The 16-year-old dark-eye brunette is also an accomplished dancer and won highest awards in 1936-37 at Camp Waldemar, Kerrville, Texas, in Interpretative and Character Dancing. During the past summer Miss Leon attended the exclusive Tres Rio girls camp in Glenrose.

ASPERMONT WILL INVADE INDIANS TERRITORY TODAY

The Haskell Indians will top off their training schedule during their current "off" week with a non-conference encounter with the Aspermont eleven at Indian Field Friday night.

Non-Conference Game Tops "Off" Week for Tribe Friday Night

Despite their apparent easy win over the Munday Moguls last week for the first entry in the black on the Conference Ledger, there has been no let-up in the training schedule this week. Coaches Mason and Whitaker have had the full squad out for the daily round and have also instructed the Indians in new defensive maneuvers as a preparatory measure against more formidable opponents due later in the season.

Local Fans are Assured Plenty of Action because the Aspermonters in their previous games this season have exhibited an offensive play to good advantage against heavier teams.

Home Believed Responsible For Burglar Alarm

Residents near the square were awakened Thursday morning around 3 o'clock by a burglar alarm in the Lyles Jewelry Store, and night officers and volunteers rushed to the store in the expectation of catching some would-be jewelry thief. All doors and windows in the building were found intact, however, and it was necessary to call Mr. Lyles before the alarm could be shut off. He advanced the explanation that the intricate alarm had been set off by a mouse.

Fire Corps Will Receive Unlimited Number Applicants

Haskell county cotton producers will jingle approximately $70,000 more in their pockets today than they possessed yesterday, following the distribution of 525 checks from the County Agent's office in subsidy payments for compliance in the 1937 agricultural program. The checks were received on Thursday morning, covering payments due on 324 farms in the county. Total amount of the checks figured $67,686.20. To date cotton growers in the county have received a total of $167,902.80 in subsidy payments, represented by 1,308 checks for tenants and landowners of 815 farms.

Cobb, chairman of the convention states that new song books will be used and that a varied and entertaining program is being planned for the gathering.

Judge Patterson Holds That Plaintiffs Have Other Recourse Means

Hon. E. W. Patterson of Eastland, presiding for the opening of the 26th district court term here this week, Tuesday dissolved a temporary injunction which had been granted to 25 property owners of Haskell county restraining Vance Swain, tax attorney of Lubbock and Sheriff Giles Kemp of Haskell county from further prosecution of delinquent tax suits against the defendants. The temporary injunction had been issued by District Judge Dennis P. Ratliff September 6th and was made returnable during the current court term. The Eastland jurist presided this week due to illness of Judge Ratliff.

Members of the Fire Department were called to the Harrison & Gilstrap Gin early Wednesday night to help extinguish a burning bale of cotton on the gin yard, and to prevent possible spread of the fire.

3,916 Bales Cotton Ginned From 1888 Crop

According to the report of W. P. Trice, special agent for the Bureau of the Census, U. S. department of agriculture, 3,916 bales of cotton had been ginned in Haskell county up to Sept. 29, compared with a total of 8,818 bales on the same date last year.

CIVIL CASES HEARD IN 3-DAY SESSION OF DISTRICT COURT

Grand Jury Returns 14 Indictments Before Receding Wednesday

The September term of District Court, convened Monday morning, was adjourned for the remainder of the week Wednesday afternoon. During the first three days of the week a number of civil non-jury cases were heard, including six divorce pleadings in which decrees were granted. Judge B. W. Patterson presided. Trial date for a number of cases now pending on the docket were set during the remaining five weeks of the term. Among the most important court actions scheduled during the current session will be the scheduled hearing of tax suits which will be taken up Thursday morning, Oct. 6th. More than 450 of these cases have been docketed. Criminal docket for the term will be taken up Monday, Oct. 10th, and a panel of Petit Jurors summoned for that date. Several criminal cases remain on the docket from previous terms, and others have been developed by Grand Jury investigation this week.

Extension Courses Being Given Here May Be Cancelled

Haskell is in danger of losing the H-S U extension courses this year if there is not a larger attendance Monday evening. There must be an increased enrollment in the history course before it can be offered. Other cities are asking for this extension work, and Haskell will be sacrificed if there is not a greater number present at the next meeting. If anyone in Haskell or nearby towns is interested they are urged to be at the North Ward School Building Monday at six o'clock. Teachers from Rule, Rochester, Bomarton, Seymour and any other places have already registered for this and the course in Audio-Visual Education. Others are uncertain and they are reminded that it is an opportunity to take this work. The course in history is 'The United States from 1876 to the Present Time'.

