Answers asked for entity contract

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

The first public preview was offered Monday of an inter-governmental contract between the Snyder city council and the Scurry County commissioners court — a document which seeks to add services shared between the two as well as to legally spell out those already in place.

But, a more than one hour discussion between council members prompted them to seek another meeting with the court to find answers to questions raised Monday.

Specifically, the council asked if a proposed fee to cover services provided by the city was a "locked in, from now on" figure. Council members noted they favor one which could be negotiated yearly.

As now proposed, the county would pay a flat fee of $100,000 per year. It was noted this is approximately the amount they pay now for city-administrated and financed services involving the fire department, ambulance and landfill.

In addition, City Attorney Ernie Armstrong pointed to what he called an "impasse" regarding one portion of the contract — a legal disagreement between he and County Attorney George Killam.

This relates to the initial reason for proposing a city-county contract — a new jail services agreement between law enforcement entities for each.

The city has asked the county to assume all jail facility arrangements — thereby eliminating the need for the city's overnight detention facility located at the police station.

But the "impasse" has occurred regarding medical treatment responsibilities for city prisoners charged with Class C misdemeanor offenses — the less serious of all misdemeanor charges.

As Armstromg explained Monday night, his contention is that once a city prisoner is placed in county hands, all responsibilities related to that prisoner becomes the county's.

He said the latest ver-

Houston Ave. annexation prompts votes

A schedule was adopted Monday for the involuntary annexation of property south of the city — a legal step required before work may begin on the extension of Houston Ave. south and east to the Big Spring Highway.

In addition, council members at the regular May session accepted agreements from four property owners who have indicated they will voluntarily allow their land to be annexed.

Following the schedule, notices will be printed May 30 and May 31 regarding a first public hearing for the annexation. This hearing is to be in city hall June 11.

On June 12, a second public hearing to allow comment will be conducted — this one at the site of the proposed annexation.

Before the annexation could be put into effect, two votes of the city council will be required. These are scheduled for July 2 and Aug. 6.

Property annexed into the city will then become liable for city tax and other zoning ordinances which do not allow for a "grandfather" clause.

Property owners who have voluntarily agreed to be annexed include Frank Miller, R.H. Hargrove, W.B. McSpadden and R.B. Comer.

At Monday's session, the council also:

—Appointed former city council member David Holt as a new member to the board of directors for the Colorado River Municipal Water District. He will replace James Rosser.

—Approved on second reading an ordinance which will de-annex a strip of property bordering the Western Texas College campus.

—Appointed Rick Cohagan, an engineer with SACROC, to the zoning board of adjustment to complete the unexpired term of Robert Pinkston.

—Denied a request from David Noble to move a water meter at his own expense to provide him with water taps for a proposed six acre sub-division outside the city limits. Possible legal problems in selling water into an area served by another water-providing entity (the Union-Fluvanna Water Supply Corp.) were pointed to as the reason.

—Granted a request from Tom Wadleigh to

Snyder pupils win IA awards

Snyder high school and junior high school industrial arts students brought home 13 first place awards for single projects entered in the state industrial arts contests last weekend in Waco.

The SHS industrial bowl team of Brian Sherrard, Bill Sherrard and Brian Sitton were also winners, claiming the state championship in their event and qualifying for national competition.

Local students also fared well in individual on-site contests with Brian Sitton taking second place in the advanced woodworking test and Chad Pinkerton and Jerry McNew taking second and third places respectively in junior high test competition.

First place projects in the high school division were shown by Brad Rodgers and Stacey Browning, both with first place awards.

Browning also claimed the high school's only second place project award while third place projects were shown by Lynn Sands, David Molina, Brian Sherrard, Danny Ynguanzo and Brad Rodgers.

Junior high first place project entries were led by Jeff Adams who captured three of the top awards.

Driver critical after accident

A 60-year-old Fluvanna man was in critical condition Tuesday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a one-vehicle traffic accident north of Snyder.

Henry Landrum was taken to the hospital emergency room at 9 a.m. after he sustained what appeared to be serious head injuries when his 1978 Chevrolet pickup overturned on U.S. Highway 84.

According to Department of Public Safety troopers investigating the mishap, Landrum was traveling northwest on U.S. 84 when he apparently lost control of his truck. It then struck the exit sign for Farm Road 1611 near Caprock Pump and Supply.

Landrum's truck traveled some 100 feet before rolling over and coming to rest in a culvert between the highway and the exit ramp.

Five indicted by grand jury

Scurry County grand jurors returned five indictments Monday at the grand jury meeting for May.

Named in an indictment for theft in an amount greater than $750 and less than $20,000 was Elias Gomez Rivera.

Rivera is charged in connection with the April 18 theft of two rings from Haney's Jewelry in Varsity Heights Shopping Center. At the time, store personnel told officers that two customers had switched rings contained in a jewelry case.

