HEAVY VOTING—Snyder voters lined up all over the courthouse this morning to be counted in the general election with the national race still not being forecast for either Republican or Democrat, making it one of the few races in history where no pollsters were willing to state definitely without reservations that one candidate would win. A local consideration is the Optional Road Law of 1947 which would put an engineer over all road construction in the county.

America's Voters Turn Out In Record Numbers

By ARTHUR EDSON
and WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — American voters were out early and in big numbers today making their choice between Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy for the next president.

A forenoon spot survey by Associated Press newspapers and bureaus across the country brought reports of long waiting lines at thousands of precincts. Advance predictions were for a record total of perhaps 67 million ballots.

First trickling reports of how the voting was going quickened spirits of those backing Nixon, the Republican candidate, in New Hampshire and Kansas.

On the other hand, Democrat Kennedy scored in the first straws from Virginia, North Carolina and Minnesota.

As usual, a handful of New Hampshire precincts had their votes all in and counted by daylight. The score: 49 for Nixon, 8 for Kennedy. Republican headquarters rushed out a statement saying Nixon was running 5 per cent stronger than President Eisenhower did in 1956.

In Parsons, Kan., four precincts, incomplete, gave Nixon 71, Kennedy 61, although Democratic candidates for the Senate and governor were running ahead of Republican opponents.

A Virginia fishing village, which went 3-1 for Eisenhower over Democrat Adlai Stevenson four years ago, reported 7-0 for Kennedy over Nixon.

And a North Carolina mountain precinct which was solidly Democratic in '56 remained that way with 8 votes for Kennedy.

A little Minnesota precinct gave Kennedy 3, Nixon 0. No comparison with four years ago was available.

In the spot check around the country, these were some of the reports:

Pennsylvania — Record turnout indicated with voting heavy in all sections.

Michigan—Long early lineups pointing toward record vote. Rapid movement of lines in Detroit indicated most voters were pulling straight party levers on voting machines.

Illinois — Early voting heavier than in 1956 despite rain.

Missouri — Near record early turnout in Democratic St. Louis; some outstate points reported big early vote despite chilly rain.

Texas—Long lines waiting when polls opened in all sections.

Indiana — Prospective record vote.

Georgia — Voting so heavy in larger cities that Atlanta sought extra voting machines but found none available.

Ohio—Heavy early vote.

State and congressional races, some of them as heated as the presidential contest, will help swell the vote total. Twenty-seven governors, 34 senators and all 347 U.S. representatives are also being elected today.

For months both presidential candidates have been shooting off an unprecedented display of oratorical fireworks.

Yet with the millions of words, often repeated over and over, when the end came each man seemed frantic lest something still remained unsaid.

Nixon put in four hours on television Monday, answering questions phoned in by listeners, and then appeared with President Eisenhower and vice-presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge in another 30-minute program.

Kennedy put in 30 minutes of TV rebuttal to Nixon, plus a last moment appeal in a 30-minute show from Boston.

As was to be expected, neither had much to say that was new.

Some sample quotes:

Nixon (speaking of Kennedy)—"He voices his concern for the people, and then advocates a Niagara of spending which would in the end either raise their taxes or prices, or both, and would cheapen their insurance policies, pensions and Social Security."

Kennedy (speaking of Nixon)—"Words and gestures—talks and visits—will not bring peace in the future, just as they have failed to bring peace during the last eight years."

True to tradition, each man bravely predicted victory.

Most poll takers give Kennedy a slight edge, but rarely have so many predictions been hedged in so many directions.

The difficulty is simple. Scarcely a one of the 50 states can be rated safely in the bag for either Nixon or Kennedy. Big states like Illinois (27 electoral votes), Michigan (20), Pennsylvania (32) and Texas (24) are tossups.

With 269 electoral votes needed for victory, a slight switch in either direction could upset the most carefully calculated prediction.

Almost lost in the excitement over the presidential race are the contests for governors and for Congress.

Much of the attention in the gubernatorial races will center on Michigan, Kansas and Illinois.

Heated Campaign In Texas Comes To End

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texans voted early and in large numbers Tuesday in one of the state's most heated and bitterly fought presidential elections of the century. A record-shattering 2,250,000 votes were expected.

From polling places in all sections of the state came the same report—long lines of voters waiting to cast their ballots.

At Uvalde in Southwest Texas County Judge Jack Woodley put in two orders for extra ballots. He had ordered 4,350 ballots. Monday he ordered another 500 then upped the order to 700. Woodley predicted that Monday's voting would pass the record of 4,032 votes cast in Uvalde County in 1952.

Light rains fell from Wichita Falls to Dallas and Fort Worth. In North Central Texas southward to San Angelo and Junction, Skies were generally cloudy elsewhere. But temperatures were mild and the Weather Bureau forecast clearing weather during the day.

At Dallas and San Antonio long lines of voters were waiting when the polls opened at 7 a.m. In both cities some precincts had up to 300 persons waiting in line.

The polls close at 7 p.m. Under Texas election laws, officials are forbidden to release any results until the polls close.

The San Antonio News reported that between 12,000 and 15,000 persons voted by 8:30 a.m. Veteran election judges said it was the largest turnout in their memory. A total vote of 130,000 was expected at San Antonio.

An early morning rain fell at Dallas but there were long lines at polling places throughout the county. Election officials said that the early turnout indicated an even larger turnout than the record 225,000 that they had predicted.

Some early disputes erupted in Dallas as Republican officials complained of jammed voting machines unattended and charged that poll watchers were being denied the chance to attend to their duties.

Long lines of voters waited at most of Midland's nine polls. Officials freely predicted a record vote of more than 13,000. Skies there were overcast.

A light sprinkle fell at Corsicana as the polls opened. At the courthouse, the largest precinct in Navarro County, the line of voters reached out onto the sidewalk.

At stake were Texas 24 electoral votes which went to the Republicans in 1952 and 1956 and which the Democrats hoped to recapture.

The big battle has been between the Republican slate of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge versus the Democratic standardbearers, John F. Kennedy and Texas' Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson is also a candidate for re-election to the Senate and although his Republican opponent, John Tower, waged a vigorous campaign, he was conceded but slight chance of unseating the Senate majority leader.

Loser Is Likely To Concede Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless it's a real close race, the loser in today's presidential election probably will admit defeat within a few hours after midnight Eastern Standard Time.

But a close race could—as it has in previous elections—delay any concession many hours longer.

Four years ago, Adlai Stevenson, Democrat, conceded the re-election of Dwight D. Eisenhower at 1:20 a.m. the day following election. Four years previously, when Eisenhower and Stevenson ran their first race, Stevenson officially gave up at 1:44 a.m. Wednesday.

Another two-time loser, Thomas E. Dewey, waited longer. In 1944, when he ran against Franklin D. Roosevelt, Republican Dewey did not toss in the sponge until 3:15 a.m. the day after the election. Four years later, when he was defeated by Harry S. Truman, Dewey held to a string of hope until 11:15 a.m. Wednesday before conceding Truman's surprise victory.

Wendell Willkie, Republican, held out until 8:30 a.m. the day following the 1940 election before conceding that Roosevelt had won an unprecedented third term.

Roosevelt didn't have to wait so long in 1936 for his opponent to concede. Alf Landon, Republican, officially gave up at 1:45 a.m. Wednesday.

FDR's first election victim, Herbert Hoover, acknowledged at 12:30 a.m. the day following the 1932 election that Roosevelt was the winner.

Hoover followed the pattern set in 1928 by Al Smith, Democrat, who conceded shortly after midnight that he had lost to Hoover.

Some of the losers have held out longer.

In 1924, John W. Davis, Democrat, waited until 10:45 a.m. Wednesday before formally recognizing defeat by Calvin Coolidge, Republican.

In 1916, Charles Evans Hughes, Republican, waited several days for the official count in California before agreeing that Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, had won a second term.

The record for giving up in a hurry probably is held by James M. Cox, Democrat, who at 10:15 p.m. election night in 1920 conceded that he had been snowed under by Warren G. Hardin, Republican.

Estimate On Nation's Cotton Yield For '60 Dips Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated the 1960 cotton crop today at 14,298,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This total was 255,000 bales less than last month's forecast of 14,553,000 bales. It compared with last year's crop of 14,558,000 bales and with the 10-year average (1949-58) of 13,710,000 bales.

Supplementing the crop will be a reserve and surplus supply of about 7,600,000 bales accumulated from past crops. A large share of this is stored under a government farm price support program.

The yield of cotton per harvested acre was estimated at 442 pounds compared with 450 pounds forecast in October, 462 pounds in 1959 and 345 for the 10-year average.

The Census Bureau said 8,423,736 bales had been ginned prior to Nov. 1. This compared with 9,713,919 last year.

The Texas crop was estimated at 4,300,000 bales with acreage producing an average of 315 pounds per acre.

American-Egyptian type cotton production was estimated at 66,800 bales compared with 70,600 in 1959.

The yield per harvested acre and production, respectively, of cotton by states included: Arkansas 499 and 1,345,000; Louisiana 470 and 490,000; Oklahoma 322 and 430,000; New Mexico 706 and 300,000; and California 1,052 and 2,050,00.

The ginnings to Nov. 1 this year and last respectively, included:

Texas 2,055,285 and 2,732,985; New Mexico 126,829 and 196,367; and Oklahoma 133,850 and 194,461.

The department said production of cottonseed should be about 5,915,000 tons compared with 5,991,000 in 1959.

The indicated yield per acre for the United States of 442 pounds is 97 pounds above the 10-year average but is less than the 462 pounds harvested in 1959 and the record high of 466 pounds in 1958.

In southeastern states, the harvest moved forward during October with only limited interruptions. Nearly three-fourths of the crop was ginned prior to Nov. 1 in North Carolina, more than 90 per cent in South Carolina and Georgia, and more than 80 per cent in Alabama.

In central states, October rains coupled with lateness of the crop and other matters held the per cent ginned to generally less than average. Frequent October rains delayed the harvest in Oklahoma and Texas.

Space Capsule Shot Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space capsule was fired high over the Virginia coast today but failed to separate from its booster rocket, spoiling a test important to the man-in-space program.

The unmanned one-ton project Mercury capsule was launched by means of a 25-foot Little Joe rocket from the Wallops Island Station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at 10 a.m.

It reached an altitude of 53,000 feet but the separation mechanism failed and the capsule and the spent booster fell together into the Atlantic 13 miles offshore.

It was the day's second setback in the space program. A Blue Scout rocket's second stage burned out too soon after launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla., blocking an attempt to hurl a radiation study payload deep into space.

