Cold Front Moves Across Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Snow fell Tuesday across the middle and upper Panhandle as a static cold front resumed its push into North and Central Texas.

The Weather Bureau said the cold front would be the most severe of the season.

Light snow fell at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle Tuesday in 23 degree cold. Amarillo had 28 degrees with snow flurries down intermittently.

The cold wave was scheduled to arrive in Big Spring about midnight Monday, but slowed down and didn't strike until after day-break.

It brought with it much colder weather, partly cloudy skies, possibility of light snow flurries or light freezing rain. These are booked for tonight.

The temperature is scheduled to drop to 25 degrees tonight and the high for the day is set at 45. Tomorrow, the forecast said, will be cold and similar in general character to today's promise.

High temperature in Big Spring Monday was a balmy 78 degrees and despite the prediction of cold for Monday night, the lowest reading reported was 44 degrees.

Rain was reported at Mineral Wells, Fort Worth and Dallas.

The cold front moved into the Panhandle Monday, bogged down for awhile, but resumed a steady push across the state Tuesday.

The front extended along a line from Ardmore, Okla., to Mineral Wells at midmorning, down to Abilene and to the Rio Grande below

El Paso. The frigid air was near the Rio Grande below

The freezing belt was expected to extend over most of West Texas, except the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area. Near freezing temperatures were forecast for Tuesday night at points as far east as Dallas and Fort Worth.

Snowfalls up to 5 inches were forecast for the Panhandle. Thunderstorms were expected in East Texas.

Temperatures dropped to 22 degrees at Dalhart. The freezing belt extended southward to below Lubbock. Bitter cold was forecast for the upper Panhandle Tuesday night, with temperatures possibly as low as 10 degrees.

The cold front moved into the state from Colorado Monday, but it was slow. Tuesday it stretched from a point just east of Wichita Falls southwestward to a point below Abilene and on to the Rio Grande.

Skies were clear in extreme West and South Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere.

The forecast called for temperatures 10 to 20 degrees in the Panhandle and upper South Plains Tuesday night, and 20 to 32 degrees elsewhere in West Texas except in the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area. A low of 32 to 38 was forecast for that section.

Freezing temperatures between 25 and 35 degrees were expected in North Central Texas by day-break Wednesday. The Weather Bureau said it may get as low as 30 degrees in the upper portions of Central Texas and in the interior of East Texas.

Texarkana got the heaviest amount of rain in the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, 90 of an inch. Showers also fell around Lubbock, College Station, Waco, San Antonio, Longview, Austin and Dallas.

Overnight minimum temperatures ranged from 22 degrees at Dalhart to 71 at Brownsville.

Flag Flies

A 12-by-30-foot Hungarian National flag flies from the torch held by the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, apparently placed there by Hungarian patriots. An American flag is also attached to the torch. Sightseers arriving on Liberty Island, formerly Bedloe's Island, noticed the flags which were later removed by employees at the statue.

'No Regrets' For World War Stand

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover says he has "no regrets" for a stand he took in 1941 opposing United States involvement in World War II.

Hoover spoke last night at a dinner in connection with the dedication of a new boys' club for Gen. Robert E. Wood, retired chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and president of the Chicago Boys Clubs.

Hoover, now 82, recalled 40 years of friendship with Wood, 77, since they worked together on food problems in World War I.

"We came out of that experience with a profound and justifiable distaste of war and all its aftermaths," he said. "When World War II began to loom up, both of us simultaneously and without any previous collaboration opposed every step of American involvement in that war."

The former President said Wood gave "warm approval" to his speech of June 29, 1941, saying that Britain was "now safe from German invasion due to Hitler's diversion to his attack upon Russia."

"I said the gargantuan jest of all history would be if we should give aid to Stalin in the war," Hoover said. "I said the result would be to spread communism over the world."

"I urged that we stand aside while these two monsters exhausted each other; that if we stood aside the time would come when we could, by our strength, bring lasting peace to the world."

"That was our gospel, and we have no regrets. I know the general, like myself, has slept better for having made the fight against it."

Some 1,000 Chicagoans sponsoring 1,000 boys for membership in the Chicago Boys Club attended the $50-a-plate dinner.

Too Warm Inside
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Frank Loesser, prolific lyricist who wrote the Academy Award-winning song "Baby, It's Cold Outside," has been sued for divorce by Mary Alice Loesser. She charged extreme physical cruelty and asked $5,000 a month temporary support for herself and their two children, Susan, 12, and John, 6.

"I have never used company time or expenses," Tachibana indignantly replied and quit.

"I never thought he would do it," the boss said ruefully. "He really is a fine old man."

Dag Supports Egypt Demands On Canal Zone

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Egypt was reported today to have the general support of U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld in its demand that the U.N. police force leave the Suez Canal zone after a British-French withdrawal.

With Britain, France and Israel standing firm in their opposition, U.N. diplomats were said to be seriously concerned over the delay in finding a formula to resolve the deadlock.

Hammarskjöld's view of the function of the police force, based on his interpretation of resolutions adopted by the General Assembly, was reported to include possible security duty during the clearing of the blocked waterway.

A U.N. spokesman said "security arrangements" would be subject to negotiation.

The secretary general, who returned yesterday from a trouble-shooting trip to Egypt, planned to submit two reports to the Assembly today. A U.N. spokesman said one centered on the operation to clear the canal, in which Hammarskjöld agreed the U.N. would help, and the other on the U.N. police force.

Egypt has demanded that Britain, France and Israel immediately withdraw their troops from Egyptian territory seized in their offensive. Britain and France have insisted they will pull their forces out of the northern third of the canal zone only if the positions are taken over by U.N. police troops.

Israel has indicated it will try to hang on to the Gaza Strip and so far has not moved to withdraw from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

The U.N. spokesman said clearance of the canal, blocked by the wreckage of two bridges and 47 sunken ships, would be undertaken as authorized by the U.N., with the organization arranging with "a number of firms" to do the work. He added, "The negotiations for the undertaking might also have to cover security arrangements."

"The U.N. emergency force will carry out the functions assigned to it by the General Assembly for the supervision of the cease-fire and the withdrawal of the British, French and Israeli forces," the spokesman continued.

"In so doing," he said, "the U.N. emergency force will contribute to the re-establishment of conditions in which the clearance of the canal can be carried through successfully. No one can at present forecast exactly how long the operation will take."

Earlier estimates have said the clearance job may take six months.

Hammarskjöld's first conferences after his return here included sessions with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. Both were understood to have insisted that their governments will not withdraw their troops unless the U.N. force polices the canal area.

Egypt in turn stood firm on its demand — backed by the Soviet Union — that the U.N. troops must take up positions along the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice line after a speedy withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

Disputes from Cairo said Egypt was becoming increasingly restive over the delay in the demanded withdrawal. Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, chief political adviser to Egyptian President Nasser, told a reporter Egypt expects the withdrawal to begin this week if possible.

Hammarskjöld was expected to deal, in a general way, with this situation in his reports to the 79-nation General Assembly. He also was expected to report that he had reached agreement with Egypt on U.N. assistance in carrying out the vast salvage operation to reopen the 103-mile waterway.

The question of U.N. assistance in removing the ships and bridges blocking the canal will require approval of the General Assembly, but U.N. officials foresaw no difficulty on this. Hammarskjöld already has been negotiating with Danish and Dutch salvage companies to take over the job.

The commander of the U.N. police force, Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, flew back to the Middle East after a series of talks here with military representatives of some of the nations contributing troops to the force. More than 600 troops of the U.N. force already were in the canal zone, standing by in barracks behind the Egyptian lines. The first contingent of Indian soldiers, took off from the staging area near Naples at dawn.

BLAST ON TITO

Stalinists Gaining Power In Russia

LONDON (AP)—Pravda's attack on Yugoslav President Tito is viewed here as new evidence that the Stalinists, probably with army support, are gaining in the Kremlin struggle for power.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper in Moscow, attacked Tito for blaming "Stalinists" in the Kremlin for Russia's troubles in Hungary and Poland. It accused him of trying to split the Communist world.

This could mean Stalinists are shaping the paper's editorial line and thereby signaling their ascendancy.

An unconfirmed report reaching British diplomats supported this theory. The report suggested that Georgi Malenkov may step back as premier, replacing Nikolai Bulganin, and that V. M. Molotov, former foreign minister, may oust Nikita Khrushchev as boss of the Soviet Communist party.

There appears to be a "split personality" in the Kremlin leadership. Recent actions show a "velvet glove" line, possibly inspired by the Khrushchev faction, as well as "iron hand" tactics which perhaps can be ascribed to the Stalinists, believed led by Molotov.

Eden Laid Up By Mid-East Strain

LONDON (AP)—A. A. Butler, No. 2 man in the British government, presided over a Cabinet meeting today in place of ailing Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill. Eden's doctors have ordered him to rest because of "severe overstrain."

The mere fact that Eden was ordered to take it easy at a time when Britain faced some of the hardest questions to come out of the prolonged Middle East crisis led to speculation—without any official foundation—that his time as prime minister is nearing an end.

Eden has been under heavy fire ever since his decision to join with France in invading Egypt two weeks ago. The opposition Labor party has vigorously called for his resignation.

Despite all the controversy which has been stirred at home by Eden's Middle East policies, it has never been considered likely here that he would be overthrown as prime minister in a frontal attack.

The Conservative government has a 63-vote majority in the 625-seat House of Commons. It was elected in 1955 to serve until 1960 and has comfortably beaten off all no-confidence moves by the Labor party.

No. 10 Downing St. issued this statement: "The Prime Minister is suffering from the effects of severe overstrain. On the advice of his doctors he has canceled his immediate public engagements."

Eden, 59, has been working almost around the clock since last July 26, when Egyptian President Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal began causing concern that England's main artery of trade might be cut.

In the past three weeks the Prime Minister has been under fire from the Labor party and even some of his own Conservatives for his decision to send troops into Egypt. But the decision has been supported by votes of confidence in Parliament, and re-

Asian Nations Surprise Reds In U.N. Move

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India and two other Asian nations—Ceylon and Indonesia—have unexpectedly backed U.N. moves to make an on-the-spot check in Hungary.

The three nations, which had kept aloof from the Hungarian dispute, put in a resolution calling on Hungary's Communist government to grant Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's request to let in U.N. observers.

Hungary's puppet regime has refused to admit U.N. political observers but has said it would allow relief supplies with U.N. representatives to enter Hungary. However, it has evaded a request from Hammarskjöld that he be admitted as head of the relief mission.

The Assembly yesterday debated Cuba's call for the Soviet Union to stop deportations of Hungarians, but V. K. Krishna Menon of India reportedly asked that the Asian powers, be given priority.

Informed sources said the Russians were perturbed over the sudden move by the three Asian nations, whom they had expected to keep silent during the debate.

But Indian Prime Minister Nehru, after insisting prodding by opposition Socialists and some newspapers, told the Indian Parliament yesterday that Soviet troops were camped in Hungary against the wishes of the Hungarian people.

Nehru declared the bitter resistance of Hungarian workers had "powerfully affected" Russia's prestige in Eastern Europe and elsewhere. He said U.N. observers should be admitted to determine the actual situation.

During the debate on the Cuban resolution, Chief U.N. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said the United States had information that Russia has deported 16,000 persons in boxcars from Budapest alone.

"It is inevitable," Lodge declared, "that many of the men... will die from cold and exposure — just as the unfortunate victims of the Nazi concentration camps died."

Lodge said these reports made even more urgent the need for compliance with previous Assembly resolutions calling for withdrawal of all Soviet troops from Hungary and U.N. observers on the scene.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov earlier had accused the United States and other non-Communist nations of touching off the Hungarian crisis. Shepilov and Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath termed the reports of mass deportations "lies."

The Soviet diplomat warned that any move to send a U.N. police force to Hungary would endanger peace. He said the Hungarian situation was returning to normal and that the U.N. should keep its hands off.

Huge Blast Slated Today

LAKESIDE, Utah (AP)—The nation's third largest explosion — atomic devices excepted — is designed to tear millions of tons of rock loose from a cliff on the shores of the Great Salt Lake today.

Teams of scientists from Stanford, the University of California, Utah State Agricultural College and the University of Utah were at the scene with complex instruments to record the exact instant 600,000 pounds of explosive were set off. They hope to get it down to the last one-thousandth of a second.

"By knowing the exact time, location and magnitude of the explosion," said Dr. Dan Tocher of the University of California, "we may be able to learn a little more about the thickness of the earth's crust."

Dr. Tocher said he would give better than even odds the blast would be detected by instruments on the West Coast, 700 miles away. He said seismographs, devices which record movement of earth, would be certain to pick up the explosion in Utah and Nevada.

The Southern Pacific railroad planned the blast to get rock for its 40-million-dollar causeway across the Great Salt Lake. The causeway will replace a 12-mile-long wooden trestle.

Only two nonatomic blasts set off in the United States have been larger. Both were detonated during TVA construction of the South Holston Dam at Bristol, Tenn.

Geologists now believe the crust of the earth runs down about 18 1/2 miles. They reached that conclusion by tracing waves from past explosions. They seek confirmation from this explosion.

U. S. Reds Confused On Hungary Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The national committee of the American Communist party says "we do not seek to justify the use of Soviet troops in Hungary's internal crisis on Nov. 4."

A letter to party members from the committee adds, however: "Neither do we join in the condemnation of this action. Were there no alternatives? Was it a grim necessity? There are no ready answers and we are in no position to give final judgment on the Soviet action."

The committee's 2,500-word letter to members was made public here last night.

In a long discussion of events in Hungary, the letter said: "The Oct. 24 decision of the Geroe government to call upon Soviet troops stationed in Hungary to put down the initial popular demonstrations inflamed the situation to a grave crisis.

"This was a tragic error for which the Soviet Union must also take responsibility. It disclosed the failure of a policy which was not based securely upon the national needs and sentiments of the working class and popular masses in Hungary."

"The great prestige that the Soviet Union had won amongst the Hungarian working class by its role in liberating the country from the Nazis and the hated Horthy regime was thereby seriously damaged."

Funerals Replace Plans For Thanksgiving Events

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Two young wives made funeral plans today for their slain husbands, marking a tragic end to what was to have been a week of Thanksgiving celebration and gunnery events.

