Allies Fearful Reds May Not Free Prisoners

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 12. (AP) — A new Red plan for exchanging prisoners of war and an allied compromise for supervising a Korean truce with neutral observes fell on cold shoulder today.

The United Nations expressed fears publicly for the first time that the Communists might not give up all the prisoners they old.

The fear was expressed in turning down a prisoner exchange plan advanced today by Communist negotiators at Panmunjom. The Red proposal still called for release of all prisoners. The U.N. insists on a man-for-man exchange.

CONCERN FOR PRISONERS

"The U.N. Command is concerned," an official communique said, "that premature agreement on bulk exchange of prisoners before adequate data is available could result in sizable numbers not being recovered."

Allied negotiators, the communique added, "excoriated the Communists" for not letting the Red Cross see how prisoners are being treated and for refusing to say how many prisoners they hold and where.

The Reds have said they would supply the information only after the Allies agree on a blanket exchange.

Allied troops in Red hands have been estimated at 98,000 to 139,000. The U.N. says it holds between 120,000 and 135,000 Chinese and North Korean Reds.

The only new factors introduced in the Red plan would be to exchange prisoners in groups at Panmunjom, the sick and wounded first, under joint Allied-Red supervision.

WOULD TAKE MONTH

The Reds said it would take them a month to deliver all prisoners.

Big. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U.N. spokesman, said "The question of prisoners of war is being held over our heads" to force an undesirable solution of the prisoner and truce supervision problem.

A U.N. spokesman said the Allies made "major compromises and concessions" in its new effort to break the 16-day deadlock over how to supervise the truce.

The Reds said the U.N. concessions "were insufficient," the Allied communique reported, but agreed to study the offer.

The Allied proposal conditionally accepted the Red idea of teams of neutrals supervising the truce, and also agreed to withdraw from some islands off the North Korean Coast. The U.N. would keep its troops on islands more than three miles from shore, and withdraw from those closer inshore.

ISLAND CONCESSION

Heretofore the Allies have said they would keep all the islands.

They have also insisted on joint Allied-Red inspection teams.

The U.N. said it would make concessions on these two points if the Communists agree to military armistice commission control of the truce teams, "freedom of movement over principal lines of communication throughout all of Korea" for the truce teams, aerial reconnaissance by neutrals, rotation of troops and no rehabilitation of air fields.

Chinese Maj. Gen. Hseih Fang did not object to military armistice commission control, but he did protest the other four points.

Maj. Gen. Howard W. Turner told him "You have conceded nothing"; either accept the whole U.N. plan or none at all." Hsieh said he would think it over.

United Nations delegates on the two subcommittees handling the problems used tough language.

Despite the strong words and the failure of negotiators to accept either plan advanced, the feeling persisted here that negotiators could still agree to an armistice before the Dec. 27 deadline. If they sign by then, a cease-fire line already drawn will become effective. Otherwise a new line will have to be set.

TWIN BROTHER GIVES SKIN

Pfc. Leonard Kijowski, left, arrived by plane in San Antonio from Korean battlefront under hurry-up orders to go to Brooke Army Hospital there so that skin from his body might be grafted to that of his twin brother, Pfc. Leo Kijowski, right, who suffered phosphorous burns over 45 per cent of his body near Chokko-Ri, Korea, Oct. 18. They are the sons of John Kijowski of Ford City, Pa.

Republicans Doubt 'Clean House' Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP) — Democratic predictions that President Truman is angrily ready to clean house in the government tax scandals, and that they won't be a big issue in 1952, drew sharp replies from Republicans today.

"It's just wishful thinking," said Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) of the White House statements by Democratic Chairman Frank E. McKinney. "It's an issue and it's going to stay an issue."

Senator Nixon (R-Calif) commented: "So McKinney thinks the graft and political influence oozing from under so many doorways won't be an issue — I guess I've heard everything now. It's going to take a lot of Democratic ingenuity to convince the American people of that.

Ferguson proposde that President Truman give FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover a free hand to investigate bfficial wrong-doing.

Ferguson added he saw no need to appoint a special prosecutor — one of the steps President Truman reportedly has under consideration.

"If we are at the stage where we have to have a special prosecutor, then we ought to have a new Attorney General," he said.

Attorney General McGrath refused to comment on growing rumors that his resignation was impending.

McGrath, a witness Tuesday before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee, said he was refusing to comment any longer when asked whether he was stepping out as Attorney General.

McGRATH IN CHAIR

McGrath was in the witness chair all day under questioning on the activities of T. Lamar Caudle, who was fired Nov. 16 by President Truman as No. 1 U. S. prosecutor of tax fraud cases.

McGrath defended his sanction of some of Caudle's activities while assistant attorney general. He admitted he knew Caudle was making an expense-paid trip to Europe as the guest of a wealthy wine merchant, and conceded he had approved acceptance of a $5,000 commission paid Caudle on the sale of an airplane to a man interested in a tax case.

McGrath said he relied on Caudle's integrity, but held "no brief" for the indiscretions brought out against him in the tax hearings.

The Attorney General, speaking warmly of Caudle as an individual, said he did not "presume to pass judgment on him."

"I like Mr. Caudle as a man — I still like him," he declared.

Man Charged in 'Shake-Down' Linked to Caudle

Federal Grand Jury Charges Three Tax Men

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12. (AP) — James G. Smyth, ousted Northern California federal tax collector, and three others are accused of tampering with income tax returns to defraud the government, as the climax to a seven month grand jury probe.

San Francisco's holdover federal grand jury ended its work Tuesday by voting the four indictments.

This didn't mean the Northern California internal revenue shakeup was over. In Washington, Attorney General McGrath said he is naming a special assistant to handle income tax cases here.

The foreman of the outgoing grand jury told the federal court matters still are under investigation.

"Anything can happen in the next few months," he added.

Smyth, his former chief office deputy, Paul V. Doyle, and his chief field deputy, John J. Boland, were charged jointly in one indictment with backdating income tax returns, unlawfully extending tax deadlines and removing office records.

Three other indictments accused Doyle and Lloyd J. Cosgrove, prominent San Francisco lawyer, of plotting to defraud the government of $38,664 by back-dating three tax returns.

Smyth, Northern California campaign manager for President Roosevelt in 1944, was fired by President Truman last month for "failure to manage his office properly."

He and nine other local bureau employes were ousted in a shakeup that began in September. The case of another is being studied in Washington.

Smyth asserted he was amazed.

"I am quite confident," he said, "that by due process of law, I and the other two employes of the bureau will be completely vindicated."

If convicted he would face a penalty of five years and a $10,000 fine.

Cosgrove was the Republican opponent of Rep. John Shelley (D-Calif) in 1949, when Shelley won an unexpired congressional term. Cosgrove's attorney, Joseph Alioto, said it was his feeling that "the grand jury was operating in an atmosphere of mob rule."

City Bus Service Is Discontinued

Transportation services of the Snyder Bus Co. have been halted, Edgar Taylor, part owner of the company, said today.

"Cost of operating the company continually exceeded receipts," Taylor said in giving a reason for the suspension of service. He added that he and his partner in the firm, I. O. Fannin, had not yet made any further plans regarding the company.

Taylor said he notified W. J. Ramsey, city superintendent, and Jack Inman, in charge of parking meters, so that meters could be installed in places heretofore used as loading zones for the bus service.

"We are sorry that we could no longer continue the bus service," Taylor said. He said his company would lend its three buses free of charge to any party wishing to start a new service, provided they were maintained properly.

The company was started Nov. 5, 1949, by Taylor, A. E. Miller, and R. L. Terry. Later Taylor and Fannin purchased the interests of the others.

When the company began operation, two buses were used, and a third was added later but was discontinued shortly. About five months ago, one of the two remaining buses was discontinued, and only one has operated since.

