Voluntary Conservation Is Urged In Water Shortage

Mayor Forest Sears today asked the co-operation of Snyder residents in conserving water during the present shortage.

"It will not be necessary for us to cut off the water if people will help us to save it in every way possible," he said.

Residents of the higher parts of town were noticing the water shortage yesterday and last night. Certain areas, particularly in the eastern and southwest parts of Snyder, were without water altogether, as a result of lowered pressure.

SAME ELSEWHERE

"Snyder is not by itslef in having a water problem," the mayor stated. "It is a problem that most West Texas towns are familiar with."

However, Snyder has more and better water than most towns of the area, he added, saying that Snyder's problem is caused from lack of equipment rather than a real shortage of available water.

Pumps for two more wells should be in operation by the end of this week, Sears said, and the new 500,000-gallon reservoir in the north part of town will be ready for use next week. This increase in water pumps and storage space will be a help in alleviating the shortage, he believes.

The city is holding reservoirs full at all times, he stated, in case water is needed for fire protection. "There are a million and a half gallons of water available right now for use in case of fire," he said.

Snyder used about 3,000,000 gallons of water yesterday. The 20 wells now pumping provide about that amount of water daily.

"I would like to see people use about half the amount of water they would ordinarily use," the mayor said. "It should not be necessary for them to have to stop watering grass and shrubbery altogether, but there is a strong necessity that they stop wasting water."

He said he believed that most people in Snyder were co-operating in cutting down on water used for watering lawns, washing cars, and the like, and that those who are using too much water probably are not aware of the seriousness of the shortage.

W. J. Ramsey, superintendent of the water department, explained that residents of the central part of town had probably not noticed the lowered water pressure. Pressure has not been appreciably affected in the lower portions of Snyder.

The new wells and increased storage space are not a permanent solution to the problem, Ramsey said, but should help, at least temporarily. He said he doubted that Snyder would be able to depend on wells for its water supply if the population continues to increase as it has the past 18 months. If wells of greater capacity could be discovered, they might be sufficient, he said, but the strain on present wells is already causing them to weaken.

Feldman & Pardo Completes As Field Extension

A three-quarters of a mile west extension to the Cogdell-Canyon pool which straddles the Scurry-Kent County line, has been completed.

Grier-Jackson, Inc., No. 1 Feldman & Pardo, located virtually on the county line, potentialed for 162.32 barrels of 38-gravity oil daily flowing through a one-fourth inch choke.

This waterless production is coming from open hole at 7,006-7,059 feet. Five and one-half inch casing is cemented at 7,006 feet.

The open hole pay had been washed with 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 291-1.

Tubing pressure was 425 pounds.

This pool extension is 467 feet from south and east line of the west half of the northwest quarter of section 703, block 97, H&TC survey, and is sixteen and three-fourths mile north of Snyder.

GARZA BOOMS

Oil activity in Garza County is becoming more intense. A deep reef prospector and a shallower Permian wildcat are slated to be drilled in that county in the immediate future.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Fred Shield of San Antonio have staked a Pennslavania lime reef tester in North East Garza County.

Their No. 1 Swenson is to be 1,935 feet from north and 661 from west lines of section 34, block 2, H&GN survey, and six miles northeast of Verbena.

Slated depth is 7,800 feet. This should test most of the Pennsylvanian strata in that area.

In Central-South Garza Gilbert P. Moore of Dallas has scheduled a 3,500-foot wildcat, seven miles southeast of Post.

Moore's No. 1-A P. G. Spinning is to 330 feet from east and south lines of northwest quarter of section 8, block 5, GH&H survey.

The 3,500-foot depth should test through the San Andres of the

Dulles Angry Over Korean War Situation

TOKYO, June 27. (AP) — John Foster Dulles, State Department adviser, today termed the North Korean invasion "an unprovoked and deliberately prepared aggression."

Dulles made his statement at the airport shortly before he flew off to return to Washington.

Dulles, a sponsor of the South Korean Republic before the United Nations, had visited only last week with President Syngman Rhee in Seoul.

The adviser said he had a "full and satisfactory exchange of views" in daily conferences with Gen. MacArthur and various Japanese officials. MacArthur was at the airport to bid him goodbye.

"All of this will be taken into account in formulating future United States policy," Dulles added.

Dulles and MacArthur were described as in virtually complete agreement on the need for an early peace treaty for Japan. MacArthur wants iron-clad assurances that the U. S. will be permitted to maintain bases in Japan after a treaty is signed.

Attlee Pledges Support For Korean Action

LONDON, June 27. (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee tonight pledged Britains support in the United Nations to American moves to repel the Communist attack on South Korea.

Attlee interrupted a parliamentary debate on the Schuman Plan to read President Truman's statement on Korea.

The prime minister said he understood the U. S. delegate to the UN Security Council would introduce at Lake Success today a resolution recognizing that members of the United Nations should furnish "such assistance to the republic of Korea as may be necessary to repeal armed attack."

Britain, Attlee said, would support the American resolution.

While the cabinet was considering the Korean crisis, worried Britons crowded around the prime minister's official residence.

Harold Bennett Is Elected Manager of Scurry Chamber

Harold Bennett of Colorado City will be the new Scurry County Chamber of Commerce manager, the board of directors announced today.

Bennett, who will assume his duties here July 15, is now secretary-treasurer of the Colorado City National Farm Loan Association, where he has worked for the past 15 years.

"Snyder presents the biggest challenge of any city in the United States," Bennett believes. His idea of Chamber of Commerce work is that it should aim at the betterment of the community, through the co-operation of all and without special recognition for anyone.

He expects to become a "full-fledged Snyderite," he says. People here are like people everywhere else in West Texas, Bennett says—friendly and easy to work with.

A native of Loraine, he has lived in Colorado City 14 years. He is 36 years old, married to the former Lois Burdine of Colorado City, and has a son Tom, who will be 4 years old in August. He graduated from Loraine High School, and attended John Tarleton College at Stephenville for two and a half years.

In Colorado City he was a steward in the Methodist Church, worshipful master elect of the Masonic Lodge, past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and former director of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

He served as vice-president last year of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce and was a candidate this year for state president. Defeated by 10 votes, he was the first candidate from as small a town as Colorado City to try for the post.

Since the war Bennett has been active in a variety of civic projects sponsored by the Junior Chamber and the Chamber of Commerce.

He served three years and eight months in the Navy during the war and was discharged as chief storekeeper.

Bennett expects to build a home in Snyder. As soon as it is completed—within the next month or two—he and his family will move here.

His parents Mr. and Mr. T. R. Bennett of Loraine, have lived in Mitchell County since 1906.

Recapture Of City North Of Seoul Claimed

Would Cut Off Red Spearhead

By RUSSELL BRINES
AP Staff

TOKYO, June 27. — Strategic Uijongbu was reported retaken tonight by Southern Korean forces in a furious counterattack that pushed the invading northern Communists back 20 miles from Seoul, the southern capital.

Word of the recapture came from Korean sources and was partially confirmed by two Korean Newspapermen in a direct telephone conversation with Tokyo.

WOULD SEVER LINES

Recapture of Uijongbu, 12 miles north of Seoul, would sever main communication lines of the Communist tank spearhead, once reported near Seoul, and might, in itself, require a hasty withdrawal of the Red force before it is cut off.

(Correspondent O. H. P. King said yesterday the Korean counter-attack at Uijongbu failed principally because of the Second Division, under heavy artillery fire, failed to move on schedule and threw off planned co-operation with the Seventh Division.

(He said unofficial advices were that Brig. Gen. Hyung Keun consequently was relieved of command of the Second Division and replaced by Brig. Gen. Yoo Shai Jeung, who formerly commanded the Sixth Division on Cheju Island.)

SEOUL QUIET

The two Korean newspapermen who talked to Tokyo by telephone said Seoul was "quiet," and the main battle line was more than 20 miles to the north.

The two—Bill Shinn, Associated Press Korean reporter, and Sol Kook Wan, managing editor of the Korean Pacific Press said the entire South Korean cabinet presumably including President Syngman Rhee—had evacuated the city despite continued contrary government claims.

Shinn and Sol Kook Wan said one North Korean fighter plane was shot down by American made fighters during a bombing raid on Seoul during the aftrenoon.

Labor Wins Vote Of Confidence

LONDON, June 27. (AP) — Britain's socialist government won a vote of confidence, 309 to 289, tonight on its decision to stay away from Paris duscussion over pooling Europe's coal and steel resources.

Prime Minister Attlee had staked the life of his government on the outcome of the vote.

It came after Winston Churchill denounced the labor government as having adopted policies which caused France to suspect Britain is "hostile to the movement toward European unity." Conservatives and liberals had joined in the attack, demanding Britain take part in the Schuman plan talks. A counter-motion by the laborites demanded confidence in the policy of holding aloof from the talks.

America Will Ask U.N. Support In Military Action in Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, June 27. (AP)—The United States was reported ready today to demand United Nations backing for military action against Red North Korea.

The United States mission refused to confirm these reports but the chief American delegate, Warren R. Austin, announced he would submit a "resolution of importance" to the Security Council late today.

Other diplomatic quarters said the final form of the U. S. proposal still was under consideration in mid-day. Consultations were in progress at the U. S. mission in New York.

The UN announced its Commission for Korea had left Seoul and moved southward in the invaded republic.

The commission earlier had placed full blame for the conflict on the Communist Government of North Korea.

A British delegation spokesman said his country would support any U. S. motion.