WEINERT SQUAD AND ROCHESTER TO PLAY TODAY

Will Be First Conference Game Between Inter-County Rivals

First football game ever played on the Weinert High School gridiron will take place in that city this afternoon, when the Weinert Bulldogs meet the Rochester eleven in their first conference clash of the season in Class C football. This year marks the first advent of the Weinert team in District 1 "C" football, and local supporters are expected to turn out in large numbers to support the team. Regulars on the team have been chosen from a sizeable training squad which has developed a promising string. In their first practice game, the Weinert squad showed up well against the Holiday Eagles. The stiff training schedule maintained since the Holiday game has put the Bulldogs in better mettle for the conference encounter, fans predict.

A large delegation of Haskell businessmen will visit Throckmorton today, where they will join the neighboring city in celebrating the opening of the annual Throckmorton county Fair and Rodeo. The Texas Theatre in this city is playing the production while New York and Los Angeles are packing theatres at the advanced price of $2.00 road-show engagements.

FSA Loan Policy For Ranchers Is Given Latitude

Congressman George H. Mahon was a guest at a special staff meeting of the Farm Security Administration in the regional offices at Dallas this week at which the recently broadened base for rural rehabilitation loans in the counties comprising the Nineteenth Congressional District were discussed. The program has been broadened to accommodate the special needs of agriculture in those areas where the type of farming made it difficult for farmers to follow the standard plans as they were originally set up. C. M. Evans, Regional Director, told the Congressman. Ranch loans, particularly will be easier to service under the new policy, Evans reported.

Local Businessmen Invited To Attend Chuckwagon 'Feed'

'37 COTTON LOAN 'HITCH' SETTLED AT LUBBOCK MEET

County Agent, G. R. Schumann and County Committeeman, V. F. Bunkley, W. S. Grimsley and M. A. Bumpas, attended a meeting at Lubbock on Monday of this week called for the purpose of discussing the 1937 cotton loan situation which resulted when the Commodity Credit Corporation requested that certain producers in this area pay off their 1937 Cotton Loan immediately.

Government Agency Withholds Early Foreclosure On Loan Cotton

The representatives of the Commodity Credit Corporation agreed that none of the cotton loans would be called at this time, neither will the cotton affected by these loans be sold at present. It was agreed that this cotton would be held at least until April 1, 1939, and probably longer. It was further stated that no checks which farmers might receive under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program for the 1937 Cotton subsidy would be held up. "It was first contemplated that these checks would be withheld, but we secured the promise of the Commodity Credit Corporation that this would not be done," stated Schumann.

The Lillian Peak chapter of Future Homemakers met Monday for the first time this season to elect officers. The following were elected:

President—Sue Quattlebaum
 Vice—President—Josephine Parish
 Secretary—Treasurer—Ruth Gilstrap
 Reporter—Doris Hammer
 Parliamentarian—Mary Louise Curry

We plan to have a better club full of activities this year.

First Conference Game Won

The Munday Moguls went down in defeat under the Haskell Indians last Friday night by a score of 39-9. It was the first conference game played in the district 9B. Nearly all the Indians saw action in this game. Besides the starting line-up, there were several first year men in the game that had not played any before on the first team. The Haskell Indians showed great improvement since the game with Rule a week ago.

They play a non-conference game next Friday night with Aspermont. Just a little hint: Aspermont, a class C team, held one of the strongest teams in Class B conference, Anson, to a 14-7 score last Friday night.

T. S. Dramatic Club Organized

The Haskell High School Dramatic Club of the speech department, taught by Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, organized last Thursday with the following officers elected:

President, T. R. Odell; Vice President, Frances Merle Edwards; Secretary—Treasurer, Paul Roberts; and Reporter, Bonnie Dell Hisey.

After the election of officers the club nominee for the West Texas Fair-High School Princess was elected. Bonnie Dell Hisey was elected and she will compete with all other nominees from the various clubs and clubs to see who will be finally selected to be the high school princess.

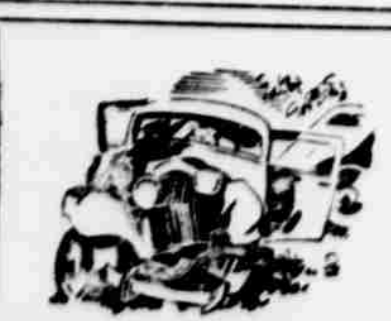

The club voted to sponsor a picture in October to buy materials for cheaped programs and decorations. Mr. Leon, having given a committee permission to do so.

Beides text-book work and the "Emily Post" course, the class is at work on the first chapel program: "Peggy Grows Up". Each member of the class will have a part on the program.

