U. S. Raids Hit Two Jap Bases In Solomons

Enemy Believed Preparing For Major Attacks

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—American airmen have struck again, but only lightly, at two Japanese bases in the northern Solomon islands where the enemy is believed to be organizing his forces in anticipation of major U. S. attacks.

WAR COUNCIL MEETS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (U.P.) — The Pacific War council discussed with President Roosevelt today the "when and where" of forthcoming United Nations offensives against Japan.

After the council met at the White House, New Zealand Minister Walter Nash said the Japanese "might be hit in a way they had never dreamed of."

The Navy disclosed in a communique that aircraft bombed enemy positions at Kahili airdrome on the southeast coast of Bougainville island and in the Shortland island area. Both places are about 300 miles northwest of Guadalcanal. Two U. S. planes failed to return.

The Shortland foray was carried out by three craft, of which one failed to return. One plane "dropped bombs on enemy positions on Ballale island," one of the Shortland group.

Liberators Hit Kahili

The Kahili raid was made by a four-motored Consolidated Liberator bomber, "with escort." One of the escorting planes failed to return, the Navy said. It did not report results.

The Japanese were believed to be organizing their main fleet to meet any possible attacks on their homeland or their major bases.

Naval observers who hold this view cited as supporting evidence the reluctance of a big Japanese fleet, which included battleships and aircraft carriers to participate in the recent week-long air-sea battles in the Solomons area.

The fleet was sighted by American reconnaissance planes in the waters south of Truk island, main Japanese naval base in the southwest Pacific. Instead of going into the area at a critical time for a decisive engagement with American surface forces, an engagement which might have decided control of the Solomons, the Japanese sent only strong formations of air-protected destroyers.

The Japanese have for some

Official Score Of Fight Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — The mystery of the missing sea-air battle of the Solomons was solved today and the scoreboard showed:

Japanese losses—17 ships sunk or damaged and at least 63 planes destroyed;

American losses—two ships sunk, the 9,050-ton cruiser Chicago and an unnamed destroyer, and 22 planes downed.

All except one of the blows delivered to the enemy ships came from the air; the other involved a fight between a Japanese destroyer and American torpedo boats. Thus, apparently, major units of the two forces never came to blows.

Navy Reveals Details

Story of the "vanished battle" came in two Navy communiques yesterday, revealing details of the fighting from Jan. 29 through Feb. 15, including a once-mentioned "major effort" of the Japs to retake Guadalcanal. After the original report some two weeks ago, that action subsequently was shrouded by official silence and minimizing comments until Tuesday's first communique telling of the ten-day battle which paralleled the smashing of all enemy resistance on Guadalcanal. It covered the period up to Feb. 4.

The second communique told of successful air actions which scored hits on two enemy destroyers and shot down at least two and possibly three Zeros on Feb. 7, and bombed Japanese positions on Kolombangara island and Munda, New Georgia island, on Feb. 15. No U. S. planes were lost.

APPOINTEES CONFIRMED

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Senate in executive session today approved Governor Coke Stevenson's nominations of Sidney Latham of Longview as secretary of state and H. G. Hamrick of Amarillo as a member of the state industrial accident board.

FDR Faces Two Decisions On Political Plans

Fourth Term And Party Purge Are Two Problems

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Some of President Roosevelt's friends and some of his political enemies today are convinced that he will seek a fourth term and bets — real money — are being made both ways.

The facts are that Mr. Roosevelt has two major political decisions to make before the 1944 election year is well started. The first is whether he will run again, and there are persuasive arguments that he may, and the second is whether he shall resume his 1938 effort to purge the Democratic party of congressional conservatives.

1938 Purge Misfires

Mr. Roosevelt's 1938 purge misfired in all but one contest. His influence defeated Rep. John J. O'Connor, D., N. Y., a Tammany Congressman. But the half dozen or so Democratic Senatorial candidates Mr. Roosevelt or his associates sought to beat in 1938 primaries all came through to reelection. That was six years ago and they are up again except for the late Alva B. Adams of Colorado.

Hangovers from the 1938 purge may figure considerably in development of any stop-Roosevelt movement. Some of the men against whom the administration moved in 1938 — perhaps all of them — could become a holding company for stop-Roosevelt convention votes. And it is not unlikely that it may work out that way.

Made Direct Appeals

In 1938 Mr. Roosevelt made direct and personal appeals for the primary defeat of Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., Sen. Ellison D. Smith, D., S. C., and Sen. Millard F. Tydings, D., Md. The voters

Tax Reduction Blow Glancing

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 17—The 48th legislature's first lick at reduction of state taxes may turn out to be a glancing blow.

The House revenue and taxation committee agreed in principle with the Senate's reduction of the ad valorem tax for payment of Confederate pensions, but recommended that the cut should be from seven cents to three cents per $100 valuation instead of from seven to one.

This, said Chairman Jo Ed Winfree of Houston, was necessary because under the Senate cut there would not be enough money to pay the remaining veterans and widows and the fund would again drop into the red.

Revisions Approved

The House revenue and taxation committee unanimously approved revisions of the motor fuel tax law.

The revisions, with one exception, were designed to lessen the amount of detail work in the comptroller's department and to

Man Finds Its Hard To Reach Tokio

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 17 (AP) — W. E. Harbour, 25, finds it a bit difficult to reach Tokio.

He set out from Antlers, Okla., for Tokio, Texas, some 420 miles.

A railway ticket carried him 675 miles to Brownsville—where no one knew much about Tokio. He tried Brownwood on a bus ticket, but learned there that Tokio was near Brownfield.

He reached it—after 1,368 miles of Texas travel and a $5 loan from a helpful sheriff.

Super War Tax On Salaries Over $25,000 Proposed By President

Proposal Offered In Lieu Of Limit On Salaries Paid

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—President Roosevelt today urged Congress to levy a special war supertax on all net income which after payment of regular income taxes would limit single persons to $25,000 a year and married couples to $50,000.

If such taxes were levied, the President wrote Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House ways and means committee, "I shall immediately rescind" the executive order by which the President limited war time salaries to $25,000 after taxes.

Applies Only To Salaries

(This order applied only to salaries; the proposed super tax would apply to income from any source, including presently tax-exempt securities).

"If the Congress does not approve the recommendation submitted by the Treasury last June that a flat 100 per cent super tax be imposed on such excess incomes," the President said, "then I hope the Congress will provide a minimum tax of 50 per cent with steeply graduated rates as high as 90 per cent.

"The exact amount of the exemptions to be allowed and the exact rate of taxation to be applied are necessarily arbitrary and these are matters the Congress must decide."

Vote To Repeal Limitation

Mr. Roosevelt expressed himself after the ways and means committee had voted 15 to 10 to repeal his salary limitation order by Congressional action and approved a bill by Representative Disney (D-Okla) to peg war time salaries over $25,000 (after taxes) at their Pearl Harbor levels.

Disney has described the executive order as "government by the directive," and the repealer move-

Newspapers Help Launch OPA Food Rationing Program By Printing Declaration Forms

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — The Office of Price administration today called on the nation's newspapers to help launch the processed foods rationing program by printing copies of the official consumer declaration form.

To be filled out by every family registering for war ration book two next week, the form can be clipped from the papers by consumers in order to save time at adding that only one declaration is required for each family group and must contain this information:

Must Declare Coffee

"1. Number of pounds of coffee owned on November 28, 1942, minus 1 pound for each person included in the declaration whose age as stated on war ration book one (the sugar and coffee and shoe ration book) is 14 years or older.

"2. Number of persons included in the declaration whose age as stated in war ration book one is 14 years or older.

"3. Number of cans, bottles, and jars (8-oz. size or larger) of commercially packed fruits, vegetables, juices and soups, chili sauce and catsup owned on Feb. 21, 1943, minus five for each person included in the declaration. The number of war ration book one issued to each person is listed in the declaration."

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLDS TO BE PROTECTED BY MOVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—The Office of Price administration said today that it will protect the coffee-drinking rights of youngsters who were 14 when coffee rationing started but have since turned 15.

Data On Filling Out Form Given

By PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — Office of Price Administration today released to The Evening Journal a copy of the form for "Consumer

Declaration for Processed Foods and Coffee," which must be filled out for every person to whom is issued War Ration Book No. 2, covering canned goods and other processed foods to be rationed March 1. Copy of this form is shown in the adjoining columns.

This is the first time the government has presented a rationing form for first distribution through newspapers. Decision to permit the newspapers to issue this form as a public service to their readers was made in recognition of the fact that newspapers reach practically every individual in the United States and can therefore put over this rationing campaign as successfully as they handled the nation's scrap drive last fall.

By presenting the Consumer Declaration form through this newspaper, the Evening Journal makes it possible for the housewife or any individual making application for War Ration Book 2 to fill in the form at home during leisure moments. And by taking the completed form to the

New Price Ceilings To Be Announced

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — The Office of Price control will announce new ceiling prices on 800 to 1,000 food items next month, Milton Rich, acting chief of the food unit of the New York regional OPA office, said today.

The new prices will be based on a new margin control system, Rich told members of the Super Markets institute, and will replace the old March, 1942 ceiling prices which have been in operation.

Germany Will Not Be Defeated In 1943, News Analyst Thinks

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 17—Alvin J. Steinkopf, who helped cover Germany for the Associated Press and watched the German armies fight, expressed the opinion today that the United Nations would not be able to defeat them in 1943.

"We may be able to knock out Italy this year," Steinkopf said in an address prepared for delivery to a meeting of the Inland Daily Press association. "But the fortress of Europe is a very real thing and I do not believe we will be able to crack it and defeat the Germans until 1944."

Steinkopf, now a radio news analyst, said that so far the fighting had been just on the fringes of the fortress. Germany is withdrawing to strengthen its military position, he asserted, and it is this withdrawal which makes possible in part the spectacular Russian advances.

"Once the German armies reach their defensive lines they will make a much stronger stand," he predicted. "I don't doubt that the high command is prepared to give up Italy, Norway, perhaps

Civilian Boycott Of Black Markets Urged

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Civilian boycott of illegal markets in meat is urged by Thomas E. Wilson, one of the packing industry's leaders, who says that black markets in meat are growing into an "extremely serious matter" for the entire industry and public and threatening adequate supplies for the nation's armed forces and Allies.

The first step toward stamping out this "terrible practice" is to have every consumer refrain from buying illegally slaughtered and illegally priced meats, says Wilson, who as chairman of Wilson and Co., heads one of the world's largest meat packing firms.

Hitler's Forces Fleeing Kharkov May Be Cut Off

Nazis Suffering Tremendous Losses In Hurried Retreat From Captured City; Allied Planes Raid France, Italy, Sicily

BY ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

With Kharkov fallen and their 1942-43 winter defense wall shattered, Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were reported in headlong retreat toward the Dnieper river in the heart of the Ukraine today amid conjecture that the swift-moving Russians might even beat them to that goal.

Soviet vanguards were reported within 60 miles of the Dnieper valley several days ago, while the Germans now have a 125-mile march from Kharkov to the river.

In the south, the Russian command announced that Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's armies had stormed within 17 miles of Tagarog, after a 23-mile advance from fallen Rostov, in pursuit of 250,000 German troops fleeing westward along the north shores of the Sea of Azov.

Nazi Losses Heavy

While official Soviet dispatches pictured the Germans as hastily fleeing westward from Kharkov, suffering "tremendous" losses, Hitler's high command still hedged on the fall of the Ukraine capital.

The Nazi communique asserted that heavy fighting continued "in and near Kharkov," although earlier Berlin broadcasts said preparations for the evacuation were in progress.

In the western air war, RAF night raiders returned to the attack on the battered Nazi U-boat nest at Lorient, France, while German planes strafed coastal towns in south Wales for the first time this year.

Low-flying United Nations airmen also attacked rail targets in southern Italy and Sicily.

The British air ministry said the RAF delivered a "concentrated" smash at Lorient with a loss of only two bombers.

Nazis Attack Wales

Twelve persons were killed, a number wounded and much damage was inflicted by German dive-bombers attacking a south Wales town.

Besides the raid on Lorient, RAF fighter command pilots swept over the continent during the night, shooting up at least 11 freight trains and locomotives, and bombing railway lines, bridges and barges.

Deep rejoicing swept Russia over the dramatic recapture of Kharkov, keystone of the whole German winter defense system, which had been in Nazi hands

German People Kept In Dark

(By The United Press)

Adolf Hitler, smarting under his greatest military defeat of the war, still had not told the German people of the loss of Kharkov today, more than 12 hours after the Russians announced the capture of that Ukrainian stronghold.

German broadcasts beamed abroad acknowledged that the systematic evacuation of Russia's fourth city was "about to be concluded," but home listeners still were being informed that the Soviets had penetrated no farther than the outskirts.

Claim Fighting Continues

"Bitter fighting continues at Kharkov, the German home broadcast service said. "An encircled Soviet unit was wiped out in the southern part of the town. The enemy, attacking, broke into the outskirts in the northern part and met stubborn resistance."

The Germans were much franker in their foreign broadcasts and

It also added members of the Coast Guard and Merchant Marine.