A berserk gunman, handling a deer rifle with deadly accuracy, shot and killed state troopers George E. Lappi, 28, and Bert Pozza, 27, who were called to a rural home yesterday to quell a family row.

Lappi died on the day after his 8th wedding anniversary. His wife is expecting another child in a few days. Pozza died on his wife's birthday. Both have two young children.

The families had planned a joint celebration.

"We were all going out together," Mrs. Pozza said. "But now another state trooper, Cpl. Robert

Answer To John Case Behind Iron Curtain, Is Claim

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—An officer in West Germany's Defense Ministry testified today to the answer to the case of Otto John can be found only behind the Iron Curtain.

Li Joachim Oster testified on behalf of John at the latter's trial on charges of treason. The prosecution claims John, former West German intelligence chief, voluntarily defected to the Communists and gave away military secrets.

John, 47, maintains he was drugged and kidnapped on July 20, 1954, when he crossed over into Communist East Berlin. He returned to the West in December, 1955, and has been in prison ever since.

Pigeon Man Quits Post
TOKYO (AP)—Japan's pigeon man quit his job today. From now on he will devote full time to the 400 birds he has befriended.

Kiyoshi Tachibana, 58-year-old employee of a credit investigating agency, has spent his noon hours feeding pigeons in the Imperial Plaza ever since he first noticed 40 emaciated birds there three years ago.

The pigeons coo and flock around whenever he appears. Their numbers increase steadily.

Tachibana's hobby attracted nationwide attention. In newspapers and magazines, on radio and television, to everyone he became "The Pigeon Man." Contributions of money and birdseed came from all over Japan.

But his employers decided he was paying too much attention to the birds, not enough to his job. "Feed the pigeons on somebody else's time," his department chief warned.

"I have never used company time or expenses," Tachibana indignantly replied and quit.

"I never thought he would do it," the boss said ruefully. "He really is a fine old man."

Plan To Promote U. S. 87 Adopted

Efforts will be initiated at the grass roots to secure four-lane development of U. S. 87 between San Antonio and Raton, N. M.

Leaders of communities all along the route met Monday in Lubbock to set up machinery for the project. Clyde Branon of Lamesa was named president of their organization.

Other directors are George McBride, Raton; a Mr. Reeves of Clayton, N. M.; J. E. Jones, Dalhart; Melvin Sisk, San Antonio; Al Boedeker, San Angelo; and Charles E. Maedgen, Lubbock. Vice presidents for the various districts are Allen Keller, Fredericksburg, southern; Ezell Cox, Dumas, northern; and Lloyd Wilkinson, Raton, New Mexico.

Attending the Lubbock meeting from Big Spring were Judge Weaver, R. L. Cook, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee, City Manager H. W. Whitney and H. W. Wright.

U. S. 87, which extends from Mexico to Canada, already is a part of the federal interstate system between San Antonio and Laredo and from Raton to Billings, Mont. Part of the route between

Snow Covers Great Plains, Hailed As Drought Breaker

DENVER (AP)—Drought-breaking snow swept eastward across the Great Plains today after dumping as much as 18 inches on Colorado's eastern farmlands.

Fading out in Colorado and Wyoming, the two-day-old storm was developing a new punch to lash Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa with freezing rain and snow.

Highway traffic and school schedules were snarled in eastern Colorado, western Nebraska, southeastern Wyoming and northwestern Kansas.

Moisture-starved wheatlands in northeastern Colorado received the heaviest fall from the Pacific-born storm that struck that area. Fort Morgan reported 16 inches. Akron 12, Hugo and Sterling 6.

Lander, in central Wyoming, reported a 9-inch fall, heaviest in that state.

Cold air extended over wide areas of the western part of the country. The leading edge extended to Lake Michigan southwestward through southern Iowa, central Kansas and to New Mexico. Temperatures in the cold air ranged from near 30 in the northwestern Great Lakes region to near zero in mountain areas and in the 40s in the far Southwest. Ahead of the cold air, southerly winds brought a general warming trend to extend eastward to near the Atlantic Coast. Skies were partly cloudy along most of the East Coast.

Showers sprinkled areas from the middle Mississippi Valley southward through eastern Texas and Mississippi.

The temperature was down to 20 below zero at West Yellowstone in the big national park near the Wyoming-Montana line, by midnight.

Elsewhere in Wyoming Big Piney recorded 17 below zero. Casper —7, Douglas —6, Lander —5, Rawlins —3 and Laramie —1.

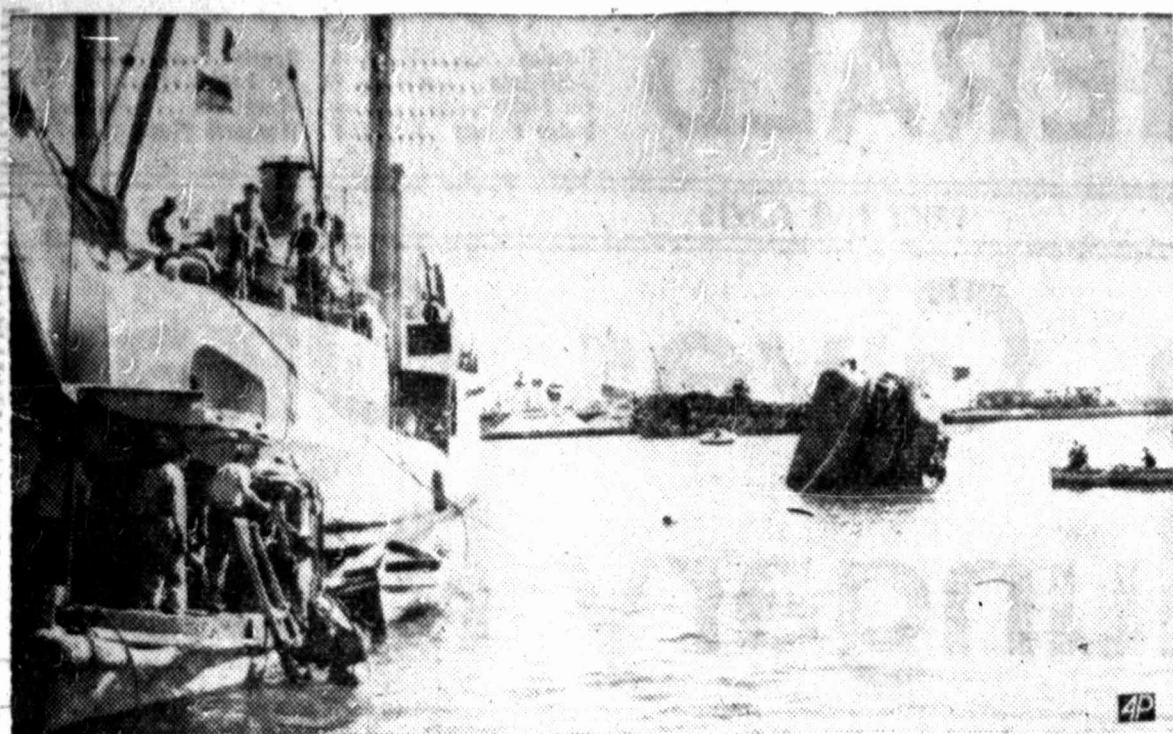

The lowest reported temperature in Colorado was 9 below at Leadville.

The Weather Bureau in Denver reported warming northwest winds already were blowing off the mountains in Wyoming, and rising temperatures were promised by afternoon. In Colorado, however, observers said it couldn't be expected to warm much before tomorrow.

Little Girl, Big Snow

Little Gayle Dickerson tackled a man-size job when she armed herself with a big shovel to clear snow-covered walks in front of her home at Denver, Colo. A pre-Thanksgiving Day storm deposited six inches of snow on the level and strong winds whipped up two-foot drifts in some streets.

Riots Erupted In Poland As Pact With Russia Was Signed

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Polish newspaper says demonstrations and riots erupted in Poland while Poland's Communist party chief was in Moscow negotiating on future Polish-Soviet relations.

The newspaper Express Wieszniore received here today said disorders occurred Sunday at Bromberg. It said students and young workers set fire to the city's radio station and then fought off police and fire brigades.

This account of trouble contrasted with dispatches from Warsaw which said the Polish Communist chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, was greeted by cheering crowds on his journey from Moscow back to Warsaw.

Political observers here said, however, there was no doubt that riots broke out after the announcement that the new agreement between Gomulka and the Kremlin leadership did not include provisions for the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Poland.

The independent Vienna newspaper Neuer Kurier reported "tension and disturbances" throughout Poland due to what it termed Gomulka's "taking the Moscow line."

Another Polish paper, the Glos Olszynski, told of an anti-Soviet demonstration by students at Olszyn (Allenstein), in former German East Prussia.

Gomulka, who was restored to the Central Committee of the Polish United Workers' (Communist) party last month in a Polish move toward an independent form of communism, returned to Warsaw last night. He told cheering crowds in the Polish capital, "All those things which stood between the friendship of Poland and the Soviet Union have been settled."

"The difference between actions and words, which in the past often made our relations difficult, have been liquidated," he declared.

He asked his countrymen to build good neighborly relations with the Soviets.

The Moscow communiqué on the talks said the Polish chieftain and the Kremlin leaders agreed that Soviet troops must remain in Poland, but the Poles were given veto power over Russian troop movements within their country.

Western observers in Moscow and Communist officials in Warsaw got the idea that Gomulka got everything he asked for, and may be more, in his meetings with the Soviet leaders.

Gomulka told his Warsaw well-wishers the Russians had agreed to write off Polish debts totaling more than two billion rubles ($500 million dollars at the official rate). Poland also will get loans of 1,400,000 tons of grain and a 700-million-ruble cash credit. Official circles in Warsaw said Gomulka had only expected a million tons of grain and 400 million rubles.

One of the biggest economic windfalls, according to responsible Warsaw sources, is found in a paragraph of the official Moscow declaration on the talks stating: "An agreement was reached on regulation of financial clearances referring to railroad shipments, noncommercial payments and other matters."

These sources said under this clause Poland will get a lump sum equivalent to 400 million dollars to cover back payment for Soviet use of Polish railways and similar payments will be made for future use. This includes both movements and the Soviet Union's regular trade with East Germany and Western Europe, moved across Poland.

Poland also is to receive payment for food and accommodations supplied Soviet troops stationed in the country under Warsaw Pact terms.

There Are Drunks And There Is Khrushchev

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are drunks and drunks, as everyone knows.

Noisy. Weepy. Affectionate. Quarrelsome. Just run down the list of your acquaintances. Or look in the mirror, if necessary.

Then there is Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It is no secret that the boss of Russia's Communist party is a handy man with a vodka bottle, though he will settle for champagne or even those effete Western martinis.

He has made an oaf of himself in public more than once.

But he outdid himself last weekend. In two consecutive sentences he revealed much about himself, his confederates and the ruling class of the Soviet Union.

"Red-faced and gesticulating," in the words of an Associated Press story that passed through Red censorship, Khrushchev told a cocktail party audience:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come and see you."

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

Let's take that up point by point.

1. Anybody with an ounce of sense knows that, in this world, you have to get along with people you don't like. Those diplomatic get-togethers aren't just an excuse to get loaded. They're part of the machinery of international relations — a sort of global safety valve. If Khrushchev doesn't know that it's time somebody told him, 2. The "history is on our side" dodge is pure Marx and is at or near the heart of everything the Russians do. That is a main source of Soviet strength. Westerners plan and hope and indeed pray that everything will somehow work out all right. The Russians — the Communists, that is — feel in their bones that their system will dominate the world. And this is true whether a Khrushchev, a Stalin, or a Lenin or the Russian equivalent of Joe Smith is running the Kremlin.

There's another Khrushchev remark that may need some pointing up:

"The situation is favorable for us. If God existed, we would thank Him for this."

In other words, in the Russian boss class, God does not exist. Their claim to friendliness toward religion fools some people in this country. You can find people who will tell you: "Why, freedom of worship is guaranteed in their constitution."

So it is — in words.

The fact is, of course, that atheism is at the root of the Communist philosophy and that the new rulers of Russia have actively discouraged religious practices except when — as in World War II — they had to call on the church to help maintain the morale of the people.

Girl Loses Eye To Check Cancer

BOSTON (AP)—Little Carol Ann Molinaro has lost her right eye to the surgeon's scalpel in an effort to check the spread of cancer to her brain.

The 3½-year-old girl's cancerous right eye was removed yesterday in what doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary called a successful operation. They said there is no indication of a similar growth in the left eye.

Ahead for Carol Ann lies lengthy pathological tests of the optic nerve to determine whether the disease has been contained.

U.S. Colonizes The South Pole

By DON GUY
MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Americans colonized the South Pole today.

Eight Navy Seabees and 11 sled dogs are the first residents of the bleak, snow-topped plateau at the bottom of the world, where the temperature is 29 degrees below zero.

The party landed just after midnight in two ski-equipped C47 Dakotas. Their safe arrival was reported by radio to this U.S. air base 800 miles away on the coast of Antarctica.

The Navy men will set up a camp for American scientists who will spend the black antarctic winter at the pole. Their observations will be part of the U.S. contribution to the worldwide study of the earth and its atmosphere during the International Geophysical Year.

First task of the Seabees, commanded by Lt. Richard A. Bowers, a young Navy engineer from Harrisburg, Pa., was to set up survival shelters. Later they are to be joined by 16 more men who will help construct the polar base and Dr. Paul Siple of Washington, D.C., who will head the scientific expedition spending the winter.

The men who landed today will be the first in all history to live at the pole.

A party headed by Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of the Navy's Operation Deepfreeze, made the first airplane landing at the pole three weeks ago. That group spent an hour on the rough, windblown snow making observations.

No other man had set foot there since the ill-fated Scott expedition 44 years ago. All five members of the Scott party died on the return trip.

Winds Push Brush Fire

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Treacherous winds pushed a spreading brush fire through the foothills of the San Bernardino Mountains today, sending the flames dangerously close to citrus groves and ranch houses.

Five homes scattered through the brush have been reported destroyed by the fire in its erratic course over 4,000 acres of hilly terrain. Four fire fighters have been burned, one critically.

