Do you fear filty lucre as a menace to health? Well, our money is clean, according to an item passed along from GP, a publication for family physicians. GP had American money examined by physicians and they gave it a "clean bill."

Since hands are a frequent conveyor of germs, it might be assumed that paper currency passing from hand to hand could transmit disease germs. However, the U. S. Treasury reports that the paper used in our currency contains both germicidal and fungicidal components. Also, the ink on those bills carries bacterial inhibitors. So, the possibility of infection from handling currency is considered remote by medical authorities.

Speaking of money, there is one business in Texas that nets $133,000 per week which the citizens of the state could do without. The Texas Insurance Advisory Association reports that figure as the approximate weekly take of residential burglars in the state.

That does not include burglaries of businesses—only residences.

Moreover, the association reports that a lot of the residential burglaries represent "repeat" business. This is attributed to the fact that property owners who are "hit" by burglars fail to take precautionary steps to prevent repitition. And, burglars apparently favor familiar territory when it is practical to operate there.

Simple precautions can prevent many burglaries, it was pointed out, but a lot of home owners not only make it easy for the burglar, but actually appear to invite him to help himself.

The obvious precautions are recommended, of course, such as locked doors and windows when the family is away, and the usual action to camouflage the fact that nobody is home.

There's one real "no-no." Never attach a note to the front door telling when you will return as you leave the house. That gives the burglar perfect timing.

Nomination Vote Is Blocked

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., blocked a vote today on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell, saying the record is still incomplete and the appointment should not be "steamrollered through."

At a closed committee meeting, Tydings invoked a rule under which any member had the right to force a one-week delay in voting on the nomination of the 50-year-old southern judge.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said that because the Senate will be in recess next week no committee meeting now can be held until Feb. 16 or 17.

Eastland, a supporter of Carswell, predicted anew that Carswell be confirmed by the Senate.

Tydings told newsmen that he has not yet made up his mind on how he will vote on the nomination, saying that he is going to wait until Carswell submits a statement in rebuttal to testimony critical of his civil rights record.

Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York, announced, meanwhile, that he will vote against the nomination. He was the first Republican senator to do so.

Goodell said he is opposed to Carswell because the judge "has failed to heed and promote the civil rights revolution of the past decade."

"He has demonstrated a basic insensitivity to fundamental civil liberties issues, which are essential to our survival as one, indivisible nation," Goodell said, adding this made Carswell unfit for the Supreme Court regardless of any other qualifications.

Carswell, now a judge of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was given until midnight tonight to file a statement in answer to his critics.

Eastland said that when the committee meets again on Feb. 16 or 17, it could either take a vote on Carswell's nomination or set a date for doing so.

He said an earlier dispute tying Carswell's nomination into a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the election of the president by direct popular vote had been resolved but declined to say exactly how.

Before Goodell only two senators have said publicly they would oppose the southern judge —William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, both Democrats.

Tyding's announcement that he will invoke a rule allowing and committee member to delay a vote by the panel for a week apparently means no action on the confirmation until the Senate is in the midst of a Lincoln Day recess lasting until Feb. 17.

Civil rights leaders have been urging the committee to give them more time to search for ammunition to use in their fight against the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., judge, now on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals.

POW Treatment Issue At Talks

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam today it has new evidence of inhumane treatment of U.S. war prisoners and demanded that impartial observers be permitted to inspect the camps.

U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Habib raised the charge at the 53rd session of the Vietnam peace talks where Col. Ha Van Lau, represented North Vietnam.

Dwelling on the prisoner of war issue, Habib asserted: "Your consistent refusal to abide by the 1949 Geneva convention on the treatment of prisoners is viewed by American and world opinion with dismay."

He said it was essential that impartial observers inspect enemy prisoner camps since "we have new shocking evidence that prisoners of war whom you hold are subject to inhumane treatment."

"Only recently it was discovered that your forces in South Vietnam had executed two American prisoners captured in 1966 after having put them on public display in several villages," the U.S. delegate said.

"This is a grave breach of the 1949 Geneva Convention and is unacceptable when measured against any standard of civilized behavior."

Habib summarized the Geneva Convention's requirements for prisoner treatment: identification of prisoners, prisoner freedom to correspond freely with their families, impartial observers to pay regular visits to the camps and finally, repatriation of seriously sick and wounded captives.

Before going into the talks Habib told reporters the United States wanted an exchange of sick and wounded captives.

He said the United States is prepared to begin discussions without delay for immediate release of all sick and wounded prisoners, as well as the early release of all prisoners of war held by both sides.

U.S. officials estimate that Hanoi holds about 600 American prisoners. Through occasional letters from home, newsreel films and other means U.S. officials have been able to identify about 350. Efforts to get a complete list from Hanoi have failed.

Hanoi's position has been that the Americans held captive are "war criminals," and that North Vietnam therefore has no responsibility to permit camp inspection, release the sick and wounded or even provide a complete list as the Geneva convention requires.

North Vietnamese officials in Paris have said also that the prisoner of war question will be considered only when the "American war of aggression" has ended.

North Vietnam opened the talks with criticism of U.S. policy, asserting the United States would make no social progress at home until it had ended the Vietnam war.

Laos Transcript Secrecy Is Fueling A Controversy

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department censorship is fueling a backstage controversy with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee over the scope —and the secrecy—of U.S. military operations in Laos.

The 3½-month-old transcript of Senate hearings on U.S. commitments and activities in Laos is still in the custody of the censor.

"I've never seen anything like the hassle that we're having over that transcript," said Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee.

It is difficult, he said, to obtain, even in secret committee session, a full accounting of operations in Laos.

The transcript involved covers four days of closed-door hearings before a Senate subcommittee now looking into American commitments abroad.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., the chairman of the panel, has indicated he will not press the censorship dispute at this point.

He is understood to be concerned lest an open dispute now make more difficult the remaining phases of his commitments inquiry. His subcommittee is due to look into the situation in Korea late this month, again, in executive session.

A censored version of the Laos transcript was sent back by the State Department, but top committeemen termed it unacceptable.

Fulbright said it was so heavily censored as to be meaningless.

He said State Department officials have told the committee the heavy censorship is necessary because portions of the transcript involve information "they promised the other side not to publish."

The Senate itself held a secret debate about Laos Dec. 15. The record was published later, but it was censored at both the Pentagon and the State Department, and no new information was put on the record.

Figures on the number of U.S. military personnel in Laos, the rate of American air missions over northen Laos, and on U.S. casualties in those operations all were deleted from the public record.

After that closed session, the Senate approved an amendment to bar the introduction of U.S. ground combat troops into either Laos or Thailand.

In an offshoot of the censorship dispute, Fulbright Monday issued a staff report on the situation in South Vietnam without seeking State Department clearance.

He said the staff men who wrote the report handled censorship, taking out classified material and other information they considered too sensitive for publication.

Russia Airlifting Arms To Egypt

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Soviet Union has begun a new airlift of arms to Egypt to help counter Israeli raids around Cairo and elsewhere in the country the newspaper Le Jour said today.

Quoting East European diplomatic sources in Beirut, the report said the airlift began three days ago and is continuing.

The French-language newspaper said the equipment arriving in Egypt aboard giant Antonov cargo planes is mostly defensive and includes antiaircraft guns, ground-to-air missiles and mobile radar units. The Israelis claim to have knocked out most of Egypt's antiaircraft missile launchers and radar station in the almost daily raids the Israeli air force has been making for many weeks.

The sources were quoted as saying no MIG 23 or Sukhoi 9 jets have been shipped to Egypt. These planes are the latest in the Soviet arsenal and the Egyptians are believed to have requested them urgently.

The newspaper said the airlift was unloading at Alexandria, Almaza military airfield near Cairo and in the Upper Egyptian town of Luxor. The planes are arriving at the rate of one every half hour, the paper said.

The sources reportedly said the new arms deliveries coincide with a rethinking of Egyptian methods of air defense, which so far have been unable to block Israeli raids around the capital.

A "Vietnam style" system will be set up with the new equipment, the sources said, relying on "forests" of heavy machine guns around vital targets to shoot down low-flying planes. The batteries will be manned by the "popular war committees," the home guard force which President Gamal Abdel Nasser has said will be formed soon, according to the report.

As additional protection against Israeli attack, the sources continued, Soviet air squadrons may pay friendly visits to a number of Egyptian airfields. There was a series of similar visits shortly after the 1967 war.

State Department officials said that in his message to President Nixon last weekend, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin suggested that the Soviets intended to supply the Arab states with additional arms if Israel does not halt its military action.

