DRASTIC BANK BILL INTRODUCED

Zangara Pleads Guilty To Cermak Slaying, Then Takes Stand

PAMPA
TOPICS OF OUR CITY
By G.E.H.

TWINKLES

The small city bankers certainly have our sympathy—we've been called upon several hundred times to answer the questions constantly put to them.

The strong banks are having to suffer with the weak, and at the risk of being misunderstood. Too many people fail to realize that the nation's commerce operates on faith—credit—and not gold and silver in reality. Coins and bills work well as pocket change and a medium of daily exchange, but bank credit is the real basis. He who says we can get along without banking is deplorably misinformed.

When Franklin Delano Roosevelt was a mere boy, his mother cautioned him about giving orders to other playmates. He replied: "But Mummy, if I didn't give orders nothing would happen!" The country is longing for orders now—the right ones.

Who said the lame ducks were luckless—they don't have to lie awake night thinking up banking solutions.

Random thought: What a great cheer-leader Franklin D. would make for a real boom!

Another thought: What an able hoarder the late Calvin Coolidge must have been.

A Borgerite saw two jack rabbits battle to the death. But we thought the Borgerites had previously run down and eaten all the jacks.

MORE OPTIMISM
This writer is happy to report a mounting business optimism among alert observers of conditions. He finds many persons looking for good investments because values were never greater and the chances are good for a recovery of more normal values or a moderate inflation of the currency. Pampanos feel that the banking moratorium was a good thing in bringing uncertainties into the realm of actualities. They think this may very well be the end of the depression for business as will be, although unemployment will be with a long time in some degree.

CRUEL TESTS
Mr. Roosevelt faces probably the severest test of his administration at the very outset, but the people have a great faith in him and feel that he has the nerve to take the necessary steps. The new president is making new friends every day and folks are discovering that behind his smile is a very solid, progressive mind. The country, too, is in a mood for reform. You even find the Wall Street people talking like what, a few years, we called radicals.

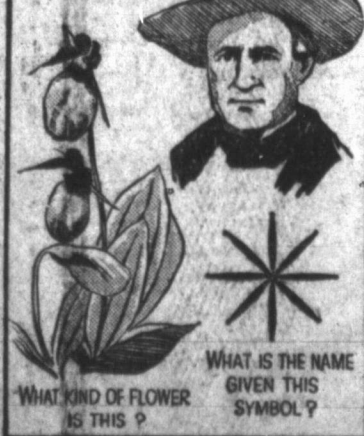

READY FOR CHANGE
People are learning that "rugged individualism" is one thing for the small business men and quite another for many banking institutions. The sentiment for a better banking system with the government, which makes the money, having more to say with regulation of its use, is growing stronger every day. Bankers who once opposed even the Federal Reserve System are changing their minds. They say that Uncle Sam must either stay out of banking or go deeper into it. The present crisis has forced the hand of the government. Mr. Roosevelt is taking congress to do what people have felt for decades must be done—revamp the banking system of the country.

LOTS OF THINKING
If you believe Mr. Roosevelt has

'SORRY' HE DID NOT REALIZE HIS AMBITION

I WANT TO KILL ALL CAPITALISTS SINCE I WAS 14 YEARS OLD

'NO, NO, I NOT CRAZY'

I KILL ROOSEVELT IF HE COMES IN THIS ROOM NOW

MIAMI, Fla., March 9. (P)—Crispe Zangara today pleaded guilty to charges of murdering Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago when his mad attempt to assassinate President Roosevelt here February 15 failed.

Zangara's plea was entered by Louis F. Twyman, chief of the counsel appointed for him after Zangara himself had said, in response to a query as to guilt by State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne.

Zangara himself took the stand after the state closed its case. "I'm 33," he testified, "born in Italy. I came here first September ten years ago and live in New Jersey. I live here three four months—since July.

"I want to kill all capitalists. Because of capitalist people get no bread. That's important thing—no money. I feel this way since I 14 years old.

"I have stomach pains since I six years old. I not mad at my father but I mad at capitalists. They got education.

"I don't smoke, drink because it makes my stomach on fire.

"Are you mad at anybody now?" Twyman asked.

"No, except I mad at capitalists all time—I not mad at jailers or at anybody here.

"I don't believe church. I don't believe in God.

Zangara described the actual shooting and said Mrs. W. F. Cross

Daily NEWS Is Correcting Many False Reports

Alternately believing and blaming radio announcers, citizens of Pampa are calling THE NEWS to ask if such things as the following are true:

1. Is Herbert Hoover under arrest?

2. Did Hoover "escape" to Canada with a huge sum of money?

3. Has Hoover sailed to join Mellon in England?

4. Didn't Mellon cause the banks to close by taking 3 billions in gold to England?

5. Did THE NEWS issue an extra telling about Hoover's attempt to leave the country?

ANSWER: The Pampa Daily NEWS is served by the Associated Press by the fastest full leased telegraph wire which money can buy.

ALL OF THE ABOVE REPORTS ARE FALSE. Should such things happen, THE NEWS would know the facts almost instantly and would issue an extra. WHEN YOU SEE IT IN THIS NEWSPAPER, IT WILL BE TRUE; until then, deny all rumors.

Mrs. D. E. Stokes was admitted to Wesley hospital last night.

F. P. McKimming is doing nicely in Pampa hospital following an operation Tuesday afternoon.

John B. Hessey and Ralph R. Thomas went to the Amarillo fat stock show this morning.

I HEARD--

Clyde Fatheree telling C. H. "Hub" Walker that the commission had practically decided on hiring him to be a life-saver at the new swimming pool and that he would have to wear a bathing suit. "Hub" wanted to know if they were planning on starting a menagerie.

That J. M. McDonald, local deputy supervisor, and Jack Elliott, well known in Pampa, had to go into a "huddle" yesterday afternoon in Amarillo following eloquent speeches by two learned attorneys at the gas hearing over which the two "Jacks" were presiding. Webster was brought into play, it was reported.

Children's Birth DADS IGNORANT Facts Necessary

Fathers are very ignorant about their children.

They do not know ages and school grades.

They know only one way to learn these facts—ask the mothers.

The family Bible is still the favorite place to record Johnny's and Mary's birth date.

Or so says Mrs. J. H. Blythe, who is taking the scholastic census so that the Pampa Independent school district may obtain a state allotment for each child enumerated. When the mothers are not at home, the fathers do their best to recall the necessary information, but show surprising lack of knowledge about their offspring.

GOLD SEIZED NEAR BORDER

Plane Containing $250,000 In Gold, Bound For Mexico City, Halted.

SAN ANTONIO, March 9. (P)—A plane carrying $250,000 in gold, which was being transported by plane from a New York bank to Mexico City, was halted at Brownsville and today was being shipped back to the federal reserve bank at Dallas by express, it was learned at the customs office here.

Customs officials did not seize the gold, it was declared. It was understood that either the bank or the airway officials prevented the cargo from crossing the border as the result of President Roosevelt's order barring the export of gold from the United States during the financial crisis.

Wall Street Is Talking About Hiring a 'Czar'

NEW YORK, March 9. (P)—The "czar" idea is spreading to-of all places—Wall Street.

Long ago baseball decided to get itself a czar in the person of Kenesaw Mountain Landis. The movies have one in Will Hays, whose sway is mighty in many cinema matters.

Now the street that is known the globe over as the main lane of the big money world is hearing talk of a dictator.

He would be a referee to adjust the delicate operations of foreign exchange transactions during the present emergency. Many men of the financial community believe Wall Street is prepared to accept him.

The word "czar" is not officially used. Bankers shy from it in this connection. It is believed, however, that a central office to pass on foreign exchange operations would necessarily involve the granting of wide powers.

The proposal was under wide discussion yesterday. It was pointed out that a program of this character would be in line with measures adopted during the world war.

Daniels To Head 3 Departments

WASHINGTON, March 9. (P)—Joseph Daniels, of North Carolina, secretary of the navy during the Wilson administration, was understood in informed circles today to be slated for chairmanship of a new government group to include the Interstate Commerce commission, the shipping board and the aeronautics branch of the commerce department.

