Maid In Home Is Beaten By Armed Bandit

Wealthy Invalid Of Denver Is Believed Intended Victim

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, March 28.—An apparent attempt was made early today to kidnap John J. (Jackie) Lowe, 16, wealthy invalid son of the late John G. Lowe, millionaire paint manufacturer, Denver police said in a written report.

Mrs. Margaret Hill, 36, maid at the home of Jackie's mother, Mrs. Edith Lowe, was beaten by an intruder who forced his way into the socialite's house, then fled.

Taken To Hospital

Mrs. Hill, maid at the home for five months, was taken to a hospital suffering from head, face and lip cuts.

A report signed by Police Sergeant Orson Lowe and Patrolmen Jerry L. Mangan, D. L. Phillips and Charles Chafin said:

"Wednesday was Mrs. Hill's day off. She left the Lowe home about 1:30 p. m. and returned at 1:30 a. m. She entered the house by the rear, or kitchen, door.

"She inserted the key in the lock, opening the door.

Armed Man Steps Out

"As she did so, a man stepped out of the shadows and forced his way into the kitchen. He had a gun in his hand.

"He said to Mrs. Hill, 'where is the boy'?

"The boy referred to is believed to be Mrs. Lowe's invalid son, Jackie, who was asleep in another part of the house, as were all other occupants.

"Mrs. Hill said she refused to answer the man.

"With that, he struck her with his revolver. We do not know how many times he hit her, but it appears she was struck three times as she had wounds on her head, the side of her face and the left side of her mouth.

"The man then fled and Mrs. Hill,

Ferguson Trial Balloon Floats Across Texas

Ma Wants Friends To Send In Cards Revealing Wishes

BY OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, March 28.—Over the prairies, rolling hills and mountains of Texas floats Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson's trial balloon for a third term as governor.

The 64-year-old grandmother released it in a blustry wind that almost battered shoppers to their knees. She asked that Texans send her a postal card at her Austin home if they want her to run.

Off an on, Ma Ferguson and her husband, James E. Ferguson, have been hitching at the governor's rack since 1914.

Was Twice Elected

Twice Ma was elected, the only woman governor of Texas.

Twice her 68-year-old husband was elected.

The first time, as he took office in 1915, he said to the legislature and throng attending his inauguration:

"If you love me like I love you, no knife can cut our love in two."

Two years later early in his second term, he was impeached and ousted, barred forever from holding public office in Texas.

Fergusonism Always Issue

On that September day in 1917, after the Senate found Ferguson guilty of misconduct in office, one of his attorneys stood in the Senate well, before the president, and roared in a 10-acre voice:

"Fergusonism will be an issue in the political campaigns of Texas just as long as James E. Ferguson remains in the land of the living."

That prophecy has been borne out thus far.

Jim Ferguson has been the windstorm of Texas politics.

The two, Ma and Jim, are generally credited with a vest-pocket vote of 200,000, which means a good lead on any candidate in a state that polls around a million votes.

Ma's first race was based on a plea to clear her husband's name. An amnesty bill was passed but later

Brutal Attack Staged Before Death Arrived

Body Is Mutilated; Head Is Battered And Clothes Torn

(By The Associated Press)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 28.—A freshman girl student at the Pennsylvania State college who had been brutally attacked was found slain today in the driveway of the Lemont consolidated school near here today.

State Motor Patrolman James G. Griffin said the victim had been identified as Rachel Hutchinson Taylor, about 16, a student in the home economics department at the college, and a resident of Wildwood, N. J.

Described As Athlete

The girl, of stocky build and described as an athlete when enrolled at Wildwood high school, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pency Taylor of Wildwood.

Griffin said the girl apparently arrived in State college by bus early today after spending the Easter vacation at her home. He expressed belief she had met someone at the bus station because she had never checked in at the dormitory where she stayed at school.

Most of the clothing had been torn from the girl's badly mutilated body. She had been beaten on the head and death apparently resulted from a fractured skull, he added.

Testimony Of Mistreatment

Bruises and wounds covering the body, Griffin said, bore testimony to the mistreatment the girl had received.

Miss Taylor, following school regulations, had notified the house mother at the Francis Atherton dormitory that she would arrive at night. The house mother waited up for her but the girl did not report.

A janitor at the Lemont school, Harold Leightley, found the body after reporting for work today. The school is about three miles east of this north central Pennsylvania community.

Head Badly Battered

State Motor Patrolman George A. Panrock said the girl's head was so badly battered that it was impossi-

Communist To Face Charges

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 28—The Dies committee voted today to cite George Powers, Pittsburgh communist leader, for contempt for his failure to answer questions and produce communist party records.

The committee's action came at the conclusion of a hearing at which Powers had refused flatly to give the committee names of communist party members on the ground that "you're trying to blacklist our people in industry."

Second Action Taken

He was the second communist against whom such action was taken in the last few days. Previously Chairman Dies (D-Tex) recommended to House Speaker Bankhead that contempt proceedings be started against James H. Dolsen, another Pittsburgh man who balked at questions Monday.

Powers told the committee that he had not brought with him to the hearing which he had been asked to produce.

Powers had been called by the committee investigating un-American activities to shed what light he could on issuance of a communist party card bearing the name of "Franklin D. Roosevelt." It was in connection with this card that Dolsen had refused to answer committee questions.

No Light On Case

The Powers hearing, however, threw no light upon issuance of the card or persons responsible for it.

The witness refused flatly to give the committee names of communist party members on the ground that "you're trying to blacklist our people in industry."

Powers, a husky Russian-born man of 35, had refused earlier, on advice of counsel, to tell the committ-

Defense Given Trade Pacts

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 28—Senator George (D-Ga) told his colleagues today that the administration's reciprocal trade program might become "vitally necessary" to protect American interests during rapidly changing conditions ahead.

The Georgia senator, devoting most of his Senate address to a defense of the program's constitutionality, declared also that "it is the only step taken by any great commercial nation during this hectic period looking to the readjustment of world trade on anything like an equitable basis."

Hope For Vote Friday

Administration leaders hoped to obtain a vote tomorrow on an amendment by Senator Pittman (D-Nev) to subject trade agreements to Senate ratification.

Otherwise, in Congress today:

The Senate military affairs committee voted, 5 to 4, against conducting a formal investigation of military plane sales to France and Britain.

Decision Is Reaffirmed

The House reaffirmed its decision of yesterday to increase President Roosevelt's recommendation for next year's NYA activities from $85,000,-

"Jack The Ripper" Strikes St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, March 28 (AP)—The throat of Emil Bouckaert, owner of a grocery and meat market, was slashed from ear to ear early today in a "Jack the Ripper" murder.

Bouckaert, 65, brother of Alderman Philip Bouckaert, was attacked as he and his wife, Laura, were walking in a dark alley taking a short-cut home from a tavern.

"I heard a man behind us," Mrs. Bouckaert told police. "He called out, 'wait a minute,' and I said 'what do you want?'

"Without another word he jumped on my husband's back and put his arm around his neck. Then he jumped away quickly and started to run, and I saw my husband fall. I saw blood . . . ."

City Government Is Just Family Affair

WEST OKOBOJI, Ia., March 28. (AP)—City government here is a family affair, as witnessed by the results of Monday's election:

Mark Wheeler is the new mayor, and his wife, Mrs. Eybil Wheeler, is town treasurer.

W. H. Jones, retiring mayor, was elected to the city council—and so was his wife, Elizabeth.

Zine Henderson also was made a councilman, and his sister, Miss Genevieve Henderson, is the town assessor.

Man Obeyed Impulse And It Cost $35

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 28. (AP)—John McKay obeyed "that impulse" and it cost him $35.

McKay awaited his turn at a phone booth while a conversation went on and on. Finally he stepped up and let the glass door have it with his fist. The caller left a long distance conversation dangling and departed.

The court said $25 for disorderly conduct; $10 for property damage.

Campaign For Big Vote Is Launched

A campaign was quietly launched on several fronts this morning urging the citizens of Lubbock to vote in the city election next Tuesday.

Although candidates for the three offices to be filled at the election have no opposition, those active in the campaign warned that a small vote will leave the city open to certain dangers during the next two years.

