Home Of Priest Is Bombed After He Engages In Bitter Attack On Banks

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit's militant priest, is shown broadcasting in front of his altar at the Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, Detroit suburb, as he bitterly denounced the Detroit Bankers Co., holding company for the closed First National bank and its directors. In his address Father Coughlin charged that $63,000,000 had been taken from the bank on "inside information" immediately preceding the banking holiday.

Bomb Lowered By String Into Basement Of Home; Occupants Are Shaken But Unhurt

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, March 30.—A piece of string tonight was the sole tangible object held by detectives seeking the person who set off a black powder bomb before dawn today in the home of the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin. The bomb, lowered into the basement caused only slight damage and no injuries.

Father Coughlin, a principal figure in the controversy over Detroit's banking situation, said he did not regard the bombing as an attempt on his life, but rather as an intimidation. He was shaken by the explosion, which came as he slept, but was unhurt.

Dwelling Under Guard

Tonight the two-story frame dwelling was under police guard. For a great part of the day police were forced to rope off the streets in front to keep back crowds of curious. Father Coughlin left the home shortly before noon, and attendants said he did not advise them whether he would return tonight.

Detectives who hurried to the home of the priest, near the church of the Shrine of the Little Flower, of which he is pastor, reported there were little outward signs of the blast. Five windows were damaged, and, in the basement, a quality of canned goods, which Father Coughlin had collected for distribution to charity, had been smashed. The detectives said that only the unmistakable smell of black powder gave them the clue to the kind of explosive used.

Find Long Cord

Hanging from the frame of a window the officers found a long white cord, with which the bomb apparently had been lowered into the basement and held in place by the window frame. With only the cord as a clue, the detectives at once sought to re-enact the movements of the person who placed the bomb. Others searched the neighborhood for possible witnesses who might have seen an automobile near the home, but none was found.

A general police order was issued for suspicious automobiles and per-

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 30.—The Arizona board of pardons and paroles today denied a commutation of the death sentence imposed on Winnie Ruth Judd for the slaying of two women in Arizona's celebrated "trunk murder."

The board, however, granted her a reprieve until April 21 to avoid execution of the death sentence on Good Friday.

The board addressed a letter to Governor B. B. Moeur in which it said "this board respectfully declines to make any recommendation to the governor of the state of Arizona for a commutation of sentence."

Governor Lacks Power

Governor Moeur under Arizona law has no power to commute the sentence without recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles.

"Friday, April 14," the board told the governor, "is Good Friday. The board of pardons and paroles is of the opinion that, in deference to this day, a reprieve of one week should be granted."

Accompanying the letter to the governor was a proclamation for reprieve ready for the governor's signature.

AMARILLO, March 30.—"Red" Sublett was blue today after his white mule had faded from sight.

"Red" is the original cowboy clown at the Fort Worth fat stock show.

The mule, which stands about four feet high, without its shoes on, and weighs 400 pounds, net wandered away from its home here Wednesday night.

The white mule's nose isn't red but he has a red ear.

Unless "Red" finds his white mule he may be forced to do his future clowning alone.

Play Tourney To Be Staged In City Today

Eight Plains Schools Are To Send Students Here Today And Saturday; First To Be Held Tonight

Eight South Plains High schools will send students here today and Saturday for an annual Interscholastic League district one-act play tournament, Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, manager, said yesterday.

First production will be presented at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room 202 of the administration building at Tech. Miss Pendleton is a member of the Tech speech department. The contest will continue Saturday afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock. Payment of an admission charge of 25 cents will entitle one to view all the plays.

Mrs. Strout Judge

Mrs. Alan L. Strout, a graduate of Northwestern university school of speech, will be judge.

The schools and their productions are: Lubbock, "Grandma Pulls the String;" Ralls, "Mansions;" Shallowater, "The Valiant;" Hodges, "Making Rosie a Cook;" Whitharral, "Pink and Patches;" Lamesa, "The Valiant;" Grovesville, "Submerged;" Slaton, "First Dress Suit."

Grave Consequences Seen As Result Of Russian Arrests

LONDON, March 30 (AP)—Sir Esmond Ovey, ambassador at Moscow, has been called home to report in person on the arrest of six British subjects employed by the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical company who are charged with sabotage by the Russian government.

The newspapers, which regard the incident as of considerable importance to relations between the two governments, speculated today on the possibility of a ban on Russian imports, cancellation of negotiations for a new trade treaty with Russia and perhaps of a severance of diplomatic relations.

Home Of Farmer Is Under Siege

VIRGINIA, Minn., March 30.(AP)—A crowd of angry farmers, many of them armed, tonight was besieging the barricaded home at Markham, near here, of John Wyberg, who shot and wounded Oscar Carlson when the group attempted to halt work on a road project.

In the place with Wyberg were his wife and son.

Police from Duluth, Hibbing and Virginia were called to rescue the trio.

Life Sentence Is Given Man For Cranfills Gap Robbery

MERIDIAN, March 30. (AP)—Roy Southlerland was sentenced to 99 years' imprisonment by a jury here today for the robbery of the Security State bank at Cranfills Gap, Jan. 6. He pleaded guilty.

Cris L. Rhone, cashier of the bank, was the principal witness against Southerland. Rhone, the only person in the bank at the time, identified the defendant as one of two men who took about $700 in cash and $200 in checks and some notes, Southerland was arrested in Dallas where some of the money was recovered. Another man was arrested near Corsicana and will go on trial tomorrow.

Senate Passes Bill Granting Federal Funds

Second Step In Roosevelt's Three-Point Relief Slate Gets Overwhelming Approval Late Thursday

Plan Next Move

House Expects To Pass Plan Monday; $500,000,000 Will Be Provided; Limitation On Grants Outlined

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 30 — The second step in the administration's vast three-point unemployment and hunger relief program—the appropriation of $500,000,000 for direct federal grants to the states—received overwhelming approval of the senate today and was sent to the house where passage is expected Monday.

The vote, 55 to 17, came after congressional action had been completed on the first part of the Roosevelt fast-moving relief legislation—to authorize employment of about 250,000 men on conservation work in the forests.

Advisers Are At Work

Administration advisers are at work on the third unemployment aid proposal and a message on the subject will go to congress soon.

This will call for a huge public work enterprise to be financed by a feceral bond issue rather than appropriations from the treasury as in the past—on the theory future generations shall bear part of the expense for buildings that will last for years to come.

Meanwhile, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor said in a statement organized labor was ready to submit recommendations upon all questions presented tomorrow at a meeting called by Secretary Perkins to con-

Changes Made In Farm Bill; Passage Seen

Senate Approval Is Forecast Thursday By Even Opponents Of Measure; Other Products Are Added

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 30—Senate approval of President Roosevelt's far-reaching farm relief bill—one of the basic points in his recovery program—was forecast today even by opponents of the measure.

With the major test yet to come in the senate agriculture committee, members of that group today voted three changes in the bill, none shifting the heart of the program, which is intended to curtail farm production and boost prices.

Products Are Added

Peanuts and flax were added by the committee to the list of basic commodities in the measure and efforts will be made tomorrow to include oats, potatoes, citrus and other fruits before it is sent to the senate floor.

The group also deleted provisions the secretary of agriculture in fixing the processing tax rates should consider the effect on unemployment, wages scales and the rate of consumption.

But opponents of the program privately said they were not encouraged by the amendment movement. Instead they held that irrespective of the form in which the committee reports it, administration supporters in the senate will return it to the original form in which it passed the house.

Papers Ordering Return Of Prisoner Are Sent To Texas

SHREVEPORT, La., March 30.(AP) Papers ordering the return to this district of Ernest Dees, 30, who was arrested early today in Waco, Texas, to face charges of violation of the national motor vehicle theft act were forwarded to San Antonio, late today, J. Fair Hardin, assistant U. S. attorney, said tonight.

A complaint charging Dees with automobile theft was sworn out here in January, Mr. Hardin said, who charged that Dees transported a stolen automobile from Houston to Alexandria.

East Texas Hardest Hit With 15 Victims; Property Damage Heavy; Rescue Work Hindered

Six Dead Counted In Louisiana With But One Reported In Arkansas; Storm Zig-Zags In Erratic Path And Strikes First At Lindale; Negro Children Trapped In School

(By The Associated Press)

DEATH-DEALING tornadoes struck in rapid succession Thursday night in North and East Texas communities, Louisiana and Arkansas, leaving 15 known dead in Texas and more than 100 injured; six dead in Louisiana and one dead in Arkansas.

Swooping out of the northwest in the afternoon, the storm zig-zagged in an erratic path, striking first at Lindale, in Smith county, on the edge of the East Texas oil field. Two were killed there.

Next it skipped into Kaufman county, injuring four persons at Mabank.

DARK MASSES STRIKE IN SUCCESSION

Whether the same storm was responsible or a series of related disturbances had not been determined but in quick succession, dark masses of tumbling clouds driven by winds of hurricane force tore across Angelina county, killing five near Huntington; struck in northern San Augustine county, killing three; and in southern Shelby county, killing five and injuring fifty or more persons. Among the injured in Shelby county, at a negro settlement called Calvary, were 20 or 25 negro school children trapped in a schoolhouse which collapsed.

