Fire Chief Lum Davis Cites Hazards
As Season Comes On For Grassfires

Last week, the Eldorado Volunteer Fire Department answered alarms to three grassfires here in town.

Lum Davis, chief of the local fire-fighters, said that this points up the hazard from grass fires now present. Hot, dry weather following rainier weather produces large amounts of dry grass, weeds, and other cover which burns rapidly and catches easily. Summertime winds can catch a small grass blaze and turn it into major proportions very quickly, he noted.

Local residents are urged to take great care in burning trash. All grass should be cleared from around the trash barrels in which burning is to be done, and trash burning should only be done in barrels or other receptacles that will prevent the blowing of burning paper. There should be an adequate amount of water on hand before the trash is set afire to put out any small blazes that may result in nearby grass.

The Eldorado Volunteer Fire Department emphasizes that if a small grass blaze seems that it might be difficult to control, do not hesitate to call the Fire Department at 24242. They would rather help control a small blaze than have to battle a large one, a fire that could mean considerable damage to the property owner. Since grass fires do burn so rapidly this time of year, the firemen need all the warning they can get if one seems to be getting out of hand.

"We don't mind at all making a run to put out a small grass fire," the Fire Department Chief said, "And we sure hope anyone who has a small grass fire will call us before it becomes a large one."

A special word was given to farmers and ranchers living out in the county. If a grassfire gets out of hand, the ranchman should call in the alarm and then drive out to the highway to meet the fire trucks and direct them through the proper gates to the site of the blaze.

Also, ranchmen usually keep their sprayers filled with water to assist the firemen if and when needed.

Our neighbor city of Sonora is making big plans for a Diamond Jubilee from August 15-21 and all the citizens down there are enthusiastically entering into the spirit of the thing.

Their mayor, his honor A. E. Prugel, was in Eldorado Tuesday sporting the biggest crop of whiskers you ever saw and immediately became the object of a great deal of good-natured comment.

One of our out-spoken business girls asked him when the big hoop-te-do was coming off—"August 15 to 22."

Eight Delta Gas Wells Are Now On Production In Eldorado Field

Pressure gauges, valves and a conglomeration of pipes present an impressive appearance at the No. 1 Parker gas well, which was one of eight Delta-Pauley gassers put on production early this month.

The gas which is sold to Northern Natural, goes into a newly-completed Brooks pipeline and is transported to the gasoline plant near Merton.

The other seven wells on production include Delta's four gassers on T. K. Jones, two on Jackson and one on Whitten. Delta still has four more gassers which are not yet on production—three on C. C. West estate and one on Keeney.

Other capped gas wells in the area include Cabot No. 1 Whitten, Skelly No. 1 T. P. Robinson, and Sinclair No. 1 T. K. Jones; Skelly No. 1 Jackson, and a Mallard No. 1 Luedecke which is probably now in process of completion.

Final Trophy Won
By Christy Moore

The last of the trophies has been added to the fine collection of Christy Moore. Christy ended her high school basketball career last Saturday night in Waco as a member of the South All-Star team.

Christy was presented with the Free Throw Trophy after winning the annual free shot contest on Friday night. Three girls from each team won the right to enter the contest. To make the contest interesting two girls from the North made 9 of 10. Christy came to the line and calmly placed 10 of 10 in the basket to win not only the trophy but the admiration of those members of the Texas Girls Basketball Coaches Association and friends. In the ballgame on Saturday night Christy played one quarter and scored 9 points.

Those who have watched this girl perform for Eldorado during the last four years know what a talent she had for this game and it was with pleasure and pride that 31 Eldorado fans looked on as she shone in the role of an All-Star, the highest honor a girl basketball player can have.

Miss Moore graduated from here in May. She was one of the outstanding players on the girls' team, of which Jack Bell is coach.

Little League Closes;
White Sox Champs

After trailing the Red Sox for five full innings last Thursday night, the White Sox came from behind in top of the sixth and ran in 9 scores to beat the Reds 7 to 14.

