More Than 15,000 Added To Idle Rolls As Strikes Spread

Both Sides Ask Federal Aid In Steel Strike

St. Louis Stockyards, Plants In Detroit Are Closed; Second "Holiday" Called In Lansing

(By The Associated Press)

LABOR difficulties spread in the eastern half of the nation Tuesday while the steel strike stalemate began its 14th day with no sign of compromise.

Strikes closed the huge stockyards at East St. Louis, Ill., and the Budd Wheel Co. plant and two plants of the Ternstedt Manufacturing Co. at Detroit. More than 15,000 wage earners were involved.

Lansing, Mich., experienced its second "labor holiday"—this time building crafts unionists who walked off their jobs as the signal for an intensive American Federation of Labor organizing campaign campaign. The "holiday" lacked the excitement which attended Monday's demonstration by United Automobile Workers, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Appeals Made To Washington

Both sides in the steel strike appealed to federal bodies.

Chairman Philip Murray of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate, asked a Senate investigation of the acts of three strike-affected producers, Republic Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and Inland Steel Corp.

Republic, meanwhile foodstuffs marked for shipment into its plants operating behind picket lines, and threatened legal action if refusal continue.

Tension grew at Monroe, Mich., where reopeningy of a strike-closed Republic subsidiary plant was set for 8 a. m. Thursday. Mayor Daniel H. Knaggs, who said a vote among workers showed 782 opposed to the walkout and 30 favoring it, asked for volunteers to augment the police force, and sought aid from Michigan's Gov. Murphy.

C. I. O. Men Jailed

Thirty-nine C. I. O. members were sentenced to jail and fined for contept of court at Waukegan, Ill., for defying a court order during last February's strike at the Fansteel Metallurgical Corp. plant.

The eighth man died in Chicago from a bullet wound incurred in the Memorial Day riot near Republic's South Chicago plant. Strike leaders demanded Inland Steel Corp. meet them for negotiations on a contract, but Inland, operating principally at Chicago, again declined to consider a signed agreement.

Chicago city authorities said they would investigate legality of the use of Pullman cars to house 1,400 men at work in the Republic mill. Chicago law officials were summoned to Washington for quizzing about the Memorial Day battle by the Senate Civil Liberties committee.

Closing of the East St. Louis stockyards, where about 300 workers struck, left more than 30,000 head

June Building Goes Past $50,000 Mark

Lubbock's June building permit total scaled the $50,000 mark late Tuesday with the issuance of authorizations during the day for two new residences and another lesser project, according to report of D. J. Schlag, city building inspector.

A permit for a residence costing $3,450, issued to Paul Crouch as owenr and L. W. Squyres as contractor, to be built at 2513 Twenty-fourth street, increased the total for the month to $50,453—an average of more than $7,000 for each weekday of the month.

Another permit was issued to S. A. Hamilton, owner, and E. R. Little, contractor, for a frame residence and garage costing $2,700 at 2207 Twenty-sixth street. The Crouch residence also is to be of frame construction and will include a garage.

Permit for repairs and alterations costing $600 to a garage at 912 Avenue K was issued to W. C. Barnett as owner and contractor.

Cracked Noggin And Five Stabs Nothing At All!

IT TAKES more than five stabbings and a crack on the head to severely hamper Bost Jones, young negro of Lubbock, who last night walked from the Lubbock sanitarium "under his own power" after receiving emergency treatment for his wounds. And apparently his condition was not even serious.

The negro, about 23, evidently came out second in a two-man brawl in "The Flats" in which he was stabbed three times in the back, twice in the shoulder and was struck on the head with an automobile pump. Although all his injuries were minor, the lick on the head probably was the most serious, it was reported.

At midnight no arrests had been made by police, although three negroes had been taken to headquarters and were being questioned by officers.

Spanish Revolt Shifts To Old Battlegrounds

(By The Associated Press)

CONFLICT flamed anew on old battlegrounds of the Spanish civil war Tuesday as heavy rain checked operations around Bilbao.

Insurgents launched a violent offensive in the Pozoblanco sector in southern Spain, aiming toward the rich government-held mercury mines near Almaden.

Government dispatches reported heavy losses were sustained by both sides, with insurgent casualties the heavier, and that the government troops were able to hold their entire defense line.

On the Afturian front, west of Bilbao, the government announced its forces captured the village of Rivota and dominated the village of Oceja de Sajambres with its guns.

In Madrid, where the populace cleaned up the debris from an early morning insurgent bombardment in which at least 20 persons were killed and 40 wounded, police announced the discovery of a spy network and propaganda system.

Fascist Ring Found

The raided the apartment of a former German resident, now in Paris, and asserted they seized documents revealing activities of the ring which allegedly spread fascist propaganda throughout Spain even before the civil war.

Two Spaniards were arrested.

Four insurgent planes bombarded the port of Valencia and struck a small ship. The insurgent cruisers Canarias and Baleares bombarded the coast further northeast beyond Barcelona. Planes drove them off before they inflicted serious damage.

Two Warships, Running Without Lights, Bombard Port City

GIBRALTAR, June 9 (Wednesday) (AP)—Two warships navigating without lights bombarded Ceuta, Spanish insurgent port in Spanish Morocco, early today.

Shore batteries both at Ceuta and Carnero Point, which is on the European side of the Strait of Gibraltar, blazed away at the raiders as searchlights picked them out.

The attacking vessels fired more than 20 rounds at Ceuta. They could not be identified but it was taken for granted they were Spanish government warships.

Texas Lawyers Plan Assault On Persons Practicing Illegally

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—District Attorney Dan W. Jackson announced plans today for a statewide campaign for enforcement of laws covering unauthorized practice of law.

Jackson, chairman of the Texas Bar association committee on enforcement of laws covering the unauthorized practice, said the bar association annual convention would be held July 1 to 3 at San Antonio.

Jackson said there had been "a number of violations of the state laws covering the unauthorized practice of law."

Georgetown Fire Takes $30,000 Toll; Four Buildings Razed

GEORGETOWN, June 8. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin swept through four business buildings here tonight, causing damage estimated at $30,000.

Firemen said the fire originated in the Famous Dry Goods store and spread quickly to other buildings on the courthouse square. Austin and Taylor firemen were summoned to fight the blaze which threatened to ignite drums of gas in the community natural gas company's building which was damaged.

Republic Steel Writes Farley; Threatens Suit

Food Properly Mailed Has To Be Delivered, Is Ultimatum Given; Senate Will Consider

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Republic Steel corporation threatened suit against postal officials today unless they deliver food to non-striking workers in strike-bound plants at Warren and Niles, Ohio.

John S. Brookes, jr., member of the Republic's executive committee, demanded in a letter to Postmaster-General Farley that he order postmasters in those cities "to accept for delivery and deliver all matter" properly presented and destined for the company's plants.

The letter added:

"Unless you see fit to comply with this request, which we believe to be entirely within our legal rights, we shall feel compelled to take such legal steps as may be available to us in the premises."

Jesse M. Donaldson, deputy first assistant postmaster-general, had contended the department should accept for delivery only mail usually delivered under normal conditions.

Investigation Urged

The big steel company's threat to take the question to court came while Senator Bridges (R-NH) was pressing for a Senate investigation of alleged interference with the mails at strikebound plants.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn), of the Senate Postoffice committee, has promised that his committee would consider Bridges' proposed investigation on Friday.

Brookes, the Republic steel corporation counsel, said in his letter to Farley that regular avenues for transporting food are closed by pickets "unless we are willing to match force with force."

"This we are loath to do unless all other means fail," he added.

Nationalization Of Munitions Question Is Up To Senate

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP) — A bill to nationalize the manufacture of war supplies reached the Senate floor today backed by five senators, four of whom were members of the famed Munitions Investigation committee.

Senators Bone (D-Wash.), Clark (D-Mo.), Pope (D-Idaho) and Nye and Frazier, both North Dakota Republicans, offered the measure "to round out a program to take the private profit out of war and preparations for war."

Probe Approved On Tax-Dodging

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The House ordered a sweeping investigation of "tax dodging" today after a spirited debate which touched several times on the tax-paying philosophy just expressed by J. P. Morgan.

It passed, with amendments, a Senate resolution providing an inquiry by a joint House and Senate committee. Sponsors of the amendments said they were designed to prevent ill-considered publication of portions of the tax information to be obtained.

Administration Plan Changed

The changes modified a measure which had the approval of the administration and were accompanied by expressions of resentment from members of both parties at what they termed efforts to control the activities and policies of congress.

The resolution, introduced by administration leaders upon the receipt last week of President Roosevelt's message asking an investigation of alleged tax evasions now goes to the Senate for consideration of the House amendments.

Texas Is Raked By Winds And Floods

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, June 8.—Reports of flood waters and damaging storms came from widely separated Texas areas today, a tornado sweeping through the little town of Perrin, near Mineral Wells, and the Canadian river again endangering a Santa Fe railroad bridge.

At Perrin, a five-mile strip in the path of a tornado that blew down buildings and trees, destroyed crops and twisted power lines out of commission. A heavy hail accompanied the storm.

Wheeler County Damaged

Several thousand dollars damage was caused in Wheeler county by violent hailstorms which struck in widely-separated portions. The area around Shamrock suffered most. Damage was also reported south and southwest of the city and in Lela vicinity. A storm yesterday caused much damage around Magic City and Briscoe. Loss to wheat was reported from 50 to 90 per cent.

Near Canadian 300 men were struggling to protect the Santa Fe railroad bridge from another onslaught by the Canadian river. Two 20-foot spans of a highway bridge over Red Deer creek, half a mile above the creek's confluence with the Canadian, had been washed out.

Near Pampa the wheat crop was reported damaged by a severe hailstorm. The McClellan creek bridge, north of McLean, was washed out.

Belated reports from Houston said that a hail and windstorm did considerable damage on the west shore of San Jacinto Bay.

Heavy Damage Done At Perrin As Citizens Luckily Escape Injury

MINERAL WELLS, June 8. (AP)—Citizens of Perrin, small town 14 miles north of here, miraculously escaped death or injury in a tornado which swept a five-mile strip this afternoon, leveling buildings and bringing heavy crop damage.

A windstorm of 30 minutes duration was followed by hail and a cloudburst but all the residents had escaped to safety in storm cellars and substantial buildings that bore up against the brunt of the tornado.

The Pate gin, Holiness church and the former Perrin ranch were completely destroyed, the top was

Lubbock Gets Touch Of Summer Time

On the heels of general rains and hailstorms over the entire North and South Plains came one of the hottest days of the summer for this section.

Temperatures yesterday afternoon soared to near record highs for the year when the mercury climbed to 91 degrees for a maximum and at 6:30 o'clock that afternoon had receded only two degrees. The mark was within four degrees of the year's high, according to statistics at the Lubbock Municipal Airport.

