TEXAS GIRL AND DOCTOR-LOVER SHOT TO DEATH

Mexican Revolution Practically Terminated With Surrender Of Nogales

ESCOBAR 'LONE WOLF'

Rebel General Sole Leader Still at War With Government

EL PASO, Texas, April 30. (U8)—General Gonzalo Escobar, Supreme commander of the rebel forces in Mexico, has signified his intention of abandoning his campgain against the govrenment and of crossing the border into the United States at Agnas Prietas, according to information received here tonight.

NOGALES, Sonora, April 30. (AP)—This former rebel city was completely federalized late this afternoon when General Lucas Gonzales Mendoza federal commander of Sono, arrived and assumed control. All public offices now are under federal control.

With dramatic flourishes Mexico's latest revolution virtually passed out of the moral military stage here today.

Sudden and unexpected proposals of surrender by the few revolutionary leaders who had not fled from this city to the United States for safety were accepted by the Mexican government with assurances of safety, food, clothing and shelter as requested.

Leaders Give Up

The parade of rebel chieftains to safer soil was followed today by an aerial attack on the city by federal planes, which, although apparently doing little damage, evidently hastened the decision to surrender. The feeling of uneasiness was enhanced when 500 Yaqui Indian troops at the rebel garrison bolted. It was asserted they had left to join the forces of General Gonzalo Escobar, commander-in-chief of revolutionary armies, who is supposed to be at Pulpito Pass personally commanding the only remaining body of rebel troops of importance in the republic.

While events were moving here United States troops at Camp Stephen D. Little, near American Nogales, were called to arms, presumably to be prepared for any clash that might occur across the line affecting American lives and property. A clash seemed improbable in view of the surrender.

Gil Accepts Proposals

The offer of the rebels to surrender was made at a hastily summoned conference insurrecto leader with Rafael Aveleyda, Mexican consul in Nogales, Ariz. The conference was attended by Brig. Gen. Frank S. Cocheu of the United States army. The proposal asked that the lives of rebel soldiers and commanders in Nogales be spared. The request was referred by wire to President Portes Gil in Mexico City who promptly replied accepting the proposals, thus avoiding bloodshed.

What disposition is to be made of rebel generals who fled across the line had not been ascertained. These include General Fausto Topete, Franco Borquez, former commander of the Nogales garrison, General Mestor Ignacio Almada, General Ramon Iturbe and Dr. Francisco Arriola, chief surgeon of the revolutionary army.

When acceptance of the rebel terms was announced Mexican fed-

SLAIN WOMAN'S UNCLE SHOOTS YOUNG MEDIC

Temple Physician Slays Stenographer as She Avoids Him

SHERIFF IN MIX-UP

Grocer Fires Bullet Into Doctor as Officer Turns Back

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, April 30 (UP)—A woman and her lover were dead here tonight as an aftermath of a double "love shooting" this afternoon.

Miss Lola Roland, a Temple stenographer, was shot and instantly killed by Dr. Harry Dowling, also of Temple, because she would not accept his amorous advances. Tonight Dowling also is dead, a victim of the gun of the girl's uncle, Henry Hempkins, at whose home the shooting occurred.

Girl Followed

Miss Roland came to Waxahachie Sunday, to spend a few days visiting with the family of her uncle. Dowling, who is said to have made advances to the girl before, followed her here Sunday night. The family was not at home when he arrived, however, and Dowling left.

Today, about 2:30 p. m. Dowling returned to the Hempkins home and demanded to see Miss Roland. When he was refused entrance he declared the girl would either go with him or he would shoot her.

He forced his way into the house and began looking for the girl, who had locked herself in the bathroom. Hempkins jumped in his car and ran for the police, returning with the Sheriff, John Davenport, just in time to see Dowling drag the girl's nude body from the bathroom, shot to death.

Sheriff Grapples

Sheriff Davenport immediately began grappling with the doctor. When he seemed to be getting the worst of the battle, Hempkins, using his own pistol, reaching around the sheriff's body and fired once into the doctor's abdomen, killing him instantly.

A note, found in Dowing's billfold, which had been left outside in his car, read as follows:

"If anything happens notify Dr. Barnes or Tom Rice, at Temple. I came after the only girl I ever loved."

The note was signed by Dr. Dowling in his own handwriting. It is now in the hands of the county attorney, A. D. Emerson, and was used as evidence in the grand jury investigation which began immediately after the shooting. No charges were filed against Hempkins and he was no-billed by the grand jury late today.

ELECTRA, Texas, April 30.—Thomas Jefferson Crayton, 83-year-old Civil war veteran of Austin, died at the home of his son, C. C. Crayton, here early Tuesday afternoon of injuries received last Thursday when he tripped and fell over a stove.

As a member of the famous "Stonewall" brigade commanded by General Thomas J. Jackson, Mr. Crayton had survived some of the bloodiest conflicts of the war between the states; and when he was wounded seriously at Shiloh he was carried from the field of battle by General Albert Sidney Johnston.

Mr. Crayton and his wife, both inmates of Confederate Veterans institutions at Austin, arrived here three weeks ago to spend their vacation with Mr. Crayton's son. When he accidentally fell over a stove last week he sustained internal injuries which developed complications resulting in death.

Full military services are to be conducted Wednesday at 4 p. m. at the First Baptist church in charge of Col. Ed C. Wilson of Electra, himself a veteran of the Civil war. The Masonic organizations likewise will take part in the rites. The Rev. W. W. Rivers, pastor of the church, will pronounce the last words. Interment will be in the local cemetery.

Besides his widow and his son here Mr. Crayton leaves another son, T. J. Crayton Jr. of Houston, and two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Lovell, Henrietta, and Mrs. B. L. Robertson of Houston. All will be here for the services, it was said.

S. R. O. Signs Up As Anglers Rush To Three Lakes

"Standing room only" was about all that was available early Wednesday morning at the three big lakes in the Wichita area as the complete army of opening day anglers launched their annual drive for bass and crappie.

Reports from the three lakes said the crowd at each was the greatest ever to turn out. The advance guard of the anglers started moving out of Wichita Falls Tuesday, and a steady stream of autos sped along the lake roads all during the day and a good part of Tuesday night. Sporting goods dealers were swamped in a last minute rush for tackle.

Champion anglers of opening day will be selected by The Record News and sporting goods dealers of the city on the basis of the largest catch of bass and crappie. The Record News is giving $10 in cash for the largest bass and $10 for the largest crappie. Dealers will give merchandise, including $5 for the bass and $5 for crappie from Thurman's, a $10 real from Noble-Little, $5 for the bass and $3 for the crappie from the Wichita Hardware, minnow bucket from Bailey-Moline for the bass, a $7.98 tackle box from Sears Roebuck and company for the bass and $5 for the bass by Montgomery Ward.

A pair of tested scales, furnished by Noble-Little Hardware company, has been installed in the lobby of the Time Publishing company to weight fish in the contest. At the request of many sportsmen who will go to Lake Kemp, the last weighing time for all fish and for all prizes has been set at 6 p. m. on May 2. Previously it had been planned to close at noon May 2, the change being made to allow sufficient time for the return of Lake Kemp anglers.

DEMOS TO OPEN CAPITAL BASE

Jouett Shouse 'Contact Man at Washington

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Democratic party came out of its post-election torpor today and Democratic National Chairman John J. Raskob announced the opening of national party headquarters here where the party will go about the business of rebuilding the wreckage of last November.

"The Democratic party ought to run year in and year out just like General Motors," Raskob said.

Shouse Chairman

Jouett Shouse of Kansas City, a former McAdoo lieutenant but a loyal Smith man in the last campaign, has been appointed chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee and will be in charge of party offices here.

These offices will provide a base for contact with Democrats in congress and an observation post from which the activities of the Hoover administration can be watched with critical eye.

Raskob said in reply to questions he has no intention of resigning as Democratic national chairman. This answers a number of southern Democrats who have suggested that he had best return to the Republican party where Governor Smith found him.

While this news was not especially welcome to one section of the party, Raskob spread balm by announcing that the campaign deficit

E. McLarty, held under similar charges, is being tried in federal court.

District Attorney William McCraw announced today that his office is preparing the state's case against both brothers, in the assumption that one or the other will be released by federal authorities for trial on the state forgery charges.

Advisory Committee

The advisory council of the fire department was organized in 1923, to give assistance to the fire chief in all matters of policy that might involve his department. Members of the board are named each year by the president of the chamber of commerce, and devote considerable time to the problems of fire prevention and control as they relate to the city department.

Appreciation for the able assistance given the department by the council in the past was expressed Tuesday by J. L. McClure, fire chief, following the announcement of the personnel of the new board.

"People of Wichita Falls should know and appreciate the time and thought the members of the advisory board give to the problems of reducing fire hazards and lessons," Chief McClure said.

"The board has been invaluable in maintaining close relations between the fire department and the citizens of Wichita Falls, and I feel that much of the success with which we have met our problems has been due to the work of this board. All problems which concern our department are threshed out in board meetings, and many improvements have resulted from these conferences."

COLQUITT FAILS OF APPROVAL

Another Meeting to Decide Texan's Nomination

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Nominations of President Hoover to fill the two vacancies on the radio commission—Charles M. Saltzman of Iowa, and William D. L. Starbuck of Connecticut—were approved today by the senate interstate commerce committee and sent to the senate.

The committee failed, however, to decide on the nomination of O. B. Colquitt, former Texas governor, as a member of the board of mediation, and another meeting will be held later in the week for him.

Nominees Called

All three of the nominees were called before the committee although tentative approval previously had been given Saltzman and Colquitt. The committee gave its endorsement to Saltzman with the understanding that he would dispose before his confirmation of stock he holds in the General Electric company and in the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Mr. Colquitt was questioned about testimony published in an old law suit to the effect that the Texas Brewers' association had discussed with him a loan of its $25,000 surplus at the time Colquitt was running for the senate in 1916.

Colquitt Denies Loan

Colquitt denied that he had received the loan, denied the testimony and denied that he made arrangements for receipt of the loan. He said the brewers had opposed him for the senate. He said that after the senate race in which he lost that he did borrow some money from a Colonel Hamilton who was connected with a Houston brewery.

Baby Killed and Several Injured By Tornado in Muskogee District

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 30. (AP)—One child was killed an unidentified man was reported dead, and several persons were injured, one probably fatally in a tornado which swept northeastward from Hitchita to a point three miles east of Morris late today.

The baby of F. J. Fraley was killed when the tornado struck the farm home a mile and a half northwest of Hitchita, and Fraley was so seriously injured that doctors said he had little chance to recover.

Reports of the death of the unidentified man could not be verified, although telephone operators at both Morris and Hitchita said they had heard a farmer had been killed in the territory lying between the two towns.

Lines of communication were disrupted, and a rain storm of almost cloudburst proportions made the highways virtually impassable.

Connally Called to Preside Over Senate as Sheppard Lashes G. O. P.

SUNDAY MOVIE AGITATION FAILS AT END OF SIZZLING DEBATE

HOUSE BALKS ON SHOW BILL

Plan to Have Moody Re-Submit Laws Loses

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—In a one-hour debate in which the name of Governor Moody figured, the house today refused to ask the state's chief executive to re-submit a bill calling for repeal of Sunday motion picture performances and in the same breath voted down a resolution demanding that the 1871 statute be enforced in all sections even if the aid of state rangers were necessary.

A bill allowing local option in the showing of films on the Sabbath was passed during the regular session by both houses but was vetoed by the governor on the claim it contained a flaw.

Action on the resolutions, which resulted when the house committee on criminal jurisprudence adopted an amendment by Representative Jack Keller, Dallas, calling on the governor to open up Snuday blue laws for legislative approval or rejection, brought a heated condemnation of Sunday violations from Representative B. J. Forbes, Weatherford.

"The governor is religiously and conscientiously opposed to the operation of motion picture shows on the Sabbath and a resolution asking him to re-submit this question would be humiliating," Forbes said. "The legislature might as well submit a bill repealing the penalties for murder and theft as one wiping the Sunday motion picture show law from the statutes," Forbes said the governor had told him before vetoing the measure. "There's a blue pencil down in the executive office that will prevent you running roughshod over the morals of people of this state," Forbes added.

When Representative Keller entered the debate with the statement that the state could legislate to prevent the growing contempt and disrespect for laws caused by statutes which were not obeyed, Representative W. E. Pope, Corpus Christi, asked if "the governor ought to enforce the law as it now is with the militia or resign from office."