The list of injured at Huntington totaled 35 or more.

The list of dead by towns:

HUNTINGTON: George Knight, 50; infant of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Woodrum; Mrs. Alonzo Linton, 50; R. E. Welch, 14; Mrs. Oscar Roebuck, 21.

LINDALE: Lorell Shaw, 15, negress; Luella Wimberly, 70, negress.

CENTER: Mrs. Jessie Vale, 30; Ed Passmore, 89; Miss Graves, 20; unidentified white man; unidentified negro.

SAN AUGUSTINE: Ferris Andrews, tenant farmer; Mrs. Andrews; Andrews' child.

LOUISIANA DEAD: Russell Jones; his wife; two Jones children; Jones' sister-in-law; Johnny Robinson.

ARKANSAS DEAD: Mrs. Floyd Boyett, near Mount Holly. Her two children were injured.

DEATH TOLL MIGHT GO HIGHER

Indications the death toll might be higher came in the report of a telephone operator at Coushatta, La., that a storm striking Hall Summit, in north Red River parish, killed six persons and caused heavy property damage.

Darkness and softening of roads under a drenching rain made work of caring for the injured difficult. Shattered communication lines prevented speedy identification of all the victims.

All available hospital accomodations at Shelbyville were crowded. Physicians rushed from Center and San Augustine to treat the injured Texans.

El Dorado, Ark., oil company officials said the storm damaged several small oil field towns. Derricks were reported overturned at Standard-Umsted, McKenzie and Laney, all within a 25-mile radius of El Dorado.

MORE THAN 20 CHILDREN INJURED

More than 20 negro children were injured when the storm wrecked a schoolhouse near Shelbyville and a hasty survey of the area showed 20 or 30 white persons were injured.

The same storm previously had passed northwest of San Augustine, injuring four persons in the Lane community. A second tornado struck 10 miles west of San Augustine several hours later, wrecking several houses and injuring a girl.

Witnesses said the Shelbyville storm "came from nowhere" and swept across Shelby county farmlands, uprooting trees and shattering frame houses as it passed.

At Henderson, in the East Texas oil field, the wind storm caused some property damage and the low hanging clouds produced a darkness which necessitated use of lights on motor cars and in buildings.

OIL OFFICIAL AND PILOT ARE HURT

H. K. Webb, president of the Webb Oil company of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mark Hurd, his pilot, were slightly injured in a forced landing near Dallas. Their plane crashed into a telephone pole. They continued to San Antonio, Tex., by train.

Heavy rain in Dallas amounted to more than one inch in about 15 minutes. The storm passed quickly and, at nightfall, the sky was clear.

A volent wind storm struck a section six miles east of Mabank, Kaufman county, Texas, injuring Mr. and Mrs. Will Gilfoy and their two children. Their home was demolished. The storm smashed through an area five miles long and half a mile wide, unroofing houses and blowing down trees.

Four farming communities northeast of Lufkin, in an area approximately five miles long, were directly in the path of the twister, which tore up large pine trees and scattered farmhouses like straw. The storm appeared suddenly from the south and movd swiftly northeastward.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL IS ESTABLISHED

Six Lufkin physicians and several nurses went to Huntington quickly and established an emergency hospital in a drug store there, to care for those most seriously hurt. As soon as aid had been given, they were sent to a hospital in Lufkin.

Searching parties were organized hurriedly to go into the storm stricken area and determine if there were other dead or injured.

Stores were divested of all cots and bedding, which were placed at the disposal of the homeless in hurriedly improvised quarters.

Many of the injured were cut by flying debris and others were bruised by falling timbers as their homes collapsed before they could flee.

The moans and cries of the injured and those bereft of relatives mingled with the confusion at Huntington as physicians and relief workers attempted to comfort them. They predicted that the total of dead and injured would be increased when they reached outlying farmhouses, which were cut off by the high water of several creeks and by highways blocked with fallen trees.

FLIER SURVEYS AREA FROM THE AIR

Huntington is in the heart of the "piney woods" section of East Texas and small lumbering camps are scattered thickly through the region.

O. C. Palmer, Tyler airport manager, who flew over the area afterward, said the storm struck about four miles southwest of Lindale, extending five miles northeast and brushing the edge of the town.

He counted nineteen buildings damaged, most of them demolished.

The Smith county Red Cross hastily made a survey of the sector and appointed a committee to supply food and clothing to more than 50 persons left homeless. Temporary shelter was provided for them.

Palmer said the storm came from the southwest and traveled northeastward, blowing the roofs from houses and uprooted trees. He said it appeared to have demolished the houses as though they had been bombed, the walls falling outward and scattering like straw.

Albert Phelps suffered a broken leg when the S. F. Phelps home at Mount Sylvan, south of Lindale, was wrecked.

The tornado practically wiped out the village of Etoile, 30 miles southeast of Nacogdoches. Four or five stores and about a dozen homes

New Directors Are Announced

Governor Ferguson Sends Trio Of Appointments To Senate For Tech Board; Two Women Are Selected

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson yesterday sent to the state senate three appointments to the board of directors of Texas Technological college. The appointees are:

Mrs. John A. Haley of Midland, Lee P. Pierson of Amarillo, and Mrs. E. W. Meharg of Plainview.

The trio will replace R. A. Underwood and Riley Strickland, both of Amarillo, and Thomas Johnson of McKinney, whose terms expire this year, President Bradford Knapp said last night.

Places Are Listed

The 1931-32 Texas Technological college catalog listed Mr. Underwood as chairman of the board executive committee and as a member of the local affairs committee; Mr. Johnson as a member of the building and the legislative committees; and Mr. Strickland as a member of the local affairs and legislative committees.

Clifford B. Jones of Spur is chairman of the board, and Roscoe Wilson is vice chairman.

Cooler Weather Brought To Lubbock By A Strong Wind

Cooler weather was brought to Lubbock yesterday by a strong north wind, which carried considerable dust and sand. A light shower of rain fell early Thursday night, but skies soon cleared.

The temperature stood near the middle forties at midnight, with a brisk breeze still blowing from the north.

Bank Robbers Being Hunted

Knox City Bank Is Looted Of About $12,000 Thursday As Nightwatchman Is Bound And Left In Vault

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, March 30.—With one trail followed to a dead end in Abilene late today, West Texas officers tonight searched for new clues in an effort to round up a band of masked and armed robbers who early today looted the Citizens State bank at Knox City of approximately $12,000 and made a clean getaway, leaving Nightwatchman J. H. Finley blindfolded in the bank vault.

Three suspects were arrested here today, but were released when Finley, coming here with S. M. Clounts, a director of the bank, was unable to identify them as members of the gang which overpowered him and set to work in the bank vault and safe with acetylene torches.

No Other Developments

Officers did not reveal any other developments in their search for the robbers. It was at first believed that the band headed southward from Knox City, leaving the town short-

Ruth Judd Thinks Board Has Made An "Awful Mistake"; Attitude Is Stern

(By The Associated Press)

STATE PRISON, Florence, Ariz., March 30. — Winnie Ruth Judd "was stunned" when he broke the news to her in her cell that the Arizona board of pardons and paroles had refused to commute her death sentence, Howard G. Richardson, of her counsel, said after a brief visit with the condemned woman tonight.

She seemed unable to comprehend at first, Richardson said, and when it finally was made clear to her that the shadow of the gallows had not been removed she had composed herself.

Her aspect, he said, as she assimilated the news, became "very stern."

"I think the board has made an awful mistake," the attorney quoted her as saying.

The Rev. H. J. McKinnell, Mrs. Judd's 73-year-old retired minister-father, appeared shocked, but accepted the news calmly.

"If it is God's will, it is for the best," he said.

Mrs. McKinnell, the condemned woman's mother, was prostrated and forced to bed.

Knapp Denies Truth Of Statement On Enrollment Status Of State Schools

PRESIDENT BRADFORD KNAPP of Texas Technological college yesterday challenged truth of a statement that the University of Texas was the only Texas state institution increasing in enrollment.

Doctor Knapp pointed out that Tech's registration for the current academic year was greater than one year ago.

"The total enrollment for the regular sesson at Texas Technological college from September 1 to date is 2,323," President Knapp said in a statement. "The enrollment for the session 1931-32 was 2,153; for the session 1930-31, 2,319; 1929-30, 3,353; 1928-29, 2,088; 1927-28, 1,682; 1926-27, 1,535; 1925-26, 1,043.

"The slump in enrollment at Texas Tech for the year 1931-32 was 200 below the highest enrollment in any year, namely, 1929-30. The enrollment for the present year, lacks only 30 students of being equal to the highest enrollment in the history of the insitution. The increase in enrollment of 1932-33 over 1931-32 is 170 students, which is practically eight per cent. Thirty-four per cent of the student body are taking courses in agriculture, engineering, and home economics."

Floors have an important bearing on health, scientists say. Hard and polished surfaces are far less hospitable to bacteria than the nap of carpets and rugs. As a result of a recent series of tests it was determined that bacteria reappear in the air of a carpeted room, after cleaning, from 50 to 100 per cent more rapidly than in a room with a hard surfaced floor.