Members are: Marjorie Busby, Bonnie Dell Hisey, Geraldine Ivy, Frances Merle Edwards, Jeffie Maud Toliver, Beunis Faye Ratliff, Eloise Koonce, Josephine Parish, Janell Warren, Paul Roberts, Jack Morris, Stanley Smith, T. R. Odell, Billy Cooper and Ross Lowe.

He Knows His Injuns

"Toy law down" was the interesting comment made at the Munday game by Warren Hamsey, aged two last Friday. Said with a tone of satisfaction, his comment plainly implied that it was a Munday boy he was talking about. He knows his "Injuns" and just to prove to papa and mama that he could stay awake at a ball game, he skipped his afternoon nap and arrived at the game quite wide-eyed. He was a very interested and interesting spectator all during the game, and we just hope he gets to see a lot more Indian victories this year.

Others Off To College

Since last week we found three more of last year's seniors who are going off to school. Irene Miller, who is talking a beauty course in Dallas, left during the summer to begin her course early. T. P. Perdue, Jr., is among those many who are going to Tech at Lubbock and Bob McAnulty is enrolled in N. T. S. T. C. at Denton.

Gene Frierson and Jim Isbell, both of whom finished in 1932, have been unable to attend college these past few years, but are now taking advantage of the opportunity that is presented them and are going to A. & M. this year. We wish them much success and happiness.

Classes Studying Current Events

Current event days are becoming very popular with the teachers of H. H. S. And why not! There's really lots of interesting material in all the newspapers and everyone has some interest in the European affairs. The teachers believe current events teach the students to form their own opinions and how to become better citizens.

Mr. Mason's third year history classes give their reports every Friday and Mrs. Wimbish's government class has set Monday as its day. The freshman social science classes don't see that these do any good, but nevertheless they give their reports every Friday.

Correction

In last week's issue of "The Warwhoop" an error was made in naming the officers of the Gypsy Rambler Club. Madge Leon—not Madgie Reese—is president of the organization.

Beatin' 'Round The Bush

If anyone should ask you to give them a description of the Haskell High School girls, tell them this: "No two are alike and no one is alike more than once."

First Student—Let me alone, I'm mad.
 Second Student—What are you mad about?
 First Student—Because Mr. Mason isn't going to speak to me but one more time.

When a girl thinks her heart is broken, you may rest assured that it is only her imagination sprained.

Algernon (Reading a book)—Fancy this, Percy, a chap thinks a football coach has four wheels.
 Percy—Haw! Haw! And how many wheels has the bally thing?

Science Speaks:
 First Fact—Moths aren't really fighting when they make the furry fly.
 Second Fact—The itch to get married has kept many a maiden lady scratching for a husband.
 Third Fact—A good way to keep your hair from getting wet while in swimming is to wet it before you go in.

This is for students who insist on arguing:
 "It takes a wise man to rise to the occasion, but it takes a wiser one to know when to sit down."

Question: If a boy wearing his father's trousers, eloped with his wife, what would the headlines of the morning paper be?
 Answer: "Flee in Papa's Pants."

Coach Is Football-Minded
 We would like to give the history of our coaches this year and in this article we will give you Mr. Perry Mason, our head coach.

Mr. Mason had a great desire to become a great athlete and a coach some day. After going to Hillsboro High School for four years he entered Hillsboro Junior college where he played two years and the last year he was captain of the team. From there he went to A. C. C. where he played two years on the varsity. After graduating from there he became assistant coach under coach Bill Richey at Haskell High School. He was coach Richey's assistant for three years and then became head coach of Haskell High School when Mr. Richey resigned. Each summer since he graduated, he has gone to a coaching school at Vanderbilt in Tennessee.

Ex-Students Take Typing
 The typing course that was begun in our school this year has attracted several ex-students as well as many juniors and seniors. In the two classes there are twenty-seven enrolled, six of whom are not enrolled as regular students. These are Charles Smith, Mildred Norton, Ruth Woodson, Opal Gilliam, Geneva Thompson and Hugh Lowe.

Ruth and Geneva are also enrolled in the shorthand class which is much smaller than either typing class.

Rosy Confides
 Dear Diary—My, don't we Haskell girls think we're pretty—judging from the way we patronize the "three for a dime" picture outfit. But we can't play football or anything to get famous, so the newspapers will clamor for our pictures.

And speaking of football, while yours truly was feeling exalted the other night I got poetic and I am completely convinced I'm no Shakespeare—whatta you think? "Haskell High School Indians is your name

When with a football you play a game
 You play for reasons great and small,
 To make friends with other schools
 one and all
 Indians stand for furious fights,
 During the games on Friday nights.
 The gun is the signal to quit and be friends,
 And for misunderstandings to make amends.
 Not as Indians still interested in the score,
 But rather as students with "Welcome" on your door.
 And remember in your joy as the victory mounts,
 It is not the winning but how you play that counts.
 For winning is not victory if it cheapens the soul,
 Nor losing defeat if you keep your eyes on the goal."
 Yours for a grand football season.
 —Rattlin' Rosy.