On one of its flanks, the fire is only half a mile from the black scar left in the mountains by the devastating Lake Arrowhead fire of last September.

The fire started yesterday near the community of Highland and was turned almost instantly into a rampaging blaze by the fierce winds that scoured southern California all day. A gust of 100 m.p.h. was clocked on a mountain top, and winds up to 65 m.p.h. kicked up blinding sand and dust storms along desert roads.

No communities are believed to be endangered by the flames, but extensive damage has been reported from heat and smoke in the lush orange groves terraced along the lower edge of the foothills.

Borgnine Claims 'Harrassment'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Ernest Borgnine, who won an Academy Award for his role of "Marty" on the screen, claims his studio bosses harassed him by offering him a "walk on" role in a new film.

Borgnine won a restraining order in Superior Court yesterday against Hecht-Lancaster Productions. He had asked that they be forced to suspend "any harassing action pending trial" of his suit to break their contract.

Borgnine claimed he received only $35,000 for two loan-out roles, while Hecht-Lancaster got $150,000 and said the part they offered him in "Sweet Smell of Success" was a small one.

Producer Harold Hecht said the part, "although not a large one, is a very good one x x x."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour Checco's "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEREETH at any drug counter.

Baptist Circles Have Dinner; Mission Study

Gratitude was the after-dinner topic of Mrs. O. N. Green at the Monday meeting of the Mary Willis Circle of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Green told the group to give daily thanks to God.

Mrs. Clyde Angel, president of the WMS, was a special guest and speaker for the group. She emphasized the scope of WMU aims for advancement during 1956 and 1957. She told of the spiritual blessings and personal development that grows from Christian usefulness in service.

Three chapters from the WMS mission study book were reviewed by Mrs. F. W. Bettie.

Birthday honorees at the dinner were Mrs. Theo Andrews and Mrs. C. T. Clay.

The group autographed a Thanksgiving booklet which will be sent to an honorary member, Mrs. W. R. Creighton, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Squires were hosts for the Thanksgiving dinner meeting. The table was centered with an arrangement of Joseph's coat and bronze chrysanthemums. Tiny nut cups circled the centerpiece.

Similar arrangements were used throughout the house. Place cards featured Japanese dolls under colorful umbrellas. Favors were Kokeshi chopsticks.

Other guests were Mrs. F. W. Bettie and Mrs. Della K. Agnell.

Missions were studied by members of the Christine Coffee Circle when they met Monday in the home of Mrs. V. H. Cowan.

Mrs. Charles Sweeney brought the study titled "What Can I Do For the World's Missions Enterprise?" Bible references were from II Chronicles 7:14 and Mark 11:25.

Mrs. P. D. O'Brien presided during the business session. Committee reports were heard by Mrs. M. R. Erhardt, mission study; Mrs. G. C. Morehead, community missions; and Mrs. R. D. Urey, prayer chairman.

Mrs. Urey announced Dec. 3-7 as the Week of Prayer for foreign missions. The theme for the week will be "Hallowed Be Thy Name."

Glenn Smith was introduced as a new member.

The Dec. 17 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Erhardt, 401 Washington.

Presbyterian Women Have Two Meetings

Two meetings were held Monday by the women of the First Presbyterian Church at the church.

The Elizabeth McDowell Sunday School Class met for the regular monthly luncheon and business session, with Mrs. Elmer Boatler and Mrs. R. V. Middleton serving as hostesses.

The invocation was given by Dr. Gage Lloyd for the 15 members and a guest, Mrs. Norman Furlong.

The Women of the Church, with Mrs. Tommy Jordan in charge of the meeting, met Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Don Farley offered the opening prayer and the devotion. Her topic was "The Family's Use of Money" from the study, Stewardship.

All members participated in the program, with various passages from the Bible read. There was a discussion of how money can be used to the advantage of all classes.

The next meeting will be held at the church. Mrs. Farley gave the closing prayer for the 14 members.

Home Study Club Gives Christmas Decor Ideas

Members of the Home Study Club exchanged ideas for Christmas decorations at the meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Lee Schattel. Mrs. Bruce Sweeney was cohostess.

At the next meeting of the club, these ideas will be put into practice. Roll call was answered by members telling of some embarrassing moments in their lives.

Mrs. W. C. Moldenhauer resigned her office as president, due to the fact that she is moving to Ames, Iowa. Mrs. R. E. Hoover will serve the unexpired term. Mrs. Sweeney will take her place as program chairman.

Mrs. Gene Morris was introduced as a new member, and Mrs. James Linneman was a guest.

Speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Norman Read, who gave the how, where and when of planting roses. Mrs. Read is a member of the Big Spring Garden Club. She told the group that she had found the best time for planting roses was from the latter part of February through April. Members were advised to plant the bushes where they would receive at least six hours of sunshine each day.

Select roses rated high by the American Rose Society, Mrs. Read said; they should be field grown and at least 18 inches high.

Holes for the roses, dug in the fall, should be 18 inches deep, and 24 inches wide. Put in fertilizer and humus and mix thoroughly. Allow to stand open until planting time.

Mrs. Bill Ward was announced as the next hostess, with Mrs. Harry Jordan as cohostess.

Frozen Halibut Broiled With Two Vegetables

By ECELY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If your family enjoys halibut, you'll find the frozen steaks are serviceable now. One of the simplest ways to prepare the halibut steaks is to broil them. We did just that recently, adding mashed potatoes and tomatoes to the broiling pan that held the fish. If you use a wooden plank instead of a broiling pan, follow the directions for heating that come with the plank.

Thick halibut steaks will need to be turned and broiled on both sides; but if the steaks are thin, we find they do not need turning. In the latter case, make absolutely sure the fish is opaque and done through by flaking a corner of the steak.

rine, 1 drained canned pimiento (chopped), 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Method:

Put butter and pimiento in small skillet or saucepan and heat until butter melts. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice. Serve hot with Broiled Halibut and Potatoes.

OTHER WAYS WITH HALIBUT

Creamed—Flake leftover broiled halibut steak and mix with cream sauce, cooked green peas and strips of canned pimiento for a delicious lunch or supper dish.

Sandwich Filling—Flake leftover broiled halibut steak and mix with finely diced celery, pickle relish, mayonnaise and finely grated onion (pulp and juice). Nice on thinly sliced rye bread.

Patties—Flake leftover broiled halibut steak and mix with mashed potatoes; season to taste. Make patties of the mixture and cook in butter or margarine in a skillet until hot through and browned on both sides.

Salad—Flake leftover broiled halibut steak and add to a green salad. Toss with olive oil and wine vinegar just before serving. Nice for lunch.

BROILED HALIBUT

One and one-half pounds thick frozen halibut steaks, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 4 small or 2 large tomatoes (if desired), Pimiento Butter Sauce.

Method:

Let halibut steaks thaw in refrigerator or at room temperature. Line broiling pan with aluminum foil leaving sides of foil up around edge of pan for easy removal. Place steaks in pan on foil. Brush steaks with melted butter; sprinkle with half the salt and pepper. Broil about 3 inches from source of heat for about 10 minutes. Turn steaks; brush with more melted butter and sprinkle with remaining salt and pepper. Spoon mashed potatoes around steaks. Arrange tomatoes (if used) attractively; sprinkle tops of tomatoes with buttered crumbs. Return to broiler; broil about 10 minutes longer or until the fish flakes easily with a fork, the potato border is browned and (if used) the tomatoes are hot through and their topping is browned. Serve on foil with Pimiento Butter Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Methodist Circles Have Programs On First Thanksgiving

"The First Thanksgiving" was the theme of the program at circle meetings of the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church Monday.

Mrs. E. W. Patterson was hostess for the Martha Foster Circle. The program was led by Mrs. Raymond Hamby. Mrs. Hamby and Mrs. Marshall Day told some of their past experiences on Thanksgiving Day. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Cliff Hale.

LALLA BARD

Meeting in the home of Mrs. C. W. Parmenter, members of the Lalla Baird Circle heard a discussion on the first Thanksgiving. Directing the program was Mrs. Parmenter. Taking part on the presentation was Mrs. Lloyd Montgomery. Mrs. H. N. Clemow, Mrs. Alta King and Mrs. John Whittaker.

'ROUND TOWN With Lucille Pickle

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Things are mighty quiet in the village except for the rumblings of the working parents who will be off from their jobs in town for the holiday while their children are still in school. Very few people are making any extra plans for the day.

The only cheerful note was from Mrs. FRED CIPSON who has been married seven years and this is the first Thanksgiving she has been able to plan to have a festive dinner with her husband. He is a railroad employee. She thinks they may even get to have Christmas dinner together, which has not happened before.

The J. C. IRVINS plan to go to Lubbock to see their son and his wife, MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM T. IRWIN. He is a sophomore at Tech. Of course, the school doesn't

Wesleyan Guild Continues Study Of Southeastern Asia

The study of "Southeast Asia" was continued by members of the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church Monday evening at the church.

Mrs. H. M. Rowe told of the geography of Burma and Malaya. Mrs. W. D. McDonald discussed the people of the two countries.

Mrs. Doc McQuinn told of the social life, and Mrs. Jewell Kuykendall described the educational system.

Mrs. W. E. Moren chose the topic, "Government and Economics." Mrs. Ruby Martin, "Religion." The subject of Mrs. M. R. Turner's discussion was "The Churches in Burma," and Roberta Gay closed the program with a study of the missions of the countries.

The next meeting will be Monday evening at 7:30 at the church.

Indoor Sports Club Has Annual Dinner; Wayne Smith Is Speaker

We all have our problems, members of the Indoor Sports Club were told Monday evening by Wayne Smith, Chamber of Commerce manager. He was guest speaker at the Thanksgiving dinner given by the group at the Girl Scout Little House.

Smith advised his listeners to have an attitude of happiness and to put effort into the business of living.

Claudia Arrick was in charge of the program, with the numbers announced by James Horton. James Eubanks gave the invocation.

Following the dinner, which was served by the Good Sports Club, Martha Winans accompanied her self on an accordion and sang. Members and guests joined her in a sing-song.

The speakers table was centered with an arrangement of peppermint carnations and scarlet gladioli.

Two additional tables held arrangements of gourds, fruit, silvered tumbleweed, seed pods, yellow-jackets nests, silvered, and ears of corn.

East Fourth Baptist Has Study Of Japan

Against a backdrop of Japan's mountain, Fuji, a program was given for members of the East Fourth Baptist WMU Monday afternoon at the church.

Mrs. Maple Avery, in charge of the study on "Japan Advances" had arranged the painting. The setting was an oriental scene with low tables and cushions on which sat women in Japanese costumes.

Rev. Avery introduced the program with a discussion, "Out of the Past." Mrs. Denver Yates spoke on "Stomachs and Souls," and Mrs. Lyndell Ashley chose the topic, "Government in God."

"Religion of Japan" was discussed by Mrs. Gilbert Webb, and "The Future of Japan" by Mrs. Charles Bailey.

An appropriate Scripture passage was read by Mrs. B. D. Rice, and Mrs. Rufus Davidson offered a prayer. The study is a preface for the Lottie Moon Week of Prayer to be observed by the group next week.

At the tea hour, guests inspected a display of Japanese articles. Mrs. U. E. Dickens presided at the table, which was centered with a world globe and a Japanese figurine based in red pyraantha.

Sorority Will Assist Easter Seal Project

Assisting with the Easter seal drive will be a project of the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi this spring. This was decided at the meeting of the group Monday.

George Zachariah, chairman of the Texas Society For Crippled Children and Adults, was the special speaker for the group.

Mrs. Ray Pipes, Mrs. Thomas Bauch and Mrs. Darel Highley will represent the sorority; at the organizational meeting of the seal campaign which will be held Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Howard House.

No Action But Plenty Of Talk

Last week President Eisenhower let it be known the U. N. would be free to take suitable action should Russia start sending volunteers into the Middle East.

Then, on Friday, before the General Assembly, Acting Secretary of State Herbert C. Hoover Jr. spelled out the same thought with a little more particularity. He warned the Soviet Union to keep its "volunteers" out of the area or face U. N. opposition backed up by the power of the United States.

That's pretty plain talk, as diplomatic talk goes.

But it was robbed beforehand of some of its validity when another high administration leader, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.), minority Senate leader, and himself a delegate to the United Nations, busted out on Nov. 5 with a proposal that the U. N. form a volunteer fighting force if Russia refused to withdraw from Hungary.

This gave the Soviet Union the chance to say, "Well, your side started talking about volunteer forces first."

Not the least of our diplomatic difficulties is that too many people in high places sound off too often on too many facets of our foreign policy.

The President, under the Constitution, must make our foreign policy, by and with consent of the Senate. His constitutional mouthpiece in such matters is the secretary of state whose job is often complicated and frustrated by side-bar remarks from prominent figures in the legislative branch.

"Volunteers for Hungary" sounds attractive; it is sickening to think that a people were being put to the sword while the world stood helplessly by. But as a practical and workable plan it hardly made sense, first because Russia was already in control of Hungary, and put down the rebellion before even the first volunteer could start to go to the rescue; and second because the West would have to equip and train the volunteers while much of the effective military strength of Western Europe was already committed to the Suez venture. Speedy and effective action would be of the essence, and speed and effectiveness just were not possible.

It is different in the Middle East. Russia can take her time slipping volunteers into the area and building up their strength, stalling off the West by various subterfuges while the while.

Our only hope of forestalling a buildup of "volunteers" there is to strike quickly, while the iron is hot, and not fall around about it. The "how" of this is the ticklish, dangerous and elusive question.

The Only Sure Weather Pattern

One of the easiest things is to compare this meteorological incident with that, or this year with that and come up with a "trend."

The weather does follow a sort of pattern, but only over long periods of time. The only thing that follows a pattern is an amateur forecaster who is always looking for a pattern, even though he knows there is no such thing as a short-haul basis.

If it takes a long and hard winter to break the long drought, then by all means let us prepare to put up with a long, hard winter. Anything to break the drought is our motto.

We hope for same, but we do not predict same. We would like to see long periods of rain and snow this fall and winter, because it will take that kind of weather to relieve our distress, but we do not predict it.

