Schwellenbach Presents Peace Plan to Oil Mediators

CIO Workers, Company Men View Proposal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—CIO oil workers and 11 big oil companies—locked in controversy over wages—today studied a government peace proposal calling for:

- 1. A temporary 15 per cent pay increase, and
- 2. Agreement by both sides to accept an arbitrator's final settlement.

Acceptance would bring an immediate end to strikes which began September 16 and spread to 12 states. Latest hit area is the west coast. Pacific military and naval supplies thereby were jeopardized.

The American farm bureau federation jumped into the strike picture through its president, Edward A. O'Neil, who wrote labor secretary Schwellenbach:

"Appropriate steps should be taken to require the resumption of production of essential supplies of gasoline, even if the government has to take over the (strike-bound) plants."

O'Neil said farmers are confronted with a "critical situation" because of the oil shortage—due to strikes—and he told Schwellenbach in a letter that:

"Regardless of the merits or demerits of the pending dispute between labor and industry, the public ought not to be required to suffer the loss of essential supplies."

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach presented the peace plan early today to weary negotiators who acknowledged a hopeless deadlock after seven days of conciliation under government supervision.

Schwellenbach had to turn his attention elsewhere, too, as John L. See PEACE PLAN, Page 6

Senate Set for Perennial Battle To Kill Poll Tax

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—Two southern senators said today they have no objection to submitting a proposed constitutional amendment which would outlaw poll taxes as a requirement for voting.

A third, Senator Ellender (D-La.), predicted: "There will never be enough states to ratify it."

Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) said he would not filibuster against an amendment, and Senator George (D-Ga.) said submission to the states for ratification "is undoubtedly the proper approach."

Their comments, to reporters, followed a decision of the senate judiciary committee to send to the senate for action:

- 1. A house-approved bill forbidding collection of poll taxes as a requirement to vote for federal office, and
- 2. The resolution of Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) for a constitutional amendment.

O'Mahoney's amendment would declare that the right to vote shall not be denied by reason of failure to pay any tax.

The house has passed anti-poll tax legislation time and again, but it was bogged down in senate filibusters.

Seven states have poll tax laws: Tennessee, Alabama, Texas, South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Electric Power Restored to Part Of Stricken Texas

By The Associated Press
Stricken Texas today received relief from the disastrous halt of the flow of electricity in South Central Texas, but still waited to see what compromise might bring to the oil industry.

The lower Colorado river authority announced it had fully restored electric power to all its customers except at Lampasas vicinity.

Three big hydroelectric plants along the Colorado river were still silent thirty hours after about 100 striking union workers suddenly walked off the jobs, but LCRA had made connections with privately owned utility companies, with the city of Austin's generating plant, and had completely put the Austin dam plant back in service.

Threats of serious water shortages and other breakdowns in public services at such large towns as Kerrville, Childress, Breckham, Schwellenbach, Fredericksburg were averted. Still without power, but with prospects good for early restoration today, were Evans, Burnet, Lonaeta, and San Saba.

The LCRA said it hoped within a few days to start the turbines rolling again at Mansfield dam, Roy Licks dam and Buchanan dam.

Max Storey, general manager of LCRA, said he would tell a federal conciliator due in Austin today that "there is nothing to conciliate."

Starke said "the men who walked off are out of their jobs and will not be re-employed."

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach had announced a plan to appoint an impartial arbitrator.

Kerrville got some power back. Kerrville was a good example of what happens in a town suddenly deprived of electricity. Even the state sanitarium there had none. Kerrville worried mostly about refrigeration and water. By early afternoon there was no water. An employee of the lower Colorado river authority was sent to Comford, Texas.

Donald Crossan Is Freed From Nips

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Crossan of LeFors have received a wire from their son, Pfc. Donald Wayne Crossan, 25, stationed in Manila, Philippines, gaining health rapidly. Will see you Thanksgiving.

Another wire from the war department informed his parents that Crossan had been returned to military control and will be returned to the United States within the near future.

Taken prisoner of the Japanese with the fall of Corregidor, Pfc. Crossan had not been heard from directly since Nov. 22, 1941, four years ago. On Jan. 25, 1945, his parents were notified that he had been moved from a camp in the Philippines to Tokyo.

Lawyers Invited To Attend Amarillo Meet
Lawyers of Pampa and other parts of the Panhandle have been invited to hear Judge John H. Sharp, Texas supreme court justice, address the Amarillo Bar association at its monthly luncheon meeting next Saturday, according to a letter to The News today from Harwood Beville, of Amarillo.

He said he could not possibly advise all of the lawyers individually to be present at noon on that day at the Amarillo hotel, and, therefore, took occasion to ask them through the newspaper.

Other persons, including Judge A. J. Foley, will be present from downstate, it was said.

Patton Ousted From Control Of Command

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Oct. 2—(AP)—It was officially announced today that Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., who differed with General Eisenhower over demoralization policies in Bavaria, had been relieved of command of the famed Third army he led through France. He will take over the Fifteenth army, which is reduced now to a "paper" organization.

The Fifteenth which completed its job as an occupation army in July, now consists of a headquarters staff and a few troops doing research work.

Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, Jr., commanding the Fifth army which is slated for official dissolution Dec. 1, will succeed Patton in command of the Third and of the eastern half of the American occupation zone.

The changes will take place about Oct. 10.

The Fifteenth army does not control any occupation area. Its mission is to prepare reports on Allied relations in the war, with recommendations for future procedure. At present it is "a paper army."

It was announced July 21 that the 15th had completed its job as an occupying force and that the commander at that time, Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, had been named president general of a board of American officers to make a detailed study of the European war.

At Washington, the war department said the report of Patton's relief was "news" to it, adding that the decision was entirely up to Eisenhower.

Patton, who has often been in hot water for speaking out, got himself into difficulties Sept. 22 when he denounced his personal theories about the demoralization of his Bavarian area at his headquarters in Bad Toelz.

He told a news conference then that it might be necessary to keep some Nazis in office "to insure ourselves that women, children and children."

City Commission Meetings Changed

Meeting date of the city commission has been changed from Wednesday morning to Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The commission this morning approved the application of R. G. Hughes for an extension on the wiring permit in his temporary cabinet shop on South Gray street.

The shop is used in the finishing of lumber to be used in the construction of houses in the Terrace addition, now in progress.