When the 5th inning ended at 9:25 the Reds were leading 7 to 5, but they blew up in the 6th and the White Sox ran away with the game. Red Sox had one last chance in the bottom of the 6th, but were unable to score.

By innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6
White Sox ----- 0 0 1 1 3 9—14
Red Sox ----- 1 2 1 2 1 0—7

This left the White Sox as champions for the season without the need of a 3-game "world series."

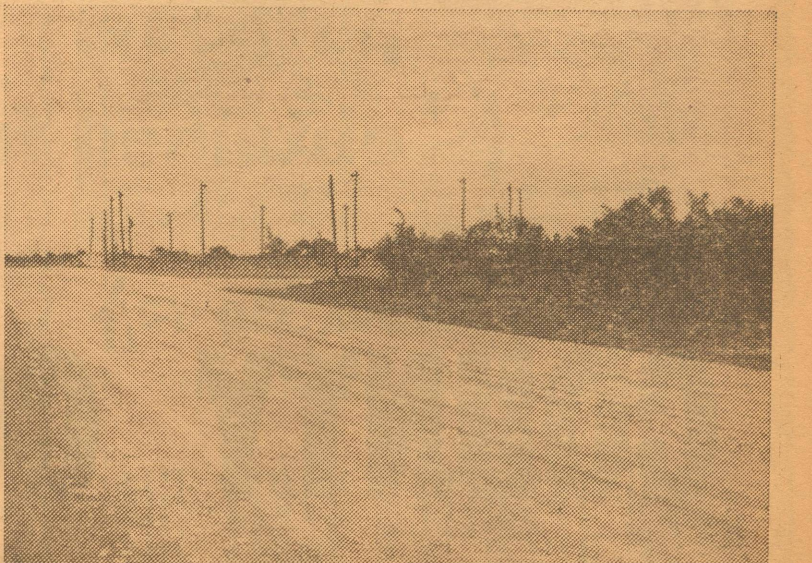

A consolation game between the Tigers and Cougars was played Friday night which the Tigers won 8 to 4. This closed the Little League season for this year.

Caution Indicated In Sunbathing

Summer offers its own brand of fun—outdoor recreation, cookouts, get-togethers and the like. But summer enjoyments, like others, have their hazards or pitfalls.

Take sunning for example. It's practically an all-American sport. For those who participate, a beautiful tan is a status symbol well worth baking for. Too much roasting, however, results in a burn.

Everyone reacts differently to the sun. But, no matter how easily you tan, follow the rules for even baking.

First, take it easy. Ten minutes on a side is enough for the first day. Increase the time by about five minutes for each successive day. And, don't be fooled by a cloudy or hazy sky. You can burn on cloudy days too.

Be choosy about where you sun. If you are near reflections from aluminum, water or sand, the sun's rays are intensified.

Keep your defenses up while you sun. Suntan creams and lotions contain chemical sunscreens which help prevent sunburn by absorbing ultraviolet rays. One coat of lotion is not enough for a day at the beach. Apply it as directed after each swim and whenever it seems to have rubbed off. Since eyes and hair need protection too, wear dark glasses and don a hat.

And, don't forget that continual exposure ages skin prematurely. Year-round exposure or excessive summer tanning can cause a permanent leathery look. The correlation between continual exposure and skin cancer indicates additional danger.

The back yard barbecue is another traditional part of summer fun. But barbecuers would do well to restrict all cooking over charcoal to the outdoors. Bringing a grill full of coals into the garage, basement, back porch or kitchen in case a sudden rain comes up—can be deadly. Charcoal briquets can produce the deadly, odorless carbon monoxide as long as they are giving off heat.

Campers have been asphyxiated by trying to heat cabins, tents and even cars with charcoal briquets. Carbon monoxide is especially treacherous since its presence cannot be detected by the senses.

Have fun your own way this summer, but have it with care. (A feature from the Texas State Department of Health, Division of Public Health Education.)

CARBON PAPER at the Success.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

The cotton insect survey of the county conducted by the county agent, entomologists, and producers making counts shows little change from the previous week.