Only Three Candidates

The candidates are Mayor Carl E. Slaton and Commissioner W. G. McMillan, each seeking re-election to a second term in the place he now holds, and Garland Newsom, candidate for the place held by J. A. Fortenberry, who is retiring.

One of the possibilities that may result from a small vote, it was explained, is that a very small group might be encouraged to launch a write-in movement in support of some candidate who might be objectionable to the citizenship as a whole.

Would Afford Protection

However, according to those in the get-out-the-vote movement, the chief reason why a representative poll is desired is the protection it will afford to orderly government during the next two years, particularly in such matters as bond, charter change and recall elections.

Under the city charter, it was explained, any petition signed by as

Texas Hit By Cotton Slash

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, March 28—Dr. A. B. Cox, cotton expert and director of the bureau of business research of the University of Texas said today that Texas and Oklahoma farmers have been made to carry the whole load of cotton reduction.

Cox said this was brought about by reduction on an acreage basis rather than on a baleage basis.

Other cotton raising sections, he said, have counteracted reduced acreage by intensive cultivation which climate prevents in the southwest.

Southwest Share Drops

As a result he said the southwest has seen its share of the cotton production dwindle from 41.8 per cent to 28.4 per cent in a decade.

Two Rob Bank At Kirbyville

(By The Associated Press)

KIRBYVILLE, Texas, March 28.—Two bandits looted the Kirbyville State bank at 11:45 a. m. today and fled west towards Tyler county in a shower of bullets that punctured a tire on their automobile.

Vice President Joe D. Wickline and Cashier William McCreight, jr., forced to lay on the floor while the bandit pair sacked all the cash in sight, said they could not immediately estimate the amount taken.

Wickline ran to the door when the bandits hurried out and emptied a pistol at the fleeing machine. Reldon Huffman, a filling station operator, also fired and punctured a tire.

The machine sped on westward with a hastily organized posse in pursuit.

Chances Of Damaging Flood Said Fading

BROWNSVILLE, March 28 (AP)—Chances of a damaging flood from the surging Rio Grande diminished today as waters of the border stream poured through open gates of the Rancho Viejo floorway in Cameron county and the Retamal intake in Mexico.

The rest of the rise already had passed San Benito and Mercedes and the river was dropping rapidly there.

Heavy rains of the past week had caused the flood danger as the Rio Grande became a raging torrent. Prior to the rains it had been reduced to a trickle as the country suffered from drouth.

Message Of Death Arrives As Clock Tolls Insistent Alarm

A clock at 2312 Broadway struck 13 times at 6 o'clock this morning—several times 13. In fact, it struck from 6 until 7:05 o'clock.

Lois Marie Daniel, collegian, rooming there, heard it and looked at her watch. Too sleepy to get up, she again slept.

At 7:05 o'clock she again awakened to hear the clock.

"Sounds like it's tolling," she said.

Getting out of bed, she shook the clock and managed to get it to stop striking.

She heard impatient knocking at the door.

A messenger boy with a death message.

Marion Sprague, father of Buddy Sprague, 16, who was sleeping in a room adjacent to the tolling clock, had been killed near Jacksonville, Fla., when his automobile and an Apalachicola and Northern railway train were in collision at Hosford, Fla.

Buddy's mother is Mrs. Francis Hermann of 2312 Broadway.

Sprague will be buried at Jacksonville.

Sen. Clark Clarifies Stand On Candidacy

WASHINGTON, March 28. (U.P.) — Senator Clark (D-Mo), who has been looked upon as a potential dark horse presidential candidate, said tonight that he did not desire the "empty honor" of a favorite son desgnation.

Announcing he would be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the national convention and chairman of the Missouri group, Clark pledged himself to see that his state's vote was not "traded off" for the vice presidential nomination or the promise of a cabinet portfolio or any other office. He said he would not have the vice presidency or a cabinet job "as a gift."

The senator did not close the door entirely to his consideration as a presidential nominee, but he wrote George K. Williams, a veteran party worker at Farmington, Mo., that he had neither the organization nor financial backing to make a national campaign before the convention.

Cast of Brooklyn's Grimly Real Melodrama, 'Murder, Inc.'

They 'Sing' Of Death

In Brooklyn, N. Y., one of the most fantastic, stranger-than-fiction, underworld sagas ever told is gradually, piece by piece, unfolding. When complete, it may solve at least 30 murders over a 12-year period. First "break" in the incredible story of an organized murder-for-profit syndicate, in which gunmen got as little as $10 per job, came recently when two alleged trigger-men for Murder, Inc., Anthony Maffatore (left, above) and Abraham Levine (center), began to "sing" mob secrets to energetic King's County District Attorney William F. O'Dwyer (right).

First indictment which resulted from the recent "song" of Maffatore and Levine was for the 1939 ice-pick murder of Walter Sage. Photo above shows how assassins had prepared Sage's body for its grave in Lake Shelldrake, N. Y. But other trigger-men's testimony may be as a fairy-tale compared with that of . . .

. . . Abe (Kid Twist) Reles, above. Reles, charged to be one of Murder, Inc.'s most powerful vice-presidents, was recently reported also "singing" for O'Dwyer.

Suspected of being high in the directorship of Murder, Inc.—according to Kings County District Attorney O'Dwyer—are the five underworld characters pictured above.

The murders of the men who appear on the roll of death below are only some of those that District Attorney O'Dwyer is now investigating in connection with Murder, Inc.

Plot To Assassinate Squealers Revealed

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—District Attorney William O'Dwyer disclosed today that gunmen seeking to silence two prize informers in the investigation of Murder, Inc., intended to assassinate them in their Manhattan hotel hide-away.

The prosecutor said the mobsters had taken a room directly across the court yard well from the quarters where Abraham (Pretty Boy) Levine and Tony (The Duke) Maffetore had been sequestered for questioning, and planned to shoot them through the window.

O'Dwyer withheld further details of the plot, adding only that Levine and Maffetore, whose wagging tongues originally "broke" the case against the death-on-the-dotted-line syndicate, had been removed to another hide-away.

Sheriff Asks To Go To Penitentiary Alone

LAREDO, March 28. (AP)—Through his counsel, Sheriff Ignacio Sanchez of Zapata county today asked federal authorities to permit him to go to prison without escort to serve a 13-month sentence on conviction of charges of smuggling.

M. J. Raymond, attorney for Sanchez, said he had made the request of the U. S. district attorney. An answer has not been received. Raymond Further said Sanchez planned to resign as sheriff, possibly tonight.

Sanchez was convicted April 21, 1939, on charges of smuggling, concealing and selling smuggled mules. Besides his prison term he was fined $1,000. His appeal to higher courts was lost.

Mentioned as probable successor to Sanchez was his brother, Jose M. Sanchez, former Zapata county judge.

Interesting Facts On State Contained In Comptroller's Report

Expenses For Texas Hiked

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 28.—Medicine shows still are operating in Texas, and the state still is paying pensions growing out of the war for independence from Mexico.

These facts were among the many disclosed today in the 358-page annual report of the state comptroller of public accounts.

Here are more:

For the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1939, taxes were paid on oil production in 137 counties. Texas has 254 counties.

In the last five years, state government costs have increased consistently, and at the end of the fiscal year stood at an all time high of $164,323,499. Revenues also have increased.

The state in the fiscal year paid $439,182 for rent of lands and buildings and $89,000 for rent of office equipment, machinery and equipment.

Of the ad valorem tax levy for the year, 10.61 per cent proved delinquent. A total of $15,180,631 was collected and delinquencies amounted to $1,801,899.

Much of the tax information had been previously announced.

The report showed that in the fiscal year $409 in occupation taxes were collected from medicine shows, which was about half the collections for the previous year.

They Still Operate

"Believe it or not," said a comptroller's attache, "medicine shows still operate. They're the old-fashioned variety, which warm the crowd up with fiddle and banjo and darkey singing, and then dispense medicine. They are found in small towns."

The state tax is $50 for each performance of the show, which would tend to be prohibitive. However, the counties have the duty of collecting the tax, and do not always collect it. Therefore, the amount of tax paid the state is not conclusive indication of the number of shows operating.