Such a transportation would bring together the major transportation agencies of the federal government. It has been indicated for some time that something of the sort was contemplated by President Roosevelt.

Daniels, publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer, was secretary of the navy while Franklin D. Roosevelt was assistant secretary.

Meanwhile, another North Carolinian, C. Leroy Shuping, of Greensboro, was endorsed for commissioner of internal revenue by the state delegation in the house of representatives.

Pending the consolidation of the transportation agencies, indications have been that Daniels would be appointed chairman of the shipping board.

MESSAGE ASKS BIG EXPANSION OF CURRENCY

ROOSEVELT SAYS FIRST TASK TO REOPEN 'SOUND BANKS'

NEW MONEY IS PLANNED

RAINEY OF ILLINOIS IS MADE SPEAKER OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 9. (P)—Congress moved this afternoon upon the petition of President Roosevelt to empower him to reopen "sound banks" and to authorize tremendous currency expansion.

Spurred by his call for "immediate action" senate and house alike set about writing into law a revision of banking statutes among the most extensive in history.

Even while his brief message was being read to crowded galleries in both chambers, the highest financial and legislative authorities were at work behind locked doors putting the finishing touches on the all-embracing bill.

I would permit only "sound banks" to reopen at once, those unable to show conclusively their soundness

Examination Of Children Urged By School Nurse

Parents whose children are to enter school next fall have been asked by school and Parent-Teacher association officials to take the children to their family physician for a physical examination as soon as possible.

Arrangements have been made with the physicians for the examinations to be given without charge.

This free service, of course, does not include corrective measures.

Pampa previously has held a free school clinic, and so far as is known, is the first city in the state to put into operation the plan of encouraging the parents to take their children to the physicians' offices. As educational and medical groups throughout the state are to take note of the outcome of the plan, local officials are especially anxious for success. The change was made partly as a means of impressing upon the parents the advisability of having their children examined each year.

Miss Ivan Mayfield, public school health supervisor, called attention to the fact that 94 per cent of babies were born physically perfect but that only 49 per cent of them were perfect at the time they entered school.

Commissioners Study Operation Of Elk City's Popular Swimming Pool

PAMPA CITY commissioners drove to Elk City yesterday to inspect a swimming pool and learn how the pool was operated. They were the guests of the Elk City commission while there, Mayor W. A. Bratton, Commissioners Clyde Fatheree and Earl O'Keefe, and City Manager C. L. Stine made the trip.

The Elk City pool is beautifully finished with a fancy fence around the pool itself and a modern bath house inside the enclosure. An instructor and guard are present at all times.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS BEING URGED TO DECIDE ON ROUTING OF ROAD THROUGH CITY MONDAY

Right-of-Way Deeds Needed As Soon As Possible

THE LONG-DELAYED question of routing highway 33 through the city of Pampa and furnishing a widened right-of-way will come before the county commissioners when the convene on Monday.

Because of the growing impatience of the state highway department, which wishes to complete highway 33 before taking up the question of hard-surfacing highway 88, it is necessary that careful consideration be given the through-city matter.

Unless the right-of-way deeds can be secured, it is possible that the road will be built outside the city limits. The city has agreed to pay part of the cost of the right-of-way, but since it levies no taxes for its general fund, it cannot pay the full cost.

Further delay in this project is regarded as dangerous because of the likelihood that highway 88 will be placed in the list of suspended projects for lack of funds. Should this delay be caused, there would open the possibility that designation of highway 88 as a state road might be abandoned, leaving it to the county to maintain at considerable annual expense.

MEASURE WOULD CONCENTRATE ALL GOLD IN RESERVE BANKS AND WOULD PUNISH HOARDERS

WASHINGTON, March 9. (P)—Striking lines in President Roosevelt's message to the special session of congress follow:

"I ask of the congress the immediate enactment of legislation giving the executive branch of the government control over banks for the protection of depositors."

"I ask amendments to the Federal Reserve act to provide for such additional currency, adequately secured, as may become necessary to issue to meet all demands for currency."

"A continuation of the strangulation of banking facilities is unthinkable."

"The passage of the proposed legislation will end this condition and I trust within a short space of time will result in a resumption of business activities."

"In the short space of five days it is impossible for us to formulate completed measures to prevent the recurrence of the evils of the past."

"This does not and should not, however, justify any delay in accomplishing this first step."

Jap Rulership Established In Jehol Territory

By The Associated Press

Following close on the heels of Japanese and Manchukuo troops who have swarmed over Jehol province the last fifteen days, Manchukuoan rulership is now being established in the territory.

Manchukuoan officials have taken over control of villages and cities deserted by the Chinese in the face of the campaign of Japanese troops. The Manchukuoan officials who took over the government of the cities and villages were not far behind.

Over a stretch of 250 miles were many deserted villages, with 85 per cent of the buildings unoccupied and with only aged persons and children thereabouts.

Meanwhile, reports from Chinchow, Manchuria, told of an unsuccessful attempt by reinforced Chinese troops to retake Kupeikow Pass through the great wall. They were beaten back by the infantry brigade of Major General Tadashi Kawahara.

An engagement south of Wukufu, the Tokyo dispatches said, resulted in 25 Japanese killed and 39 wounded. The skirmish occurred during "mopping up" operations of Major General Heijiro Hattori.

WASHINGTON, March 9. (P)—The senate today selected the new chairman of all standing committees for the new congress and assigned the important banking and finance posts to Senators Fletcher, Florida, and Harrison, Mississippi, respectively.

The foreign relations committee chairmanship went to Senator Pittman of Nevada, agriculture to Smith of South Carolina, and rules to Copeland of New York.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, was in line for the rules chairmanship but stepped aside for Copeland because he said he already had enough work to do officially.

The veteran Carter Glass of Virginia was assigned the appropriations committee chairmanship.

LAND OF MAKE-BELIEVE

Not least interesting of recent newspaper stories is the one telling how two 4-year-old Brooklyn children got lost for an afternoon in a city park, and what befell them there.

The youngsters turned up safe and sound, at last, in the care of a kindly policeman. One of them, a boy, told of the perils from which he had defended his companion, who was the girl.

The boy explained he had slain a menacing host—a man with a black beard, a leopard, a lion and a wild-cat. One blow had sufficed for each antagonist; and he pointed out that the bodies of his victims would be found "right under and elm tree."

And the little girl substantiated his statement remarking that he had been a considerate defender and had done all of his killing behind a tree, where she would not have to watch it.

One is moved to hope that when these youngsters were delivered to their parents they didn't get paddled for telling tall tales.

Adults very seldom really understand the motives that prompt children to spin such yarns as these. They give the children credit—or discredit, rather—for being untruthful, deceitful and boastful, whereas the truth of the matter is that a child who tells such a story is seldom in the least conscious that he is relating anything but an accurate description of actual facts.

The dream world into which imagination can conduct one can be, to children, quite as real as the regular world of every day. The borderland between the two worlds is not plainly marked. It is possible to slip from one to the other almost without knowing it; and it is because grown-ups seldom understand this that some children get chided for fibbing.

This child, who slew a man with a black beard and three carnivorous felines beneath a tree in a Brooklyn park, is a little lad to be envied. The shadows of the prison house haven't yet lengthened about him.

Remembering that music hath charms to soothe the savage beast, maybe Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, who is quite a musician, will go ahead and scatter his notes across a grateful nation.

From the pictures we've seen of them, rubber bathing suits are going to take a lot of strain—from rubber-necks.

Vice President Garner says he's going to cut out press conferences for fear he might be interpreted as speaking for the president. Evidently Garner, who's reputed to be quite a poker player, doesn't intend to bet 'em unless he has 'em.

New Mexico Is In Oratorical Contest Area

AMARILLO, March 9. (AP)—All of the state of New Mexico has been added to West Texas, under the direction of the Amarillo News and Globe, for the eliminations in the international oratorical contest. It will be the first time New Mexico schools have participated.

