Texas Cheers Mac the Hero Not Policies

DALLAS, June 16. (AP)—It was MacArthur the Hero and not 'mac-Arthur the Foreign Policy Disputant who aroused the emotion of Texans this week.

They came by th hundreds of thousands to cheer his open convertible through bunting-lined parade routes. There in the flesh was the historic figure whose picture they had seen so often it was engraved in their memory.

He looked just like his pitcure. They told each other so.

But they came only by the tens of thousands, and cheered little beyond the margin of politeness, to hear the man sound his charges of appeasement and false fears.

"They say he is shy,' they told each other as young Arthur MacArthur waved and said, "Thank you so much." Arthur's shyness eased as the week progressed.

"Isn't she gracious?" they asked each other as Mrs. MacArthur, whose smile was always there, waved too.

"What a command of the language,' they said as the general himself spoke. And they wished they could understand.

They perspired and grew restless on the hard stadium seats as the man sounded his call:

GENERAL'S CALL

"X X X Every American must firmly share the responsibility attendant upon citizenship in a republic. All must rally to the demand that administration of the civil power be on a level of morality which will command the public confidence and faith; that truth replace false and slanted propaganda in public information; that cynicism give way to confidence that our course of right will prevail; that fear and timidity be repudiated as having no place in shaping our destiny; and that national policy be determined with primary regard to the ultimate well being of our own people."

But their ears were less alert to his message than were their eyes to the historic figure before them. They were seeing MacArthur.

Probably 1,500,000 Texans saw for the first time this man who, back on home soil after 14 years, is carrying to the people his appeal from the military man's court of last resort, the president.

HERO'S WELCOME

At Dallas, it was a hero's welcome as two aides, back to back with the general between them, fought back a human tide and Mrs. MacArthur and the son, entirely separated, strained to reach the hotel.

The Dallas scene resulted from the fact no stern lines of uniformed men created an atmosphere of restraint in the presence of greatness.

At Houston, San Angonio and Austin, where crowds were firmly controlled, the people looked and were content to clap and cheer. They saw the man they had come to see, they clapped, they wondered if the general was really looking right at them when he waved.

"Well, we've seen him," they said, and put their children in their cars and went home.

Ship Crews Strike; Korea Cargoes Pass

NEW YORK, June 16. (AP)—A maritime tie-up involving all major United States ports and 650 vessels began today with more than 50,000 crewmen refusing to sail until contract demands for higher pay and other benefits are met.

Ships with Korean and other vital defense cargoes were exempted.

The work stoppage came during a week end lull when most ships were not scheduled to sail. Its full effect was expected to be felt Monday, unless new contracts are signed meanwhile.

The walkout took effect on the East, West and Gulf Coasts at midnight when old contracts expired without agreement on new pacts.

To avoid the tie-up, 111 ships sailed from American ports Friday.

President Truman rejected a management appeal to intervene with a "cooling off" injunction under the Taft-Hartley Law after being assured by the CIO National Maritime Union that defense cargoes would be carried.

The president's answer came Friday while representatives of 40 shipping companies and three unions were negotiating in New York.

The talks, attended by federal mediators, were to be resumed Monday. But informal, "behind-the-scenes" negotiations were expected to be carried on during the week end.

The East and Gulf Coast unions involved are the NMU, with 50,000 members, The Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the American Radio Association, composed of ship radio operators.

Youth Drowns In Ranch Lake

Gabriel B. Resendez, 17-year-old Mexican youth, drowned in Long Hollow lake in Borden County late yesterday afternoon, police here said.

Police got their information from Sid Reeder, Borden County sheriff who led a party of men in a two to three hour search for the body before recovering it at about 7:30 o'clock last night.

The drowning occurred on the Tom Good ranch in Borden County, which adjoins the lake.

Both of Resendez's parents are dead and he has been living with his grandparents, police said.

George Voices Fear Korea War Will Erupt Into World Fight

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP) — Senator George (D-Ga) said today he is convinced that if the Korean War is not ended soon on "reasonable" terms it will erupt into World War III.

George, a member of a Senatorial committee investigating the ouster of General Duoglas MacArthur, informed reporters he favors a reasonable, speedy settlement.

He did not outline the terms of such a settlement, or say just how it could be reached.

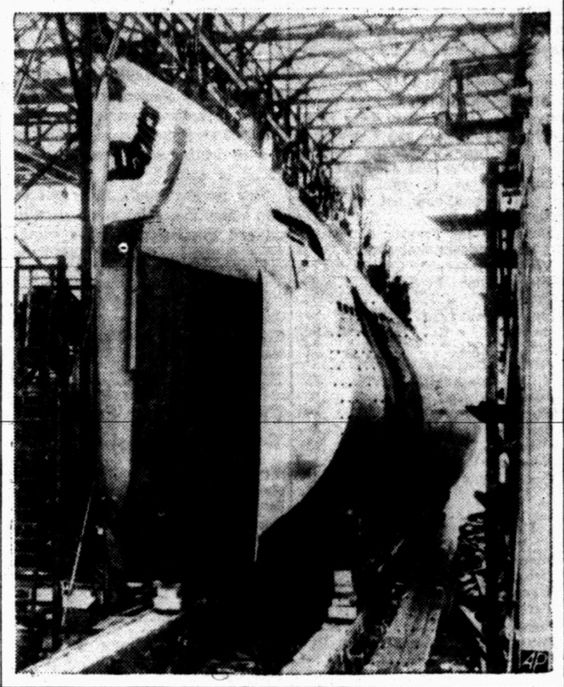

But he made plain he would not favor any settlement which left Korea divided at the 38th Parallel.

"Of course we may have to agree to some things that are not desirable from our viewpoint to bring the war to a conclusion," he said.

Secretary of State Acheson has suggested that if substantial guarantees could be obtained against new aggression, an armistice at the 38th Parallel would be acceptable.

Although the Georgia Democrat has seemed somewhat critical of questioning of witnesses, he said he hasn't decided yet whether the administration's limited-war program or MacArthur's Hit-Red-China plan, promise the best chance of bringing the fighting to a successful end.

The Joint Senate Committee will meet Monday on a plan to trim down the list of remaining witnesses in an effort to end the investigation before June 30.

.2 Inch Rain; High Winds And Hail Rip West Texas Cities

A shower late Friday afternoon brought Snyder .2 of an inch of rain, marking the second day that thundershowers had fallen here.

Thursday .44 of an inch fell during a late afternoon shower.

About 10 o'clock Friday night high winds roared through Snyder, but no damage was reported.

(By The Associated Press)

Texas weather Saturday was as peaceful as a sleeping baby — but a few hours earlier it was the stormiest state in the nation.

Tornadic winds swept Merkel, Fort Worth, Joshua, Athens, Abilene and Lubbock Friday night causing considerable damage, but no injuries.

Heavy rains fell at scattered spots throughout the state while many areas in the storm perimeter had hail and electrical storms.

Saturday the western half of the state was practically clear, and East Texas was generally cloudy. The forecast called for more stormy weather in East Texas Saturday night and early Sunday. Weather observers thought West Texas might escape the element violence this week-end, although early forecasts predicted scattered showers in the Panhandle, South Plains and from the Pecos Valley eastward Saturday night.

The smashing winds left Merkel's main street littered with debris as they skipped destructively down its length, wrecking stores, damaging buildings and homes.

BIG HAIL REPORTED

Hail stones as "big as baseballs" were reported at Colorado City. A dust storm cut visability to practically nothing at Lubbock, and Abilene was pounded by a steady 45 mile per hour wind with gusts that reached 65 MPH.

A thunderstorm rumbled at Dallas, and lightning chipped bricks from a large building. At Fort Worth, a hard straight wind blew off the roof and one end of the Texas Christian University field house.

The howling winds at Abilene frightened scores of people into their storm cellars. One cellar, only 6 by 10 feet in size, had 40 occupants, with others crying to get inside.

HOUSES LEVELED

The Joshua "cyclone" ripped an area between Joshua and Godley half-mile long and five miles wide. It leveled outhouses, uprooted trees and damged crops. One farmer said it tore a section 20 feet wide and half-mile long out of a corn patch.

At Vancourt, 20 miles east of San Angeloo, a tornado destroyed the home and other farm buildings of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Allen. None of the six persons in the house were injured. About six of Allen's buildings were blown away.

The Cleburne area reported two-inches of rain during the storm, and several other sections had over an inch of moisture. Waco had 1.15; Fort Worth 1.06; Bonham 1.15; Gainesville 1.54; Munster 1.27.

Bonham's 1.15 brought its June total to 12.46 inches. Creeks in the area went out of their banks.

Suit Against Maceos Ready

AUSTIN, June 16. (AP)—Texas is the nation's No. 1 crime-busting state, Attorney General Price Daniel bragged today. He quickly added that he hoped the state's anti-crime attitude is not a "flash in the pan."

The attorney general served warning on the Maceo Syndicate that its shutdown on Galveston gambling operations Friday would not deter the state's law suit.

He said his witnesses would be present and ready for Monday morning's trial of his suit against Maceo and Company and two telephone companies to prohibit transmission of race horse gambling information into Texas.

Daniel's remarks were made in a prepared statement released to the press by his office.

A temporary restraining order against the Maceos and the telephone companies already has been secured. It is good for only 10 days. Monday's hearing before District Judge Jack Roberts is on a request for a temporary injunction.

U.S. Intervention Gains Time For British in Iran Crisis

By JAMES M. LONG

TEHRAN, Iran, June 16. (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady won from Iran today a promise to give the British until Tuesday to answer a demand that they start paying this country the profits they make on Iranian Oil. A Sunday deadline was thus extended 48 hours.

A personal appeal by Grady led Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to modify the ultimatum presented four directors of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company here Mohammed Ali Varasteh.

Varasteh had told the directors the Iranians would not discuss oil nationalization with them unless they agreed by 8 o'clock Sunday morning to order the AIOC to turn over 75 per cent of its profits to his government and bank the rest as a cushion against possible later claims by the company.

A foreign office spokesman in London indicated the British government, which owns 53 per cent of the billion-dollar company's stock, will reject the ultimatum. He said Britain has offered to share 50-50 the profits of the company's operations in Iran.

The British attitude toward Iran's demands for an oil settlement appeared to be stiffening. Commanders of regional air, sea and land forces conferred Friday at British Middle East Headquarters at Fayid, Suez Canal Zone.

Grady has become a mediator in the dispute over the Iranian oil resources the British have developed for 50 years. Britain contends the nationalization law gellslialsa the nationalization law is illegal as it affects the AIOC because the company's concession does not expire until 1993.

Stalemate Continues Over Proposed Hike In Stamford Phone Rates

The Stamford city council has not yet set a meeting date for considering the recent refusal of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. representives to accept a 25 per cent rate increase for area phones, it was announced yesterday.

The representatives refused the increase allowed by the council because it was smaller than the increase asked by the company. The telephone company had asked increases as much as 60 per cent, claiming an annual loss of $40,000 in Stamford at present rate.

The increase would raise business phone rates from $5.50 to $8. Rural phones would be rated at $3.25, one-party lines would go from $2.75 to $4.25, two-party from $2.25 to $3.50, and four party from $2.00 to $3.00. Extension phones and others were also to be included.

When the refusal came in a special meeting about a week ago, it was decided that another meeting would be called soon to discuss the matter further

49th Division Parades In Shivers Honor

CAMP POLK, La., June 16. (AP)—A line of vehicles 15 miles long paraded two abreast under threatening skies here today as Texas' 49th Armored Division reached the halfway mark in its summer training.

It was Gov. Allan Shivers' Day, but the Texas governor failed to appear due to a prior engagement. Instead, Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the state adjutant general, stood beside the 49th's commander, Maj. Gen. Albert Johnson, to take the division salute.

Lack of a parade ground large enough to hold the Division's 1200 vehicles put the 49th into Camp Polk's streets. And the big tanks and heavy weapons rumbled past the reviewing stand for more than two hours as military and civilian dignitaries from both sides of the Sabine River watched the biggest parade of the division's four summer camps.

The 49th Division Band, directed by Chief Warrant Officer Zeno King and led by Drum Major Master Sgt. Jack Rohr, both of Dallas, provided music for the parade.

Those with week end passes were bound for nearby Louisiana towns or rushed back to Texas. They'll be back early Monday when the entire division moves into the field for four days of tactical and firing problems.

The division will return to Camp Polk proper Thursday evening to begin preparations for the trip home. All units are scheduled to return to their home stations by June 24.

Final preparations were completed today by members of the Organized Reserve Corps camp staff and advance parties of the Texas Reserve Division of "Texas own" 90th Infantry Division.

Brig. Gen. Arthur Watson of Austin and his staff are awaiting the arrival of the bulk of the division, due Sunday.

EAST SNYDER FIRE STATION

Reds Fall Back To New Position Under UN Fire

New Pay Zone Being Developed in Scurry

The development of a new pay zone, the Fuller sand in the Cogdell fields of Scurry and Kent Counties may bring continued drilling activity there when Canyon reef drilling goes into a decline.

Three wells are now producing from the Fuller sand, one in Kent County and two in Scurry County. All have made 43 gravity oil or better, flowing naturally.

Companies which are now producing from the reef in proven areas will probably drill twin wells for production from the sand, although this drilling will be delayed until reef activity drops off.

The Fuller sand was encountered at 5,000 feet in the first well from which it was produced, Chapman & McFarlin Producing Co. No. 25 D. M. Cogdell in Kent County. The Texas Co. encountered the sand above 5,200 feet in the No. 156-F P. L. Fuller and is now producing that zone from 5,149-5,155 and 5,167 - 5,169 feet. D. D. Feldman Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-A-B P. L. Fuller is producing from 5,130-5,160 feet in the sand.

The Fuller sand is by no means as widespread as the Canyon reef which it overlies, appearing only in broken pockets over the area, R. H. Martin, Texas Co. geologist in Abilene, said. It is a lower Permian or Wolfcamp formation, and has been tested in several wells at different times. Electric log surveys records will generally enable operators to tell whether twin wells for Fuller sand production will be advisable or not.

The zone of pay in the Fuller sand is generally from 17 to 18 to 20 feet, much less than that of the Canyon reef.

Chapman & McFarlin brought in the first Fuller sand oiler in November, 1950, completing it as a dual producer from the sand and reef below it. It made a potential of 1,033 barrels of 43 gravity oil. A pay zone topped at about 4,900 feet in the same well was designated as the Cogdell sand, and is now being produced from a twin well.