British Subs Smash 8 Axis Supply Ships

Train Shelled In Sicily By Daring Undersea Raider

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 17 — The Admiralty announced today that British submarines in the central Mediterranean had destroyed, probably destroyed or damaged eight enemy supply ships, and that one submarine had surfaced off the southern coast of Sicily and shelled a railway train standing in a station.

The train was shelled at San Ambrogio, Sicily, and the Admiralty said many hits were scored.

Six supply ships were destroyed; a seventh was damaged, and an eighth torpedoed and probably destroyed.

30 Ships Damaged

Allied submarines in the Mediterreanean sank or damaged 30 or more Axis ships supplying enemy forces in Tunisia last month.

In the latest successes, British submarines knocked their prey from heavily escorted convoys.

One submarine encountered two westbound enemy supply ships west of Sicily, escorted by destroyers, motor launches and planes. The submarine attacked, and torpedoed one supply ship, which prbably sank.

Two Supply Ships Sunk

A submarine surfaced in the gulf of Hammamet and sank two of three heavily-laden small supply ships, south bound, with its guns. The third was beached and believed a total loss. Another supply ship, also south bound, was damaged by gunfire.

In the gulf of Taranto, site of a major Italian naval base, near Brindisi, a submarine sank a medium-sized supply ship with a torpedo. It attacked another small enemy ship, but it moved in toward shore, seeking refuge. The

Deaths In Cold Wave Mount

(By The Associated Press)

Two days of extremely cold weather on the Atlantic seaboard have caused at least 36 deaths, damaged crops in many sections from Maine to Florida, and brought serious shortages of fuel oil and gas.

The fuel shortage was of paramount importance today, however, with dangerously low inventories reported throughout the Middle Atlantic and New England states.

Fuel Supplies Low

The Consolidated Edison company and the Brooklyn Union Gas company, which serves most of the metropolitan area of New York City, revealed they had only fuel oil supplies sufficient for the manufacture of gas for four days.

Most of the large fuel-oil burning laundries in the city were faced with possible closing or sharp curtailment.

Hancock, N. H., and Warrensburg, N. Y., claimed the lowest official temperatures: 50 below zero.

Some schools were closed and some trains were running late. Automobiles froze up on the highways, and bandaged ears, denoting frostbite, were almost as common as earmuffs.

Ban On Nicknames For Women Marines Upsets Slang Gang

BY KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — The lady Marines have landed, but the situation is plumb out of hand.

Just "Marines" they call themselves, mind you — no nickname.

It's all very upsetting to the slang gang.

Ever since Major Ruth Cheney Streeter said the Marine Corps Women's reserve would be known simply as "Marines" because the name was "pretty distinctive in itself," the barber shop boys have been so blue and befuddled they've almost quit whistling.

Now take the WAACS, for instance. (Don't mind if I do, at that). It's a cinch for the punny stuff. You know — I gotta waacky little WAAC, or my WAAC's waacky over me.

And WAVES. A cinch — a breeze, it was. No less. I gotta wavey little WAVE. And the WAVES all waved goodbye.

SPARS? Even better, said the barber shop boys. Whoopie! A very trim pair of SPARS going by there, Oscar — and who could take offense, not really

Yanks Confront New Threat In African Fight

British Forces Press Strongly At Axis Flank

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in North Africa, Feb. 17.—Marshal Erwin Rommel's veteran tank forces have smashed to the outskirts of Sbeitla, 25 miles north-

SKEPTIC OF RUMOR

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 17 (AP) — A rumor has circulated on the Tunisian front that Marshal Rommel had become ill and had returned to Germany but competent officers at Allied headquarters viewed the report today with the greatest skepticism.

west of Sidi Bouzid, and advanced toward Feriana in a renewal of his powerful offensive in southern Tunisia, it was announced today.

The American counterattack which had shoved Rommel's armor back six miles on Monday faded yesterday after heavy losses of men and armored vehicles.

The combined forces of the German 21st and 10th armored divisions, using a number of the Germans' huge new Mark VI tanks as well as old models salvaged from Libya, punched through the American lines for a gain of nearly 18 miles in furious battles which raged from dawn to dusk.

British Pushing Strongly

(The German-controlled Paris radio, heard by Reuters in London, reported, however, that the British Eighth army of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was pushing strongly in the south and was attempting to infiltrate through the German-Italian right flank in the Mareth line.)

(The Paris radio said the Americans to the south of the Sidi Bouzid sector were continuing to retreat from the Gafsa area and were withdrawing in the direction of Tozeur on the north bank of the Chott Djerid.)

Some Units Cut Off

A number of American contingents were cut off and isolated by the German advance, particularly in the area around Sidi Bouzid, but there was strong hope at Allied headquarters that they would be able to rejoin the main American force, whose casualties were heavy.

The latest German thrust seriously jeopardized British positions about 15 miles north of Faid pass on the ridge on the east side of the Ousseltia valley. The British flank had been opened by the German maneuver.

Meanwhile, a competent officer at Allied headquarters observed that the British Eighth army was progressing at such a rate from the Tunisian border that it would soon bring heavy pressure to bear

Railway Wage Parley Is Off

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 — Wage negotiations between representatives of railroads and 350,000 members of five operating brotherhoods were terminated today without agreement and the services of the National (Railway) Mediation board were invoked jointly by both sides.

Mediation processes will be instituted in Chicago tomorrow, Phil Otterbach, a spokesman for the carriers, announced.

Demand 30 Per Cent

The union wage demands were for a 30 per cent pay increase or a minimum raise of $3 a day, and filed the formal request with the carriers on Jan. 25.

The first direct conference negotiations between management and labor were begun yesterday.

Present rates of the operating employes embrace complex classifications based on the type of work. Engineers are paid a minimum of about $8.50 a day. Some switchmen earned about $5.82 a day in the lowest bracket for operating employes.

Negotiations Separate

The operating employes are locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen.

The negotiations are separate from the demand of 15 cooperating brotherhoods of non-operating personnel, embracing about 900,000 persons, for a wage increase of 20 cents an hour with a 70-cent minimum.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP) — A whirlwind bond selling drive to replace the heavy cruiser Chicago was launched here Tuesday 15 minutes after the announcement of her loss in the Solomons islands area fighting, and the campaign brought pledges of $2,000,000 before the day was out.

The Cook County War Savings committee predicted it would reach the $40,000,000 goal — approximate cost of the cruiser — in less than 40 days.

Interests Of Plant, Workers Aided By Personnel Director

BY JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

RAVENNA, O., Feb. 17—Personnel director: a man wrestling with handfuls of problems.

All through a tour of midwestern war plants we have found management talking about labor: how to handle it, how to get along with it, how to reduce absenteeism, how to keep workers from quitting jobs to go elsewhere.

Transportation, housing, wages, working conditions, the kind of job, all pile up problems.

Some Indifference Found

On tour we sometimes found among some personnel directors little apparent effort to think in terms of the individual worker or even to find out how problems were being handled in other plants.

Here in Ohio at the vast ordnance plant being operated for the government by the Atlas powder company we found a personnel director doing a particularly thorough job.

He is B. J. Fleming, about 31 years old.

Protects All Interests

He says some of his basic operating principles are: protect the employer's interests but be honest with the workers; don't overlook the smallest detail; solve an individual worker's complaint before it spreads dissatisfaction among other workers.

At the plant — remote from the nearest town and employing many thousands of men and women — Fleming has a staff which includes:

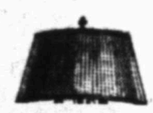

Personnel representatives in each department; rate control supervisors assigned to check the surrounding area to be sure rates paid at the ordnance plant are fair in comparison with those in the territory; a housing manager whose job is to see that employes wishing housing get it as near the plant as possible; public relations men; employment crews; investigators; and a recreation director who has organized workers' baseball, bowling and basketball teams and arranges dances for them in surrounding towns. There are five baseball diamonds on the plant grounds.

Draft Board Leader Loses Fine Herefords

KILGORE, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Maybe someone has it in for the draft board.

Anyway, Sam Ross, chairman of the selective service board here, said that 20 of his fine Hereford yearlings had died from poison which he discovered in their feed. More are expected to die.

Investigating officers revealed that arsenic had been placed in the feed.

President Benjamin Harrison was an enthusiastic stamp collector.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given pepsin preparations in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel world's better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's. Adv.

Tech Preparing For Army Setup

Although definite dates have not been announced, first contingents of 625 Army pre-flight students may arrive at Texas Technological college sooner than originally planned, according to reports Tuesday.

Maj. Ralph K. Johnson of the Army Air force, who is project officer in charge, already has arrived.

Major Johnson has been given office room in the new Agriculture building on the campus, according to President Clifford B. Jones. This building has not yet been occupied by students because of the probability that the Army would require its use, it was said. Exclusive of the dairy manufactures laboratory, it probably will be used solely by the armed forces.

According to James G. Allen, dean of men, today is the last day for students in Men's Dormitory No. 2 and Women's Dormitory No. 1 to vacate these domritories. They must be out by tonight at 8 o'clock, Dean Allen said.

Civilian engineering students, now living in the two men's dormitories, will move to Women's Dormitory No. 1 if they desire. Dean Allen said 270 engineers had signed to live in this dormitory, and the remainder of the quota of 320 will be filled with pre-medic students and physics majors, men whose studies are considered essential to the national war effort.

Some women students now living in Dormitory No. 1, on authorization of the dean of women, have made arrangements to stay three in a room in Women's Dormitory No. 2.

Students in Men's Dormitory No. 1 must vacate that dormitory not later than April 1 in order to accommodate the second unit of pre-flight students, scheduled to arrive on or about that date.

ASSETS AT NEW HIGH

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Assets of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York reached a new high at $1,587,529,495 in 1942, an increase of $45,577,000 in the year, Vice President Alexander E. Patterson said today.

Gillespie Rancher Dies In Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (AP) — W. S. Robertson, 66, Gillespie county rancher and former resident of Dallas, died Tuesday at San Antonio.

A native of Kosse, Robertson spent most of his life in San Angelo and Wichita Falls, where he operated a lumber company and paint and wallpaper company respectively.

He is survived by his wife; and a daughter, Mrs. W. L. McGinley, Dallas.

Funeral services will be held here today.

A dam still used in Tunisia was constructed in 1622.

OPA Gives Advice On Purchasing Of Shoes

Don't be in a rush to buy shoes. This admonition was given at Lubbock district offices of the OPA Tuesday, along with several other suggestions which included:

"Ration stamp 17 in war book No. 1 should not be used unless and until footwear is actually needed.

"Don't depart from the buying habits you had prior to rationing, but continue to make purchases within the style and price range to which you are accustomed.

"Don't permit one member of the family to use up all the stamps in purchasing shoes to the possible exclusion of shoes for other members of the family, such as the children, whose shoe values are same as adults.

Don't Be Too Hasty

"Don't use all the stamps now and preclude future purchases of new styles, particularly those coming on for summer wear.

"Don't have your closet cluttered up with shoes which are still wearable or which might be repaired, by favoring newer models. If you don't feel like wearing your old shoes, give them away or at least put them to use in some manner."

Shoe purchase certificates may be obtained from War Price and Rationing boards whenever the customer has exhausted the rationing stamps available and has less than two pairs "of wearable or repairable shoes" on hand.

TWIN CELEBRATION SET

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP) — Next Monday will be celebrated in Texas as George Washington's birthday and Arbor day. A proclamation by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson called upon Texans appropriately to honor the memory of the nation's first president by planting trees and shrubs.

Thousands of American and British planes have been delivered to the Middle East during the last two years over a 6000-mile ferry route.

DALLAS WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Holloway was born at Warrensburg, Mo., the eldest daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. R. G. Leaming of Sedalia. She was married in Sedalia in 1884 to Dr. Holloway. They moved to Dallas in 1904 after having lived thirteen years at Fort Smith, Ark.

Funeral services will be held here today.

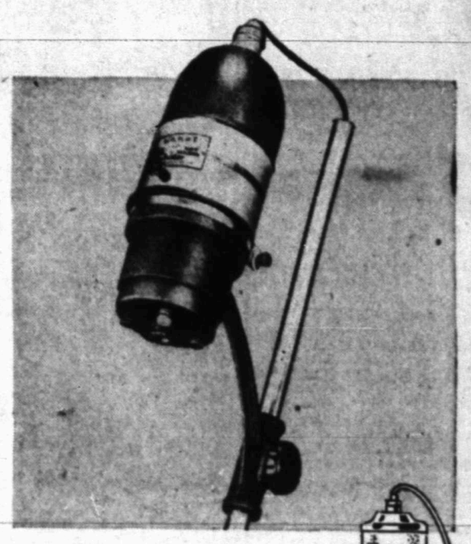

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

Tech Students Are Married

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Zoe White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will J. White of 1914 Seventeenth street, and Ray E. Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Ramsey of Floydada, took place Monday night at a candlelight service read at the First Methodist church by Dr. H. I. Robinson.