The evening weather report showed a 24-mile south wind with the ceiling unlimited and clear. Visibility was 8 miles with slight dust. The barometer, at 29.62 at 6:30, was falling steadily. Minimum temperature for the day was 69 degrees registered shortly after rains late Monday and early Tuesday.

President Asks Ship Subsidy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Roosevelt proposed today that the federal government contribute $160,000,000 toward the cost of a new merchant fleet of 95 vessels.

Declaring the merchant marine is in a bad way, he asked Congress for $10,000,000 to subsidize an immediate start on construction.

At the same time he recommended that the legislators authorize the maintenance commission to enter into $150,000,000 of ship construction contracts next year.

Kennedy Explains Plan

Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Maritime commission, explained the program at a press conference immediately after the Presidnt's announcement.

He said the new fleet would consist of 60 cargo vessels, 24 passenger-cargo ships, one liner similar to the United States lines' present "Manhattan," and ten high-speed tankers.

Kennedy said he had received assurance from private ship operators that they are ready to build 28 ships in a period ranging from the next 18 months to three years.

Milling Crowds Pay Tribute To Jean Harlow

Detectives On Guard At Bier Of "Glamour Girl"; Rites To Be Said For Dead Star Today

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—Hundreds of fans who loved Jean Harlow in life today milled around the mortuary where the body of the blonde film actress lay in a bronze casket. The funeral will be Wednesday.

Extra police, remembering the riotous scenes in New York a decade ago when Rudolph Valentino's body rested in a funeral place, kept the throngs back.

Prepared By Makeup Men

More carefully and tenderly than they ever prepared Miss Harlow for her work before the camera, three make-up men from the studio where she was employed worked over her famed tresses and equally famed complexion.

That the "glamour girl" of the movies had a premonition of her death was reported today by Violet Denoyer, her make-up attendant and friend.

Less than two weeks ago, Miss Denoyer said, she was applying makeup to Miss Harlow's face. The actress had been suffering from a deepseated influenza infection, but was not actively ill. For several weeks, she had been working with Clark Gable in a picture. Suddenly, Miss Denoyer said, Miss Harlow looked at her and said:

"You know, Violet, I have a feeling I'm going away from here and never coming back."

Stricken On Set

Two hours later, while she was on the set, she turned to Robert Golden, a director, and gasped:

"I'm terribly sick, Red. Call Bill."

She referred to William Powell, suave film star who has been her constant escort for more than a year. Powell and a studio nurse took her home. She never returned.

Special detectives guarded every door of the mortuary today where Miss Harlow's body lay.

The same exclusion will prevail tomorrow at the funeral. Services will be said at the Wee Kirk O' The Heather.

In the small mortuary room today, Miss Harlow lay as though in a deep sleep.

No Trace Of Illness Shown

Her marble-white face showed no trace of the ravages of her illness. A faint smile was frozen in the corners of her lips. Her heavy, luxuriant rair—a shade darker than the platinum blonde hue that made her famous—fell in a rippling cascade around her shoulders.

Christian Science services will be held, with Mrs. Genevieve Smith, reader and old friend of Miss Harlow, officiating.

Pallbearers will be Edgar J. Mannix, film executive, Clark Gable, Hunt Stromberg, producer, Jack Conway, director, W. S. Van Dyke, director, and Ray June, cameraman.

Nelson Eddy will sing "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and Jeanette MacDonald will sing "Indian Love Call." They were favorite songs of Miss Harlow.

MYSTERY IS SOLVED

GAINESVILLE, June 8. (AP) — County Attorney William C. Charges of arson and assault to murder were filed against Durham in justice court here.

Library Is Assured And Salary Boosts Given To Faculty

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche Staff Writer

"VICTORY BELLS" will clang from the east tower of Texas Technological college this morning, broadcasting in observance of restoration in a great measure of salaries paid faculty members, provision for a modern library building that will be completed in time for the 1939 fall semester and establishment of a graduate school and a separate department of journalism—all assured late Tuesday when the general education bill became law in Texas.

The traditional purpose of the bells could not be better employed, said Dean James M. Gordon, than in lashing their metallic tongues in celebration of Gov. James V. Allred's affixing his signature to the biennium measure without deleting any items—thus shaping into actuality a several-years dream of Tech officials, patrons and friends.

By his action, the last hurdle to the college's receiving $275,000 for a library building was brushed aside.

The measure, which became law by the flourish of the young chief executive's pen, had a significance of possibly greater importance: It insured restoration of salaries of department heads to at least 90 per cent what they were prior to 1933 slashes.

Appropriations Upped

It established Tech appropriations for the 1937-39 biennium at $1,335,706, or approximately $400,000 greater than for the last two-year period.

In effect, the law not only will make certain retention of the college's corps of concededly valuable faculty members, many of whom faced dangled offers from other colleges and universities, but will allow full remedy for a library situation that for years has been seriously inadequate.

In the long term just completed, the college had an enrollment of 3,010 students and library facilities for one-tenth that number.

Need Readily Apparent

It is recognized, President Bradford Knapp of the college said recently, that only when at least one-third the enrolled student body of an institution of higher learning can be accommodated simultaneously by library facilities can that institution be regarded as discharging its full obligation to those enrolled.

To put the figures baldly, seating accommodation in the present library provides for only 145 students.

Further significance in the appropriation available for Tech includes the possibility of establishing a graduate school and provision for recognition of a separate journalism department divorced from the English department.

Appreciation expressed by Tech board members and patrons was interspersed with comment on tentative plans already made by the college board of directors.

Modern Building Planned

While appropriations will not be available until in September, one board member, vice-chairman Spencer A. Wells, said preliminary discussions anent the library building had gone so far as to include tentative plans for making the structure one of the most modern in the country, including air-conditioning. In line of policy, it would match architecturally other buildings on the campus.

Wells, who paid tribute to the "decidedly meritorious work of Sen. G. H. Nelson, on the finance committee of the senate and chairman of the sub-committee that considered the education appropriation for the upper house's finance committee," said the senator "deserved especial credit for the masterful manner in which he maneuvered Tech's needs in free committee of

Fight Centered On Bookies As Veto Ax Falls

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 8. — Three more bills passed at the recent general session of the legislature felt the sting of Governor James V. Allred's veto ax today but a number of others, including the biennial education and judiciary appropriation measures, survived the executive scrutiny and became law.

In extraordinary session now, the legislature, engaged in a drive against gambling in Texas, trained its guns for the time being on bookmakers, committees hearing testimony on ways and mean of putting teeth in existing prohibitory laws as well as the need for statutes altogether new.

Cotton Laboratory Vetoed

The bills which bowed to the gubernatorial execution would have appropriated $750,000 to create a park in the Big Bend of the Rio Grande, $250,000 to establish a cotton research laboratory and $800 to replace a school building at Douglasville, Cass county, destroyed by fire.

The governor said the state's finances did not permit appropriations at this time for any of those purposes, and, in the case of the park, that plans for the project had not advanced far enough for the state to begin the acquisition of private land. Federal assistance was to have played a part in the financing of both the park and cotton laboratory.

Explains Park Stand

"We might find we had acquired a lot of land and the federal government would not take it over," the governor said. "The business-like thing would be to plan the whole matter and consummate it at

Enrollment Boosted To 1,403 At Tech

Enrollment had climbed to a total of 1,403 students Tuesday afternoon at Texas Technological college, a slight increase over the number enrolled in the first two days last year.

Number of students enrolled in the first two days last year was 1,380.

Two days remain yet before an increased registration fee will be charged. Two dollars extra fee will be charged after Thursday. Students wishing to register are to report first to the registrar's office on the first floor of the administration building.

McDonald Says Subsidy Need Of Farmer; Wants Allotment Plan

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP) — J. E. McDonald, Texas agriculture commissioner, told the House Agriculture committee today the government should adopt a domestic allotment plan to "subsidize the farmer as it has industry."

"It must do this to put the farmer's dollar on a parity with the manufacturer's," said McDonald. "There would then be a maximum exchange with benefits not only received by farmers, but by those engaged in commerce and manufacture as well."

McDonald said the government must continue its supervision in agriculture.

American Scientists, Camped On Blistering Island In Mid-Pacific, Get Perfect Sun Eclipse Photos

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—American scientists, encamped in the mid-Pacific on a blistering desert isle of coral and sand, possessed tonight a rare photographic record of today's total eclipse of the sun.

Raptly following the activity on Canton Island through radio broadcasts from the joint United States Navy-National Geographic Society expedition, colleagues in Washington expressed elation that their brothers had preserved for science's pages a significant record of the longest total eclipse in 1,200 years.

After the 3-minute and 33-second period of totality ended at Canton Island at approximately 2:10 p. m. (EST), Dr. John Oliver La Gorce, vice-president of the Geographic society, arose from a circle of scientists huddled in headquarters here to announce:

"Astronomers throughout the world will await the results of this record with the greatest interest."

From the little equatorial island, 5,000 miles off the North American mainland, came this word from the expedition: "We are happy as clams."

What made them happy, they radioed, was unexcelled weather which permitted them to photograph, under exceptional conditions, the sun's corona, a strange pearly fringe of light shooting millions of miles outward from the sun.

It was for clues to its mysterious composition and its practical significance that the joint party traveled for weeks and endured the hardships of an oceanic wasteland.

Hundreds of miles to the east of them, in a landless area, the esclipsed reached its maximum totality, of 7 minutes and four seconds.

The sky-watchers on Canton radioed this account:

The cloud-fleckered sky cleared at 2 p. m. (EST), 6 minutes before totality, giving full view of the celestial show.

The moon approached the sun. A thin rim of clouds was chased away. Light began to fade and engulf the little land speck in an unnatural half-twilight.

A "diamond ring" appeared around the sun when the moon apparently bit into it. Eleven tons of intricate instruments began to click and the tense scientists went

GIVE HER CREDIT

WHATEVER you thought of Jean Harlow, and personally we didn't think she was any great shakes as an actress, you must concede her one thing—she influenced the styles of Miss America. Thousands of girls exercised and dieted in trying to achieve a svelte slimness comparable to the beautiful form of the ambitious young girl who arose from an obscure place in a Kansas town to the upper brackets in filmdom.

We remember a summer in California several years ago when the beaches and dance pavilions were swarming with platinum blondes—burned and bronzed young amazons who had no more business in bleaching their dark tresses than you or you. We were in the throes of a thing called depression at that time, but patterning their looks after a blonde bombshell, the girls seemed to be in lighter spirits and forget how dismal the future appeared. Even temperamental Joan Crawford turned platinum, seeking to gain in favor with the movie fans what it was her rival in pictures possessed.