If taxes paid are a barometer, medicine vendors, usually itinerant sellers of medicines and other items in rural areas, are increasing. They paid the state $843, compared with $512 in the previous tax period.

Under a law passed by the Legislature in 1885, providing pensions of $150 a year for indigent veterans of the Texas war of independence, for indigent signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence and for the widows of any such persons, four women still are receiving pensions.

Although the state has abolished legalized horse race betting and the tax based on the same, nevertheless in the fiscal year it received $129 from race track taxes.

This was the revenue from a law enacted in 1897 providing an occupation tax of $100 on race tracks of any type one mile or more in length, and of $50 on each track one-half mile or less in length.

The comptroller's department said the law was defective and was evaded. One manner of evasion was said to be construction of a track a foot or two less than one mile in length.

If a motorist drove eight hours a day, and averaged 40 miles an hour, he would have to travel 26 years before he covered all the highways in the United States.

CHANGE WOULD BE BAD

If the sun were slightly farther away, or closer, than it now is, man could not live on the earth. His needs are so exacting that a very slight change in the amount of heat, air, and moisture on earth would snuff out his life.

Welles Not Expected To Return Home With News Of Early Peace

Long War Is More Likely

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The trend of developments in Europe since Sumner Welles sailed for home precludes the possibility that President Roosevelt's factfinding representative is returning with information indicating an early peace "over there."

In Berlin, Paris, London and Rome, where the undersecretary of state sought information for the president, events have increased rather than lessened the probabilities of a long war. Welles found both sides girding for a battle to the death.

Has Important Facts

Statesmen and diplomats of the world would give much for an accurate summary of the report which Welles will make to Mr. Roosevelt. They might find in it the basis for a new estimate of German or Allied war strategy this year. It could foreshadow impending political or military development in southeastern Europe.

Above all, Welles might have a key to the riddle of Italian policy and to the outcome of the Hitler-Mussolini conference in Brenner pass. He might also have a more complete understanding of political developments in France and England which have reconstructed the Paris government and which foreshadow cabinet changes in London.

New Ominous Shadow

The French political crisis has cast a new ominous shadow over already strained relations between France and Russia. Ousting of the Soviet ambassador to Paris for sending indiscreet messages to Moscow chortling over Russia's victory in Finland obviously was a move of the fallen Daladier ministry, which Daladier's successor, Premier Reynaud, completed.

It is a reasonable guess that Welles obtained a confidential review of the French ministerial crisis and its effect on Allied war policy. He conferred with both Daladier and Reynaud.

The only official inkling of the matters confided to Welles in either Allied capital came from British Prime Minister Chamberlain. He told parliament that the American special representative could not have doubted Britain's win-the-war unity.

Not the least important communication Welles could make to the president would be to reduce the Allied "smash Hitlerism" battle cry to specific terms of frontier security and freedom of economic outlets and inlets in Europe.

Welles may know or be able to deduce whether "crush-Hitlerism" means only eliminating Hitler, or a more sweeping make-over of Germany.

Plans For Airline Leave Out Lubbock

SAN ANTONIO, March 28 (AP)—Plans for air route connections between San Antonio and Denver via Hobbs, N. M., were discussed before the aviation committee of the local chamber of commerce by R. H. Herrstein, general traffic manager of Continental Air Lines, Denver, at a meeting here yesterday.

The route proposed by Continental would connect San Antonio with Hobbs via El Paso, Carlsbad, Midland or Big Spring and San Angelo. It would leave out Lubbock and Amarillo and possibly Big Spring, cities which have cooperated with San Antonio in support of a proposed air line between San Antonio and Denver via Amarillo.

Continental had an application pending before the Civil Aeronautics authority for the proposed route discussed here and for a route between Pueblo, Colo., and Amarillo.

Braniff Airways has applications pending to fly between San Antonio and Denver via Amarillo and also connecting with Laredo and for a line between San Antonio and El Paso taking in Uvalde, Del Rio and Marfa.

Sanders Funeral home will direct burial in a Lubbock cemetery.

Verdict of death from gunshot wound, self-administered, was returned by Walter Davies, justice of peace, following an inquest.

British Warplane Is Shot Down By Dutch; Had Refused To Land

German Ship Also Downed

(By The United Press)

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands, March 28—Two Netherlands fighting planes shot down a British Blenheim bombing plane at 6 a. m. today over the nearby island of Ijsselmonde.

One occupant of the British plane parachuted to earth and was found dead later. Four others managed to land the plane in flames, and emerged unhurt. They were interned immediately.

Tried To Force It Down

Apparently, reports said, the British plane had been flying over Netherlands territory for some time before two Netherlands Fokker fighting planes took off and circled the Blenheim, trying to force it down. Apparently the British plane refused to descend, it was said, and the Netherlands planes machine-gunned it at a height of 1,300 feet.

The British plane made what was called a marvelous forced landing and its four remaining occupants jumped out through flames that were enveloping it.

Fired Warning Shots

It was said that the Netherlands planes first fired warning shots across the British plane and that it fired back. Then, it was said, the Netherlands planes fired direct at the Blenheim.

The plane continued burning until it had been consumed.

Nazi Invader Downed Off Scotland's Coast

LONDON, March 28 (AP)—The Royal Air Force today shot down a German warplane off the northeast coast of Scotland.

The air ministry at the same time announced extensive British reconnaissance flights over northwest Germany last night in which two planes failed to return. One was shot down by Netherlands planes and the other by Germans over Helgoland bight.

study them before ruling. Then a date not occupied on the court's docket will be selected.

The suit complains that 14 eligible persons are not receiving pensions or are receiving smaller amounts than they are entitled to under the law which prohibits consideration of ability of children to contribute to their support in fixing the amount of grants.

The answer filed by the attorney general's department for the public welfare board challenged the right of pensioners to maintain such a suit. If they have such right, it was contended, they had failed first to appeal from the decision of local investigators to the welfare board. Contention was made also that ruling of the board is made final by the act of the legislature.

Nearly half a hundred greying old folks, including one old lady, attended the brief court session.

"In that section as well as the southeast and the irrigated regions, use of fertilizers and intense cultivation made it easy to adapt the production to reduced acreage while in Texas and Oklahoma sub-humid to slightly humid climate precludes the use of appreciable amounts of fertilizer and of gaining much by intensive cultivation.

"A program of drastically limiting cotton acreage in this region destroys its advantage in cotton production."

Prominent Social Leader Is Claimed By Death Today At Her Home In Palm Beach

(By The United Press)

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 28—Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick Fiermonte, twice-married widow of John Jacob Astor IV, is dead at a house she had leased for the winter, her household disclosed early today.

It was understood that she died about 1 a. m. of a heart ailment. No details were given. Her son, John Jacob Astor, born after his father's death on the Titantic, was hurrying here from New York. He had left his mother's home only two days ago.

In Semi-Retirement

Mrs. Fiermonte had been living quietly here during the winter, in an $80,000 home on the ocean front. She had been in semi-retirement since 1938 when she divorced Enzo Fiermonte, handsome young Italian pugilist, and sent him back to Europe with a "suitable" financial settlement.

Mrs. Fiermonte formerly was Madeline Talmage Force of New York. She married the fourth John Jacob Astor, scion of one of the wealthiest families of America, in 1911. They honeymooned on the Astor yacht Nourmahal, which Astor later donated to the United States navy. They toured Europe on a prolonged honeymoon, took the Titanic home. Some of the 712 survivors among the 2,224 aboard the ill-fated ship recalled having seen Col. Astor gallantly escort his bride to a lifeboat, bow tip his cap in farewell, and retire to join the men waiting in the smoking room to drown.

MRS. MADELINE FIERMONTE

The disaster was a shock from which the bride, then with child, did not recover for years, her friends said. Later she married and divorced William K. Dick, and in 1933 she married Fiermonte, who had been middleweight boxing champion of Italy.

Trade Pacts

000 to $102,450,000. The decision came on a 162 to 144 teller vote.

However, the economy forces in the House will be permitted to ask for still another vote—a roll call vote—later.

A little earlier, the House shouted down a request by Rep. Taber (R-NY) to slash the fund to $45,000,000.

Economy Is Forgotten

An outstanding trend pointed up in the House was Congress' switch from an attitude of economy to one of election-year spending.

