Sidewalks, Curbing Discussed Wednesday At Rotary Club

Speakers at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Wednesday discussed the matter of putting down sidewalks and curbing after a telegram was read stating that the Works Progress Administration had approved the blanketed project covering Terrell County and that $53,198.00 had been allotted for carrying on the work in the county.

Speakers stressed the point that property owners could hardly afford to miss this opportunity of improving their holdings as the work would call for a very small outlay of cash, and would add materially to both the property and to the town.

DRIVERS LICENSE GOOD AFTER APR. 1

Austin—Texas drivers may continue to use their operators' licenses after April 1, the statutory expiration date for all such permits, the public safety commission announced today.

The commission said an indefinite period of extension was advisable pending legislative action on two proposals for reissuing driving permits. The two bills referred to in the legislative hopper are Senate bill No. 3 and House bill No. 50.

Licenses issued to chauffeurs and drivers classed as commercial operators were not affected by the safety department's orders for extension as these permits expire one year from date of issuance. Since Texas' driver's license law was enacted in 1936, two and three-quarter million licenses had been assigned to passenger vehicle operators. These permits were issued by tax collectors over the state under the statute which stipulated that they would expire April 1, 1939. However, no action had yet been taken by the 46th legislature to provide for renewal or reissuance of the licenses.

Safety department officials said the new expiration date would be announced later.

Ship Burns Following Plunge to Earth In Heavy Fog; Wreckage is Found Sunday Morning By Dillard Babb on Ranch

A fulfilled promise and a heavy fog brought death to two passengers and a pilot Saturday afternoon when their plane crashed at 5:31 as indicated by a watch belonging to the pilot which had stopped at that time. S. A. Darr, Jr., 27, Dan Farley, 40, and Claude E. (Ed) Hampton, 27, were those involved in the crash.

The plane took off from the local landing field at about 5:15 and flew east toward a heavy fog which was coming in. After darkness descended and no word had been received from the plane searching parties were organized with citizens of Sanderson and Dryden joining in the search which continued until 11:30 Sunday morning when the burned plane and bodies were reported as found on the Holmes ranch, 18 miles east of Sanderson by Dillard Babb, operator of the ranch. Mr. Babb knew nothing of the lost plane and happened to ride upon the scene while riding the pasture. The fire had died completely.

Indications were that the pilot had become lost in the heavy fog and was endeavoring to find the U. S. Army landing field near Dryden, and which he missed about three miles. Investigators of the crash stated that it was evident that the plane had been in a glide at the time it struck the ground and was traveling at terrific speed. The bodies of Farley and Hampton remained with the ship and were badly charred and the body of Darr, 35 yards from the spot where the plane burned, was badly mangled.

The gas tank had exploded and was found about 45 feet east of the fuselage. The motor was lying some 10 feet to the east and the body of Farley was lying beside it. The plane burned 56 yards from where it first hit the ground and the body of Darr was in a direct line with the plane and where it had first hit, but 35 yards beyond, making a total of 91 yards from the first impact to where the body lay.

Hampton, the pilot, was flying his own plane, an open model 1929 Spartan which he had purchased a few weeks previously.

LIVESTOCK SHOW FEBRUARY 27

A livestock show is scheduled for Sanderson to be held Monday, February 27, at which time the calves and lambs being fed by 4-H Club members will be shown.

This show will give the boys an opportunity to brush up on showing their animals before they are carried to San Angelo to be entered in the Fat Stock Show there March 3-6.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Goldwire, Jr., of San Antonio, spent several days at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Goldwire before leaving for New York where they will enter Columbia University February 6.

Mrs. N. E. Charlton left Tuesday for Austin where she plans to visit for two weeks with Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Charlton and family. Dr. Charlton is a brother of Mr. Charlton.

Announcement is carried on the back page of this issue of the Times to the effect that the tailor shop which has been known as the Royal Dry Cleaners will henceforth be known as the Vogue Tailors under the management of Prince Dishman, Jr.

Funeral services for Darr, garage mechanic and Farley, trainman were conducted in Sanderson Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Church of Christ. W. S. Boyett, minister of the Church of Christ, Alpine, was in charge of the services. Interment was made in Cedar Grove Cemetery with the Stirman Undertaking Parlor in charge. The body of Hampton was shipped to Marfa Tuesday and from there to Naples, Texas where his parents reside.