In his reply, Nixon called for discussion with the Soviets to limit arms in the Middle East and rejected Soviet charges that Nixon fueled the new Middle East fighting by his recent pledge not to let Israel's armament fall behind the Arabs.

Diplomatic sources in London said Britain also will reply soon to Kosygin.

William Wolff, diplomatic correspondent of the London Daily Mirror, said Britain will ask the Soviet Union to join in a total ban on arms supplies to the Middle East.

In an interview shown on British television Wednesday night, Nasser said he is ready to go to the Soviet Union to ask for more arms.

American newsman William Touhey and Rowland Evans, who conducted the interview, asked Nasser if he had been to the Soviet Union recently. Reports from Beirut last week said he made a secret trip when the Israelis wiped out the Egyptian radar station on Shadwan Island.

Earl Rudder In Serious Condition

HOUSTON (A) — Gen. Earl Rudder, president of the Texas A&M University System, remained in serious condition today in Methodist Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Wednesday Rudder, 59, had suffered a stroke (cerebral hemorrhage) and was in the neurological intensive care unit of the hospital.

Rudder, a hero of the D-day invasion of France in World War II, became ill in College Station last Thursday night.

He was first hospitalized in Bryan, then transferred to St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital here. He was moved Monday to the adjacent Methodist hospital in the Texas Medical Center.

Rudder was first believed to be suffering from a heart ailment but tests at Methodist Hospital revealed the brain condition, a hospital spokesman said. An A&M spokesman said Rudder suffered no heart damage.

Rudder was named vice president of Texas A&M in 1958 and promoted to president in 1959. In 1965 he was named president of the entire Texas A&M System which includes Texas A&M University, Tarlton State College, Prairie View A&M College, the Texas Forestry Service, the Texas Maritime Academy at Galveston and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rudder led a contingent of U. S. Rangers who scaled a high cliff in the face of heavy enemy gunfire during the 1944 D-day landings in Normandy.

Plane Wreckage Is Sighted

CORRIENTES, Argentina (AP) — A search plane today sighted the wreckage of a twin-engine Argentine airliner that left here Wednesday night with 38 persons aboard on a 90-minute flight to Rosario in northeast Argentina.

The plane, an Aerolineas Argentinas British-built Avro 748, carried 34 passengers and four crew members. It was reported missing shortly after take off from Corrientes.

Residents of the area reported hearing an explosion and seeing a ball of fire fall from the sky.

US Commitments Study Is Urged

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. today urged President Nixon to join Congress in re-examining the nation's international commitments.

The Maryland senator called for the President to support a resolution he described as "a legislative combination of the Nixon plan for total withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam with the Nixon doctrine to limit American commitments abroad."

Mathias discussed his proposal in testimony delivered at the third and final day of hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Vietnam-related proposals.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, meanwhile, said he hopes the Mathias proposal will be approved by the committee and come befre the full Senate. Mansfield is a cosponsor.

The resolution repeals four past congressional grants of power to the President, including the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin Resolution used as the basis for dispatch of troops to Vietnam.

In addition, Mathias said, it "would declare support for the President's determination to pursue a political rather than a military soution in Vietnam and would endorse his plan for the withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam as soon as possible."

It urges the President to seek creation of an international peace-keeping force "to prevent reprisals against any of the South Vietnamese people after the departure of American troops" and calls on leaders of South Vietnam to open talks "designed eventually to produce a new broadly based government."

By supporting the proposal, Mathias said, "The President would reassure the country and the Congress of the depth of his commitment to these goals and dissipate some of the anxieties and misconceptions prevailing in the land."

Nixon Answers Kosygin's Note

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has written Soviet Premier Alexsei Kosygin rejecting Russian charges that the United States has fueled the increased Middle East fighting.

In a letter dispatched Wednesday to Moscow, Nixon said the United States is urging both Israel and the Arab states to follow a United Nations cease-fire resolution and end the battles.

The President also called anew for discussion with the Soviet Union on a Middle East arms limitation, and asked for what U.S. officials described as a constructive response from Russia to American proposals made last October and December for an Israeli-Arab settlement.

Nixon's letter was a reply to a personal message from the Soviet premier last Saturday repotedly blaming the United States and Israel entirely for the present mounting violence in the years-long Middle East conflict.

State Department officials said Kosygin suggested in his message the Soviet Union intends to supply the Arab states with additional arms if Israel does not halt its military action.

Nixon's letter, like Kosygin's was not made public but a summary provided by State Department officials rejected the allegation of one-sided responsibility and said in effect action to stop the fighting must be taken by both sides.

Administration sources described the Nixon reply as restrained, nonpolemical, firm and positive.

Nixon concluded his letter with a restatement of the view he expressed Jan. 25 in a message to a meeting of American Jewish leaders that the United States intends to provide support for the security of friendly countries in the area.

The U.S. government is presently considering a reported request from Israel for about 100 fighter planes on favorable credit terms.

Nixon told a news conference last Friday he will make a decision in the light of what he considers to be Israel's needs for more armament within 30 days.

Officials said the U.S. efforts to bring about restoration of a United Nations cease-fire began in recent weeks and are continuing. So far, these efforts have had no known effect on the pattern of conflict developing for many months.

66 Killed In '69 Tornadoes

By R. F. HARVISON
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tornadoes took 66 lives in the United States in 1969, fewer than in any year since 1963, the National Severe Storm Forecast Center reported today.

It said there were 607 tornadoes last year and that number was 50 fewer than the 10-year average.

Allen D. Pearson, director of the center, says he believes three factors held down the incidence of tornadoes and loss of life:

—Cool weather the first three months reduced tornado development.

—Operation Skyward, a Weather Bureau program to give community wide instructions and warning.

—Pure chance.

"No major U.S. cities were hit by tornadoes in 1969, which naturally reduced the death toll," Pearson said. The closest was a twister that killed four persons in a Cincinnati, Ohio, suburb Aug. 9.

While the national average used to be one death per tornado, Pearson said, it now stands at one death in seven tornadoes, reflecting improved forecasting and warning methods.

Tornadoes have been reported over the years in all 50 states and in every month of the year, Pearson said.

In general, Pearson said, 1969 twisters were concentrated in the traditional "tornado alley," which begins in north-central Texas, extends through Oklahoma, eastern Kansas, western Missouri, eastern Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana and ends in Ohio. It includes southern sections of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the eastern Dakotas.

There is no over-all estimate of the monetary damage wrought by tornadoes over the year. Only seven of the 48 contiguous states reported no tornadoes.

The 1970 count has mounted swiftly, Pearson said, with 18 tornadoes reported so far, mostly along the Florida panhandle and the Gulf Coast. There have been no fatalities.

Pearson said the 1969 tornado season opened Jan. 23 at Hazelhurst, Miss., with the worst tornado of the year with 32 fatalities.

"I budget my hours and my energies," says television star Lucille Ball. "Whether it's putting on my lipstick or driving a car, I think of nothing except what I'm doing at the moment. That way I don't let other problems gnaw at me at the wrong time."

3 Hit-Run Mishaps Here

When it rains it pours.

City Police have investigated three hit-and-run motor vehicle mishaps within the past couple of days.

Someone fled the scene after his vehicle was in collision with the parked 1964 Model Rambler of Royce Clanton, 2106 Avenue R, behind the shop at the high school at 10:54 p.m. Tuesday. Damage to Clanton's car was set at $30.

An unidentified motorist fled the scene after his 1965 Model Chevrolet crashed through eight feet of a wooden fence at the Glen Stephens residence, 1810 Thirty ninth Street, at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday. Damage to the fence was placed at $40.

Another motorist departed in haste after his car was in collision with the parked 1963 Model Buick of Barber Martin, 2206 Thirty-second Street, at 5:20 a.m. Tuesday. The mishap occurred in the 2500 block of Avenue S. Damage to Martin's car was set at $20.

Muncipal Workers On Strike

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Negotiators announced today an agreement has been reached to end the 32-day old strike of Cincinnati municipal workers.

Details of the agreement were not disclosed pending a vote by the union membership.

The agreement came after an all-night meeting in a downtown hotel between representatives of the Municipal Workers Union and the city.

The strike has halted all garbage and trash collections and street and water system maintenance work.

Al Van Hagen, leader for the union in the negotiations, said the union members would vote tonight on the agreement. He indicated the union leaders would recommend its acceptance.

If it is accepted, he said pickets would be removed at once but he said some details would have to be worked out before the men could go back to work.