Parolee Says Tax Man Got His Passport

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Bert K. Naster testified today that while on parole from a federal penitentiary he received a passport to Europe within 48 hours after discussing it with his "platonic friend," T. Lamar Caudle.

Naster, a Hollywood, Fla., businessman, was called before a House Ways and Means Subcommittee inquiring into allegations that he and another man attempted to "shake down" Abraham Teitelbaum, wealthy Chicago lawyer, for $500,000 on representations they were in cahoots with a Washington "clique" and could save him from bad troubles.

Naster asked to be heard in private, but his plea was overruled.

Before getting down to Teitelbaum's story, the subcommittee went into Naster's relations with Caudle, an assistant attorney general who was fired by President Truman last month for "outside activities" incompatible with his official duties.

WASHINGTON CLIQUE

Teitelbaum testified last week that the shake-down pitch was made by Naster and Frank Nathan, a Pittsburgh promoter, last April and that the two told him Caudle was in a Washington "clique" with which they had connections.

Caudle and others allegedly named as in the "clique" have denied there was such a thing.

Naster testified he first met Caudle in December, 1950, through Nathan.

Naster said he discussed with Nathan how to get a passport so he could go to Europe on business. Naster was then on parole from a five-year tax fraud sentence.

CAUDLE A FRIEND

He said Nathan told him he had "a friend" in Washington who could help him — the "friend" being Caudle.

"Nathan told me the first time I got up to Washington to see Caudle and he would tell me how to go about it," Naster said.

About a week later, he was in Washington and telephoned Caudle for an appointment. Caudle saw him at his home, Naster said.

"He told me I would have to go to the State Department and fill out an application," he said. "He just gave me the information how to go about it."

Naster went to the State Department and "within 48 hours" after making the application the passport was issued.

Normally, it requires from several days to two weeks to get a passport once application is made.

Among today's developments:

1. Presidential Secretary Joseph Short was asked whether "any drastic action" was coming from the President today on the tax scandals. Short said: "I would'nt want to make a prediction of when it will be — today, tomorrow or the next day." When a reporter said, "Then drastic action is coming?" Short replied: "You used that phrase."

2. Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis) demanded that Attorney General J. Howard McGrath resign. Byrnes said he was convinced from McGrath's testimony to the house committee yesterday that "the urgently-needed house-cleaning in the Department of Justice. . . cannot and will not be made by the present Attorney General." Byrnes is a member of the House group.

The hearings resumed against a background of reports that President Truman is angrily ready to clean house in the tax scandals.

Ground Action And Air Force In Korea Quiet

SEOUL, Dec. 12. (AP)—Clouds and fog restricted air activity today and brought the Korean war to a virtual halt.

The Fifth Air Force indicated there had been no major action.

Troops in mist-draped hills across the front held their fire as the twilight war continued.

A half dozen patrols poked out across the hill country west of Yonchon, holing up and calling for artillery support at the first sign of Reds.

West of the Punchbowl, on the Eastern Front. One Red probing force of about two platoons was hurled back after a brief skirmish.

Elsewhere there was little to report except brief patrol contacts.

5 ABOVE ZERO

Temperatures ranged from a bone chilling 5 degrees above zero in the East to 40 above in the West.

Seven B-29 Superforts dropped 70 tons of bombs on Red troops behind the Communist front lines Tuesday night. Four B - 29s attacked rail yards.

Night-flying medium bombers attacked Red highway traffic.

American F-86 Sabre jet pilots reported two Russian-made MIG-15 jets probably were destroyed and two others damaged Tuesday as planes mounted 945 sorties.

ALL JETS RETURN

The Air Force said all Sabre jets returned safely.

Naval Headquarters said the carrier Valley Forge rejoined Task Force 77 for her third tour in Korean waters.

In the Southern proviences, where Republic of Korea forces have been hunting Red guerrillas and bandits action was tapering off. An Eighth Army spokesman said the mopping up in the Mount Chiri area was finished "to all intents and purposes."

Foreign Power Seeks Argentina's Atomic Secret, Inventor Says

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 12. (AP) — Dr. Ronald Richter, Austrian-born head of Argentina's atomic research, says he is negotiating a pact for exchanging atomic energy information and materials with a "highly industrialized foreign country."

He said Tuesday night the time was not ripe to identify that country.

Most foreign experts were skeptical when Richter said in March he had discovered new, cheaper ways to make atomic energy by applying extremely high temperatures to cheap metals.

Two months later a leading Dutch atomic scientist, Dr. C. J. Bakker, went to Argentina to study Richter's atomic claims, under sponsorship of the Netherlands government.

Britain Decides To Meet Payments on Its U. S., Canadian Notes

LONDON, Dec. 12. (AP) — Britain has decided to pay in full installments of capital and interest due on the United States and the Canadian loans Dec. 31, an informed source said today.

This country could have avoided paying the interest on both loans by invoking waiver clauses which were written into the 1946 agreements. In view of its economic plight there had been speculation that it would do so.

Britain is due to pay the United States $51.5 millions in capital and $87 million in interest.

It is supposed to pay Ottawa $14 million in capital and $23.7 million in interest.

Mercury to Low of 26

The low temperature for last night was 26 degrees; according to Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, official weather observer. Mrs. Strayhorn asid the maximum for last night was 57, and the mercury stood at 32 at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Offset Staked To Mitchell County Opener

Richardson & Bass No. 1 J. Jameson is to be a one - location offset to the same concern's No. 1 McCabe, recent opener of the McCabe - Pennsylvanian sand field in Southeast Mitchell County.

Location for the No. 1 Jameson is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 6-12-H&TC. It is about 20 miles southeast of Colorado City, and is almost on the Mitchell - Nolan County line near the south end of that boundary.

Drilling to 7,000 feet to test the Pennsylvanian sand will start soon.

Richardson & Bass No. 2 McCabe, west offset to the discovery, was recently abandoned as a dry hole in the McCabe pay.

The same operator's No. 1-8 Nail Estate is to be a one - location north stepout to the discovery. It is to begin drilling in the near future.

FAILURE AT 3,565

Continental Oil Co. No. 1 Faulkner, Central - North Garza County wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned at total depth of 3,565 feet in dolomite.

Top of the San Andres was at 1,955 feet and top of the San Angelo was 2,950 feet. Elevation was 2,426 feet.

No shows of oil in commercial quantities were found in any section drilled through.

Location was 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 42-8-H&GN survey and seven miles northeast of Post.

WINSTON FAILURE

Drilling & Exploration Co. No. 1 Winston, Kelley - Snyder field test, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 7,523 feet as a dry hole. The project was quit in lime and shale, and had reported no shows for production. Drillsite was in the southwest quarter of section 11-1-J. P. Smith survey.

KENT TESTS

Sun Oil Co. No. 2-D Bilby Wallace, Kent field location, flowed 45 barrels of oil with no water on a 24-hour gauge recently completed. Tubing pressure was 50 pounds and casing pressure 380 pounds. Operator is now preparing to acidize.

Humble No. 2 W. M. McLaury, Southwest Kent field project, has run five and one-half inch casing to total depth of 7,501 feet. It has been testing.

BORDEN PRODUCER

In the Von Roeder field of Borden County, Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 5 W. Ed Murphy has been completed for a 24 - hour potential of 498 barrels of 48.2 gravity oil. The potential was calculated from an actual flow of 352 barrels of oil in 17 hours through a one-quarter inch choke.

Gas - oil rato on the test was 1,023-1. Casing pressure was 300-700 and tubing pressure was 700-700. Drillsite is in section 69-25-H&TC.

Amerada No. 1 Canon, West-Central Borden wildcat, is drilling in lime and shale below 7,499 feet.

Gulf No. 1-A Long, Southeast Borden wildcat, is drilling below 4,552 feet in lime and shale.