INVESTIGATORS HERE

Albert Meyer, investigator for the Civil Air Authorities, Dallas, arrived Monday for an inspection of the crash and Capt. E. H. Jose, inspector for the Air Safety Board of Civil Aeronautics Authorities, Santa Monica, Calif., arrived Tuesday and conducted a thorough investigation. No definite report was made as the report must come from Washington but Capt. Jose indicated that the crash was the result of the heavy fog which was so dense that it was difficult to see but a few feet.

Farley is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Farley of Sanderson; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Cobb of Sanderson and Mrs. Harry Nutter of Crane; four brothers, Raymond and Ernest Farley of Sanderson, Van Farley of Odessa and Joe Farley of Hollywood, Calif.; and by a son, Donald Farley of Southgate, Calif. All were present for the funeral services with the exception of Joe Farley and the son Donald, who were unable to get here.

Darr is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Darr, Sr. of Sanderson; a sister, Mrs. Earl Keene of Alpine; and two brothers, Chester Darr of Sanderson and H. F. Darr of Marfa, and all were present for the services.

A number were in attendance from Del Rio, former home of Darr. They were Mr. and Mrs. Berry Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Herrington, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Christall, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dugan, and Mrs. Beulah Goodwin. Farley was also well known in Del Rio.

RED LIGHTS FLASH AGAIN

During 1938, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports that total direct fire loss in this country reached the gigantic sum of $302,050,000.

The smallest monthly loss, $19,473,617, occurred in June, and the highest, $32,758,044, in December.

The total marked a substantial increase over 1937, when the loss was $253,859,000, and was the greatest for any year since 1932.

Thus it appears that fire waste, which tended slightly downward for five years, is again on an upward curve. And that is something in which every person in this country is directly interested. For fire does more than burn property—it destroys jobs and opportunities, increases our taxes, stalemates community progress and is a depressive factor in every phase of our economic life. Yet according to the experts, at least eighty per cent of all fires could be prevented—and easily prevented—simply through the exercise of caution buttressed with a little knowledge of hazards and how they may be eliminated.

It's too late now to do anything about last year's gigantic fire waste. But we have eleven months ahead in which to do something about this year's. No organization or group of organizations can do much toward controlling fire without the cooperation of the public. Fire is an individual problem, and it's up to each of us to help fight it as individuals in our homes and places of business. Any fire marshal will be glad to tell you how to handle your part of this great job—and the National Board of Fire Underwriters, at 85 John Street, New York, offers a wealth of free literature on fire prevention. How about it?

ODDITIES AT THE FAIR

NEW YORK—Here are a few of the strikingly unusual things visitors will find at the New York World's Fair 1939:

A parachute tower from which visitors may "bail out" at an elevation of 250 feet and be sure of a "happy landing."

Revolving "magic carpets" from which you may look down as from a height of two miles upon "The City of Tomorrow" inside the 200-foot Perisphere.

A "Tree of Life" carved from the trunk and branches of an elm planted in Connecticut in 1781 by Revolutionary War prisoners.

"Steve Brodie" jumping six times a day from a reproduction of the Brooklyn Bridge.

The most valuable wheat field for its size in the world in full growth.

Five million dollars worth of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and other gems in one glittering display.

The steel-walled bathysphere in which descent has been made miles down in the black depths of the ocean.

"Rocket gun" by which passengers will be shot to the moon, or Mars some day—perhaps.

The model of a human eye so large visitors may enter it and look out upon the fair's busy scene just as if the eye were doing the looking.

Two hundred blooded cows being milked daily on a revolving platform.

An orange grove transplanted intact all the way from Florida.

Automobiles with living drivers in hair-raising collisions and flying somersaults.

The largest opal in the world. An oil well in operation with real drillers in the "cast."

The largest model railroad ever constructed.

Puppets 14 feet tall dramatizing the contents of the familiar bathroom medicine cabinet.

Displays of rare orchids, renewed every three days by plants flown to the Fair from Venezuela.

The tremendous discharge of 10,000,000 volts of man-made lightning.

A Brazilian exhibit building erected on stilts.

A floor made of cotton.

Ricksha runners from South Africa six and a half feet tall and clad mostly in feathers, horns and beads.

A waterfall cascading from the high roof of a building.

Mural paintings that change their colors while you're looking at them.

Fireworks set to music in related patterns of color and light.

A city entirely populated by midgets.

An automobile speedway half a mile long on top of an exhibit building.

Mighty snowstorms sweeping down out of a clear Spring sky.

A building turned inside out with its roofbeams on the outside.

Moving chairs traveling around in a building so visitors won't have to walk.