As of Tuesday morning, Rivera had not been arrested in the case. Bond had been set at $5,000.

Bond for Dwayne O'Neal Wyatt of 2407½ 26th St. was set at $10,000 Monday after grand jurors indicted him for one count of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

The 32-year-old Wyatt was charged in connection with an April 6 incident in north Snyder where he allegedly threatened a local woman at knife point.

He remains in Scurry County Jail in lieu of bond.

Henry Orville Wells, 66, of 701 27th St. was indicted Monday on a charge of burglary of an automobile.

He was arrested April 30 following a report that an elderly man was seen going through a purse left in a car parked at Snyder National Bank.

Wells is currently free after posting a $2,500 bond.

Also indicted Monday with bonds set at $1,500

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A friend claims you'll never find his wife driving an unmarked car."

Speaking of cars, if you happened to drive by last Friday's media event (the closing of First National Bank) you might have been mistaken about what was going on.

The majority of cars in the parking lot belonged to U.S. government employees. It was difficult not to notice the variety of foreign-made cars. At first we thought they had changed the bank into a Datsun dealership.

A check of the records show that First National was not the first bank failure in Snyder. On Friday, Sept. 18, 1931, the First State Bank and Trust Company was closed "due to the heavy withdrawal of funds."

At that time, the bank had capital of $50,000 and total assets of $425,000. The Scurry County Times reported that deposits totaled $228,000.

Even though the FDIC existed in those days, the procedure for handling customer funds apparently was different. Today, all customers within the $100,000 insurance coverage had almost immediate access to funds.

In 1931 customers had their funds tied us for 3½ years. The newspaper reported that $36,000, representing the first claim of 18 percent, had been paid. That payment was made in May of 1935.

In 1933, all banks in the U.S. were closed in a national banking holiday declared by Congress. In Scurry County, Snyder National Bank and Fluvanna State Bank closed during the two week period and both opened for business the following Monday under the same ownership and with increased deposits.

Government "efficiency" is amazing. Last year, the Ag Department, using a computer, took two weeks to get out a report on farm crop reduction signups. This year, working by hand, employees did the job in half the time.

Centennial Year Footnotes: In 1955, Max West, insurance agent and manager of National Farm Loan Association, was elected president of the newly-organized Boys Club of Scurry County.

Q. — Who would I contact about donating internal organs?

A. — One such program is offered through the Texas Tech Health Science Center's school of medicine. Dr. Francis Jackson is the director of the Organ Retrieval Program and he may be reached at (806) 743-2263. In addition, the Department of Anatomy through the medical school accepts the donation of the entire body. Jackson notes that organ donors have stricter requirements for acceptance.

In Brief

Attack Khadafy's barracks

ROME (AP) — A group using rockets and automatic weapons launched an attack today on the barracks where Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy usually lives, the Italian news agency ANSA reported in a dispatch from the Libyan capital of Tripoli.

The agency said it was not known whether Khadafy was inside the barracks.

There was no immediate word on casualties, the dispatch said.

ANSA said the attack, by a group of about 15 people, was still going on during the afternoon. It said the attacking group was not immediately identified.

The group was barricaded in a building across from the army barracks, which is surrounded by tanks, on the outskirts of Tripoli, the news agency said.

Earlier, Western diplomats reported hearing shots for about five hours this morning on the streets of the capital.

Soviets won't play in games

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today that it will not participate in the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles.

A statement issued by the Soviet National Olympic Committee and distributed by the official news agency Tass said:

"The cavalier attitude of the U.S. authorities to the Olympic charter, the gross flouting of the ideals and traditions of the Olympic movement are aimed directly at undermining it. This line that was manifested clearly earlier is conducted now as well.

"In these conditions the National Olympic Committee of the U.S.S.R. is compelled to declare that the participation of Soviet sportsmen in the games of the 23rd Olympiad in Los Angeles is impossible."

Banks increase prime rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's biggest commercial banks raised their prime lending rates today by a half percentage point to 12.5 percent, the highest level in 18 months.

The increase announced by Chase Manhattan Bank and Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. was the third rise in the key borrowing rate in two months.

The nation's big banks raised their prime rate to 11.5 percent from 11 percent on March 19 and lifted it another half percentage point to 12 percent on April 5.

The last time the prime rate was above 12 percent was in October 1982 when it fell to 12 percent from 13 percent.

Dispatcher plans appeals

DALLAS (AP) — The attorney for Billye Jean Myrick says he has filed an appeal for the nurse-dispatcher after the city manager's office upheld her dismissal for delaying an ambulance to a dying woman.

Assistant City Manager, Richard Knight upheld the previous decision against Ms. Myrick and her former supervisor, Donald Greene.

The nurse was fired by the Dallas Fire Department on March 16 for not sending an ambulance immediately, and Greene was demoted from captain to lieutenant over the Jan. 5 incident.

