BOND ISSUE IS NEEDED

AN EDITORIAL

Tomorrow is the day that Scurry County voters likely will get their last opportunity to vote on their 1971 registrations, and the issue is an important one to the entire area.

The Scurry County Junior College District has proposed a $2½ million bond issue to complete construction work on the Western Texas College campus. If approved, the bonds will finance the last buildings in the college's original plans, and these are expected to be the last general obligation bonds that the college district will require for several years.

College officials have estimated that the facilities included in the bond issue will be sufficient to take care of the needs of an enrollment up to 1,500 to 2,000. At the same time, some of the facilities are urgently needed now to take care of the needs of the present enrollment.

History has proved the folly of providing merely enough for today's needs on college campuses—except those that are content with the status quo.

Those who have visited the Western Texas College campus inavariably were impressed with the design and the operation of the college. It cannot function with 100 per cent efficiency,, however, until the original, basic plans are completed. The bonds are needed, and they must be approved at the polls tomorrow to fulfill the last segment of that junior college dream that has prevailed here for many years.

PLEAS FOR HELP IGNORED

ROCHESTER, N.Y. AP—Why didn't at least one of the 100 or more motorists stop to assist a 10-year-old girl who stood along a busy expressway, partially clad and pleading for help?

Police in Monroe County sought the answer today, as they looked for clues in the rape and strangulation death of Carmen Colon.

To help find the killer, Rochester's two newspapers and other groups have offered rewards totaling more than $4,000 for information leading to the arrest of the girl's slayer.

The Democrat & Chronicle and the Times-Union said they received more than a dozen calls Sunday, but few seemed related to the case. Some came from motorists who said they saw the girl or a "suspicious" man on Interstate 490 last Tuesay.

Police said the girl disappeared that day while on a shopping errand for her mother. They theorized the child was kidnaped, escaped and ran along the highway hoping for help.

Her body was found by two teen-agers on Thursday along a rural road in suburban Riga. A medical examiner said she had been raped and stranguled.

Motorists who contacted the police after the girl's body was found and reported seeing the child along the superhighway said traffic was heavy and moving at upwards of 60 miles an hour. Some said they could not have stopped to aid her because of the traffic.

WITHOUT FORMAL DECLARATION OF WAR

India Attacks East Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pakistan radio broadcast said today India "has launched an all-out offensive against East Pakistan" without a formal declaration of war.

The Pakistan government broadcast in English from Karachi was monitored here.

It said "the Indian army has concentrated all its might in the Jessore area where the attack has been launched by nine Indian infantry division, four Indian mountain divisions and two Indian tank regiments.

"Fierce fighting continued in Jessore throughout the night and the early hours of the morning," the broadcast said.

The Pakistan government broadcast claimed the offensive followed increasing attacks, minor and major skirmishes and a buildup of more than 12 Indian infantry divisions around East Pakistan in recent months.

The United States, the Soviet Union and Communist China all have urged restraint by India and Pakistan.

U.S. officials said they were aware of a major clash about two brigades of Indian army forces, but had nothing to confirm that anything more than a border incident had taken place.

There was no inclination by these officials to believe that India had committed large forces to the encounter. Most of India's mountain divisions are concentrated in the north, official sources pointed out.

A Pakistan army source in Dacca reported Sunday night that Pakistan had "blunted a major offensive" by two Indian army brigades.

Jessore, today's reported target is a principal military cantonment south and west of the Ganges River in East Pakistan.

FIRE DAMAGE—There was heavy damage in rooms 14, 15, 23, and 24 on the west wing of Travis Junior High School during a fire there Saturday afternoon. Here, damage can be seen to the interior of room 14. The blaze, touched off by arsonists, caused several thousands of dollars in damage.

College Bond Issue Vote Set Tuesday

Scurry County voters will go to the polls tomorrow to cast ballots on a $2½ million bond issue proposed by the Scurry County Junior College District. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

All voting precincts in the county will be in operation. Four Snyder boxes, however, will be in temporary locations because of the courthouse remodeling project. Box 1, Northeast Snyder, will be at Snyder National Bank; Box 17, Northwest Snyder, will be at the city hall; Box 18, Southwest Snyder, will be at the police station; and Box 20, Southeast Snyder, will be at the coliseum. The other Snyder polling place, Box 15, will be at its regular location in the school administration building. All voters in rural precincts will cast ballots at their regular polling places.

The bond funds are being sought to complete construction work on the Western Texas College campus. When the original building plans were approved, a student center and health and physical education building were deleted from the first phase of construction when the original bond issue proved too small for the entire project. These are the major items on the current list for completion with funds from bonds up for consideration tomorrow.

At present, make shift student center facilities have been set up in the vocational - technical complex, but this space is urgently needed for classroom space. Also, food service facilities included in the student center plans will be essential when the dormitory complex now under construction is completed.

The college has no facilities for health and physical education at present. Facilities provided by the public schools is being used temporarily, but these are inadequate and transportation problems further complicate their use.