Gypsies Go On Picnic
 To start the year off right the Gypsy Ramblers went on a picnic and hike Tuesday afternoon. After walking about two miles, then climbing over fences, getting tangled up in bushes, stepping on sticklers and—last but not least—sitting on stickers, we enjoyed the eating most of all. The club had been divided into groups of seven, and among the groups the girls had worked out their own menus. So it didn't take long for each group to get their lunches spread and start enjoying the food and conversation. The conversation continued in some groups long after the food had vanished and twilight was upon us before we left the spot.

Ye Olde Nibble Shoppe
 Hear ye! Hear ye! As to the future reference of the sudden outbursts of some of our younger citizens, came to above mentioned hoppe and stock up on the latest goings-out. Straight from the minds of some of ye future leading citizens of Haskell, do you at the mere price of reading. Aren't bargains easy to find, these days?
 I'll bring out this snappy little number first. She is a very pretty blonde from Monahans. She has a little redhead for a sister. But with all this luck she is still sweet. Otherwise you can be assured that she would not be mentioned in this 'kolium' in such a manner.
 There are resolutions and there are resolutions. But one certain former football player said he was going to "catch up" on this going business when he got well. (He spent the summer in bed.) And he has. Or should I say "is?"
 H. Chaining Corner
 Wanted: I soft feather pillow to use during all hours of school. Will pay liberal fee. See me at Any Hard Seat.
 I Feel Mistreated.
 Lost: I wad of 3 day-ole-gum. Was lost somewhere between chemistry class and office. Will gladly reward finder half of said gum. Hint to enticed; look on all shoe bottoms. Finder please return to Needsom Gum.
 Heard: That the blondest junior boy fell for the blondest freshman girl. Do you know your blondes?
 A sophomore football player bears the slogan "Strictly Binus" these days. He says, "No more falsehoods, and a whole lot of football and school." We wonder??
 One way to keep friends is to never give them away. That is the reason no names have been mentioned.
 Yes, Rattlin' Rosy I agree with you on the subject of "Oh! For, a fan!" It is, indeed, warm weather for such a late date. But since we have no contract with Old Man Weather, let's only hope to see the day when our dad's will pay their taxes. And the tax man will see that the school man sees it that there are air-conditioned school buildings. Agreed on said binus?
 Bye,
 I. Ritesbrite Kolum.

Pep Squad To Suit Out Friday
 The pep squad girls, as you may have noticed, turned out almost one hundred per cent for the Haskell - Munday football game. That was one bunch of girls who really exercised their vocal powers. They are almost sure that they will get their suits before the game Friday. We had to make a slight change in the gold color of them, but they will be just as pretty.

The event of the last game held several funny things for the pep squad, but the funniest was the following instance. The score was at its highest point when Mr. Mason began to put in the smaller boys to let them play a little. The pep squad, or rather all of the pep squad but one, began cheering glad that the small boys were getting a chance to play. When the cheering stopped, we were amazed to hear a hear-breaking sob in our midst. Turning toward the sound, we were astounded to see one girl crying unrestrained tears.

When she was asked why she was crying, she answered, between sobs, that we were going to lose because the little boys were going in. After about five minutes of crying, she stopped and resumed interest in the game. In the meantime the whole pep squad had a good laugh, and something to "write home" about.

Mrs. Bertha McNeil has had the following guests in her home this week: Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hoard and Mrs. Don Isdnree of Houston and Mrs. M. C. Alexander of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Minnie Marshall of Coleman is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. M. Silvers and other relatives, Mrs. R. P. Glenn and Mrs. J. H. Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Reynolds and son Virgil and Mrs. Virgil Hudson were visitors in Fort Worth Tuesday.

Mrs. Rollins Taylor of Decatur is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Collins.

State Patrol To Add 'White Wing' Aid for Drivers

State police plan to "clean up" on Texas motorists—but in a manner expected to be pleasing to the motoring public, it was announced in Austin by the public safety commission.

W. H. Richardson, Jr., safety commission chairman, said plans are being made to equip patrol cars with soap, paper towels and containers of iced water. Then, when state police assist motorists with repairs to disabled vehicles there will be a general hand washing scene followed by refreshing drinks of water.

The safety chairman said the idea is part of a plan to impress Texas and visiting motorists with the state's hospitality and to permit patrolmen, whose hands are dirtied many times a day assisting travelers with repairs to their automobiles, to "keep clean and cool."