Miss Ruth Dupree furnished the organ music, which consisted of "To A Wild Rose" (MacDowell), "At Dawning" (Bond), "For You" (Fox), and the traditional wedding marches.

Bride Wears Rose Beige

The bride wore a rose beige suit with black accessories, and wore a corsage of deep blue iris. She was attended by Mrs. David B. Morrison; Joe E. Smith was attendant to the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ramsey is a graduate of Lubbock High school, and is a senior home economics student at Tech. The bridegroom graduated from Floydada High school, and is also a senior in Tech.

The bride is a member of the Tech Home economics club and of Alpha Eta chapter of the Wesley Players. Mr. Ramsey is a member of Alpha Beta chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon fraternity.

The couple is at home at 2309 Sixteenth street.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

"You insult the intelligence of your acquaintances when you pigeon-hole them." So says a man who has a wide variety of interests, but who has found that since he moved to the country most of the people he sees in the course of a day start talking to him about the country.

He knows it isn't because most of them are interested in the country but because they have him pigeon-holed in their minds. It is a lazy habit—but one a great many people fall into.

Stop a minute and see if you are guilty. When you see Mrs. Jones do you always say "How is the baby?"

If you do you have pigeon-holed Mrs. Jones as the mother of a baby. And if you have, probably enough other people have, so that she wishes someone occasionally would bother to start talking to her about something else. Especially when she is at a dance, and willing to forget that she is a mother for a few hours.

CHANGE SUBJECT

If you have certain topics that you always talk about to certain people, make up your mind that the next time you see those folks you will talk to them about something else.

You'll be surprised how much more you learn about people if you pay enough attention to them to discover that they have a variety of interests instead of crediting them with just one.

And you'll also be surprised at how much more interesting the same people are if they are not always forced to talk on the same subject.

Talk to the farmer about something besides crops or the weather, and to the merchant about something besides business or politics. And talk to mothers about something besides their children.

It isn't as easy as trotting out a pigeon-holed topic of conversation. But it will be a lot more interesting for you and for the other person.

I found the way to Amazing NEW Pep...Vitality... better LOOKS!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Frequently the stomach becomes sluggish in pouring out its digestive juices to make use of the food eaten . . . likewise, wear and strain of worry, overwork, colds, or other illness often reduces one's blood strength.

At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its proper functions and balance. Undigested food places a tax on the system...insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

Now you may overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of digestive complaints, sour stomach, bloating, underweight, loss of appetite, poor complexion, jerky nerves, weakness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach and to build-up blood strength when deficient.

Farm Bureau To Gain In County, Forecast

Lubbock county will have 2,000 members of the Farm Bureau organization before this year ends, thinks G. H. Nelson, Lubbock lawyer, landowner, and one of the farm organization's leaders here.

The organization has opened an office with a full-time paid secretary on duty in the building on Avenue Q at Fourteenth street, in which also is housed the extension service agents and the AAA offices.

Nelson said free service to members of the Lubbock County Farm bureau is offered in filling out income tax returns, and this will be maintained right on up to the due date for paying income taxes March 15.

The service is free to members with no further cost than that of paying their dues in the Farm bureau organization, it is explained. A much greater number of farmers are required to fill out returns this year than ever before. A rush is sure to come in March, Nelson said.

A meeting of the bureau is to be held in Lubbock on March 6 for the purpose of naming officers for a permanent county organization.

Ginnings Still Are Reported

South Plains counties, where cotton ginning usually continues through February, still are reporting 1942 cotton bales, and along with these reports also comes word that most of the fuel now being utilized is the cotton burrs, a by-product at every West Texas gin.

Out here cotton is pulled, burrs and all, and not picked. Along toward the end of the harvest, in January and February, when harvest hands are lacking, much of the staple is run over with a "sled," which strips the stalks of bolls, small branches, burrs, and cotton. To the gins this aggregate load goes and there it is cleaned of the foreign substances and turned out as raw cotton in bales in the ordinary ginning method.

Saving In Fuel Costs

Conservation measures recently cut down natural gas and other fuel used by the gin plants where electric motors are not utilized, and gin owners trained their blowpipes on the furnaces under their boilers, with satisfactory results —and a big saving in fuel costs.

Heretofore these cotton burrs have been bought up by cattle and sheep feeders and fed to livestock as roughage. Since the burrs were a burden, as well as a fire hazard, to the gin owners, farmers usually helped themselves to the entire supply. This February, the burrs are going under the boilers — and not to the feeding pens.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

...Then Do These Things Before Calling the Serviceman

He's mighty busy doing war-vital work!

First, if an appliance fails to work . . . see if it's connected. You'll be amazed how often a disconnected extension cord is the only trouble.

If only one light is out, replace the bulb. If several lights go out, check the fuses. Replacing a burned out fuse may be all that's necessary . . . and you can change a fuse as well as the serviceman. You'll save yourself inconvenience and delay, too!

If ALL your lights are out . . . all your fuses are okay . . . and your neighbors' lights are out, too . . . then call the serviceman.

. . . and for more light with no more electricity here's another tip . . . clean light fixtures increase light 20 to 40 percent!

No. 5 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

CASE HISTORY No. 555. For fifteen years this woman suffered with rheumatism and was in a crippled state. Pain in the joints was so severe it became necessary to take tablets each night in order to secure some sleep. Many remedies, diets and treatments were tried but recovery seemed impossible. When eventually a friend suggested that she try Chiropractic, she at first objected, having heard that Chiropractic adjustments would hurt a person in her condition. But finally she consented. X-rays were taken and the site of nerve interference located. Then adjustments were commenced to remove this interference. In the patient's own words, "I was not hurt in any way, and within a few weeks the pain had left my joints. I could sleep without taking tablets. In a short time the swelling in the joints started to disappear and, in four months' time I was again well."

CASE HISTORY No. 229. For twelve years this middle-aged woman had suffered with high blood pressure and associated symptoms of headache and dizziness. She was unable to do housework unassisted and life was miserable for her. Many treatments were tried without permanent relief. As a final hope, she decided to try Chiropractic and a series of spinal adjustments was commenced. After the first adjustment the headache was considerably relieved, and at the conclusion of the adjustments, blood pressure had returned to normal and headaches and dizziness had completely disappeared. Today this patient is able to do her housework without help.

CASE HISTORY No. 26. For years this man suffered with chronic lumbago. He could obtain no relief whatsoever, professionally or from remedies. He was strongly advised to seek the advice of a Chiropractor and did so. Routine analysis indicated interference with the nerves feeding the lumbar region. Spinal adjustments removed this nerve pressure and immediately the patient began to get well. Within a short time Nature had effected a complete recovery.

THE CAUSE OF DIS-EASE. Chiropractors have found that illness and dis-ease are most often caused by pressure upon the nerves which carry vital nerve force from the brain to various parts of the body. The nervous system radiates from the spinal column, and it is here that even slight pressure from a displaced segment of the spine can impede the flow of nerve force from the brain, thus interfering with the function of one or more parts of the body. This nerve interference can be located accurately by the Chiropractic technique. The Chirapractor can then remove the pressure by a simple adjustment with his hands only. Drugs and surgery are not employed. Once the cause of the illness is removed, Nature itself restores the affected part to normal.

OPA Head Says 'No Surrender'

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 —Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown's promise of "no surrender" to demands for higher wage rates and higher farm prices today collided with a Congressional farm bloc charge that the recent 48-hour work week order would increase living costs far more than the demands for higher farm prices.

Rep. Stephen Pace, D., Ga., a spokesman for the House farm bloc and author of a bill that would include all farm labor costs in the computation of parity prices for farm products, said in an interview:

"The President's order affects wages paid for processing foods and that's a far greater part of the grocery bill than the share the farmer gets."

Cites Longer Week Order

He referred to the longer work week order under which those covered by the wage-hours act receive overtime at the rate of time and one-half for all hours over 40 each week. Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes claims that overtime payments are not inflationary.

"We are engaged in the greatest war of all time," Pace said, "and the President has made food a weapon of conquest. Does it not seem strange that we pay a man from $10 to $20 per day to make a gun, on the one hand — and then on the other refuse to pay a farmer the bare costs of raising an equally important bushel of wheat?"

Brown Makes Plea

Brown, in a radio address last night, appealed to the nation not to add countless billions to the cost of war by shattering the present relatively stable economy for the sake of a "fanciful and temporary gain."

He admitted that economic justice between various groups has not been achieved, but asserted that the United States is much closer to it than any other nation on earth.

Must Face Assaults

"We must face squarely the assaults from those who would increase farm prices and those who would break down wage stabilization policy," Brown said. "I do not think it is a contest which can be compromised. Fundamentally we must stand by stabilization as it now is. If we fail, price control is gone; wage control will be lost."

"Public opinion samplings show that a great majority of the farmers are in full accord with price ceilings as they now are," Brown added. "Maintain them and there will be no sound justification for substantial changes in our wage stabilization."

Claims Costs Won't Spiral

"Break those (price) ceilings and America will suffer a tremendous defeat," he said.

But Pace contended that the inclusion of labor costs in computation of farm prices would not spiral the cost of living upward. He conceded that it would increase prices, but only slightly.

"It would increase the cost of a 10-cent loaf of bread by one-fourth of a cent," he said. "It would increase the parity price of butter from 49 to 51 cents —a figure below current ceiling prices in most parts of the country. Milk would be upped a small fraction of a cent per quart; potatoes less than one-third of a cent per pound."

He charged that the true story of the effect on prices of his bill has never been revealed "because the people with access to the figures don't want to offend the administration."

German People

the London radio quoted a German military spokesman as summing up the evacuation of Kharkov with: "We have suffered a defeat unprecedented in this war."

The acknowledgement that the evacuation was nearing completion came in a German transocean broadcast only three hours after the Russian announcement of Kharkov's capture.

Destruction Cited

"All war important installations and supply depots will be destroyed before evacuation," the broadcast said. "The withdrawal of German forces will be covered by strong German army and armed SS formations, which encompassed several Soviet groups in the course of these operations."

Meantime, reports continue to reach London of bitter quarrels between Hitler and his generals over direction of the Russian campaign.

An Allied intelligence source in London told the United Press that Hitler at a recent meeting flew into a rage when his generals proposed that he give up supreme command of the army and leave the strategy to the generals.

Report Is Denied

The German radio took cognizance of recurrent reports that Hitler already had given up the supreme command by issuing a categorical denial that he had agreed to turn over direction of the campaign in the East to anyone.

Private advices to the Columbia broadcasting system reported that 80 German army officers were arrested by Gestapo last month and executed for "toying with a plot to remove Adolf Hitler."

From Ankara came a report that Hitler has refused to see anyone but his military advisers and Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler during the past six weeks. Even Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and other members of his government were turned away, the report said.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP) — A good demand for corn futures, most deliveries of which touched their price ceilings for the first time since the Office of Price administration established maximum on that grain in mid-January, highlighted grain trading today.

At the close July, September and December corn futures were at ceilings, while the May contract was ⅛-¼ under its maximum. Gains in the corn pit ranged from ⅛-½. May 99⅞-¾.

The strength in corn brought late buying into the wheat pit and prices closed ½-¾ higher. May $1.41⅞-$1.42. July $1.41⅞. Oats advanced ⅛-¾, rye gained ⅝-⅞ and there was no trade in soybeans.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard winter, according to protein and billing 1.47-50½.

RAILS LEAD UPTURN

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — Volume attained fairly large figures again in today's stock market and prices showed a gradual hardening after early irregularity, with rails leading the upturn.

Moderate improvement near the close was in the face of more adverse news from the Tunisian front, which had an offset however, in the bright reports from Russia.

There was a good majority of advances, mostly fractional, in the final hour.

Stocks in higher territory included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Douglas, United Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, Eastman Kodak, American Can, American Locomotive and U. S. Gypsum.

American Telephone slipped off about a point soon after the opening but evened up the loss on announcement of the usual dividend of $2.25 a share, which removed some Wall street anxieties.

In the minus division were Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville and Sears Roebuck.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17 (AP) — Trade buying offset long realizing in cotton futures here today and March, May and July made new season highs. The market closed steady unchanged to 30 cents a bale higher.

Rommel Gains In New Drive

on Rommel and might begin to restore the situation.

Nazis Near Feriana

From Sbeitla, the Germans were only about 31 miles northeast of Feriana, just east of the Algerian frontier and about mid-way of the Tunisian front.

"The Americans are now using medium General Sherman tanks in defensive action," a headquarters source said. "Even experienced troops can be overrun by a sudden heavy tank attack and it is not surprising that the Americans had to withdraw because they held a long line with only light tanks."

New Tanks Used

The new German Mark VI tanks thrown into Rommel's offensive have especially heavy armor, reported to be up to seven and a half inches thick, and high velocity guns which made them difficult for American anti-tank artillery to stop.

Estimates of their size range from 50 to 62 tons, but Allied forces have been unable to retrieve any of them sufficiently whole to get exact information. Two were knocked out by Allied artillery a few weeks ago.

Armored battles were fought throughout the day yesterday on the southern Tunisian front, and "at the end of the day fighting was still in progress on the outskirts of Sbeitla," an Allied headquarters communique announced today.