Funds also would be provided to complete the applied science center as originally planned. These facilities are needed immediately for classes already in session, college officials said, and requirements will become even more acute as enrolment increases.

One additional building, a heritage center and museum, is in the plans. A museum was in long range plans from the very beginning and it was included in the bond issue at the request of the Scurry County Museum Association, the Ranch Headquarters Association and the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee. However, the museum will serve as a classroom facility also. WTC officials said that classes would use that building five days per week.

Other funds are earmarked for work on grounds, including additional parking lots, and for power plant equipment additions required to serve the new buildings.

Hundreds of area residents toured facilities on the WTC campus Sunday afternoon during an informal "open house" event. Visitors were taken on tours of all facilities already in use, and sites for the proposed future buildings were pointed out.

The tour began at the Christian Student Center and continued through the administration building, the latest to be completed, and on through the fine arts building now in the last stages of completion, and the vocational - technical complex, where most of the college classes are being conducted at this time.

During the open house, the college officially accepted a statue of Romeo and Juliet presented WTC by Mr. and Mrs. C.T. McLaughlin.

Butz Is Okayed On Condition

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a surprisingly narrow 8 to 6 margin the Senate Agriculture Committee today approved President Nixon's nomination of Earl Butz to be secretary of agriculture.

The committee's approval was conditioned, however, on a requirement that Butz put all his agribusiness stocks in a blind trust and sell them within 90 days.

Referring to Butz's ownership of more than $100,000 of stock in Ralston-Purina, Stokely Van-Camps and International Minerals and Chemicals, the committee said no further agribusiness stock is to be purchased by Butz if he is confirmed as secretary by the Senate.

Butz, the 62-year-old Purdue University dean, raised great controversy in three days of hearings because of his alleged advocacy in the past of agribusiness interests over family farms and his scornful remarks about environmentalists and President Nixon's welfare program.

The narrow vote made virtually certain a fight on the Senate floor over the nomination.

Butz served under the controversial Ezra Taft Benson during the 1950s, a period in which he made speeches advising farmers to "adapt or die" when faced by technological change on the farms.

Arsonists Blamed For School Blaze

Fire touched off by arsonists caused several thousand dollars of damage to the west wing of the Travis Junior High School Saturday afternoon.

Chief of Police Bobby Goodwin said the blaze definitely was the result of arson. He said matches were discovered in several of the classrooms. Several suspects have been questioned but no arrests had been made by Monday morning.

School officials did not have a definite estimate on the amount of the damage. The fire was covered by $5,000 deductible insurance.

Police Sergeant Ben McNulty discovered smoke coming from the school building at 3:58 p.m. Saturday while he was on routine patrol. Firemen responded to the call with four trucks. Volunteer firemen also helped fight the blaze.

The flames were quickly brought under control as firemen went into classrooms 14 and 15 on the north side of the first floor of the west wing and into rooms 23 and 24 on the second floor above the other two rooms.

There was heavy fire damage in each of these four rooms. In addition, there was water damage in several other rooms and smoke damage in virtually every room on the west wing. The curtains in the auditorium probably will have to be replaced, firemen said.

School officials this morning said the blaze was "not as bad as originally expected."

Jack Gorman, principal at Travis Junior High School, said that several vacant rooms at the school will be used for the classes that met in the damaged rooms.

Firemen also answered a call this morning to an unoccupied building at Avenue M and Eighth Street owned by Martin Benitez. Damage was minor. The cause of this fire has not been determined.

Removal Of Bullock Is Asked

AUSTIN (AP) — State Republican Party leaders called Monday for the removal of Secretary of State Bob Bullock, charging he was irrevocably biased for Gov. Preston Smith.

State GOP Chairman George Willeford and the vice chairman, Mrs. Malcolm Milburn, also said GOP strategists are considering a long list of possible GOP gubernatorial candidates including Dallas financier Ross Perot and astronauts Neil Armstrong and Frank Borman.

"We are not interested in any one person at this time," Willeford said. "We just want good qualified people to file for the job in our primary."

Willeford said the governor's race was discussed at a meeting of about 100 "grass roots" party leaders Sunday in Austin but no decisions made.

Willeford said Bullock's appointment by Smith, as secretary of state, makes him the chief election officer in the state. "During his brief tenure his conduct has proved that he cannot possibly serve in that capacity with so much as a shred of the impartiality the position demands. Over and over he has displayed naked hostility toward our party and toward any one of us who may express our views on any topic."

Willeford said recent published reports of Bullock saying: "I can help him (Smith) more down here in this office than I could on his staff" should be an omnous to anti-Smith Democrats as to Republicans.

Willeford said he was asking Roy Orr, state Democratic chairman, to join with him "in an effort to get both parties on record, by resolution, urging the Senate to decline confirmation of the biased Mr. Bullock as secretary of state."

Over 800 Sign In Labor Survey

Results of a labor survey which drew over 800 participants were being studied today by an industrial firm which is considering Snyder as the site for a manufacturing plant.