"We agree there is hardly a task as unpleasant as changing a tire, but it can be made more agreeable if there are means of washing hands and being refreshed with a drink," he commented.

State police expressed the opinion that a cold drink of water may even soothe the hurt feelings of drivers arrested for traffic violations.

Mrs. M. L. Friedlander of Los Angeles has a contract with a local taxi driver that whenever he finds her dog, "Murphy," too far away from home he is to drive him back home in the taxicab.

A bandit who robbed Jack Blume's hat store in New York City of $6 became disgusted at the small loot and handed it back to Blume, bought a $1 cap and stalked out, muttering, "this is a fine way to begin the week."

The following recipe and method of mixing was given by Mrs. Stanford: 4 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup flour, 2-4 cup water, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1-2 tsp. salt. Separate egg, beat yolks until thick and light. Add sugar gradually, beating well. Add water and flavoring. Sift other 1-2 cup flour with baking powder. Add to mixture. Then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a shallow pan in a slow oven about 40 minutes until lightly browned. Turn out immediately on wet towel, trim off crusty edges. Spread with jelly, preferably a red jelly, and roll while still warm. Sprinkle top with powdered sugar and coconut. CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Sunday, Oct. 2, 1938

Sunday at church the teachers and officers of the Sunday School classes and departments are to be installed by the pastor. All pupils are asked to be present to witness these ceremonies and make a success of the occasion.

The Sunday night fellowship hour is to offer the Haskell quartet in two numbers as a special attraction. This, in addition to the usual emphasis on friendliness and good singing for these Sunday night services should make this a very popular service. A full choir is promised by the committee composed of Mrs. Iva Hester, and Misses Eva Bell Phippen and Beulah Cass.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
J. G. Malphurs, Minister

The roll will be checked next Lord's day to get the percentage of attendance and other information we need about the members. Our percentage of attendance has been very excellent, however, we are not satisfied. We urge every member to be present for worship, and, incidentally, to be marked "present."

We urge everybody to read carefully the 15th chapter of First Corinthians to try to find the verse which will be used for our text for the eleven o'clock sermon. The chapter well deserves many sermons, but one verse especially contains gist of the whole chapter. See if you can find that verse.

For the evening service the subject will be, "The Call of Moses" the third sermon of a series on the deliverance of Israel from Egyptian bondage. Out of this wonderful story of Israel the minister will bring forth things both "new and old" (Mat. 13:52). This sermon will prove interesting to the educated from its historical point of view, and to the unlearned from its example of faith in God.

ing was "Spawn of the North" which according to several members of the party was educational as well as entertaining.

Junior Have Picnic

Perseverance is a characteristic of the junior class, especially when it comes to entertainment. Our picnic got off to a bad start since we had not prepared refreshments, but it did not take us long to decide, as we were hungry. We secured the eats and went to the park, but imagine our disappointment when we drew near and saw that Monday had preceded us on a similar mission and were already occupying the coveted grounds.

We refused to be dejected, and even though the hour was getting late we determined to have the picnic, and we accepted Mr. Sullivan's invitation to go to his house. We felt by that time that we were "in debt" to our stomachs so we built a fire, roasted our weiners and satisfied our hunger. A picnic just isn't a picnic without games, so we chose games with some rather vigorous exercise, which might not have been good for our digestions, but for a class so full of vim as we they fitted the occasion.

As good juniors never stay out as late as some seniors do, we hurried home to happy dreams.

Seniors Elect Duchess To Cotton Carnival

The senior class had a called meeting September 21, for the purpose of electing a duchess to represent them at the cotton carnival to be held in Abilene, October 4-9. Miss Ernestine Howard, an attractive senior, was elected. She was allowed to choose a maid in waiting to accompany her. She chose Eula Newsom.

Can You Imagine?

J. C. having to be moved to the front seat in the study hall? Junior C. telling a certain high school teacher that she is pretty to keep her from giving the class a test? The juniors having a picnic and the seniors having a theatre party on the same night? Wanda D. not flirting with W. T.?

Blue Uniforms Are More

If you care to get mildly sentimental about the United States army, you might be interested to know that Uncle Sam's soldiers are once more going to be "boys in blue."

The olive-drab service uniform familiar to this generation is soon to be discarded. Army experts have decided to give it up for a uniform of blue—of the deep, navy-blue tint of Civil War days, to be sure, but a lighter, hazier blue which will look natter at close range, and at the same time, have a lower visibility at ordinary shooting distance.

It is principally a matter of economics and military efficiency that causes the change. The War Department explains that the regulation olive-drab khaki is hard to get in a hurry. If the need for uniforms suddenly increases overnight a hundred-fold—as it did early in 1917—the new recruits are more likely to find themselves wearing outfits of subtly differing shades, ranging from an almost-green to an almost-yellow. This irritates colonels and regiments and is apt to confuse the rookie.