And when one can have as an imitator a young woman who gives style hints to Miss Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's lady alike one has achieved something don't you agree?

PLAY AND WORK

ALL PLAY and no work dulls vacation joys, says Olive Roberts Barton, educator and child study expert. She points out that the first week or two in vacation from schools finds the children so thrilled over freedom they entertain themselves. No plan is needed because loafing is interest enough. But reaction sets in inevitably, and after that quarrels begin.

"Why keep hands idle and let minds become lazy and bored? Work is the answer. Children need some effort and responsibility of one kind or another to keep them mentally content. Play soon palls, and ceases to be a joy.

"Let them help with housework and garden, at stated hours in the mornings, or, if you prefer, afternoons.

"If Sam is conditioned in certain studies, don't have him wait for the end of August to begin. The hour of study each day should be started soon. Music lessons might be kept up, or an outside subject in which the child is interested.

"Furthermore, all children need ideas for play, because, left entirely to their own devices, they lack ingnuity, and there is nothing to work toward.

ORGANIZE LEISURE

"SUMMER is a grand time to hand the boy some boards, nails, hammer and a paint brush, and suggestions for something to construct.

"Girls can learn to hold a needle, or a bit of knitting or take up weaving. Boys can make rugs, too, and usually they like it.

"Be definite and do not assume that it is tyrannical to expect certain returns of their time, just because school's out. Half a day is enough time to lie on the grass and dream. The other half should engage minds, fingers and muscles. And, after all, a mother should not be expected to be an entertainment committee of one. She will have to be a leader to a certain extent, and exert her imagination, but if she is adroit enough, her work will be lightened, and her nerves at rest."

THE TECH ALUMNI

A COLLEGE is no stronger than its alumni. We are inclined to believe that the growth of the University of Texas has been phenomenal and indeed it has but have you ever considered what an influential alumni body it has? That's why we think that local ex-students and graduates of Texas Technological college should avail themselves of the privilege of organization tonight at 8 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

We want to see Tech college accomplish big things. If we band together there is no limit to the things we might out put over for our alma mater. See you at supper at the hotel ballroom.

The bride wore a navy sheer dress with white accessories.

Immediately after wedding breakfast in the flower decked dining room of the Carmichael ranch home, near Kenna, N. M., the couple left for Brownfield where Mr. White is employed by the Quinn Drilling company. The bride's traveling suit was of coronation blue linen with white accessories.

Mrs. White, daughter of Mrs. Luther Carmichael of the ranch, near Kenna, and the late Luther Carmichael, will receive a B. S. degree in home economics education from Tech this summer. She is a former teacher in the Dixie school near Tahoka. She will drive to classes from Brownfield.

The ceremony was preceded by a musical program after which the bride's mother played "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner).

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, the Rev. A. W. Gordon, wore a floor length dress of white chiffon over white satin with finger tip veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried calla lilies. Miss Hazel Gordon, student of Draughon's Business college, Lubbock, was maid of honor. Homemakers Club Meets For Demonstration On Baking

Members of the Homemakers club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. C. Lane, near Lubbock, for a cake baking demonstration by the county home demonstration agent, Miss Clara Pratt.

The agent stressed correct measuring and oven temperature for best results. Oven and candy thermometers are essential, she said. The cook should know her oven and pans, then arrange pans in the oven to the best advantage. Butter or a good grade of shortening, rather than lard, should be used with cake flour made only of soft wheat. Good texture of the cake, she said, depends largely on the fineness of the sugar.

The cake baking process should be: Cream shortening, add sugar gradually. Add small amount of flour, that has been sifted three times, alternately with milk.

Each member will bring a cake to the July meeting to be scored by the agent.

The club elected Mrs. Joe Lane farm food supply demonstrator. The next meeting will be June 22 in the home of Mrs. F. F. Revier.

Telephone Companies Pledge Cooperation In Effort To Bar Book-Making

Huge Problem Being Faced

AUSTIN, June 8. (AP)—Representatives of telephone companies, testifying before a senate committee, pledged cooperation today in efforts to stamp out book-making in Texas.

At the same time, John H. Bickett, former judge of the San Antonio court of civil appeals, speaking for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said the problem was a bigger one than it might appear at first examination.

He suggested that the bill which the committee was preparing to write should be aimed at the operator of a book-making establishment, persons who place the bets and, with limitations, at the owner of property used for book-making purposes.

Had To Be Careful

Telephone companies, he testified, had attempted to refuse service to places they believed to be operated by bookies, but, being common carriers, had had to move carefully. Suits against the Southwestern Bell for refusal to give service were pending, he said.

He suggested a provision in the law instructing the communication companies to discontinue service on information from a county or state official it was being used for book-making purposes and exempting the companies from damages for such discontinuance.

If such a provision were included, he said, a copy of the information should go to local law enforcement officers.

Wheat Harvest Starting Soon

Harvesting of Lubbock county's 25,000 acres of wheat is not expected to start before June 20, railroad and grain men said yesterday, unless rains unexpectedly cause the grain to ripen much faster than it now appears to be doing.

Most of the wheat is raised in the northern part of the county. Shallowater, Monroe and Becton are the principal shipping points.

Shipped From Abernathy

A considerable portion of the county's crop is shipped from Abernathy, just across the line, in Hale county. This is due to the fact that in addition to a considerable acreage south of town, wheat from Monroe, a non-agency station on the Santa Fe, is billed out of the Hale county town.

Likewise on the Fort Worth & Denver, Kittilou, west of Idalou, does not have a station agent, nor does Becton, the former billing cars out of Lubbock and the latter at Petersburg, in Hale county.

Idalou has good wheat prospects this year, rains recently increased the probable yield several bushels per acre. Acreage is not large, but the movement will be heavier than for several years.

Prospects Are Good

Shallowater wheat prospects are also good, rains having increased yield. Neither Slaton nor Lubbock have much wheat acreage and the movement is usually small.

However, Lubbock is a grain inspection point and there is a good movement through here for federal inspection. Several grain buyers located here bring considerable wheat into this market for handling to ports or terminal elevators.

This year there will be one firm to purchase wheat for export. It is the first time that this has been done in Lubbock.

More Troubles Are Encountered Here In Well Drilling

Trouble multiplied Tuesday for Baron Drilling company of Lubbock when a bit lost in the hole added to other worries at the site of the test water well being drilled on the city's 80-acre tract northwest of the city limits.

The bit weighs several hundred pounds, and recovering it was an all day job, according to report to officials at the City hall. Previously, the work has been delayed for days at a time on several occasions because of the damp weather.

The well was ordered drilled in the hope that it will reveal a sufficient strata of water at about 100 feet to make possible the creation of a 10-acre reservoir on the tract—sufficient to impound a several weeks supply of water when the development is carried to completion.

Irrigation wells in the same area, according to reports to the city engineering department, have produced in volumes variously estimated, but never actually tested, at from 700 to 1,000 gallons a minute. If the city's test should produce in that quantity, plans are to drill several in the immediate vicinity to feed the reservoir.

NEW SEAGRAVES THEATER

SEAGRAVES, June 8. (Special)—Construction of Seagraves new theater, owned by Wallace Amusement Co., has started and it is hoped the structure will be completed by late summer.

The building will be 50 by 100 feet, with an auditorium 40 by 80 feet. The front part, 50 by 26 feet, will be for stores, locations having already been rented. Concrete, brick and steel will be used.

'Plenty Of Work' Faces Lubbock Committee Heading State Hospital Campaign

Keen Competition Over Section Seen For Mental Institution

Warning to members of the chamber of commerce state hospital committe that work—"plenty of work"—lies directly head of them was given at the chamber Tuesday afternoon.

Just when Chairman C. E. Maedgen of the hospital committee may call the group into its next meeting had not been decided except that it probably will be "at once." The term, "at once," was explained as meaning perhaps today, not later than tomorrow.

Time of the session, it was explained, depends on when the chamber personnel compiles in desired form for submission to the committee the mass of detail on which they worked into darkness last night. That information, they explained, will be part of the ammunition which the committee will need when it appears before the state board of control confronted with the task of convincing that body that of towns and cities west of the 100th meridian, Lubbock offers most advantages for the institution to be created with a legislative appropriation of $817,000. Nearly half of Texas lies west of that meridian.

Endeavor Is Spurred

Lubbock's endeavor, in which the committee must take the lead, was spurred by reports Tuesday that at least 13 towns and cities definitely are in the fight for the institution. Every day, chamber officials said, has brought new reports of intensified rivalry for the hospital which, from the beginning, will bring a revenue of $500,000 or more annually in payrolls and maintenance expenses to the city of its location.

Latest of those to be listed as contenders, the chamber was advised, are Lamesa, Snyder, Odessa and Ballinger. Others very definitely in the field are Sweetwater, San Angelo, Big Spring and Midland which, with Lubbock, are generally believed, according to observers, to comprise the group from which the selection finally will be made. But there are other smaller towns and cities, especially along and adjacent to the Texas and Pacific railroad which are working quietly and which, in the aggregate, form a group to cause chills of apprehension among those in the supposed "favorite" class.

Presentation Planned

All work now being done by the chamber of commerce and its committe centers about the formal presentation of Lubbock's application for the hospital. That, in itself, is a huge task because it requires the most detailed information about the applicant city.

However, by far the most important single item for inclusion in the application is the site to be offered without cost to the state. The site must comprise not less than 300 acres of good agricultural land, but the board of control has suggested that up to 500 acres of that type of land with 1,000 acres of soil of less quality might enhance the applicant's chances.

Chamber of commerce officials disclosed Tuesday that Lubbock can offer a wide variety of choices as to sites, all measuring up to requirements as established in the legislative bill. Reports Tuesday said that options actually have been taken on seven tracts with several others under consideration.

So voluminous is the work in preparing the application, it was added, that the one for Lubbock probably will not be completed until near the June 20 deadline. After that, preparations must be made for the series of public hearings the control board proposes to hold in applicant cities.

Barbara Thomson Remains In British Women's Golf Joust

TURNBERRY, Scotland, June 8 (AP)—A lone American—long-driving self-taught Barbara Thompson remained in the British women's golf championship today as the field was reduced to 32.

A series of brilliant recoveries enabled Miss Thompson, who is a member of the Los Altos (Calif.) Country club, to win her second round match from Betty Henderson of Great Britain, 4 and 2, but Betty Buechner of Glen Cove, N. Y., was eliminated by Jean Hamilton of Great Britain, two up.

Pam Barton Shines

The day's principal upset saw Wanda Morgan, English champion and former British title-holder, beaten by Jean McCullouch of Scotland, 2 and 1. Pamela Barton, defending champion and holder of the American title, crushed Mrs. H. J. Percy, 7 and 6, and looked more than ever like she was the class of the field. She has lost only one hole in two days of play.

