NEW STRIKE CALLS

German Hordes Level Barrels Toward Turks

Islands Captured; Pass Is Smashed; More Ships Hit

(By The Associated Press)

British rearguard troops, hopelessly out-numbered, fell back from the bloody "hot gates" of Thermopylae pass today as Adolf Hitler's invasion armies lunged forward in a final drive toward Athens, less than 100 miles away.

Hitler's high command said bluntly that Nazi units had "thrown the enemy out" of the historic pass, overcoming strongly fortified defenses where the British and a handful of Greek Allies had held out for more than two days.

Severe German Losses

The German break-through came 48 hours after Nazi quarters in Berlin prematurely declared Wednesday morning that the pass had already been taken and that the British rearguard had been "annihilated."

Advices reaching Athens from the battlefront at 12:45 p. m. (5:45 A. M. EST) said the Allies were still fighting bitterly in the Thermopylae sector after executing what was officially described as an "orderly withdrawal."

German news dispatches declared that Nazi troops swarmed into the British-Greek defense posts after less than 48 hours of fighting and making a 50-mile forced march—apparently a flanking maneuver.

Nests Take Toll

The Germans admitted that countless nests of Allied machine-guns poured a "punishing" fire into the Nazi attackers.

German planes roared over Athens only once during this forenoon, but ranged far out in the Mediterranean bombing and machine-gunning everything afloat, from big steamers to tiny fishing smacks.

In a fiery sideshow to the mainland struggle, German troops landed on the Greek island of Lemnos, 40 miles from the Turkish-controlled Dardanelles, and subdued the small Greek garrison after a 4-hour battle.

The Germans had previously occupied Samothrace, another Greek island 30 miles northeast of Lemnos, and thus levelled twin barrels at the gateway between the Black sea and the Mediterranean.

To Inspect Nazi Ships

Shortly after it was revealed the islands had been taken, a bulletin dispatch from Ankara, Turkey, announced it was unofficially reported that the Turkish government has decided to inspect German

Says American Ships To Sail On Any Ocean

Neutrality Patrol To Roam Far And Wide In Defense

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A possibility that Axis forces partly occupy Greenland, big Danish island in the western hemisphere now under American protection, was disclosed by President Roosevelt today in what he frankly termed a surprising statement.

At the same press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said that the United States neutrality patrol would operate as far into the waters of the seven seas as may be necessary for the defense of the western hemisphere.

Not Thinking Of Convoys

But emphatically the president said that the administration was not thinking of convoys at this time. He described the task of American patrol ships as the reconnaissance of ocean areas to determine whether an aggressor ship might be coming into the western hemisphere.

Convoying, on the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt said, was escorting merchant ships in a group to prevent acts of aggression on them.

The American neutrality patrol, he added, could not be made a convoy by calling it one any more than a cow could be turned into a horse by calling it a horse.

The president also told reporters that Americans who have taken the attitude that the dictatorships will be victorious had adopted a dumb attitude which was not good Americanism.

Declaring that he was "agin'"

Byrd Demands Resignation Of Miss Perkins

Senator Says U. S. Needs Two-Fisted Man As Secretary

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senator Byrd (D-Va) demanded today that Frances Perkins be replaced as secretary of labor by "a two-fisted man who will have the intestinal fortitude to say to both labor and capital that strikes in preparedness industries can not be tolerated."

In a Senate speech, Byrd said that Miss Perkins, the only woman cabinet member, "has made of herself one of the most serious bottlenecks in the entire defense program."

Has Shown Weakness

Byrd said that the cabinet officer has demonstrated "ineptness, weakness and inability to meet her responsibility in the settlement of strikes."

He said he had heard that Miss Perkins' resignation now is on the president's desk, and added:

"If it is, the president should accept it. If it is not, he should request her resignation."

Byrd renewed his criticism of Miss Perkins for failing to certify various strikes to the national mediation board sooner, and suggested Congress should give the board original jurisdiction over strikes. Then, he said, the board should be granted authority to enforce its decisions and to forbid work stoppages while labor disputes were being considered.

Byrd said that if the coal mine shutdowns continue a "complete stoppage" of some industries was only a few days off.

The senator charged that Miss Perkins' "fumbling and lack of courage" in the coal strike had "contributed" to the situation.

"It is reported," he said, "that Miss Perkins' failure to certify the coal strike to the national mediation board was because she did not desire to offend John L. Lewis. Is Mr. Lewis the secretary of labor?"

Italy Warns Subs Will Strike Convoys!

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, April 25 — Sharp issue was taken today by authorized Germans with what they called an assertion last night by U. S. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox that the German people consider the American people their enemies.

(Knox said: "What we all see is an America which is gradually becoming encircled by military powers whose ideals, institutions and methods are all of them irrevocably antagonistic to our ideals, institutions and methods. These same powers have also openly and repeatedly proclaimed themselves our enemies, and these openly avowed enemies have joined themselves together in a pact which they do not hesitate to say is aimed at us, and at us alone.")

"We hate the Knoxes, Frankfurters, Morgenthau and that 'smart Aleck' Donovan," these sources said, "but we also know that the great majority of American people do not think their way."

"These gentlemen and their ilk," it was added, "make themselves self-appointed enemies of the Axis and indeed, one might say, of the European continent, but with the American people we have no quarrel."

Authorized sources said:

"We have no thought whatever of attacking the American people just as we know the American people do not want to attack us.

"No normal human being—only someone 150 per cent demented — can imagine such things."

Meanwhile, in Rome, the representative Fascist newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma declared that Italian and German submarines would attack United States convoys to Britain if Washington went so far as to send them across the Atlantic.

The newspaper said that from the reported American plan to extend its air and naval patrol to mid-Atlantic to complete convoying it is a "short step, almost equivocation."

"And then it will be the

Quick Opening Of Soft Coal Mines Will Be Sought

(By The Associated Press)

The soft coal wage dispute which has set back production an estimated 30,000,000 tons since April 1 came up today before a mediation panel intent on quick reopening of the mines.

Some coal men predicted that the three-man panel would bring the reopening issue to the fore at once by making a direct request to the miners and operators to resume digging and remove the threat of a serious fuel shortage from national defense industries.

Plane Strike Called

While President Roosevelt's board got down to business on the coal controversy, CIO officials declared a strike at the big Glenn L. Martin airplane factory at Baltimore, and another CIO group completed balloting on a strike call against General Motors corporation 61 widely scattered production units.

The coal mediators, members of the national defense mediation board, were William H. Davis, representing the public; Walter Teagle, a Standard Oil executive, representing employers, and Clinton Golden, a CIO official, representing labor.

The disagreement involves 400,000 miners and 7,000 coal producers in eight Appalachian states and in outlying mining areas where wage contracts are based on the general Appalachian agreement.

Seriousness Emphasized

Seriousness of the mounting fuel shortage was underlined by two official agencies. The war department said the shortage had caused "drastic" curtailment in production of ammonia, steel, textiles and other products needed for defense. The Bureau of Mines said only about two weeks supply of coal

Scribes Lost In War Zone

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, April 25 — Six American war correspondents, including four who undertook a hazardous 400-mile ocean trip in a large rowboat equipped with a motor, have not been heard from since soon after the start of the German invasion of Yugoslavia and Greece.

The six, all of whom last were seen at Kotor, in Yugoslavia, are Robert St. John of the Associated Press, Leigh White of the Overseas News Agency, Leon Kay of the United Press, Russell Hill of the New York Herald-Tribune, Ray Brock of the New York Times, and Sam Brewer of the Chicago Tribune.

Started In Rowboat

St. John, White, Kay and Hill have been unheard from since April 16, when the Associated Press received word that this group had started to try to reach Greece from Kotor by coming down the Albanian coast in a large rowboat.

Brewer last was reported on a train somewhere in Yugoslavia en route to Belgrade. Brock also was in Kotor on April 16, and so far as is known remained there.

(None of the American offices of the six missing reporters has received any word from them, either directly or indirectly, since April 16. However, they do not yet feel grave concern for their safety, since communications in the war area are disrupted).

It was reported that William Phillips, American ambassador to Rome, had requested the assistance of the Italian government in locating the missing correspondents. Those in the boat, it was felt, probably put in at an Albanian port.

St. John, a member of the Associated Press staff since 1931, has been covering the swift-moving Balkan front for the past year. He is a native of Chicago.

Kay is from Racine, Wis., while White was born at St. Albans, Vt. Hill and Brewer are natives of New York City, and Brock has made his home there for many years.

Sands Of Fortune: Tech Student Recovers Wallet Lost Year Ago While Plowing Farm

Blowing of sand may be objectionable to some persons, but not to Rex Creitz of Adrian, sophomore agricultural student at Texas Technological college.

The reason is that shifting sands uncovered the cost of a month's room and board for him.

Last June, while plowing a field on his father's farm, Creitz lost a billfold containing $28, a driver's license and other valuable papers. Last week, Lorin Creitz, an older brother, saw the weathered billfold lying in front of his tractor. The dirt had blown away from the object buried by the student's plow almost a year ago.

Feeders' Day Held At Tech

Following a noon barbecue, several hundred farmers and cattle feeders here for the third annual feeders' day program at Texas Technological college began a tour of 74 points of interest in the college agricultural division.

During the tour they were to inspect college herds and flocks.

About 350 Expected

The program opened at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the livestock pavilion. Indications were that anticipated attendance of 350 persons would be reached, it was said in the office of W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry.

Results of the 140-day cattle feeding experiment conducted at Tech were to be presented at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon by J. Russell Reed, graduate student who held the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association fellowship at Tech

Bottlers Face Receipts Levy

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 25—The Senate today struck out of its $23,661,000 omnibus tax bill a $2,500,000 levy on soft drinks and substituted a 2 per cent gross receipts tax on bottlers and soda fountains estimated to yield $600,000 annually.

Later, the upper legislative chamber refused to exempt all food drinks but inserted a provision cutting out undiluted fruit and vegetable juices from the levy.

Reduction Is Sought

Pending at the noon recess was an amendment reducing the gross receipts tax to 1 per cent.

Several close votes featured the morning's work, the 2 per cent gross receipts tax receiving 15 ayes, 14 noes and one pair on adoption. The vote on killing the originally proposed levy of 1.16 of 1 cent on each 5-cent bottle and 20 cents a gallon syrup was 17 to 12 and one pair.

An amendment which would have cut in half the original tax also failed.

Scope Of Tax Plan Widened

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25. — The House ways and means committee said today congressional tax experts had suggested levy of excise taxes on several foods, the use of automobiles and aeroplanes and on insurance premiums in connection with plans to raise $3,500,000,000 in new revenue.

These and other levies, proposed by the staff of a joint congressional committee on taxation, would be in addition to a long list of excise taxes proposed by the treasury department and would yield an estimated $661,000,000.

Food Taxes Proposed

Food taxes proposed by the committee staff were levies of 5 cents a pound on coffee and cocoa, 10 cents a pound on tea and 1 cent a pound on sugar.

Other taxes in the list included one of $5 each annually for the use of automobiles, yachts and aeroplanes, exclusive of those operated by state or federal governments; an unspecified tax on parimutuels and a corresponding tax on book makers; a 1-cent levy on elctric light bulbs and a 5 per cent tax on the sale price of slot machines and other coin operated devices.

Postage Is Mentioned

The list also included a suggestion that second class postage be placed on a paying basis, exclusive of county free delivery, and it was estimated that would produce $78,000,000 in revenue. The proposal was not further explained.

The group suggested a 5 per cent rental tax on motion picture

Willkie Seeks "Full Facts" On Sinkings

PITTSBURGH, April 25. (UP) — Wendell L. Willkie called upon the administration today to give the American people the "full facts" on the reported sinking of war materials en route to Great Britain and urged immediate steps to halt the sinkings.

"I regard the situation as extremely serious," he said, "and I believe the American people as a whole can be brought to a realization of that if the full facts are given to them."

Britons Ready At Gibraltar

(By The United Press)

GIBRALTAR, April 25—Gibraltar, guardian of Britain's vital western Mediterranean approach, was ready for action today, bristling with guns and a vast network of secret defenses.

Reports of an imminent German thrust at Gibraltar by way of Spain as one prong of a giant Nazi Mediterranean pincer movement have caused hardly a ripple here, because preparations for that eventuality long have been in progress.

Would Lose 150,000

A high Spanish officer, who recently inspected some of the new defense installations on the sandy isthmus connecting Gibraltar with Spain, said an enemy force would lose at least 150,000 men in an attempt to storm the citadel from that direction.

The narrow isthmus, only land approach to Gibraltar, has been honey-combed with secret lethal devices and land mines and an extensive network of obstacles and has been cut by a canal not quite completed.

All buildings between the Spanish frontier and the rock have been demolished. With the canal and other defenses slowing their ap-

Living Costs Rap Budgets

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25. — "High cost of living"—the wrecker of housewives' budgets — is lurking around again.

The bureau of labor statistics and bureau of agricultural economics report increased food, clothing and rent prices.

Increases have been sharpest in foods, but other items are following the general upward trend. Advances have not been sensational in any item except meats. Government machinery has been set up to prevent inflationary price movements. Officials hope to keep living costs in step with the upward trend in wages and other consumer incomes. Both have been increasing.

On the average, all living costs

FDR's Son Thought On Way To China

Goal Of 50,400 U. S. Planes In '42 Seen

WICHITA, Kas., April 25 (AP)—A forecast that airplane production, both military and non-military, would exceed 50,400 units a year in 1942 in the United States was made today at the Southwest Aviation conference by Louis Inwood, acting chief of materials scheduling, aircraft section, of the office of production management.

While no official figures were available on how the output would be divided, commercial manufacturing sources at the conference said slightly more than 10,000 non-military planes were scheduled for production next year.

That would leave a planned output of military planes approaching 40,000.

New Registration For Draft Expected Soon

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP)—Selective service officials today favored June 14—Flag day—as the date for the next registration of men for compulsory military service.

President Roosevelt will make the final decision. An executive order designating another registration day—the second since enactment of the selective service act—is not far off, officials said.

Only those men who have reached the age of 21 since the original registration on Oct. 16 last will be obliged to register this year.

Britain's Gibraltar Command Is Shuffled

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — Viscount Gort, former chief of the British imperial general staff, has been appointed governor and commander-in-chief of Gibraltar, it was announced today.

By his new appointment, he exchange jobs with Lieut. Gen. Sir Clive Liddell, governor of Gibraltar, who now takes Gort's place as army inspector general for training of British home forces.

Houston Thought Not Likely To Take Active Post In Washington

War For U. S. Claimed Near

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAPORTE, April 25.—After a talk with General Andrew Jackson Houston, Texas' new interim senator, an interviewer is left with the definite impression that the colorful old son of Texas' greatest hero probably never will take actively the seat in Congress his father held before him.

The venerable 86-year-old Trinity bayside resident is as full of fire and spunk as Sam Houston, and insists he will go to Washington, but his daughters plainly do not want him to take up the journey.

They Should Be Proud

If he were a young man, they undoubtedly would be enormously proud that their father would sit in the same capitol in which Sam Houston fought his legislative battles as vigorously as his wars.

But they want him to remain in the quiet seclusion of his home just across the bay from Cedar Point, where his illustrious father once lived.

The daughters — Miss Marguerite and Miss Ariadne — say their father is stoutly constituted and possibly would stand the trip without ill effects.

But somehow their words do not bear conviction. General Houston's mind is alert—he still works on his history of Texas and he reads avidly of current affairs —and although his body is sturdy for a man his age, there is no disputing his heart has been pumping steadily these 86 long years.

Would Have Effect

The arduous train trip to Washington, with its excitement and crowds; work in the Senate until someone is picked to fill out the late Morris Sheppard's term—this would have some effect, it seems reasonable to assume, upon his health.

Unless the old Houston iron determination arises beyond dissuasion, Texas' new senator will acquiesce to his daughters' desires, and live the rest of his life on quiet Trinity bay, with his books, his paintings, his newspapers and his dreams.

He retired to his home near here 24 years ago, a long time past, and has emerged only occasionally into public life.

He may make this one grand effort, however. Reports that he was shocked, that his health would not permit him to serve, have galled him like a spur; that, coupled with his natural desire to serve the people, may induce him to go to Washington.

Feels War Inevitable

In an interview yesterday, General Houston said he felt war with Germany was inevitable and that "when that time comes, the United States ought to strike hard and fast."

General Houston said he was a "Roosevelt Democrat" and probably would support the president's foreign policy.

He said he would vote for Governor W. Lee O'Daniel if the latter runs for the Senate, although he added "I'd have done it anyhow."

Asked his attitude about strikes delaying national defense, he said:

"I knew Roosevelt wouldn't take too much."

He was in good spirits, kidding his daughter by calling her "Miss Howston" instead of Houston, and joshing her when she lingered with a reporter after his interview.

"Are you polishing off the interview?" he asked her.

Defense Organization Of U. S. Hospital Facilities Is Urged

BOSTON, April 25. (AP) — Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the United States public health service recommended today defense organization of the nation's hospital facilities in areas "vulnerable to enemy action," based on the experience of Britain at war.

He also said the medical needs of the civilian population should be considered in all recruitment plans" and suggested that doctors be recruited only on a "quota" basis in respect to need, and that medical and dental students be deferred from selective service until completion of their internship, as they are in England.

Has Visited Britain

Recently returned from Britain, where he made a survey of medical defense in the war area, Parran said in a prepared address to the American College of Physicians:

"If we are to learn anything from the British experience on the medical front, we must organize our approach to the problem of medicine's contribution to the defense effort.

Many Factors Considered

"Some of the factors should include provision of additional operating theaters and their protection against enemy action, the protection of existing hospitals, the consideration of safety from air attack in new hospital construction, and the number, location and equipment of first aid posts.

"They should include the provision of ambulances of a standard type with standard fitments, the earmarking of commercial vehicles for emergency ambulance service, and the planning of decontamination centers and training of key persons in each vulnerable area in anti-gas warfare."

MY DEAR, HOW YOU'VE CHANGED—Alice Faye was just a song-plugging youngster from the New York stage when she hit Hollywood with Rudy Vallee in 1935. Out of "George White's Scandals," Alice and her throbby voice tried pictures. She made a flock of B's before she bought her first coat—and then in supermusicals like "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Tin Pan Alley," "That Night in Rio" and "Lillian Russell," she made a name as actress as well as singer. Today she lets both her eyebrows and her hair imitate nature.

Control Of Life By Science Advocated

BOSTON, April 25. (AP) — Harvard anthropologist Earnest A. Hooton said last night that birth-control, sterilization of criminals and the unfit and "mercy killing" demanded the "initiative and the direction of medical science" as means of checking human degeneration.