All of this, to anyone of a sentimental turn of mind, is a good thing. By all our old traditions the American soldier is a fellow dressed in blue. It was so in the Revolution—when he was dressed in any sort of uniform at all—and it was so in the Civil War; it was the blue-coated trooper who sweated across the plains in pursuit of the Indian, and even in the war with Spain the blue shirt was still regulation.

But if a mere civilian may have opinions on army efficiency, one might wonder why the War Department didn't go a bit farther when it was making the change.

A retired general of the U. S. army recently wrote a book in which he suggested that our army throw away all of its present uniforms and simply clothe its soldier in blue dungarees, of the kind familiar to the doughboy working parties.

First of all, said the general, blue denim can always be bought in quantity without difficulty. It is cheap and durable; expand your army overnight, and you can have the whole gang in uniform at once.

Secondly, continued the general, today's soldier spends a good part of his time scouring around in the dirt and mud. No matter what you put on him, he's going to be well-soiled as soon as he gets into action; why not give him the kind of clothing that is suited to that sort of work?

Whether the army will ever get that far is a question. Given the brass hat's love for parade-ground trimness, it probably won't. Meanwhile, it is rather pleasantly interesting to know that the "boys in blue" are coming back. It is just as essential to keep a soldier's pride up to a high state of efficiency and his dress natty and good looking as other training, to keep him proud of his country.

Lighter Motor Units

Engineers in the transportation field including airplanes, buses, trucks and even railcars and railway trains concede that new materials will completely revolutionize all types of vehicles during the next few years.

There are now metals available which can cut the weight of these transportation units to a fraction of present practice. The very soul of transportation engineering is strength with lightness. For safety and durability parts must be simply strong. How to secure this strength while at the same time keeping weight down to the limit is where advanced engineering is making spectacular gains.

No greater aid has ever come to the help of the engineer than the new wonder metals now rapidly becoming commercially available. Magalloy, for example, with a weight only one-fifth as great as steel and only two-thirds the weight of aluminum, has made possible such great reductions in the weight of castings and other normally heavy parts that amazing gains in efficiency are realized.

When any transportation unit, be it airplane, truck, bus or railway car, is made lighter without reducing its carrying capacity, tremendous savings are made in such items as fuel, tires, bearings and other parts subjected to load or stress.

Truck and bus operators express this saving in terms of ratio of payload to vehicle load. The higher this ratio the more profitable and the more satisfactory the vehicle. Consequently, the introduction into commercial use of such materials as Magalloy is being hailed enthusiastically by designing and operating engineers in all branches of the transportation field.

Borers At Work

An amazing mass of evidence is being gathered by the Congressional committee investigating un-American activities, which must prove conclusively, if further proof were needed, that insidious and sinister influences are at work, with the object of changing our form of government.

The insidious nature of this boring from within arises from the fact that many patriotic Americans who are giving aid to groups which are really directed by Communists or Fascists.

Otherwise good citizens have been induced to lend their support to Fascists under the guise of opposing Communism, while others join organized by Communists under the urge to fight Fascism.

Both classes of alien-minded groups usually choose some deceptive name, and their openly avowed purposes often seem harmless, and even worthy of support. But when their real purposes are disclosed, as is now being done, they are found to be such as to endanger the very foundations upon which our government has been built.

Americans should awaken to this grave danger, which can no longer be waved aside as mere imagination. That certain high officials of the government are affiliated with subversive elements can no longer be doubted. They must be eradicated if our liberties are to be maintained.

This, too, is the height of something or other: A fund of $50,000 is being raised by the Workers' Alliance, an organization of WPA workers, for the purpose of supporting candidates who will vote to give them easier jobs and more pay.

Wives have a right to take money from their husbands' trousers pockets, according to Police Judge Orr of Sacramento, who acquitted Mrs. Edith Swain after she admitted indulging in the ancient custom.

A special poll by the Institute of Public Opinion reveals that 75 per cent of all newspapers voting, including both Democratic and Republican, throughout the country, disapprove President Roosevelt's attack on Senator George of Georgia, whom he seeks to defeat in Democratic primary, whom he seeks to defeat in Democratic primary, support of Senator George.

Plymouth First to Present New Models for 1939

Here's the first of the new 1939 automobiles, presenting an impressive array of added features for greater comfort and luxury in the lowest price field. The latest models now on display at Plymouth showrooms here confirm the forecasts that stronger "eye appeal" would highlight new auto designs for 1939. Inside and out, this newest Plymouth is completely restyled. Headlamps and tail lights are streamlined into the fenders, and a new Vee-type windshield adds more than six inches to body length above the belt. Built on a longer wheelbase—now 114 inches—brand new features include softer-riding coil springs of Amola steel; new high-torque engine performance; remote control gear shift up on the steering post, and a new "safety-signal" speedometer that flashes traffic lights right under a driver's eyes. The new Plymouth rides better, handles easier—and prices are still lower this year, the factory just announced.

