U.S. Courthouse To Be Named For John Wood

Ceremonies dedicating the John H. Wood Jr. United States Courthouse in San Antonio are set for 2 p.m. Monday, April 7.

The ceremonies will be a memorial to U.S. District Judge Wood, a Rockport native, and judge of the district court in San Antonio.

Judge Wood was shot and killed June 28, 1979, as he was leaving his San Antonio apartment.

Born in Rockport in 1916,

Judge Wood was the great-grandson of John J. Wood, one of the founders and developers of the town.

He attended St. Mary's University and earned his law degree from the University of Texas in Austin.

He was an attorney for 33 years with the San Antonio law firm of Beckman, Standard, Wood and Keene.

In January, 1971, he was appointed judge in the United States District

Rockport Sales Tax Growing

Rockport's economy, as reflected in the city sales tax, continued to look good for February as the city received a check for $31,420.69 from the office of State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

This was Rockport's return on the city's one percent city sales tax, and it was a substantial increase over the amount returned to the city in February, 1979.

However, Bullock cautioned that most cities received such increases over last year's returns and that the increase was due, at least in part, to the fact that late filings and a backlog of returns decreased city sales tax allocations last year.

Rockport's total sales tax collections so far in 1980 amount to $54,892.14, about 39 percent more than the $39,361.44 collected for the same period last year. Last year's February rebate was only $17,252.77.

On the whole, Rockport's share of the sales tax rebate compared favorably with collections reported by other area cities and towns.

Fulton, on the books as having a city sales tax for the first time since the city incorporated about a year ago, did not receive any rebate for the month of February. Aransas Pass received a rebate of $40,582.15 for February -- $69,808.11 total so far this year -- to show a 29 percent increase in collections over last year.

Ingleside received $14,405.75 in sales tax rebate for a total to date of just over $23,000 -- a whopping 69 percent increase over its collections last year.

Retail Area Expanding Along 35

By Eddie Bradley
The retail area along Highway 35 N is really going to expand if all the plans of business people in the area take shape. One of the latest projects is the Tule Woods Center, which is set for development on the west side of the highway, just south of the Traylor Street intersection.

This center derives its name from Tule Lake, which is located behind the project site. This whole area is part of over a thousand acres which are commonly known as the Spencer Lands and are currently owned by Longhorn Investors, Ltd.

According to a news release, the Tule Woods Center is the first phase of a development which will also include the enlarging of Tule Lake and the construction of multi-family and single-family lakeside homesites.

George Taggart, III, General Partner of Longhorn Investors, Ltd., says the present Tule Woods Center plans call for two buildings with a total of 26,000 square feet of space ranging in size from 700 square feet up.

The spaces will be sold rather than leased, and will be restricted to commercial and professional uses. Although the commercial condominium concept is not new, it will be the first in Aransas County.

Occupants in the center will own the completed space plus an undivided interest in the common elements such as the building exterior, parking area, service yard and covered sidewalks.

Persons desiring space may execute a purchase option and reserve a space until they have approved the condominium declarations and construction plans.

Ron Hoover, sales manager of Security Real Estate, Inc., reports that eight of the spaces have already been reserved; construction on

Hearing Set Tonight On Hospital Moratorium

A five-year Health Systems Plan including a proposal to limit hospital beds in a four-county area -- including Aransas -- will be presented in a public hearing tonight in Corpus Christi.

The hearing will begin at 7 p.m. at the Greenwood Center, 4040 Greenwood Road.

Prepared by the South Texas Health Systems Agency, the plan covers a 26-county area in the Coastal Bend area.

Among proposals by the Agency is a five-year moratorium on hospital beds in the area -- including Aransas, San Patricio and Nueces counties -- until 1985.

The moratorium would apply to all hospitals in the counties of Aransas, San Patricio, Nueces, Bee, Kenedy, Kleberg, Live Oak, McMullen and Refugio.

There are no hospitals in Aransas County at this time. Rockport's Enterprise

Medical Clinic provides emergency and non-bed patient care only.

The moratorium, if adopted, could leave Aransas County without any chance of getting a hospital before 1985.