"The governor is not a king and he has to submit to the will of the people," Keller replied.

Surrender Ends Mexican Revolt

eral authorities in American Nogales crossed over the line and took possession of Mexican Nogales in the name of the government. The rebel flag was taken down and the federal flag hoisted in its place. There was no disorder aside from the excitement to the recent bombings and the sudden transfer of allegiance, not altogether a new thing in Mexican communities.

By coincidence the revolution virtually ended in the principal point of its origin. Although the revolution was planned at Hermosillo, Sonora, and broke out at Vera Cruz on the same date it started here, March 3 last, Nogales, Sonora, always has been its chief headquarters. The Vera Cruz defection was overcome within two weeks after the outbreak.

There still remain roving bands of "Christeros" or so-called religious rebels in some places in the northwest for the government to contend with and the possibility of a revolution dwindling into guerilla warfare. What the government's plans are regarding Escobar's troops was not known here.

Tribute Paid To Fire Department's Work for Wichita

By O. ABERNATHY

As we watch with small boy interest a portion of the magnificent equipment of the city fire department roll past in the gigantic Appreciation Week parade to be staged Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, let us take stock of the good the department has done.

Let us realize that there is not a man in the department who has not risked his life many times and who will not gladly do so again when our property and our lives are menaced by fire.

Let us pause for a moment of appreciation of their constant vigilance and splendid work in the times of crisis. Let us appreciate the fact that the department is one of the city's best investments.

And last, but not least by any means, let us be greatful to Chief J. L. McClure for his 22 years of faithful and intelligent service; to First Assistant Chief Grover Habern for his 21 years of service; to Second Assistant Chief Smiley Turner for his 15 years with the department; to Third Assistant Chief Henry Smith for his service of 14 years; to Special Inspector Clyde Gold for his 12 years work; to Captain George Olstein, R. E. James, Noel Harvick and Dick Phillips, whose terms of service range from 14 years down to six years; to Chief Mechanic Thurston Harvick who has taken splendid care of the mechanical equipment for the last nine years; and to every last one of the other 54 members of the department who help to make the efficient organibation to which we are due so much praise.

Visit them on open house day Wednesday May 1, 1929.

ments today and vist any or all of the Wichita Falls fire stations.

Organized in 1892 as a bucket fire brigade, the Wichita Falls fire department has grown to one of modern equipment and capable of handling the most hazardous fires in the 37 years of its organization here.

J. C. Ward was fire chief of the bucket brigade which grew rapidly after its organization until the department now employs 63 men and has an investment of $100,000 in motor trucks for the six stations which are located in Wichita Falls.

"The officials of the city of Wichita Falls are heartily in accord with the purposes of Appreciation Week observance being sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce," George D. Fairtrace, city manager, said Tuesday. "On Wednesday, which has been designated government and civic institutions day, the offices and all departments of the city will be open to visitors, and the citizens of this community are cordially invited to familiarize themselves by personal inspection with any feature of the city's government of equipment which may interest them."

In 1883 the department expanded from the bucket brigade and the city purchased a hand drawn hose reel as its first fire fighting equipment.

First Fire Truck

Things went along with buckets volunteer service and hand drawn hose being used for fighting fire until 1905 when Wichita Falls' first fire truck made its appearance. It was a horse drawn wagon and was procured largely through the efforts of Mr. Ward.

E. B. McHam became fire chief along with the purchase of the horse drawn fire truck and held the position for two years being succeeded in 1907 by V. E. Stampfli. J. L. McClure, who is now fire chief and marshal, was employed the same year as the city's first paid fireman.

The department grew rapidly during the next two years purchasing its first motor drawn truck in 1909 and also employing G. W. Habern, who has been in the service since that time. He is now assistant fire chief.

Mr. McClure became fire chief and marshal in 1913 and has retained those positions down to the present day. In 1915 the hook and ladder truck which is still in the service was purchased and the horse drawn truck was disposed of.

The city's second fire station was constructed in 1916 at Tenth and Van Buren streets and since that the department has expanded until six stations now are ready to send their trucks out at a fire alarm in any section of the city.

Alarm System

The Gamewell automatic fire alarm system was installed in the city in 1921 at a cost of $50,000. There are 129 fire alarm boxes distributed over the city.

When an alarm is given in at one of the boxes it is relayed to every station in the city by means of the system and the station in whose territory the alarm is sounded rushes to the scene of the fire. The operating controls of the system are located in the second floor of the central fire station at Ninth street and Ohio avenue.

The entire system will be open to the public for inspection all day Wednesday.

Clyde Gold was appointed in 1928 as arson inspector and assistant fire marshal and is still employed by the city in that capacity.

The present investment of the fire department is $240,000 of which $55,000 is invested in buildings, $175,000 in equipment, and $16,000 in land.

The average annual amount of fire insurance carried by citizens of Wichita Falls during the last few years has been $65,300,000 while the average annual fire insurance premium has been $850,000.

An annual saving of $590,000 is estimated in fire insurance premiums, because of the lower rates resulting from the local efficient means of fire protection.

"Substitute Mother" Sought To Answer Letters of Boy Prisoner

A brief, penciled letter, traced laboriously on the lines of school paper, but following all the rules of formal correspondence, started a county-wide investigation in the office of Juvenile Officer James A. McDonald Tuesday.

The letter came from a 12-year-old boy serving a sentence in the state training school at Gatesville. In somewhat stilted language, from which all trace of his loneliness and grief was removed, the boy asked the officer to find his mother and ask her to write to him.

"I was sent here from Wichita Falls, but my home was in Electra," he explained. "All the letters I send to my mother are returned to me. I have not heard from her. Please find where she is and tell her to write me."

Mr. McDonald started his enquiries at once.

"We've got to find that boy a mother," he declared. "If the real one has abandoned him, there must be a substitute mother who can at least write him the letters he needs."

DEMOS TO OPEN CAPITAL BASE

Jouett Shouse 'Contact Man' at Washington

of $1,550,000 has now been reduced to about $800,000 with every indication of further reduction to under $500,000 within a fortnight.

"Will you clean up the entire deficit before the end of the year?" Raskob was asked.

"End of this year?" Raskob echoed, "why, it'll all be paid off long before that."

"How are you going to pay for these Washington headquarters?" he was asked.

"There'll be plenty to take care of that," the national chairman replied. He declined to say where the contributions are coming from but he made it apparent that guardian angels are watching over the Democratic party's exchequer and as long as it remains under his supervision there will be no need to dodge the sheriff as Cordell Hull was almost obliged to do when he was national chairman after the Cox campaign and the party's Washington landlord wanted office rent paid occasionally.

What the move in opening general party headquarters here will mean to the party nationally is uncertain. First, it is plain that Raskob has no thought of yielding up control of the national organization, even though his patron, Governor Smith, appears to have retired from active party politics.

Second, the selection of Shouse as contact man here indicates on the contrary that Raskob is building a bridge over to the old Wilson group which still survives as the real nucleus of political leaders. Shouse was a protege of McAdoo in the Wilson administration. Carter Glass took him into the treasury as assistant secretary. He was born in Kentucky and although he moved to Kansas he retains enough of his southern accent to talk the same language of the southern Democrats.

To some it appears as if the Democratic party may subsist for a while on Raskob's money and the political brains of the Wilson veterans, waiting to see what turns up.

FRENCH SCORN BERLIN OFFER

Now or Never Is Attitude Of Paris Officials

By GEORGE W. HINMAN JR.

PARIS, April 30. (US)—France today definitely rejected the Berlin suggestion that a political conference take up the reparations problems where the committee of experts leaves off, in case of failure to reach a complete agreement.

An obviously inspired editorial appearing in the semi-official Temps clearly reflected the official attitude that now or never is the time for Germany to accept a formula for a complete and final solution so long sought by Europe.

The French view crystallized following the renewed Berlin suggestion apparently designed to soften the blow in case Dr. Schacht declines to accept the latest American project. Paris holds that the politics in the reparations situation was considered last September when the political leaders met at Geneva and agreed to summon the experts.

Emphasis is laid on the idea that the French stand tonight is regarded as final notice to the Germans, seeking to bring the Reich delegates to terms before finishing touches are put to the draft of the report of the experts.

Ever since the blow-up 10 days ago there has been a carefully conducted press campaign designed to impress the Germans with the desirability of their yielding.

With the return of Dr. Schacht from Berlin Thursday will come the answer to the question whether this campaign is to achieve its purpose. If it succeeds there will be a unanimous report. If it fails there will be portions of the report on which the Germans will submit their own conclusions.

In the latter case the French intend, with the cooperation of the allies, to offer Germany the alternative of accepting substantially the terms which Schacht rejected or going on indefinitely with the Dawes plan, whatever its merits or demerits.

The sweetener held out for acceptance of the new project will be reduced annuities in the earlier years.

Whether the German government would be in a position to politically accept a plan which Dr. Schacht had rejected, would be still another question.

In Hollywood, stars and directors alike know this so well! "People respond instantly to the loveliness of beautiful skin," says F. W. Murnau, Fox director—and sums up the experience of 39 leading directors.

"Every screen star knows this," he goes on to say, forcefully. "They take the utmost care of their skin. For in the close-up only the skin of naturally flawless beauty can stand the pitiless search of glaring lights."

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, April 28.—(US)—They used to hang their golden hair down their backs. Now the newest thing is to cut out the entire back of your evening dresses, and hang jewelry down your back—plenty of it. The jewelry falls where there isn't any dress. Ticklish people can't do it. The effect is that of a lady who has her head on the wrong way.

Baroness de Werth, an American girl says that if you want to be happy don't marry a foreigner. She adds that while American men are cold, and think too much of themselves and are not good lovers, they are the best husbands.

Which raises the question—just what is a good husband?

Budapest has refused the franchise to its women after a 10-year fight. Every man who spoke on the subject said that woman's place was in the home.

Mebbe, but when you have to fight to keep her there, while she fights to get out, it isn't much of a home. If the Hungarian women would start the delicatessen idea, and hug in sausage and dill pickles for dinner, they'd get the vote. That's one way to hurry the thing along. A cook will always have an advantage, as long as men are men.

Senator Smooth of Utah, is alarmed over the idleness and extravagance of women. And he says the happy women are those who are not afraid to cook and keep house and dig in the dirt.

Bulgaria has been able to keep its women "in the kitchen on the cook stove" to date, but with them fighting for their rights for 10 years. You'd hardly call that keeping happy would you?

A Chicago woman divorced her husband because he sicked the dog on her and she was badly chewed up.

A man in Los Angeles sued his wife because she constantly played the races, always picked horses that were running far into the night, and then got unbearably ill tempered because she lost her money.

After all, the sexes seem to be running fifty-fifty.

A University of Chicago girl has chosen "dishwashing" as the subject for her thesis on art. She wants a masters degree. She should have it for getting the girls to read it. If she can make them like it she should be given a doctor's degree. They give them for less.

Chicago jailed two parents and fined 26 of them for indifference, because they didn't make their children go to school.

There may be many people in Chicago who should be jailed and aren't, but their crimes certainly aren't crimes of omission.

We Women

Minerva's Mirror

Women who have WIT usually also have IT.

◆ ◆ ◆

As a matter of simple logic, it would seem to be just as reasonable for women to wear rings in their noses as earrings . . . but only an unreasonable person would expect us to be as reasonable as that.

◆

A disillusioned and cynical bachelor's definition: "Love is the consoling superstition."

◆ ◆ ◆

Mirrors do not lie. The trouble then must be with the eyesight—or egos—of some women.

◆ ◆ ◆

A straight line is the shortest distance between two points, and matrimonial happiness is the shortest distance between two MINDS.

◆ ◆ ◆

It is said that a smile will go a long way. . .and an odd thing about that is that women who smile honestly and freely can go a long way without having their faces repaired.

◆ ◆ ◆

A woman who IMAGINES that her husband is a fool is married to a man who has a fool for a wife.

◆ ◆ ◆

Instance of an almost honest man: A friend of mine who admits he drinks just for the fun of it!

◆ ◆ ◆

Catty women, like cats, seem to have nine lives, too—AND NEED THEM!

Life is not as complicated as it frequently seems, most of us merely make it so.

Modernistic art has found its way into the new summer mode, and particularly lovely is the treatment given banding of plain color that contrasts or harmonizes with the color scheme of the fabric. Design 1679 interprets this feature of the mode with chic trimming on bodice and skirt.

