (discord between the board and county court) has got to change. Whether it means doing away with the airport board, or whether we need sweeping changes in the board to eliminate some personality conflicts, or whether we do away with a commissioner by a vote of the people, I don't know. But at some point in time, we've got to go on. If this document is able to help turn it around because of communication and hearings such as this, then good."

Following the meeting, Hutchinson said he would begin making changes in the document and believes the commissioners court will be researching the question of liability insurance. A second public hearing will be scheduled at a later date.

Among those present Tuesday were Doolittle, Hutchinson and commissioners C.D. Gray Jr., Ralph Trevey, Roy Idom and Jerry Gannaway.

Hundreds are feared dead in ferry sinking

TURKU, Finland (AP) — Rescuers fought rough seas and howling winds today to search for survivors of an Estonian ferry that capsized and sank with nearly 1,000 people aboard. More than 800 were missing and feared dead.

About 100 to 125 people had been rescued from the 54-degree water hours after the ferry Estonia sank overnight in the Baltic Sea, Swedish and Finnish authorities said. They said rescue workers found bodies, but declined to say how many. The count was confused because of the number of rescue workers involved.

The sinking was one of the worst passenger ship disasters in recent years.

Estonian authorities said the ship's final radio message just after midnight was: "We are sinking! ... The engines have stopped!"

Raimo Tiilikainen, a Finnish Coast Guard spokesman, said 964 people were on board — 776 passengers and 188 crew members. The total, based on a preliminary passenger list, was higher than authorities' initial report of 867 people on the ship.

Hopes for finding anyone else alive were dim because of the difficulty of surviving in cold water.

"We saw about 40 life rafts. Unfortunately, most of them were empty," said Stefan Carneros, pilot of a Swedish rescue helicopter. He said waves in the area were up to 20 feet high.

The waves and winds topping 56 mph hindered rescue operations about 25 miles from the Finnish island of Uto off the country's southwestern coast.

RC&D designed to provide resource development, evironmental protection

The Texas Association of Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) is designed to provide resource development and environmental protection in multi-county areas. The purpose of the RC&D program is to accelerate the conservation, development, and utilization of natural resources to improve the general level of economic activities and to enhance the environment and standard of living in rural Texas.

Texas has 23 organized Resource Conservation & Development areas with two additional applications being developed at this time. Texas has 14 authorized RC&D areas that cover 153 counties in Texas. Nine applications from Texas are currently in Washington, D.C., awaiting authorization from the Secretary of Agriculture. The application areas have part-time coordinators assigned, and the councils initiate and direct the process of planning RC&D projects, developing and implementing area plans, and maintaining the plans.

Of the nine applications in Washington, D.C., five of these RC&D areas are located along the Texas-Mexico border. It is a necessity that these application areas are authorized this year, because of the NAFTA legislation and the new Empowerment Zones.

The 14 RC&D councils provide strong leadership in the area of rural development and resources conservation. Through the RC&D program, local leaders recognize community needs and opportunites to improve the economic and social well being of local people. Program benefits go beyond local natural resource protection to coordination of problems and opportunities across community and county lines. Measures accomplished include: solid waste disposal systems, sewage treatment facilities, libraries, parks, critical area treatment, flood control, nursing homes, schools, community centers, water systems, fire protection and many others. More than 1,000 RC&D program measures have been completed in Texas communities.

RC&D provides a framework for dealing with rural issues through citizen participation. RC&D is as much a process as it is a program. RC&D is run by the people who live in the areas it serves, and they set the priorities for their communities. The RC&D approach to multi-county resource planning has proven to be very popular because the local people assist in identifying problems, planning, sponsoring and solving problems through a measure plan. Some applied RC&D measures still receive federal cost-share funds, while others are completed with grants, donations, state and local funds.

The RC&D program is a nationally recognized locally led delivery system that utilizes national resources to create a viable rural America. The RC&D program provides staff support to the Texas Rural Development Council will facilitate technical assistance from federal agricultural and rural development agencies, will provide technical assistance and will assist in locating funding sources. The RC&D program is the delivery force for the council. Federal, state and local agencies that have rural development programs have no grassroots delivery system. That is where RC&D can play a major role.

Rural development issues are coming to the forefront and RC&D's are taking a leadership role at the "grass roots" level. RC&D's are able to evaluate, plan and implement projects that will improve the quality of life for rural America. RC&D's in Texas are "Making Things Happen" in rural communities across Texas in partnership with Texas Rural Development Council.