D. D. Feldman No. 1-A-B P. L. Fuller was completed early this month for 1,040 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil. It is located in section 651, block 97, H&TC survey.

The Texas Co. completed the No. 156-F P. L. Fuller for 672 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil. It was also completed early this month. The Texas Co. will designate all Fuller sand wells with an F in addition to the well number.

Plans Made For Cutting Horse Contest Here

Billy Boren and Ollie Stimson, representing the Scurry County Rodeo Association, met in Fort Worth with the Directors of the National Cutting Horse Association Tuesday.

The two negotiated to have the national cutting horse contest in Snyder Aug. 25. Two shows are planned that day.

Three-Room Dwelling Destroyed by Fire

A fire yesterday morning destroyed a three room house located about two blocks northwest of the northwest elementary school, G. L. Autry, city fireman, said.

Autry said the building was completely ablaze when the city's two fire trucks arrived, and it could not be saved.

Snyder Truck Driver Burned In Accident

Ray Owens, 24 year old Snyder truck driver, was in critical condition last night in Big Spring hospital after suffering burns and other injuries in a truck crash between Big Spring and Snyder Friday afternoon.

Jake Bruton, Big Spring sheriff, said the truck driven by Owens struck a concrete bridge abutment 16 miles northeast of Big Spring on the Snyder Highway.

Attendents at the hospital said that Owens condition was growing worse late yesterday afternoon.

Owens was reported thrown clear of the truck but was burned when the truck exploded as he returned to turn off the ignition to the running motor. The truck was owned by E. L. Farmer Trucking Co. of Odesso.

Owens mother, Mrs. Nellie Owens lives in Chattanooga, Tenn.

He has no relatives in Snyder and lives in the bunk house at the E. L. Farmer Trucking Co. here, members of the firm said.

Snyder Airman Killed In Flight Line Mishap In Panama Canal Zone

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Simpson, who live west of Snyder, received word yesterday of the death Friday of their son, Corp. Jack W. Simpson, 25, in the Panama Canal Zone.

An engineer in the Air Force, Corp. Simpson died as a result of a flight line accident. Additional details were promised in the telegram notifying the parents of his death.

Born in Snyder, he attended schools here and was graduated from Snyder High School in 1943. He attended Baylor a short time, and two years ago enlisted in the Air Force. After training at San Antonio and Wichita Falls, he went to the Canal one last October.

He leaves his parents, a sister, Miss Annie Simpson of the home here, and a brother, W. P. Simpson, Bend, Ore.

Whisnand Joins Staff Of Fire Department

Homer Whisnand, former deputy sheriff, began work last night as a paid fireman for the Snyder fire department.

Whisnand was a deputy sheriff here for about 14 months.

He is taking the place of Adolf Teutschlander, who is spending an indefinate time in the Veteran's Hospital at Big Spring.

Commanders Expect 3rd Chinese Push

TOKYO, Sunday, June 17. (AP) — Allied guns thundered all across Korea Saturday night, firing with the aid of giant searchlights at Reds fading back to new positions, well north of Parallel 38.

The no-man's land between the opposing forces widened as the main body of Reds withdrew over the North Korean hills. United Nations divisions showed no disposition for hasty pursuit.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United States Eighth Army Commander, said the Reds still have uncommitted reserves and, "we do expect a third round of the Chinese spring offensive."

REDS MOVING UP

AP Correspondent Stan Carter said in a field dispatch late Saturday night that two large concentrations of Reds were reported moving toward Allied lines in Western Korea. Planes scouted the area but found only small bands of Communists. Some U.N. troops patrolling the area across the Imjin River said one large group of Reds moved southwest in the area directly west of Yonchon. Yonchon is 35 miles north of Seoul and seven miles north of Parallel 38.

The patrols said there was another large concentration several miles north of Korangpo, a town a mile south of 38.

However, other patrols ranged far in the same general area without finding Reds.

SIZABLE RED UNITS

The sector northwest of the Imjin is the only one where any sizable units of Communists still are south of Parallel 38, the old political boundary of North and South Korea.

Chinese and North Korean resistance slackened Saturday after days of bitter hand-to-hand rear-guard fighting, covering the main Red withdrawal.

In the western area, north of Seoul, Allied tank and infantry patrols probed for miles north of the Imjin River beyond Munsan and Korangpo with little contact.

Other patrols ranged far ahead of Allied positions in Central Korea's Pyonggang Valley without finding Reds. This was in the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang Triangle, the staging area for the Reds' two ill-fated spring offensives.

PLANES SPOT TRUCKS

Allied planes spotted trucks moving south toward Pyonggang, the Triangle's apex, 29 miles north of Parallel 38.

On the East-Central sector, north of Hanggu and Inje, North Korean pressure eased. The Reds were observed digging in on rugged mountains north of Yanggu. Two half-hearted Red counterattacks northwest of Inje were repulsed.

MacArthur's Texas Speeches Level New Guns at Washington

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—Gen Douglas MacArthur returned to the Great Debate this week to assail the nation's policy makers and to demand use of America's "matchless scientific development" to win the Korean war.

Replying to his critics, he accused the Truman administration of appeasement, timidity and fear in the face of Russian "bulldozing."

How far would MacArthur go in the opposite direction; would he consider using the atomic bomb to achieve his desired rapid and decisive victory over the Chinese Res?

TERMS AROUSE QUESTION

He did not say he would. But some of his terminology in his Texas speaking tour aroused conjecture.

The ousted Far East commander said in Austin that Allied troops in Korea were being denied the "maximum employment of our scientific superiority."

MacArthur specifically mentioned America's lead in the atom race, and asked how long this margin would prevail.

A few lines further along, he declared:

"The surest way, the only way, to prevent World War III is to end the Korean conflict rapidly and decisively."

REPLIES TO CRITICS

MacArthur previously had called for a naval blockade of China; bombing of bases and supply lines in China, and the use of Chiang troops.

During the past month, this program has been criticized in the Senate hearings by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Defense Secretary George C. Marshall and the Joint Chiefs of Staff as risking a world war.

obviously replying to them, MacArthur insisted his program was the road to peace.

He said "those who so bitterly assail me . . . are the real war-mongers — they who refuse to end the Korean War — they who advocate 'wait and see' while American blood — not dust as they would have it — settles in growing pools around the 38th Parallel."

This one sentence constituted a rap at both Acheson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Some more of MacArthur's comments in Texas — and some of the Senate Hearing quotes they appeared to reply to:

APPEASEMENT?

MacAuthur: Munich, and many other historical examples, have taught us that diplomatic appeasement but sows he seeds of future conflict. Yet . . . we now practice a new and yet more dangerous form of appeasement — whereunder we soften our blows, withhold our power, and surrender military advantages in apparent hope that a potential enemy will be coerced to desist from attacking us.

If the Soviet does strike, it will be because of the weakness we now display rather than the strength we of right should display.

Marshall: We have spurned appeasement. We have brought to bear whatever has been necessary, in money and manpower, to curb the aggressor, and we have sought in every possible way to avoid a third world war.

Bradley: I think that something short of driving them (the Red Chinese) out of Korea would be satisfactory and would not be considered appeasement . . .

(We are just as anxious to end the war in Korea as Gen. MacArthur or anyone else is. The difference in opinion comes in how much additional risk you should take in trying to take additional measures. . . .

(But we don't think the advantages offset the possibility of bringing Russia into the war).

RISK OF GLOBAL WAR

MacArthur: I am no seer to predict whether or not the Soviet aims at ultimately provoking and engaging in a global struggle. I give him infinitely more credit, however, than to believe he would embark upon so reckless and ill-conceived a course.

Up to now, there is no slightest doubt in my mind but that he has been engaging in the greatest bulldozing diplomacy history has ever recorded . . .

His intrigue has found its success, not so much in his own military strength nor, indeed, in any overt threat of intent to commit it to battle, but in the moral weakness of the free world.

(Bradley(Gen. MacArthur has stated that there are certain additional measures which can and should be taken, and that by so doing no unacceptable increased risk of global war will result.

(The Joint Chiefs of Staff believe that these same measures do increase the risks of global war and that such a risk should not be taken unnecessarily . . . .)

POLITICAL FUTURE?

(I assumed, and we have assumed, that if we started that procedure, particularly the bombing and naval action, in relation to Manchuria and China, we would immediately have whatever retaliation they were able to effect.)

MacArthur also turned to the domestic scene and attacked corruption in government, the cost of government and the burden of taxation.

This led to speculation that he intended to enter politics. But when a reporter asked him whether he would run for president, he replied: "Emphatically, no."

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday; a few scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers Sunday in the Panhandle, South Plains and upper portions of the Pecos Valley eastward, no important temperature changes.

Hail stones as "big as baseballs" were reported at Colorado City. A dust storm cut visability to practically nothing at Lubbock, and Abilene was pounded by a steady 45 mile per hour wind with gusts that reached 65 MPH.

A thunderstorm rumbled at Dallas, and lightning chipped bricks from a large building. At Fort Worth, a hard straight wind blew off the roof and one end of the Texas Christian University field house.

The howling winds at Abilene frightened scores of people into their storm cellars. One cellar, only 6 by 10 feet in size, had 40 occupants, with others crying to get inside.

HOUSES LEVELED

The Joshua "cyclone" ripped an area between Joshua and Godley half-mile long and five miles wide. It leveled outhouses, uprooted trees and damged crops. One farmer said it tore a section 20 feet wide and half-mile long out of a corn patch.

At Vancourt, 20 miles east of San Angeloo, a tornado destroyed the home and other farm buildings of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Allen. None of the six persons in the house were injured. About six of Allen's buildings were blown away.

The Cleburne area reported two-inches of rain during the storm, and several other sections had over an inch of moisture. Waco had 1.15; Fort Worth 1.06; Bonham 1.15; Gainesville 1.54; Munster 1.27.

Bonham's 1.15 brought its June total to 12.46 inches. Creeks in the area went out of their banks.

Suit Against Maceos Ready

AUSTIN, June 16. (AP)—Texas is the nation's No. 1 crime-busting state, Attorney General Price Daniel bragged today. He quickly added that he hoped the state's anti-crime attitude is not a "flash in the pan."

The attorney general served warning on the Maceo Syndicate that its shutdown on Galveston gambling operations Friday would not deter the state's law suit.

He said his witnesses would be present and ready for Monday morning's trial of his suit against Maceo and Company and two telephone companies to prohibit transmission of race horse gambling information into Texas.

Daniel's remarks were made in a prepared statement released to the press by his office.

A temporary restraining order against the Maceos and the telephone companies already has been secured. It is good for only 10 days. Mcrday's hearing before District Judge Jack Roberts is on a request for a temporary injunction.

U.S. Intervention Gains Time For British in Iran Crisis

By JAMES M. LONG

TEHRAN, Iran, June 16. (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady won from Iran today a promise to give the British until Tuesday to answer a demand that they start paying this country the profits they make on Iranian Oil. A Sunday deadline was thus extended 48 hours.

A personal appeal by Grady led Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to modify the ultimatum presented four directors of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company here Mohammed Ali Varasteh.

Varasteh had told the directors the Iranians would not discuss oil nationalization with them unless they agreed by 8 o'clock Sunday morning to order the AIOC to turn over 75 per cent of its profits to his government and bank the rest as a cushion against possible later claims by the company.

A foreign office spokesman in London indicated the British government, which owns 53 per cent of the billion-dollar company's stock, will reject the ultimatum. He said Britain has offered to share 50-50 the profits of the company's operations in Iran.

The British attitude toward Iran's demands for an oil settlement appeared to be stiffening. Commanders of regional air, sea and land forces conferred Friday at British Middle East Headquarters at Fayid, Suez Canal Zone.

Grady has become a mediator in the dispute over the Iranian oil resources the British have developed for 50 years. Britain contends the nationalization law gellsiialsa [illegible] nationalization is illegal as it affects the AIOC because the company's concession does not expire until 1993.

Stalemate Continues Over Proposed Hike In Stamford Phone Rates

The Stamford city council has not yet set a meeting date for considering the recent refusal of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. representives to accept a 25 per cent rate increase for area phones, it was announced yesterday.

The representatives refused the increase allowed by the council because it was smaller than the increase asked by the company. The telephone company had asked increases as much as 60 per cent, claiming an annual loss of $40,000 in Stamford at present rate.

The increase would raise business phone rates from $5.50 to $8. Rural phones would be rated at $3.25, one-party lines would go from $2.75 to $4.25, two-party from $2.25 to $3.50, and four party from $2.00 to $3.00. Extension phones and others were also to be included.

When the refusal came in a special meeting about a week ago, it was decided that another meeting would be called soon to discuss the matter further

49th Division Parades In Shivers Honor

CAMP POLK, La., June 16. (AP)—A line of vehicles 15 miles long paraded two abreast under threatening skies here today as Texas' 49th Armored Division reached the halfway mark in its summer training.

It was Gov. Allan Shivers' Day, but the Texas governor failed to appear due to a prior engagement. Instead, Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the state adjutant general, stood beside the 49th's commander, Maj. Gen. Albert Johnson, to take the division salute.

Lack of a parade ground large enough to hold the Division's 1200 vehicles put the 49th into Camp Polk's streets. And the big tanks and heavy weapons rumbled past the reviewing stand for more than two hours as military and civilian dignitaries from both sides of the Sabine River watched the biggest parade of the division's four summer camps.

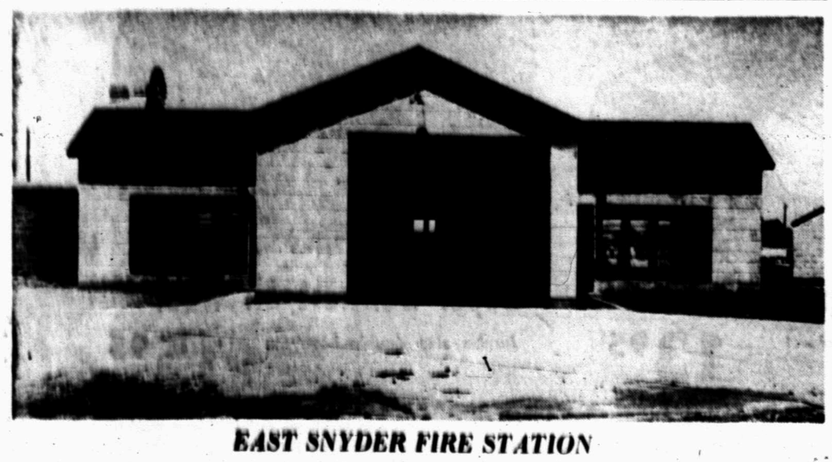

The 49th Division Band, directed by Chief Warrant Officer Zeno King and led by Drum Major Master Sgt. Jack Rohr, both of Dallas, provided music for the parade.