Wrestling Card Full Of Rough Doings Here

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

Preliminary—Buck Lipscomb of Indiana vs. Ace Freeman of New York. Twenty minutes or one fall.

Special event—Joe Kopecky, Houston, vs. Jack Hagen, Shreveport. One fall or 30 minutes.

The main spasm—Vic Weber, New York, vs. Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah, Persia. Two out of three falls, 2-hour time limit.

Time and place—Eight-thirty o'clock, The Auditorium.

Sheik Mar Allah, who isn't going back to see the home folks in Persia until peace settles over the land, because he doesn't like to "kill people," nevertheless doesn't mind fighting in this country. And it's "fight" tonight from the opening gong, and maybe before that, when he meets vicious Vic Weber in the main go of Sled Allen's card.

The Persian prince and the New York Dutchman stack up as a "natural" tonight, and they're due to attract a house full of persons to the local hall of horrors. Of different temperaments, although of the same purposes, they will offer enough contrast to provide a show of variation and they'll be at each other's throats with enough venom to provide sufficient rowdy action for the fans who like their sports rough.

Both Won Last Week

Mar Allah stepped into the ring for a main event performance last week, just as soon as he hit town after more than two years away, and proceeded to outsmart and outfight young Jack Terry, who previously had sworn vengeance for a previous defeat in the Hawaiian islands, to cop the show. His artful guile as well as his powerful muscles was too much for young Terry, who had been looking quite good up to that hour.

Weber also won last week. Following his second defeat at the hands of Joe Kopecky a Wednesday night earlier, Weber came back pretty mad last week and doused the lights of Ace Freeman in their semi-final engagement. If Vic stays angry, he'll give the Persian prince plenty of trouble tonight.

Freeman, who came into prominence by blasting Sailor Moran and other well known main eventers, is relegated to the preliminary tonight, and he meets a guy who is well despised in this section—Buck Lipscomb, the Hoosier Hotshot. Buck has been here on two occasions, first as Don Kent, then as Buck Lipscomb. It is believed that Lipscomb is his real name. He is as mean and tough an hombre as ever came out of Indiana, or any other state, stopping at nothing to gain a point or to humiliate and injure his opposition. Freeman is the type who'll get rough, too, so there'll be three rough battles tonight.

Hagen And Kopecky

Yes, Jack Hagen can get rough, plenty rough, and he'll need it tonight, when he meets Kopecky, the wise old Panther from South Texas. Kopecky hasn't been beaten here for nearly two months, and he has fought on nearly every card. He missed last week, but he's due to be back, tough and strong, tonight. In Hagen, he meets an ambitious lad who doesn't hang back when he's crowded. There'll be a lot of fisticuffs in this one, also a lot of choking, et cetera.

The entire card stacks up as one of the best balanced in several weeks, with villains on ever spot, opposed by "gentlemen" who do not mind stooping to conquer.

Oakland Hills Course To Be Rigid Test For U. S. Open Title Contestants

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 8. (AP)—The advance guard of golf's title-seeking clans, warming up today for the 41st United States open championship, found the storm signals flying and a windswept sample of what to expect when the main firing begins Thursday in the battle of Oakland Hills.

Only a handful of the shot-making brigade managed to give old man par a practice tussle over this rolling, rugged layout, scene of the tournament after a lapse of 13 years and just as tough as it was when Cyril Walker, with 297, beat Bob Jones for the open crown in 1924.

Not a bunker or a green has been changed and only four tees have been shifted, to add a bit more length to the par-72 course which now measures 7,037 yards.

Despite the high-powered calibre of the field, it is the consensus that 290 is unlikely to be broken for the regulation 72 holes of play. Tony Manero's record 282, which he shot to beat Harry Cooper's 284, also under all former records, at Baltusrol last year seems safe from any serious attack.

Sam Snead, youthful West Virginian and sensation of the winter circuit, rated the favorite's role tonight in Jack Doyle's book. The Broadway betting man posted slammin' Sam at 8 to 1. Henry Picard, Harry Cooper, Ralph Guldahl and Byron Nelson all were listed as 10 to 1 shots. Sentimental support for Tommy Armour was backed down to 12 to 1 from 20 to 1.

Manero was 15 to 1, along with Laffoon, Gene Sarazen, Denny Shute, the P.G.A. king, Al Watrous, Horton Smith, Harold McSpaden, Johnny Revolta and Paul Runyan. Johnny Goodman was quoted at 25 to 1. It's the most wide open of all major tournaments.

Two withdrawals, for whom no replacements were nominated, cut the listed starting field to 168. There are 25 amateurs and 143 professionals. The scratches were Jack Munger of Dallas, amateur star, and Dick Metz, Chicago pro.

He Bars Nothing

Here's the "Hoosier Hotshot," Buck Lipscomb, one of the most despised grapplers ever to perform here, who returns tonight to meet Ace Freeman in one of the all-star performances at the Auditorium.

Bill Wallace To Coach At Rice

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—Bill Wallace, No. 1 on Rice Institute's list of gridiron heroes, will return to his alma mater as an assistant coach, Dr. Gaylord Johnson, business manager of athletics, announced late today.

The Eagle Lake wonder, first Southwest conference player to make the Associated Press All-American backfield, twice all conference back and sparkplug of Rice's only conference grid champions in 1934, officially will go to work July 1. He had been working for an oil firm in Louisiana.

Replaces Eddie Dyer

His football duties had not been outlined further than the title of assistant coach, said Dr. Johnson, who added Wallace would fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Eddie Dyer, former freshman coach last winter.

Wallace, one of the greatest running backs in Southwest history and an accomplished southpaw passer and kicker, joins Head Coach Jimmy Kitts, Line Coach Lou Hertenberger, Cecil Briggs and Percy Arthur on the football staff. Like other Owls coaches, he will work under a one year agreement.

Reaping Reward, Other Also Rans Of Derby, Race Today

COVINGTON, Ky., June 8. (AP)—A field of fifteen, including the Kentucky Derby show horse, Reaping Reward, was indicated today for the $15,000 added Latonia derby.

Four "also rans" from the Kentucky classic also will go to the post Saturday for the 55th running of the Latonia feature race for three year olds.

War Admiral and Pompoon, win and place horses at the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, were among the 51 nominated on May 10 but neither will start. The injury to War Admiral in the Belmont last Saturday prevented Sam Riddle's colt from trying for the $5,000 premium offered by Latonia if the winner of its Derby also won the Kentucky Derby.

Greenville Fuss Quiets Down, Says Baker

Elva Baker, assistant coach at Greenville High school, returned to Lubbock yesterday where he came into football prominence as a star tackle and captain on the Texas Tech football team.

Baker, who returns to Greenville as assistant coach again this year, is to be a post graduate student at Texas Tech for the first six weeks of the summer semester. He will be located at the boys' dormitory, recovering his old job in the office of that building.

BAKER

Dan Stallworth, successful coach at Quanah High school for the past few seasons, Monday was named coach at Greenville High school, succeeding Milton "Speedy" Moffett, former Texas Tech grid star whose contract was not renewed. For the past several weeks, the athletic department of the Greenville school has provided state-wide news because of a "strike" on the part of football players of the school. The gridders refused to "play ball," after Moffett's contract was ended, and swore they would never play ball unless he was retained, along with Baker.

Moffett himself prevailed upon the players, urged them to "forget it," and return to duty. This they did after one new coach had been elected, but who later "resigned" without even visiting the school.

Election of Stallworth came as a surprise Monday. At the same time, the schoolboard elected to retain Baker.

"I believe Stallworth will get along fine," Baker said yesterday. "I talked with him yesterday (Monday) and I like him fine. I'm sure the boys will like him, and that we'll be in the thick of the district race again this year."

Lubbock To Seek One Of New District State Health Department Headquarters

City's Location Aiding Factor

Advantages of Lubbock as a location for one of six district control points for development of a statewide public health education program, as provided in recent legislation, will be urged before the state board of health and Dr. George M. Cox, state health officer, according to assurances given at the chamber of commerce here Tuesday.

Just what a district office will mean has not been fully determined, it was said, although expectation is that one to be selected somewhere in this general area will serve as headquarters for a territory comprised roughly of 50 or more Panhandle and South Plains counties, each county of which eventually may have a public health education setup of its own.

Many Units In State

Numerous counties in the state, according to information compiled by Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock county school superintendent, already have county health units which carry forward under expert supervision an educational health program under general direction of Dr. Cox.

Although the legislative act empowered the state board of health to designate district control offices, choices were deferred until Dr. Cox could make a survey to determine most desirable locations. Chamber officials said that they will urge that Lubbock is almost at the geographical center of the probable Panhandle-Plains district.

While the specific nature of the organization for various districts has not been indicated, the indicated plan is that each will be manned by an expert personnel to work among individual counties, and to direct a far-reaching campaign of educations in the fundamentals of health and sanitation.

All Phases Of Municipal Water Plant And Operations Work To Be Studied In Course Backed By State; First Session Monday

A program designed to touch upon every major phase of sanitation in the operation of a municipal water department was outlined Tuesday by those in charge of preparations for a three weeks' "water school" for Lubbock district which opens at City hall here Monday night.

Lectures and round table discussions with several added special features will comprise the programs which will be given on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights of each of the three weeks through which the course will continue.

State Arranges Course

The course has been arranged and will be given under direction of the state department of sanitation by invitation of and in cooperation with the city. J. N. Hinyard, of Austin, representing the state sanitation department, will conduct the courses.

Hinyard will be assisted in conduct of the course by J. C. Oliver, Lubbock district engineer of the state health department, and M. R. (Red) Smith, Lubbock city engineer.

Programs are designed for the area roughly within a 75 miles radius of Lubbock, and considerable interest was reported Tuesday among those in nearby towns having to do with the supervision of their water supplies. An attendance larger than at similar "schools" at San Angelo and Amarillo is indicated by the early response, Hinyard was advised.

Supply To Be Talked

Because of the particular interest in many sections of the South Plains in the development of a satisfactory supply, Hinyard said, at least one program of the course and possibly several will be devoted to that subject, with a competent geologist in charge of the discussions.

Other subjects to be discussed in detail by authorities will deal with all phases of safeguarding against pollution, the protection of distribution systems, treatment, filtration and sewage disposal.

Lubbock County Tech-Exes Meet At Buffet Supper Here Tonight

A Lubbock county chapter of the Alumni and Ex-Students association of Texas Technological college will be organized at a buffet supper at 8 o'clock tonight in Hilton hotel ballroom.

Officers will be elected, committees appointed, meeting dates set and other plans made.

All ex-students of the county are urged to attend. Cost will be 50 cents.

Decision was made to organize the chapter at the annual banquet of the Alumni and Ex-Students association May 31. Bill Collins is directing arrangements.