In London, Prime Minister Clement Attlee planned an announcement on the Korean question after the Security Council meeting here, the second since the fighting began Sunday morning.

The council meets late today amid the deepest gloom. Many delegates fear that the fate of the invaded Korean republic, set up under UN auspices, is sealed and that no action can be taken in time.

WORST CRISIS

UN Sec.-Gen. Trygve Lie says frankly the UN is faced by its worst crisis. The crisis reaches beyond the UN, it is worldwide, Lie says.

The United States policy was decided last night at a high-level parley in Washington. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, No. 2 man in the U. S. mission here, then flew back to work out a detailed declaration with Chief Delegate Warren R. Austin.

U. S. spokesmen declined to discuss how far the American demands will go. Other delegates made it clear they expected the United States to press for severe measures.

HOW FAR

Austin spent Monday afternoon and evening consulting other council members on how far they were willing to go in the way of sanctions.

Under the UN charter, the council may order any kind of punitive action from economic or political boycotts to outright military intervention by all UN members or any group of members.

The council's cease-fire was ordered Sunday afternoon in an emergency meeting called a few hours after Communist-controlled Northern Korea invaded Southern Korea.

Soviet and United States delegates to the United Nations Security Council met at a secret luncheon today just before the council convened to consider action to stop the Korean conflict.

The meeting was arranged by Secy. Gen. Trygve Lie at an undisclosed Long Island residence.

Russia was represented by Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik who has been boycotting all council meetings since last January in protest against the presence of Nationalist Chinese delegates. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross attended for the United States.

All members of the council were present except the representatives of Britain, China, Yugoslavia and India.

Meanwhile informed quarters reported that Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler would offer a resolution at the council meeting today calling for immediate mediation of the fight between Communist North Korea and the Southern Republic of Korea.

Tokyo Reports U. S. Bombers Will Make Korean Missions

TOKYO, June 27. (AP) — A report thata pparently was well founded said American planes tonight would begin bombing all towns captured by North Korean troops and would continue bombing until the northerners have retreated back across the 38th Parallel.

The report that American-manned bombers would take such action was confirmed by usually informed sources.

(The sources of the original report and of the confirmation were not identified).

SEOUL BROADCAST

The Seoul radio maintained a consistent series of broadcasts saying that American planes will come over South Korea and urging all Koreans to keep up their spirits.

The broadcasts also have repeated that a MacArthur field headquarters will be established.

The broadcasts said American troops, too, will join the battle.

Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's public information officer, said he knew nothing about this.

But the apparently well-founded report said American planes will begin their bombing runs tonight.

This report said the bombings would continue until the North Koreans have retreated back across the parallel.

There has been no way of confirming whether the attacks already have started.

CALL FAILS

Attempts to place a call to Seoul failed.

MacArthur's headquarters, meanwhile, announced that American Embassy and American military advisers have not left Seoul.

A brief announcement said that tanks reported in Seoul's suburbs "appear to have been isolated forays."

It added "reports of seizure of Seoul have been exaggerated but this is understandable due to war hysteria resulting from the unprovoked North Korean assault."

Symington Urges Civilian Defense

DETROIT, June 27. (AP)—Civilian defense might be the "crucial difference" between saving or losing America, says W. Stuart Symington.

Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, told the American Red Cross convention last night that a surprise atomic attack might deal the nation a blow from which it could not recover.

Effective civilian defense, the former Air Force secretary said, could cut atomic bomb casualties by 50 per cent in a typical American city.

Broad Policy of Resisting Communism in Asia Stated

Chiang Asked to Discontinue Attacks On Chinese Mainland To Help Restore Peace

BULLETIN

TOKYO, Wednesday, June 28 (AP)—The American Air Force and Navy rushed to the defense of Communist-invaded South Korea today, and a broadcast from Seoul said U. S. bombers and fighters already were attacking North Korean tanks.

The broadcast from the South Korean republican capital in the name of President Syngman Rhee gave no details but was in line with Tokyo reports that the U. S. Air Force was going into immediate action.

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Truman today ordered United States planes and warships to the aid of South Korean forces. He laid down a policy of standing firm against Communist aggression in the Far Pacific.

As a part of the broader policy, Mr. Truman directed that the U. S. Seventh Fleet be prepared to intervene to prevent any Communist attack on Formosa, the island refuge of the Chinese Nationalist Government.

At the same time, he asked that Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Chinese Nationalists, cease attacks on the mainland as a contribution toward the pacification of the whole area.

He also announced he is stepping up aid to the Philippines and Indo-China.

Mr. Truman announced his actions in a statement which declared:

"The attack upon Korea makes it plain beyond all doubt that Communism has passed beyond the use of subversion to conquer independent nations and will now use armed invasion and war."

It was learned that Mr. Truman's historic decisions were reached at a high policy meeting at the White House last night.

CONFERENCE

Before announcing them in a statement today, he called both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to the White House to review them and explain the background.

The United States actions were taken under the United Nations resolution which condemned the Communist invasion of Korea and asked all members of the UN to lend their support to carrying out the UN declaration for a halt to the fighting.

The next big question is what will be Russia's reaction.

The hope of American officials is that the Soviets will refrain from any direct aid to the North Korean forces and permit the fighting there to be ended.

Even before Mr. Truman's announcement that he was sending air cover to the South Koreans, there had been reports from informed Tokyo sources that American bombers would hit towns held by the Communists south of the 38th Parallel—the dividing line between South and North Korea.

In their invasion, the Communists have used small amphibious forces to land troops behind the lines of the South Koreans. This is one tactic which superior American forces could quickly stop.

(Seoul broadcasts said an American general would take command of the "joint defense operation." The President's statement made no reference to this.)

THE STATEMENT

Mr. Truman's statement said:

"I know that all members of the United Nations will consider carefully the consequences of this latest aggression in Korea in defiance of the charter of the United Nations. A return to the rule of force in international affairs would have far reaching effects. The United States will continue to uphold the rule of law."

Along with the speed up in arms aid to the Philippines and Indo-China, Mr. Truman announced that an American military mission will be sent to the forces of France and the associated states in Indo-china to provide close working relations.

HANDED REPORTER

The statement of policy was handed to reporters by Presidential Secy. Charles G. Ross while the President was still conferring with congressional, defense, diplomatic and military leaders.

When the White House conference broke up after nearly 45 minutes, most of the Congress members were silent and solemn.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, a frequent Republican critic of administration foreign policy, told reporters:

"I only want to say I approve completely everything that's been done."

Bridges asked in a Senate speech yesterday that the administration draw a line in the Pacific and say to the Communists that they must not cross it. In effect, Mr. Truman's pronouncement does that.

Bridges said: "We stepped into the breach in Korea, Indochina and the Philippines. That's our job to protect."

No Ground Forces Sent

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Johnson said today the United States moves in the Pacific situation do not commit this counrty to sending any land troops into action.

"Will any mobilization or partial mobilization be required in the United States?" a reporter asked when Johnson left a White House conference.

"At the moment, no," Johnson replied.

Americans Shoot Northern Planes Disrupting Exodus

TOKYO, June 27. (AP)—U. S. manned fighters today shot down four North Korean planes attempting to disrupt the evacuation of Americans from South Korea, it was learned tonight.

Reports gathered by correspondents at Itazuki Airbase in Southern Japan, terminus of the airlift, bore out the figures.

MacArthur's headquarters officially announced earlier in the day that one American fighter had shot down a Russian-built North Korean plane attempting to interfere with the airlift at Kimpo Field, outside of Seoul.

Associated Press Correspondent O. H. P. King, who flew to Japan from Seoul during the day, reported two North Korean planes were downed by South Korean piloted Mustang fighters at Kimpo.

That would make a total of six North Korean planes lost in combat during the day.

Some Itazuki reports placed the number shot down by South Korean and American pilots during the evacuation at eight planes.

WEATHER

EAST TEXAS: Generally fair this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday. Not much change in temperatures. Gentle to moderate variable winds on the coast.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday. Not much change in temperature.

More hot, dry weather was in store for Texas today. Temperatures were expected to be around the 100-degree mark for most of the state.

Yesterday's high for Texas was 107 degrees at Presidio. Other high temperatures were Salt Flat 105, Wink and El Paso 102, Laredo and Childress 101 and Lubbock 100. Galveston reported the lowest reading—88.

Only rainfall was .18 inch at Dalhart.

Opinion on Crisis Runs From Intervention to Isolationism

By JACK BELL
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, June 27. — An aroused but divided Congress awaited today a move by President Truman to counter the armed Communist onslaught against the Republic of Korea.

Congressional suggestions for American action ranged widely.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee posed the possibility that—if the United Nations fails to act effectively—the United States may ask other free nations to join it in military and economic sanctions against the North Korean aggressors.

He hinted that the North Atlantic Defense Pact might be invoked, on the grounds that a Communist victory in the Pacific would threaten world security.

THROUGH UN

Connally made it clear that any initial move by the President will be directed through the United Nations Security Council, meeting in special session today.

Barring the unexpected return of Russian veto-bearing delegates who have been staying away from its meetings, the council would have sanctions (such coercive measures as a financial and economic boycott), blockade and military measures at its command.

Connally said he planned to talk to President Truman sometime today and that he might discuss the possibility of invoking the North Atlantic Pact in case the UN fails to move against the Korean Communists.

He said the Communist attack against South Korea was clearly an assault on the security of all free nations—and that the pact nations possibly could act under Article 51 of the UN charter. This article recognizes the right of individual or collective self defense.