Those with week end passes were bound for nearby Louisiana towns or rushed back to Texas. They'll be back early Monday when the entire division moves into the field for four days of tactical and firing problems.

The division will return to Camp Polk proper Thursday evening to begin preparations for the trip home. All units are scheduled to return to their home stations by June 24.

Final preparations were completed today by members of the Organized Reserve Corps camp staff and advance parties of the Texas Reserve Division of "Texas own" 90th Infantry Division.

Brig. Gen. Arthur Watson of Austin and his staff are awaiting the arrival of the bulk of the division, due Sunday.

EAST SNYDER FIRE STATION

The new fire sub-station in Southeast Snyder is now complete and ready to be occupied when the city's new fire truck arrives. Located at Avenue E and Twenty-ninth Street, it was built by Norcross Construction Co. at a cost of $11,700.—(Joe Dave Scott photograph.)

Reds Fall Back To New Position Under UN Fire

New Pay Zone Being Developed in Scurry

The development of a new pay zone, the Fuller sand in the Cogdell fields of Scurry and Kent Counties may bring continued drilling activity there when Canyon reef drilling goes into a decline.

Three wells are now producing from the Fuller sand, one in Kent County and two in Scurry County. All have made 43 gravity oil or better, flowing naturally.

Companies which are now producing from the reef in proven areas will probably drill twin wells for production from the sand, although this drilling will be delayed until reef activity drops off.

The Fuller sand was encountered at 5,000 feet in the first well from which it was produced, Chapman & McFarlin Producing Co. No. 25 D. M. Cogdell in Kent County. The Texas Co. encountered the sand above 5,200 feet in the No. 156-F P. L. Fuller and is now producing that zone from 5,149-5,155 and 5,167 - 5,169 feet. D. D. Feldman Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-A-B P. L. Fuller is producing from 5,130-5,-160 feet in the sand.

The Fuller sand is by no means as widespread as the Canyon reef which it overlies, appearing only in broken pockets over the area, R. H. Martin, Texas Co. geologist in Abilene, said. It is a lower Permian or Wolfcamp formation, and has been tested in several wells at different times. Electric log surveys records will generally enable operators to tell whether twin wells for Fuller sand production will be advisable or not.

The zone of pay in the Fuller sand is generally from 17 to 18 to 20 feet, much less than that of the Canyon reef.

Chapman & McFarlin brought in the first Fuller sand oiler in November, 1950, completing it as a dual producer from the sand and reef below it. It made a potential of 1,033 barrels of 43 gravity oil. A pay zone topped at about 4,900 feet in the same well was designated as the Cogdell sand, and is now being produced from a twin well.

D. D. Feldman No. 1-A-B P. L. Fuller was completed early this month for 1,040 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil. It is located in section 651, block 97, H&TC survey.

The Texas Co. completed the No. 156-F P. L. Fuller for 672 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil. It was also completed early this month. The Texas Co. will designate all Fuller sand wells with an F in addition to the well number.

Plans Made For Cutting Horse Contest Here

Billy Boren and Ollie Stimson, representing the Scurry County Rodeo Association, met in Fort Worth with the Directors of the National Cutting Horse Association Tuesday.

The two negotiated to have the national cutting horse contest in Snyder Aug. 25. Two shows are planned that day.

Three-Room Dwelling Destroyed by Fire

A fire yesterday morning destroyed a three room house located about two blocks northwest of the northwest elementary school, G. L. Autry, city fireman, said.

Autry said the building was completely ablaze when the city's two fire trucks arrived, and it could not be saved.

Snyder Truck Driver Burned In Accident

Ray Owens, 24 year old Snyder truck driver, was in critical condition last night in Big Spring hospital after suffering burns and other injuries in a truck crash between Big Spring and Snyder Friday afternoon.

Jake Bruton, Big Spring sheriff, said the truck driven by Owens struck a concrete bridge abutment 16 miles northeast of Big Spring on the Snyder Highway.

Attendents at the hospital said that Owens condition was growing worse late yesterday afternoon.

Owens was reported thrown clear of the truck but was burned when the truck exploded as he returned to turn off the ignition to the running motor. The truck was owned by E. L. Farmer Trucking Co. of Odesso.

Owens mother, Mrs. Nellie Owens lives in Chattanooga, Tenn.

He has no relatives in Snyder and lives in the bunk house at the E. L. Farmer Trucking Co. here, members of the firm said.

Snyder Airman Killed In Flight Line Mishap In Panama Canal Zone

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Simpson, who live west of Snyder, received word yesterday of the death Friday of their son, Corp. Jack W. Simpson, 25, in the Panama Canal Zone.

An engineer in the Air Force, Corp. Simpson died as a result of a flight line accident. Additional details were promised in the telegram notifying the parents of his death.

Born in Snyder, he attended schools here and was graduated from Snyder High School in 1943. He attended Baylor a short time, and two years ago enlisted in the Air Force. After training at San Antonio and Wichita Falls, he went to the Canal one last October.

He leaves his parents, a sister, Miss Annie Simpson of the home here, and a brother, W. P. Simpson, Bend, Ore.

Whisnand Joins Staff Of Fire Department

Homer Whisnand, former deputy sheriff, began work last night as a paid fireman for the Snyder fire department.

Whisnand was a deputy sheriff here for about 14 months.

He is taking the place of Adolf Teutschlander, who is spending an indefinate time in the Veteran's Hospital at Big Spring.

Commanders Expect 3rd Chinese Push

TOKYO, Sunday, June 17. (AP) — Allied guns thundered all across Korea Saturday night, firing with the aid of giant searchlights at Reds fading back to new positions, well north of Parallel 38.

The no-man's land between the opposing forces widened as the main body of Reds withdrew over the North Korean hills. United Nations divisions showed no disposition for hasty pursuit.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United States Eighth Army Commander, said the Reds still have uncommitted reserves and, "we do expect a third round of the Chinese spring offensive."

REDS MOVING UP

AP Correspondent Stan Carter said in a field dispatch late Saturday night that two large concentrations of Reds were reported moving toward Allied lines in Western Korea. Planes scouted the area but found only small bands of Communists. Some U.N. troops patrolling the area across the Imjin River said one large group of Reds moved southwest in the area directly west of Yonchon. Yonchon is 35 miles north of Seoul and seven miles north of Parallel 38.

The patrols said there was another large concentration several miles north of Korangpo, a town a mile south of 38.

However, other patrols ranged far in the same general area without finding Reds.

SIZABLE RED UNITS

The sector northwest of the Imjin is the only one where any sizable units of Communists still are south of Parallel 38, the old political boundary of North and South Korea.

Chinese and North Korean resistance slackened Saturday after days of bitter hand-to-hand rear-guard fighting, covering the main Red withdrawal.

In the western area, north of Seoul, Allied tank and infantry patrols probed for miles north of the Imjin River beyond Munsan and Korangpo with little contact.

Other patrols ranged far ahead of Allied positions in Central Korea's Pyonggang Valley without finding Reds. This was in the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang Triangle, the staging area for the Reds' two ill-fated spring offensives.

PLANES SPOT TRUCKS

Allied planes spotted trucks moving south toward Pyonggang, the Triangle's apex, 29 miles north of Parallel 38.

On the East-Central sector, north of Hanggu and Inje, North Korean pressure eased. The Reds were observed digging in on rugged mountains north of Yanggu. Two half-hearted Red counterattacks northwest of Inje were repulsed.

MacArthur's Texas Speeches Level New Guns at Washington

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—Gen Douglas MacArthur returned to the Great Debate this week to assail the nation's policy makers and to demand use of America's "matchless scientific development" to win the Korean war.

Replying to his critics, he accused the Truman administration of appeasement, timidity and fear in the face of Russian "bulldozing."

How far would MacArthur go in the opposite direction; would he consider using the atomic bomb to achieve his desired rapid and decisive victory over the Chinese Res?

TERMS AROUSE QUESTION

He did not say he would. But some of his terminology in his Texas speaking tour aroused conjecture.

The ousted Far East commander said in Austin that Allied troops in Korea were being denied the "maximum employment of our scientific superiority."

MacArthur specifically mentioned America's lead in the atom race, and asked how long this margin would prevail.

A few lines further along, he declared:

"The surest way, the only way, to prevent World War III is to end the Korean conflict rapidly and decisively."

REPLIES TO CRITICS

MacArthur previously had called for a naval blockade of China; bombing of bases and supply lines in China, and the use of Chiang troops.

During the past month, this program has been critieized in the Senate hearings by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Defense Secretary George C. Marshall and the Joint Chiefs of Staff as risking a world war.

obviously replying to them, MacArthur insisted his program was the road to peace.

He said "those who so bitterly assail me . . . are the real war-mongers — they who refuse to end the Korean War — they who advocate 'wait and see' while American blood — not dust as they would have it — settles in growing pools around the 38th Parallel."

This one sentence constituted a rap at both Acheson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Some more of MacArthur's comments in Texas — and some of the Senate Hearing quotes they appeared to reply to:

APPEASEMENT?

MacAuthur: Munich, and many other historical examples, have taught us that diplomatic appeasement but sows he seeds of future conflict. Yet . . . we now practice a new and yet more dangerous form of appeasement — whereunder we soften our blows, withhold our power, and surrender military advantages in apparent hope that a potential enemy will be coerced to desist from attacking us.

If the Soviet does strike, it will be because of the weakness we now display rather than the strength we of right should display.

Marshall: We have spurned appeasement. We have brought to bear whatever has been necessary, in money and manpower, to curb the aggressor, and we have sought in every possible way to avoid a third world war.

Bradley: I think that something short of driving them (the Red Chinese) out of Korea would be satisfactory and would not be considered appeasement . . .

(We are just as anxious to end the war in Korea as Gen. MacArthur or anyone else is. The difference in opinion comes in how much additional risk you should take in trying to take additional measures. . . .

(But we don't think the advantages offset the possibility of bringing Russia into the war).

RISK OF GLOBAL WAR

MacArthur: I am no seer to predict whether or not the Soviet aims at ultimately provoking and engaging in a global struggle. I give him infinitely more credit, however, than to believe he would embark upon so reckless and ill-conceived a course.

Up to now, there is no slightest doubt in my mind but that he has been engaging in the greatest bulldozing diplomacy history has ever recorded . . .

His intrigue has found its success, not so much in his own military strength nor, indeed, in any overt threat of intent to commit it to battle, but in the moral weakness of the free world.

(Bradley(Gen. MacArthur has stated that there are certain additional measures which can and should be taken, and that by so doing no unacceptable increased risk of global war will result.

(The Joint Chiefs of Staff believe that these same measures do increase the risks of global war and that such a risk should not be taken unnecessarily . . . .)

POLITICAL FUTURE?

(I assumed, and we have assumed, that if we started that procedure, particularly the bombing and naval action, in relation to Manchuria and China, we would immediately have whatever retaliation they were able to effect.)

MacArthur also turned to the domestic scene and attacked corruption in government, the cost of government and the burden of taxation.

This led to speculation that he intended to enter politics. But when a reporter asked him whether he would run for president, he replied: "Emphatically, no."

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday; a few scattered afternoon and eveing thundershowers Sunday in the Panhandle, South Plains and upper portions of the Pecos Valley eastward, no important temperature changes.

Signs Of Better Times

They are the study by a Chamber of Commerce committee of possible county park sites, and the school system's public recreation program which begins tomorrow.

Snyder's recreational advantages right now are almost nil—no public pool, no publicly owned golf course, a Youth Center that is locked by a $12,000 debt, no public park which is maintained, no public playground except at the schools, and only one public tennis court, located at the high school. The Youth Center, when it is opened, will add two more tennis courts.

Fishing and boating are only things to dream about in Scurry County. Of course, the completion of the Colorado River dam will change that, putting us in the choice position of all West Texas from the point of view of aquatic diversion.

We believe the county judge and the chamber committee, now preparing the groundwork for a bond election for a county park, have the enthusiastic support of the people. Their program appears, at this early stage, to recognize the needs not only of today, but of the tomorrow which seems assured, when we will have twice the population we now have and hundreds of citizens working on the 40 hour week.

But their admirable project, no matter how fast they work, will be slow in materializing. Meanwhile, the schools have taken up some of the slack by offering a recreational program open to school children.

There, sports and crafts will be taught through the morning, providing healthy and instructive activity for as many children as want to attend.

It is not normally a school function, but we are grateful to the school board for taking the initiative to relieve as best they can a pressing community need.

Wave Of Wheel, Tire Thefts Is Reported to Snyder Police

Snyder is experiencing a wave of automobile tire and wheel thefts the Snyder Police Department said, and that car owners should take precautions to prevent loss of tires and wheels.

One night last week a new car at the Dow Chemical Co. was jacked up and all four new tires and wheels stolen in one of six cases reported to police during the week.

DEALER ROBBED

A tire and wheel were stolen from a new International pick-up parked by the side of Snyder Truck & Tractor Co. on the East highway, Paul Keaton, owner, reported.

Two tires and wheels were stolen from the lot where city vehicles are parked, police said.

Simplex Motor Parts Co. lost three tires and wheels via the theft route, and one tire and wheel were taken from under a Snyder residence.

The police said that tires and wheels stolen here were taken to other towns and sold, and the stolen tires from other towns were brought to Snyder for sale.

A tire and wheel which had been stolen in Sweetwater were recovered here.

In the case that owner recovered his tire and wheel, but the service station in Snyder which purchased it was left holding the bag.

Chester Bairrington, chief of police, said that everyone should keep the spare tire compartments of their car locked, or should lock the tire and wheel with a chain if it is mounted on the outside of the vehicle.

CAUTIOUS BUYING

He also warned individuals and business to not take chances in purchasing tires and wheels unless they were sure they were not stolen.

Another recent tire theft which had a humorous angle, but was not reported to police, was the theft of two tires and wheels from the Texas Electric Service Co.'s portable transformer unit while it was in use here.