"The only social sanctions withheld from the physician," he declared in a prepared address before the American College of Physicians, "are the power to end useless, defective, and disease-condemned human lives, the discretion to prevent births and conceptions, and to forbid or enforce marriages and divorces."

"I hope that he may presently acquire these also, and use them wisely and copiously."

JAPANESE PASTURAGE RARE

Few cattle are raised, and dairy products are not a regular part of the native diet in Japan, because there is little pasture land in that country.

The first public museum in America was opened at Charleston, S. C., in 1773.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

It isn't enough for a woman to have glamor for her husband — she should have it for her children, too.

That is what Elaine Carrington, herself mother of two children, told me. And it's a cinch that chic Mrs. Carrington, who writes the radio serials "When a Girl Marries" and "Pepper Young's Family," is a glamorous creature in the eyes of her young son and daughter.

Mrs. Carrington thinks that the way for a mother to be glamorous to her own children is "to have a life of her own apart from them. So that they see her, as they always see their father, as one who is an important person with his own affairs to attend to."

The "life of her own" that Mrs. Carrington recommends doesn't have to be a career or a part-time job. It is even better, perhaps, that the mother's outside life be just an expression of her own interests and her own talents.

The thing that makes me agree with Mrs. Carrington is knowing an elderly woman who didn't bother to make herself anything at all but her husband's wife and her children's mother.

Her husband is dead now and her children grown. She lives with a daughter, and though she is taken care of physically, she doesn't get much out of life.

For it is too late now for her to decide to be a person in her children's eyes. She was always a drudge to them, and now she is a drudge who is no longer able to do any work.

"BEING A GOOD MOTHER"

They aren't interested in her or her opinions, and she can't be intelligently interested in them, because they have grown too far away from her through the years. (The children are selfish, you may say. But many children turn out to be selfish.)

That mother pinned her faith on "being a good mother," which used to mean slaving and sacrificing for children and demanding nothing for one's self.

How much happier she would be today, and how much happier her daughter would be to have her around, if she hadn't neglected herself all through the years — if she had tried to hold a little glamor for her children, by being interested in things outside of them.

Mrs. Ranson Is Speaker

Mrs. Nancy Richey Ranson, poet laureate of Texas, appeared in a travelogue at Senior High school auditorium Thursday night under sponsorship of Church Women's Federation.

The poet visited the Scandinavian countries in the summer of 1939. She said there was not a sense of tenseness until ten days before Danzig was bombed. As a representative of the Dallas Morning News, Mrs. Ranson attended a conference luncheon for foreign correspondents following the signing of the ten year nonaggression pact by the Denmark and Nazi governments. At that time the Danish people believed their country was not in danger of war, she said.

She told of customs of the people of those northern countries. She said her greatest surprise was in discovering the same wild flowers that grow in Texas may be found near the North Cape.

Proceeds from the lecture will go toward completing the Community Center.

War Moves At Furious Pace

DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The battle of the Balkans must run its appointed course through the Grecian valleys of death to the sea, but the belligerent nations already have discounted the climax enacted in the historic pass of Thermopylae and are looking to the next critical stage of the war.

These are days when the dead bury the dead — when the world has little time to spare on the past, lives fast and furiously in the present, and perforce must devote much of its energy to the future. Those who do not recognize this are riding for a fall. The outcom. of the war depends on developments of the next few months — maybe weeks.

Two Major Threats

With the Allies still heavily on the defensive, the question naturally arises a sto what further herculean tasks are in store for them. To my mind the threats which they have to fear most right now are two:

1. The Nazi campaign against shipping in the Atlantic, which is an offshoot of the paramount battle of Britain.

2. The possibility of a German attempt to force the Dardanelles and break into the Near East — an action calculated at once to replenish Hitler's terribly-low supply of oil and to create a grave menace to the Suez canal and Egypt.

Atlantic Dangers Greatest

Of these two the battle of the Atlantic is by far the more dangerous. This is especially true since it isn't merely a possibility but a grim reality which most certainly will beat Britain unless it is got in hand, and mighty soon at that.

It's no news that shipping is being sent to the bottom by U-boats and bombers with such regularity as to give rise to fear that America's aid program for the Allies will be largely nullified. Not only is Britain being deprived of weapons and materials with which to wage war, but if this goes on her food situation will become bad, since this tiny island kingdom is largely dependent on sea-borne supplies for existence.

Needs Naval Weapons

The gravity of the position was emphasized in speeches yesterday by Secretaries Hull and Knox who pointed to the necessity of, seeing that our lease-lend supplies get to England safely. Some capital observers thought they saw in the offing some sort of administration move to strengthen our all-out aid to Britain—possibly the utilization of American nava lvessels to protect shipping lanes, at least in the waters of the western hemisphere.

Britain isn't up against any mysterious force in this Nazi onslaught on shipping. She knows the answer to her problem.

She knows how to stand the Nazi submarines off, and to clear the sea of them, but her trouble is that she hasn't the tools to do the job. By tools I mean warships for convoy, and other small, fast naval craft.

Recruits Alarmed By Morning 'Bugle' Now

FORT JACKSON, S. C., April 25. (AP) — The boys literally are alarmed by this innovation.

Sergeant William T. Davis got tired of hearing tardy soldiers explain that they didn't hear the morning bugle call. So he rigged up a system with bells in every tent.

Now he merely throws a switch, the bells ring and all men are out of bed before they can say Skoplje.

Meet Osiris--He's Going To Rout Hitler With Bolt From The Blue

(By NEA Service)

A bolt from the blue will answer the forces of destruction let loose in Hitler's Germany and, amid other world calamities, Japan will sink into the sea.

These are coming events, according to the predictions of a new religion whose prophet is "Osiris," and whose representative on earth is Walter DeVoe, 66, commander-in-chief of the Army of Benevolence on Earth, with headquarters in Brookline, Mass.

Beliefs Reviewed

There are other prophecies not so comforting. Within two years, writes Osiris in a new pamphlet, earthquakes will destroy large cities in the United States, tidal waves will inundate low-lying parts of the eastern and western coasts of America, large areas of the lowlands of the Mississippi will become arms of the sea and a big new continent will emerge from the bed of the Pacific ocean.

There are certain important intangibles in the new religion.

Somewhere in the blue dwells Osiris, chief executive of the Almighty. After 8000 years experience in the heavens, he has attained the wisdom and the power to help mankind in the approaching crisis. His literature says he has several thousand million powerful immortals at his command.

Claims Power

DeVoe, sitting in his headquarters in Brookline, asserts he has a purpose transmitted to him by Osiris, viz., to enroll men and women to give complete consecration of time, talents and money to do physical and spiritual work for the bodies and souls of men.

Oriris gives notice of direful things in store. A comet is now in the skies. It is a herald of the Almighty's will. The minds and bodies of the people on earth are rotten from ages of selfish thinking and living. Even the body of the earth is crumbling into decay because of the destructive quality of the mass mind of humanity.

Mentions Climate

All this sayeth Osiris, and more. Already the vortex of the comet is producing effects upon the earth and its peopde. There will be profound changes of climate. The earth, like a human sinner, will shudder and groan.

But Osiris with hosts of angels is ready to organize on earth. There is hope through repentance and good works. Through his agent, Walter DeVoe, he has made known the cause and cure for human ills. So now is the time for Americans to act. Only those who sow their all in service for human welfare at this this time will save anything for the future.

Dead-End Esophagus Kid Is Still Living

EL PASO, April 25. (AP)—Pretty 43-day-old Patricia Cotten, the dead-end esophagus kid, weighed 8½ pounds today and faced the prospect of a long life even though she feeds through a tube in her stomach.

The baby attracted wide attention when she was operated on at the age of nine days to permit tube feeding because her esophagus had not developed to allow mouth feeding. The operation, while not unknown, was comparatively rare.

"Patricia has as good a chance to live as any baby in El Paso," her doctor said today.

O'Daniel's Plans For Part--If Any--In Senate Race Are Clouded

Quick Change Claimed Noted

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 25 — A remarkable change of opinion as to whether Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will run for the United States Senate has occurred in the legislature.

Whereas a week ago the overwhelming majority of the legislators seemed to think the governor was certain to become a candidate in the special election June 28, many now are saying he will not.

Are Merely Guessing

None claims to have a "pipeline" to the governor, and most emphasize they are merely "guessing." But, only a few days ago, most were guessing his hat would go in the ring. Now they're divided.

Representative members were asked the reasons for the sudden veering among them and the following were suggestions:

The president's pat on the back given Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson in connection with the latter's announcement of candidacy.

"Heat" Is Taken Off

The asserted fact that the governor in the last three days has lessened the "heat" for passage of his program.

The possibility that unfriendly sources are talking it up that the governor will not run.

The field activity of other candidates.

The natural reaction, or let down, from the activity that followed immediately after the governor told the legislature that its action on his legislative program would enable him to make up his mind.

Slow Progress Seen

The slow progress being made to enact that program, and the closely-connected onrush of the election date and deadline for filing, the last June 12.

Some speculate that the presidential declaration that Johnson is an old and close friend may mean that the word will be passed that the national administration will frown on any O'Daniel candidacy and that O'Daniel will not want to run in the face of such opposition.

It is suggested that even if the governor would not be afraid of national administration opposition then he has big business friends who would be impressed by it and might throw their influence against his entering the contest.

turn for Axis submarines to speak."

The newspaper said that from the reported American plan to extend its air and naval patrol to mid-Atlantic to complete convoying it is a "short step, almost equivocation."

"And then it will be the turn for Axis submarines to speak."

FDR Called Astute Fox

The newspaper called President Roosevelt "an astute fox, for that he is" and said he had convoked his "war cabinet" to bring pressure on it for extension of patrols to mid-ocean to save his "war policy" from "violent popular demonstrations against war."

"Who knows if Roosevelt will stop with this or will give a new tightening to this war mania?" Il Popolo Di Roma asked. "The next few days will tell."

New Danger Zones Seen For Shipping

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — The admiralty announced today that the Adriatic and Aegean seas and a large part of the eastern Mediterranean were "dangerous to shipping."

The new danger area, with those announced Feb. 20, leaves only each end of the Mediterranean free to shipping — west and north of Sardinia and east of a line from Cape Khelidonia in Turkey to Ras-El-Kanais in Egypt.

A reliable source said the size of the danger area in the Mediterranean was between 500,000 and 600,000 square miles.

Nazis' Liability On Seas Said Relieved

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 25—The German radio declared today that Adolf Hitler's threat to destroy all ships entering the British war zone with aid for Britain relieves Germany of liability "should unforeseen events occur."

The broadcast, transcribed by CBS, was a reply to last night's speeches by Navy Secretary Knox and Secretary of State Hull.

"The fact that England is beaten can't be changed by U. S. A. help," the German radio said.

Has Gone Too Far

"It is stressed in Germany that the speech of Col. Knox contains the admission that America has gone too far to turn back. The United States has never been threatened with war by Germany. On the contrary, the fuehrer repeatedly stated that between Germany and the United States there existed no enmity whatsoever.

"The Berlin press recalls in this connection Hitler's words to the effect that all ships entering the war zone around Britain would be torpedoed by submarines or bombarded by the luftwaffe. These warnings should have been plain enough so that Germany will be without any liability, should unforeseen events occur."

Bulgaria and Turkey fought against each other in the two Balkan wars of 1912, then joined forces and fought on the side of Germany in the First World war.

Importance Of Recreation As A Factor In Nation's Health Stressed At Conference

Declaration that the national emergency has increased tremendously the importance of recreation as a factor in keeping the nation's health and morale at high levels was made to the training conference of Northwest Texas recreation officials of the Work Projects administration by Houston Crump of San Antonio, state supervisor of recreation, at the business session in Hilton hotel this morning.

The five-day conference, which opened Monday, will close this afternoon.

New Responsibilities

The conference, it was explained, is in line with preparations for the added responsibility that the recreational projects must assume in connection with the national defense program.

Another topic of extensive discussion dealt with the use of volunteers in the strengthening of the summer programs. Leading were Miss Imogene A. Douglass of Plainview, Miss Grace Wilhoit of Coleman and Wendell Siebert of Stamford.

Committee reports following group conferences on national defense subjects Thursday afternoon were made at the Friday session by Miss Dona Huff of Lamesa and Malcolm Bridges of Midland.

Cooperation Discussed

A discussion of the cooperation of service clubs with recreational projects featured a noon luncheon. Those named to represent the local clubs in the discussion were W. O. Daniels, Rotary club; Marion Sanford, Kiwanis club; H. C. Pender, Lions club; Charles L. Cobb, Optimist club; Earl Kerr, American Business club; Mrs. Ben Maxey, Business and Professional Women's club; Miss Mary Alice Crosson, Altrusa club; and M. D. Fanning, chamber of commerce.

Introduced at the luncheon were Miss Evelyn Richter, Lubbock district director of professional and service projects, which include those of recreational nature; K. N. Clapp, chairman of the city parks board; W. H. Evans and W. G. Alderson who, with Daniels, Pender and Sanford are members of the recreation council of the city parks board; Mrs. Mary Barry of San Angelo, district director of professional and service projects; and Miss Frances E. Fox of San Antonio, assistant state supervisor of recreation projects.

The majority of women questioned read the comic page before turning to the front page, society or any other section.

Garden Course Closes Today

A quiz review in which those attending the garden course at Texas Technological college will ask questions of speakers will end the two-day course this afternoon.

Dr. W. W. Yocum, associate professor of horticulture, discussed hedges, George Elle, instructor in vegetable crops, talked on frame gardens, and O. B. Howell, professor of horticulture discussed the outdoor living room this morning. A flower design school was conducted at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Those participating were to be O. W. Differences in gardening in Texas and New Mexico were discussed by Mrs. Mary D. Lake of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Federation of Garden clubs, Thursday night at a dinner at Mexican Inn. Mrs. Lake said better traveling opportunities in Texas bring about greater attendance at such short courses as that offered at Tech and at meetings and promote greater inter-city and inter-county rivalry and more interest in gardening activities elsewhere.

are approximately three per cent above the level of August, 1939, just before the outbreak of the European war, according to reports of the bureau of labor statistics. Food advanced most — five per cent.

6.3 Per Cent Higher

New supplies which merchants are putting on their shelves for the spring trade average 6.3 per cent higher than a year ago, the bureau said. Wholesale food prices are 9.5 per cent higher and textile products 11.8 per cent higher.

Other increases over a year ago include fuel and lighting material 1.2 per cent; building materials, 7.7 per cent; chemical and allied products, 6.7 per cent; house furnishing goods, 1.8 per cent; leather products, 1.8 per cent, and miscellaneous commodities two per cent.

Decreases were shown in only four major food items during the past year. Potatoes were down 23 per cent, white bread four per cent; sugar .03 per cent and coffee 1.4 per cent according to the most recent labor department statistics.

Clothing prices generally have gone up less than foods. Principal increases have been in work clothing, men's hats, women's shoes and men's woolen suits. Women's coats are lower than a year ago.

Rents increased in nine of the 20 cities reporting for the 30 days ended February 15, the most recent statistics available showed. The largest advances were in cities having considerable defense activity and for dwellings renting for less than $30 a month.

Food Situation In Finland Critical

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP) — The food situation in Finland is so desperate that "food is news," Charles Grey, American Red Cross representative, said today when he returned aboard Pan American airways' Yankee clipper after a fact-finding expedition through Finland.

He said working people in Finland were getting only 70 per cent of the calories they needed; and that they were obliged to keep what was left of their cattle by feeding them thin strips of cellulose—"wood, in other words, treated with chemicals to supply some of the needed calories."

Woman Waiting To Be Bombed Third Time

LONDON, April 25. (AP)—Touring London's bomb-scarred east end today the king and queen were told by a woman with a shawl over her head:

"I have been bombed out twice and I am waiting now to be bombed out again, but I shall stick it."

"That's the spirit," said the king, shaking her hand warmly.

The queen stooped and picked up the picture and gazed at it pensively for some minutes.

Englishman's Beer Rationed By Bombs

LONDON, April 25. (U.P.)—For the first time in history the Englishman's beer is being rationed—but not by the government.

A company that controls more than 100 public houses in Leicestershire announced that because of "enemy action affecting" its brewery its houses would be closed two days a week in order to assure adequate supplies until repairs can be made.

Rome Radio Looses New Attack On FDR

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—The Rome radio, commenting on a remark made yesterday by President Roosevelt in his press conference, said today that "it is lucky for him" that he does not live at Delphia.

"If this shrine of the oracle has not already been occupied by the Germans, it will be by tomorrow. Nevertheless, all Mr. Roosevelt's replies this week were evasive, if not oracular," the broadcast said, according to the CBS transcription.

When asked in a press conference whether the United States was contemplating convoying British ships the president parried with the reply that he had not been to Delphia.

Delphia, site of the ancient oracle of Apollo, is located in central Greece, near the Corinthian gulf.

New Baby In Family Latest Traffic Alibi

DALLAS, April 25. (AP) — A young man who absent-mindedly walked through a red light appeared in corporation court with this statement:

"I didn't even know I was on the street—I was just thinking about my first son."

He added that he had been financially burdened because of the arrival of the baby at his house but "I'd be willing to pay $6 fine, judge, I'm so proud of the boy."

Judge Joe M. Hill told the young father just to contribute that amount to the son's piggy bank—and the fine would be suspended.

dictatorships and that everybody was, Mr. Roosevelt said that America was willing to fight for democratic processes. He, for one, the president added, would not lie down before dictatorships.

Mr. Roosevelt's remarks on Greenland, the huge Arctic island off northeastern Canada which the United States has agreed to defend, were brief and not elaborated. A reporter asked whether the United States would have a safe sea road to Greenland.

After saying that he hoped so, and also hoped there would be no more acts of aggression, Mr. Roosevelt went on to say he was not at all satisfied that part of Greenland was not now occupied by the Axis.

U-Boat Bases Likely

(In naval quarters it was considered a possibility that Germany had established limited bases for U-boats among the jagged fjords of the vast island. Although ice makes Greenland waters hazardous to shipping at almost all seasons, it was said that American-made submarines have operated under worse conditions. Officials declined to say, however, whether there had been ship losses within the range of such submarines.

(Mr. Roosevelt reported in announcing extension of American protection to Greenland that Nazi bombers already had been sighted there this year. Weather reports from Greenland are considered important to the air warfare over England because they assist in making accurate forecasts.)

Attempt To Scare People

Informed of the president's remarks about Greenland, Senator Nye (R-ND) told reporters that in his opinion, this was an attempt to "scare the American people," adding:

"Let's have less of this scare with so little to substantiate it."

Senator Lee (D-Okla) told reporters that "if the Nazis try to get in Greenland we've got to stop them, and if they're already there we've got to throw them out."

Acting Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate military affairs committee said he regarded Greenland as a part of the western hemisphere and said it thus would come under the Monroe doctrine.