The Partnership and Entrepreneurial Development Committee (PED) is excited and pleased to annouce that Betty Switzer of the Texas Commission on the Arts and Alvin Luedecke of the Texas Department of Transportation have agreed to be the state co-chairpersons for the committee. Switzer and Luedecke join Gary Lightsey, the federal chairperson and Michael Hunter, the private sector chairperson in completing the PED committee's triumvirate. Switzer and Luedecke both bring a wealth of experience, knowledge and creativity to the committee.

The PED committee is currently working on three projects: the Rural Resource Team, the Innovative Idea Exchange and a WPA/CCC Project-Historical Marker Identification effort. In the Rural Resource Team Project, both the Fisher County and Hearne projects have been completed. A final report, prepared by John Clary, was delivered to the City of Hearne. Hearne city officials have indicated that they are in the beginning stages of planning and implementing projects as the next phase of their effort.

If you have a problem with drinking enough milk, there are other foods with calcium that can help supplement your diet.

Foods in the following chart can add extra calcium equal to the amount in the 2 to 3 servings of milk you need for each day.

Foods equal in calcium to 1 cup of milk include:
7 medium or 3 ounces of sardines, including bones
2 cups mustard greens
7 corn tortillas, if made with lime or calcium salts — 6-7 inches across
7 wheat flour tortillas — if the flour is enriched (read the label) — 7-8 inches across
3 ounces canned salmon, including the bones
½ cup or 4 ounces tofu (if made with calcium sulfite)
1 cup collard greens, frozen
4 ounces or 1½ waffles, 7 inches across enriched mix with milk and eggs
¼ cup or 4½ ounces Mackerel with bone (includes 2½ tsp. fat)

Foods equal in calcium to ½ cup of milk include:
1 cup cooked dried beans
½ cup turnip greens or fresh bok choy
1 cup broccoli
1 medium square corn bread (2½ x2½ x1½ inches)
2 pancakes, 4 inches across
3 ounces of shrimp
5 slices bread made with enriched flour

You can make these foods higher in calcium by cooking soups with bones and tomato or vinegar, combining macaroni or other pasta with cheese and other combinations that have calcium.

The Emu Report

By Shirley Pate, Pate Emu Farm

The fall months may bring to mind a quiet, slower pace of some people, but not the emu breeder. Most of the breeder pair have been breeding for several weeks now. As the days grow shorter and cooler the coming two's will begin breeding. It will only be a short time until the first, of many, of those big, beautiful, green eggs appear.

Now is the time of preparation for those eggs. We want to do everything possible to see that the eggs are laid in a dry, clean place. We need to clean under the shelter, and spray the ground with a mixture of disinfectant, such as Tek-Trol, that has been cleared to spray around the emu.

Next comes making a nest large enough for the hen to lay her eggs. Prairie hay is usually the one sought by most people because it doesn't pack and retain moisture. To encourage the hen to lay in the nest, under the shelter, it is a good idea to place a nest egg in the nest early. Personally we use the small, hollow football. I open one end, fill it with plaster of paris, and spray paint it dark green.

Generally, the rooster has a lot to do with where the hen lays. Once the rooster sees the nest eggs he will usually begin covering it up and taking care of it just as if it were a real egg. Although, the younger hens may not lay under the shelter at first, it does help if the rooster has already become aware of the nest and nest egg. Once the hen gets the habit of laying in the nest it would be rare that she ever lay elsewhere.

It is important that the nest area be kept clean of any dropping, and clean hay be put in regularly during laying season. Remembering, the clean, dry egg picked up soon after it has been laid has the best hatch rate. For further information contact Pate Emu Farm 573-5340.

USDA public forum planned in Kingsville

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will hold a public forum Oct. 15, in Kingsville, Texas, to solicit public input on policy issues needing consideration during the development of the 1995 Farm Bill.

Harold Bob Bennett, Texas State Executive Director for USDA's Agricultural Stabilizaton and Conservation Service (ASCS), said the forum will be held at Texas A&M University — Kingsville from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Individuals who would like to make a presentation are requested to register in advance. To register, contact the Texas State ASCS Office, phone (409) 260-9207, or FAX (409) 260-9358.

Another forum on this same subject is scheduled to be held during September in Spokane, Wash.

Stockmen Show set Oct. 11-13

Special routes have been chosen to make it easy for visitors to arrive at The Farmer-Stockmen Show just east of Lubbock, Oct. 11-13.