At the time the theft occurred 20,000 volts of electricty were going through the unit, and although it was well grounded it would have knocked a man down just to touch the frame of the vehicle, J. E. Blakey, Texas Electric manager, said.

How the theft was manipulated without serious injury to the thieves is not known, Blakey said.

Martin Well Gets Show In Devonian Zone

Promising shows of possible production have been developed in Central - South Martin County from the Siluro - Devonian dolomite at the Tidewater Associated Oil Co's No. 1 E. B. Dickenson, wildcat which is slated to dig to around 12,500 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

The prospector recovered 360 feet of 41.5 gravity free oil in a drillstem test of the section at 11,740 - 780 feet. The tool was open one hour. No water was developed from the zone covered by the investigation.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from a minimum of 50 pounds to a maximum of 105 pounds.

Shutin bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 435 pounds. The project is to make more hole. Top of the dolomite which is making the oil is at 11,750 feet. Elevation is 2,479 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 44, block 37, T-1-N, T&P survey. That makes it nine miles west of Stanton and 12 miles north and slightly east of Midland.

This wildcat had some interesting shows of oil in the Spraberry formation. However, extended testing failed to develop commercial production and it was decided to carry the well on down to test the Ellenburger.

John Cantley, in a Georgia-Alabama League game June 5, 1914, hit three home runs with the bases full and batted in 15 runs.

The top relief pitcher in the National League in 1949 was Ted Wilks of the Cardinals. He appeared in 59 games.

TEXAS BRANDS

D D

By JOHN M. HENDRIX

Forty years ago the names of Burnetts, Waggoners, and Halsells were almost synonymous in West Texas for the ranges of the three outfits lay almost in a body from Decatur in Wise County through Wilbarger and into Foard County, Texas. Probably the largest one of this trinity in existence today is the Three D's, registered in 1871 in Wise and Clay Counties and later in Wilbarger County by Dan Waggoner and son.

In the early '90s about 40,000 head of cattle were sold each year from the ranches which included a considerable amount pasturage country in the Kiowa and Comanche nations. It is said that the Waggoners placed 10,000 head of cattle on the Comanche Reservation in the early '80s at a rate of $2.50 per head per year with no stipulation of how many years the lease was to run, its having been negotiated by Waggoner foremen and an accepted son of the Comanche Chieftain Quanah Parker.

Today on the ranches in Archer, Baylor, Foard, Knox, Wichita, and Wilbarger Counties there is run from 8,000 to 10,000 head of cattle on more than one-half million acres of pasture lands that were accumulated by the Waggoners prior to their having to give up the Indian territory pastures in 1920. There are on the ranch more than 1,500 producing oil wells, an oil refinery (property of the Waggoners), and thousands of acres of choice lands in cultivation which provide an ample feed supply for the cattle on the ranch.

Headquarters for the properties consisting of land, cattle, and oil are in Vernon, Texas. While the Waggoners made it a rule to confine their business strictly to cattle, the finding of oil on the ranch in 1900 made it essential that a part of their income should go into buildings in Fort Worth, their home town with the result that the W. T. Waggoner building, one of the most pretentious in Fort Worth, was built, as was the Ella Waggoner building, another desirable property in Fort Worth. Arlington Downs, a three-thousand acre horse racing and breeding establishment, at one time almost equal to the famous Churchill Downs in Louisville, Kentucky, is a portion of the Waggoner estate and lies along the Dallas-Fort Worth Pike.

The ranch and Waggoner interests are under the supervision of R. B. Penn of Vernon, Texas. The late Bob Moore for many years ran the ranch and properties, until his death a few years ago. Penn came from Decatur as an abstracter in 1900 to perfect titles on the Waggoner's newly acquired ranges in Wilbarger County and eventually assumed charge of the ranches and properties. This position he held until his death and he is credited with having developed the ranches and properties to their present high state.

Dan Waggoner died about 1902, leaving the properties to his son, Tom Waggonner, who died December 11, 1934. The business is administered by the Waggoner Estate now and is the property of Mrs. Ella Waggoner, Guy Waggoner, Paul Waggoner, and Buster Wharton, son of Electra Waggoner, the only daughter in the family.

In recent years the Waggoners have purchased a portion of the Bell ranch on the head of Red River in New Mexico. Guy Waggoner makes his home on the New Mexico ranch; Buster Wharton on the Wilbarger County portion of the ranches; and Paul Waggoner divides his time between the Texas ranches and the Fort Worth properties.

On the Wilbarger County ranch is located Lake Wichita, an irrigation project serving Wilbarger and Wichita Counties. It was built by damming the Wichita River on Waggoner lands with provision that the Waggoners retain title around the entire body of water to within one foot of the water itself.

It has been said that until recent years if a man owned any single phase of the Waggoner properties he would be well fixed; that is, if he owned the horses, lands, oil wells, cattle, or the Waggoners' homes. The ranch, under the management of R. B. Penn, is continuing the improvement in cattle and properties that it has enjoyed for many years past.

COW

BY JOHN M. HENDRIX

So that there might be no doubt as to what the animal was, Frank R. Lewis of Forney, Texas, used as his brand the word COW. The brand was started in 1867 by John M. Lewis in Kaufman County and reached its peak of importance from 1870 to 1890 on about 200 head of cattle per year.

The brand was discontinued with the settling up of the Forney country.

Two Teachers Will Complete Abilene Work

ABILENE — Two teachers from Snyder are among the 45 teachers who will complete a two-weeks English workshop at Hardin-Simmons university this week.

They are Marilyn Hays, third grade teacher in the Central Elementary school, and Marian Hays, second grade teacher in the East Primary school, Snyder.

Under the direction of Eva Rudd, assistant professor of English, each person enrolled in the workshop prepared and presented an individual project related to the teaching of English. The teachers heard special lecturers during the morning sessions, while afternoons were devoted to research and project presentation.

Teachers of all grade levels were enrolled for the workshop.

"Children's Literature of Yesterday and Today" was the project chosen by both the Misses Hays. Both are graduates of McMurry college, and will take their master of education degrees in 1952.

GALLUP POLL

Eisenhower Favorite of Both Parties and of Independents

BY GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., June 16 — The outstanding political fact of today is the unprecedented popularity of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in BOTH the Republican and Democratic parties.

He is not only the leading choice for President in 1952 among Republican voters, but also the number one choice of the Democratic rank and file.

In fact, General Eisenhower is more popular with Democrats than with Republicans.

Futhermore, he towers head and shoulders above any Democratic or Republican leader in the estimation of Independent voters who stick to no regular party line.

The man who enjoys this unprecedented status is not seeking political office, has been out of the country for many months and has even left some people wondering whether he is a Republican or a Democrat.

But there can be no doubt about the extent of his popular appeal in politics at the present time.

His standing among Republicans was reported by the Institute on Friday. In today's survey all voters who classified themselves as Democrats were asked the following question:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible Presidential candidates in 1952 for the Democratic party. Which ONE would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate for President?"

Here is the vote:

Democratic Voters

Eisenhower	40

Ellenburger Wildcat In Northeast Scurry

Lion Oil Co. has staked location for a 7,800 - foot Ellenburger wildcat in Northeast Scurry County. It will be the No. 1 C. O. Helms, to be drilled 660 feet from the east and 1,980 feet from the south lines of section 631, block 97, H&TC survey.

Liquor to State Board

A truckload of liquor has been picked up at the county jail by officers of the state liquor control board, which will offer it for sale to legalized dealers, according to Lloyd Merritt, sheriff.

The liquor turned over to the board this time was an accumulation of confiscations since February. It included 391 pints of whisky, 732 half pints of whisky, 135 cases of beer, and 63 quarts of wine.

Dawson Well Gets Water In The Spraberry

Plymouth Oil Co. No. 1 Dell Barron, wildcat in Central Dawson county, is drilling deeper after making water on a drillstem test of the lower Spraberry.

The test was taken from 8,120 to 8,130 feet. Tool was open four hours and 25 minutes. Recovery was 800 feet of salt water and 108 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil or gas.

This project made 2,000 feet of salt water and 300 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud on a three-hour drillstem test at 7,469-7,494 feet in the Upper Spraberry.

Projected depth is 8,300 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of the east half of section 9, block 35, T-5-N, T&P survey and one and one-half miles east of Lamesa.

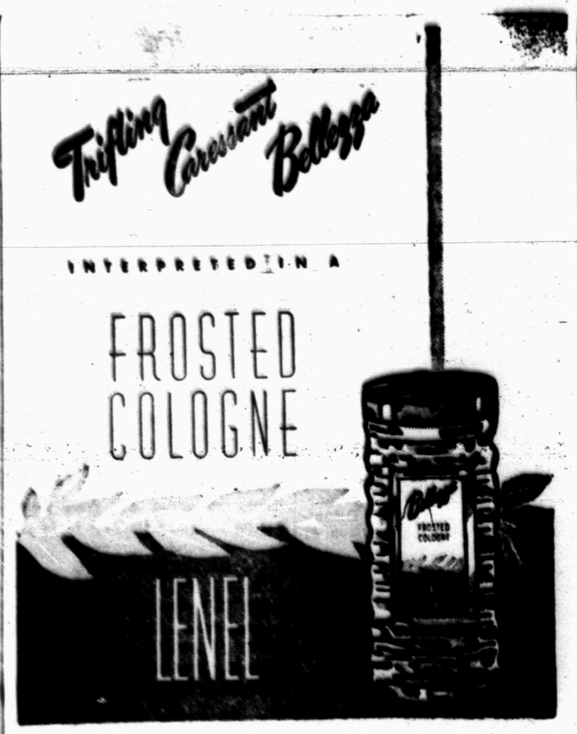

Fisher County Test Will Try Ellenburger

Continental Oil Co. has scheduled a 7,200 - foot Ellenburger wildcat in West - Central Fisher County as the No. 1 A. N. Noles.

Girls In Miss Snyder Contest Have Chance At National Title

The ultimate goal of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's Miss Snyder winer is Atlantic City, N. J. probably better known for the annual Miss America contest held there than any other single phase of activity. Visions of the boardwalk sporting bathing beauties in droves take precedence over other attractions of the town.

Atlantic City worked for its fame, and has found what started out as a local project one of the most widely publicized in the nation.

The Miss America Pageant is a story of success and failure, continuing to grow in importance despite the hardships it faced during war and depression years. It now attracts representatives from every state and many territories of the United States, all hoping to win the title of Miss America and the acompanying awards on the basis of talent as well as beauty.

The Pageant was organized in 1921 by a group of Atlantic business and civic leaders. It was known as the Atlantic City Bathing Beauty Pageant, mainly to extend the summer season for one week after Labor Day. Miss Margarent Gorman of Washington, D. C., was awarded the Miss America title that year. Her costume was a very daring black bathing suit with a full skirt, non-plunging neckline, knee-length black stocking and a black headband.

Contestants were judged on beauty alone in the early days of the pageant for the first seven years. The pageant was discontinued during the depression years, and when it was revived again in 1933 it proved to be lagging behind the times. Another group took over in 1935. They set up strict rules for contestants and changed the pageant to the Showmen's Variety Jubilee. They began to play up the idea that a representative of the United States should have brains as well as beauty, and began to revise the program from the ground up.

The contest was given its present name in 1940, when it was incorporated as a non-profic civic corporation of the state of New Jersey. Just when it seemed everything was set, the war forced it into obscurity again.

Since the war, the pagant has been revived on an even larger scale. Contestants are now selected through state contests, which in turn draw winners from county or city contests.

It isn't the most glamorous girl who is most likely to be awarded the Miss America title, sponsors of the contest say. It will more likely be the wholesome, talented, ambitious young American woman who can more acurately represent the average.

For the first time Snyder will have its Miss Snyder competition, and the winner will have the opportunity to compete in other competitions leading eventually to Atlantic City and the Miss America crown.

Liquor and Driving Charges Are Heard

Luther Leonard Hamilton, 34, of Snyder, entered pleas of innocent in county court Friday in connection with two charges of liquor law violations.

Bond was set at $500 for him on a charge of transporting liquor for purpose of sale in a dry area, and his bond was fixed at $1,000 on a charge of possessing liquor at his home for purpose of sale.

Both cases were set for trial June 21 by Edgar Taylor, county judge. Hamilton is being represented by Fred Chandler, Colorado City attorney.

In county court Thursday afternoon, a fine of $73.50, including court costs, was assessed Paul Melvin Ussery, about 30, of Snyder, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while his license was suspended. His driver's license had been suspended by the court here on a conviction of driving while intoxicated. The complaint was signed by B. F. Zimmerman, highway patrolman.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 718, block 97, H&TC survey. Rotary tools will drill to 7,000 feet.

Snyder Man's Brother Prints Tribute to Father in 'Lion'

Roy Keaton, general director of Lions International and a brother of Paul A. Keaton of Snyder, is the author of a Father's Day story in the June issue of the club's magazine, "The Lion."

"The Lion" is published monthly in 31 countries over the world... countries where similar memories of fathers will be brought to mind by the story of Keaton's father, "His Favorite Color Was Gray." It is reproduced in part below:

June 17 will be celebrated as Father's Day. I vividly recall that once when I was in high school my father took me to a dry-goods store and bought me a new suit of clothes. While we were making the purchase my father saw a suit that he admired very much, and he remarked to the clerk that gray was his favorite color and he had wanted a new gray suit like that for a long time. My father tried the suit on. He looked handsome in it, but he hesitatingly decided not to buy it. We left the store without it.

In my youthful way I could not understand why my father didn't go ahead and buy the suit. When we had left the store I inquired why. My father answered quietly that the didn't have the money to spare just then; he needed it to buy food and clothes and essentials for his growing children. The conversation then drifted into something else.

On that very day I made a determined, solemn vow — childish though it was — that someday, somehow I would save my money and buy my father a handsome gray suit just like the one he had admired in the store. It was more than a passing fancy with me, for I thought about it and planned it for days.

And now after the years have passed and it is too late, I more easily realize the struggle my father had—the hard work, the daily grind, the fears and anxieties, the constant hope for better things tomorrow, the ambitions and dream that never fully materialized.

My father, like millions of others, was in his early twenties when he put aside his fine feathers and began a man's real fight, a fight to give his children a break. A young man, just a growing boy, filled with hopes, laughter, seriousness, dreams and ambitions.