The survey was conducted last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday by local groups working with the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Mickey Nunley, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that approximately 820 persons responded in the survey, which had been requested by the Scurry County Industrial Foundation and Texas Electric Service Co., whose officials had negotiated with the industrial firm.

A decision is expected within the next few days on the plant site. The turn-out for the labor survey, although below the figure that Chamber of Commerce officials had hoped for, was regarded as good.

The industrial concern had indicated in conferences here before the survey that it was considering a temporary installation in an existing building requiring about 100 employes. Subsequently, a permanent building would be constructed and employment rolls would expand ultimately to some 400 to 500.

Chamber officials expressed appreciation to those who helped conduct the survey. Scores of local residents volunteered their services, most of them representatives of clubs and other organizations.

Top Court Bans Sex Discrimination

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that "arbitrary" discrimination against women is unconstitutional.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger spoke for the court as it struck down an Idaho law that gave men preference over women in administering estates.

The ruling was the first ever by the high court to ban sex discrimination under the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment.

The House of Representatives has approved a constitutional amendment guaranteeing women equal rights. The ruling came as a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee was about to hold a session on the proposed amendment. The effect of the decision on the amendment was not immediately clear.

In the past, the court has used the same provision of the 14th Amendment to protect Negroes against discrimination. The clause was the basis for decisions beginning in 1954 that prohibited racial segregation in the public schools.

The 14th Amendment ws ratified in 1868. Section 1 includes the admonition that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States ... nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Finance Ministers To Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally announced today that finance ministers of the "Group of Ten" richest nations will meet in Rome Nov. 30, and added that he was "very hopeful that progress can be made."

But Connally told a news conference he doubted a realignment of the world's currencies could be achieved in a single meeting.

And in comment on homefront aspects of President Nixon's economic policy, Connally said he was "very disappointed" in the coal wage settlement approved last week by the Pay Board and hoped it would not become a precedent for other contracts.

The Pay Board has approved a coal pay raise estimated at from 15 to 16.8 per cent, whereas its general guideline is 5.5 per cent.

The secretary, who is chairman of Nixon's Cost of Living Council, deplored as "boorishness" the conduct of AFL-CIO President George Meany during Nixon's visit to the federation's convention in Bal Harbour, Fla., last Friday.

Handwriting 'analysis' upsets her

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I recently wrote a short note to a woman I know slightly, asking for some information on her solicitations for symphony subscriptions.

A few days later, I received a two paged "analysis" of my handwriting, and I have been fuming ever since!

In the first place, I don't know whether this woman has had any special training, or if she's an amateur who analyzes handwriting for a hobby, but some of her "observations" were downright insulting!

Example: "Your love life leaves much to be desired, but it could be greatly improved if you would get over some of your old-fashioned, puritanical ideas."

Also, "You are much too timid. Stand up to your husband when you think he is wrong. He will respect you for it."

Abby, if you have any suggestions on how to handle this, I would appreciate it. I want nothing more to do with this woman. STILL FUMING

DEAR FUMING: TYPE a note to her and tell her that YOU have "analyzed" HER handwriting, and have concluded that she would have more friends if she'd quit "analyzing" handwriting.

DEAR ABBY: All my life I've been afraid of dogs. Not just big dogs. I am afraid of the smallest dog. I can't help it. Dogs have always terrified me.

My sister and her husband invited my husband and me to visit them for a weekend, and since they know how much I fear dogs, I thought surely they would lock up their dog, but they didn't.

When we got there and I saw their dog roaming around the house I became hysterical and caused a terrible scene. I screamed and carried on, and ran upstairs and locked myself in the bathroom.

My husband came up shortly afterwards and said, "We will go home now." And we did.

Abby, I feel so terrible over this. When my sister and her husband have visited us, they always tied their dog to a pole outside or locked him in the basement to keep him away from me.

Please tell me if I should write and apologize for the way I acted. I am 66 years old. HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: If it will make you feel any better, write and apologize. But in my view, they owe YOU an apology for having exposed you to their dog knowing how you fear dogs.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have boys, 15 months and three months. We were overwhelmed with joy when our first child was born. We had prayed for a boy, and we got one.

Before I knew it, I was carrying our second child. The problem is the second boy is completely opposite from our first. He cries all the time for no apparent reason, and we can't keep him on any kind of schedule.

I sometimes find myself regretting we ever had him. We both desperately wanted a little girl, and I don't seem able to love him as I do the older boy.

I keep thinking the most horrible thoughts, like secretly wishing something would happen to him, so we wouldn't be bothered with him anymore. Yet, I know if something were to happen to him I'd never be able to forgive myself because of my secret thoughts.

My husband doesn't know how I feel. Nobody does. Do you think I ought to see a doctor?