Charlotte News Charges Panel Shields Clark

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 12. (AP) —The Charlotte News said today that Tom C. Clark, then Attorney General, was advised by the FBI of "indiscretions" by T. Lamar Caudle as U. S. Attorney in North Carolina before Caudle's nomination July 18, 1945, as assistant attorney general.

During House hearings in Washington Friday, it was brought out there was certain "derogatory information", supplied by the FBI, in the Justice Department's file on Caudle.

The News said the House subcommittee, investigating tax scandals, had known of this for some time. It quoted a committee source, not identified, as saying one reason the committee had not explored it more fully was that the committee did not wish to "embarrass" Clark, a Texan, who is now a justice of the Supreme Court.

Caudle was nominated for assistant attorney general by President Roosevelt. He was ousted by President Truman for "outside activities."

Administrator Resigns PMA Position Here

Elsworth Jones, administrator for the Production and Marketing Administration, resigned his position here yesterday and has moved to Matador, Tex.

Jones said he had no immediate plans, but he added that he may remain in PMA work.

No replacement has yet been chosen by the County agricultural Committee, which is scheduled to hold its next regular meeting Dec. 18. Clifton Thomas is chairman of the committee.

Mrs. James Bellamy, chief clerk in the office, is acting administrator until a replacement is found. She will also act as secretary of the county committee and county mobilization committee.

Jones assumed duties as administrator here last June after coming here from Eden, where he was PMA administrator for Concho County.

The former administrator has been in PMA work almost continuously since 1933. He has been administrator for Motley, King, Kent, and Concho Counties.

Schools Bear Half the Cost Of Building Drainage Ditch

The school system and the city will share jointly in construction of a 20 - foot alleyway to be made primarily for drainage of flood waters from Avenue L to Avenue M at the high school, between Twenty - sixth and Twenty - seventh Streets.

The school board voted last night to share half the expense, after Forest G. Sears, mayor, appeared before the board and requested its co-operation. The mayor, however, did not specify to what extent the school system should share. He said construction of the project had been estimated at $2,000 but that he believed it could be built for less.

PAVED ALLEY

The project is to be 20 feet wide, cut one foot lower than the ground level, protected by 12-inch retaining walls, and paved with asphalt. It will be between and parallel to Twenty - sixth and Twenty - seventh Streets and will extend from Avenue M eastward one block to Avenue L. Right of way for the alley has been deeded to the city by property owners in the block.

The board also voted to request the city to close Twenty - seventh Street between Avenues K and L. It was then decided the board would be represented at the next meeting of the city council when the petition would be made in the interest of safety to students of the primary school. The school is between Avenues K and L and Twenty - seventh Street, but this portion of Twenty - seventh Street lies between the school's main building and some temporary buildings used as classrooms.

The board acted on three recommendations made by Paul Keaton, a trustee, and voted to try to sell four obsolete school buses, hire a man to keep the fleet of good buses clean, and to establish periodic safety meetings for drivers.

SELL BUSES

The board will seek permission of the state education department to sell the four old buses which are no longer satisfactory for school use. The school system was under the state's transportation aid program when they were purchased. The Snyder system is currently using 21 buses daily.

The trustees authorized Elmer Taylor, business manager, to hire one of the schoo' bus drivers to keep the buses clean in addition to his work as a driver. With this action, he was also authorized to purchase a commercial type vacuum cleaner for the work.

Safety meetings for school bus drivers are to be instituted and held periodically, but no details were planned. It was decided that law enforcement officers, especially those dealing with traffic safety, be invited to attend the meetings and assist in advisory capacities.

New County Airport Dedicated In Ceremonies Opening Field

The biggest plane ever to land here, a giant four - engine C-54, came in for a smooth landing yesterday afternoon, bringing Major Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, commandant of the Eighth Air Force, and his staff to the ceremonies marking the opening of Winston Field.

While about 300 persons inspected the administration building and the 20 private airplanes parked on the ramp, America's biggest bomber, the B-36, roared over the field. The airport's 4,800-foot paved runway, ample for the C-54, would not accommodate a B-36.

SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

In his brief address, General Anderson praised the progressive spirit of Scurry County and West Texas, predicting that a modern airport would measurably increase the economic strength of the community.

"It is fitting," he said, "that a thriving area such as this, should have the easy access which Winston Field will provide to our great network of airways."

Jack Kemp of Dallas, public relations director of Pioneer Airlines, said here yesterday that Pioneer's application to serve Snyder would be heard by the Civil Aeronautics Board Feb. 15 in Oklahoma City.

Snyder's application for air service is being drawn up now by the Chamber of Commerce. No airline serves the city yet.

General Anderson was introduced by Raymond Buck of Fort Worth, attorney for American Airlines.

C. T. McLaughlin, a member of the chamber's aviation committee, introduced Buck. In his talk, McLaughlin said:

"For years, all of us have swelled with pride in identifying ourselves as being residents of Scurry County.

-NOT ABREAST

"However, most of us have been awakened to the fact that even though we have been blessed with great and unusual resources, we have not kept abreast of the general stride of progress on that same national basis with which we like to associate ourselves.

"Unfortunately, we still have many among us who seemingly would prefer to live as they have lived in the past rather than keep abreast of the times and I, for one, am most grateful that we do have among our citizenry such men as Harrie and Wade Winston for whom this airport is named.

"We direly need a modern hospital and most fortunately have another great citizen, D. M. Cogdell, who has stepped to the front and is now making this accomplishment possible.

"We still lack a modern park and other projects and I hope that after you have viewed this accomplishment and joined in this celebration, you, too, will become boosters for an improved Snyder and Scurry County."

The $800,000 airfield attracted numerous first - day flight visitors, among them H. E. Chiles of Midland, president of the Western Co., who put on display his week-old DeHavilland Dove, British-made executive plane. Also flying here for the ceremonies was William Fuller of Fort Worth, president of the Snyder National Bank.

HELICOPTER AND CREW

The chief interest of the crowd was centered on a helicopter, flown here from San Marcos Air Force Base, and a jet-propelled model airplane.

Following a concert by the Reese Air Force band from Lubbock, James Rosser, master of ceremonies, presented the Rev. W. W. Adcock, who gave the invocation.

Rosser then presented the Winston brothers; Edgar Taylor, county Judge; Forest G. Sears, mayor; the four county commissioners; J. D. Church of Big Spring, CAA district engineer; J. W. Moorman, contractor on the airport job; Wilbur Ash and John Wilson, architects who designed the airport, and John Blum, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce dispatched 1,370 first day covers from Snyder yesterday. All bore a cachet commemorating the opening of the airport.

COW-TOWNERS HERE FOR DEDICATION

C. T. McLaughlin, left, a member of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, is shown greeting three men from Fort Worth at the dedication of the county's new airport here yesterday. They are from left Major Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, commandant of the Eighth Air Force; Raymond Buck lawyer who introduced General Anderson, and Frank Kent. Tiger '52 Schedule Revised; Midland Put in 4A Class

All member schools of District 1-AAA had representatives in Snyder today to revise the schedule of 1952 district football.

C. W. Tarter, district chairman and superintendent of Sweetwater schools, called the meeting this week after Midland, a member of the district, was boosted to AAAA classification.

At the meeting were coaches and other representatives from Snyder, Sweetwater, Plainview, Big Spring, Lamesa, and Vernon.

The group voted to leave Nov. 7 as an open date in the district schedule and they will begin district play on Oct. 24.

After Bob Russ, Plainview coach said officials had asked for payment for services not rendered in the Plainview - Sweetwater game, the group voted not to pay officials if they are properly notified at the time a game is postponed. The Plainview - Sweetwater game had been pstoponed one day in the 1951 season, and three officials who had been hired but did not officate when the game was actually played, requested payment.