There were five children in our family - five children each years apart—five children growing out of clothes and kicking out of shoes. Food, clothes, doctor bills, payments on the house, insurance, books, education—those incidentals always cost so much.

So my dad, like yours, put away his youth, so to speak, and bent his back and energies to the load just like so many wonderful fathers have done, are doing, and will continue to do.

No man ever meant more to me than my father. There never was a finer or a friendlier man. It was more than childish love and admiration. It was something far deeper than that. There was compassion, comradeship, companionship, comfort, understanding, protection, support, faith. Today I can still feel the touch of his hand and the warmth of his smile.

But about the gray suit. One day back in October, 1928, just about 23 years ago I was attending the university when an emergency telephone call came. A voice told me that my father had been in a tragic car accident. He was suddenly gone. The next day amid blinding tears of bitter grief I bought a new gray suit, a suit that I believe he would have liked, but it was too late. Oh, the heartrending tragedy of those words "too late."

Allen D. Keaton—just another father. Just another very wonderful dad who knew the true meaning of love and sacrifice and gave up many of his youthful dreams of adventure and success so that his children and loved ones might be better served. Just another dad who did his job without medals, fanfare or notice. The Master must have been thinking of fathers when he said, "Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend.

KEYS OPEN DOORS

And by doors we enter!

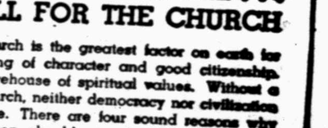

But not all doors are worth opening, nor are all keys worth having.

A man's interests and aims are his keys!

A man's pursuits, his habits, his achievements are the doors he has opened. Across their threshold his life moves, bringing good or evil, happiness or sorrow, to himself and those around him.

Wise men, centuries ago, discovered that most of the keys to a richer, fuller, and more beautiful life could be found in the worship and faith of the Church.

Worship and faith are master keys . . . to the human power we call courage . . . and to the Divine Power we call GOD.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mexicans Try To Keep Out Of Conflict With U. S. Tourneys

By WILBUR MARTIN
(Associated Press Staff)

Mexican golf officials brush aside as a "Little Mistake" the row raised last year when some of the better American pros decided to skip the Rio Grande open in favor of the Mexico Open.

But they're taking along look ahead to try and avoid another.

"Just a misunderstanding, a little mistake," says Alfio Zavala, the Mexican Golf Association representative who did most of the talking with American PGA officials over the matter. "A lot of publicity for the Mexico Open."

Zavala and Olin Dutra, the former U. S. Open and PGA champion who is now a pro at Mexico City, had rather talk about their proposed Latin-American open.

This would be a tournament open to the champions of all countries in North and South America and Europe.

It would have a total prize money value of 100 to 150,000 pesos, and would be staged in Mexico City, between the Masters and Colonial Invitation Tournament at Fort Worth.

Dutra said he had been in full correspondence with the U. S. PGA and that the group promised full cooperation, but that no dates had been worked out.

This tournament would be strictly separate from the Mexico City Open.

The group in Mexico backing it doesn't want it to conflict with any tournament in the U. S., since it is going to depend on getting some of the "big name" players from this country.

But Zavala wouldn't be pinned down recently whether the Mexico City tournament would be shifted to avoid a conflict with the Rio Grande at Harlingen.

The PGA fined several of the players who went to Mexico instead of playing at Harlingen.

Zavala, in that polite Latin manner, let it be known that the PGA knew well in advance that some players planned on doing this.

These players, he indicated, were just living up to their word.

But the Mexican golfers want to get along with the PGA and are through making public statements about last year's incident. If they don't get those dates for their Latin - American tournament it might be a different story.

Two Midland Tests Show In Pennsylvanian

Two Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. wildcats in Southwest Midland County have indicated as discoveries from the Pennsylvanian lime.

The firms No. 2 June Tippett, 880 feet from north and west lines of section 12, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey, and two miles northwest G. W. Murchison No. 1 Joe Canon, Pennsylvanian discovery and producer one and one-quarter miles north of the Pegasus - Ellenburger or field, recovered 3,215 feet of clean oil on a drillstem test from 10,435 to 10,508 feet.

The tool on that test was open three hours. Gas surfaced in 58 minutes. No fluid came to the top while tool was open. Total recovery was the free oil and 200 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. No water was present.

Hole was made to 10,660 feet and another drillstem test was made to that point with packer set at 10,621 feet.

Tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in 58 minutes. No fluid showed at the top while tester was open. Recovery was 300 feet of heavily oil & gas cut mud and 2,880 feet of 39.6-gravity oil.

This project is now being drilled below 10,682 feet.

One and three - quarter miles northeast of No. 1 Canon, Sinclair No. 3 June Tippe recovered 40 feet of clean oil and 80 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud from the Pennsylvanian on a drillstem test from 10,165 to 10,250 feet.

Tool was open two hours. Recovery was a 1,620 - foot water blanket and the oil and oil and gas - cut mud.

This test is now being drilled below 10,468 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 17, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Both the above wildcats are scheduled to drill to the Ellenburger.

In a Salt Lake City-Seattle game in the Pacific Coast League, Sept. 22, 1922 every player on the Seattle team was at bat four times, no more—no less.

In 1948 Al Rosen (now of the Cleveland Indians) hit five home runs in a row for Kansas City in an American Association game against St. Paul, on July 26-27.

Girls Taught to Use Hammer As Well As Drawing Board

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 16. (AP) — There's much to be said for marrying a designing woman — if she comes from the Rhode Island School of Design.

Many a man with a home of his own spends a goodly part of his leisure time with hammer, saw and screwdriver.

If it isn't a new idea the little woman has — like cornices for the living room windows — its something she wants fixed — like the guest room door that won't click shut. Well, you can't expect her to do it, herself, can you?

SURPRISE, SURPRISE

Oh yes, you can, if she's an RISD gal.

You visit the Rhode Island School of Design and what do you see? Girls majoring in interior design, for one thing, and RISD is thorough.

Over there in the corner is Nancy Ruitti of Pittsburgh, Pa., running a band saw. She can cut out her own cornice boards. She knows how to use other tools, too.

Carolyn Harris of Elwood, Ind., is busy operating a metal lathe.

The girl at the work table with that clutter of wood is Christine Guarino of Providence. What is she up to? She has designed a chair. Has she asked some man to make it? No, shes building it herself.

These girls in carpenter aprons with hammers, nails, chisels — maybe zinging a piece of wood through a circular saw — are taking a dip in the construction side.

BETTER DESIGNERS

RISD thinks girls who know how to use hand tools or power tools are better designers than they would be if they just sat around at drawing boards.

Says Ernest Lichtblau, head of the interior design department:

"A writer would not be a good writer if he sat at his desk thinking. He must get about in the world and observe life, so as to endow his writing with that warmth which comes only from direct observation.

So — either in the sophomore or the junior year, the girls have to take woodworking. In the senior year they take shop practice in metal. They work in their classes alongside the men students.

TOOL FUNCTIONS

"The first semester, good marks explains Earle Young, instructor in woodworking, "is spent in learning the functions of tools: first the hand tools, then the power tools. They also learn about various kinds of wood, how to measure it and how to dress it. They learn the common joints and how to make them.

"During the second semester, they construct projects of their own design: tables, benches, magazine racks, chairs — mostly in the modern spirit.

"They are quiet and industrious and have proved quite apt in a field where they have had little previous training.

"The project for this year is entitled, 'my room.

"The student must think of his of her own problem — here in Providence — at a school with few dormitories, making it necessary to rent a room. He has such and such economic means. What fits his problem? What are his needs? What can he afford? The objects constructed in the shop are inspired by this situation.

Reagan County Wells Flows From Spraberry

A prolific flowing discovery from the Spraberry has been assured at Paul F. Barnhart No. 1 Wimberly, wildcat in Northwest Reagan County.

The project is now shutin while tank battery is being hooked up. When that job is completed No. 1 Wimberly will be potentialed and put on regular production.

After open hole from 6,710 to 6,900 feet was given a 4,000-gallon Hydrafrac treatment the well kicked off and flowed after swabbing.

It made 150 barrels of oil in seven and one-half hours flowing through an 18-64-inch choke.

Snowden No. 1-43 Dean In Dawson Abandoned

James H. Snowden has plugged and abandoned his No. 1-43 Dean, wildcat in East - Central Dawson County at plugged back depth of 7,630 feet.

Operator shot the section from 7,580 feet to 7526 feet in the lower Spraberry with 100 quarts of nitro glycerin. After the shot it swabbed one barrel of fluid per hour which was 85 per cent oil and the remainder was water.

Location of the dry hole is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 43, block 1, J. Poitevant survey and 12 miles northeast of Lamesa.

Driver-Spraberry Extenders Completed

Two locations west of James H. Snowden and Sergent & Rutter No. 1-34 Schrock, recently completed long south extender to the Driver-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County, Atlantic Refining Co. will drill its No. 5 W. W. Schrock.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 34, block 37, T&P survey, T-4-S.

The firms No. 3 and No. 4 Schrock have not been staked.

Completion of Two Sharon Ridge Wells

Two completions have been reported in the Sharon Ridge field of Scurry County.

Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 4-A J. R. Canning, Canyon producer in section 119, block 25, H&TC survey, flowed 12 hours for a potential of 271.24 barrels of 44.4 gravity oil. Gas - oil ratio was 1,648-1. Top of the pay was at 6,748 feet.

R. E. Smith No. 19-B C. V. Thompson made 264.61 barrels of 44.2 gravity oil on the 24-hour final test. Gas - oil ratio was 690-1. Flow was natural with no water present. Top of the pay zone was at 6,608 feet. Location is in section 120, block 25, H&TC survey.

Reagan Well Makes Show In Spraberry

G. H. Vaughn and The Atlantic Refining Co. No. 1 Calvin Suggs, Northeast Reagan County wildcat developed a show of oil and gas in the lower Spraberry in a drillstem test at 7,504-27 feet.

The tool was open one hour. Gas was at the surface in 41 minutes. There was no estimate on the gas volume. Recovery was 180 feet of slightly muddy oil. There were no signs of formation water. The oil was .38 gravity.

Operators were preparing to core deeper.

The project is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 134, block 2, T&P survey. It is 15 miles northeast of Stiles.

The oil developed in the test at 7,504-27 feet is the first this prospector has logged. It was originally started out to drill to 10,200 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Glasscock Test Fails

Paul F. Barnhart No. 1-10 J.O. Bigby, wildcat in Southwest Glasscock County, is being drilled below 3,625 feet in the Grayburg after failing to develop oil on a drillstem test in that formation.

The test was made in the interval from 5,510 to 5,575 feet after drilling samples in that section showed slight staining.

Recovery was five feet of drilling mud with no shows. Operator will continue drilling the project toward its projected 8,800 - foot destination.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 10, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey and 22 miles southwest of Garden City.

Abandon Stonewall Well

Woodley Petroleum Co. and Kirby Petroleum Co. No. 1 S. A. Godfrey estate, Northwest Stonewall County wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned at 6,717 feet after a completion try in the Caddo failed.

Location was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 221, block D, H&TC survey and four and one-half miles northwest of Swenson.

Norton-Hunnicutt Wedding Performed in Kerens, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Norton of Fluvanna have announced the marriage June 9 of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Anne Norton, to Charles Sam Hunnicutt. Mr. Hunnicutt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tipton Hunnicutt of Fluvanna.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the First Presbyterian Church in Kerens, Tex., the Rev. R. C. Linder officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. F. Smith of Kerens.

The bride was attended by her maid of honor, Miss Anne Garber of Greenville, and bridesmaids, Miss Winona Etheridge of Lufkin, and Miss Janie Adkins of Kerens. Flower girls were Donna Jo Smith of Trinidad, and Donna Foster of Dallas.

The bridegroom's father was his best man. Ushers were Irby Joe Smith of Trinidad, Walter Farmer of Corsicana, and James Luther Whorton of Kerens.

Miss Mary Frances Weedin of Kerens played organ selections and Miss Mary Frances Hoffer of Kerens sang traditional songs. Baskets of white gladioli and stock decorated the church.

The bride wore a strapless gown of white slipper satin, the bolero fashioned of Chantilly lace with a Peter Pan collar. Her long lace sleeves reached points at her wrists. The gown had a finger tip veil of illusion trimmed with lily of the valley. She chose a white orchid in a corsage arrangement with white carnations and white streamers. Her attendants wore pastel frocks of formal lengths with matching mitts.

After the wedding, a reception followed in the church parlor, after which the couple left for a wedding trip in West Texas. For the trip Mrs. Hunnicutt chose a navy linen suit with white and blue accessories and a white orchid.

Some Scurry County residents present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hunnicutt and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Glass and son, Billy, all of Fluvanna.

Mrs. Hunnicutt, who is a teacher in the Fluvanna schools, graduated from Kerens high school and attended Navarro Junior College, receiving her degree from East Texas State College, Commerce. The bridegroom was graduated from Fluvanna high school, attending Texas Technological College. He is now ranching near Fluvanna.

The couple expect to live in Fluvanna.

Dawson County Pumper

James H. Snowden and others No. 1-82 Carrie S. Dean, Dawson County wildcat, has been completed on the pump for 44.34 barrels of 39.6 gravity oil.

The test covered a 24-hour period, with six per cent water made on the test. Gas - oil ratio was 311-1. Top of the pay was at 7,276 feet, with casing perforated from 7,276-7,286 feet. Location is in section 32, block 1, J. Poitevant survey.

Mrs. Wasson and Mrs. Yorgeson Winning Golfers

Mrs. R. F. Wasson and Mrs. R. S. Yorgeson were awarded top honors in the Womens Golf Association tournament at the Country Club Friday.

Trophies, silver trays donated by Mrs. Edith W. McKanna, were awarded the winners by Mrs. G. B. Clark, Jr., president of the association.

Each entry in the tournament was required to have at least five games posted before entering competition. Members of the association are reminded that Red Gaines, club pro, will give instruction at 8:30 each Monday morning without charge.

Twenty members of the association were present for the luncheon which followed the tournament. Mrs. Grady Hicks of Fort Worth was a guest at the luncheon. Bridge and canasta were played during the afternoon.

Martin Discovery In Pennsylvanian Flows Also From Silurian

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 2-B-P-Si Glass, Pennsylvanian discovery and producer in Southwest Martin County, flowed 82 barrels of new oil and 23 barrels of basic sediment and water after perforations opposite the Silurian, were acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Before the acid treatment the well flowed 28 barrels of oil and no water in one hour.