BRIDGES TOUGH

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) demanded that the administration draw a defense line in the Pacific and announce it will fight any Communist advance beyond that point. He conceded South Korea might be lost, but contended that a firm stand would be more likely to avoid than to provoke war.

Bridges' stand was taken despite a declaration by the conference of Republican senators that this country must not permit itself to become involved in war because of the Korean situation. He wasn't of a mind with other Republicans on that point, Bridges said.

KNOWLAND'S STAND

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) demanded that the United States ship more fighting planes to South Korea, asserting that the republic "won't be saved by a United Nations resolution alone."

From Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) came the proposal that the United Nations clap military and economic sanctions on North Korea, asking member nations to intervene with military forces, if necessary.

Rep. Battle (D-Ala) told the House grimly that the UN will be writing its death warrant "if it does not immediately and successfully take the necessary sanctions to stop this merciless slaughter of innocent, freedom-loving people."

Rep. Velde (R-Ill) was willing to go further than most of his colleagues. He said the United States should defend South Korea "right now, with arms and men, rather than have another devastating world conflict."

Cannon In Symphony Will Add Realism, Maybe Panic

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—The United States military assistance program today broadened its scope. The Army loaned four cannon to the National Symphony Orchestra.

Howard Mitchell, who directs the symphony, asked for the artillery. There was no indication that he plans to wage war on music critics.

Instead, the youthful maestro said he intends to use the field pieces to inject "realism" into his conducting of a musical composition — Tschaikowsky's "Overture, 1812."

JULY 5

The National Symphony will perform the famed "1812" on July 5 as a special tribute to the Washington sesquicentennial observing the 150th birthday of the capitol city.

Mitchell said he'll use the cannon as "part of the percussion section" of his orchestra for the performance. He pointed out that Tschaikowsky's original score calls for a volley of cannon as a grand finale to the composition.

So not to be outdone by the Russians of a hundred years ago—who loaned Tschaikowsky his artillery—the Army agreed to go along with Mitchell.

Four cannon and the necessary cannoneers from nearby Ft. Myer were assigned to the "Operation Symphony." The military has held several strategy conferences, Mitchell reported, and it looks as though the project will work out.

OTHER PROBLEMS

But Mitchell also admitted that a few tactical problems still must be solved. For instance:

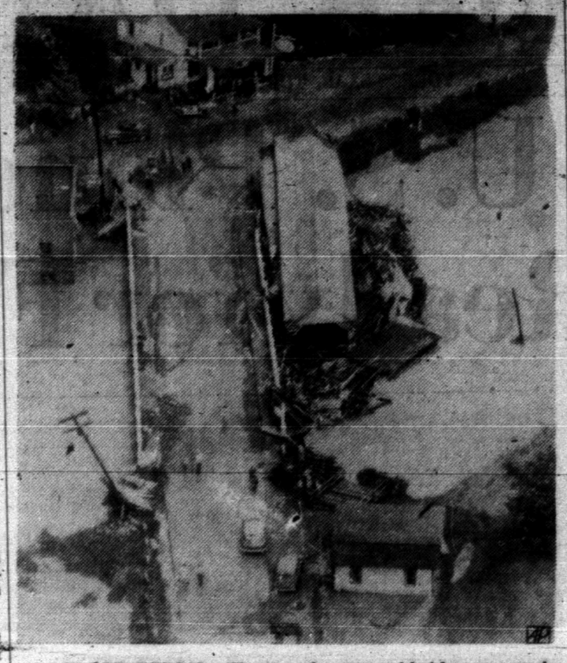

Where can they set up the guns to keep the blast from blowing the audience out of their seats? And can they be sure that the cannon will be fired at the right time?"

Mitchell at first wanted the artillery set up on a barge behind the a floating stage at the Watergate Stadium on the Potomac River. But the Army said no to this. Concussion from the cannon fire might sink not only the barge but the entire orchestra as well, artillery experts said.

CONDUCTOR JITTERS

And the conductor—remembering Tschaikoasky's sad experience—confessed to a mild case of jitters whether the cannon would fire on cue.

When the Russian composer conducted the premier of his symphony in Moscow, the artillery broke up the concert and almost caused a panic. The guns, it seems, just kept firing. . .and firing. . . and firing until long after the music stopped.

FLOOD DEBRIS—The top of a covered bridge was washed down the Monongalhela River along with parts of houses and other debris and stopped by another bridge at West Union, W. Va., when a heavy cloudburst overflowed the bank of the river at the small West Virginia community. At least 200 homes were washed away. Fourteen persons were reported missing in the area. Senate-House Group Would Extend Truman Draft Power

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—Senate-House conferees today voted a one-year extension of the President's existing power to draft young men.

The agreement, which must be ratified by both chambers, also would empower the President to order the National Guard and all reserves to immediate active duty.

The Senate-House group obviously acted because of the tense Korean situation.

JUNK RESTRICTIONS

They junked previous restrictions voted by the Senate and House upon presidential authority to induct manpower and voted out a one year extention of existing draft powers.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), one of the conferees, told a reporter that the previously deadlocked lawmakers had quickly agreed today that this was no time to have the world think there was a dispute here over such a matter.

Previously the House had voted a two-year extension of the peacetime draft act requiring registration of young men 18 through 25 years. It retained in the hands of Congress the authority for inductions or actual drafting.

District Attorney Speaks at Junior Chamber Banquet

Eldon Mahon, distirct attorney, spoke to the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their installation banquet last night on building a good community.

George Etz of Sweetwater, regional vice-president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, installed new officers. Lindy Clark was installed as president; Renal Rosson and Ray Perkins, vice-presidents; Jack Kennedy, secretary; and Olion Vinson, treasurer.

Guests at the banquet, which was held in Snyder Country Club, included Moe Reich, Sweetwater Junior Chamber president; R. A. Schooling, president of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce; Harold Bennett, new Chamber of Commerce manager, and his wife; and delegations from the Sweetwater and Colorado City Junior Chamber chapters.

Bob Davie, outgoing secretary, was master of ceremonies.

The chapter's mascot, a goat, was awarded to Wayland Holt and Raymond Watley, and it is to remain in their possession until next meeting. The goat is awarded at each meeting to an absent member.

Service Said To Be Cleared by Board

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—The Evening Star said today it has learned the State Department Loyalty Board has cleared Diplomat John S. Service as a loyal American and a good security risk.

State Department officials declined comment and neither Service nor his attorney was available immediately. Government agencies customarily do not announce the results of loyalty board investigations.

The report that Service had been cleared by the department board came as Senate investigators sought to find a key to what they described as a confusing FBI-recorded talk in 1945 between Service and Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe.

A.M.A. Undertakes Costly Fight on State Medicine

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27. (AP) The American Medical Assn. today stood ready to spend $3 million and abandon its traditional code against advertising in its fight against socialized medicine.

The assocation, opening its 99th annual convention here yesterday, said it has established a $1,100,000 fund for newspaper and radio advertising to combat socialized medicine and boost voluntary health insurance.

The balance of the $3 million will be spent on educational and publicity activities in non-advertising fields.

CHANGE IN ETHICS

Each member doctor of the AMA will be assessed $25 for the publicity fund. Previously the doctors' code of ethics prohibited their advertising for practice and also use of their names in newspapers except under certain conditions.

Dr. Ernest L. Irons, retiring president of the AMA's house of delegates, said the board of trustees considered the publicity fund a long time before voting unanimously in favor of it.

He declared the American people do not want socialized medicine and said his profession was anxious to see a vote in Congress on the issue. President Truman presently has a bill pending for government-paid health insurance.

IN ONE WEEK

Dr. Irons said advertisements against socialized medicine will be run during one week in October in 11,000 daily and weekly newspapers, and radio announcements will be broadcast throughout the entire month.

There are 10,000 doctors attending the five-day meeting.

Yesterday, the association gave its distinguished service award for 1950 to Dr. Evarts A. Graham, St. Louis surgeon. He was the first surgeon to remove a complete human lung successfully in an operation on another doctor in February, 1933. The patient is still living.

Start Is Made On Temporary Runways At Winston Field

Construction began yesterday on a temporary runway at Winston Field, Scurry County's new airport site.

The temporary runway, to be about 4,000 feet long and about 100 feet wide, will be only a level strip to handle air traffic until the permanent runways are completed.

The strip is being made east of the site chosen for the permanent north-south runway of 4,800 feet, which will be paved and flanked on the east with a parallel taxiway of approximately the same length.

It is not known yet when the temporary strip will be ready for use nor when the permanent project may be started. Winston Field is located about a mile and a half west of the new Big Spring highway and adjacent to Block Line Road, or Thirty-seventh Street.

California engineers have laid an asphalt blanket on the bottom and sides of a new reservoir built for the Los Angeles area. In conventional reservoirs, sizable amounts of water are lost through seepage, but the newstyle blanket is expected to prevent this. Oil men and construction engineers worked jointly on the project, using 1300 tons of asphalt.

Compensation Case Is Heard in Court

Questioning of witnesses continued this morning in the district court case of W. L. Moyer vs. the Texas Employers Insurance Association, a civil suit being tried by jury.

Moyer, of Snyder, is suing the insurance association for compensation for a back injury which he states was suffered during oil field employment in the spring of 1949. He is represented by John T. Gano, Dallas attorney.

Tom McMahon, of Abilene, is attorney for the association. The testimony of several doctors is being heard along with consideration of X-ray and other medical reports.