Refuses Specific Comments

Mr. Roosevelt declined to be drawn into specific comments designed to amplify his views on the convoy situation.

But he said that for a year and a half vessels of the neutrality patrol had been operating as far as a thousand miles into the Atlantic from the eastern shore of Maryland. He said there were erroneous reports and assumptions at the time that the patrol was operating approximately 300 miles from the American coast.

He repeated several times the thought of hemispheric defense in response to questions about the functions of the patrol. What it would do if it encountered a belligerent vessel, and whether it would be allowed to use belligerent means was not made clear.

Not Confined To Atlantic

The president did say a patrol would not necessarily be confined to the Atlantic. The president was asked exactly what was the difference between a convoy and a patrol. In the first instance, he said, it is the escorting of merchant ships in a group to prevent an act of aggression against those merchant vessels.

A patrol, he explained, is a reconnaissance of certain areas of the ocean to find out whether there is any possible aggressor ship in the area, or in the whole of the ocean, that might be coming into the western hemisphere.

As a matter of common sense, Mr. Roosevelt said, back in 1939 the area of patrol in the Atlantic was closer in because there seemed to be little danger of attack on such places as Bermuda, Newfoundland, Greenland, or Trinidad.

Since then, he continued, events have shown an attack is more possible today than it was then. Furthermore, the president said, the United States has valuable American lives and property located where it did not have them in 1939.

Levelland Students Visitors In City

Fifty-two junior high school students from Levelland, who were given a trip to Lubbock to visit industrial plants as a reward for their records in the recent interscholastic contests for Hockley county, were here today with R. D. Lee, principal of the junior high school, in charge.

The students visited the Avalanche-Journal Publications plant and KFYO broadcasting studio this morning. In the afternoon it was planned to visit a bottling works and several other firms.

Among the group were some choral singing students, with Miss Margaret Steel, their coach and teacher. The trip was made in two school buses.

Would-Be Robbers Select Wrong Man

FORT WORTH, April 25 (AP) — Two would-be robbers picked out the wrong man when they attempted to hold up a pedestrian late last night.

En route to his home, Detective G. W. Haire was confronted by two men, each armed with a pistol. Haire drew his own pistol, fired, and brought one man down with a minor head wound, and presumably wounded the other, who escaped.

this year, and Stangel. The experiment at Tech was on use of cottonseed hulls or silage for fattening yearling steers, with varying amounts of cottonseed meal. Net gains in weights of steers ranged from 287 pounds in lot six to 319 pounds in lot one.

Weights Show Gains

Weights of the 50 animals in the test showed satisfactory gains, said Stangel, in reporting average weights at the opening of the experiment ranged from 774 pounds in lot five to 791 in lot one and final weights ranged from 1,064 pounds in lot four to 1,111 in lot one.

Cattle buyers will evaluate the animals at current prices. The 50 head will be shipped to market Monday.

The feeders' day is being sponsored by Tech in conjunction with the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association.

Club Serves Barbecue

The Block and Bridle club of the college served the barbecue at noon at the meats laboratory. Elbert Overton and his string band played.

This morning's program included welcome by Dr. Harry L. Kent, administrative assistant; response by James R. Gill of Waxahachie, chairman of the college relations committee of the crushers association; talk on research, by Dean A. H. Leidigh; introduction of international livestock judging team for this year, Ray C. Mowery, coach; Texas cattle feeding, J. M. Jones, chief of the division of range animal husbandry of Texas agricultural experiment stations, College Station; introduction of the national dairy cattle judging team that represented Tech this year, Casey Fine, coach; "Minerals in Fattening Calf Rations," F. E. Keating, superintendent of the United States experiment station at Big Spring, and "Crossbred Lamb Production," Mowery.

Porterhouse, club and T-bone steaks may be broiled. Pork chops are browned on the service burner with no fat in the pan on each side then placed in the oven in a covered pan to bake.

In cooking such vegetables as cabbage take it off the stove while it is still green and creamy. It should be cooked in an open kettle in boiling water and salt. Miss Crosson explained that even though some of the minerals might escape if the kettle was not covered, the vegetable would taste better if cooked by this method.

The leg of lamb which may be served with mint jelly, was cooked with no cover and in a dry pan.

A question was asked from the audience concerning the substitution of cocoa for unsweetened chocolate squares. Miss Crosson told the audience that two and two-thirds tablespoons of cocoa plus one-half tablespoon of fat is equal to one square of chocolate.

She gave the following recipe for chocolate cheese frosting: one three ounce package of cream cheese; two or three tablespoons of milk; two squares of unsweetened chocolate; two cups of powdered sugar; a dash of salt. Add milk to cheese and stir until softened. Add sugar one cup at a time blending after each addition. Add chocolate and salt and beat until smooth. This makes enough frosting to cover two layers of a cake or two dozen small cakes.

Miss Hickman discussed electric cookery and gave the advantages, the expense and the methods.

Germans Take Famous Pass

ships passing from the Black sea through the Dardanelles to determine whether they are carrying war materials or troops.

It is understood that several German freighters passed through the Bosporus recently without halting.

There was much speculation in this connection concerning the German occupation of the Greek islands in the Aegean near the straits.

There was an unconfirmed report that Germany had offered Turkey a strip of Greek territory through which a railway between Istanbul and Edirne passes near the Bulgarian frontier. Trains to the border cross into Greek territory then return to Turkish territory to make the trip.

Turkey was said to have rejected the offer.

British middle east headquarters acknowledged that B. E. F. troops made a further withdrawal, "inflicting severe losses on the enemy" as they fell back toward Athens.

Heavy Guns Brought Up

Earlier dispatches from the Hellenic capital itself declared that grey-green waves of Nazi infantry storming the pass had been driven off and that the Germans had brought up heavy 6-inch guns to shell the Allied defenders.

Ambulance drivers arriving in Athens from the battlefront said the Germans had suffered terrific losses in attempts to take the pass by infantry assaults. British casualties were described as "extremely light."

In London, no attempt was made to conceal that withdrawal of the British expeditionary force was "in the cards," but the British radio declared last night that so far "not one British soldier has re-embarked from Greece."

The German high command pictured chaotic destruction among ships waiting in Greek "escape" ports to remove surviving B. E. F. troops. Stuka dive-bombers were reported to have sent six vessels to the bottom and damaged 14 others in the past 24 hours.

"These were so severely damaged they would hardly be useable for embarkation of the British expeditionary corps," the German communique said.

While conceding another major setback, London officials insisted the climax of the 20-day-old battle of the Balkans was less serious than the episode at Dunkerque, in the Allied escape from the bloody fields of Flanders last spring.

The number of troops and the quantity of material endangered by the German drive in France was far greater, the British said.

A Nazi spokesman described Athens as a "ripe apple" waiting to be plucked by the German conqueror.

now was above ground.

CIO leaders, who claim their organization embraces 3,200 of the 17,000 workers in the Martin airplane factory at Baltimore, announced plans last night to "picket the plant and call out our workers until we close it down"—a task which they conceded might take "some time."

The Martin plant has orders for bombing planes, from both the United States and Great Britain.

The CIO United Automobile Workers, conducting the strike balloting at General Motors plants, announced that by last night workers in 41 factories had voted for a walkout. The union and corporation were reported still far apart on the two major issues, a closed shop and demands for increased wages.

The union men said that if a strike comes it will not affect defense production. C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, ridiculed the idea of a "half-strike," which brought a union reply that the firm was using its national defense orders as "a smoke screen."

Britons Ready

proach, invaders would be exposed to concentrated fire from the north wall of the rock.

Attack By Land

It was presumed that if the Germans did attack Gibraltar it would be by the land approach from La Linea, Spain. A landing by sea, against the defense devices ringing the shores and the big guns pointing in every direction, would be a hazardous operation.

The British decided long ago that Gibraltar, Britain's western gateway to the Mediterranean and North Africa, must be held at all costs. As a result they have made complex arrangements to defend the rock against every conceivable form of assault or siege.

They consider the rock as impregnable as a fortress can be.

Vulnerable From Air

Gibraltar is vulnerable to air attack, lacking land-based defending planes, but the British do not believe bombs can penetrate to the deep galleries carved out of the solid rock.

Most of the civilian population which had totaled several thousand, mainly women and children, has been evacuated. There is ample room to accommodate those who remain in the deep vaults in the rock.

In preparation for the worst, the British have accumulated vast stores of ammunition, food and water which would enable them to hold out for many months.

Major Axis Thrusts Against Gibraltar, Suez Are Expected Soon

Spain May Aid In New Drive

(By The United Press)

LONDON, April 25.—Adolf Hitler's plans for grand scale action against the British empire include an attack on the Mediterranean fleet from new Balkan air bases, a drive against Gibraltar, and the dispatch of land forces to French Syria, Tunisia and Algeria, foreign diplomats reported today.

A usually trustworthy diplomatic source asserted that Hitler had finally obtained the consent of the Spanish government for the passage of several German divisions through Spain to Gibraltar and possibly also to Spanish Morocco.

Quick Move Expected

The informant expressed the belief, on the basis of his information, that the German troops would move within the next few weeks at most and possibly within the next few days.

British official quarters were said to have received no information to substantiate this report.

Another embassy received a report, sent from Madrid before the one regarding a march on Gibraltar, that as long ago as last June Generalissimo Francisco Franco had promised Hitler that Spain would enter the war if Germany and Italy took the Suez canal. According to this report Ramon Serrano Suner, the Spanish foreign minister, was telling Franco that British rule of the Mediterranean had ended. But the diplomat who sent the report from Madrid appended his own view that even a small British success would prolong Spain's indecision.

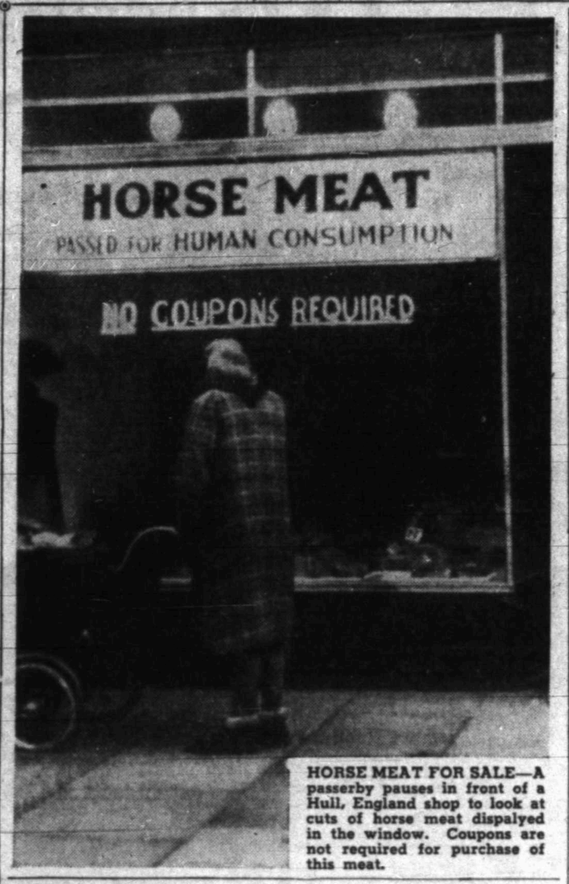

Mass Bombing Feared

Some military and naval experts here expressed belief that if Hitler marched into Spain he would try to isolate Gibraltar and make the straits untenable rather than attack the "Rock" direct.

There seemed a feeling that before any more against Gibraltar there would come a big attack by German planes on the British eastern Mediterranean fleet, and its Alexandria base, from new bases in Greece. Such an attack might be synchronized with new pressure against Egypt from Libya.

From Iran, a report came to a responsible non-British quarter that Hitler intended both to attack the British fleet and to move against French Syria as soon as the Balkan campaign ended.

This report was attributed to German authorities at Tehran, who were said to have disclosed them by indiscretion—an indiscretion which, it was admitted, might have been a calculated one.

Bewhiskered "Admiral" Enters Senate Race; Asks Five-Ocean Navy, Planes To Darken Skies

(By The United Press)

FORT WORTH, April 25 — Bewhiskered Commodore B. M. Hatfield, admiral of the Trinity and first lord of the marshes, today announced for the U. S. Senate on a platform that called for "a five ocean navy, all-out aid to the United States, and enough warplanes to darken the sky at noonday."

He said he was "serious."

The commodore, who looks as if he were the result of the progeny of Buffalo Bill and Admiral Nelson, long has been a strong advocate of chemurgic farming, soil conservation and flood control. He was the first navigator of the Trinity river from Fort Worth to the gulf and to many poor families along the Trinity bottom lands the best friend they ever had. He was credited with introducing the castor-bean "cash crop" to the bottomlands and encouraged the use of the slivery treemoss for mattresses and cushions.

In his campaign to succeed the late Sen. Morris Sheppard, Lord Hatfield said he was "strong" for assured old age pensions "because I am approaching that age when the problem of security interests me personally; a five ocean navy "because any nation with two shores can have a two-ocean navy." He wants more warplanes, development of natural resources, chemurgic farming, soil and flood control "and no more mud draining into Texas rivers."

To pay for all this he proposed a national lottery to provide also for "all out defense aid for the United States." Captain Hatfield opposed candidates who run for a higher office while drawing the taxpayers money in a lower one and "I'm talking about Marlin Dies now."

Admiral Hatfield, who plans to open his campaign in Dies' home district next week, said he recognized only three opponents, Rep Lyndon Johnson, Rep. Dies and Attorney General Gerald Mann.

"Dies," he said, "makes a fine speech, but it's always the same. The man spends a great deal of his time in office practicing dramatic oratorical poses. He has three — Martin the great man; Martin the savior of the nation; and Martin, the great raiser of the sun in the west."

Colonel Hatfield said he was not afraid of competition from Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel because "I think he's about out of biscuits."

"I'm afraid he's another one who's trying to make the sun rise in the west," said General Hatfield.

Gerald Mann Opens Drive

(By The Associated Press)

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann takes to the hustings tomorrow night in an attempt to win the United States senatorial seat vacated by the death of Morris C. Sheppard of Texarkana.

He has chosen his native city of Sulphur Springs as the springboard from which to launch his campaign. The youthful attorney general's followers claimed that 15,000 persons would assemble in the courthouse square to hear Mann's opening bid for the Senate vacancy.

Dies Makes Appeal

Representative Martin Dies, the first active campaigner in the field, appealed to a Brenham audience last night to elect him to the Senate so that he could pursue with greater effect his crusade against anti-American forces.

Representative Lyndon Johnson, whose candidacy for the senatorial vacancy has the tacit blessing of President Roosevelt, expected to leave Washington tonight for Texas to begin his campaign. The Dallas News said he would be accompanied by Harold H. Young, Dallas attorney who is assistant to Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

In his address at Brenham Dies declared that the House committee of which he is chairman "has just come into possession of important information concerning a seaman's boarding house in New York City, operated by a party in the employ of the Nazi government who is getting information for the Nazis from East Indian and European seamen on British transports."

Fence, Cedar Posts Stolen At Airport

Approximately half-a-mile of the three-strand barb wire fence enclosing Municipal airport has been stolen, city officials learned this morning.

Also taken were approximately 100 cedar posts to which the wire was attached, the report said. The fence was located on the west side of the mile-square field.

There is no way to determine how long ago the theft may have been committed, officals said. They said, however, that city and county officers have been asked to make a thorough investigation.

The fence is to be replaced.

County Peanut Quota Vote Set Saturday

Lubbock county peanut producers Saturday will vote on a marketing quota for 1941, 1942 and 1943, at the county Agricultural Adjustment Administration office, 1320 Avenue Q, Saturday, according to C. E. Lilley of Slaton, chairman of the committee.

Polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and producers of the 1940 crop are eligible.

Most of the county's producers live in the Slaton community. Last year the allotment was 225 acres, but this year it was cut to approximately 190 acres.

Minor Cases Occupy Police Authorities

Two Cotton Center men, one 46, the other 25, were held by police this morning after they allegedly had "passed out" in an automobile after almost running down a man at Main street and Avenue J Thursday night.

An empty beer case was in the car, said officials.

Whether other charges would be filed remained to be seen. They were booked simply for drunkenness.

A 27-year-old student of Texas Technological college paid a $15 fine for indecent exposure, after women in 2400-block Tenth street had reported him to police.

Drunks were reported to have raised disturbances in three hotels.

Sid Hopping, Littlefield deputy sheriff, reported three tires and wheels from automobiles, a battery, two jacks, wrenches, a set of license plates, two grease guns and a small caliber pistol had been stolen there. Lubbock officials were asked to be on lookout for the property.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—A new approach to the treatment of disease by creating new diseases was described today by a scientist of the Rockefeller Institute for medical research.

Speaking before the American Philosophical society, Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, who first produced a crystalline substance which is half-dead and half-living, declared that it may soon be possible by chemical processing to produce strains of such diseases as influenza, encephalitis and poliomyelitis to protect a person against disease.

The principle, he declared later in an interview, is the same as the use of cowpox to protect human beings against smallpox, a discovery made in the middle ages, long before viruses were known to cause disease.

Such changes, it was explained, occur naturally in viruses, bacteria, plants, animals and man in the process of mutation, or evolution, of every growing thing. By chemical treatment it has been possible to change the nature of the virus of tobacco mosaic disease, the first with which Dr. Stanley worked, indicating that it is also possible to change other disease viruses artificially into new forms.

Process Speeded Up

"We hope to be able to fight disease by creating new disease," Dr. Stanley declared. This would be done, he explained, by developing strains which will immunize a person without giving him more than the mild discomfort which sometimes follows a typhoid vaccination.

This approach to a possible new kind of immunization has been greatly speeded up by the use of the electron microscope, an instrument which magnifies objects 100,000 times and makes possible for the first time photographs of single molecules of matter, thus extending the range of man's vision into the infinitely small far more than the 200-inch telescope, now nearing completion at Mt. Palomer, Calif., will extend his vision into distant systems of stars.

Contract Made For Reservoir

R. H. Fulton & Co., and Elliott Taylor were awarded contract for construction of a 3,000,000-gallon earthen reservoir and other work at the new city sewage disposal plant on a bid of $8,193 at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

Other bidders for the contract and the amounts of their bids were Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock, $10,392, and F. M. Reising Construction company of Edinburg, $12,949.

Affluent from the sewage disposal plant will flow into the reservoir and from there will flow upon city-owned land for absorption.

Property Owners Complain

Another feature of the commission meeting was a protest by a group of property owners in the 2300 block on Nineteenth street against the proposed widening of pavement on that thoroughfare. Joining in the protest were Dow Smallin, 2335 Nineteenth; Mrs. Pauline Jones, 2340 Nineteenth; A. A. Sturgeon, 2341 Nineteenth, and S. J. Hendrick of Hart, owner of property at 2327 Nineteenth.