Texas Agricultural Association Meeting Scheduled Here Today

Texas Agricultural association will hold a district meeting at 10 o'clock this morning in the courthouse, according to an announcement by Mrs. O. R. Copeland, temporary secretary of the county association

H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, state president and Cliff H. Day, Plainview, state organizer, will be here and speak.

Aims and purposes of the work in the state will be discussed by the two speakers, both of whom have attended meetings here and are well known.

One Woman Is Killed And 12 Persons Hurt By Horse

NICE, France, June 8. (AP)—A woman was killed and twelve persons were hurt late today when a horse broke loose from a carriage during a "battle of flowers" spectacle arranged for the Rotary International meeting and plunged into a crowd of spectators.

The horse broke its traces and charged a crowd in Massena square opposite the municipal casino, where the world Rotarians are meeting. The "battle of flowers" just had started at the time.

Onlookers checked the animal in a few minutes.

Using strips of mullet for bait, D. S. Hudson, of Stuart, Fla. caught nine blueflish.

"VAN-TAGE WAS WHAT I NEEDED"

Suffered Years with Gassy Indigestion and Rheumatic Pain; Now Relieved

Some of the Best-Known People of This Section are praising and endorsing Van-tage, the "Amazing New Medicine," now being introduced in Lubbock. Just a few days ago Mr. C. C. Merrill, of 509 15th Street, Denver, Colo., made the following statement:

Mr. Merrill

"I had been suffering with gassy indigestion for many years My stomach was in such an upset condition that I had to avoid greasy or starchy foods, as these things caused me to have awful attacks of heartburn. I tried all kinds of diets, and I even went on a seventeen-day fast without any noticeable benefit. I started suffering from a bad rheumatic condition caused by impurities in my system. I heard about Van-Tage and started taking it, and now I am able to eat what I choose. The gas bloating and heartburn after my meals have been relieved. And the cleansing action of Van-Tage has given me wonderful relief from my rheumatic pains. I am feeling better every day, thanks to Van-Tage."

VAN-TAGE contains 21 Great Herbs and nearly a dozen other Splendid Ingredients, which help cleanse bowels, bring forth gas from stomach and invigorate kidney action so that people say they feel different IN GENERAL. Van-Tage is reasonable in price, so don't hesitate. Get it—TODAY at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas. Adv.

Mexican Oil Strike Ends

MEXICO CITY, June 8. (AP)—Mexico's 18,000 oil workers who tied up operations of 17 British and American companies for 11 days in a general strike against the $400,000,000 industry, were ordered back to their jobs today.

Red and black strike flags came down in the capital and elsewhere over Mexico's vast petroleum domain; pickets folded their tents, and put away their chess and checkerboards to start again the flow of motor fuel and other petroleum products which virtually had been stopped.

To Arbitrate Demands

The workers' syndicate formally halted the strike last night when it asked the federal conciliation board to arbitrate its demands on wages, hours and other working conditions.

The end of the walkout represented a victory for President Lazaro Cardenas and fulfillment of his promise of Saturday night that the strike would end Monday.

In its continuing dispute with the employers, the syndicate announced it would:

Ask the conciliation board to force the companies' acceptance of the syndicate's draft of a blanket labor contract;

Action To Be Filed

File action against the companies, through the board, for "losses suffered by the workers in consequence of the conduct of those companies in refusing to sign the collective contract," as well as for wages during the strike, expenses of the general oil congress and strike costs generally;

Seek retroactivity of the contract to May 28, the day the strike started;

Insist upon a conciliation board membership that would "deserve the confidence of the workers;"

Intensify propaganda in support of the workers' demands during the arbitration period, which the union said it expected would be no more than 45 days.

At the outset of the strike, the workers demanded a 40-hour week instead of 44 hours; a minimum daily wage of six pesos ($1.62) instead of 4.30 pesos ($1.16) which they said was the present average; 30-day vacations and a pension plan.

The companies said it was financially impossible to meet these demands.

Creek Runs Wild As Cloudburst Strikes

ALTUS, Okla., June 8. (AP)—A hailstorm and cloudburst struck western Jackson county today, damaging wheat crops and sending Turkey creek on its worst rampage since 1935.

The hailstorm area covered a four-mile strip across the county and extended into portions of Greer and Harmon counties.

The wheat crop, just ready for harvest, was beaten into the ground in some sections. No official estimate of the damage was available.

Rain which carried from 1.5 to 6 inches fell in the area immediately after the hailstorm and Turkey creek was estimated at the highest level since 1935, when several persons were drowned in a flood.

Practice Of Selling Tomato Culls Would Be Probed

AUSTIN, June 8. (AP)—The State Department of Health would be asked to investigate the practice of selling discarded tomato culls in East Texas by a resolution introduced in the house today.

Rep. B. F. Cathey of Quitman and others said growers in the Tyler, Troup and Jacksonville areas sometimes discarded defective tomatoes along highways and that later they were picked up by trackers who sold them at reduced prices, holding down the market price and endangering public health.

Trials Set For Hearing Today

Two of three cases charging violation of state liquor laws which had been set for hearing today in county court probably will be heard, according to information from the office of the county attorney.

On today's docket are liquor charges against Mrs. T. M. Hill and O. J. and Mrs. O. J. Rowden named jointly in a complaint. A charge against May Grayson was continued until the July term by agreement.

Of the three cases scheduled for trial Tuesday, Verna Whitehead's was continued because of illness of the defendant, C. L. Dickson's was dismissed because of a defective search warrant, and H. H. Davis' was passed by agreement until July.

Judge J. J. Dillard dismissed jurors yesterday until 9 o'clock this morning.

The Tax-Dodging Investigation

THE administration's drive to lay a restraining hand on the shoulder of the wealthy tax dodger ought to provide the citizenry with the best show that has been put on in Washington since the midget sat in J. P. Morgan's lap.

For it is going to be funny: make no mistake about that. When a multi-millionaire forms a holding company to own his private yacht, rents the yacht from that holding company and then uses the device to whittle down his income tax, he provides a rich spectacle for his humbler fellows, and the congressional committee that is going to look into such things can be expected to make the most of it.

But there is a grim side to it, too. For this sort of thing constitutes just about the most refined and subtle form of disrespect for law that can possibly be imagined. Nothing else could do so much to make ordinary folk feel that there really is a privileged class in this country and that that class is above and beyond the reach of the government.

THE income tax, to begin with, is the fairest of all taxes in that it is based squarely on the citizen's ability to pay. If a man's income is very small he pays no tax at all. If it is a little larger, he pays a moderate tax. If it is very large, he pays a very heavy tax.

So far, so good. But if the man in the highest bracket is able to command the services of a slick lawyer, who can juggle figures until a vast income looks like no income at all, the fairness of this tax system goes out of the window. It then becomes a tax which is levied only on those who are not rich enough to escape it.

When this happens, and when everybody in the country knows that it happens, what is the result?

FIRST of all, the government loses some much-needed income—which it ought to be getting from those very people who are making the most noise about the necessity for balancing the budget.

Secondly, the rich man feels that he stands above the law; that the government at Washington may have power over lesser folk but that he is in a class by himself.

Thirdly, there develops throughout the country a general feeling that laws apply only to people who are not smart enough to evade them. The swindler, the racketeer, the grafter, the muscle-man—all of these can, and do, justify their deeds by pointing to the richest and most successful men in the community, who, like them, are engaged in dodging through the loopholes in the law, for profit.

That is why this investigation of tax evasions is so important. It is a test of the government's power to make the law apply equally to all. Until that power is firmly established our democracy cannot be perfect.

ALSO important to the forthcoming investigation of tax-dodging and to democracy, as well, is that the administration apply its yardstick to all men suspected of flouting the law—and not only to those who have opposed the President and his policies.

To get the job done as it should be done, official Washington must "hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may."

If the investigation is permitted to take the form of a political inquisition, democracy and the respect for law will suffer fully as much as they have suffered through "chiseling" on the part of some of our richest—and least patriotic—citizens.

With Our Contemporaries

"Rudolph Struve and I have, at last, agreed on one thing—Abernathy needs a good band," Buford Davenport confesses in the Abernathy Review.

"During the month of May the rainfall in Spur registered 12.28 inches and came in such manner as to thoroughly soak the ground," Jep Craig quotes from his "23 years ago" column in the Texas Spur.

"To collide with a stationary object while traveling 60 miles an hour in an automobile is equivalent to fall off a 120 foot cliff, says State Bureau of Motor Vehicles of New York." A. E. Richards buzzes in the Ropes Plainsman.

The One-Minute Sermon

The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me.

For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

For all his judgments were before me: and as for his statutes I did not depart from them.—II Samuel, XXII, 21 through 23.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE SINGING LAKE

The Lagoon of Batticaloa presents one of the most exotic phenomena of any tropical body of water. At nightfall the lagoon begins to hum, the song growing clearer as the night advances. On moonlight nights the song of the lake increases in intensity and is like a great army singing in the depth. No other body of water in the world can compare with it. There is no clear explanation of this phenomenon.

AFRAID to LOVE

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JOAN BARRETT, heroine, secretary to John Hendry.

JOHN HENDRY, mining investment head.

BOB ANDREWS, Hendry's junior partner and Joan's fiance.

SYBIL HENDRY, socialite, John Hendry's niece and Joan's rival in love.

PHILIP HENDRY, Sybil's brother.

DOROTHY STARKE, Joan's girlhood friend.

CHARLES NORTON, California mining promoter.

Yesterday: Bob, returning to New York, learns the terrible news from Sybil. She also reveals the story of Joan's past, intimates the police suspect her. Bob determines to find Joan, clear her.

CHAPTER XXVII

As they drew up in front of the little white cottage, Bob's eyes grew wide at the pandemonium which enveloped it. Police officers, curiosity seekers, newspaper reporters and camera men—their shrill voices raised in querulous inquiry—gave the place a carnival atmosphere. Bob pictured Mr. Hendry's fury could he ever have visualized such desecration.

A shrine—that was what he had called the little house just a few evenings previous. A shrine to happiness. His words still rang in Bob's ears. "I want Joan to have the house—to keep it always as a sort of shrine . . ." Poor Joan. She would probably hate to even pass it, after the misery it was causing her today.

Sybil and Bob rushed past the crowds without and entered the house. The police had taken command, and they seemed to swarm over the place, scrutinizing, measuring, searching.

Bob restraining himself with an effort. These fools had tried to pin the blame on Joan . . . on his own beloved Joan. He wanted to have it out with them physically, to choke the words down their throats, with his own bare hands!

As Sybil introduced them perfunctorily, Inspector Kennedy must have sensed some of the turmoil going on within him, for his voice was kindly.