The proposed moratorium could also seriously hamper a proposed consolidation-expansion program being considered by Lyman-Roberts and Aransas Hospitals in Aransas

Aransas County's Financial Future? "We Don't Know"

By Eddie Bradley
Some of the local financial institutions may not agree on everything, but when it comes to the question of the money market future for our area, the words were almost identical... "We just don't know." Cam Leonard of Live Oak State Bank and Bob Mosier of First National Bank seemed to find agreement that, in one way or another, interest rates were out of the local institutions' hands and were in those of the government.

Leonard stressed that the government has been doing deficit financing for a number of years and said that the market on bonds sold by the feds pretty much sets rates that the rest of the business community has to live with. Mosier said that it was very hard to spotlight a single cause or effect because "things have gotten so big, that nobody can see the big picture any more."

Mosier also said that it looks like interest rates are still going upward and probably will until people say that they just aren't going to borrow any more. Right now, he says, the volume of loans is about the same, but a lot of those could simply be renewals.

Leonard said that the rate hikes will have a discouraging effect on both the borrowers and the lenders. He says he has great confidence in the continued financial growth of this area "because it has experienced an organized and healthy growth in the

Pilot Sponsors Coloring Contest

Three area youngsters will have a chance to win prizes in the Pilot's new "Easter Coloring Contest."

Here's how it works: In the next two issues of the Pilot Weekender, March 23 and April 30, the Pilot will have a special "Easter Coloring Contest" ad with a picture ready to color.

If you're between the ages of four and 10, just color the picture, cut it out and mail it to: "Easter Coloring Contest," Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street, Rockport, Texas 78382.

Winners will be chosen in three age categories: 4 and 5 years old; 6 and 7 years old; and 8, 9 and 10 years old. Winners in the 4-5 and 6-7 categories will receive Easter baskets. The winner of the 8-10 category will get a water color set.

Entries will be judged on neatness and use of color. To be eligible, they must be received in the Pilot office before noon Wednesday, April 2.

All-Year-Round Toys For Kids Campaign Begins

The Rockport Lions Club has kicked off the year round Toys for Kids Campaign by installing decorated mail boxes at the H.E.B. Food Store and Winn's Department Store.

The club is asking Rockport citizens to donate gold stamps and money for the campaign.

Last Christmas the drive helped 70 families, including 300 children from the ages of 0 to 18, to celebrate Christmas gift giving.

Manuel Rocha of the Lions Club, said the response to the campaign last year by the Rockport community was tremendous.

Mr. Rocha said the club thanks Rockport for its support. Last year each family that needed the help of the campaign was helped, so the Lion's Club was not forced to make any difficult decisions as to who would receive gifts and who would not.

Jack's Landing Opens

D. Jack Battle and his wife, Florene moved to Rockport to retire in 1969, and on Friday, March 14, they opened their own men's clothing store: Jack's Landing.

The Battles bought Harold's Bait Stand in Fulton, and it took Mr. Battle seven months to renovate, which he did himself (with the exception of the store counter top which was made by Gerald Jerome and the barrel chairs made by Bud Willis).

Mr. Battle managed Sears Department Stores for 25 years, managing the Central Park Store in San Antonio for two years before moving to Rockport.

Jack's Landing caters strictly to men, with everything from casual to dress wear, shoes, and nautical gifts. It is a unique place to visit--or to shop.

Collin Opposes Aid To Nicaragua

(WASHINGTON)—The State Department's confused American foreign policy has lost us friends internationally, Congressman Jim Collins said. Collins cited the recent House vote in which a $75 million aid plan to Nicaragua passed 202 to 197. The passage of the bill came after four days of debates and a secret session of the House.

"The Administration and State Department pushed hard for this foreign aid to Nicaragua. They are against aid to many anti-Communist countries on the grounds of human rights violations but still supported this aid even though it was stated that there have been 617 reported violations by the Sandinistas.