Also being considered by the commission was the levying of a street use charge on Ray Webster, operator of the Pampa City Bus company.

City Manager Garland Franks reported that many Texas cities in which lines are operating levied a very small charge. The charge is usually a small per cent of the gross receipts or a certain amount of money per bus per year.

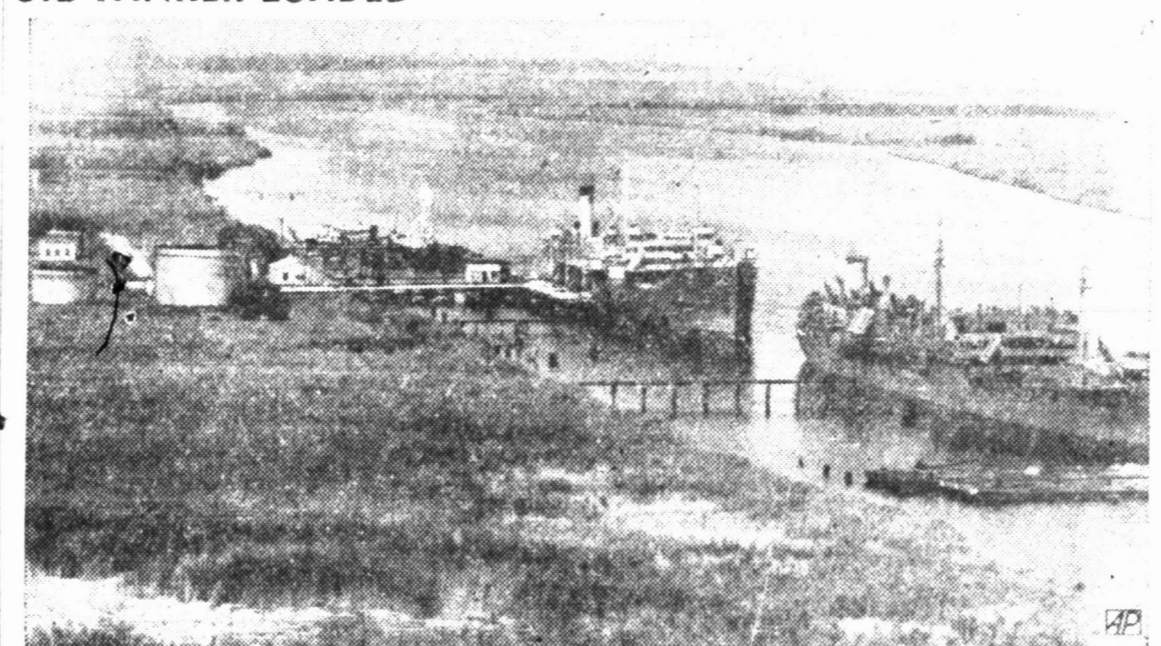

No decision on the charge has been reached as yet.

COSY
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 2—(AP)—A little girl watched, puzzled as a crowd jammed the aisle of a city bus.

"Mother," came her shrill pipe, "what are all those people standing up for? There's lots of laps."

Five Billion Tax Cut Plan Wins Support From House Democrats

Ride Is Promised School Winners in Fire Prevention

A ride on a fire truck is in store for winners of the Fire Prevention contests now being held in the first, second and third grades of Pampa schools, it was announced yesterday by Winston Savage, chairman of the Fire Prevention poster and theme contest committee.

Winners of each room of the grades will be a "fireman for a day." Fire Chief Ben White will take the contest winners on a run. Students in each of the rooms have already selected the type of contest in which they are to compete, Savage said.

Cash awards will be given to the remaining winners of the Fire Prevention contests which are being held in all grades of the local schools, said Savage.

Posters are being made in the fourth and fifth grades. Winners from each grade in every school will be awarded prizes of three, two and one dollars for placing first, second and third, in the order named.

Like cash awards will be presented to winners of theme contests which are being held in the junior and senior high schools.

Presentation of the cash awards will be made in school assemblies during Fire Prevention week, Oct. 7-13; the ride on the fire truck will be given Friday, October 12, Savage said.

PANHANDLE MARKET CENTER: PURCHASING POWER OF TERRITORY IN MILLIONS

(Editor's Note: This is the tenth in a series of articles dealing with the industrial survey of the Panhandle and vicinity. The survey was prepared by Burt C. Blanton, Dallas consulting engineer.)

By IMOGENE CHRISTENSEN
Pampa is strategically situated to serve the industrial and rapidly developing regions of the north Panhandle, the Oklahoma Panhandle and western Oklahoma.

Pampa's manufacturing and processing industries, together with its wholesale and distributing establishments, help supply the Panhandle region, the 20 counties which comprise Pampa's trade territory, as well as the principal markets in the United States.

The rounding-out factor of Pampa's marketing potentialities is the city's transportation systems which have proven a paramount growth in its development and factor as one of Texas' most important manufacturing, wholesaling and distributing centers.

Special attention is directed to Pampa's trade territory, where the total volume of retail sales, determined on the federal census of 1940, approximately $47,396,000. The total volume of wholesale sales in See PURCHASING, Page 6

Committee Turns Thumbs Down on McKeough Okay

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—President Truman showed in the chips today for a nationally important senate showdown on his nomination of Raymond S. M. Keough as a maritime commissioner.

Packed with controversy, the appointment involves two questions:

- 1. Can the bulk of senate republicans who don't like the CIO set each democratic voice on their side to engineer the first rejection of a Truman nomination?
- 2. Is the AFL strong enough among senators to swing the balance by its opposition to McKeough?

Mr. Truman reportedly has told his legislative assistants he wants the nomination of the former naval deal spokesman voted up or down.

The senate commerce committee voted it down 10 to 7 yesterday. The senate will get the issue immediately by its final vote.

Eight republicans and two democrats—Senators Overton of Louisiana and O'Daniel of Texas—opposed committee adoption of the adverse report. Seven democrats voted for approval.

The reasons committee members gave for their action varied. But all came back to this central point: McKeough's employment by the PAC as its Chicago district director in the Roosevelt fourth term campaign.

No one had anything to say against McKeough's character or his other qualifications.

Liberated Texan Is On 90-Day Furlough

Jack D. Moss, son of Mrs. V. S. Keahey, 1118 E. Frances, arrived in New York from Calcutta, India, Saturday and is now on a 90-day furlough.