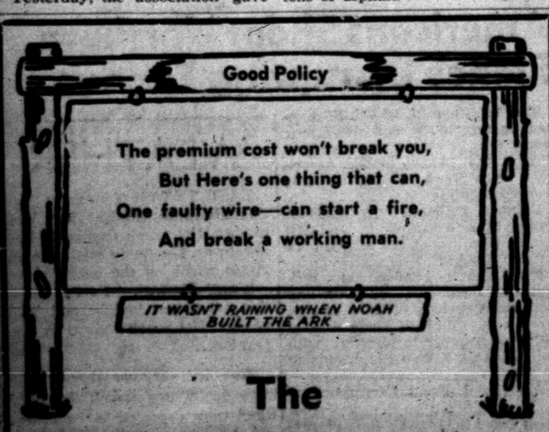

The hearing began about noon yesterday after selection of a jury yesterday morning.

A. S. Mauzey, district judge, rendered final judgment late yesterday in the $75,000 damage suit of Jane Webb DeWald et al vs. Tri-Service Drilling Co. et al, after a jury Saturday night returned a verdict favoring the defendants.

The court, however, decreed that the plaintiffs "take nothing by this suit, and that the defendants go hence in this cause with their costs in this behalf expended." The order was signed by Judge Mauzey.

Preston Smith, Candidate For State Post Here

Preston Smith, Lubbock businessman and state representative from the 119th district, was in Snyder yesterday, visiting business men and civic leaders in his campaign for election as lieutenant governor.

Smith is the only West Texas candidate among the 12 who are running for the office.

Candidate for lieutenant governor — Preston Smith.

He is a theater owner and operator in Lubbock, where he has lived since graduating from Texas Technological College in 1934. He is a steward and trustee in the Methodist Church, married and has two children.

Smith said his program was planned with both the industrial and rural interests of the state in mind. He outlined it as including the following points: soil conservation, soil analysis service, combined with additional seed testing laboratories; a livestock feeding program, state insect control, forestry reconstruction and rebuilding, rural recreational and cultural program, plus improved rural living conditions.

In the Legislature he was the author of legislation requiring state boards, bureaus and other agencies that spend tax dollar state revenue to hold open meetings and notify the press before any meeting is held. He was co-author of a constitutional amendment to re-apportion the legislative disfricts of the state on a fair and impartial basis; co-author of the Briscoe Colson Farm - to - Market Road Program; co-author of the Rural Telephone Bill; co-author of the bill improving State hospitals and sponsor of legislation enabling counties to vote bonds for construction of hospitals.

To Probe Davis Mountain Death

HOUSTON, June 27. (AP)—A group of officers left here yesterday for Fort Davis in West Texas in an attempt to solve the mountain killing of Kenneth Littlejohn, 25.

The body of the part-time University of Houston student was found in the Davis Mountains on June 6.

Littlejohn's body was identified while South Texas officers were working on another slaying in which Charles W. Tanner, 36, was charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Marion S. Ayres, former Kansas City Star proofreader.

Tanner was cleared of any connection in Littlejohn's death but the name "Tanner" on Littlejohn's coat caused him to be questioned in the case. A Houston woman read of the questioning and gave officers information which led to identification of the body.

K. S. Littlejohn, the dead man's father, arrived here yesterday from Mexico City, where he is an electrical engineer. He said he is sure his son was murdered, although a note indicating suicide was found in the coat pocket. Officers were inclined to agree.

The father, Sheriff Tom Gray of Jeff Davis County and Sheriff Charley Baker of Fort Stockton left yesterday for Fort Davis.

Gray has said that the handwriting on a note which read "I died by my own hand" did not check with known specimens of young Littlejohn's writing.

Racial Issue Biggest Factor in Talmadge-Thompson Contest

ATLANTA, June 27. (AP)—Red-galused Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia brings Dixie its third straight test tomorrow on the racial issue as a vote winner.

The score so far is 2 to 0 against candidates accused of championing more liberal treatment of Negroes.

Talmadge, whose name is almost synonomous with "white supremacy" as a vote-rallying cry, faces former Gov. M. E. Thompson in a democratic primary that climaxes a furious, four-year feud.

KEY MEMBERS

Two key members of Congress also meet primary tests: Veteran Walter George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee; and Rep. John Wood, chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee.

Georgia's tobacco-chewing, 37-year-old governor has seized recent anti-segregation Supreme Court decisions as his major campaign weapon. In every rally, he hits a peak with this defiant declaration: "As long as Herman Talmadge is your governor, there'll be no mixing of the races in Georgia."

Talmadge also tries to make political hay with such statements as "I'm proud to be carrying the banner for red-blooded white citizens . . . I don't apologize for being a white man."

OTHER TWO

Another southern state, North Carolina, found heavy emphasis on the race issue a new campaign note in its runoff primary last Saturday. Atty. Willis Smith, who like Talmadge denounced Negro "bloc making," defeated Sen. Frank Graham.

In Florida's recent primary, George Smathers' triumph over Sen. Claude Pepper was attributed partly to racial issues. Smathers plugged heavily on a campaign claim that Pepper favored an FEPC (federal fair employment practices commission), one of President Truman's "civil rights" proposals.

Pepper denied it. He accused Smathers' forces of paying Negroes to shake hands with Pepper at political rallies for campaign photo purposes.

In Georgia, Talmadge's potent organization accused Thompson repeatedly of conniving with that "FEPC, scalawag crowd" and wooing Negro "bloc votes."

Thompson insists that Talmadge shouts about the race issue for political gain but does nothing and that he (Thompson) has a real plan for preserving segreation—an $80 million school building program.

Man Has Five More Days to Pay Fine In Horse Meat Sale

DALLAS, June 27. (AP) — A federal judge has given Louis K. Risken of Minneapolis five more days to pay a $5,000 fine assessed for selling horsemeat in Txeas disguised as beef.

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson granted the extension yesterday after Risken telephoned from Minneapolis.

Risken and Meyer Gilgus of Kansas City were fined several weeks ago when they pleaded no defense to the charge.

Lubbock, Pampa And Lamesa Are Victors

By The Associated Press

Lubbock's Hubbers cling doggedly to the top rung in the West Texas-New Mexico league.

Last night rain came along to help them. They were leading Borger 10-5 through five innings when a downpour called a halt. Lubbock had one seven-run inning.

Pampa stayed a half-game behind with a 12-10 victory over Amarillo.

Joe Borrego gave up 10 hits but kept them scattered as Clovis licked Abilene 11-0.

U. S., Canada Quit Radio in Artic

OTTAWA, June 27. (AP) — Poor radio conditions in the Arctic are forcing the United States and Canada to abandon their $50 million chain of "Loran" (long range) radio navigation stations in the far north.

Defense Minister Brooke Claxton told the house of commons yesterday that results did not justify "tremendous" peacetime expense of the system, set up after World War Two.

Claxton indicated the system, already successful in southern areas for navigation of ships and aircraft, still might be used in the aretic in the event of war.

Strings of zeros often confuse people. In the Winter issue of Newsnotes on page four, column one, our zeros got mixed up and we reported that during World War II the Pacific area required 22 billion barrels of oil products each month. We should, of course, have said 22 million barrels. The industry is industrious, but not that sensational.

Australian Air Crash Claims 28

PERTH, Australia, June 27. (AP)—Twenty-eight persons including two infants died last night in the crash of an Australian National Airways Skymaster 50 miles from Perth. It was Australia's worst air disaster.

The sole survivor — Edgar W. Forward, 67-year-old Australian engineer—was found dazed and badly burned an hour after the crash. The wreckage of the plane still blazed three hours after it plunged into dense bush country.

Texas Congressmen Fix Up Receptions For Boy Scouts

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—Texas congressmen knew the Boy Scouts were coming, so they fixed up swell receptions.

But hundreds of the Lone Star State boys headed for the jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa., were too late for the festivities yesterday. They were unavoidably detained by West Virginia floods.

About 50 of them missed a meal in the speaker's dining room at the capitol. Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine kept waiters waiting two hours at the already-set tables before he called it off.

Republican Rep. Een Guill of Pampa got up and went to the depot at 6:30 a.m., to greet Panhandle scouts. They didn't get in until late afternoon.

Others going to the depot included Reps. J. Frank Wilson of Dallas, and George Mahon of Colorado City.

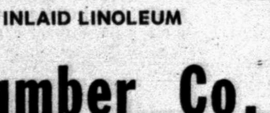

Philippines Set For Any Drive

MANILA, June 27. (AP) — Defense Secretary Ruperto Kangleon declared today the Philippines are "sufficiently strong and strongly supported to cope with any eventuality."

Asserting he did not believe the Korean war developments would change the defense picture in the Philippines in the immediate future, Kangleon added this country is "ready."

Texan Williams Leads At Half In NCAA Golf

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 27. (AP)—Playing with his pants pegged halfway up to his knees, Texas' Morris Williams, Jr., calmly stroked to a five-under-par 67 yesterday for the halfway lead in the NCAA golf championship.

The final 18 holes in qualifying rounds at the 53rd annual National Collegiate Athletic Association event are on tap today.

In what the NCAA golf boss describes as "the toughest amateur meet in the nation," Williams blistered the 6813-yard University of New Mexico par 72 course with a one-stroke edge on the field.

The University of Texas senior, just 20 and with several major tourney trophies under his belt already, was closely pressed.

Right on his heels were Dick Yost of Oregon State, the Pacific Coast northern division titlist, with 68 and San Diego State's Gene Littler and Oklahoma's Jim Vickers with the same count. A stroke back of them were Arnold Palmer of Wake Forest, Ron Clark of Oregon University and Warrent McCarty of San Jose State, all with 69.