"It didn't surprise me because I didn't expect that much out of the decision to begin with," Ms. Myrick's attorney, Roger Joyner, told the Dallas Morning News. "It's difficult to ask someone to look at his own system and say it fouled up."

Joyner said he has filed an appeal with the three-member Civil Service Trial Board, composed of one member each from the City Council, the Civil Service Board and a specially appointed Civil Serivce panel.

Ms. Myrick was fired after a departmental investigation into the incident involving Larry Boff, who had requested an ambulance for his 60-year-old stepmother, Lillian Boff, who was having trouble breathing.

Boff repeatedly asked for the ambulance to be dispatched, but Ms. Myrick argued with him and insisted on speaking to the woman, even though Boff said his stepmother was too sick to get on the telephone.

Greene then broke in on the conversation and told Boff to answer Ms. Myrick's questions and warned him against cursing, according to a tape-recording of the call.

Boff hung up the phone a few minutes later and, after a second call, an ambulance was dispatched. When paramedics arrived, the woman was dead.

Convicted youth threatened court

HOUSTON (AP) — A teen-ager who was convicted of capital murder in the robbery-slaying of a prominent Houston attorney threatened to kill everyone in the courtroom and "make it look worse than the Charlie Manson murders," a court bailiff testified.

A defense attorney said his client believed some prosecution witnesses had lied and "expressed some desire to get them for that."

Rodney Wayne Davis, 18, was found guilty last week in the May 10, 1983, robbery and shooting death of attorney Sam Lucas Jr., 63, outside a fashionable restaurant.

The same eight-man, four-woman jury now must decide whether Davis should spend the rest of his life behind bars or to die by a deadly combination of drugs.

Court bailiff Ross Tinch testified Monday that he noticed an "attitude change" in Davis after testimony started in the punishment phase of the trial. Davis later had an "outburst" in a holding cell near the courtroom, Tinch said.

"He was very agitated," Tinch said. "Rodney said all those peckerwoods (had) been told what to say by the district attorney."

When he was told to calm down, Davis cursed and accused Tinch of telling a prosecutor of some of Davis' problems in the Harris County Jail, the bailiff said.

"They better give me the needle because a young man like me can't survive in TDC (Texas Department of Corrections)," Tinch said Davis told him. "If they give me life, I don't care how long it takes, when I get out I'm going to kill those peckerwoods in the courtroom."

When he was taking Davis to the jail later, Tinch said, the teen-ager threatened to kill him and other courtroom spectators.

Lack of sexual desire

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 46 and had a hysterectomy four years ago. The doctor removed everything. I developed hot flashes six weeks after the operation, but the doctor said I didn't need any hormones.

My sexual desire has slowly diminished to nothing. I've been reading a lot about women during menopause who need estrogen. How does a woman know if she needs it? Would it help me sexually?

I've also read about the disease women have that causes the bones to get thin and break easily. One article said women need calcium and estrogen.

DEAR READER — There are many factors that affect a woman's sexual interest; estrogen is one of them. Some women go through menopause or have their ovaries removed at the time of a hysterectomy and don't notice a change. One reason is that the adrenal glands over the kidneys may produce enough estrogen so they don't notice a change, but other women may experience significant changes.

There's considerable truth to the idea that glands affect personality and behavior. I can't say whether estrogen will improve your sex life, but it's certainly worth considering.

Your symptoms are one indicator of whether you need estrogen. The doctor should be able to tell in his examination. Cells from the vagina can be studied under a microscope and blood and urine tests should be done.

With the latest reports on how estrogen can protect against some cancers and evidence that women who take estrogen have longer life spans, the fear of using estrogen is beginning to disappear. Of course, anyone taking estrogen should be monitored to see if they have too much of the undesirable form of fatty-cholesterol (LDL-cholesterol).

You'll want to read the Health Letter SR-12, Oral Contraceptives and Postmenopausal Estrogens, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 23-year-old engineering student and have what feels like a heart attack about once every 10 days. It's a sharp pain in the left side of my chest around my heart.

Doctors say it's air in the chest cavity and not to worry about it. But it stops me in my tracks for about 30 seconds and really frightens me.

DEAR READER — Your age is helpful. Since you've had these for some time and are so young, it's unlikely they're heart attacks, or myocardial infarction. Young men in your age group rarely have that form of heart disease.

Sharp pains aren't characteristic of heart attacks. While pleuritic pains can be sharp, heart attacks usually cause dull aching or pressure sensations.

I don't know what your doctors are telling you. If part of your lung has collapsed, that may or may not be causing the pain, but you should know if that's what you have.

If you have a spasm of the muscles between your ribs, this can cause sharp pain, made worse by taking a deep breath.

Dear Abby

Mom Ponders Right Approach To Her Sexually Active Teen

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have discovered without a doubt that "Rick," our 16-year-old son, is having sex with his girlfriend. She's also 16. They are both honor students and all-around "good kids."