The reversed trend, started by Senate increases of $210,000,000 in the farm appropriation bill, gained new force yesterday when the House tentatively voted $67,500,000 more than President Roosevelt asked for the CCC and National Youth administration.

To Be More Liberal

Economy advocates, with but faint hopes of checking this trend on roll call votes today, said these increases indicated the House probably would be more liberal than the president's estimate of $1,000,000,000 for relief next year. They also predicted the House would back up most of the Senate farm increases.

The reason ascribed by the economy forces for the spending swing was that farm, relief, CCC and NYA appropriations appeal directly to certain voter groups.

No New Taxes

Rep. Woodrum (D-Va) predicted that Congress, despite the increases over budget estimates, would neither vote new taxes nor increase the $45,000,000,000 debt limitation.

He indicated belief that the problem would be passed along to next January's new Congress.

The House approved yesterday $50,000,000 additional for the CCC and $17,450,000 more than the budget estimate for NYA. These increases would give CCC $280,000,000 and NYA $102,450,000.

Vote Campaign

many as 10 per cent of the number of votes cast Tuesday will be sufficient to compel the city commission to call any bond or charter change election which might be asked in the next two years. Thus, if only 200 votes should be cast, officials explained, a petition signed by 20 qualified voters would be enough to force the commission to call any such an election. Thirty per cent will be sufficient to force a recall election.

First announcement of the campagin was made before the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club, and will be followed by others before weekly meetings of the American Business, Optimist and Lions club.

Cooperation of the bar association, the junior chamber of commerce and the League of Young Democrats also has been assured, it was announced.

Dr. W. B. Irvin, city school superintendent, said that bulletins calling attention to the election and urging them to vote will be addressed to teachers in the city school.

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Texas Technological college, said that faculty members there also will be reminded of the poll. Cooperation of women's clubs also will be sought.

Polling place in the election will be the space formerly occupied by the Central Fire station on the first floor of the city hall. It will be open from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

Finland Moves Toward Rebuilding Country

HELSINKI, March 28. (AP) — Finland made a start tonight toward rebuilding the nation on the ashes of an unhappy peace.

Premier Risto Ryti's wartime cabinet resigned, to be succeeded immediately by a coalition ministry under the same leader and dedicated to the sole task of reconstruction.

The new cabinet differs from that which led the country through 3½ months of war chiefly in that it includes members of all major parties and several ministers with no active political affiliations. They were selected because Finns generally agreed they were the best men to direct the gigantic task of post-war rebuilding.

Premier Ryti and eight others of the wartime cabinet have been carried over in ministry formed today.

ble to determine yet whether she also had been shot. State motor police ballistics experts were enroute from Harrisburg to aid in the investigation.

College authorities reported that as far as they could determine the girl had no close male acquaintances on the campus.

In high school, she was treasurer of her senior class, a member of several honorary societies and participated in baseball, basketball and swimming.

New Venire Called For "Tiger Girl"

(By The United Press)

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 28—A new venire was summoned today to pick the last juror to hear the murder trial of Mrs. Toni Henry, the "tiger girl," who is staking a life sentence against the gallows.

The state qualified 11 jurors yesterday to receive its demand that Mrs. Henry be hanged if she is convicted of murdering J. P. Calloway, 42, Houston tire salesman, last Feb. 14.

Defense attorneys announced that they would seek a life sentence, rather than acquittal, basing their pleas on the sordid life the young woman had led in red light districts since she was 13.

The tiger girl is charged with Harold Finnan Burke, 23, with stripping the clothing from Calloway after he had picked them up on the highway and shooting him to death in a rice field near here.

Both Accuse The Other

Both accuse the other of firing the pistol shot that killed Calloway. Their antagonistic defenses caused separate trials to be granted each.

Mrs. Henry calmly chewed gum during selection of jurors yesterday, paying no attention to the press of curious spectators who so jammed the courtroom that Judge John T. Hood threatened to banish them.

Spectators overflowed available seats and crowded the aisles, talking and pushing. Veniremen had to push their way forward for questioning.

FARMER IS WED

FORT WORTH, March 28 (U.P.)—Marriage of State Rep. Clarence of Fort Worth to Ruth Trimble Payne was announced here today by the bride's mother, Mrs. Lucy O. Trimble. The wedding took place yesterday in Waxahachie.

Fergusons

repealed.

Dan Moody, implacable foe of Fergusonism, defeated her for a second term.

Ross S. Sterling, Houston oil man, beat her in a comeback bid in 1930. He asserted she freed too many convicts, paroling and pardoning 3,500 of the state's normal 6,000 prisoners.

Mrs. Ferguson came back in the next election, upsetting Sterling in 1932.

They're Getting Old

The Fergusons are getting old. They can speak the language of the aged—the pensioners who helped elect songster-governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, the hillbilly flour merchant.

Mrs. Ferguson says if she runs her platform will call for less discrimination against people over 45 years of age; a gross receipts tax to aid the aged and a third term for President Roosevelt.

Farmer Jim, who once told the voters they might be getting "two governors for the price of one" if his wife was elected, probably will be her spokesman.

He is strong for a Roosevelt third term. Ferguson, Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio and Mayor Tom Miller of Austin may try to swing the Texas Democratic delegation to Roosevelt and away from Vice President Garner.

NEWSBOY IS KILLED

WACO, March 28 (AP)—O. B. Erklin, 18-year-old newspaper carrier, was killed today when an automobile and his bicycle collided north of the city limits. He was delivering papers when the accident occurred.

Dies Inquiry

tee anything about his two brothers on the ground that such matters were "personal." He was supported in this by his attorney, Sol H. Cohn of New York.

Asks About Records

The refusal to divulge names of party members came when Chairman Dies (D-Tex) asked who kept the records for communist party district five in Pennsylvania, of which Powers said he was secretary. Powers said there was no membership list but that some one under him kept a record of dues.

"Who keeps those records?" Dies asked.

"The purpose of this committee—," Powers started to reply.

"We don't want any dissertation from you," Dies shouted at him.

After a further exchange of shouts, Powers said he wished to reply in his own way.

Dies Pounds Gavel

"After my answer is made," he said defiantly in his slight Russian accent, "if it's not satisfactory you can say so."

Dies settled back in his chair to listen but quickly made the room ring with his gavel pounding when Powers said:

"Mr. Dies has made it clear he intends to put us on a blacklist. I will be no party to putting members on a blacklist. You've got the wrong man here."

Some Optimistic Fans Pick Red Sox To Top Yanks For Pennant

Cronin Thinks Young Bagby Is Big Hope

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla., March 28—A number of baseball seers have about decided to pick the Boston Red Sox to win the American league pennant, partly on a hunch the Yankees are overdue for some bad breaks, but mainly because of the terrific way the Sox are hitting the ball.

Joe Cronin's club is impressive. It won't need but a little better pitching than it got last season to give the Yanks a tussle. One 20-game pitcher would please Cronin. Gray-haired Lefty Grove topped the staff with 15 wins last season.

Lesson Not Lost

Joe now thinks he might have his 20-game man coming up in young Jim Bagby. Jim was a sensation in his freshman year, but it went to his head, and last season he got shipped back to the minors.

The lesson apparently was not lost. He is back working hard and pitching some of the greatest ball seen in the exhibition games. The other day he held the Giants hitless for six innings and issued only two walks.

The Sox have been hitting at an awesome clip, even with Jimmie Foxx slower than usual in getting his batting eye. In only two of their first 10 games did they fail to make three hits in succession at least once.

Is Bad Medicine

A team with that much natural power is bad medicine when it gets any kind of pitching. If Dominic DiMaggio proves a .300 hitter, that will be so much gravy.

There is only one thing wrong with the reasoning that the Yankees might lose because they cannot much longer escape some injuries to their key men or at least have one or two of their stars go sour.

They are loaded with crack reserves. An injury to one of their infielders, for instance, would only mean that Tommy Henrich might have to take over first base or Bill Knickerbocker step in at second. Both would be playing regularly on most other clubs anyway.

The same cannot be said of the Sox. All they have is one very fine infield, and the moment anything happens to Foxx, Cronin, Bobby Doerr or Jim Tabor they will be in a bad spot.