THE EEL

(With apologies to Poe)
By T. A. BRADLEY

Once upon a time when sittin'
On a river bank and gittin'
Only now and then a nibble
As I watched my reel and pole;
Yet I just kept on a fishing',
All the time I kept on wishin'
That I'd never stopped to angle
In this sort of fishin' hole.
For a long time I'd been sittin'
And my mind was bent on quittin',
For I hadn't got a nibble
For at least an hour or so.
Suddenly there came a jerkin';
Seemed like something sure was workin,'
Workin' like the very dickens
On my little hunk of dough.

Soon my line began unrollin';
Something almost jerked my pole in,
But I jumped and grabbed the bloomin' thing
And started in to wind.
Dickens! quoth I, thing of evil,
What are you, a fish or devil?
That you jerk and squirm and
Act just like that, you'd break my only line.
All excited I was reelin'
And I kinda had a feelin'
That a fish of vast proportions
Had annexed my hook and bait.
Things began to get excitin'
While this fish was surely fightin',
And to get him out upon the bank
It was awfully hard to wait.

Says I: You're a big "pertater,"
But you'll look much smaller later
So with one big pull I landed him,
But almost broke my reel.
With a whoop I ran and grabbed him;
With my hands I quickly nabbed him,
And I fou-t to my astonishment
A slimey, wigglin' eel.
On my l-- he squirmed
And dangled
And its strands he quickly tangled
While my thoughts they swiftly wandered
To the bass we all adore.
So I cut my line and flung him
To the water where I hung him.
Will I ever fish for eels again.
My answer: "Never more."

OFFICERS SEEK ELECTRA LOOT

Mexicans Held at Laredo May Solve Burglary

Two Mexicans, held at Eagle Pass in connection with the recovery of stolen goods answering the description of property taken from Miss Loma Walker's ready-to-wear shop at Electra last week, have acknowledged stealing most of the goods from a store in Burleson, Johnson county, according to information received by Sheriff W. G. Bralley Tuesday evening.

A part of the recovered loot, including a number of silk dresses, answers almost exactly the description of the losses given by Miss Walker in a second conference with Mr. Bralley Tuesday afternoon. The men and the goods are to be put in charge of the sheriff of Johnson county, who will attempt to trace all the dresses not taken from the Burleson shop, and Wichita county officials will follow up the case if any connection is established, the sheriff declared.

Officers are looking for two men who occupied a room in an Electra hotel directly over the store on the night of the robbery. A square hole had been cut through into the store and a number of empty dress goods boxes were found in the abandoned room.

PIE CRUST IS MADE IN DOUBLE-QUICK TIME WITH SNOWDRIFT

For this creamy shortening cuts into the flour in just about no time at all. And the dough is so easily and quickly rolled out that you will find you've done away with much of the "handling" which makes pie crust tough.

Like Lemon Pie? Well, here's a recipe that will make you call for Snowdrift every baking day in the year.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

1 Tablespoonful Snowdrift · 1½ Cupfuls Sugar
1½ Cupfuls Boiling Water · 2 Eggs
5 Tablespoonfuls Cornstarch
The Grated Rind of ½ of a Lemon · Pastry
5 Tablespoonfuls Lemon Juice
½ Teaspoonful Salt

Thoroughly mix together the cornstarch, salt and sugar, and add to the boiling water, stirring constantly. When thick, transfer to a double-boiler and cook for at least ten minutes. Add Snowdrift and slowly stir this into the egg yolks. Then add the lemon juice and rind. In the meantime, the pastry should have been prepared and baked on an inverted pie-plate. When this crust is almost brown enough, it should be put in the pie-plate, the cooled filling poured in and the whole covered with a meringue made by beating the egg whites stiff, adding a few drops of lemon extract or juice, and four tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.) about fifteen minutes longer.

QUICK PASTRY

½ Cupful Snowdrift · ½ Teaspoonful Salt
½ Teaspoonful Baking Powder · 1 Cupful Flour
3 Tablespoonfuls Boiling Water

Sift together the dry ingredients and cut in the Snowdrift with a knife, keeping the mixture flaky. Then add the boiling water and cool the pastry before rolling. Roll out on a floured board and bake on an inverted pie-plate for twelve minutes in a hot oven of 500 degrees F.

You see, Snowdrift comes to you already creamed. We actually cream it for you before we pack it in the airtight cans. That's why Snowdrift is so easy to use.

BACHELORS HAVE RIVALS

For Old Maids, When Sensible, Can Be Happy Too

The Old Maid of Today Has as Good a Chance for Happiness as the Much-Envied Bachelor—All She Needs Is Philosophy, Common Sense and a Good Job to Attain Single Blessedness.

Tons of advice are handed out about how to be happy though unmarried, yet this problem has become of as vital importance as the other to a large number of girl bachelors who see no man, either dark or fair, entering their lives, as the fortune tellers say.

Perhaps the reason for this is that it is a far more difficult and complex proposition to be happy though married than it is to be happy though single, because the wife's well-being depends not upon herself alone but mainly upon her husband, whereas the unmarried woman makes her own fortune.

If a marriage turns out badly, the wife is actively miserable, but the worst that can happen to the old maid is a passive regret that she missed drawing a prize in the lottery. The spinster may be lonely, but she doesn't have to endure any man who curses and abuses her, or one who grouches around the home and of whose tempre she stands in terror, or one who rows with her over every nickel that she spends. The unmarried woman may feel that she has missed the best in life, but she has certainly escaped the worst. Hence she is not in need of so much counsel and consolation.

Perhaps another reason why less is said about how to be happy though unmarried is because it takes only three things to achieve that. A little philosophy, a modicum of common sense and a good job, and single blessedness is attained, while on the other hand it takes the tact and diplomacy of a minister extraordinary and ambassador plenipotentiary, and the patience of a Job, the blindness of a bat and the suavity and optimism of a press agent to enable a woman to make a success of matrimony.

If I were going to advise a woman about how to be happy though unmarried, I should urge her, first of all, to put out of her mind any thought that there is any discredit to her in remaining single, and that because she didn't marry is any indication that she lacked beauty and charm and failed to attract men. The term "old maid" is only a gibe in the mouths of fools and dates them as being as prehistoric as the dodo.

Women had to marry in the days when matrimony was the only gainful profession that was open to them and when they had either to marry or starve, or be the fringe on the edge of somebody else's family. But now, whether a woman marries or not is just as much a matter of choice with her as it is with a man, and the girl bachelor and the man bachelor stand upon exactly the same social footing. If they are intelligent and interesting and agreeable, both are much sought after in a world where brilliant and delightful men seem to have a faculty for marrying dull and impossible wives, and vice versa.

Then I would exhort my unmarried woman to come down to earth and look at the matrimonial situation from a practical instead of a romantic standpoint. Of course, every woman would like to find her ideal mate. She would like to have a husband who is strong and reliable; who is tender and loving and sympathetic; who is generous and prosperous; who is intelligent and interesting and a perfect companion whom one would never talk out.

So would every one of us like to be the Prince of Wales, or President Hoover, or Lindbergh, or as rich as Mr. Rockefeller, or as much of a vamp as Clara Bow, or as beautiful as Dolores Costello, but what chance have you got of realizing your dream of what you would like to be and have, I am asking you?

The trouble with women is that when they think about getting married, and how unhappy they will be if they don't marry, it never seems to cross their consciousness that they won't be the lucky ladies who get the perfect husbands. They compare their lots with those of the heroines of the fairy tales who married and lived happily ever after, and not with that of their sisters and their cousins and their aunts who are married to good-for-nothing, drunken husbands they have to support, or to philanderers who break their hearts with their unfaithfulness, or to wanderers who never spend an evening at home if they can help it.

Then I should tell the woman who wants to be happy though unmarried that she likes and finds congenial and that will fill her hands and her mind and give her something interesting to do and think about and plan for, and by which she can earn a comfortable living.

The reason that women in the past were afraid not to marry was because if they did not have a husband and children on which to expend their energies, there was nothing to plan for. They had to waste their lives in useless work, making tatting, crocheting tidies. And they were a pest to other people because, having no interest of their own, they had perforce to interest themselves in other peoples affairs. And they were bitter because they knew the horror of dependence.

But now all that is changed. The unmarried woman's life can be just as full of ambitions and useful, constructive work as a man's. She can earn money as a man can. She is as socially and economically free as a man. Far more than any married woman is. And that is not a blessto be sneezed at.

Finally, I should say to my unmarried woman who wants to be happy, that all life is a series of compromises. We have to be continually striking a balance between our losses and our gains, no matter what our lot may be, and happiness consists in putting the loud pedal on our blessings and the silencer on our misfortunes.

Undoubtedly the unmarried is not so well off as the woman who has an ideal husband, but she is a million times better off than she would be if she had a bad husband and, taking it by and large when she turns the key in her bachelor door and realizes that there is nobody there to ask her why she is 10 minutes late, and if that isn't a punk way to keep house, and is that another hat she has, and so on and so forth, wh she may decide that she hasn't got it so bad after all.

SINCLAIR CASE NEARS FINALE

Supreme Court Ready to Commit Oil Man

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The supreme court is ready to take its final step toward commitment of Harry F. Sinclair to jail to serve a three months sentence for refusal to answer questions by the senate oil committee.

The court's mandate was drawn today to carry into effect its decision of April 8 affirming the sentence imposed by the District of Columbia supreme court. The mandate is signed by Charles Elmore Cropley, the clerk of the highest tribunal, and is issued over the name of Chief Justice Taft. It reviews the proceedings by which the case reached the court and "commands" the District of Columbia supreme court to proceed to put the jail sentence into effect.

The mandate probably will reach the clerk of the District of Columbia supreme court by Saturday, and early next week he may submit it to a judge for the commitment of Sinclair to jail. Justice Hits presided at the trial which resulted in Sinclair's conviction, and probably will issue the order.

The judge making the commitment will decide when Sinclair must surrender, and is expected to designate which of the two penal institutions of the district will receive the oil operator.

The supreme court now has before it for decision another contempt case against Sinclair arising out of jury shadowing during his trial for conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with oil leases. Should a decision be handed down before the end of the present term on June 3 affirming the lower court, Sinclair would be required to serve an additional jail sentence of six months.

State's Charge That Ex-Doughboy Killed War Bride and Tots Disputed

SALEM, Ark., April 30. (UP)—Two conflicting stories about four alleged murders and an illicit love affair were unfolded in a justice court here today.

The state clamied that Ed Burris, veteran of the world war and a former New Mexico rancher, burned his English wartime wife and their three children to death in order that he might elope with Jessie Vernon, pretty 16-year-old neighbor.

Burris, however, insisted that his family was trapped in their home when a grass fire got out of control and that despite his repeated efforts to extricate them, they perished.

The young neighbor girl, chief witness for the state, told of Burris' alleged efforts to persuade her to elope with him after his family was burned to death. She denied she was in love with the man.

Before the fire, the state charged, Burris moved most of his furniture from the house and was prepared to leave the country.

Dabney has assigned the investigation to V. P. Crowe and W. O. Gordon, assistants.

The Toughest Old Cough

Can Now Be Stopped

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Bronchuline Emulsion four times a day.

It's made to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out—and it does it without any loss of time.

And remember, there is no chloroform—no sugar—no dope in this grand cough medicine, and that you must get results or money back.

For ordinary coughs one or two doses is usually enough. Allison Drug Co. and dealers everywhere can supply you.—Adv.

Try a Coffee That Comes From the West Coast of Central America

Experts say it has a rare tang and a full, mellow body unlike coffee from any other region in the world

When old coffees seem to turn out "thin" or "flat" or "muddy"—try a complete change. Try the one coffee that is different from all others. Try the famous Folger flavor that comes from the West Coast of Central America.

Along the mountainous West Coast of Central America is grown a coffee that experts agree is not equalled anywhere else in the world. Conditions of soil, of climate, of altitude—produce here, a rare, spicy, mellow coffee that is utterly unique.

The fame of this unusual coffee first started in the Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco, where it was brought by Folger.

Travelers who discovered it there wrote back for shipments. At that time it could be obtained nowhere else. Today, however, your grocer has it, packed under vacuum seal by Folger.

What Coffee Experts Say

Nature alone gives your cup of coffee its flavor—puts it in the growing berry. Roasting and blending processes (regardless of advertising talk) merely bring out whatever flavor nature has already put in. That is why you notice so little difference when you change from one brand of coffee to another. Because 70% of the coffee sold in the United States today is of one common type, grown in the same general region.