We have a normal, stable family life. My husband and I have always spent a lot of time with our children and have stressed the importance of taking responsibility for one's own actions. In my opinion, sexual relations are not for those who cannot support themselves or any children that might come along as a result of an accidental pregnancy.

What is a sensible approach? Should I confront Rick alone? I suppose I should tell my husband, but I dread seeing the disappointment on his face. He has always been so proud of Rick.

I'm too close to the situation to make a wise decision. Please give me some guidelines.

HEARTSICK MOM

DEAR MOM: Tell your husband. Rick is his son, too. You and your husband should have a frank talk with Rick and his girlfriend and tell them what you "know."

You could limit the time they spend together, but please don't forbid them to see each other again because "love" will find a way.

Since accidental pregnancy is a very real possibility, be sure that Rick and his girlfriend know everything they need to know about contraception, but don't give them the impression that you think sex for 16-year-olds is OK. Let them know that in your opinion, it is not OK, and that you positively disapprove.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor has two enormous dogs that she keeps in her house most of the time, but when she lets them out to do their business, they head straight for my lawn and unload like a pair of elephants! We had some angry words about this two years ago and haven't spoken since. I called the police department to complain and I also called the dog pound, but nothing was done about it.

I am going through the menopause, and when I get nervous, my blood pressure shoots up. I'm afraid I'll have a stroke if something isn't done soon.

I would hate to kill those dogs, but I just can't let them take over my property.

If you have any ideas, please let me know soon.

DOG-TIRED IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR DOG-TIRED: The dogs are not to blame, so please don't take it out on them. You don't say where you live, but in most communities, your neighbor would be in violation of the law and can be fined.

Call your police again and register a formal complaint. Be sure to give your name so the police will have a record of your complaint. If nothing is done, buy a "pooper scooper" (most hardware stores have them), and after the dogs have "decorated" your lawn, scoop the mess up and deposit it on your neighbor's lawn.

Short of fencing in your property, which is costly, the above suggestion seems the most humane.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a flight attendant for a major airline for 16 years. I have seen a lot of unusual things happen, but I am sick to death of the number of mothers breast-feeding their walking, talking, very large children! It doesn't even matter where they are sitting, they just do it right in front of everyone! (I'm not talking about women from another culture, either.)

I object because I, as a flight attendant, am forced to interact with the mother-child situation as I am conducting my beverage, cocktail and meal service.

I don't care what people do in their own homes, but please, mothers, on an airplane, take your child to the lavatory or feed your child before you get on the plane.

COFFEE, TEA OR WATER— NO MILK, PLEASE!

(If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 (this includes postage) to: Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

At Wit's End

by erma bombeck

The generic name for a demographic clique of voters who are getting a lot of attention these days is "YUPPIES."

Broken down, there's the YUMPS (Young Upwardly Mobile), the YAPS (Young Aspiring), the GUPS (Gay Urban), the PUPS (Pregnant Urban) and the YUPS (Young Urban.)

They're young. They're bipartisan. And they're a generation that has a history of defying establishment.

Before all the cute names are gone, I'd like to focus attention on an older group ... the LUMPS (Life-giving, Unselfish, Middle-class, Parent, Survivors) who spawned the YUPPIES.

We're the ones responsible for giving birth to 77 million YUPPIES between 1946-1964. Someone once described them as the "pig in the python," a bulge that moved through society causing indigestion all the way.

From the beginning, the Baby Boomers set up their own society — from high school protests to attitude changes about family, lifestyle, marriage and work ethics. They lived in their own youth ghettos, had their own costumes, their own hair and their own music.

The LUMPS are going through an interesting time as we sit back and wonder what we have spawned. (And occasionally spurned.) There isn't a day goes by that we don't learn more about our offspring.

We now find out the YUPPIES, who are now 20 to 38 years old, are getting down to dealing with their real estate inheritance ... the United States. they are driven careerists who own a Volvo, work out regularly and drink designer water. They have yogurt and a wheel of Brie in their refrigerators and live by charge cards. They plan an apartment and one child (both self-cleaning). They can make a difference in presidential elections.

Every generation fights for its dream. The LUMPS were no different. We married early, had babies, wore practical polyester, paid cash, fertilized grass, washed our own cars and waited for the Christmas savings check. We accepted 20-year house payments, 40-year marriages and 30 years on the same job without question.

Then we discovered no one wanted to emulate us. No one wanted to inherit the fruits of our labor. No one wanted to profit from our experience.

I don't mean to imply the LUMPS are on "automatic pilot," but by sheer numbers the baby boomers have come to power. It will be interesting to see how they fare when they can no longer eat the Brie in our refrigerators, use our charge cards to put gas into our Volvos which they borrowed until interest rates went down.