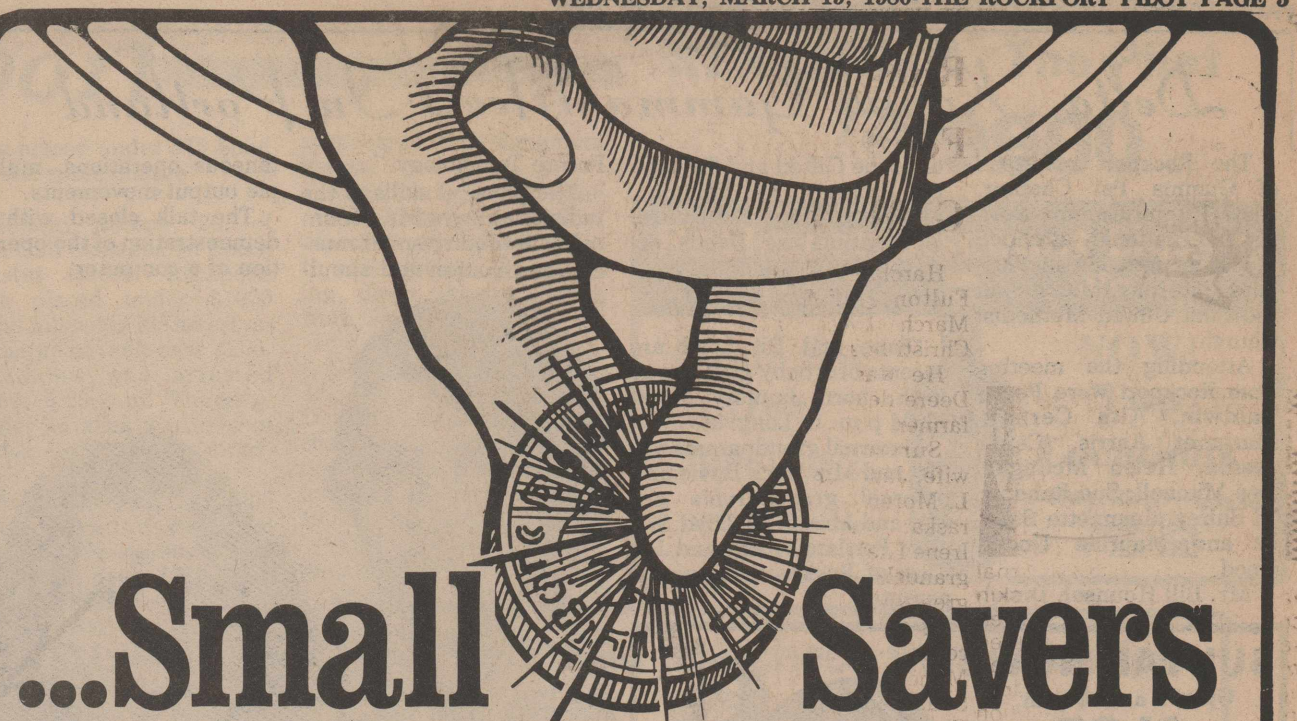

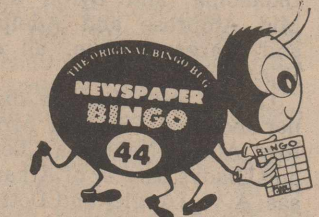

"I questioned these abuses as the U.S. is worried about any part Nicaragua might be playing in assisting the Marxists in a revolution in El Salvador," Collins said.

According to Collins, there are now 1200 Cuban teachers in Nicaragua to develop a Cuban-style education program. "The Sandinistas, who control the government, were founded in Cuba in 1962. Castro has a strong hand in shaping the government policies in Nicaragua today."

The Sandinista government has already nationalized the banks, insurance companies, and the mining, fishing and forestry industries. "Proponents of this bill claim that 60 per cent of the funds would go toward helping the private sector in Nicaragua. However, our aid will be routed through the Sandinista government Central Bank," Collins said.

"Foreign aid does not buy us friends. The Administration and State Department think that by throwing $75 million at Nicaragua we can buy them as an ally," Collins said.

Rockport Sailing Club Holds Meeting

Approximately 70 members of the Rockport Sailing Club attended a meeting last Friday at Allegro House and heard Charlie Brown, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, speak on boat safety requirements and safety inspection.

Brown is also a member of RSC.

Commodore Frank Durham announced the purchase of a 25 horsepower motor for use on the club committee boat. He also announced he has written to the United States Yacht Racing Union with an inquiry in respect to liability insurance.