REVISED SCHEDULE

New Democratic Chief Breaks Tradition in Giving Story

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Maybe it's because he's rich and doesn't need the job and so feels free to speak as he pleases. Maybe he's just new to the wash of Washington, or just an unusual man anyway.

But Frank McKinney, the Democrats' political field general, is developing the habit of putting the pronoun "I" ahead of the President when he talks.

This Irishman, an Indianapolis banker, of 46, was chosen in October as chairman of the Democratic National Committee which has to try to get the Democrats reelected next year.

He couldn't have had the job without the blessing of President Truman, still boss of the Democrats, with McKinney now his No. 1 right-hand man in politics.

SCANDALS TOUGH TASK

Anyone in McKinney's job, of course, is going to have his hands full and his job isn't made easier by the scandals which have been coming to light in Mr. Truman's administration.

It's generally acknowledged the Trumanites will have to do some cleaning before election time. McKinney publicly stated his awareness of the problem in November.

He said "Any man who betrays the people's trust in public office is a public enemy." He promised "No malefactor in public office shall go unpunished."

He added: "I am ready to help—Harry S. Truman is ready to help."

The fact that in this revelation about the administration's intentions he put the letter "I" ahead of the President may have been due entirely to his particular style in composition. And too, he tempered it by noting that Mr. Truman's attitude was more important.

SEES TRUMAN

With the tax scandals getting more unpleasant by the hour, McKinney went to see the President Tuesday.

It's usual when one of Mr. Truman's lieutenants confers with him—if they've agreed on some important decision—for the caller to keep quiet so the President can make the announcement in his own way.

This reluctance of White House callers to discuss what "I said to the President and what he said to me" always allows the President to change his mind privately.

But when McKinney came out of the White House he was surrounded.

He told newsmen he had advised Mr. Truman he could not over emphasize the importance of "drastic action in the immediate future—without delay. I'm inclined to think there will be action soon."

If Mr. Truman doesn't start a fast clean-up he'll be embarrassed since his own master-politician already has told the world he told the President a clean-up is necessary.

Public School Religion To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—The Supreme Court will decide in the new year two controversial issues involving schools and religion.

The nine justices agreed Tuesday to rule whether public schools violate the constitution by releasing students for religious instruction during regular school hours.

Previously, the court agreed to decided whether daily Bible reading in public schools is permissible under the constitution.

These practices were protested in appeals by several parents. They insisted that such acts by public schools tend to break down the separation of church and state required by the first amendment.

The court ordered both cases argued at the same time, probably in February. Millions of school children will be affected.

In other actions, the Supreme Court on Tuesday:

Upheld a 7-0 vote an injunction requiring the Lorain, Ohio, Journal to abandon an admitted practice of refusing advertising from merchants if they patronized a competing radio station.

Unanimously refused a Justice Department request to seek dismissal of the governments original perjury charge against William M. Remington, a former government official. The U. S. Circuit Court in New York reversed conviction of Remington on the original charge, saying the trial judge had been vague in defining to the jury Communist Party membership. Remington was alleged to have lied in saying he was never a member of the Communist Party.

Remington has before the court an appeal against several aspects of the opinion. He claimed the first perjury indictment was faulty and should have been thrown out. The Supreme Court did not rule on that appeal. But, while this appeal is pending, Remington has been indicted again, on new charges—that he lied in testimony at the perjury trial. The government wanted to drop the old charge, and bring Remington to trial on the new indictment.

The court also unanimously refused a hearing to a group of Mississippi Negroes who said they were improperly denied the right to register and vote.

H. E. Chiles, president of the Western Co., Midland, is shown at the door of his new DeHavilland Dove, eight place British-built plane which was exhibited at dedication of Winston Field yesterday. The plane was on its second flight. F. W. Nixon, pilot, said the plane is about the same weight as comparable American-built planes, but it is much more economical to operate and maintain. Costing between $90,000 and $100,000 the twin-engine plane has a cruising speed of 180 miles per hour.—(Staff photograph.)

Truman Aids Make Check List For Conference with Churchill

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—President Truman has ordered detailed preparations made for his talks with Prime Minister Churchill here next month despite Churchill's reluctance to propose a list of problems for discussion.

Officials said today the United States side of the meeting is being worked up on the assumption that Churchill will want to go into the whole range of policies governing relations between the two big Western Powers and Russia as well as specific Anglo-American issues. The State and Defense Departments are a work on the detailed listings.

Churchill sent word two weeks ago he did not plan to draw up an agenda for the meetings beginning Jan. 3. The American embassy in London has been directed to seek on what he has in mind.

NO MONEY

Churchill also told an American diplomat in London he did not plan to ask for American financial assistance. The problem of U. S. aid is, in fact, being worked out ahead of his visit.

Even though Churchill does not directly tackle financial matters, it is believed by American authorities that he will seek to set the stage for substantial American help by stressing the parallel interests in world affairs and emphasizing a need for close partnership and sharing of responsibility.

Authorities believe that unless some specific information about Churchill's concept of the talks is forthcoming, the results may not be as profitable as they could be. At best, it is expected that several disagreements will develop over such issues as the Churchill proposal for a meeting with Stalin, the organization of Western European defenses and American-British differences in the Far East.

TRUMAN TO BEAR DOWN

Indications are that Mr. Truman will bear down heavily on all three of these questions:

1. The President has said repeatedly he does not look forward to a meeting with Stalin unless the Soviet premier comes to Washington—something considered a practical impossibility. Undoubtedly Mr. Truman will seek to discourage Churchill's espousal of this project.

2. Recent Churchill statements on the defense build-up in Western Europe are described here as disappointing. Churchill has said he does not consider the danger of war with Russia as great now as it was at the time of the Berlin crisis three years ago. American officials are apprehensive that this means he believes there is less urgency than they see in getting on with the task of rearmament; they believe the danger of an aggressive Russian move is greater now than it was three years ago, due to the western build-up, and will remain great until the West has military power in being to make any Communist aggression too costly to undertake.

3. The difference in the Far East revolves around the countries basic attitudes toward Red China. The British recognize the Communist regime while the United States holds to its recognition of the Chinese Nationalist Government on Formosa.

A growing feeling is that unless Washington's attitude on this and other questions can be made clear to Churchill in advance, the British Prime Minister may be disappointed in his Washington visit.

Platter Must Be Heaped High For Christmas Sweet Tooth

When friends drop by during Christmas vacation, platters should be heaped high with cookies and candies as a sweet tooth and the holiday season go hand in hand.

To brand the cookies as strictly Yuletide, many Snyder women will cut dough in the shape of bells, trees, stars, canes, angels and of course, St. Nick himself. If the cupboard is bare of cookie cutters, original patterns might be drawn on cardboard and the shapes cut out.

A quick way to whip up a batch of cookies is by using cake mix. Here is a recipe for Christmas cookies using that mix.

Christmas Cookies

½ cup butter or margarine (at room temperature)
¼ teaspoon vanilla or almond extract
1 egg yolk, unbeaten
1 package instant white cake mix

If vegetable shortening is substituted for butter, sprinkle 1 tablespoon water over mixture after cake mix has been added.

Cream butter until soft. Add flavoring and egg yolk and blend well. Then add cake mix and work together with spoon, pastry blender or fingers until dough is formed. (Dough will be firm like pastry.)

With rolling pin, roll dough ⅛ inch thick and cut out Christmas shapes with floured cookie cutters or cardboard patterns. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 minutes or until done. Cool cookies a few minutes before removing from cookie sheet. Decorate with confectioners' frosting, colored sugar, [illegible] colored candies to make appropriate design. The recipe makes about 5 or 6 dozen cookies.

A recipe that captures the spirit of Santa Claus whether that jolly man is called St. Nicholas or Kris Kringle is one that calls for cut-outs again.

For the sake of a name, the cookies are Kris Kringle. They are chocolate flavored and have sugar frosted facial features and tasseled caps.