Hogan Holds Three-Stroke Lead Over The Field In Greensboro Open But Guldahl Looks Hot And Might Come Back Fast

(By The Associated Press)

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 28—If Ben Hogan ever marches in a parade, he's a cinch to be drum major.

Since the first round of the North-South open was finished at Pinehurst last Thursday, Ben hasn't been in any worse spot than a tie for first place. In six rounds of tournament play, he has been under par five times.

Today, going into the last 36 holes of the $5,000 Greensboro open tournament, he held a three-stroke lead over Gene Sarazen and Ralph Guldahl. You hardly could cook up toucher opposition, but Hogan looked equal to holding it off.

If anyone catches him today, our bet would ride on Guldahl. When big, sloped shouldered Ralph walked off the 18th green yesterday after a 67 that was four under par and tied him with Sarazen at 140, he seemed pretty happy.

"That's the best round I've played since I won the Masters tournament at Augusta last spring," said the two-time U. S. open winner. "It really wasn't sensational golf, though the score might look that way. All I did was keep out of trouble, and that's the main and important thing on these courses."

Farmer Looks For Outdoor Triumphs

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, March 28—Little more than three years ago a one-armed boy, a patient friend and a discarded adhesive tape can figured in a piece of drama out on the Texas Tech college campus at Lubbock, that is leading into an amazing hurling career.

Towering, determined Marsh Farmer was the one-armed boy. Track Coach Berl Huffman was the patient friend. The adhesive tape can was the solution to the problem.

Has Gained Records

Marsh Farmer, his left arm off above the elbow since berth, has carried that afternoon's discoveries to great heights—including a Sugar bowl triumph over world-famed Alan Tolmich in the 120-yard high hurdles and a national AAU 110-meter hurdle victory that tied the world record.

Now wearing the colors of the Shore Athletic club of Elberson, N. J., Farmer plans to get back to Texas Tech and work on his degree soon.

Four years ago the 6 foot, 3 inch boy quietly reported for track and advised Coach Huffman he wanted to be a hurdler, physical handicaps notwithstanding. He worked for days and then Huffman sent him over the sticks for the first time.

He Fumbled Badly

Fumbling badly on the start because of his inability to shove off with only one arm, Farmer finally completed the 120-yard high hurdles in 20.1 seconds—disheartening time for the distance.

But Coach Huffman sat in the stands and saw something on that lazy run. He saw a great, long stride and a look of determination on the boy's face. It mattered little that he was off balance as he cleared the

Texas Favored To Take Flag

(By The Associated Press)

It's not news to say the University of Texas is favored to win the Southwest conference baseball championship.

The Longhorns have been doing that for years.

It is a measure of news, however, to say that the conference campaign slips up on everyone more or less by starting tomorrow with four of the teams swinging into action.

Southern Methodist, with only three lettermen, goes to Fort Worth to open a series with the veteran Texas Christian university aggregation.

Aggies Meet Rice

The highly-regarded Texas Aggies tangle with the Rice Owls at College Station. Rice is pretty much of an unknown quantity.

Texas, which holds victories over Tulsa of the Texas league and Toledo of the American association, does not open the conference campaign until next week, engaging Southern Methodist at Austin on Thursday.

Baylor, another highly-regarded outfit, blasts off the lid against S. M. U. at Waco Friday of next week.

CATERPILLARS FARMED OUT

In India, silkworm caterpillars are farmed out by their owners to be fed. When they transform themselves into silk-covered cocoons, they are returned and weighed, and the feeder is paid according to the weight of his offering.

Scribe Urges Top Honor To Faithful Fans

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 28—If I ran the baseball hall of fame at Cooperstown, or even had something on the man who does, I would reserve two niches (or nichi) for bronze busts of my own selection.

On one niche, where I would be sure to get cross ventilation and the morning sun, I would place a bust of a typical Philadelphia Phillies fan. And right next to it, because misery loves company, I would place a bust of a typical St. Louis Browns rooter.

Deserve Recognition

The two types certainly deserve to be recognized and immortalized in any memorial dedicated to the great of baseball. They deserve it on two counts.

First, they must be the greatest lovers of baseball we have in this country. Year after year they have been loyal to teams which, destined from the opening of the season to finish last, always fulfilled their destiny.

Are Fast Dying Out

Secondly, they deserve niches at Cooperstown because, like the buffalo, the chafing dish party, and the spit curl, they are fast dying out. If last year's attendance figures of the two teams mean anything, the Philly and the Brown fan won't be with us long. This dying out of two noble races is easy to understand. What fans they do have are of long, long standing. Because certainly they haven't added any new ones in recent years. One can scarcely imagine a newcomer to baseball fandom turning adoring eyes toward either of these teams and saying—"these are my heroes, I will follow them."

You Yankee, Red Sox, Reds, Tigers and Cardinal fans have no conception of the misery and gloom that surrounds a Phillies or Browns rooter. Take right now, during the spring training season, you get a bang out of reading what your team is doing because you know that summer will find it in the thick of the pennant fight, with a chance to win it all.

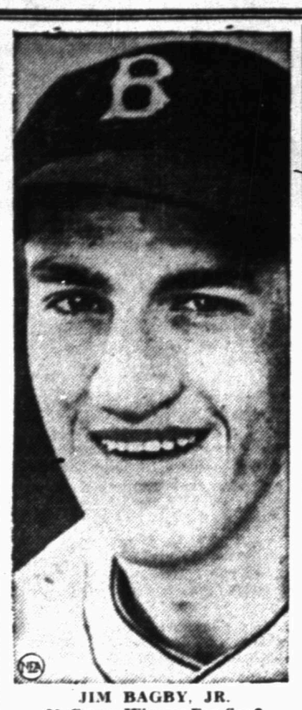

Train For Eighth Place

But what delight can Browns or Phillies rooters find in reading of spring training? They know what their teams are training for—eighth place. What good all these reports of calisthenics, long batting and fielding drills, and exhibition games? None. Deep in their hearts the Phillies and Browns rooters know that their athletes might just as well be lolling in pool parlors, smoking big black cigars, and staying out to all hours of the night. Once the season opens, and the play is for keeps, the Browns and the Phillies will start tumbling down, down, down, until by midseason a miner's light will be required to find them in the standing of the clubs.

The fans of these two clubs cannot even allow themselves to get excited over the accidental discovery of a new star or stars by their teams. They know from past experience that just as soon as the new discoveries prove themselves of real worth the owners of the clubs will sell them off to the highest bidder. This is particularly true of the Phillies, where a player can get himself placed on the auction block by getting two hits in a row or drawing three successive bases on balls.

The general belief is that the Browns and the Phillies will even be worse this year than last. That is a generous tribute to their inefficiency, because they were tops at being bottom last year. The Browns lost 111 of their 154 games last season, and the Phillies dropped 106 of their 151.

Come on Cooperstown. Let's have a little space.

Rules Changes To Be Talked

(By The Associated Press)

ST. Joseph, Mo., March 28.—Those masterminds who determine just how many times a girl may bounce a basketball and how many steps she may take while in possession of it meet today to discuss changes in the playing code.

Some agitation has developed for a smaller ball to give the girls better controllability. The sphere is the same size as used by male collegians and there is little question that women's hands are smaller than men's.

The ball is 29 1-2 inches in circumference. It has been as large as 32 and as low as 28.

Favors Full Dribble

Miss Ruth White, Kansas City player-coach and referee, favors a full dribble. Girls now are permitted to bounce the ball only once.

Other changes suggested would give a team fould the option of shooting the free throw or taking the ball out of bounds, as now prevails in the game for men. Another would permit a time out for each team in an overtime period.

Fran Williams, coach of the champion Galveston, Tex., Anicos, thinks the present code should be retained without change.

Cripplegate, in London, derived its name from the beggars who sat there as early as the year 1010.

Registration For School Is Begun

First actual step toward Lubbock's first baseball school got under way this morning when youngsters began registering for the ten-day course beginning April 3.

A premium was set on early registrations, and by noon the registration desk at Sherrod Hardware company had been fairly swamped by young fellows who wish to take advantage of supervised instruction in rudiments and advance play of baseball—and who wish to be free guests at the Chicago White Sox-Pittsburgh Pirates major league exhibition game here next Thursday.