CONFUSED AND FEELING GUILTY

DEAR CONFUSED: I certainly do. And I urge you to see him quickly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO L. L.: The proof of the pudding is not always in the eating. It's whether the diner comes back for seconds. A lot of mediocre pudding has been consumed because there was nothing else on the menu.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Firemen Are Called Twice

City Firemen answered two calls to fires Saturday in addition to the blaze at Travis Junior High School.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the 1965 Model Chevrolet of Ruben Sanchez of Lamesa 10 miles west of Snyder on U.S. 180 at 1:50 p.m. Firemen also had to extinguish a grass fire that resulted from the car fire.

The other call was at 10 p.m. to the Fred Gonzales residence, 2809 Avenue N, where a gas leak resulted in a small fire. Damage was confined to a wall.

In the last five years there has been a 100 per cent increase in lock sales, says the Associated Locksmiths of America.

Eban Asks Sadat To Negotiate

By MICHAEL GROSS
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban called on Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on Sunday to negotiate a peace settlement with Israel and "stop the public bombast." Israel also named a new military chief of staff.

Eban was referring to Sadat's statement Saturday that "the time for battle has come, there is no more hope." During a tour of Suez Canal positions, Sadat urged his troops "to be ferocious in battle, to prove to the world that we are a fighting people who know how to defend our dignity and honor."

Sadat also told pilots at an air base that Egypt had broken off discussions with the United States on U.S. proposals for an agreement with Israel to reopen the Suez Canal. He accused Washington of retreating from its declared policy of seeking a peaceful settlement and said it now wants "by all means to achieve Israel's goals."

Egypt's Arab Socialist Union, the government political party, met in Cairo Sunday to discuss defense plans and organizing civil defense units.

It urged the Egyptians to assume your responsibility, determine your own destiny and restore your lost lands," a reference to Arab territory captured by Israel in the 1967 war.

Eban said Sadat's speech to the troops combined "a military threat with political extortion" which "can bring nothing but disaster to his nation and region."

"We shall, of course, not yield to military intimidation or to political pressure," Eban declared.

Other government officials accused Sadat of "heightening war hysteria" and said he left Egypt "little way out of a confrontation." But the official said: "Still he does not close the door completely to a political settlement. He leaves a narrow space open, but let's hope it is not too narrow."

The Israeli government also named a new military chief of staff to succeed Lt. Gen. Haim Bar—Lev, who had served an extra year in the post. His replacement, taking over Jan. 1, is Maj. Gen. David Elazar, 46, who ran the successful anti-guerrilla campaign in northern Israel from 1964 to 1969. For the last two years he has been chief of operations, the No. 2 job in the Israeli military hierarchy.

Bar Lev, who has been chief of staff since Jan. 1, 1968, will become minister of industry, informed sources reported.

Paid Rest Period

PORTLAND, COre. (AP) — The Oregon Wage and Hour Commission has adopted a rule requiring two 10-minute paid rest periods for all full-time adult workers not covered by union contracts.

Blue Chips Inch Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue chips inched higher today in relatively light trading, but more stock market issues were down than up.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 1.3 at 811.70.

Declines maintained a lead of more than 6 to 5 over advances among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

In the news background, Treasury Secretary John Connally said public confidence in the Nixon Administration's new economic program was "strong." He said the freeze was a success and that he was equally confident that Phase 2 would succeed.

However, brokers said investors still continued to be wary about Phase 2 developments, the international monetary situation and the stock market's recent losses.

3 Mishaps Are Logged In City

City Police investigated three motor vehicle mishaps over the weekend, and all of them involved minor damage.

The first one occurred at 2:48 p.m. Saturday in the 2900 block of Avenue L. Involved were the 1964 Model Pontiac of Candelario S. Martinez, 2909 Avenue F, and the 1958 Model Ford of Eunice Keller, 2911 Avenue M. Officer Melvin Sanders investigated this mishap.

The 1969 Model Buick of Geneva Martin Burleson, 4515 El Paso, was involved in a collision with a 1969 Model Chevrolet of Jim Wilson, Route 2, at 8:45 p.m. Saturday in the 700 block of the East Highway. Officer Brian Blair investigated this mishap.

The other one occurred in the 3000 block of College Avenue at 8:55 p.m. Sunday. Involved were the 1966 Model Mercury of Marsha Pence Orr, 2105 Fortieth Street, and the 1969 Model Rambler of Cleta Jan Bellamy, 413 Twenty-ninth Street. Sergeant Ben McNulty investigated this mishap.

Capone's Car Brings $37,000

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — A bulletproof Cadillac sedan, once owned by gangster Al Capone and later used by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, brought $37,000 at an auction of antique automobiles here.

The car with a quarter-inch-thick boiler plate today and one-inch-thick windows, was among 43 old-timers sold Saturday by the Antique Auto Museum, which is going out of business.

The second highest price—$29,000—was paid by a private collector for a 1963 Lincoln Continental used by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Roosevelt used the big Cadillac once owned by the mobster because of its safety features, which included self-sealing ties and tubes.

Meany Denies Labor Was Rude

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany denied today the labor convention had treated President Nixon rudely and accused Nixon of trying to contrive a clash.

Meany said Nixon was offered every courtesy, and that his speech to some 2,000 delegates and guests last Friday was applauded a number of times.