Cotton fleas remain at 10% which is below infestation stage. Bollworm eggs average 3 per 100 terminal buds or 3%. Boll weevil damage is 3 squares per 100 or 3%.

Cotton is doing nicely and is fruiting on schedule with only slight damage from all cotton insects.

Beneficial insects most prominent assassin bug, lace wing fly, spiders, lady beetles.

Producers should watch cotton fleas very closely, then use judgment as to timing spraying as it is the opinion of most with the amount of bollworm eggs being laid by millers that the bollworm infestation will increase rapidly as many beneficial insects will be killed as well as cotton fleas.

A friend is a person who says nice things behind your back in spite of your faults.

Don't Be Misled—Agriculture's importance to the economy of Texas is not determined by the number of people living on farms and ranches. And, points out John McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, don't be misled by the fact that only 8% of the state's population now reside on farms and ranches. Another 32% of the state's residents derive all or part of their income by supplying production items for farmers or by processing or distributing agricultural products for consumer use. No citizen is far removed from agriculture nor its business generating effects upon the economy of Texas, emphasizes the economist.

Producers who are interested in killing their prairie dogs may purchase gas cartridges at the courthouse to do the job.

It is the obligation of each producer to eradicate or control prairie dogs to keep them from spreading and repopulating the county.

It is hoped that all will make a good effort and all dogs will be under control by September 1, 1965—giving July, August to get the job done.

Poverty of purpose is worse than poverty of purse.

Availability of most plant nutrients is influenced by the soil pH or degree of alkalinity or acidity of a soil.

Growth and development of plants depends on many factors. These include climatic conditions, diseases, insects, soil texture, soil structure, soil fertility and management practices. If any of these factors are unfavorable, plant growth will be unsatisfactory.

The soil reaction range (pH range) is sometimes overlooked as a soil characteristic that can be used to determine whether suffi-ent quantities of soil nutrients are available to plants.

Soil reaction can be determined only by a soil test. A laboratory test with a pH meter gives most accurate results. Soil test kits with color indicators can be used but are less accurate.

Certain soil amendments change the reaction. Ground agricultural limestone increases soil pH (makes it less acid). To decrease soil pH (make it more acid) elemental sulfur, sulfuric acid, iron sulfate or aluminum sulfate can be used.

The quantity of these amendments to be used depends not only on the present soil pH but also on soil texture, organic matter content and exchange capacity of the soil.

No general recommendations for using soil amendments can be given. Application rates should be based on the soil test.

For more information concerning pH and how it affects the availability of nutrients for certain plants, Bulletin L-164, "Soil Reaction (pH) Ranges" is available at the county agent's office.

The largest contributing factor to flower growers, gardeners and to shade trees is chlorosis—caused by alkalinity in the soil in the county. Most soil tests show 7.4 to 8.6 which is slightly alkaline. 7.0 is neutral—neither acid nor alkaline.

All plants have a pH tolerance. For instance it is almost useless to try to grow a gardenia with a pH tolerance of 4.0 in a slightly alkaline soil. The reverse holds true in trying to grow a plant with a pH tolerance of 7.8 in a soil that tests 4.0. Example okra.

Some plants have a wide pH tolerance. Example mesquite.

All would benefit and save money when going to the nursery by buying the plants, trees and the shrubs that are within the pH tolerance in which they are to be planted.

There are no berry patches or vineyards due to the pH tolerance being too high.

Fruit trees, shrubs and flowers to do best in your landscape deserve your study.

Some people will never be able to take it with them because it's gone before they are.

He was also appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to conference committees to settle differences between the House and Senate on the General Appropriations Bill and the Code of Criminal Procedure. He was author of the Code, a wide-ranging revision of the law in that field which was enacted by the Legislature and which becomes effective on January 1, 1966.

Austin.—Rising insurance rates continue to stir up most of the excitement in the state capital.

A Dallas attorney, Bert Bader, filed suit in the 98th District Court here challenging legality of the State Insurance Board's order boosting insurance premiums an average of 13.4%.