A flight to Venus so real you'll swear you've been there and met the folks.

The tallest mural paintings in the world.

A model of New York City so large that the Empire State Building is reproduced 23 feet tall.

A sphere 200 feet in diameter seeming to revolve on jets of water, like the little silver ball in the shooting-gallery.

A fountain that sings.

Paintings that have to be destroyed every night and done all over again next morning.

A "Fountain of the Atom," with electrons and protons dancing around a pulsating shaft of light.

nominated by the governor for State Tax Commissioner, finally gave the press a statement wherein he quieted all reports that he is a Kansan. He lived in Fort Worth for 14 years after graduating from T. C. U. back in 1906. He edited the first year book for that school. Score another for the Horned Frogs! The broadcast last summer Kansas was from his mothers home in Kingman, adding he has lived at Hereford this last time since 1936. So it begins to look like a safe bet that all O'Daniel nominees will be confirmed by the Senate. The greatest fight likely will be on Joe Kunschik, Austin telephone company deskman, opposed leaders in labor circles because he is not a member of the A. F. of L. or even of the C. I. O. He admits he belongs to a company union. He must not have been very active in it, however, since Manager John W. Ezelle of the Austin office of the company did not even know Kunschik by sight, having another official in the office point out Kunschik after the latter's name appeared as the nominee for the Labor post. In fact, telephone company officials so far have held up Kunschik's request for a leave of absence so that he will not lose his retirement rights. Labor delegations will be here this week to oppose Kunschik.

who, incidentally, was one of O'Daniel's first radio admirers of several years standing.

Governor O'Daniel's announcement that he thinks 35 cents is enough to pay for a meal brought much discussion and some fear lest his plan be put through the Legislature. Many State employees have heretofore sailed down $1 meals on their expense accounts, along with $2.00 hotel rooms. When a newspaperman figured out the saving were cut to 35-cent meals and $1 rooms, the governor thanked him profusely for the information, saying it wouldn't take long to save several millions if strict economy is put into effect in State affairs. "Then we could pay the old folks," smiled the Governor. By the way, Claude Teer, chairman of the Board of Control, says he would like to see the present Legislature take the operation of the Old Age Assistance set-up out of the hands of the Board. "It was dumped on us at the last session and we don't want it," Teer says. Asked if he would recommend changes in the personnel which manages the department, Teer refused to answer except to say that Jack Little is only acting director.

Howard Hartzog has promised a hearing soon on the Westbrook resolution calling for an investigation of the operations of the Old Age set-up.

When the House committee on elemosynary institutions visited the State Deaf and Dumb Institute last Friday, five or six of the members of the committee refused to eat dinner as guests of the superintendent who has been under fire recently. On the other hand one of the members blandly announced that "if any of you fellows need to have your car fixed, they will fix it out here and it won't cost anything." Representative Bundy of Wichita Falls took it on himself to inspect the garage and reports he found six cars being repaired and that "none of them belonged to the state." So there may be more fireworks here soon.

It begins to look like February will be a month noted for visits from many delegations interested in legislation. Even the Fourth Estate will have its day—two days—February 10 and 11, when the Texas Press Association meets here. Deskins Wells will preside, with Program Chairman Ray Nichols discussing legislation. Entertainment will be provided by Louis Goldberg and others. Manufacturers and merchants who own and operate trucks, as well as those engaged in truck operations as a business are expected to be in Austin on Feb. 7th for the first skirmish on the bills to increase the load limit. At this time the House committee will determine which of several bills introduced will be passed through for consideration by the House. It is conceded that the committee will recommend an increase in the load limit in one form or another.

One of the indirect results of the drafting of William J. Lawson, secretary of the State Parks Board, to be private secretary to the Governor has been that Lawson will have little time in which to help legislators decide on what is needed for the park system. Help is needed in order to maintain the 36 State parks which have been created and beautified during the last five years. Through the federal government, the CCC camps and the National Park Service, this work has been carried on so far. But the federal government is beginning to cut down. There now are only 12 of the tree-planting camps whereas there were 22 in the State parks at one time. If Uncle Sam keeps these boys in our parks, the State must now furnish materials for them to work with, it is pointed out. And it is absolutely essential that caretakers be employed full time for these parks, for which there is now no provision. While Secretary Lawson will be busy on his new job, his work for the parks board will be missed, says Chairman Wendell Mayes of Brownwood, chairman of the board. And our state parks should be advertised. Maybe, in line with Governor O'Daniel's industrialization program some plan will be worked out to publicize them.