"There was no booing. There was no jeering," Meany said.

He conceded that a number of delegates laughed when Nixon said his wage-price control program was working.

"I think we still have a constitutional right to laugh," said the 77-year-old labor chief to warm applause and a standing ovation when he finished by saying "This is still a democracy. This is still not a monarchy."

Meany said Nixon himself departed from the minutely detailed schedule the White House itself had laid down.

He said contrary to reports that there was no escort committee for Nixon when he finished his speech, that there was such a committee but Nixon literally bolted from the platform, his security men pulled back a rope barrier and Nixon plunged into the crowd to shake hands.

Meany said he asked delegates and guests to be seated when large numbers of delegates started to converge toward Nixon.

"I committed the cardinal sin of saying 'Let's go on with the second act.' Well, that was my reaction," Meany said to loud convention applause.

"The President did not come here to make a speech. He came here to contrive the situation," Meany added.

The White House said after Friday's incidents that Nixon had been treated with "studied contempt" by the labor convention.

Meany said Nixon's speech was purely political and did not touch on the one major issue of concern to organized labor—whether new federal wage controls prevent labor contracts from taking effect.

Meany said labor will continue to fight against rulings of Nixon's Pay Board, on which five labor leaders serve, if they disagree.

He said Nixon's throwing away his prepared speech and saying he would speak "straight from the shoulder," was a "corny act."

"We respect the office and we respect the man who holds the office," Meany said of the presidency.

"This doesn't mean we've got to be subservient to the man that holds the office, or to submit to anything labor considers unjust, Meany said.

A close aide of Meany said earlier that Meany had set a deliberate course designed to force Nixon to kick him off the Pay Board or junk federal wage controls altogether.

Sexton Home For Holiday

DENVER (AP) — Army S. Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., released by the Viet Cong last month after 26 months as a prisoner of war, boarded a jetliner at Stapleton International Airport today for a trip to his Warren, Mich., home.

It will be his first Thanksgiving with his family in five years.

The soldier, 23, had spent five weeks at Fitzsimons General Hospital in suburban Aurora, recuperating from wounds suffered prior to his capture and aggravated by the more than two years he spent as a prisoner. Doctors said his condition has greatly improved.

A hall has been rented in Warren for a celebration Thursday, his parents say. A half-dozen turkeys, four hams and all the trimmings have been purchased for the 75 friends and relatives invited to Thanksgiving dinner.

Sexton, who arrived here Oct. 13, is due back at the hospital Jan. 5 for further treatment and medical evaluation following convalescent leave, Army officials said.

The American cylinder lock, first produced during the Civil War, is extensively used today.

Use Imagination To Make One-Room Environment

NEW YORK (AP) — If you live in one room you may be bound by its four walls, but you needn't be bound by any decorating rules, insists Ann Pardue Sonet, who with Ellen Peterson Morris has written "The Seventeen Guide to Decorating for One-Room Living."

Careful planning, double-duty furnishings and an imaginative approach will turn the space into an environment that suits both your activities and your personality, says Mrs. Sonet, who is home furnishings editor of Seventeen Magazine.

"Whether it's a bedroom, dorm room, apartment shared with a roommate or first home as a newlywed, the secret is to put a tremendous amount of thought into what you want the room to do for you," she explains. "If you're sharing a room in the family home with a sister your needs will be different than in a studio apartment, where you will be eating, as well as sleeping, entertaining, pursuing hobbies and perhaps studying.

"Use your space—go up, out and under," she advises. "Up with shelving that goes all the way to the ceiling. You don't need a dresser six foot wide. Get several that are tall and skinny. Put brightly painted pegboard on the walls and hang everything, including chairs, on it with hooks. If you've got a bed don't waste the space under it. There are all kinds of storage boxes that fit beneath it."

But she doesn't think you must necessarily have a bed as such. She suggests other sleeping arrangements that range from sofabeds to a bed made from a flush door that hangs on chains from the ceiling. Or consider placing a mattress and box springs right in the middle of the floor and for daytime cover it with shag or fake fur rugs.

"Chairs can be anything. If you dig sitting on the floor all you need is just big cushions. Maybe furniture isn't for you," she adds. "Maybe you would like to put your money and effort in another direction and build a sleeping pit by raising the level of the floor around the outside with wood platforms and carpeting the entire area."

Versatility is the name of the game when it comes to utilizing space, Mrs. Sonet notes. Trunks store all kinds of things and make bedside tables or coffee tables as well. A table can be used for a desk as well as for eating. Cubes of cardboard, metal or plastic provide storage space, can be switched around and make good room dividers.

"You can create a sense of privacy without physically dividing the room," she points out. "Put up a 'wall' of hanging plants. Use decorative window shades from floor to ceiling. Or cover shirt cardboards with pretty wrapping paper, join them together with notebook rings and hang them from the ceiling on cup hooks."