There are several ways in which leftover toast may be used. It may be rolled and used for coating croquettes or for sprinkling over the tops of escalloped mixtures. It may be crumbled or cut into small pieces and used in puddings, meat or fish loaves. Another way is to cut it into small cubes or strips, reheat to freshen it, and then serve with soups appetizers or salads.

List Needs At Thursday Meet

Resolutions Stating Aims Of Council Are Adopted; Group Hears Report; Committee Is To Draw Up By-Laws

Representatives of several county clubs, meeting at Seaman hall Thursday afternoon, adopted resolutions that had been made by a committee to investigate children's needs in Lubbock county, after hearing a report on the needs.

A committee of five was appointed to draw up by-laws for the Lubbock County Children's Council and report at the next meeting of the group, which will be on April 27 at 1:45 p. m. at the same hall. Mrs. H. F. Godeke, chairman, presided. There were about 35 present.

The representatives were from Lubbock, Slaton and Acuff.

Mrs. N. L. Peters read a report on children's needs in the county from a survey made by a committee composed of Mrs. Joe H. Smith, Dean Margaret Weeks, Mrs. Peters, Dr. Herbert Maxwell and Mrs. Tom Foster. The report carried resolutions calling for the organization of the council.

After listing agencies working for and with children in the county, the committee listed needs as follows: Parent education, day nurseries, kindergartens, rural recreational activities, playground supervision, school health supervision, medical care for indigent children, full time health officer, follow-up for juvenile delinquents, enforcement of compulsory school law.

Resolutions adopted stated that aims of the council are "to make known to the people of Lubbock county the concrete findings and recommendations of the Texas Conference on Child Health and Protection as given in their report.

"To determine specific procedures which the Lubbock County Children's Council needs to sponsor in order to fulfill the needs and solve the problems as recommended by the Texas conference, as applied to Lubbock county.

"To cooperate with the representative agencies in the council in promoting a forward-looking program in the County in an effort to raise standards of child health and protection.

"To make a brief annual report of the year's work, preferably on May Day x x x.

"That each organization composing the body of the council select some particular phase of the work to be taken up by the council and be ready to report as to which project these organizations wish to sponsor at the April meeting."

Pirates Stack Up As Team To Beat For National League Championship

With Kiki Out Of Lineup Cub Hopes Are Dim

Attention Also Is Called To Burt Shotton's Phils, And Cards Are Not To Be Counted Out Of The Race

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

When Kiki Cuyler was carried from Los Angeles ball park to a Hollywood hospital with a broken ankle, the pennant hopes of the Cubs may have ridden in the same ambulance. The National League champions, with all stars intact, had been looking with anxious eyes toward the shadow of a black Pirate flag along the championship race track and the injury to the jinx-ridden Cuyler will make the Pittsburgh threat seem twice as great.

Frank Demaree, who will be shoved into the yawning spot in the Chicago outfield, is a good ball player and was a great one at times in the last World Series but it is no reflection to say he is no Cuyler. Kiki had been going great in spring practice and it will be little short of a miracle if Demaree, a major league sophomore, can pick up where the post-graduate student left off.

Herman Will Help

The Cubs still have Herman, the great, to hit in a flock of runs but, alas, the right fielder almost certainly will kick in some for the other side before all the returns are compiled. The Cubs' long distance hitter will pack a great offensive threat but he will not materially assist in plugging the defensive hole left by the departure of the fleet Cuyler.

Pittsburgh, rated the National League favorite before the starting gong sounds, has escaped injuries in spring training and if its luck holds throughout the campaign seems almost certain the club to defeat. However, in other years the Pirates have felt the plague of hurts where they did the most harm.

Gibson Team Ready

Manager George Gibson will trot out a well balanced team in perfect physical condition to start the ball rolling. The pitching may prove uncertain but at least the other managers face the same problem. The addition of Freddie Lindstrom has given Pittsburgh a great run making outfield, a combination blessed, too, with ability to thwart the other fellow's efforts.

The Phillies are not often mentioned in connection with championships, and then only in whispers, but Burt Shotton leads a team with a powerful attack and with the luck every winning team needs he might ride a very dark horse into the middle of the pennant picture.

Certainly the Phillies can hit and they seem to have been definitely bettered by between season trades.

Cardinals Not "Out"

The St. Louis Cardinals cannot be counted out, if for no other reason than because they have more players available, at home and abroad, ashore and afloat, than any other two major league clubs.

The old "Sarge" Gabby Street, is in command of a pitching staff perhaps in a class by itself in the two big circuits. However, his infield is cluttered up with a series of question marks. Rogers Hornsby may or may not be able to carry on, in the infield and at bat, and if the Rajah should prove only a shell of his former self, the Cards do not seem to have an immediate replacement.

Shortstop, too, is something of a puzzle and while Frank Frisch can play third base, he does not like the position. But good pitching is a big help and the sergeant can say "you pitch" to some eight big fellows and not go wrong.

Brooklyn Shows Up

Brooklyn will have a good offensive team in spite of some impotent hitting in the spring games. The addition of the veteran Joe Judge to play first base should prove a distinct advantage. Joseph has spent his baseball life in the American League but he can still field with men many years his junior and is always a dangerous man at bat in a "clinch". Hack Wilson should be a better player this year than he was last season and the Dodgers seem to have picked up a recruit pitcher able to start and stick, Walter Beck from Memphis.

Walter Beck.

The Giants may fit in well with the current jig-saw puzzle craze and prove a great club when, and if, they are put together in proper sequents. In the spring New York's pitching has seemed doubtful and while the starting lineup will be adequate the reserve strength is none too strong for Manager Bill Terry's peace of mind.

Jackson On Legs

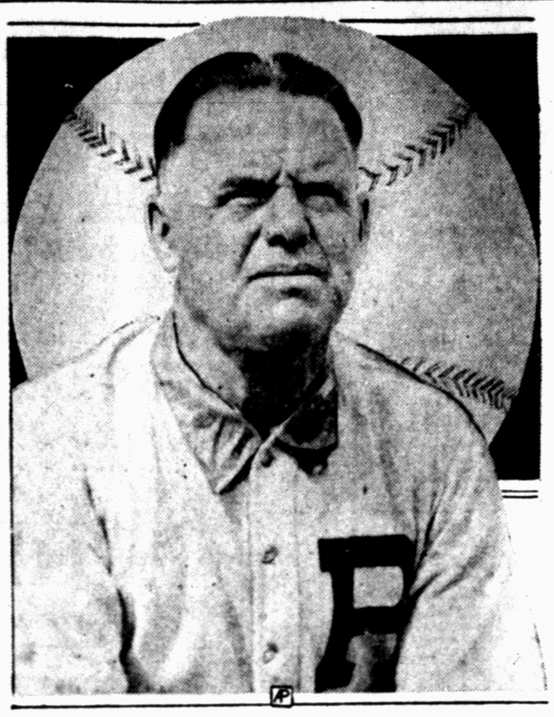

Travis Jackson took care of his legs during the training season and played little but he will be back in the game when the serious cannonading starts. His understudy, Jack Ryan, is as good a fielder as any one would want, but he has not been tested at bat. If injuries should attack the Giants in bulk, they might drop out of the league standing before rescue forces should be recruited.

Barring ill luck, the Gaints should be able to keep out of the cellar, and if this proves to be the case, it is bad news for the Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds. Boston has a mixture of old and young players but apparently lacks the spark to enable the club to compete on even terms with at least four or five of the others and fight its way into the first division.

Cincinnati, under new management, piloted this year by the peppery and shrewd Donie Bush, has definitely improved, but so have most of the other fellows. Sunny Jim Bottomley has brought his big bat to Redland field where base hits can be used at all times. Time was when the best batsman on the Reds was Red Lucas, also the best pitcher. The redhead will welcome some assistance.

Donie Bush will fight hard to get the Reds out of the cellar and the effort may be as interesting as that of some of the more favored clubs to achieve and hold first place.

He Bosses The Early Favorites

Appearing above in one of his more serious moments is Mister George Gibson, whose Pittsburgh Pirates are rated by experts to give seven National League clubs plenty of trouble this summer in the pennant scramble.

Beer At Ball Parks? Yes, And No!

Major League Club Owners Divided On Subject; Six In Favor Of Selling Beverage In Grandstand; Others Are Dry

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—Major league club owners today appeared evenly divided on the question of selling beer in the ball parks this season, which starts April 12, five days after the new 3.2 beer becomes nationally legalized.

Five clubs in as many cities have put themselves on record as opposed to selling beer, in or under the stands, but five others, concentrated in the two biggest cities, New York and Chicago, favor dispensing the new beverage to their followers.

Others Are Non-Commital

The remaining six clubs are non-commital, for various reasons. A majority in both circuits are awaiting the final enactment of state beer control legislation before taking definite action.

Regardless of developments, the word is that no beer will be sold in the parks at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington and Pittsburgh. In explantion of the situation in the two Ohio cities, it is pointed out the prospective new state law, controlling sales will provide for consuming the brew only at tables.