In asking the court to set aside the recent order, which hiked some key liability and collision rates more than 20%, Bader maintained that the state law under which premiums are set is unconstitutional.

He also criticized the Board's allowance of 37% of premium income for company expenses and its failure to consider the investment income of insurance firms in fixing rates.

Bader pointed out that Texas' laws virtually make it mandatory that Texans buy auto insurance. Therefore, the arbitrary increase in rates violates due process of law.

Another factor cited by Bader is that the Board failed to take into consideration the actual operating expenses of the insurance companies affected.

He also said the accident rate is decreasing.

For these and other reasons he contends that the new rate, to become effective on August 1, is grossly excessive.

Oil Allowable Cut

State Railroad Commission set August oil production allowable at 2,905,312 barrels a day, a slight reduction from the July allowable of 2,911,115.

Figure is based on a formula of 28% of potential, compared with 28.1% for July.

August, 1964, allowable was 2,794,312 under a 26.5% factor.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court decided to hear appeals from both the state and four Gregg county oilmen penalized $304,800 for allegedly drilling and operating a slanted oil well (1952-62) in Wood county.

Supreme Court left standing a verdict denying a $4 million suit against the estate of the late San Antonio oilman, Tom Slick. Suit resulted from a uranium venture which never got off the ground.

Fourth Court of Civil Appeals had ordered the trial court to determine whether two corporations owned by Slick breached a contract to furnish funds for a Colorado uranium mill.

High court said it did not necessarily agree with lower court's opinion that only nominal damages may be recovered for loss of sales of uranium concentrate.

Appointments Announced

Governor Connally has announced judicial appointments in Dallas and Harris counties and named four to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

He picked First Assistant Dist. Atty. A. D. (Jim) Bowie for judge of the new Criminal District Court No. 5 of Dallas county, effective October 1.

Fred M. Hooey, formerly of Floresville and now a Houston attorney, will be judge of the new Harris County juvenile court, to be created January 1.

Dr. L. G. Ballard of Granbury was appointed to the State Board of Medical Examiners. Drs. L. H. Denman of Lufkin, Howard O. Smith of Marlin and Clarence S. Kemp of Bryan were reappointed to new terms.

School Per Capita Set
State Board of Education set per capita fund apportionment to local school districts for 1965-66 at $80.65 per pupil.

Well over $100 million will be distributed on the basis of 2,559,208 scholastics. This represents an increase of 15 cents each.

Meeting for the last time as the junior college supervisory board, the officials approved new junior college districts for Bee and McLennan counties and denied one sought by Maverick county.

They referred to the newly named Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities applications for new institutions in Jefferson and Scurry counties and joint petitions from Van Zandt, Kaufman and Rains counties.

New Coordinating Board takes over junior college jurisdiction on September 1.

A variety of new school policies was laid down by the Board of Education, including rules for new vocational school districts, special education programs and "merit pay" raises for teachers.

Chandler School District was accredited for one year probationary period.

Board advised River Road Independent School District (near Amarillo) of possible violation of accreditation standards in its unauthorized start of a ninth grade. Consideration of formal application for the additional grade will be delayed.

Vanishing Board

Texas Commission on Higher Education held its last meetings prior to being replaced on September 1 by the yet-to-be-named Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities.

Commission approved 23 program and reorganization proposals of state colleges and universities. In summarizing results of its nine years Commission concluded it had done a good job but wished even greater success to the new Coordinating Board.

Poverty Programs Approved

Governor Connally has approved application of Community Council of Austin and Travis County for a $529,706 community action grant under the Economic Opportunity Act. Project is aimed at combating causes of poverty in the capital.

Connally also announced approval of Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in New Braunfels, San Antonio, Pharr, Abilene, Daingerfield, Pasadena, Galveston and Carthage.

He said that new teaching methods at the Gary Job Corps Training Center near San Marcos (model installation in nation's war on poverty program) may well result in "a complete revamp of vocation and technical education in Texas."