The marked difference in the taste of Folger's Coffee is due to a different type of coffee berry. Nature has given it a higher flavor. You'll be struck by its richer fragrance the instant you break the vacuum seal of your first can of Folger's.

A Remarkable Offer

Because Folger flavor is unlike any other coffee you have ever tried, we invite you to make this comparison. Buy a pound of Folger's from your grocer today. Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. Then let your taste decide which you like best. If Folger's Coffee is not your choice, your grocer will gladly refund the full purchase price. That's fair; isn't it? It costs you nothing to try—so why not order Folger's today? BLUE CURTAIN PLAY PRAISED

Collegians Please Audience In Annual Show

"The New Poor," a three-act play be Casmo Hamilton, scored a hit Tuesday night when the production was presented as the annual spring performance of the Blue Curtain Players at the Junior college auditorium before an estimated audience of 200. The play was under the direction of Miss Juanita Kinsey, head of the dramatics department who has been responsible for the success of the plays presented by the Blue Curtain Players organization for the past several years.

"The New Poor" carried no individual major or minor role, and each player in the cast displayed exceptional ability.

The Originality of the director was expressed in the finals when each player of the cast was given a formal introduction, the introduction itself composing a part of the climax of the plot.

The cast included Lloyd Wyatt, as Grand Duke; Jim Tom Barton as Prince Vladimir; Ameel Kouri, a self-made man; Morris McAfee, Miller Gutteridge, his friend; Marjorie Hines, Mrs. Wellby, Amos' mother; Brunnhilde Holmgren, Alice Wellby, daughter of Mrs. Wellby; Mary Louise Staley and Kathryne Keller, two other daughters; Elva Remington, Mary Maudsley, writer of detective stories, and Arvil Davis, as Kirk O'Farrell a detective. The scene for the performance was in the living room of the Wellby's country home near the city.

Special musical numbers were presented by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Leo M. Underwood.

Proceeds from the play are to go toward a fund for the purchasing of new stage equipment. Management of "The New Poor" was directed by R. O. Jonas.

City Buys Five New Cars for Police, Fire

Five new Chrysler automobiles were purchased Tuesday for use in the police and fire departments according to W. B. Ward, city purchasing agent.

Three of the new automobiles were sedans and will be used by the department in city policing while one was a coupe which will be used as the special car of Chief of Police Frank Burns.

One coupe was purchased for use as the fire chief's car.

All of the cars were six cylinder machines of the Chrysler "65" model. They will be delivered within the next two or three days, Mr. Fairtrace said.

A Buick roadster, now used as the police chief's car, three Dodge touring cars, which serve at present as police cars, and one Studebaker touring car, which is used as the fire chief's car, will be turned over as "trade-ins" as soon as the new cars are received, Mr. Ward said.

Conductor on M. K. & T. Tells Experience

"I Suffered Nine Years From Gall Bladder Trouble But Haven't Had a Spell Since Taking Orgatone," Says Wichita Man.

Nearly everybody in Wichita Falls, especially railroad people, is either acquainted with or has heard of N. A. Hagin, of 1307 Burnett street, for 12 years conductor on the M. K. & T., Wichita Falls, says:

"Since I began taking Orgatone, I have not only gained in strength but I just feel better in every way. I have suffered for 12 years, with gall bladder trouble, and although I tried doctors and had X-ray pictures taken, I never got any real relief. I can truthfully say, I have gotten more good out of five bottles of Orgatone than anything else or everything put together. I had intense, severe pains in my right side, and back, followed range of the right, and it would hurt me so at times I could hardly stand it. I lost my appetite and my food didn't agree with me as it should. I was nervous and slept very poorly and at times. I just dreaded to see morning come. I would feel so worn out and tired, and didn't have enough energy or pep.

"After taking my first bottle of Orgatone, I could tell a change for the better. I have taken five bottles now, and just feel simply fine. I have a fine appetite and can eat anything I want and relish my food, and I have gained in strength and feel better all over. I'm not nervous and sleep soundly every night. I haven't had a spell with my gall bladder trouble, or any of those severe pains in my back and sides. I don't have those tired feelings but have plenty of energy, and I want to say that Orgatone sure was a great benefit in my case. For until I found it I was told my only hope was an operation, but I have escaped that, for which I am thankful and I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment, and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Appreciation Week Concert One Of "Most Pleasing Ever Given Here"

Crowd of Little More Than 100 Hears Outstanding Program Of Wichita Falls Artists

By W. L. UNDERWOOD
The Record News Staff

A crowd numbering slightly more than 100 persons at the First Methodist church Tuesday night bore the burden of expressing the community's appreciation of musical art as represented in one of the most pleasing and artistic recital's ever given by members of this city's unusually talented group of musicians.

The musical given Tuesday night was arranged by Erwin F. Bohmfalk, R. E. Shepherd and W. E. Young as the concluding event of the third day of Appreciation Week, being sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce with the purpose of inducing a more general recognition of the many elements which contribute to Wichita Falls' attractiveness as a home city.

The program given included pipe organ, violin and vocal selections, the performing artists being Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., Miss Dorothy Greathouse, the Wichita Falls Women's quartet, and Stanley M. Raub, with Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey and Miss Katherine Orr as accompanists.

Mrs. Akin gave four programmed organ numbers, and responded to insistent encore with Kreisler's "Caprice." In Gounod's "Processional March," the concluding introduction of the swinging parade motif progressed to a pompous climax in full organ. The second number, "Dragon Flies," by Gillette, flitted lightly through dainty melodies as changeful and colorful as their subject. Mrs. Akin's closing number, Pietro Yon's "American Rhapsody," presented a series of favorite patriotic and folk songs, effectively combined in pleasing modulations, "Maryland, My Maryland," "Deep River," "Dixie," "Old Black Joe," and others progressed to the closing movement, "The Star-Spangled Banner," sung by every voice in the powerful organ.

Miss Dorothy Greathouse, head of the Wichita Falls Conservatory of Music, presented a dramatic soprano voice of unusual range and power in a group of three songs widely varied in style. The modern tendency toward moodful, independent accompaniments was represented by Hagerman's "At the Well," which was featured by skillful modulation of tone on sustained notes. The soothing quietness expected in a lullaby characterized Miss Greathouse' second number, and for her third she chose the favorite, "Je Suis Titania," from Thomas' "Mignon." Admirable flexibility enabled the singer to compass the exacting coloratura passages in this brilliant aria.

The two Wieniawski numbers given by Mr. Raub, opposite in type, were given with the restraint with which he always plays without sacrificing any measure of the pathos, the verve and fire, or the humor which the composer poured into the score. His encore was Dvorok's "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

The standard of the entire concert was maintained by the Women's quartet, which sang Cadman's "From the Land of the Sky-blue Water," in addition to the two programmed numbers. The expression and accurate intonation were especially good on "Good Night, Beloved," by Pinsuti.

City to Try Four Types Before Deciding On New Lights

Samples of four different types of light signals will be given tryouts through actual use here before the purchase of 20 signals for use around schools and in the residential section, according to W. B. Ward, city purchasing agent.

Two of the samples have already been received from electrical companies and the other two are being shipped here for a trial. They will be installed as soon as they are all received.

Unionist Asks For Calendar Revision

MOSCOW, April 30. (INS)—A new blow against religion has been mapped out by an energetic trade unionist whose article was printed in the official newspaper Izvestia.

He advocated a revision of the calendar so as to divide the year into 61 weeks, six days each instead of 52 weeks of seven days each as is the case now.

Sunday, the day on which God rested, would be eliminated. Instead of the present total of 64 holidays, or "days of rest," as they are called, including Sundays, the writer would have 61.

Every sixth day of the week would be a holiday—a Sunday without the "iniquitous implication that it was a holiday granted by the church."

According to the plan, there would be no other days off in the year except these 61. Church holidays like Christmas and Easter would be annihilated completely.

H. Yarbrough announced today. The trial was scheduled to start Tuesday.

A special venire in the case will not be called, a petit jury of 32 men now being on hand for the present term of court, Jim Henry, district clerk, said.

Mrs. Hyer was indicted by a grand jury which probed into circumstances of Hyer's death. Hyer's body was found, badly beaten, in a tent in East Bowie. Mrs. Hyer was arrested the next day and brought to the county jail here.

SOONER GUARD GETS BUILDINGS

Equipment Quarters and New Uniforms Assured

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 30. (UP)—The war department has assured the Oklahoma National Guard sufficient buildings to house its equipment permanently at Fort Sill, Adjutant General Barrett said Tuesday.

Barrett returned Saturday from Washington where he presented camp needs to the department.

Further improvements in the lighting system and completion of the $50,000 building campaign authorized and already under way, also was assured, he said.

The new roll-collar uniforms for national guard troops will be ready for issue Jan. 1, 1930, war department officials told Barrett. Guardsmen have been anxious to obtain this new equipment, Barrett said.

The building of the warehouses and gun sheds assured by the department will mean a saving of transportation and wear and tear expense, Barrett said.

Daily Editorial

MEET J. B. COLBERT

MEET Jean Baptiste Colbert, descendant of a Scotch archer and born in a cubby-hole wineshop at Rheims.

His father apprenticed him to a weaver, who outrageously cheated a stranger in the sale of some cloth.

Young Colbert, butting in upon the dicker, blurted the real value of the goods and insisted that his master return the overcharge.

The customer, a Paris banker, took Colbert home to his countinghouse, and, assured of the lad's integrity, made him a confident in so many transactions that, before long, the pick-up clerk was negotiating court deals, and at 40 became comptroller-general of royal finances.

Soon, he was Louis the Fourteenth's right-hand man. And had his master adopted the suggestions of this supreme administrator, there would have been no vast inhumanities and economic crimes; later to suppurate into revolution, erase the Capet line and provoke democracy.

No single influence ever so boldly marked a nation's art and industry.

As a road-maker and engineer, his achievements rival Caesar's. It was his brain that conceived and charted the Languedoc canal, even if Riquet actually directed the task of linking Atlantic and Mediterranean.

He sent the Fleur-de-Lys to the high seas, on equality with the Royal George and the proud flag of Holland, and lastingly ended piracy along the English Channel.

France owes him for her footholds about the East Indies and for her colonies in Canada and Madagascar.

THERE WERE no chambers of commerce anywhere, until Colbert set up at Paris a deliberative body for the expansion of trade, exchange of information and the re-establishment of guild standards.

He destroyed aristocracy's disdain of gainful occupation, and induced the powerful nobles of Nantes, Bordeaux and the Channel Isles to invest their revenues in factories and importing fleets.

Glassware wasn't made in the country before he built plants and brought over Venetian and Bohemian craftsmen to conduct them.

Gobelin tapestries are another testimonial to his insatiate enterprise and colorful imagination.

Cynics delight to dub him as a creature of accident and speculate upon his probable career if chance, in the guise of a pot-bellied moneychanger, hadn't wandered into yon drapery shop.

But experience, conning her diaries, wisely smiles and reminds us that Simon-pure capacity, like any other fertile seed, will take root on a patch of oasis, or in a rock crevice.

Franklins and Grants and Lincolns are never frustrated by social origin or adverse circumstance, any more than you can be thwarted or side-tracked, except by self-depreciation or don't-give-a-damnness.

Play straight, think independently, wean duty of regular office hours, and get a Colbert break, too.

Opportunity is prospecting for square-shooters, just as hard today as in his time.

Colonel Cooper, the ex-laborer, founder of hydro-electrics and designer of the Keokuk and Assouan dams, joins orphan Hoover, mechanic Ford and train-boy Edison in a fervent "Amen" to that.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who oppresseth the poor reproacheth his Maker."

No one is poor by choice, except that some do not choose to fight for their rights and are imposed upon by those blinded by greed. It is the duty of us all to aid each other in our pursuit of happiness

Military and naval cadets in Italy must be graduates of the local boy scout units to be appointed to national academies.

Changing One Mystery for Another

LIFE is chiefly a matter of electricity, according to Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, who has been delving into the matter for many years.

Reading a paper before the American Philisophical society at Philadelphia, Dr. Crile declared that man seems to be fundamentally a sort of glorified storage battery. As long as the battery remains charged, the machinery can function, and the individual can carry on his daily work, whether the job be writing poetry or playing professional baseball. When the battery runs down, however, the daily work has to be given up; the man dies.

