Lady Whitefaces reign supreme

By Yuri Soto
Hereford Brand Sports Editor

AUSTIN — The tears of joy were flowing everywhere in the Tony Burger Center.

And, those tears came from the eyes of Gerald Witkowski.

Those tears were shared by his daughter, Audra, and the rest of her teammates after the Lady Whitefaces defeated the Lady War Eagles of Conroe Oak Ridge, 15-8, 15-11 to capture the 1999 Class 4A state volleyball championship.

This was Hereford's third state title in four years. The Lady Whitefaces finished the season at 31-7.

"This is an awesome feeling," senior setter and all-tournament player Audra Witkowski said. "I can't believe we are state champions. This is the most awesome feeling an athlete can have, to know that you are the best in the state."

Hereford played the whole match against Conroe Oak Ridge as a mission of redemption for failing to qualify for the state tournament in 1998.

A kill by Michelle Bernhardt, block aces by Tori Walker and Sarah Griffin, and two errors on the War Eagles put Hereford up 5-0.

A kill by Tori Barlow gave Oak Ridge its first point, but not before Walker and Toni Eicke stopped the Lady War Eagles in their flight with a block ace and a 6-1 lead.

A lift error on the Lady Whitefaces gave Oak Ridge its second point, not long before Hereford would rampage all over the birds. With block aces by Ashley Fangman and Griffin, two kills by Walker, a kill on Bernhardt, a kill error on Oak Ridge and two service aces by Catherine Beville, the Lady Whitefaces led 13-2.

But the momentum swung to Oak Ridge's side in the first game after Hereford's big lead.

"We felt Conroe got some momentum going early in the first game and they are way too athletic to just sit there and see them make mistakes," Hereford coach Brenda Kitten said.

Heather Dwyer paced the way for a comeback attempt with two service aces, along with a Sarah Hatfield kill and three errors on the Lady Whitefaces put Oak Ridge back in the match at 13-8, Hereford with the lead.

But that's about as close as they got in game one because sideout kills by Walker, a service ace by Tiffany Mercer and a kill by Walker gave Hereford the first game at 15-8.

It may have been a victory on Hereford's side, but the momentum belonged to Oak Ridge.

Oak Ridge started off with an 8-0 lead in Game Two.

Kills by Hatfield, block aces by Hatfield, Barlow, Amy Hanes and three Hereford errors started things off.

Hereford, however, used its state championship experience and tradition to retaliate.

"We knew we couldn't let up and we talked about having more heart than anybody," Witkowski said. "We wanted it and this was ours. We just had to go out there, play our best and give it our all."

The Lady Whitefaces came within three points thanks to two kills by Walker, two kill errors on the Lady War Eagles and a kill by Witkowski.

What's different about the 1999 state champs?

Yuri Soto

AUSTIN — You could hear the echoes of Houston Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich after the Lady Whitefaces won their state title in four years.

"I got a message for all of you doubters, never underestimate the heart of a champion," Tomjanovich said after the 1995 Houston Rockets, underdogs at the time, swept the Orlando Magic out of the NBA Finals and won the NBA title.

Heck, you can even hear Jimmy Johnson saying "How 'bout that Herd?"

Well, you won't hear someone like Hereford coach Brenda Kitten making declarations like Tomjanovich's, despite Saturday's state championship victory.

Hereford won its third state championship in four years using one of the most unorthodox ways in today's sports: team role playing.

Well, let's compare the last two other championships from 1996 and 1997.

Let's go back to 1995, when Hereford lost the state title game to Red Oak, 16-14, 15-10. Before the match, Hereford lost Danielle Cornelius to a knee injury and the Lady Whitefaces were overwhelmed on the court.

In 1996, Cornelius was back, and with help from Julie Rampley, Lyndi Carlile and Kristin Fangman, won the state title over Magnolia, 13-15, 15-9, 15-5.

In 1997, Cornelius was gone to Oklahoma, but with players like Carlile, Fangman, Rampley, Makesha Reeves and a sophomore by the name of Tori Walker, Hereford beat Magnolia again 15-1, 15-7.

Oh, did I mention that Kari Barrett and Cassie Abney were part of those championship teams?

Those two teams had nothing short of star power and dominant players.

So what's so different about the 1999 team?

But it had to do with consistency, something the Lady Whitefaces lacked at the beginning of the season.