With the first half of the 36-hold qualifying rounds done, it looked like a western field in the individual play.

In the team events the picture was much the same. The east was outnumbered five to one in the top contenders. North Texas State, defending champions, led the field with a 287-stroke total. Just one stroke behind was Purdue with an even par 288. The two were trailed by Stanford and Texas with 292 each, Oklahoma with 293 and Oklahoma A&M with 294. The team title will be decided after today's round.

All in all, sixteen of the collegiate aces scored below par cards in the first 18 holes of qualifying play. In addition to the leaders they included L. M. Crannell of North Texas who shot a 70.

Seven Pitchers Per Game Paraded in Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

Ordinarily, this is the time of the year for the pitchers to star in the Texas League but the race isn't going according to any kind of form anyway.

The hurlers who can go nine innings are looked upon as curiosities. Take last night and look what happened to the throwers:

In four games 28 pitchers paraded—an average of seven per contest. One game had eight.

Eighty-three hits were knocked and 50 runs scored.

Tulsa and Fort Worth hooked up in the game with the fewest pitchers but there were six in this fracus which Tulsa won 4-3 to move within six games of league-leading Fort Worth. It was the closest any team has been to the Cats in weeks.

Jim Blackburn got credit for his eleventh victory of the season but he didn't finish. Fort Worth filled the bases in the eighth and Ken Polivka had to come in and got the Cats out.

Beaumont used two pitchers in throwing a five-hitter at Houston with the Roughnecks winning 8-5, pounding 11 hits as five Houston twirlers worked. The Buff pitchers were too wild. Their failure to find the plate gave Beaumont four runs in the sixth to sew up the game.

The tie for fourth place in the standings remained but it was a two-way affair instead of three. Dallas fell out by losing to Oklahoma City 9-6. Thus Beaumont and Okiahoma City are deadlocked for the fourth spot and Dallas is in sixth place today.

Oklahoma City roared from behind to lick Dallas as the Eagles used four hurlers trying to stem the tide. John Henson got credit for winning the game but had to have help from Dick Conger.

San Antonio and Shreveport each used four pitchers with the clubs combining for 25 hits, 13 by San Antonio which won the game 8-7. A four-run eighth inning did the job for the Missions with Shreveport getting all its scores in the last three games.

They play the same tonight with Oklahoma City at Dallas, Beaumont at Houston, Tulsa at Fort Worth and Shreveport at San Antonio in a double-header.

Kiner Out-Hits Hero Williams

PITTSBURGH, June 27. (AP)—Ted Williams — he of the unpredictable humor and hair-trigger temper never batted an eyelash when the kid who calls him his hero slammed him 2-1 in a home run hitting contest.

The reigning monarchs of major league mayhem — Williams and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh — dueled in a novel swatting contest before an exhibition game between the Boston Red Sox and the Pirates last night.

Each slugger was allowed 14 fair hits.

Williams drilled four offerings from Red Sox Hurler Paul Schriver into the right field stands.

Kiner slammed eight well engineered drives out of the park — six of them far beyond the foreshortened Greenberg gardens in left field. "Three Star" Hennessey served them up to Ralph.

Kiner admittedly was gunning for the American League's top 1950 slugger. While the Pirate clouter makes no secret of his admiration for Williams as "baseball's best slugger — better than me," he took no chances at slicing at a bad delivery when his turn came at bat.

As Williams took his turn at the plate, Kiner studiously observed every twinge of the lanky outfielder's muscles from the Pirate dugout. When the enigmatic Ted rapped a long one, Kiner's mouth dropped open in admiration. But he didn't follow the soaring ball. He was watching Williams.

Midland Gets Double Revenge on Odessa

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The way Odessa has been manhandling the opposition this season in the Longhorn League you'd think the Oilers would demand and get respect.

But Midland, a rank second-division outfit, isn't one to stand on etiquette. Last night the Indians rose up to slay the league leaders twice, whipping Odessa 10-3 in the first game and then adding insult to injury with a 6-1 decision in the nightcap.

Bernie Nelson pitched a nine-hitter in the first game in which Mike Bellone slugged a homer with two on in the fifth while Ralph Blair limited Odessa to four hits in the second game.

Roswell beat San Angelo 4-2 to move within six and one-half games of Odessa. A couple of runs in the sixth sewed up the game. Don Schneegold batted in both of San Angelo's runs, one with a homer.

Vernon beat Ballinger 4-2 on Dick Tross' seven-hit pitching while Big Spring walloped Sweetwater 8-3, putting down a Swatter rally in the ninth that scored three runs.

Corpus and Harlingen Still Vie for Tops

(By The Associated Press)

The Rio Grande Valley League held the status quo last night—Corpus Christi and Harlingen remained in a virtual tie for the lead. There's only four percentage points between them, Corpus Christi holding that margin.

Harlingen blasted Laredo 13-1 while Corpus Christi whipped McAllen 9-6.

Bobby Gregg set Laredo down with five hits while his mates pounded 15 with Red Cowley clouting two homers. Manuel Salvatierra's home run was the lone Laredo score.

Corpus Christi got three runs in the eleventh to beat McAllen. Each team pounded 16 hits. Herb Hernandez socked his third homer in two nights for McAllen.

Brownsville beat Del Rio 5-3. Bob Brown hit two homers and Ed Rzendzian one for the winners.

Formaldehyde is now used in America's oil fields to counteract hydrogen sulfide corrosion. The manufacturer says the new technique results in a saving of $29 on equipment replacement for every $1 invested in the chemical.

A PICTURE OF DEJECTION—Jimmy Demaret, a former Texan, from Oiai, Calif., stands rigidly watching his putter, which he tossed over his head, come to land on the eighteenth green in the PGA tournament at Columbus, O. Resplendent in gold cap, speckled with red, Jimmy threeputted and went 1-down to Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va., in semi-final play. (AP wirephoto).

Two Unknowns Emerge from Nowhere to Cop Golf Honors

COLUMBUS, O., June 27. (AP) — The great Walter Hagen, holding court in the Scioto Country Club locker room, shook his head so hard it nearly dislodged his glasses — the ones on his nose.

"Never, no never," expounded the magnificent one before a group of friends, "have a couple of guys bolted out of nowhere to be playing for such a big one."

REFERS TO PAIR

The "Haig," still beloved and vividly remembered as golfs most gradiose performer, was referring to Chandler Harper and Hank Williams, Jr.

Those two fellows meet today in the 36-hole finale of one of the game's most cherished titles — the National PGA, with a $3,500 first prize.

Not since the tourney has inaugurated in 1916 have such rank darkhorses showed up for the showdown.

The 36-year-old Harper, a pro at a public fee course at Portsmouth, Va., has made stabs at the tourney circuit — the most serious being in the 1950 Tucson Open. He won that one, including one round of 63 carved with a total of 20 putts, an established PGA all-time record on the greens.

That has been the most notable victory in the career of the sharp-featured, rather handsome fellow, who has picked up winnings of about $3,600 in nine meets this season.

PICARD COLLAPSE

But that's big dough to Williams. Hank is a 33-year-old pro from Secane, Pa. If you scraped the barrel to try to find a winner in this meet, you might have missed him. That's how far down he was.

He's a good-natured, well-proportioned guy who dropped in weight from 180 pounds to 173 while in the process of a tremendous rally yesterday to oust 42-year-old Henry Picard 1-up in 38 holes. The temperature was 98, and Williams was hotter.

It wasn't so much a Williams rally as it was a Picard collapse. The 1939 PGA champion was four-over par for the final 10 holes.

"I was tired," he explained. "My legs felt like rubber."

In the meantime, Harper, 26 under par for his match play since last Friday, advanced by downing the only big-name pro left, Jimmy Demaret, 3-up. Demaret was never ahead, although he managed to square the match three times.

Three from Dallas In Davis Cup Try

DALLAS, June 27. (AP) —. Lee Ligon of Houston and three Dallas players—Jack Turpin, Herbert Karren and Dick Osburn—entered the semi-finals of the Texas Junior Davis Cup tennis try outs here today.

Yesterday Karren downed Jerry Goad of Sweetwater, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3; Osburn defeated Kelton Brewer of Gladewater 6-1, 6-0; Turpin defeated D. Telford of Dallas 6-2, 6-1, and Ligon beat Carl Nunn of Sweetwater, 6-2, 6-2.

A team of 10 members will be named and ranked on the basis of their showing here, for the national elimination at Forest Hills, N. Y.

Kell Given Credit For Tiger's Position

(By The Associated Press)

"The test of a true batting champion is whether he can repeat."

It was wise old Connie Mack who first made that sage remark many years ago. It is still true today.

Since 1900 we've had 44 different major league batting champions.

Such great sluggers as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Terry, Tris Speaker, Joe Medwick and Goose Goslin couldn't repeat as batting kings.

Which brings us to George Kell, who won the American League batting championship by two ten-thousandths of a point over Ted Williams last fall.

It is by no means certain that Kell will win the championship again this year. There is no doubt, however, that thus far he's been the most valuable player in his league. He, more than any other player, has been most responsible for Detroit's lofty perch.

Kell had a hand in Detroit's uphill 6-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox in yesterday's only big league encounter. George got two single and a walk in four times at bat.

Trans-Mississippi Starts in Omaha

OMAHA, June 27. (AP) — The scramble for the Trans-Mississippi golf championship began today at Happy Hollow.