Sbeitla is about 25 miles northwest of Sidi Bouzid itself west of Faid pass.

Yesterday, it was reported that the Americans, who had lost 20 miles in the first rush of Marshal Erwin Rommel's offensive on Sunday, had gained back six miles.

May Be New Force

(The communique did not make clear whether the Germans attacking on the outskirts of Sbeitla were those previously engaged in the vicinity of Sidi Bouzid, or whether they had attacked from a different direction, perhaps the northeast.)

The communique said roads behind the enemy's lines were heavily bombed the last two nights, and that light bombers attacked many ground targets at the front yesterday, including gun positions and vehicles.

A new German drive down the Ousseltia valley to put Axis Tunisian forces astride a long mountain ridge running from Robaa in the north to Bou Chebka, on the Tunisia-Algeria frontier, was seen as a possibility.

May Improve Position

Signs of such a move were reported evident and it was pointed out that, if successful, the operation would give Rommel's forces more room for maneuvering in the approaching clash with the British Eighth army in the south and improve his defensive position against other Allied forces in Tunisia.

(The Eighth army, after occupying Ben Gardane with its useful airport Monday, pushed westward toward Medinine in the Mareth line area 45 miles northwest of Ben Gardane yesterday, a Cairo communique said today. Allied fighter-bombers meanwhile raked Rommel's columns between the two towns.)

The envisioned thrust would flank the American forces which threw the Germans back six miles yesterday west of Faid pass, destroying at least 20 Axis tanks. It would also endanger the position of the American and French troops forced to withdraw from Gafsa in the extreme south yesterday.

Harvesting Of Cover Crop Seeds Is Urged

Farmers are being asked by the AAA to harvest enough seeds from whatever cover crops they plant to supply their own needs next fall. There is a shortage of seeds, it is explained.

A purchase program has been set up by the government's commodity credit corporation, whereby farmers may purchase crimson clover at $10 a hundred, Willamette vetch at $6.50, Austrian peas, common vetch, and ryegrass each at $5 a hundred. Costs to the farmer will be deducted from his AAA checks to be received later.

All seeds will be bagged, cleaned, recleaned, fumigated, and packaged in cotton bags, except cotton bags will not apply to ryegrass.

Pressure Rising For Release Of Gandhi

NEW DELHI, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Indian nationalist leaders were reported increasing pressure on the government today to release Mohandas K. Gandhi, whose six months of internment brought on his fast.

Indian members of the viceroy's council were special targets in the campaign. Bhulabhai Desai, who resigned from the All-India congress party's working committee last summer, conferred with several members of the council.

Belief that the government will release Gandhi rather than risk his death in custody persisted widely among the Indians despite the lack of any official sign to substantiate it.

Provost Marshal Is Speaker At Rotary

Lt. David A. Morse, provost marshal at South Plains Army Flying school, was principal speaker today at the Lubbock Rotary club. He was presented by his commanding officer, Col. Norman B. Olsen.

Lt. Morse said the extraordinary fine spirit of cooperation and understanding on the part of the civilian interests of Lubbock with the military here has borne fruit, and Lubbock stands at the very top of the list with the lowest venereal disease rate of any city in the entire Eighth Service command. The four states of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Arkansas are included.

"This fine result could not have been achieved without the type of joint civilian-military cooperation which exists here," Lt. Morse said.

The provost marshal said Lubbock's civilian peace officers are due much credit for their measure of cooperation and this extends clear through to the sanitary and health groups which assist in holding down hazards of many kinds which would endanger the welfare of the soldier.

Little Interest Is Shown In Exchange

Program for a plant exchange was carried out according to schedule this morning, but with negligible interest being shown, according to reports received at the chamber of commerce.

Headquarters for the collection and free distribution of cuttings of trees and shrubs were established at 1509 Avenue Q during the forenoon. Portions of the available supplies were to be distributed from Sanders, Guadalupe and Dunbar schools this afternoon.

Lana Turner Under Care Of Physician

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17 (AP) — Screen Actress Lana Turner is under a physician's care at her home after visiting her erstwhile husband, Stephen Crane, broker and tobacco heir, in a hospital.

Miss Turner, whose marriage to Crane was annulled Feb. 4, is expecting a baby. She is reported by a friend to be near collapse, due to her physical condition and the emotional stress of the annulment proceedings.

Her condition is not serious, however, her spokesman said.

Men Subconsciously Sworn Into WAACS

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—There are some red-faced men about town today. They subconsciously were sworn into the WAAC's yesterday.

From force of habit, they automatically raised their hands when Col. C. K. Rhinehart administered the oath to a group of WAAC's at a public ceremony. Some shyly lowered them when they got the drift, the others probably are subject to immediate honorable discharge.

submarine followed it in, scored another torpedo hit, and the ship was later seen beached, its back broken.

Two torpedoes sank a large east-bound supply vessel.

The submarines were commanded by Commander J. W. Linton; Lt. E. T. Stanley, and Lt. A. E. Daniel, the Admiralty announced.

Wickard Asked Why Cottonseed Is Held

WACO, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard was called on today to explain why stored stocks of cottonseed are not being released to feeders.

J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau federation, asked Wickard to make an investigation into the protein feed shortage, citing a government report of Jan. 18 that there were stocks of cotton seed totaling 1,401,218 tons on hand at the end of 1942.

"The whole food production program in Texas is being endangered by the . . . shortage in this state," Hammond told Wickard.

Joan Blondell Is To Accompany USO Show

LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 17 (AP) — Joan Blondell, the movie actress, will launch a personal appearance tour at Fort Sill next Monday night as an added attraction to the Broadway play, "Hellzapoppin," it was announced today by Charles Bragg, advance agent for USO Camp Shows, Inc.

The stage production will show here three days, Bragg said, and Miss Blondell will continue with the cast to Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, Camp Barkeley and Camp Bowie, all Texas army posts.

The original "Hellzapoppin" cast with the exception of Olsen and Johnson will present the comedy hit six times in three nights, Bragg said. There are 44 actors in the cast.

TURN CLOCKS BACK

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 17. (AP) —Gov. John W. Bricker, overriding a wave of protests from urban centers, signed into law today a bill slowing Ohio's clocks one hour because he was convinced the change would help agriculture, but he added the legislature "is still here" and could give the matter further consideration.

News Brief

A patriotic program with a Washington's birthday theme and designed to stimulate sale of war stamps and bonds will be presented by grammar school students of the Cooper district at 8 o'clock Friday night in the High school auditorium. Admittance will require purchase of a bond or stamps. Under direction of E. E. Pierce, grade school principal, $75.10 in stamps were sold this morning, when Roy Boyd, county school superintendent, visited and initiated the school's drive. B. M. Hays is school superintendent.

Former Texas Grid Star Lost On Flight

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 17 (AP) — Randolph field fliers today were awaiting better flying conditions before resuming an aerial search for Lieut. Chal N. Daniel, University of Texas All-Southwest football guard, and Lieut. Calvin E. Griffin II, missing since taking off Saturday morning from Randolph Field on a local flight, the public relations officer at Randolph Field said today.

The plane is a basic trainer from Majors field, Greenville, where Lieut. Daniel is stationed. He came to Randolph Field on a cross-country flight.

Lieut. Daniel's home is at Longview. Lieut. Griffin is the son of Col. C. E. Griffin, air corps, San Antonio.

time feared an attack in their home waters or a surprise offensive against their major bases—Truk island, Formosa and in the Marshall-Gilbert islands.

That fear may have been heightened recently by official American pronouncements of a forthcoming offensive against Japan. President Roosevelt has pointed out that there are many roads that lead to Tokyo and promised that none of them will be neglected. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox also said that naval strategy does not envisage an island-by-island campaign against Japan and he hinted that the objective will be main bases in the Pacific.

Meanwhile, Knox made it clear that the Navy intends to prevent the Japanese from enjoying fully the fruits of their exploitation of conquered territories. He said that the American submarine campaign against the enemy's supply lines was being pressed "energetically." American submarines already have sunk 123 Japanese ships, proudly sunk 22 others and damaged 32 more.

Allied troops on the offensive in New Guinea were reported today to have driven the Japanese back within two and one-half miles of Mubo, only 12 miles below the big enemy base at Salamaua, while United Nations warplanes again blasted the Japanese over a wide expanse of the South Seas.

Details of the new Allied land advance, reported by the Australian broadcasting commission, were not given.

Enemy Withdrawing

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced, however, that the main enemy forces were continuing their withdrawal toward Salamaua and said Australian patrols killed 17 Japanese troops.

In the air, Allied fliers pounded Japanese forces at Salamaua and Lae, New Guinea, and reached out across the Timor sea to attack Japanese-occupied Dili, in Portuguese Timor.

RAF Renews Assault

On the Burma front, RAF bombers renewed the assault on the Japanese airdrome at Magwe, dropping 1,000-pound bombs on the target, and raided enemy-occupied villages on Akyab island on the Bay of Bengal.

No further details were forthcoming on the progress of Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's British land forces, driving back into Burma from India, which were last reported in the vicinity of Rathedaung, 25 miles north of the enemy base at Akyab.

These conclusions were based on the supposition that Germany, with a food and supply situation apparently much better than that of 1918, would not collapse internally, Steinkopf said. He added aerial bombing might hasten internal disintegration, but that the German people were held together by a great fear—that of invasion by the bitter, vengeful people of the east.

Inquiries Received Here On War Work

Two inquiries concerning whether aid is available in Lubbock and area for war projects were received at the chamber of commerce this morning.

One of the inquiries concerns the possibility of placing war subcontracts in this area. The other involves a search for materials needed in aircraft production.

One came from a New York concern which wants to locate plants which can manufacture products sold through industrial supply or hardware distributors for use either by factories, contractors or machine shops.

The other letter came from a California aircraft corporation which is trying to locate "aircraft quality steel rod, bar and tubing."

Details concerning the inquiries are available through the chamber of commerce.

Proposals On Taxes

ment has gathered support from a number of members of Congress.

"If taxes are levied, which substantially accomplish the purpose I have indicated, either in a separate bill or in a general revenue bill you are considering," the President wrote Doughton. "I shall immediately rescind the section of the executive order in question. The Congress may appropriately provide that such taxes should take the place of the $25,000 limitation imposed by executive order.

"I trust, however, that without such tax levies the Congress will not rescind the limitation and permit the existence of inequities that seriously affect the morale of soldiers and sailors, farmers and workers, in imperiling efforts to stabilize wages and prices, and thereby impairing the effective prosecution of the war."

The probability that a substantial part of one year's federal income taxes might be cancelled gained weight today as the House ways and means committee approached showdown votes on a myriad of proposals for a pay as you go system.

Speculation on the amount of cancellation was intensified by a report that Chairman Doughton (D-NC) had suggested half of 1943 taxes might be abated to help put the 44,000,000 taxpayers on a current payment basis.

Treasury Opposes Move

Such cancellation, in the eyes of the Treasury, would erase approximately $6,500,000,000 of government "assets."

The proposition was reported to have gained some favor among the 25 committeemen, the majority of whom previously had indicated they would turn thumbs down on a proposal by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, to cancel 1942 taxes completely.

Under the Doughton suggestion or any other pay as you go tax plan that might be adopted the taxpayers still are required to file their 1942 returns and pay an installment of at least one fourth by March 15.

The chairman declined to tell newsmen what he had told the committee, now meeting behind closed doors after completing public hearings, but said "everything is just in the discussion stage."

As reported by committee sources, the plan he discussed would cut in half the tax bill against each individual's 1943 income, but 1942 obligations still would have to be paid in full during 1943.

Fourth Term Talk

over-ruled him in each instance. Harry L. Hopkins tried to head off Sen. Guy M. Gillette, D., Ia., in their mutual home state. An administration inspired sortie was made against Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., and there were rumblings of objection to Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., and Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev. Sen. Tom Connally, D., Tex., was not on the purge list but he suffered somewhat from Presidential displeasure in the 1938 campaign.

The mere listing of those men and their more or less unhappy experiences in 1938 does not mean they will join the stop-Roosevelt movement if the President seeks a fourth term. But if any stop-Roosevelt movement is to succeed all or most of them will have to join it along with most of the numerous company of other members of Congressmen who are loudly expressing displeasure with administration domestic policies.

The Washington Times-Herald, for instance, reported last week that Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., would bolt the party if Mr. Roosevelt were renominated. Almost simultaneously the newspaper PM, which is very friendly to the administration, was reporting that many of the President's close associates take it for granted that he will run again unless both the war and peace are won by next convention time. The winning of both so soon, PM reported, is not considered likely.

Some political writers have attached considerable significance to the swing across the country just completed by James A. Farley, former postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic national committee, who is judged to be the potential master mind of stop-Roosevelt forces. Farley left the cabinet and the party chairmanship in protest against Mr. Roosevelt's third term ambitions.

Declaration Forms

registration centers, during the week of Feb. 22-27, much time will be saved. Standing in line will be reduced to a minimum.