They're a fascinating group. They've done a lot of living. They've done a lot of thinking. It will be interesting to sit back and watch them work.

BSP celebrates Founder's Day

Beta Sigma Phi members and their guests celebrated their Founder's Day with a banquet April 28 at the Snyder Country Club.

The banquet was held to commemorate the founding of the group in Abilene, Kan., on April 30, 1931. Beta Sigma Phi is the largest Greek letter sorority in the world and has grown in its 53-year history from one chapter of seven women to a sorority of 250,000 members active in 12,500 chapters in countries throughout the world.

"Come Cruise with Me" was the theme of the banquet. Upon arrival, guests were greeted by the social committee as though they were boarding the pleasure cruise ship, the USS Beta Sigma Phi Dreamer. The theme for the entire evening was that of a pleasure cruise. A steak dinner buffet was served.

Toastmistress for the evening was Beverly Mitchell. President Dena Ellis gave the welcome and recognized the 1983-84 officers and chairmen. Cyndee Gayle, vice president, introduced the chapter's new members and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Donny Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Johnson. Brenda Hedges, incoming president, recognized the slate of officers for 1984-85.

Gay Idom gave the Founder's Day Pledge and Carolyn Limmer read the traditional Founder's Day message from Bill Ross, current international president of Beta Sigma Phi.

Beverly Mitchell, social chairman, received the chapter's most honored award. She won the Girl-of-the-Year award in recognition of her efforts in sorority socials and projects in 1833-84.

Awards in addition to Mrs. Mitchell's were the presentation of the presidential tray to outgoing president, Dena Ellis, by Cyndee Gayle. Other awards included Valentine Queen, Twila Polk; perfect attendance, Jacalyn Lowrance, Beverly Mitchell and Dena Ellis; 15-year pins, Carolyn Limmer, Wanda Early and Mona Bryan; 10-year pins, Bette League and Mickey Baird; program of the year, Jacalyn Lowrance; president's award, Mona Bryan; and Mrs. Congeniality, Jacalyn Lowrance.

Wanda Early, scrapbook chairman, presented the scrapbook to the chapter. A skit on the highlights of the year was given by the committee composed of Twila Polk, Carylon Glaze, Jeanne Johnson, Wanda Early, Carolyn House, Beverly Mitchell, and Brenda Hedges. Bette League narrated the skit.

A dance followed in the Grand Ball Room. Serving as chairman of the banquet was Beverly Mitchell, assisted by the social committee.

Frank Stewart, whom we know only from his delightful articles in the ACBL "Contract Bridge Bulletin," has written a book entitled "Better Bridge for the Advancing Player." He doesn't give many hands, but here is one from a Vanderbilt semifinal.

At both tables the bidding was identical. Frank suggests that the jump to four hearts was not the best bid, but both great experts made it and left it to their partners to bring it in.

The seven of diamonds was led at both tables. At table one, South played out high cards. He went up with the diamond ace and played A-K of hearts and then A-K-J of spades. East ducked with the queen and South discarded his losing diamond. South was home. He had six trumps, two spades and two minor suit aces.

At the other table, South finessed the diamond queen. When a club came back, declarer won it, cashed his A-K of trumps, and then played A-K-J of spades. When East covered with the queen, South could not avoid losing four tricks.

Frank Stewart, in accordance with a policy of this column never to offend any player by using his name in connection with a bad play, did not give the name of the successful declarer since the name of the other would become known.

Poetic hero

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Frederick Douglass, the 19th-century slave who became a noted author, editor, lecturer and diplomat was named for a poetic hero.

When Douglass hid from trackers after his escape from Maryland in 1838, he dropped his name of Bailey to adopt the surname proposed by a friend. The friend was reading Sir Walter Scott's poem, "The Lady of the Lake," at the time and proposed the name of Douglass, the Scottish chieftain of the poem.

The incident is recounted in "My Bondage and My Freedom," one of three Douglass autobiographies in the University of Rochester's large collection of Douglass materials. Douglass lived in Rochester from 1847 to 1872 and edited an abolitionist newspaper here.

Wife tires of furor

LONDON (AP) — The wife of Britain's ambassador to Libya says she is tired of the saga of Honeybun, the pet rabbit she left behind when British diplomats were forced to leave Tripoli.

"There has been so much fuss about the ... thing I wish I had eaten it before we left," Julia Miles was quoted Monday in the Daily Express.

The newspaper tut-tutted in a tongue-in-ceek editorial: "Surely Mrs. Miles must know that, as a member of the ambassador's household, Honeybun had diplomatic — and that includes gastronomic — immunity under the Vienna Convention."

Honeybun was abandoned in the back garden of the British embassy April 27, when Mrs. Miles, her husband Oliver and their four children flew home. The departure came after Britain evicted the Libyan diplomatic mission in London following the shooting of a policewoman outside the embassy.