Daniels impressed with total of annual auction

By Julie L. Carlson
Hereford Brand Staff Writer

Well, it wasn't a record breaker, but Hereford Senior Citizens Center executive director Margie Daniels said she was very impressed with the total generated at the annual Festival of Trees auction.

"In past years, our highest total was about $26,000 to $28,000. Last year we passed that amount with our record breaker of $36,000. We are pleased with our amount this year of about $32,000. Compared to past years, this year was also a record breaker," Daniels said.

"I'm Dreaming of a Whiteface Christmas" was the top seller at $2,600. This tree was decorated with pictures of Hereford High School athletes, miniature footballs, basketballs and volleyballs, with maroon and white ribbons adding an extra touch. The tree was surrounded by an autographed football and football helmet, and an autographed volleyball from the varsity Whiteface teams.

The second highest seller was a tree entitled "Christmas Memories," which sold for $2,500; third was $2,100 for the tree "Hallelujah."

'Whiteface' tree was the top seller.

Aikman School, "The Night Before Christmas," Northwest Grain Fertilizer and Newton Trucking, FirstBank Southwest, $600.

Band of Angels, "Angels 'PLEATED' With Love", BJM Sales and Services Co., Stevens 5-Star Car and Truck Center, donated to Stanton Learning Center, $1,100.

School board approves policies

By Dianna F. Dandridge
Hereford Brand Staff Writer

Hereford Independent School District trustees on Monday dealt with a slate of legal policies, job descriptions and campus and district improvement plans.

The board approved a waiver application on the Federal Education Flexibility Demonstration Program (Ed-Flex), Title I and Title II.

Ed-Flex programs, Title II, allow for spending of qualified federal funds for professional development programs in mathematics and science. The waiver will allow the district and campuses to use up to 25 percent of federal money in other areas, such as reading and writing. Title I programs allow money to be funneled to campuses on a campus-need basis.

The board voted to maximize Average Daily Attendance (ADA) funds for student in vocational courses by approving the Innovative Course at Hereford High School. This course will integrate the traditional agricultural and marketing co-op programs.

This program refers to an instructional arrangement and not a course or training area. It develops essential knowledge and skills using classroom technical instruction and on-the-job training in an approved career and technology-specific training area.

Wording on the policies regarding the Placement Review Committee and long-term student absences were changed to reflect the changes incurred by the 76th Legislature.

The Placement Review Committees encompass a body of administrators and teachers on each campus. The committees deal specifically with problem students when a teacher removes them from class for behavioral problems and refuses to accept them back in class.

Withdrawal of students has been changed to reflect current Texas Education Agency policy. Students missing classes for numerous days adversely effects the ADA funding for the school. The school now has the policy in place to withdraw any student when all avenues to locate that student have failed.

In compliance with the law, the board approved the job description for director of elementary and secondary curriculum.

The trustees approved the request to seek proposals on the sale of the portable building at the junior high and accepted the low Xerox copy paper bid of $17,080.80 for 880 cases, priced at $19. 41 per case.

Deputy Superintendent Terry Russell reported the construction on the parking lot at Vocational I has begun and should be completed by the time students return from Christmas. The rest of the continued construction is on schedule and should be completed by their individual completion dates.

Recently appointed business manager Randy McDowell reported total cash available to the district is $8,541,151.55, total interest earned for the current month is $22,288.91, and the district has earned $33,904.80 in interest off various accounts and investments.

McDowell also reported tax collection through October is standing at 63.74 percent, but a large payment had been received in early November. Total delinquent taxes are at $34,311.63 and the total tax is $4,194, 476.80.

Superintendent Beth Abernethy informed the board the issue regarding the termination of the internal auditor has been resolved and no further action was needed.

Stevens purchases Sirloin Stockade

A lack of business prompts the closing and sale of local restaurant even though the restaurant's roadside sign was this week still advertising Christmas and New Year's Eve party reservations.

Sirloin Stockade restaurant has been closed and the building and lot has sold to Stevens Five Star Car & Truck Center, according to the restaurant's home office.

The auto dealership is adjacent to the restaurant in the 500 block of North 25 Mile Ave.

The sale was reported Monday by Tom Julli, president of Sirloin Stockade of Hutchison, Kan., who said the chain had approached the Stevens dealership some time ago about the possibility of contracting to buy the property and building.

Restaurant employees were notified about the closing this past weekend.

Julli said the restaurant was built to accommodate growth expected by the proposed construction of a federal nuclear waste depository in Deaf Smith County. However, the U.S. Energy Department abandoned plans to build the facility in the county, and the county didn't experience an influx of new residents.