Space Transportation Seen For Airlines

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Najeeb E. Halaby, president of Pan American World Airways, predicts Pan Am and other carriers will be in the space transportation business in the 1980s.

He said airlines, using a version of NASAs space shuttle, could carry passengers from earth to an orbiting space station for a roundtrip price of $5,000 to $6,000, based on recent estimates.

By 1978, the space agency plans to have an operational shuttle to ferry astronauts and scientists to orbiting laboratories. On return it would land on an earth runway, ready to fly again.

Mills Moves East

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — Bradley Mills, an assistant football coach at Texas Tech the past five years, has been named defensive coach at East Texas State University, ETS athletic director Dr. J. J. Hawthorne said Wednesday.

Mills, an all-Southeastern Conference end at Kentucky in 1955, succeeds Sam McCord, who became TSS's director of the Security Department Dec. 1.

Mills was head coach at Odessa High School in 1963-63-64, compiling a 17-12-2 record.

Citrus Fruit Traded For Snowballs

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — About 150 first graders were set to battle it out today, assured of a good audience. It's got to be the only snowball fight in town.

"Operation Snowball" at Sabal Elementary School began when the Florida kids and their school officials contacted the Rutland, Vt., Chamber of Commerce and suggested swapping some citrus fruit for snowballs.

In Florida, the youngsters never get to see, much less know, the thrills of heaving it at one another.

Clifford Barnes of the Rutland chamber gathered first grade pupils from four schools and had them fix up a snowball each. The 200 balls were wrapped in plastic bags and shipped south packed in dry ice.

The snowballs were flown to this east central Florida town Wednesday and Sabal Principal Nancy Stayman said fresh Indian River fruit would be shipped north soon as the Floridians' part of the bargain.

She said the Sabal students had no previous contact with Rutland, but that their geography lessons revealed that some of the country's finest snow comes from that area.

Texas Areas Are Warming Up

All of Texas warmed Wednesday and the latest cold front to invade the state promised to have little effect today.

It was at least partly cloudy in most areas as the weak front crawled southeastward this morning along a line from near Gainesville to around Abilene and Wink.

Temperatures near dawn dipped as low as 20 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle but stood mostly in the 40s to upper 50s in other sections, staying as high as 87 at Galveston and 88 at Brownsville.

Forecasts called for a few showers or a little light rain in most areas of the state tonight or Friday.

Although a little further cooling was expected, official observers looked for the front to become so diffused it would lose its identity by tonight.

No Parking Space For Chancellor

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — In his third day as chancellor of the University of Nebraska, Durward Varner went to the University of Nebraska at Omaha Wednesday for a day of meetings with school officials and could not find a parking space for his car.

Science Fiction Tales Of Life

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE CLOCK. Collected by Philip Van Doren Stern. Van Nostrand Reinhold Co. $5.95.

NOVA 1. Edited by Harry Harrison. Delacorte Press. $4.95.

Look at your watch. Notice the second hand as it busily ticks off the instants of your life —one by one. What if the beat were two by two? Or, what if the second hand continued to keep time—but by running backwards? The world probably would be quite a different place. Twelve stories devoted to what sort of a world it might be if time were out of joint were selected, with a good critical hand, by Philip Van Doren Stern for inclusion in "The Other Side of the Clock."

Most of the items are familiar to followers of science fiction and fantasy literature. Nevertheless, they are of high enough quality to make enjoyable rereading. H. G. Wells' "The Story of the Late Mr. Elvesham," for example. A real old-timer, but still fascinating as it explores not only who is in what body but what body is in what time. Or, J. B. Priestly's gripping look at time slippage in "Look After The Strange Girl."

What causes time to "misbehave"? Take a dozen authors and you get a dozen different answers. One of the most interesting is Robert Presslie's in his "Dial 'O' for Operator." Late at night a telephone operator gets a call from a terrified woman. She is trapped in a phone booth by some nameless horror that lurks just outside. The police go to the booth and find it empty, but the operator, Charley, continues to speak to her over the telephone to the very end. Charley's explanation? "Couldn't it be that when somebody is in agony or really terrified their minds are so desperate for help that they can jump right out of their own time into another?"

The Harrison collection, an "anthology of original science fiction stories," is uneven quality, with Gordon R. Dickson's "Jean Dupres" topping the list of 15. It's a tale of a small boy, human, and his contact with another culture, not human.

One of the biggest disappointments is Ray Bradbury's "And This Did Dante Do." Bradbury, perhaps the best known science fiction writer today, turns to poetry in an effort to connect Dante with the creation of Chicago. I doesn't come off.

Art Guild Continues Its Travel Trail Series

The Art Guild members continued their "arm chair" travel through the Texas Travel Trails Tuesday evening when they met at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Ivan Gatlin was program leader and led the group through The Brazos Trail by showing slides and telling of the many interesting points along the way.

The Brazos Trail is Deep in the Heart of Texas. It starts at Waco, with Baylor University which was founded in 1887, and the suspension bridge over the Brazos river. The trail continues on to Coolidge, Mexia, with a stop at Fort Parker State Park, on to Groesbeck and Marlin, with a stop at the falls area of Lake Brazos. Next is Calvert, with the famous Cobb's Market founded in 1878, then Franklin, Wheelock, Normangee, Anderson and Navasota. Texas A&M University stops at Caldwell, Elgin, Austin, Taylor, Round Rock, Salada, Belton, Whitehall, Grove, Gatesville, Turnersville and back to the starting point, Waco, conclude the trail. The Brazos River winds around interestingly all along the trail.

The hostess for the evening was Mrs. R. H. Melton. Twelve members were present and Mrs. Bill Teaff, club president, presided during the business session which followed the program.

Second only to salt as a popular seasoning, onions are used throughout the four seasons of the year, and in practically every part of the world.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

When either you or your stairway begins to creak here and there, the cause generally is the same: old age.

It's a lot easier, though, to eliminate the stairway creaks than those that beset you. You need not be a carpenter nor a handyman nor even an experienced do-it-yourselfer. All that is necessary is that you be able to tell the difference between two simple methods of stairway construction—and, if you don't, the following explanation, hopefully, will enable you to make that distinction.

To keep the record straight, the horizontal part of a step—the part you step on—is called a tread. The vertical board at the back is called a riser.

There are two basic ways in which a tread is attached to a riser: the tread rests upon the riser and is simply nailed into place or the two are held together with a tongue and groove. In the latter case, a tongue on the top edge of the riser fits into a groove cut in the under edge of the tread.

You can tell at a glance which method is used if you look at the joint. But you can't see the joint in most cases. So you get down on your knees and look under the part of the tread that overhangs the riser. You'll see that the joint is covered by a thin piece of moulding, which can be easily pried off. Now, using a flashlight if necessary, examine the joint and make your determination. Don't let the idea scare you. Even if you have never done any woodworking in your life, you'll be able to decide almost instantly.

The reason for all this is that the method of construction determines the method of repair. If the tread and riser are nailed together, have someone stand on the tread, which will force it against the riser. You then hammer two 2-inch nails through the tread into the riser, placing them about an inch apart and slanting them so that the points are close to each other when they have been driven in. In other words, when the nails are in place, they will form a V inside the wood. Nails driven in this manner are less likely to work loose. And you'll have even more insurance against later trouble if you use threaded nails. Two sets of nails through each tread of a squeaky step should do the trick. Drive the nails slightly below the surface with a nail set, fill the holes with putty and, when it has hardened, sand smooth. Replace the moulding and the job is done.

When your original examination disclosed a tongue-and-groove construction, no nails are required. The squeaking can be eliminated by driving thin wooden wedges between the tongue and the groove until the play between them has disappeared. If you have no wedges on hand, but you do have an old shingle, cut it to the proper size and drive it into place, then replace the moulding. In this second method of repair, you do not need the assistance of another person.

Wrestling Card Slated Here Friday

Wrestling returns to Snyder at the Scurry County Coliseum at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 6, with a giant four-bout wrestling card.

Wrestling has been absent from the Snyder area for almost a year but is now back and bigger than ever.

The last match on the card will be an 8-man battle royal, $500 going to the winner. The participants are Man Mountain Mike (650 pounds), Terry Funk, Gorgeous George Jr., Dirty Dick Murdock, The Lawman, Dirty Dusty Rhodes, Ricky Romero and Bill Ramos. To be eliminated a man must be thrown over the top rope; last man in the ring is the winner. Man Mountain Mike, who weights 650 pounds, is the largest man in wrestling today and he says this is his type of match.