Moss, who was a member of the famed 131st "Lost Battalion," was in a Japanese prison camp for more than three years, before his liberation last month.

Moss reported to an army hospital at Houston and will return there at the end of his furlough to receive his honorable discharge.

Globester Passes Halfway Marker

MANILA, Oct. 2—(AP)—The Globester "jumped the hump" of China today, passed the half-way mark in its flight around the world, and hit the long Pacific trail for home, reaching Manila at 1:25 p. m. (Manila time; 10:25 p. m. Monday, central standard time).

Arriving at Nichols Field after their 1,415-mile hop from Kunning, China, passengers had a three-hour stop before boarding a new plane—the Bataan Meteor—for the 1,587-mile flight to Guam. The new plane took off for Guam at 4:46 p. m. (Manila time; 1:46 a. m. CST).

It was the second plane change since the Globester ran started from Washington last Friday—the first flight in the first regular globe-circling service of the army transport command.

Six stops, remain after Manila, with the remaining hops averaging 2,657 miles each.

Soviet and British Ministers at Odds

LONDON, Oct. 2—(AP)—Informants high within the counsel of the foreign ministers' conference said today that Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov threatened to go home over the weekend after a heated argument with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

The two have been reported at loggerheads frequently during the sessions which were drawing toward a close.

The representatives of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France and China met for two hours this morning and reconvened for another session later. It seemed that even the most superficial agreement could not be reached.

Molotov was reported by persons present at the weekend exchange to have taken exception to a remark by Bevin that the Soviet commissar's methods were "Hitlerian."

The clash resulted when Molotov demanded that the ministers revoke a decision on Sept. 11 on procedure, which permitted France and China to sit in on all discussions.

This is the issue which had deadlocked the conference for more than a week with Russia insisting that the Potsdam decisions be adhered to with only the foreign ministers of the Big Three discussing and drafting peace treaties for the Balkan states.

The report was that Molotov said in effect that when the group of powers reached an agreement in common and that afterwards one or more realized their mistake, the council should reconsider and repeal the decision.

To this, Bevin was understood to have said he had "never heard anything more like Hitlerian methods."

Persons present said Bevin's remarks were translated into French and Russia while the ministers sat tense and waited for an explanation.

When the interpreters finished Molotov arose, walked toward the door, turned and said:

"Unless that remark was withdrawn, I am leaving the room and the conference."

A few seconds of silence elapsed. Then Bevin spoke, saying he withdrew his remarks.

Molotov returned to his chair. Persons present said that at this point there seemed no hope of the conference continuing. The ministers, however, attempted to get back down to work and break the deadlock.

Texas Production of Oil Is Unchanged

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 2—(AP)—Daily average crude oil production for the week ending Sept. 29 dropped 52,200 barrels to 4,481,150, lowest figure since April 29, 1944, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Largest loss was that in California, which slumped 25,600 barrels to 800,150, but Illinois declined 13,300 to 182,200, Oklahoma 3,300 to 391,300 and Wyoming 5,550 to 93,700.

Texas production was unchanged at 1,839,500, and Kansas decreased 950 to 272,500, while Louisiana fell 950 to 362,850. The eastern area posted a 550-barrel decline to 61,400 and the Rocky Mountain area of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming shipped 4,850 to 121,550.

Missouri output increased 1,500 barrels to 52,550.

Joe Louis, Back In Civvies, Says Tigers Will Win

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Joe Louis is back in civvies trim and fit at 219 pounds, and sure he can hit just as hard as he could before he entered the army in January, 1942.

Wearing a grey suit and a light grey hat, the world's heavyweight champion celebrated his return to civilian life by attending last night's Freddie Schott-John Thomas bout at the St. Nicholas arena, just six hours after his honorable discharge at Camp Shanks, N. Y.

"I don't feel no different than when I fought Abe Simon three years ago right after I got in the army," drawled burly Joe. "I might be a little bit slower but I know I can hit just the same. This army life was good for me, kept me in good shape and close to the game. They let me box all I wanted (about 500 or 600 exhibitions) but I guess just like every other soldier I'm glad to get out."

"First," he told a reporter, "I'm catching the first train to Detroit to see the Tigers clean up those Cubs in six games. Hal Newhouser is going to win two. After that I'm coming back here for a conference with Uncle Mike Jacoby (the promoter) and then I'm off to California for two or three months."

Texas Tech and Southwestern furnish opposition for Southwest conference members, the Red Raiders playing Texas at Austin Saturday and Southwestern meeting Rice at Houston Saturday night.

Texas Christian goes to Fayetteville to play Arkansas, Southern Methodist clashes with Missouri at Dallas and Texas A. and M. tackles Oklahoma at Norman, Okla. West Texas state plays New Mexico university at Canyon in a night game Friday.

Texas A. and M., Texas and Texas Christian are the only undefeated teams left in the state among those that have played games. John Tarleton and North Texas Agricultural college haven't been in competition yet.

Capacity Crowd To Fill Briggs Stadium In Detroit Wednesday

By SID FEDER

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Tigers and the Cubs took their one and only pre-series look today at the baseball patch on which they start slugging tomorrow, leaving the rosters by the thousands to finish the hottest 1945 World Series argument—how come all the Detroit optimism over what left-hand pitching can do to the Cubs.

Southwest Grid Teams Mostly in Good Condition

By The Associated Press

Barring a couple of knee injuries, Southwest conference football teams came through their Saturday tilts with run-of-the-mill bruises and for the most part coaches expected to have their grid machines perking in top form this week end.

The exceptions were Merle Gibson, captain and left end of the Texas Christian university team and Leroy Anderson, second string fullback of the University of Texas Longhorns. Gibson hurt a knee during the Frog victory over Baylor last week and Anderson, who injured a trick knee in the go against Southwestern, may be laid up all season.

But there was a bright note for the Longhorns. They learned yesterday that wingback Joe Billy Baumgardner, two-year Southwesterner, would rejoin their outfit No. 1. Baumgardner was slated to be a starter on Texas' championship 1943 eleven but was transferred by the navy to Southwestern before the season started. Announcement was made that all-American end Hubert Bechtel will be sub captain for the day when Texas meets Texas Tech at Austin Saturday.

At Houston, Coach Jess Neely today starts drilling his boys for this week's meeting there with Southwestern. The Arkansas Razorbacks all are expected to be suited up when they angle with TCU at Fayetteville, Ark., Saturday in the feature conference game of the week.