The Wallops Island test was designed as a supreme trial of the vehicle intended to carry man into earth orbiting flight next year. The separation failure cut off the experiment before it reached the stage at which a device for saving a space flier in emergency was to be tried under extreme conditions.

Stratojet Bomber Crashes On Takeoff

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A six-engine B47 Stratojet bomber crashed on take-off from nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base early today, killing all five persons aboard.

The $2½ million jet exploded and burned on impact with the 12,000-foot runway.

The crew was on a routine training mission, the base public information officer said. They were members of the 301st Bomb Wing of the 801st Air Division at the base.

Their names were not released immediately pending notification of next-of-kin.

Council Sets Action On Petition Monday

The Snyder City Council voted last night to take action at a special meeting next Monday on a petition calling for an election on proposed amendments to the city charter.

The petition was submitted by Robert R. Patterson, local attorney, on behalf of the petitioners. Patterson said the petition contained signatures of 393 qualified voters in the city.

It sets out three major proposals, which would be accomplished by 23 amendments to the city charter.

It would change the form of city government to the council-mayor form from the present council-manager form, providing a salary of not less than $7,000 nor more than $9,000 per year for the mayor, and provide pay of $20 each per meeting, with meetings limited to two per month, for councilmen. Under the present system the mayor and councilmen serve without any pay.

The proposal also would provide for an elective city marshal, elective city attorney and elective city judge. These posts are appointive under the present system.

Another proposal would prohibit the city from annexing property without approval of a majority of the residents involved.

Patterson said it would require a minimum of 50 days to prepare for the election, but urged that the council take the preliminary steps for calling an election before Jan. 31 so that current poll tax receipts will be valid.

The council voted to turn the petition over to the city secretary and invited Patterson to join the secretary in checking validity of signatures and whether the number of signatures by qualified voters amounts to 10 per cent of the total number of voters in the city. If 10 per cent of the qualified voters of the city sign such a petition, it is mandatory that the council call the election.

In routine business, the council voted to award a contract to Work Clothes Rental Service to furnish uniforms for employes of the city water, sewer and street departments. The firm submitted the lower of two bids, a proposal of $2.25 per employe per week.

Upon recommendation of a majority of the employes involved, the council voted to renew the contract with Blue Cross for group insurance on city employes.

An ordinance was passed establishing a school zone for half a block on either side of the Katherine A. Ryan School. The speed limit will be 15 miles per hour within the zone.

A waiver was granted for a liquified petroleum gas station to be operated near the Phillips 66 Super Station on the East Highway. The waiver is required so that application may be made to the Texas Railroad Commission for a state permit.

PREPARE FOR CHORE—K. O. Pitner, city secretary (seated), and Leighton (Doc) Griffin, city tax assessor- collector, look over the petition calling for an election on proposed amendments to the city charter. Pitner was instructed by the city council to examine the petition and present his findings to the council at a special meeting next Monday night.

Heated Battle Brewing In U. N. As Kasavubu Arrives

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A heated battle loomed in the General Assembly today following Congo President Joseph Kasavubu's arrival to oppose Soviet-backed moves favoring ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The assembly delayed the start of its latest Congo debate until this afternoon to give the Congo chief of state time to marshal his arguments.

Ranged against him were Ghana, Guinea and six other Asian or African nations sponsoring a resolution to give the Congo's vacant assembly seat to representatives of Lumumba, Kasavubu's chief rival.

The eight nations also want Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to get the pro-Lumumba parliament back into session, believing that it will return the fiery nationalist to office. Kasavubu suspended the parliament in September after the Congo army commander, Col. Joseph Mobutu, ousted Lumumba in a coup.

Kasavubu declared on arrival Monday he would speak out against those seeking to breach the "sacred principles of a free people and to impose on us a neo-colonialism which is humiliating and unbearable." Earlier, in Paris he said he would call for withdrawal from the U.N. Congo command of troops from Ghana and Guinea.

Kasavubu also was expected to oppose a decision by Hammarskjold's Congo advisory committee to send a mission to the African state next week to try to bring the opposing factions together and restore parliamentary government.

Kasavubu and Mobutu contend that the Congo is in too chaotic a state for parliamentary rule to be practical at this stage. They also believe the conciliation mission is dominated by governments that want to see Lumumba back in power.

There appeared little doubt that Kasavubu, as chief of state of the Congo, would be able to speak without challenge from the floor. But if he attempts to take over the Congo's vacant U.N. seat, he may run into sharp opposition from nations supporting Lumumba's cause.

When the Congo was voted into the United Nations Sept. 21, rival delegations representing Kasavubu and Lumumba claimed the seat. The assembly dumped the ticklish problem into the lap of its credentials committee, which is not scheduled to meet until December.

Hammarskjold and his chief of the U.N. mission in the Congo, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, were expected to get a going-over during the debate.

Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny arrived to take a personal hand in the discussion. He was certain to blast back at Dayal's report last week charging that Belgian political, military and technical advisers are fomenting discord in the former Belgian colony.

Wigny expressed satisfaction over statements by the U.S. State Department defending Belgium against Dayal's charges. The charges, he said, are not an East-West issue but involve the future of "all the young countries of Africa."

Little Change Is Seen In Congress

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Congress being selected today by the voters will contain many new faces, but little change is expected in the alignment of voting strength.

Although some Republican gains were indicated in the House, a sweep to Republican control appeared unlikely. Instead, the conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats seemed certain to remain a powerful force.

The coalition, forged during New Deal days, functioned effectively in the last Congress. If anything, its ability to dilute, if not defeat, legislation it doesn't like may be increased by Republican gains in today's election.

In the Senate, where the Democrats enjoyed a 66-34 advantage last session, they have 43 holdover seats, which means they need win only eight of the 34 seats at stake in order to retain control. They figure to do better than that.

They hold 23 of the 34 seats being contested this year and 13 of them are in Democratic strongholds, mainly Southern and border states. Several others also seem safe from capture by the Republicans. The most vulnerable are considered to be Delaware, Missouri, West Virginia and Wyoming.

The Republicans are putting 11 seats on the block and will have to hold them all and pick up 17 now occupied by Democrats in order to take over the Senate leadership.

The possibility of such Republican gains this year is seemingly remote. Besides the difficulty of ousting Democrats, the Republicans may have trouble holding all their own seats. The races in Colorado, Idaho, Iowa and South Dakota are considered tossups.

GOP prospects in the House would seem much brighter.

Democrats say privately they would not be too distressed if they emerged today with a net loss of 10 to 15 seats in the House they ruled by a 283-154 margin last session. The Republicans talk confidently of cutting the Democratic majority by at least 30.

Although all 437 House seats are up for election, the political experts base their estimates on 105 congressional districts where the winning vote in 1958 was less than 55 per cent of the total. Republicans now hold 61 of these to the Democrats' 44. It was in these districts, scattered throughout the country, that the GOP suffered its heaviest losses two years ago when the Democrats gained a total of 49 seats.

Democrats are contesting all but two of the 437 seats, one in Tennessee and one in Wisconsin. Republicans have candidates in 360 House districts. Democrats have no opposition in 73 House districts, while in three others they have only minor party opponents and in one other a Democrat won both the Democratic and Republican nominations. Most of the uncontested seats are in the South.

Johnson Home To Cast His Ballot

By DAVE CHEAVENS

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson returned to his home town today to add his personal ballot to what he predicted will be a landslide for the Democratic ticket.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee's voting box is in the old stone Blanco County Courthouse on the square of this Hill Country village. His Indian fighting Grandpa Sam Johnson was its founder.

Just a few miles west on the meandering Pedernales River is the plush cattle ranch which Johnson considers his Texas home. It was in this vicinity that Johnson forebears settled and he was born in a plain country house still standing near the ranch.

Johnson's long campaign grind came to the end of the trail Monday night at Austin, the state capital, where he and his wife Lady Bird were welcomed at the airport by a cheering crowd of hundreds. Later at the historic old Driskill Hotel downtown, more thousands of friends and well wishers greeted him personally.

Johnson, his wife and daughters Lynda and Lucey, stood in line with Gov. Price Daniel, Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., and others who have helped in his campaign to greet his Texas friends and well wishers.

He returns to Austin tonight to receive the election returns.

Johnson joined with his running mate, presidential candidate John F. Kennedy in a nationally televised final appearance before the nation from Austin and Boston Monday night.

Johnson told Texas and the nation that the Americans are ready to lay aside the divisions of the 1850s to meet the challenges of the 1960s.

In his part of the Boston-to-Austin nationwide election eve telecast, Johnson said that he had believed for more than 11 weeks that "we would win."

"Ten weeks ago we went from Austin to Boston to begin our campaign," Johnson said. "One hundred thousand lined the streets to welcome us, to welcome the grandson of two Confederates into New England."

"Ten weeks later, Texas welcomed Jack Kennedy. The greatest crowds the Southwest has seen—before or since—came out to cheer this grandson of poor Irish immigrants from Boston.

"I have believed ever since that we would win."

In an earlier statewide television address, Johnson said all indications are that the Democratic ticket will win.

"If so, I am deeply aware of the burden of responsibility that will fall upon me in the 1960s," Johnson said.

"The office for which I have been nominated by members of my party from every state is in no sense a partisan prize. The No. 2 position in the No. 1 government on earth is an office bearing the highest order of responsibility to the present and to the future for all time to come."

"If the morrow the results declare us to be the winners, or the losers, we will either way be thinking and acting as Americans working for America's greatness," Johnson said.

In a regional telecast earlier he pledged to join Sen. Kennedy in a "can-do" administration, to work for reorganization of the Defense Department, expedite the space exploration program, modernize the Army, increase the size of the Marine Corps, and find an agriculture secretary friendly to the farmers.

Johnson, slightly hoarse but not seeming to be fatigued, spent the last day of the long, rigorous campaign in his home state.

He started at Houston then went to San Antonio and San Marcos.

Louisiana's Senate Set For Action

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Senate plunged toward final legislative action today on 28 bills to forestall integration in New Orleans schools Monday.

The measures raced through the House Sunday with strong support.

The Senate Judiciary B Committee approved them Monday.

Gov. Jimmie Davis, who summoned the special session that began Friday, was expected to sign the bills soon after they pass. Many would go into immediate effect as emergency legislation.

A key item would enable the legislature to supersede the Orleans Parish School Board which is under federal court order to integrate city schools Monday. Five Negro girls are due to be admitted to the first grade in white schools.

A joint legislative resolution would establish a committee of five representatives and three senators to run the city's schools.

Other bills would give Davis the power to close schools threatened by violence and would invoke legislative interposition as a states' rights weapon to stop integration.

Legislative interposition, rather than executive interposition, is being employed. Davis is under federal court orders not to interfere with integration.