American yacht racing, he said, is presently being jeopardized by at least two suits against yacht clubs and boat owners.

Bill Shannon, cruise chairman, announced a cruise to Corpus Christi Bayou, March 29 and 30. A longer cruise, offshore and via the Intracoastal Canal to Port Isabel, is scheduled for Easter weekend.

Presently 13 boats are scheduled for the cruise.

The Bay Yacht Club of Corpus Christi has been invited to participate. Pat Brown said cruisers will be escorted to the Port Isabel docks by the harbor master and the Port Isabel Yacht Club will entertain RSC at a Bloody Mary breakfast on Saturday morning and at a dinner that evening.

Don Wren, board boat chairman, announced that a series of clinics will be held in May and the race season will start in June.

Commodore Durham told members Lloyd Umfleet has written an article on living aboard which appears in the April issue of "Cruising World." Umfleet and his wife, Ruth, live in "Final Freedom," a Tayana 37, and have been RSC members for the past three years.

The first of the 1980 series of bay races was held Sunday. Max Kluge skippered his Ranger 22 to first place and Bob Albin and Pat Brown placed second and third respectively in their Ventura 22s.

Ms. Johnson reported she was away from her residence during that time and when she returned, she discovered the window to one of the bedrooms was broken.

The window was broken at each corner where the window latches are located, but apparently the burglar(s) was unable to gain entry.

Cost to repair the broken window is estimated at $25. Sheriff's deputies are investigating the matter.

last five years." Mr. Leonard also stressed that one thing that could really hurt would be a reduction in tourism. Mosier adds to that the plight of the shrimping industry by stating that "the shrimp fleet economy could have a direct effect on the community because most of their money is spent here."

Mosier said that he has a feeling that loans for so-called "frivolous" items has decreased, but he doesn't have any hard data to substantiate the idea. He also said that a lot of people think that they can borrow money today and pay it back tomorrow with "cheaper" dollars, adding that thinking that way is an "inflation fueler."

Leonard said that a lot of people are playing the wait-and-see game before deciding which financial moves to make. He stressed that eventually, "we are going to have to get back to the basics of being more productive and saving our money."

HOUSEBREAKING CATS

Cats are much easier to housebreak than are dogs. In a previous column, I discussed a suggested method for housebreaking dogs.

Nothing could be easier than training a cat to use a sanitary pan. This pan should be half filled with clean cat litter. A number of companies package this material, which has been prepared to absorb fluids, as well as deodorize. Newspapers or garden dirt can be substituted; however, this would need changing after each use.

The sanitary pan should be put in one place and kept there. In most homes, the most convenient place for this pan is next to the commode in the bathroom.

The first time you fill the sanitary pan and place it in the location you are going to leave it, make a point to show your cat where it is. Next, place and dig a hole in the litter with his paws to give the cat the idea of what it's for and how to use it.

The first day or two of training, keep your eye on the cat. You'll be able to guess when it needs to empty out. The look of discomfort and uneasiness is usually quite clear. When the expression of the cat shows the call of nature is near, take him to the pan again and place him in it.

You can expect one or two mistakes. As soon as you find a mishap, hold the cat close to the mishap and give it a light slap on the muzzle while scolding it.

Do not touch or rub his nose in it! Then take it to the sanitary pan and hold the cat in the pan a few minutes.

Some cats are easier to train than others. I have never known of a cat making more than two mistakes before learning what the sanitary pan was for.

On the other hand, some kittens even as young as six weeks old never make a single mistake.

If you find a mistake after you cat is housetrained, check to see when you changed the litter last, or at least removed the fecal material. Cats are naturally clean animals, and will not use a sanitary pan if the litter is dirty.

These suggestions are from your pet's friend, the one with a warm heart for cold noses.

If you have any questions about the health and care of your pet, send them to "Pet Talks," Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street, Rockport, Texas 78382. Dr. Lutz will answer your questions in the Weekender edition of the Pilot.

Re-Entry Sponsored By American University Women

By Beverly Wilken

Me, return to school? Sure you can! And the American Association of University Women from Corpus Christi State University and Del Mar College are showing how with their Project Re-Entry.