The main event will be Ricky Romero Vs. Bull Ramos. Ricky Romero has long been a big favorite in Snyder and never fails to pack the crowds in, but he will have his work cut out for him as he meets Bull Ramos, 275 pounds, from St. Carlos, Arizona. He is an Apache Indian, who holds the heavyweight championship of Old Mexico. This is guaranteed to be a crowd pleaser.

The semifinal will be a tag team. Terry Funk and the Lawman will be going against Dirty Dusty Rhodes and Dirty Dick Murdock. Rhodes and Murdock, who both weigh 270 pounds each, are the toughest team ever to come to this part of the country.

The special event will be Gorgeous George, Jr., the singing wrestler, going against Man Mountain Mike, 650 pounds. This will be an exciting contest as the 230 pound Gorgeous George Jr. will be trying to get the 650 pound Man Mountain Mike off his feet.

For advance reservations call the Scurry County Coliseum, 573-9811. Ringside tickets are $2, general admission $1.50, and children of ages four through 11 are admitted for $1 each.

VOLLEYBALL GIRLS PLAY

The Snyder High School girls volleyball team will play its second match of the season tomorrow in the Tiger gym. The program will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the junior varsity contest, followed by the varsity match.

Coach Robyn Overturff's girls looked good in their first outing Monday at Big Spring, but they lost a close match. The opponent tomorrow is another Class AAAA school — Abilene Cooper.

There is no admission charge and everyone is encouraged to support the team.

PRO GRID STARS HAVE BIZ MANAGERS

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season when college football players dream of fat bonus payments, solid gold Cadillacs and six-figure contracts. However, the number of instant millionaires on campus has declined sharply in recent years.

The time has come for the college athletes to deal, either personally or though their agents, with the professional clubs who drafted them. In some cases it is an ego shattering experience.

Norman Young is one of those agents—or management consultants, as he prefers to be known. He operates the firm of Probus (pro business) Management, Inc. with his wife, Lenore, and several assistants in suburban White Plains, N.Y. The company offers a complete management package to the athlete.

If the athlete desires, Young's people will bank his pay check, invest his money, make out his tax returns and help him build a publicity image.

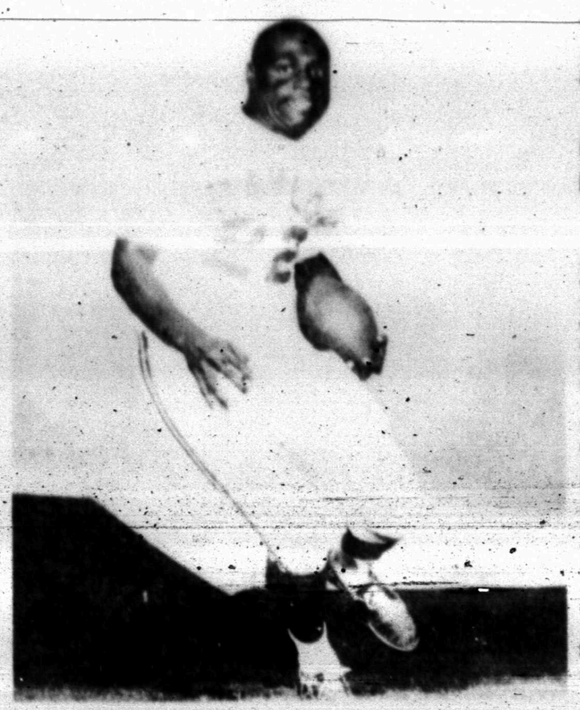
Young, an accountant, tax expert and business manager of doctors before he formed his own company, says he represents 13 of the collegians recently drafted by pro football teams. Among them are two first-round picks, Cedric Hardman and Duane Thomas of West Texas State. Hardman is a defensive end who was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers and was the ninth player selected among the 442 who were taken in the full 17 rounds. Thomas is a running back, grabbed by the Dallas Cowboys as No. 23.

When and if the contracts are negotiated, Young's firm will take 10 per cent as a fee. This covers such services as preparing tax returns, handling of money for living expenses and conservative investments in stocks or business ventures, publicity and aid in securing off season employment. The firm provides a monthly statement of the client's financial picture.

"I think the average athlete needs somebody to help him when he gets into the business world," said Young. "You would be surprised how many doctors have business problems. They're so engrossed in their work that they neglect such things as fees, income tax and general management."

Naturally, Young dodges using names when he talks about the affairs of his players. He did tell an amusing tale though.

"One fellow had been sent a gasoline credit card by an oil company while he still was in college. He ran up a $1,500 tab with no money to pay it. Included on the bill were 15 new automobile tires. "Do you want" to hear the kicker? The fellow doesn't have a car."



ON PROGRAM — John Westbrook, former outstanding halfback for Baylor University, will be one of the many famous athletes and coaches who will appear on the program at the Weekend of Champions to be held here Feb. 13-15 under the sponsorship of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. John served as associate director of the State Baptist Youth Convention while a student at Baylor. He is the first Negro to play varsity football in the Southwest Conference.

SPORTS

OF DECADE

Russell Best Cage Player

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — William F. Russell, the biggest Bill of the Boston Celtics, was duly appreciative—but not too amazed — that he had been named Basketball Player of the Decade in a special 1960-69 poll by The Associated Press.

And the key star and 1968-69 coach of a team that dominated the National Basketball Association in the decade just past, added a bit of typical Russell spice to the award.

"There were only two dominating teams during that decade, the Green Bay Packers and the Celtics," he said. For the spice, he added:

"I was offended when one television network named the New York Mets as the team of the decade."

They could just as well named the Jets. They were an expansion team, too, and they didn't win anything until the last year of the decade."

Russell's credentials are considerable.

The list started at McLymonds High School in Oakland, Calif., and began growing at the University of San Francisco where Russell, an All-American, helped the Dons win 60 straight games, still the all-time collegiate record.

He was also a pivotal player on the undefeated United States basketball team which won the gold medal at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia.

The 6-foot-10 center joined the Celtics in 1957 as their No. 1 pick—a selection which would have gone to St. Louis were it not for the fact that the Hawks, fearing he might sign instead with the Harlem Globetrotters, traded their rights to Russell in exchange for Cliff Hagan and Ed Macauley.

"Big Six," a tag he acquired because of his uniform number, promptly led Boston to the NBA championship, the first of 11 during his 13-year pro career which included an unprecedented eight straight titles.

That string was snapped in 1967—Russell's first year as a playercoach—by the Philadelphia 76ers. That began the stories that Boston's "old men" had had it.

Instead, the Celts bounced back to win, squeaking into the playoffs with a fourth-place finish.

The Boston bunch became the "miracle men" of 1969 with another title.

In 1963 regular-season games Russell averaged 15.1 points per game, piled up 4,096 assists and hauled in 21,721 rebounds. He added 4,014 rebounds, 770 assists and a 16.2 average in 165 playoff games.

During his career the Celtics racked up a 162-83 regular-season record and a 28-18 mak in the pllayoffs. "The greatest competitor I've seen," Boston general manager and former coach Red Auerbach said of Bill.

He was the runaway leader in the voting by 635 sports writers and broadcasters, amassing 375½ votes to 122 for runner-up Wit Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers.

Milwaukee rookie Lew Alcindor, former three-time All-American from UCLA, was third with 31½ votes. Jery West of Los Angeles with 30 and Osca Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals with 25 were next.

Russell divides his time these days between Hollywood, his home in the Boston suburb of Reading and New York. The Hollywood time concerns sorting out movie and television offers.

He said he has also received numerous offers to go into more conservative businesses and, with another hearty laugh, exclaimed:

"I keep moving because every time I sit down I get an offer to go to work. This interview," he said, "I was late because just as I was about to leave my apartment a man calls me and offers me a job.

"I don't ask how he got my private number because" — another huge laugh—"when somebody offers you money you don't ask him how he got your number."

In the meantime, Russell has a full book of talks—he'd never call them lecture appearances—at colleges around the country.

Since last September and until May Russell has 60 some such engagements. The fees range up to $3,000 but he hastily says, "It's not really the money. I like kids and I like to talk to them.

FCA Weekened Of Champs Scheduled Here Feb. 13-15

A full schedule of activities is planned for the big Weekend of Champions to be held here Feb. 13-15, and local chapter and huddle members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes stress that area students are invited to participate in them.

The Saturday activities especially are for the benefit of student groups and will be held from 9 a.m. until 4:15 p.m. at Lamar Junior High. The only cost is a $2 registration fee which covers all of the activities Saturday except breakfast. Reservations for these activities must be made no later than Wednesday, Feb. 11, by contacting Roy Carter at Snyder High School. The telephone number is 573-5682, area code 915.