They contended that the widening of the pavement would place the sidewalk so close to their residences that the value would suffer. The city has agreed with other property owners to pay the cost of widening the pavement from 36 to 50 feet if the right-of-way needed for the improvement is supplied.

Three ordinances were passed on second and final reading.

One assesses a 2 per cent gross receipts charge against Texas-New Mexico Utilities company as rental for use of streets and alleys in Lubbock.

Another authorizes closing of an alley beside Broadway Church of Christ so as to clear the site for a church addition to be erected there.

The other provides for the installation of parking meters on the north side of Fourteenth street between Texas avenue and Avenue J, and on the south side of Fourteenth from Avenue J east to the first alley.

May Work For Stamps

Members of the commission agreed that the contract it has had with Tom Sutherland the past five years under which he has been paid 2 1-2 cents per gallon for the heating and pouring of asphalt on street paving projects also includes the paving of runways at Municipal airport. Members of the commission emphasized, however, that his equipment for that job must be adequate.

The runway paving, the commission was advised, will involve the pouring of approximately 420,000 gallons of asphalt. On the basis of that estimate, Sutherland will receive $9,450 for the job.

A plan under which those who are unable to pay for orange-colored federal food stamps will be permitted to work for them at the rate of $1.25 per day was approved.

The commission declined to over-ride the finding of the city plumbing board that R. P. Crouch had failed to pass the examination required to obtain a license as master plumber. Crouch appeared before the commission in complaint about the examination.

One parking space to be used as a loading zone was authorized for Vogue Cleaners, 1207 College avenue.

Sanitarium Bill Paid

Payment of $81.25 to Lubbock sanitarium for treatment of C. B. Russell, a negro, who was shot in the foot last September by Cat Means, negro policeman, was authorized.

The commission also authorized payment of $593.70 to Crummen and company of Plainview for handling legal, printing and other details in connection with bond issues voted recently for water and light plant improvements.

An appropriation of $1,500 for the City-County Welfare association was approved.

The following contractors' bonds were approved; D. A. Forbess and M. G. Bowles, general; and T. J. Morgan, gas fitter.

Mayor Carl E. Slaton and Commissioners W. G. McMillan, Hub Jones and Garland Newsom attended the meeting. Commissioner W. B. Price was out of the city.

This visit to the Caverns is an annual event for all graduating classes of the O'Donnell school. The class recently staged a play to raise funds for the trip, netting $109.

Nazis Claiming Huge Sea Toll

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, April 25 — The Nazi navy has brought into port or confiscated in occupied ports 872 enemy ships totaling 1,900,000 tons since the beginning of the war, the German high command announced today.

Yesterday and the day before, the high command added, 71,600 tons of British shipping have been sunk in British and Greek waters, including 30,000 tons by "one warship operating overseas."

Two Nazi Aces Missing

This raider was said to have sunk 29,000 tons previously.

The high command last night said that 89,000 tons of shipping had been sunk in and about Greek waters in the last three days.

It was acknowledged, however, that two ace submarine commanders, Commander Otto Kretschmer (known to the British as the "Wolf of the Atlantic") and Lieut. Commander Joachim Schepke, had failed to return.

(The British have announced that Schepke is dead and Kretschmer a prisoner.)

It was acknowledged that the British had succeeded in bombing Kiel, Germany's big naval and shipbuilding base, and other areas in northwestern Germany, but the high command declared that only residential areas were hit and that there was "no military or war economy damage anywhere."

Some civilians were victims, however.

In return, the communique said, Germans bombed Portsmouth naval base. Informed quarters said at least 30 large fires were started.

Japs' Oil Supply Is Claimed Precarious

CLEVELAND, April 25 (AP)—Of the Axis nations, Japan has the worst prospect of obtaining oil supplies for conquest, but Germany's present resources are adequate without securing oil from the Near East, a petroleum expert told the industry today.

Imports from California and the Netherlands East Indies are Japan's chief source of supply at present, E. De Golyer, appraisal engineer of Dallas, declared at the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the National Petroleum association.

He reported California oil fields exported 4,071,000 barrels of oil to Japan in the first quarter of this year, compared with 5,556,000 barrels in the same period last year. He cited estimates of Japanese civil consumption at 25 million barrels, and military consumption at 21 million and 16 million barrels in 1938 and 1939, of which only a small fraction is produced at home.

"In case of war in which our country is involved," he said, Japan's sole possible source of supply would be the East Indies, dominated by Singapore, its oil doubtful of acquisition "even by conquest," as the wells probably would be blown up if the Japanese landed.

Dawson County Man Is Gunshot Victim

LAMESA, April 25 (Special) — W. C. Cox, 56, a well known farmer, was killed Sunday by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while on a rabbit hunt and burial was here Monday afternoon.

A resident of the county for 16 years, he had been a meat cutter for local meat markets, as well as farming. Reports said he became entangled while crawling through a fence and the gun was discharged. He was alone at the time.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Bernice Cox, a student in Texas Technological college; another daughter, Mrs. Sue Beal and Mrs. Cox and six brothers and three sisters. Rev. E. D. Lansreth conducted the funeral services in the First Methodist church Monday.

Comfort Comes First With This Sergeant

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., April 25 (AP)—Sergeant Frank Schlichtig of Hempstead, N. Y., likes to be as comfortable as possible while serving his stint with Company A of the 102nd anti-tank battalion.

His tent furnishings include a dressing table, lamps, night lights, mirrors, a portable clothes closet and an array of fancy pillows.

Lubbock Men Among Cadet Candidates

Four Lubbock young men who aspire to be flying cadets of the U. S. army, were among the 28 men who were to report this morning at the army district recruiting office in the federal building for a final examination, said Major Walter Jessee, officer in charge.

All of the men were given a thorough physical and mental examination a month or more ago, by a flight surgeon of the army. The present checkup is to determine if there has been any change in their physical condition since the last examination. Lieut. James W. Carter will be in charge of tests.

From Lubbock are the following: Raymond Lee Glasgow of 1648 Thirteenth street; Robert F. Hardberger of 1921 Thirteenth street; J. C. Harrison Lentz of 2405 Broadway, and William Neill Walker of 2421 Twenty-first street.

Defense Guard Here Will Get Uniforms

Members of Lubbock company of the Texas Defense guard will be "sized" for uniforms at their weekly assembly Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the American Legion hall, according to announcement this morning by George S. Berry, captain.

The uniforms to be supplied members of the company, he added, will consist of overeas cap, shirt and pants. It is important, the captain urged, that all members of the company be present so that they can be properly fitted.

Berry announced also that 12 men recently accepted tentatively for enlistment will be given physical examinations. He added that applications of others desiring to enlist will be accepted.

New Alpha Phi Omega Officers Announced

Inability of Dr. Arno Nowotnay, assistant dean of men at the University of Texas, to appear as the principal speaker caused cancellation of the breakfast planned this morning by members of Beta Sigma chapter at Texas Technological college of Alpha Phil Omega, national service fraternity, according to R. C. Harris of Ralls, retiring president of the chapter.

Dr. Nowotnay advised late Thursday that the sudden illness of his wife made it advisable for him to remain in Austin.

Plans had been, Harris reported, to announce the names of new officers elected recently at the breakfast.

The new officers are: Willard McCloy of Morse, junior pre-law student, president; Kendrick Wright, first vice president; Dennis Feigenspan, second vice president; Billy Boston, secretary; Jack Robinson, jr., treasurer; Fred Widmoyer, historian; and Burgin Watkins, reporter.

Portugal will not permit automobiles or motorcycles to enter the Azores.

Cigarette In Britain Is Among Rarest Of Wartime Luxuries

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 25.—The cigarette smoker in London today faces two harsh obstacles—first, to find a cigarette, and second, to smoke it.

Some tobacconists have grown so fed up with saying over and over, "sorry sir, I can't get them," that they're closing up shop at least one day each week.

Anyone who captures a good smoke these days must be endowed with persistence and cunning.

The country has been drawing on reserve stocks for several months and some tobacco warehouses have gone up suddenly in bomb smoke.

Many provincial towns have been without cigarettes of any brand for weeks, but acute shortage hit London only recently.

This situation brought out a startling array of unfamiliar brands—including Cypriot and Chinese—some of which make the smoker wonder dazedly whether he's going to sneeze or keel over.

It is now almost a display of bad manners to accept a cigarette from a friend.

In the old days, bridge players would toss a package each on the table for general consumption. Such an action nowadays might cause casualties and property damage.

Guard Seeking Vote In Race

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, April 25 — Soldier-Legislator James E. Taylor of Kerens thinks Texas national guardsmen should be allowed to vote in the June 28 special senatorial election, and has asked Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann for a ruling on the question.

Soldiers of the regular army are prohibited from voting, but Taylor, chairman of the military affairs committee in the Texas House of Representatives, said recent state supreme court rulings have put national guardsmen in a separate class from regular army troops.

Retain Civil Offices

The supreme court had ruled that state officials can retain their civil offices while in active service with the national guard. Taylor quoted an opinion by Justice John Sharp, pointing out that constitutional provisions were made "for the very purpose of not penalizing those who were members and officers of the national guard."

The June 28 election is to select a successor to the late Morris Sheppard. Attorney General Mann is a candidate. So are Congressmen Martin Dies of Orange and Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City, and others.

About 10,000 Texans are on duty with the national guard at Camp Bowie, Tex. Among them are Taylor; Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio; and Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission.

New York Man Speaks At Saturday Banquet

Reservations will be accepted from anyone who wishes to attend a banquet of the West Texas section of the commercial division of the National Education association at 7 o'clock Saturday night in Hilton hotel, it was announced this morning

Capt. A. A. Nichoson, personnel director of the Texas company, from New York will speak on "America's Future Depends Upon Education." Captain Nichoson has been connected with industry 27 years, most of that time with the Texas company. For the last decade he has made a close study of all phases of industrial education and he has spoken before numerous organizations, including nation-wide groups.

Reservations may be telephoned to the office of Dr. J. O. Ellsworth head professor of economics and business administration at Texas Technological college. Admission price will be 75 cents.

Liberty Men Snare Big Fish In Hurry

Joe Jones, Leslie Lawson, Wheeler Robinson and "Cracker" Carr, all of the Liberty community, didn't catch many fish, but the ones they did catch —

Anyway, the fish dressed out 48 pounds and a fish fry was arranged at the Liberty school, in the women's clubroom, and 68 persons attended.

J. R. Shipp, school trustee, said the fishermen went to a favorite spot 20 miles from Lampasas and that rainfall prevented their working their lines more than once.

But they lifted off seven catfish, one of which weighed 18 pounds, and the others averaged almost 10 pounds in the gross. They returned Wednesday.

Fort Bliss Colonel Praises Area's Men

Col. C. McLaughlin of Fort Bliss, district army recruiting officer for all of West Texas, spent Thursday night here after inspecting the Lubbock district recruiting office, as the guest of Major Walter Jessee, district officer in charge.

The colonel expressed himself as well pleased with the handling of recruits by the district office here and said the area was furnishing a very high type of men for the army. This section of Texas is among the leaders of the nation in the proportion of recruits, particularly flying cadets, to the population, he added.

Such Pranks As This Should Be Squashed!

This happened, but nobody can figure why.

"The ice box of Hungarian cafe was relieved of a quantity of white and yellow squashes, but later were located in a pasteboard box in front of the door of a dry goods store and were returned to the owner, who had not missed them," read a police report this morning.

Hubbers Seeking Revenge Over Lamesa Here Today

Raiders, Westerners To Parade Tonight

Borger Squad And Bombers Share Lead

Thursday was opening day for four towns of the West Texas-New Mexico league, and for three of them it was a very successful opening day, speaking from the viewpoint of won and lost percentages.

So today, Lubbock, Pampa and Amarillo try to break into the victory columns before the homefolks, while Big Spring tries to continue the winning pace set Thursday when the Bombers and the Wichita Falls Spudders finally slipped by the weatherman to play their first game of the season.

Borger Still Winning

The Bombers and the Borger Gassers are nominally tied for first place now, each with an undefeated records. The Gassers have three straight victories over Pampa on the credit side, the Bombers a single decision from Wichita Falls.

Thursday's games found the Lubbock Hubbers losing their home opener to Lamesa, 9 to 5, before a very small crowd of fans; Amarillo losing its first home game to Clovis, 10 to 5; Pampa likewise dropping its first home contest, to Borger, 6 to 5; and Big Spring varying the monotony by nosing out Wichita Falls, 6 to 4 at Big Spring.

Hart Looks Good

The same schedule holds good for today, with all games in the daytime except the Pampa-Borger affair.

Faulty defense and failure to hit cost the Hubbers their opening contest, as Cecil Hart of the Loboes pitched a commendable seven-hit game.

Lamesa got off to a four-run lead in the first inning when the first two men walked, Eddie Guynes and Marshall Brown singled, Elvin Mahan booted Horace Carmichael's grounder to short and Otto Robertson flied to centerfield to bat in a run.

Score Early—And Late

Two more runs came across in the fourth when little Eddie Guynes pounded one out of the park with one on.

The final three Lamesa tallies crossed the platter in the ninth, and Catcher Earl Wieting's one-on homer in the home half of the final inning served only to tighten the score.

The Wichita Falls Spudders presented the Bombers with their first victory of the season by miscuing nine times, four times in a disastrous second inning in which the Bombers acquired five of their six runs.

Fielding Proves Costly

The erratic fielding spoiled a five-hit performance by lefty Raymond Lucas, and gave Willard Ramsdell the victory for the Bombers.

Borger had to score two runs in the ninth inning to ease out the Oilers, 6 to 5, after Pampa had gone ahead by scoring four in the eighth.

Bus Dorman, the veteran Gold Sox lefthander, was pounded hard in the first three innings as the Pioneers rolled over Amarillo. Clovis scored twice in the first, three times in the second and twice in the third. Dorman yielded 12 hits, the same number the Sox got off Nagle, but the Pioneer pitcher spaced the Amarillo blows far more effectively.

Grid Show On At Tech Field

It's not September, nor is it New Year's Day, but it is definitely football time in Lubbock.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the Lubbock High Westerners, 1941 model, rumble out on the turf of Tech Field, pair off into opposing squads to be known as the Blacks and the Golds, and have at each other in a regulation scrimmage.

Approximately an hour later, the Red Raiders of Texas Tech repeat the procedure.

It's All Free

The occasion is, of course, the annual spring "open house" for the two teams, designed to give the fans a glimpse of what's in store for them when the football season rolls around next fall.

It's a free show, presented without cost to the fans by the athletic departments of the two institutions. Programs, giving names, numbers and positions of every player, whether Westerner or Raider, will be on sale at 10 cents each, proceeds going to the Double T club.

The Westerners, who've been drilling only a couple of weeks, will probably work for about two quarters, or half a game. They haven't been scrimmaging very hard or very long in their daily workouts, and won't be really ready for rough stuff in concentrated doses for another week.

They're Ready

But the Raiders are approaching the end of the spring training season—their last drill is scheduled for next Tuesday—and they're in what would be called mid-season form if this were the football season. They've been drilling almost daily since the fading days of March, and are ready to go at an all-out pace tonight.

There'll be no more football in these parts until next September, so tonight is a good time to renew your acquaintance with the oldtimers on the Westerner and Raider teams, and take a peek at the newcomers—there are plenty of them—who'll be playing for the first time next fall.

Any football player will tell you there's no rougher business than an intra-squad game. The boys really bear down against each other.

For the Raiders, tonight is a particularly momentous occasion. They've been drilling on a new system under a new coaching setup for nearly 30 days now. They've scrimmaged among themselves until they've got the finer points of the Morgan system straightened out—they hope. And tonight they get a chance to show in real competition, under conditions like they'd face in a real game, just what they've learned.

There have been some changes made in both teams, changes that the fans will be particularly interested in examining tonight. Coaches Keyes and White of the Westerners have shifted Milner Thorne, a letterman at end last season, to the backfield.

For the Raiders, the following changes, among others, have been made: Wilburn Allbright, from guard to center; Charles "Punchy" Henderson, from end to quarterback; and Sandy Waldrep, also from end to quarterback.

Storybook Win Registered By "Rip" Collins

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frankie Frisch's insurance policy returned a nice fat dividend check to the Pittsburgh Pirates today, and no one was happier than the "policy," himself.

For, this policy, better known to the trade as Jim "The Ripper" Collins, not only paid off when it counted most — in the clutch — but he did it against the Chicago Cubs, the club that let the policy "lapse" by sending him to the minors a couple of years ago.

Win In Eleventh

It must have warmed the hearts of both Frankie and Rip, that pinch-single Collins delivered in the 11th inning yesterday which gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 decision over the Cubs.

The win didn't affect the standings in the league, for the Pirates are well down in the lists and the New York Giants, setting the pace, were rained out at Boston.

'Peck' Defends Feller's Stand

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 25 — To the managers and coaches who try to call Bob Feller's pitches went this flat challenge and warning today from softspoken Roger Peckinpaugh, manager of the Cleveland Indians:

"Go ahead, you fellows who think you can call Feller's pitches, but it will be just too bad for you if someone gets hurt."

Playing Dangerous Game

Briefly, that sums up Peck's stand on this week's signal stealing episode, brought to a lively climax as Feller, young fastball mound star, flatly said that the opposition was playing a dangerous game in trying to tell what kind of a ball he was going to shoot up to the plate. His observations came after the Indians' recent series with Detroit and Chicago.

"If Del Baker and Mule Haas (manager of the Detroit Tigers and coach of the Chicago White Sox, respectively) think they are so smart, let them go ahead and try to call Bob's pitches," said Peck.

"Doesn't Take Genius"

"We know that Feller would never hit a batter intentionally, but he can, and does, throw a fast ball and a curve the same way, with his fingers gripped low on the ball, and while a coach may call a pitch right six straight times he may miss the seventh time, and that seventh time is when a batter might be killed.

"It doesn't take a genius to call pitches. Del Baker was calling Feller's pitches all afternoon one day in a game this spring in Florida. He'd yell 'nail it' as a signal for a fast ball and then call out the first name of the batter if he knew a curve was coming.

"I tipped Bob off and told him to grip the ball the same way for every pitch. Sure we're going to cross them up if we can."

SALICA RISKS CROWN

BALTIMORE, Md., April 25 (U.P.) —Lou Salica, who within six years has captured, lost and then regained the world's bantamweight championship, puts his title on the line again tonight in a 15-round bout with Lou Transparenti of Baltimore.

Women's Play Nearing Finals

(By The Associated Press)

LAS CRUCES, N. M., April 25.—The hard luck that has beset Elinor Jones in many a tournament in the past still dogged the husky young shotmaker from Albuquerque as she went into the quarter-finals of the Southwestern Women's golf tournament today.