The project is at plugged back total depth of 12,193 feet. Present testing is through perforations at 12,100-12,180 feet.

Dual completion is scheduled for the discovery which recently was completed from the Pennsylvanian through perforations at 10,450-10,530 feet.

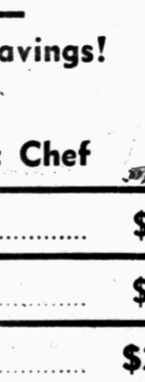

Operator was continuing to swab and test at last report.

Location is 662 feet from south and 670 feet from east lines of section 12, block 39, T&P survey, T-1-N.

No. 6 Sentell Finals On Pump For 184 Bbls.

Sunray Oil Corp. has completed the No. 6 Mrs. Lois S. Sentell for 184 barrels of 42.4 gravity oil on "B" zone with casing perforated a 24-hour pumping test.

Gas - oil ratio was 672-1. The well had been treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. No water was present. Production is from the Strawn at 7,398-7,410 feet. The well is in section 26, J. P. Smith survey.

An unusual flower in the yard of Miss Nellie Cotton, 2008 Twenty-seventh Street, is the century plant, shown above. The yellow blossoms grow on small limbs branching from the tall central stalk, upper right. The leaves of the plant, which grow low on the ground, are shown at the lower right. The plant has been growing in Miss Cotton's yard since she moved there five years ago, and is now producing its first blooms. The stalk bearing the flowers is over 15 feet tall, and sometimes grew 12 to 15 inches overnight when the flowers first began to appear. The century plant does not, as legend holds, bloom only once every hundred years. However, it blooms infrequently in this modrate climate, being transplanted from its native tropical habitat. (Joe Dave Scott photographs).

Mrs. J. F. Strickland, 313 Thirty-fifth Street, has recently returned from Grosvenor, Tex., where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. T. W. Moore, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper, 3007 Avenue S, went to Colorado City Thursday afternoon to visit their daughter, Miss Sandra Blackar, who is attending summer school there.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Canada are expected back this week end from a two weeks' vacation trip, Mr. Canada, sales engineer for the Black, Sivalls, & Bryson, will be at his desk Monday.

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 15. —Curtis Bernhardt, a top "woman's director," today divulged some tricks of the trade, including how to get the most out of a love scene.

What's a woman's director? Well, he's a guy who can evoke fine performances from the heavy emoters on the distaff side. Bernhardt doesn't care much for the title. He argues that he has directed many masculine films in Hollywood and was imported because of some tough, manly pictures he made in France.

HE IS STUCK

But in 11 years here he has made noteworthy films with Joan Crawford, Bette Davis, Ida Lupino, Olivia DeHavilland, Barbara Stanwyck, Jane Wyman and Ann Sheridan. So he's stuck with being a woman's director.

He offered a hint as to his success with directing the gals: "When I started to direct Jane Wyman in 'The Blue Veil,' I sent her a note saying: 'For the next few weeks, you are going to be married to me; your evenings will be free, but you belong to me in the daytime.'"

Everybody wants to know how directors produce love scenes, so I explored the topic with Bernhardt.

"The authentic love scene requires something differentt. I try to plan it out so it will seem like a spontaneous reaction between a man and a woman.

"When I have a love scene to do I always rehearse it first in a dressing room or somewhere alone. In that way, the actor and actress can feel as though it is the real thing; they can rehearse it without 50 people watching them. When we have to shoot the scene, I try to have as few people around as possible on the set within eye range of the stars. The crew always has an amazing sense for difficult scenes; they invariably are quiet and helpful."

WOMEN EASIER

Bernhardt says it is easier to direct women than men.

"I don't know what it is about men," he said. "Perhaps they think that acting is not a manly profession. They may dislike displaying their emotions. But it is a fact that you can get just so much from an actor and no more. When I direct Humphrey Bogart, I know exactly what he is going to do. Mind you, it is good. But it's still Bogart.

"It is different with actresses. The best of them will follow a director completely and get lost in their roles."

VOL. 2, No. 41 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 17, 1951 SECTION TWO

FATHERS - AND FATHERS OF FATHERS ARE HONORED TODAY

Michael Wayne Sheid, four months old, is held by his father, Billy Frank Sheid, while his grandfather, J. O. Sheid, Sr., looks on. Michael is the youngest of Mr. Sheid's seven grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Sheid live at 2707 Thirty-eighth Street in Towle Place. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sheid, Sr., live on route No. 1, and have made their home here for about 30 years.

Three and one-half-year-old Bill Blum, center, gets help in reading from his father, Dr. John Blum, left, and his grandfather, William Blum of Taylor, Tex. Bill was named William Howard for both his maternal grandfather, the late Dr. H. G. Towle, and his paternal grandfather. Dr .and Mrs. Blum live at 3000 Avenue U. (Joe Dave Scott photographs.)

T. M. Deffebach, his son, Mike, and his father, T. G. Deffebach, are among the three-generation father groups who all live in Snyder. Mr .and Mrs. T .M. Deffebach live at 900 Twenty-sixth Street, while his father lives with another son, Lyle Deffebach, at 3113 Avenue T. The elder Mr. Deffebach, who had lived in Snyder from 1910-1915, moved back in 1941. His sons moved here about the same time.

Father's Day never has drained our pocket books and sentiments the way Mother's Day has.

But it has a sweetness all its own, more restrained and less emotional than Mother's Day, but just as real.

And it's a day when long neglected members of the family—grandfathers—come in for their share of the attention. The reason is an obvious and ancient truth—that a man never appreciates his father until he has a son of his own.

• • •

Last Thursday was Father's Day for the Williams family. Then Will G. Williams, patriarch of the family, and his son and grandsons were together on their ranch near Polar.

Soon afterward, Will Williams left for Ruidoso, N.M., where he will spend several weeks.

• • •

Father's Day will mostly be a quiet one for Snyder pops, according to a cross section of the mothers who discussed their Sunday plans. No big fetes are underway, no firecrackers, ringing bells, handsprings turned—just a few neckties and maybe a bear hug or two for the old man from the youngsters before they get off to Sunday School!

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hatter, 1915 Coleman Street, will leave their new apartment for the day in Dallas where they have a reunion planned with old friends. Their one heir, a good three months old, is planning to give his pop a shirt before they leave. Mr. Hatter, who runs Technilube Oil Co., Lamesa highway, would like anything from this recent apple of his eye.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Stokes, 2209 Twenty-eighth Street, will REST Father's Day, as they have no children to run after. Sunday is a day of rest and Mrs. Stokes spoke of it with real anticipation. She's an executive in Snyder National Bank.

• • •

The Weldon Kincaids also evidenced the thought that Sunday might be quite peaceful with them at 3726 Avenue V because they have no family yet. In years to come the small, modern home just purchased in Highland Park will not be so peaceful, said Mrs. Kincaid.

• • •

This is giving no secret away, as Dr. D. K. Ratliff already knows what his pop's present is. Nancy Carolyn, the Ratliff's only daughter, couldn't wait to show off the pajamas she bought Dad. They will stay right here at home to celebrate with him on the big day.

• • •

And the Collie Fishes, 1104 Twenty sixth Street, have their father's day plans all mapped out. The pop and mom will be home, the active family of two sons and one daughter most likely out gallivantin'. A nice sports shirt is in the book for pop. Jay Fish, just graduated with honors at Snyder high, and Anne, younger, bought the shirt. Don, away at an ROTC camp at Ft. Belvoir, Va., is expected to write, wire, or call Pop before Sunday has passed.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bodie and daughter, Merry, are planning on spending Father's Day at home. Merry is giving her father a cigarette case for Father's Day.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Josephson, 2808 Avenue E, are spending Father's Day visiting relatives in Sweetwater.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wiman, Jr., and son, 2308 Twenty - ninth Street, will visit relatives in Roscoe today. Their son was to give his father a rod and reel for Father's Day.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gatlin, 2506 Avenue H, are to spend Father's Day visiting their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Campbell in Abilene. Mr. Campbell is in Abilene at the present time from Fort Riley, Kan., where he is in the infantry.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pogue plan to stay in Snyder for Father's Day. The Pogue's have two daughters, Patsy and Dovie Pogue, who are giving their father a shirt for Father's Day.

TALK OF THE TOWN

BY FRANCES BROOKS

A stream - lined coffee maker whose controls and gadgets resemble the instrument board of a jet fighter sits conveniently by when weary travel - stained guests register in the sleek lobby of Snyder's newest motel, Beacon Lodge

• • •

An affable personnel at the hilltop lodge showed off their almost-complete haven for tourists, about the only thing incomplete at this date being the swimming pool. DICK WILLIAMS is a whirlwind of a young man in well - cut sports togs who occupies ultra - modish bachelor apartments at the lodge and takes a personal interest in every brick and door mat of his newest charge, the sprawling, modern courts.

He is, self - described, an official organizer of swank hotels and motels....comes, sets them rolling, rolls on himself. Expecting to be here a year or more he is wistful about having so far little time to meet the town folks, means to do so as soon as that cement sets and the pool is through

MRS. ETHEL NOWLIN, Youth Center instigator turns up as his assistant, does everything from dusting and propelling the coffee maker (we inquired if she needed a state license to run it) to handling paying guests Ennis Powell, porter, was taking businesslike strokes with a mop at the plaid asphalt tile of the lobby, while cleaning girls attacked the chore of cleaning the big motel, which had been "capacity full" the night before.

• • •

The decorating scheme in the 36-room courts, strategically built to face three highway approaches, defies my laywoman's descriptive powers. Lets say it's "swish". Grammarians can turn handsprings at that, but it about says what they have done in mauve walls, fushia lampshades each room a different color scheme the floral print of the plastic divans blending perfectly, elegant tiled bath rooms, plastic headboards over those rest - easy mattresses, all soothed by an efficient air conditioning system!

• • •

The walk out to the pool under construction was educational, as I'd never seen concrete being sprayed. Sounds difficult, but something like fly spray flys out of a pressure gun. One surprising fact developed. According to Mr. Williams, the humidity has been so bad lately they haven't been able to make the concrete mixture And we had thought it dry in Snyder.

• • •

Finally, the $64 question . . . . "Will the public be allowed to use the pool?" Yes, and no. Well, maybe so. And there you have the Beacon Lodge's answer....they feel if there is such a need for a public pool, at special daily hours it may be thrown open to the public. Then, there are still plans percolating for a club allowing members to swim, use the facilities of the coffee room and terraces. The golf course is yet a dim dream, some time to come true. The pool opens July 1, almost for sure.

A metal picture of relaxation on a vacation midst foreign sounds and sights is called up for us by the press notice fluttering in from Juarez, Mexico....The Lobby Cafe, popular haven of tourists and movie stars, it seems, entertained Mr. and Mrs. PERRY D. HARRIS of the Harris Pharmacy last week end.

• • •

There's a new pamphlet on the market that tells you what to do until the psychiatrist comes. This is a kernel of knowledge best invested in at once, especially since it costs the nominal fee of 20 cents As the nearest psychiatrists lives some distance removed from Snyder it might be a long period of waiting for you.

• • •

Local quips department: Paul Keaton relates that Ralph Geisenhonner, ardent supporter of the movement to improve recreational facilities here, was seen busily weeding his yard. Asked why he was weeding he replied: "It's the only recreation provided in Snyder!"

• • •

Men as well as women guests Friday night preened themselves in their blue denim aprons, furnished at the door of the gala barbecue at the Country Club. MR. and MRS. HOLMAN ODOM and MR. and MRS. LEROY SPIRES, Jr. feted Miss Brock and her fiancee, D. M. Cogdell, Jr. . . terrace tables were lighted by hurricane lamps in wrought iron holders, cacti lent the western motif, and the cloths were bright red and white checks....An old-timey sheriff doll strutted after his "capture" of the little cow gal, the clever miniatures representing the bride and groom at the head table.

BILLY LOU ODOM hostessed in a white pique frock loudly splashed with pink and green floral print. JONNIE DELLE'S dress was of tangerine, shot with aquamarien stones, a wide three-tiered skirt . . . ROMONA SPIRES skipped off to the pool, where she swam between hostess duties, with her husband. Her suit was flamingo and strapless...Her sister Winona on hand helping with hostessing, (from Plains, Kas. MRS. H. G. ADAMS) wore an orchid swim suit for swimming.

MISS ALICE BIRDWELL, with her out-of-town guest, JACK MORGAN, from Pampa, Tex., was cool and summery in a navy cotton frock with a sun-top, white trimmed...MRS. JIM SIMPSON was chic in a white pique skirt, topped with a black and white checked blouse. The costume was sleeveless...Mrs. W. J. BRYNT, swam in the pool her first dip of the season...MRS. RALPH MILLER, a early spring bride, wore a white pique frock with a rampant red carnation print, the small reversible jacket covering the sun-tan top.

• • •

Out-of-town guest of the SPIRES were Mr. and Mrs. Kemper Kimperlin from Midland...After the buffet of barbecued chicken and the trimmings, everyone danced, played cards, enjoyed the pool.

It is not my intention, heaven knows, to become the official mouth organ of the building industry, though I am about to go into my third recent description of a new Snyder edifice.

This time, its Sage & Sand Restaurant, whose special barbecue charm calls you back once ever so often. The Ingrams, after being burned out, have blithely started out again, using calamity to go on to a more tastefully decorated eating spot.

The deep-burned western brands on the curving, varnished counter, are the result of consultation with Pat Johnson, county clerk, in whose office such lore is recorded. Colorado red rock is stacked effectively to make the body of the counter and the cashier's stall. Light green wood flanks the lower part of the walls ni all dining areas. The higher ceiling and walls are beautifully perked up with redbird wall paper, an oasis at hot lunchtime.

• • •

A minute linen square from Switzerland is the "something borrowed" which MISS JONNIE DELLE BROCK will tuck into a pocket of her traditional white gown Friday when she is married in the First Methodist Church . . . A friend, Mrs. Jerry Culwell of Abilene, returned with it from a trip to the Alps last year.

Man Enters Innocent Plea in County Court

Bond was set at $500 yesterday for Robert Lomax, 27, of the Star Night Club, when he pleaded innocent to a county court charge of possessing beer for purpose of unlawful sale.