The big outdoor working farm show will be staged on 800 acres of farmland one and a half miles east of Loop 289, East 50th Street.

To arrive at the location with the least amount of traffic worries, visitors should take eastbound Loop 289 around town regardless of which direction they are arriving. Exit to East 50th Street and travel to the show site. Attendants at the gate will direct them to the correct parking area just inside the main gate.

A special overnight parking area has been set aside for self contained motor homes and recreational vehicles near the main exhibit field. There will be no electric or sanitary hookups, however.

The overnight parking area will open on Monday, Oct. 10. Monday arrivals should drive directly to the overnight parking area just north of the main exhibition field and obtain a special pass from the show office for $10 good for all three days of the event. If you arrive during the show, you must first park in the regular parking area, obtain a permit from the show office before you are able to move to the overnight parking area at a later time.

Special parking will also be available for FFA and 4-H members who arrive by school bus. Proceed to the main gate for instructions by those directing traffic. Students and all those 18 or under will be admitted free. Admission will be $3 for adults.

Hours for the big working farm show will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

Under Muslim rule, in the early 10th century, Cordoba, Spain, became the largest city in western Europe and one of the great cultural centers of the world.

Officers praised for nabbing suspect

DALLAS (AP) — An alleged kidnapping has ended with police rescuing a 6-year-old girl who was found naked and hands taped together when she was pulled out of harm's way.

Two Dallas undercover officers are being commended for their good police work in the case, which began about 5 p.m. Tuesday when they responded to a call about a child pulled into a car as she walked with her sister near their far southeast Dallas home.

"Stranger-to-stranger child abductions are a very rare event," said Dallas Assistant Police Chief Marlin Price. "Even rarer is a couple of officers that can remember information, you know, 6-months-old and connect suspects and suspect descriptions when they hear them and act so efficiently that they recover a child before any harm has come to her."

Dallas Senior Cpl. Vidal Olivarez said things began falling into place when he and Senior Cpl. Kenny Sowell talked with the older girl, who told them her sister was abducted by a balding, bespectacled man in a small black four-door car.

"As soon as she said that, I snapped on what we had six months earlier," Olivarez said of a prior indecency with a child report that resulted in no charges.

The officers went back to the police station and located the suspect's picture, then split up — with Sowell heading toward the suspect's Mesquite apartment and Olivarez heading to compile a photograph lineup, the officer said.

Once at the complex, Sowell saw the suspect get out of the car, open the passenger's side door and carry the child upstairs in a red sheet or blanket, police said.

Apparently upon hearing a police helicopter overhead, the suspect returned downstairs where he was arrested by Sowell about 6:20 p.m., police said. A short while later Sowell found the 6-year-old girl in the apartment, naked and wrapped in the red covering with her hands taped together, Olivarez said.

The unidentified 6-year-old girl was taken to Dallas' Parkland Memorial Hospital for examination and treatment, Price said.

Your Birthday

Thursday, Sept. 29, 1994

Fortuitous circumstances in the year ahead could put you in a position that may provide you with an opportunity to achieve a secret desire. Your best efforts will be required, but the payoff will be worth it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Lady Luck could still be looking out for your interests where your finances and security are concerned. Something constructive could be done in this area now. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be at your best today when involved with persons who think in grandiose terms. Something can be collectively accomplished with larger than usual benefits.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This should be a good day for you where personal achievement is concerned. You might get a few breaks that could help you attain your objectives, if taken advantage of properly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There is justification for you to feel hopeful today about several things in which you're involved. These positive aspects might be a bit fuzzy at first, but they soon will be clearly defined.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You can profit in some manner today through the good auspices of an associate who is very fond of you and in a position to help. Secrecy might be required for these developments.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're under excellent conditions for working out mutually beneficial agreements. Commitments can be made today that could please all involved.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is an unusual opportunity around you today that could enable you to strengthen your position in an arrangement where others could profit as well as yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Check with friends today regarding a future event you are planning. This will not only avoid schedule conflicts; it might also provide enhancements you've overlooked.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Favorable conditions that have an effect upon your finances and career are moving along positive lines today. Don't let chances to improve your lot in life slip by.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You could be luckiest today in situations that deal with intangibles. Concentrate on matters that require verbal or written commitments to achieve their objectives.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There is a possibility that you might be able to profit today from two unrelated sources. Keep all avenues open so you can act upon them if they show positive signals.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you might receive some stimulating news that could revive your enthusiasm for an endeavor you temporarily laid aside. It may be related in some manner to your social affairs.