Sen. E. W. Gravolet Jr., vice chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, said the state has a long-range plan to replace public schools with grant-in-aid private schools if necessary to preserve racial segregation.

Gen. Moseley Dead At 86

ATLANTA (AP)—Retired Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, an advocate of white supremacy who once testified before a congressional committee investigating un-American activities, is dead at 86.

The former 3rd Army commander suffered a heart attack in a downtown store Monday and was dead on arrival at a hospital.

At the time of his death he was president of the Texas Educational Association, an organization founded several years ago to aid schools and colleges which would limit enrollment to students of Anglo-Saxon and Latin American descent and teach that other races were inferior to the white race.

He came to Atlanta in 1934 after serving in Washington as deputy chief of staff under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Candidates List Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Tower of Wichita Falls, Republican candidate for the Senate, has reported receiving contributions of $1,711 and expenses of $4,280.

The figures were contained in a preliminary financial report filed with the secretary of the Senate.

Tower is running against Lyndon Johnson who listed no contributions and expenditures.

Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston reported receiving $4,100 and spending $6,799. His Republican opponent, Anthony Farris, reported receiving $2,115 and spending $2,224.

Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson reported nothing received and nothing spent. His Republican opponent, Max Mosshoider of Abilene reported $1,452 received and $1,904 spent.

Rep. Bruce Alger, Dallas Republican, reported receiving $12,315 and spending $11,065.

Joe Pool, Alger's opponent, reported receiving $3,263 and spending $3,534.

Students Call For Civil Rights Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-four Negro and white students picketed the White House today demanding immediate action by the new president on civil rights.

The group, mainly from Washington area universities, began the march at dawn. They vowed to continue pacing until the winner of the presidential race is known tonight.

Laurence Henry, 26, Howard University divinity student who led the pickets, said he hoped the president-elect would meet with a delegation afterward to discuss their plea.

Blue Scout Shot Fizzles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force failed to hurl a radiation-study payload into space today when the second stage of the Blue Scout carrier rocket burned out too soon.

The rocket was to have hurled the payload to an altitude of 24,500 miles in an experiment that could have led to methods of detecting nuclear explosions high above the earth.

Instead, the rocket assembly plunged into the Atlantic about 250 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

The four-stage Blue Scout blasted off smoothly from this test center at 8:18 a.m. and was quickly swallowed in low-hanging clouds.

The Air Force announced two hours later that "preliminary telemetry reports indicate that an early burnout of the second-stage motor reduced the over-all performance of the Blue Scout launch and the vehicle impacted in the ocean approximately 250 miles down the atlantic missile range."

Ike Makes Early Journey To Polls

By KARLE . BAUMAN

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower had to wait five minutes for the polls to open before he could cast ballot No. 1 at the Barlow firehouse polling place near here.

Eisenhower, beaming and brisk in the early morning chill, arrived by helicopter at 6:53 a.m. and went immediately to the polling booth.

Mrs. Fred Swisher, an election official, said "You have to wait five minutes."

The President replied that he wanted to make it legal—he did not want to come all the way from Washington and lose his vote.

Promptly at 7 o'clock Mrs. Swisher told Eisenhower he could sign the papers and get his ballot.

When he emerged from the booth, reporters asked Eisenhower whether he would tell them how he voted.

Eisenhower held up his wrist watch with pictures of his four grandchildren on the dial.

"That's who I voted for," he replied.

While waiting to vote, Eisenhower chatted with David K. McCleaf, another election official who explained a proposal for consolidation of several school districts in Adams County.

"My goodness, that's technical," Eisenhower said.

It took Eisenhower less than a minute to mark two ballots, one of them for the school consolidation proposal, and drop them into the box.

The President's son, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, accompanied his father and cast the second ballot at the firehouse voting booth.

Eisenhower was back at the White House at 7:50 a.m. His helicopter landed on the White House lawn from which it had taken off at 6:19.

Nixon, Wife Vote Early

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, accompanied by his wife, today cast his vote.

The vice president arrived at 7:20 a.m. after only a few hours of sleep. He looked surprisingly refreshed. He came out of the polling place at 7:33 a.m.

A crowd of 200, many of them reporters and photographers, greeted him and his cavalcade as they drove up with a police escort.

"Do you run this place?" the vice president asked Mrs. Marion Moe, election clerk.

When Mrs. Moe replied yes, Nixon said: "Wedd, we had better get the job done then."

His first act on entering the polling place was to turn in two absentee ballots. He and his wife had originally planned to mail them in from their Washington, D.C., home.

Obliging the photographers' requests, Nixon and his wife took several minutes to complete their balloting.

The polling site was at the back of the home of Roger McNay, who has just been appointed Texas sales manager for a chipped beef firm. He was sent to Texas just a few days ago, thus missing the thrill of having a presidential candidate vote in his house.

Bumble Bee, Ariz., an old gold-mining ghost town, is becoming a tourist attraction. An old trading post has been made a museum, and other old buildings are being restored.

QUICK HOLIDAY APPPETIZER—For the women who are planning on entertaining a few friends or several during the upcoming holiday season, you need to look no further for a recipe that is sure to make a hit with the crowd. These mincemeat appetizers are delicious and are sure to catch the eye of any who are present.

Mincemeat Appetizers That Will Please Your Friends

If you're seeking an unusual (but quick!) appetizer for your holiday entertaining, search no more. No matter what the occasion or the age group, Mincemeat Pastry Pinch-ups are sure to be appealing.

Small, pastry rounds topped with mincemeat are pinched in the center and baked less than 10 minutes. They look so pretty and appetizing on the tray, and are so quick to fix you can prepare them as a last minute item. Just pop them in the oven after the guests arrive, and serve hot.

A jar of mincemeat and some pie crust mix sticks on hand will keep you prepared for many types of entertaining. The two combine flavortully in pies, tarts, turnovers —so many dessert ideas. Those same tiny rounds used for the appetizers make a fine dessert or party sweet, using two rounds, filled and topped with mincemeat and dabbed with whipped cream.

Here are the recipes:

MINCEMEAT STACK TARTS

2 sticks Instant Mixing pie crust mix
1 jar (28 oz.) Mince Meat

Heat oven to 475 degrees. Follow directions on package for 2 sticks of mix. Roll pastry ⅛" thick. Cut with cooky cutter into 3" rounds. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Prick with fork. Bake 6 to 8 min., until delicately browned. Makes about 24 rounds.

Top 12 of the pastry rounds with 2 tbsp. warm mince meat just before serving. Place the remaining 12 pastry rounds on top. Cover each with 2 tbsp. more mince meat and garnish.

MINCEMEAT PASTRY PINCH-UPS

Put 1 tbsp. mince meat on each round—bring up sides and squeeze together in center. Bake 6 to 8 min., until delicately browned.

Parents-To-Be Share Worries

By ANNE RUGGERI
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"What will happen if I drop my baby?"

"How will we ever adjust to having another person in the family?"

"How will I know what to do with the baby the first few weeks?"

Doubts. Fears. Guilts. One by one these are brought to light by young parents - to - be in unique discussion groups which have the same therapeutic effect as Alcoholics or Divorcees Anonymous.

Fresh Approach

Expectant mothers and fathers gain confidence and knowledge by sharing their problems. Throughout the meetings they are led by a nurse trained to direct the talk sessions along helpful directions.

These groups are the result of a fresh approach to parent education developed by the Child Study Association of America. With funds provided by the State Department of Health, New York City has already set up these "mother worry" sessions.

According to the program director, Mrs. Aline Auerbach the association expects that within the year these programs will be established throughout the nation. At present nurses from various parts of the country are taking a series of three - week training courses in New York. As they finish their briefings they will return to set up programs in cooperation with local public health groups and nursing schools.

Worries Shared

The "talk it out" sessions consist of eight programs.

During the sessions, mothers, gently prodded by the nurses, bring out a variety of questions ranging from "Should I breast feed my baby?" to "What will his arrival mean to me and my husband?"

Through the exchange of ideas and experiences parents begin to work out their own answers, with the nurse contributing factual information where necessary and guiding the discussions.

"We feel the program has been successful so far and the nurses are enthusiastic about it. They say it's very stimulating and rewarding," Mrs. Auerbach says.

Mrs. Pierson Honored Here By Sorority

Pledge pins were presented to three new members in a candlelight ceremony when Gamma Upsilon Chapter of ESA met Thursday evening in the home of Wanda Eicke, Lloyd Mountain Road.

Lalasu Minor, president, read the ceremony for Louise Parks, Rosie Floyd and Charicie Roberson, while Ida Stokes, vice-president presented the pins.

Mrs. R. O. Pierson of Abilene, honorary member of ESA was the honored guest for the evening. Mrs. Pierson, volunteer worker of the national foundation gave an informative talk on the work of the foundation, and told how the 'Mothers March of Dimes' is conducted in January of each year contributing to the work of the foundation, which has been the state project of Texas ESA for the past 10 years.

Bobby Glassock presented the program and introduced Mrs. Jack Dean, who spoke on "Our American Heritage." Mrs. Dean stated that America is a land of promise, hope and dreams. She concluded her talk by saying "We as Americans should learn to walk with God each day so that our children can enjoy our American heritage to its fullest."

Refreshments of fruit salad, doughnuts and coffee were served by the hostess to Betty Brown, Bobby Glassock, Jamie Borer, Carmen Ivison, Sharon Mearse, Delores Minor, Islasu Minor, Wanda Ritchey, Adrienna Sparks, Billie Springer, Ida Stokes, Joyce Williamson, Louise Parks, Rosie Floyd, Charleie Roberson, Mrs. Pierson and Mrs. Dean.

Ancient Comic Bert Wheeler Is Down, But Far From Out

By ED KOTERBA
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON. — They cheered him, this comic of superlative finesse, though they knew not who he was. He had just finished his act, a characterization of a ragged, old vagrant woman, and he was shuffling off the stage.

It was obvious the Saints and Sinners audience — 1,200 of Washington's VIP crop — was completely won over by this unnamed, hilarious comedian.

Then the wig came off, and he took his bow — Bert Wheeler, a study in tragedy, an oldtimer who never again would recapture the glory of those famed movice days of Wheeler and Woolsey.

Before the performance, we got to talking over a couple pots of tea in a room off the Sheraton-Park's Presidential ballroom, and Bert's predominant attitude was that of thankfulness that a reporter would come around to talk to him.

He is wrinkled, a brief five foot even in his elevator shoes. Inwardly, funnyman Albert Jerome Wheeler, 65, is deeply reflective and outwardly there's that hint of cockiness associated with Bantam Irishmen.

Life now for Bert Wheeler holds only a faded resemblance to those days when he earned $400,000 a year making films like "Rio Rita," "Girl Crazy," and "Cuckoos" with Bob Woolsey.