Sponsored By Jaycees

The school is sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Hugh Dunlap, president, had announced that arrangements had been made whereby the first 100 boys registering for the school would receive free admissions to the major league game Thursday. A special bleacher section will be set up for the "scholars."

All boys between the ages of 10 and 17 years are eligible to enter the baseball school, which is to be conducted daily between the hours of 4 and 6 at the Fox Recreation park, on College avenue at Third street. Expert instruction, men who have played professional baseball and who have "kept up" with the game's growth, will be in charge of a class which is expected to run well over 150 boys.

Small Tuition Fee

Each boy, upon registering, is to pay a "tuition fee" of 25 cents, which entitles him to attend each class of the 10-day school and to receive a special admission badge and, at the conclusion of the school, a merit award or "diploma."

Only other requirement is that each boy bring his own glove or mitt. Baseballs and bats will be furnished. If boys desire to work in baseball shoes, they must furnish their own.

W. A. Holt Athletic company of Waco is supplying the baseballs for the school, while Sherrod Hardware company and the Lubbock recreational department of the W. P. A. is providing bats.

All-Stars To Play

At the conclusion of the school, two teams will be picked from the entire class, and these teams shall compete in an "all-star" game at Fox Par.

NEW YORK, March 28. — It's a fact that Lee Savold turned thumbs down on a June title bout with Joe Louis. . . . Mike Jacobs nearly swallowed his store teeth when Lee told him he'd rather whip another good guy first. . . . We don't blame him for taking care of himself as long as possible—But then there's the angle that opportunity and the postman may not ring twice. . . . Anyway, with Billy Conn on the shelf for another six months, Lee's postponed fight with Bob Pastor may be put on as an outdoor show in Detroit this summer.

Reason La Berg passed up the Mid-South tournament (which she won last year) to hurry back home, was tootsie trouble. . . . ...nning A Garden?

...rtable Garden Is An Idea For Roaming ...riculturists; FSA Offers Tip On Plan

BY ROBERT E. GEIGER
...ociated Press Feature Writer

...ple who have got the urge to ...me gardening but who rent ...e homes or otherwise occupy ... under circumstances that ...t secure might take a tip from ... Farm Security administration.

...NTH IN1 ...A SERIES

One of the requirements of FSA was that certain tenant - farmers should raise gardens to be eligible for FSA loans. Often, tenants had ...ove before their gardens ma... and thus they lost the benefit.

...e FSA invented the portable ... A substantial frame 18 inches ... about 20 feet long and 5 wide ...nstructed. The bottom is filled ...n cans or tile, for drainage. ... are covered with about 12 inches of super fertile soil.

As many of these portables as are necessary may be constructed, but FSA experts say if the soil is rich and planting is done carefully, one 20x5 frame will supply almost enough vegetables for a small farm family the year 'round.

If it is necessary for a family to move, frames are loaded on a truck and carried to the new home—even if the whole garden is all ready for the harvest.

Where space is limited, city gardeners have adapted the portable plan to their needs. They set the frame on top of the garage—or on the house if it has a flat roof—and raise their vegetables a-la-penthouse.

REMOVAL OF DANDELIONS

If your lawn is comparatively free of dandelions, pulling them by hand is the best method, experts agree. But if you have a field of dandelions to contend with, here's an eradicator developed at the University of Wyoming:

Sprinkle the lawn with high test white kerosene, about seventenths of a pound of kerosene to 100 square feet of lawn. About six weeks later, treat the grass with ammonium sulphate, obtainable in commercial form, to stimulate the roots.

Experts recommend the kerosene treatment, or any other "easy method" of dandelion removal, only when the lawn is so full of the pests it doesn't matter whether the remedy kills or cures.

Tomorrow: Growing a lawn.

That Girl on Broadway says many of us are always doing so many things tomorrow that we're too tired to work today.

Hollywood authorities are searching for a missing blonde as if one blonde, more or less, in Hollywood could possibly matter!

IT'S a long, long time until the lush fall and early winter season, but time has a way of fleeing and it's not a long way between these spring days and the annual "drive" season as we might think.

Therefore, in The Plainsman's opinion, now is the time for Lubbock civic organizations, the chamber of commerce and the Retail Merchants association and any other interested groups to begin to consider the advisability of instituting here this year the Community Chest method of raising funds for the various organizations which are kept up via the financial drive method.

It is true that Lubbock once tried the Community Chest plan and while it worked, all right, there was considerable criticism of it.

That criticism was based—and rightly so, we think—upon the fact that a high-powered solicitor was brought in from New York, or some other foreign seaport, to run the thing and his organization naturally got a generous "cut" of the "take."

This column does not favor a professionally run Community Chest in Lubbock. But it does favor a locally controlled and operated Chest organization so all drives can be lumped into one every year and so citizens on the "pitching" end of the game can better keep up with the needs of the "takes" of those on the "catching" end.

Further, we don't know of a single person opposed to lumping all the drives into one, and pro-rating the total according to the needs of the various donations-supported agencies EXCEPT a few who are overly enthusiastic about, or paid a salary by, the agencies involved.

By and large, our information is that those who do the giving—and most of those who give to one agency give to several, or all, of them—are in favor of the Chest plan.

THOSE who are opposed to lumping all the drives together base their opposition largely on fear that their pet agency—the one in which they are most interested, or are paid by—won't get as much via the Chest route as under the present system.

While that certainly is logical on the part of those most interested in, or paid by, one agency, it is of no particular moment to those who do the donating.

And, after all, the guys who pay the freight should have some rights and some voice in the matter.

There is no good reason, we believe, to suspect that the Lubbock business man who is giving an average of $100, say, in all the drives staged by all the agencies shouldn't continue to give $100 in the one big drive.

As a matter of fact, most business men we know would rather give it all at once—or pledge it all at once—than to be prodded until they're bowlegged by drive after drive after drive, each following on the heels of the other.

We see no reason to have six or 10 drives, when one drive will do the job just as well.

And certainly the idea should appeal to those who work in the drives, as well as to those who just "kick in." Most men and women who work in drives lend their aid to several each year.

ANOTHER thing to recommend the Chest plan is that through it the donating public can keep a closer check on the activities and expenditures which their donations make possible and thus avoid, to some extent, repetition in expenses and activities by the various agencies. As it is now, there is considerable over-lapping.

Take for example, the work being done here by the Boy Scouts and the Downtown Boys' club.

The scout organization, financed by public subscription, bases its campaign drive upon the theory that the Boy Scouts take care of the activities of all boys of from 9 to 14 or 15 in the city, regardless of their economic position. The scouts are not, the organization claims, solely or principally made up of boys whose parents are able, personally, to pay the expenses involved in their boys being in the scouts. The scout organization, it is claimed, is doing much work among the underprivileged—building character, sponsoring all sorts of activities and catering to the moral, entertainment, physical and mental needs of all the boys.

On the other hand, those supporting the Downtown Boys club, which is of, by and for the lads in the lower economic brackets, claim that their organization is the one doing the work among the less fortunate—financially speaking — of our youngsters.

The Downtown Boys club is, like the scouts, supported by public subscription, said public subscription to be used for the activities of boys who otherwise couldn't have the fun and the training that the club gives.

OBVIOUSLY, there is an overlapping between the boys club and the scout organization here.

If the scout organization is reaching all boys of all classes interested in athletic and other boys' activities, then where is the room for the Downtown Boys' club?

And, on the other hand, if the scout organization is, as its critics maintain, topheavy with boys whose parents can pay their way, why not take the scout organization off the public donation basis, and give the money now being raised publicly to the Downtown Boys club?

Bear in mind, The Plainsman is not hostile to either the scout organization's theories, or its teachings, or to the work of the Downtown Boys club. We simply use these two agencies, in which many generous, public-spirited local people are actively interested, as examples.

If the reader sat where The Plainsman sits, he would see other duplications of efforts and expenditures in other of our social enterprises.

The Salvation Army, for instance, extends over into the church field and also into fields at least partially administered to by various government agencies and the Red Cross.