Lomax was arrested at the club on the Lubbock highway by Lloyd Merritt, sheriff, and O. O. Dever, deputy. Merritt said that more than 80 cans of beer were confiscated in the raid made Friday night.

TEEN TALK

Johnny Reuwer, who will be a junior this fall at Southern Methodist University and who is working at the present time for the Sun Oil Co. in Silver, Tex., was a guest of Sandra Blackard in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cooper, 3007 Avenue S, for dinner Friday evening. Sandra is attending summer school in Colorado City.

• • •

A farewell party was held at the Sweetwater Lake Saturday night for Ray Eubanks, who works for the Sun Oil Co., and Charlie Hooser, who is employed at the West Texas State Bank.

The group danced and went swimming.

They are leaving for Dallas this week to visit their families, and from Dallas they plan to leave for the army.

• • •

Frances Leath, 2612 Avenue R, had as a guest over the week end Bill Athey, who is a junior at Baylor University, of Waco.

• • •

Some lucky "Miss' will soon have the opportunity to be "Miss Snyder. Who will be the first girl to hold this title.

The girl who wins must be between the ages of 18 and 27 be a "Miss", and be able to display some talent.

Everyone eligible is urged to enter this contest, which will be held in July.

• • •

Max Wayne Harral, 2900 Avenue U, left Monday for a R.O.T.C. Proving Camp in Aberdeen, Md., which will last for six weeks. Max Wayne will be a senior at A&M this fall.

Jack Gorman 2908 Avenue S, recently left for an R. O. T. C. Military Police Camp at Camp Gordon, which will also last for six weeks. Jack plans to attend Texas University this fall.

• • •

Jack Longbotham, 2112 Thirtieth Street, came home Saturday for the week end. Jack is attending summer school at Texas Tech, and he will be a senior at A&M this fall.

After a rough year as a plebe at West Point, Robert Preuitt, 3104 Avenue U, is at home on a 28-day summer leave.

Nominated by Rep. George Mahon, he entered the academy last July. Upon graduation he is looking forward to a commission in the Air Force.

The only free time the freshmen, or plebes, had during their first year was a 10-day Christmas vacation, but even then they were not permitted to leave the campus.

People who think they have a rough time of it might contemplate the daily routine of a West Point plebe—

Fall out at 5:50 in the morning and be in uniform by 6. From 6 until 6:20 he readies his room for inspection, and has breakfast from 6:30 until 7:05.

Back in his room at 7:08, he continues his housekeeping chores.

The first class is at 7:50, and is over at 9:05. Cadets study in their rooms from 9:05 until 10:30, then attend their second class which lasts until noon. Classes and study periods continue until 5:30 in the afternoon, after which plebe duties fill in until dinner at 6:30. After dinner, cadets must study in their rooms unless authorized to leave. At 9:45 a signal is sounded and the cadet may then make down his bed. Taps are at 10:15 and lights go out on another day.

Preuitt scored high in most athletics in his company second in wrestling, and high in swimming and regimental champion in boxing.

The plebe is the lowest form of humanity at West Point for almost a year. Then on June 4, following his first year, he is recognized by the upperclassmen in his company.

Preuitt worked on the yearbook, the Howitzer, and sang in the cadet choir, B-squad. On Armed Forces Day, he was among the cadets who paraded down Fifth Avenue in New York.

July 6 Preuitt will report to Camp Buckner, to begin the summer phase of his second year as a West Point cadet.

Mrs. Downing, Mrs. Carlisle Hostesses

Mrs. R. C. Downing and Mrs. G. T. Carlisle were hostesses to the Thursday Bridge Club.

taining at the Village restaurant.

There were four guests for the afternoon — Mrs. Downing's mother, Mrs. Dutton, from Oklahoma, Mrs. Chester Likes. Mrs. Stanley Cathey, and Mrs. Weldon Kincaid.

High score prize went to Mrs. Bud Griffin, second high to Mrs. Bill Banks, and bingo to Mrs. J. F. Ormand.

Sweet peas decorated the five bridge tables, and a dessert course was served the guests.

Other members present were Mrs. Herbert Feather, Mrs. Walker Dabbs, Mrs. Louis Adams, Mrs. Davis Bodie, Mrs. A. C. Floyd, Mrs. E. H. Muhlbach. Mrs. Sterling Parker, Mrs. Jim Reed, Mrs. Garland Smith, and Mrs. Lester Sweet.

Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. H. J. Brice, 2112 Avenue U. was the hostess for the Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club.

Miss Grace Hopkins won high, Mrs. W. G. Williams won low, and Mrs. W. J. Ely won the traveling prize.

The hostess decorated her home with flowers. Cold drinks were served to the group. Mrs. Ruth Hyden of Amarillo was the guest.

Other members present were Mrs. W. H. Cauble, Mrs. R. H. Curnutte, Mrs. J. C. Dorward, and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin.

The next meeting will be on June 28 with Mrs. Tom Boren as the hostess.

Mrs. Frances Tate, formerly a registered nurse for over a year for the Snyder Hospital, recently moved to San Angelo, where she will work in the Surgical and Medical Clinic there.

ASK MILDRED

(Send your question to Ask Mildred, Snyder Daily News.)

I have just noticed recently that in hanging out the wash I seem disorganized, never doing it the same. Can you suggest a better way which might save time?Erma

1. Hang clothes on lines located near the laundry area if possible.
2. Save energy—place clothes basket on child's cart or wagon.
3. Keep pins in easy reach, apron pocket, etc.
4. Hang cup towels, towels, pillow cases, table clothes, etc one-third over the line to avoid dogeared corners.
5. Hang sheets and table cloths doubled with hems together one-third over the line.
6. Handkerchiefs and napkins can be grouped to save space and hung over the line like other flat pieces—never by one corner.
7. Hang shirts by their tails.
8. Hang dresses, blouses, gowns and pajama tops by the shoulder seams.
9. Hang trousers, shorts, and pajama bottoms by waist. To make ironing pants easier, pants stretchers may be used.
10. Hang slips by the underarm section.
11. Fold flat clothes as they are taken from the line "to" reduce wrinkles. Place in basket on laundry cart or little wagon.

BRIDE OF WAYLAND WALTON

Mrs. Wayland Walton, above, was Miss Anna Cowan before her marriage recently in a church ceremony in New Home, Tex. She is the daughter of Mrs. Winston Davies of New Home. Mr. Walton is the son of R. C. Walton of Snyder. The couple is living here.

Wayland B. Walton Marries Anna Cowan, New Home

Mrs. Winston Davies of New Home, Tex., has announced the marriage June 9 of her daughter, Miss Anna Maye Cowan, to Wayland B. Walton, son of R. C. Walton of Snyder.

The couple were united in a double - ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church of New Home, the Rev. C. E. Stricklin reading the rites. Baskets of gladioli and fern decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her twin brother, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of white embroidered organdy with a scalloped skirt which fell over a taffeta underskirt. The boidice was formed of solid embroidery. Her accessories were of white, a cloche of white lace fashioned into a shoulder veil. Her white Bible was topped with orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Walton was attended by her sister, Mrs. Charles Freeman of Crosbyton, whose gown was of navy organdy over taffeta. Her accessories were white and she carried a colonial nosegay of miniature asters.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sue Beth Cowan, the bride's younger sister, and Miss Norma Evans, both of New Home. Their frocks were identical, of pink organdy over taffeta.

Serving as best man to the bridegroom was his brother, Gerald Walton, 1205 Twenty-ninth Street. Ushers were Don Cowan of Lubbock and Carleton Davies of New Home.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the bride's home. After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will live at 2401 Avenue H.

Mrs. Walton is a native of Tahoka, moving to New Home two years ago. She is a 1951 graduate of New Home high school.

Mr. Walton is a graduate of Snyder high school. He served 15 months with the U. S. Navy. He is now employed with the McCormach Wholesale Co. here.

Plant Starts Gas Operation

Operations have already begun at the nearly completed Snyder Gasoline Plant, E. J. Mills, plant superintendent announced yesterday.

All the compressor units have been operated on a trial basis, and part of them are in constant use now, he said.

The fractionating towers are now being purged and will be ready for operation in a few days, he added.

However, much work remains before ultimate completion and actual full - scale operation can begin, Mills stated.

The plant is now tied into the 135 mile pipe line which connects it with some 900 oil wells, but the gas stream has not been turned through the plant yet, Mills concluded.

A formal opening of the plant to which everybody will be invited is being planned for some time in July, he said.

Another Royalty Check Received By County

The county has received its eleventh monthly paycheck for royalty on its oil well north of here, bringing the total amount received from the well to $6,486.61, Edgar Taylor, county judge, said yesterday.

The latest check was for May, $457.09. The monthly average since the well began paying off has been $589.69, the amounts varying according to the allowable.

The checks for previous months were: July, 1950, $663.09; August, $691.76; September, $730.30; October, $842.45; November, $783; December, $6468.32; January, 1951, $407.14; February, $398.08; March, $426.81; and April, $438.57.

The well is located on a 9.76-acre tract of county land near the underpass about five miles north of town.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for June 17, 1926.)

R. C. Herm and Giles W. Garner shipped eight cars of wheat this week and the wheat market has hardly begun. They declare that there will be at least sixty cars of wheat shiped from Snyder this season.

This number is going to come as a surprise to many Scurry County farmers and business men, as only a few realized that the acreage in wheat was so large or that the yield was so good as it is proving to be...

A. L. Martin, contractor for the annex of the school building, got a bad fall while at work on the building last Saturday. He was using a pinch - bar in prying a steel grider. The bar slipped and Mr. Martin fell backwards, landing on the floor below. At first it was thought that his neck had been broken, but the attending physician soon discovered that he had only sustained a bad fracture of one of his arms with the possibility of a slight concussion.

Oil interest was awakened this week when the announcement came from the Ira field in the southwestern portion of the county that two new tests were to be made.

W. W. Lechner of Snyder has secured the drilling contract on a location in section 114. The cellar is being dug now and the location is about a mile from any other production.

Tess & Stivers of Colorado, Texas, have made a location south of the line in Mitchell County on the R. D. Hardee farm. This location is about two miles south of the Wellborn wells in Scurry County.

Wellborn No. 2 is drilling at 3,325 feet and the crew stated that from all indications it will be by far the best yet brought in in the field. They expect at least 150 barrels a day from the first.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Blackard received work that their daughter, Miss Leola, was married to Wayne Williams at Abilene on Saturday evening, June 12, by Dr. Frances Fry of Simmons University. The bride had been visiting in Grandfield, Okla., with a cousin, Mrs. J. Lee Griffith, and she was met in Abilene by Wayne Saturday evening, shortly before the ceremony.

Wayne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Williams, Mr. Williams being a well known ranchman in West Texas. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Snyder high school. Miss Blackard attended school in Canyon and has been teaching for the past two years in the Strayhorn school east of Snyder, proving herself a capable and efficient instructor. Wayne attended Simmons University, Abilene, and the University of Texas, receiving his degree from the latter. He has been for some time associated with the Snyder National Bank of this city.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams have scores of friends who wish them success and hapiness. They are expected to return to the city from San Antonio, Austin and Corpus Christi, soon and will be at home here.

PERSONALS

Visiting recently in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd, 2610 Avenue I, were Mr. and Mrs. Karl Everitt and their sons, Davis and Darrie, of Victoria. Mrs. Everitt is the former Miss LaVerne Hardin of Snyder.

Mrs. R. J. Mills and two sons, 2106 Twenty - sixth Street, expect to join Mr. Mills in the Philippines sometime in July. Mr. Mills is stationed there with the Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wood, 3802 Highland Drive, have as guests this week, Mrs. Lon Tyndall and son of Lake Charles, La.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Sanders, 8022 Twenty - sixth Street, moved to Abilene, Friday. Mr. Sanders is in the oil business.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jones, north of city, and Mrs. J. P. Avary, 3208 Avenue V, had as guests for the week end relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Jones of Carlsbad, N.M., Mrs. Effie Jones, who is already visiting here, plans to return to Carlsbad with the Marshall Jones.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. K. Shepherd, 2302 Sunset Avenue, are attending the Southern Baptist Convention in California. Dr. Robert Dodson, who is head of the Bible Department at Wayland College, will fill the Rev. Shepherd's pulpit while he is away.

WOMAN'S FORUM

"Oh, for some of my mom's cooking again" would be mighty inflammable words and there's not one in 90 husbands, no matter how emancipated who would risk such a statement.

A marriage counsellor turned up the fact that comparing good ole Mom's corn fritters and tender spring chicken too favorably with your wife's culinary efforts is one sure road to the judge.

Snyder wives polled upon their hubby's attitudes re mom's cooking were broad - minded, nearly too agreeable. One almost sensed a trap, nothing to be certain about. Anyway, here were the answers, all sweetly said, to our question, "Does your husband prefer his mother's cooking to your own? If so, is this justified!"

• • •

Mrs. Craig Evans of the Humble Camp thinks it a foregone fact that her husband, an engineer at the oil firm, likes her cooking, for he lived as a bachelor for so many years before marriage that he was well pleased that a lady can juggle pots with nice results. Better than restaurants. Mrs. Evans, recently home with a new baby daughter, Mary Evelyn, is back juggling the same pots to his intense satisfaction.

• • •

Mrs. Ella Cooper, in whose home her son Charles Cooper and his wife live also, courteously gives the "other side". She says of her son that he most certainly must prefer his wife's cooking because "she is a much more expert cook than I" There breathes a Lady With Manners.

• • •

Hedging, Mrs. W. D. Harral, 2900 Avenue U, says there are dishes of hers he prefers, then there are old favorites only his mother really clicks with. Take biscuits. Her mother-in-law excels there, but, now, cake! There is Mrs. Harral's victory, and she pleases him with her pies, too. Mrs. Harral did graciously admit that her husband's mother can, overall, prepare food wonderfully well and probably has her beat.

• • •

"He probably likes his mother's cooking better. Surely he does, he so rarely gets to eat mine!" bewailed Mrs. Stanley Cathey, 403 Twentieth Street, whose husband is in the mud engineering business for William Cameron Co. Gone so much and forced to dine in cafes, Mr. Cathey seldom tests Mrs. Cathey's cooking. Really, no fair judgement could be made of Mrs. Cathey's vs. the elder Mrs. Cathey's cooking.