"There weren't enough folks in town coming to the store to justify the expense (of keeping it open)," Julli said.

Ann Landers

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You printed a letter from "Unable to Cope in Indiana," who was the mother of two and married for seven years. She wrote that her husband was a great guy and a wonderful father when he was not having one of his temper tantrums, which sometimes lasted for days. She needs a reality check.

Ann, tell that woman to run for her life. She will spend a lot of good years trying to please him and figuring out how not to set him off. She will walk on eggshells, make excuses for him, and try to protect her kids when he gets angry "for no reason." One day, he will become really angry, and either she or one of the kids will be seriously injured or killed. She should get out NOW while she is strong enough to do it. — Pelican Rapids, Minn.

Dear Pelican Rapids: Many readers expressed the same sentiments. Some said, "My husband got crazy after a few drinks." Others attributed the anger to cocaine. There is no question that drugs and alcohol influence behavior. The woman who wrote, however, said her husband had developed this problem fairly recently, and that his rages lasted for days. It sounded like a neurological problem, and I stand by my advice. The man should see a doctor. It could be a brain disorder.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to respond to the woman in Pittsburgh who misses the companionship of marriage, and wants to find a "nice man" now that her husband has been dead for several years. Here is a list of things NOT to do.

Do not wear your wedding ring when you go out in public. It will scare the good ones off, and the bums will hit on you, anyway.

Do not tell your date you have had enough sex and that you are not interested in more. It's a turn-off, and you could change your mind later.

Do not continue to support your 35-year-old son who lives with you. You are "enabling" him. Kick him out.

Do not tell your date that your dead husband was a saint. It's amazing how death improves people.

Do not expect him to pay for everything. These are the '90s, and you are not 21 anymore.

Do not sit at home and gain 50 pounds. Get out, and go to places where intelligent people gather. There are some good men out there who are lonely. Make the effort, and you will find them. — Experienced in Florida

Dear Florida: Thanks for that sensible advice. I hope they listen.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's another one for your "stupid crooks" file. I roared. This appeared in the Newark News a few months ago. — C.B., Garwood, N.J.

Dear C.B.: Thanks for sending it on. Here's the short version, but it's still pretty funny:

A 38-year-old man was arrested and charged with possession of a stolen vehicle. The man called police for assistance after he locked his own car keys in the stolen truck.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for all the columns you have written urging your readers to quit smoking. It took a heart attack for my husband and me to finally give up the filthy habit. While we were smokers, we had no idea how offensive the smoke smelled, nor did we realize that our house stank.

We want to apologize to all our friends and family members who were forced to endure the stinking environment while we thought we were being gracious hosts. Please print this letter for the benefit of others who are as insensitive as we were. P.S.: Does anyone smoke in your home, Ann? — Smarter Now in California

Dear Smarter: Absolutely not. They wouldn't dare.

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $5.25 to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Olson celebrates 104th birthday

Mr. Olson was born Nov. 20, 1895, to Ole and Louisa Olson, whose families settled around Gilman, Iowa, from Norway.

In 1909 the family moved to Adrian where they farmed and ranched.

Mr. Olson was drafted in 1917 and served in France and Germany with the 90th Division. He was a gunner in the artillery.

In 1998 the French government honored him by presenting him the French Medal of Honor.

After leaving the service he settled in Hereford where he farmed until retirement at the age of 85.

Herd raids Indians in regionals

Whitefaces blast Ysleta Indians 42-7, face Weatherford Kangaroos in regional final

By Yuri Soto
Hereford Brand Sports Editor

ODESSA — A trip down to Odessa from Hereford wears down the average team

It even wore down a superb team like the Whitefaces.

Despite playing a not-so-perfect game Saturday, the Hereford Whitefaces walked out of Ratliff Stadium with a 42-7 victory over the El Paso Ysleta Indians in a Class 4A Region I regional semifinal game.

"A win is a win," Hereford coach Craig Yenzer said. "We were probably a little flat in the game. Of course, it's a long trip — a lot of distractions today, but our guys handled it real well."

The Whitefaces will face Weatherford in the Class 4A Region I championship at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Mustang Bowl in Sweetwater.

Hereford started the game against Ysleta as if it was going to play perfectly.

The reason was Ramiro Zambrano, who returned the opening kickoff 47 yards to the Ysleta 45-yard line.