On Thursday, March 27, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Del Mar College East, in the Harvin Center, the University Women's Association will conduct a Workshop/Planning Session for anyone interested in returning to college, entering college for the first time, or wishing to obtain a high school diploma.

The workshop will give information on how to register, how to obtain financial aid if needed, how to select courses, and any other questions a re-entry student may have.

According to the Association of University Women, the most difficult part of re-entering the education system is the very first step. That is why Project Re-Entry was created.

Margaret Barnes, Re-entry coordinator, and a successful Re-Entry student herself, will be able to direct re-entry students, and to help them iron out the problems which may arise when a woman returns to school after being away for a while.

Child care, family budgets and schedule conflicts are some of the ways returning to school may cause problems. Corpus Christi has college students from 17 to 87, and studies show that adult learners do very well in the classroom!

Whether it is a career or self-enrichment, Project Re-Entry may be able to assist you in getting started.

For more information, call Margaret Barnes at Del Mar College, 881-6342, or if you have completed 60 semester hours of college, contact Sandy Speed, at Corpus Christi State University, at 991-6810, extension 224.

Pass.

David Russell, assistant executive director of the agency, said if the board adopts the proposed moratorium in April, "we would not recommend favorably to the Texas Health Facilities Commission on any request from hospitals in these counties for expansion."

Hospitals in Texas are not allowed to add rooms for patients without a license from the state commission.

In addition, Russell said, the agency would seek a voluntary moratorium from hospitals in four of these counties on facilities for which they have licenses but on which construction has not started.

Ben Pate, administrator of Lyman-Roberts Hospital, is among those who plan to be at the March 19 hearing to protest the proposed moratorium.

The South Texas Health Systems Agency, Pate said, is lumping a number of counties—including Aransas and San Patricio—with Corpus Christi, and then claiming the entire area has too many hospital beds.

According to the agency's proposed Health Systems Plan, 1,929 beds have been licensed for the 12 hospitals in Aransas, Nueces, Refugio and San Patricio. Half of these hospitals are located in Corpus Christi.

Russell said the Health Systems Plan projects a need for 1,632 beds by 1984—297 fewer beds than are now provided.

Boys Fourth Against Very Tough Competition

The Rockport-Fulton boys took part in Refugio's all-varsity South Texas Relays over the weekend and captured fourth place against some very stiff competition. If they hadn't suffered a couple of bad breaks, they might have taken third.

The Pirates tied for the fourth spot with Corpus Christi King. Gregory-Portland won the meet, followed by Corpus Christi Carroll, Beeville, the Pirates and Mustangs, Victoria Stroman, Tuloso-Midway, West Oso, Cuero, Corpus Christi schools

Moody and Ray, Sinton and Port Lavaca.

No Pirates won an event, but they did very well in capturing points with second through sixth place finishes.

Bubba Scott took second in the shot put with a heave of 55 feet, three and 1/4 inches, setting a new junior class record.

The 400-meter relay team also finished second, behind Carroll, a 4-A school. This team, which finished ahead of all the other 4-A and 3-A schools, was made up of three sophomores — Ernest Gonzales, Mike Simmons and David Kelly — and a freshman — Zak Green. Their time was 45.1 seconds.

Scott finished third in the discus with a throw of 149 feet, 10 1/4 inches.

Raul Castro was fourth in the 1600-meter run (four minutes, 42 seconds) as was Kroy DeForest in the shot put (50 feet, four inches).

David Corpus took a fifth in the 880-yard dash (two minutes, three seconds); Michael Contreras was fifth in the 1600-meter run (four minutes, 46 seconds).

Mike Arthur finished sixth in the discus by setting a new RFHS sophomore class record (140 feet, three inches); he broke his own record. Peter Booth took a sixth in the 1600-meter run (four minutes, 48 seconds).

Michael Covarrubias also broke a sophomore record by clearing five feet, eight inches in the high jump.

Coach Ron Richardson expects more broken records in the future and said he was well pleased with the way his team competed against the 12 4-A and 3-A schools in the meet.

Pirates Win One, Lose One

By Bob Crawford
Rockport-Fulton found something they have been missing — the elusive big inning. They found a five run fourth inning to pin a 6-2 loss on Ingleside in the "Grayhound" Invitational Tournament to post the first win of the year for Rockport.