Comparatively Simple

The form announced by OPA headquarters and the local rationing boards today is comparatively simple and is largely self-explanatory, as shown in the proof presented herewith. Only four blank spaces have to be filled in, plus a list of names of persons for whom applications for Ration Book 2 are being made.

The steps which everyone filling in the form should take are as follows:

A. Cut out this copy of the Consumer Declaration from today's newspaper.

B. On Feb. 21, go to your pantry and count all cans, jars and bottles containing 8 ounces or more of the following foods which you have bought in a store:

Canned fruits (including spiced fruits).

Canned vegetables.

Canned fruit and vegetable juices.

Canned soups, chili sauce and catsup.

The net weight contents of every can or jar is printed on the label. Don't count containers holding less than 8 ounces.

Don't count canned or glassed foods you put up yourself.

Don't count canned olives, canned meat or fish, pickles, relish, jellies, jams, preserves, spaghetti, macaroni or noodles.

Don't count dried or frozen foods.

C. You are now ready to fill out the form.

First, under the heading "Coffee," in the blank space at the right of number 1, write in the number of pounds of coffee you had on hand Nov. 28, less 1 pound for every member of the family, 14 years of age or older. You were told to make a note of coffee on hand Nov. 28 when coffee rationing began. If there are five members of your family — Pop, Mom, Grandpa, a boy of 18 and a girl of 12—you would be entitled to have four pounds of coffee on hand. If you had only one pound or less for each person over 14, you would print a big "O" in the blank space, or write "None". If you had six pounds of coffee on hand and there were four members of your family over 14, you would enter in the blank space the figure "2."

You'll Have To Guess

If you have lost your Nov. 28 inventory of coffee on your shelves, or if you can't remember it, they'll probably ask you to guess.

Second, enter in the blank space at the right of question 2, the number of people in your household over 14 years of age for whom a War Ration Book No. 1 was issued. In the five-member family given above as an example, the number to enter would be "4." The 12-year-old daughter would have a book for sugar, but could get no coffee.

Five Cans Per Person

Third, figure out the number of cans of goods you're entitled to have on hand. Suppose your Feb. 21 inventory shows that you have on the pantry shelves four cans of fruits, eight cans of vegetables, six cans of vegetable juice, five cans of soup, one jar of chili sauce and three bottles of catsup.

That adds up to 27 units. All right, there are five members of the typical family as listed above. They're entitled to have on hand five cans per person, or a total of 25. So, in the blank space at the right of question 3, the correct figure to enter would be "2." (27 minus 25).

Fourth, put in the blank space opposite question 4, the number of persons for whom you are making application for Book No. 2. In the family example given, the number would be "5".

Print Names, Numbers

Finally, print the names of the members of your family, and opposite each name put the serial number appearing on the War Ration Book No. 1 issued for that person.

Sign your name and put in the address, and then you're all set to go to register for your Book No. 2. Be sure to take this consumer declaration form with you, and also the War Ration Book No. 1 for every person for whom you're applying for a Book No. 2. If you don't take the Book 1 with you, you won't be given a Book 2.

As a warning, note that the penalty for making a false statement on this form is 10 years' imprisonment, or $10,000 fine, or both.

MURPHY CONTINUES TRIP

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (AP)—Associate Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, his condition greatly improved, continued his flight to San Francisco today, leaving at 12:15 p. m. (CWT). Justice Murphy was taken from a plane yesterday suffering nervous exhaustion.

Reds Shatter Nazi Defenses

since Oct. 24, 1941.

Known as the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine," Russia's fourth largest city fell to the Red armies yesterday after a 375-mile drive from Stalingrad that started last Nov. 19.

In its mid-day communique, the Russian command announced that Soviet troops were pursuing the "remnants" of German forces retreating west of Kharkov, while 200 miles to the north, other Red army columns were driving upon the German base at Orel, midway between Kharkov and Moscow.

Reds Smashing Forward

Below Kharkov, the Russians were smashing forward along a wide front on the eastern rim of the Donets basin, killing 1,400 Germans in a single sector and capturing 30 more towns and villages west of Rostov.

The next immediate targets appeared to be Taganrog, on the Sea of Azov, and the Dnieper river city of Dnieperopetrovsk, site of a $100,000,000 hydro-electric power dam which American engineers helped to build and which was destroyed by the Russians in their 1941 retreat.

Texas Legislature

make compliance with war regulations easier.

The exception was a recommendation to the House that it reduce the tax on fuel for Diesel engines from eight cents per gallon to four, on a parity with the gasoline tax.

Testimony was that the tax was so prohibitory that it was hampering the development of the Diesel engine industry in Texas. The loss in taxes to the state was estimated at $27,000.

The amendments among other things would permit natural gas pipeline companies to sell drip gasoline to bonded distributors, tax free, but provides that the tax would then be paid by the distributors. Gasoline exported from the state by truck would be tax exempt. This adds trucks to ships and tank cars, which before the war exported virtually all the gasoline.

Tire Inspections In County Given Close Scrutiny, OPA Says

A "spot check" in Lubbock county of 1,359 tires for which inspectors have recommended replacements revealed that only 35 were "mis-inspected" and should have continued in service, district OPA officials here said Tuesday.

Similar inspections in others of the 71 counties in the district during the period Feb. 1-15 disclosed only 172 mis-inspections among 4,999 tires examined, officials claimed.

The examiners, Thomas E. Hendrick and Raymond C. Mathews, are visiting representative dealers in each county and checking tires. Each dealer is required to retain tires turned in to them 30 days, OPA officials said. A tag on each tire indicates the name of the person submitting the tire, certificate number, date of sale and price of the tire.

Both of the examiners have had years of experience in the tire business.

To Continue Checks

The district office plans to continue checking on tires turned in for replacements. "Any inspector making three misinspections will be relieved of his appointment as an OPA tire inspector," district officials said.

"While in some sections of the country inspectors have been found to be recommending replacements in order to obtain business, our surveys thus far indicate this situation does not exist generally in the Lubbock OPA district," said Howard R. Gholson, district OPA manager.

"We are aware of the fact that some inspectors are recommending replacements which are not needed, and we appeal to those few to consider the responsibility which rests upon them and to cooperate with their county War Price and Rationing boards by recommending replacements only in those cases where tires actually are not good for further service."

County War Price and Rationing boards still are limited by quotas and are finding it possible to grant only a small percentage of the tires recommended by inspectors, said Gholson, who appealed to the public to understand the position of boards.

Canyon Pastor Heads Baptists Of Section

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 17 (special)—Dr. Roy L. Johnson, pastor of Canyon First Baptist church, was elected president of the West Texas Baptist conference in the closing session of a two-day meeting here Tuesday. Rev. Avery Rogers of Brownfield was elected secretary and Rev. Lowell Ponder of Plainview treasurer.

From standpoint of attendance, the meeting was the largest ever held. Outstanding speakers messaged the story of Baptist work, from missions to the part the denomination may have in a postwar world. Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of Lubbock, discussed the subject: "Can Baptists More Vitally Serve by Assisting in the Establishment of a World Federation of Nations After the War by Refraining from Denominational Independence?"

Stress was placed throughout the two days on importance of Baptists in the South freeing the denomination entirely of debt. In Texas, it was explained, the Baptist organization already is entirely free of debt except where a few of its schools in the state owe a remnant of debts. Wayland college in Plainview, where the meeting was held forth, is entirely free of indebtedness, and numerous others in the state also are, as the result of a Baptist campaign inaugurated last year. In fact, speakers said, the organization in the entire South owes now but $995,000, and this will be liquidated during 1943 if plans are realized.

Rev. Hereford, in his talk, said he hoped to join other Baptists of Texas in a celebration this spring at the state Baptist convention to build a bonfire of every mortgage against every Baptist institution in the state.

Tech Receives First Group Of Students In Pre-Radar Course

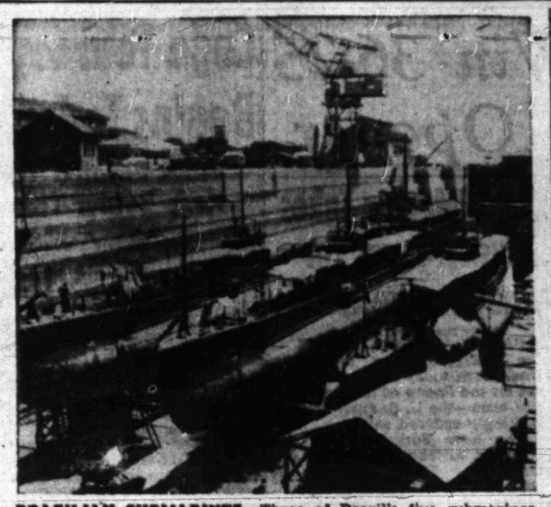

Arrival of the first group of 40 students for an Army signal corps pre-radar course at Texas Technological college was reported Tuesday by C. V. Bullen, head of the department of electrical engineering. Many were accompanied by their families.

Forty more students for this course are to arrive March 15, Bullen said.

Instructors in the course, to be given at night to begin with, will be Edward P. Price, who holds a B.S. degree from the University of Illinois, and Raymond Glass, 1940 electrical engineering graduate of Tech who took his M.S. in electrical engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology. These men are being sent here from the radio division of Westinghouse company.

Junior and senior electrical engineering students at Tech will assist as far as possible in laboratory work in the course.

Bullen asked those persons who have apartments which could be made available to pre-radar students to get in touch with him or Kenneth Dowell, assistant supervisor.

Tech Is Lauded For Extension Service

Texas Technological college has been commended by the registrar of the U. S. Armed Forces as being the only one among 100 schools cooperating with the institute to issue special application forms to service men desiring courses at reduced rates, according to report Tuesday by J. F. McDonald, extension director. Copies of the special form were requested.

Seventy-nine courses are offered by the extension division at Tech to men in the service, McDonald said, and the division averages about one enrollment per day. Some of the applications come from overseas, as well as from all parts of the United States, he said.

A new bulletin, outlining and describing the courses offered by extension, was completed Tuesday.

Organic substances are being developed to replace copper and lead in fungicides for spraying orchards.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

New blood is being made by our bodies at all times . . . red blood cells carry energy to every part of the body, nourishing tissue cells, etc. The life of a red blood cell is short—dead cells and worn out cells are eliminated by the body. Poor elimination is one of the causes of high blood pressure. . . . But what is causing poor elimnlation. Ninety per cent of the patients suffering from high blood pressure have subluxated vertebrae in their spinal column pressing nerves, paralyzing the organs of elimination. . . . That is why Chiropractic is so successful. We remove the pressure on nerves.

Sandies Win 36-25 In Series Opener

Westerners Must Win Next Two To Get Championship

Lubbock's Westerners face a "now or never" edict today so far as the District 1-AA basketball championship is concerned.

Last night the Westerners fell before Amarillo, 36-25, in a madly-scrambled game at the local high school gymnasium, giving the Golden Sandstorm a one-game edge in the series to decide the conference title.

So now the Westerners need a double victory at Amarillo Thursday night to take the crown. If they can win the second game of the series from the Sandies, the third game will also be played at Amarillo Thursday night, with the championship going to the victor. If Amarillo cops Thursday night's opener, the bunting goes to the Sandies.

Last night's game which attracted a near-capacity crowd, was undoubtedly one of the wildest ever played on the Lubbock High court. Only 25 fouls were called by Officials B. A. Stock and J. M. Wyett, but had they not been rather lenient with the over-anxious players both teams would have been lucky to have had a man left by the time the final whistle sounded.

Slow Start

Both teams got off to a poor start and were guilty of plenty of wild shooting in the first quarter, which ended with Amarillo leading 7-3.

In the second stanza, Coaches Pinky Lowrey's and Mule Davis' Lubbockites gradually moved up on the taller visitors and at half-time Amarillo led by only one point. Forward Billy Cope, with a field goal and three free shots, led Lubbock's second quarter spurt.

After the Westerners had pulled into a 17-17 tie after a few minutes of the third quarter, however, Buddy Ratliff, Amarillo's six-foot, three-inch center, hit two quick field goals to push Coach T. G. Hull's Sandies ahead for good. That period ended with the score 24-19, and in the closing heat the Sandstorm steadily increased its margin.

Cope and Jim Strawn of Lubbock tied with Sammy Deal and Ratliff of Amarillo for high point honors, with each of the four bucketing nine points.

The box score:

Joe DiMaggio Takes Physical Exam For Army Service Today

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17 — Joe DiMaggio has a date with Uncle Sam today to see if he can get on the lineup of another Yankee team—the U. S. army—and at a sharply reduced salary.

The New York Yankees star arranged to take his physical examination. Before the day is out, the $43,750-a-year baseball player may be a $50-a-month private.

DiMaggio, 28, married and classified 3-A, applied to his local draft board for voluntary induction.

Anxious To Get In

"When I get in that khaki I'll have my first peace of mind in over a year," said the two-time American league batting champion, holder of the consecutive game hitting streak (58) and twice acclaimed the most valuable player of his league.