Only one thing was certain in this 47th renewal of a tradition-packed tournament. There will be a new champion come next Sunday. Charles Coe of Ardmore, Okla., elected not to defend his title.

Had Coe, who went on to win the National Amateur crown a year ago, returned to Trans-Miss battles he would have been an overwhelming choice to collect another championship.

Actually there wasn't an outstanding favorite although Johnny Kraft, the Denver schoolmaster who won the title in 1942, was seeded No. 1 in a field of 91 players.

Men Set Hard Mark To Equal At Famed Wimbledon Meet

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27. (AP) — America's women players have a high mark to shoot at in their opening round matches of the Wimbledon tennis championships today.

The male contingent of eight Americans scored 100 per cent yesterday, winning all their matches before a fashionable crowd of 20,000.

The girls won't be quite able to match that achievement, because of the luck of the draw. Nancy Chaffee of Los Angeles meets Marta Barnett of Coral Gables, Florida.

The eleven other U. S. contenders for the singles title face European opponents and all appear to have a fighting chance of surviving.

Titleholder Louise Brough of Beverely Hills, Calif., seeded No. 1, plays Mrs. A. C. Brighton of Britain.

All second round men's singles matches also will be played in a 72-match schedule.

TALK OF THE TOWN

BY FRANCES BIOW

That great and colorful Texas show that is the Fandangle pulled some Snyder residents through the heat down to Albany over the week end. MRS. WAYNE BOREN, who is always so alert and interested in the comings and goings of life about her, described the pageant eloquently. The Borens visiting with DR. and MRS. HOWELL there, took in the spectacle of Shackleford County's pioneer show for the fifth time. MR. and MRS. FORREST BEAVERS and his younger sister drove over; they were struck with the costumes worn in the play all Albany takes part in. "The scene portraying an old-time dinner on the ground was the best," said Mrs. Beavers.

* * *

If some of these prevelant "ten best" lists were compiled in Snyder, badge for sheer efficiency would surely go to MRS. GRACE JORDAN, superintendent of nurses at the hospital. Mother of a teenage daughter, she has red-blonde hair, is a vigorous and business-like personality, yet very human. Her hands are tender when she gives anasthesia to an emergency patient at midnight. Her movements are brisk as she does the endless, weary checking of charts, nurse's duties, equipment. On duty she is fair and thorough. Off duty, she is good humored, companionable. Just the lady to head a corps of nurses, members of one of the most demanding professions in an accident-ridden, fast-moving town as is ours.

* * *

MRS. CLYDE MILLER, Miller Ranch, and MRS. McCLINTON, Stinson's, are off with full luggage packed for a look at Dick Miller's summer theatre, just opened in Nebraska. Made from a big barn, it is reportedly colorful, one more venture on the road to successful work with plays that marks Dick Miller's rise. A few years ago he was a shy, art-loving boy on the vast ranch of his father's near Fluvanna. Rodeos and the charm of leather chaps failed to stir him. ELIZABETH, his sister, rode her ponies like a trooper, fairly covered her walls with prize saddles, was toasted once in Madison Square Garden, the mayor of New York applauding. Dick, after his education, sought and got first bit parts, then big supporting roles on Broadway. A flair for artistic settings helped, I suppose, but a born thespian he is all down the line. With Charlie Ruggles he toured the New England states, has thrilled the straw hat circuit dozens of times. It is with understandable pride that mother and aunt travel to see his own theatre in action.

Here's a presentation from our ambitious advertising men here on the daily who are constantly advertising conscious and will convert any innocent bystander at the drop of a hat:

"Isn't it funny?
Business men
Will get up in the morning,
Shave with an advertised razor,
And advertised soap,
Put on an advertised undershirt,
Advertised hose, shirt, collar,
Tie, shoes and suit:
And eat advertised breakfast food,
Drink advertised coffee or Substitutes,
Put on an advertised hat,
Light an advertised cigar,
Go to their places of business in an advertised automobile,
Read advertised books and magazines en route to the advertised office building,
Eat lunch at an advertised restaurant,
Attend advertised places of amusement,
And patronize dozens of other places and commodities,luxuries and what not—all advertised,
And then,
Turn down an advertising plan
On the ground
That advertising doesn't pay?
Isn't it funny?

Everybody knows about and eats hen eggs—every time a hen lays an egg, she cackles. The event is well advertised. But few persons know about and eat goose eggs—Geese do not cackle, crow or quack to advertise the laying of their eggs; therefore but few people know about them!"

Barkless Dogs, Pharaoh's Pets, Are Visitor's Hobby

"I own a dog that yodels!" maintained Mrs. Michael Gleeson. However, this is not the only claim to news interest held by the blonde young matron from Tucson, visiting here with her long-time friend, Mrs. Betty Wendell Snyder.

A shrewd and successful breeder and exhibiter of dogs, aristocratic dogs, Mrs. Gleeson holds an abiding affection for a well-bred canine, shared by her husband, a contractor who "likes them as house pets, but won't bother with the shows."

Mrs. Gleeson energetically swooped down upon the Texas circuit of dog shows last September, wilting all other contestants apparently. She copped trophies in Amarillo, Lubbock, Odessa, and was just too tired to make San Angelo.

Her pride and joy is Kano, rare and widely-written-about African Basenji, or a "barkless" dog. Kano weighs in at 25 pounds, has the characteristic Basenji wrinkle on her forehead, pointed ears, erect tail tipped with white. She lives morosely in a pen out back of the Gleeson's Tucson residence and hates everyone but her beloved mistress.

A red-fawn color, something like wheat, she evicts a throaty sound where other less remarkable mutts might bark. Even when confronted with a cat, she does this yodel, which sounds eerily human, says the lady dog fancier.

"In the Belgian Congo, these barkless dogs are held in high esteem, an African thinking more of one than of his wife," she said. "The same breed of dog is known to have been the pet of the Pharaohs, as Egyptian tombs have revealed loving drawings and likenesses of them on the walls," explained Mrs. Gleeson, who really warms to her subject when it's Basenjis.

In town for only a few days, Mrs. Gleeson hopes to encounter another dog fancier. Well-versed in dogdom lingo, she makes a ready and enthralling conversationalist. Dog fanciers, where are you?

Damaging Storms in North, Generally Fair Elsewhere

(By The Associated Press)

Rain, hail and winds whipped across northwestern Pennsylvania's Crawford County yesterday evening inflicting thousands of dollars worth of damage.

Power lines snapped under the wild lashing. Trees were twisted from position, orchards and gardens were smashed. Nearly 2,000 greenhouse windows went tinkling into tiny pieces under the barrage of hail in Meadville.

HIGH WINDS

In Wisconsin's Oneida County, inhabitants were pulling themselves together today following a booming tornado — with winds raging up to 120 m.p.h. — which cut a half mile swath through wooded summer resort areas.

In the North-Central West Virginia area, splattering rain came down. It was a change from the early Sunday deluge which swept 29 persons to watery deaths in brimful streams.

As for the rest of the country, weathermen had a brief description: "Generally fair."

Temperatures were lower early today over most of the Great Lakes region and the Middle and Upper Mississippi Valley. In most of the Atlantic Coast and the southern states readings continued warm.

WEST HOT

In western states, temperatures were reported generally high. The greatest rise was over the northern Rocky Mountain section.

There were a few thundershowers in the Ozarks and at a few New England points.

Here are some sample early morning thermometer readings: Chicago, 61; Detroit 61; New York, 71; Miami, 80; Fort Worth, 80; St. Louis, 69; Minneapolis, 52; Seattle, 64; Los Angeles, 61; Phoenix, 75.

Negro Journalism Student Seeking Entry to Texas

HOUSTON, June 27. (AP)—George McElroy, journalism undergraduate at the Texas State University for Negroes, is trying for the second time to gain admission to the University of Texas School of Journalism.

McElroy's first application was turned down on the grounds that undergraduate journalism courses were available at TSUN.

His second application says that the schools are unequal and that he cannot get as good an education at TSUN as he could at the University of Texas.

"We have no opportunity for electives, no daily newspaper, no radio station or other component parts of the field of journalism that the University of Texas offers," he said. ". . .I wish to take journalism with all modern appliances obtained only at a well established school of journalism."

In his second application McElroy said that he would go to court "to the fullest extent" if he couldn't get the kind of education he wanted without a court fight.

Man Fined $787.50 On Assault Charge

John Reed, 48-year-old Snyder Negro, formerly of Dallas, was assessed fines totaling $787.50 in justice and county courts yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of aggravated assault and disturbance of the peace.

Reed, still in the county jail pending payment of the fines, was assessed a fine of $750 and court cost of $23.50 in county court on the charge of assault against his wife, Preshies Reed, with a stick, injuring her to the extent she was hospitalized.

The disturbance charge, which resulted in a $14 fine including cost, was filed after Reed had gone to the hospital and threatened his wife there with a pistol. He was arrested by Vernie Head and Homer Whisnand, deputy sheriffs.

Texas Dairy Can Now Sell Milk In Muskogee

MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 27. (AP) — A federal judge's order has given a Texas dairy the right to sell milk in an Oklahoma town.

Dr. W. K. Haynie, Durant health officer, was ordered by Federal Judge Eugene Rice yesterday to issue a permit for the Lamar Creamery Co., of Paris to sell milk in Durant.

Haynie had contended the company did not comply with a state law requiring a certificate from the Oklahoma commissioner of health. When the company got one, he said it was too far away.