Kris Kringle Kookies

2 cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg unbeaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 tablespoons milk
Shredded coconut

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt and cinnamon and sift three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and chocolate; beat well. Add flour mixture a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add milk and chill thoroughly. Roll ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut with floured cookie cutter and sprinkle with additional sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 9 minutes.

Decorate with confectioners' sugar icing, forcing through pastry tube, to simulate cap, eyes and nose. To make beard, cover third of cookies with icing and sprinkle with shredded coconut. The recipe yields 6 dozen 2½-inch cookies.

That old cookie favorite, the brownie, has a brand new Christmas coloring. In a new twist of the old recipe, the cookies become "Blonde Brownies" with a golden color to contrast with the rich brown chocolate chip topping.

Blonde Brownies

1 cup sifted cake flour or all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon double - acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nut meats
1-3 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup born sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ package chocolate chips

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt and sift again. Add nuts and mix well. Set aside.

Melt shortening in saucepan; remove from heat. Add sugar and mix well. Cool slightly. Add egg and vanilla. Then add flour mixture, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Turn into greased 9x9x2-inch pan. Sprinkle chocolate chips over top. Bake in moderate oven. (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool in pan. Then cut in 1½x2¼ inch bars. The recipe yields 2 dozen bars.

Christmas candies wrapped in imaginative containers make charming gifts. The candies may be wrapped individually in colorful squares of metal paper as stocking suffing or tree decorations.

Coconut Coffee Fudge

3 cups sugar
½ cup light cream or evaporated milk
1 cup strong coffee
2 tablespoons [illegible] syrup
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup coconut

Combine sugar, cream, coffee and corn syrup in saucepan and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Continue boiling and stir until a small amount of mixture forms a soft ball in cold water or to a teamperature of 236 degrees F. Remove from heat. Add butter and vanilla without stirring. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.) Then beat until mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. At once stir in coconut. Turn into greased 8x8x2-inch pan. When cold, cut in squares. Makes about 36 squares.

If properly protected, cookies can be prepared before the holiday rush begins. Moisture proof and heatsealing cellophane and aluminum foil are the most popular protective wrapping materials. They prevent both dehydration and sogginess by holding the natural moisture inside the sealed package and blocking additional moisture from the outside.

A "ribbon of cookies" makes a nice hostess gift. Place a row of cookies between two sheets of cellophane. Place the regulator on "Rayon" and use an electric iron to seal the film on all sides and between each cookie. The cookies may be snipped off when needed and the remaining ones will stay fresh and flavorful.

Wrapped thusly, cookies might also be used to trim the Christmas tree.

Louisiana Charged with Trying To Break Whooping Crane Home

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 12. (AP)—The Gulf Coast is all worked up about birds again. This time Texas is defying Louisiana to separate those whooping lovebirds, Jo and Crip.

Louisiana wants back a whooping crane it loaned Texas.

Texas says Louisiana can't have her—or him. The states can't even agree on the sex.

Besides, point out Texas fowl fanciers, their feathers still ruffled over the great pelican question, the Louisiana whooping crane is a mate of the Texas bird and it would be breaking up a family to separate them.

MAYBE BABY WHOOPER

Joe and Crip might produce a baby whooper. That would bring joy to naturalists. Only 28 whooping cranes are known to exist and naturalists fear the birds will become extinct unless some little whoopers come along.

A few weeks ago, the two states were battling over pelicans. Texas got the jump on Louisiana by replenishing the pelican supply in St. James Park near Buckingham Palace in England.

That cut Louisiana deeply. It wanted to supply the pelicans. The odd appearing fowls are Louisiana state bird.

A few months before that, the states were at odds over shrimp. Texas tried to tax Louisiana shrimpboat operators so heavily they couldn't afford to operate off Texas' shores. Federal courts settled that one in Louisiana's favor.

CRANE BORROWED

Jo, or Crip, was borrowed from New Orleans' Audubon Park Zoo as a mate for the bird at the U. S. Wildlife Refuge in Austwell. They have been mates five years and produced one offspring. The young crane was lost, probably to a predatory animal.

The Audubon Zoo's superintendent, George Douglass, said Tuesday he planned to come to Texas, claim his bird—he says it's Crip, the male—and return with it to Louisiana Saturday.

Naturalist Julian Howard Austwell refuge manager, said Douglass couldn't get Jo or Crip without a fight.

He said he would ask his bosses in Washington "what the score is."

Howard says the New Orleans zoo's bird is Jo, the female.

And, he says, he has no idea of giving up Crip, even if Douglass should get Jo. This brought a remark by Douglass that he could breed whoopers in captivity.

So far as he knows, Howard said the zoo has no male of its own. It would have to take a male, probably Crip, from the refuge to carry out the captivity breeding plan.

The whoopers once blotted out the sun as they flew in great flocks. Each fall the 28 survivors fly to the Texas refuge. When spring comes, they soar to the Far North, where no one ever has found their summer home.

Only Jo and Crip stay here. They're crippled and can't fly.

Youth Center Board Of Directors to Meet

An important meeting of the Youth Center board of directors will be held tomorrow night at the Chamber of Commerce offices, the Rev. Ronald Hubbard, president, said.

Every director of the organization is urged to attend this meeting, he added.

By law, the "pattern pieces" of a trail strike made by the U.S. Mint are now carefully destroyed. In early days, however, such coins were often preserved and thus came into the hands of collectors.

DiMaggio, Through as Player, Expected to Be TV Announcer

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, through as a player at 37, is expected to remain in the New York Yankee organization as television broadcaster.

The great outfielder, who said Tuesday he would never wear a baseball uniform again as a player, manager or coach is considering an offer as TV commentator of Yankee home games.

Yankee President Dan Topping admitted DiMaggio had been offered the TV job "among other propositions." Dimaggio said all his offers dealt with radio and television and "it is possible" he will accept the Yankee bid. The TV post reportedly would pay him $50,000 a season for three years.

DiMaggio planned to leave for San Francisco Friday to think over all propositions. He said he expected to decide "next week."

The Clipper appeared in good spirits as he told his reasons for quitting.

"Old injuies that lingered on and some new ones hastened my decision to retire," DiMaggio explained.

Another reason was night baseball. Joe estimated the arc light play cut about two years off his career.

"It gets tough to recuperate the next day from a night under the bulbs when you get older," he said. "Night ball should be played every night or not at all."

"You don't get to bed until two in the morning, or so, and wake up at 10. I found that wasn't enough rest to get the aches and pain out of my system. I'd go to the park for an afternoon game the next day, and sometimes I wouldn't wake up until the fifth or sixth inning."

ADMITS POOR YEAR

"I feel I have reached the stage where I can no longer produce for my ball club, my manager, my teammates and my fans," he added. "I had a poor year last season. But even if I had hit .350, this would have been the last year for me.

"I found playing last year a torture. I was full of aches and pains. I found it difficult to get out of bed each morning—especially after a night game. I know I'll miss the game, but I don't feel too badly about it because those days and nights of agony are still fresh in my mind."

DiMaggio said he first knew he was slipping three years ago when his timing was beginning to be off and his reflexes were beginning to slow up. He began thinking of retiring last spring and made up his mind to quit at the close of the campaign.

"When baseball is no longer fun it's no longer a game. And so, I've played my last game of ball."

Manager Casey Stengel, expressing regret, lauded Joe as "the greatest player I have ever had the honor of managing." The skipper said he planned to give Joe's Centerfield post to Mickey Mantle, 21.

"I don't expect Mantle to fill Joe's shoes," Stengel said. "Nobody can. He was the greatest. But Mickey is fast, has a strong arm and hits with power. He's young, and therefore inexperienced, but he has the potential to develop into a great player."