Mostly, he jobs around with his old-lady act — making a living at it — but for all practical purposes he's broke. "I make all I need," he said simply.

"But, you know," he said, "I have never known the happiness I know now." He puts up at the Lambs Club in New York, with a lot of old cronies of show business.

He boasted, mildly, that they still know him in places off the beaten track. Somehow, I felt, that was the most important thing. "I can walk into a bar in Omaha or Des Moines," he said — as though he were trying to reassure himself — "and in ten minutes somebody recognizes me, and the next thing you know we're having a party."

Bert lost his shirt — he lost about everything — back about 20 years ago.

He and a partner built the Lone Palm Hotel in Palm Springs. Bert invested heavily. Then, with suddenness, the Wheeler and Woolsey act collapsed. Bob Woolsey died. Within 24 hours, Bert's partner passed away. And marital problems took all else he had in life.

Bert Wheeler hit the skids. He found himself again, not long ago, after a visit by a priest. "Now," he said, drawing from a distant region of emotional depth, "I'm surrounded by happiness." He rarely misses a day, he said, that he doesn't take Communion.

This talk was strange coming from a man whom I had known only as a funny little guy on the screen who could make me laugh harder than any 12 other guys.

But Bert Wheeler is still comical in personal life. He was still laughing about what happened at a club in New York not long ago when he shuffled from the rear, doing his act, carrying his tattered purse, and taunted a client, a middle-aged man.

The act was so realistic that the man drew a $10 bill from his billfold and tossed it at the "vagrant." "Now look, lady," the man said, "please take a walk and don't bother me." Bert laughed hard in telling it. It was the laugh of a happy little guy.

New Enemy Is Threat To America

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — America has a new public enemy.

He is the man or woman who took the trouble to register—but won't take the trouble to vote.

The last hurrah has been sounded, the hullabaloo from the hustings is ended, the tumult and shouting fade into echoes, the ultimate promise has been made by even the most determined candidate for office.

Now millions of Americans are coming to the aid of their country in the best way they know how.

"Ballots are the rightful and peaceful successors of bullets," Abraham Lincoln said in a message to Congress in 1861.

In hundreds of thousands of polling places across the land, citizens stood in line for a rendezvous with their conscience, that is the true soul rite of democracy.

There is no gun at their back to dictate how they must behave. But alone and determined, each by an individual act of decision will do his best in his own way to choose the fate of his nation in a fateful time. He will do it with his ballot.

And the sum total of these individual acts of free will inevitably will decide the American political future.

There is a massive poetry in this process by which a free people make up their own minds about their own future. There is a massive dignity about it, too. It is an impressive procedure to take part in; it is an impressive thing to observe.

A million men have shed their blood on a thousand battlefields around the world in the last 185 years to keep this procedure—the right to a free and secret ballot—intact. It is still the first and last frontier of our liberty, a liberty that has never faced a greater or wider challenge than now.

There is something peculiarly satisfying about the act of voting. A man may not emerge from the polling booth with the feeling he has changed the national outcome, but he does emerge feeling better.

Whether his candidates win or lose, he knows that at least he himself has kept the faith to the best of his ability. He has renewed the vitality of his democracy in an indelible manner.

He has answered the roll call of responsibility upon which democracy depends.

Who is the No. 1 public enemy of the American way today?

He is the one out of three Americans who, for one reason or another, won't go to the polls—who will put his comfort or his convenience above the duty to his own freedom.

Mexico Air Strike Holds

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The ten day strike against Compania Mexicana de Aviacion (CMA) showed no indications of being solved, as negotiations between the ground personnel union and the management were resumed today.

A stewards strike which started on Oct. 29 was settled last Thursday, but the ground personnel strike which began Wednesday is still in effect.

After hearing demands by the union, the management of CMA said they were "absurd, stupid and from the bounds of reality."

The union is asking for a 30 per cent wage boost which would eventually be raised if an audit in the company's books shows profits.

The company on the other hand says it has been operating in the red for the last few years.

Mexicana de Aviacion serves most Mexican cities and has international flights to Los Angeles, Chicago, San Antonio and Havana.

Daily Crude Flow Rises

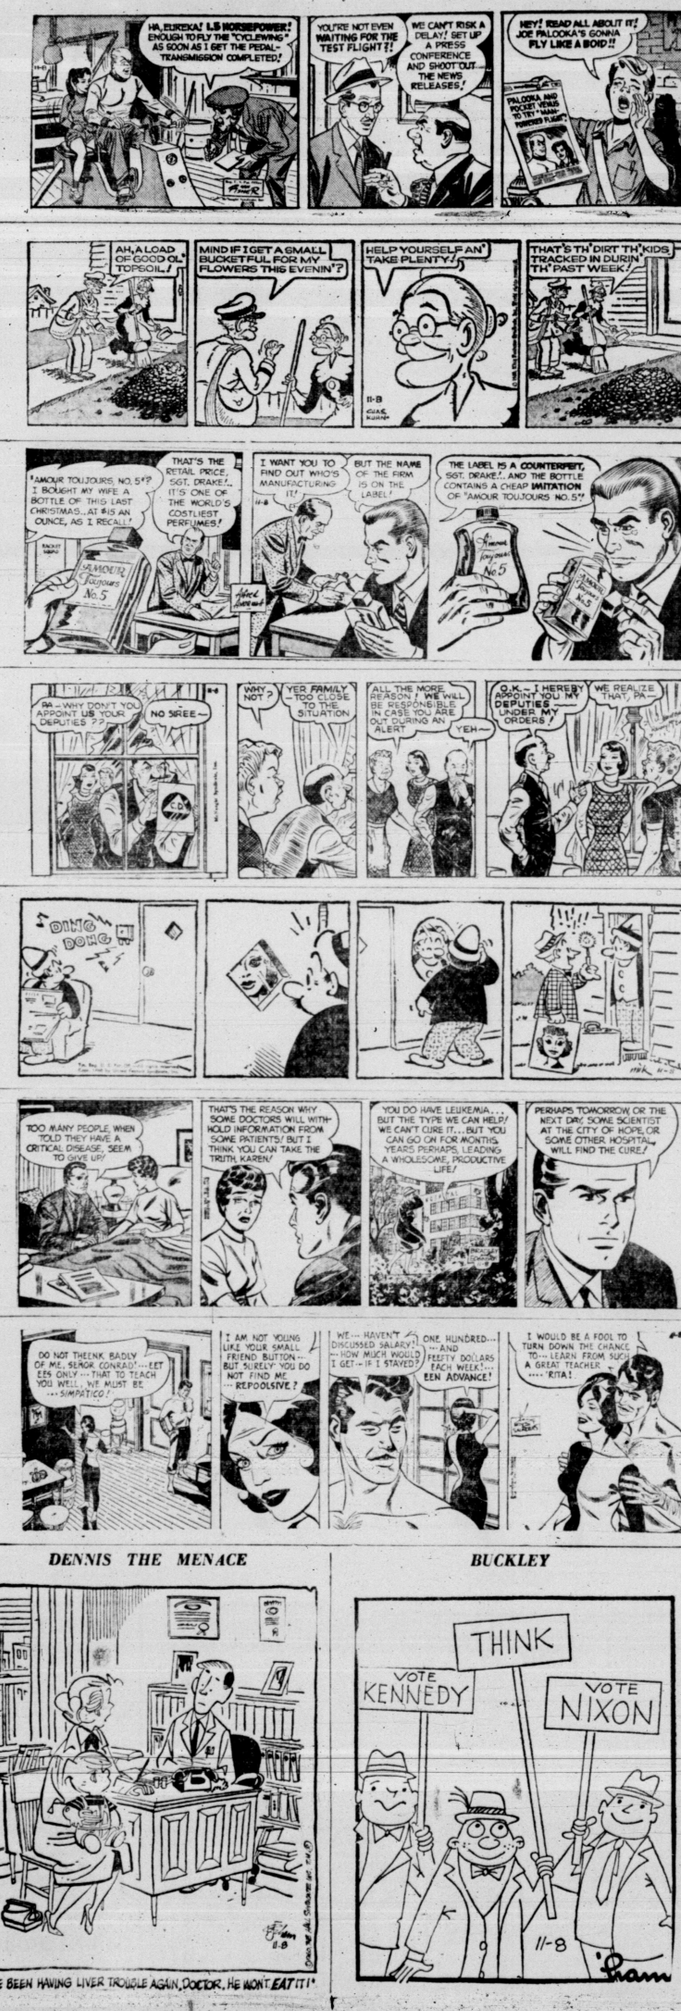

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate increased 87,075 barrels to 6,925,290 barrels last week, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

The magazine's figures showed most of the principal producing states had parts in the gain, with Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana leading the way. Texas' output increased 28,625 barrels to 2,442,200, Oklahoma's was up 21,600 to 513,600 and Louisiana added 19,650 to 1,091,100.

Finch Trial Jury Deadlocks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three women doubted a gigolo's story, the jury deadlocked—and a third murder trial now faces Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his red-haired sweetheart, Carole Tregoff.

The second trial ended Monday with the unshaken, impassive defendants going back to jail and an angry judge, his face florid, tongue-lashing an ashen-faced defense attorney.

Then as the 11 women and one man of the jury separated and scattered to their homes, they told newsmen how they reached their hopeless deadlock.

All agreed that Dr. Finch was guilty of murdering his wife, Barbara Jean. But while nine voted for first-degree murder, three held out through 59 ballots for a verdict of second-degree.

These three said they didn't believe the testimony of one of the state's key witnesses, gigolo-hoodlum John Patrick Cody, who said Dr. Finch, 32, and Miss Tregoff, 23, had hired him to murder Mrs. Finch.

The split was the same on Miss Tregoff. Nine voted her guilty and three voted her innocent.

"Cody was unbelievable," said one of the three, Mrs. Vada E. Pontious. "I couldn't find that there was any premeditation based on the statements of a self-confessed liar."

The state claimed that when Cody didn't kill Mrs. Finch—but told the defendants he had, to bilk them of money—then the doctor and Miss Tregoff went to the Finch home and "did it themselves." The defendants claimed Mrs. Finch was killed when a pistol discharged accidentally.

The third trial was set for Jan. 3.

"Obviously the case should be retried," said Superior Court Judge Dawson. "We cannot put a price tag on justice."

Unofficial estimates set the combined cost, to the county and defendants, of the two trials at $600,000.

The first lasted 95 days, including 37½ hours of deliberation by jurors, and the second—the longest in California criminal court history—for 133 days, including 71 hours of deliberation.

The second trial ended with the attorney for Dr. Finch, Grant B. Cooper, facing two contempt charges. He will be sentenced Thursday.