"So will Dorothy (his wife). It's been kind of rugged for us, but it's all turned out as I prayed it would, and I'll be happy when Joe DiMaggio, the baseball player, becomes just another Joe in Uncle Sam's army."

The possibility that DiMaggio intended swapping uniforms cropped up several weeks ago after he effected a reconciliation in Reno, Nev., with his wife.

Outlook Uncertain On Tech Football

LUBBOCK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Although Texas Tech's athletes have been comparatively lightly hit thus far by the Army's latest manpower call, coaches still are uncertain as to how many football players will show up for spring training next month.

Tech's only gridiron loss last week was James Evans, junior end from Memphis, who was ordered to report for induction into the Army Air corps Feb. 19. Most of the other gridders are in the Navy and Marine Corps reserves.

Basketball Coach Polk Robison, however, may lose his team's leading scorer before the Border conference tournament in Albuquerque is finished. George Allen, veteran guard, has been ordered to report for induction into the Air Corps Feb. 19 but is seeking a short deferment.

Durocher Put In 1A; Camilli May Get Job

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — Leo Durocher has been shifted to 1A on the selective service rolls and Dolph Camilli has been made A1 on the rumor rolls as his successor as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Durocher's Brooklyn draft board moved him from 3A after receipt of word from the St. Louis physicians that the Babbling Brook boss had passed his physical examination there 10 days ago.

"All they have to do is call me and I'm ready to go," the baseball orator told reporters at Palm Beach, Fla. He will be 38 in July.

Flying Kellys Down H-SU Cagers 36-31

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 17 (AP) —The Flying Kellys of Kirtland field, Albuquerque, headed off a last half rush by the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys of Abilene, last night to win the rubber game of a three-game basketball series 36 to 31.

The Cowboys employed a fast-breaking game to nearly upset the Kellys, whose stellar guard, Calhoun, managed to pull his teammates out of two bad spots in the final frame. The Kellys led 15 to 9 at half-time.

Coaches To Receive Sample Of Training

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (U.P) — Two hundred high school coaches and students from north and west Texas schools will be put through a vigorous two-day conditioning program tomorrow and Friday by Grand Prairie Naval Air station officers in a demonstration of how the Navy conditions its future fliers.

Sponsored by the state Department of Education, cooperating with the Texas Interscholastic league, the physical fitness and victory corps institute will familiarize civilian physical education men with the nation's athletic program and its wartime change.

No more than six students may attend from each school.

The classes will be held at North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington with eight members of Lt. Bob Berry's staff conducting. Berry is a former football and track coach at East Texas State Teachers college.

Each coach and student will be rotated through two hours each of the same exercises given naval aviation cadets, including basketball, wrestling, soccer, gymnasium and tumbling, military track, boxing, military drill and mass exercises and test calisthenics.

RAMS BEAT ACC

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17 (AP) — Texas Wesleyan cagers beat Abilene Christian here last night, 49-33, in easy fashion. The Rams ran up a 28-9 lead at halftime, and played reserves a large part of the second half.

Cage Tourney Begins Today

Buffs Favored To Keep Border Title

Play begins today in the Border conference double elimination basketball tournament, with every team — regardless of its record for regular season play — starting out on equal footing, and Texas Tech's Red Raiders nursing streng hopes for an upset conference triumph.

Polk Robison and ten of his courtmen left by train yesterday for Albuquerque and the title-deciding tourney, which comes to a close Saturday night.

The Techsans, with a won-lost record of 11-and-8 over the regular season, are among the four top-seeded teams in the cactus loop meet—the others being West Texas State Teachers' defending champions, Arizona university and Texas Mines.

Teachers Favored

First round pairings for the tournament openers today will not be announced until shortly before the opening game starts. Two defeats, as the name of the tournament implies, push a team to the sidelines.

Most observers are about ready to award the crown to West Texas' tall and sharp-shooting Teachers, who are undefeated in conference competition although they haven't fared so well outside the circuit. Arizona, which has dropped only one Border loop verdict, also has a number of supporters, as do Tech and Texas Mines.

Allen Gets Call

Robison's Red Raiders have lost five conference games — four to WTSTC and one to New Mexico university. The Techsans, however, hold three decisions over the latter.

Members of the Tech squad making the trip to Albuquerque were George Allen, Garland Head, Norman Cox, Lawrence McCulloch, Roy Williams, Tom Rogers, William Banks, Tuffy Nabors, Wallace Martin and Edgar Long.

Allen, the team's high scorer this year, has received orders last week to report for induction into the Army air corps Saturday, so will play only the first three days of the tourney with Tech.

Barney Ross To Be Honored By Writers

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Army, the Navy, the Marines and Gus Fan get together tonight to give Barney Ross a big hand—but Barney won't be there to listen to it.

While the boxing writers association of New York holds its fifth annual dinner to present to Barney the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque as the man who did the most for boxing in 1942, the little corporal of the Marines is still in the Pacific war zone taking care of things.

He was taking care of them a whole lot better than, bad the night of Nov. 19 when, remaining to protect three wounded companions in a foxhole, he kayoed 22 Japs for keeps.

For that job, he was promoted to corporal, was cited for a distinguished service decoration and later was unanimously chosen by the fight writers to receive the plaque that is generally regarded as boxing's highest honor. It is given each year in memory of the Associated Press writer and war correspondent who was killed during the war in Spain in 1938.

Ross still is recovering from that night.

Muddle Arises On How Sports Should Operate For Duration

BY HAMILTON W. FARON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — There's a major muddle in the nation's sports program — and blame it all on the Axis.

Without exception Army and Navy men agree that "competitive sports" are desirable, in fact necessary, to train a young man to do a good job in his more important task of fighting the war.

There's the muddle—shall competitive sports include playing on varsity teams under college colors, or merely playing principally for exercise? There's no ruling.

Attitudes Explained

Boiled down, the whole matter of armed service participation in sports stands at the moment like this:

Army—officials directing the specialized training program—which will put soldiers into most colleges as students—say there won't be any time left for varsity sports after the 60 hours weekly required for scholastic matters. Col. Theodore P. Bank, chief of the athletics and recreation branch has said "competitive games have been a powerful weapon in the Army's training program to date and it would be unreasonable to surmise that they will be thrown out of the window now." He explained his reference was to competitive sports in camps, and not intercollegiate athletics.

Cadet Teams Prominent

Navy—pre-flight cadets moved well into front ranks of collegiate football last year. But they didn't play under college colors; they played as pre-flight squads against some mighty good opposition.

Colleges—with most athletes in, or about to go into, the armed services, coaches would welcome stars in uniform—with them they face the prospect of building teams around the students under the 18-year-old selective service age or physically unfit for Army and Navy services.

Just one thing apparently is clear—there'll continue to be competitive sports; possibly the big colleges won't have the teams of previous years; the big spectacles may be just that; chances are that service teams will take the limelight—but there'll still be sports of a sort.

New Deal Courtmen Down Cooper 41-25

With Center Medloch setting a blistering pace to score 26 of the winning team's points, New Deal High school boys defeated the Cooper cagers 41-25 last night at New Deal. Donald Johnson paced the Cooper five with 17 points.

In the girls' game, Cooper was the winner, 18-17, Mary Frances Wilke leading Cooper scoring with 12 points. Robinson, with 8, scored high for New Deal.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 — Bouncing into basketball — or courting trouble.

Pvt. W. D. Gary, speaking for the boys at the Myrtle Beach, S. C., air base, asks why this dept. overlooks small colleges in basketball, particularly Appalachian State college of Boone, N. C. . . . Appalachian, he argues, could beat any three teams combined in the Southern conference and run circles around any college outfit, but it doesn't get a tumble, even in North Carolina papers. It ought to get a chance in the garden, he says, but "a small school has little, if any, chance in the papers today—why?"

DEPT. OF EXPLANATION

Having tried to handle basketball on a national basis, we know how hard it is to cover even the so-called "major" conferences without having a story that runs over into the want ads . . . It's admitted that a small college may come up with a court team that would whale the tar out of the big shots, but until they play some of the big guys, how are you going to prove it? . . . You can't depend on the mere fact that they've licked a lot of teams their own size . . . As for busting into the garden, the question isn't "how good are they" but "will 15,000 New Yorkers pay to see them?"

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Zipp Newman, Birmingham News: "The Japs and Huns will have to worry about Clint Castleberry, of the magic feet, next fall . . . Clint has been ordered to report for training with the Army Air force. The Japanazis had better prepare a 20-man defense for Georgia Tech's greatest freshman footballer."

CHOICE OF WORDS

A year ago City Councilman Harlow Gers of Oklahoma City was playing golf with Wayne Joyce and Ray Wininger when his ball hit a dove and killed it . . . The other day, playing with the same partners on the same hole, he knocked a rabbit dead . . . The first shot may have given him a birdie, but what was the second? . . . Nope, Gers insists it wasn't a lie.

Jayhawks, Ags Continue Feud

Special Slogan Fixed For Game

(By The Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., Feb. 17—They've concocted a cooling slogan to hold down the temperature when the Kansas Jayhawks and the Oklahoma Aggies resume a white-hot basketball feud tonight.

Designed especially for Dr. F. C. "Phog" Allen, University of Kansas coach, it runs like this:

"Don't boo Phog."

May Go Into History

Who knows? Perhaps it may go ricocheting off into history to take its place in some hallowed niche along with such battle cries as: "Stagg fears Purdue," or "don't give up the ship."

Authorities figured they had to do something to quiet the spirits of the partisans, particularly when it was remembered what happened at Lawrence, Kas., a month ago when the feud's last round was fought.

The Aggies and Jayhawks came up to that one with the five-year series all square.

Only Four Players

When the smoke cleared, Kansas could be seen out in front, 36 to 29, but the Aggies had only four men on the floor.

Five Aggies had fouled out and tempers were so short that the Aggies had finished with four men although a spare still rode the bench.

Dr. Allen spoke aloud to the effect that this was no way to act when a fellow got himself beat.

No Oil On Waters

That was not calculated to spread much oil on the roiled waters, and so, as game time drew nigh, Coach Henry Iba of the Aggies delivered himself of the following:

"Let's treat them with the best courtesy we have, give them the best officiating we can get, and then let the boys beat the stuffing out of them."

And that's why the campus resounds today with "don't boo Phog."

Funeral Set Today For Sports Editor

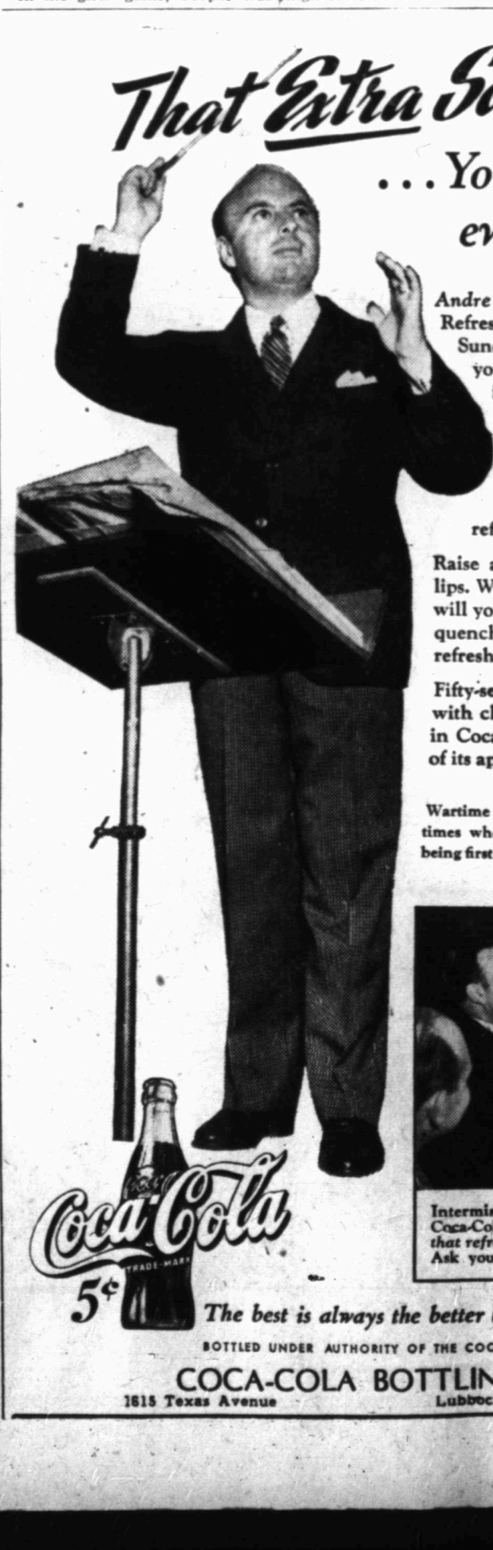

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17 (U.P)—Funeral services were planned today for James Gould, 59, sports editor of the St. Louis Post Dispatch and twice president of the baseball writers' association.

ZIVIC DECISIONS PADLO

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says it's lots better to have that run-down feeling from over work than from being gossiped about.