"We talked about playing aggressively and we were offensively," Cody Hodges said, who passed for 242 yards and three touchdowns. "We came in and scored and then the defense stopped them. Every time we went on the field we wanted to get the ball in the end zone."

Ysleta, however, would retaliate.

On their opening drive, the Indians were held to six yards total offense, but were able to move the ball on two first downs.

The two first downs were a result of two offsides penalties called on the defensive line and a pass interference call on Andrew Ramirez, who bumped with Ysleta receiver Raul Ortega on an out pattern.

The penalties set up Abe DeAnda's 33-yard touchdown run with 6:50 left in the first quarter. Ysleta had a brief 7-6 lead on Luis Islas' extra-point kick.

"We started off a little slow, but we jumped on them and it was great," Zambrano said.

"The only things they got on us is what we gave them," Yenzer said. "There's a time during the playoffs that you have to win when you're playing a little flat. Still, we were able to come out with the victory."

Hereford came back quickly to get the lead back. A pass from Cody Hodges to Zambrano for 41 yards set up Hodges' 17-yard touchdown pass to brother Slade with 3:40 left in the first. Cody Hodges' two-point conversion run to the end zone put Hereford up 14-7.

"We played a little lackadaisical at the end," Hodges said, who caught three passes for 36 yards and two scores.

Up In ARMS

Brand/Yuri Soto

Lady Whitefaces put Oak Ridge up 9-5, Hereford capitalized on a couple of errors and a service ace by Valerie Guzman to overcome the eight-point deficit and put the score 9-8, with Oak Ridge still leading the match.

"We wanted to use their fear against them," Tori Walker said, who finished with 15 kills. "They haven't been to state before and we had and when they were scared, we wanted to take advantage of that."

"We just needed to chip away at the lead," Kitten said "Our defense was playing sluggishly, our offense was not swinging aggressively. We were sitting for eight points quite honestly and if we could chip away and get a few points and then get a quick sideout that could get us back into the match."

Which happened, but not before Oak Ridge got some more points.

A service ace by Dwyer and a block ace by Hatfield gave Oak Ridge an 11-8 lead.

But now, Hereford turned its engine up to full speed and pulled away from Oak Ridge.

A kill by Walker, block aces by Walker and Witkowski and an Oak Ridge error tied the game at 11-11.

Walker finished off Oak Ridge from there, even causing an error to score a point.

The last three kills by Walker put the War Eagles on the brink, and Walker slammed the ball to the ground for the 15th point.

The Lady Whiteface bench cleared and the celebration had begun in the Burger Center court as players fell to the floor, hugging each other in the midst of celebration.

"We won state and that's a great accomplishment for any team," Sarah Griffin said, who contributed with eight block aces in the state tournament and earned a spot in the all-tournament team. "It didn't matter how big the opponent was, I just wanted to make it to state. I made my part and blocking shots was my role, to block as many shots as I can."

One of the many differences Kitten pointed out about this team's success compared to other Lady Whiteface state champions is the team's chemistry.

"Like we've talked about all season long, there's never been a team in which its players play such important roles during game time," she said. "Every kid contributes and it is gratifying from the standpoint that we have such a unique blend of kids, of ages and experience levels. Every one of our kids has been unselfish, has made such a difference in us being able to build chemistry.

"The seniors were welcoming all year long, they set some standard for our youth and they had some great respect for our juniors and seniors," Kitten added. "It's been such an unselfish team and such a fun group of kids and to top it off with something like this is just unbelievable."

Along with Griffin, Audra Witkowski was named to the All-Tournament team. Tori Walker was honored with the state tournament's Most Valuable Player award. This is one of many things that makes the 1999 championship more special for Walker, the only remaining player from the 1997 championship squad.

"It's a lot more gratifying because I played a lot in 1997 but I didn't remember a lot of it and I felt I didn't have a lot to do with it," she said. "MVP is really awesome, I fell really blessed and it's awesome to get that as a senior."

A good accomplishment for what has been an already exciting fall sports season in Hereford.