Considered a favorite to win her first Southwestern title, especially after the 78 she shot Wednesday in taking the medal honors, Elinor did her chances no good late yesterday when she slipped and fell on the cement basement floor of the Las Cruces Country club.

Injuries Not Serious

An osteopath said the injuries—a strained back, bruised right arm and elbow—were not serious, but they were enough to make tourney observers send the Albuquerque girl's stock down a few points as she set out to tangle with Mrs. C. D. Lee of El Paso in today's first match.

Miss Jones eliminated Mrs. Amzie Ikard of Las Cruces, 6 and 4 in yesterday's first round match. She was accurate with her woods, booming only two drives off the fairway. Mediocre putting kept her from registering a more decisive victory.

Others Given Chance

But a trio of older contestants were given good chances of outsteadying, if not outhitting, the Albuquerque girl in the quest for the championship vacated this year by Thelma Carr of Glendale, Calif.

They were Mrs. Lee, and Mrs. G. E. Shows and Mrs. Sam O'Neal of Odessa. Mrs. Lee eliminated Mrs. George Peter of Phoenix 2 and 1; Mrs. Shows advanced over Betty Putnam, University of Arizona co-ed, 3 and 2 in a major upset; and Mrs. O'Neal defeated Mrs. W. T. Chapman of El Paso 5 and 4.

Ranking alongside the defeat of Miss Putnam in the first-day upsets was the victory of Mrs. J. B. Holdsworth of El Paso, over Mrs. W. E. McClure, of Phoenix, Arizona women's champion. Mrs. Holdsworth won, 1 up.

Today's quarter-final pairings: Elinor Jones vs. Mrs. C. D. Lee; Mrs. O'Neal vs. Mrs. W. E. Adair of El Paso; Mrs. Shows vs. Mrs. Holdsworth; and Mrs. Glen Hamill, Las Cruces, vs. Mrs. T. W. Woodman of Phoenix.

Rebels Play At Home In 'Comeback' Drive

(By The Associated Press)

The calf is fatted and the home field ready for the prodigal Dallas Rebels, who haven't been doing so well since the opening of the Texas league baseball season.

Everything is in order for the Rebels' first Dallas appearance of the season, with the Tulsa Oilers supplying the opposition. The Rebels have been unable to play at home because of repair work on stands damaged by a fire last year. But the new stands have been completed and, if the weather is favorable, a good crowd is expected to see the Rebels make an effort to rehabilitate themselves at the Oilers' expense.

Dallas, beaten four times in five games by the Fort Worth Cats, turned the tables last night and pinned a 12-6 defeat on the surprised Cats.

In another night game at Shreveport, Houston's lead was reduced by a 5-4, 14-inning loss to the Sports. Oklahoma City, entertaining the Oilers, dropped a 6-3 decision, and Beaumont playing the only afternoon game of the league schedule, suffered a 6-3 trouncing at the hands of San Antonio at Beaumont.

Busy Afternoon And Night

By Collier Parris

IT'S DOUBLE FEATURE DAY for sports fans—two sports at two different parks at two different times, but both for the price of one admission.

If the baseball game lasts long enough, and if you want to do without dinner, you can move from one park to the other without traveling over half a dozen blocks.

The Hubbers and the Loboes continue their three-game series at the baseball park this afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock. It's a regular "conference" game, and of course they'll charge admission. It should be worth the 45 cents. We can almost guarantee that the Hubbers will look better today than they did yesterday, although only a few of you would know the difference because only a few of you watched them yesterday.

A football extravaganza is scheduled tonight at Tech Stadium. Spring training for the Texas Tech candidates reaches a climax and Coach Dell Morgan will parade his squad in a "regular game" scrimmage that should be as entertaining as almost any spring exhibition game the Red Raiders could have scheduled, if they'd wanted to schedule a spring game.

And the Lubbock High Westerners, reaching the halfway mark in their spring training lessons but scampering about as if it were October, will take a prominent part on tonight's program, making it a football doubleheader deluxe, considering the time of year. Coach Goober Keyes will divide his squad and teams will play a regular game, with shoulder pads, headgears and all, just as the Red Raiders will perform.

If you haven't been watching the Texas Tech gridders in spring practice, you're in for a surprise tonight. There's been some changes made, folks, and they're working out all right. You wouldn't think that a squad of footballers, accustomed to one system, could angle off into the variations of another system so smoothly and with as much acumen and fervor as the Red Raiders have done this season.

Coach Morgan and his very capable and willing aide, Berl Huffman, have done a swell job of work already, even if there are no scoreboard signs of their success. They haven't tried to "change the system" in its entirety, because there are a lot of noble and worthwhile points of the former system still in use. But there has been a transformation, and the players have picked it up and are adapting themselves to it with a lot more alacrity than you might have expected. It has been a "serious" spring training camp; the boys have been too busy concentrating and practicing to do much breath-wasting yowling and howling, whooping and hollering. It's a quieter place these days, but a busier one.

There exist those die-hards and "sot-in-their-ways" fans who shake their heads sadly and remark to one another, and to anyone who will listen, that "it's a darn shame to see all this fine football talent at Tech go to waste. It'll take at least one year, maybe two or three, for the new system to start working enough for the team to win some games, and by then all these fine football players will have graduated. Tsk, Tsk, too bad."

But these are the same guys who'd find fault with the architecture of the Alps, or the way the water runs in a river, and they're not to be taken seriously. True, it may take Morgan a year to get everything lined up just as he wants it, but the Red Raiders will have won several ball games before then and they will not have lost many. You wouldn't expect your bookkeeper to take a year or two to learn a new bookkeeping system, would you? There have been several cases of new coaches taking over and changing systems and still coming up with pretty fair ball clubs. Mr. Shaughnessy didn't do a bad job at Stanford last year, his first on the campus.

You'll see some pretty smooth football playing out there tonight, and you'll like the way the players have taken to the new coach, the new coach to the players and the players to the new plays. They run their assignments with a delicate touch, but they don't touch each other very delicately.

Morgan has changed some of the players to strange positions, just as he has changed assignments for certain positions, and you'll see some ends playing in the backfield, some guards playing center, and some fullbacks playing halfback, etc.

We hope you won't get as confused, however, as our capable assistant sports editor, Joe Pierce, when he was writing a story last night about tonight's football show. He'd just been to the baseball game, and he wrote, regarding the football changes, "Henderson has been changed from end to third base."

There will be no charge made for admission to the football parade tonight, and no collection plates passed around.

However, there will be on sale a program, containing names, numbers and positions of the college and high school spring training players, and they'll cost a dime apiece. You will need this program to keep up with the players on the field, and the Double-T club, sponsor of the program, needs the financial aid to help pay off some of its indebtedness. Don't forget to buy a program tonight.

WELL, THE HUBBERS didn't look so hot yesterday, did they Frank? The thawing weather didn't seem to help them much. They gave away our runs, the margin by which they lost, and they didn't get enough runs themselves.

We wouldn't detract a bit from Lamesa's victory. In fact, we're glad the Loboes won. Gives the club and its fans more confidence, helps the whole league, and keeps the Hubbers from getting too cocky and makes for more careful playing in the future.

The Hubbers had banked on winning yesterday's home opener, and they were either over-anxious or over-confident.

Too, they ran into some fine pitching, the best they've faced since the season opened. This big Cecil Hart is a fine looking prospect. Certainly he has the size and the speed. He's probably the ace of the Lamesa pitching staff, and he should win several games in this league.

Yesterday's defeat probably was a good lesson for the Hubbers, who are a better club than their playing indicated. They're all young kids, with little or no previous professional experience, and they get impressions easily. They also get the jitters easily. It'll take a little time for them to get entirely straightened out, but when they do they'll be hard to catch.

The Hubs and the Lamesas wind up the series Saturday afternoon, but both clubs are going to get a little discouraged if more fans don't turn out than turned out yesterday on opening day. Lubbock missed the opening day attendance prize by several hundred.

So far as we know, Lamesa, with nearly 800 paid customers on opening day, and in rough weather, is in line to drag down the attendance prize. The citizens of that community are to be congratulated.

Britain Hails With Enthusiasm Promise Of Greater Help By U. S.

Axis Is Given Clear Rebuff

By NED RUSSELL
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 25. — Great Britain hailed with enthusiasm today the speeches of Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Secretary of Navy Frank Knox pledging that the United States would not only aid Britain but see that the aid got to it.

"It is a clear rebuff to the Axis and obvious encouragement to us," an authoritative informant said of Hull's speech, which Britons regarded as even stronger than that of Knox.

Envisage Greater Help

Even above the question of the possibility of convoys for American goods, there was the plain implication to Britons that their reverses in the Balkans due to their aid to Greece, had caused Americans to envisage greater support of Britain in its fight, instead of frightening them into greater caution as Germany and Italy had hoped.

For some days, in some quarters here, anxiety had been shown lest the German victories in Yugoslavia and Greece would affect American opinion adversely to Britain.

In Blazing Headlines

All the newspapers had put their final editions to press when the speeches reached London. Knox's came first, and most papers broke open their first pages at once to smash its welcome statements. There was not time for editorial comment in the morning papers, but blazing headlines told the newspapers own reaction.

By coincidence, the ministry of information released at last today the text of the message which President Roosevelt sent to Prime Minister Winston Churchill by Wendell L. Willkie when the Republican presidential candidate visited London.

Graceful Tribute Shown

It ended rumors of a politically sensational document but showed a graceful tribute by the president to Willkie:

The White House,
Washington,
Jan. 20, 1941.

Dear Churchill:

Wendell Willkie will give you this—he is truly helping to keep politics out over here.

I think that this verse applies to your people as it does to us:

'Sail on, O ship of state!
Sail on, O union strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!

"As ever yours,
"Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"The original of this historic document has now been reproduced in facsimile and in the bold handwriting of the president," the ministry said in releasing it.

The verse is that of Henry W. Longfellow.

Texans Given Chance In Penn Relay Meet

PHILADELPHIA, April 25. (AP)—Indiana and New York university ruled co-favorites today in the sprint and distance medley races opening the 47th annual Pennsylvania relay carnival but anyone of a half dozen rivals in each event loomed as a possible upset winner.

Southwest Aces Seek Drake Relay Honors

DES MOINES, Ia., April 25 (AP)—Crack contingents of track and field stars went after new records in the 32nd annual Drake Relays today, athletes from more than 60 universities and colleges competing in nine championship and as many preliminary events.

With a fast track in prospect, the university sprint medley mark of 3:25.1 held jointly by Rice and Indiana, was likely to topple in a race that had Texas, Michigan, Notre Dame, Louisiana State, Ohio State and Nebraska fighting for the front spot.

Texas ranked as a favorite on the basis of its world record 3:24 performance two weeks ago but Michigan was reported to have a quartet capable of eclipsing that mark by a full second.

Jack Hughes, 240 pound Texas star, had his sights set for a discus toss well beyond his Drake record of 159.79 feet, having done 165 feet, 9 5-8 inches this year.

Don Boydston, of Oklahoma Aggies, and Keith O'Rourke of Notre Dame were regarded as potential record breakers in the high jump.

Kovacs Blasts Grant For Houston Crown

HOUSTON, April 25. (U.P.)—Frankie Kovacs resumed his role of laughing-boy of tennis today after a brief interval of seriousness in which he won the singles crown of the annual River Oaks tournament.

The Californian from Berkeley dropped his clowning yesterday and blasted Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, the tiny-mite from Atlanta, Ga., in their final match, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, after four days of postponements because of rain.

Kovacs had been the comic of the tournament, a crowd-pleaser and entertainer, until he met the five foot four inch Grant for the championship. His 12-inch advantage in height and reach and his heavy racqueting were too much for the Georgian, who had won the trophy in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

YANKEE INFIELD SWIFT

SAFETY HARBOR, Fla.—Charley Dressen, Brooklyn coach, considers the current New York Yankee infield — Red Rolfe, Phil Rizzuto, Gerald Priddy and Joe Gordon — superior to the Rolfe, Frank Crosetti, Gordon, Babe Dahlgren combination.

Yanks On Top

shuffled and dealt over again and there were your old pounding pals, the Yankees, right on top of the heap. A combination of Marius Russo's seven-hit southpawing and two three-run innings, one of them produced by Charley Keller's homer, gave the Yanks a 6-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

This setback dropped the Sox from the No. 1 slot right down to a tie for third place with the Cleveland Indians, who were nosed out 2-1 by the Chicago White Sox.

Hamlin In Form

"Hot Potato" Luke Hamlin turned in his second straight hurling "nifty" to give the revamped Brooklyn Dodgers a 6-1 win over the futile Phillies.

Lonnie Frey's ninth inning double sent the winning run home to enable the Cincinnati Reds to down the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

Tommy Bridges' steady elbowing and a two-run triple by Frankie Croucher, in celebration of his graduation from the bench, gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-2 edge over the St. Louis Browns. Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics were sidelined by cold weather.

Aggies Tangle With Longhorns Saturday

AUSTIN, April 25 (U.P.) — A baseball game between the University of Texas and Texas A. & M., scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until tomorrow afternoon, U. T. athletic officials said today.

Earlier this week Texas had to postpone a game with T. C. U. and the Aggies put off a meeting with the Baylor Bears, because of rainy weather.

Melvin Deutsch, Longhorn right-hander, is expected to take the mound against Lefty Bumpers of the Aggie pitching staff in tomorrow's game.

Nazis' "Mouthpiece" Praises Lindbergh

BERLIN, April 25 (AP)—The important German newspaper Hamburger Fremdenblatt, commenting on Wednesday night's "America First" rally in New York, described Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh tonight as "a real American of Swedish descent out of the middle west."

It said he was "not a war opponent through emotionalism but through devoted love of his country."

This was part of an article by Adolf Halfeld, who often strikes a keynote for German editors, headlined "America First."

It said Germany had no illusions about anti-German expressions in the United States from Atlantic to Pacific; explaining that Americans know the danger of invasion of their country is not from Germany "but from the increasing British influence on the American continent."

Four Germans Are Seized Aboard Japanese Liner

Others Aboard Said Searched

(By The United Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 25 — The Federal Bureau of Investigation today held four Germans, seized aboard the Japanese liner Buenos Aires Maru at sailing time, "on suspicion of violating the selective service and training act."

Four automobile loads of FBI agents boarded the ship last night, and searched 37 other Germans en route to Japan, thence to Germany. The Buenos Aires Maru's departure was delayed an hour while they searched the Germans, one by one, and went through their luggage. One man was made to remove his shoes.

Charge Is Technical

Richard B. Hood, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, refused to disclose what they were looking for, or discuss the arrests. It was indicated, however, that the charge was a technicality to hold the Germans until their case could be considered by a grand jury.

They are to be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner David B. Head.

The Germans said, "we will have no publicity. We will talk at the right time."

They were booked in county jail as Hans E. Stener, 35, New Jersey store manager, eight years' residence in the United States; and Fritz Raschbeck, 34, clerk, 18 months residence; Karl J. Wagner, 32, tailor, 20 months' residence, and Erick Hundt, 31, carpenter, 18 years' residence, all of Los Angeles.

Their luggage was plastered with travel stickers from South American countries, and they carried American and Japanese money.

IRON WAR BABY BAPTIZED IN MUD AND WATER—Army's new monster that roars with five machine guns and 37 mm. and 75 mm. guns plows mud and water hazard at Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds before army officers and British observers. Uncle Sam has ordered $250,000,000 of these 25-ton tanks and larger ones.

Now You Tell One

"Stiff Neck" Loose

RATON, N. M., April 25 (AP)—"My neck's a little stiff," complained D. B. Boyd as he walked into the office of Dr. H. E. Donovan.

"It's got good reason to be," reported the doctor, after examination. "It's broken."

Boyd, a volunteer fireman, said a heavy door slammed against him while he was fighting a blaze. He nursed his injured neck 10 days before consulting Dr. Donovan.

Now it's a month or six weeks in the hospital.

"Cocktail Card" Law

LOS ANGELES, April 25 — Girls close to the 21-year-old borderline will show "cocktail cards" when ordering a drink in California, if a proposal of the W.C.T.U. is adopted. The age certificate would make it impossible for minors to be served alcohol, the organization believes. It points out that in the case of men, draft registration cards serve the purpose.

The proposal will be put before the state legislature.

Take It Standing Up

MONMOUTH, Ill., April 25 (AP) — Youthful pranksters, hoping for a holiday, coated the seats in Wallace hall at Monmouth college with lubricating oil. But school officials just asked the first hour class to stand while the seats were cleaned. Business went on as usual.

Telephone In Hades?

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 25 (AP)—You can get telephone service almost any place these days.

The latest innovation here is an extension line which asbestos clad firemen carry to the very center of a blaze and then use to direct fire-fighters.

Another Slip-Up Here

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 25—(AP)—Woodrow Pershing Martin was anxious to get into the army but was afraid he might be underweight. So he ate a dozen bananas before presenting himself to the draft board for the physical examination.

It did the trick, adding two and a half pounds to his weight, but the doctor told him he appeared diabetic. Then Martin admitted eating the bananas and learned they probably accounted for an excess of sugar.

He went back to a normal diet for a week, returned and passed the second examination with no difficulty.

Andrews Test Will Be Made

Seven producers were completed in the Hockley county portion of the Slaughter pool and a 5,500-foot wildcat test was staked in northwestern Andrews county Thursday, according to information received here.

The Andrews start is Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1-20-28 B. B. Ralph, 467 feet out of the northeast corner of section 20, block A-38, public school land. Magnolia has a large block of acreage in the area. The test will be drilled with rotary and is slated to spud next Wednesday.

Six Are Completed

Six of the seven new Slaughter oilers were completed by the Richardson brothers, W. J (Jack) and S. W. (Sid).

S. W. Richardson, most active operator in the north basin, gauged his No. 5 Sun-Denton at a daily flow of 745.20 barrels of 32 gravity crude after 10,000 gallons of acid injected in pay lime from 4,870 to 4,970 feet, the total depth.

His largest well completed today was No. 11 A. E. Coe, which flowed 1,084.68 barrels a day following a similar treatment at a total depth of 4,985 feet. No. 1 Coe made 342.24 barrels after 10,000 gallons at 4,986 feet. No. 11 R. L. Slaughter, jr., proved good for 988.08 barrels daily after treating with the same amount of acid at 4,954 feet. Sid Richardson's new M. R. Barry was also acidized with 10,000 gallons and made 828 barrels a day at 4,999 feet.

Potential Of 734.16

W. J. Richardson completed No. 5 Sun-Allison for a potential of 601.68 barrels following a 10,000 gallon chemical job at 4,980 feet.

Western States Gasoline corporation No. 2 Mallett Land and Cattle company rated a daily potential of 734.16 barrels at 4,999 feet in response to 10,000 gallon treatment.