That Man on Avenue Q says under the new rationing order, women will have to stop buying shoes to fit the occasion and buy them to fit the feet.

CLARENCE BESTWICK, clerk of Lubbock county's rationing boards, mentioned the other day that he receives an average of a half-dozen calls per day from people who want to report a neighbor for some violation of rationing regulations—either real, or imaginery. We grinned when Mr. Bestwick said nearly all such calls are from people who decline to give their names, because we get quite a few of 'em, too.

Some of the callers are sincere in their efforts to uncover chiselers, but some aren't—and only call in an effort to cause trouble for some individual they do not like. Also, many—innocently or otherwise—offer mis-information, based upon wild and irresponsible stories, investigation of which proves that the informant is "all wet."

As an example of many of the latter type of calls The Plainsman recently has received, we give you this one:

A lady called and very indignantly suggested that we "raise a stink" over an alleged act of a neighbor. This lady declined to give her name, but she readily gave the name of the alleged rationing violator and offered to give names of those from whom she got the report of the alleged violation. Although The Plainsman is not in the business of enforcing rationing regulations, either by "raising a stink," or otherwise, he was suspicious of the story told. Therefore, he went to the rationing board's office, asked to see the record on the case involved, and found it to be entirely different from the report given by the anonymous caller who was running such a temperature over the alleged chiseling. Fact is, there was no chiseling and no violation of the rationing regulations involved. Everything was on the up-and-up.

WE give this example not to deter anyone from reporting real violations of the rationing regulations to the proper authorities, but to urge people to be sure of the facts involved before they make any report.

Mr. Bestwick, who has nothing whatever to do with enforcing regulations, never-the-less will check up on any alleged violations and if violations are found will turn the information over to the proper authorities.

However, he dislikes anonymous calls and letters, just as any fair-minded person does, although he can understand why, under some circumstances, an individual reporting a rationing violation might wish to keep his, or her, identity a secret.

Anonymous tips of many kinds and of all shades are nothing new to The Plainsman.

Over the past 19 years, a great many people have called or written to give us suggestions for improving things around town, as well as to give us "the lowdown" on alleged misbehaviour of individuals.

We listen to one and all who offer tips and suggestions on public matters for a lot of them, even anonymously offered, are very much worthwhile. But we never have been interested in anonymous yarns about whose husband is chasing around with whose wife, or vice versa; nor are we interested in anonymous stories about Mrs. Blank hoarding canned goods, or Mr. Blank cheating on gasoline.

When violations of rationing regulations are officially charged, we will get them at the authoritative source and will print them, just as we print charges filed in civil and criminal courts.

But being fairly busy trying to keep himself in line, The Plainsman has no inclination to worry about the other fellow's misdeeds — at least until they are administered to by the proper enforcement officers.

BUT before we get away from the general subject of current rationing, let us hearken back to World War I and its drawbacks, for the benefit of the younger generation and for those who went through the 1917-18 conflict in rural areas.

They had rationing in those days, too, and it was rationing with a vengeance — although it wasn't generally called rationing.

In many respects, it was much worse than anything we've had so far in this war, or are likely to have any time soon. So let's turn down memory lane and recall what was done to conserve essentials something over 25 years ago.

People in the heavily populated centers went without ice. They ate what was cozily called "Victory bread," chuck fill of potatoes and other flour substitutes.

Two days each week, Mondays and Wednesdays, were "wheatless days," and unless one was willing to run the risk of a $5,000 fine, six years imprisonment, or both, he ate no wheat products on those days. Furthermore, he was supposed to give up foods containing wheat during one meal each day outside of the "wheatless days." Most Americans "played ball."

No baker baked, or offered for sale, any bread containing wheat flour on Wednesdays and when housewives who did their own baking bought flour, they were forced to purchase at the same time an equal amount of flour substitutes, such as cornmeal, barley, rye, rice, or corn flour, or cornstarch.

BACK in 1917-18, Americans had fuel shortages, too, and they were even worse than those now being felt in the Northeast and Midwest.

There was a 50 million-ton shortage of coal; there were transportation troubles — and the big cities of the East shivered in the coldest weather in 30 years. Drastic measures were required—and drastic measures were what the people got.

Boats jammed with supplies for the AEF, and our allies overseas, couldn't get out of the harbors because there was no coal in their bunkers. Scores of factories had to close because there was no fuel to fire their boilers.

There were "meatless days," and people ground their molars on what was called "butterless, eggless, sugarless, milkless cake," but which was more like plain "tasteless cake." And to make matters worse, the 1917 wheat crop was a flat failure.

Merchants were forced to keep electric advertising signs turned off two nights per week — Thursday and Sunday nights. If they didn't, their electricity was cut off for the duration. Flour was 17.60 cents per pound and 90 cents a pound was standard for ham.

The domestic front's war on waste was no fooling matter, either. Alley sleuths inspected people's garbage pails and woe unto the family caught throwing away edibles.

IT was no fun, and double-tough. But as we remember it, most folks were good soldiers — good, patriotic American citizens—just as they are today.

Under current conditions, our gasoline is rationed. So are tires. So is sugar. So are shoes. Many types of foods, including meats, soon will be rationed. Milord's cuffs have flown from his trousers; milady's sheer silk hose has gone the way of the dodo, along with her good girdle. But what there is we can eat and buy as we please — as long as it or our ration coupons last. There's no self-appointed Gestapo member spying to see if we eat a white cracker on Monday, or a lamb chop on "meatless Friday."

We are urged, even begged, to buy war bonds and stamps. But if for some reason we don't — or if we don't buy as many as our neighbor thinks we should — our name isn't turned over to a council of defense "secret service" for investigation. It was in the 1917-18 era.

So we're not doing so bad here on the home front in this war.

Let's not waste any crocodile tears crying over our troubles — troubles which would bring a hearty guffaw from a fighting man in a foxhole in the Solomons.

Chapter 24

Rubber Boat

Twenty-four hours later, the wrecked planes still had not been located. And three more farmers from the mountain valley section had reported seeing the white parachutes.

Mary finished her duty at the post that morning almost reluctantly. As if she felt some nameless urge to stay on, to stand by for whatever was going to happen. Like an impending thunder storm, danger seemed to lower everywhere, a menacing unseen something that stood waiting — waiting!

Restless, Mary decided to walk up the beach a way. She walked rapidly, until the wind and the sea air whipped color into her cheeks, sent her blood racing through her veins. It eased the strain, too, quieted nerves that had been tight-strung for too long. She found herself laughing, remembering the days when as a little girl she'd chased her puppy tirelessly up and down this same beach, searched out and staked claims to "haunted" caves, collected rocks and shells.

Suddenly she was aware that she wasn't the only person on the beach. She looked up just in time to see someone disappear into one of the very caves she'd discovered years before!

For a moment, she just stood staring at the dark mouth of the cave. Her heart thumping, she tried to think what to do. To run back for help? To stay, identify the strange prowler? You had to have a permit now — since the shelling—to be on this beach. At the post, they'd been warned to report any stranger in sight.

She still hadn't decided, when the "someone" reappeared. Even from this distance, she recognized him at once. Dan Sherman!

But her eyes must be playing tricks. Dan was home resting. Dad had forbidden his walking further than around the block. Her common sense argued with her as she started across the sand toward him. It shouldn't be Dan Sherman—but it was!

He saw her, scowled a moment, then shrugged, obviously embarrassed at being caught!

"What in the world are you doing here?" she demanded, almost smiling in her relief that he wasn't a Jap.

"What are you doing?" he thrust the question right back at her.

"Dad told you to rest."

"I can't rest. I've got work to do. You run along, now. That's a good girl."

Dismissed—By Dan!

Then she saw what Dan, too, must have discovered. The boat. A small rubber boat. She'd never actually seen one like it before except in the newsreels.

"What is that?"—she pointed to it.

"That," Dan said dryly without looking at it, "is a boat."

"But what is it doing here?"

"It was hiding. In that cave. Until I found it."

"But—who hid it?"

He shook his head. "You've got me there, chum. But I smell a japanazi."

"But how —where —" She turned, glanced out at the great expanse of blue-green ocean spreading away from the beach.

"Easy! Via rubber boat to shore. Hide boat. Under cover of darkness or fog or both, go inland, dynamite a train trestle, get location of high-test gasoline tanks. Come back. Find boat. Go back to mother ship. Very successful trip, thank you very much, please."

"Oh, Dan. That couldn't happen—not here!"

"Sure it could. It has!" Then, glancing past her to the deserted beach beyond, "Look, this isn't a very healthy spot to be in. You trot on home. And say nothing about this at all. Promise?"

"Certainly. If you say so. But I think it should be reported to the authorities and—"

"I'll report it, don't worry. But the less you know, the better off you'll be. And secrets travel fast if they get a chance. So forget you even saw this." He nodded toward the strange boat.

"Won't you please come home, then, too?" she begged, knowing she was betraying herself to his mockery but too alarmed at his pallor to keep silent. "You must rest. You've been very ill. You shouldn't be out in this wind."

"Thanks for your kind sympathy, Lady Bountiful, but I'll manage okay. I've got to see a man on a little matter of business" — the ghost of his old smile. "Highly explosive business. You run along and peddle a Bond, there's a nice little soldier."

"If I can help, will you let me?" she pleaded, knowing it was hopeless.

"This isn't going to be any party, my little social butterfly, so I don't think I'll be needing your help. Thanks anyway."

"The rescue of the men from the Siren was no picnic either," she retorted hotly, and then could have snatched out her tongue.

"Touche!" he grinned now, teasing. "I'd forgotten you were Santa Phillipa's valiant girl-hero! Forgive me. I'll call on you when the going gets too rough."

Carmencita's Car

Mary felt him laughing at her as she turned, raced back down the beach towards the observation post and her parked car. She hated him—despised him—loathed him—and loved him so dearly her heart ached with the burden of it.

As she plodded back to the highway where her car was parked, she determined to rally the strong-willed common sense she'd once had. It was ridiculous to let her love for Dan Sherman make a fool of her. Other girls had loved hopelessly before and survived. Survived! Her heart echoed the world hollowly. And so what! If things just weren't fun any more—if nothing seemed really exciting — if your whole world seemed blacked out for keeps, what good was surviving!

She slammed shut the door of her car, ground the starter as if she smashed the last remnant of her interest in Dan Sherman under the toe of her sturdy oxford.

Then as she ducked her head out the window to make sure the highway was clear before she backed, she saw the car. The long, powerful red roadster Carmencita always drove, top down and very fast. It flashed around a curve, reappeared, rushed by a blur of red and chromium and disappeared down the highway.

It all happened in the space between two breaths but Mary had had ample time to see that Carmencita had a passenger. A man who closely resembled Dan Sherman!

Mary's new resolve shredded in the wind. So the little matter of a mysterious boat was a secret, was it? Secret that Carmencita de la Vega could share, however. Of course. And the old "hidden trail" down to the beach was their little secret now too! No wonder Dan had shooed Mary away with such a great show of concern for her safety. The only danger that had threatened then was that Mary might linger and spoil his little rendezvous with the lovely Senorita!

Grimly, she backed the car into the road, headed south toward Santa Phillippa. Dan, for all that he was smart enough to be a lieutenant and commander of a cutter, was certainly a push-over for a brazen schemer like Carmencita.

THE LEGISLATURE ROLLS ALONG

The fact that the first month of the present regular session of the Texas legislature produced few tangible results does not support any suspicion that legislators have been idling on the job.

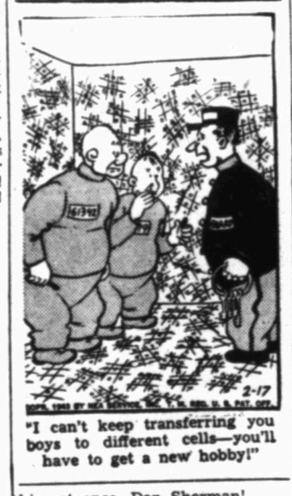

On the contrary, indications are that much more progress has been made than appears on the surface, despite occasional instances of time wasting. Most legislators have been conscientious.

Completed actions invariably are few in early stages of legislative sessions. That is when the committees which do most of the actual work in any legislative body are busiest. They start about the same time. They are working during about the same time as they study, investigate and re-shape proposed laws. Then they begin finishing about the same time and the legislature is put in position to begin taking final actions on legislation. This action period of the present session is nearing.

True, this session won't be finished within the 60 days about which there was some loose talk a few weeks ago. No practical, experienced observer ever expected the job to be done within that time.

Even now, an accurate forecast as to when the session might end would be impossible. But the bet still is a good one that the present session of the Texas legislature will be the shortest in a good many years.

Eighteen Dummies Show Off Sartorial Class Of U. S. Army

For Better Clothes, See The Quartermaster!

BY PETER EDSON

Journal Washington Correspondent

STANDING stiffly at attention at the Philadelphia Quartermaster depot is a row of 18 life-size models of soldiers. Every model is clothed in a different uniform, and there you have in one line what the well-dressed soldier of the U. S. Army wears to this man's war, not counting the uniforms for the WAACS or the aviators.