Historic Hoaxes

By Elmo Scott Watson

The Hoaxer Hoaxed

TO PHINEAS T. BARNUM one day came a letter from a man in Vermont saying that he had a sensational attraction for his American Museum on Broadway. It was a cherry-colored cat which he would sell for $200 but the terms were cash-in-advance and immediate acceptance of the offer.

Always eager to obtain some new wonder, Barnum promptly sent on the $200. When the "wonder" arrived, he discovered that it was only an ordinary large black cat. Attached to its neck was a card which read: "I forgot to tell you that the cherries up here are black ones."

At first Barnum was furious at the deception. Then he saw the humor of the situation and decided to turn it to his own advantage. He displayed the animal in his museum and gave wide publicity to his acquisition of a "genuine cherry-colored cat from Vermont."

If a customer, upon seeing the animal, complained that he had been deceived and demanded his money back, the showman explained that he had bought the animal in good faith and that, furthermore, it really was the color of cherries, only they were Vermont black cherries. Usually, however, visitors to the museum were so delighted to see how the master hoaxer had been hoaxed that they did not complain.

Hills Maintain Model Experiment for Research and Testing of Feeds

Local dealer for heifer freshens weighing more than 1200 lbs. at 24 to 26 months of age, compared to the normal weight of 1120 lbs. at 30 months, and she produces approximately 10,000 lbs. of milk her first lactation period.

Herd Average Increased 5,200 Pounds

When the heifer comes into production she joins the herd in the milking unit, which is modernly equipped for handling 100 cows. Feeding to the cow's needs during the dry, freshening and milking periods is the program followed in the daily experimental work. Different handling and feeding of the animals is known to be essential in each of these periods to insure maximum milk production through the entire milking cycle. It was through following this program that the Purina herd of grade cows, averaging 6800 lbs. of milk and 280 lbs. of butter per year, was brought up to more than 12,000 lbs. of milk and 486 lbs. of butter, without the purchase of a single female. The physical condition of the herd has likewise been greatly improved.

Producing Market Toppers

The beef cattle unit at the Purina Farm carries 225 head of steers. Feeding operations are continuous. As experiments on one group are completed, the steers go to market and are replaced with another stock of animals. Here one finds practical combinations of protein supplement feeds being studied with the object of producing the most pounds of beef and the best finish at lowest cost, when fed with home grains. All feedstuffs are tested to determine what proteins will work together most efficiently in the ration and show the most profitable feeding results. Topping the market is a regular occurrence with these Purina feed cattle.

Faster Gains, Larger Litters

Conducting perhaps the largest experimental hog feeding operation in America, the Hog Department at the Purina Farm uses two separate plants. One is a farrowing unit taking care of 75 sows and litters. The other is a fattening unit which accommodates 240 mature fattening hogs. In order to keep a perfect record on blood lines, the Farm raises all their own experimental gilts and shoots. Condition, ancestry, and previous handling of every hog are definitely known. Feeding results become extremely accurate with such complete information. An average of 9.33 pigs to the litter is the Purina record at weaning time, the figures show. That is 3 more pigs per litter than the farm average the country over.

An "Egg to Egg" Cycle

A most impressive and far-reaching set of nutritional experiments are those conducted at the poultry unit. From 2000 to 2500 baby chicks are hatched and put into the brooder house every four weeks the year round and raised on hardware cloth in strict confinement. There are 20 experimental pens in this unit, and each feeding test is run in duplicate using the same ration to a pair of the pens and repeating the experiment's until conclusive results are obtained. By careful sanitation and management practice the chick mortality averages less than four percent. Thousands of mature birds in laying and freeing flocks are on experiment throughout the year.

Ducks and Turkeys

In experimental work with ducks, starting, growing and laying feed formulas are developed, tested, and studied with infinite care and practical handling, producing a six pound duck at nine weeks of age with less than 24 pounds total feed.

From 600 to 1200 turkeys are raised by the Farm and fattened for market every year. The high average of No. 1 straight breasted birds produced annually at the turkey unit, and the low mortality and low cost of production, are the outstanding features of these experiments. A complete breeding unit is maintained. The entire breeding flock averaged 123 eggs last year, which is about 70 eggs more than the average turkey lays.