High school declaimers from West Texas as far south as Alpine and east to Fort Worth and from New Mexico will meet in Amarillo April 28 for the district elimination. The winner will go to Kansas City, with expenses paid by the News-Globe, to compete with winners from six other districts in the southwest, for zone honors. The winners at Kansas City will be given a free trip to Europe next summer, and will represent the zone in the national contest at Washington, May 21.

Thirty West Texas cities sent declaimers to the eliminations last year, and the number may be doubled this year with the added territory.

The declaimations must be based on some phase of the constitution and not more than six minutes in length. An extemporaneous speech of four minutes on a kindred subject also is required.

Dalhart's Scrip Being Circulated

DALHART, March 9. (AP)—Dalhart's city scrip went into circulation by being paid to city councilmen and employees and to fire department members.

It is printed in purple ink on white bond paper, the cancellation stamps being on white gummed paper in blue ink. Each stamp has a white square in the center that must carry initials of the person passing the scrip before it is negotiable.

Only $100 worth is being issued in $1 denominations. If demand warrants, more will be issued. Each scrip is signed by the mayor and city treasurer and the city seal affixed.

Eagles Menace Game, Cunning Killing Shows

ALMAGORDO, N. M., March 9. (AP)—How an eagle kept a herd of 12 antelope, high up in the Guadalupe mountains, moving until the weakest was exhausted, then swooped down to its kill was related here by Will Brownfield, Cienega rancher, who witnessed the strange spectacle of wild life.

Each time the antelope slackened their pace, the eagle would swoop down and put them to flight again, Brownfield said. Finally, the big bird sank his talons into the weakest of the lot and tore the frightened animal to pieces.

Brownfield said the golden eagles were a menace to all wild game in the Guadalupe.

Death Penalty In Blackshear Case Reversed

AUSTIN, March 9. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals yesterday reversed and remanded a death penalty judgment against Barney Blackshear, convicted in Smith county for the murder of Viola Brimberry.

Viola Brimberry and her husband, George Brimberry, were found slain in a log cabin near Arty, in the East Texas oil field on March 21 last.

Blackshear was charged with the double crime after shoes found in his possession tallied with tracks discovered in the vicinity of the Brimberry cabin and leading to the home of Blackshear's brother.

The court ordered the judgment reversed because of improper introduction of a statement made by Blackshear in which he said he had killed the Brimberys. Blackshear did not testify at his trial.

Near the body of Mrs. Brimberry was a magazine on which was penciled: "A negro kill me." Officers obtained a poem "Twenty One Years" which expert testimony was written in the same handwriting as the note on the magazine, but the appeal record did not show how or from whom they got it.

CAFE MAN ROBBED

AMARILLO, March 9. (AP)—Joe Mitchell, cafeteria proprietor, early today was robbed of $75 in cash by three masked bandits who forced him to drive two miles from Amarillo, where he was bound hand and foot.

Although tied with cable wire, Mitchell managed to drive his car to police headquarters. The bandits returned three checks to Mitchell.

RICHEST WITHOUT GOLD

SEATTLE (AP)—Despite his name, L. M. Riches was broke today. He was forced off the gold standard, he reported, by a thief who robbed him of his last two $250 gold pieces and one $5 gold piece, besides $20 in silver.

HE'S A GOOD LISTENER

CHICAGO, (AP)—Police Lieutenant Richard Lawler has what may be called a "camera ear," which helps him make mental records of funny noises.

A witness to a robbery attempt by three men told him their car had a "quiet too" which sounded like a cracked bugle note.

Three men were found in a car. "Toot your horn," the lieutenant commanded.

They tooted and were immediately arrested.

VALIANT DUST by Percival Christopher Wren

SYNOPSIS: Ralsul, son of the King of Mekazzen, takes time from his intrigue against France with Major Wendell Schacht, of the Foreign Legion, to slip into Margaret's room late at night. When Margaret awakes, she finds her mother-in-law rushing to Jules Margueret's husband and declares that by revealing Ralsul, Margaret has endangered the influential position of the Legation with the King. Margaret hurries from Ralsul's room and is stopped by a curious sound.

Chapter 25

A NEW FRIEND

WHAT a heavenly sound!

Someone was positively whistling, quite near; someone was softly whistling an air that she recognized. Where had she heard it? Paris, Marseilles, the ship, Gibraltar, Tangier? A hand had been playing it in one of those places.

Where?

And whoever was whistling must be a European, Moors don't whistle.

Jules?

Or, of course, it might be the Senor Pedro Maligni.

Ralsul? He was a Moor, but having been educated in France, and lived so long in Europe, he might whistle. She had never heard him do so—nor Jules either, for that matter.

What would happen if Ralsul caught her there?

Anger mingled with the fear that clutched at Margaret's heart. Who was she, that she should dread this wretch; this beastly native?

Margaret's mouth set in a straight line; her hands clenched; and she realized that she was carrying the heavy dagger with which she had hammered on the door of Elisa Beth el Ala's room.

Drawing it from its cut-steel sheath, Margaret saw that the blade was bright, keen-edged and sharp-pointed.

"This is ridiculous," she said, and crept forward in the direction of the sound.

A few yards farther on, yet another corridor of this warren branched from the passage in which she was.

Standing at an unglazed Moorish window that was little more than an arrow-slit with a horseshoe top, was a man, wearing a hooded cloak, and yellow netless slippers; a very much bigger man than Ralsul, bigger than Jules or his father.

Motionless, in the dark shadow of the wall, he watched intently someone or something that interested him below.

Suddenly, hearing her footsteps, with a swift movement he turned toward Margaret, at the same time drawing farther back than the light, but not before she had recognized the bearded face of Ober-Lieutenant Carl Von Mittengen alias Herr Schlicht.

"Oh, good morning," said Margaret. "I've rather lost myself, I'm afraid. Could you tell me how to get to the courtyard—the inner courtyard, from which three flights of stairs lead up to the part of the castle where my husband's mother's apartments are?"

The man bowed courteously, swiftly studying her face with a steady gaze which, though keen and penetrating, was yet not offensive.

In the moment of her sudden appearance, it seemed that something wary, watchful, anxious, peeped out from behind the hooded, bearded mask that was his face. As he did not immediately reply Margaret began all over again in French.

"Bon jour, Monsieur, Je suis..." "I speak English," interrupted the man. "Please to speak to me if you have prefer it. I understand it quite perfectly, though I do not speak it so quite perfectly."

"Oh, good," replied Margaret. "My French is very far from perfect, and so is my understanding of it, especially if it is spoken quickly. Will you kindly show me the way out?"

"Yes, I know the way out," replied the man, and added, with a slow smile, "Sometimes the way out is easier than the way in, isn't it?"

"Sometimes," agreed Margaret, "and sometimes it is a great deal harder."

"Ah," he observed, "do you, perhaps, think you find it more difficult to leave Mekazzen than to come into it? I, me myself, find it more difficult to come into Mekazzen than to go out."

"Well, at the moment," replied Margaret, "I want to get out of this wing of the castle. Once I'm in the courtyard, I can find my own way to my husband's quarters."

"Yes," agreed Herr Schlicht, "I will do so with good pleasure," but did not move from where he stood.

"How is your husband?"

"What do you mean, 'How is he?'" "I think he has a sore head and dry mouth this morning. But you had not see him today, no?"

Margaret's manner and expression became less friendly.

"I help Herr Pedro put him to bed," smiled Schlicht deprecatingly, "he was so very drunk, I am sorry to know it, because it makes you angry that I know it."

To this Margaret made no reply. "Perhaps you know one or two things that I know not, and can tell me. Perhaps I know one or two you know not—very useful to you—and can tell you."

"Thank you," said Margaret. "Is that the way out?" and pointed down the passage.

"Yes. No. May I speak to you?" replied Herr Schlicht.

Motionless, he watched intently.

"Well, you are speaking to me, aren't you?"

"I had the pleasure of little conversation, but I mean, could I speak to you about some matters... Like friends. Like business friends. I mean, I think you and I could be very good friends, and help each other. Play with each other hands."