They were brought Friday when Cooper claimed that Judge Dawson was invading the jury's province by advising the panel that he thought there had been a murder, and that he doubted the stories told by the defendants.

Judge Dawson said he had the right to advise the jurors on points of law and credibility of witnesses, as provided by a California constitutional amendment. He said Cooper's comments could have caused a mistrial.

Cooper, his face ashen but expressionless, stared inplacably at the angry judge during the scathing rebuke. He said he would represent Dr. Finch at the third trial, as did Donald Bringgold, Carole's attorney.

A new judge and a new jury will be assigned.

Grand Jury Probes Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury investigation has been ordered in a commuter train-school bus crash which killed a girl and injured 44 other pupils.

The bus, jammed with 51 youngsters ranging in age from 5 to 8 was rammed by the train Monday at a Staten Island crossing.

Police said the crossing had been condemned.

"I was blinded by the sun" and couldn't hear the train because of the shouting, laughing children," said the bus driver, Edward Hallowell, 40.

The train smashed into the rear section of the bus.

Fatally injured was Geroline Tarr, 7.

In critical condition at Richmond Memorial Hospital were Anita Barretta, 6; Joseph Krakower, 6, and Ruth Lavouere, 7. Fifteen other children were hospitalized.

Police said a warning bell and flashing red light were operating at the crossing. The bus stopped, then proceeded across the tracks.

The two-car train had eight passengers, one of the passengers was hurt.

Bail Denied Mrs. Garrett

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A motion for bail for Mrs. Joseph Garrett, daughter of a prominent Texas family, was denied Monday by Judge James Crawford. She is charged with murder.

Lawyers asked the bail on the grounds that Mrs. Garrett was under medical and psychological care.

The indictment of Mrs. Garrett came after a fire at the Garrett home killed three children and a governess.

Neighbors rescued Mrs. Garrett and another young daughter, Wendy, from the flaming home.

Lawyers for Mrs. Garrett, 33, pressed arson investigator C. E. Stickney about arson evidence at the fire at the Garrett home.

Mrs. Garrett's husband, a steel company executive, was not at home the night of the fire. She is a former Dallas social figure and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Owsley, a founder of the American Legion.

Guests Flee Hotel Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — An unexplained fire sent thick, black smoke billowing through Manhattan's largest hotel, the New Yorker, forcing 300 guests to flee. One man died of a heart attack and 19 others were overcome by smoke.

A possible disaster was averted at the 40-floor hotel Monday by the prompt arrival of five fire companies and fire rescue squads. Firemen and hotel employes ranged through the hotel evacuating the choking, crying victims.

Firemen said the blaze broke out in an unoccupied three-room suite on the 6th floor of the 2,000-room hotel and quickly spread down a hall after burning the suite. The blaze was confined to that floor.

A painter, Emanuel Veneziano, 61, died of a heart attack. Another painter was in critical condition from smoke inhalation.

The largest tomato producing states are California, Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey, in that order.

Meek Figures His Mustangs Are Underdogs By 50 Points

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Methodist Coach Bill Meek figures his Mustangs are 50-point underdogs to Arkansas and University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal is fretting over a team with a "tackle at quarterback."

Arkansas, the team with the inside track to the Southwest Conference football championship, meanwhile continued to rejoice over its hero—Mickey (The Toe) Cissell.

Texas A&M gained an end but lost another to injury. Texas Christian held a rugged 2½-hour drill—on Monday no less.

So everything's normal in the Southwest Conference as the teams move into the home stretch.

Meek came up with his mathematics Monday when he learned the Mustangs were 16-point underdogs to Arkansas. "But Rice beat us 47-0 and they (Arkansas) beat Rice 3-0," he said. "There's 50 points right there."

Royal rates the Texas-TCU battle a "30-50 ball game." He said TCU will be Texas' heaviest opponent—"They've got a tackle at quarterback," referring to towering Sonny Gibbs. Gibbs, one of the finest signal-callers in the conference, stands 6-7.

A&M's Bobby Huntington, who missed the Southern Methodist game, returned to the fold Monday. Ralph Smith, another end, missed the workout with a bruised knee and is doubtful for the Rice game.

The celebrated toe of the Razorbacks' Cissell is still the major topic of conversation in the Ozarks. Cissell, whose field goal beat Texas 24-23, kicked another Saturday to whip Rice 3-0.

Baylor, meanwhile, ran through a routine workout and looked ahead to an intersectional skirmish with the University of Southern California. The Bears appear to be near top strength for the Trojans.

TCU, idle last week, began serious preparation for Texas by donning pads and running full steam through the lengthy session. Gibbs and three seniors—halfbacks Larry Dawson and Larry Terrell and fullback R. E. Dodson—were running in the first-string backfield.

Rice avoided heavy work, choosing instead to study movies of its loss to Arkansas. Texas Tech worked out with two of its starters, end Don Waygood and halfback Dick Polson, on the sidelines.

The two, along with reserve Tommy Hayes, have leg injuries.

Top Spot Claimed By Wichita Falls

DALLAS (AP) — Wichita Falls, knocking on the door all season, finally got in this week. The undefeated, untied Coyotes gained the No. 1 ranking in the Class AAAA division of the Dallas News' copyrighted schoolboy football poll.

They replaced Baytown, which was beaten 7-6 by Galena Park The Ganders, who held the top position since their second game of the season, tumbled to fourth.

Unbeaten Dallas Samuell jumped into the runnerup slot and Port Arthur held third place.

Jacksonville clung to its top ranking in Class AAA, Olney retained its lead in Class AA and Stinnett rolled on atop the Class A rankings.

Newcomers or teams making return trips to the top ten were Borger in Class AAAA, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo and Port Lavaca in Class AAA, and Olton in Class AA. Class A remained unchanged.

Olney, Denver City, Bellville and Crockett of AA's top ten have clinched playoff berths while Floydada, No. 8, meets Olton, No. 10, for the District 2 title.

In Class A, Stinnett, Crowell, Albany, George West, Sour Lake, Idalou, Alto and White Oak have gained playoff berths.

The rankings:

Class AAAA—1. Wichita Falls. 2. Dallas Samuel. 3. Port Arthur. 4. Baytown. 5. San Antonio Jefferson. 6. Freeport. 7. Corpus Christi Miller. 8. Borger. 9. Highland Park. 10. Abilene.

Class AAA—1. Jacksonville. 2. Bay City. 3. Carrollton. 4. Brownwood. 5. McKinney. 6. El Campo. 7. Monahans. 8. Seguin. 9. Pharr. 10. Port Lavaca.

Class AA—1. Olney. 2. Taylor. 3. Denver City. 4. Belleville. 5. Gatesville. 6. Hondo. 7. Kenedy. 8. Floydada. 9. Crockett. 10. Olton.

Class A—1. Stinnett. 2. Crowell. 3. Albany. 4. George West. 5. Plains. 6. Sour Lake. 7. Idalou. 8. Alto 9. White Oak. 10. Eldorado.

Razorbacks Keeping Fans In Uproar

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—It's tough on the fans and the coach but Arkansas may have set a record for close games and victories in close games over the past three seasons.

If the Razorbacks won a game by the margin of 12 points they'd think they were going wild offensively.

They have played 28 games since Frank Broyles became the coach and have been in 12 games in which the margin of victory was no more than seven points.

They have played two games in which the difference was a single point, one for two points, four for three points, two for four points, two for five points and one seven points.

They have won eight in the close ones, is the reason they have tied for the Southwest Conference championship last year and played in the Gator Bowl and why they are leading the conference this season.

The most notable heart stoppers were the 13-12 game they lost to Texas in 1958 and the 24-23 game they won from Texas this year.

Only last week they beat Rice 3-0 on a field goal in the last 25 seconds. Previously they edged Texas 24-23 on a field goal in the last seconds. They lost to Mississippi on a field goal as time ran out.

Why is it Arkansas is mixed up in so many close ones?

Coach Broyles says it's because the team isn't big enough to control the ball—it has to cash in on every opportunity to score when it gets the ball away from the opposition. That doesn't come often.

Johnson In Valley Lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dick Johnson of Wichita has moved to within 4 points of Cincinnati's Fred Oblak in the Missouri Valley Conference football scoring race.

Johnson scored one of Wichita's three touchdowns as the Shockers defeated Tulsa 21-20 Saturday to bring his individual tally for the season to 32 points.

Oblak still leads the conference with 36, but Johnson has three games to play and Oblak only two.

Oblak, because of a bogged Cincinnati offense, has scored only 11 points in the last five games.

Tulsa's Jerry Keeling leads in passing and total offense, and his teammate, David White, is the league's top ground gainer. Both are tied for third and fourth in individual scoring with 24 points apiece.

Keeling has completed 59 of 122 passes for 787 yards and 7 touchdowns. Lamar Switzer of Cincinnati has completed 42 for 570 yards and runnerup honors.

Keeling has added 279 yards on the ground for 1,066 yards in total offense, 515 more than Johnson, who is his nearest competitor.

White has picked up 392 yards on 80 carries, 64 more than Cincinnati's Ed Banks, the No. 2 rusher.

Quarterback Session Set

The Snyder Quarterback Club is scheduled to meet for its regular weekly session at 7:30 tonight in the high School cafeteria.

Coaches whose teams played last week will give a rundown on the performance of their respective teams, and those who will play this week will discuss their prospects.

The meeting will be climaxed by showing of the film of the Snyder-Lamesa game of last Friday night.

Grid Rankings Are Shaken Up

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The five teams of The Associated Press top 10 who escaped unscathed on "Black Saturday" last week possibly are a little apprehensive today.

If it could happen once—the defeat of five leaders in the weekly poll on one day—it could happen again, and several of the clubs in the select circle this week face rugged opposition.

Top-ranking Minnesota, for one. The Golden Gophers meet unranked Purdue, a much better team than its record indicates. Mississippi, No. 4 now, meets also unranked Tennessee, which last week, before its setback at the hands of Georgia Tech, was a member of the top 10.

Minnesota took over the No. 1 spot by virtue of its decisive, 27-10 victory over lowly previously the No. 1 team. The Hawkeyes were dropped to fifth place in the voting by a 48-man panel of sports writers and sportscasters taking part in the poll. It was the Gophers' seventh straight victory.

Ohio State jumped from fifth to third by walloping Indiana, and Mississippi climbed from sixth to fourth with an easy victory over Chattanooga.

Three of the top 10 losers last week — Tennessee, Syracuse and Rice—were dropped from the list in this week's voting. Only Iowa and Navy, which lost to Duke stayed in the select circle. Navy is No. 8.