"A terrible case, Mr. Andrews," he observed gently. "Mr. Hendry was such a fine man, in every way . . . You've known him several years, I understand?"

"Ten years." Bob replied. "I've been in the organization that length of time."

Inspector Kennedy was watching him shrewdly. But his voice was still gentle as he asked: "By the way, Miss Hendry tells me that you were to be married to Mr. Hendry's secretary—Miss Barrett?"

Bob's face was white. "I do intend to marry Miss Barrett," he snapped, and his lower jaw was set.

Kennedy hesitated a moment. Then: "Suppose we discuss the case privately," he suggested. "We can go up to Mr. Hendry's room."

Bob followed him up the stairs without a word. Sybil looked after them a little fearfully. She would have preferred being included in this discussion. She wanted to caution Kennedy not to reveal where he had got his infromation on San Francisco.

The two men went into the small library adjoining Mr. Hendry's bedroom and Kennedy shut the door behind them. He sat down, motioning Bob to a seat.

"Mr. Andrews," he said, still kindly, "I know how you feel—Miss Hendry has doubtless discussed the case with you—but I don't want you to get the impression that the police are deliberately trying to wrong you—or Miss Barrett."

"I think you're making a pretty big mistake . . ."

"Believe me, we're trying not to. We have made no accusations—"

Bob looked up suddenly. "Miss Hendry intimated—" he began.

"That we had accused Miss Barrett?" Kennedy finished for him. "Miss Hendry has misinformed you. That is her own supposition, not ours. In the first place, the affair does not seem the work of a girl. Mr. Hendry was a powerful man; he could have resisted any normal attempt on his life. We are concerned, however, over the fact that Miss Barrett has disappeared. Do you know of any reason why she should have run away?"

Bob shook his head. "I can't understand it," he said dully.

"You knew of her—her background?"

"No. I know nothing other than what Miss Hendry just told me. I don't believe her story."

"We're waiting for absolute proof now," said Kennedy, making no effort to convince him. "However, that has nothing to do with the present case. I understand from Mr. Hendry's lawyer that he recently revised his will to include Miss Barrett. Did you know that?"

"Yes. Mr. Hendry discussed it with me, about a week ago."

"And Miss Barrett knew it?"

"Definitely not." Bob said firmly. "Mr. Hendry took pains to have the new will drawn up at his attorney's office, so that Miss Barrett would not know it. He told me that he preferred it to come as a surprise to her, eventually."

"I see." Kennedy tapped on the arm of his chair thoughtfully. "She did know, however, about the $40,000 Mr. Hendry had in his possession last night?"

"Yes. We both knew about that."

"Was there anyone else who might have learned about it?"

"We discussed it with Miss Hendry at dinner last night. Then, of course, there was the messenger who brought the money."

"Nobody else?"

Bob thought a moment. "There was Mr. Norton," he said finally, "a friend of Mr. Hendry's, who is here to negotiate the sale for which the money was needed. Mr. Hendry might have told him."

"You're not sure?"

Bob recalled the few minutes he and Joan had spent with Mr. Hendry and Norton at the Inn the night before. "I'm quite sure that Norton did know about it, now that I think back," he said.

"Why?"

Bob explained their meetings with the two men in the Inn grill. "As we came up to the table," he explained, "I distinctly heard Mr. Norton joking to Mr. Hendry about his fears. He commented upon the fact that they had, in the past, carried their entire fortune in their pockets."

"But you did not hear Mr. Hendry definitely tell him that he had this amount of money?"

"No."

"Norton was in a position to realize that fact, I suppose, if he were negotiating the sale?"

"Yes. The sale was scheduled for this afternoon, so Norton knew Mr. Hendry would have the cash either yesterday or today."

"And Norton was out here last night?"

"Yes. He and Mr. Hendry had dinner together at the Inn. But Mr. Norton returned to town with me."

"At what time was that?"

"We took the 11:10 out of Green Hills."

Kennedy made a note of that in a little book he took from his pocket. "The 11:10, eh? You went on to Washington, did you not?"

"Yes. I caught the midnight train out of Pennsylvania station."

Kennedy nodded reflectively.

"Miss Barrett, I understand, and her friend—Miss Starke—were at the station when you left?" he asked.

"Yes. At the Green Hills station."

"And Mr. Hendry remained at the Inn?"

"Yes. We left him there."

"H-m-m-m-m." Kennedy was thoughtful for a moment.

"Do you know," he asked presently, "why Miss Barrett came over here to see Mr. Hendry at midnight?"

"No, I don't. She said nothing to me about her intention to do so. It may be that she was alarmed over his being alone in the house, as Miss Hendry says she was. She was greatly concerned over his having so much money on his person."

"Perhaps that is it. Perhaps that is why she did not tell Miss Starke the reason for her visit either. Miss Starke told us that she decided quite suddenly to see Mr. Hendry about a private matter. She left the house just before the Inn clock chimed the hour."

There was a knock on the door. "Come in!" Kennedy called.

An officer, in uniform, entered and handed a large envelope to Kennedy. "The pictures," he announced, "the ones your wired San Francisco for."

"Thanks, O'Brien."

Kennedy opened the envelope and and looked at each picture closely. Finally he passed one over to Bob.

"Here's a picture of the Barrett girl whose father was convicted of murder in San Francisco. This picture, mind you, was taken 10 years ago. Would you say Mr. Hendry's secretary is the same girl?"

Bob took the picture, and his eyes widened with horror as he stared at it, unbelieving.

"The same girl?" Kennedy repeated.

Bob nodded his head slowly. "Yes, it is," he admitted, quietly. There was no doubt about it in his mind. In 10 years, Joan had changed hardly at all. And her father—

He remembered, of a sudden, the words she had spoken to him on New Year's Eve. "There is something in my life I would rather die than have you know—" This was it.

Joan, he thought, my poor darling! This is the horrible secret you've carried all these years? You were afraid that I, too, would believe it? You thought, my dear, that I would believe your father a

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE inside explanation for President Roosevelt's retention of his old cabinet, despite rumors of change, is that it no longer functions as his personal or official advisory family. In the same way F.D.R. has isolated himself against party leaders on Capitol Hill—to their disgruntlement.

In recent months he has formed an unofficial clique which dominates him and his policies completely. All his recent revolutionary proposals—court reform, government reorganization, the wage-and-hours bill, power expansion, the tax crusade—stem from the suggestions of this young, liberal faction. Whereas Cabinet members see him formally twice a week, the others dodge in and out of the White House every night after dark. They have his ear and his heart. The new arrangement has produced utter chaos in politics and government.

Dominant figure in the group is Felix Frankfurter of Harvard, for most of the men now on the knee are his proteges or his proteges' favorites. They include Thomas Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen, Charles O. West, James Landis, Stanley F. Reed, Herman Oliphant, Harry Hopkins, Larry Duggan (State) and Mordecai Ezekiel of Agriculture. There is a key man in almost every department, and they run the White House ranch—no doubt of it. It explains the administration's steady drift to the left since Inauguration Day.

REFORMERS: The power which this "kitchen cabinet" exercises over policies and personnel is astounding. They keep their fingers on every control lever in the government. In their attic hideouts they frame measures without consulting Congressional or cabinet members deeply concerned over major policies.

The wage-and-hours bill was not shown to Secretary Perkins or Capitol Hill experts until Messrs. Cohen and Corcoran had dotted every i and crossed every t. Mr. Ickes wasn't permitted to sit in on the power message or the measures intended to put it into effect. Through Larry Duggan they radioed advice to President Roosevelt during the Buenos Aires conference without the knowledge of Acting Secretary of State Moore. They continually go over the heads of their superiors.

It is a situation without precedent at Washington. More and more Mr. Roosevelt shuts himself off from his political advisers, and walls himself in with these social and economic reformers. He likes them personally—they are brilliant, stimulating fellows—and their ideas for remaking the world accord with his.

CLINCHED: Senate foes of the President's court-packing proposal apparently sense that F.D.R. is weakening on this proposition—at least for this session. They have quietly called off a coup which was designed to convince the White House of the unpopularity of the idea even among friends.

Senator Burke of Nebraska had hit on the scheme of polling every member of the forty-eight Democratic state committees. It was to have been a grassroots canvass in which the economic and political status of the pros and cons—their ages, their salaries, their rural or urban environement—would have been listed. Preliminary tests disclosed that 30-plus per cent of the active party workers were violently opposed to the plan, despite their partisan loyalty to the President.

But the Nebraskan closed down his mimeographs when the court upheld the Social Security law, and when Justice Van Devanter retired. He figured that those developments clinched things for the antis, and that any further activity would be a waste of time and money. He hasn't even bothered to classify the replies. He says he knows when a battle is won.

BREAK: The heat's on!

On a recent trip west National Chairman Farley was quoted as demanding the defeat of Senator Van Nuys when he comes up for reelection next year. The Indiana Senator has been a ringleader in the fight against the court plan. It was the first open declaration of war on the Democrats who have dared to oppose the President.

The reaction in this first test was immediate. The Indiana man's colleagues, Democratic and Republican, assured him that they would campaign for him if the White House carries out the Farley threat. It looks like the first break in the hitherto impregnable Roosevelt-Farley line—and not the last if "Jim" really means business.

NOTES: Business interests fear new powers of S.E.C. would increase difficulties of corporate refinancing. . . . Big increase in small home building, and prices of building material somewhat lower in spots. . . . Pressure is increasing for inclusion of farm workers and domestics in Social Security benefits. . . . Government payments are now a small part of increased farm income—eggs are a bigger item than federal checks. . . . About 320 rural electrification projects are under way.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

RESISTANCE of Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and other stalwart open-shop outfits in the steel industry to C.I.O. demands is stiffened by private information passed along to them by automobile leaders.

The latter confide off the record that they are not at all happy about the fruits of their agreements with John Lewis. For one thing, despite Lewis' strenuous efforts to inculcate discipline among his followers, the latter remain highly irresponsible and the managements have no real peace of mind about their labor relations. They never can tell when and where trouble is going to bust loose in defiance of signed covenants.

Still worse, production has definitely slowed down under union auspices. The leisurely pace of factory operations (reversal of the "speed-up") is materially increasing cost per unit of production. This will inevitably lead to substantial price increases—and a severe kickback from consumers is feared. The steel boys will stage a strenuous battle to keep from falling into this hole.

CYCLE: Astute New York analysts note the development of an entirely new quarterly business cycle as a result of the undistributed profits tax.

It works this way. Directors meet in the last quarter to appraise annual earnings and determine what to do with them. The tax whip encourages maximum spending (excluding capital expenditure) as well as maximum dividend distribution. Consequently there is an immediate outpouring of cash that stimulates trade, and many orders are also placed to be filled in the months ahead. Productive industrial activity is therefore stimulated sharply through December, January and February—and to some extent through several months beyond.