Base soon will be offering 36 of the most modern vocational courses. A group of top industrialists working in an organization known as Opportunities Incorporated helped set up the curriculum and obtain up-to-date equipment.

Big Bisons

Research by the Texas Archeological Salvage Program—under contract with the National Park Service—reveals that the kind of buffalo which roamed Texas some 8,000 years ago were at least twice the size of present day buffalo.

Those facts, covered over and obliterated by centuries of deposited earth, are coming to light in an ever-broadening program of archeological field and laboratory work concentrated mainly in areas soon to be covered by reservoirs.

Contracts for such salvage programs have been negotiated with archeologists at the University of Texas, Texas Tech, and Texas

Western. Southern Methodist University will start a program this fall.

Beginning September 1, a $12,000 a year salary will be available for an archeologist to be a member of the staff of the reconstituted Building Commission.

Plans Continue For Jubilee At Sonora

Sonora, Texas.—Sonora isn't what it used to be. There hasn't been a really good shooting in 60 years now—not, in fact, since Cowboy Bill Carver met his death here in 1901 at the hands of Sheriff E. S. (Lige) Briant.

But residents of this West Texas town, county seat and only town in Sutton county, will re-live the "good old days" during their week-long 75th anniversary celebration August 15-21.

Starting off the Jubilee will be an old-time preaching and hymn-singing on the lawn of the courthouse Sunday, August 15. Residents and visitors will have a basket supper on the grounds in an atmosphere reminiscent of the days of the circuit riders responsible for the town's nine churches.

Buggies, wagons, antique autos, floats will be featured in the August 21 parade. The traditional barbecue, with more than 3,000 expected, will follow the parade.

The town's colorful history will be enacted in a pageant scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights. Highlights will be the shooting of Will Carver, member of the Wild Bunch and the Black Jack Gang, and the fire which all but destroyed the town in 1902.

A street dance in the downtown area will end the celebration Aug. 21. Intermissions will feature exhibition square dancing and old-time country music.

Sutton counties will be in costume of the 1890's and men will sport beards or mustaches unless they have a shaving license. July 15 has been designated SSD (Sufficient Stubble Day) after which fines will be imposed.

M/Sgt. T. H. Cavanaugh and family visited Mrs. Bob Rutledge and children on Thursday of last week. The Cavanaughs are moving from El Paso to Miami Beach, Fla. The sergeant was being sent to Florida since returning recently from Korea where he spent a year. He is Mrs. Rutledge's brother.

Mrs. Henry Fleenor of Barstow is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lynn Alexander. She expects to be here about two more weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ratliff are taking their grandchildren, Becky and Ricky Humphrey of Portland, with them to the Paisano Encampment this week. Also going with them will be Judy Davidson, Jan Wagley, Norma Kay Mund, and Carolyn Wilson. They will spend a week there.

Steve Aldridge is here visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Williams. He plans to spend three weeks. He is from Dallas.

Mrs. George Ewing and Q. M. Griffin and Miss Vivian Griffin, all of Gonzales, are visiting in Eldorado with Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ramsay and Mrs. T. W. Johnson. Mmes. Ramsay, Johnson and Ewing are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie V. Williamson of Redding, California, arrived here Monday to visit her sister, Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Hodges, for a week or ten days.

First Baptist Church

Stewardship Book Review

The ladies of the Woman's Missionary Union met at the church Monday afternoon at 2:30 for a brief business meeting and a study of the book on stewardship, My Money and God, by Robert J. Hastings.

The book was reviewed by Mrs. Kenneth Vaughan, Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen and Mrs. Frank O'Banion with other members presenting brief sketches.

Refreshments of cake squares decorated with dollar signs, and punch, were served at an intermission by the stewardship committee headed by Mrs. J. H. Mace. About 25 persons attended.

In Revival

Frank O'Banion is directing the music for the First Baptist church in Christoval this week. Rev. Ray Shahan is the evangelist and Rev. Leslie Johnson is pastor of the church. Mr. O'Banion is driving back and forth each day.