Coach Matly Bell of Southern Methodist university likewise expects to have all his men ready for action when SMU opens against Missouri university in Dallas Saturday.

At College Station, Texas, Homer Norton, A. & M. coach said his boys collected only minor bruises in the win against Texas Tech last week. The Aggies leave Thursday night for Norman, Okla., to meet the Oklahoma university Sooners.

The Baylor university Bears have begun their drilling for their game with the Arkansas Razorbacks in Waco, Texas, Oct. 13. This week the Bears get a rest.

Baseball League May Be Started

Plans are now being made to form a six-team Class B professional baseball league that would include Pampa, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Albuquerque.

According to Otho Beck, Albuquerque, chairman of a committee studying the proposal, said the league would include Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock and Abilene, Texas, and Albuquerque.

Should it be decided to form an eight-team circuit, San Angelo and Wichita Falls would be the other two cities.

The original league, the West Texas-New Mexico, operated clubs in the above cities in addition to Wichita Falls and Clovis but disbanded midway through the 1942 season.

The present facilities at the local baseball park, Roadrunner park, are in a general run-down condition. The stands are badly in need of repair and most of the fence around the outfield is down.

It was reported that Borger's Huber park is in the same condition. Amarillo's Tri-State park has been used consistently and kept in good condition. Condition of the parks at Lubbock and Abilene is not known.

It is believed that poker is an adaptation of a Persian game, and was brought to the United States by way of New Orleans.

Merle Oberon Will Wear Atomic Age Jewelry in National War Fund 'Night in Paradise' Festival

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(Special)—Atomic age jewelry has arrived. Atomistic, the fused earth taken from the bomb testing area in New Mexico, has been made into jewelry for Merle Oberon, who has been named Queen of the "Night in Paradise" festivals being held throughout the country Oct. 4, by the United Seaman's service, as part of the National War Fund drive for $113,000,000.

The jewelry was designed and created for Miss Oberon by Marc Koven, of Koven Preres, New York, from the green glassy substance which covered the earth for a radius of more than a mile around the tower from which the first test atomic bomb was dropped. The set consists of spectacular brooch and earrings. Both are appropriately mounted in palladium, newest element to be used in jewelry. Palladium, although rarer than gold, is in the gold price range.

Designer Koven sought to symbolize the nuclear theory in his cage-like design of the brooch. Curving elliptical and concentric bars of palladium surround the fish-and-a-half oval shaped atomistic suspended on palladium prongs in the center. The piece may also be described as a jeweler's conception in miniature of an actual atomic explosion, mushrooming skyward atop a pillar of cloud leaving glassy green devastation behind. The palladium earrings are conventional with the atomistic cut in teardrop form.

The white precious metal sets off the greenish shimmering atomistic cut in gem shapes from rough chunks by lapidaries of jewelry purposes. It looks like malachite, a semi-precious stone found in Russia. According to army authorities, atomistic is harmless. Miss Oberon is the first to wear the substance as jewelry helping to refute claims of the Japanese that it is radio-active long after an atomic explosion.

Stuart Dixon, president of Transradio Press, brought the atomistic back from New Mexico and presented it to the motion picture actress.

Unlike the English language, the Japanese has little or no accent upon individual syllables, except where certain vowels are prolonged.

Well, I'm simply flabbergasted! Right in front of me is a Los Angeles newspaper with a headline reading "Slower Growth seen for City in Future." I took three aspirins and checked my eyes. But it still said the same thing.

You must admit that doesn't sound much like the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. Of course, they've been at publicity work for so long they may have saved up enough points to get a discharge.

But my goodness! After seeing that headline I wouldn't be surprised to see screamers like "Chicago Man Praises New York Air" or "California Ideal Tourist State, Declares Miami."

To say nothing of the prospect of seeing in great big type: "In No Hurry for Nylons, Women Say" or "Diner Offered Porterhouse Steak; Orders Halbit Instead."

According to a Japanese legend, the island group of Japan was formed when Izanaki, a god, thrust his heavenly jeweled spear into the deep. As he withdrew it, the shower of drops that fell from the spear were transformed into land.

WANTS GRADE LABELS

(From Editor & Publisher, newspaper trade journal)

Grade labelling, child of the new deal but an orphan since this year when the OPA abandoned its first attempt at grade labelling in the hosiery field, has been adopted by the Political Action committee and is being nurtured as part of its "reconversion plan."

Widely Hillman announced the plan at recent press conferences and the grade labelling part of it received little attention from the press, probably because reporters didn't know what it meant. In a PAC booklet, "The People's Plan for Conversion," it is buried in chapter three devoted to "Hold the Line."

"We must retain the OPA to keep a ceiling on prices. And we must add to price control, quality grading," the booklet later reminding readers there are bills before congress which state legislators dealing with "grade labelling."

The implications of grade labelling are widespread. It destroys millions of dollars invested in the development of the brand names and because of that would threaten the existence of all media created and devoted to public service and entertainment but financed by advertising. The result would be a breakdown in our mass production and mass distribution system.

Components of grade labelling would put all grocery products on the shelves with A-B-C identification. It is certain you do not understand the many factors considered by a good housewife when buying such goods. Nutritive value, flavor, number of servings, contents by weight, methods of preparation, etc., are important to them, but they are qualities for which a "grade" would have no measure.

It is interesting and significant, also, that military and other governmental agencies—the biggest buyers in the country—do not rely on the A-B-C system of grading in making their purchases. Instead, they buy according to a set of standards known as "The federal specifications." These include detailed descriptions of the products and set forth many factors omitted entirely in grade labelling.

The American business system, with all its faults, has provided its ability to meet public demands, both for quantity and quality, and through the mass distribution that brand advertising affords, to give the consumer more of both at ever-decreasing unit cost.

Critics of advertising who are in the grade labelling camp should have us believe all advertising is misleading, dishonest, and after examining 875,483 advertisements from 236 papers, magazines and radio it revealed that in only 23 cases, or 3-1000 of 1 percent of the total, was formal action taken in the public interest required.

The new philosophy of grade labelling is wholly experimental and certainly destructive. Brand name advertisers why feel all media should watch this development closely and do what they can to combat it. As a counter-offensive we recommend whole-hearted support of the current campaign for drug descriptive labelling by the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

Book (Continued)

Here are a few more conclusions and quotations from W. L. White's book, "Report on the Russians."