Even where it is planned to put beverage on sale, club owners apparently are agreed on a policy of not dispensing it among the customers in the stands, along with peanuts and popcorn. At Chicago, beer will be sold at bars in the White sox and Cub parks. Club owners of all three metropolitan New York teams, the Yankees, Giants and Dodgers, favor the sale of beer at concession stands, but no definite plans have been made, pending outcome of a fight over state legislation at Albany.

Cardinals Are Dry

Managements of the two St. Louis clubs, although they use the same park, are divided on what they may do. The Browns probably will allow sales, beneath the stands only, but the Cardinals probably won't permit it.

At Boston and Philadelphia, each with two clubs, magnates have taken no action, pending outcome of state beer control legislation.

Among larger minor league cities, only Milwaukee so far reports plans to sell bottled beer n the stands. In pre-prohibition days there, bar-rooms operated under the stands, with beer on draft, but this will not be resumed, at least for the time being.

War-Time Scene Comes In Blast

MITCHAM, England, March 30 (AP)—Scenes reminiscent of a wartime air raid occurred in this London suburb today following a series of explosions in a chemical works in which one person was killed and 20 injured, some seriously.

Most of the damage and casualties occurred in nearby streets, where small dwellings were ruined. Walls were blown out, floors collapsed and inhabitants rushed to the street screaming. Many were cut by falling glass.

Cattle Sold At Quality Meat Show Here Bring High Price

Cattle sold at the third annual Quality Meat show here last week set a new top this spring for the Los Angeles market, George Simmons, manager of the Lubbock Cotton mill and chairman of the show steering committee was advised yesterday afternoon.

A wire from the Los Angeles Union Stockyards said that "cattle bought at the Lubbock show by Washburn-Condon company's representative, Bob Johnson, set a new top of 6.15 to 6.50."

Mr. Johnson bought 11 head here and shipped the animals to the coast. Show cattle, Mr. Simmons explained, usually bring a slightly higher price than other kinds, but the price is by far the best reported here.

Norman Wagner, captain of the University of Missouri basketball team, played 175 of a possible 725 minutes in the team's games last season.

LONGHORNS OVERCOME LEAD

SAN ANTONIO, March 30. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns came from behind today to nose out the local Texas leaguers four to three with a run in the last frame.

Rebel Byram held the Steers scoreless through four innings, but the Longhorns jumped on Mills, who followed him, to tie the score, and won in the ninth with Lefty Griffin on the hill.

Regulars such as Clift, Crossley, Fuss, Martineck and Severeid did not play.

AGGIES MEET EXPORTERS

BEAUMONT, March 30. (AP) — Eighteen Exporters comprising the first string will leave by bus tomorrow for College Station to meet the Texas Aggies in two games Friday and Saturday.

Running races were attempted today but a high wind cut down the players' speed.

John Pasek, Exporter catcher of a season ago, joined the locals today and will work out here until he is disposed of to another club. He has been with the Detroit Tigers.

ZEKE MAY SIGN TODAY

DALLAS, March 31. (AP) — Instead of playing their exhibition game today the Dallas Steers and Indianapolis Indians enjoyed a day of rest due to a heavy rain.

Zeke Bonura, holdout first baseman who reported to the Steers yesterday, did not sign his contract but did hold a conference with Bob Tarleton, vice president of the Steers. Bonura said he was going to sleep on Dallas' final offer and probably would sign sometime Friday morning. He refused to say whether Dallas had agreed to pay him the money he requested or not.

Champion Wins First Game In College Joust

Billy Holmes Defeats Walter Pendleton, 2 And 1, In First Round Match Of Tech Golf Tourney; Five Advance

Although afternoon classes prevented four qualifiers from playing their first round in the annual Texas Tech championship golf tournament yesterday before sand started blowing, five players, paced by the defending champion, advanced to the second round.

Billy Holmes, Shamrock, medalist in the qualifying round Wednesday with a 73, defeated Walter Pendleton, fifth in the qualifying, 2 and 1 to advance to the semi-final round in the championship bracket. Holmes is defending the title he won last year.

Cantrell Beats Fisher

In other matches yesterday, C. J Cantrell defeated Bud Fisher, 4 and 3; Panny Farmer beat Glenn Stevenson, 8 up and 6 to go, and Jack Wilson eliminated John Bell, former Lubbock High golfer, 2 and 1, in the championship flight. Victor Bearden defeated J. Doyle Settle in the only first flight match played.

Today in the continuation of first round play, Harold Crites will meet Herschell Tadlock and Jack Pope will play Al Jensen.

In second round play in the championship flight, Holmes will contest Farmer and Wilson will meet Cantrell.

Finals in both flights will be played Saturday over 36 holes. The tournament is being held at the Meadowbrook course.

This Boy's Getting A Big Hand

Big hands, they say, are an asset to a ball player. If that's the case Neal Finn, Philadelphia National's second sacker, is well equipped for his job. He's shown displaying his salary mitts at the Phillies' training camp at Winter Haven, Fla.

Ends Defeat Tackles For Texas Tech Football-Basketball Championship As Spring Grid Training Gets Under Way

By ED McKEEVER
Tech Sports Correspondent

The Matador football players started intensive training on the gridiron yesterday afternoon after two days of preliminary work in basketball. The ends defeated the tackles for the basketball championship last night for the second consecutive year. The first round in basketball was held Tuesday, the left half-backs defeating the centers, the ends winning over the right half-backs, the tackles taking the guards into camp, and the quarterbacks winning over the fullbacks with ease.

In the semi-finals, held Wednesday, the ends eked out a victory over the quarterbacks, and the tackles won a close game from the left half-backs, to enter the final round.

The football workouts will be held every day, except Sunday, from five until six o'clock. The training season is scheduled to last five weeks; the Matadors playing the West Texas Teacher Buffs, a night game in Lubbock, on April 27.

The coaches have been stressing team play, coordination and shifting, to perfect the complicated Notre Dame system. More life and enthusiasm, combined with fine cooperation on the part of the players is being shown thus far this Spring than in any previous spring training.

Lubbock High Is Host In Open Track And Field Meeting At Texas Tech Tomorrow; Relay Race Promises Interest

Spirited competition featured by the presence of the national high school championship mile relay team, is anticipated tomorrow at the Texas Tech athletic grounds when Lubbock High school plays host at an open invitation track and field meet.

Abilene High school's mile relay team, which won national honors at Chicago last year, as well as two other Eagle athletes, will be here.

Star performers in McClinton of Snyder, Neill of Brownfield, Ledbetter of Olton, Mercer of Slaton, Ray Wester of Plainview and artists from Ralls, Shallowater, Lamesa, Matador, Rotan and other West Texas schools are expected.

All Schools Eligible

Any high school team is eligible to compete. Texas Interscholastic league rules will govern the meet.

Coach Weldon Chapman yesterday announced officials for the meet. Coach Pete Cawthon of Tech will be referee; Lee Jones of the J. & J. Sporting goods company is designated as official starter and Russell T. "Dutchy" Smith will head the staff of judges.

Preliminaries will be held tomorrow morning, with the finals coming up Saturday afternoon.

County Clerks To Give Loan Checks

Crop production loan checks will be mailed to the county clerks of each county and will be distributed by him, P. F. Murray, field representative, announced Thursday, after a meeting of the Lubbock county advisory committee.

Previously, the checks were distributed by the field representative. Farmers will call at the offices of the county clerks in their respective counties for their allotments, which will be made in two checks, the first for 60 per cent of the amount of the loan.

Mr. Murray estimated that about 1,200 loans would be made in Lubbock, Hockley, Lynn, and Cochran counties. About 50 Lubbock county checks already have been received. John Denman is chairman of the Lubbock committee. The group met in the office of O. G. Tumlinson, county agent.

...ness And Industry Uneven In Eleventh District, Says Monthly Review; Sales Are Reported Larger

DALLAS, March 30. (AP) — "Although business and industry in the eleventh federal reserve district during February was somewhat quiet and uneven," says the monthly business review of the federal reserve bank of Dallas, "a strong undertone of confidence has developed during the past ten days.

"Late reports indicate that the demand for merchandise has been broadening. The February sales of department stores in principal cities were two per cent larger than in the previous month but were still 22 per cent below the corresponding month of 1932.

Collections Slower

"Wholesale distribution was on a smaller scale than in either January this year or February last year. Retailers have continued to follow the policy of holding stocks to a minimum and buying to cover actual consumer demand, but recently orders have been increasing. Collections were slow during February.

"A further improvement in the business mortality rate in this district occurred during the past month. Both the number of commercial failures and the amount of indebtedness involved were smaller than in either the previous month or the corresponding month last year.

Fluctuations Shown

"Financial statistics reflected some rather wide fluctuations during the past month due to the banking disturbances. Member bank borrowings at the federal reserve bank rose from $4,024,000 on February 15 to $7,253,000 on March 15, and the actual circulation of federal reserve notes increased from $35,642,000 to $57,645,000 during the same period.

"There was also a large increase in the reserve deposits of member banks. The daily average of combined net demand and time deposits of member banks amounted to $607,612,000 in February, as compared with $611,062,000 in January, and $665,682,000 in February, 1932. Subscriptions to the 4 and 4 1-4 per cent United States treasury certificates of indebtedness, dated March 15, totaled $47,535,500, against which allotments of $17,536,000 were made.