The company withdrew its suit for $5,000 damages against Haynie and the Durant City Council after Judge Rice's order.

Anti-Communist Heads Iran's New Cabinet

TEHRAN, Iran, June 27. (AP) — Iran got a new cabinet today, headed by an anti-Communist strongman and made up mostly of newcomers to top government rank.

Only two of the ministers chosen by Premier-Designate Lt. Gen. Ali Razmara, chief of the general staff, have held highest ministerial rank before.

Razmara, was asked by the Shah to form a government after the resignation of much-criticized Premier Ali Mansoor. Razmara promised a "life and death" fight to "improve Iran's situation." He said his program would include immediate creation of provincial councils to decentralize administration, improvement of living conditions and cuts in the cost of living.

The government change came as Iranian officials smarted under a new note from Soviet Russia, Irans neighbor on the north. It accused the government here of letting American experts spy in northern Iran under the guise of looking for oil. Iran previously had denied the charges.

Western diplomats in Cairo said the Communist invasion of South Korea apparently had speeded the cabinet change in Iran. The three-month-old Mansoor government had been accused widely of inaction and indecision.

The new government already could count on intensified American aid. The United States announced it was sending three economic experts to aid incoming Ambassador Henry F. Grady determine what measures would help strengthen the country.

Many Cotton Groups Apply for Smith-Doxie Act Benefits

About one fifth of the organized cotton improvement groups have already applied for the benefits due them under the Smith-Doxey Act, according to H. J. Matejowsky, local cotton representative of the Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.

Applications for these services can be secured from Cotton Branch, PMA Office, County Agent and gins. They should be sent immediately to P. O. Box 2001, Abilene.

"Our goal is to get all applications in by July 15," Matejowsky explained. "This will give the farmers time to make arrangements for sampling. Also, it will help the cotton classing offices to get ready to operate at full speed when the season starts."

Dallas May Get Two New Hotels

DALLAS, June 27. (AP) — Recent indications are that both a new Sheraton and a new Statler hotel will be built here.

Ernest Henderson, president of the Sheraton Hotel Corp., said yesterday that his firm would go ahead with plans to construct a $9 million hotel.

The Dallas Chamber of Commerce voted last week to back the Statler hotel organization in building a $10 million hotel, which will include $1,500,000 of local financing. However, the chamber of commerce also said it would be delighted to have Sheraton build here too.

Chief of Experiment Station at Spur Dies

LUBBOCK, June 27. (AP) — Ray E. Dickson, 61, head of the Spur substation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station since 1914, died in a hospital here yesterday.

Dickson was admitted to the hospital last week, after suffering a stroke at his home in Spur. His condition had been critical since he became ill.

Dickson specialized in research on water and soil conservation. In 1925 he was a pioneer in the use of terraces. Within a year or two his practices were adopted by soil scientists and changed existing beliefs on the benefits of land terracing in low rainfall areas.

Retired Preacher Faces Murder Count

HOUSTON, June 27. (AP) — Hiram Riley McCaslin, 80-year-old retired preacher, has been released under $2,500 bond after being charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his stepdaughter's husband.

Aubrey W. Hawkins, 46, a Marine engineer, was shot twice in the head with a .22 calibre rifle yesterday in the living room of the house which McCaslin claims is his.

McCaslin told reporters and officers yesterday that he shot Hawkins because "they moved into my house and took over, and he cursed me every day."

Orange School Head To State Position

AUSTIN, June 27. (AP) — C. O. Chandler, superintendent of the Orange Public Schools, has been named to the board of trustees of the state teacher retirement system.

Gov. Allan Shivers announced the appointment yesterday.

Korean War Is Sudden Factor In Stock Market

By SAM DAWSON
(Associated Press Staff)

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP) — The Korean war scare casts a shadow of uncertainty today on the business scene.

The curtain is falling on a lively first half year, an even better one that many observers had predicted. The new uncertainty comes when observers already were sharply divided as to what role would be played by the second half, waiting in the wings.

Some think the second half will be as cheerful as the first. Others think the peak is about reached.

SOME DOWN

Almost all of the business indicators are rising or still high. But a few signs of a slowdown are reported today. A washing machine factory lays off its second shift as sales drop. Television set sales go into the expected summer slump. Farm income is running behind last year, although prices have been rising in recent weeks.

But most of today's news points the other way. Employment is up, and basic industries are booming. Soft good industries are stirring.

The war scare will have to get more tangible to affect most of these right away. A warming up of the cold war usually stimulates some part of industry. Congress loosens up the purse strings for defense or foreign aid. Consumers buy goods they fear may go out of production. But a shooting war would be another thing altogether, and could quickly take all the strength out of the present boomlet.

Here are some of the things just reported on the general state of business, and some on specific industries:

Mills, factories and mines employed 11.8 million persons in May, a gain of 320,000 in a month, and nearly a half million above the year before. It brought total non-farming employment to 43 million, a gain of 1½ million since February.

EARNING UP

Weekly earnings in manufacturing plants rose for the sixth straight month to another all-time high of $57.50, making consumer purchasing power higher than ever.

Steel production continues at record levels. Mills say their order backlogs assure continuing production for months, steady jobs.

Car and truck production set a new high last week for the third week in a row.

Rubber consumption hit a new high in May, 109,237 long tons, a gain of 15 per cent in a month.

Lumbermen report shipments were 6.9 per cent above production and their backlog of orders amounting to 58 per cent of mill stocks. The building boom rolls right along with a slowdown predicted but not yet sighted.

Retail sales in general have perked up in recent weeks, slipping ahead of last year in many sections.

House Overrides President's Veto on Post Office Bill

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)-Chairman Murray (D-Tenn) of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee said today the House, by overriding a veterans' benefits bill veto, has invited new demands for veterans' legislation.

The House overrode the veto yesterday by a vote of 213 to 72. In applying it, President Truman described the benefit measure as the equivalent of "an indirect bonus or adjusted service payment in recognition of military service."

PAY PROVISIONS

The bill would give pay raises to World War II veterans who enter the postal service prior to July 1 of this year but who were not in the post office department when they went into military service. It would do this by advancing them one pay grade—or $100 a year—for each year of military service.

The Senate has not yet acted on the veto. If it musters a two-thirds vote and passes the bill again, it will become law despite the President's disapproval.

OTHER DEMANDS

In that event, Murray told newsmen, there undoubtedly will be demands for similar benefits for other veterans in the government service and for those not in the government's employ.

"It certainly would seem," he said, "that Congress could not single out only one group of veterans for this special benefit and ignore the others if they ask for the same consideration. The House has set a dangerous precedent."

President Truman pointed out in his veto message that the bill affected fewer than 100,000 of the 15 million World War II veterans.

Of the remaining 14,900,000, Murray said, 800,000 are in the service of federal agencies other than the postal field service.

"What are we going to do about them?" he asked.

Timely quotes from notable Texans:

"We point with pride to the fact that today, as never before, we have picked up the gauntlet of challenge from the criminals and subversives alike and have hurled it back in their faces. "We are getting just a little tired of being talked down to. Naturally, Dallas and Fort Worth are perfectly satisfied. North Dakota To Elections Today

FARGO, N. D., June 27. (AP) — North Dakota Republicans and Democrats today choose one candidate for the U. S. Senate, two for the House of Representatives and nominees for state offices.

Few national issues were brought up in the campaign which ended yesterday after centering mainly on state issues.

As usual, the primary fight is between two Republican party factions — the Republican Organizing Committee (ROC) and the Non-Partisan League (NLP), headed by U. S. Sen. William Langer.

Their candidates are fighting for the GOP nominations and the right to take on the Democrats in the fall general election. And, the GOP nominees usually don't have much trouble beating the Democrats in the fall. The ROC now controls the state administration.

The ROC is led by U. S. Sen. Milton R. Young, up for re-election this year, and Gov. Fred G. Aandahl, now serving his third term and who is seeking a congressional nomination in a three-way race.

Young, appointed to the Senate in 1945 and then elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. John Moses in 1946, is opposed by T. H. H. Thoresen, former lieutenant governor and one-time political enemy of the NPL.

Veteran Congressman Usher L. Burdick, and Martin Stenehjem, prominent potato grower, are in the race against Aandahl, the lone ROC candidate for U. S. representative.

There are only three contests on the Democratic ticket — for the Senate, Congress and governor. In each, an independent is opposing a party-backed candidate. Independents usually have little luck in North Dakota elections.

When buying a pork roast, allow one-third to one-half pound of meat and bone for every serving. Roasts of three pounds or more from the leg, rib, loin, shoulder (either bone-in or boned), make excellent roasts. Roast fat side up on a rack in an open pan in slow (325F.) oven.

Cause of Plane Crash in Lake Still Is Unknown

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 27. (AP) —Lake Michigan, the silent grave of many sailing ships, still guarded well today its secret of the Northwest Airlines plane disaster.

On the second full day of search for evidence there was a strong likelihood that the cause of the nation's worst airline calamity might never be known.

Fifty-eight persons were killed when the DC-4, flying non-stop from New York to Minneapolis, crashed in the lake during a storm early Saturday.

Additional bits of wreckage were picked up by the Coast Guard from an area 19 miles west of here yesterday.

A child's rag doll, a torn picture of a woman, shirts and sweaters, and some chunks of human flesh were found along with twisted pieces of wood and metal.

Most generally accepted was a theory that the big plane hit a line squall along the eastern shore and flew to pieces upon striking the water.