Of course, the Banquet of Champions, slated for 6 p.m. Saturday, is the highlight of the entire weekend. Famous athletes, coaches and national staff members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes will appear at the banquet and many of them will speak. Tickets for the banquet will cost $2 for students and $3 for adults. Reservations for the banquet tickets must be made prior to Thursday, Feb. 12. They may be made through participating churches or the Snyder Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Friday's activities feature the appearance of the athletes at local and area schools. Many of them will be introduced and entertainment will be provided at a basketball game in the Scurry County Coliseum that night. The program pits Snyder's Tigers against Lake View's Chiefs and a berth in the district tournament could hinge on the contest.

Many of the visiting personalities will speak at various churches in the community during the Sunday morning worship services, which will conclude the Weekend of Champions.

Included among the many sports personalities who will be here is John Westbrook, the first Negro to play football in the Southwest Conference. He was a halfback at Baylor, and he averaged five yards per carry in varsity competition.

A native of Groesbeck, John is the son of a minister. He was president of the junior and senior classes, drama club, Student Council and Central Texas District Student Council while a student at Washington High School in Elgin. He was vice president of the General Missionary Baptist Convention of Texas. In music, he was the first chair cornet in the band, he was second in state male solo, and second in mixed octet. He was captain of the football, basketball and track teams and made All-District in these three sports. He set a school record for the longest run from scrimmage, once going 85 yards for a touchdown.

John originally attended Baylor without a scholarship, but his ability and determination impleased the coaches and he made the team. John was a member of the Freshman A Capella Choir, Baylor Ministerial Alliance, honor council and Southwest Conference Athletic Sportsmanship Committee. He was president of Lambda Alpha Chapter of the Sigma Tau Delta (National Honorary English Fraternity), and was associate director of the State Baptist youth convention. He majored in English and minored in religion, obtaining a BA degree in English in May of 1969. John is married to the former Paulette White of Houston.

Some Stock Market Traders Jump At Any Movement

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some stock market traders today are like deer hunters who, having crouched all day in the woods, anxious, cold and with dusk approaching, fire at any movement.

It is, in other words, a very nervous stock market these days, a market anxious to get something in its sights, to promote some action, not so much to bring home a trophy as to destroy the boredom.

Into this setting, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy on Feb. 3 delivered a statement that really should have settled to earth as silently as a withered leaf falling into new snow.

Instead, it crashed through the brush with a racket that anxious stock traders instinctively interpreted as nothing other than a rampaging bull.

Trigger fingers reflexed and shots went off from every direction and in almost every direction. The Dow Jones industrial average shot up from a minus position to plus 18 before settling back to 11.02.

Kennedy's statement was really vapid. He did tell a savings bond campaign meeting that lower interest rates may be nearer than many people think they are, but from there on he toned down his statement.

When will rates be lowered? "Once the inflationary psychology is broken and the business community and the public in general begin to look forward to greater stability..." He declined to name a date.

This is something that everyone in his audience, made up mainly of high-level business executives, had heard for several months. It was stated at least two months before by high-ranking officials. It wasn't new.

The executives, whose companies presumably will fare better when borrowing cost come down, hardly stirred as the statement was delivered. But traders, who bet on the futures of these same companies, went wild—even though they got the news secondhand.

It isn't difficult to reason why. First off, a lot of professional traders have been playing this market short; they have been betting on further price declines in order to make profits.

This is accomplished by borrowing shares of stock, selling them at the current market price and then waiting. If the price continues downward, the short trader can replace the borrowed stock at a lower price, pocketing the difference.

If the price rises, however, the short trader has to cover himself, or else he will find himself paying back in more expensive stock. He is, therefore, very sensitive to what might be considered good news.

Some short traders apparently read Kennedy's statement on news wires minutes after he spoke and decided that, neutral as it may have appeared, it might be construed as bullish by some traders reaching for straws. And so they bought rather than risk higher prices.

Junior Editors Quiz on BACKBONES

QUESTION: How did animals with backbones evolve from those without them?

• • •

ANSWER: In our picture, we imagine two fanciful little men from Mars who have come to the earth in past times to see what is going on. At first, they find only formless little creatures floating in the sea. One hundred million years later they come face to face with a primitive shark-like fish. He doesn't have a true backbone and skeleton but he does have a simple notochord of cartilage. Such animals were growing larger, and the notochord helped them to swim faster. But it was with the appearance of the real fishes that the wonderful jointed bony spine came into being. Fins and tail had something to work from, something strong and flexible at the same time. When the Mars men looked in in the last picture, they saw a strange fish which could breathe air (the lungfish) crawling out on land. From such creatures evolved the salamanders; then the reptiles came along, and the birds and mammals. Fortified by that marvelous inner spine and skeleton, such animals came to dominate the earth.

Edie Chose Career By Tossing Coin

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — In her girlhood Edie Adams couldn't decide between a career in music or a career in fashion design.

So, typically, she tossed a coin—and show business won. Now and then she wonders if her life wouldn't be simpler if the coin had made the other decision.

"Show business is really geared more for men than for women," she remarked.

"A working father is one thing—a working mother quite another. There's no one to keep the home fires burning for women."

Edie, the breezy gal in those cigar commercials on television, is one of the busiest performers in the entertainment industry.

She spends about 35 weeks a year singing in the nation's top supper clubs, and also is in steady demand for movies, television specials, and summer stock.

Miss Adams is starred with Don Adams and Don Rickles in "Hooray for Hollywood," a one-hour special on Feb. 26 over the CBS-TV network. In it she gives impressions of some 30 famous movie queens of the past and present, has 47 costume changes—and gets a pie thrown in her face.

She recalled that she hadn't gone through the pie routine since she worked with her late husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs.

She has a daughter, Mia, 10, by Kovacs and a son, Joshua, 17 months, by her present marriage to Marty Mills, a music publisher.

To Edie, life is summed up by the word love.

"It's tough talking to a mirror. Without love you've got nothing. But although I think love I live work.

"I always have to be working hard at something. I suppose it's the Pennsylvania Dutch in me. I'm kind of like the old-time farm women. You know, drop the baby and pick up the plow."

Edie feels her best trait is her sense of humor, her worst trait a failure to follow through on projects.

"I have to write notes to myself all the time," she said.

Her likes:

"My home, children, neighbors, dogs and cats—all kinds of music—Mexican food and soul food—designing some of my own clothes—antique jewelry—the smell of pine trees and good fresh air—the sound of the ocean, tree toads and crickets—manly men—people who are kind, loving, honest and fun to be with."

Her dislikes:

"A social schedule that leaves you no time on your own—the smell of food coming from behind closed doors in an apartment building—sweet cocktails and foods that need sauces—polluted lakes—seeing big trees cut down—men who look and act like an empty suit—and self-defeating people who can't help themselves or be helped, because they are always going down."

Avant-Garde Premiere Set

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The Santa Fe Opera will give one world premiere next summer, Luciano Berio's first full-length opera, entitled "Opera."

Berio says it was inspired by the sinking of the Titanic. In addition to orchestra and singers, the work will feature members of New York's Open Theater.

The company also will present new productions of Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress," Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" and Donizetti's "Anna Bolena." It also will do Stavinsky's "Le Rossignol" on a bill with Menotti's "Help! Help! The Globolinks" and Verdi's "La Traviata."

Houston To Get 35-Story Building

HOUSTON (AP) — A 35-story office building and seven-level parking garage will be built in the downtown Houston business district, the building developers have announced.

The building would be the fourth-tallest in Houston. It will be built on the north end of a block which now houses the Sheraton Lincoln Hotel on the south end of the block.

The first Jaycee organization was formed in October of 1915 at the Mission Inn, St. Louis, Missouri.

Negro Conducts White House Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon heard a Negro clergyman tell a White House congregation Sunday that the nation should resolve to "share the abundance of our rich land with the deprived not only at home but abroad as well."

The Rev. Mannie L. Wilson, president of the Council of Churches of New York, was the first of his race to conduct one of the White House services since the President started them a year ago.

Bess Says Administration Bill Is A Consumer Fraud

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bess Myerson Grant, the former Miss America who looks after New York City's consumers, told Congress today an administration bill to allow group consumer court actions is "like balloon bread—substantial at first glance but short on weight."

In short, Mrs. Grant said in testimony prepared for the Senate consumer subcommittee, "the administration bill is a consumer fraud."

Her opposition was aimed at one of three administration bills that would implement the "Buyers Bill of Rights" promised by President Nixon last year.