Conditions Favorable

"While the severe freezes early in February did considerable damage to small grains, pastures, fruits and early vegetables, conditions have been very favorable since and farming operations have progressed rapidly. General rains over most of the district have left a good season in the ground and the soil is in excellent condition for spring planting. This work is now well underway in South Texas and is being extended northward. Ranges and livestock are reported to be in fair to good condition.

"Construction activity showed some improvement during February, the valuation of building permits issued at principal cities being 46 per cent above January, but still 23 per cent lower than a year ago."

Charred Body Of Man Is Located

CHEYENNE, Okla., March 30. (AP) A bullet hole in the head, the charred body of Jack Leary, 28-year-old filling station owner, was found yesterday in the isolated hilly country near Durham, 35 miles northwest of here. The body was in the burned debris of Leary's automobile.

Sheriff J. M. Bradshaw of Roger Mills county said Leary had been collecting money due him the day he disappeared and that robbery probably was the motive for the crime. About $100 was missing.

Two Slightly Injured When Forced Landing Is Caused

Dallas, March 30 (AP)—H. K. Webb of Houston, president of the Webb Oil company, and his pilot, Mark Hurd, were injured slightly today when their plane landed in a field on the Lemmon avenue road during a heavy rainstorm.

The plane hit a telephone pole and was damaged badly but the men suffered only minor cuts and bruises. They were en route from Minneapolis to San Antonio and were trying to reach Love field, about a mile away, when the visibility became so poor they were forced to land.

Hockley County Grand Jury Will Convene Again April 5

LEVELLAND, March 30 (Special)—The Hockley county grand jury, after being in session for two days, was recessed to meet again April 5. The jury was charged in its duties by Judge Homer L. Pharr, of Lubbock, presiding.

Dan A. Blair, Lubbock, new district attorney, was here for his first session of the 72nd district court in this county. The grand jury worked only two days.

The school in London where Charlie Chaplin and his brother Syd Chaplin, were taught for two years is to be closed at the end of June after an existence of 76 years.

Promising

A great future has Doris W. Potter (above) of Newark, N. J., according to the New Jersey Press Association, for they gave her the annual $100 reward which is offered to the student at the journalism department of Rutgers University who shows the greatest promise.

Fifty Work On Levelland Jobs

LEVELLAND, March 30 (Special)—Fifty men have been put to work by the local committee handling R. F. C. funds, Crede Rhea, chairman, announces. Owing to the fact that the funds are received in small amounts, no specified schedule of work is announced.

The greater part of the money is being spent on street work. Besides Mr. Rhea, H. F. Clingan and C. M. Elder are members of the committee. The county has $2,500 available for March, it was advised but not all has been received.

More than 500 men are listed for work. There are 175 in Levelland, 60 in Whitharral, 50 in Pettit and 25 at Sundown.

Display Of Old Bibles Is Held; Many Volumes Shown

BROWNWOOD, March 30 (AP)—Considerable interest was shown here in an exhibit of old Bibles, some being more than one hundred years old. The oldest volume shown was owned by W. P. Logan. It was printed in 1815 and included the Apocrypha. It has been said the Bible was buried during the Civil war in order that it might not be confiscated. It once belonged to Mr. Logan's great-grandfather, who died in 1870.

Another of the old books was printed in 1816 and still another in 1824. Printed in recent years but of unusual interest was a Bible owned by Dr. Ben M. Shelton. It was printed in Jerusalem, translated from the original and bound in cedar of Lebanon. It was given to Dr. Shelton by a missionary. In the display was part of a collection from Daniel Baker college, including Bibles in Latin and Hebrew and prayer books and hymnals printed in 1843 and 1848.

Fliers Return From Jungles

Flowers And Scott Are Safe In Nicaragua After Landing In Swamp; Are Rescued By Army Plane

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, March 30 (AP)—W. A. Flowers, of Dallas, Tex., and Harry Scott, of New Orleans, lost Sunday while attempting to fly from Managua, were brought here this morning by a United States army amphibian plane which picked them up from the Cuculaya river where they were sighted yesterday.

Although both men uninjured in the forced landing due to engine trouble, they had suffered cuts while making their way through the jungle. They also had suffered from insect bites and were weak from lack of food and water.

Captain Whitehead piloted the amphibian which picked them up on Waunta lagoon. Army and civilian fliers sighted Flowers and Scott canoeing down the Cuculaya river yesterday about 200 miles from here. Their plane had previously been discovered in the soft mud of a swamp near the river.

When the motor trouble caused Flowers to seek a landing Sunday he sighted burned over land which gave the appearance of a good footing, but it turned out to be swamp land.

While making their way along the river they met Indians who gave them a canoe. They were forced to make a number of portgages due to falls and rapids. The Indians also gave them some food.

Third Package Containing A Shot Gun Shell Discovered

WATERTOWN, N. Y., March 30. (AP)—The finding of a third package containing a shot gun shell intended to be sent through the mails to a high government official at Washington was revealed here today.

It was found Wednesday noon at a box across the street from the post office where two previous packages were placed. The package was addressed, officials said, to a man connected with an air line in New Jersey. A note asked that the container be remailed to the government official.

Investigation began after postal clerks recognized the handwriting of the addressor as the same as that on the previous packages.

Officials declined to make public further information.

Woodin Barred From Hearing Of Senate Body

WASHINGTON, March 30. (AP) A slight, jovial-faced fellow opened the door of the senate banking committee room today and timidly started to edge in.

A committee attache rushed to the door and started to push the intruder out.

"This is an executive meeting," he said, "you can't come in here."

Newspapermen explained that the visitor was William H. Woodin, new secretary of the treasury, who had been invited to confer with the committee.

Woodin joined in the laughter.

No Confirmation Of Report Missionaries Are Killed

PEIPING, China, March 30. (AP)—The United States legation today, said there was no confirmation of reports that two American missionaries had been killed in a bombing at Taitowying, south of the Chinese great wall.

The United States consulate at Tientsin said the report was inaccurate and probably was a rumor folowing the bombing of an American mission at Taitowying on March 24, in which there were no casualties. Nine Chinese civilians were reported killed in the city.

CABINET FORMED

PRETOLIA, South Africa, March 30. (AP) — J. B. M. Hertzog, prime minister of South Africa, resigned today and then formed a new national cabinet. The step was the fulfillment of a plan of the national party and the South African party to join forces in a national government.

ELMER HALEY CAPTURED

French View Is Changing

SENTIMENT in France on that nation's war debt to the United States is reported to be shifting around to a point favorable to payment of the $19,000,000 installment held up by a vote of the chamber last December.

The reasons for this change are a little vague. One is reported to be a desire that France place herself on an equal footing with Great Britain in order to be prepared to suggest that a moratorium be declared on the old payments pending negotiation of a new settlement. There is growing opposition, too, to France's defaulting with the consequent damage to her credit. Failure to make the $19,000,000 payment is regarded as only a technical default which can still be corrected. If this be paid before the next installment is due June 15, the opinion is held that an extension of the moratorium then will be granted because of the inability of President Roosevelt, under the pressure of other matters, to work out a general settlement before that date.

In the background, however, can be sensed another reason, one which was hinted at by M. Herriot in a recent lecture. "When one thinks of what may happen tomorrow," said the former premier, who all along has been in favor of payment, "our country should no further prolong the cruel misunderstanding with that great democratic nation. For France may again need to appeal to one of the richest sources of material support, as was the case several years ago."

In other words, France sees the possibility of becoming involved in another war and wishes to be in a position to call upon the United States for help.

This reason will not appeal to Americans. If the French think that by paying their honest debts to us they will be buying alliance with the United States, they will find themselves sadly mistaken.

QUEST

Scientific proof that civilized man is living longer and that the infant mortality rate is being lowered should occasion no amazement, for the factors responsible are quite commonplace.

For instance, there are the 6,665 hospitals providing 907,133 beds and 47,939 bassinets in the United States. Medicine has made marvelous progress. Physicians and surgeons are better trained and have more to work with. And there is public sanitation, pure milk and water, pure and nourishing food and enlightenment in the use of food, higher living standards, better housing and working conditions, accident prevention, public health agencies of proved efficacy in the prevention of epidemics, modern plumbing, better ventilating methods and other contributing factors evidence of which can be found on all sides.

Every citizen who avails himself of these aids to cooperation in accepting forms of immunization, in submitting to quarantine, in maintaining sanitary and healthful conditions, and in keeping informed on matters of diet, health and hygiene has made possible much of this progress. Without that cooperation medicine and public health services would have made little headway.

Man, fearing death, aspires to eternal life on this earth and eagerly accepts each addition to the average span of life, but he is not content with life alone. He wants a life free of pain and sickness, and that also is being given him in increasing degree.

AMBITIOUS

Older generations are not waging aggressive war against youth, as is charged by the younger generation which pleads that some of its so-called faults were handed down from its more or less esteemed ancestors. The older generation is conducting a moderate and unapologetic defensive. All it asks is that the "faults" of the younger generation shall not be entirely ascribed to the older generation.