EDSON

This Philadelphia QM depot is Army headquarters for the procurement of clothing. It experiments with new styles, new equipment. It tests everything from buttonholes to sleeping bags. When changes are made, Philadelphia makes them.

Of course not every soldier gets every one of the 18 uniforms mentioned above. But these uniforms will keep the soldier clothed and in his right mind, protected from the elements in any climate from Alaska to Africa. All told, there are 2800 different items of equipage.

At the one extreme is the new tropical uniform of shorts and pith helmet now being worn by the Yanks on Bermuda.

At the other extreme is the Arctic parka, which is something extra. Outside, it is a reversible poplin wind-proof and weather-proof fabric, one side white to blend with snow and ice, the other side the new shade of olive green to blend with woods and tundra. For extreme temperatures, below this pants-and-parka are two suits of halfinch thick, high-pile undergarments made of alpaca and mohair, warmer than fur, and worn hung from special suspenders.

If a soldier gets too warm and sweats, then cools down, the tendency is for the perspiration to freeze, but it's easily removed. Simply take off the underwear and shake out the icicles, or brush them off.

OLIVE DRAB UNDIES

SPEAKING of underwear, the new Army underwear is to be olive drab instead of white. Not to hide dirt—to provide camouflage so that when soldiers wash their undies in a stream and then spread them on the grass to dry in the sun, they won't be spotted by enemy aircraft.

Blue jeans, more properly known as blue denims, may disappear from use as overalls and work clothes as one result of this war, for the Army has developed a new material for fatigue uniforms, a herringbone twill in the new Army olive green. It's much stronger than denim, and just about the same in price.

The Quartermaster corps licked the raincoat problem with a new fabric that will probably find wide acceptance when made available to civilians. It's a cotton sheeting impregnated with a viscous resin that is better than rubber. It won't crack and it won't stick like the old oilskins. Manufacturers of the new rainwear for a time tried to have a lot of garments rejected so they could sell them to civilians for more money than they get from the Army. But the QMC put a quick stop to that.

CHAMELEON CLOTHES

NEW Army camouflage suits for jungle fighting are reversible, enabling the soldiers to change their spots like a chameleon by simply turning their garments inside out. On one side, the greens predominate, for use in jungles. On the other side the browns and sand tones predominate, for use in the desert country or mountains.

One of the neater accessories for the jungle camouflage suits is a pair of flotation bladders. When a soldier wants to wade across a stream and he doesn't know how deep it is, he simply blows up these spare bladders, puts them under his armpits like water wings, and starts walking.

If Quartermaster corps clothing procurement officers have their way, the end of this war won't see the springing up of a lot of so-called Army and Navy stores, peddling Army surpluses and seconds at distress prices. Reason is that today, Army clothing is of such high quality that the garments can all be stored indefinitely. The stuff dumped on the market after the last war was mostly stuff that would not keep.

Give Your Hens A Liberal Feeding of

Red Chain Egg Mash

EVERY DAY
Make Every Hen A Fighter On The EGG PRODUCTION FRONT

RED CHAIN EGG MASH is rich in nutritional value . . . and you'll find it a definte aid to summer production. It is especially helpful in speeding recovery from the moulting period and will help condition your hens for heavy fall production.

START YOUR CHICKS RIGHT WITH D. SALSBURY'S PHEN-O-SAL TABLETS
THE Double-Duty DRINKING WATER MEDICINE

1. Checks Germ Growth in Drinking Water. 89% of 3,355 chicks sent Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories for free diagnosis had bowel troubles. These troubles often come from germs entering the digestive system through the drinking water. Phen-O-Sal inhibits germ growth.

2. Medicates Chick's Digestive System. Phen-O-Sal's non-oxidizing medicines stay active, reach the entire digestive system with astringent action so often needed in bowel troubles. Use Phen-O-Sal in any kind of water.

Record Claimed By U. S. Crews

(By The Associated Press)

AT A U. S. LIBERATOR BOMBER STATION, In England, Feb. 17 — This station claimed a record today for carrying out two highly successful bombing missions on the continent in only 19 hours with the same bombers and the same crews.

This double punch was believed to constitute the speediest pair of raids by the same personnel and equipment yet executed by Americans here.

The Liberators streaked across the English channel with RAF Spitfire escorts on Monday to pound Dunkerque and yesterday they joined with Flying Fortresses in plastering the St. Nazaire submarine base with explosives.

Did "Best Bombing"

The crews here were jubilant today, declaring that both photographic evidence as well as their own observations showed that both raids resulted in "the best bombing we've done so far."

They told of savage battles with some 75 German fighters at 20,000 to 25,000 feet altitude while gunners blazed away with fingers numbed and frost-bitten by the cold — it being 40 degrees below zero at their height.

Claims Five Shot Down

The top-scoring bomber from this station was "Miss Dianne," piloted by Capt. Clyde Price of San Antonio, Tex., whose crew claimed to have shot down five.

(No total score was announced but fliers from another station claimed at least five. Six bombers in all were lost).

Capt. Clifton Pyle of Marshall, Tex., took part in the daylight attack yesterday on St. Nazaire.

coffee rations to persons 15 or older.

When consumers take their No. 1 ration book—which contains coffee coupons—to the ration boards late this month to get book No. 2—the canned goods book—clerks will remove from No. 1 the coffee coupons 19 through 28 for every member of the family listed as 13 or under.

Coupons for those listed as 14 at the time book No. 1 was issued will, however, be left undisturbed—on the theory, OPA said, that the 14-year-olds may since have become 15-year-olds.

News Briefs

A call for volunteer seamstresses was issued by the Red Cross this morning after material for 500 kit bags had been received here. "The material has been cut and needs only sewing," it was announced. Material may be called for at the production room at Sixteenth street and Avenue J.

Police this morning had announced no finding of property reported lost Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Dan Tarpley of 1502 Fifteenth street: a purse containing $13, "change," a lapel watch and other possessions. She was in a downtown office building, where she is employed.

Lubbock Lions have announced a stag party and initiation jamboree for the benefit of several new members, to be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Vernice Ford's place, on the Tahoka-Lubbock highway. Barbecued chicken, according to Dr. Marshall Harvey, club secretary, is to be one of the attractions.

Second Lt. Jack M. Brightman, 19, son of Resident FBI Agent and Mrs. Dwight M. Brightman of 2112 Twenty-ninth street, left this morning for Amarillo, where he will enplane for Sedalia, Mo., Army Air base for tactical instruction in the troop carrier command. He spent only a brief time here en route from Del Valle, Austin twin-engine school where he finished transition training. Earlier he had been commissioned after completion of pursuit training at Foster field, Victoria, Texas.

A U. S. fighter plane made history by flying a round trip of more than 600 miles from an English base to shoot up a factory and gas reservoir.

Reminder Given On Incentive Payments

Peanut growers are reminded by the AAA that incentive payments are to be paid on war crops only for the acres planted between 90 and 110 per cent of goals.

For example, a farmer is given a peanut goal of 100 acres, but he plants only 90 acres. He will not be penalized, but on the other hand, he will receive no incentive payments for the 90 acres he does grow. If he plants 110 acres, and his goal is 100 acres, he will be paid $30 an acre for 20 acres, but nothing beyond the 110 per cent, although he might plant 200 acres in peanuts on a 100-acre goal.

Texas farmers are asked to plant one-fifth of the nation's peanut crop, or 1,300,000 acres. The $110 a ton AAA payment, which already had been established, will not be paid in 1943. Incentive payments of $30 an acre will not be paid on crops of less than three acres.

Farmers who expect to hog off some of their peanut acreage are advised that they should plant more than 110 per cent of their goals.

GLOOMY DAY AT FUEHRER'S HEADQUARTERS—The mood was definitely not levity at Fuehrer Hitler's headquarters as these Axis big wigs discussed, says the German caption, the situation in France. Clockwise around table: Nazi Foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop (back to camera), French Chief of Government Pierre Laval, Hitler, Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano (since ousted by Mussolini), and Reichmarshal Herman Goering. The picture reached the U. S. by way of London.

Rubber Harvesting Is On In California

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — The first harvest of natural rubber in the United States on an industrial scale since Pearl Harbor is under way in California.

The agriculture department says several hundred tons of rubber is being extracted from the guayule shrub in the Salinas valley of California, part of the government's guayule operations covering extensive plantations in California and the Southwest.

This year's output, expected to be about 600 tons which will be turned over to the rubber reserve company for war uses, will be only a minute fraction of the nation's needs. It will come chiefly from an old plantation of guayule on which there are about 50 acres of the shrub. It is being harvested now when the rubber content is highest.

It was the seed gathered from this 550 acres by the forest service last fall that has made possible rapid expansion of the guayule production program. Nursery acreage has been extended in the Salinas area, and new nurseries have been established at Indio and Oceanside, California and smaller developments are under way near Bakersfield, Calif., Phoenix, Ariz.; Las Cruces, N. M., and Brownsville, Tex.

Registration In City Outlined

Registration for ration book No. 2 will start in Lubbock county at 7 a. m. Thursday, Feb. 25, and continue until Saturday at 7 p. m., members of the county war price and rationing board announced Tuesday. On Friday and Saturday mornings, registrations will begin work at 8 o'clock.

In the city of Lubbock, registering will proceed at the senior high school, junior high school, Kay Carter school, Dupre, Wilson, George Bean, Hunt, Sanders, Central Ward, Guadalupe (Mexican), Dunbar (negro), and Locust Street chapel.

One Day Session

Board members explained that at Locust Street chapel in Arnett-Benson addition, registrations will continue but one day, Thursday.

Persons who do not have children in any school are asked by the rationing board to register at junior high school or senior high school.

Parents who have children in school are asked to register at any school where their children attend.

Registration places outside of Lubbock are named by the board as follows:

Cooper, Idalou, Frenship, Roosevelt, New Deal, Estacado, Posey, Shallowater, and Slaton.

These rural schools will arrange their hours of registration and the days on which teachers and volunteers are to work according to their own wishes and needs, board members said.

Four Sons Called To Colors In Same Day

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (AP)—A family with four sons in the service is no longer a rarity but Mrs K. W. Hopkins had all four sons called to the colors the same day.

They were: Meredith Hopkins, a former University of Texas athlete and third baseman owned by the Chicago White Sox; Tom Hopkins, student at Southern Methodist university; Glen Hopkins, of Centralia, Ill., and King Hopkins, jr., a graduate of the University of Texas.

Alcohol Plant To Be Talked

"Interested citizens" will be asked to meet soon to discuss plans to seek a grain alcohol plant for Lubbock in connection with the national synthetic rubber program, directors of the chamber of commerce decided at a special meeting Tuesday.

Date of the meeting has not been set, but probably will be held within the next few days. The place probably will be the chamber of commerce. Especially invited, the announcement said, will be those who are prepared to make the "substantial investments" that probably would be necessary to securing such a plant.

The meeting was recommended by a special committee of chamber directors composed of J. D. Hassell, jr., H. L. Allen and R. C. Hopping.

Much information still is lacking relative to the locations of alcohol plants, officials said. However, the presumption is that some local capital would be required in the financing of such a project, although the supposition is that most of the money would be supplied by the government.

But, at best, according to information here, the provision of local capital would be only one step toward securing favorable consideration of any city as a location for one of the several plants reported to be in contemplation. Reports here indicate that the city which is in position to offer some financing is more likely to be considered than a city which does not.

In that connection, however, stress was laid on the fact that any such financing would be done as a promising investment and not as a donation.

Farm Labor Supply

Chamber directors also decided to join in an application for a farm labor supply center, many of which are planned in agricultural areas. The county farm war board recently asked that such a center be located in Lubbock.

Details as to plans for the various centers were reported to be limited. However, the expectation is that such a center would include approximately 100 semi-permanent living units and an additional number of more temporary units. These, according to reports, would be for the occupancy of transient farm labor.

Picture Book Of Area

Another action taken by directors was the conditional approval of the printing of a book of pictures of scenes in Lubbock and vicinity. The condition is that 250 of the books must be sold at $3 each before any are printed. Individual directors already have placed orders for 60 of the volumes, chamber officials said.

This action resulted from the examination by some of the members of the board of three identical folders of original photographs of Lubbock and South Plains scenes which were prepared in the chamber of commerce. These have been used in connection with efforts to obtain various projects for this city. Expressed desire of some of the directors for similar volumes led to the decision to print the photographs in book form if enough are ordered to cover printing costs.

Dan F. Wadley Is Buried In Amarillo

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 17 (Special)—Funeral services for Dan F. Wadley, 54, of Amarillo, a well-known Panhandle independent oil dealer for the past 14 years, were conducted Monday in Amarillo, with Dr. W. R. White, president of Hardin-Simmons university, officiating. Wadley died here Saturday where four weeks ago he underwent an emergency operation.

Wadley had helped organize numerous consumer co-ops in the Panhandle-West Texas area. Before he moved to Amarillo, he resided in Dallas for 20 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Ralph B. Wadley, Amarillo, and Robert J. Wadley, stationed at Goodfellow field.