Paisano Baptist Encampment

The annual Encampment in the Davis Mountains near Alpine, at Paisano, will begin July 26th and continue through August 1st.

Preachers for the camp this year are Dr. Gordon Clinard, Earth, and Dr. Lester L. Morris, Midland. Bible teachers are Dr. and Mrs. W. R. White, Waco. Sam Allen of Pampa will direct the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Faulk and daughters Janis and Cheryl, of Dallas, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ratliff from Sunday until Tuesday, en route to their home after making a trip to California. Richard Parrie of Wichita Falls visited them Tuesday, on the way to Del Rio and then to San Antonio on business. Mr. Parrie was a boy at Buchner's orphan's home in Dallas when Mrs. Ratliff, then Mrs. Faulk, was a teacher at the orphanage.

Idaho's Gift To The Gourmet

Would you be an "instant gourmet cook"? Dishes such as Vichyssoise (say vishy-swass), the delightfully refreshing chilled potato soup, can be among your creations in a mere matter of minutes, thanks to the instant mashed Idaho potatoes on your grocers' shelves. Good in so many different ways, once they're made into fluffy clouds of mashed potatoes, even an expert would be hard put to tell them from fresh Idaho potatoes. In the package as in the skin—same fine flavor. And flavor counts in this creamy soup with its delicate airs.

Vichyssoise

Instant mashed potatoes for 4-serving recipe
4 cups water, boiling
2 tablespoons chicken stock base OR
5 chicken bouillon cubes
1 teaspoon mono-sodium glutamate
2 teaspoons quick-frozen or freeze-dried chives
dashes of pepper, preferably white pepper
2 tall cans evaporated milk

Stir chicken stock base or chicken bouillon cubes into boiling water. Remove from heat. Using a fork, stir in the measured amount of packaged instant mashed Idaho potatoes, whipping until smooth. Amounts will vary depending upon the type of the instant mashed potatoes used and the measurement given on the package for 4 servings. A serving is usually 4 ounces or 1/2 cup of the finished mashed potatoes. Add the chives and mono-sodium glutamate. Cover. Allow to stand for 5 minutes.

Stir in the undiluted evaporated milk. Cover. Refrigerate all day if possible. Stir well; serve very cold in well-chilled cups or bowls with additional chives. Other garnishes are small radishes sliced very thinly, bit of water cress with the chives. Make 6 servings of 3/4 cup each. This soup may be served hot.

An amazing variety of quick Idaho potato products are to be found on grocers' shelves and in frozen food compartments. Your favorite potato dishes can be ready in no time at all!

Former Ozonan Is Manager Of Data Processing Center

Midland, Tex.—Joe Bailey, Data Processing Center Manager, recently checked out programs on the IBM System-360 installed at Globe Exploration Company, Inc., Midland. This was the first commercial installation in the United States of the Computer.

A native West Texan, Joe Bailey attended elementary school and high school in Ozona, Texas, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bailey, still reside. He received a B.S. and M.S. degree in Mathematics from the University of Texas in 1957, in addition to meeting the requirements for an electronic major in Physics. He has completed a substantial portion of work toward his Doctorate at the University of Texas. After graduation he joined Shell in August 1957 in the Data Processing Division in Midland. He held positions of increasing authority before being assigned to Globe, a subsidiary of Shell Oil Company, in January of 1965 as Manager, Data Processing Center, his present position.

Bailey has been listed in Who's Who in Computing from 1959 to the present. He is a past member of the American Management Association and Data Processing Managers Association.—reprinted from the Ozona Stockman.

Rolling Plains Group To Meet Friday In Stamford

Washington, D.C.—Congressman Graham Purcell (D-Texas) announced today that he will address a meeting of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., on Friday afternoon in Stamford.

The first annual meeting of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is scheduled for that time.