She also suggests curtaining off a section of the room as a tent to make either a bed or study area. And for odd storage space she recommends hammock-type netting or a series of wire vegetable baskets suspended from the ceiling. Or more baskets attached to a wall with L-shaped brackets.

"If you just blow all the things you've heard about decorating to the wind and start out on your own, you come up with wonderful ideas," she says. "I think we are too stodgy in our approach to decorating. It doesn't mean you have to be freaky, but it should be your own approach as opposed to a so-called pattern approach.

"A room should be a total unit," she goes on. "Why put a carpet on the floor, paint on the wall, curtains at the window and ignore the ceiling? Make your walls into a garden with stick-on flowers and paint clouds on the ceiling; or paint a bold arrow across the floor, up the wall and across the ceiling. It helps create the feeling of being in an environment rather than a box.

"Once you've learned to cope with a one-room situation you'll never have trouble planning a house," declares Mrs. Sonet, who herself has gone the whole route—sharing a room successively with a sister, college roommate, working girl and, early in their marriage, her husband.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

There was a seminar recently in New York on grass. Even the menu was grass-related. The day began with coffee and corn muffins. With cocktails there were pumpkin and sunflower seeds. At luncheon, the chicken was served with herbed rice.

There were other garden items, carrots, radishes, celery, tomatoes, cauliflower, broccoli, watercress and melon.

But grass was the main dish, served up by Dr. Thomas R. Soderstrom, assistant curator, in charge of research of all the world's grasses at the Smithsonian Institute. He touched on the major role grass plays in diets of all cultures. Sponsoring the seminar were Jacobsen Manufacturing Co. and the American Society of Landscape Architects Foundation.

Grass, Soderstrom said, is the most important of all plants to man. Sugarcane, bamboos, rice, millet, sorghum, corn, and the cereals—barley, oats, wheat, rye—are all grasses.

"... In numbers," he said, "the grasses are unsurpassed. They reach the climatic limits of vegetation in the polar regions and mountaintops. They endure both cold and harsh desert conditions. Grasses form the main part of the vegetation of prairies, steppes and savannas, and occupy great stretches of marsh and tidal flats where they are important in building up the soil.

"Most of our meals contain foods derived directly or indirectly from grasses. Breakfast cereals are products of grasses.

"The sugar we use in our coffee or on our cereal may be from sugarcane, another grass. A before-dinner drink may have whisky, a liquor distilled from the fermented mash of various grains, especially of rye, wheat, corn or barley. Steak and milk at dinner are secondary derivatives of grasses, the principal forage of cattle, while bread and cake are primary ones derived from wheat.

"Hardly a meal is eaten which does not include some product of the grass family.

"The first grass probably looked nothing like a grass as we know it today but more like a lily, with which grasses have a common ancestor."

The success of grasses as the predominant plant millions of years ago, Soderstrom said, was due primarily to growth habit that allowed them to withstand the effects of grazing and trampling by herds of animals. He added:

"In the grass, leaf growth takes place at the base of the sheath and at the base of the blade, instead of throughout the leaf as in the case of most plants. Thus when an animal bites off the tip of a grass leaf, the leaf continues to grow from the base and it is not destroyed. Grazing, therefore encourages growth in grasses. In most plants destruction of the growing tips of the leaves and stems leads to death of the plant."

Romans invented the padlock, ending the burden of carrying large sickle keys hooked over the shoulder.

Wall Street Currents Caused REITS Decline

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks, like balloons, rise on currents of hot air which are more easily discovered than controlled.

No surprise then that with the poor quality and temperature of air over Wall Street in recent months that a whole portfolio of stocks plunged to earth last week.

These were the REITS, the real estate investment trusts, which are made up of investors who pool their money and put it into mortgages, construction loans and income-producing properties. Sort of like mutual funds.

The REITS have been around since 1960, but it was only in 1969 that they began to catch on. Banks, insurers and others were strapped for money to invest in real estate, which has a tradition of high and steady returns.

They solved it with REITS, forming one after another. And the public, somewhat disillusioned by their old investments in stocks and mutual funds, and sensing that here were some balloons ready for flight, signed aboard.

REITS offered something for everyone. The founders liked them because, as advisers, they received substantial fees. Underwriters liked them because they got a piece of the action. The public liked the idea of an inflation hedge.

Such a situation generates a lot of heat that rises and draws more energy—money is stock market energy—to itself. Institutions and individuals tripped over each other in their haste to form REITS. Investors eagerly bought.

These investors weren't just small fellows either. The base of REITS was made up of founders and underwriters. Then there was a layer of professionals. And the last, outer layer, was made up of small investors mainly.

As usually happens, the quality of both the investment product and the investor gradually deteriorated. The number of REITS made competition tougher. Tips and rumors spread. Soon the market was filled with speculators.

Into this atmospheric mix was introduced suddenly a whisp of cold air. On Thursday, Continental Mortgage Investors, one of the oldest and biggest, was quoted as saying it expected lower earnings for itself and the industry.