Southeast of Shafter lake in northwestern Andrews county Mascho Oil company No. 1 M. M. Fisher is drilling the salt section at 2,265 feet.

Water encountered from 2,155-62 feet is exhausting. Northwest of the Mascho, No. 1 University is rigging up its rotary.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 University-Andrews, deep try in the south part of the county, had drilled to 7,302 feet in lime.

Magnolia No. 2 Maple Wilson, wildcat 3,150 feet east of No. 1 Wilson pumper which extended the Slaughter field in Hockley one mile north, is drilling below 2,900 feet in anhydrite and salt.

Additional Showings

In the Cochran sector of the Slaughter field, Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 F. L. Woodley is drilling anhydrite and salt past 3,719 feet. Magnolia No. 5 Woodley, short west outpost to the field, had reached 4,082 in lime.

Ohio Oil company No. 8 Ida M. Bowen, Fred McDonald, Howard Schmidt, Willard Edgett, Maurice Green, Jimmy Williams, James Ware, Bobby Crawford, George Bragg, jr., Charles Brown, Billy Somers, Jerry Smyth, Windell Melton, Jim Fulton, G. W. Taylor, Marion Hobbs, Wayne Cobb, Malcolm Mitchell, J. E. Weir, W. F. Weir, Andy Murry, Dick Mitchell, John W. Wilson, James Campbell, Tom LeMond, Bobby Williams, T. S. Crawford, A. C. Camporees Planned

Another announcement at council headquarters here Thursday was that camporees will be held today and Saturday in Tahoka, for southeastern district.

Scouts from Plainview, Tulia, Petersburg, Silverton, Quitaque and Dimmitt are to participate in the encampment at Dimmitt. C. O. Byrnes of Dimmitt and Henry Teubel of Tulia are co-chairmen of arrangements.

The camporee at Tahoka will be for scouts there and in Post, Slaton and Southland. Lee Dodson of Tahoka is chairman.

ODD WILL

An eastern bachelor willed all of his property to the three women who had rejected his proposals, with the words, "to them I owe all my earthly happiness."

Britain is spending $200,000,000 for foodstuffs in Argentina.

Tippit in the Seminole pool of central Gaines county rated a natural daily potential of 764.56 barrels at 5,278 feet.

A deep test in northern Martin county, Magnolia No. 1 N. B. Teague, is drilling unchanged at 7,620 feet in lime.

An unconfirmed report from B. C. Mann No. 1 Canning and Reynolds, eastern Border county wildcat, stated it logged first showing of oil at 2,298 feet and was drilling ahead below 2,350 in lime, having encountered additional showings.

Defense Spending At 24 Millions Per Day Said Just A Warm-Up

Peak Expected During 1942

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Dollars for defense are pouring out of the United States treasury at a rate of more than 24 million a day, five times as fast as last July when the program got going.

When production hits the peak—probably in the spring or early summer of 1942—spending is expected to reach a maximum of $75,000,000 to $80,000,000 a day.

Expenditures last July amounted to $177,000,000. The outlay in March totaled $745,000,000, which is more than the government spent for all activities in the entire year of 1914.

Defense spending for the fiscal year ending June 30 at present is figured to aggregate some $6,400,000,000. The treasury's outlay for the last nine months was $3,641,638,923.

Big Jump Ahead

Defense spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1 is estimated at $16,000,000,000, an amount almost double all the currency of the realm. That's an average of more than $1,300,000,000 a month, a sum that would run the government for three years back in the early nineties and still leave enough to bug a bag of candy for every person in the country.

Top spending for a single month in 1942 is calculated to run close to $2,500,000,000, which would be at a clip of $80,000,000 a day.

The over-all projected cost of the defense program has soared to astronomical figures. Appropriations and authorizations plus proposed expenditures are near the $40,000,000,000 mark. Some $29,912,600,000 has been appropriated and authorized and an additional $9,265,200,000 is proposed in the 1942 budget and bills before Congress.

This tabulation, made by the Office of Production Management, includes the $7,000,000,000 appropriation for aid to Britain. Army and Navy contract awards recently totaled $11,884,000,000, $5,900,500,000 for the Army and $5,983,500,000 for the Navy.

The Army leads by a wide margin in actual expenditures so far, the figure for the last nine months being $2,156,783,653 compared with $1,412,892,926 for the Navy.

VIOLENCE — This picture catches all the meaning of the word "violence." A nonunion employe at a St. Louis moving concern wields a wrench in one hand, a baseball bat in the other during an attack on his truck. Three hundred A. F. of L. furniture and piano movers were on strike.

Juneau, capital of Alaska with 5,800 population under the 1940 census, estimates it will have 10,000 residents at the end of 1950.

Nervous Sufferers In Nation's Army May Be Discovered Early

BY FRANK E. CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOSTON, April 25.—Use of a shell-shock testing chemical to help eliminate nervous sufferers with "soldiers' heart" from the nation's training army was advocated today before the American College of Physicians.

The chemical is adrenalin, a secretion of the human adrenal glands that is poured out under the influence of certain emotions such as fear.

Dr. John T. King, of Johns Hopkins university, said injections of the substance into men of a certain physical and mental make up had reproduced a reaction similar to that seen in soldiers suffering from "soldiers' heart" or "neurocirculatory asthenia," a form of so-called shell shock.

Dr. King said the studied indicated that soldiers susceptible to such symptoms as unstable blood pressure and trembling during active duty were sensitive to their own adrenalin, and that an injection of that substance might be used as a test for the ailment in men suspected of having it.

"To eliminate this disorder entirely from the army now being built up, would be an almost impossible task, but, in case of doubt the adrenalin test should be employed."

Wesson Oil Is Prime Favorite

Wesson oil is the highest grade of pure vegetable oil. It is produced by the exclusive Wesson method of salad oil refining.

Each can of Wesson oil comes to you pure, clear, mild and delicious.

Besides all these advantages, Wesson oil can be used in a number of different ways and will save you money. Wesson oil can be used for salad dressing, mayonnaise, frying and seasoning and enriching vegetables, as well as using it wherever your recipe calls for melted shortening.

Wesson oil is superior in quality, yet its price is within the reach of all.

BAKED VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

2 large mild onions
4 large, firm tomatoes
2 cups diced potatoes or potato balls
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup sliced carrots
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
4 tablespoons Wesson Oil

Slice onions and tomatoes about ¼ inch thick and place in a two-quart casserole with potatoes, celery, and carrots. Sprinkle salt, pepper, and paprika over vegetables, add Wesson Oil, cover and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 F.) 1½ hours, or until tender. This makes 6 to 8 servings.

WESSON OIL RUSSIAN DRESSING

1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
¼ cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon grated onion (optional)
1 cup Wesson Oil Mayonnaise

Fold all ingredients into mayonnaise until well mixed. This makes 1⅓ cups Russian Dressing. Serve with vegetable, meat or fish salads.

Try Snowdrift In Your Baking

Creamy new and fresh Snowdrift is the acme of shortening.

Snowdrift blends so readily and completely with other ingredients that a tender light and fluffy cake that melts in your mouth is assured.

Because of its snowy whiteness and delicate texture it has proven ideal for all types of cakes in which shortening is used and for the most digestible and delicious pastry.

Snowdrift is also particularly good for deep fat frying since it may be heated to proper frying temperature without smoking or burning, and when you have finished frying with snowdrift simply strain and store in a cool place for further use.

Remember, you can fry in Snowdrift more than once, because it does not absorb the odors of different foods fried in it.

For the best all-purpose shortening, use the new churn fresh Snowdrift.

DATE-NUT APPLESAUCE CAKE

½ cup Snowdrift
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup dates, cut up
1 tsp. salt
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
½ cup nut meats, chopped
1 cup hot, thick, strained, unsweetened applesauce.

Cream Snowdrift and sugar well. Add egg; beat. Sift dry ingredients together three times. Mix dates through the flour mixture and add alternately with applesauce to Snowdrift and sugar. Add chopped nuts. Beat thoroughly. Pour into a 9-inch square pan greased with Snowdrift and bake in a 350 F. oven 50 to 60 minutes. Cover with Creamy Icing, if desired.

CHEESE PASTRIES

1 cup Snowdrift
1 cup cream cheese
2 cups flour
¾ tsp. salt

Blend Snowdrift, cheese, flour and salt, using pastry blender. Chill thoroughly, roll out to ⅛ inch thickness and cut into rounds with a small biscuit cutter. On one round place a small amount of jam or jelly, dampen edges and lay over another round of pastry. Press edges together firmly. Bake in a 425 F. oven for 10 minutes. This pastry is good also for cheese sticks, tarts and turnovers.

Barq's Plant Will Bottle New Drink

V. L. Musick and 12 employes bottle and distribute six flavors of carbonated beverages, in addition to the famous 7-up.

They are guaranteed to make summer the favorite season, because they satisfy most adequately that thirst that comes from out-of-door exercises like golf and baseball and swimming and the like.

It was in 1939 that the plant was established here. Now the company distributes its drinks by trucks to numerous counties of this section, from its Barq's bottlers plant at 1945 Nineteenth street.

And—something to remember—there will be a new drink on the market soon. It is pineapple. Rich in food elements. Enjoyable to the taste. What more would be required of a carbonated beverage?

Clorox makes children's white cottons and linens snowy-white, fresh-smelling, sanitary.

McIlhaney Horses Smart And Popular With Kids

Joe McIlhaney loves horses and you see them drawing all his milk wagons on six retail and two wholesale routes — not to mention McIlhaney's butter that they haul.

He did not overestimate the reaction to them.

Children all over town know the pretty fat horses by name and wait for them to come by. They pose beside them for pictures and save cubes of sugar and carrots for them.

They talk about them for weeks after seeing the intelligent animals come to a halt at a stop sign or a red light or carefully look both ways before stepping out into an intersection.

Know Way Around

Some of the McIlhaney drivers swear their animals know their routes better than the drivers. The horses, of course, do not know how to read, but they can learn where the stop signs are and the red lights. And they are more careful than motorists in traffic. Drivers do not need reins for them — even though, they have them. You can whistle at them or pay no attention whatsoever to them, and the horses will go where their drivers go each day in making milk and butter deliveries.

McIlhaney has been in the business since 1927, after having tried the raw milk business two years earlier.

His modern plant buys strictly grade A milk from 12 dairies that can assure him of their abilities to keep plenty of green feeds and ensilage, and the milk is pasteurized and closely inspected under rigid requirements that pass the milk along to the consumer under conditions of utmost sanitation.

You have less trouble spotting a McIlhaney delivery wagon than any other, because of the horses. You can hear the kids hollowing all up and down the street.

Horses Pass Tests

The horses are well chosen for their work.

"It is a process of trial and error," McIlhaney said. "We buy medium-draft types that are about six years old — old enough to be over their skittishness and young enough for the exacting work and concentration. Sometimes we sell a horse soon after buying him. Maybe he is not so strong as it looked like, or maybe he is more fractious. We usually pay about $60 more for one of our horses than the usual market price."

"Night-Watch" Norge Feature

Norge comes out this year with a refrigerator the women can't keep from appreciating. All lines are shown at Sherrod Hardware Co., at 1101 Thirteenth street.

It is the 1941 kitchen convenience, a "night-watch" built in.

The "Night-Watch" is an automatic defroster, which also acts as a handy self-starting kitchen electric clock.

The "Night-Watch" remembers every night at midnight to melt the accumulated frosting on the freezing unit; so that unless the owner shifts the lever to "off" position (when ice cubes and desserts after midnight are desired) the Night-Watch will automatically defrost the machine in a brief time, then cut on again and have foods just as cold and fresh in a few minutes time as though nothing had happened.

Housekeepers will hail the dramatic improvement as one which keeps the machine in top condition every day. Gone is the necessity for turning off the current, letting the ice melt then taking sponges and cleaning out the box. Gone are the attendant smells and the shifting around of food.

The Norge Handefroster collects the melted frost drips and reduces the housewife's defrosting attention to a once-a-week emptying it, while the covered Coldpack meat drawer keeps the meat fresh and undisturbed during this period and eliminates rearranging.

Hollywood Styling

Almost as dramatic as the Night-Watch is the 1941 Hollywood beauty styling of Norge refrigerators. From the top super de luxe to the lowest priced "6" model, cabinets and doors come in unbroken, flowing lines, breaker strips are virtually eliminated, door handles are streamlined in sparkling chromium, and bases are brilliantly modern in silvery stainless steel.

Featured again this year are the Norge Cellaret, which provides unrefrigerated storage space for reserve supplies; the new ventilated bin for dry storage of bulky vegetables; the safety-sealed Fast-Freezer, equipped with mechanical ice trays for fast ice-cube freezing and easy releasing; the single or full width Hydrovoir drawer under plate glass cover for humid, garden-fresh storage of green vegetables; and sliding shelves which provide easy accessibility of foods in any section of the refrigerator.

Included in the 1941 line is a model which salutes the American farm women, the DF-901, specially designed for farm house use. Containing the Handefroster, the sliding Coldpack meat and Hydrovoir vegetable drawers, it has a sliding shelf arrangement which can be adapted for many storage purposes.

Farm Models Spacious

The farm woman whose income is derived from fresh eggs can get plenty of space for several large baskets of eggs, while the woman who is interested in safeguarding large quantities of fresh cream can easily arrange the interior to accommodate four or five large cans.

In mechanical efficiency, the Norge Rollator compressor carries on its cold-making performance in the latest Quiet-Flo Rollator edition, a completely sealed, compact unit that operates on but three moving parts.

Five nine-foot models, including the farm model; four "66 series" models with 6.6 cubic foot capacity, and three six-foot models of about 6¼ cubic foot capacity are the basic classifications in the super de luxe, master de luxe and de luxe Norge refrigerators for 1941.

Greater Business Volume Is Claimed

Modern Appliance company, at 1122 Broadway, was established in June of 1938 and has grown steadily and now distributes household appliances in increasing volume.

R. L. Stovall is manager of the store that bears down on sales of Zenith radios and Leonard refrigerators, not to mention another product to be offered soon, the L&H range, which is advertised to have 5,000 cubic inches of oven space as compared with the usual 3,500 cubic inches of most ranges. The L&H range because of its larger oven can cook two different foods at different temperatures at the same time.

The Leonard is claimed to have a distinct advantage in price and the increased volume of sales attest to the company's inciting much attention to Leonard products.

Twenty per cent heavier business volume was noted the first quarter of 1941 over the corresponding period of last year, said Stovall.

Other members of sales personnel are Bill Yeatts, senior member of the salesmen, Bailey Hacke, S. R. Houston, C. L. Clements, Jess Baldwin, Miss Marie Casey, bookkeeper, and Lester Pratt and Cecil Bales of the service department.

Dr. Pepper Plant Much Expanded

Three franchises to bottle carbonated beverages are held by Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., at 2413 Main street.

So the 18 employes not only turn out the distinctively bottled Dr. Pepper, a favorite of the nation, but Nu Grape and Squirt, a bottled grapefruit drink, and a full line of 14 other flavors.

It has been a virtually continuous process of adding-to at the plant since J. R. Jameson moved to Lubbock in 1920. He bought a lot and six years later opened his first plant with a 20-foot front. He has an 85-foot front now and rents the building next door to his own building. And two years ago a second story had to be added.

Eight trucks and two pickup vehicles distribute products to 13 counties of this section.

There is complete model equipment, including a 28-stop filler and a 12-stop bottle washing machine, and a complete water-treating plant.

Unknown to most of the public, exacting formula for Dr. Pepper requires that drink to be bottled under a cooling process that lowers the beverage to drinking temperatures when it is bottled, and this requires much elaborate equipment.

Dr. Pepper has been known for lots of years and is sold everywhere.

Won-Up Is Product Of Natural Flavor

It's the early bird that gets the worm — so brighten up your day with Won-Up, the tangy, delicious grapefruit juice that quenches thirst longer.

You have seen it advertised; you have seen it in stores, and you probably have drunk cans of it, but—

Did you ever stop to think what Won-Up actually has? It is a product of tart, sun-ripe flavor that is deliciously different. This better grapefruit juice is made the costlier, hand-reamed way to eliminate that bitter rind taste. It is strongly effective in building up alkaline reserve.

There's a six-can carton for a quarter, too.

Children, Grownups Enjoy Crackers

They and Hi-Ho crackers are national emblems of childhood's quick, hastily-grabbed between-meals eating en route to play.

And what is good for tired little bodies is good for grownups too. They are different. One crunchy bite will convince you of their crisper, flakier and more flavorable comparison with other brands, because they're made by a special Sunshine baking process. Good especially with milk and with spreads like jams or peanut butter.

They are favorites in millions of homes, when served with soups, salads, cheese, jellies and dozens of other foods.

Pepsi-Cola Known Throughout Nation

Pepsi-Cola Bottling company, at 1702 Avenue G, deals with a bottled product known nationally the last 35 years.

It is distinguished by having at its New York plant the largest bottling works ever constructed under one roof.

O. R. Phillips, manager, was invited recently to New York as guest of his company, as a reward for having sold more Pepsi-Cola per capita than any other manager in Texas.

He has been in the bottling business here 17 years and everybody, apparently, knows him and his products, the 12-ounce Pepsi-Cola and a full line of fruit flavors, milk chocolate and Delaware Punch, franchise for bottling of which only recently was acquired.

From 18 to 21 employes work at the plant, which distributes products over 20 counties all the way to Childress.

Kellogg Cereal Has Many Uses

Ever been hungry without knowing what you wanted? How many of those times did you rummage around the kitchen and find just what it was — breakfast cereals?

Now that April is here and with it dropping appetites, you might look over possibilities for using cereals for other delicacies, for instance rhubarb crisp or cream cheese pudding, as suggested by the Kellogg company, which makes breakfast cereals of all kinds.

RHUBARB CRISP

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1½ cups small toasted bread cubes
2 cups Kellogg's corn flakes
4 cups diced rhubarb
½ cup sugar

Blend butter and ½ cup sugar thoroughly; add eggs and beat well. Stir in nutmeg, flavoring, bread cubes and corn flakes. Place half of mixture in buttered baking dish; arrange rhubarb evenly over top and sprinkle with ½ cup sugar; cover with remaining creamed mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) about 35 minutes or until rhubarb is done.

Yield: 8 servings (8½-inch casserole).

CREAM CHEESE PUDDING

3 cups Kellogg's oven-popped rice cereal
1-3 cup butter
¼ cup sugar

1 tablespoon flour
¾ pound cream cheese (4 3-oz. pkgs.)
4 eggs, separated
¼ cup cream
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Roll cereal into fine crumbs. Melt butter in 9x9-inch square baking dish; add crumbs and sugar; mix well. Reserve 2-3 cup of crumb mixture. Press remaining crumbs firmly on bottom of pan. Allow to chill while preparing filling.