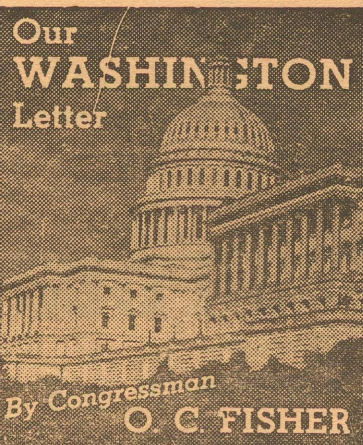

Mr. Terry Julian, executive director of the organization, said the meeting would be held at 2:00 p.m. in the Stamford High School auditorium. Julian said, "We sincerely urge all our members to attend, and we will welcome any others who are farmers or involved in agriculture related industries to hear this late report on farm legislation in Washington."

Purcell, who is chairman of the wheat subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture, said he would discuss the omnibus farm bill which was approved by the House Committee on Agriculture last week. The bill contains program extensions for cotton, wheat, feed grains, dairy products, and wool, in addition to a new proposed Cropland Adjustment Program.

Direct Dialing Set For November '66 At Eden

At the regular meeting of Eden City Council, H. W. Cates and E. S. Woullard of General Telephone, San Angelo, told the council that present plans were to tie Eden in with direct dialing in November of next year.

They said that plans for the direct dialing had been under way for some time and that they could foresee no reason why the new system should not go into effect at that time.—Eden Echo.

Adlai Stevenson's sudden death came as a shock. As a member of the intelligentsia, he was too liberal and abstract to be President—particularly against the popular Eisenhower. But as U. S. spokesman at the U. N., he performed brilliantly, chiding the Russians with his sharp wit and penetrating revelation of the bugs in the Communist doctrine. He was an able advocate of America's foreign policy, and portrayed a finesse that was disarming and inoffensive to the most hardened of his adversaries. But he was firm and eloquent.

Stevenson's wit was comparable to that of Lincoln and Churchill. He made the maximum use of this in his political battles.

He said of Eisenhower's "crusade"—"The General has dedicated himself so many times he must feel like the cornerstone of a public building."

As for Richard Nixon: "Nixon is the kind of politician who would cut down a redwood tree, then mount the stump for a speech on conservation."

Using the epigram, he quipped: "An editor is one who separates the wheat from the chaff and prints the chaff."

"An independent is the guy who wants to take the politics out of politics."

Addressing the Harvard alumni, Stevenson quipped: "Now, I was cautioned before I came here that I should not try your patience too long. So I suppose that I must talk and you must listen. I do hope we both finish our work about the same time."

Having campaigned twice against the unbeatable Eisenhower, the records are replete with his wisecracks aimed at Ike, of whom he once said: "Golf is a fine release from the tensions of office, but we are a little tired of holding the bag."

"If I talk over the people's head, Ike must be talking under their feet."

About Republicans, he said: "I like Republicans, have grown up with them, worked with them, and would trust them with anything in the world—except public office."

Stevenson began a speech before Washington's Gridiron club, after two defeats for President: "A funny thing happened to me on the way to the White House."

After three months of crisis debate in the UN in 1961, he said: "What with Cuba, Congo, Korea and now Laos, I sometimes yearn for the simple brutalities of bipartisan politics."

Whether you agreed with him or not, Adlai Stevenson for two decades cut quite a swath across the American political scene. And he came twice within the very shadow of the White House. A lot of people believed in him.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

Sooner or later just about everybody goes fishing. In case you are the lucky one to go and the luck holds for your catch you may want to remember the facts of the story to follow:

Salt Preserves Fish Catch

Here are some helpful hints from the Salt Institute of Chicago, Illinois, on how to preserve your catch.

Fish can be kept in good condition for as long as 24 hours without refrigeration if they are bled, cleaned, washed and salted as caught. Use a fine grade of pure salt, mixing in a tablespoon of pepper for each cup of salt. Rub the salt into the flesh using about one tablespoon to three-quarters of a pound of fish. Dust some salt onto the skin as well.

Place the salted fish in a box or basket loosely packed with green leaves. Then cover the container with several thicknesses of burlap. Keep the burlap damp. Rinse the fish well before cooking.

To keep fish as long as a week or ten days, roll them in salt and pack away with as much salt as will cling. Before cooking them, soak the fish in water for about 10 hours to remove the salt. Change the water several times during the soaking.