Apparently the old expression, "the vital spark," is a good one. If our clever scientists are going to keep on demonstrating that we are kin to the crackling of an electrical generator, rather than to the stars and the wind as we used to think, we would do well to keep that expression in regular use.

Dr. Crile's researches are extremely interesting, and there is no doubt that they add immensely to the store of human knowledge. Yet it would be a mistake to suppose that they really clear up the fundamental mystery.

Life may be a matter of electricity, as Dr. Crile suggests; but what scientist will arise now to tell us what electricity is? We have only exchanged one mystery for another.

During the last century mankind has found out a great deal about itself and about the world it inhabits. It has dispelled the old fables by which primitive men sought to interpret the puzzles of existence, and has substituted for them a series of far less interestinig formulas and equations. But it is really no nearer the root of the matter than it was before.

The ancient Aztecs believed that the creator of the world made a set of clay figures, blew life into them with his nostrils, and sent them forth to inhabit the world—which, by the way, he had trampled into shape with his feet.

The modern scientist believes that man is a very complicated sort of storage battery, moving about on a speck of cosmis dust as long as his charge of electricity lasts.

Both conceptions are interesting. Neither one clears up the ancient mystery.

We tear down the old curtains of ignorance only to find an endless vista of new ones. And if this leaves room for doubt and disquiet, it also leaves room for faith and boundless hope. The technicians may have reduced you to an electrical equation, but what of that? You are still unexplainable.

Organized Labor Bludgeoned

ORGANIZED LABOR in Pennsylvania put over what is known as the Musmanno industrial police bill at Harrisburg. This bill received a majority in the lower house and was sent to the Pennsylvania senate, where it received the necessary constitutional number of votes. It would have restricted operation of private police guards to the limits of the property of their employers.

All the big manufacturers, coal and rail and iron kings of Pennsylvania maintain private constables. They are commissioned by the state, but their salaries are paid by the heads of the vast corporations.

Governor John S. Fisher vetoed the bill. Governor Fisher is a Republican. A large majority of the lawmakers are Republicans. A vast number of the labor leaders of Pennsylvania are Republicans and 75 per cent of their followers are Republicans. Fisher's veto was a knockout for organized labor and there are a greater number of wage workers in Pennsylvania than can be found in any other American commonwealth.

Veatch of Joshua

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN H. VEATCH of Joshua, in the county of Johnson, is an old-time stockman, an old-time farmer, an old-time lawyer and an old-time economist. He is the friend of the farmer. He opposed salary raise to a limited number of house employes. He shed tears when he told the woes of the down-trodden farmer. And then, as if to clinch his argument, he said, "I want to be a friend of everyone, but if I have to raise salaries to get the smile of some girl or boy, I don't want it."

Why, the sincere smile of girls and boys, with the bloom of youth on their faces and ambitious hope or high ambition pulsating their hearts and their soul has a greater value than the few niggardly dollars that any man could save, in the way of salaries, during an entire session of the legislature of Texas or any other state.

Texas is the wealthiest of states of the South or the Southwest. Regent R. L. Batts stated a few plain facts before a senatorial committee the other day. He told of the wealth of Texas, the underground wealth of Texas which has been taken from the earth for years and years. Has the sage of Joshua read and digested the Batts figures?

Punishing Drunken Hunters

THE MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE has voted to punish the drunken hunter in the same way that the drunken motorist is now punished. Hereafter, a man carrying a gun while under the influence of liquor will be subject to a stiff fine and a term in jail.

This is an excellent idea, worth copying widely. The idea of providing a stiff punishment for the drunken man who drives an auto is based on recognition of the fact that an auto is an extremely dangerous piece of machinery in the hands of an intoxicated man. Surely the same thing is true of a rifle or shotgun.

More and more it is becoming evident that the drunken man is simply out of place in the modern world.

FOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

YES, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS

The most popular man in America today is Dr. William J. O'Shea, Superintendent of Schools in New York City. The doctor has abolished all home work for pupils in some grades and greatly reduced it in others. Questionnaires given school children today would be the following:

Q.—What is the highest mountain in North America?

A.—Dr. O'Shea.

Q.—Name the largest state in the Union?

A.—Dr. O'Shea.

Q.—Who discovered America?

A.—Dr. O'Shea.

PHILLIPS

◆ ◆ ◆

As far as the school children are concerned, the Superintendent is Santa Claus, Jack the Giant Killer, the Fairy Prince, King Arthur, Uncle Piggly-Wiggly and Charlie Chaplin rolled into one. He is their choice for president of the United States, heavyweight champion of the world and winner of all Mister America contests.

◆ ◆ ◆

No home work? There's a man for you!

◆ ◆ ◆

The kiddies are even singing the national anthem:

O'Shea can you see
By the dawn's early light?

◆ ◆ ◆

The doctor's order eliminates all home work during the first three years in the public schools and allows only light home work "of most essential and attractive forms" for the upper grades and junior high pupils.

◆ ◆ ◆

He thinks the problem: "If John has six apples and Charles has seven apples, how many apples will they have together?" is nothing the child should take home to interfere with the radio program, and that no little boy or girl should be kept from a Fairbank's moving picture by an evening at home with such a dull subject as the number of quarts Jennie will have if she has two five-gallon cans of milk, spills one quart and gives a gill to a friend.

◆ ◆ ◆

And the children think he is right.

◆ ◆ ◆

So do the parents. The abolition of home work means that ma and pa won't be shown up by their offspring every evening.

◆ ◆ ◆

It means that no longer will father, asked "Popper, what's the name of the largest visible planet?" have to squirm in his chair and mutter" I dunno; I am a stranger here myself."

SAFETY FIRST!

No women are to be elected to the Explorers' club of America. The theory being that after a man has been exploring for a year or so he is entitled to a little rest.

Imagine trying to read a book in a corner of the Explorers' club while a bunch of lady lion-hunters are in the same room discribing their experiences!

Or, as it were, talking over their jungle operations!

W. J. Brooks has discovered that the president of the National American Wholesale Lumber association is Ben S. Woodhead.

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, April 30.—Strange as it may seem, treasurers of large corporations report that one of their great difficulties is to get stockholders to deposit or cash their dividend checks. A great many of them never show up for payment. One would think when a person invested money in a corporation, he would be particular about this, but apparently many stockholders are not.

Capt. John Thomas Randell, who was the master of I'm Alone, was a caller on this writer recently when he was en route from New Orleans to Montreal. He is a quiet, soft-spoken man, a little hard of hearing. He has an enviable record as a sailor and a navigator. Rather silent about what he accomplished in the war, I discovered he was known as the pirate of the North sea, where he was in charge of a fleet of rusty British trawlers. He wears several decorations for gallantry in action.

He is confident that the American government will have to pay the owners full damages for the ship and indemnify its crew. He says, without equivocation, that he was 14½ to 15 miles from the American coast, that he had established his position accurately when the coast guard boat approached. He says he got many telegrams when he landed in New Orleans from Americans and all were sympathetic but one. An old lady criticized him and sent him a Bible.

It strikes this writer as poor economics for the government to go to all the trouble of chasing, sinking a boat and killing one of its crew and then being forced to pay substantial damages for the performance. If a private corporation ran its business on this basis, it would be severely criticized by the stockholders.

An old woman died in New York recently. The newspapers paid little attention to her death. It was reported in a paragraph. Years ago this same woman was a main factor in the newspaper business. This was the days before first editions of morning papers were sold on the street. They were printed to ship only to outlying districts, and this woman made her living by stealing first editions, turning them over to reporters of rival papers who telephoned the stories on the front page to their home offices to be sure that none of the other papers had a beat.

It was during this period of strongest competition that the old New York Herald got the story of the murder of Petronsino in Italy. Petrosino was a well known New York detective, of Italian descent who had gone to Italy on a black hand case. When the Herald got this story exclusively, the editors knew that if it appeared in the first edition, this old woman would deliver a copy of the paper to rival reporters, and, when the last editions were on the streets, it would be in every newspaper. Therefore, it was held out of the first edition, the paper completely made over for the second edition, and the Herald had a clean, beat, which was a great accomplishment in those days, and would be now.

In the death notice of this woman who ran a news stand until a few years ago, no mention was made to what she contributed as a reporter to newspapers simply by getting copies of first editions of the morning papers.

A gentleman was seeing his wife off recently on the "Berengaria," and when he left the ship before she sailed he carried in his hand a bag; behind him walked a friend who suddenly saw him accosted by customs officers who yanked him roughly to one side and demanded he open the bag, assuming he was guilty of carrying liquor. The friend rushed up and demanded:

"What's wrong here?"

"What have you got to do with it?" said the customs officer.

"I am that man's lawyer," replied the friend who afterwards confessed to me that all the law he had even gotten was out of a bottle, and not out of a book. There was an argument which lasted perhaps 20 minutes, during which the crowd gathered around the customs men and their supposed victim. The pseudo lawyer insisted his friend should not open the bag and kept reiterating:

"Don't open that bag, if you take the advice of your lawyer."

Finally, after a great deal of caustic comment from the crowd, the owner of the bag decided to open it, and much to the amusement of all concerned, it was absolutely empty. The customs man got from the circle of spectators what our British cousins call "the bird."

The criminal news in the papers is too high soundin'. Instead o' sayin', "A darin' bandit held up the Acme fillin' station single-handed in broad daylight, backed the attendant in a closet, scooped up a large sum o' money an' escaped," it should say, "A cowardly bum sneaked up on the unarmed boy attendant o' the Acme fillin' station, backed him in a closet at the point of a gun, grabbed $11, an' escaped." I don't look fer any serious international complications so long as we've got wet embassies.

What Patients' Hands Tell Doctor

The doctor often develops great powers of observation after years of practice, and he may know very much more about the patient than the latter is usually aware. Often a doctor of many years' experience can almost diagnose a case by merely looking at the patient. Often, too, the doctor does not realize the actual definite physical changes which led him to his opinion, as he may do this by a subconscious recognition of similarities to other patients having the same type of disease. Just to illustrate, I am going to give you a few of the pointers that a doctor may learn from observing a patient's hands.

It is often easy to determine a patient's occupation without asking questions. For example, a carpenter has practically the skin of the entire palm of the right hand thickened and calloused through pressure upon the plane, and small hard patches of skin are usually found upon the first and second joints of the thumb and the lower part of the forefinger.

The violinist usually has flattened, calloused fingertips.

The bookkeeper or clerk usually has a thick callous of the skin just above the last joint of the middle finger.

Typists often have the tips of the first two fingers of both hands roughened and cracked as well as the outside of the thumb of the right hand.

The painter can usually be detected by small particles of paint at the base of the fingernails.

Dyers, photographers and those who work in chemicals almost always have characteristic stains upon the fingers.

Horny, thickened fingers almost always indicate a hardy son of toil.

Bank cashiers usually have a callous on the outside of the thumb tip of the right hand.

A woodsman usually has a thickened skin over the entire inner surface of the palm and well defined calluses upon the first finger and thumb of the right hand caused by the hand sliding up and down the ax handle.

The doctor is also able to determine much about the patient's general health from the appearance of the hands and from the patient's method of holding and moving them, and much can also be determined from the texture of the skin of the hands and from the appearance of the fingernails.

It is even possible to sometimes determine how long since the patient had an acute illness because the nutrition of the nail suffers greatly during an acute illness and a transverse groove will usually form in the nail. The time can be calculated by the fact that the length of time required to grow a new nail is about six months. If the groove is about half way up to the fingernail, the patient had an illness about three months ago, and if the groove is a third of the way up, the patient had an acute illness about two months ago.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Large Neck

Question—Mrs. S. M. writes: "I have had a large neck for 17 years. My doctor says it's not goitre, only a large lump. Could this be taken away without any operation?"

Answer—There are many kinds of glands in the neck besides the thyroid which swell out of their normal shape. Most of these can be reduced through the proper diet with sometimes the assistance of local treatments. If you will have an exact diagnosis made of your trouble, I will be glad to send you my opinion about your case and the possibility of a cure.

Artichokes

Question—O. M. J. asks: "What do you think of artichokes as a food? What is their food value? How do they combine with other foods?"

Answer—The French artichoke is a non-starchy vegetable, while the Jerusalem artichoke is starchy. Both have excellent food value, but the French artichoke is richer in vitamins and mineral elements. These artichokes look something like thistles, and the French artichoke can be used in combination with any other kind of food, but the Jerusalem artichoke should only be used with the non-starchy vegetables and not with meat or other proteins.