Our deficiency of rainfall over a wide area is really something to marvel at. Still, while there is life there's hope, and all nightmares usually come to an end. There is nothing the matter with the Southwest that a busted-up drought wouldn't repair. There's nothing so restless about our soil that soaking rains would help settle down.

Marquis Childs

Confusing And Perilous Problems

(Marquis Childs is in Europe to learn what lies behind the threat in the Western alliance, its probable effects on the West and on Russia's potential conquest of the Middle East. In this dispatch, his second from London, he tells of the British government's fears and hopes in the current Middle East situation.)

LONDON — If one thing is evident in the confusion and the deeply divisive conflict prevailing here, it is that the power to clean up the mess in the Middle East is beyond anyone in this land. That is one reason for the frustration, the hurt, the pride, the resentment and the fear that are closer to the surface, which is once again outwardly calm.

What makes this more baffling and frustrating is that the objective of the British-French attack on Egypt, if it had a rational objective, was to restore control over the lifeline of the Suez Canal and end the intolerable uncertainty of the undeclared war between Egypt and Israel. British-French troops are occupying Port Said and about 20 miles of the Canal Zone, and Prime Minister Anthony Eden intends that they shall stay there, at least until a regiment of Canadian troops has joined the United Nations police force.

But President Gamal Abdel Nasser still is in power in Egypt and by haggling over the composition of the U. N. force, determined to keep out not only the Canadians but the Indians and even the Colombians, he has delayed U. N. action and thereby the restoration of order and the reopening of the canal.

The chances are still only fair that the heavy task put on this frail and uncertain force can be carried out. Fighting could be resumed at any time and the threat of "volunteers" provided by Soviet Russia is still taken most seriously here.

The present is a time of tense, anxious waiting. Washington and London are playing a waiting game with London prayerfully hoping that overtures for mending all of the breaks of the past three weeks will come from America.

Eden says confidently that he expects to go to Washington late this month or early in December for three-power talks. He has, however, had no invitation and Washington's intention is apparently to wait until the fallen allies — the fallen angels — come as penitents.

This does not, it is hardly necessary to add, get anyone very far in picking up the pieces that lie scattered about the Middle East nor in putting new props under the Western alliance and trying to insure that the curtailed oil supply will not work too much damage to Europe's economy.

While it is true that Russia has taken a heavy blow in Hungary, it is also true that the weight of Communist power in the Middle East is greater than it has ever been before. This confronts the West with a threat in terms of infiltrated military strength and mass appeal as the champion of the Arabs that can hardly be exaggerated.

Shortly after the public announcement that Egypt had accepted a cease-fire, a top-secret telegram came to Eden from the British command in Port Said, giving what the Prime Minister believes to be significant evidence that Nasser is taking orders from Soviet agents.

Five hours after Cairo had announced acceptance of the cease-fire, Egyptians were told that fighting had been resumed — loud-speaker trucks went through the capital blaring the announcement that World War III had broken out and Paris and London were being bombed. It is Eden's belief this was done at Soviet instigation in an effort to whip up continued fighting.

With Russian help if not direction, it is the view in the highest circles of government, Nasser's representatives in the Arab world are fomenting revolution that will open the way to Communism. As evidence, there is cited the request of the government of Libya to Egypt for the removal of the Egyptian military attaché who was accused of plotting to bring down the Libyan royal family.

The amount of Russian military material, particularly jet planes and radar equipment, in Syria may have been exaggerated in the fright of 10 days ago. But it is believed to be substantial; it is growing and in the informed view here it will continue to grow.

When Eden talks of the desirability of a three-power meeting in Washington, he puts the stress on the need to realign the West to confront the threat of what is not less than a Communist takeover in an area the loss of which would be fatal to the West.

He believes this realignment must come as quickly as possible after an effective U. N. force of five to eight thousand men has begun the task of policing the Canal Zone and the neutral zone separating Egypt and Israel. To delay longer than is necessary to permit the United Nations to become established in the trouble centers is inevitably to see the menace become larger and more tangible and the means to meet it more difficult and unsure.

What would be the situation today if the British-French attack had never taken place? Well, this is the spilled milk over which a great deal of crying is still going on. It so happens that crying is a luxury the Western Powers can indulge in only at a cost that is likely to prove appallingly high for the future.

Big Boys Putting On More Weight

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the biggest boys are putting on more profit weight this year. And even when their corporate earnings are running behind a year ago, they aren't exactly wasting away.

Fifteen American nonfinancial corporations each have made more than 100 million dollars after taxes so far this year. That is one more than earned that much in the first nine months of 1955. Five more than did in the same period of 1954. In prewar 1939 only two of them made that much — the Bell Telephone System and General Motors.

Four of this year's 15 stayed above the 100 million mark although reporting earnings dropped below last year's.

When all of 1956's earnings after taxes are tallied, two more corporations may join the 15. Their nine months profits weren't too far below the mark.

The summer steel strike and the auto sales drop changed the standings of some of the top 15 money makers, and pushed another one out of the list.

Bethlehem Steel, which at this time last year had earned more than 100 million dollars, was just under that figure when the summer quarter ended.

Ford, which at this time last year ranked fourth among the giants of profit, is down to 11th place now after a 33 per cent tumble.

General Motors, despite a 30 per cent drop in earnings so far this year, still holds top rank, however, edging out New Jersey Standard Oil. The Detroit giant made 639 1/2 million dollars, while the big oil company reports its nine months net at 603 million to retain second place. It was a 15 per cent rise for Jersey.

Bell holds onto third position with a gain of 14 per cent, reporting 550 1/2 million dollars net income.

Du Pont has moved into Ford's old place at fourth, although the chemical firm's profits this year are 4 per cent lower than last year, when it was fifth.

U. S. Steel moved up from sixth to fifth, although earnings were off 9 per cent, while the Texas Co. went from seventh to sixth with a 9 per cent increase in profits from its oil activities. Gulf Oil rose even faster, from eleventh to seventh place, on a 42 per cent jump.

Du Pont, big steel, Texas and Gulf were all in the 200 million to 300 million bracket. Eighth, ninth and tenth positions didn't change, being held by California Standard Oil, Socony Mobil and General Electric, respectively — each better than 150 million dollars.

Kennecott Copper jumped from 16th to 12th this year — from 82 million dollars profit in the first nine months of 1955 to 116 million this time, a gain of 42 per cent.

Indiana Standard Oil retained 13th place despite gaining 12 per cent in earnings this year. Union Carbide & Carbon kept 14th place with a slight profit gain. Shell Oil is the fifteenth, a 17 per cent increase bringing it from 86 million to just above the 100 million mark.

Crazy, Mixed-Up World

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Platter. One of the dubious rewards of growing older is that you find much of what you learned when young is no longer regarded as true.

Myths you believed in childhood are exploded one by one. Even harder to face is the realization that today the making and unmaking of myths has speeded up tremendously.

A thing that is accepted as fact in the morning is rejected as fallacy by nightfall. Today's wonder drug is tomorrow's blunder.

"True or false?" This is no longer a game. It is a terrible problem in living. As the scientist learns more and more about less and less, the average man learns less and less about more and more in our new age of enlightened superstition.

Old beliefs are toppled daily and new beliefs set up in their place are immediately challenged. The slogan of truth seems to be, "Here today, gone tomorrow."

Educators denounce rock 'n' roll music as a harmful influence on the young—but an Iowa therapist says it has a beneficial influence on mental patients, even as sung by Elvis Presley. Since 1905 every Briton has been proudly sure that Admiral Nelson measured his fleet at Trafalgar. "England expects every man will do his duty." But a British signalman, 76, now says Nelson wouldn't have wasted time sending such a message, and even if he'd tried to it wouldn't have been sent.

A host of physicians have blamed the rise of lung cancer on cigarette smoking—but Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute now says the main cause is noxious fumes.

For generations doctors have advised patients suffering from the common cold "to drink plenty of fluids." Now a Mississippi doctor says he gets better results by dehydrating them.

They have come up with new tranquilizers that are supposed to relax you. But—on the other hand, they may depress you or even make you violent. Atomic fallout as yet is no real peril to mankind, say some distinguished scientists. But some others, equally distinguished, say we can't be sure.

So it goes in all the realms of knowledge and all the questions of the hour. When the pundits disagree, whom are we poor ordinary mortals to put our faith and trust in?

Texas Doubles Its Research Facilities

AUSTIN, Nov. 20 (AP) — Texas industries have doubled their research laboratories in 10 years, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau said today.

A recent survey showed at least 106 laboratories in Texas, but the bureau estimated the total may run as high as 200.

Chance Vought at Dallas has the largest research employment with 8 chemists, 1,450 engineers, 85 mathematicians, 2 metallurgists, 83 physicists, 150 other technical personnel plus 400 additional persons in the research division.

The largest non-profit private research group in Texas is the Southwest Research Institute at San Antonio.

Recent company-expansion projects include a million-dollar engineering laboratory at Garland by Temco, new labs for Sun Oil and Magnolia at Dallas and for Schlumberger in the Houston area. One of the largest facilities completed in recent years was Humble Oil's unit at Baytown.

Once In A Million

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — The News said it probably wouldn't happen again in a million editions of the paper.

It had two reviews on the same page of Henrik Ibsen's play, "Hedda Gabler."

The dramatic societies of Sweet Briar and Randolph-Macon women's colleges selected the same play and presented it on the same night. Both sent reviews to the paper.

Hot Paint Used

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — New highway striping equipment which applies hot paint to highways, is now being used by the Oregon State Highway Dept.

The paint is heated right in the machine and reaches the road at approximately 180 degrees. The drying time of the paint is also speeded up in this machine.

Around The Rim

Some Have It, Some Don't

You either have it or you don't. That's what I always say. I was listening to a TV show the other night. It featured a violinist who was competently playing a highly difficult selection.

It reminded me of the time when I dreamed of being a violinist.

If, I told myself, I could only learn to play a violin the world would be a golden-hued pleasant place. Nothing else would matter. I would have achieved complete and satisfying success.

I wanted my folks about the matter until finally in desperation, my father dug up $25 (which I know was hard to come by) and invested it in a violin. "Not too good," I recall the dealer stating, "but quite good" enough for a student. Had it been a Stradavarius it would have been all the same.

There was a man in our town named Reed who was masochistic enough to have his living by teaching young sprouts music. Regardless of the instrument — be it piano or harmonica — Reed would undertake to instruct the youngster to play. I remember Reed well. He was a hunchback, possessed I am sure of a great deal of personal musical talent, but undoubtedly hampered in his own career by his physical deformity. He always seemed sarcastic and bitter — I understand now why it was.

How otherwise could any one be who had to listen hour after hour to the inept and gruesome sounds that boys and girls evoked from instruments which in other more capable hands could produce soothing melodies?

A dollar an hour was his regular fee. I was signed up for two lessons a week. I set out bravely enough, confident that in a month's time I would be sawing away melodiously at any and all music.

Reed was actually a faker. I know now that it must have been crystal clear to him after the first two lessons that in my hands a violin was an utterly useless instrument. However, he was dishonest enough to say nothing of this to my parents. I kept on going to lessons.

Some folk are said to be tone deaf. I don't know what my particular shortage in musical talent may be but I am one who cannot even differentiate between the notes enough to put a violin in tune.

I learned to play "Home Sweet Home." Reed wrote out the music in the simplest of forms — Key of C, as I remember it. There was no chance of my ever finding a position on the fiddle for a sharp or flat intentionally. I couldn't even locate the basic notes. He wrote in as many open strings as possible to lessen the possibilities of discord. That didn't bother me. I could play the whole dang-d piece and never hit a true note — even on the open strings.

I wanted to learn "Tipperary." Reed, brave man, wrote down the notes for me. As simply as it possibly could be written. I butchered that one, too.

Finally, after several months, it dawned on me that I was not making it. Besides, the two hourly sessions a week cut badly into my play time. There were three or four hours additional when I was supposed to practice. So I put the violin in its battered case and set it high on a shelf. That was a long time ago.

The violin is now reposing on a high shelf in a storage room at my house. The horsehair has rotted from the bow. The sounding post in the violin has fallen down. Some of the strings have snapped. Why I keep it I do not know.

Maybe it is a symbol.

Something to remind me of the pointlessness of any future effort on my part should I ever again be assailed with an ambition to become a musician.

It's easier, anyway, to turn on the radio or put a record on the turntable.

'It Is Better To Die On One's Feet'

And so it came to pass in the year 1894, even as George Orwell had predicted, that Communism ruled the world with a steel fist. From Moscow, Big Brother determined the destinies of men.

In the once-free West, old men who had believed in 1956 that the United States was the mightiest nation in the world — invincible in moral and military might — dully pondered the purely academic question: Where and at what point had the West, with its bright hope of freedom and liberty for all men, hesitated and lost all?

His name had long since been expunged from the Communist-dictated history books, but the elders still remembered Patrick Henry and guardedly passed on to youngsters his revolutionary watchword, "Give me liberty or give me death!"

The younger generation had had no experience of freedom. But it was electrified when an old man, just before his execution as a counter-revolutionary, cried in the face of the firing squad, "It is better to die on one's feet than to live on one's knees!"

The entire firing squad, which had heard this treasonous utterance was summarily executed, least it repeat the old man's words. But despite Big Brother's precaution, the words were repeated and spread like wild fire.

They seeped into Canada, and the first flicker of rebellion flared there. Students at McGill University started the brief, bitter anti-Communist revolt which they toppled a statue of General Zhukov, hero of the Soviet world who, after conquering the Arab countries, had gone on to conquer the globe.

When Soviet troops did not immediately execute the whole student body of McGill, hope flared through Canada. Communist headquarters in Montreal and Quebec were stormed by furious mobs and a dozen Red gauleiters hanged. The Western provinces rose to a man, and in the United States hope shimmered.

It remained for the students at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., where Winston Churchill had made his once-famous "Iron Curtain" speech, to ignite hope by pulling down the American flag and ripping from its center the hated red star of Russian Communism.

That was the signal for a general uprising. With bare hands, men, women and children tried to destroy the launching sites for atomic rockets in a hundred different communities. With rocks, they attacked atomic cannons in thousands of localities.