The descent began almost immediately. Continental itself lost $4.50 on the first day, closing at $14.50, and others dropped from $1 to $4.25, all very sizeable losses on a percentage basis.

But the extent of the selloff from what appears to be one bit of news is shown by these facts: The 10 biggest decliners on the New York Stock Exchange were REITS. Seven of the 10 biggest losers on the American Stock Exchange were REITS.

Such incredibly concentrated selling so quickly after the news suggests it could have been brought about only by action of the institutions and professionals. Only they had stock in such huge amounts to unload so suddenly.

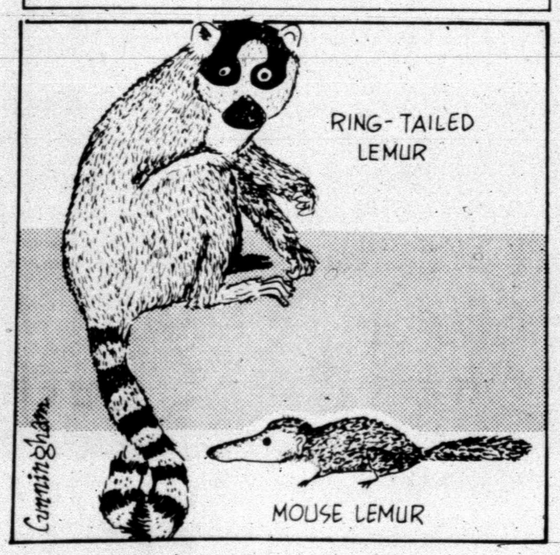

For many small investors the selloff was quick as death. Sucked in by the hot air, they really believed they were taking a job ride but in the end, as it turned out, they were being taken for a ride instead.

The script is an old one. Experienced stagehands say that while the names and costumes change, the plots and characters are the same almost every time.

In the beginning there is a good idea. First it is exploited, then abused. The desire for sound investments becomes the greed for quick money. Appearance substitutes for substance and survives for a while before showing. Gradually the quality of product and buyer deteriorates.

And as always, the small investors who jumps aboard the last, is the last off too. Does it serve him right for being greedy? Does it serve him right for not taking the time to understand that the stock market today is a game that multimillion-dollar institutions, quick and agile as pro football athletes, play for keeps?

Junior Editors Quiz on LEMURS

QUESTION: Where did the lemur come from?

ANSWER: The lemur is a small animal related to the monkey. Lemurs live in Madagascar and nearby islands; also in Africa and parts of Asia. At one time they lived in America and Europe where their fossil remains have been found. The word lemur means ghost. It was so-called because of its unusual appearance, its queer movements and its strange cry. Some grunt and others make a wailing sound. It is a lower form of life than the monkey. It has soft fur and a long bushy tail, a long face and deepset eyes. Some of the lemurs resemble a fox in appearance. One seldom sees a lemur in a zoo, since they do not survive in captivity.

The lemur lives in trees and eats fruits, insects, birds eggs and other small forms of life. Some are active in the daytime, and others only come out at night.

The best known lemurs are the ring-tailed and ruffed, the mouse lemur and the Indri. The ring-tailed is gray with black and white rings around its tail. The ruffed is one of the largest lemurs. The mouse lemur is about the size of a rat and the Indri is black with white legs.

Bulletins From The Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home isn't as safe as most people think it is. Nearly one of every four fatal accidents occurs there.

Surgery is much more popular in America than in Britain, where its employment is far more restricted. There are some 19 million operations a year in this country now, or one for every 11 people.

Red has been used as a symbol of danger for so long that many people no longer react to it. Some color experts believe that it should be replaced as a warning signal by yellow, which is highly visible in all kinds of weather. Because of this superior visibility, the German army used black and yellow road signs during the second world war.

One of the most weatherproof animals in the world is the Yak, the ox of the Himalaya mountains. Protected by thick hair and layers of fat, yaks are practically impervious to blizzards. They are so insulated against cold that they sometimes suffer heat prostration when brought below an altitude of 11,500 feet. Their tails are often used by Indian princes as fly whisks or badges of office.

Safety belts are now available for about four out of five auto passengers, but a recent study of accidents involving 13,000 people found that only 20 per cent of them were wearing any kind of seat belt.

Quotable notables: "The best executive is the one who has sense enough to pick good men to do what he wants done, and self-restraint enough to keep from meddling with them while they do it."

If you're on a diet, which should you avoid most—sugar or starchy foods? The answer, recent experiments seem to prove, is sugar. Tests at the Brookhaven National Laboratory indicate that sugar is two to five times as fattening as foods with a high starch content.

Know thyself. One of the reasons so many people die of heart attacks is that they don't recognize it when they're having one. They then fail to get the help they need. The American Heart Association estimates that half of the 600,000 people in this country who succumb to heart attacks do so before they even reach a hospital.

Worth remembering: "There are a lot of senile delinquents, too. And they'd be worse than juvenile delinquents if they only had the strength."