With as angry and haughty a look as she could assume, she stared.

What was the man driving at?

Herr Schlicht smiled disarmingly.

"Play into each other's hands, isn't it?"

"What do you mean?"

"I think I can help you in your affairs, and I think you can help me in my affairs."

"I don't see how I could be of service to you," replied Margaret coldly. "And I certainly don't see how you could help me in any way. Not that I require any help from anybody. Of course not! Why should I?"

"You do need help," replied Herr Schlicht, shaking his head and smiling upon her in a kindly, almost fatherly manner.

"When I need help I will appeal to my husband, thank you, and he..."

"Pray forgive me if I offend, but I know. Suppose you want help last night when Ralsul came to your room?"

SEVERE CURBING OF J. P. MORGAN'S ACTIVITIES ASKED

TWO TYPES OF BANKING COULD BE DIVORCED

CHASE NATIONAL HEAD SUBMITS DRASTIC PROPOSAL

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—Wall Street looked toward Washington today and pondered the legislative chances of Winthrop W. Aldrich's plan to change the set-up in the financial heart of the western world. Aldrich, who is head of the Chase National bank, the largest in the world, and is brother-in-law to John D. Rockefeller Jr., proposed last night the most drastic program of banking reform that has ever emanated from Wall Street.

Not only would it divorce deposit investment banking completely, but it would go far beyond even the Glass bill, which hitherto has met much disfavor in Wall Street. One effect would be to curb severely the activities and power of leading private banking firms, notably J. P. Morgan and company.

It would forbid private bankers to take deposits or to be directors of banks of deposit. Members of the Morgan firm are directors of some of the largest commercial banks of the country and hold important deposits, foreign and domestic.

There was a feeling in some parts of Wall Street that congress would give close consideration to the Aldrich proposals. They adopted the spirit of the Glass bill, which advocates the separation of banks and security affiliates, and extended it further.

The program, designed to rid commercial banking of "spirit of speculation," astonished many in Wall Street. It involves the inclusion of all commercial banks in the Federal Reserve system.

The New York Times pointed out the suggested program would curb the power of the large private investment banking firms in three respects:

First, by depriving these firms of the right to accept deposits, it would make it necessary for the private banks to obtain credit from the commercial banks in financing their security flotation.

Second, by doing away with the security affiliates of the commercial banks, the proposed regulations would take from the private banks outlets for the syndicating of their securities which have in the past been of great importance.

Third, by removing all private bankers from their positions as directors of the commercial banks, the changes would greatly reduce the prestige, influence and "inside information" available to the partners of investment houses at present.

Aldrich, a comparative newcomer to the banking field, made his proposals in connection with an announcement that the Chase National bank would divorce its security affiliate, the Chase Securities corporation. Similar steps are being taken by the National City bank.

ALLRED'S HUGE ANTI-TRUST SUIT AGAINST FIFTEEN OIL COMPANIES SCHEDULED TO START MARCH 20

AUSTIN, March 9. (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred is going to be a busy person about March 20, the date set by District Judge J. D. Moore to start trial of a suit filed by the state against 15 oil companies and two oil associations for alleged violation of the Texas anti-trust laws.

The increase in the volume of business in the attorney general's department during the past few years has kept Allred and his assistants on the jump.

In addition to handling the state's legal affairs, Allred has been called upon several times to answer difficult questions propounded by the legislature. Some of them had political aspects that admittedly required delicate handling, especially since the person called upon to handle them is said to regard his future as closely associated with the fortunes and uncertainties of politics.

Allred has indicated an intention to dispose of the anti-trust suit before making any announcement of his future political intentions. It has been reported by his friends that he intends to seek a third term as attorney general unless the anti-trust suit has been tried, or unless there are other developments not now foreseen.

The attorney general has been directing the investigation into bonus and rentals allegedly owing the state under a decision of the Texas supreme court which held the available school fund was entitled to one-half those revenues from oil lands sold by the school fund with reservation of a mineral interest.

It has been estimated that judicial determination of this question would involve filing 8,000 individual suits against land owners, most of whom reside in the West Texas area.

Banking Status Adds To Ills Of Oil Industry

TULSA, Okla., March 9. (AP)—Stricken like other businesses, the midcontinent oil industry struggled today, today, hopeful of an early flow of currency to prevent demoralization.

Marketers reported a falling off of gasoline sales attributed to scarcity of currency, despite a liberal use of credit by many retail buyers.

Current reports from Texas were that production in the East Texas fields was far out of line with the allowable flow. As much as 100,000 barrels daily excess has been reported. These were not confirmed.

In the states of Texas and Oklahoma, too, there dangled before the eyes of producers the alluring prospect of a Texas corporation to increase the price of crude oil to the vicinity of $1 a barrel in return for certain restrictions and changes in operations.

R. C. Holmes, president of the company, announced the advance from the present top price of 82 cents would be made on condition total output of the nation is held below 2,000,000 barrels, and if Texas and Oklahoma production authorities would coordinate their efforts to control production and equalize curtailments.

And Did This 'Cop' Feel So Let Down!

DENVER, Colo., March 9. (AP)—Like every other patrolman in Denver, Carl V. Satt looked and looked and looked for kidnappers of Charles Boettcher, 2nd.

He looked for 16 days, but he didn't look next door.

And that is where, say the police, the abductors had their Denver headquarters.

Satt sat stunned when he heard Vern Sankey, escaped kidnaper leader suspect, had occupied the house next to his since last December.

He was positively overcome when he learned the little boy who used to play with his small daughter was the son of Sankey.

Janet's Husband Was Jealous Says Actress' Petition

LOS ANGELES, March 9. (AP)—Jealousy is assigned by Janet Gaynor, screen star, as the principal cause of a marital rift which caused her to seek a divorce from Lyndell Peck, screen writer.

The actress' complaint, filed yesterday, sets forth that Peck was under the influence and suspicion of her and suffered fits of anger and quarreled with her over petty things. This, she charged, interfered with her professional career.

The complaint also charges Peck drank intoxicating liquors to excess at parties they attended and used abusive language toward her.

Miss Gaynor and Peck were married in Oakland, Cal., September 11, 1929. The date of separation was given as last December 14.

Man Who Started Bank Holiday Is Glad of Action

LANSING, Mich., March 9. (AP)—Governor William A. Comstock, who on February 14 proclaimed the banking holiday in Michigan that was followed by similar action in other states and ultimately by the national bank suspension said today that circumstances at the time made his action imperative. In the light of what followed his original proclamation, the governor said, under the same circumstances he would be forced to act in the same manner.

Governor Comstock expressed the belief that precipitation of the banking emergency would turn out to be a good thing for the country. National and state legislation, he said, now can be enacted which will provide for adequate reconstruction of the banking structure.

He called the original banking holiday at 2 a. m. February 14, he said, because it was necessary to avert a financial crash, not of one or two individual banks, but of many state and national institutions.

Forty Eight Sentenced
LAS CRUCES, N. M., March 9. (AP)—Penitentiary terms were given 41 persons arraigned before Federal Judge Colin Nettles on immigration law violation, charges today. The first offenders drew terms of six days and second offenders eight months. They were sent to the federal prison farm at La Tuna, New Mexico.

'The Queen City Of The Plains'

—GEORGE TYNG

Application for incorporation of the town of Pampa was addressed to the Hon. R. E. Williams, county judge of Gray county, on January 25 of 1912 by more than 20 citizens. The sheriff was given notice January 30, 1912 to post notices of the election, which he did the following day. J. S. Denison was then sheriff. His return shows that he posted copies of the notices at livery stable, the post office, and the school house.

The petition for incorporation was signed by L. L. Garton, J. T. Crawford, Jr., D. D. Simon, J. M. Smith, L. C. McMurtry, F. W. Johnson, Frank Latham, A. L. Lard, A. Tieman, W. R. Beydler, R. E. Lane, W. G. Dunivan, and T. R. Grady.

The election was held at the school house February 17, 1912 with the ballots marked "Corporation" and "No Corporation." J. R. Brown was the presiding officer, assisted by Oscar Cousins, J. W. Talley, C. P. Buckler, and S. S. Thomas.