On the fifth day, a rebel victory throughout Canada and the United States seemed certain. But on the sixth day, Big Brother loosed on the continent his hydrogen-headed rockets, and in 12 hours, millions were dead and millions more dying. The physical destruction was incalculable. The continent lay as if cursed and sown to salt.

Eventually, sealed freight planes bearing their cargo of what heroic youth survived, flew north to the slave labor camps just below the Arctic Circle.

Out of the chaos and the horror, little of value survived save an old man who could still remember Patrick Henry and what he had said, and who was convinced that it was better to die on one's feet than to live on one's knees. And one day, before he died, he whispered the words to a child.

Grave Problem Of 'Volunteers'

The President's statement about Russian "volunteers" in Egypt cannot fairly or reasonably be interpreted as an attempt to avoid American responsibility and to pass the buck to the United Nations. There are no doubt men in Washington who would like to do just that. But it could not be done in this case even if we wanted to do it. For if the U. N. allows a force of Russian volunteers to be organized in Egypt and Syria, it will be a disastrous blow to the United States. But it would be a fatal blow to the United Nations.

So we must read the President's statement as a call upon the United Nations to seize the problem which has been brought into the open by Egyptian and Russian declarations about volunteers. What would be the position of the U. N. if, after demanding Russian withdrawal from Hungary and British and French withdrawal from Egypt, it allowed a Russian army to enter Egypt and Syria? The President is entitled to say that he is going to work through the U. N. because he has a right to insist that the issue is one which the U. N. cannot evade.

It goes without saying that the trained military personnel that Nasser and the Soviet government have been talking about are not in any true sense of the word volunteers. They could not be recruited, equipped, and transported to Egypt by the Soviet government. It is inconceivable that the Soviet government would not have the final say as to how, where, and when they were to be used. There can be no doubt that, once established in the Middle East, this Russian force would have the power to make and to unmake the Arab governments, and thus to dominate the whole region.

The question is not one which can be disposed of by resolutions which do no more than to express an opinion. The question is whether Great Britain and France having withdrawn from Egypt, the U. N. will permit Russia to enter Egypt.

The latest reports available as this is written suggest that both in Cairo and in Moscow there is a disposition not to plunge ahead with the volunteer business. The President's first warning must surely have had something to do with this. Moreover, as the withdrawal of the Anglo-French forces is assured, there is no reason which the Soviet government can publicly avow to justify the sending in of its own so-called volunteers.

This is a very considerable gain. But we have no right to suppose that the Soviet government is, therefore, giving up the idea of creating a Soviet military force in the heart of the Middle East. There is much credible evidence uncovered through the capture of Egyptian documents and an examination of the captured Russian munitions in Egypt, to indicate a strong probability that a Russian military base is being prepared. The evidence indicates that military supplies have been shipped into Egypt to await the later arrival of the volunteers, that is to say of the Soviet personnel.

For the moment it may be that the occasion has passed when the Soviet government will move a great mass of volunteers into Egypt. But the world must reckon with the probability that such personnel will be coming, nevertheless, coming quietly and in small numbers over a period of time.

This means that the United Nations police force has a long tour of duty ahead of it. It will have to do more than to supervise the British, French and Israeli withdrawal. It will have to do more than to deal with the Arab-Israeli border problems.

There is a great vacuum of power in the Middle East which was created by the original withdrawal of the British from Suez in 1954. Nasser has tried to fill that vacuum. But Nasser's Egypt is not a great power, and Nasser's role in the history of the Middle East has not been to create the Pan-Arab empire he talks about. His role has been to open the door of the Middle East to the Russian empire.

Greenland Whales Have Huge Mouths

By RAMON COFFMAN

Greenland whales rank among the extra-large members of the whale family. Sometimes they are called bowheads, and they also have the name of right whales. The name "bowhead" arose from the huge, curving head—rounded like a bow. The "right whale" expression came from whaling men of a past century. While looking for whales which would provide plenty of oil and whalebone, these men might sight a Greenland whale, and would call it a "right whale," meaning one which was right for their purposes.

Q. How long do Greenland whales get to be?

A. Sometimes they grow to a length of from 50 to 65 feet. They have the biggest mouths in the world—bigger than those of blue whales.

The mouth of one of these whales may measure eight or 10 feet straight across, from corner to corner. If you measure around the lower lip, you will need a tape from 30 to 35 feet long!

Q. What are killer whales?

A. In a general way I rather like the whale family, but I am without the slightest good will for the small, blood-thirsty whales known as killers or killer whales.

The killers (also called grampuses) may be from 10 to 20 feet long. They go about in packs of three or four members or, sometimes, a dozen. These vicious animals swim close to a big whale. Unless it dives and gets out of the way, Grampuses attack it about the mouth. Sometimes it escapes with wounds, but in other cases it is slain.

Q. What about the old idea that whales are fish?

A. It is an old-fashioned notion which seldom is expressed in the modern age. A whale is a warm-blooded mammal. It swims with the skill of a fish, but is without gills, and must breathe air if it is to live. It can hold its breath a long time (half an hour, or even more) while making a dive.

India Is More Bitter About Egypt Attack

NEW DELHI (U)—The official view in India is that Britain, France, Israel and Soviet Russia all have been misbehaving in recent weeks.

But denunciations of the invasion of Egypt have been much more bitter than the stand on Russian force in Hungary.

Prime Minister Nehru and members of his government cling to this distinction:

The British, French and Israeli military actions— they say — are "aggression," defined by Webster as unprovoked attack.

Use of Soviet forces to quell the movement for freedom in Hungary, according to the Indian officials, is "intervention," which Webster defines as interference of a state in the internal affairs of another.

Despite the verbal distinction, Nehru and his government have condemned both the aggression in Egypt and the intervention in Hungary. They have asked for withdrawal of foreign troops in both places.

However, the tone of their statements clearly indicates they think aggression in Egypt is much the worse of the two.

That many Indians have this impression is displayed in two ways:

1. There is much more public and press interest — and concern — about the Middle East.

2. Many Indians, especially socialists, have sharply criticized Nehru for showing less concern about Hungary than he shows in Egypt.

Confused Indian Communists appear to have welcomed Nehru's stand on Hungary as a way out of their dilemma. A week ago, their organ New Age, criticized Moscow. This week it gave with approval Moscow's views on Hungary — and quoted Nehru to support Moscow.

In private talks, Indian officials say they and Nehru are equally concerned about Hungary and Egypt even if they think what happened in Egypt is worse than what happened in Hungary.

Both Sides Scolded In Longshore Strike

NEW YORK (U)—A federal mediator has scolded union and management negotiators with a warning to "stop fiddling around" and settle the East-Gulf coast dock strike.

But the paralyzing walkout by 60,000 dock workers moved into its fifth day today with no sign of settlement. From 150 to 200 ships remained idle at deserted piers from Maine to Texas.

Negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Assn. and the New York Shipping Assn. resume contract talks today.

After a fruitless session yesterday, Robert H. Moore, federal mediator, said he had told both sides they "might as well stop fiddling around."

He said he informed the negotiators he didn't think there would be any immediate government intervention to stop the strike under the Taft-Hartley law. "I told them there is no government machinery that can do more than delay the inevitable, that they were going to have to reach an agreement sooner or later."

The White House also appealed to both sides to settle their differences.

Meanwhile, on the West Coast Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union started polling its members to determine their stand on the East-Gulf coast strike. Results are to be announced tomorrow.

60 Hungarian Refugees On Way To Homes In U. S.

VIENNA (U)—Sixty refugees from Soviet terror in Hungary were on their way to homes in the United States today as American officials worked to speed up to 5,000 across the Atlantic.

The fugitives from Russian suppression of the Hungarian rebellion streamed out to other West European countries at the rate of 1,000 a day, but they poured into Austria nearly four times as fast.

The total to reach Austria since the Russians turned their tanks and guns on the rebels was fast approaching 50,000. About 8,000 so far have been shipped out to foreign countries, and many are finding homes and jobs in Austria.

A silver, blue and red DC4, chartered by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, left Vienna's Schwechat Airport early this morning with the first 41 refugees bound for the United States. It collected another 19 Hungarians in Munich and was due at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., near Camp Kilmer, tomorrow.

The union has refused to handle ships coming from or going to strikebound ports on the East and Gulf coasts but it announced it would start working them again today, pending outcome of the referendum. The union said it had worked military and perishable cargoes without interruption.

The new policy was effective at 8 a.m., with the end of a 24-hour walkout called to discuss the strike. About 16,000 longshoremen joined the layoff yesterday and waterfront activity on the Pacific Coast dropped to about 25 per cent of normal.

But the West Coast action brought only a scowl from ILA President William V. Bradley in New York.

He sent a sharply worded telegram to Bridges and told him, in effect, to keep his nose out of the ILA strike. Bradley said the ILA "resents the interference of you and your officers."

"These activities don't help us; they embarrass us," Bradley added.

As the contract talks continued the economic pinch caused by the strike grew more painful. The nation's railroads ordered a halt to rail shipment of almost all export freight to all strikebound ports. The order was aimed at blocking a massive tieup of freight cars at ports.

The strike was already costing the nation's economy millions of dollars a day.

The union struck last Thursday midnight when its old contract ran out. Main issues in the dispute are union demands for a single contract to cover all East and Gulf ports, a full day's pay for any man called to the piers, no cut in the present 20-man work gangs and a limit on the amount of cargo loaded in slings.

The New York employers' group which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms, insists that it does not have authority to negotiate for other Atlantic and Gulf ports.

City, Air Force Set New Discussion On Utilities

City commissioners were to meet with Air Force personnel this afternoon to discuss the water and sewer lines for Webb's proposed housing unit.

The meeting was set for 3 p.m. at the city hall. Officials were here from Washington to speak for the government.

Previous talks between the two groups have failed to bring any concrete plans, since the Air Force personnel have not talked with the city have not had authority to make decisions.

Webb commander, Col. Charles Young, requested that authorized personnel come for the meeting today.

The early discussions between the city and the Air Force were on the idea that the government would pay for the water and sewer lines to serve the area. The water line would be laid directly from the housing unit to the city's large line turning north from FM 700 at Westover Road.

The sewer line would go from the housing area around the south part of Big Spring and tie directly into the disposal plant east of the city.

Since the government could not pay the contractors, the Air Force officials agreed to pay the charges to the city and term it a tap fee. With these ideas in mind, the government employed an engineering firm to survey the areas and lay out the position for the sewer line.

The government also said that if the city wanted to enlarge the lines for its own use, the additional cost would have to be paid by the city. This the city agreed to do.

However, about a month ago, a civilian Air Force employee told the city in talks here that the persons who called for the engineering surveys did not have the authority to do so. Also, he said the government would not pay for the lines. He indicated that the city was to furnish the lines.

He gave the city an alternate plan, which called for laying a water line from the new water reservoir along FM 700 to the air base. When the line hit Webb, the government would start paying for it. But the line laid outside the base would have to be paid for by the city.

He said that the government would loan Big Spring the money to pay for the line — at four percent interest.

As to the sewer lines, these would be laid from the housing unit to the line at Webb. This, according to city engineer Jack Bellamy, would overload the present sewer lines from Webb and would necessitate laying a new line all the way from the air base to the disposal plant.

In an attempt to determine status of the project, the city asked Col. Young to request representatives from Washington to come for talks and at the same time ask for men who would have the authority to make definite proposals.

The city commission has gone on record rejecting the alternate plan proposed by the AF civilian about a month ago.

More Hungarians Return To Work

VIENNA (AP)—More Hungarian workers returned to their jobs today, Radio Budapest said. But the revolt against Russian subjugation which exploded four weeks ago still lived.

Nep Szabadsag, official newspaper of Premier Janos Kadar's government, recognized the popular demand for independence. It expressed the hope the Soviet Union would "respect the off-expressed wish of the Hungarian people to live independently and according to its own will."

Radio Budapest said that four textile works had started production. Several others were idle because of the lack of power or chemicals.

In the Durog mines, northwest of Budapest, 1,000 miners went into the pits today compared with 600 the previous day, the station said. In the Salgotarjan mines 2,370 workers were reported mining coal. Yesterday 1,540 tons of sorely needed coal were mined compared with 10,000 tons daily in normal times, it was reported.

Radio Budapest said 10 streetcar lines were running. It predicted that all main lines would be running within two or three days. An earlier broadcast said that attempts to restore streetcar traffic on one line yesterday was met with threats and attacks on employees.

Electricity was the main problem because of the shortage of coal. Brick factories have stopped production because of the coal shortage. There was said to be enough window glass to replace thousands of panes shattered during the fighting.

Reliable reports from Budapest said many workers continued to refuse to work while the Russians remained in the city and former Premier Imre Nagy remained a refugee in the Yugoslav Embassy.

Nep Szabadsag expressed some misgivings about the Polish-Soviet agreement to maintain Russian troops in Poland. The paper said this development could be "disturbing" since it could "give rise to the fear that the Soviet Union might insist on similar conditions in our case."

Daniel Faces New Demand To Resign

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel faced today a new demand that he resign at once with no strings attached.

State Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston said more Texans would be able to vote if a special election to fill the post can be held from this year's heavy poll-tax lists.

If the election is delayed beyond Jan. 31, 1957, when off-year poll tax payments are in effect, there will be fewer voters, Bracewell said.

Bracewell made the request in a letter to Gov.-elect Daniel. Bracewell hopes to succeed Daniel in the Senate and is running on a pro-Eisenhower platform. He is a Democrat.

Daniel telegraphed Gov. Shivers, asking that he furnish a legal brief in support of his views that Daniel's "advance" resignation will not stand up under the law.

Republican Committeeman Jack Porter of Houston called on Shivers, but brushed off questions as to whether they talked about the Senate.

Daniel has resigned as junior senator effective Jan. 15 or sooner if a successor qualifies. Shivers says he does not think such a future resignation is legal and also called on Daniel to re-submit a resignation effective at once.

Daniel has said he would be in Washington Jan. 3 when Congress convenes if a successor has not been elected by then, to help Democrats hold their 49-47 edge in the Senate.