Another department, up in the air now, is the State Planning Board, which is sort of clearing house for inquiries of all sorts from other states. A new bill, creating a commission with broader powers, is now in the hopper. It will likely be continued on a much broader scale.

SHORTS—Harry Knox Jr. of Brownwood is the new adjutant general; and Major Gaston Howard was reappointed as first assistant. Race horse proponents still believe they have a chance. One newspaper man says he is against the R. O. T. C. because when he "was in it, they made me ride a horse bareback until I couldn't sit down for a week."

About 17 House members signed a bill to abolish the Liquor Board. It is believed they might as many as 40 votes for the bill, leaving 110 against it, but it will provide some lively debates before the session is over. No great support is expected for Senator Nelson's one-house bill which he will throw into the hopper in a few days. Representative DeLoe of Port Arthur says he will introduce a resolution against letting 50,000 European refugees come into Texas, pointing out it would mean putting 50,000 aliens on relief here. Charity begins at home, says Kinard, unknown New York banker is reported as ready to put up a million dollars to buy a million acres for the refugees. Legislators are wondering where anyone can find land that cheap even in West Texas. Governor O'Daniel has cut down his press conferences to one a week—each Tuesday. Allred always met the press once a day unless he was out of town (or the state!).

Southern Tanks and Reservoirs to Aid Checking Run-Off

The 1939 range conservation plan of the AAA calls for a distribution of earthen tanks and reservoirs and more basins on spreader terraces to check rainfall run-off, according to terms of the program announced by George Slaughter, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee of the AAA.

Slaughter also pointed out that the new range program, which does not differ fundamentally from that of 1938, is to attract more ranchmen and stock-farmers of East Texas and other more or less arid areas by providing pay-bankers for the construction of $3 an acre for resodding old range land with adapt- varieties of range grasses.

Payment for construction of spreader terraces has been in- creased from 40 to 60 cents a linear foot.

Construction of earthen tanks or reservoirs, payment will be the rate of 15 cents a cubic yard of material moved not in excess of 5,000 cubic yards, and for the amount in excess of 5,000 for each tank or reser- voir. Last year it was 15 cents less of the amount of ma- terial moved.

Slaughter said the change is to encourage a greater dis- tribution of relatively small tanks over the range, so as to check grazing.

The program provides a range allowance which in Ter- rer counties about 6 cents an acre for each tank or reser- voir. The state it may be as high as 12.

A ranchman may earn up to 10 per cent of his range building allowance by this deferred graze- practice.

A recent revision of the 1939 plan eliminates the digging of a special range-building allowance under the program.

STUDENTS APPROVE TRAINING OF PILOTS

Austin—College students of America thoroughly approve President Roosevelt's plan to put wings on 20,000 collegiates as part of his $500,000,000 national defense program, the current poll of Student Opinion Surveys revealed here today.

Results from 82 colleges, measured from the University of Texas, showed that only three out of every ten college students opposed the program which would spend $10,000,000 for training young aviators at aer- ially-strategic campuses over the nation.

As a trial balloon, aviation would become a vital part of the training for 300 volunteers in the universities of Washington, Alabama, Minnesota, and at Pur- due University, Texas Agricul- tural and Mechanical College, Georgia School of Technology and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. If successful, the program would be expanded to include other colleges and uni- versities, it was pointed out.

The course would provide six months training in solo and dual flying calculated to build a re- serve of 100,000 American pilots with fifty or more flying hours, the surveys stated.

Colleagues voted 71.8 to 28.2 per cent to "approve President Roosevelt's plan to train an air reserve corps of 20,000 men now in college."

In an earlier poll, the college students voted 62 per cent to 38 per cent in favor of the Presi- dent's high rearmament pro- gram.

Starvation is Not Necessary for Reducing

San Angelo—Research has re- vealed that reducing need no longer be a hardship and that "fad" or "starvation" diets are definitely out-of-date for losing one's extra pounds, according to Paul A. Goesser of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, in an address in this city.

"A group of over-weight per- sons ranging in age from 14 to 67 years of age and engaged in various occupations, lost weight at the rate of from 8 to 12 pounds per month on a diet built around lean meat, in a leading medical college," said Mr. Goesser. "In addition to meat, these persons were allowed eggs, cheese, dairy products, vegetables, fruits, bread, butter and coffee. In other words, this was a normal diet except that it was higher in protein and lower in starches and sugars than the aver- age diet. The persons on this diet enjoyed their meals, carried on their regular vocations, and im- proved in health while reducing."