The reasons for the youthful discontent, so commonly cited as a fault, include the disillusionment which followed upon the World war, for which the older generation must be held chiefly responsible, because it was then in charge of the world. And yet in this matter of the war something of the responsibility rests on young shoulders; if not young men and women, then young nations.

The great catastrophe was not immediately precipitated by the big nations, but by the little nations eager for their own place in the sun. The match was lighted in the Balkans, where the ambitions of half a dozen little peoples clashed. The principal mistakes and "crimes" alleged against the peace settlements do not lie against the big nations. The territorial settlements most often questioned are those benefiting the little nations in Central Europe. Present uncertainties are connected chiefly with the large brood of little fellows. They are young and they want to grow, often unreasonably.

When a man thinks a woman doesn't understand him it usually is because she does understand him.

Activity Is Terrific

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Nothing of the kind ever was seen before, to compare with the delirium of activity which has prevailed in official Washington since President Roosevelt was inaugurated.

Perhaps there was a great rush in wartime, but the rush then was all in one direction.

Today's rushes decidedly are plural in number; equally plural in variety.

They follow one another so fast that it is difficult to tell them apart or keep them in mind, as they dash past. They crash, front and rear. They jostle and sideswipe.

The capitol dome hums like a bee-hive, with the congressional ferment going on underneath it.

But oh!—the presidential executive offices!

Titanic Memorial

Real Congestion

The congestion there is something no one is likely to believe, who has not experienced it. Of course only the merest modicum of it gets by into the "chiefs" own audience room. Even so, the "chief" counts his engagements in as little as one's and two's of minutes.

The ante-chamber, outside the private executive office is easy of access. The visitor passes the guard and has no trouble in reaching the desk of Pat McKenna, who passes on the credentials of all applicants for admission to the quarters of any of the president three White House private secretaries.

Pat, an exceedingly astute individual and one of the most experienced functionaries on the premises, lets the caller wait, if he deems him fitting—and he may wait for a long time, but ultimately his name is called and he fancies that his troubles are over. Never was there a greater error.

The Next Step

Let us assume that Colonel McIntyre is the secretary our visitor has asked for.

However several others are ahead, and Pat McKenna admits them to the colonel's room partly in order of their importance, partly in order of chronological precedence.

Senator Benjamin Blank is important; Pat lets him enter. A couple of minutes later he lifts the bars for Gen. Martin Mulligan, who finds the senator still presenting his case to the colonel and stands around rather aimlessly, for the senator to finish. At this juncture in comes Chairman George Jones of the Four Corners central committee. Following him arrives Congressman Richard Robinson, to discover Senator Blank still hanging on, with General Mulligan trying to break in and Chairman Jones showing signs of impatience. The door now opens for Secretary-Treasurer Samuel Smith of the International Window Washers' union, just as the secretary excuses himself to the senator (to whom he never does return) in order to answer a telephone call, at the end of which Congressman Robinson forestalls Gen. Mulligan and George Jones and proceeds to tell what HE wants.

Some Headway

At last our own candidate for a hearing gets in, with this jam ahead of him—the senator displaced and fuming, the congressman in full blast, Mulligan and Smith clamoring for attention.

Naturally a timid man can be kept in the background indefinitely at this rate, finally sneaking out helplessly or remaining until Colonel McIntyre leaves for the night, without ever having exchanged two words with him.

Once called by the colonel for an audience with the president, the visitor's difficulties really are ended, however.

The "chief" grants his interviews one at a time and our caller may get as much as a half minute of uninterrupted conversation with him, if his business is genuinely important.

ATTACK JOB RELIEF PLAN

An unemployment relief plan which involves the "enlistment" of common labor in an army of 250,000, as proposed by President Roosevelt, has a subtle hint in it that many folk—the A. F. of L. for one group—evidently do not like.

The explanation that the workers will not be serving a private task-master, but the government, on vast afforestation projects that the organization will be military, that $1 daily (plus "keep") is to be regarded merely as a soldier's pay, not as establishing a wage basis, that any man who has a chance to quit for a better job will be given an enthusiastic Godspeed—all this does not quite offset the suggestion of peonage in a plan to "recruit" hands in just that fashion for civil employment.

"Ominous Russian" is the criticism one hears with unpleasant frequency.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS

Judging from the past, and the present appearance of the trees, Superintendent Garside of Washington's park predicts cherry blossoms beginning between April 1 and 10.

BORAH STILL BALKS

Senator Borah is keeping his record of always being "agin the government" as straight under President Roosevelt as under President Hoover. he has voted "no" on every major measure before congress since the change in administrations.

• • •

LONGER HOURS

In the face of the widespread demand for shorter hours to absorb unemployment, A. F. of L. investigators show that many employers are lengthening them instead, not only without overtime pay but generally at much less than pre-war wages.

BEER STATES

The minute beer can flow anywhere, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Washington and Wisconsin can sell it, according to Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act, which is up-to-date on state legislation. The others have laws of their own yet to modify.

What Other People Think

I want to arise in the morning without being informed that I have an engagement. I think I am entitled to this.—Former President Hoover.

THE VORACITY OF THE BLUEBIRD:

Sir Malcolm Campbell's superhuman performance in flashing over the sands of Daytona Beach at the rate of 272.108 miles per hour, places the extraordinary voracity of the Bluebird in strong relief. Her greedy cylinders consumed a gallon of gasoline every quarter of a mile, every 3 1-2 seconds. In a 10 1-2 mile dash her engines boiled away twenty-eight gallons of water. The speed of this vehicle ominously exceeded the speed of human thought. And her tires have a running life of only 3 minutes at record-breaking speed.

FACING EAST:

The earth's diurnal motion on its axis imparts to all objects on its surface a centrifugal tendency which modified gravitation (weight). As the earth's curved path is in an eastern direction, an object traveling in the same direction will experience an acceleration of its own centrifugal force minimizing its weight. A person walking east is lighter than one walking in the opposite direction or standing still. A modern modification of the famous injunction would be today: Go West, Young Man, and Grow Heavier.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, refuses to marry DICK STANLEY, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cozy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent most of her life on the stage she would be glad to leave the theater.

Sheila joins a road show company and in a small midwestern city she meets JERRY WYMAN. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. Soon his affection seems to cool and he writes infrequently.

Sheila returns to New York and a few months later joins another road company, this time as featured principal. The show plays in Jerry's home town but Sheila sees him only once. After that she has no word from him. The tour comes to an end. Then Sheila learns that Jerry has married a girl in his home town.

She tries unsuccessfully to get a part in another play. When her money is almost gone she is hired as a model at HENRI'S fashionable shop. There she sees DOROTHY TREVOR, Dick Stanley's cousin. Dorothy invites her to lunch but Henri tells Sheila the models are not allowed to have social engagements with customers. When Sheila leaves the shop that night she finds Dorothy and Dick waiting for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLI

Dorothy called gayly, "Look here, Sheila, are you trying to high-hat us? Well, you can't! What was the idea anyhow of sending a message you couldn't go to lunch with us? Jump in and we'll take you home."

"You don't think I enjoy lunching alone with this dangerous female, do you?" Dick asked reprovingly, with a playful glance at his cousin. "Her appetite is unbelievable!"

Sheila looked at them in dismay. What if Henri should see her? What if one of the other models should report that Sheila had been seen with Miss Trevor again? Yet she could hardly tell Dorothy and Dick that she had been forbidden to accept their invitations.

"Come on, Sheila! We'll take a drive and have dinner later," Dorothy said, beaming. "Dick's knocked off work for the day and that's something to celebrate."

"I'm sorry," Sheila stammered. "I can't. Really. I have to hurry home. They're expecting me."

"Well then," said Dick, "we'll take you there. Dorothy's made up her mind you're coming with us and when Dorothy decides anything it's settled. You might as well come. We seem to be holding up traffic here."

"That doesn't bother me the least bit," retorted Dorothy. "You know that, Dick. I simply want to talk to Sheila. Please, Miss Shayne! If you do, I promise to come back tomorrow and buy six frocks from Henri. I'll tell him I did it because of you, too. That should put you in his good graces."

There was no help for it. Sheila would have to get in the car. "I'll have to go home," she said, glancing swiftly about. There was no one in sight. "If you will drive me there it will be awfully kind."

• • •

Seated in the tonneau of the huge car, she breathed more freely. It was ridiculous to make so much ado about a simple thing like this. Surely it should not be forbidden to drive home with a friend when declining might easily bring Henri loss of trade!

"Now isn't this better than the subway or bus?" asked Dorothy ingenuously. "I've only been in the subway once and then it wasn't rush hour. It must be terribly funny to be pushed and shoved about the way the papers say you are."

"Why don't you hire a private subway and try it out?" Dick asked rather acidly. Dorothy had no intention of seeming snobbish but he was afraid Sheila might not understand this.

"You know what I mean," insisted Dorothy. She smiled into Sheila's face as the car turned into the park and headed northward. "Let's get this settled. We lured the girl into this car with a promise of taking her home. Actually nothing is farther from my mind! I want to spend the evening with you, Sheila, if you'll stand for it. If you two don't want to be my guests for dinner how about both of us being Dick's guests?"