Discussion for contract

sion of the contract provided by county officials asks that the city be responsible for any medical expenses incurred by Class C misdemeanor prisoners.

"Admittedly, this is probably a minute problem," Armstrong said, "but it's one we (he and Killam) haven't been able to work out."

Other features of the still-in-negotiation contract include a change related to the collection of city taxes. The county has proposed the city switch back to the county tax assessor-collector's office for this.

The city now contracts with the Scurry County Appraisal District for this service. The appraisal for city taxes would continue to be handled through the district, however.

As now planned, the city will propose a meeting with county officials next week to further discuss the agreement.

College schedules theatre workshop

Community residents who would like to work with a summer production of the Western Texas College theatre department are invited to enroll for a theatre workshop to be offered during the summer session starting May 30.

"Death of a Salesman" is the show being considered for the summer show, with production dates set for July 26-28. Persons who would ike to work with the production need to register for the workshop (DR 235) on May 29 and attend auditions at 7:30 p.m. on May 31.

People interested in acting or working in the technical crews may contact Jim Rambo, director, for additional details.

"We will rehearse Monday through Thursday nights in June and July with the exception of the week of July 2-5," Rambo said. "Not everyone will need to attend every rehearshal, and we can work around other demands on the time of those involved. We will get underway following the auditions on May 31 and all technical crews as well as those interested in acting should plan to attend the auditions."

Renovation bids before trustees

Bids for renovation work at four Snyder elementaries will be considered here Tuesday at the May meeting for the Snyder school board.

The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the administration building conference room.

School officials have been given both a base bid and an alternate bid price by three Snyder firms.

The base bid entails lowering ceilings, replacing light fixtures and enclosing windows at North, East and West Elementaries. In addition, it includes enlarging the library at East and renovation of the cafeteria at Central Elementary.

The alternative bid then includes expanding the project at North, East and West to include a cafeteria renovation also.

The three bids to be considered are from T.E. Shelburne & Sons, estimating a $174,335 base bid and a $20,829 alternate bid; Wardroup & Associates, Lubbock, estimating a $209,673 base bid and a $21,300 alternate; and Williams Construction, with an $162,852 base bid and a $22,016 alternate.

Other agenda items before the board Tuesday include:

—The employment for another school year of 22 school staffers who have completed the first year of a two-year probationary period.

—The employment of 15 school staffers who have completed the second year of the same two-year probationary period, changing their status to a non-probationary term.

The board will consider also the resignations of three professional staff members. These include Peggy Kennedy, a diagnostician-counselor; Elaine McDaniel, a kindergarten teacher at East; and Ronald Rohan, an industrial arts teacher at the high school.

Other items due board votes include:

—The renewal of the school's USDA commodity agreement.

—An option to extend the food services contract the district has with Greyhound Foods.

—A request from Barbara Perkins, junior high choir director, asking permission to enter a tape of the choir for possible selection to sing next February at the state convention of the Texas Music Educators Association. If chosen, she notes, travel expenses equaling an estimated $2,772 might be required.

—Two requests from SHS tennis coach Charlie Chrane, one for the use of school tennis courts this summer to conduct two tennis tournaments; and a second seeking permission to repair cracks in the local courts.

—A request to conduct a 45-hour "Computer Literary and Applications" course this summer for teachers in grades 4-6.

Actor treated for alcoholism

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Robert Mitchum has joined the list of celebrities who have turned to the Betty Ford Center for treatment of problems with drugs or drinking.

Mitchum's lawyer, David LaFailee, said the 66-year-old actor was being treated for an alcohol problem. He declined to say how long Mitchum has had the problem.

The actor entered the rehabilitation center at Eisenhower Medical Center on Saturday, LaFaille said. He did not say how long Mitchum would be in the center.

Lady Tigers honored during sports banquet

Sports awards were handed out to some of Snyder's finest athletes Monday evening at the first - and possibly last - Girls Sports Award Banquet.

Plans are being made to unite the girl's club and the Football Boosters Club to form one booster organization next year.

Some of the awards handed out Monday were already known. Lisa Franklin, who was third medalist in the state golf tournament, was again presented as Female Athlete of the Year. She also received the golf award for Medalist of the Year.

In basketball, junior all-district player Carie Housden took the Tiger Sport Award and the Freethrow Award for shooting the highest percentage. Karlene Thompson, a sophomore, was Most Improved.

Dora Hernandez, a senior who helped Snyder to a district title in the 1600 meter relay, was chosen track's Most Improved, and also presented with the Tiger Sport Award. Coach Patty Grimmett also noted that Thompson was the leading point getter for the team, with 216 points.

Mona Green, all-district as a senior, was named volleyball's Player of the Year.

In a special award, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schiebel were named as Outstanding Fans of the Year.