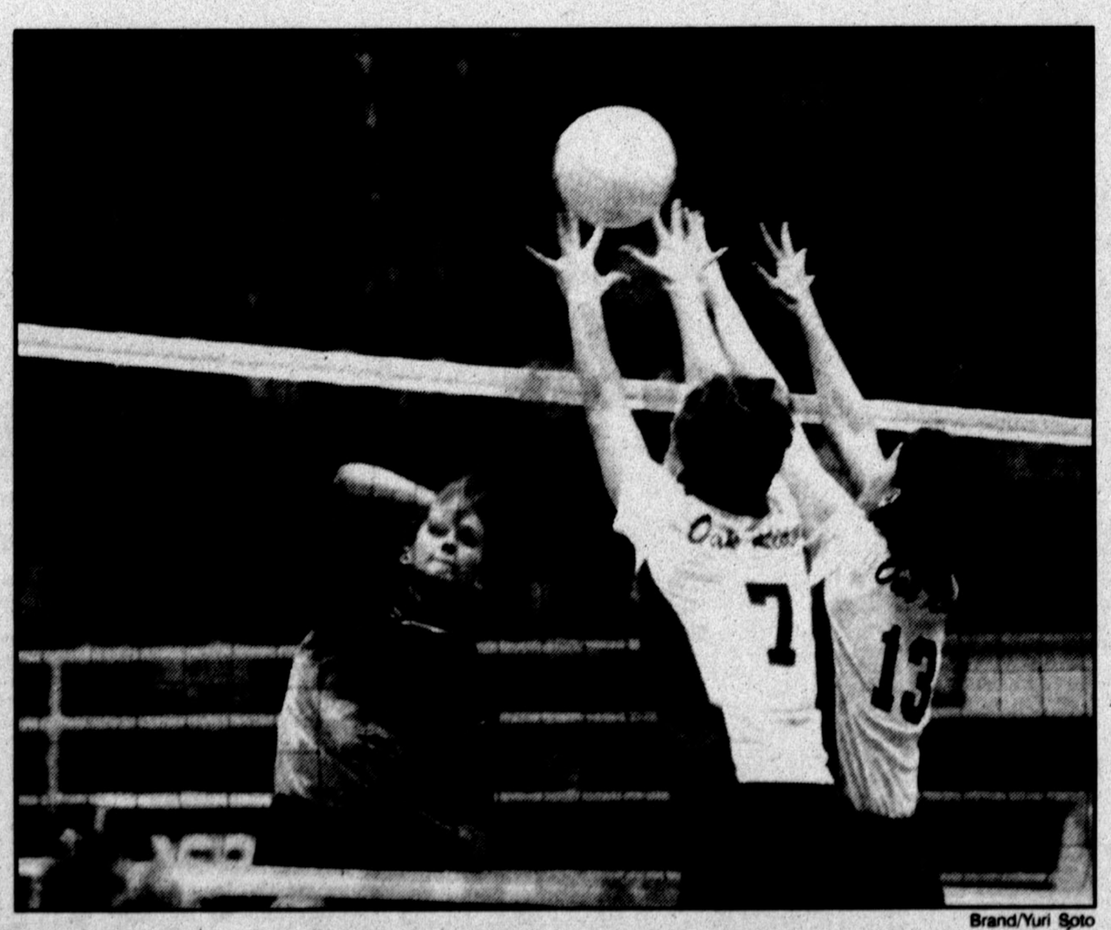

"As far as the community, what a fall season it has been," Kitten said. "We had so many people here today and so many in Odessa for the football game and the experience of the cross country teams, to be able to top it off like this is just gratifying."

What's also gratifying for Walker is the role of each player during the season.

"Everybody stepped up and played a role," Kitten said. "That's one of the reasons that we played and won well. We came out and won like that because we had a more well-rounded team and it helps a lot."

Even four-year team manager Mandi Klein was overjoyed by the third state title in four years.

"I am so happy; it's the best feeling for the third time," she said. "I am just

Herd

"We just came together as a team and whether we played our best or not, we are still going; we got another game to play and we can look forward to that all we want."

Ysleta could not get anything more accomplished as they were held to 126 yards total offense in the game.

"We just made too many mistakes in the first half," Ysleta coach Steve Carrie said. "We gave up some really good critical field position and a lot of situations, they all led to scores."

After holding Ysleta, Hereford got the ball back at their 42-yard line and marched to their next score, a 10-yard touchdown by Kyle Artho with 9:50 left before halftime. Hereford now led 21-7.

On Ysleta's next series, the Indians were only able to advance to their 33-yard line before being forced to punt.

Hereford scored again, this time with Cody Hodges running 12 yards to the end zone with 3:43 left in the half. The Whitefaces now led 28-7.

After Ysleta was forced to punt again, Hereford scored again, and this time it took two plays to do it.