Mark Setterbo went the distance on the mound for the Pirates, allowing the Mustangs only five hits enroute to the victory.

Rockport got behind early, but tied the game 1-1 in the second inning; after Bill Jennings led off the inning with a walk, he was moved around on Kyle Dietze's double.

The Mustangs came back in the third to go on top 2-1 as a pair of Pirate errors opened the door for the score.

In the Pirate half of the fourth inning, the Pirates put together seven base hits and a walk to score their five runs. Chris Butler, Jennings, Pee Wee Solis, Jim Eaton, Setterbo, Donald Nava, and Wayne Childers all struck for hits, and Eric Commander walked and scored as well. In the game, Eaton punched out three hits, and Nava, Childers, and Dietze each had a pair.

When the second game rolled around, the weather was threatening. The Pirates drew West Oso, a team always tough on the Pirates. Chris Butler took the mound for the Pirates. Not only did Butler pitch well, but he provided the firepower for the Pirates with a two-run homer in the second with Donald Nava aboard. The Pirates took a 2-0 lead.

The Bears came back with a rally in the third to take the lead and eventually win the game 3-2. Just as Butler had done in the previous inning, the Bears used the long ball, but with more more on base to decide the outcome. The Bears scored three runs with Butler giving them only three hits for the game.

Kyle Dietze picked up a couple of hits for the Pirates. To top it all off, the Pirates didn't make a miscue in the field.

The win over Ingleside was a big step in the right direction for the Pirates, and to come back to play well against the tough Bears indicates that the Pirates may be ready when the district opens. Round three, which would have matched the Pirates against Taft was called off because of bad weather.

Adjustable contemporary design allows this practical bookcase to fit in any room and rise to any height your ceilings will accommodate.

THE HOME WOODCRAFTER

DO IT YOURSELF AND SAVE

Build A Better-Looking Bookcase

By The Wood-Working Projects Experts at Georgia-Pacific Corp.

A painted plywood bookcase can be a distinctive piece of furniture, as well as just a convenient place to shelve books and favorite objects. And it's economical when you make it yourself.

With a power saw, you can do the job quickly and easily without having to shelve your budget at the same time. This modular design offers adjustable units that allow a variety of setups: you can stack the modules six high for a wall unit, or change them around to give your living area a totally new look.

Set several under a low window to hold plants. The rest can be stacked to the ceiling on the opposite wall. Or, you can build them waist high to form an attractive room divider or define a conversation group.

To get started, obtain the materials you will need: two panels of 3/4"x4'x8' interior grade plywood, white glue, wood putty, 6d nails, sealer, fine sandpaper and semi-gloss or gloss enamel or spray paint to suit your needs.

With your power saw set for a 12" cut, rip two 4'x8' plywood sheets into 12"x8' lengths. Once you've done that, using the 12"x8' boards, cut five pieces measuring 12"x34-1/2", six pieces measuring 12"x30-1/2", and 12 pieces measuring 12"x14-1/4".

In each of the 12"x14-1/4" end pieces, cut a 1/4"x

3/4" rabbet three inches down from the edge, as shown in the accompanying diagram. Then take eight of the end pieces and cut slots measuring 3-3/4"x 3/4"-1-1/2" in from the edge. Refer to the diagram and slot 4 of the end pieces accordingly.

For the back slot the five boards 2-1/4"x 3/4" and 1-1/2" in from the edge. Next, using your saber saw, round off the corners with a 1-1/2" radius.

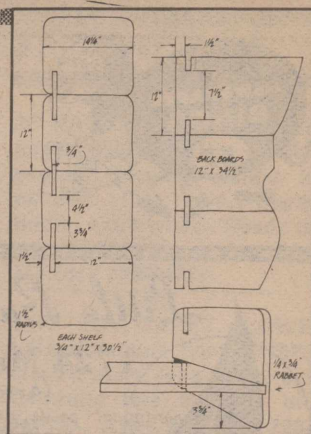

At this point, it's a good idea to fill the edges with wood filler and smooth sand until all edges are even. Then, glue and nail each of the six units. Once dry, your bookcase is ready for sealing and paint.