The bill is intended to strengthen Federal Trade Commission powers and enable consumers to bring class-action lawsuits.

At the same time, however, it would limit these actions to 21 categories and allow them only after the Justice Department or the FTC had successfully sued the violator.

Mrs. Grant said a bill introduced by Democrats Frank E. Moss of Utah, chairman of the subcommittee, and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland was far better than the administration proposal.

She said the Moss-Tydings measure, which would permit immediate class actions whenever consumer rights were violated, would put the power to seek consumer justice "where it belongs—beyond the reach of campaign contributors, industry lobbyists or Washington lawyers."

"The single most disingenuous provision in the administration bill is its prerequisite of a Justice Department or FTC action before a class suit may be brought," Mrs. Grant said. "What assurance would consumers have that these agencies would have sufficient funding or personnel to prosecute the many thousands of instances of systematic consumer abuse that occur every year?"

Mrs. Grant said that during 1969 the FTC issued only 65 complaints of deceptive practices while her office alone received 65 each day.

"What is to stop the attorney general from opting for an arrangement with the target company whereby the company agrees to mind its manners in the future in return for the government's promise to immunize the company for past misconduct?" she asked.

"Even if the relevant agencies had both the money and the will to sue," said Mrs. Grant, "the sheer time it takes for the government to win a case precludes a meaningful subsequent consumer action. Sharp corporate lawyers can stall an FTC action for up to 30 years."

Mrs. Grant also said the 11 categories of abuse open to class action boil down in reality to only two—misrepresentation and failure to return deposits for undelivered goods.

Omitted, she said, are such major consumer complaints as breach of warranty and contract and fraudulent credit practices which are covered by state laws but not open to class action.

Despite her harsh words for the administration proposal, Mrs. Grant had a kind one for the President's special assistant for consumer affairs, Mrs. Virginia Knauer.

Referring to Mrs. Knauer as "valiant," Mrs. Grant said the proposal was not a product of her office but of White House assistants—"and by the look of the legislation they have drafted, these are assistants whose primary concern is not the interests of consumers."

Men Change Pleas To Guilty

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two San Antonio men—one with a top security clearance from the U.S. Government—abruptly changed Wednesday their pleas to guilty of defrauding Kelly Air Force Base of nearly $100,000 in the summer of 1968.

After L. B. Haley, 34, and Haskill Ray Bain, 43, changed their plea to guilty after 25 witnesses were heard.

U.S. Asst. Dist. Atty. Wayne Spech told the court FBI agents arrested Bain and Haley for a conspiracy which spread to four states and involved fraudulent bank accounts, fraudulent post office boxes and two fictitious companies.

Haley is charged with three additional counts of embezzling a total of $96,233 from Kelly AFB.

The government contended that Haley and Bain used bogus Air Force forms and vouchers to "obtain money for fuel that didn't exist, for airplanes that didn't exist, whose pilots didn't exist." A new fact brought out in Wednesday's testimony is that Haley, who was a computer specialist at Kelly, had a top security clearance from the U.S. government.

Checks for the non-existent fuel were made out from the U.S. government to two non-existent firms, the J.R. Adams Flying Service and the Laredo Refining Company.

The government checks were mailed to fraudulent bank accounts in Seguin; Little Rock, Ark.; Tulsa, Okla., and Shreveport, La. and money was mailed to rural post office boxes near Orange Grove, Mathis and Alice.

Four Jurors Needed In Murder Trial

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—This was the ninth day of jury selection and four still were needed for the murder trial of Peter Scamardo.

Scamardo, 31, of Hearne, is accused of being an accomplice in the shooting death of his former business partner, Sam Degelia Jr. Degelia was found shot to death July 11, 1968, near McAllen.

A new venire of 250 persons was cut by absentees and exemptions to 21 prospective jurors Wednesday.

Firemen Find Woman's Body

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Firemen battling a smoky blaze found the body of a young woman early today in a North Side motel room.

Authorities identified her from items in a purse as Joan Goodson, 21, of Shreveport. Efforts to revive her failed.

An assistant county medical examiner, Carl Walker, said death resulted from inhaling smoke and the fire presumably started in a bed from a cigaret.

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A car struck Milton C. Goldsmith, 47, on a Corpus Chrsti street Wednesday evening and he died half an hour later.

Police said Goldsmith, from nearby Portlland, was strtinc to cross the roadway after talking with a fellow worker in a parked truck.

Hearing On Eagle Ends

AUSTIN (AP) — A hearing on Missouri Pacific Railway's application to discontinue the St. Louis Eagle passenger train ended Wednesday, but a decision is not expected from the Texas Railroad Commission until at least April.

The Eagle, one of only three passenger trains that cross Texas, runs from Texarkana to Laredo and back once daily.

The company says it has been losing money on the Eagle.

Among opponents to the discontinuance is the National Association of Railroad Passengers.

Railroad Commission hearings have been held in Laredo, San Antonio, Palestine and Austin.

Each side has 45 days to file briefs, unless one or both asks for a transcript of the hearings, in which case an additional 45 days will be allowed. Another 30 days will be permitted for filing exceptions to the hearing examiners' recommendation to the commission.

Drive-In Killings Continue

DALLAS (AP) — An apparent wave of killings of women in robberies at drive-in groceries and gas stations continued Wednesday when two Fort Worth-Dallas area women were killed.

The latest victims were an Irving attendant at a self-service gas station and a Grand Prairie clerk at a drive-in grocery.

Police said both women were robbed of an undetermined amount of money.

The Grand Prairie victim was identified as Mattie L. Smith about 50. Police said she was shot once in the neck. The shooting occurred at the Mid Cities Cut Rate Drive-In Grocery Wednesday afternoon.

Thirty minutes earlier, a woman gasoline station attendant in Irving was shot to death and apparently robbed, Irving police said.

Irving police identified the attendant as Mrs. Lottie Waddle, 48, of Grand Prairie. She died en route to Irving Community Hospital.

"The two incidents are too similar to be coincidental," a police spokesman said. "They very well could be related. The gunman would have had time to pull both jobs."

On Jan. 27, April Tuft, 29, of Dallas, was gunned down at a 7-Elleven drive-in she had managed for two years. On Jan. 20, Violet I. Phelps was killed at a self-service gas station robbery near Fort Worth. She and her husband operated the station.

Construction Cost Is Revised

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Cost estimates for the proposed Dallas City Hall complex have now risen to $57 million.

The revised construction cost figures were submitted Monday along with finalized plans for the project.

The new figures include $46.9 million for the City Hall building, underground parking and civil defense center with an additional $10 million for land purchase.

The increases are $14.5 million above cost estimates when approval was given for the Crossroads bond program in 1967. The cost figures exceed by $8 million estimates made in September 1968.

'TATE' MURDER TRIAL POSTPONED — Susan Atkins, 21, wearing a purple low-cut mini-dress, leaves a Los Angeles courtroom Tuesday after winning postponement of her murder trial until March 30. It had been scheduled for Feb. 9. She and other alleged members of the Charles Manson "hippie-style" clan are accused of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others. (AP Wirephoto)

Fire Hits Tank Cars

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Roaring flames and a series of small explosions swept through several tank cars filled with chemicals after a Missouri Pacific freight train jumped the track Wednesday night.

Eighteen of the 24 cars in the train left the rails, plowing into an open field just inside the northwest city limits of Corpus Christi near suburban Calallen.

Fire broke out an hour after the derailment. Once, as the dome blew off a burning car flames leaped 200 feet into the air.

As a precaution against possibly toxic fumes, the small Mt. Tabor convent close by was evacuated for a time. Occupants of some homes also departed briefly.

The conductor aboard the freight, T. J. Horan, said his train apparently hit a closed switch and the pileup occurred as it was shunted onto a siding. He said the switch should have been open.

Railroad employes said alcohol, antifreeze and formaldehyde were among the chemicals in the derailed cars, which burned for hours. Firemen used foam to control the blaze.

Fire chief John Carlisle said the flames started as a chemical called acetaldehyde leaked from a ruptured tank, oxidized with iron rust on the rails, came to a boil and then burned.

Weapons Detector Designed To Help Deter Hijacking

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been given a preview of a new type of police nightstick that can detect a concealed gun, a razor blade or even a narcotics kit.

The device, and still another version of it, a flashlight model, are designed to supplement antihijacking weapons detectors now in operation at a number of airports.

Congressmen got a look at the instruments during a showing at the House Judiciary Committee chamber this week.