"Help!" howled Dick amiably. "I'll feed Sheila any time but once a day is all I can stand with you!"

"Then let's go Dutch at an automat," suggested Sheila.

"Fine!" Dorothy agreed gayly. "The very thing!" She leaned forward to give instructions to the chauffeur.

"Dorothy!" Dick burst out protestingly. "Listen. I've an idea. I couldn't do another lick of work today if my life depended on it. Suppose we take Sheila home if she really wants to go there. Then we'll go shopping at the Italian grocer's and I'll make some of my famous spaghetti. We'll throw a party at my apartment. How is that?"

"You wouldn't do it last week when I asked you to, would you?" retorted Dorothy with pretended wrath. "Sheila, I certainly wish I had your influence over him. It's amazing. I, for one, think that's a grand suggestion, though. Will you come?"

Sheila glanced inquiringly in Dick's direction. "You're sure we won't be in the way? You don't want to work?"

"Say, I wouldn't miss the chance to show you what a cook I am for anything! It's my most charming accomplishment."

"Then suppose we turn about. It isn't necessary for me to go home unless you think I should dress."

• • •

The other two declared she looked quite perfect and presently the car was gliding down Tenth avenue toward Greenwich Village. They reached a neighborhood of little shops offering real Italian spaghetti, uncooked; an array of cheeses; huge black olives; squash to be cooked in the Italian fashion; and huge pies, tied up fresh, hot and odorous.

"Think of the calories!" exclaimed Sheila, laughing, as Dick seemed bent on further purchases.

"That's something neither of you two need to worry about," he retorted.

Dick's East Side apartment overlooked the river. When they reached the place Sheila decided it suited him perfectly. The furnishings did not seem expensive but there was an air of comfort and quiet good taste.

"It's really just a workshop," Dick explained. The living room in which they stood was large and restful. A few easy chairs stood about and there was a fireplace with simple graceful lines. A large table, littered with papers, stood near the window, flanked with typewriter, a supply of pointed pencils, and yellow and white paper.

"Richard Stanley Third writes the great American play!" sang out Dorothy in some disdain. "Richard Stanley Second—to say nothing of Richard Stanley First—would be more gratified if the young man returned to Brockton to learn the shoe business."

"She's jealous because she doesn't even know how to spell!" Dick said.

"He's jealous himself!" returned Dorothy.

"Amuse yourselves, children, while I try to get this stuff on the table," Dick went on, undisturbed.

• • •

Sheila sank into a chair. There was a fine view here of the river. It was getting dark outside. The slow moving ferries gave forth twinkling lights. Other boats, laden with cargo, moved slowly up and down. Long Island City, chained to Manhattan by a rope of twinkling lights, lay across the brief stretch of water. Night had softened the grim buildings skirting the water's edge and had given the scene a touch of theatrical glamour.

"Life is like that," Sheila thought wearily. "Glamour hiding ugliness." She was tired from the day's work. Dick's apartment seemed a haven of rest.

The dinner which Dick finally set before them was really excellent. It was served in buffet fashion before the fireplace, Dorothy chatting gayly, flitting about gathering up pepper and salt, diving into the ice box, running hither and thither to wash a fork, to corral a napkin.

"I thought you went to Rome to study," she vouchsafed. "Not to learn cooking. This is the best food you've ever offered me."

"I'm offering this to Sheila. You just happened to be along." Dick teased with fine, ungentlemanly candor.

"If you weren't my cousin I'd be furious!"

"This," said Dick, turning toward Sheila, "has been going on since we were children. Really we are the best of friends, like the same people, the same places and, in general, are the same kind of idiots."

Dorothy rose and took up the telephone. "You may be the same but I'm not," she retorted. She gave a number to the operator. "Martin's in the neighborhood some where playing pool—though he said it was chess," she explained. Martin was the chauffeur. "I'm going to break up that game and then I'm going to leave you two!"

Letters To The Editor

Miss Mary De Bardeleben Explains Her Convictions

March 29, 1933.

Editor, The Avalanche: I do not wish to try your patience nor to seem to monopolize your column; but I should like to "rise to a point of personal privilege", as it were.

In my recent letter to your paper I did not make any reference to my personal religious faith, but it seems it has been made for me. The discussion that has reached me (except for Mr. Ziehe's letter, and he incidentally mentioned it) has centered around the subject of immortality and of my attitude on the subject.

For the sake of any reader who may really care about my belief, I will say very frankly that I do believe in life after death and feel that I have valid reasons for the same.

"Faith, the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

Sincerely yours,
Mary De Bardeleben.

(Dear Miss De Bardeleben: Your contribution is entirely welcome. I do not feel at all that you are monopolizing this column. Incidentally, while you and I differ on capital punishment, may I re-iterate our statement in an editorial yesterday, to-wit: "We are all entitled to our opinions". Yours truly, The Editor.)

Atlantic Express Has Interlude In Monotony Of Run; Engineer Has To Flag Own Locomotive To Get A Ride

ELMIRA, N. Y., March 30 (AP) — The Atlantic Express on the Erie railroad rolled down to New York today after a strange interlude which ended with Engineer Walter Fredericks standing on the track flagging his own train.

The express was running at reduced speed past South Corning last night and sleeping car passengers from Chicago were preparing for bed when an explosion blew Fredericks through his cab window and sent Fireman M. S. Delap scurrying into the cool tender for safety.

The engineer revived in a grassy patch beside the tracks to see the lights of his train disappearing in the distance. Only slightly injured, he ran to a farmhouse and telephoned a dispatcher.

Meanwhile, in the engine of the Express—

"Steam, water and live coals were blown out into the cab," Fireman Delap said. "I ran up on the tender, and stayed until the steam blast was nearly over.

"When I climbed back into the cab, I saw for the first time that Fredericks had disappeared. As quickly as I could I stopped the train."

He found that the train had run more than five miles without its engineer, to a settlement called Big Flats.

In the meantime, Engineer Fredericks was fretting to get away from Corning general hospital, where he had been taken to have his cuts and bruises dressed. He asked a newspaperman to help him find his train.

Twenty minutes later they drove up to the tracks at Elmira Heights. A headlight was coming. With a lantern, Fredericks flagged the train and climbed aboard. It was his own Express, with a fresh engine.

Lubbock's Stock Law Cited After Trees Are Destroyed

Lubbock's stock law, prohibiting animals from running at large, was cited last night by County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, after it was reported that trees set out by the Lubbock Garden club on highways leading into the city were being destroyed by cows.

Cows found on the highways can be impounded by the sheriff and the owners of the animals can be prosecuted and fined. If the cows are unclaimed, they can be sold for the costs of impounding them.

"These women have gone to a great deal of trouble, time and expense in placing these trees where they will beautify this section, and I will do whatever I can to protect the trees," the county attorney said.

Planting Of Trees On Sixth Route From Lubbock Started

Planting of trees on the sixth highway leading out of Lubbock has been started by the Lubbock Garden club.

Trees are being put out on Highway number 7 towards Slaton and the work is expected to be completed by the end of this week.

The club has also planted trees on five other highways leading out of Lubbock and plans to complete the work on the seventh as soon as right-of-way matters are settled.

The trees are being planted for a distance of approximately [illegible] miles on each route.

Scarlet Scavenger To Make Appearance Here Saturday

The "Scarlet Scavenger," Texas Technological college's annual April 1 tabloid, will be released tomorrow morning at the college.

The editors of the paper have had the advice of President Bradford Knapp regarding some of the articles, Doctor Knapp said last night. "The boys voluntarily came to me about certain articles they had their own doubts about," Doctor Knapp said. "One story, although very cleverly written, was left out."

The paper is expected to feature "startling stories" about Tech's students and instructors.

Two Are Found Dead After Vain Effort To Save Lives

LANCASTER, Wis., March 30. (AP) Henry Conklin, 58, Platteville undertaker, and his assistant, Frank Cramer, 38, were found dead today after they had vainly tried to save their lives in the flood waters of the Platte river by tying themselves to a telephone pole with coffin straps they took from a hearse.

The hearse was swept from a flooded highway where it crosses the Platte, eight miles southeast of here, last night.

WATCHMAN BLOCKS ROBBERY

SPUR, (Special) — E. L. Smith, night watchman here, recently prevented the robbery of Jackson's store. Two men had gained entrance through a skylight and the watchman climbed to the top of another building to capture the lookout. He ran and was fired at by the officer. His partner, inside, broke the door glass and made his getaway also.

Wood alcohol poisoning caused only 12 deaths in 1932, as compared with 250 in 1930.

Board Of Pardons Refuses To Grant Commutation Of Sentence For Ruth Judd; Date Of Hanging Changed

Hedvig Samuelson she has not been tried. An attempt made yesterday to have a date set immediately for trial on that charge failed when Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman dismissed the long-pending murder information.

In her plea to the board of pardons and paroles Mrs. Judd declared she killed both women in defense of her own life in a fight in which they were the aggressors.