It is figured that the business curve will regularly start rising rapidly in the last quarter, hold an exceptionally high level through the first quarter, taper somewhat in the second quarter—and drop through the cellar in the third quarter. This last effect is expected to be sharply noticeable this year—to the detriment of steady industrial employment.

ADVICE: Friedrich Schoenemann, Professor of English at the University of Berlin, was recently a guest professor at the University of Nebraska. He has also lectured at Harvard and other American universities. He is an ardent Nazi and his mission was essentially one of subtle propaganda.

Since returning home he has made an amazingly frank speech to party members in Berlin. Informed New Yorkers have received detailed confidential reports. He warned his Nazi associates that they were getting nowhere by vilifying LaGuardia and other American critics. He stated bluntly that the American feeling towards the Nazi regime ranged from indifference to rabid hate. He commented that many more Americans were afraid of fascism than of communism.

In conclusion he urged an immediate change to conciliatory tactics and expressed the opinion that rural Americans would offer a more fertile soil for German propaganda than city dwellers. Dr. Schoenemann is important enough to be listened to with respect. But Hitler & Co. are still weighing this advice.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS, No. 123

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The nearest beast was almost upon Tarzan. It crouched for a spring but the alert ape-man sprang first! Before the surprised jaguar could raise its talons in opposition, Tarzan's keen knife was delivering a mortal blow. Then he turned to face his final foe.

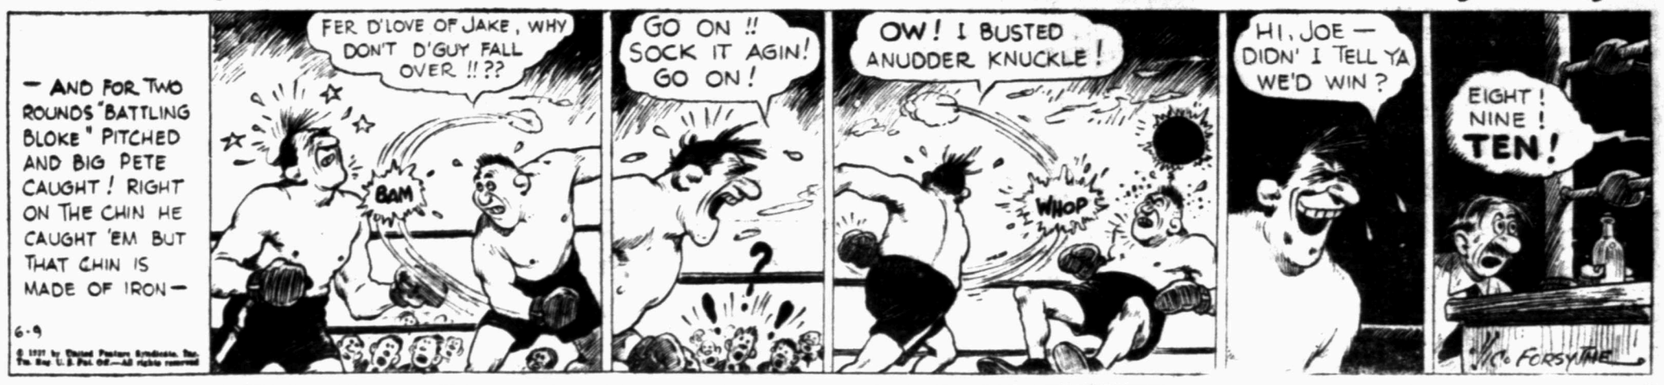

A lone jaguar was no serious problem to one who had fought and conquered the mightiest and fiercest beasts of the African jungle. The ape-man made quick work of the creature; then he placed a foot on the carcass and gave vent to the shrill ape-cry of victory.

Queen Zalya looked upon the heroic prisoner in a rapturous daze of enchantment. What a magnificent creature he was—how brave and strong. What a fool she had been to have allowed her pride to betray her into desiring his death! He must live, he must . . . .

Her thoughts were interrupted by the consciousness of the Medicine Priet's steady, hostile gaze. In fact he seemed to read her mind, for now he pronounced solemnly, "It is written that he who harms the sacred jaguars must die—at the hands of our Queen!"

STOCK MARKET ALLIES

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—With steels, coppers and specialties in the lead, the stock market today crawled into a half-hearted rally.

While gains up to 2 points were well distributed at the close, losers were rather plentiful.

The British chancellor of the exchequer helped to further ease the international gold tension by telling the house of commons the government's monetary policy would continue unchanged and that fluctuations of the yellow metal not be permitted. The gold price in London was lowered about 4 cents an ounce before the official made his announcement.

No Quick Reaction

Stocks did little or nothing immediately following the chancellor's statement.

Continuance of apathetic dealings resulted in a turnover of only 897,990 shares compared with 84,780 yesterday. The associate 597,990 shares compared with 584,-780 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues edged forward .3 of a point at 67.7.

Brokers thought the steel strike situation had lost much of its depressing influence markedly, although speculative and investment forces were still inclined to play safe on the buying side.

New Braunfels Man Seriously Injured In Auto Mishap

SAN ANTONIO, June 8. (AP)—His left arm crushed from his body at the shoulder in an automobile accident near San Antonio early today, Roland Serstefer, 40, of New Braunfels was in a critical condition at a New Braunfels hospital.

Werstefer's truck and a truck operated by Francisco Ysler of Asherton, sideswiped each other near radio station WOAI on the Austin highway.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 8. (AP)—After easing practically $1 a bale net lower today the cotton market encountered moderate support from covering and a little trade buying and the close was steady at net losses for the day of 8 to 13 points.

Liverpool more than met yesterday's decline here and prompted additional liquidation at the opening.

Most Early Loss Recovered

At the lowest July contracts traded off to 12.02 and with other months proportionally lower. Afternoon shorts starting covering at the lower levels and the market responded by recovering a good part of the early loss.

The early weakness was attributed by commentators to uneasiness over the gold situation despite official denials from all leading countries.

The consensus of opinion was that longs, tired of holding their commitments in the face of unerringly lower gold and the favorable crop news, declined to liquidate with the resulting sharp drop in prices.

July closed at 12.08, Oct. at 12.20, Dec. at 12.28, Jan. at 12.29, March at 12.34, and May at 12.36. Spots were 13 points lower with middling at 12.48.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—Cotton sold off to further new low ground for the movement today but resistance developed as prices approached the 12-cent level.

October, which had eased from 12.26@12.12, closed at 12.19 with final prices 9 to 12 points net lower.

The market opened 4 to 6 points off in partial response to easy Liverpool cables but considerable support appeared in the form of trade and scattered buying. However, selling proved more aggressive and prices soon eased under further tired long liquidation.

December At 12.10

Declines uncovered additional stop orders but more active trade buying, covering and Wall Street buying developed as December sold at 12.10.

The technical position was believed to have been improved by the selling and there was a fair volume of buying on a reactionary theory with prices at today's lows off about 57 to 63 points in two days.

Exports today 7,520 making a total of 5,410,599 for the season thus far. Port receipts 6,316. U. S. port stocks 1,332,-629.

Texas Legislature

one time."

In connection with the veto of the laboratory measure, he reminded that general appropriations and costs of government had been substantially increased by the 45th legislature and that all revenue bills passed by the House had failed to get through the Senate.

"Irrespective of the merits of this bill," he said, "I do not believe we should approve this appropriation since no revenues have been provided to take care of it."

In addition to the important general appropriation bills, the governor signed the new liquor regulatory measure and a bill creating the upper Red river flood control and irrigation district. He planned to sign the bill repealing the law permitting the certificate system of wagering on horse racing as soon as received.

A number of bills aimed against gambling were added to those already introduced in the house, but Speaker Robert W. Calvert threw out, as not within the governor's call, one which would have empowered the Supreme court to compel through writs of mandamus performance of official duties by local officers.

One bill offered would prohibit book-making on any race between animals or machines, while another would permit citizens, the attorney-general or local officers to obtain injunction against bookie shops. A third would tighten statutes against marble machines.

Another resolution proposing creation of a committee to investigate operations of the oil industry, with special attention to "hot" oil running, was introduced in the House. The House has considered one resolution without taking action to date.

Governor OK's Tech Library

the senate."

Other Aids Secured

He called attention to the senator's managing to include, also in the bill appropriation for cottages and pavement on the college campus here.

Wells did not lose sight of "excellent work done by Rep. J. Doyle Settle of the 119th district, who was vice chairman of the appropriation committee of the lower house."

The college board of directors, recognizing the need of moving with all possible dispatch in order to alleviate crowded library facilities, is expected to meet soon, Chairman Clifford B. Jones of Spur may "immediately institute board activities," Wells said he understood.

The board "had not presumed" to take any formal action, "pending the governor's signature of the measure which had been engrossed May 21." Senators, numerous of whom had committed themselves as planning to support the request for the Tech library, recognized the need as No. 1 of Texas public institutions of higher learning, they said.

Knapp Out Of City

Dr. Knapp, who had appeared before the appropriations committee of the house and who earlier had suggested a program he would ask of legislators, could not be reached Monday night for a statement, since he was away on vacation. He earlier had indicated his pleasure at the attitude of legislators, when press services announced May 22 the legislators had passed the appropriations bill.

He had said "we will be in relatively better position than in the past," but that the legislature, while it had been "very considerate," had not been "more than is deserved" by the institution.

Wells Praises Faculty

Wells, like Dr. Knapp had done earlier, paid testimony to the "personal sacrifices" of numerous faculty members of Tech, reiterated his belief the "staff at the college is wonderful" and said he was gratified salaries would "be more commensurate with the value of those faculty members."

He said the board of directors probably would appoint soon a building committee, which will make recommendations to the entire board.

Wells saw additional advantages in the new library structure, which not only would relieve congestion in the administration building, through allowing additional classroom space by replacing the old location, but possibly could accommodate classes itself."

Distribution Outlined

Earlier, it had been announced the appropriation would mean each year of the biennium, in round figures, $83,000 for maintenance of equipment; $34,000 for summer school and $415,000 for salaries.

Tech, which ranks third in size among state-supported educational institutions, had asked for $510,000 for salaries each year of the biennium and $178,046 for maintenance, as well as three new buildings. The state board of control budget recommendation was for $367,468 in salaries and $76,000 in maintenance, with no recommendation for building funds.

For the last biennium, appropriations were $289,690.60 for salaries, $62,517 for maintenance and $4,000 for improvement.

Early Cuts Were Deep

Seventy-eight members of the faculty who had been slashed in salary from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent in 1933 since them had received no restoration of emolument, even though faculty members in most Texas schools had been given hikes in salary to some degree in the meantime. The "extreme low level," however, in the Tech faculty received salary additions two years ago.