Deep Wildcat Test Is Slated 9 Miles Southwest Of Lamesa

A deep wildcat has been reported in Dawson County, and operators plan to deepen a shallow well in Sterling as a wildcat.

Meanwhile, operators took a drillstem test at the Ashmun-Hilliard-US Smelting No. 1 Grantham in Howard County.

Skelly No. 1 Frank Freeman is a 13,000-foot wildcat in Dawson about nine miles southwest of Lamesa.

The Sterling venture is the Bob Vinson No. 1 T. H. Humble, which opened the Crandell field. It is 10 miles southeast of Sterling City and will be deepened to 1,700 feet from 1,481 feet.

At the Ashmun No. 1 Grantham, operator tested the Canyon Reef from 8,990-9,040 feet for 40 minutes. Gas surfaced in two and a half minutes. Recovered was 1,800 feet of oil and 1,600 feet of salt water.

Borden

Lone Star No. 1 Higginbotham deepened to 8,010 feet and operator prepared to drillstem test. The wildcat is 660 feet from southwest and southeast lines, 7-31-3n, T&P Survey, and 14 miles south of Gail.

Standard No. 1-A Griffin pumped six hours and made six barrels of oil and 18 barrels of water from Spraberry perforations. Location is C NW NW, 35-25, H&TC Survey.

Phillips No. 1-B Clayton is plugged back to 7,016 feet and operator prepared to swab perforations between 6,964-7,006 feet. It is C NW SE, 17-32-4n, T&P Survey, and an old well being plugged back for tests.

Humble No. 8 Miller pumped 94.88 barrels of oil, plus 54 percent water, in 24 hours on potential. It is in the Jo-Mill field, C SW SW, 21-33-4n, T&P Survey.

Gravity is 37.8 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 480-1. Total depth is 7,604 feet, and top of the Spraberry pay zone is 7,537 feet. Perforations are from 7,537-97 feet.

Dawson

Skelly No. 1 Frank Freeman will be 2,431 feet from south and 347 feet from east lines, Labor 11, League 275, Grantham CSL Survey, and nine miles southwest of Lamesa. It will project to 13,000 feet as a wildcat venture.

McRae No. 1 Landers deepened to 10,966 feet in chert, lime, and shale. Location is 14 miles east of Lamesa, 1,964 feet from north and 2,348 feet from east lines, Labor 4, League 220, Hutchinson CSL Survey.

Humble No. 2 Lane pumped 47 barrels of load in 24 hours. It was 76 per cent basic sediment. Operator is still pumping and needs to recover 549 barrels of load. Location is in the Jo-Mill field, 3,100 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines, 45-33-5n, T&P Survey.

In the same pool, Humble No. 1 Stewart deepened to 2,630 feet in anhydrite. Drillite is 550 feet from north and east lines, 5-33-4n, T&P Survey, 19 miles southeast of Lamesa.

Humble No. 1 Hemphill, in the Mungerville Southeast field, lost circulation at 6,204 feet in lime. Location is 600 feet from north and east lines, Labor 31, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey.

Seaboard No. 1 W. W. Miers, in the Mungerville SE field, drilled to 8,885 feet in lime and shale. It is located 660 feet from south and west lines, Labor 19, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey.

Ashmun-Hilliard-US Smelting No. 1 Grantham drillstem tested the Canyon Reef line from 8,990-9,040 feet, with the tool open 40 minutes. Gas surfaced in two and a half minutes, fluid came in seven minutes, and oil surfaced in 13 minutes.

It flowed to pits for 27 minutes, but no estimate was made of production. It then recovered 1,800 feet of oil and 1,600 feet of salt water. Operator topped the Reef at 8,985 feet, minus 6,342 feet. Operator is now drilling at 9,190 feet in lime. Location is 1,957 feet from south and 600 feet from east lines, 8-33-2n, T&P Survey, and 13 miles northwest of Big Spring.

Standard No. 1 Adams pumped 30 barrels of load oil in 24 hours and is still pumping from the Dean. Location is C NE SW, 47-34-3n, T&P Survey.

Standard No. 1 Burton swabbed nine hours and recovered 56 barrels of load oil and no water.

Angelo Slaying Suspect Sought

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Officers shifted their search here yesterday for John Burk, 32, charged with murder in San Angelo, Tex. The victim's auto was found in a used car lot here. Cecil Turner, Tom Green County sheriff, said Burk was wanted in the slaying of Edna Parsons of Los Angeles.

Parsons' body was found in a well in San Angelo Oct. 27.

The sheriff said Parsons worked for Western Airlines and that no motive for the slaying was apparent.

Used Drill Bits Are Stolen Here

Between 20 and 25 used drill bits were taken from Reed Roller Bit Company over the weekend.

H. W. Kirby, 210 Lancaster, reported the loss to the police department. He valued the used bits at $50. Also reported stolen were practice parking signs from the Junior High School.

Perforations are between 6,463-67 and 6,471-77 feet. It is C NE NE, 27-33-2n, T&P Survey.

Forrest No. 1 Minear drilled through lime and shale at 4,500 feet. It was previously known as the Brennan No. 1 Minear, but the operator has been changed.

Location of the wildcat is C SE NE, 24-32-1n, T&P Survey. It is eight miles northeast of Big Spring.

Cosden No. 1 Garrett, seven miles north of Big Spring, deepened to 2,885 feet in anhydrite. It is 1,980 feet from south and 2,010 feet from east lines, 48-33-2n, T&P Survey.

Felmont No. 6-C Settles is a new Howard-Glasscock field location 1,180 feet from north and 540 feet from east lines, 6-32-2n, T&P Survey. It will drill to 2,350 feet.

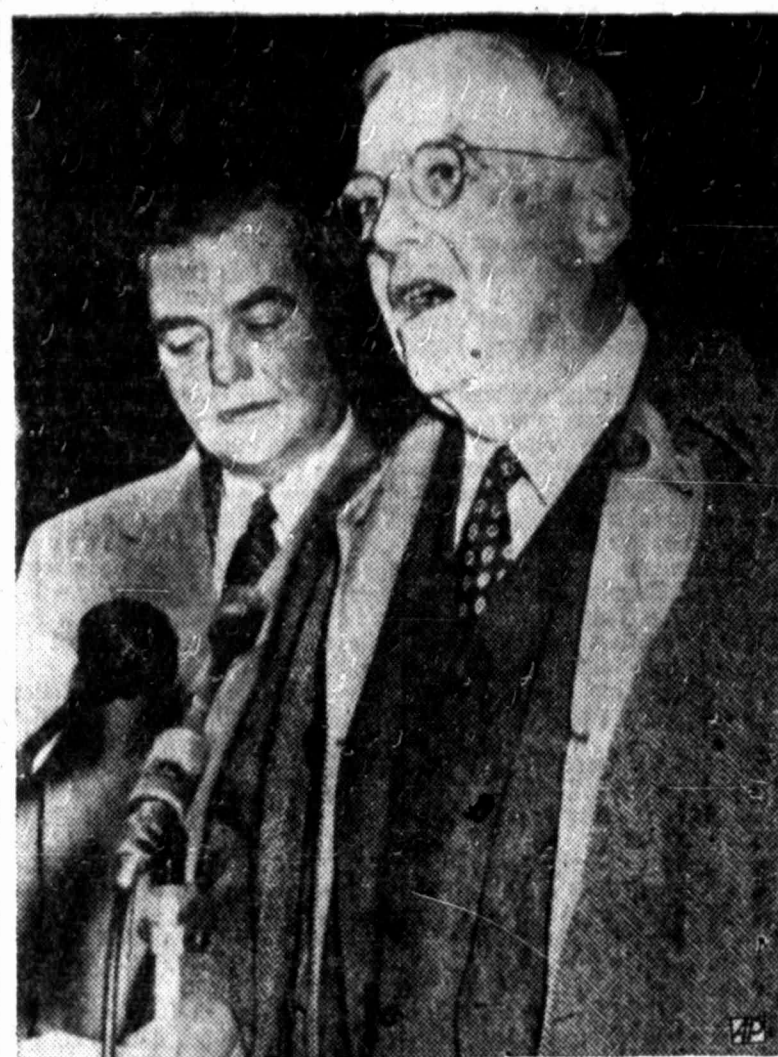

Mitchell

Cosden No. 4 Chalk is in the Albaugh (Yates) field 1,650 feet from south and 997 feet from east lines, 90-29, W&N Survey. It is about 12 miles southeast of Coahoma. Drilling depth is 1,300 feet.

In the same field, Cosden No. 5 Chalk will be 1,980 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines, 90-29, W&N Survey, 12 miles southeast of Coahoma. It also will project to 1,300 feet.

Sterling

Vinson No. 1 T. H. Humble will be 330 feet from north and east lines of the south half, 30-11, SPRR Survey, and 10 miles southeast of Sterling City. Operator will deepen from 1,481 to 1,700 feet. It was originally the Crandell No. 1 Humble and is the discovery well in the Crandell field.

Accuses Russians

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, meeting with newsmen outside Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, accuses the Russians of "promiscuous slaughter" against Hungary in defiance of United Nations resolutions. He made the statement as he left the hospital where he was operated on for an intestinal condition. Standing beside Dulles is Herbert Hoover Jr., left, who acted as Secretary of State during his illness.

Suez Block May Hike U.S. Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Suez Canal blockade may bring higher gasoline and fuel oil prices, officials acknowledged today while repeating that it will not necessitate rationing in the United States.

The Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) renewed this morning its assurance as most of Western Europe curtailed motor travel and faced the prospect of actual gasoline rationing.

In this country, where petroleum output is restricted to a rate below the industry's potential, stocks in storage are high and plans are ready for a big boost in oil production, if necessary.

Some industry sources estimated that strain on the American industry might be sufficient to shove fuel oil prices up one cent a gallon above present levels.

International tension has stirred some speculation on whether the Eisenhower administration might ask Congress for standby authority to impose price, wage, rationing and consumer credit controls.

Responsible officials have discounted such speculation. One official said today: "There is no indication that any such request may be made to the new Congress."

The government decided last week not to activate its emergency plans to supply Western Hemisphere oil to Europe until the United Nations policy force has established itself in Egypt and British and French troops have been withdrawn.

These plans, worked out with a petroleum industry committee after Egyptian President Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal, envisaged a huge increase in Western Hemisphere crude oil production and exports.

It would be possible to ship up to 1,100,000 barrels of crude oil daily to Europe, the ODM has said without creating any shortage in this country.

The government has rejected an informal request by 16 European countries to put the emergency plans into effect now.

Any governmental action now to send oil to Britain and France might embarrass the peace efforts.

Youth Held On Check Charges

Officers are to go to San Antonio a few days to take custody of a 15-year-old Big Spring boy who is wanted in juvenile court to answer charges of forgery.

A E. Long, juvenile officer, said that the boy had written bogus checks in the amount of more than $225 in this city in a recent rampage. He fled town and was arrested in San Antonio on instructions from this county.

Long said that the youth had previously been before juvenile court here and when he is returned will be again brought into court.

C-C Director Election Is Set After Board Okays New Terms

Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday gave their approval to a proposal for changing the tenure of the organization's officers and directors.

The board also approved a plan to poll the Chamber's entire membership for suggestions for a program of work for 1957.

Terms of officers and directors in the future will run from Jan. 1 to Jan. 1. In the past, they have extended from annual membership banquet until the next banquet. The membership meetings have been held, generally, in late February, but the date for the gatherings will be moved forward to match the terms of office.

The change in the period covered by officers' terms set in motion the machinery for naming directors and officers for 1957. J. B. Wiginton, Chamber vice president, named John Taylor chairman of a nominating committee which will meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Taylor's group will nominate 45 persons for places on the board of directors. Their names will be listed on a ballot which will be mailed to Chamber members Saturday. The ballot must be returned by Dec. 5 to be counted. Fifteen new directors will be chosen from the 45 nominees. They and 15 holdovers may name up to 10 additional members for the board.

Directors Monday also appointed J. N. Young Jr. to replace Bill Cox on the board. Cox resigned recently and moved from Big Spring.

Forsan 4-H Achievement Winners Listed

Winners in the Forsan 4-H Club achievement day program have been announced by the office of the county farm agent.

No prize money was awarded for the competition but ribbons were given to the winners.

Thirty-three youngsters, all members of the Forsan 4-H Club participated in the event.

Kent Gibson placed first in the capon competition. Frank Tate was second; Lester Duffer, third; Thomas Boyd, fourth and Kenneth Duffer, fifth.

Bobby Shelton was first in the lightweight fine wool lamb division. Lorita Overton was rated second; Donnie Gooch, third; Jerry Bardwell, fourth; Hubert Bardwell, fifth; Benny Barnett, sixth; Pats Honeycut, seventh and Sammy Barnett, eighth.

William Conger showed the best heavy fine wool lamb. Tommy Gilmore was second; Susan Elrod, third; K. H. Elrod, fourth; Betty Conger, fifth; Harry King, sixth and Melton Bardwell, seventh.

Cross-bred lamb top honors were awarded to Muri Bailey; Janet Gooch placed second; Lanell Overton, third; Frank Tate, fourth; Mike Honeycut, fifth; Johnny King, sixth; Patsy Gooch, seventh; Terry Harkider, eighth; Gerry Harkider, ninth and Danny Wash, tenth.

Baptist Home Funds Asked

DALLAS (AP)—A $200,000 offering will be taken in Texas Baptist churches Sunday, for the six children's homes owned and operated by the denomination, spokesmen said here Tuesday.

The money will be used for the support of 1,046 dependent children in the six homes. The homes depend entirely on gifts from the churches and individual persons. They will have spent more than $1,000,000 for operating expenses and building construction by Dec. 31.

The six institutions include the Buckner Orphan Home at Dallas, with 620 boys and girls; Buckner Boys' Ranch at Burnet, 48 boys; Buckner Girls' Ranch at Breckenridge, six girls; Mexican Baptist Orphanage at San Antonio, 120 children; South Texas Children's Home, Beeville, 72 children, and Texas Baptist Children's Home, Round Rock, 180 children.

Statistics show that the pattern of child care in the Texas Baptist homes is changing, just as it is in other homes over the country.

Such homes no longer serve primarily the orphaned child, who number less than three per cent of the total.