Mr. Goesser stressed the fact that many of the so-called re- ducing diets are actually injur- ous to health because they lack sufficient protein, minerals and other food essentials such as are found in the above diet.

The speaker declared that be- cause of the many new cuts of beef, pork and lamb which have been evolved, the number of meat cuts available for the housewife when she goes food shopping, is now the largest in history. There are at least 120 cuts on the market. The modern meat cuts are smaller than they used to be, he said, in line with the discriminating choice of to- day's housewife, who buys her meat oftener than the housewife of yesteryear, and in more con- venient-sized packages.

Among the 1939 models in meat cuts, according to Mr. Goesser, are flank steak fillets, short rib crown pot-roasts, butterfly round steaks, Frenched pork loin roasts, diced ham, crown pork roasts, cushion lamb shoulders, Frenched lamb legs, sirloin lamb roasts and lamb trotters.

Historical Museum Receives Paper Signed By L. S. Ross

Alpine—The Big Bend Histor- ical and Scientific Society Mus- eum on the Sul Ross State Col- lege campus was the recipient of an original paper signed by Lawrence Sullivan Ross, former governor of Texas for whom the college was named.

The document was presented to the museum by Mrs. Byrde Pearce Hamilton of Five Oakes Ranch, Montell, Texas. The paper contains the signature of Governor Ross and is an official appointment naming H. D. Pearce of Rannels County as Notary Public. The document also bears the State Seal and the signature of J. M. Moon, Secretary of State in 1889.

Another document bearing the signature of Governor Ross, which is on display in the Mus- eum, is a receipt indicating an amount of $215 donated to the Confederate Home Fund by some school children in Texas. The Museum also owns a por- trait of Sullivan Ross and an oil painting, is in process of completion.

Dr. Clifford B. Casey, head of Sul Ross History Department, has done considerable work in collecting information concern- ing the life of Governor Ross and will appreciate any "leads" which may result in adding to the memoirs of this famous character of Texas history.

Low Enforcement Reduces Death From Accidents

Austin—Unrelenting traffic en- forcement along "death corri- dors" produced favorable results in 1938, Homer Garrison, Jr., state safety director, announced today after reviewing fatal crash re- ports.

Studies of 19 Texas highways on which fatal collisions most frequently occurred in 1937 re- vealed that 315 persons lost their lives at the various locations. Highway patrolmen were concen- trated along sections of these highways with instructions to guard against speeders and reckless drivers.

During the past year these "death corridors" became com- paratively safe highways while the death rate was reduced over 57 per cent. Where before the rate had been 315 persons, in 1938 it dropped to 134.

Texas is the only state that is known to depend almost entirely upon this type of selective en- forcement as a means of reduc- ing traffic crashes.

"Our experiment has proved conclusively that firm enforce- ment at strategic crash points," Garrison said, "is necessary in order to bring to Texas a lowered death rate."

What Does the Future Hold for The Smaller Towns in Texas?

What must inevitably be the fate of the small towns and communities in Texas?

This question is being asked in literally hundreds of interior places over the state where today "For Rent" signs clutter the windows of numbers of empty business buildings! It is a question of in- creasingly serious importance, not only to these small towns and communities, but to the state as a whole.

These once busy places of community life, around which has largely grown the progressive development of Texas, are being dried up by the operation of heavy trucks over our highways. Their local business firms and enterprises, the dry goods, hardware, drug and fruit and vegetable stores, retail lumber yards, wholesale grocery houses, bottling plants, feed mills, oil mills, grain elevators and cotton compresses are unable to meet the competition of the larger business centers be- cause of the almost unrestricted and promiscuous use of Texas highways in the delivery of goods by trucks from the larger cities holding the quantity- purchase advantage.

The absorption and manipulation, in varying degree, of the cost of transportation by highway for competitive purposes, if not restricted, will inevitably drive dealers and wholesalers in the smaller towns and communities out of business. They must succumb to the inequality of oppor- tunity with which they are burdened and thus contribute further to our growing economic chaos.

The plan now being made by certain interests to increase the load limit on trucks operating over Texas highways will hasten the end of local enter- prises in smaller Texas communities. If under the present statutes harm already has been done the small town merchant and property owner, what then must be the effect of any increase in the allowable truck load limit? Certainly the larger the load limit the greater will be the distance over which goods can be hauled from the larger dis- tributing centers, and the greater will be the harmful effects on dealers and enterprises in the smaller towns!