Pains in Ribs

Question—F. B. D. writes: "For the past three years I have had so many cramps in my ribs or the muscles underneath them. If I turn by body to look back, or raise my arms to reach around for anything, I get them. Sometimes they will last for five minutes and I have to move myself in all shapes to get rid of them. I have asked several doctors but they say they don't know what it is. I am 33 years old.

Answer—It may be possible that you dislocate your ribs when twisting your body. Sometimes one rib will fold over the other and this will cause pain until it is replaced. Have an osteopathic or chiropractic physician examine your ribs and see if this is the cause.

MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: Well, I finally got a good job in th' talkies.

MACK: So is I. So we both is workin' if yo' calls talk work.

MORAN: What does wo' do in th' talkies?

MACK: I plays the tickin' in a watch factory.

MORAN: That ain't talkin'.

MACK: No, it's tickin'.

MORAN: How does yo' tick?

MACK: Well, there's lots of different kinds. They is happy ticks, they is mad ticks an' they is sad ticks.

MORAN: Let me hear yo' tick.

MACK: I can't right away because I ain't rehearsed th' part.

MORAN: Does yo' have to practice tickin' befo' yo' kin tick?

MACK: Sure I plays th' ticks for a very valible watch. It's worth fo' hundred dollahs.

MORAN: How much pay does yo' get?

MACK: Lissen, Egghead, when they is a fo' hundred dollah watch aroun' loose, I works fo' nothin'.

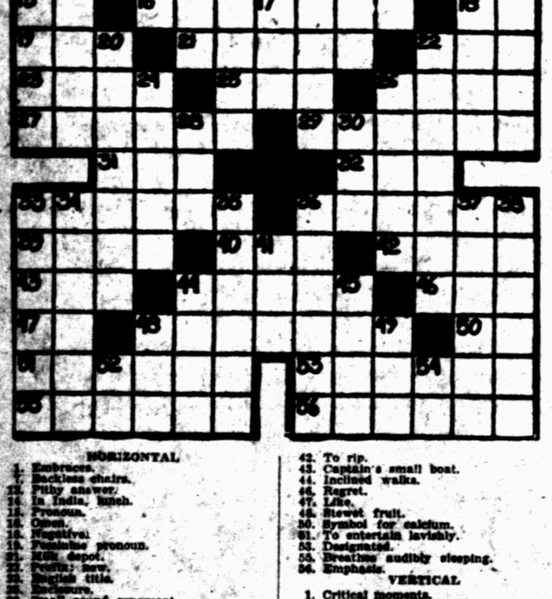

They have trusted Big Boy with a four hundred dollar watch and that's enough pay for him. When it comes to leaving suddenly, Big Boy is a key-winder.

PAYNE BESTS BUFF ROOKIE AND SPUDS TAKE FOUR STRAIGHT

WICHITA WINS FIRST, 4 TO 3

Galloways Make Seven Hits Off Myres Count

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, April 30.—The potent Spudder bats were direful in the old w. k. clinch today, and the Wichita Falls club took the opener of the three-game series with the Buffaloes, and the start of a southern invasion. The score was 4 to 3 and it was the fourth straight victory hung up by Galloway's gallopers.

The Spudders went into a tie for third place with Shreveport, who was losing to Waco while they were beating Houston. Wichita Falls now is only one game behind the second-place Buffs.

Myres, rookie Buff knuckle ball hurler, limited the Spudders to seven hits. But Wichita Falls made all its knocks count and daring and fast base running did the rest.

Buff Hits Scattered

George Payne, eminent master of the screw ball, chucked his first nine-inning game of the season and was effective. He kept the 10 Buff blows well scattered, except in the sixth when they counted two runs and in the seventh when they tallied their third marker. Two double plays helped Payne turn back Pancho's Snyder's tossers.

Dick Sullivan led the Spudder attack with two hits. Hock, Jordan and Cotelle each maced two hits, both of Jordan's going for doubles.

The play of the Spudder second base pairsand of Stapleton at first base, featured.

The Spudders tallied two runs in the first inning. Benton led off with a base on balls, and advanced to second on Turgeon's short hit to right. Fitzgerald fouled to Snyder. Bennett struck out. Stapleton tripled to right, scoring Benton and Turgeon.

Wichita Falls came back with another run in the second. Sullivan started it with a single to right and stole second while Myres held the ball. Lapan walked. Payne lifted to Jordan. Bennett beat out an infield hit, filling the bases. Turgeon forced Benton at second, Benson to Jordan, Sullivan scoring.

Houston Scores Late

Houston scored two in the sixth. Martin singled to center after one was out and stole second on Payne. Turgeon threw out Burrus, Martin going to third. Jordan hit to left for two bases, scoring Martin. Cotelle singled to center, tallying Jordan.

The Buffs tied the score in the seventh. Benson, first up, singled to left, but was forced by Myres on an attempted sacrifice, Payne to Benton. Hock singled over first. Myres stopping at second. Williamson beat out a grounder to Benton, filling the bases. Martin forced Williamson, Benton to Turgeon, Myres scoring.

Wichita Falls won in the eighth. Turgeon was safe on Benson's fumble with one out. Fitzgerald forced Turgeon, Hock to Jordan. Bennett singled to center, advancing Fitzgerald to third. Fitzgerald scored while Bennett was run down on an attempted double steal.

Vintage Pitchers

Grover Alexander, 42, and Clarence Mitchell, 38, helped the Cardinals win a pennant last year. So the Red Birds added Bill Doak, 38, to their staff this spring. Mitchell and Doak are spitball hurlers.

NO. 2—BOBBY JONES

Here is a guy whose swing is such
He doesn't have to bother much
With uter-bounds and four-foot putts
Like you and me and other mutts.

A heel print where the sand is rife
Means nothing in his care-free life,
And no nightmares affect his dreams
Of ditches, woods and guarding streams.

He never knows the bitter fate
Of tapping one in for an "eight,"
But what is something even more
He gets no heart-throb from a "four."

A long, straight wallop with a roll
Brings him no ecstacy of soul,
Whereas to me—and maybe you—
It turns a storm sky into blue.

A drive—a mashie to the pin—
A putt or two—the pill is in;
He rarely gets to chase a ball
Where travel and adventure call.

Along the course he rarely sees
The magic beauty of the trees
Where you and I, behind some oak,
Keep piling gaily stroke on stroke.

Would I change places on the green
With this mechanical machine?
For par golf would I giveadam?
How crazy do you think I am?

Concerning Heavyweights

It was somewhat typical of the times that in order to put on a heavyweight fight that had a chance for color and action Madison Square garden and the milk fund had to match a German and a Spaniard. They would have been quite pleased to enter at least one American heavyweight in this party but the last appearance of two leading American heavyweights, Sharkey and Stribling, left no fragrance to be inhaled for the sheer joy of inhalation. Which is to say it pleased almost no one except the two fighters who collected $185,000 for something like a $1,000 exhibition.

It is the tip on the quality of the present American heavyweight crop from the viewpoint of skill, punching power and aggressiveness that two foreigners had to be signed in order to insure a financial success.

Most of the fighters on this side have discovered they can make money without fighting a lick, but the arrival of a few more foreign entries may change these tactics. Or it may be they can't fight a lick, even if they wanted to.

Form and Effort

Mike Sweeney, the famous physical director of Hill school, brings up one of the most important factors in form development or form improvement. "The problem of acquiring form," says the veteran director, "should be accompanied with no thought given to the matter of physical effort. The idea of effort defeats or checks the idea of form. They can go together after form is perfected or at least is made intuitive. But too often the contestant or player tries to work out both at the same time." This is completely true. A ball player or a golfer trying to work out a correct method of swinging also tries to hit the ball as far as he can at the same time. The double scheme won't work.

The basis of form, as outlined several dozen or several hundreds of time in these dispatches, is smoothness, a smoothness that is not to be interrupted by any mental or physical interruption.

Any attempt in the way of effort has trouble enough in thinking of one thing at a time. If it is to think along the lines of form that should be its entire job at the moment. The surprising part will come in how much power one can get without calling on extra effort if the swing or blow is smoothly made.

Two Form Entries

Those who don't think that form matters might watch Rogers Hornsby or Horton Smith.

Hornsby is the best "form hitter" in the big leagues. And he isn't far from being the best all around hitter in the big leagues when quality and quantity both are considered.

His weight is correctly placed as he steps into the swing, always back of the punch, or backing up the punch. The same is true of Horton Smith, who proved how far form could count by picking up a bunch of fame and money before he was 21 against the leading stars of his profession.

The right way is so much easier than the wrong way that it would nearly always prevail if it wasn't for the matter of tension, which happens to be an uncontrollable factor, stronger than the will-power of the stoutest souls.

West Texas Nines Ready for Openers

(By The Associated Press)

The last of the state professional baseball circuits will drop the barrier on the 1929 race when the West Texas league, fast six-club class D loop, opens with games in three cities today.

Midland opens at Big Spring; Abilene at Coleman, and San Angelo at Ballinger. Street parades are planned in each of the cities and business houses will close. At Coleman they even have asked that district court be adjourned for the duration of the game.

Ballinger is the only new club in the league, having taken the franchise abandoned by Lubbock.

Bass Earns Decision Over Farr in Fast Go

PHILADELPHIA, April 30. (AP)—Benny Bass, Philadelphia, was awarded the decision over Johnny Farr, Cleveland, in a slashing 10-round bout at the arena tonight. Bass weighed 128½ pounds, Farr 130. The decision was unpopular. Many experts at the ringside gave most of the rounds to Farr.

CATCHERS MAY DECIDE RACES

A's, in First Place, Have Greatest Maskman

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, April 30. (UP)—Catchers promise to play a prominent part in deciding the two major league pennant races this season.

It is no coincidence that the Philadelphia Athletics have perhaps the greatest catcher in baseball and are leading the American league race. Chosen as the most valuable player in the American league last season, Mickey Cochrane is performing more brilliantly behind the bat this year than he did at any stage of the race a year ago.

Not only is Cochrane getting the greatest possible results out of the Athletics' pitching staff, but he is hitting hard and timely. His triple with the bases filled was one of the features of the Athletics' 10 to 1 victory over the Yankees at Philadelphia today.

One of the biggest handicaps shouldered by the Yankees is the absence of their two first string catchers—Benny Bengough and John Grabowski—from the lineup. Bengough got less credit and deserved more for the success of the Yankees last season than any other player on the team outside of Hoyt, Ruth and Gehrig. Now that he is out of the game with an injured arm, the Yankees are really missing him.

The poor work of the Yankee pitchers, excluding Hoyt, may be traced to Bengough's absence from the catching box. Grabowski has an injured finger and Bill Dickey, only one year out of a class D league, has drawn the first-string catching assignment.

No small part of the success of the St. Louis Browns in the early games is due Wally Schang, who is in harness after 16 seasons in the big leagues with the Athletics, Red Sox, Yankees and Browns. At 38 Schang still is regarded as one of the smartest maskmen in the game. He may have lost some of his speed but when it comes to handling a pitcher or working on a batter's weakness the St. Louis veteran is a master.

Injuries have put four Chicago Cub catchers on the shelf, but the Cubs go right on winning with Tom Angley, an Atlantic rookie, behind the bat. Efforts to obtain Val Picinich, veteran backstop recently traded to Brooklyn by Cincinnati, failed when Uncle Wilbert Robinson demanded one of the Cubs' pitching stars.

Gabby Hartnett, one of the leading maskmen of the National league, has been laid up for weeks with a sore arm. Mike Gonzales and Earl Grace received injuries which put them out of the game. John Schulte, obtained from Columbus for the emergency, joined the hospital list with a spiked foot.

Zach Taylor and Pat Collins, both veterans, have been contributing valuable services in the Boston Braves' early rush to the National league lead.

CORKING RING SHOW LOOMS

Ross' Card of Three Tens Tonight Looks Good

Promoter Alex Ross offers a carded "all star" boxing show tonight at the Palace theater. Three 10-round bouts are scheduled and "on paper," the show looms as a corker.

Johnny Estes, the former University of Texas student, will meet Walter Varner, the hard-punching middleweight from Caird, in the final go. This would be a sparkling bout, replete with action, as both boys have reputations of being capable punchers.

Rudy Hodge, the Houston lightweight, will step with Kid Swinney of Oklahoma City in the second 10-rounder. Ross says Swinney is the sort of lad to give the clever Hodge a strenuous tilt.