Of the 601 children in Buckner Home at Dallas, only 30 are full orphans. Some 131 of the children have one parent living. The remaining youngsters are victims of desertion, inadequacy, imprisonment, alcoholism, rejection, illegitimacy or mental illness of parents.

Officials say these children's plight is even more acute than that of the orphan, because the orphan child has had the experience of at least having been loved and feeling a sense of belonging.

Tyler Man Held In 'Barehand' Slaying

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dalton Rayford, 22, of Tyler was placed "under observation" yesterday. He told police he killed a man with his bare hands after hitchhiking a ride. Officers said Rayford told them he killed a man who made indecent suggestions, then ran the man's car into a roadside bayou last week.

200 Hear Explanation Of Conservation Reserve Plan

Hammack said that he did not think additional meetings would be held but that if demand for such meetings developed, they would be scheduled.

This is the second phase of the Federal Soil Bank Program and is now being activated for 1957. The program is to function over a five-year span.

Gabe Hammack, ASC office manager, said that more than an hour and a half was consumed in questions and answers at the meeting in the district court room.

Signup for the conservation reserve program has already begun and the deadline is technically set for Nov. 30.

They referred to the Chamber's membership committee any action on the revaluation of C-C membership dues. No action is expected until early next year.

Several reports were heard at the board meeting. A letter from the Civil Aeronautics Authority, in which the CAA said steps to make Webb AFB a permanent Air Force installation are up to the Air Force, was read.

Floyd W. Parsons reported on the B-E Day observance staged last week, and Walter Bailey, chairman of the rural relations committee, urged directors to make arrangements to attend the goodwill dinner to be held at Gail Dec. 4. Bailey said 150 tickets must be sold here for the dinner.

Adult Education Needs Discussed

More than two dozen lay and professional people picked up tips Monday on how to unravel the problem of offering more education opportunities to adults.

They came to the one-day parley at Howard County Junior College as a follow-up on regional conferences at Seibold Ranch and at Texas Tech. Directing activities were Dr. Bonard Wilson, Washington, D. C., representing the National Adult Education Association; Dr. Per Stensland, in charge of adult education at Texas Tech; Dr. Jerry Peters, also on the Tech adult education staff; and William Williams, Texas Tech. Dr. Marvin Barker, head of adult education at HCC, presided.

Representatives were here from San Angelo, Knott, Big Spring, Lubbock, Sweetwater, L. P. a. n. e. Forsan, Andrews, and Odessa. Most of the day was spent in developing skills and techniques for fact-finding conferences. These were advanced as an instrument for ascertaining the most logical and needful areas of adult education as well as of community projects.

Dr. Stensland declared that there was a vastly greater yearning for some form of adult education than most people realized. Often it would not take very formal lines, but aids would result in some sort of instruction or service to fill needs. Too often people had the notion that adult education was purely vocational or formally academic, but it need not be, he said.

One of the fruits of a fact-finding conference would not only be to find the demands and needs for help, but to identify the adult education work already being done and to avoid duplications, he added. Participants were guests at the NAEA at the Howard House for luncheon.

Claim Frenchmen Flew For Israel

LONDON (AP)—The Manchester Guardian asserted today that "French aircraft flown by French pilots in French uniforms" took part in Israel's invasion of Egypt.

A dispatch from a correspondent who recently went from Tel Aviv to Nicosia to escape Israeli censorship said the French airmen "played an important, possibly even a decisive" part in the Israeli drive through the Sinai Desert.

The correspondent, James Morris, added: "The Israeli censorship has stifled this startling fact, and Gen. Moshe Dayan, the Israeli chief of staff, flatly refused when questioned at a recent press conference."

"There is, however, no doubt at all that French fighter pilots took part in the battle, and it is suggested that the accuracy of their napalm bombing was one of the most important factors in the rout of the Egyptian army."

Morris said he had interviewed one French flier in uniform who "talked to me very freely about his part in the campaign."

Sterling And Loop To Play In Forsan

Forsan will be the site of the six-man bi-district playoff game between Sterling City and Loop, it was decided at a meeting of officials of the two schools here Monday evening.

The two contingents tangle at 8 p.m. Friday.

Sterling City, coached by Diddle Young, recently tied Forsan for the District 8 title but won the right to represent the circuit in the playoffs by virtue of a victory over Forsan scored several weeks ago.

Loop sewed up first place in District 7 for the first time in many years by defeating Gail last Friday.

Site of the game was determined by a coin flip, called correctly by Wirt Durham, president of the Sterling City school board.

Had Loop won the toss, officials there indicated they would play in Ackerly.

Coach Al White and Supt. of Schools represented Loop here while Coach Diddle Young, Weldon Snodgrass, high school principal; O. T. Jones, superintendent; and Durham represented Sterling City.

Sterling City lost only one game, that an exciting 40-39 decision to Christoval in league competition.

The Loop Longhorns sailed through their conference without loss of a game.

Admissions prices for the game have been pegged at $1 adult and 25 cents student.

Young, who is in his third year as coach at Sterling City, said he

Coahoma Teams Sweep A Pair

COAHOMA, (SC) — Coahoma basketball teams sprang two shocks here Monday night, defeating the powerful Ira clubs in both ends of a twin bill.

The Coahoma boys won, 38-35, after the Coahoma girls had prevailed, 70-68.

In the girls' game, Patty Francis tossed in 37 points for Coahoma. Peggy Francis had 18 and Linda Johnston 15. For Ira, Eubanks hit 36 and Taylor 32.

Outstanding for Coahoma on defense were Sue Garrett, Veda Richier and Belya Brooks.

Roe Hill led the Bulldog boys' team, with 12 points. Hugh Covert contributed 11. Royce Hill and Marcus Stanley four each. Ellis Smith and David Stoker three points and Mac Robinson one.

Ford led Ira with 11. Autry had nine, Rosser six, Smallwood four, Echols three and Farmer two.

In that one, Ira had an early lead, 8-2, but Coahoma was in command at half time, 24-7.

Coahoma also led the girls' game at half time, 38-33.

The Coahoma teams are scheduled to return to action here a week from tonight, at which time they play Garden City.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
RED SMITH, New York writer:

"Ordinary guys who have to conduct their businesses by ordinary means are, quite naturally, puzzled when the baseball player demand that the city build him a new store or provide him with free ground, especially when he adds a threatening 'or else.' Ordinary guys would only laugh if Macy or Gimbel made such a demand."

JACK MABLEY, Chicago scribe:

"Wid Matthews took over an eighth-place ball club (the Chicago Cubs) and after seven years of building, we still have an eighth-place ball club. Matthews in particular is not a gambler. He never would unseat a sore-armed pitcher on another team that was unaware of the player's shortcomings. He may be the only one of 16 general managers who wouldn't do this. This is most complimentary to Matthews' character but it is not the pathway to winning baseball."

BOB VOIGHTS, former Northwestern coach, talking about one of that school's finest players, Bob McKeiver:

"Bob can do more things well with a football than any man I've seen. I've been coaching for a number of years and I've never seen anything like McKeiver. He's a great runner, a terrific punter, kicks extra points, plays a fine defensive safety, and can pass."

JOE WILLIAMS, New York writer, prior to the recent presidential election:

"Maybe some of their statements have been reckless, still it is only fair to point out that neither Ike nor Adlai has promised to grow hair."

RAY ELIOT, Illinois football coach, who has an answer for the fast huddle employed by Minnesota in its upset victory over Michigan:

"If a defense is prepared, there shouldn't be any trouble with the quick huddle. You can call defensive signals much quicker than you can call offensive signals."

GERALD TUCKER, coach of the U.S. Olympic basketball team:

"Bill Russell is the U.S. player other teams won't be able to combat. They won't be prepared for his go-ahead because they've never faced anything like him. With Russell and Chuck Darling as centers, we'll be strong on defense. With Russell back in there to guard the hoop the other can afford to chase the ball more to break up a stall. The team is ready for anything the rest of the world may offer, including the freeze style of play the Russians tried in 1952. As for competition, I believe the South Americans will offer the most trouble."

JOHNNY JOHNSON, Big Spring High School cage mentor:

"Our bench is not as strong as I hoped it'd be. Much depends on Jimmy Evans. If he'll shoot, we can win some ball games. If he doesn't, we're in for trouble, because they'll gang up on Jan Loudermilk. Don Anderson can be a big help to us, too."

YOGI BERRA, the New York Yankee catcher:

"Playing the outfield is a breeze. You don't have much to do out there except scratch yourself. You gotta do that because the mosquitoes go after you."

Reese's Rattlers Defeat Webb's Dusters, 83-56

Webb AFB's Dusters seek revenge tonight for an 83-56 drubbing handed them Monday evening by Reese AFB of Lubbock. The game starts at 7:30 p.m. in the base gym.

No admission is charged for the contest and the public is invited to attend. Webb's band will provide music prior to and during the game.

The Dusters had to give away too much height to compete with the rattlers from Lubbock last night. Reese had two 6-foot-5 cagers. One was Max Hooper, who scored 22 points. The other was Carlis Mackie, who chipped in with 17.

The players were divided into three groups. Coach Johnny Johnson sorted ten boys for A team practice. A dozen others were sent to Sam Bell for B team practice while John Yates took the other 11 for C team practice.

Johnson indicated the entire squad would be streamlined to about 30 boys in the next several days.

Johnson said the Steers enjoyed their finest "first day workout" since he has been here. He added he was very impressed with the club's spirit and attitude.

"These boys seem to get along as well as any I have ever coached. If they continue to play together, we'll win some ball games," Johnson added.

Rules To Pick Batting Champ Are Changed

CHICAGO (AP) — Total appearances at the plate instead of official times at bat in the future will determine baseball batting championships.

A new rule under which a batting title will be determined on total appearances was adopted yesterday by baseball's playing rules committee.

The rule supercedes the old regulation requiring 400 official times at bat to qualify for a batting championship.

Had the new rule been in effect two years ago, Ted Williams of Boston, not Bob Avila of Cleveland, would have won the American League title.

Jim Gallagher, committee chairman, read the new rule as follows:

"The individual batting champion shall be the player with the highest batting average, provided he is credited with as many or more total appearances at the plate in league championship games as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season, multiplied by 3.1."

Example: The major league schedules 154 games for each club per season, 154 x 3.1 equals 477. Some minor league schedules 140 games, multiplied by 3.1 this is 434.

"Total appearances at the plate shall include official times at bat, bases on balls, times hit by pitcher, sacrifice hits, sacrifice flies, and times awarded first base because of interference or obstruction."

In 1954, Williams finished with a .345 average in 386 official at bats. Avila had a .341 mark for 555 official at bats. However, Williams had 136 walks, 3 sacrifice flies and was hit by a pitched ball once. Under the new rule he would have had 526 appearances and the batting title.

Ennis Traded For 2 Cards

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies traded right fielder Del Ennis today to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ennis, who has spent all 11 of his major league seasons with the Phillies, is being traded for two cards.

Morgan, who went to the Cards from the Phillies in a swap last May, may be used in a further player transaction with a third team.

The deal marked the second move by Hamey in a month to strengthen the Phils. The club has drifted downward ever since the 1950 season when the Philadelphia "whiz kids" captured the National League pennant. This year, the Phils finished fifth.

Hamey indicated all Phils, except catcher Stan Lopata, are subject to trade now.

Repulski, who is 28 to Ennis' 31, batted .277 with the Cards and was a thorn in the Phillies' side against the club here, he batted .333. His 1956 batting average was seven points higher than his mark for the 1955 season.

Ennis has been sliding in his batting mark since the 1950 season. He drove in 100 or more runs each year for the four seasons prior to 1955.

The previous Hamey deal this year brought pitcher Jim Hearn to the Phils from the New York Giants in exchange for hurler Stu Miller.

Football Banquet To Be Discussed

Definite plans for the annual football banquet will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Big Spring Quarterback Club, which will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the study hall at the high school.

Originally, it was decided to have the banquet Friday night but it has since been moved back to avoid conflict with other events going on in town at that time.

Other pertinent QBC business will also be discussed at this evening's convocation, according to Jack Johnson, co-captain.

KBST To Carry Abilene Game

Radio Station KBST Big Spring 1490 will carry a play-by-play description of the all-important District 2-AAAA championship clash between Abilene and San Angelo, starting at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The broadcast will be relayed direct to the local station from Abilene.

Leads Roughies

Rodney Blackwell, 184-pound senior tackle, will captain the Sundown Roughnecks in their important bi-district football game with Merkel here Friday night. Blackwell, who likes the rugged play, performs on both offense and defense for Sundown. Kickoff time here Friday is 7:30.

Webb Set To Open Intra-Mural Play

Intra-mural basketball play gets under way at Webb Air Force Base at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 27, in the Base Gym.

Two games are on tap each night, with the first to start at 7:15 p.m. and the second at 8:30.

Teams may be entered into competition until 9 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21, it has been announced.

Buffaloes To Play In Orlando Bowl

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—West Texas will play in the Tangerine Bowl Jan. 1.

The Texans, with a 6-2 record and one game remaining, were picked yesterday.

Florida State and Mississippi Southern are considered for the other spot.

Three Texas 11's In Bowl Picture

TCU Reacted Violently When Mentor Is 'Hung'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — For coaches who may be looking fearfully for efiggies: It isn't always so bad.

One may have won a football game and put a team back on the trail to its fondest dream.

At least Joe Williams, captain of Texas Christian University's team, says when somebody hung an efiggy to the coach, Abe Martin, "It made us angry. We knew it wasn't his fault because we lost those games. It may have had something to do with our beating Texas Saturday."

Texas Christian had come from the depths of despair to smash Texas 46-0.

This was the TCU team that was one of the heaviest favorites in Southwest Conference history when the season started.

It lost to Texas A&M 7-6. The Horned Frogs were beaten 14-0 by Miami, barely managed to edge Baylor, then were humiliated 21-7 by Texas Tech, an outfit that had lost to A&M 40-7 and to Baylor 27-0.

It was the night of Tech gagge the efiggy was strung up near the campus.

Monday they had a meeting. The big guard said they were disgusted with their play and agreed that they could and would do better.

"We are going to give everything we have to come back to the Cotton Bowl," said Williams. "And we want to win it, too. We still feel badly about losing the one last year."