"Ninety per cent" of the basic $3,500 for department heads would be approximately $3,375, or much above the $2,700 to which they had been reduced, Dr. Knapp earlier had pointed out.

Half the appropriation for the library would be available the first year of the biennium, half the last year, it had been announced from Austin.

D. Allen, county clerk, to Rev. R. M. Hocker, Lubbock county probat on officer. The boy said he had lived at Lubbock and had been employed by theaters and the Morning Avalanche. High Death Rate Is Reported In 1936

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP)—The census bureau said today the 1936 death rate in the United States was 11.5 per 1,000 population—the highest since 1929. The 1935 was 10.9.

Death last year totaled 1,474,177, the bureau said, an increase of 81,425 over the previous year.

The bureau reported the heat wave last July and an increase in respiratory deaths early last year were the principal factors.

North Dakota had the lowest death rate last year—8 per 1,000 population. Low rates included Arkansas 9.2, Texas 10.7.

Approximately 25 Shriners of Lubbock and the South Plains attended the first regular meeting of the South Plains Shriners club in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel at 7 o'clock last night. It was a dinner session.

Sun Eclipse Photos

to work. An artist began sketching the glory of color.

Moon Covers Sun

The moon covered the sun, apparently. A "magnificent streamer" of blue light, apart of the corona, shot outward, twice as long as the diameter of the sun.

A brilliant star appeared overhead. It was the Planet Venus. Others popped out. Sea birds rushed landward to snuggle on the shore and roost in the only vegetation—nine plam trees. Lumpy cottony clouds changed from white to dark lavender. Prominences of the moon were visible.

"It is painted beauty, unreal, unnatural, almost seems as if it were not there," came the description.

Darkness Sets In

One minute was left of totality. Two hot blue fingers—corona flames—extended upward from the blotted orb and one pierced downward. It was so dark scientists could not see the second hands of their watches.

A pale silvery shadow crept across Canton's shark-infested lagoon, a reflection of the corona.

Silence Hardly Broken

The tick of dozens of naval observatory watches and the pulsing of a gasoline engine operating a refrigerator plant where precious photographic plates were stored was all that broke the silence.

Then came the first burst of sun behind the moon, growing gradually into a red-hot crescent. Scientists put on smoked glasses to see the final phase. Birds stirred again. Daylight came. Scientists drew deep breaths and relaxed.

Clouds sailed back and obscured the sun. Had they gathered five minutes sooner, the expedition would have failed.

Years of study of the secrets of the sun lay before the 15 sky gazers. To determine what important discoveries they made during the 213 precious seconds will require long research.

Dr. S. A. Mitchell, director of University of Virginia observatory, head of the joint party; Captain J. F. Hellwig, superintendent of the U. S. Naval Observatory; and Dr. Paul A. McNally, director of Georgetown University Observatory, reported from Canton that their work should yield all information they sought.

Eclipse Seen Perfectly In Peru And From Plane, Five Miles Up

LIMA, Peru, June 8. (AP)—From an airplane nearly five miles up, from Andean peaks and from seaside stations jubilant scientists reported late today they had observed and recorded the total eclipse of the sun under almost perfect conditions.

They saw it near sundown, totality beginning at 5:21 p. m. (Peruvian and H. S. T.), when the sun was 8 to 10 degrees above the horizon.

Major Albert W. Stevens, American army aviator observing for the American Museum of Natural History, reported by radio he had reached a height of 25,000 feet, kept his plane in the path of totality about three and a half minutes and had achieved "splendid results in wonderful visibility."

The conference is sponsored by the entire district, Texas Technological college, and Seaman hall. Boys are staying in Horn hall and girls in Doak hall. All meals will be taken at Doak hall.

Approximately 50 youth leaders are expected at the conference.

MILLBURY, Mass., June 9. (Wednesday) (AP)—Homer Robbins, 31, escaped armed maniac, sought since he fled into woods in Sutton Sunday night, was shot to death when cornered in a house on Sycamore street by state troopers and Millbury police early this morning.

Little Enthusiasm For Eclipse Shown Here; Few View Event

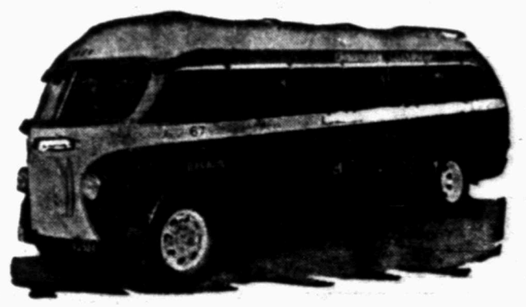

The sun's partial eclipse early Tuesday afternoon failed to arouse expected enthusiasm in this section although it plainly was visible through smoked glasses for 45 minutes. Only an occasional observer was noticed.

Dr. R. S. Underwood, mathematics instructor and astronomer of Texas Technological college, who predicted the time of visibility of the eclipse here more accurately than most scientists, said a number of students at the college observed through colored glasses the eclipse.

It first was visible about 5 minutes after 3 o'clock and lasted until about 3:50, he said. The phenomenon was most plainly visible about 3:30 when approximately 5 per cent of the lower circle of the sun was shadowed.

He viewed the spectacle through shaded glasses, saying he obtained better views through them than through telescopes.

U. S. Judge Is Target For Puerto Rico Gunfire

Political Plot Is Background

(By The Associated Press)

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, June 8.—United States Judge Robert A. Cooper, who sentenced eight Puerto Rican nationalists to prison terms for conspiring to overthrow the United States government on the island, escaped injury late today as betwen 12 and 15 shots were fire at him.

He was returning to his home when the incident occurred.

The nationalists were flown to the United States yesterday and arrived in Atlanta early this morning at the federal penitentiary to begin serving their sentences.

Their terms range from four to ten years. Among the eight was Pedro Albizu Campos, president of the nationalist party and former Harvard student. He was sentenced to a ten-year prison term after being convicted of attempting to overthrow the government by force, fomenting violence and trying to recruit an army of independence.

Awards For Attendance Are Given To Lions Members

Awards for attendance were presented to 16 members of the Lions club yesterday noon by former District Governor E. L. Pitts and a key to Frank A. Kennedy for his work in securing new members, at the weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Seven cubs, made full-fledged members, were given pins and welcomed into the club by Herman L. Fink, while Tail Twister Jasper Wayne Henley gave each a personal welcome.

President H. C. Pender announced the district governor-elect, Joe Pond of Colorado, would install new officers Tuesday, June 29.

R. J. Allen made a short talk. H. V. Bingham was program chairman for the day and Dr. C. C. Craig, chairman for the month.

Cubs becoming Lions were: P. H. Pope, Ernest Lindsey, Clyde Fortune, H. H. Hughes, John Jackson, Joe Dudley and George Jackson.

Three Lubbock Doctors Appear On Medical Society Programs

Three Lubbock doctors last night participated in two medical society meetings at Lamesa and Plainview reading papers and showing pictures.

Dr. E. L. Hunt read a paper and Dr. H. E. Mast showed pictures at a meeting at Plainview of physicians of Hale, Floyd, Briscoe and Swisher counties. Dr. Hunt's paper was on "Anaesthesias."

"Injuries of the Knee Joint" was the subject of a paper presented by Dr. D. D. Cross at Lamesa at a meeting of the Dawson county medical association.

murderer?

He spun on Kennedy savagely.

"I don't care what your San Francisco pictures show!" he cried. "That girl's father never killed a man. Never!"

Kennedy shrugged. "That's not for us to consider now, Mr. Andrews. We want to know who killed Mr. Hendry—"

"Find out, then! But don't persecute an innocent girl—"

"Wait a moment, Andrews!" Kennedy said sharply. "We're not trying to persecute anybody as you say. But there's an angle which you haven't considered."

"Miss Barrett, as we know, came here last night to see Mr. Hendry shortly after midnight. The doctor advises us that Mr. Hendry was killed about that hour. Suppose Miss Barrett walked into the house and saw the murder being done? She wouldn't be very safe herself, would she?"

"My God!" Bob jumped to his feet. "Her life may be in danger! We've got to find her—before it's too late! Can't you do something?"

Kennedy nodded. "I've got 20 men out now," he said, "combing the city for her. And every radio car has her description. . . ."

Resumption Of Work On WPA Projects Is Hoped For; Rain Halted Most Activity

Dry weather prevailing generally over Lubbock WPA district aroused hopes of headquarters officials here Tuesday that a complete resumption of work on projects will be possible within the next two or three days after having been in a state of near paralysis during the greater part of three weeks.

Especially will a cessation of rain be necessary if workmen are to return to caliche pits from which materials are obtained for topping roads. Work was at a standstill in every pit in the district Tuesday, reports to headquarters here said.

Reports received Tuesday were to the effect that approximately 40 feet of dump on a farm-market road in Blackwater draw area of northwestern Hale county has been washed out. The road, it was explained, has served primarily for transporting school pupils in that vicinity.

Damage Is Slight

Other reports indicate that damage, on the whole, has been very slight except for delays growing serious. Typical of other projects is one for the caliche surfacing of highway 24 from Lubbock west to the Hockley county line. It is a project more than 10 miles in length and so rapidly was work going forward to within 2,000 feet of the goal that officials here were expressing the belief that a record might be set for such WPA work in Texas. But three weeks ago, rain halted the work, and the 2,000 feet still remain for surfacing before the project is completed.

Irritating also have been experiences with caliche pits throughout Lubbock district. On several occasions, officials said, pits have been drained by pumping only to see them filled by new rains before work could be resumed in them.

Dizzy Spells, Nervousness Yield Quickly To New Remedy; Stomach Fine, Headaches Now In The Past; Gly-Cas' Action Outstanding

"I am enjoying the best health I have had in years, thanks to Gly-Cas," said Mr. August Miller, 1702 Haskell St., Austin, Tex. "For years I had had an awful sick feeling the pit of my stomach, every meal I ate caused me distress. My bowels would almost lock at times too, and my kidneys would get me up at all hours of the night. My head ached almost all of the time it seemed dizzy spells were so frequent and became terribly nervous. I did not know what to do next as medicine after medicine had repeatedly failed in my stubborn case. Upon hearing so much praise for this new Gly-Cas I was persuaded to give it a trial as seemingly every one said it was different—and I found it just that.

MR. AUGUST MILLER

"Gly-Cas is one medicine I would not hesitate to recommend to anyone," he continued. "My stomach, kidneys and bowels were easily regulated and I began to enjoy the blessing of good and glorious health again. I now eat and sleep good, these dreadful poisons have been eliminated, have new strength and energy and would not take anything for what this new remedy has done for me. A short trial of Gly-Cas would convince the most skeptical person without a doubt."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Hals Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, and by leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Ad