Mr. White cites his inability to sleep one night and relates his conversation with two American engineers whom he met at the airport in Omsk, Russia. The engineers, named "Tex" and "Ed," were waiting there for another airplane. Mr. White says they told him they had been assigned technical advisers on a big war construction project.

"A mine up north," said Tex, "and now we're going out."

"How was it?" I asked.

"Not bad," said Ed. "Of course at this little burg, they set up a whole interior hotel to take care of us, because we were foreigners. I brought in a supply of wine, cheese, cigarettes, candy, noodles, and dried eggs. For the rest, we were supposed to scavenge off the country. Of course, they sent in a cook and an assistant cook, who kept in the about ten people taking care of us."

"How did you get along with the Russians?"

"Very friendly the first day. Said next week you must come over to dinner. But that was all we ever heard of it. Although one or two apologized. Seems word had passed out it was against government policy to have anything to do with us. On the job they were nice guys, though. We would help each other with Russian and English lessons, but that was as far as it could go."

"Had a Russian-English primer that was a hoot," said Tex. "The first sentences were, 'Miners in America get very low wages,' 'Great Britain is a capitalist plutocracy,' and 'The Soviet Union is surrounded by enemies.' There was stuff like, 'Ivanov invented electricity,' or 'Petrov first harnessed steam.' Names you never hear of. Certainly gives them a cock-eyed picture of the rest of the world."

"We went to a movie one night," said Ed. "They had an American film—Deanna Durbin in '100 Men and a Girl.' Only by then we knew enough Russian to read the subtitles they'd put on it. These had it that poor old Deanna was the victim of capitalist exploitation, her old man was jobless and on the bum. Then in that place where she gets something to eat, they're only giving it to her to watch her make a fool of herself so they can laugh at her bad manners. It was all we could do to stay in our seats."

"Even if they had been allowed to ask us to dinner," said Tex, "not many could have done it. Home life was pretty sketchy. Except for the top guys, most of them eat in community kitchens and sleep in dormitories, even in the villages. And sometimes the kids live together in a pile. At least there was a town near our project which has a normal population of about 3,000. They had some kind of school or orphanage with 1,200 kids. I assumed their parents had been killed in the war. But they said no, only a few. Mostly they seemed to be just kids nobody wanted. Whether that's typical of the whole country, I don't know."

"We didn't really get to know many Russians," said Ed. "Except it was different with the girls. They have some fine girls and nobody seems to mind if you take them out. We suspect they might have been assigned to us or any way had to tell the NKVD whatever we said."

"We know they gave the hotel employees a lecture," said Tex. "Said we were foreigners, and anything we did they must report. Very suspicious."

"Now, of course," said Ed, "if you are out under supervision of the NKVD—like for instance you're on train headed some place—all the people are friendly as hell. You couldn't ask for better. But once you settle down in some place to work, they let you alone."

"How do they run their mines?"

"The worst thing is they've got no respect for materials," said Tex. "Never owned anything themselves. It belongs to the state so what do they care? They have no conception of how much work has gone into making them. I've seen them unload valuable pipe from a flat car by just rolling it down an embankment—smashing hell out of it. And fire brick for smelters the same way. It's cut very accurately and you can't use chipped ones. The way they'd haul it off, about 25 per cent would be damaged."

"When we'd try to stop it," said Ed, "they expected they had a law in Russia because of the freight-car shortage, that they had to be unloaded within two hours after arrival. No one seemed to see it would take more cars to bring more material. Or maybe they didn't care."

"The book is very interesting and informative. It is a book that is easy to read."

BASES—Members of the house appropriations subcommittee which passes on war department funds will soon submit to congress a report recommending the retention of many foreign-owned bases in the Pacific for national defense purposes. They decided that after a round-the-world inspection trip of more than six weeks.

The legislators, especially Representative Albert J. Engle of Michigan, submitted detailed detailed questionnaires to army commanders in the various areas they visited—Tarawa, Kwajalein, Guadalcanal, Saipan, New Caledonia, Australia, Okinawa, Chungking, Calcutta, Basra, Teheran, Cairo, Rome, Berlin, Paris, London. They did not inspect Atlantic bases obtained from England in the destroyers deal because we will keep the keyplaces under a 99-year lease.

The M. C.'s first asked how many American casualties had been suffered in recapturing the lands seized by the Japs in the early stages of the war. They also obtained the number of the enemy losses in these bloody contests.

Next, the congressmen listed the value of the supplies and irremovable installations which the United States provided under lend-lease—roads, docks, airfields, hospitals, warehouses, power plants etc. These comparisons—the human sacrifices and the material gain to the alien bases—will be presented to congress as an argument for our diplomats to advance at the final peace table.

ESSENTIAL—The Capitol Hill investigators will also note that the nations originally owning or controlling these bases—England, Australia, France etc.—were unable to prevent their falling into the hands of the Japs, and that they were taken over by reinforcement of American arms. Therefore, as a matter of security, the content that the U. S. should be allowed to keep and to fortify them.

President Truman's appointment of Ohio Senator Harold Hitz Burton to the Pacific territory has been able to accept the terms of a senatorial election this year in November of 1946. Frank J. Lausche, the present governor, will also have to face the voters again at the same time.

Former Governor John Bricker, who De Thomas E. Dewey's running mate last year, will probably seek the senate seat. For the gubernatorial race Ohio republicans are talking of Major General Robert S. Beightler, commander of the 37th division of national guardsmen from our state. General Beightler made a fine record, and was rewarded with the appointment as American commander of the first major battleground for testing the political appeal of a military hero to civilian and veteran voters. Dewey's many officers and soldiers of world war II will endorse politics next year, the Buckeye Commonwealth may head the parade.

Peter Edson's Column: THE BACKGROUND ON LABOR CONTROVERSY

By PETER EDSON, NEA Service Washington Cor.

WASHINGTON—Probe deep enough in any labor case and you will find beneath the new cause of trouble an old infection which never healed properly.

The Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co., strike in Detroit is no exception. Its labor relations record is writ large and long in the Washington files of the U. S. Conciliation Service and War Labor Board. It has been having labor troubles for years. When Michigan Governor Harry F. Kelly announced he would start an investigation into affairs at Kelsey-Hayes, he was merely putting his finger on a perfect case for clinical study.