• • •

Mrs. W. H. Grant, Jr., 1507 Avenue S, let us in on a secret her husband may be surprised to learn. "I have a secret idea he once far preferred his mom's," she confieded, not at all worried. Lack of concern was soon divulged; to wit: "He now likes mine as well or better! It was simply a matter of becoming used to it."

• • •

As a guest to Woman's Forum, we invited a man to speak for himself on the relative merits of maternal and marital cooking. Hilton Lambert, 2811 Avenue V, said, "I'd much rather eat my wife's cooking most of the time, because I eat it more often. But some women can cook different things better than others. It all depends on what they're cooking, whether I like my wife's or my mother's cooking best."

• • •

Mrs. J. C. Evans, 3741 Highland Drive believes that her husband likes her cooking better than his mother's since he gained twenty pounds after they were married, which would seem to justify her opinion.

• • •

Mrs. L. P. Houston, 1012 Twenty-fifth Street, also thinks that her husband likes her cooking better than his mother's cooking. She thinks that this statement is justified because she believes that she cooks more of the food that he likes, and she caters to his wishes more.

• • •

Mrs. V. V. McGrew, 2120 Thirty-fifth Street, thinks that her husband probably prefers her cooking to his mother's because he has lived with her longer than he lived with his mother.

• • •

Mrs. Dan Barton's case is unique anyway for Snyder's carniverous population who have been reared on the red flesh of pasture - fed cattle. Mr. Barton is a vegetarian, and his mother was best at preparing the dishes he likes, admitted his wife.

• • •

"My husband is sweet", stated Mrs. David Harlin with conviction. He proclaims loudly and frequently that her cooking is good; he likes her cooking. This makes Mrs. Harlin understandably smug about her prowess over his mother as cook of his heart.

• • •

Mrs. R. E. Gray, 701 Twenty-ninth Street, feels happy about Mr. Gray's always having bragged on her cooking. "He says your cooking is streamlined and modern and better than Mama's"

• • •

Mrs. W. Harold Grant, 1715 Avenue Q, describes the perfect diplomat, her husband. Probably through years spent with Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co., of which he is superintendent, he has acquired this facile tongue. For, according to his wife, when he is with his mother her cooking seems best to him, but when he is with the younger Mrs. Grant, HER cooking is by far the better!"

A. C. Kincaid, 3108 Avenue T, was returned to his home Friday afternoon from Lubbock Memorial Hospital by a Dennis Funera Home ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, Jr., last week end attended a family re-union at Littlefield. The gathering was at the home of Harry Lynch, brother of John Lynch, Sr. Harry Lynch's son, Spencer Lynch, was there from North Dakota, and other members of the family were there from Amherst.

SNYDER TEXAS

"Where Oil Flows . . . . . And Cotton Grows"

DID YOU KNOW?

HISTORY

SNYDER, the county seat of SCURRY COUNTY, is located on Deep Creek, where Pete Snyder, the Dutchman ,stablished a buffalo trading post in 1878.

CLIMATE

Annual rainfall — 21.15. Mean annual temeprature 62 degrees. Elevation 2,000 to 2,800 feet.

OIL

There are over 600 shallow wells in old Ira and Sharon Ridge fields. Production was discovered in Canyon Reef in 1948, with 1820 wells now producing. Potentials are estimated from 10,000 to 50,000 barrels per acre.

AGRICULTURE

Scurry Conunty produced 52,000 bales of cotton in 1949 ,and usually more than a million bushels of grain sorghums, wheat, oats, forage crops, peanuts and other farm products.

LIVESTOCK

The entire livstock industry consists of about 30,000 head of Angus and Hereford cattle valued at more than $8,000,000.00.

TRANSPORTATION

CHURCHES

Texas Tidelands Fight May Be Weakened By Gosset Resigning

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The coastal states, in their fight for control of oil-rich submerged lands, lose possibly their No. 1 advocate in Congress with the resignation from the House of Rep. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls.

Just who will take over when he leaves for Dallas July 31 to start work as the chief lawyer for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. hasn't been decided.

It probably will be Rep. Francis E. Walter, Pennsylvania Democrat.

CARRIED BURDEN

Although Walter is now chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee which handles tidelands legislation, and introduced the pending bill to give the states quit-claim title to the property; it has been Gossett who really has carried the burden of the fight.

Texas Attorney General Price Daniel was among those who wired Gosset when reports circulated that he had the telephone company job under consideration, Daniel pleaded that Gossett reject the proposition because of his value to Texas, Louisiana and California in their fight for ownership of the so-called tidelands.

In that regard, it is known that Gossett announced his acceptance of the new position only after much deliberation and after virtually all of his colleagues had advised him to make the move.

FAMILY IS LARGE

The determining factor, he said, was the fact that he has a wife and five small children.

In a few years he expects to have three of his children in college at the same time.

As a congressman he gets just half the amount he will receive after August 1.

Dallas' Congressman Frank Wilson is on the Judiciary committee and will step up one notch on the seniority ladder when Gossett leaves.

WILSON IS QUESTION

Wilson is not on the subcommittee handling tidelands bills, however, and there is a question whether he will be put on that particular group.

The reason: the chairman of the full Judiciary committee is Rep. Celler (D-NY), is a staunch advocate of federal control of the submerged oil lands, and he may want to use his appointive power to pick a man who feels as he does.

Wilson, of course, thinks like Gossett on the tidelands issue. . . and, on most all issues, so far as that goes.

They both usually go along with the Administration on national defense measures, but buck the traces on many domestic issues, including civil rights.

Whether Texas will be able to retain its two positions on the Judiciary Committee — it is the only state with two Democratic representatives on the group — remains to be seen.

PICKETT PERHAPS

It is certain that many congressmen from other states will try to get the seat to be opened by Gossett's departure.

Two Texans who undoubtedly would like to get the assignment are Tom Pickett of Palestine, now on Public Works, and Walter Rogers of Pampa, on the Veterans Affair committee.

Pickett under seniority procedure would have the better chance.

Both men are of the same political school as Gossett and Wilson.

Here's an excerpt from the latest weekly newsletter of Panhandle Congressman Rogers:

"The statement that this congress has been slow in passing major legislation is certainly true if the major legislation referred to is the FEPC, the Civil Rights, the socialized medicine, and other socialistic legislation."

R. E. Smith Completes 2 Sharon Ridge Wells

R. E. Smith has reported completion of the No. 18-B and No. 24-B C. V. Thompson wells in the Sharon Ridge - Canyon field.

No. 18-B Thompson flowed 24 hours for a potential of 259.74 barrels of 44.2 gravty oil. No water was present. Gas - oil ratio was 720-1. Top of the pay was at 6,611 feet. Location is in section 120, block 25, H&TC survey.

No. 27-B Thompson made 195.07 barrels of 44.1 gravity oil on a 24-hour test. Gas - oil ratio was 680-1. The hole had been acidized with 8,000 gallons. Location is 1,980 feet from south and 4,620 feet from east lines of section 120, block 25, H&TC survey.

On North Side Of Kelley-Snyder Field

Standard Oil Co. of Texas has filed application to drill the No. 3-2-S Mrs. Jessie W. Brown as a twin to the same companys No. 2 Brown, a Canyon producer on the north side of the Kelley-Snyder field.

No. 3-2-S is projectd to 6,300 feet with rotary tool to test for production in the Cisco sand.

It is located 1,967 feet from south and 2,040 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts it nine miles north of Snyder.

No. 49 Cogdell Staked

Chapman & McFarlin have filed for permission to begin drilling on the No. 49 D. M. Cogdell in the Cogdell field of Kent County.

Location has been made 2,103 feet from north and 4,728 feet from west lines of section 33, block 97, H&GN survey, and about 22 miles northeast of Snyder. Contract depth is 7,000 feet, with rotary tools to be used.

Diamond M-Canyon Well

Stroube Oil Co. has reported completion of their No. 7 H. H. Eiland, drilled in section 146 block 25, H&TC survey in the Diamond M-Canyon lime field.

The well made a potential of 167.28 barrels of 45.6 gravity oil. The potential was based on an actual 20-hour flow. Gas - oil ratio was 1,037-1. No water was made. The well had been acidized with 4,000 gallons.

RABBITS SAVED FROM SNAKE

A neglected cocker spaniel looks on as these three boys concentrate on feeding rabbits condensed milk with an eye dropper. The rabbits were found by Duane Hill, right, in their nest. One was in the process of being swallowed by a snake, which he killed to save the rabbit. He has given them to Jimmy and Fred McFarland, left and center. Duane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hill, 3787 Avenue V. Jimmy and Fred are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Armor McFarland, 2234 Sunset Avenue—(Joe Dave Scott photograph.)

Morale High Among All-Male Staff of Atom Proving Ground

NEW ORLEANS, June 15 — (AP) The Eniwetok atomic weapons proving grounds in the mid-Pacific cost more than $65 million plus other millions needed for routine base operations, Rep. Edward Hebert (D-La) estimates.

Its regular population of scientists and military men is about 8,000, Herbert said today in the second of a series of articles written for the New Orleans States, which made them available to the Associated Press.

Hebert returned last month from the latest series of tests at the proving grounds where he was an observer for the House Armed Services Committee.

(His name is pronounced "A-Bear.")

ONLY FIVE KILLED

Despite the work with the world's deadliest weapons and with equipment that in itself can be highly dangerous, only five accidental deaths have occurred since the Atoll was taken over in 1947 as an atomic proving ground — and none of them has been connected with actual atomic experiments, Hebert said.

The Air Force and Navy share the duty of keeping away from the area unfriendly observers or ships or planes that might accidentaly wander into the danger zone, the Congress member disclosed.

"The Air Force is responsible for a safety patrol of the sky of more than 30,000 square miles," he wrote.

"The Navy is responsible for safety on the seas and the anti-submarine problem.

TRAINED MP'S

"The security of the atoll itself is in the hands of highly trained military police.

"Everybody wears an identification badge with his picture. Not all personnel is admitted to all areas of the atoll. Certain sections are heavily restricted and only key personnel are allowed to enter.

"Although there is strict security, there is no censorship of the mail."

Eniwetok and the neighboring atoll islands are "busy, thriving communities," Hebert says, similar to any corresponding business community in the United States of 6,000 or 8,000 population.

On the main island of Eniwetok are located "a well equipped air strip with all essential operations, two athletic fields, two moving picture theaters, a chapel, a clothing store, beach clubs for officers and enlisted men, library, hobby shop, electronics building, general's quarters, maintenance hangar, personnel pier, mess hall, dispensary, a post exchange and postoffice, a laundry and a well-equipped power plant."

PARRY ISLAND HQ

On nearby Parry Island is the headquarters of the commanding general of Joint Task Force III, Lt. Gen. Elwood R. ("Pete") Quesada. The general is a veteran of long service in the old Army Air Corps, Army Air Forces and the present United States Air Force.

Hebert quotes Quesada as saying of his men that "in all my 27 years in the Army I have never seen morale so high."

At Eniwetok there are 90 baseball teams organized into 10 leagues. The beach clubs "provide everything that is to be found in any exclusive beach resort" with a surf like that of Waikiki or Rio de Janeiro, Hebert reports.

EXECUTIONER KILLED

One of the recreation fields in named after the late Master Sergeant John C. Woods of Boise, Idaho. Woods was an official executioner of Nazi war criminals tried in the Nuremberg tribunals. Woods was electrocuted at Eniwetok when an assistant accidentally closed a master switch on a power line on which Woods, an electrician, was working.

Here are some of the other things Hebert noted at the vast proving ground:

The telephone exchange handles about 6,000 calls daily.

One of the mess halls alone serves 9,000 meals a day.

"The enlisted men's club is known as 'Duffy's Tavern' and neon lights show the way."

Fresh water is distilled from the sea at the rate of 30 gallons a man each day.

A radio station with complete programs operates throughout the day — with disc jockey sessions—and with "no commercials."

BUS BARKERS HANDY

Supplementing housing ashore for the personnel are Navy vessels anchored in the lagoon.

"Eniwetok has been womanless for more than a year and a half."

Hebert says this is the way the island looks now:

"There remains no vegetation on Eniwetok although attempts are now being made to restore some the tropical attractivness.

RIM OF DERELICTS

"The island is encased in a rim of steel derelicts, remindful of the awful toll taken by the Americans who literally destroyed more than 3,500 Japanese troops when the Atoll was captured. Following several days of constant Naval and air bombardment the atoll was secured by the Amercans who captured less than 50 Japanese prisoners.

"Thousands of tons of scrap have been pushed off the island into the Pacific. Several small craft remain where they were beached during the capture of the Atoll by the Americans.

Rodeo Opens Saturday In Lubbock Stadium

LUBBOCK, June 14 —Four perforances are planned in the American Business Club annual rodeo opening here Wednesday and lasting through June 23. Shows will be given nightly at 8 o'clock in Jones stadium on the Texas Tech campus.

A parade conducted by the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse will mark the opening of the rodeo. Area participants are welcome to enter the parade, and may obtain information from the Sheriff's Posse. Jimmy Wakely, singer and movie actor, will be among the feature attractions.

Billy Sunday, the evangelist, hit .344 for Sacramento in the California League in 1891. That mark topped the league.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
27th and Avenue Q
Reverend E. K. Shepherd, Pastor

A Short Short Story:

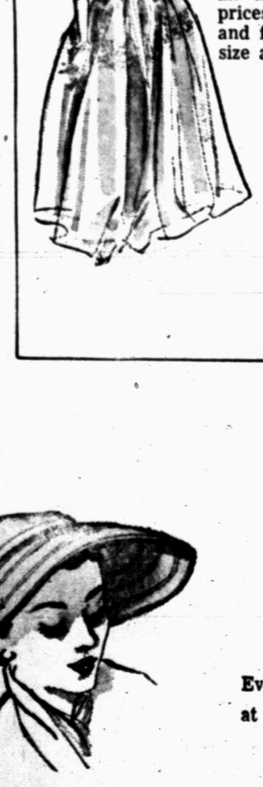

Our church was built in 1922 and we now have a membership of 1752. We are in the process of building a $200,000.00 auditorium; have remodeled the nursery, and other Sunday School dpartments. We have two missions; the Green Hill Mission, and Avenue G Mission which is now the Avenue D. Baptist Church. The chimes were given in honor of Brother N. M. Harpole by the Harpole family, and we have added amplifyers. You are always welcome.

Sincerely,