So—Don't forget the salt!

Try this sink or swim test to find out whether a potato should be baked or boiled. Baking potatoes and boiling potatoes are two different things and some pretty disappointing things have happened when they got mixed up. Baked potatoes which should have been mealy and flaky turned out to be firm and waxy. And the other way around.

Marketing researchers of Oregon State Department of Agriculture have found an effective way to separate the two kinds of potatoes.

They dump the potatoes in a brine solution of 1 cup salt to 11 cups water (4 cups water is equal to one quart.) If the potato floats—boil it. If it sinks—bake it.

Simply get a kettle of salted water and put the potatoes in. Let the sink or swim test indicate the use for each potato. It is much better to find out before they are cooked—after that it is a little late.

One of the best cooks in Big Spring gave me one of her favorite recipes not long ago and she said that I could use it in any way I wished. So—I wish to share it with you.

It is a delicious dish, perfect for company—good for the bridge luncheon or a new mother-in-law's first visit.

I'm not sure that astronaut Edward White has been nominated for the list of 10 best-dressed men in the United States of 1965, but I do know that he would qualify on one count. I doubt that anyone in the country has a suit that cost more than the famous "out of this world and into space" suit which the following story from "Cotton's Progress" describes.

"When astronaut Edward White stepped out into space recently from his Gemini 4 capsule, cotton played an important though little-talked-about, role. Under the bulky, many-layered space suit were two layers of cotton—for comfort. A space center specialist described it this way: 'Starting from the skin out was a long-sleeved cotton undershirt; then came the suit—first with a COMFORT layer made of a blue sheen COTTON; next came the bladder of rubber pressure layer. Then came the link net—two layers of Nomex high temperature nylon—which served to keep the shape of the suit, followed by seven layers of aluminized mylar polyester film insulation. This was all topped by a thick layer of felt, and an outer layer of Nomex white reflecting nylon.' The extra-vehicular (EVA) suit was made by David Clark Co., Worcester, Mass., and weighed about 34 pounds, the space center said. The cost of each suit was $28,500. Even in the space age, with all its advanced technology and man-made wonders, scientists still come back to nature's wonder fiber for comfort."

Opens Museum At Sterling City

D. D. (Levi) Garrett said this week that he was opening a museum at his ranch north of town and in connection will have a horse show.

He has labeled his museum, "What Others Throw Away", and it is a collection of old-time items used in ranch or early day work in this area.

Levi plans to make a small admission charge, but says it will be worth it.

For the past three years Mr. Garrett has had the horse show concession at Alamo Village near Brackettville.—Sterling City News-Record.

To Inspect Site Of Old Ft. Lancaster

A representative from the National Park Service, U. S. Department of the Interior, will visit the ruins at historic old Fort Lancaster in western Crockett county Tuesday with a view to initiating steps which may ultimately lead to restoration of the old Fort.

William E. Brown, Regional Historian, Southwest Region, National Park Service, will visit the site.

Fort Lancaster was occupied from about 1854 to 1861 when troops were withdrawn at the outbreak of the Civil War, was re-occupied after the Civil War, and finally abandoned in about 1869.—Ozona Stockman.

99-Year-Old Believed Oldest Resident at Mason

Mrs. Conrad Leifeste, believed to be Mason county's oldest resident, is on the century lap. She observed her 99th birthday on April 20, 1965. A resident of the Art community for 77 years, she is now residing at the Anna Lee Nursing Home.

Mrs. Leifeste was born April 20, 1866 in Schevelsten, Germany.—Mason County News.

J. Elliott whose bid of $1.00 for the building was accepted.—Van Horn Advocate.

Commissioners Approve SCS Dams At Sanderson

Terrell County Commissioners met in called session Monday night following the public meeting at the court house, and unanimously approved the proposal of filing application for assistance from the State Soil Conservation Service and State Water Board for flood control project on the Sanderson Canyon watershed above Sanderson.—Sanderson Times.