"A thorough and thoughtful consideration of all the testimony and Ruth Judd's own statements to the board," a formal brief setting forth the board's findings said, "together with a careful review of all the facts and circumstances attendant upon the tragedy, compels the board to believe that Ruth Judd shot Agnes Anne Leroi through the temple while she was in bed, the muzzle of the gun being held at or near the surface of the skin, and that Mrs. Leroi was not killed in self defense."

Had a Fair Trial

"The supreme court of the state of Arizona has held that she had a fair and impartial trial and the board knows of no reason, fact or circumstance that has been offered or discovered, before or subsequent to the trial, why it should interfere with the verdict and judgment of the courts.

"Therefore the board of pardons and paroles declines to recommend to the governor of the state of Arizona a commutation of the sentence and judgment pronounced upon Ruth Judd."

The decision of the board was unanimous, being signed by Lin B. Arme, sr., chairman; Arthur T. Laprade, attorney general, and Herman Hendrix, superintendent of public instruction.

From Florence came word that Warden A. G. Walker of the state penitentiary had notified Howard G. Richardson, one of the condemned woman's counsel, that she would not be told of the board's decision by anyone except a member of her legal staff.

Told Of Killing

"Mrs. Judd voluntarily admitted to the board," the brief said, in explanation of the board's disbelief of the condemned woman's self-defense story, "that at one time she had told one of her lawyers that she killed Mrs. Leroi in bed; that when the shot was fired Miss Samuelson was in the bathroom; that Miss Samuelson opened the bathroom door and that she (Ruth Judd) fired the first shot into the body of Miss Samuelson at or near the bathroom door, and that Miss Samuelson retreated to the kitchen, where she received the second shot, the muzzle of the gun being held at or near the surface of the skin."

In regard to testimony of Dr. William C. Judd, the blonde young woman's 50-year-old husband, in which the board had expressed great interest, the brief said the physician-husband had declared "that in consultation with Mrs. Judd's lawyers the matter of her defense was considered at great length, that it was deemed 'inadvisable' by him and the lawyers to present the self-defense plea for the reason that they were afraid that Mrs. Judd upon cross-examination might admit, or say, that she had killed Mrs. Leroi in the bed, and had dismembered the body of Miss Samuelson in the bathtub."

Appeal To Supreme Court Only Recourse

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 30. (AP)— Appeal to the supreme court of the United States, O. V. Willson, of Winnie Ruth Judd's counsel, said tonight, "seems to be the only possibility" to prevent the young woman hanging next April 21 for the murder of Agnes Anne Leroi.

Lack of funds has prevented an attempt to carry the matter to the nation's highest tribunal, Willson said.

The lawyer said he plans to move, before Superior Court Judge Howard C. Speakman, for setting aside of the verdict and judgment, and if it is denied to appeal to the Arizona supreme court from the lower court's decision.

He was not optimistic, however, he said, that either court would do other than deny the action.

Houston Good Roads Manager S[illegible] Here; Highway Program Being [illegible]

Col. Ike Ashburn, of Houston, executive manager of the Texas Good Roads association, spent Thursday in Lubbock in the interest of his organization, met a number of old friends, addressed members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club at Hotel Lubbock, and impressed his hearers on the importance of the continuation of a highway construction program in West Texas and the Panhandle-Plains country.

"The rest of the state has its highways practically complete," Col. Ashburn said in a brief interview Thursday afternoon. "What the Plains and West Texas generally need is continual pressure for good roads. The distances out here are so great that good highway connections are a necessity.

Must Take Action

"To accomplish this, the people of the section must take concerted action to see that they get their full share of highway funds and construction."

Colonel Ashburn said that there was some sentiment in the legislature to take part or all of the gasoline tax not already going into the school and bond-assumption funds, and place it in the general fund of the state. This would mean cessation of highway construction and a breakdown in the highway maintenance work, which would throw 38,000 men out of employment and deprive 100,000 people of a means of existence. The four-cent tax is now divided as follows: One cent to the school fund, one cent set aside in assumption of county road bonds and two cents for construction and maintenance of the highways.

Relief For Counties

"In fifteen years the one-cent allocation for bond assumption purposes will relieve the counties of $110,000,000 which would otherwise be carried by local property taxes," Col. Ashburn said.

"The state has only one road completed," he added. "That is the road running from the coast through Dallas to the Oklahoma line. We still have a lot of work to do before we have a connected system of highways. Until we finish this work we will not be able to capitalize to the full our attractiveness as a tourist center. If by unwise diversion of the gasoline tax we bring construction to a halt and let maintenance collapse, we will lose much of the tourist trade that we are now receiving. Last year this trade amounted to $51,000,000."

Helping Labor

"Ninety-five cents out of every dollar spent on highways in Texas goes for labor," Colonel Ashburn said. "The raw materials are mined or processed right here in Texas. Only the reinforcing steel is bought from outside sources."

Col. Ashburn left yesterday afternoon for Big Spring where he is to speak at a chamber of commerce banquet there.

He revealed that an intensive membership campaign of the South Plains Good Roads association will be conducted in the near future.

sons, and a thorough search of th[illegible] home was made for fingerprints, but detectives admitted the clues were slender.

Father Coughlin declined to comment on the blast, other than to say that he had been awakened about 3 a. m. by a "terrific noise" which shook the home. His bedroom, he said, is on the first floor, just above the place where the explosion occurred. Asleep on the second floor were Father John Tully, his assistant, and Father William of the Duns Scotus college faculty.

The priest who for many weeks has been delivering addresses on political, religious and economic matters, did not comment further on his expressed theory of intimidation. His assistants refused to discuss the explosion, other than to give police requested assistance.

Missing Girl

a violin lesson from Mrs. Jack Enoch. An hour later she was reported to have been walking on state highway No. 7 about four miles southeast of here, still carrying her violin case.

Search Widespread

More than 100 people and Mr. and Mrs. Rust searched last night and today for the missing girl. The hunt had centered in the section southeastward to Snyder. A report that a young woman with some music sheets had asked about a music teacher in Post led yesterday to a renewal of the search there. The clue apparently was false, in view of tonight's developments.

Daurice, manager of the high school girls basketball team last season, had never talked of going to El Paso, Mr. Rust said. He could give no reason for her leaving home. The girl read considerably and was considered a good student. She was an advanced sophomore.

The reasons for the youthful so commonly cited as a fault, inc disillusionment which followed World war, for which the older ge must be held chiefly responsible, it was then in charge of the world. yet in this mater of the war something of the responsibility rests on young shoulders; if not young men and women, then young nations.

The great catastrophe was not immediately precipitated by the big nations, but by the little nations eager for their own place in the sun. The match was lighted in the Balkans, where the ambitions of half a dozen little peoples clashed. The principal mistakes and "crimes" alleged against the peace settlements do not lie against the big nations. The territorial settlements most often questioned are those benefiting the little nations in Central Europe. Present uncertainties are connected chiefly with the large brood of little fellows. They are young and they want to grow, often unreasonably.

Letters To The Editor

Miss Mary De Bardeleben Explains Her Convictions

March 29, 1933.

Editor, The Avalanche: I do not wish to try your patience nor to seem to monopolize your column; but I should like to 'rise to a point of personal privilege", as it were.

In my recent letter to your paper I did not make any reference to my personal religious faith, but it seems it has been made for me. The discussion that has reached me (except for Mr. Ziehe's letter, and he incidentally mentioned it) has centered around the subject of immortality and of my attitude on the subject.

For the sake of any reader who may really care about my belief, I will say very frankly that I do believe in life after death and feel that I have valid reasons for the same.

"Faith, the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

Sincerely yours,
Mary De Bardeleben.

(Dear Miss De Bardeleben: Your contribution is entirely welcome. I do not feel at all that you are monopolizing this column. Incidentally, while you and I differ on capital punishment, may I re-iterate our statement in an editorial yesterday, to-wit: "We are all entitled to our opinions". Yours truly, The Editor.)

SPOTLIGHT

H. W. COOLEY

It was getting dark outside. The slow moving ferries gave forth twinkling lights. Other boats, laden with cargo, moved slowly up and down. Long Island City, chained to Manhattan by a rope of twinkling lights, lay across the brief stretch of water. Night had softened the grim buildings skirting the water's edge and had given the scene a touch of theatrical glamour.

"Life is like that," Sheila thought wearily. "Glamour hiding ugliness." She was tired from the day's work. Dick's apartment seemed a haven of rest.

The dinner which Dick finally set before them was really excellent. It was served in buffet fashion before the fireplace, Dorothy chatting gayly, flitting about gathering up pepper and salt, diving into the ice box, running hither and thither to wash a fork, to corral a napkin.

"I thought you went to Rome to study," she vouchsafed. "Not to learn cooking. This is the best food you've ever offered me."

"I'm offering this to Sheila. You just happened to be along." Dick teased with fine, ungentlemanly candor.

"If you weren't my cousin I'd be furious!"

"This," said Dick, turning toward Sheila, "has been going on since we were children. Really we are the best of friends, like the same people, the same places and, in general, are the same kind of idiots."

Dorothy rose and took up the telephone. "You may be the same but I'm not," she retorted. She gave a number to the operator. "Martin's in the neighborhood some where playing pool—though he said was chess," she explained. Martin is the chauffeur. "I'm going to break up that game and then I'm going to leave you two!"