The result was a 6-vote majority for incorporation, the vote being 34 for and 28 against. Six ballots were mutilated. The vote was recorded by C. L. Upham, county clerk.

Incorporated first under the state classification of towns and villages, the "town" of Pampa by a vote of the aldermen adopted the classification of "city" June 23, 1919. At that time, according to city records, Pampa had 860 inhabitants. The city administration at that time was composed of Mayor I. S. Jamison and Aldermen Dave Osborne, Sam Thomas, W. R. Beydler, Joe Smith, and Ivan Bridges, with the latter acting as secretary.

A petition to annex a parcel of land west of the city limits was presented and a vote was taken favorably April 11, 1922. The signers of the annexation petition were: Dr. A. R. Sawyer, A. C. Rippey, Lee Banks, J. E. Chapman, W. Purviance, H. R. Whitley, Mrs. H. R. Whitley, D. R. McPeck, J. E. Ward, Sam McCullough, Mrs. J. E. Chapman, Mrs. W. Indians Want To Know If Uncle Sam's in Trouble

GALLUP, N. M., March 9. (AP)—News of the banking holiday reached the Black Mountains, wildest and most inaccessible region of the Navajo reservation, and they sent a messenger post haste today to find out "if Uncle Sam is in trouble."

An Indian trader said when news of the holiday reached the Black Mountains Indians they started a run on his store and cleaned him out of groceries. They bought with gold after the trader refused to accept goats, lambs, Navajo rugs, jewelry, and other articles in trade.

Roosevelt Will Publish a Book In Another Week

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—President Roosevelt in his book "Looking Forward" says "I do not believe that the name of the sacred word, individualism, a few powerful interests should be permitted to make industrial cannon fodder of the lives of half the population of the United States."

"I believe that the individual should have full liberty of action to make the most of himself," he adds in the volume that will be published March 16.

"I believe in the sacredness of private property, which means that I do not believe that it should be subjected to the ruthless manipulation of professional gamblers in the stock market and in the corporate system."

"I share the general complaint against regimentation; I dislike it not only when it is carried out by an informal group amounting to an economic government of the United States itself."

"I believe that the government, without becoming a prying bureaucracy, can act as a check or counterbalance of this oligarchy so as to secure initiative, life, a chance to work, and the safety of savings to men and women, rather than safety of exploitation to the exploiters, safety of manipulation to the financial manipulator, safety of unlicensed power to those who would speculate to the bitter end with the welfare and property of other people."

"A more builder of more industrial plants, a creator of more railroad systems, a creator of more corporations, is as likely to be a danger as a help. The day of the great promoter or financial titan, to whom we granted everything if only he would build or develop, is over."

Grand Champion Hog
AMARILLO, March 9. (AP)—The grand champion pig of the Amarillo Fat Stock show, exhibited by Howard Pogue of Tulsa, sold here to the Tierra Blanca farms of Canyon for 25 cents a pound. Claude Wilks of Plainview received 10 cents a pound for her reserve champion.

GETS LAWYER TO JAIL HIM
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Neel Richardson employed a lawyer to get him in the penitentiary.

After pleading guilty to a forgery charge, Richardson was ready to leave for state's prison. But he found he'd first have to be sentenced formally. So he retained a attorney to see what could be done about it.

The attorney consulted the prosecutor's office and received promise of a recommendation for a six-month term in view of Richardson's real for punishment.

CAUSE FOR WORRY
CHICAGO (AP)—The nervousness of Alons Brady reached the stage where he felt he had to have relief. So he walked out doors and pulled a fire alarm, reasoning that the clang of responding engines would quiet his nerves.

A judge fined him $5, but the firemen, after talking with him, said they would use their influence to have the fine remitted.

"My wife," Brady told them in confidence, "is about to present me with an heir."

Nation's Banks Could Expand About 3 Billion Dollars In Currency Now

By The Associated Press

The law permits federal reserve banks to put up government securities to the face value of 60 per cent of the currency they issue, and requires that the other 40 per cent collateral be gold. The old law required a 40 per cent gold backing and a 60 per cent backing of eligible (commercial) paper.

On March 3, federal reserve banks had issued $3,865,000,000 of federal reserve notes.

Backing this they had $2,180,000,000 of gold, $1,032,000,000 of commercial paper, and $662,000,000 of government bonds.

Reports to the treasury show that the banks actually hold about $230,000,000 more gold than they have up as security for currency or a total of approximately $2,400,000,000.

Using the entire $2,400,000,000 gold as 40 per cent security, the banks may, if they hold sufficient government bonds to make up the remainder of the collateral, issue roughly a total of approximately $6,000,000,000 in currency.

Since the banks in the last 18 months have been investing their funds chiefly in government securities, and there are something like $8,000,000,000 of long term bonds outstanding, treasury officials believe they would have no difficulty whatever in expanding circulation to the full maximum permitted under the law.

At the same time national banks could expand their currency by about $840,000,000 under the provisions of the Borah-Glass amendment attached to the home loan bank law.

The banks under this amendment are permitted to issue currency up to a maximum equal to their capital stock and back it with government securities bearing not more than 3 per cent interest. Though there were $3,500,000,000 such securities outstanding, the capital stock of the national banks at the time the amendment was adopted amounted to $1,600,000,000.

The banks at that time had outstanding $666,000,000 of currency and since that time they have taken advantage of the amendment to the extent of $150,000,000. The figures were given in round numbers and officials said that there still remained an expansion of approximately $839,000,000 of which the national banks could avail themselves.

Kaiser Does Not Want His Old Job

LONDON, March 9. (AP)—Any prospect of former Kaiser Wilhelm II seeking to regain the throne of imperial Germany as a result of recent events there was stated today to have vanished through the former sovereign's own act.

If the London Daily Mail's correspondent at Doorn, Holland, is accurately informed, Wilhelm Hohenzollern has completely and voluntarily abandoned the aim with which he has often been credited of again wielding power over his own people.

Instead he is reported seeking permission to spend his declining years in the privacy of his castle at Homburg Vor Der Hohe, the famous mineral spring resort in Hesse-Nassau. He was 74 years old in January.

This request to return to Germany was said to be the special mission undertaken by his second wife, Princess Hermine, when she recently went to Berlin from their residence in Doorn. She was reported seeking sanction of the scheme from the new powers in Germany.

Forty-one timber wolves and 302 coyotes were trapped in Michigan during three months this fall.

Combining the possibilities of the two acts federal reserve and national banks of the nation could expand nearly $3,000,000,000 in currency as rapidly as the details could be rushed through the treasury.

WOMEN OF TWO CHURCHES OBSERVE WEEK OF PRAYER

LUNCHEON IS SERVED GROUP ON WEDNESDAY

CENTRAL BAPTISTS OF PAMPA SPEND ALL DAY AT CHURCH

MEETING IN all-day session yesterday at the church, the Central Baptist Women's Missionary society observed home mission week of prayer. A luncheon was served at the noon hour, and the program was given in four parts, part 1 dealing with "our country and the homeland," part 2 being based upon "our countrymen's perils," part 3 being based on the work of the home mission board, and part 4, "the call of the homeland."

My Country 'Tis of Thee was the opening hymn, and Mrs. S. L. Anderson led a prayer of gratitude. Scripture reading was by Mrs. Keith Caldwell. Following an introduction by Mrs. G. L. Moore, talks were made as follows: A Peculiar People and A Chosen Generation, Mrs. Louis Bridge; An Holy Nation, Mrs. O. J. McAllister; A Royal Priesthood, Mrs. Louis Tarpley; The People of God, Mrs. Kennedy.

Part 2 was opened by the singing of America, the Beautiful, after which Mrs. G. C. Stark spoke of Securing a True Perspective, and prayer was offered. A talk by the leader stressed the theme, "realizing that only Christianity can save the South from these perils and problems."