"The equipment promises to make the law enforcement officer's job safer and easier, and will cost the taxpayer less," said Malcolm Schwartz, president of Infinetics, Inc., a Wilmington, Del., producer of electronic magnetic devices.

The equipment was developed and tested by the Federal Aviation Administration as part of its program to deter hijackings.

Eastern Air Lines last October became the first airline to put the system in use. Trans World Airlines adopted it last December, and Pan American World Airways joined the parade last month.

The antihijacking set consists first of two poles or towers which form a gate or entry way at airport ticket counters or boarding points.

When a person carrying a gun or other fairly large metal object passes between the poles, a light flashes an alarm.

The detectors can be on the hidden side of a wall, or concealed in sign-holders, guide fences or even in coat racks or umbrella stands.

A person who triggers an alarm is asked to step aside for a further check. Here an officer can point the sensor-equipped nightstick, cane or flashlight, at him to find the location of the metal object.

H. R. MacPherson, Infinetics project manager, said police departments of Wilmington, Del., Detroit, New York and other cities are evaluating the new device. The detectors were used at the entrance to the courtroom in the recent New Jersey Mafia hearings, he said.

They caught no one with concealed weapons except detectives or other persons authorized to use them, but turned up two persons who were trying to smuggle tape recorders into the room, he said.

Limitation Proposal Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials say the administration's proposal for limiting government farm payments on a graduated basis beginning in 1971 would include a provision for reducing idled acreage in return for farmers having payments reduced.

The limitation proposal, included in a bill draft sent Congress on Wednesday by the administration, would let a farmer receive all payments on each crop of cotton, feed grains and wheat up to $20,000.

But further payments would be reduced by increments of 10 per cent. Payments between $20,000 and $40,000 would be cut 10 per cent; between $40,000 and $60,000 cut 20 per cent and so on.

Spokesmen said if a farmer's payment is cut in half, he would only have to idle half as much land under the so-called "set-aside" requirement aimed at taking excess acres from production.

If payments were reduced one-third under the formula, the farmer would need to comply with only two-thirds of his set-aside.

Godfrey Will Not Continue Commercials

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Godfrey says he will do no more radio and television commercials for Axion, the enzyme laundry presoak, unless the manufacturer allows him to say on the air that it pollutes water.

"How can I preach ecology and sell this stuff," Godfrey said Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Colgate-Palmolive Co., the makers, refused to comment on Godfrey's position.

Godfrey said he would continue to do the commercials if Colgate permitted him to say Axion was a pollutant and that the manufacturer was trying to make it pollution-free.

He said that when he agreed to make the commercial Colgate told him Axion was neither a water pollutant nor a detergent.

"They told me it was an enzyme," he said, "and that enzymes don't pollute anything; they just eat the dirt out. Now I find that it's not only a detergent but has more phosphates than any of the other detergents."

Godfrey said he found out about Axion's pollution potential from news stories of congressional hearings on the role of detergents in pollution.

Phosphates have been cited as one of the chief elements that promote the excess growth of algae that can kill off other life in lakes and streams.

Texas Schools Closed By Flu

The second outbreak of flu and flu-like illnesses invaded Texas Wednesday, forcing schools to close in Orange Grove in South Texas.

Some absenteeism was reported in Bandera, Fort Worth and other Texas cities.

Schools were closed in Orange Grove by Supt. John Slater after absenteeism reached 35 per cent. Schools will re-open on Monday, he said.

Over 100 students were absent Monday and Tuesday in Bandera schools and Supt. Marvin Schnelle said flu and mumps were responsible. No new attacks of meningitis have been reported in the Bandera schools since the three cases last week.

Mayor May Lose Job By Running

AMARILLO (AP) — In filing as a candidate for county judge, Mayor J. Ernest Stroud may have unwittingly resigned his mayor's post, Dist. Atty. Curtis said Wednesday.

Stroud filed for the position on Monday. The district attorney asked for an opinion from Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to clarify the issue.

Stroud said he would not resign his post until he hears the outcome of the May Republican primaries even though it appears that the Texas Constitution requires him to do so, Curtis said.

Under constitutional provision, the mayor is required to resign the moment he becomes a candidate for another public office, Curtis said. Citing one article, he said, Stroud could be fined for failure to comply.

In his questionaire to the attorney general's office, Curtis asked: Did the mayor's announced candidacy for county judge constitute a resignation as mayor?; if so, what was the effective date of the resignation?; if not, is his tenure in office otherwise affected?; and if Stroud has in reality relinquished his post, who will fill the unexpired term?

Stroud has served part of his second term in office to date.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said late Wednesday the request had not been received.

Campaign Started On Unlicensed Drivers

AUSTSIN (AP) — Texas' estimated 400,000 unlicensed drivers have good reasons to be nervous these days.

The Department of Public Safety announced Wednesday it is starting a campaign against drivers who never bothered to get a license and those who continue to drive after their licenses are suspended.

"We'll have roadblocks at unannounced times and places," a DPS spokesman said.

Any motorist who can't produce a license will be charged with driving without a license.

Another part of the campaign is publicity, including an effort to get employers to encourage all their workers to obtain valid licenses.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, said nearly a tenth of the drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents in the first six months of 1969 were unlicensed.

Bodies Are Found

DALLAS (AP) — Financier-builder W.T. Overton, 41, and his estranged wife, Dorothy, were found shot to death Wednesday in his apartment.

Police said Overton, president and director of the Dallas Texas Corp., was slain by Mrs. Overton, who then took her own life with a .22-caliber derringer.

Dallas Texas Corp. developed One Main Place, a massive office and business complex in downtown Dallas. Overton's father, W.W. Overton Jr., is president of Texas Bank & Trust Co. in Dallas.

Authorities said the shootings apparently occurred Tuesday night.

The bodies were discovered by the apartment manager after Overton failed to keep a business appointment Wednesday morning.

Along with investor John Murchison, Overton formed the Addison Airport Corp. in 1964, largest privately-owned and operated airport in the nation.

Overton was appointed by former Gov. John Connally in 1967 to serve as chairman of the 12-member joint board of park commissioners for Dallas and Tarrant counties.

Circus Team Is Injured

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) —A husband and wife circus team shot out of a cannon seconds apart Wednesday night and slammed together in a net, injuring both seriously.

Linda Zacchini, 31, suffered a broken neck when her husband plummeted on to her during the finale of the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus performance.

She underwent emergency surgery at St. Luke's Hospital where she was listed in critical condition. Her husband, Emanuel, 26, was reported in serious condition with multiple bruises and cuts.

Circus officials said the cannon apparently malfunctioned. Linda hit the net first and Zacchini is supposed to pass about 10 feet above her.

Instead he fell short and slammed into her at 50 to 60 miles an hour, a circus spokesman said.

Ushers cleared the crowded coliseum as the ringmaster said, "We're sorry the show had to end this way."

Being shot from cannons has been a Zacchini family circus act for decades.

Singer-actor Frank Sinatra once worked as a headwaiter and master of ceremonies for $15 a week in a New Jersey roadhouse. Five years later he was starring at New York's Paramount Theatre with a weekly salary of $25,000.

US Border Unit Closed Friday

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Files are being dumped into wastebaskets and employes report to work at their own expense, but efforts are under way to salvage a part of a U. S. group seeking to develop friendship with Mexico.

Officially, last Friday was the last legal day of existence for the American unit of the U.S.-Mexico Border Commission on Friendship and Development.

The commission was started nearly three years ago by President Lyndon B. Johnson and Mexico's President Diaz Ordaz.

The White House, under the urging of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., whose protege, Antonio Rodriguez, was director of the commission, is trying to salvage some of the commission's functions.

Harry Flemming, an assistant to President Nixon, said the administration recognizes opposition of the AFL-CIO to what is regarded as antilabor activity by the commission.

The question is whether the commission proved useful in other less controversial development projects, flemming said.

Rodriguez has been meeting with White House aides since it became apparent in November that Congress would refuse to extend the life of the commission.

Tower and Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., have urged the White House to create an office within the executive branch for at least some of its former activities.

Flemming said a White House office has not been ruled out but there are alternatives.

"The State Department will absorb some of the activities," Flemming said. "There is a possibility that the new Cabinet committee on the Spanish-speaking will absorb some. We haven't decided yet."

Negro Thrilled Over Introduction

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Mississippi-born black man, who left the state more than 50 years ago, said he got the "great thrill of my life" Wednesday when he was introduced from the floor of the state House of Representatives.

State Rep. Robert Clark of Lexington, lone Negro member of the legislature, introduced Illinois State Rep. Corneal A. Davis to the lawmakers.