Mix sugar, flour and cream cheese thoroughly. Beat egg yolks slightly; add cream, milk and flavoring. Add to cheese and mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in carefully. Pour into baking dish on top of crumbs; sprinkle remaining crumbs over top. Bake in a moderate oven (325 F.) about 45 minutes.

Yield: 9 3-inch squares (9x9-inch pan).

Try Vita Water For Infants, Children

Have your baby or your child drink Vita Water, and thus protect his teeth from the mottling discolorations of fluorine.

The Vita Water plant, at 1608 Broadway, is managed by H. F. Woody. It has been in operation since the early '30s in Lubbock.

Vita Water is pure distilled water, free of fluorine.

"We distill the water then add the health-giving minerals such as potassium iodine and calcium," Woody said.

Drinking of the water often is suggested for expectant mothers, who also cook with it as a further special precaution.

Cloverlake Stores Are Show Places

Cloverlake Dairy stores, one of which is at Avenue Q and Broadway and the other at 1309 College, specialize in ice cream.

"Anything in ice cream," is a slogan. "We can supply parties with any kind, any design, any novelty and in as much volume as needed," said R. C. Garrett, manager of both stores.

Garrett explained that the Cloverlake creamery, at Plainview, makes up the novelties.

"We have numerous molds there, for such occasions as birthdays, anniversaries, reunions, and the like. See us two days ahead of time and we'll have anything you want in the way of design. We may not have all the molds there are, but we have a catalog that lists them and can get them. We have never turned down an order yet."

The stores are show places. "Nothing like them in Dallas that I know of," Garrett said.

The stores retail only in Lubbock. They have been established in Lubbock since April a year ago.

Towels, handkerchiefs and other personal linens especially need the intensified germicidal action of Clorox, to reduce infection risks. Clorox not only bleaches white cottons and linens (brightens fast colors) . . . it makes them fresh-smelling, sanitary.

Millions of mothers have adopted the modern Clorox method of hygienic housekeeping. For Clorox is extra-efficient in combating invisible germ dangers. It disinfects, deodorizes, removes numerous stains in routine cleansing of china, glassware, tile, enamel, porcelain, linoleum, wood surfaces.

More than half the population of England has dark hair, though they are regarded as a fair-haired race.

Coca Cola Has Long History

Coca Cola, popular for more than half a century, is bottled in Lubbock at 1615 Texas avenue, at a model plant managed by F. L. Lindsey.

The internationally-known beverage hit the market in 1886, was bottled first in 1899 and was first placed in the distinctive bottles of the present in 1915. There are eight syrup factories operated in this country by Coca Cola, six in foreign countries. More than 1,000 bottling plants turn out the drink and there are more than 1,000,000 retailers of it.

Coca Cola advertises that "the sun never sets on Coca Cola." Twenty-seven employes, including 15 truckers, distribute the product over nine counties of this section.

Bell Has Special New Equipment

Bell Ice Cream Co., 49 per cent of the stock of which is owned in Lubbock, has undergone several significant adjustments to business.

In 1937 it added 50 feet to its building at 819 Avenue H and $16,000 in more stainless steel equipment, so that the plant came to measure 50x120 feet.

Earl Collins, manager, said the last development was to add special bottles and equipment for the featured hermetically-sealed cap bottles. There are 20 employes and milk is handled wholesale and retail in Lubbock, being bought from strictly grade A dairies from this section — not being shipped in. There are four cold vaults to guard temperatures, and the milk capacity is 2,000 gallons, the ice cream capacity 1,000 gallons daily.

KC Powder Is Used In Marble Pudding

KC baking powder marble pudding is a delicacy that stands out by itself, those who have tried it say.

Here's how, and it's worth your time to see for yourself:

2 cups sifted pastry flour (8 oz.)
2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder
½ teaspoonful cinnamon
¼ teaspoonful salt
Yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light
2-3 cup sugar (5 1-3 oz.)
4 tablespoonfuls melted butter (2 oz.)
Whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry
½ cup cold water
1½ ounces melted chocolate

Sift together, three times, the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. To the yolks add the sugar, butter and water, and stir into the dry ingredients. Add the whites of the eggs. Divide the mixture into two parts and add the chocolate to one part. Dispose the two parts in a buttered mold to give a marbled appearance. Steam forty-five minutes.

Serve with vanilla sauce, made thus:

Boil 2 cups of sugar and a cup of water six minutes; add 2 tablespoonsful of butter and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

Use Of Spry Avoids Cooking Failures

Spry has this challenging recommendation: There are no failures, no wastes when it is cooked, you hear housewives say.

It is purer shortening that makes cakes, pastries of all kinds and fried foods so good your family members will rave about them.

Try this apple sauce cake de luxe and see for yourself:

½ cup Spry
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
2 tablespoons cocoa
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
1½ teaspoons soda
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup dates, chopped
¾ cup raisins, chopped
1½ cups unsweetened apple sauce
¾ cup nuts, chopped

Blend Spry, salt, spices, and cocoa. Add sugar gradually and cream well. (Done in no time with triple-creamed Spry!) Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition. Add soda to flour and sift 3 times. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons flour over fruits. Add remaining flour to creamed mixture, alternately with apple sauce, mixing after each addition until smooth. Add nuts and floured fruit to batter and blend.

Bake in Spry-greased 10 x 10 x 2-inch pan in moderate oven (350 F.) 55 to 60 minutes. This cake is so deliciously moist and flavorful that it needs no frosting. Purer Spry lets the full flavor of your fruits and spices come through. Use Spry for all your cakes and hear the compliments. They'll love tender, flaky Spry pastry, too, and crispy Spry-fried foods.

Schilling Continues Hunt For New, Better Spices

Schilling spices and extracts are helping to supply that delicate goodness in the many preparations of homemakers.

A thousand years ago some spices and extracts were worth many times their weight in gold. Ship captains often braved treacherous waters and reefs away from their customary sealanes to search tropical islands for these delicacies to grace their queen's table.

These men were often honored and elevated according to the quality of these flavors. The desire of royal flavors often led to piracy and plundering to obtain these valuables that are now so conventiently packaged and placed in every store for you by Schilling.

Numerous foreign countries and hundreds of tropical islands supply these items for your table. And still the search goes on. The development of this industry is just as consistent as that of machines and implements. As new items are found and developed they are marketed for your convenience. For 60 years, Schilling has constantly maintained an elaborate experimental laboratory for these developments, to furnish you with the highest quality in spices and extracts.

Royal Crown Helps Quench Area Thirst

Three important franchises, Royal Crown, Nehi and Par-T-Pak, help Royal Crown Bottling Co., at 2901 Avenue H, quench the summer thirst of this section.

The nickel fruit and cola flavor drinks are in 12 ounce bottles, which will put out the fire of any thirst.

The Par-T-Pak is in quart size and offers ginger ale, lime rickey, sparkling water, orange, root beer and grape punch.

The company owns the modern new plant, into which it moved in August from a location of Avenue G. Attempts are being made to beautify exterior properties by setting out trees and grass.

Ed H. Miller has been manager since 1939 and there are 15 employes. Six trucks distribute products over 13 counties.

The plant has four syrup aging tanks, two mixing tanks, a sanitary bottle sterilizer and filling machine and complete water treatment equipment.

Baked Chicken Easily Cooked

A good fat hen or fine-quality fowl calls forth high praise when served a la Maryland.

Generous serving pieces of chicken seasoned, dipped in flour or cracker crumbs, and browned to perfection in Swift's Jewel shortening should be covered with top milk or evaporated milk.

Full-flavored pan gravy and hot biscuits are the traditional accompaniments.

When you say Jewel, you refer to the traditional goodness of Swift's entire list of internationally-known products, behind which the integrity of the entire Swift's organization stands.

New Life In Old Garments Is Result Of Using Linit

"Fresh as a daisy" but not "stiff as a poker"!

That's about the way of saying in a few words what Linit is.

New life in the old slip, or panty or "bra," that's what a Linit dip will give. Just wash your intimates as usual, in mild soap and lukewarm water, and rinse. Then refill the basin with lukewarm water; put some Linit into the palm of your hand, swish through the water, crushing it a bit with your fingers. Rinse garments one by one, in this Linit dip, squeeze out, roll in a towel and iron while still damp.

Use a little Linit for newer garments, increase the amount for your older ones.

Linit is a modern starch specially created for modern fabrics and attire. Instead of merely giving a hard coating to the surface, Linit penetrates the fabric itself and restores the original luster and finish.

Linit starched clothing stays clean longer, and such clothing lasts longer because the fiber is protected.

And — here's something new — try Linit in your bath. Swish a cupful or more of Linit in a tub of tepid water, and relax. The cream-like softness of the Linit water caresses you.

Kre-Mel Is Fast Growing Dessert

Kre-Mel, known as America's fastest growing dessert, is rich in dextrose.

It is a dessert of substance. More than being merely delicious, it is a satisfying and health-giving food.

There are several flavors; four servings to the package, which sells for a low price. Try it in vanilla, butterscotch, lemon, caramel, chocolate or, the latest, peppermint chocolate.

Try these recipes and be convinced:

CHERRY REFRIGERATOR CAKE

1 pkg. Lemon flavor Kre-mel
1½ cups juice from No. 2½ can black cherries
1½ cups canned black cherries (quartered)
24 2-inch vanilla wafers

Dissolve contents of Kre-Mel package in cold water, add to the hot cherry juice and stir until it comes to a boil. Remove from heat; add cherries. Line narrow oblong pan with wax paper and put in a layer of whole vanilla wafers. Pour part of cherry mixture over wafers; add another layer of wafers; cover with cherry mixture and so on, until all are used. Chill in refrigerator at least 2 to 3 hours. Serves 8.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

1 pkg. Chocolate flavor Kre-mel
2 egg yolks
½ cup cold milk
1½ cups hot milk
1-8 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
1 9-inch baked pastry shell

Beat egg yolks with cold milk; add Kre-mel and mix. Stir into the hot milk in top part of double boiler. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture begins to thicken, then 5 minutes more. Add salt to egg whites and beat to a stiff foam, gradually add the sugar, beating until the mixture is heavy and lustrous. Add the hot mixture gradually to the egg whites and mix until blended. Turn into baked pastry shell. Chill. To serve, top with sweetened whipped cream.

Karo, National Syrup Standby

Karo, known as the table syrup of quality, is rich in dextrose.

In the last 15 years Karo has become an outstanding food for infant feeding — and for growing children.

It is sold everywhere.

As to dextrose, it is the natural sugar of the human body. It is indispensable to life; it is our immediate source of energy. We could not live or work without dextrose, just as an automobile cannot function without gasoline.

Dextrose Necessary

Modern medicine has well proven the oft-repeated statement that dextrose is the "fuel with which life's engine runs." For it is primarily by the combustion or burning of dextrose within the body that heat and energy are liberated for keeping up body temperature, the performance of work and the maintenance of life.

Thus, the heart could not beat, the lungs could not function, the muscles could not act, without dextrose.

It is for this reason that dextrose normally circulates in the blood stream, is transported to the various ports of the body, and is present in the muscular tissues and vital organs. And it is also because dextrose is the primary source of the body's energy that carbohydrate and protein foods, which are commonly eaten, must be changed into dextrose before they may be used by the body tissues.

Recent advances in industrial research have made dextrose available in the form of a pure white refined sugar, and this is the basis for Karo's internationally-acclaimed syrup.

It is good for the newly-born, for athletes and pleasing and healthful to the taste of all.

White Swan Offers Valuable Premiums

White Swan coffee is generous in price, flavor and in premium offers.

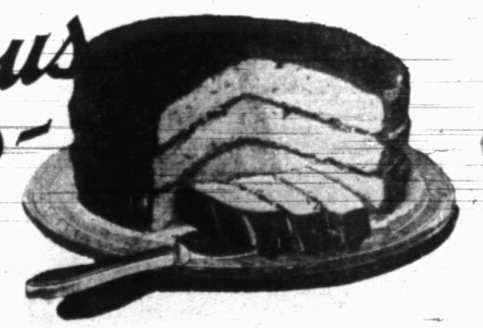

For 10 cents and a White Swan coffee coupon, for instance, you may obtain an 8¼ inch Lady Doris pattern tablespoon, patterned by international ally-famous silversmiths. It is worth 50 cents by any standard. While the offer lasts it might be well to get an entire set of the spoons.

And there is something else — while you're at it you can remember there are particulars on the inside of the can that will enable you to get free silk hosiery. Coupons, you know.

When you consider the fact that the White Swan coffee alone is worth the price, then it may be said that with the premium offers it is doubly worth what you pay for it.

Southwestern Livestock Men Minimize Beef Imports From Latins

Friendship Is Big Objective

BY ARNOLD DIBBLE
United Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, April 25.—Livestock dealers in this southwestern stock center believe the goodwill gained by the purchase of a limited supply of South American canned beef would more than offset any setback the action might affect in the cattle industry.

Livestock men emphasized, however, that such purchase should be limited not only in the amount but in distribution solely to America's armed forces.

The American National Livestock association and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association have withdrawn all opposition to purchase of 20,000,000 pounds of South American canned beef during 1941 for use by the army and the navy and allied services.

Approval Is Restricted

The livestock industry continued vigorous opposition to importation of live or dressed meats into this country because of the threat of spreading devastating hoof and mouth disease.

Stockmen were asked the following question in regard to the canned beef controversy:

"It is taken for granted that the meat industry of the United States does not enjoy foreign competition. However, if refusal of the United States to buy canned South American beef for the army and navy will injure our relations with Latin America at a time when we need friendly feeling between nations of this hemisphere, would you favor purchase of limited amounts of canned meat from South America?"

They answered:

Henry Bell, secretary-manager, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association—"As far as I know, our membership in the Southwestern association doesn't object to this 20,000,000-pound purchase. Some members might kick, but most will be agreeable, because we consider this something of a national emergency. The American National Livestock association went along with the purchase of 20,000,000 pounds of South American canned beef for the army and navy during 1941."

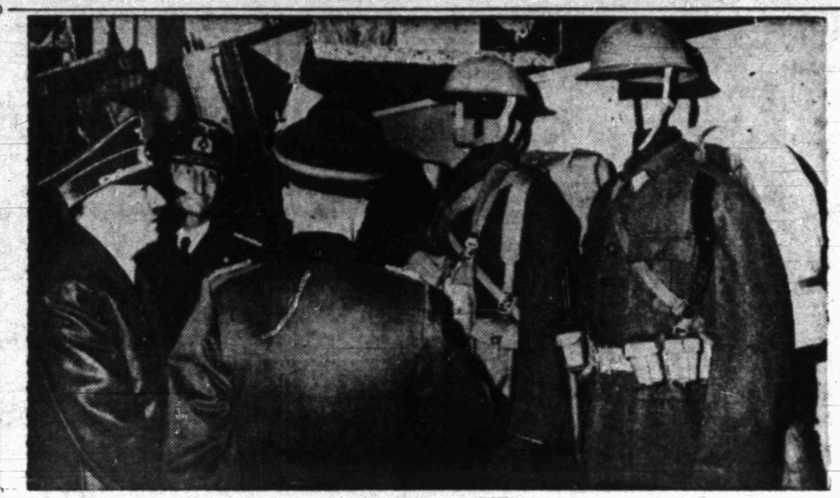

Market Seen Unimpaired

W. L. Pier, banker and expert on livestock finance—"We have got to take some of the South American nations' surplusses, even if it hurts us a little bit, in order to strengthen our trade relations. I doubt if the proposed U. S. purchase of canned beef would hurt our domestic market at all."

Watt W. Reynolds, prominent ranchman— "If the purchase of South American canned beef is not enough to break the American market, then it is all right, as far as I'm concerned. We do not want the price of beef higher—but certainly the producers cannot stand another period of depressed prices."

James D. Farmer, of Farmer Livestock Commission House — "For the army and navy to buy some of the South American canned meat might contribute to friendliness between American nations. The damage it would do to us wouldn't be worth much and it would be worth something to us in good relations."

John H. Hall, Fort Worth general manager Swift and Co.—"The small amount of meat that would come from South America would be a 'drop in the bucket' compared with the meat consumption of this country . . . I don't think it will affect out livestock market at all. We want the South Americans to buy a lot of goods from us, and it follows that in return we must buy something from them."

Extensive West Texas Geological Society Field Trip Is Scheduled In Near Future

(Special To The Journal)

MIDLAND, April 25.—Completion of plans for the staging of the spring field trip of the West Texas Geological society has been announced by Ronald K. DeFord of Midland, general chairman. The tour is one of the most extensive ever scheduled by the West Texas society. It is expected to attract geologists from over the entire Southwest.

The trip will be made from Fort Worth to Midland along Highway 80. Detours will be made to study outcrops. Field trip leaders are M. G. Cheney, Anzac Oil company, Coleman; V. C. Perini, jr., Merry Brothers and Perini, Abilene; Morgan E. Roberts, Pure Oil company, Fort Worth; and Gayle Scott, professor of geology at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth.

Road Log Available

The section to be covered includes formations of Pennsylvanian, Permian, Triassic, cretaceous and tertiary age. A detailed road log has heretofore unpublished maps, cross-sections and measured sections. The area at the western end of the trip is of exceptional interest and comparatively few geologists are familiar with it.

The Fort Worth Geological society and the Abilene Geological society are collaborating with the West Texas group in presentation of papers of geologic interest. The Fort Worth society will meet Friday night, May 9, immediately preceding the trip at the Blackstone hotel with the following speakers and subjects:

Oklahomans To Speak

Karl Mygdal, Pure Oil Company, Fort Worth, "The Search for Oil in the Worth Worth Basin."

C. W. Tomlinson, consulting geologist, Ardmore, Oklahoma, "Pennsylvania Provinces of Oklahoma and the Relationship to Each Other."

Cheney, "Main Subdivisions of the Lower Pennsylvania."

H. H. Bradfield, the Texas company, Fort Worth, "Classification of Pennsylvanian of North Central Texas Based on Fossils and Usage."

Robert H. Dott, director of the Oklahoma Geological Survey, will preside.

To Meet In Abilene

The following night the Abilene society will sponsor a meeting at the Wooten hotel in Abilene. Speakers and subjects are: W. Armstrong Price, consulting geologist, Corpus Christi, "Origin of the Calcareous Deposits of the High Plains;" Ed W. Owen, L. H. Wentz company, San Antonio, and president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, "Physiographic Facts and Fancies."

The Abilene meeting will be presided over by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas. The trip will end in Midland Sunday night, May 11. W. M. Osborn of Midland is in charge of hotel reservations.

The following committees have been appointed by DeFord: road log committee: Taylor Cole, chairman; V. W. Rogers.

Registrations committee: W. G. Moxey, chairman; W. J. Hilseweck; Carl S. Shoults, Riley G. Maxwell, John W. Harrison.