One of the principal conditions that stands out in that Kelsey-Hayes management has never had a formal written labor contract with its employees. The employees are organized and they do have a union. It is a branch of the famous Amalgamated Local 174 of the C. I. O. united auto workers.

This Amalgamated Local 174 is the creation of Walter Reuther and it takes in the employees of nearly 100 plants on Detroit's west side which do not have a U. A. W. local unions of their own. All have contracts except Kelsey-Hayes.

NO CONTRACT JUST AN AGREEMENT—The record shows that the Kelsey-Hayes unit of the union has asked management for a contract covering working conditions, and the com-

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON, NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—After all these years, film writers and producers are about to challenge the "pure entertainment" myth in motion pictures and radio, and a lot of Hollywood faces will be redder than a California sunset.

"Social irresponsibility and creative impotence" of both mediums is cited in the first issue of the Hollywood Quarterly, a new non-profit commercial magazine published by the University of California press and edited, for Hollywood, by film writer John Howard Lawson and producer Kenneth McGowan.

Opening statement by the editors in the first issue says: "The war emphasized the social function of film and radio: One of the first casualties of the conflict was the 'pure entertainment' myth, which had served to camouflage the social irresponsibility and creative impotence of much of the material presented on the screen and over the radio."

The magazine marks the first time a major university and a group of professional writers, radio, novel and newspaper writers, have pooled their resources of scholarship and talent in the publication of a non-commercial magazine devoted to the film, radio and television mass communications industries.

And if you don't think there will be some red faces in Hollywood after publication of the first issue, in October, read some quotes from opening articles.

BLAST FROM OWI ANALYST—Dorothy B. Jones, magazine writer on films and OWI motion picture analyst, writes:

"Every film made in Hollywood either contributes to or detracts from the overseas reputation of America and the American people. Most film makers failed to realize that the melodramatic blood-and-thunder camp film, with the American hero single-handedly disposing of a score of nazis, would bring jeers and hisses in a London music house or that a musical singing out that the Yanks had done it and would do it again, would cause a riot between American and British soldiers in a theater in Bombay."

Telling of the mangling of his script, "Blood on the Sun," and the resulting disservice in obscuring Pacific war issues, screen writer Lester Cole writes:

"If the fear of not making money so overwhelms a producer that it forces him to exclude all merit, perhaps he is in the wrong business."

Alexander Knox, who played Woodrow Wilson, says that before he finished his role he wished Wilson had been dead 1000 years instead of only 25—there would have been less conflicting advice.

COMPOSER STUNNED—Gail Kubik, famous composer whose work has impressed itself on radio and screen, writes:

"Radio, broadcasting hundreds of thousands of hours of music each year and spending millions of dollars, may have spent in the last 15 years a hundred or two hundred thousand dollars for the commissioning of new serious music. Any composer knows only too well that the interest in new music, so much talked about, is often akin to that given the cow with two heads."

Yes, we think there will be some mighty red faces in movie and radio land.

It was Max Baer's highway director before the war, and he is a close personal friend of the former governor. It is believed that he would make a strong candidate, especially if his former soldiers back him. General Beightler is scheduled for discharge in November of this year and will have plenty of time to rebuild his political fences. The 37th division has already been ordered home, and although it is no longer an all-Ohio outfit, the returned men may wield considerable political influence.

'FINANCING AMERICAN PROSPERITY'

FULL EMPLOYMENT WILL HAVE TO BE MAINTAINED IN THE UNITED STATES

(This is the fourth of six articles in which leading economists present their views on keeping the United States prosperous. The articles were condensed by their authors for the Associated Press from a forthcoming volume, "Financing American Prosperity," which is being published by the Twentieth Century Fund.)

By ALVIN H. HANSEN, Literature Professor of Political Economy, Harvard University (Distributed by Associated Press)

The vital economic problems for this postwar period are twofold. One, what role are we prepared to play in cooperation with other countries to solve the great world economic problems? Two, shall we be able to maintain full employment in the United States?

In order to maintain full employment, government must be prepared to vary expenditures, taxes and borrowing according to economic conditions so as to "compensate" for or offset fluctuations in employment and production. In a surging investment boom, taxes should exceed government spending; the national debt should be reduced. In depression, government outlays should increase and the basic income tax rate should be lowered. The debt would rise.

Won't large outlays endanger private enterprise? No, a well-planned public investment policy will enlarge opportunities for private enterprise.

Won't large public investment programs result in an ever-increasing debt? Yes, the debt may increase in the long run. But if by means of a positive program the national income rises faster than the fixed charges on the government, the tax burden will remain quite manageable. Above all, we must maintain a high level of income and a high consumption economy in which living standards constantly rise.

Our tax structure must be revised to encourage high consumption and private investment. When the transition from war to peace has been bridged, most sales taxes and excises should be eliminated. The excess profits tax should be abolished. Corporate and business taxes should be lightened and generous loss-offset provisions provided. Double taxation of dividends should be eliminated and exemptions for personal income taxes raised and the rates lowered. Tax incentives to stimulate new investment deserve careful consideration.

What about the dangers of inflation following the war? To avoid this we must retain rationing and price control so long as scarcities continue.

Finally, as an answer to our first problem, we must cooperate with the rest of the world in the Bretton Woods and trade agreement programs. Prosperity will have to be achieved in all the great industrial nations—and that requires international financial and economic cooperation—if we want to maintain it in the United States.

World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

You'd think that the Big Five council of foreign ministers in London would have been able to reach some sort of workable accord with the second World War still casting its monstrous shadow over us, and the entire eastern hemisphere, from Europe clear through Asia, facing a desperate period of hunger and politico-economic chaos.

Time is precious in these perilous days. It would be absurd, of course, to suppose that peace treaties and other far-reaching agreements can be reached in a few hours but it's a terrible mistake to underestimate the dangers of slowness in getting the war-torn countries—enemy as well as Allied—back on their feet as fast as possible. Before the coming winter is through we are going to see situations in the late war theaters where delay of even a week in distribution of food will cost many lives from starvation.

This isn't to say that the present foreign ministers' conference has been directly concerned with such problems as the feeding of Europe. The main item on its agenda has been the framing of peace treaties for Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Finland. Still, this task has a very direct relation to the rehabilitation question.

Back in the dark days of the war, when the Allies had great problems to solve, there was a meeting of the Big Three chiefs of state. Those three men, accompanied by their experts and advisers, ironed out the mutual problems and laid plans for conduct of the war. Probably they had their differences of opinion at times, but because they were only three and were clothed with vast authority, they always reached an accord.