DiMaggio holds numerous batting and fielding records. This great all-around performer undoubtedly will rank beside such superb stars as Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and other baseball immortals. He put in 13 active seasons in the majors, all with the Yankees, built up a lifetime .325 batting mark despite numerous injuries.

His 56-consecutive game batting record may never be equalled. He played with 10 pennant winners and with nine world championship club both records.

He was rejected by 15 clubs because of a knee injury suffered while playing with San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League. The Yankees acquired him in 1936 for $25,000 and five players.

Kazmaier Named Back of Year In Associated Press Survey

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Dick Kazmaier, Princeton's dynamic all-America tailback, was named back of the year today in an Associated Press poll.

The slender, 21-year-old triple threat won in a landslide. He was picked by 76 of the 125 writers and radio men who voted.

Closest was Hank Lauricella, Tennessee's superb All-America tailback. Lauricella was selected by 13 voters.

Both are triple threats, 21, tail backs on all-winning single wing teams and are built along the same lines. Kazmaier is 5-11 and weighs 171. Lauricella stands 5-10 and weighs 160.

Third with seven votes, was Johnny Bright, the Negro back from Drake. Bright, who holds the record for yardage gained in a college career was put out of action with a broken jaw in the game with Oklahoma A&M and lost a chance to repeat as the 1951 leader in total yardage. That honor went to Kazmaier, with 1,827 yards.

Bright was followed by Washington's Hugh McElhenny (6), Baylor's Larry Isbell (5) and Kentucky's Babe Parilli (5). San Francisco's Ollie Matson received four votes.

Others who received votes included Fred Benners, SMU, and Bud McPhail, Oklahoma.

Truman Panel For Change In Bracero Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Senate Labor Subcommittee said today it will hold public hearings on proposals to improve the lot of domestic migratory farm workers and tighten controls on imported foreign labor.

The Labor-Management Relations Subcommittee, headed by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) said the study would cover these proposals:

Inclusion of agricultural labor within the minimum wage and collective bargaining laws, which now exempt them.

A declaration of federal policy against importing foreign contract labor until domestic labor resources have been exhausted.

Federal aid to assure adequate housing of migratory labor on the job.

Federal licensing of labor contractors operating across state lines.

A spokesman said the licensing point is designed to prevent contractors from taking "for themselves as much as 30 or 40 per cent of the already low wages of migratory farm labor" through a variety of charges against the workers.

Humphrey said the President's commission on Migratory labor had made "a penetrating investigation" which indicated a need for the four steps he outlined.

The hearings will open probably late in January.

Strip Tease 'Artist' Relieved When Jury Gives Her Clean Bill

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 12. (AP)—Lili St. Cyr's dance, "Interlude," is not inimical to the public morals, a jury has decided.

The blonde strip dancer was acquitted Tuesday of giving an indecent performance Oct. 19 in Ciro's night club. The jury deliberated an hour and 15 minutes.

"I'm really relieved," the glamorous Lili said. She threw her arms about her lawyer, Jerry Giesler.

Lili didn't mention it but the publicity attending the six days of her trial won't hurt her drawing power.

A few years ago Lili was dressing and undressing her way through her act four times a day in burlesque.

Giesler told the jury: "Lili has come a long way up the ladder to the very top of her profession. She's an artist."

Miss St. Cyr now gets the "People's exhibits A and B" back from the district attorney. They were marked for identification as the bra and lace panties Lili wore the night Ciro's was raided.

CHILD BORN IN STORE GIVEN FREE LAYETTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—A Christmas shopper in Macy's basement received an unexpected gift Tuesday — a five-pound girl.

Mrs. Mary Hertrich, 31, gave birth prematurely to the child in a downstairs lounge of the big department store.

Excited salesgirls called a doctor. Mrs. Hertrich had been shopping with an aunt and a son, John, 4.

The baby, named Ann, got a free layette from Macy.

The mother and baby were both reported doing well.

Area Firemen's School To Hold Session Here

The first two classes of a school for area firemen were conducted in Sweetwater Monday and Tuesday nights by A. J. Fogley, field instructor for Texas A&M College Extension Service, Ivan Gatlin, city fire marshal, said today.

Gatlin said he, N. W. Autry, fire chief, and two city firemen, Warren Boyd and Ed Shuler, have attended classes.

The fire marshal said the school will last throughout this week, and classes will be held in Colorado City tonight, here Thursday, and in Loraine Friday.

Gatlin invited all Snyder businessmen to attend the class in Snyder tomorrow night at the fire station to see Fogley give demonstrations on fire fighting and fire prevention.

Horses Provide Getaway For Escaping Convicts

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 12. (AP)—Three long-term convicts who escaped Eastham Prison Farm were being sought today.

Prison manager O. B. Ellis was informed that the three stole three horses and rode away Tuesday. They are:

John Henley, 41, sent up from Harris County for 55 years on robbery, theft and burglary charges.

Luther Frazier, 36, serving life from Lubbock as a habitual criminal.

W. I. Cates, serving 50 years from Hamilton and Haskel Counties for assault, burglary and theft.

Mrs. John Woodard returned Sunday from Coleman where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Woodard's father, J. W. Bird.

Kazmaier Isn't Interested In Life of a Pro

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Princeton's Dick Kazmaier, the most honored college football player of 1951 turned his back definitely on the professional game today because he says, it can only offer him money.

"Money doesn't interest me at all right now," added the lean, All-America halfback, the nation's total offense champion, The Associated Press' back of the year and winner of other major individual awards.

"I probably could sign a pro contract and make a lot of quick cash. That's not for me. I don't want to live a fast life. I want a quiet, normal life.

"I'm going to get some more schooling—a post-graduate business course most likely—and then I hope to settle down in some business. . .

"But pro football—that's definitely out. I don't see anything I could gain by it."

Notre Dame, NYU Continue WinningStreak

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Furman's surprise victory over Duke and the extension of Notre Dame's and NYU's winning streaks featured play in college basketball today.

Denver's conquest of Ohio State; St. Louis' defeat of Canisius; Oklahoma A&M's overtime triumph over SMU and Kansas State's victory over California also were prominent.

A field goal and a free throw by Bell Gordon in the last 38 seconds gave Furman its 73-72 triumph over Duke.

Notre Dame, led by Negro Sophomores Joe Bertrand and Entee Shine, nicked Northwestern, 35-54. It was Notre Dames fourth straight victory.

NYU made it eight in a row by coming from behind to beat Yale, 68-67.

Denver came from behind to whip Ohio State, 67-58.

St. Louis and K-State had easier times. St. Louis whipped Canisius, 62-51. K-State trounced California 64-50.

The Oklahoma Aggies went overtime to take SMU at Dallas, 50-45, as Don Johnson dunked seven points in the extra period for the Aggies.

Holy Cross took a narrow 67-64 victory over Rhode Island: George Washington upset West Virginia 83-81 in overtime; and Marshal whipped the touring Texas Aggies, 46-40.

Elizabeth Taylor Denies Wedding Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12. (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor's studio says a report that she and British Actor Michael Wilding plan to be married in Mexico before Christmas is "fantastic."

Both are married.

Hotelman A. C. Blumenthal said in Mexico City Tuesday Miss Taylor disclosed wedding plans in a telephone call reserving an apartment in his hotel.

Miss Taylor and Wilding are on a fishing trip in Northern California with Actor Stewart Granger and his wife, Jean Simmons. The four plan to go to Acapulco later this month for more fishing.

Snyder Day Designated At Fort Worth Show

Feb. 2, 1952, has been designated Snyder day at the Fort Worth Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, W. R. Watt, president and manager, announced today.

Snyder is the twelfth city to accept the invitation to have a special day designated at the show, Watt said. Other cities which accepted the same day are Junction, Denison, Graham, and Jacksboro. Junction and Denison have already named official representatives to attend on that day.