The Tech YMCA, for another instance, duplicates, or seeks to duplicate, work being carried on by young peoples' organizations in practically all of the local churches.

In short, there are many over-lappings and many duplications—not only in effort and money spent, but in donations.

IT OCCURS to The Plainsman that the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, or the Lubbock Retail Merchants association might well take time out to study the Community Chest plan, to compare it with our present, repetitious system and then, if it appears advisable, make the step this year to eliminate all but one financial drive — making that one drive do for all.

You can mark it down on your cuff that sooner or later, Lubbock will take this step.

And as we see it, the step may as well be taken now as later.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect.

LANCE BARSTOW, hero. Lance had great dreams for the future. So did.

CYNTHIA CANTRELL, orphaned granddaughter of great-aunt Mary Cantrell. Still another dreamer was BARNEY McKNIGHT, newspaperman. But Barney was more than a dreamer.

Yesterday: Presenting her huge stack of bridal bills to her attorney, Janet is advised that Wall street has been jittery. Suddenly she wonders about her investments!

CHAPTER X

Janet left Mr. Bryant's office, hardly able to grasp the dimensions of the disaster that had overtaken her.

This quarter, it seemed, the A and S stock her father had left her, for years considered among the most reliable in the financial world, instead of paying the generous dividend on which she had learned to depend, had declared only a small fraction of it.

"Of course, it's bound to come back," Mr. Bryant reassured Janet, "when the general business picture clears up. But all that may take time; and it is even possible that the next dividend may be passed entirely."

In the meantime, it appeared, there was enough money in an emergency fund to pay Janet's immediate bills; and there were enough government bonds and other safe securities to furnish her with that Mr. Bryant playfully called "pin money" until matters adjusted themselves.

Pin money! Janet thought with bitter amusement.

"However," Mr. Bryant said as she got up to go, "it isn't so serious as a calamity as it might be. You are marrying a successful young man. I am sure that Mr. Barstow is resourceful enough to be able to arrange some way of financing your house."

"Of course," Janet said stoutly. "It was all my idea in the first place — my making the payments, I mean."

But she was thinking, "How am I ever going to tell Lance?"

The luncheon at Sylvia Grant's was an utter nightmare. There was a vacant chair where Cynthia was to have sat. Sylvia explained that Cyn had telephoned that morning to say that she and Mr. Benton were taking the noon plane to New York, and of course she couldn't come.

When Janet went in, Leslie Pugh was saying, "Well, Cynthia doesn't let any grass grow under her feet. She's hardly known Timothy Benton a month. I suppose she just couldn't bear to see cousin Janet—oh, hello, Janet! How sweet you're looking!"

Sylvia, seeing that Janet had heard, put in lightly, "For that matter, Janet isn't so slow, herself. Look at the way she grabbed Lance off right under Cynthia's nose."

"The way I—what?" Janet gasped.

"Do you mean to say you never heard that Lance and Cyn were thicker than thieves when you came home and walked off with him?" Leslie demanded.

Janet said, "Don't be funny!"

And then stood for a moment, very still with the memory of Cynthia's stormy eyes when she had cried last night, "Why you little fool, you don't imagine it was Barney I wanted, do you?"

Some one asked, "And what about Barney McKnight?"

"Oh, Barney just happened to be in the way and caught Cyn on the bounce. You can't tell me that either of them took that very seriously," Sylvia said.

Leslie Pugh observed, fitting a cigaret into a jade holder, "Well, if you ask me, Cynthia's done the smart thing. Here Timothy Benton's been back in circulation for over a year, and it never occurred to any of the rest of us that he was to be had. At least, Cynthia'll have a roof this winter."

Then they were talking about someone—Janet didn't hear who—who had "lost his shirt" in the stock market that week; and she remembered again that she would have to tell Lance about the payments on the house at supper that evening.

She had not intended to tell him until after they had eaten; but he opened the subject of the house almost immediately.

When she had told him everything — even about Aunt Mary's trust fund, he said, his face very white, "But, Janet, I don't understand. I always thought your money was—that is, do you mean, darling, that you have—nothing left?"

"Practically, Lance—in comparison with what we counted on."

"That man Bryant ought to be prosecuted."

"It isn't Mr. Bryant's fault, Lance. Father bought that stock. Everyone has always supposed it was fool-proof. . . . And this sort of thing has been happening to people all around us lately."

"Don't I know it? We lost two big contracts today for that very reasons—customers playing the market. But there should have been some way to avoid this."

"Eat your dinner, Lance. Your steak will be ruined."

"I—somehow I don't feel very hungry."

In some indefinable way he was making her feel as if that were all her fault. . . . Janet wasn't very hungry, either, but she said with a laugh, "Nevertheless, you're short-sighted to waste such a good filet. If this sort of thing keeps on, we may wake up some day and find ourselves glad to dine on sinkers and coffee."

In a moment now Lance would be laughing, too—his usual whimsical, humorous self. You could always depend on Lance's sense of humor. . . . But he burst out irritably, "For God's sake, Jan, don't talk like that!"

"Why not? I think it's rather stimulating to toy with the idea that we might be worse off."

When he did not speak, but continued to sit, brooding over his untouched dinner, Janet went on, hesitating a little, "Lance, on the way down I thought of something that might solve the difficulty for awhile. Aunt Mary isn't so hard hit as I am. All she needs, really, is a little help to be able to stay at the Breckenridge. What I have left will be practically enough for that. We had planned to go to the hotel till the house was finished, anyhow. Why can't we just take my room and Cynthia's and split expenses with Aunt Mary? We'd save a lot that way. Then you could go on paying for the house just as you planned before you got your cut."

He was looking at her as if he hardly heard her—as if, deep within himself, he was busy with his own rapid thoughts.

In a moment, however, he roused himself.

"And where would that leave us when the house was finished?" he demanded impatiently. "Exactly where we are now."

"But I thought—well, I thought that then Aunt Mary might come

For the clearest possible understanding of what a proposed Lubbock zoning ordinance will attempt to accomplish, let us suggest a visit to the council chamber of the City hall to study a large city map which forms a part of the pending measure.

The ordinance is the most involved, the most intricate that ever has been proposed to a City commission here. In that respect, it is typical of the zoning ordinances of the cities—the most advanced cities—which operate under city plans. It is so involved that it is extremely difficult for even an expert to understand from a verbal description just how the proposition will apply to his property.

But the map is a picture of just what the ordinance would attempt to accomplish. It is in colors with an attached legend so that the property owner can ascertain at a glance just how he will be affected should the ordinance be adopted—and several weeks still must elapse before final action can be taken on the proposition.

The trip to the City hall unquestionably will be inconvenient for most people. It will be impossible for many. But for those who can, we believe the inconvenience will be well worth while.

Pity The Poor Sharecropper; He Gets Hit By Friends Fighting Over Ways To Benefit Him

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Unhappy as the plight of the sharecropper is, there doesn't seem to be any way to keep his friends from fighting among themselves over who is going to help him.

Fight centers between the Southern Tenant Farmers' union, on the one hand, and the CIO's United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America on the other. More accurately, it is between the rival left-wing groups which back these two organizations. Socialists have lined up behind the Tenant Farmers' union, Communists behind the UCAPAWA—although, of course, each union also has many supporters affiliated with neither ism.

Cotton

Row came out in the open recently in connection with observance of National Sharecroppers week.

Aid Funds Drive

This annual appeal to northern liberals for funds has for three years been the chief means by which the Tenant Farmers' union filled its war chest. The "week" usually gets quite a play; this year such national figures as Mrs. Roosevelt and Mayor LaGuardia gave it their active support.

Shortly before the "week" was to begin, supporters of the UCAPAWA organized the National Council to Aid Agricultural Workers and opened an appeal for funds. Since this union is a CIO affiliate, Allan Haywood, organizational director of CIO, sent notice to CIO unions to lay off National Sharecroppers week. In Washington, Gardner Jackson of Labor's Non-Partisan league wrote letters to local sponsors of the "week" asserting that the Tenant Farmers' union is "a spoon-fed group kept alive by contributions from generous-spirited citizens of northern cities" and charging that its activities are a waste of time, energy and money.

So now the fight is on.