Traffic committee: C. A. McCamy, chairman.

These Selectees Are Together At Least

FORT WARREN, Wyo., April 25. (AP)—Negro selectees were given post cards at a reception center before they departed for this camp. They were told to write their names and destination on them and to mail them to relatives, so the relatives would know their new address.

"Now, fill in your name in this space here," officers coached the rookies, and, to provide an example, wrote "Private Jones" on sample forms.

Vitamins To Bolster National Will Urged

BOSTON, April 25. (AP)—Declaring a deficiency of Vitamin B-1 in the American diet may be deteriorating the "national will," a nutritional expert of the national research council suggested today new methods of adding it and other needed vitamins to foods in this time of "national emergency."

The doctor suggested that food be fortified with vitamins in the following ways:

Enrichment with vitamins, while they are being processed, of such staple foods as flour and bread and all edible fats.

Increased human consumption of skimmed milk which is vitamin rich.

PROXIMITY OF MARS

About every 15 to 17 years, the planet Mars makes a relatively close approach to the earth. At such times, it is only about 36,000,000 miles from us, while at times it is 235,000,000 miles distant.

Civil Service Takes In More U. S. Posts

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—President Roosevelt signed an executive order today placing under the civil service more than 100,000 government positions heretofore exempt.

"The issuance of this order," he said in a formal statement "is a significant milestone in civil service reform, both in the number and in the proportion of federal positions to be filled in accordance with the civil service act."

The other embraces government lawyers for the first time, putting into effect, with certain minor modifications, the so-called Frankfurter plan which was recommended by a majority of the committee on civil service improvement headed by the supreme court justice.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says the person who is satisfied with what he is rarely tries to act like what he isn't.

VERY few of us have any more intelligence—either native or acquired—than we need to get along, and whatever amount we have, we appreciate.

If there's anything that will make the average citizen hot under the collar it's an insult—either real or imaginary—to his mental powers, be they large or small. And in this feeling The Plainsman is super, super average.

Among the current practices of insulting intelligence is that which seeks to tie onto the magic words of "national defense" every scheme under the shining sun. It's gotten so that every individual and every group with an axe to grind seeks to tie up his or its ambitions with national defense. And in most cases those ambitions have no more connection with national defense than a hog has with a sidesaddle.

We noted with the wriest of expressions the other day that backers of legalized race track gambling are arguing for their cause that it will "be a great boost for national defense."

According to the race track gambling gentry, legalized betting will bring about more and better horse breeding in Texas; and more and better horse breeding in Texas will make it easier for us to defend our state and our nation in case of an attack from Mexico or South America, on account of the fact that mechanized equipment isn't so good for desert fighting!

If that doesn't beat the Dutch!

WITH another grimace, we read in Avalanche-Journal papers the other day where a group of territorial, supervised play directors of the WPA in West Texas were gathering here for a five-day pow-wow on the summer playground project "as an adjunct to national defense." Just where national defense ties in with softball, pet parades, jolly nocturnal programs, etc., is more than we can figure, although The Plainsman admits he's more than a wee bit oldfashioned.

Understand, we've got nothing against playground projects in this era when everything must be regimented — including play — and where there must be a tax-supported agency for everything under the shining sun.

The reason so many groups and individuals are trying to tie their efforts onto the tail of the national defense kite is because national defense is the most popular thing around and about the country at the present time.

Citizens who ordinarily squirm over a bare possibility of a hike in taxes are plumb tickled over the prospects of paying more and more and more for expenditures aimed at safeguarding our national existence.

Since this fact is very well known, those with tax-or-donations-supported vehicles figure that if they can euchre their pet projects into the national defense picture—even on the flimsiest of excuses—they'll be better off.

And they will be!

THE four largest dairies of Lubbock on Sunday will embark upon a noble experiment—that of giving their 25 deliverymen the day off. And for the first time in heaven only knows when, the majority of Lubbock milk patrons will note the passing of a Sunday without a visit from the milkman.

While some milk patrons likely will grumble over the change, The Plainsman believes most Lubbockites will cheer the idea of giving the milkman Sunday off to attend church, visit with his family, play golf or what-not, like most of the rest of us do. We doubt that accepting a double delivery of milk on Saturday will work much of a hardship on anybody and certainly the milk deliverers of Lubbock have as much right to Sunday off as anybody else.

Milk being a decided necessity for most families, it will not be possible for the four co-operating dairies to let all their employes off on Sunday.

They will be forced to keep their plants open for the benefit of wholesale patrons and for those retail patrons who may wish to drive by on Sunday to pick up an extra bottle or two.

But the wagon men will get their day off—and The Plainsman glories in it.

After all, life these days is no merry-go-round and everybody needs all the breaks he can get!

That Man on Avenue Q says it's too late now to get the country out of the red and if we don't take vigorous action soon, it'll be too late to get the reds out of the country.

The girl down the street says her face is her fortune, but to us it looks like a frozen asset.

THE British Red Cross and President Roosevelt urge that 1,000 young American doctors immediately enroll to go to England where war conditions have brought about a shortage of trained physicians. Meanwhile, the Rockefeller Foundation is backing a campaign to make it possible for British medical students, whose work has been interfered with by the conflict, to come to this country and complete their schooling.

Both these ideas have their good points and must be considered if only in the light of human decency. Yet as we consider these suggestions, let's not forget also to look into the effect of both ideas on our own country and our own people.

The armed forces of the nation have called in thousands of medical reserve officers until today there is a shortage of medical school graduates. The Plainsman personally knows of two well established Lubbock physicians who have had great difficulty in finding young doctors for well-paying positions with rosy futures, due to the shortage.

In view of this shortage, and with no indication that the medical profession will be opened up to anywhere near all of those who seek to prepare for it, the idea of shipping 1,000 doctors to Britain certainly has its bad points.

AS to the Rockefeller Foundation's plea that young British medical students be permitted to come here and finish their education in our schools, there can be no serious opposition save from one angle.

That angle, of course, is the effect such an influx of medical students would have on our relatively few medical schools which have been geared by the American Medical Association to care for only the barest minimum of applicants.

We have facing ourselves this problem:

1. We need more young doctors in this country;

2. If we are to train young doctors we've got to expand our facilities; and

3. Since it costs money to expand those facilities, how can we afford to further expand them temporarily to care for thousands of young Britishers on top of extra hundreds, or thousands, of young Americans?

It occurs to The Plainsman that the best way to solve Britain's need for doctors is by sending to Britain the several thousand elderly refugee doctors who have been admitted to our shores over the past several years.

Most of these refugee doctors have settled in New York and environs.

Many of them cannot speak good English and are otherwise handicapped in new surroundings and are barely eking out a living.

Yet since they have all settled in a relatively small area, they are working a competitive hardship on many of our own doctors who cannot exist by making "subway calls" at 50 cents each.

We have a shortage of young American doctors the nation over, but in a small area of the Atlantic seaboard we have a surplus of mature refugee physicians.

Britain needs doctors.

Ergo, why not send the refugee doctors to Britain?

YESTERDAY: Anthony takes his Big Idea up to the merchandise manager. Bee waits anxiously, knowing that if he is successful he will ask her to marry him and her masquerade will be ended. A customer tells her that she wants her husband to see a dress. Bee doesn't expect the woman to return, but she does. And her husband is Jenkins, Beatrice Huntington Davenport"s chauffeur!

BEE BEGS FOR HER JOB

CHAPTER 20

Jenkins' hands were deep in the pockets of a striped purple suit, and a slouch hat was pushed back on his head. He had the air of a man enduring inhuman punishment.

He was protesting to his wife. "But listen, suppose she stays in South America the rest of the year? You think the old man's going to keep me on a salary for doing nothing? I tell you, I might be out a job and you want to buy more dresses!"

"I might not buy it. I just want to try it on."

Beatrice gained control of herself even as Jenkins' eyes wandered around the department. She turned her head just before the moment when that roving eye would surely have lighted on her face. She dived for the fitting room curtain, her heart racing. Behind her, she heard Mrs. Jenkins saying, "I think that's the girl who waited on me."

"I've got to get out of here," Beatrice thought swiftly. "I simply can't face Jenkins. I can't have it all exposed now!" It was an hour until lunchtime, and she had a customer in the fitting room. A customer who was trying to soothe a whining little boy. "I'll be through in a minute, Junior. In just a minute."

Miss Getz appeared, providentially, and Beatrice cried, "Oh, Getzie, please take my customer, in there. I—I don't feel well."

Miss Getz stared, but Beatrice had turned and ran. She slipped through the curtains at the other end of the fitting room aisle. Miss Dane was on the phone, her back to Beatrice. Beatrice fled through Housewares, and into a waiting elevator.

She'd go up to the soda fountain, linger over a forbidden coke, and then she'd loiter on the main floor. How long would Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins wait down there? "If he'd only talk her out of the whole idea, and drag her away!"

Over the coke, she wondered again about what was happening upstairs. "I'll sign the slip for it," she told the soda clerk.

"If you ask me, they ought to give us the cokes," the girl said while Beatrice scribbled her name, number and department across the back of the ticket. "What's a coke to the Duchess, anyway?"

"Two thousand cokes might be something," Beatrice suggested mildly.

Having finished her drink, she wandered into the stocking department. "I certainly need some, too. But $1.35 . . . that's too much." She fingered 79-cent hose until the speculative eye of a main floor section manager sent her scurrying again. As she passed one of the side street entrances, a sudden thought struck her. "Jenkins lives in Queens. I bet he's riding around in my car!"

She walked boldly out the door. Sure enough, there a little way down the street, her shining black town car was parked. She regarded it with strangely mingled emotions. "I ride the subway, and Jenkins and his wife skylark around in that."

She wondered maliciously, how Jenkins would like it if she simply got in the back seat and sat there, waiting for him. "The shoe would be on the other foot then, my good man," she thought. Yet she was aware that she was not half so outraged by Jenkins' flagrant abuse of his privileges as she would have been before she came to work in Huntington's.

The doorman, who had been busily handing an old woman into her car, shook his head at Beatrice. "You want to catch pneumonia?" His eyes twinkled. "Any time you feel like sneaking out for a breath of air, be sure it's me on the door, and not that other man. He'd tell on you quick as look at you."

She took the escalator to the basement. From Children's Clothes, she peered into Budget. The Jenkinses had definitely left. Beatrice sighed with relief, and marched back.

Miss Dane was drumming dangerously on the wrapping desk, her blood-red fingernails managing to call forth an unpleasantly loud sound from the scarred wood. "Where have you been?"

"Upstairs for a coke," Beatrice confessed meekly.

Miss Dane's throat purpled. "How dare you leave the floor? You were taking advantage of the section manager's absence, that's what you were doing! I have a good mind to fire you right now!"

Beatrice bit her lip. All at once, she wanted fiercely to scream, "Go on, fire me! Fire me, and watch me mess your job up and your whole darned department—watch me mop you up in 10 minutes!"

But sweet though it would be to put a bomb under Miss Dane, the thought of Anthony Bradley stopped her. She simply couldn't ruin everything now! He was on his own, up there with the merchandising manager. He was working out a scheme he had thought up himself — he would soon be getting a promotion he had earned. "The farther he gets away from this low-paying section manager job, the less it will hurt him to know I've been lying . . ."

If Anthony could convince himself that he was standing on his own two feet in this store, if he knew beyond any shadow of a doubt that he was valuable and appreciated—perhaps later, when inevitably he discovered that Beatrice owned the store, he wouldn't feel that he held his job only because she loved him. Because Beatrice had long ago decided that Bruce Sheldrake, who was too high and mighty to explore trivial details, was going out on his ear, some fine day. And Anthony Bradley, after serving the training she was certain Grandfather would have wanted, was going to occupy that perfectly appointed office upstairs with "General Superintendent" on the door.

So Bee Davis, salesclerk in Budget Fashions, let Miss Dane, the Budget buyer, fume at her. Bee dropped her eyes and tried hard to look contrite.

"Yes, Miss Dane," Bee murmured meekly. "Oh, Miss Dane, I'm so sorry. I'm so very sorry."

THE SECOND PHASE ON DEFENSE

The government apparently is making real headway on the development of the second phase of that portion of the national defense concerned with the production of materials essential to protection.

The first phase involved the letting of contracts to and provision for the expansion of plants in the highly industrialized centers of the North and East. Although they are in the areas most exposed to attack both from without and from within, they were the industries prepared to begin production for the national defense with the least delay. There can be no quarrel with the common sense which gave to them the first contracts.

The second phase deals with the plants which must be built before they can begin any kind of production. A liberal share of those plants are going to the interior United States where they would be least exposed to attack in case of invasion.

The airplane plants near Fort Worth, Dallas and Tulsa; small arms plants near Denver, Colo.; and Lake City, Mo.; powder plants in Indiana; an ordnance plant in Tennessee, and various plants of various kinds on the more interior points on the Great Lakes are typical of the trend which is making use of the vast distances this nation possesses as barriers for protection.

The New Tax Bill

School Bells To Ring For Potential Industrial Artisans

Uncle Sam Must Train Thousands Of Workers

BY PETER EDSON

Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 25. — At the outbreak of the second World war, Germany had for its defense industries 12 million productive workers and 800,000 apprentices.

EDSON

When the United States began its defense drive it had fewer than 5 million workers in defense industries and 100,000 apprentices.

And there, ladies and gentlemen, you have one of the narrowest of all the bottlenecks in the entire American defense effort. It explains why, according to Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, more than three-fourths of the workers in U. S. defense industries are today employed in plants working only one shift. And it explains why 91 out of every 100 men in the machine tool industries have to work 10 hours overtime every week. The country with the world's greatest industrial machine and the world's best public school system has fallen flat on its ear.

Excuses Barred

Everyone is to blame. Management for not having a trained reserve of manpower. Labor for a silly system of restricting apprenticeships, limiting the number of youngsters who could learn skilled trades. Relief officials for putting men to raking leaves and manicuring roads when they should have been learning something useful. Politicians for being short-sighted. You, me and the rest of the general public for allowing this to go on.

The man who has been given the job of seeing that something is done to correct this situation is a kindly, tall, blue-eyed, graying colonel of anti-aircraft coast artillery, Frank J. McSherry, who has been assigned from the army general staff as director of defense training. His office is under the Federal Security Administration and he has under his wing the defense industry vocational training activities of the Office of Education, WPA and NYA, co-ordinating their school projects with the U. S. Employment Service and the new "training within industry" program of the defense effort.

This industry program is under Channing Dewey, Socony Vacuum's personnel director who, at a dollar a year and with 22 district offices head by dollar-a-yearers, gives plants advice on schooling men for better jobs, moving them up from ordinary jobs to higher skills where there are still greater shortages.

Colonel McSherry's head is an amazing library of statistics and, once started, he pours forth a stream of figures on American shortage of skilled labor for defense industries so pitiful it makes you weep. It isn't just a shortage of manpower—there are still six million unemployed—it's the lack of workmen who can do the jobs required.

Shocking Shortage

U. S. Employment Service is completing a month's drive to register workers. It has raised the number listed to five million, but in that number it has found only 185,000 workers competent to take jobs in the 393 key industries, fewer than 25,000 competent for the 100 top industries, and in 12 industries none at all.

Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that in the next year two million workers will be put on the payrolls of defense industries. Aircraft manufacturers, employing 23,000 men in 1938, will need 308,000 men when plants under construction are completed. Shipyards, with 125,000 workers, will need 300,000 more, and so on.

Only solution for this problem is to send the country back to school—trade school—and that's what's being done, literally. More than 300 trade schools are being run in three shifts, 24 hours a day, so great is the demand for skilled workers—in a hurry. Plants on two-shift production are turned into schools for the third.

Douglas Aircraft, in Long Beach, Calif., needing 20,000 workers for a new plant, interested the city in acquiring a three-story building which was turned into a trade school with 1800 students a day.

Los Angeles took over a garage to train 25,000 shipyard workers. Murray Body in Detroit, needing 6000 men for a new airplane parts plant, has a school for 1700 a day. Wright Aeronautical's new plant in Cincinnati must soon have 120 trained men a week for 75 weeks. Buick and Studebaker's new engine plants in Chicago will need 12,000.

Trained men—not ordinary unskilled day laborers—are needed, so if you had an idea of catching the first train, don't, till you know what it's all about.

Real head of this vast back-to-school effort is the vocational education system of the states, co-ordinated under Commissioner John M. Studebaker of the U. S. Office of Education. Starting back in 1917, under a $7 million federal grant later raised by $14 million, all of which must be matched by appropriations from the states, this vocation education system could reach only 60,000 students a year. The framework was there, and supplemented by some $66 million in new defense appropriations, USOE is doing a job. For the year ending June 30, 1941, it will turn out a million men trained for a defense trade.

And finally, when she saw that Miss Dane was working herself up into a veritable tantrum, and when she realized that the eyes of every girl in the department were focused on them, Beatrice took a deep breath and burst out, tearfully, "Please, Miss Dane, don't fire me! Oh, Miss Dane, I need my job. I promise I'll never do it again. Really, I won't, Miss Dane." Her wide eyes lifted tragically to the contorted face of the buyer. "Miss Dane, you won't fire me, will you?"

She had learned, the day she applied for this job in the personnel office, that if you stood up to people they respected you more. But she had learned, too, that power was sweet to women like Miss Dane. Women who had so little else to glory in. The power of life and death, of hiring and firing, made autocratic tin gods of them. If you begged, they liked to see you grovel . . . and they grudgingly dispensed a little mercy, after you'd humbled yourself enough.

But Miss Dane surprised her. For, instead of the mounting fury, instead of more threats and final humiliation, Miss Dane suddenly crumpled.

"Stop that!" she grated. "Don't cry, you fool! Do you think I like trampling all over you? But I haven't got it so easy myself. . . . They took my stock girl, they keep raising my sales figures higher and higher. I'm nearly crazy, that's what I am! I was a salesgirl myself once. In those days, the store had some heart. Mr. Huntington wasn't hard-boiled, he didn't drive people . . ."

To the never-to-be-forgotten stupefaction of the entire Budget Department, Miss Dane herself burst into tears. She wailed, "Go away you young idiot. Let me alone! Oh, I wish I never had to see this place again!"

She covered her face with her hands, and turned to Miss Getz, who had somehow crept closer. "Getzie, Getzie," she choked, "it wasn't like this in the old days, was it?"

A poorly balanced ration fed to growing pullets reduces the number of eggs as well as the weights per egg. Purina Chick Growena, an especially prepared ration, is built to help give you full, well-developed pullets, ready to lay lots of eggs in the shortest possible time. What's more, Growena is economical to feed. Actually it takes but 16 lbs. to carry a bird through the growing period. No matter how you look at it, it doesn't cost to feed pullets right—IT PAYS!
Come in to see us about your growing feed needs today.