Duke, Arkansas and Auburn replaced the three ousted top 10 members. Washington advanced to No. 6 by whomping Southern California, a victory that practically clinches a Rose Bowl place.

Minnesota received 40 of the first place votes. Unbeaten Missouri, No. 2, received four, and Ohio State, Mississippi and Washington one each.

One panel member did not vote. The leaders (first place votes in parentheses) points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1.	Minnesota (40	462
2.	Missouri (4)	387
3.	Ohio State (1)	335
4.	Mississippi (1)	310
5.	Iowa	279
6.	Washington (1)	241
7.	Duke	156
8.	Navy	113
9.	Arkansas	72
10.	Auburn	64

Others receiving votes were: UCLA 38, Pittsburgh 31, Michigan State 16, Tennessee 15, New Mexico State 10, Rice 9, Yale 8, Syracuse 8, Utah State 7, Florida 6, Alabama 3, Texas, Kansas 3, Oregon 2, Michigan 1, Army 1.

Hatton To Scout For Houston Club

HOUSTON (AP)—Grady Hatton has joined the Houston entry in the National League as a scout and maybe as a farm club manager.

Hatton, 38, signed with the Houston Sports Association's unnamed baseball team Monday. He will scout for new players for awhile, but may be manager of a farm club in 1961, General Manager Gabe Paul said.

Hatton played third base with the Cincinnati Reds and several other major league teams.

He managed the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League from 1958 until June of this year when he was called up to the Chicago Cubs as a pinch hitter.

Hatton lives in Beaumont, Tex.

BRING BACK TROPHY—These members of the women's team from Tiger Bowl admire the trophy they won in bowling competition at Colorado City over the weekend. From left are Vida McCune, Johnnie Tipping, Hettie Massey, Bessie Wilson and Lucille Wilson. They had a high series of 900 and racked up a total of 2378 pins in the invitational tournament.

TIGERS TAKE A REST

Week's Grid Menu

Snyder's "rags-to-riches" Tigers who unexpectedly vaulted into a tie for the District 3-3A lead last weekend, take a rest, but there will be plenty of football on the area scene Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Tigers got a holiday from the practice field Monday. The squad saw motion pictures of the 12-6 victory over Lamesa and then called it a day.

They were scheduled to get back into action today, however, in a scrimmage session with the B team.

All hands were present for the film showing yesterday, except David Wiman, ace linebacker who suffered a head injury in the Lamesa game. Wiman likely will sit out the remainder of the season, although he is reported recuperating satisfactorily.

Two of the teams representing Travis Junior High will see action Thursday against Goliad of Big Spring, with the 9th grade encounter booked on the local junior high field and the 8th grade contingents scheduled to play in Big Spring.

Travis 7th grade is scheduled to meet Colorado City there.

Gail's rollicking Coyotes will entertain Wellman in a showdown encounter Friday night, and in other area action set down for Friday, the Lincoln Trojans will host Lakeview of Big Spring.

Hermleigh's Cardinals, already assured a playoff berth, will be the homecoming foes of the Trent Gorillas at Trent on Saturday afternoon.

The Snyder High School B team will wind up the weekend area grid fare when they tangle with the Big Spring B team here Saturday night.

Local Boxers Look Sharp

Encouraged by good showings at Levelland on Saturday night, Snyder boxers are preparing for more matches in Lamesa next Saturday.

Looking the best ever, Hollis Cox fought the more experienced Gary Watt of Levelland to a standstill in the first two rounds and then in the third Hollis opened a big cut over the left eye of Watts and won by a TKO. Cox was ahead when the TKO was called.

David McKinley looked sharp in decisioning Wade Stevenson of Clovis, N. M. who was a state finalist last year in New Mexico Golden Gloves.

Abe Gonzales was impressive in winning over Danny Alverey of Clovis.

Rudy Benitez lost a close decision to the more experienced Roy Earl Large of Clovis, and Joe Costello lost to Valente Brione of Lamesa and Rod Anderson lost to Pete Esquebel of Clovis.

Jay Martin dropped a hard fought decision to Clarence Archie of Clovis. Martin fought Archie to a standstill for two rounds, but tired in the last round to lose by one point.

The matches Saturday in Lamesa will start at 8 p.m.

Houston's Backs Tops

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Houston, the Eastern Division leader of the American Football League, boasts the loop's top two ball-carriers in Dave Smith and Billy Cannon.

Smith has gained 492 yards on 97 carries for a 5.1 average. Abner Haynes of Dallas is third with 416 yards and Denver's David Rolle is fourth with 356.

George Blanda of Houston retained his scoring leadership with nine points against Denver last week for a total of 84. Gene Mingo of Denver is second with 57 and New York's Bill Schockley is third with 54.

Jerry Greene of Boston leads the punters with a 41.7 average and Haynes tops punt returns with eight for 139 yards and a 17.4 average.

Houston's Ken Hall leads in kickoff returns with 10 for 390 yards and a 38.0 average.

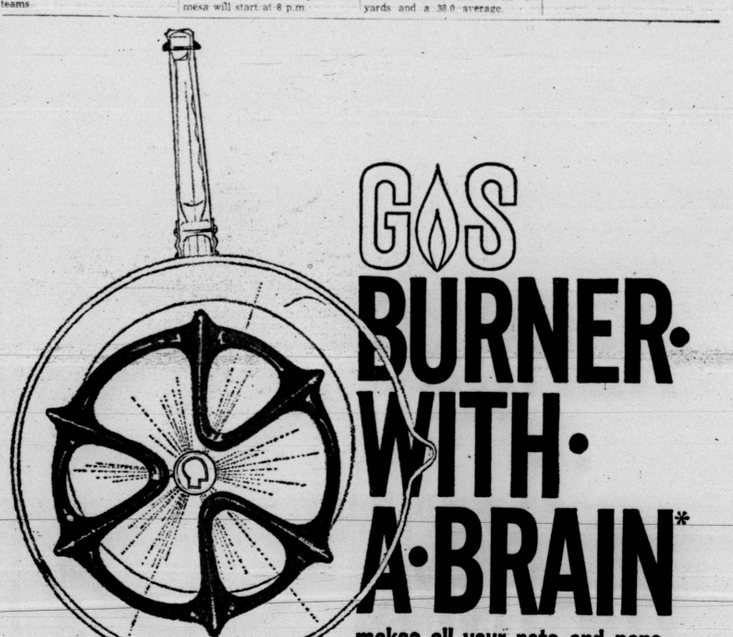

Cross Country Entries Closing

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Entries for the fifth annual National Intercollegiate Cross Country championships close Wednesday at the University of Omaha.

Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia will be seeking an unprecedented third straight title when the event opens Nov. 26.

Runnerup Nebraska State and third-place Howard Payne College already are entered with full teams.

FROM THE FACE OF THE EARTH—The narrow, "chug-holey", much used strip of pavement known as East Thirty-seventh Street is being scraped from the face of the earth this week with choppers and graders making way for the new, widened road that is to be completed in the spring, but will be closed to through traffic for about 60 days.

Safety Precautions Reviewed For Road Construction Areas

The safety of all persons traveling along roads under construction in Scurry County was the subject of discussion at a meeting of all units concerned Monday. Present were representatives of the contracting paving companies, the highway department, and law enforcement officers with City Manager Roy Dunlap representing Snyder, resident engineer Homer Ray was moderator.

Meetings such as these, instituted by Governor Price Daniel to help curb accidents occurring where Texas highways are under construction are to acquaint each department with the work of the other and the time during which the projects will bbe going on.

E. E. Seidel, project superintendent for Bailey and Seidel of Ballinger who are widening and paving Thirty-seventh Street, has attended over 20 of these meetings and reported that the cooperation of all concerned had actually cut down on accidents.

Speaking for the highway patrol, Jey Daniel stated that he would help enforce all measures deemed necessary for the prevention of traffic mishaps. Dunlap offered the help of all city police on the segment of Thirty-seventh Street that is in the city limits with standby help on the part outside until the sheriff's department or the highway patrol could reach the scene of any accident.

Les Massey, general superintendent of Cage Brothers of San Antonio who are starting construction on the segment of U. S. Highway 84 from one mile south of Hermleigh to a point near the Beacon Lodge, and his project superintendent, Hugh Bauer, said their work would start immediately and was scheduled to end July 1. He concurred with Daniel and W. O. Crawford, construction engineer for District 8, that a 40 mile per hour speed zone "liberally sprinkled with SLOW signs" would be sufficient warning for motorists.

Crawford added to this that the signs should also tell the motorist the cause of the speed zone, stating that a driver would be more apt to slow down if he knew the cause rather than having a long stretch of speed zone and seeing no danger.

All agreed that most speed zones on the U. S. 84 project could be removed at night since all work would parallel the present road. Exceptions to this practice would be in the case of hazards along the highway that should be marked at night.

The highway project includes a two lane highway parallelling the present pavement to a point 4 miles southeast of Snyder. From there on in to the East Snyder city limits the present pavement will be sealcoated. The next segment of road will take up at the 4 mile point and bypass Snyder.

Thirty-seventh Street is closed to through traffic and will be for the estimated time of 60 days given by Seidel with the road to stay unpaved until a more favorable time in the spring after the freezing weather.

With the close correlation and cooperation among factions involved, the hope was expressed that the shared opinions and suggestions for safety would make for less hazard during construction, however the meeting ended on a note in everyone's mind expressed by Crawford that "The man behind the wheel is the deciding factor in most situations" regardless of all considerations.

Others attending the meeting were Milton Callaway, inspecting department in Snyder; Joe Middleton, maintenance man from the Snyder area, and Hollis Randell, also of Snyder.

Final Guess By Pollsters Favors JFK

NEW YORK (AP) — When the professional pollsters had turned in their final guesses, a majority of them had picked John F. Kennedy over Richard M. Nixon.

The Gallup poll, conducted by George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion at Princeton, N.J., gave Kennedy 49 per cent of the votes in his final forecast, allotted Nixon 48 per cent. He said three per cent were undecided.

Gallup said that if the undecided voters were ignored, the sampling showed 51 per cent for Kennedy and 49 per cent for Nixon.

About a week before the election, Elmo Roper gave Nixon 46 per cent, and Kennedy 44.5 per cent, with 9.5 per cent undecided. But he said analysis of the "undecideds" indicated a slight edge for Kennedy.

After a telegraphic poll during the weekend, Roper raised Nixon to 49 per cent, and Kennedy to 47 per cent, with 4 per cent still undecided.

Pollster Sam Lubell generalized a "moderate sweep" for Kennedy. In its third and last state-by-state survey, The Associated Press gave Kennedy 197 electoral votes, Nixon 112 and 228 tossups. But the survey found some doubtful states appearing to lean in such a way that Kennedy might get 279 votes; 10 more than needed to win, with Nixon getting 125 and 133 to doubtful to predict.