Texas at Top, Aggies Behind In Basketball

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Texas Longhorns move along at the head of the pack in Southwest Conference basketball. All teams are looking good except Baylor and Texas A&M.

The showing of the Aggies, rated one of the teams to beat this season, has been ultra-disappointing. The Aggies haven't won a game.

A&M, tri-champion of the conference, took a 46-40 licking Tuesday from Marshall College at Huntington, W. Va., as the opener of an eastern swing.

Texas was winning its fourth straight and remaining the only undefeated team in the league by trimming East Texas State 57-49.

SMU either has a lot better team than expected or Oklahoma A&M is highly overrated. The Sooner Aggies, ranked 13th in the nation, had trouble aplenty with SMU Tuesday. The Methodists forced them into an overtime before they were able to come through 50-45. Don Johnson paced the Aggies with 20 points.

Rice's improving Owls slashed Sam Houston State 67-53 for their second win.

Texas built up a good half-time lead and staved off a fine East Texas rally. George Scaling of Texas was high scorer with 17 points.

Arkansas returns to action tonight against Tulsa there. Texas A&M plays Manhattan Thursday—the team that beat TCU 65-52 last week—in New York. TCU gets Howard Payne at Fort Worth.

Baylor, loser of four straight, plays Colorado at Boulder Friday and Saturday.

Bettors Take Charles 3-1

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12. (AP)—Ezzard Charles, who confidently expects to regain the heavyweight crown next year, is a 1 to 3 favorite to defeat Light Heavyweight Champion Joey Maxim, in a 12-round fight tonight.

The charity exhibition, in the Cow Palace, will be televised coast to coast, excluding this area, at 7 p.m., (9 p.m., CST) to catch eastern viewers. It also will be broadcast.

It will be the fifth meeting of the pair. Charles won all four previous bouts by decision, including 15 round defense of his title before Jersey Joe Walcott knocked him out this year.

Both fighters are at peak condition. Maxim looked impressive against heavier sparmates. He is a master boxer and lacks only a real kayo punch to become a menace in the heavyweight ranks.

Charles gave onlookers many a thrill by slugging it out with sparring partners. Although he is a good boxer, he has discarded this style in favor of a two fisted attack.

Race Spectators Give $25 to Christmas Fund

A collection from spectators and participants at the quarterhorse races held on the farm of Bill Crowder on the old Post highway Sunday netted $25.40 for groceries and toys for underprivileged children of Snyder.

Crowder presented the money to the Kiwanis Club Christmas fund as a donation from the Snyder Horse Club today.

The club is made up of a group of residents interested in racing. They are planning to organize a Sheriff's Posse in Snyder and build a one-mile race track on Crowder's farm for summer quarterhorse races.

Will Stanky Play on Team He Manages?

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 12. (AP)—Ed Stanky steps gingerly into his new role as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today, confronted by a novel problem: Can he win a starting position on his own team?

It's definite, says the former New York Giants second baseman, that he will be a playing-manager. The "ifs, buts and maybe" begin to pile up when he's asked where he will insert himself in the redbird lineup.

With only hours of experience as a manager he signed a two-year contract with Owner Fred Saigh late Tuesday, Stanky says he isn't ready to decide yet.

Stanky replaced the ousted Marty Marion as manager.

Saigh held out for a one-year term, two years at the maximum. Eddie originally wanted a three-year contract, they talked three hours.

For their peppery second baseman, the National League pennant winners received Veteran Pitcher Max Lanier and Outfielder Church Diering.

Less Grapefruit Is Predicted This Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Grapefruit production in the U. S. will be about six million boxes less than last year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimated Tuesday.

The agency estimated the crop at 40.6 million boxes, compared with 46.6 million last season and a 10-year average of 50.9 million.

Orange production was estimated at 117,325,000 boxes compared with 16,810,000 last season and a 10-year average of 99,096,000 boxes.

'A' Tigers Defeat Lakeview; 'B' Loses

Ernest Kinney's Snyder Tigers chalked up another victory last night in San Angelo as they defeated Lakeview 49-28.

Again at the lead in offensive play was Center W. G. Birt, 6 feet 5 inches, who netted 16 points fo the Tiger team. Also making headway on the offensive was John Gary, guard, who made nine.

This gave the A squad a season record of five wins and two losses. The victories were over Big Spring, Plainview, Ballinger, Sweetwater, and last night's opponent, while the team lost to Abilene and Hawley.

Snyder's whole defensive was built around Forward Ned Underwood, who has let very few of the men he has guarded score this season.

The B squad dropped another game in the night's activities, losing to the Lakeview B 35-27.

Joe Galyean, guard was again at the head of the Snyder scoring list with his nine points. Galyean has made 43 points for the B team this season.

2 Tech Players Will Be in All-Star Games

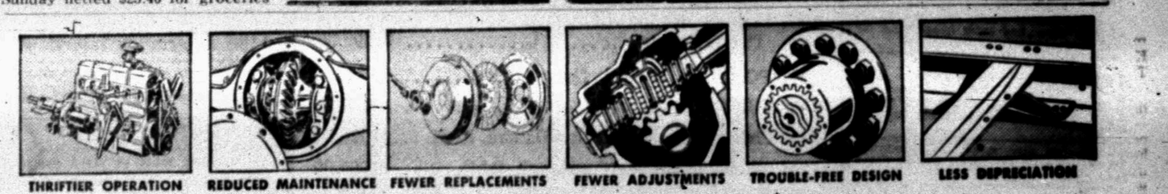

LUBBOCK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Texas Tech's Sun Bowl appearance will not keep two Red Raiders from post-season all-star games.

Tackle Jerrell Price and Center Aubrey Phillips will play in the East-West game at San Francisco and the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., respectively. Since both games are Dec. 29, they will be able to rejoin the raiders in time for their game with College of the Pacific in El Paso Jan. 1.

"When Jarrell and Red learned that Tech might go to a bowl, they both offered to give up their all-star bids," Coach Dewitt Weaver said. "But I feel they deserve all the individual recognition they can get."

Boyle Gives Out Couple of Old Ones Just in Case You're Short

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Are your dinner invitations falling off?

Don't people ask you to their parties anymore? Maybe it's because you need to brush up on your raconteur-ing. Your twice - told tales have gone the rounds too often.

So today we offer you — free — two of the best stories we've heard lately. If you've already heard them, don't write and tell us they're old. Everything is getting older these days.

The first concerns the colonel's wife, stationed in the Philippines in the years before the last war. She had the kind of cook women dream of — a Chinese named Mr. Ling, who could dish up a dream meal for one unexpected guest, or a dozen, on quick notice.

One evening, however, she was having a dinner party for 20 people, including a bishop.

"This has to be something really special," she told Mr. Ling, explained that the guest was quite distinguished. The Chinese cook seemed deeply impressed.

That night he served up a splendid meal. As the guests leaned back relaxing from the tremendous repast, in strode Mr. Ling carrying a hug and glittering cake. Beaming, he placed it on the table before the hotess.

She and the bishop both leaned over to read some flowery lettering that Mr. Ling had inscribed with icing atop the cake. It said:

"Hooray for Jesus!"

The second story is raising laughter in United Nations circles. It concerns a mythical future meeting of "the Big Three" — Truman, Stalin and Churchill.

The trio were quarreling bitterly about the problems of East and West when suddenly a beautiful little fairy appeared in the conference room. She wore a trailing gown of white and had a twinkling star on her forehead.

Waving her small wand, she said gently:

"Gentlemen, gentlemen, please do not use any more harsh words. I can help you out of your difficulties. Each of you make a wish, and if I grant it perhaps that will solve your problems."

First, she asked Truman his wish.

"I want you to take the biggest H-bomb that can be built, set it down in the heart of Russia, and explode it," he said. "That'll be a big help."

Turning to Stalin, the fairy said: "And your wish?"