The Frogs lost to Mississippi 14-13 Jan. 1.

Martin had a wisecrack to relieve the tension. "The efiggy didn't even look like me," he said. "I'm much more handsome than that."

Oklahoma Regains No. 1 Position In AP Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

For the second time this season, Oklahoma's angry Sooners have climbed back to the top of the national football rankings with one terrific display of power after spending a week in second place.

Earlier in the season, Michigan State took over the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters for one week. Oklahoma cut loose with a crushing 40-0 victory over Notre Dame and regained the lead. Last week Tennessee had a bare two-point edge over the Sooners in the voting.

The result was a 67-14 rout of hapless Missouri by Oklahoma.

Today the Sooners were back in front with a 132-point margin over Tennessee's Volunteers. It wasn't because anything happened to the Vols either. They came through Saturday with their eighth straight victory—27-7—over defensively strong Mississippi.

Frogs And Baylor Choices Of Scribe

By HAROLD CLAASSEN.

NANDI, Fiji Islands (AP) — Football pickers normally are confused. But it gets worse as you travel toward Australia and cross the date line with today automatically becoming tomorrow. And to make it worse, the police in this tropical outpost wear skirts—that's right, skirts.

With those handicaps, here's the week's football winners:

Ohio State a tie for the Big Ten title.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: This is getting monotonous.

Colgate over Brown: The annual turkey day attraction for New Englanders. But it shouldn't be a 25-0 runaway for Colgate as it was a year ago.

Yale over Harvard: Dennis McGill to give the Harvards a very disagreeable Saturday afternoon.

Georgia Tech over Florida: A Saturday bruiser. Tech gets the edge in belief the Engineers will

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

THURSDAY
Penn over Cornell, Davidson over Furman, Maryland over North Carolina State, William & Mary over Richmond, Virginia Tech over Virginia Military, South Carolina over Wake Forest, Washington University over Washington and Lee, Denver over Colorado A & M, Idaho over Montana, Oregon State over Oregon.

FRIDAY
Miami over West Virginia.

SATURDAY
EAST: Boston College over Brandeis, Villanova over Iowa State, Princeton over Dartmouth, Columbia over Rutgers, Pittsburgh over Penn State.

MIDWEST: Iowa over Notre Dame, Michigan State over Kansas State, Illinois over Northwestern, Minnesota over Wisconsin, Purdue over Indiana, Tulsa over Wichita.

SOUTH: Mississippi Southern over Alabama, Auburn over Florida State, Clemson over Virginia, Arkansas over LSU, Duke over North Carolina, Tennessee over Kentucky.

SOUTHWEST: Texas Christian over Rice, Houston over Texas Tech, Baylor over Southern Methodist.

FAR WEST: Air Force Academy over Brigham Young, Southern California over UCLA, Washington over Washington State.

Game tickets to HCJC home contests are 75 cents adult and 50 cents student.

The season tickets can be purchased at Dibrell's Sporting Goods Store, the business office of HCJC or at the ticket office in the gym immediately prior to the first game.

Season basketball tickets will again be offered for sale by Howard County Junior College this year.

Good for 12 home games, the tickets will be sold for $7 adult and $4 student. In each instance, the buyer would save $2 from the regular price.

Thomas President Of Farmers Union

KNOTT — At a recent meeting of the Farmer's Union held in the Knott school building, A. H. Tate, president of the organization, presided over the group he was moving out of the county and would be ineligible for the office.

A group of about 20 members present then elected R. C. Thomas as president. M. H. Ulmer was elected vice president to succeed Thomas, and Morris Barnes was elected as secretary-treasurer.

Delegates and alternates were also elected to attend the state convention to be held in Abilene, Dec. 7 and 8. Members chosen to make the trip were Frank Goodman, and M. H. Ulmer. Alternates are D. E. Bigony and A. H. Tate.

At the local meeting the main speech was made by Reno Banks

Girl Testifies At Acid Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The petite girl friend of slain hoodlum Abe Telvi said he told her he called Victor Riesel by name as he flung the acid that blinded the labor columnist.

The testimony by Mrs. Olga De La Cruz, 19, was given in a courtroom packed with spectators.

Mrs. De La Cruz, 20-year-old divorced mother of two and expecting a third child, testified yesterday at the federal court trial of three alleged conspirators in the Riesel assassination.

The columnist was blinded April 5 shortly after he left a Broadway restaurant. The attack allegedly was designed to scare him out of testifying at a grand jury probe of labor racketeering.

Mrs. De La Cruz said Telvi came to her apartment the night of the Riesel attack with acid burns on his face. He stayed there for 10 days to two weeks.

She said Telvi's brother brought medicine and a sunlamp in hope of healing or hiding the acid scars. Telvi had splashed some of the acid on himself during the attack.

The hoodlum was found shot to death on the lower East Side July 28, presumably partly because the acid scars made him living evidence of the attack.

Authorities also have said that a motive for the murder was a demand by Telvi for a higher fee for the acid job when he learned Riesel's identity.

Judge Approves Prisoner's Bond In Glasscock Case

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, ordered a $3,000 bond for Earl W. Jordan, charged with concealing stolen property, approved Tuesday morning.

The judgment followed a habeas corpus hearing in district court brought by Mary Helen Jordan, wife of the defendant. Jordan has been held in the Glasscock County jail and in her petition, Mrs. Jordan alleged that Sheriff Buster Cox refused to approve the bond posted for his release pending disposition of the case against him.

Defense attorneys presented a number of witnesses who had signed as sureties on the bond in question and under oath they recited their property holdings. Their testimony was that they had possessions worth many times the $3,000 set on the bond.

Judge Sullivan ordered the bond approved. Jordan signed it and was released from custody.

Deposits Told At Fraud Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—A. G. Hayes, vice president of the First National Bank of Houston, testified yesterday that 53 Benavides School District checks were deposited to the account of former school board president Octavio Saenz.

Saenz, South Texas political leader George Parr and seven others are charged with converting school district funds to their own use. They are being tried for mail fraud in connection with the alleged conversion.

Hayes brought the checks and other records of Saenz's account from May 12, 1949, through Feb. 1, 1955.

School board members are not legally able to receive salaries. Parr, whose signature is the only one on one of the checks and who countersigned the others, did not live in the school district. He was never an official.

Other checks were signed by Oscar Carrillo, former secretary to the board and one of the defendants.

The 53 checks total $3,530 and were payable to such names as M. E. Saenz, M. I. Saenz, A. R. Saenz and Francisco Sanchez. All were endorsed and deposited in Octavio Saenz's account.

M. E. Saenz and A. R. Saenz were on a list of almost 300 which a Texas Ranger and postal officials testified earlier they were unable to find living in Duval County.

R. R. Gonzales, present tax assessor-collector for the Benavides district, identified six 1953 checks from taxpayers which he said were never listed on the 1953 rolls.

John Dinn of Houston, tax payer, was listed on the rolls, but no payment was credited to him in 1953. However, a receipt for $609.57 had been issued.

No Disappointment Over Bus Decision

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The refusal of Justice Black yesterday in Washington to speed up a U.S. Supreme Court decision to end segregation on Montgomery buses brought "no real disappointment" to leaders of the Negro bus boycott.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. said, "We were optimistic enough to hope for the best, but realistic enough to know it was possible the court would deny the request, and we knew that that was the greater possibility."

King is president of the Montgomery Improvement Assn., coordinating body for the boycott that began Dec. 5. Out of it grew a federal suit on which the Supreme Court ruled a week ago that city and state bus segregation laws are unconstitutional.

The decision will be formally relayed to U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. of Montgomery official said yesterday after Black refused a Negro request to shorten the normal delay. A permanent injunction against city bus segregation here will go into effect when the decision arrives.

Until then, "the protest will continue," King said. "We don't intend to return to segregated buses."

Boycotters voted a week ago to continue the protest.

The attorneys general of two Southern states were quick to react to Brownell's conference.

Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson of Mississippi said the conference "is just another instance of utter disregard of the rights of states."

In Florida, Atty. Gen. Richard W. Ervin said Brownell "will do more harm than good" if he attempts to force action to end segregated seating on intrastate buses.

Study Urged On Youngsters

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, Monday urged young people to take their studies seriously in order to establish a firm foundation.

Addressing the Sophomore Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs, Dr. Hunt reminded the members that within a short space of time they would either be in college or on a job, and in both instances they would be largely on their own. Their school foundation then would weigh heavily on chances of success, he said.

Plans were made for a paper ride on Nov. 24, and the Hi-Y boys discussed the possibility of a basketball game between Dads and Sons to raise money for the YMCA World Service (missionary) fund. James Howard Stephens, president, was in charge of the meeting and Hubert Craig pronounced "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

Motor Scooter Is Involved In Wreck

Three accidents occurred in Big Spring Monday, and one involved a motor scooter.

Leona Smith, 1606 Benton, was driving a 1954 Chevrolet that was in an accident with Elton Perkins, 1602 E. 16th at 16th and Runnels. Perkins was on a 1956 Allstate motor scooter at the time.

Mrs. Paul Darrow, 609 W. 17th, and Meadows Hamill, 1102 E. 14th, were drivers of cars colliding in the 200 block of W. Third. Dewitt Day, 112 E. 15th, and Con Wallace Birt, 807 NW 4th, were involved in an accident in the 300 block of W. Second.

Diogenes, Blow Out Your Lamp

Mrs. W. S. Goodlett Jr., 1802 Gollad, is ready for Diogenes to blow out his lantern.

Yesterday she lost her purse containing valuable personal papers and $20 in cash — and found it before she knew it was lost.

She had taken her daughter to the Crawford Hotel for a dancing lesson and the purse fell from her car just off the curb. Mrs. Goodlett missed the purse but thought she had left it at home.

In the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sanford discovered the purse and called the Goodlett home. When Mrs. Goodlett returned, word of the discovery was awaiting her. Sanford is employed at the VA Hospital. He would not hear to any offer of reward.

Smauley Still In Serious Condition

C. A. Smauley, 1000 Howell, gravely injured early Monday in a car accident 25 miles east of Big Spring on U. S. 80, continued in a serious condition at the Big Spring Hospital Tuesday.

He is under an oxygen tent and, although doctors said he had a fairly good night, is still regarded as being in a critical condition.

Smauley, a T&P locomotive engineer, was alone in his car when it ran out of control and turned over. He was pinned in the wreckage for some time until passers-by rescued him.

Crash Blamed On Pilot Error

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A young pilot's tragic mistake is believed to have caused the flaming runway smashup of a jet fighter and two parked B47 bombers at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Three men died and seven were injured in the Saturday night accident. Loss in equipment is estimated at nearly eight million dollars.

Lt. Robert L. Young, 23, a University of Nebraska student who recently completed jet training with the Air National Guard, was practicing "touch and go" landings. As he roared out of the dark sky, authorities said, he apparently mistook a taxi ramp for a runway.

Young's F80 rammed the two Strategic Air Command B47s which were being refueled, turning the ramp into an inferno. The pilot was killed.

The crew chief of one of the bombers and his assistant were also killed. They were A.1.C. John Lawrence Delaney, 21, whose home town is Chicago, and Donald Russell Price, 20, of Easton, Pa.

A.2.C. John Streicher, 19, Paterson, N.J., who was reported in critical condition after the accident, was described as "fair" last night. Three others remained in the hospital with lesser injuries.

City Builds Its Yule Pageant

CASS CITY, Mich. (AP) — This small community 80 miles north of Detroit is building its own "Bethlehem" for the renewal of a Christmas pageant which has won it renown as the "Christmas town of Michigan."

By today volunteers had completed most of the groundwork on a replica of Bethlehem for the scenes of the Dec. 16 Pageant of the Nativity. The set is on a hillside overlooking this Tuscola County village. Some 250 of the townspeople are ready to re-enact the roles that brought national attention to the pageant two years ago.

The show was not staged last year, but is being revived by the Cass City Pageant Assn. because of many requests.

Singer Hooked For Support

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Billy Eckstine must pay $750 a month support for two children born to Carolle Drake, former Atlanta disc jockey and model with whom he admitted living as man and wife for three years.

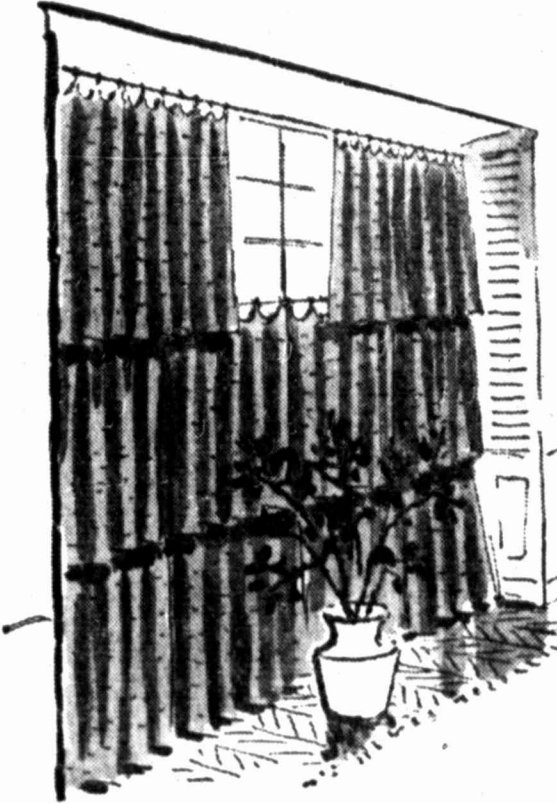

Eckstine acknowledged in court yesterday that he was the father of her two infant sons, but he did not promise to take the suggestion of Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle, who said: "You ought to get married for the benefit of the children."

Miss Drake said the singer promised to marry her after his wife's divorce became final last May.

Honest Onlookers

SEATTLE (AP) — A paper bag stuffed with $34,000 broke open as two gunmen made their getaway from a bank holdup yesterday. Bills totaling $10,300 fluttered to the street, the FBI said. Onlookers picked them up and returned them to the bank, but the bandits got away with the rest.

A dash of new fresh colors does wonders to brighten and add the air of gay festivity throughout the whole house...