A pair of reputed sluggers will meet in the first feature go—Bud Griffin of Childress and Red Wells of Fort Worth. They are middleweights.

Professor Ross lined up this card with the view of providing three fast, well-matched scraps and he says the show will be pleasing to his customers.

Two prelims, the first opening the show at 8:15 o'clock, also are booked.

IF you are going to trade in your car

MANY families are about to trade in their present cars for new cars. It will be to their interest to read and remember the basic facts about used car allowances.

1 Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value. That is, what the dealer who accepts it can get for it in the used car market.

2 It has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

3 The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that the new car offered you has been excessively priced.

5 First consider the merits of each new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh the different allowances offered on your present car.

6 A trade-in transaction is a purchase, not a sale. Its real measure is whether you get full new car value for your present car, plus the balance that you pay in cash.

TWO WEEKS of play have elapsed in the major leagues and most of the clubs have found their proper levels. There are exceptions, however, the most notable of which are the Boston Braves and Washington Senators.

The surprising Braves, voted by critics in the spring by acclamation as the weakest club in fast time, continue to battle for first place in the National league. Of course, it is inconceivable that the Boston team will occupy a high place in the standing next October. But the Braves at least have given the good folk of the Hub about their first real baseball thrill for many a year.

WASHINGTON, entering the championship campaign after a spring of almost unbroken victories over other major league competition, has been a woeful flop. The Senators are in a submerged place and not only is their present position disappointing to the admirers of Walter Johnson, but they have played listlessly and in anything but a manner to indicate they will be contenders for better than fourth or fifth.

The Philadelphia Phillies have played some good ball, which is not surprising. There is strength held by Burt Shotten's club, although they are not considered for anything better than a second division berth.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati have not played any baseball to give their adherents cause for cheering, but they doubtless will go higher soon, particularly the Pirates.

THE ATHLETICS and Browns justified predictions of the experts in early season play in going to the front and indicating that the Yankees face a hard fight to repeat. The champions, too, have shown expected faulty pitching.

The Chicago Cubs are fighting for the National league leadership, as was expected, and the Cardinals also are in a striking position. The Giants faltered in the past week, after getting away to a fast start, but McGraw may be expected to bring his club back to a commanding position.

Hap O'Connor Writes Runyon About Gig Rooney, Ring Second

Damon's West Coast Operative Also Discourses On Other Noted Handlers of Boxers, Past and Present

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, April 30.—My celebrated west coast operative, T-69, otherwise Mr. Hap O'Connor, the man with the overhang to his chin, asserts that Mr. Willie "Gig" Rooney of Los Angeles is the only second in the world who does more fighting between rounds than his fighters commit while the rounds are in progress.

Rather a broad statement, I thought at first, but Mr. O'Connor produces testimony. He alleges that he once saw Mr. Rooney, who is now the manager of Jackie Fields, the west coast welterweight, and perhaps the next champion of that division, flatten himself while serving as a second.

'Twas out at the old Vernon fight shed on Santa Fe avenue, in Los Angeles, as the veracious Mr. O'Connor tells it, and Mr. Rooney, between rounds, started to show a youngster he was handling how to deliver an upper.

"This is the way," said Mr. Rooney to the boy, "look, this is the way you do it!"

Whereupon Mr. Rooney gave the ozone a nasty right uppercut which missed the air and connected with the point of Mr. Rooney's own chin. Mr. Rooney fell over a water bucket. Just then the bell rang, and an assistant second had to haul Mr. Rooney through the ropes and fan him back to life.

Improves Shadow Boxing

"But Mr. Rooney has improved in his shadow boxing since those old days at Vernon," says Mr. O'Connor. "He has developed more fancy footwork. After each round, Mr. Rooney rushes for Jackie Fields like a man mad. He puts Jackie down on the stool in his corner with a thud.

"He works on him ten seconds, and then starts to shadow box in front of Jackie, who gazes at Mr. Rooney as if entranced. Of course Jackie Fields knows more about boxing now than Mr. Rooney will ever learn but the spectacle of Mr. Rooney shadow boxing seems quite diverting to Jackie. Perhaps he is wondering how a guy can do so many things all wrong.

"Heigh-ho," sighs Mr. O'Connor, as if saddened by his contemplation of the possible fate of Mr. Rooney. "It won't be long until that guy with the butterfly net will get Mr. Rooney. Nice fellow, too."

Then Mr. O'Connor proceeds to a discussion of seconds, past and present, that have come under his observation on the west coast, and says that you can count all the good seconds in those parts on your fingers.

Mr. O'Connor may not know it, but that goes for almost any community addicted to the sour science.

Seconds Beat Emanuel

"If Armand Emanuel had a couple of smart seconds in his corner that night he fought Tommy Loughran at the Olympic he would have won the fight," declares Mr. O'Connor. "One second commanded Emanuel to coast through the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds, thinking Emanuel was so far ahead he was sure to get the decision.

"Another second suggested to Armand that he speed, figuring the boy was behind. A third contracted the other two. The greatest second I ever saw out here is George Blake, manager of Fidel Labarba, and next to him is Jerry McCarthy, the oldtimer out of Montana, who once fought Stanley Ketchel.

"Tommy McFarland, the old San Francisco lightweight, is a good second. He is a corker when his fighter is losing. Anybody can be a good second when his fighter is winning. McFarland is great on bringing around punch soaked gladiators. Al Lang and Barney Myers also seem to know what it is all about when their men are in trouble.

"Old Windy Windsor, who once had Jack Dempsey and later Tony Fuente, makes them fight. Windy bulldozes them. Windy says, 'If you don't drop this guy in the next round I'll hit you over the head with the water bucket.' But Windy also arms his man with real advice to go with the threats.

Jack's Handling Faulty

"Charley McDonald tries the threatening stuff, too. Joe Waterman is a ringside bully. Joe gets all excited right at the start of the first round, and sometimes too much excited. Dewitt Van Vourt, the old instructor at the Los Angeles Athletic club, doesn't think much of Dempsey's handling in the Chicago fight.

Van Court says Flynn let the referee get away with that 14 count. He says if Jack Kearns had been in Dempsey's corner, Kearn would have hustled Dempsey out of the ring pronto, and maybe with the title.

"I can't pin any medal's on Dutch Myers as a second. Dutch was in Bert Colima's corner when Colima fought Mickey Walker at the old Vernon club in the first ten round bout under the new boxing law out here.

"Myers stuck his head through the ropes when Referee Hurry Lee was counting over Colima on a knockdown in Colima's own corner, and put a bottle of smelling salts under Colima's nose. Colima lost the fight then and there. The boxing commission out here ought to put on a tournament for the seconds and see how much they really know about the boxing game."

Spider Roach Topnotcher

My famous operative writes in more heavily critical vein than is his wont. I fear the fellow is reaching his dotage, and I may have to retire him on a pension. He is also getting forgetful. He makes no mention of a topnotch second out here on the coast, Spider Roach.

I saw the Spider in New York the other day. He was here with some amateur fighters from the West. Roach is a good man in a corner. And if Mr. O'Connor thinks there are bad seconds out there he ought to get a load of some of the manhandlers we have around New York, operating under license of the boxing commission.

I marvel that their gladiators escape with their lives.

COUNTY JUDGES SEEK EQUALIZATION OF OIL LAND VALUES

MEET CALLED HERE MAY 25

12 Counties to Join in District Conference

The problem of the equalization of oil land taxation will probably be one of the principal topics for the quarterly meeting of the County Judges and County Commissioners association of the 13th congressional district here on May 25, John P. Marrs, county judge, announced Tuesday. Wichita Falls was chosen for the May session at a meeting in February at Bowie, and Judge Marrs, with the members of the commissioners court, was placed in charge of the program.

Details for the entertainment of the body of about 30 judges and commissioners from 12 counties will be worked out during the regular meeting of the commissioners court next Monday, Judge Marrs declared. Meetings, he said, will probably be held in one of the district court rooms.

Special invitations will be extended officials of Dallas and Fort Worth to participate in the program here. Judge Marrs explained that the date was only tentatively set and that he expected to write Judge H. N. Dearmore of Montague county, president of the association, for confirmation of the proposal.

Big Wool Sale In West Texas

SAN ANGELO, Texas, April 30. (AP)—The sale of more than 1,200,000 pounds of spring wool at prices ranging between 29 cents a pound and 33 cents per pound was confirmed here today by J. M. Lea of San Angelo who made the purchase for Draper and company of Boston.

The Sutton county pool of more than 1,000,000 pounds brought 33 cents a pound and the Eden, Concho county pool brought 29 cents per pound. The Sutton county pool is one of the most desirable in the state, being made up of clips ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 pounds each. Lea has purchased the pool for the last eight years. The price paid this year is about 5 cents a pound under that of last year in spite of the fact that the shrinkage is expected to be less.

S. Silberman and Sons of Chicago are contracting some wool in Sutton and Menard counties and last week Jim Henderson and Pat Wren Jackson sold about 10,000 pounds of wool carried over from 1928 for 30 cents a pound.

Bible Collection Planned at Burk

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, April 30.—The Central Christian of Burkburnett of which Glen R. Clark is pastor, is sponsoring a collection of Bibles which will be exhibited the week of May 13 to 18 in the window of a local store.

The membership of the Christian church is searching far and near to find the oldest Bibles, the biggest Bibles, the smallest Bibles, and the most interesting Bibles in this section of the country. It is also hoped that some Bibles may be found that belonged to famous people. They are also searching for new testaments that were carried by soldiers in the Civil war, Mexican war, Spanish war and the World war.

Several very interesting exhibits have already been found. On Sunday May 19, the exhibit will be moved to the Central Christian church, where the pastor will preach on "The Word of God."

Four Electra Boys Held for Thefts

Four Electra boys, ranging in age from 13 to 16 years, were arrested Tuesday by James A. McDonald, county juvenile officer, on charges of burglarizing the warehouse of the National Supply company and of stealing a shotgun and some fishing tackle from an Electra home.

From the warehouse a large number of brass fittings were reported missing. The gun and fishing tackle, evidently secured with an eye to the sporting season just opening, were recovered from their hiding place in a ditch between the home of the culprits and the residence from which they were stolen.

At least two other arrests are expected within the next 24 hours and Mr. McDonald is delaying action on the four cases before him until the whole matter can be investigated.

Additional seats will be placed in the corporation court room while the offices of the chief of police will be replastered or painted, Mr. Fairtrace said.

A separate room to be used by city detectives as a chamber for questioning their arrests will be built into the space behind the chief's office.

Cotton Market Like Jumping Jack — Livestock Texas Trade Moves Slowly — Grain Good Upturns Mark Wheat

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Recent declines were followed by rallies in cotton today with covering promoted by the steadier showing of Liverpool, the firmer technical position of the local market, and some uncertainty as to tomorrow's weekly weather report. July contracts sold up to 18.60 or 22 points above yesterday's closing quotation and closed at 18.45. The general market closed barely steady but last prices showed net gains of 5 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 6 points. Active months soon showed net gains of 8 to 11 points in response to the firm late cables from Liverpool. Offerings were generally readily absorbed with the advance extending to 19.35 for May and 18.90 for December during the early afternoon, or 20 to 24 points net higher and about 35 points above the low level of yesterday. The volume of buying then tapered off and later fluctuations were rather nervous and irregular.

Old crop months broke to about yesterday's close and later months sold off about 13 to 18 points from the best, but the decline brought renewed covering and the market worked up again in the later trading. Closing prices were about 10 to 15 points off from the best.

Liverpool was lower early under Bombay and Continental liquidation, but later rallied on trade calling and covering. The day's weather news was considered generally favorable. Much of the trading consisted of further switching from near to late months. Exports today 4,795 making 7,299,687 so far this season. Port receipts 19,657. U. S. port stocks 1,410,281.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 30. (AP)—Cotton prices today scored a moderate recovery from yesterday's sharp decline but a lack of sustaining support caused early buyers to liquidate later in the session and October contracts after selling up to 18.62 eased off to 18.40 but rallied again and closed at 18.49, or 14 points net up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 7 to 14 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady and the market here opened 5 to 7 points higher. Buying on the firmer technical position as resulting from the recent heavy long liquidation helped the initial advance which extended to 18.48 for July, 18.51 for October and 18.61 for December, or 13 to 16 points above the previous close. A subsequent bulge carried active positions up 21 to 27 points above yesterday's close with July selling at 18.56, October 18.62 and December 18.71.