Joseph E. Kimm, NWA's chief pilot, said he did not believe the plane was struck by lightning or otherwise exploded in flight. Plane particles recovered from the water showed no traces of fire, he said.

Kimm said he believed the plane hit the water with such terrific impact that it disintegrated.

Dance Hall Closed By Police Order

Chester Barrington, chief of police, and a detachment of patrolmen visited the Fiesta Room, a dance place in ecs. Snyder, Saturday night and ordered it closed. Barrington said evidence of drinking at the tables was clear.

Barrington said several other raids were made during the week end and that 23 arrests were made, mostly on charges of drunkenness and vagrancy.

It was one of the busiest week ends of the police department has had, Barrington said.

Snyder's Boom Is Featured In Cities Service Magazine

Service, a publication of Cities Service Co., devoted five pages of its July issue to the Scurry County oil boom.

Fred DeArmond, writer who came to Snyder on assignment for the magazine, took a new angle in reporting oil boom activity — which impressed him as modern and orderly, compared with the famous old boom towns like Spindletop and Ranger.

In "Boom Town — 1950 Style" he describes the rapid growth of Snyder and the problems it presents. Pictures show oil field activity, crowded living conditions and a street scene on the southwest corner of the square.

Permian, which is productive in the Rocker A field three miles to the south.

REINECKE EXTENSION

Aurora Gasoline Co. of Tulsa, No. 1 Engle, Southeast Borden County wildcat, two and one-half miles northwest of the Reinecke Canyon field, and about 20 miles southwest of Snyder, is reported by unofficial sources to have topped a Pennsylvanian lime reef at 7,290 feet, to give it a datum of minus 4,974 feet on that point.

The exploration has drilled to 7,304 feet and was slated to continue to 7,313 feet and then run a drillstem test.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 64, block 25, H&TC survey.

The datum of minus 4,974 feet makes the Aurora prospector extra low to the nearest producers in the Reinecke-Canyon field.

ABANDONED

The Ohio Oil Co. No. 1-A F. W. Merkett, central-North Mitchell County wildcat, almost on the south line of Scurry County and 980 from north and 660 from east lines of section 13, block 3, H&TC survey, is slated to be plugged and abandoned as a failure in the Ellenburger and all the upper horizons.

Located in the China Grove area, this wildcat topped the Ellenburger at 7,639 feet, or 5,271 feet below sea level. It drilled to a total depth of 7,690 feet and took a 1-hour drillstem test at 7,647-90 feet.

Recovery was 210 feet of muddy sulphur water and 223 feet of sulphur with very slight oil cut. There were no shows of oil or gas. Electric log surveys are being run and the venture will then be plugged. It did not find any indications of production in the Pennsylvanian limes.

FROM FUSSELMAN

First Fusselman production in the Big Lake multipay field in Southwest Reagan County appears to have been developed by Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-BL University.

Located on the southwest edge of one of the oldest fields in West Texas, the No. 1-BL has developed an estimated 600 to 800 barrels of 54-gravity distillate per day from the Fusselman lime at 8,902-920 feet.

It topped the Fusselman at 8,887 feet, on an elevation of 2,144 feet. On a drillstem test at 8,887-8,900 feet, recovery after one and one-half hours was 115 feet of 49-gravity distillate. Gas, which surfaced in three minutes, was estimated at 450,000 cubic feet per day.

Operators then deepened to 8,920 feet, still in the Fusselman, and took another drillstem test at 8,902-920 feet. Gas surfaced in one and one-half minutes and distillate appeared at the surfaced in 15 minutes.

Two minutes after the distillate surfaced, the tool was closed. Recovery was 210 feet of 54-gravity distillate, from which operators estimated the 600 to 800 barrels capacity per day.

Gas volume on the test was estimated at 5,000,000 cubic feet per day. Flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,400 pounds, and shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 3,600 pounds. This prospective pool opener is now bottomed at 8,940 feet still in Fusselman lime, and operators are preparing to take another drillstem test.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 1, block 2, University survey. It is approximately 14 miles west and slightly north of the town of Big Lake.

IN REINECKE

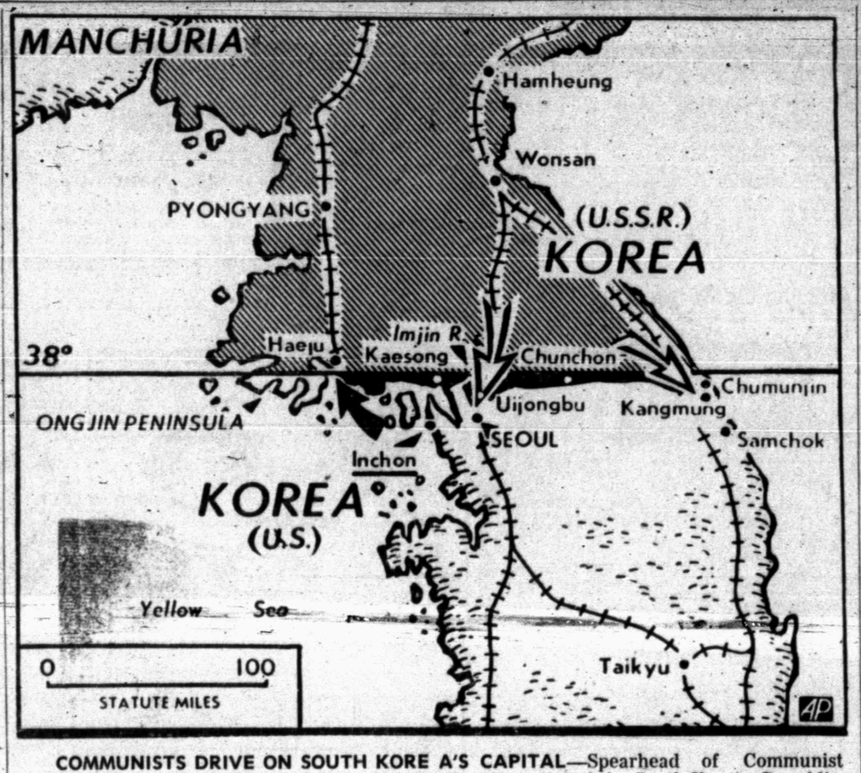

Magnolia Petroleum Co. is to begin operations in the immediate future on its second exploration in the Reinecke-Canyon field of Southeast Borden County.

Magnolia No. 2 H. H. Toombs is to be 660 feet from east and south lines of the northwest quarter of section 52, block 25, H&TC survey.

Drillsite is one-half mile west and slightly north of the Pan American Production Co. No. 1 Holly, blazing oil well in the center of the Reinecke field.

Slated depth for the proposed venture is 7,000 feet.

Some "wildcatters" are experimenting with coring holes one and one-half inches in diameter. An adaption of mining methods, the technique may reduce the cost of corings for rock samples. It also is considered possible that such "needlepoint" holes may be completed as producing wells. For ten years the oil industry has been drilling "narrow" wells, but these usually are large enough to take four-inch pipe.

COMMUNISTS DRIVE ON SOUTH KOREA'S CAPITAL—Spearhead of Communist North Korea army (center arrow) swept into Seoul, capital of the South Korean Republic. Resistance to the invaders collapsed at Uijongbu, only 12 miles north of Seoul. Another North Korean force (arrow right) was headed down the east coast.

Veep's Wife Will Officiate at The Launching of Luxury Liner

CAMDEN, N. J., June 27. (AP)—Ly.

VEEP TALKS

Vice President Barkley will make the principal address.

The President Jackson, carrying 204 first class passengers at 19 knots, is the first of three sister ships to be launched. The other two, the President Adams and President Hayes, will take to the waters of the Delaware River early in September and November, respectively.

All three will be placed in round-the-world service early in 1951, calling at 30 ports in 17 countries in the 100-day circuit trip.

Each of the ships was built under close government supervision and is capable of quick conversion to the role of attack transport carrying 2,500 troops.

COMFORTS

For peacetime service, the President Jackson will have sun and sports decks, an outdoor swimming pool and a children's playroom with a baby sitter in attendance. The vessel is air-conditioned throughout. Each stateroom will have a private bath and telephone.

Average of $472 Paid At Hereford Sales in Jacksboro

JACKSBORO, June 27. (AP) — Buyers paid an average of $472 for 352 lots of cattle in the J. D. Craft dispersions of Polled Herefords.

Buyers were so eager to get the cattle that they stayed on the seats and bid more than one-half of the cattle catalogued for the sale. The sale had been scheduled for a three day sale, Monday through Wednesday, but O. R. Peterson, manager of the sale, announced that the other cattle will be cleaned up Tuesday.

Buyers from 18 states were present when the sale started just before noon Monday, and before the day was over many of them had purchased cattle. Sales were made to cattlemen in Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, South Dakota, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

SPRR Princess Domino 139th sold on a bid of $2,000 to Henri Watson, Jr.

Morgan Hereford Farm of Coffney, S. C. was one of the main buyers. Seco Farms of Missouri was also a major buyer of top females.

The cattle selling were the Polled Hereford purchased by Craft from Lewis Johnson and Sons, and represented a one-half interest in the former Johnson Brothers herd of Polled Herefords that was started about 35 years ago.

A process to salvage valuable oil and wax from the settlings, or waste material, in the bottom of petroleum storage pits and tanks has been developed by the Bureau of Mines, in cooperation with several oil companies. A test with 2000 barrels of waste stored for several years in an open pit, recovered nearly 600 barrels of clean oil containing 15-18 per cent of valuable microcrystalline wax.