Dogs—Foxes—Rabbits

Dogs, foxes, and rabbits are constantly on test in separate experimental groups. The dog feeding operations are conducted on a very large scale. Housed in individual kennels attached to long runs and completely enclosed with wire are animals of the principal canine breeds, common currs, and huskies from Admiral Byrd's last expedition to the Antarctic. The effect of different feeds on breeding, whelping, growth, and condition are closely studied with these test animals. From this work of many years has been perfected a dog ration so complete in every feeding requirement that nine generations of animals have been raised on it, getting no other food during that time.

The huskies on exhibit at the Dog Unit presented to the Purina Experimental Farm by Admiral Byrd, on his return from his last expedition to the Antarctic. The food he took along for his dogs on this expedition was the dog food perfected at this Unit. It kept his dogs in such fine health and condition that he presented the dogs to the Purina Experimental Farm as a token of appreciation.

F. F. Hill Succeeds Myers as Governor F. C. Administration

Houston, Sept 24.—F. F. Hill has been appointed Governor of the Farm Credit Administration by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, succeeding W. I. Myers, recently named head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Cornell University. Hill has worked continuously at the Farm Credit Administration since it was organized in 1923, and has been Deputy Governor since 1934.

Although still only 37 years old, Hill is widely known for his work in agricultural economics and farm financing. His experience was drawn upon heavily by the Farm Credit Administration in perfecting the "normal value" appraisal policy which enabled the Federal land banks and Commissioner to refinance over two billion dollars of farm mortgage debts following the breakdown of agricultural credit in 1932-33.

Born on a farm near Kingman, Kansas, not far from the heart of the winter wheat belt, Hill lived there until he was 12 years old when his family moved to a 1500-acre farm near Davison, Saskatchewan. At that time American farmers were homesteading new Canadian spring wheat land. While he was growing up, going to school and farming, what Hill saw of the boom and collapse in commodity prices and land values during and after the World War period impressed him lastingly.

At Cornell University where he was awarded a scholarship in 1923 after graduating from the University of Saskatchewan and working for a time as agricultural extension agent, Hill specialized in farm management, agricultural credit, cooperative marketing and other studies accenting agricultural stability.

Later, at the Federal Land Bank of Springfield, Massachusetts, where he was agricultural statistician and comptroller, and afterward at Cornell as Research Professor of Land Economics, Hill made exhaustive studies which showed the vital importance to farmers of good soil in lifting mortgage debt. He was among the first to point out the almost universal tendency in American agriculture to over-value poor land and under-value good land in appraising farms for mortgage loans. The new Governor has also taken a leading part in developing the 535 production credit associations and 13 banks for cooperatives, in line with the Farm Credit Administration's policy of providing a complete and permanent system of cooperative credit for farmers.

We urge everybody to read carefully the 15th chapter of First Corinthians to try to find the verse which will be used for our text for the eleven o'clock sermon. The chapter well deserves many sermons, but one verse especially contains gist of the whole chapter. See if you can find that verse.

For the evening service the subject will be, "The Call of Moses" the third sermon of a series on the deliverance of Israel from Egyptian bondage. Out of this wonderful story of Israel the minister will bring forth things both "new and old". (Mat. 13:32). This sermon will prove interesting to the educated from its historical point of view, and to the unlearned from its example of faith in God. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

Fingerprints Help State Police War Against Criminals

State police identification officials reported from Austin today that 149,824 fingerprint records had been received from police of Texas and the nation since the bureau was created three years ago.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, state police director, said fiscal year reports showed that 24,982 personal fingerprint records were in the state police files and have been instrumental in the identification of 27 civilians otherwise unknown. The remainder of the records relate to criminals and are kept apart from the personal identification files.

Included in the reports were records of the thefts of 11,247 automobiles in the three-year period and notices of 2,083 other property thefts. Automobile losses decreased 25 per cent the past year when 3,295 were reported stolen. Photographs of criminals numbered 22,319 and criminal records received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington totaled 111,836.

Early last year, the director said, a single fingerprint system was installed for the identification of criminals who leave fingerprints at scenes of crimes. In this particular file there are 23,750 records.

The records stated that 980 examinations of questioned handwriting and typewriting documents were made by experts of the bureau. Identifications of fugitives increased 314 (per cent) during the past fiscal year.

Col. Carmichael pointed out that the state identification bureau serves as a centralized clearing point for peace officers of Texas and has furnished identifications of hundreds of fugitives captured in Texas and other states providing less expensive means for transmission of information and quicker identifications than were had before its installation.

Mrs. Ed Robertson and daughter Jean of Malakoff, are visiting relatives in Haskell.

A horse owned by W. T. Brittingham of Temperanceville, Vr., climbed a narrow stairway to the second floor of a stable. One side of the barn had to be removed and a bridge built from the second floor to a truck to get the animal down again.