"I'd like you to raise the greatest tidal wave in history," he said, "and send it clear across the United States, and wash every American into the sea. You'll see how quickly peace will follow."

The little fairy sighed, and turned to Churchill, and said: "And your request?"

"Oh, just give me a long cigar and a double branda and soda," he said cheerfully.

"That'll be quite easy," said the little fairy, brightening. "I can do that right away."

"No hurry, no hurry," replied Churchill, waving his hand airily, "Serve the other two gentlemen first!"

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12. (AP)—Television viewers will be seeing Bing Crosby on their home screens. But not right away.

Bing, who has never had a reputation as a chatterbox, is actually voluble on TV. He talked for many minutes about the new medium and his participation in it. He pointed out that his 'debut will not be in the near future.

"I'm too darned busy with other things right now," he said, "and I haven't decided exactly what I'd like to do on television. I'll get into it some day, but not until I figure out a workable formula."

"It's a tough go," said Bing, commenting on one well-known comic. "He can have a couple of swell shows and the next week come up with a cruller. It's hard for him to keep up that pace.

"I think the only show that has found a fool-proof formula is the Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz show. They seem to come up with a lot of laughs every time and the production is terrific. A lot of the other shows hit a few good weeks and then start floundering."

A perfectionist (and a little lazy, also), Bing pioneered the use of transcribed shows on the radio networks. He pointed out the value of building a library of TV shows for reissue purposes.

But Bing emphasized he wouldn't do a weekly TV show.

"The thought of it staggers me," he laughed. "But even if I had the time to do a show every week, I don't think it would be wise. Television is a totally different medium from radio. I think it's dangerous to appear too frequently on TV. Not only do you run out of material, but you wear out your welcome with the public.

"I think it's the same way with pictures. If you make too many, the public gets weary. I remember the stock company that used to work out at Warners in the '30s. They were all wonderful characters. But the studio put them in a new picture every week. The result is that none of them can get jobs now.

"And look at Charlie Chaplin. His pictures are always eagerly awaited. That's because he only makes one every three or four years."

Commissioners Approve Adding 4 Deputy Tax Assessors After Jan. 1

Four deputy tax assessors will be added to the county tax assessor - collector's staff to help assess property values after Jan. 1, as a result of action of the commissioner's court Monday.

Jim Ikard, assessor - collector, appeared before the court yesterday and requested permission to add the deputies to his staff for a four-month period.

The deputies will be paid a salary of $250 per month and given $5 per day for car expenses for the five days per week they use their cars in traveling over the precincts they are assigned to assess.

Ikard said there have been two applicants for the jobs.

Gas Company Official Asks Linking of Lines

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—A natural gas official says a long cold spell could bring hardship to parts of the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma unless natural gas pipeline systems there are joined.

Ivan Conklin, superintendent of the Public Service Corporation of Texas, said Tuesday his firm needs a standby emergency gas supply.

He asked the Power Commission to order Northern Natural Gas Co., of Omaha or Cities Service Co. of Oklahoma City, or both, to permit connections.

Northern Gas attorneys deferred taking a final stand until they could hear details of Conklin's proposal.

Public service corporation serves Canadian, Perryton, Higgins, Booker, Mobeetie and Spearman, Tex., and Shattuck, Gage and Fargo, Okla.

DICKIE DARE

Santa seems to beam approval of the apron modeled by Mrs. Scott McDonnold, 3005 Avenue S. The frankly whimsical white nylon apron is sprigged with holly and would lend a festive note to the attire of any holiday hostess. Color range includes Christmas red and green.—(Lee Watson photograph.)

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Ten more shopping days until Christmas (need we remind?) and there's still time to pick up an apron for the problem name on the list.

Snyder stores have a variety of aprons to offer. Practical and attractive at the same time are the plastic aprons found both in the bib and bibless styles. One has metallic silver interspersed with navy blue stripes. Print aprons are also available for the home makers who like to stay neat while busy.

For the hostess, a selection of taffeta aprons with ruffles are available. And the nylon tulle party aprons as shown in the picture are a gay addition to the counters and would be equally as gay donned after the more practical sort is left in the kitchen.

Stores also report selling lengths of print and solid materials to be made into aprons. Pattern books include directions for making Mr. and Mrs. aprons of denim, perfect for outdoor barbecues.

On printed Christmas cards, which name should come first, the husband's or wife's? J.

Emily Post says, "When cards are printed, there is no rule about whether the husband's or the wife's name shall be first. 'Mary and John' seems more polite to Mary, but 'John and Mary' does of course follow the conventional. Mr. and Mrs. form. Moreover, when children's names are included, the father's name comes first, always."

Could you tell me how to keep mistletoe fresh?

Try sticking the greenery in a cut potato. This will keep the leaves fresh a little longer. If you're using the mistletoe in a centerpiece, you could conceal the potato with Christmas balls or other greenery.

I am planning to make Christmas candies and would like to have some recipes. Mrs. E.W.

Since you probably have the usual fudge and divinity recipes, here is one for English Toffee which makes an ideal candy for gifts because it looks so professional, keeps well and easy to pack.

½ pound milk chocolate
2 cups salted almonds
2 cups butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons white corn syrup
6 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cut chocolate fine; melt in double boiler over lukewarm water (high heat causes the chocolate to gray and streak); stir occasionally. Slice one cup of the almonds in halves lengthwise; coarsely chop remainder of nuts. Melt butter or margarine in heavy frying pan; add sugar, the almond halves; corn syrup and water; stir until sugar is blended and no undissolved sugar adheres to sides of pan. Cook very slowly until small amount in cold water separates into hard but not brittle threads (290 degrees F.) stir occasionally to prevent burning. Add vanilla. Pour to ¼ - inch thickness into buttered pan or individual molds. When cool, spread melted chocolate evenly over top, sprinkle with remaining chopped almonds. When hard, break into pieces; store in tightly covered container between wax paper layers. Makes about three pounds candy.

A Message of Importance
★ ★ ★ To Every Automobile Driver ★ ★ ★
In The State of Texas
HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE NEW TEXAS "SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW"

1 Enforcement Begins January 1, 1952. On this date, the new Safety Responsibility Law, as passed by the Legislature, goes into effect. This law was designed to protect you against financially irresponsible drivers and owners of motor vehicles involved in accidents. It affects all drivers and motor vehicle owners (except Federal, State, County and City-owned cars).

2 What Must You Do After An Accident? Under existing laws, you must file a written report to the Department of Public Safety if your car is involved in an accident where there is a death, an injury or property damage in excess of $25. Under the new law, a written report must be filed within ten days if your car is in an accident resulting in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.

3 You Don't Have to Carry Liability Insurance, But . . . If you are not insured against bodily injury and property damage liability, you must be able to deposit with the Department of Public Safety security equal to the estimated damage, not exceeding $15,000.00, to cover all claims growing out of an accident anywhere in Texas in which you or your motor vehicle were involved. If you cannot establish financial responsibility for the future, your driver's license and your motor vehicle license plates are automatically suspended.

4 It's Easy to Establish Financial Responsibility with a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If you do not now have such a policy, call your local insurance agent today. He is a qualified insurance counselor who will be happy to advise you concerning your needs.

5 What is the Minimum of Your Liability? The law permits each driver to establish the following minimum limits of liability: up to $5,000.00 for injuries sustained by one person; up to $10,000.00 for all personal injuries resulting from one accident, and up to $5,000.00 for property damage. You do not have to establish such liability but it is the easiest way.

6 Select An Established Insurance Agent. — The agents listed below know the insurance business and represent well-known dependable capital stock insurance companies. These agents are not of the kind that are here today and gone tomorrow. Their names are listed in the telephone directory. A telephone call will find them ready to serve you — not only NOW—but YEARS from now. Call the one of your choice.