EVERGREEN NURSERIES

Our manager came to the Plains forty years ago. They told him cotton simply could not grow here. You know the story. Nobody knows what will not grow here. Evergreen Nurseries say everything they sell will grow here. It backs that up with a gilt edge guarantee. How to find out? Try it. So anything you buy, whatever the price, 30-40 or 80 cents, must live if it takes five years replacements, so the 30-40 or 80 cents is all you will have to pay. That makes us the most economical nursery in Texas to buy from. Our secret is to plant young. Of course you have to wait a little longer but most of us have more time than money. It is a joy to watch them grow.

resentative in legislature both state and national, taking a stand in the interest of the automobile owner.

In 1939, Douglas was honored with the distinction of being chosen as AAA ambassador from Texas for the New York World's fair. He has been particularly active in safety education and driver training in the elementary schools of his territory, as well as a number of colleges where safety education was installed through his efforts.

Douglas said that he was "vitally interested in the district and in as much as I am not depending on the remuneration offered through the office of representative, I will spare no effort in presenting legislation which will be beneficial to the district."

He said he planned to make an active campaign for the office.

Stock Market

RALLYING FEVER COOLS

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—While resistant tendencies today persisted among a few aircrafts and specialties, the rallying fever of yesterday cooled appreciably for the majority of stock market leaders.

Wall street still displayed bullish leanings in the wake of the surprising U. S. Steel dividend, but continued question marks surrounding business and the European war inspired many traders to cash profits on Wednesday's bulge.

The list got off to a spotty start, with steels and motors lagging. There was a subsequent comeback when favorites posted gains running to a point or more. Dealings were lively at intervals. Top prices were reduced or cancelled in numerous cases and closing trends were irregular. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 shares.

Coppers were given a brisk runup after midday, but they soon lost the largest part or all of their improvement. The red metal shares came to life when the Anaconda company announced it was calling for redemption $33,000,000 of its 4 ½ per cent debentures.

Among popular stocks the greater part of the day—some ultimately fell from grace—were Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, International Harvester, Phelps Dodge, Kennecott, Anaconda, Electric Boat, Goodyear, Chrysler and N. Y. Shipbuilding.

Inclined to back away at the last, were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, Loft, White Rock, Canada Dry, Curtiss-Wright "A" and U. S. Gypsum.

Bonds did better and commodities turned uneven at the finish.

Foreign securities markets bounced up at the start, but were unable to hold. A sharp upturn in the "free" British pound-dollar rate at New York was interpreted as a constructive market factor.

Flier Tells Of Battle In Air

WIT THE ROYAL AIR FORCE ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Mar. 28. (AP)—A young New Zealand pilot nicknamed "Copper" today told how he shot down two German Messerschmitt fighting planes in a battle over the Western front yesterday and then was shot down himself.

The pilot, otherwise unnamed, landed safely by parachute. His was one of the three battles in which the British said they shot down five German planes and perhaps two more.

"There was a big bang in front of my eyes and I saw a jagged hole appear as one of the Messerschmitt cannonshells tore through," he said.

"The flames and oil just poured into the cockpit. The shell had hit my petrol tank. . . . I got out as quick as I could and away went the plane with the flames roaring all over the place.

"I felt very refreshed as the air cooled my face.

"I was feeling quite happy and did not think about pulling the ripcord of my parachute at all.

"Then it occurred to me to do this, and everything went hazy. I found myself going through an all-enveloping white filmy mass, and I remember saying to myself, 'I am in heaven.'

"Actually it was a 3,000 foot layer of cloud. . . . It was touch and go whether I would land in France or Germany, and I tried to spill the air out of the parachute to gide it into France. I slumped down in the middle of a plowed field in no man's land."

The pilot said he was found by a French captain who took him to safety.

H. C. Vincent Named General Freight And Passenger Agent

The appointment of H. C. Vincent as general freight and passenger agent of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway company, succeeding Elmer B. Johnson, also promoted, was announced today by officials of the Santa Fe System at Chicago. The changes are effective April 1.

Johnson has been head of the freight and passenger department of the P&SF since last Septmeber when he arrived in Amarillo to take the post vacated by promotion of M. C. Burton as general freight agent of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, at Galveston.

Johnson again follows Burton and will assume his post at Galveston, while the latter will go to Topeka as assistant freight traffic manager, succeeding R. G. Merrick, retiring. Johnson served with the Santa Fe for approximately 30 years, most of that time with the freight traffic department in California.

Vincent is another official to begin a career on the coast lines of the Santa Fe. He started as a telegraph operator on the Arizona division in 1911 and then transferred to the passenger department. He worked in that department at Merced, Pasadena, San Jose and San Francisco. He was made traveling freight and passenger agent at Seattle, Wash., and in 1930 he was appointed general agent at Portland, Ore. From 1932 to 1936 he was division freight and passenger agent at Stockton, Calif., and in 1936 he was promoted to the post of assistant general passenger agent, Los Angeles.

He was elevated to the position of general passenger agent of the Santa Fe Eastern Lines at Topeka, last October, succeeding Glenn Eddie, and continued in that position until the present promotion. He is to be succeeded at Topeka by R. T. Anderson, who has made an outstanding record as division passenger agent at Denver, Colo.

Marsh Farmer

sticks because of that missing arm. Something could be worked out.

A few days later Huffman stood at the starting line with Farmer; suddenly glanced over he saw an old adhesive tape can, about 18 inches in length. He grabbed it, stood it on the ground and instructed Farmer to rest the stump of his arm on the top of the can.

Farmer put pressure on the can, as much as he did in digging his good right hand into the cinders, and shot away to a good start. His balance to the first hurdle was good.

The big fellow stood out on the track and sobbed.

Marsh Farmer started being a great hurdler that afternoon.

Huffman and Farmer experimented with many starting blocks for his arm, making devices out of wood and rubber. Farmer went to Fort Worth and had a strange looking arm rest made of maple wood with a rubber pocket that exactly fitted his arm.

It resembles an arm, spikes on the end holding it firmly in the ground.

From that device Farmer has sped to brilliant hurdle feats. Early in 1939 he did the 220-low hurdles in 23.2 seconds, which equalled the AAU record at that time. Then he won the national AAU junior 110-meter hurdles. He ran third to Rice institute's renowned Fred Wolcott in the 220-lows of that meet, Wolcott breezing in 22.9 seconds for the fastest time in history around a curve. Farmer was around in 23.1 seconds.

Then came the Sugar bowl triumph. Followed a great race of 8.4 seconds for the 70-meter high hurdles, close to the world mark, and then an indoor run of 7.3 in the 60 meters.

The Texan believes his indoor training will lead to outdoor triumphs this summer.

"I'm going to make this Alan Tolmich push me to some world records pretty soon," he wrote Coach Huffman the other day. "I'm tired of pushing him into the record books!"

Brown Shifted To Quarterback Slot

Bill Brown, an end on the 1939 Texas Tech team, was shifted to quarterback position in a surprise move Wednesday afternoon as the Red Raiders romped through their second spring practice grind.

The transfer from Marshall Junior college, who played a lot of end for the Raiders last season, particularly in the Duquesne and Miami games, had been figured on for more terminal duty this season.

Other candidates for the post are Raymond Flusche, Kenneth Robbins, Joe Bob Foster and Wayne Johnston.

Charley horses laid low both C. L. Storrs, junior fullback, and Robbins. Both will be out several days.

Only 75 candidates returned for the second day after 96 had reported Tuesday. Sessions start at 4:30 o'clock each afternoon.

ence Fox, all former professional baseball players and some with major league experience, will serve as instructors, with possibility that other former "money" players will assist as lecturers and instructors.

In addition, it is hoped to obtain the services of several members of the Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates teams for lectures and demonstrations next Thursday afternoon, following the exhibition at the Hubber park.

Mourners Sorry

however, wasn't so sure Joe would make connections. He remembered two rounds he boxed with the bomber back in 1935 without suffering any severe pain, and he figured he was so far advanced now that he would do an artistic job of manhandling the champ himself this time.

This wasn't what the boys and girls with a bob or two to wager on the proceedings thought, however. It was still 1 to 8 Louis would keep right on wearing the crown without mussing his hair and 1 to 3 Paycheck wouldn't leave under his own power.