The market met another flurry of selling in final trading and closing prices were 8 to 14 points under the top but 7 to 14 points above the previous close.

Rumely jumped over 7 points through par while the preferred gained over 6, Murray moved 4¾ more into new high ground, commercial solvents closed 18 points higher and Wilcox Rich "A" gained 4¾ and the "B" shares 5½. Wilcox Rich was not alone influenced by larger earnings but also by expectation of recapitalization.

U. S. Steel gained 1¼ in advance of issuance of quarterly report showing net income at the rate of over $20 a share for the year. Can jumped 5½ and other standard industrials gained from 1 to 3 points. Anaconda held the lead of a strong copper group with 3½ point gain. Oils and rails were rather quiet but firm.

Turnover increased to near the 4,500,000 share level.

The 10 per cent call money rate caused relief that the "month end money crisis was over." Several brokers forecast a 7 per cent rate before the end of tthe week. From the appearance of the money market in the afternoon it would be no surprise if the call rate dropped to that level tomorrow. That would not mean, however, that further wild fluctuations in the rate were unlikely. Checks for May 1 dividend and interest will start through the clearing house Thursday and the banks will have an excuse for jacking rates up again if they see fit. Recently it has seemed to be a policy of the banks to make just as much as possible out of the call money market by putting the rate as high as possible on loans from Friday to Monday. However, the action of the market for the last several sessions has shown that it will take a higher money rate than heretofore expected to stop the advance.

Most of the specialties mentioned here in past weeks moved into new high ground for the move. United Air & Transport gave further evidence of being technically cornered and its move influenced a better tone in other aviation stocks. Murray corporation, the earnings prospects of which were outlined last week, evidenced further good demand. This quarter's net, as stated heretofore, will run well above $3 a share while the year will show over $15 a share. The most important factor in Murray, however, is that the new plant has been entirely paid for out of earnings. Even with the additional capacity, the company has to turn away business. Those usually familiar with Phillips Jones affairs continued active in the stock in anticipation of a favorable development in the near future.

Recent strength in Advance Rumely is further explained by knowledge that the directors are considering a definite plan for eliminating all preferred dividend accumulation. No new financing is expected but after the preferred payment is taken care of a stock distribution to common shareholders is declared to be in prospect. Grand Union Tea, which acquired control of Jones Brothers not so long ago, has been absorbed recently because of steady gain in earnings. Net for the quarter, it is stated, will show increase of 300 per cent as compared with a year ago. Those interested lightened operations recently because of money developments but held to their position as they are influenced by expectation of further gain in earnings this quarter.

Warner Brothers' leading place in trading came coincident with estimate that net for the quarter to end May 31 would run well over $4 a share. Forthcoming report for the second quarter of the fiscal year, ended Feb. 28, is expected to show net of about $3.50 a share. There are several important deals pending in the picture and amusement fields. Consolidated film industries has been picked up quietly because of expectation that it would figure prominently in one merger. National Screen Service, which supplies more than 7,000 theaters with advertising service, is mentioned as likely to benefit also.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 30. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was slow with a weak to lower undertone prevailing on most killing classes. The general market on fed steers and yearlings ruled weak to 25c lower. Weak to lower spots also developed at several points on she stock. Choice heavy steers in Chicago cleared at $14.75, while long fed medium weights and heavy steers at Kansas City realized $14.50. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 40,700 against 43,571 last Tuesday and 51,180 the corresponding day a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 61,100, an increase of 20,500 over a week ago and 18,500 heavier than the same day last year. Killing classes were tendered another decline of 15@50c.

Opening hog trade on shipping account was slow to weak to 25c lower prices. Packers were bearish and on the close at several markets enforced declines of 25@40c. The day's extreme top of $11.60 was paid at Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts, 23,000; 15 to 25 cents lower; top, $11.60 for 207 pounds; packing sows, $9.85@10.50; pigs, medium to choice, 90 to 130 pounds, $9.50@11.25.

KANSAS CITY, April 30. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 13,000; moderately active; weak to 10c lower; top $11.10 for choice 210 to 220 pounds; packing sows $9@9.90.

Grain

TEXAS CASH PRICES

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—Indications that selling had been overdone on recent price breaks that carried wheat down about 20c a bushel led to brisk rallies at times today. The upturns were especially notable as taking place notwithstanding predictions that deliveries on Chicago May wheat contracts tomorrow would be on a big scale, totaling as much perhaps as 6,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1¼@2¼c net higher, with corn varying from ⅝c off to ¼c up, oats ⅛@⅝c advanced, and provisions 2@17c down.

Highest prices reached today for wheat came in the late transactions when offerings had become scarce and many previous sellers were evidently nervous as to whether setbacks had not been carried beyond a point where all bearish factors were more than alloewd for. Complaints of too much rain in parts of Kansas, with a forecast of frost tonight west and southwest, tended also to stimulate rallies, and so likewise did the fact that the Liverpool market today showed an unexpected upturn.

FIRST PRODUCTION OF PASSION PLAY PRESENTED TONIGHT

LOCAL CHORUS TO TAKE PART

Story of Crucifixion Told In Production

Clarence E. Cramer of Chicago arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon, completing the staff and cast of the Passion Play, which will be given for the first time in this section of the country in three performances at the Memorial auditorium on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Mr. Cramer is the manager and producer of the dramatized portrayal of the Christ tragedy which has been interpreted for hundreds of years at Oberammergau, Switzerland, and other European points, and which is to be given here one of the first presentations in the English tongue offered in this country.

Well Known Leaders

Actual direction of the Passion Play is in the hands of three artists of national reputation. Charles Nicholas Lum, with an extensive experience in the direction of legitimate stage productions, will be in charge of the stage. Frank L. Waller of the Gunn School of Music in Chicago is the general musical director. Harold Loring, student of American Indian music and customs, and an eminent pianist, is the conductor.

Principals in a cast of 25 persons include Beresford Lovett of England, who will portray the character of the Christ. Mr. Lovett was trained for the ministry, and spent a lengthy period as a rector in England, it was stated. The love of acting and a pronounced ability in the interpretation of poetic passages finally drew him to the stage, where he has gained a high measure of success in productions similar in theme to the one in which he will appear here.

Maude Fealey, who was also a principal in "The Miracle," (Humperdinck) will impersonate the appealing Mary Magdalene. Mary, the Mother of Jesus, will be played by Margaret Fealy. The role of Judas Iscariot, one of the most difficult in the production, has been assigned to J. W. Bayley.

As is the custom wherever the Passion Play is given, scores of local persons will be enlisted for the rendition of the elaborate musical score accompanying the action of the drama, and for minor roles on the stage. A chorus of mixed voices under the direction of Dr. L. D. Parnell will be used in the "Hallejah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah, "God So Loved the World," from Stainer's "St. Paul;" "Inflammatus," from "Stabat Mater," by Rossini; "Faure's "Palms," and others. A large orchestra composed of local musicians and numerous men, women and children representing the Jewish Temple guards, Roman soldiers, apostles, members of the Sanhedrin, and the crowd which shouted its demand for the release of Barrabas, complete the local complement of performers.

Miss Dorothy Detweiler, soprano, of Aurora, Ill., is carried by the company as soloist. Miss Detweiler is the daughter of Harry Detweiler, teacher of piano and theory in the Chicago Musical college, and formerly a teacher in Texas. She will sing the soprano solo in the "Inflammatus," and also "Jerusalem, Thou that Killest the Prophets," from Stainer's "St. Paul" oratorio.

Story of Crucifixion

The action of the Passion Play is divided into two parts. The first act opens with the events immediately preceding Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. The healing of blind Bartemaeus and the lame beggar, and the cleansing of a sinful woman, are shown in the first scene. The first act closes with the beginning of the march of Calvary. Christ bearing the heavy cross, and followed by the mob. The second act opens with the emergence of the procession from the city gates, where Simon the Cyrene takes the cross from the fallen Jesus, and carries it to the hill. The action is carried through the resurrection and the ascension.

The Cramer production is being brought to the Wichita Falls community through the Maskat Temple organization of the Shrine. The stop here is the first out of Chicago. The local performances will begin at 8 p. m. each night, and will require about two and a half hours for completion.

Dry Land Crops Need Rain Badly

Small grains, sown in unirrigated fields in Wichita county, are being seriously injured by lack of rain, G. C. McGown, county agent, announced Tuesday after a tour of the county. Wheat, corn, and barley crops are in danger of being lost, he declared, some of the fields being already beyond the help of belated showers. He was unable to estimate the amount of acreage involved in the dry areas.

All is well "under the ditch," he added, irrigated lands showing a splendid prospect for a heavy crop.

LAWTON SEEKS CHEESE PLANT

Oklahoma Delegation Here Tuesday

Charles L. Teissler, manager of the Kraft Cheese company here, will be asked to supervise the installation of a similar plant at Lawton, Okla., according to members of a group of 16 dairymen of the Lawton area who visited Wichita Falls Tuesday. The proposed conference with Mr. Teissler could not be arranged at the time of the visit, the manager having been called on business to Kansas City, G. C. McGown, county agent, said Tuesday afternoon.

The visitors from Lawton started a tour of inspection of the dairy interests of the Wichita Falls territory by a visit to the Kraft factory. They moved then through the Bullington dairy, the Weeks Poultry colony, and the M. Johnson dairy before lunch. In the afternoon they called at the dairies operated by Reese Allen and Jack Martin. They were escorted by Mr. McGown and by O. K. Barnes, of the agricultural bureau of the chamber of commerce.

Members of the visiting group included Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Barbee, Ed Roberts, county agent, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Scott, E. A. Hansen, Pete Hansen, W. W. Nagel, J. C. Recknagel, J. E. Post, J. H. Jones, C. S. Ulrich, J. W. Bilderback, B. H. Allen, and Walter Wilson.

BOWERSOCK WILL FILED

The will of Mrs. Betty Bowersock, who died here on April 18, was filed Tuesday afternoon with Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk. All of the real and personal property, valued at arpund $5,000, was bequeathed to John W. Bowersock, her husband. Any part of the property of which he is possessed at the time of his death shall be divided equally about their four children, the document stipulates. Mr. Bowersock is made sole executor without bond.

Each Denial of God Takes Sinner Away From Salvation, Says Pastor

"My friends we drift away from God imperceptibly," Rev. Patrick Dacus Moreland said in his revival at the Grant Street Methodist church Tuesday night. "And then when the end comes we think we can hobble into Heaven on the old broken crutch of church membership."

The pastor took as his text, "Then Agrippa said to Paul, 'Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian.'"

"Then another failure was written down on the books," Rev. Moreland said. "King Agrippa saw Christ for a few seconds but he failed to open his heart and let in the Holy Spirit.

"The opportunity for a man to find God comes but a few times in life. Each time a man braces himself to deny God, it becomes more difficult for him to open his heart to Christ.

"When Agrippa said, 'almost,' he was further away from the Kingdom of God than ever before, because that word shows that he had already made up his mind and refused to accept Christ.

"There are no men who almost accept salvation; it is a cleancut decision. When a man says, 'Thy will be done,' then he has let in Christ."

Rev. Moreland will preach on the subject, "Did Judas Go to Heaven?" at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday. An additional 100 chairs will be placed in the church to take care of the crowd. Dr. W. J. Johnson, presiding elder, will deliver the sermon at the day service at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

CLARA SCHOOL VOTE MAY 11

Organization of Independent District Planned

Members of the Clara community will vote on the question of the creation of an independent school district in a special election called for May 11 in an order issued Tuesday morning by John P. Marrs, county judge. The order was issued upon the presentation of a petition bearing the names of 25 qualified voters of the district.

The ballot will bear the names of seven candidates for trustees of the new district, should the voters decide in favor of its creation. The names include: N. M. Matthews, J. E. Rogers, R. G. Redman, W. P. Prechel, H. M. Meyers, J. C. Miller and Harry Schroeder.

The election will be held in the Clara school building. It was called after a mass meeting of the residents last Friday afternoon during which they decided to attempt to create the district in an effort to better the financial status of the school.

McGown to Meet With Electra Cattle Breeders

Plans for the financing of the Boys Calf club and for the purchase of new animals for the Electra bull circle will be completed in a conference between leaders of the Electra organization and G. C. McGown, county agent, Wednesday.

Additional information about purchasing dates and about animals eligible for use in the circle has just been received in the office of the agent and probably will result in immediate buys, Mr. McGown explained.