After a three-yard run on first down, Cody Hodges threw a 64-yard touchdown bomb to Tony Lopez with 1:22 left in the half, making the score 35-7 in favor of the Whitefaces.

"I was open, thanks to the linemen because they were blocking pretty good," Lopez said. "They had good protection and Cody threw me the ball. I caught it toward the end zone."

After trading possessions in the third quarter, Hereford put the icing on the game with an 8-yard pass from Cody Hodges to brother Slade with 10:55 left in the game.

"Offensively, we came out and executed real well in the first half," Yenzer said. "We struggled a bit on defense, but we held them to seven points."

From there, the Whitefaces unleashed their bench, which was a reason for the Whitefaces playing a little flat in the second half. But the defense was able to put pressure on quarterback Larry Villarreal. He was intercepted twice in the game by Andrew Ramirez and Nathan Horrell.

"We came out flat, but after we got rolling, we did our best not allowing them anything else," rover Vernon Adams said. "We were there at the right place at the right time."

Now Hereford faces a bigger challenge in Weatherford, 49-42 winners over Brownwood on Saturday.

"We got to work hard during the week and I believe we can do it and go all the way," Zambrano added.

happy we won."

This makes a perfect ending to the careers of Klein, the manager, Walker, Witkowski, Eicke and Guzman.

"Let's get three more, baby," she said.

Champs

From Page A1

You wanted to shut down Walker, then you had to worry about Michelle Bernhardt on the net.

Eicke gets controlled by opponents, here came Sarah Griffin with a few block aces and kills.

Hold Fangman in check, Walker put one of those hurtful spike down the throat, uh, floor of the opponent.

Well, how do you stop the Lady Whitefaces? You don't. You only hope to contain them.

On the back, rarely do opponents see a ball fall to the floor. Defenders Valerie Guzman, Ashley Gonzalez, McKenzie Tabor, Tiffany Mercer and Catherine Beville cover the backcourt like a blanket covers a football fan in Green Bay.

And the way Audra Witkowski positions the ball to the hitters, you got to say "wow," as she makes opponents say "uncle."

So, this championship was different and, according to Kitten, it is not as routine as many people think, especially when going to Austin.

But to react to the Lady Whitefaces' play, it can be well put in one word, used frequently by good guy sports writer Chris Gove of the Amarillo Globe News.

"Dude!"

Writing want ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

One letter stands for another. In this sample, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

County's computers are Y2K compliant

By Julie L. Carlson
Hereford Brand Staff Writer

Green light means go.

Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland announced at Monday's county commissioner meeting the courthouse's computers are Y2K compatible.

Deaf Smith County's sheriff's office administrative assistant Sharon Pennington reported she had received a letter from the phone company informing the sheriff's office its phone lines are Y2K compliant.

"I have received a letter in writing saying our phone lines are Y2K compliant, so we will not be liable for phone line mistakes," Pennington said.

The commissioners also listened to comments from county officials about the Apollo computer system used within the courthouse.

"They (Apollo personnel) were in my office with my software and reached a point where they said they couldn't work anymore until new software was available and went to another office's computer," District Clerk Jean Schumacher said.

Officials complained that Apollo personnel would not finish a job before leaving to attend to another.

Apollo representative Skip Fulkerson spoke with Ruland about the Apollo problems and said the company was not aware of any computer problems since 1993 that have not been worked on, as reported by sheriff's deputy David Castillo at the last commissioner meeting. Fulkerton told Ruland fault was on both sides; the courthouse's fault was not reporting incidences properly to Apollo and Apollo not following through with the fixing the problems.

Also present were District Attorney Roland Saul and Assistant District Attorney Kie Watkins who the court with their findings about unused books in the county's law library. Saul said there are 22 publications the law library can do without or can find on-line on the Lexus Nexus system, which will cost the county $80 to $100 per month.

He also reported there were not any responses from local attorneys about meeting to discuss removal of these unused books. The commissioners approved to cancel further subscriptions which Watkins and Saul feel are not used enough to warrant shelf space in the law library.

A report about the courthouse's elevators was given by Dover Elevator Co. representative John Thompson. Thompson urged the commissioners to consider signing an elevator maintenance contract, which would perform regular inspections and cover costs for service parts. The contract would be $219 per month, or about $3,500 per year. Elevator inspections are required by the state.

You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application or permit which would satisfy your concerns. Requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted in writing to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address provided in the information section below.