Lee Shaw, who helped pioneer high school volleyball in Texas and later pushed to make the U.I.L. accept it, was the guest speaker. Jerry Worsham gave the welcome and introductions. Awards were presented by basketball coach Ken Housden, golf coach Jan Kruse, track coach Patty Grimmett, and volleyball coach Leslie O'Pry.

Detroit still cruising; undefeated on road

by The Associated Press

The Detroit Tigers are taking no prisoners this year.

"How can it get any better than this?" said Chet Lemon, the hottest hitter on the hottest team in baseball, after helping the runaway Tigers crush the Kansas City Royals 10-3 Monday night.

The victory extended the Tigers' road record to an incredible 12-0 and their overall mark in the American League East to 23-4.

"I don't know what tomorrow will bring," said Tiger Manager Sparky Anderson, "but for now we are playing super. It's hard to contain our lineup. From top to bottom, we don't lose a thing. We keep coming at people whether it's with our leadoff guy or our No. 9 guy. We're playing with the same confidence we left spring training with."

In other AL action, it was New York 5, Cleveland 2; Milwaukee 7, Chicago 3; Minnesota 11, California 1, and Oakland 6, Seattle 5. The Toronto-Baltimore game was rained out.

Lemon knocked in three runs in the Tigers' latest victory, while Darrell Evans unloaded a two-run homer.

Juan Berenguer, 2-1, struck out two and gave up six hits through 6 2-3 innings as the Royals lost their 10th game in 12 starts. Rookie Mark Gubicza struck out six of the first nine batters he faced but wound up with a third loss in three decisions.

"That young kid really throws great," Lemon said of the hard-throwing rookie. "He has an exceptional fastball. It took a second time round to adjust and know how hard he was really throwing."

The Royals' slump is reaching dangerous proportions. The once-dominant team of the American League West is only two games out of the cellar.

"When you're not scoring runs, everyone wants to jump on you," said Manager Dick Howser. "We're just going to have to do whatever it takes - get several well pitched games and figure a way to score some runs or just outscore some teams for a few days."

Yankees 5, Indians 2

Don Mattingly and Steve Kemp hit New York's first home runs in 11 games while Shane Rawley allowed one hit in five innings, leading New York over visiting Cleveland.

Rawley, 1-2, who failed to last more than two innings in two of his three previous starts, walked five, struck out four and allowed only Carmen Castillo's second-inning single in his five-inning stint.

Curt Brown and Jay Howell finished up with Howell going the final 2 1-3 innings for his first save.

The victory was only the Yankees' third in their last 12 outings while Cleveland suffered its fourth straight setback and eighth in nine games.

Perez earns first win after release from jail

by The Associated Press

One down, 19 to go.

Pascual Perez has returned to action after three months in jail and an on-again, off-again suspension for drug use, posting his first pitching victory of the year for the Atlanta Braves.

"Now I need only 19 more to win 20," Perez says.

Perez pitched 5 2-3 innings Tuesday in a sometimes rocky outing, allowing five runs on seven hits, but the Braves slugged out an 8-6 victory over Philadelphia.

"He doesn't show the effects of no spring training," said Manager Joe Torre, whose Braves have won three in a row.

Perez actually made his first start on May 2 against San Diego, but that game was rained out after three innings.

Perez spent three months in jail in his homeland, the Dominican Republic, before being convicted of a misdemeanor charge of possession of cocaine and released. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn suspended the pitcher until May 16, but after Perez filed a union grievance, the suspension was lifted by an arbitrator.

"I feel I'm in good condition," the 27-year-old Perez said. "But I haven't pitched in a long time and need to get my control."

Atlanta scored four of its runs in the second inning, erasing a 1-0 Philadelphia lead. Dale Murphy, who hit his seventh homer, and Claudell Washington each drove in two runs for the Braves.

Sixto Lezcano homered once and Von Hayes twice for Philadelphia, which commited five errors to boost its total to 41 in 26 games for 32 unearned runs.

"I've never seen anything like it, not even in the minor leagues," Phillies Manager Paul Owens said.

In the rest of the National League, Montreal defeated Houston 4-1, Cincinnati clobbered New York 11-2, St. Louis beat Los Angeles 5-1 and Chicago defeated San Francisco 10-7. San Diego at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Expos 4, Astros 1

Steve Rogers worked 5 2-3 innings, allowing just three hits before leaving with a blister, and snapped a 1-1 tie with an RBI double in the Montreal fifth.

Tonight against Lakers...

Mavs have tough challenge

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Even at full strength, the Dallas Mavericks would face a most difficult task at the Forum tonight. And they might not be at full strength.

High-scoring forward Mark Aguirre was listed as questionable Monday for tonight's fifth game of the National Basketball Association playoff series between the Mavericks and the Los Angeles Lakers.

A victory by the Lakers would end the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series. It would also be no surprise, considering Los Angeles won the first two games of the series at the Forum by a combined total of 59 points.