So it's good to hear talk of another possible meeting of the Big Three heads of state to take up the situations which are plunging the world now. If President Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee could get together in the immediate future, it might make all the difference to the Allied progress in reconstruction.

Unfortunately, power politics also have entered into the picture. These things have given rise to suspicions among the Allies.

Probably the best way to tackle this highly dangerous matter of suspicions is to dump them onto a table before the Big Three chiefs. There such problems as the atomic bomb could be threshed out—and don't let anybody think that the bomb hasn't created a terrific international question. A meeting of these three statesmen would be calculated to set the peace wheels turning fast.

'46 Ford Showing Has Been Postponed—National public showing of the 1946 Ford automobiles has been postponed indefinitely. J. R. Davis, director of sales and advertising of the Ford Motor company, today notified Tom Rose, Pampa Ford dealer.

The postponement is due to the closing of the production operations of strikes that have shut down many of the company's major suppliers, said Davis. The public showing originally had been set for Sept. 21.

Report Is Made On Workings of Salvation Army

In the spirit of the Good Samaritan the Salvation Army carries out a two-fold program, that of religious and social welfare aims, according to a representative of the Pampa Salvation Army.

Its religious aim is to seek the conversion of the neglected crowds of people who are living without God and without hope—to carry Christ into every corner of the globe.

The social welfare aim of the Salvation Army is to house and feed transient men, women and children who have come upon some unforeseen circumstances.

The Salvation Army in Pampa has been on the job. There has been considerable amount of case work done through the organization during the past year, it is reported.

Summaries of a few of the typical cases that have been handled by the Salvation Army are below:

Captain Carroll was referred to a man who has tuberculosis. The man was found ill in his home and had been told by doctors that there was no cure for the disease in the advanced stage which he had. His parents were trying to send him to Arizona, thinking the climate would help him, but they were poor. The man was without food and clothing, so the Captain supplied him with food and made arrangements for him to receive two quarts of milk daily. A week later, a second call by the Captain found the man in need of food. He was covered with flies and suffering in his joints because of the disease. Again food was supplied and the house checked for the elimination of the flies.

A second case: A husband who had been discharged from services never returned to his family. The family was without food for the allotment ceased when the husband was discharged. Food and clothing as well as shoes for the child were provided by the Salvation Army.

Third: A man was found on the railroad with a crushed leg, injured by a freight train he was riding. He was found by a group of boys and was taken to a local hospital where he was for 30 days, following amputation of a part of his leg. The Salvation Army was notified. Captain Carroll visited the man, crutches were supplied and the hospital bill of $168 was paid.

Numerous examples of the work of the Salvation Army in Pampa could be cited.

Power Strike

as, to turn a switch at a substation that would send power to Kerrville.

G. S. Cone, Kerrville city manager, told what happened to the men. There were a group of men around the substation and they advised him it would be "better for his health" if he went back home. He left.

Merchants and clerks who thought they might start a diesel motor at a Kerrville substation worked to get it in operation. The men employed at the station refused to tell them anything about it, Cone declared.

More than 50 citizens were deputized and given shotguns. They patrolled substations and transmission lines. A car drove up near one of these guards and three rocks at him, chief of police Elton Hardin reported.

The LCRA district manager E. M. Nickles, escorted by Kerrville county sheriff Sid Edge and some deputy sheriffs, went to the substation at Comfort. Nickles threw the switch and that gave Kerrville partial electric service. The town had gone more than seven hours without a water supply.

Late last night the LCRA flatly rejected an offer from Mayor Tom Miller of Austin to mediate the strike. The board of the state agency said it had no power to recognize a union as a bargaining agency.

Local No. 520, international brotherhood of electrical workers (AFL) said the authority had the power to recognize a union and its business agent, Harry Bernhard, declared:

"This isn't a problem of unreasonable demands made from LCRA. To the present date not one demand has been made—only a request that we be recognized as citizens of Texas with the right to organize and bargain collectively with the management."

Peace Plan

Lewis' soft coal miners added to government strike worries, and troubles piled up in the telephone, auto and southern textile industries.

The government, with papers already drawn for seizure action should the oil dispute continue to leave refineries idle—prodded union and management representatives to compromise on the CIO demands for 30 per cent higher wages—but quickly.

Continuing that "if this strike continues on into the winter, the people will be hungry and cold," Schwellenbach suggested:

1. Immediate return to work by the 30,000 striking union members and full resumption of operations by management.

2. Return to a 40-hour working schedule "as soon as manpower availability permits." With an increase of 15 per cent or its equivalent in the basic pay rate.

3. Agreement to accept the findings of an impartial arbitrator on the differences between the union's demand for 30 per cent and the companies' counter offer of 15.

The arbitrator would make his decision by December 1. In the meantime, collective bargaining could be continued.

While Daniel T. Fierce, vice-president of Sinclair Refining company, said he would "go along with the secretary" other company representatives were non-committal in advance of a 34 p.m. (CST) meeting to draft a formal reply.

O. A. Knight, president of the union, said the plan would be passed upon by the executive board and negotiating committee, and its proposal likewise would be disclosed first to Schwellenbach.

While the oil dispute was in perhaps its most crucial stage, Lewis' soft coal miners gave government officials new jitters with indications of a widespread strike in the making.

Operators rejected the United Mine workers' invitation to discuss a foreman's walkout. The producers said the men should go back to work first.

William Blizzard, president of District 17, said, West Virginia's 108,000 miners might be idle "within the next few days."

The soft coal administration ordered coal shipments consigned to eastern steel mills diverted to gas utility plants.

"Gas is used for cooking and people must eat," the SFA said.

Steel mills have no larger stockpiles than the gas utilities, but pressure must be kept up for safety reasons, the agency added.

About 60,000 miners already are idle in four states.

The bituminous and oil troubles were but part of the gathering labor storms.

These are the others:

Textiles—The CIO-textile workers appealed to members of congress to call upon Schwellenbach to name a special commission to deal with "the strike crisis in the cotton textile industry." John W. Eldeman, the union's Washington representative, told lawmakers 2,500 workers are out now in Georgia, North and South Carolina and that the number may spiral to more than 40,000 workers in nine states.