If the top shelf will be used to hold heavy objects, anchor the top section to the wall with a molly bolt, and if you eventually acquire more books then you have space on your shelves, just build a few more modules!

Herb Blend For Beef

CLIP 'N' COOK
Copley News Service

3 medium-size bay leaves
3 tbsps. basil
2 tbsps. oregano
2 tbsps. onion powder
4½ tps. salt (or to taste)
1½ tps. garlic powder
¼ tsp. pepper

With a mortar and pestle, or in an electric blender, crush the bay leaves into a powder (there will be about ¼ teaspoon). Place the powder in a jar with a tight fitting lid. Finely crush the basil and oregano, add them to the powdered bay leaves, along with the remaining ingredients. Blend them well. Rub the mixture into steaks or roast beef, or combine it with ground beef or in stews, figuring on about 2 teaspoons of the mixture per pound of beef. Makes about ½ cup.

Today food is so expensive your supermarket bills probably read more like a stock portfolio than a food budget. So, just like a broker protects costly investments, you should take steps to guarantee a good return on your grocery balance.

Here are 10 cooking tips to guard against escalating food prices and ho-hum meals:

1. "Secure" more juice from citrus fruits; roll them around on a flat surface in a circular motion for a few minutes before peeling or squeezing.
2. Avoid "damages" when baking stuffed peppers; coat with salad oil before stuffing to keep them bright and green.

3. "Issue" fluffy mashed potatoes; add a pinch of baking powder.

4. "Insure" tender meat and poultry (our most costly investment); prepare it with Adolph's Natural Meat Tenderizer. Made from papaya, Adolph's makes all meat succulent and juicy.

5. It's a "liability" to burn onions; add a small amount of water when sautéing them.

6. Make the "claim" of always having rich, dark gravy; add a teaspoon of instant coffee while heating it.

7. Don't "waiver" when time is short; broil meats to speed serving time. All meat cuts are broilable when a natural meat tenderizer is used.

8. Make it a "policy" to serve great tasting salad dressings; mix in a pinch of sugar to cut vinegar's acid

10. Eliminate the "risk" of tasteless entrees; sprinkle on Adolph's Natural Meat Tenderizer to reduce shrinkage, retain juices and make all meat more flavorful.

To "insure" juicy tender meat for your family without paying a high premium send for the free recipe booklet, "Adolph's Meat Insurance Policy," P.O. Box 1009-0, Jefferson City, Missouri 65101.

taste and to blend the seasonings.

9. Exercise your "options"; serve fruits and vegetables that are in season. Produce is most economical when in greatest supply.

Discipline Important Problem

AUSTIN—The Eleventh Annual Gallup Poll of attitudes toward public schools has been recently released. As in previous years, discipline is cited as the most important problem facing the schools. Twenty-four percent of the national survey participants felt that lack of discipline is the major issue.

Analysis of the data suggests the following conclusions: (1) Public schools are held in lowest esteem by blacks living in the central cities of the North. (2) Younger adults are more critical of the schools than their elders. (3) Better educated citizens give the schools lower ratings than the more poorly educated. (4) Public schools are held in highest esteem by residents of small towns and rural communities. (5) Southern blacks rate their public schools higher than Northern blacks. (6) Persons living in the West give their public schools a lower rating than persons in other major areas of the nation.

According to the poll, the main things a school needs to do to improve its operations are (in order of mention): (1) improve the quality of teachers (23 percent) (2) increase discipline (20 percent) (3) set higher standards (17 percent) (4) give students more individual attention (16 percent) (5) put more emphasis on the basics (12 percent) (6) better management and direction of schools (7 percent) (7) establish closer relations with parents (6 percent).

Another important question asked was whether a ceiling should be placed on school expenditures. Nationally, 42 percent of the respondents answered negatively; 33 percent approved of such a limit while 21 percent had no opinion.

When asked if districts should spend the same amount of money on women's sports as men's, 61 percent approved. Eighty-five percent of the respondents felt that teachers should pass a state board examination, and the same number approved of recertification requirements for both teachers and administrators.

By working toward the preferences of the majority of the citizens of our state and nation we can upgrade the educational value of our schools.