Other forecasts by electoral vote:

New York Times: Kennedy 244, Nixon 109, unpredictable 184.

United Press International: Kennedy 169, Nixon 124, undecided 244.

Time magazine: Kennedy 306, Nixon 149, undecided 82.

Newsweek magazine: Kennedy 278, Nixon 159, undecided 100.

American Society of Newspaper Editors, Kennedy 299, Nixon 314, three states missing.

Junior Editors Quiz on EXPRESSIONS

QUESTION: What is the meaning of "A feather in his cap."

• • •

ANSWER: This common expression is no doubt connected to the way men decorated their caps long ago. Caps and hats too, were usually made of soft material in the old days and could be pulled tight on the head and then turned up around the edges. Men who had the money for it had better hats which were trimmed with tassels and gold lace—and sometimes with a splendid feather. This marked them as important persons. And so when anyone had a feather in his cap, it became a sign of distinction. Now we use the expression to describe someone who has won some kind of honor or achieved some goal or accomplishment.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Decide who will wear a "feather in his cap" after the election today. See if you are right tomorrow.

Leftists Gain In Italian Election

ROME (AP)—The Communist-Socialist left scored impressive gains today in nationwide Italian provincial elections.

Italy's long-dominant Christian Democrat party also won a slightly larger percentage of the vote than in the last provincial elections four years ago but showed less strength than in the 1958 parliamentary elections.

In complete unofficial returns from the voting Sunday and Monday in 78 of Italy's 91 provinces, the Communist-Socialist left moved ahead to within 1.4 per cent of the Christian Democrats' total vote.

Despite the leftist gains, the immediate effect nationally could be to strengthen the present middle-of-the-road Christian Democart government headed by Premier Amintore Fanfani.

The three feuding minor center parties which lost ground, are less likely now to withdraw their support from Fanfani's single-party government, both because of their fear of the left-wing gains and the increased possibility of finding themselves pushed aside.

The Christian Democrats also are less likely to call national elections before the expiration of Parliament's normal five-year term of office in 1963. Some Christian Democrats had advocated holding an election for a new Parliament if the local elections indicated they had a chance of winning a majority that would enable them to govern alone.

Another eventual result might be renewal of negotiations for a move toward cooperation between the Christian Democrats and Pietro Nenni's left-wing Socialists.

The Communists appeared to have been the big gainers in the election's left-wing surge, with Nennis fellow-traveling Socialists just maintaining their strength. In the last provincial elections, in 1956, the two left-wing parties ran on the same ticket, so comparison of the 1956 and 1960 votes is possible only by lumping the Communists and Socialists together again. But the Socialists won only 14.4 per cent of the total nationwide vote this time, in comparison to 14.65 per cent in the 1958 national election.

Child Law Change Fails

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Senate has defeated a proposal that would have brought about a review of needy children purged from welfare rolls.

The move by Sen. Jack Fruge Monday would have satisfied a federal demand in the federal-state dispute over Louisiana's aid to dependent children laws. The resolution lost 1-32.

Fruge's amendment would have called for restoring all eligible children among the 22,500 cut from the welfare rolls because of a 1960 legislative act.

The resolution would have declared the legislature never intended to remove the needy children.

A 1960 legislative act required that needy children be removed unless their parents provide suitable homes, a strike at women who have illegitimate children while receiving welfare aid.

An attorney general's opinion held that the act was effective from the date of passage and state welfare officials cut off some 22,500 needy children, largely Negroes.

Gable To Cast His Ballot In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable, recovering from a heart attack and deemed too sick to have any visitors except his wife, still plans to vote today.

He and his doctor made arrangements to sign papers that would get him an absentee ballot after the usual deadline.

Gable, 59, was stricken Sunday at his suburban Encino home. His condition was reported as satisfactory late Monday night.

His wife, Kay, who is expecting a baby in March, is sleeping in Gable's room on a cot. His physician has prescribed at least three weeks hospitalization.

Kennedy Interested In Fountain Hill

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Ever hear of Fountain Hill?

It's a small borough near this eastern Pennsylvania steel city. Sen. John F. Kennedy has installed a private telephone line from the hamlet to his home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

The Democratic presidential candidate has asked Roy Reabuck Lehigh county Democratic chairman, to phone election results tonight as soon as they are known. Know why?

The First Ward of Fountain Hill has voted for the winner of all 15 presidential elections this century. The ward has 673 registered Democrats and 395 Republicans.

Voter's Problem Like That Of '40

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voters' problem in today's presidential election is much the same as in the elections since 1940. Choosing between men rather than ideas, picking a leader rather than a way of life.

Except for 1948, the major dilemma facing the country in all the elections of the past 20 years, including this one, was in foreign affairs.

There are some domestic differences between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

For instance: Kennedy favors federal help for teachers' pay, and Nixon doesn't; Kennedy favors a medical-care-for-the-aged program linked to Social Security, and Nixon has a different plan.

Besides such obvious, much-discussed differences, probably few voters today could recall many others, if any.

But all understand the greatest menace to the country is not internal but external—the threat of world communism—and the greatest problem over the next four years will be coping with it.

Since Nixon and Kennedy are in full agreement on the need for bucking communism, although perhaps differing on some details, they have reduced the choice between them in voters' minds to this one question: Which could handle it better?

The whole campaign — despite everything else mixed up in it —revolved around that question. The candidates themselves made it their primary issue.

In the 1936 presidential race, when Franklin D. Roosevelt ran against Alfred M. Landon, the United States was still in isolation. World War II was still out of sight, and foreign problems were not the major issue.

That year it was a choice between going on with Roosevelt's New Deal, which had been an American social revolution, or turning the clock back with the Republicans headed by Landon.

It was different by 1940 when Republican Wendell L. Willkie ran against a third term for Roosevelt. The New Deal, for all practical purposes, had run its course two years before.

The passage of the wage-hour law with its 40-hour week in 1938 was the last big piece of New Deal legislation. By 1940 foreign affairs completely overshadowed anything else.

By the time of the presidential election that year the Nazis had started World War II and overrun Western Europe, this country had begun its defense program; had started its first peacetime draft; had come out of its ancient isolation by backing Britain and giving her 50 antique destroyers; and had become jittery about Japan.

Willkie joined Roosevelt in backing the draft and aid for Britain. The only real question left for the voters was: Which could be trusted to lead better in the onrushing, dangerous years?

By 1944, with the country at war, no domestic problem could remotely match the question of the conduct of the war. All Gov. Thomas E. Dewey could offer was the idea he could do it better. The voters didn't think so.

When Dewey ran again, this time against Harry Truman in 1948, communism had emerged as a new danger but this country still had the monopoly on the atomic bomb. There was not yet profound worry about Russia.

The uproar in the 1948 election was mostly domestic inflation, the performance of what Truman called the Republican 80th "do-nothing Congress" and his own achievements, or lack of them, in running the government at home.

But Dewey was no would-be wrecker of the New Deal. There was no profound difference between Truman and Dewey on the course of American life. So again it was a question of which man the voters had more confidence in.

There never seemed much doubt in 1952—with the country at war in Korea—that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the war hero, would win over Adlai E. Stevenson when the Korean War was the biggest issue.

When the two men met again in 1956 there was no great domestic issue. There was just one that towered above all others: the encroachments of communism. Since Eisenhower and Stevenson, like Nixon and Kennedy, agreed it had to be stopped, their only difference was on details.

This again brought the contest between them down to a question of leadership.

Munoz Marin Big Favorite To Win Race

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Luis Munoz Marin went into today's election a heavy favorite to win a fourth term as Puerto Rico's governor despite strong opposition from the Roman Catholic Church.

Total registration hit a record 937,531. Munoz was expected to get about 60 per cent of the vote. He took more than 62 per cent in 1956.

The feud between the governor and the church hierarchy continued through election eve.

Archbishop James Davis, the island's top-ranking Roman Catholic prelate, restated the church position that it would be a sin for Roman Catholics to vote for Munoz Marin and his Popular Democratic party. He asserted that part of their program "in the final instance is opposed to the Ten Commandments of the law of God."

Munoz, 62, in a radio broadcast replied that the church hierarchy misinterpreted his platform and "the justice of God does not punish good souls for the political errors of the clergy of any church."

The governor added, "I swear before God there is nothing in the party platform that is not in accord with Christianity." Archbishop Davis and two other prelates in pastoral letters attacked the party because it approves of birth control for the over-populated island and does not vigorously oppose common law marriage.

Munoz' chief opponent, Luis Ferre of the Republican Statehood party, defended the bishops' right to take a political stand but questioned whether they were "prudent to go as far as they did."

Train-Auto Crash Kills Four Persons

WELSH, La. (AP)—Four persons were killed Monday when a freight train struck their car at a crossing.

The dead were Helen Jackson, 19; Ray Citizens, 19; Emerson Melancon, 20; and Wilbert Guillory, 20; all of this vicinity.

Joseph Melancon and Irvin Melancon Jr., were taken to a hospital at Lake Charles, about 20 miles west of here.

The 140-car eastbound Southern Pacific freight was reported moving about 30 miles an hour through Welsh when the accident took place.

Mercury Blazes Red Hot Trail

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The planet Mercury's rare orbit across the sun was hot stuff for an amateur photographic crew at the Memphis Naval Air Station.

Airman 1.C. R.L. Prewett, an electronics instructor, said a telescope caught fire when it was focused too long on the sun Monday.

Hard Sell Days Bring New Ideas

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The days of the hard sell—with prospects of more to come—are father to a host of new ideas along with a rebirth of plenty of old fashioned business energy.

Sliding profits and the sometimes reluctant purchaser are sending sales forces into new markets and spurring sales executives to try new gimmicks.

Sometimes the approach is as simple as hush-hush price cutting. Now and then it wears the guise of motivation research into what customers think they want.

Almost any company you talk to can point to an endeavor — stunts, displays, buy now inducements, lures for impulse buyers, special events, new products or restyled or repackaged products.

Here are but a handful out of a multitude of efforts to break through the sales resistance barrier or to beat the other fellow to the quarry.

Instant bathrooms is the tag the Noland Co. of Newport News, Va., hangs on its sales prodding gimmick—extension of on the spot long-term credit for purchase of plumbing and heating equipment by home owners or contractors.

Competition with motels may be behind some wrinkles tried by hotels these days. The doorman at the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond, Va., hands a departing guest two dimes for use in the speedy exact change booth on the nearby Richmond-Peterburg Turnpike. Idea: the final favorable impression will make the guest want to return.