Telephone—A collective bargaining election at the Point Breeze plant of Western Electric company, Baltimore, may determine whether the National Federation of Telephone workers engages in a "demonstration" stoppage by its 200,000 workers. The balloting will permit the Point Breeze workers to choose between the NTFW and the CIO-United Electrical workers. The latter's complaint that the Western Electric Employees' association at Kearny, N. J., was "company-dominated" was upheld by a national labor relations board trial examiner, who recommended that the association be disbanded. This precipitated the NTFW's threat to stage a four-hour token strike in protest.

AUTO—Strike votes already are scheduled at General Motors plants October 25, and at Chrysler October 25. The CIO-Auto workers may ask the NLRB to take a vote at Ford plants shortly.

Meanwhile, federal conciliators moved to settle a crippling strike which left more than 100,000 persons in more than a score of Texas cities without electric power during the night.

Fresh strike in several cities over the country pushed the number from 352,000 to around 380,000 within the last 24 hours.

The new oil strikers reported yesterday included five in Oklahoma involving 1,385 workers, and in California about 1,100 walked out at each of the Oileum and Wilmington plants. In Pennsylvania, the strike affected 980 workers at the Sinclair refineries at Marcus Hook, Philadelphia, while between 400 and 500 from the Socony-Vacuum company refinery at Augusta, Kas., joined in the strike similar to action taken at Sinclair refineries in Coffeyville and Kansas City, and the Phillips plant at Kansas City.

Workers at two small Detroit plants settled their strike. Other states where the strike is in progress include Texas, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Louisiana and New York.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2.—(P)—William B. Moorhead, police reporter on the Kansas City Star, returned from talks given before 400 Atchison, Kans., high school students and the Atchison Rotary club with a traffic violation ticket.

"You're supposed to put a penny in the parking meters there every fifteen minutes," he explained. "How would it have looked for me to break into my speech at its most exciting points to dash out and put another penny in the meter?"

Twenty-two per cent of the South Carolina men in uniform in the Civil War were killed, or died in prison.

Big-Five

lock on the Balkan issue.

Later during the session, Molotov in a speech described as full of implication and innuendo, recalled previous conferences of foreign ministers which he said were successful because they were held at Tehran and Moscow and because former U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull and former British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were present.

Molotov was reported to have told the council there were "cordial relations" during those previous sessions.

On the same Sunday evening of the clash, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes also spoke in what was described as an attempt to smooth things. Persons present said it was "a moving speech."

It was reported that the ministers, toward the end of the Sunday night meeting, packed their papers in their brief cases and were preparing to end the conference then.

But the Chinese foreign minister, Wang Shih-Cheh, just before adjournment, proposed one more meeting, emphasizing that the conference could not end on such a note. The others agreed.

There still was no definite indication of when the five top diplomats would give up and bring the conference to an end. Each minister appeared to be maneuvering to avoid being the first to say the long, turbulent session had ended in failure.

This unwillingness to be the delegation which signaled the breakup of what the world had hoped would be the beginning of Europe's peace settlement was the only thing that kept the five foreign ministers still debating in apparent futility, authoritative sources said.

It was reported reliably that nothing more had been accomplished in the latest session, and that bitterness, anger and impatience were increasing steadily.

Actually, the task of bringing the conference to an end almost overshadowed its failure in the past three weeks to reach any important agreement.

Apparently abandoning hope of untangling the debate over procedure for the Balkan peace treaties, the ministers now were snarled in the problem of what to do about the final conference documents.

Before they adjourn the ministers are scheduled to sign both the publicized state records of the conference and the joint final communique. If they go home without agreeing on these records, it would be tantamount to admitting they were unable to reach a decision about what they were conferring. Under such circumstances the final communique could do little more than reiterate the simple fact that a meeting was held.

Amid growing pessimism over conference progress the possibility arose that a new meeting of President Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee might be called to tackle the Balkan issue.

The Russians have reportedly refused to sign anything until they gained their point that France and China be excluded from discussion of the treaties with Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

At the same time neither British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin nor U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes seemed inclined to abandon their compromise plan, under which the Big Three would write the treaties and submit them to conference of all major allies with European interests.

At 2:45 a. m., the conference recessed. Molotov and his aides strode grimly from the conference room, and the other delegations followed a few minutes later.

Patton Ousted

old men will not perish from hunger or cold this winter."

This statement brought editorial criticism in the United States as did Patton's comparison of "this nazi thing" to the "democratic and republican fight back home."

"You always find the 'outs' back home making charges against the 'ins' Patton explained.

Promptly, Eisenhower's headquarters told Patton to "clarify" his remarks. Patton then summoned another news conference. At the second conference he said his comparison of German and American politics was an "unfortunate analogy" and insisted that he was carrying out Eisenhower's policies vigorously.

Nevertheless, Eisenhower called "old blood and guts" on the carpet Friday and talked to him for more than two hours.

Soon after Patton left Eisenhower's headquarters at Frankfurt on the Main, it was announced that the resignation of Friedrich Schaefer, minister president of Bavaria who had been under fire for alleged nazi tendencies, had been accepted. An outspoken anti-nazi, Dr. Wilhelm Hoegner, succeeded him.

Truscott, reported to have replaced Patton, previously headed the U. S. Fifth Army in Italy, having succeeded Gen. Mark W. Clark in that command Dec. 6, 1944.

this territory, based on the census of the same year, approximated $25,764,000.

The total volume of business transacted by service establishments in Pampa's trade territory was about $2,765,000.

Purchasing power of the inhabitants of the trade territory was near $139,113,000, as based on the total payrolls of 1944. The federal census of 1940 recorded the population of this area at 168,603.

In summary, it can be noted that this southwest marketing area is one of the most attractive to be found in the United States because of the following factors:

The majority of the inhabitants are owners of homes, farms or ranches.

Powerful purchasing power. Production of new wealth. Standard of living, which is above the average of other similar areas, as reflected in the per capita and per family income.

High percentage of native white population, averaging about 75 per cent native white of native parentage.

Constantly increasing density of population.

Indicated general progressiveness of the inhabitants.

Adequate transportation facilities, including air, railroad and highway, assuring ease and rapidity in distribution of commodities from the city of Pampa to domestic markets.

(Pampa's commercial and industrial enterprises have direct rail hauls to tidewater at the gulf ports of Beaumont, Galveston and Houston. Direct rail haul to the port of El Paso for export to the markets of Mexico.)