HELP MAKE BUSINESS WEEK OBSERVANCE SUCCESS

THE OBSERVANCE of Business Women's week in Pampa has been made successful by such workers in the Business and Professional Women's club as those shown here. Reading from left to right, those on the top row are: Mrs. John Beverly, emblem chairman; Mrs. Lee McConnell, magazine chairman; Miss Kathryn Vincent, talented member who often entertains the club by singing, dancing, and reading; Mrs. Frank Foster, chairman of the health committee. At the left is Miss Mable Davis, membership chairman and charter member, while at the right is Mrs. Jack Dunn, public relations chairman. Mrs. Dunn has planned two hours of story telling which will take place from 3 to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Rose building club rooms. The entertainment will be for children, but parents may attend if they wish. (Photos by Fred's Studio and Hester's Studio.)

Mind and Psychology of President Roosevelt Suggested as Valuable Study for Club Women of Country

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—Study of the mind and psychology of President-elect Roosevelt is urged upon women's clubs, as part of their spring programs in civic affairs, by William L. Cheney, editor of Collier's, and George Creel, democratic leader and close friend of Roosevelt for many years.

Mr. Creel has prepared a brief presentation of the facts about Roosevelt which he regards as essential to any woman's understanding of White House policy during the next four years.

"Nothing is more certain," he says, "than that the next four years will see the most highly articulate president in the history of the republic. It will be Roosevelt's effort to speak for the nation, not only proposing measures, but working for them, agitating for them. It was what he did as governor of New York, for time after time he went directly to the people with his proposals."

"He loves to talk, but along with it is an eager willingness to listen. As a matter of truth, his keen interest in all that is said to him, together with his rare courtesy, is chiefly responsible for the persistent charge that he does not keep faith or stand hitched. I spent some weeks running down this accusation, and found that it had no other base than Franklin Roosevelt's conversational manner. Because he gives everyone a hearing, and interested and open-minded, many leap to the conclusion that he is agreeing."

"The ready smile of the man, his temperamental gaiety, is another thing that deceives, for underneath is an indomitable will, never giving up the pursuit of an objective. Dutch stubbornness if you will, but iron in its quality. What more conclusive proof could be desired than his fight against the dread disease that struck him down in his thirty-ninth year?"

Periodical Health Examinations Imperative for Insurance of Good Physican Condition; Reasons Given

(Editor's note: The following article was submitted for publication in the Pampa Daily News at the request of the Business and Professional Women's club.)

Most of us will admit the value and even the necessity of frequent inspections and serving of our automobiles. We check the oil, put water in the batteries, test the tire pressure, and have the car washed and greased periodically. The reason for all this is simple and sound; it insures against mishaps, enables us to have minor adjustments made and enjoy longer and more efficient service from a machine which we use daily.

If we are convinced of the economic soundness of proper care of the machines which we use only part of the time, why should we not give at least as much care to our bodies which are far more complicated machines, and which we use twenty-four hours a day. These thoughts bring up the question of periodic health examinations. What is their value and how often should they be made? Life insurance companies know the value of physical examinations, and they have arrived at their conclusions as the result of the Act calculations of their actuaries. They are interested in the physical welfare of their policy holders from a purely financial standpoint. The longer he lives the longer he will invest his money with them. Most of us cherish life, even in these times of depression. Yet we are seldom concerned in ourselves to the extent that the life insurance company is which carries the financial risk on our lives. This laxness on the part of the individual is usually not the result of indifference, but due rather to the fact that no one calls his attention to the duty he owes himself.

BIBLE STUDIED IN FAHY HOME

LOYAL WOMEN'S CLASS HOLDS MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

Loyal Women's class members, First Christian church, had their monthly Bible study yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. B. C. Fahy with Mrs. H. H. Isbell and Mrs. C. P. Woodward as co-hostesses.

The meeting was opened with a business session presided over by the president, Mrs. C. P. Bastion, presiding. The lesson was led by Mrs. W. E. Speed, who based her remarks on the 7th, 8th, and 9th chapters of Luke.

Members attending were Mesdames W. E. Riegin, W. E. Speed, J. M. Saunders, Tom Eckerd, Carrie Willis, C. D. Lynch, John Beverly, H. O. Jones, C. F. Bastion, B. L. Walters, D. C. Houk, Roy McMillen, Don Hurst, and the hostesses, Mesdames Robert Woodward, Irene Stevens, and S. S. Smith.

At the close of the meeting, angel food cake with green icing was served with green ice cream.

FIND FOUR INDICTMENTS
The first district court's grand jury yesterday returned four burglary indictments involving five men, two of whom were indicted jointly. The defendants are J. B. Chastain, Paul Ellis, Lonzell Kenner, Ralph W. Beckham, and C. B. Morse. Ellis and Kenner were jointly indicted. Judge W. R. Ewing is attending to non-jury matters but will take up the jury civil docket Monday.

MAY AFFECT DOCKET
State laws now in process of passage may have an important bearing on 31st district court procedure, it was learned today. A bill already passed by one house would allow judgments in mortgage foreclosures but would delay for one year the executions on them. A number of suits on the local docket would be affected should the bill become law.

Miss Winifred Heiskell spent a restful night in Worley hospital and her condition this morning was somewhat improved.

lungs should be listened (and this cannot be done well through the clothing), the blood pressure should be taken, the blood and urine examined, all the body orifices inspected and then if anything abnormal has been found a more exhaustive investigation made of that particular part.

forward-looking plans, read the notices of his forthcoming book, "Looking Forward" in which he becomes very articulate in denouncing tendencies of the last 10 years. He believes in safeguarding deposits of the people through government action, and he would restore more freedom of opportunity and end the era of manipulation and high-powered promotion. If he had issued the book a year ago, Wall Street would have had a bad fright, but conditions are different now.

OUR BANKING PLAN

Without disparaging in any way the heroic efforts of bankers to sacrifice every cent, if necessary, to weather the depression, we agree with those who believe fifty banking systems in this country are too many. Moreover, money, the life blood of business, does not have to be circulated by as many as three banks in small towns. The states have 48 systems, mostly divergent as to regulations and efficiency of inspection. National banks have another set of regulations, and the Federal Reserve constitutes still another system.

UNITY IN RED TAP

The main semblance of unity in banking is the influence which Wall Street, through its ramifications and interlocking directorates, exerts over the country. Many an unholy alliance has been revealed in recent months. Reorganization of banking can eliminate the most pernicious evils. Reorganizing can give to those who have demand deposits the certainty that their money is safe. Those who wish to get interest on their funds can have some other form of deposits but demand deposits can be guaranteed in such a way as to make impossible a crisis such as Mr. Roosevelt now faces.

CANADA DOES IT

While Canada may not have the best banking system obtainable, the experience in that country is something to study. Her system did not permit the unbridled inflation and easy money which America had in 1929—and Canadians looked to Wall Street with envy—but who could say now that America had the better policy? To have insured against deposit losses from 1865 to 1931 would have required only 1-100 per cent, according to Business Week magazine. By making stockholders liable as now to the extent of double indemnity, then to insure against the remaining loss, would preserve the elements conducive to safe banking and, at the same time, prevent losses to the public. If you disagree with any of these ideas, the Pampan would appreciate a letter explaining your views.

Livestock Exchange Would Close Today

KANSAS CITY, March 9. (P)—The Kansas City Livestock Exchange planned to close at 2 p. m. today for the remainder of the week.

Taking advantage of the expected week-end lull in the movement of livestock, the board of directors announced the holiday late yesterday, giving as the chief reason the inability to move reserve funds from Chicago banks to Kansas City to handle transactions.

E. W. Elliott, president of the exchange said every effort would be made to resume trading Monday, but definite announcement regarding the reopening would not be made until Saturday following a meeting of the board.

Sales Tax Facts Given Lions Club By Debaters of Pampa High School

Enlightening facts on Texas taxation were given Pampa Lions today by two high school debaters, Fred Johnson and Reed Clarke, coached by Miss Fannie May, head of the English department.

The boys showed a thorough knowledge of the subject and spoke easily although extemporaneously. They presented both sides of the subject. Resolved, that half the state taxes should be derived from sources other than the property tax. They showed that while tangible property is half the value of Texas wealth and produces 1-4 of the income, it pays nearly 3-4 of the taxes.