Aguirre traveled from Texas to California with the Mavericks Monday, but didn't practice. A spokesperson for the team said his status for tonight wouldn't be known until shortly before tipoff time, which is 10 p.m., CDT.

Aguirre, who averaged 29.5 points per game during the regular season, scored 34 points during the Mavericks' 122-115 overtime loss to the Lakers Sunday that gave Los Angeles a 3-1 lead in the series.

However, Aguirre was held scoreless in the fourth quarter and left the game for good when he suffered a badly bruised right hip. He was injured while diving for a loose ball with 54 seconds remaining in regulation play.

"Looks like we lost one of our cannons," said Dallas guard Rolando Blackman, the Mavericks' second-leading scorer. "We'll just have to load up as best we can if Mark can't play."

A spokesman for the Lakers said Monday afternoon that starting Los Angeles forward Jamaal Wilkes might play tonight for the first time since the playoffs began.

Wilkes, 31 and in his 10th NBA season, missed the three Los Angeles playoff games with Kansas City and the four so far with Dallas because of an intestinal infection.

If a sixth game is necessary, it will be played at Dallas Thursday night. If a seventh game is needed, it will be played at the Forum Saturday afternoon.

NBA Coach of Year...

Utah's Layden honored

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - At the outset of the 1983-84 National Basketball Association, Frank Layden of the Utah Jazz seemed a most unlikely candidate for the league's coach of the year award.

But Layden, after leading the Jazz to the Midwest Division championship and into the playoffs for the first time in the club's existence, on Monday achieved the distinction he once considered unattainable.

"I remember being at the Waldorf in New York last year when (Milwaukee Coach) Don Nelson got the award," Layden recalled. "He was going up to the podium to get the trophy and I said to myself, 'What a tremendous feeling it must be.'

"I never thought it would be possible. I'm 52 and the life expectancy in America is 76. I never thought I'd live long enough to get this award," he said.

Layden received 54 of 76 votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters nationwide to win the honor. Detroit's Chuck Daly was second in the balloting with 12 votes, followed by New York's Hubie Brown with five, Boston's K.C. Jones with three and Dick Motta of Dallas and Jack Ramsay of Portland with one vote apiece.

Layden learned of his selection Monday morning at his Salt Lake City home, before he and the Jazz prepared for playoff game No.5 tonight against the Phoenix Suns. The Suns lead the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series 3-1.

The tribute, however, didn't accord Layden lofty status at his home.

Coin flip postponed

NEW YORK (AP) - The National Basketball Association, investigating allegations that the Houston Rockets and Portland Trail Blazers had illegally contacted college stars Patrick Ewing and Akeem Olajuwon, has postponed Thursday's coin flip to determine which team picks first in the June 19 draft.

The league would not say whether the reports of contacts had come from the pro or college ranks.

Sir Winston Churchill was born in 1874.

Charlene's Drapery Shop, located on the Clairemont Hwy., just north of Baker Packers, is a custom drapery shop, specializing in custom window coverings for your home.

Your windows say a lot about your home, from the inside and from the outside. Inside your house, your draperies and window coverings can tie the decor of the room together and give the room the proper decorator touch. Windows should make a statement from outside your home as well, and make your home attractive and appealing from the exterior.

Charlene has been making custom draperies for several years, and she can make them to fit any window type or size, including draperies for patio doors, bay windows and atrium doors. She also can custom make top treatments for doors and windows such as swags, cascades, cornices, and valances, either pleated or soft style.

Something extra Charlene offers may surprise you for a drapery shop. She carries a variety of wall coverings. Custom fabric walls are becoming increasingly popular and Charlene can create the special look you may want on your walls. Wall paper by Waverly and Schumacher are available also. A new arrival in the wall covering area at Charlene's is the Old Sturbridge Village Coordinates with paper, fabric to match and even special order paints in colonial colors.

Insulated draperies, as well as window shades and blinds, serve a dual purpose for windows. They are great insulators summer or winter, and they make attractive window coverings. Charlene offers a wide variety of alternate window treatments from the very popular woven wood shades to Roman shades or drapes and mini blinds. A wide choice of vertical blinds, custom roller shades, wood blinds, 1 inch or 2 inch pleated or plain fabric Roman shades are also available along with Austrian shades, balloon shades and the new soft light shades.

Gathered curtains are regaining popularity as new rods have been introduced, such as the 41/2 inch Continental rod. While on the subject of curtain rods, for the country-look decor, wood pole rods are very appropriate and Charlene's has them both.

Custom made bedspreads in any of the beautiful fabrics can be made to fit any bed, even waterbeds and odd shaped beds, short beds, and tall beds.

If you're in the market for new draperies, window or wall coverings, bedspreads, or just looking around for ideas to make your home more attractive, go see Charlene Hendrix at Charlene's Drapery Shop, or give her a call at 573-6601.