"I frankly expected them to be hostile, but they were anything but hostile," said Davis, after Mississippi representatives came over and shook his hands.

Davis, born at Vicksburg, Miss., said he is serving his 30th consecutive year in the Illinois House.

Budget Omits Constructions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's budget recommendations to Congress have omitted federal funds for construction of public buildings in San Antonio and Denton, Tex.

The budget list submitted Monday calls for construction funds for nearly 50 public buildings in the United States.

The Post Office Department said its construction needs include $68 million for 29 new projects.

The General Services Administration asked for $178 million for five new federal office buildings and court houses, seven additions and three superstructures.

The Bureau of Prisons requested funds for one new building, and site acquisitions for seven other new structures which are planned.

DRAFT BOARDS SAY NO

Draft Inequities Solved?

Editor's note: What did the draft lottery system do to Texans? Some close observers of draft-agers say it muted a lot of criticism. But random numbers do strange things to draft situations. A survey.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The random lottery by birth dates inaugurated by Selective Service seem to have quited much of the grumbling about inequities in the draft among Texas young men as elsewhere.

But draft boards, at least one judge and the draft eligible are finding that "random lottery" may not be as random when it gets down to the one-man, one-draft level.

Take the Texas Panhandle as an example. There, because of what appears to be fewer persons born in the first 60 numbers, some local boards are using all the lottery birth dates through 60.

Other draft boards—and Texas as a whole—have a surplus of men in the first 30 dates drawn and will have more men than they need in the next 30 ordered for February.

Texas as a whole had a draft call in January of 573—and ended up with 331 men more than it needed.

Selective Service limited the call for February to the first 60 lottery names drawn. Texas has an estimated 1,332 from numbers 31 to 60—plus the 331 surplus from January who go into the February eligible list.

Thus the February call of 929 would leave a surplus of 403 to be held over for the March call.

But this doesn't help the youths in draft boards where there is a small number of persons whose birthdays fall within the first 60 drawn Dec. 1 in Washington.

This leaves something of an air of uncertainty hanging, perhaps for several months over draft-age youths.

This uneven distribution of numbers is true nationally, with some states having a deficit of young men eligible in the first 60 numbers and others, like Texas, having a surplus.

Then another uncertain element has been injected. At least one judge, James Doyle of Madison, Wis., faces the question placed before his court: Were the Washington birthday drawings actual "random" sampling as President Richard Nixon ordered?

The mathematics experts who can tell you the odds of chance on just about any event note something a little off-color in the drawing.

The mathematicians note that December birth dates came up more often than chance would indicate, and that birthdates in the last half on the year appear more often than they would under true chance.

The men who stuffed the capsule started with Jan 1 and tossed Dec. 31 on top of the pot. The capsules were shaken in a box. But were they shaken enough, the experts on chance wonder.

Court Denies Doctor's Request

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Reitman have had the telephone number 991-5330 for 12 years. Last Dec. 18, the St. Louis County Cab Co., acquired as its number 991-5300.

The Reitmans then started getting lots of calls from people wanting a taxi, so they went to court seeking to have the company's number changed.

Circuit Judge Drew W. Luten turned them down, without commenting on the merits of the case.

Big Buddha Honors Japanese

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's biggest peace symbol has nothing to do with hippies or demonstrations.

It's an 18-foot, gold-lacquered Buddha of Western Paradise, a $2.5-million tribute to peace and serenity in honor of Hawaii's first Japanese settlers.

Island Buddhists enshrined the imposing Go-honzon Butsu in a temple cloistered by traditional Oriental gardens.

It is the largest Buddha outside Japan and the largest one carved since ancient times.

Sculptor Masuzo Inui carved the image after gluing blocks of wood together so the grain would form the general lines of the figure.

The temple complex, including a two-acre reflecting pool, is in the Valley of the Temples Memorial Park. The steep, cloud-shrouded Koolau Mountains loom in the background, and a cascading waterfall completes the setting.

The garden was designed by Teoman-Sano, the architect who designed Kyoto's Imperial Gardens. Ronald Shigeru Kawahara executed the plans.

"I wanted to enhance the feeling of being in the garden where Buddha was born," Kawahara said. "Mr. Sano and I agreed that the garden should retain a serene and peaceful atmosphere."

Kawahara substituted indigenous tropical plants for many of the plants commonly used in Oriental gardens in Japan.

"To add a slight gaiety, because this is Hawaii, I've added a touch of pastel in some of the low shrubbery," Kawahara said.

The Buddha and the temple have ancient significance. Hawaii's Buddhist bishops and mission leaders became advisors at the start of the project and they and their families attended the enshrinement ceremonies.

Optometry has been practiced since the 13th century. The first legislation governing the profession of optometry in North America was enacted in the state of Minnesota in 1901.

The ovenbird is so named because its nest is a domed-over structure with the opening at the side like an old-fashioned oven.

No obligation on condolences, donations

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: As I sit here writing "thank you" notes to acknowledge a stack of printed cards advising me that a donation to the "Rink-a-dink Charitable Organization" has been made in memory of a loved one, I feel like a hypocrite.

It is so easy to discharge an obligation to one bereaved by making a contribution to a charity you would have contributed to anyway. You don't even have to write a card. The charity will send a printed one. And there's another plus. It's tax deductible!

The use of money to discharge all obligations is certainly a sign of an affluent society.

How infinitely more thoughtful is the hand written letter, telephone call, or personal visit. This would express true friendship during a very sad and lonely period.

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: Sending a condolence message, or making a donation in the name of a loved one is NOT an "obligation." Many simply ignore the death of a friend or acquaintance.

I am not familiar with any "rink-a-dink charitable organizations." If a friend of mine dies of cancer, I feel that an appropriate expression of my sympathy would be a contribution to the Cancer society. And the same goes for the Heart association. And if I knew that the deceased had a special interest in Catholic Charities, or the N. A. A. C. P., or the Mormon Missionary society, I would make a contribution in the name of the deceased.

It is not always possible to make a personal condolence call on the family. I speak from both sides of the fence, and I hope that you will reconsider your attitude concerning donations to charities in memory of loved ones. I repeat, the donor could have ignored the death.

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing to you, but this problem is getting me down so bad I don't know where to turn. I turn to God on Sundays, but there are six other days when I need help.

My husband was born tired, but he always has the strength to be a 24-hour-a-day lover man.

Abby, I've always been a virtuous woman, and I've never shirked my duties as a wife, but I worked so hard at picking cotton some days that when nighttime came, I would like to have dropped in my tracks, but there was no rest for me with a man who has just set and rested up all day.

Now the kids are gone and I am all wore out. But my man is still going strong. Worse yet, he will not take a bath but once a month. His teeth are rotten, and his breath could kill you dead, but he presents himself for romance like he was a teen-ager.

Don't tell me to take him to a doctor. You don't take bulls any place. In closing, I remain, Very truly yours,

TIRED

DEAR TIRED: Next Sunday, when you turn to God, pray for strength to see you thru the rest of the week.

DEAR ABBY: I think the other peoples of the world can take a lesson from the Chinese. It is their custom to settle up all their debts before New Year's Day. What do you say?

ALL AMERICAN

DEAR ALL: It's easy for the Chinese. They don't have Christmas the week before.

DEAR ABBY: This advice is to mothers who never know what to say to a friend whose daughter is, or was away as an unwed mother.

I never knew the best approach until I had to experience the heartache of taking my daughter away and bringing her home to dead-silent friends.

If you really are a friend who cares, write a note, telephone or visit, and simply say, "I know your heartache, and I am sorry. If ever you need me, call and unload. I'll be there, and I will listen with love."

A MOTHER

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Rock On The Waves

NEW YORK (AP) — There have been classical music cruises of the Mediterranean. Now there's going to be a rock cruise to Bermuda.

From March 20-28, aboard the Queen Anna Maria, 1,000 passengers—who have to be over 18—can hear rock almost any time they want to. A number of rock groups booked for the cruise ship will play three times a day and whenever else they think it's groovy. Groups signed thus far are Catfish, Boffaongo, Love Cry Want, Cherry Family, Mustard Family and Tractor. Moondog also will be on board to write music for the cruise.

Richard Groff, president of Love Promotions Inc., which has arranged the rock cruise, is doing it because he liked Woodstock but he didn't like the mud, and wants to get away fom it all.

The first message transmitted by telegraph, between Baltimore and Washington on May 24, 1844, was: "What hath God wrought."

The first temperance society in the British colonies was probably that formed at Beaver River, Nova Scotia, in April 1828.