Another pupil, Helen Arndt, sang vocal solos which pleased the club. She has an unusually bright, strong voice. She was accompanied at the piano by Emmitt Smith.

Mrs. M. P. Downs presented Miss Arndt, who is a member of the B. K. club sponsored by the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Downs spoke briefly of the B. & P. W. conference to be held here April 22 and 23 and received assurance that the Lions would help entertain delegates.

It was announced by C. H. Walker that the Pampa Lions club is the largest in the West Texas district, with 76 members.

A committee composed of Olin E. Hinkle, L. L. Sone, and J. O. Gillham was appointed to have charge of a Lions International essay contest on the subject, "If I Were a Lion, What Would I Want My Lions Club to Do for Our Community?"

C. H. Walker, district governor, will give a gold medal to the local winner, then the essay will be submitted to the district judges. The international winner will receive a free trip to the international convention at St. Louis in July.

Grand Master Wallace Houghton of the grand lodge of Texas will speak over radio station WFAA, Dallas, at 6:45 o'clock Saturday night. Pampa Masons and their friends are urged to hear the address. The grand master is a well known figure in Masonic work throughout the nation and his addresses are always well received.

Harry Bradford, worshipful master of the Pampa lodge, is making a personal appeal to members to hear the broadcast.

MANAGERS MOVED
R. E. Trevisky of Wetumka, Okla., has been transferred to Gray county to become manager of the Phillips north plant, replacing Louis Clark, who will go to Wetumka to take charge of the company plant there. The north plant is located southeast of Pampa and west of LeFors.

Mr. and Mrs. Trevisky and family have already moved and are residing at the north camp.

R. O. Green of Amarillo was a visitor here yesterday.

of the sound value of the notes, drafts, bills of exchange and bankers' acceptances.

Notes would be receivable at par in all parts of the United States "and for the same purposes as are national bank notes" and would be redeemable in lawful money. They would be subject to the same tax as is provided by law for circulating notes of national banks secured by two per cent bonds.

The bill provides that in "exceptional circumstances" when member banks have no further eligible assets, the reserve bank may make advances to them on time or demand notes secured by the satisfaction of the reserve bank.

Modifying a law passed by congress at the last session, the bill would authorize reserve banks to make direct loans to individuals, partnerships or corporations (with permission of the reserve bank) on promissory notes secured by direct obligations of the United States.

The bill in general would give the comptroller of the currency board powers to conserve assets of banks for the benefit of depositors and other creditors. The comptroller would also be authorized to prescribe rules and regulations in order to carry out the provisions thereof.

The bill appropriates $2,000,000 for necessary expenditures to be made under the direction of the president, and at his discretion for any purpose in connection with the carrying out provisions of the measure.

The war time powers given to the president by the act of 1917 would be broadened and extended to cover such national emergency as the president shall declare to exist.

The act takes effect immediately.

WASHINGTON, March 9. (P)—A brief, authoritative description of the emergency banking bill follows:

1. Validation of all emergency decrees and proclamations of the president and secretary of the treasury.

2. Re-enactment of sections of the old wartime trading with the enemy act, to prevent hoarding and to control gold reserves in the United States.

3. Grant to the federal government of power to control all national banks; state banks, through state banking commissioners; provision for prompt reorganization of non-liquid banks, and closure of non-liquid banks for the present.

4. Authorization for the Reserve board to issue federal reserve bank notes, through reserve banks, against obligations of the United States, notes of corporations, partnerships or individuals secured by United States obligations and against notes of member banks when secured by sound assets.

This was the interpretation of a senator who had studied the bill, but was not an administration explanation.

"I know they give me electric chair but I don't care—I'm right."

"It don't make no difference who I kill—I kill Mr. Hoover or Mussolini if I see them first."

"Are you sorry you shot the other people?" Twyman asked.

"I sorry I no shoot Roosevelt."

"Do you want to tell the court anything?"

"No."

"Yes, I kill Mr. Roosevelt if he comes in this room now," Zangara said in response to a question from State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne.

"Would you kill Mr. Hoover?"

"No he's not president now."

"I'd kill any king or president."

Zangara said he knew nothing about Mayor Cermak until after the shooting.

"But I want to kill Roosevelt," he repeated.

Zangara said he had planned to kill former President Hoover but had changed his mind when he learned here Roosevelt, who he later tried to kill was coming to Miami.

"No, no, I not crazy," he said in response to a question by Twyman.

being administered during reorganization by government "conservators."

The stockholders and the comptroller of the currency would have to join in approving the reorganization before the bank could be turned back to its board of directors.

The bill would authorize issuance of new currency against government bonds, notes, drafts, bills of exchange and bankers' acceptances.

Only the most scant formalities were carried through in senate and house, as the membership of the 73rd congress waited anxiously to attempt to perfect the legislation so it could be signed by tonight.

Representative Rainey of Illinois was formally elevated to the speakership, with the vote on party lines.

"To the senate and house of representatives:

"On March 3 banking operations in the United States ceased. To review at this time the causes of this failure of our banking system is unnecessary. Suffice it to say that the government has been compelled to step in for the protection of depositors and the business of the nation."

"Our first task is to reopen all sound banks. This is an essential preliminary to subsequent legislation directed against speculation with the funds of depositors and other violations of position of trust."

"In order that the first objective—the opening of banks for the resumption of business—may be accomplished, I ask of the congress the immediate enactment of legislation giving to the executive branch of the government control over banks for the protection of depositors; authority forthwith to open such banks as have already been ascertained to be in sound condition and other such banks as rapidly as possible; and authority to reorganize and reopen such banks as may be found to require reorganization to put them on a sound basis."

"I ask amendments to the Federal Reserve act to provide for such additional currency, adequately secured, as it may become necessary to issue to meet all demands for currency and at the same time to achieve this end without increasing the unsecured indebtedness of the government of the United States."

"I cannot too strongly urge upon the congress the clear necessity for immediate action. A continuation of the strangulation of banking facilities is unthinkable. The passage of the proposed legislation will end this condition and trust within a short space of the time will result in a resumption of business activities."

"In addition, it is my belief that this legislation will not only lift immediately all unwarranted doubts and suspicions in regards to banks which are one hundred per cent sound but will also mark the beginning of a new relationship between the banks and the people of this country."

"The members of the new congress will realize, I am confident, the grave responsibility which lies upon me and upon them."

"In the short space of five days it is impossible for us to formulate completed measures to prevent the recurrence of the evils of the past. This does not and should not, however, justify any delay in accomplishing this first step."

"At an early moment I shall request of the congress two other measures which I regard as of immediate urgency. With action taken thereon we can proceed to the consideration of a rounded program of national restoration."

BUFFALOES BATTLE HENRY'S TONIGHT IN HARDEST FIGHT

MISSOURIANS DEFEATED BY TALLEST TEAM

WEST TEXANS TO PLAY CHAMPIONS THIS EVENING

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH, Associated Press Sports Writer.
KANSAS CITY, March 9. (AP)—Two intersectional games involving teams from California, Illinois, Kansas, Texas, a Missouri-Kansas battle and a contest between a pair of Oklahoma contenders are programmed for tonight in the quarter-finals of the A. A. U. national basketball tournament.

The Wichita Henry's, seeking their fourth straight national title, face the West Texas Teachers from Canyon after a day and night of third round play which saw the elimination of the Schuessler Athletic club of Chicago, which won third place last year.

Chicago was still represented, however, owing to the 24-21 surprise victory of the Rosenberg-Arvey team over the Denver Pigeons, who carry on their roster four former members of the Maryville Teachers' squad, winner of the runner-up honors in 1932.

The surviving Chicago quintet tonight meets the Pasadena, Calif., Majors, who found more difficulty than expected in ousting Rockhurst college of Kansas City, 26-20.

As in their first two games, the champion Henry's were never hard pressed with Gridley Motors cagers, also from Wichita. The score was 44-16.