A Chicago maker of meat packing machinery, Allbright-Nell, a subsidiary of Chemetron Corp., foregoes sales meetings. It's turning to traveling sales tours of customers plants in Nebraska anad Iowa, with its whole sales force going along by air, rented car and bus.

Stainless steel clinics are being held in hired halls around the nation by Republic Steel. They feature refreshments, a color movie, and live demonstrations of soldering techniques.

Auto supply centers in supermarkets is being tried by Vanderbilt Tire & Rubber together with selected Food Fair stores. It's part of Vanderbilt's conviction that 78 per cent of tire and accessory purchases are made by women—after the decision to buy has been made jointly by husbands and wives in more than 30 per cent of the cases.

Incentives for sales personnel are being stepped up. A plastic housewares firm, Tupperware of Orlando, Fla., is handing keys to 1961 Ford cars to nearly 1,000 leaders of its women sales force. Ford itself tried a sales promotion stunt by letting 1,400 residents of Flora, Ill., drive 1961 Ford cars and trucks during a six-day trial period.

And the Spanish Sherry Institute is staging tastings before mep's groups in the New York suburbs and is placing free bottles on tables of New York City men's clubs considered to have prestige. The aim: to plug it as a man's drink.

Watch Big States First

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to do your own election experting right after the polls close this evening? Then keep your eye first on the big Eastern states.

If a commanding trend doesn't show up right away, you might focus on Ohio for a clue to farm voting and North Carolina for a line on what the South does, especially how the religious issue figures.

The pollsters and predicters seem agreed that, even more than usual, the race between Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon hinges on the "Big Seven" states with their total of 205 electoral votes—a long way toward the 269 needed to elect. President Eisenhower took them all in his 1956 sweep.

Most of them are doubtful this time, although polls give Kennedy an edge in the biggest of all, New York with 45 electoral votes. Pennsylvania, with 32 votes and a thoroughly doubtful status, would be a good one for early watching. It's in the east, so its polls close comparatively early—8 p.m. EST.

Another member of the Big Seven with advantages for trend-spotters is Ohio. It has enough rural vote to give some indication what the farmers think of the candidates. Its polls close at 6:30 p.m. EST.

The others of the Big Seven states are California, Illinois, Michigan and Texas.

Texas, with 24 electoral votes, has polls open until 8 p.m. EST and California, with 32, until 11 p.m. Prognosticating may well be risky until a good proportion of the California vote is counted.

Agents Set To Guard Victor

WASHINGTON (AP)—At the instant of victory in today's election, a squad of U.S. Secret Service agents will jump to the side of the new president-elect.

Two details of about 15 men each already are standing by, one to take over protection of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, if he wins, the other to supplement the agents already assigned to Republican Richard M. Nixon in his capacity as vice president.

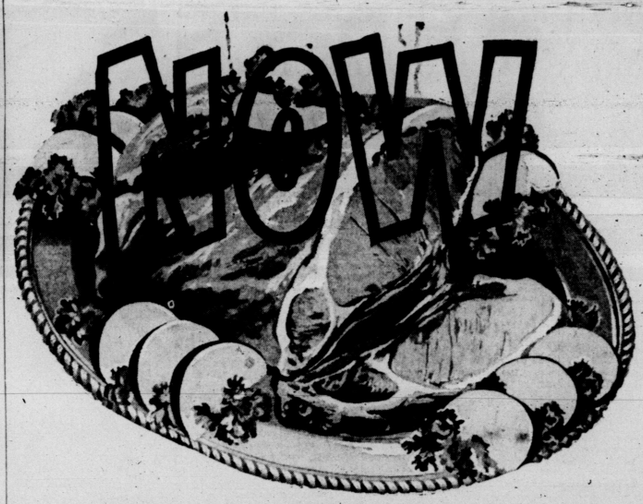

President Eisenhower, of course, will continue to be guarded by the regular White House Secret Service detail until he steps out of office on Jan. 20.

As vice president, Nixon has had several Secret Service men assigned to him. Kennedy has had no agents assigned to him during the campaign.

Woman, 106, Set To Cast Ballot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Anna Welsh, 106, was born July 15, 1854—11 days after she Republican party was founded at Jackson, Mich. She says she will cast her ballot today for Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president and vote the straight Republican ticket—as she has in every presidential election since women's suffrage in 1920.

M. L. (MAL) ANDRESS
. . . Shrine Potentate

Shrine Ceremonial To Honor Andress

A resident of Scurry County for many years, M. L. (Mal) Andress will be honored at the annual Fall Ceremonial of the Shrine Suez Temple to be held in Snyder Friday and Saturday. Andress is better known within the Suez Temple as Illustrious Potentate for the Year 1960, a post aspired to by many Shriners and attained by few.

Andress was elected Potentate of this West Texas Shrine Temple last January 18 and succeeds B. W. Smith, a San Angelo attorney, as leader of the Suez.

Potentate Andress is a member of Scurry Lodge 706, Snyder Chapter, Snyder Commandery, a 32nd degree K.C.C.H. Scottish Rite Mason of the Dallas Consistory and a charter member of Suez Temple. He is treasurer of all the Masonic Bodies in Snyder, secretary-treasurer of the Snyder Shrine Club, Scurry County Membership Chairman of the Dallas Scottish Rite, and a Past Patron of the Eastern Star.

Potentate Andress was born in DeLeon on July 24, 1898, and moved to the Hobbs community near Snyder in 1903. After finishing school at Hobbs he attended the Metropolitan Business School in Dallas.

A stock farmer for 30 years, Potentate Andress is now engaged in the development of a townside subdivision in Snyder. He was instrumental in the organization of the Midwest R.E.A. Co-op serving Scurry and Fisher counties and served 12 years on the board of directors.

He and his wife, Clemey, were married September 4, 1918, at Roby, and they have two children, seven grandchildren, and one great -grandaughter. Their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Andress, live at Walnut Springs, and their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers, are residents of Colorado City.

Mrs. Andress is a Past Matron of Eastern Star and a Past Queen of Ziphrom Temple, Daughters of the Nile.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Andress are members of the First Baptist Church in Snyder.

Prosecutor Told He Was Next On List

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The prosecutor who first probed the Chillingworth murders heard in a courtroom confession that he had been next on the death list.

The revelation came in a sob-wracked statement by Floyd A. Holzapfel that he and a Negro drowned Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth for $2,000 offered by Joseph A. Peel Jr.

"He wanted you killed," Holzapfel told State Atty. Phil O'Connell from the witness stand.

"He said you stood in his way and you were the political boss" of Palm Beach County.

Peel, a former West Palm Beach municipal court judge, is charged like Holzapfel with murder in the 1955 disappearance of the Chillingworths. He has denied any complicity in the case. His hearing is next Monday.

Holzapfel had blandly repudiated a tape-recorded confession which he charged was coaxed from him with liquor by agents he regarded as friends. But at his murder hearing in Circuit Court Monday, the World War II hero who turned gangster suddenly lost his nonchalance and began blurting out a story that closely paralleled the telltale tape.

Holzapfel, red-eyed from weeping, pointed out Peel in the courtroom as "the man who hired me to get rid of the judge." Peel showed no emotion.

He said Peel hired him and George David Lincoln, a Negro now serving a moonshine whisky sentence, to kill Chillingworth because the latter "personally is going to take care of me" for unethical conduct in a divorce case. He quoted Peel as saying:

The Australian sea horse is almost invisible when in the midst of seaweed because of the leaf-like growths on its body.

Neither Party Concedes Edge In Today's Governors' Races

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither major political party is conceding the other the edge in today's 27 governorship races.

The stakes are big. Victors win not only statehouse patronage but valuable springboards for further political build-ups.

Three incumbent governors are drawing on their statehouse backgrounds today in races for the Senate. They are Delaware's J. Caleb Boggs and West Virginia's Cecil H. Underwood, both Republicans, and Iowa's Herschel C. Loveless, a Democrat.

In the states balloting for chief executives, 14 of the governorships are held by Democrats and 13 by Republicans. Eight of the 14 incumbent governors seeking re-election are Democrats, six are Republicans.

Democrats scored a net gain of seven in the last two elections involving governorships.

Contests in Michigan, Illinois and Kansas hold the chief national interest.

G. Mennen Williams is not seeking re-election in Michigan after an unprecedented six consecutive two-year terms. Paul D. Bagwell, a Michigan State University faculty member who made a strong race against Williams two years ago, is the Republican nominee. Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, who has wide support from organized labor, is the Democratic candidate.

Otto Kerner, a Chicago judge, is given a good chance of nipping the third-term ambitions of Republican Gov. William G. Stratton in Illinois. Stratton became governor in 1952 when Adlai E. Stevenson quit to head the Democrat presidential ticket.

George Docking, who in 1956 became the first Democrat ever to be elected governor of Kansas, is seeking a third two-year term. His GOP opponent is State Atty. Gen. John Anderson. Also running is Prohibitionist J. J. Steele.

Four of the governors seeking re-election figured in overturns two years ago. They are Republicans Paul Fannin of Arizona and Christopher Del Sesto of Rhode Island and Democrats John Burroughs of New Mexico and Ralph Herseth of South Dakota.

Governors also are being elected in Arkansas, where Orval E. Faubus is seeking a fourth term; Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Krush Shows Good Cheer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev, radiating good cheer and confidence in communism's eventual triumph, called the American and West German ambassadors to his side Monday night to toast to peace and friendship.

The occasion was a gigantic Kremlin reception celebrating the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

While the rest of Moscow dined and danced, Khrushchev proposed a series of eight toasts with various of the 2,000 guests in the Kremlin's great St. George's Hall. Clinking glasses with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and West German Ambassador Hans Kroll, the Soviet premier drank "to friendship of all peoples, to Europe, to the United States, to coexistence in order to live in peace and friendship."

"Our relations should allow peace and friendship in the world," he continued. "Raise your glasses and drink for peace and friendship."

They joined him in the toast.

Acting as if he were sitting on top of the world, Khrushchev's toasts ranged from world peace to the city of Moscow for arranging the anniversary parade earlier Monday through Red Square.

Batchelor To Face Charges

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Claude Batchelor, convicted as a turncoat during the Korean War, was charged with two counts of negligent homicide Monday.

The charges, alleging first-and second-degree negligent homicide, grew out of the death of Simona Barrera, 46, in a collision involving Batchelor's auto last Friday. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of three years in jail or a $3,000 fine or both.

Batchelor, 28, was convicted in 1954 of collaborating with his Communist captors during the Korean War and was sentenced to life imprisonment. It later was reduced to seven years.

Batchelor, paroled last year, listed his occupation as clerk with a San Antonio firm.

Taiwan (Formosa) has 14 pineapple canneries.