The burden of taxation borne by the business interests of the smaller towns and communities throughout Texas will, as a natural result, be shifted more and more to the shoulders of the remaining property owners. Those who have in- vested in homes and business buildings must sacri- fice their investments to what some might mistake- ingly call "the march of progress."

The thousands of families, for so many years dependent upon employment by these business en- terprises as a means of livelihood, must be forced to the cities in quest of work, and falling in that add further to our burden of relief and unem- ployment!

Inroads by long distance truck operations on the traffic of the railroads must necessarily result in the abandonment of more and more railroad mileage, with consequent loss of payrolls and taxes to those communities and an increase of tax bur- den to the citizens.

FUNDS NEEDED TO AID CRIPPLES

Gonzales—With more crippled children in our country today than there were soldiers maimed in the world war, we believe that people every where will welcome the opportunity to join in the work of building a Texas Warm Springs Center for crippled children.

Ross Boothe, President of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation said today.

On February 1, following the Presidential Birthday Celebrations for crippled children, Boothe said the Foundation would announce a state-wide Jinky contest to raise the money necessary to erect buildings and install equipment on a 40-acre location already secured for the proposed Warm Springs Convalescent and Rehabilitation center.

After a long study of financing methods the board of directors decided to use the Jinky plan, because of its unusualness and wide appeal. Through the Jinky contest we will not have to ask for outright donations, but instead will sell Jinkys which will entitle the purchaser to enter the contest in which $1,500.00 in cash prizes will be given. Then too, every purchaser will receive a copy of the Constitution of the United States free.

Since its organization as a non-profit institution on March 3, 1937, the Foundation has secured a 40-acre location 12 miles north of Gonzales, with an abundance of warm flowing water. The Foundation tract adjoins 360-acre Palmetto Park, widely noted for its beautiful woodlands and many different kinds of flowers, which would be utilized as a recreational area for the children.

We now have more than three thousand contributing members and the Foundation is governed by a board of 39 men and women from all parts of the state, who are giving their time and energy to the work. Good progress has been made since the Foundation was organized nearly two years ago, and we now have a concrete plan to offer the people to bring about a combination of the natural facilities we have with those things offered by man and science to complete a Warm Springs Center for crippled children that all of Texas will be proud to have a part in building.

Since the Foundation announced its proposed plans, more than a year ago, inquiries and plans for help have come in almost daily for crippled children and their parents from Texas and all parts of the United States. It is hard for us to tell the unfortunate little ones that the Foundation is not yet ready to receive them, but it is some satisfaction to be able to hold out a ray of hope that we believe it will not be long before we can say that we are ready.

Through the Jinky contest will be officially announced on February 1, we believe we will be offering the people an interesting and easy way to do their part. Jinky is simply a contest of skill and art, in which the entrant makes designs in folded squares of paper. There will be one set of prizes for the best Jinkys and a set of prizes of equal amount for the worst Jinkys.

In work preliminary to announcing the contest publicly we have secured the cooperation of all high officials, women's clubs, service and civic groups in all parts of the state. Jinky will be made available through these organizations and through direct mail.

This is a state-wide, non-profit movement to build Texas Warm Springs Center that has the natural facilities of being the greatest in the World, and we invite and urge individual Texans and organizations in all parts of the state to cooperate in the work.

Motorists were glad to see a drop in the price of gasoline Wednesday when two cents a gallon was cut from the price of regular gasoline and one and one-half cents was cut off the price of white gasoline.

Buyers From Wide Area Expected to Be at Auction Sale

More than 30 prominent registered Hereford breeders of West and Central West Texas have entered animals in the auction sale to be held March 4, second day of the Eighth Annual San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo. It was announced last night. The sale will start at 9 o'clock and will be the eighth auction to be held in connection with the show. The stock show acts as agent and is sponsor of the sale. In the past years receipts from these sales have aggregated several thousand dollars and several hundred animals have changed hands.

Accommodations and facilities for buyers were improved and enlarged last year when a huge sales ring was constructed in the center of the cluster of live stock barns at the Fairgrounds. This year's sale is expected to attract buyers from over the Southwest in greater numbers than ever before.

Mrs. Laura Cochran, of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. E. L. Sweeten, of Anthony, N. Mex., who visited in Sanderson for several days the past week with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Luella Lemons and other relatives, left last Saturday for Uvalde where they will visit their sister, Mrs. W. H. Mansfield.