West Texas Teachers had to take full advantage of their extraordinary height to overcome the Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers, 32-25, after trailing early in the game, just as they did against the Alva, Okla., Teachers in the second round Tuesday.

Phillips university of Enid, Okla., overlooked in the shuffle at the start, turned in a surprise 24-21 victory over Kansas City Life, a team bolstered by six conference stars of the present and former seasons.

PRESENT BEAUMONT HURLING STAFF NOT EQUAL TO 1932

Average Age of Exporters Is 21 Years; Oldest Man Is 26 Years Old.

The Beaumont Exporters, with a roster of 34 players, have started spring training. On or before March 15, all other Texas league clubs will be training for the 1933 pennant race which will be begun with enthusiasm from Pres. J. Alvin Gardner to the club mascots.

The Exporters jumped the training gun because it was necessary for them to be in fair condition March 18-19 when they play exhibition games against the Detroit Tigers.

The Exporters probably will have the youngest team individually in the league. Of the 34 players listed on the spring training roster the "old man" of the aggregation is Paul "pound 'em" Easterling, veteran outfielder, who is all of 25 years old. The average age of the 1933 Beaumont club will be 21 years.

Of the 11 pitchers listed by Beaumont none was a big winner last season. If the current list of hurlers is not up to expectation the Exporters probably will get help from the Detroit Tigers.

The staff does not compare favorably with that of 1932, which listed Izzy Goldstein with 6 wins and 1 defeat, Schoolboy Rowe 19 wins and 7 defeats, Art Herring, 11 victories and 5 defeats; Luke Hamlin, 20 wins and 10 beatings; "Jelly" Collier, 16 wins and 9 trimmings.

Collier and Marrow, "Jelly" Collier and Buck Marrow may get return transportation to Beaumont from the Detroit training site at San Antonio, but the opinion of Jack Zeller, chief Detroit scout, is that Goldstein, Rowe, Hamlin and Herring will stick with the Tigers. Goldstein stayed with Detroit most of last season.

Collier and Marrow, "Jelly" Collier and Buck Marrow may get return transportation to Beaumont from the Detroit training site at San Antonio, but the opinion of Jack Zeller, chief Detroit scout, is that Goldstein, Rowe, Hamlin and Herring will stick with the Tigers. Goldstein stayed with Detroit most of last season.

TEAM GETTING IN SHAPE FOR SANDIE VISIT

TRACK AND FIELD MEN TO MEET AMARILLO MARCH 18

More than 100 high school boys gathered at San Houston school playground yesterday afternoon to participate in football practice and track and field workouts. The campus was a beehive of industry for more than two hours as Coach Odus Mitchell put his thin clads through their paces and Assistant Coach Angus Fox put football prospects into condition.

Neither squad went through hard practice but took their time at limbering up. The squad of green football boys was strengthened by the arrival of more ex-Gorillas. Leslie Sartin was the only addition to the track and field squad.

More of last season's Gorillas are expected out this afternoon, when another practice is on schedule. The coach plans to add a little more work each afternoon until he has his charges in condition to attend light scrimmages and perhaps intra-squad games. Condition is going to be one of the major items of consideration this year. Injuries have wrecked Harvester football teams on several occasions.

Only seven days separate the Harvester track and field squad from their first contest of the season. The Amarillo Sandies will come to Pampa for a dual meet March 18. The Sandies will have a big edge on condition, having been on the cinders for the past month while the Pampa boys have been out only three days.

Coach Mitchell had 29 thin clads in uniform yesterday afternoon. He has not divided his squad as yet but will probably do so tomorrow afternoon. Conditioning and starting have been the forms of exercise to date. Prospects are promising.

LaNora Theater To Have Wizard For Whole Week

Willard the Wizard is coming to Pampa for an entire week, starting next Wednesday. He will appear on the stage of the LaNora theater afternoon and night during the week. He will give a free demonstration of his powers in front of the theater at 12 o'clock noon Wednesday.

The Magician is recognized as one of the greatest in the world. He has been placed on a nearly equal footing with the late Houdini by many people. The high spot of his act will be a levitation exhibition. Another feat will be the sawing in two of a woman. The manual training class at the high school will build a box to the magician's specifications and he will escape from it.

The disappearing bird cage is a favorite trick, according to George Limerick, manager of the theater. Willard appeared in Amarillo last October and made such a hit with Amarillo theater goers that he returned in January, and it was at that time that Mr. Limerick booked him to appear in Pampa. Mr. Limerick was on the stage during one of the magician's exhibitions and he admitted that he was "stumped."

ATHENS AND HOUSTON FIVES ARE PRE-TOURNEY FAVORITES

Silver - Thatched Leader Long at Top in Leading His Party in Skirmishes.

By BILL PARKER

Pre-tournament favorites for the 1933 Texas Interscholastic league basketball championship are the Athens Hornets and Jeff Davis of Houston.

Ranking second as favorites are the Dallas Tech Wolves and Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio.

The tournament will be held March 10 and 11 at Austin and promises to be one of the most interesting of the twelve state championship events.

The Athens Hornets are the only aggregation to win the scholastic title three times. They won in 1927, 1929 and 1931. Should the Hornets come through this week-end it will give them a record that may stand for many years—four state championships within seven years.

Jimmy Kitts, former coach of the Athens Hornets whose teams won the three state championships, two national scholastic titles, six district crowns, six bi-district awards, one southern A. A. U. title and runner-up honors in one national consolation, will be missing this year. Kitts is now coaching at Rice. Bobo Nelson will direct the Athens quintet.

Dallas Tech Wolves Coach "Doc" Hayes of the Dallas Tech Wolves will send a redoubtable team into the tournament. It breezed through the Dallas city series without a defeat and then won the district and bi-district rights to enter the state tournament.

Tech will show the tournament a five-man offense with Red Sledge, the chief goal shooter. In the six district and bi-district games played by Tech, Sledge scored 48 points. In the six games, Tech scored 187 points to the opposition's 125. Coach Hayes is a graduate of the North Texas Teachers college at Denton where good basketball and higher education go hand in hand. His quintet plays a hard-driving game that should be to its advantage in a short two-day tournament such as the state scholastic event.

Defending Champion The Temple high school Wildcats will be defending champions. Temple was defeated several times in regular scheduled games this season, but when time arrived to beat down and win the district and bi-district titles the Wildcats proved they had the ability. Although they will be defending champions, the Wildcats do not rank as one of the four favorites.

Spring Weather Brings Talk Of Playground Ball

There has been considerable baseball and playground ball talk in the air the last few days and players and fans are wondering if it doesn't happen to be time to get organized for the season. Of course, there will be some mighty cold and blustery days before spring gets here if the weather man is right.

Several oil companies are talking a baseball league, seeing that Pampans are not interested in taking a try at professional baseball this year. There are many stellar players in this area and several newcomers to the field have been found by "underever" men for the various interested team managers.

Talk of the early formation of a playground ball league is rife and it is expected that a meeting will be called soon. Plans are under way to run the league on a similar idea to that used on the Pacific coast where some of the best teams in the nation are located.

The NEWS will gladly call meetings at the request of some of the team managers in both proposed leagues.

Case Is 'Ironclad' Says Denver Chief

DENVER, Colo., March 9. (AP)—The police case against six suspects in the Charles Boettcher, 2nd, kidnapping has become "ironclad." Chief of Police Albert T. Clark announced today.

The chief also predicted that officers on the trail of two of the six not yet in custody would effect their capture before the day had passed. The two sought are Verne Sankey and Gordon Elkhorn, believed by Clark to be fleeing into Canada. Two women and two men are in jail here. Federal kidnapping charges have been filed against all six.

Information which caused Chief Clark to state he had an "ironclad" case, he said, came from Arthur Youngberg, alleged member of the kidnap band, captured at a ranch house allegedly owned by Sankey near Chamberlain, S. Dak. Police said Youngberg was the guard who watched the 31-year-old wealthy broker in the basement at the Sankey ranch during the 16-day period in which negotiations for $60,000 ransom were completed.

Estimates of the amount