History lesson: Can you name two U.S. Presidents who enjoyed playing billiards? Billiards was a favorite form of relaxation for John Quincy Adams and James Garfield. Calvin Coolidge, on the other hand, never hankered for a pool hall. He preferred pitching hay, a hobby held by no other president.

It was Thoreau who observed, "The man who goes alone can start today. But he who travels with another must wait until the other is ready."

Cattle Scabies Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattle scabies, virtually eliminated as a major livestock disease years ago, continues to break out periodically.

The Agriculture Department said Friday scabies was confirmed earlier this month in three states—Brown County, Neb.; Cimarron County, Okla.; and in Deaf Smith, Dallam, Donley, Moore and Motley counties, Texas.

US-Canada Relations Are Deteriorating

EDITOR'S NOTE—On the surface, Canada and the United States have a unique kinship. Yet Canada learns anew every day that it lives in the shadow of a giant. When the giant is sick, economically or otherwise, the border is no barrier to fevers of distrust. In this and two succeeding articles an AP writer tells how the Canadians feel about their role as little brother to a superpower.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

TORONTO (AP) — A feud can damage a neighborhood. A feud can lead, for example, to the appearances of fences where there were none before.

Fences, visible or invisible, are something Canada and the United States have managed to do without through a century of friendship across their long and undefended borders.

Today their relations are not, by any means, at the stage of feud. But it could come to that. The relations that have been a model for the world for 100 years are deteriorating in the wake of newly adopted U.S. economic moves.

The deterioration had set in before that, however. For a long time, much of Canada has felt abused, dominated, neglected, robbed of identity.

The United States, transfixed by its own monumental problems, seems to many Canadians not to give a hoot about Canada except as a convenience.

The president of the United States himself recently touched an exposed nerve. A month after unveiling his economic policy, President Nixon remarked at a news conference that "Japan is our biggest customer in the world and we are their biggest customer in the world."

The fact is that Canada and the United States are each other's best customers. The two-way flow between them is the greatest trade volume between any two nations in all history.

"The mere thought that the president of the United States should be so poorly advised that he could make such a statement so factually incorrect, worried me about the sort of advice he might be getting on other matters," said Allan Grossman, Ontario provincial minister of trade and development.

The minister has company in this sentiment. Few casual presidential remarks have rankled so in the Canadian breast. To Canadians, it illustrated precisely what has been wrong in Americans' attitude toward their neighbors. Influential people in Canada's business and political world complain that this country is taken for granted by Americans, many of whom are utterly ignorant of the importance of Canada to the United States, ignorant of the scope of the two nation's trade.

So concerned is Ontario's provincial government that it has decided to set up a Washington office—it dislikes to call the effort a lobby. The aim is to persuade U.S. officials to learn more about Canada and to convince them that recent U.S. economic measures threaten secondary Canadian manufacturing industries.

Many Canadians complain that Americans in general don't seem to want to know anything about Canada apart from the fact that it is a big, sparsely settled country that is noted for hunting, fishing, snow and customers for U.S. goods.

Canada is a mighty subcontinent spanning seven time zones, stretching from the remote Yukon on the arctic coast to the trip of Newfoundland in the North Atlantic. This area, about a fourteenth of the earth's land surface, has only about 21½ million people. Nine out of 10 Canadians live in a belt of territory immediately adjoining the United States. That makes for an acute Canadian consciousness of the American neighbor.

Across the political spectrum Canadians feel—with varying degrees of intensity-that their nation was kicked in the teeth by the Nixon policy that imposed a 10 per cent surcharge on imports. Many Canadians felt their country deserved special treatment if only because of a relationship that has lasted all through Canada's 104 years of nationhood.

For that century the two countries have had an undefended border and have lived and prospered not together. It has not been all smooth sailing. One spat, 60 years ago, boiled over into an emotional quarrel over trade reciprocity, but it faded with the imminence of world war.

Geography and natural inclinations, plus a desire to remove herself from British protection and a colonial history had turned Canada toward the United States. In time she came to resemble her neighbor in culture, in economy, in hundreds of ways. The two people lived the same way, ate the same food, read the same books, saw the same movies and heard the same broadcasts. Most spoke the same language.

In the background was a nagging Canadian urge for a national identity of their own. In the words of Peter C. Newman, an editor who has become a spokesman for Canadian "independence," Canada became a nation in danger of "drowning in American dollars, American culture, American know-how and the American dream."

But there is a Canadian dilemna generating frustration.

Because Canada was the United States' neighbor, she prospered and today has the second highest living standard in the world.

Often, Canadians complain, important decisions affecting their lives derive from the irresistible force of U.S. economic power. However much Canada might want to hold off the U.S. embrace, she cannot live as she has been accustomed without continued close integration with the American economy.

With unconscious humor, a leader of the small, right-wing Social Credit party wound up an oration with the remark. "The Americans are our best friends, whether we like it or not."

On the other side of the political spectrum, a leader of the New Democratic party, referring to the impact of U.S. policies, summed up:

"They just take us for granted. The frightening thing is that they love us."

Church Surpasses Needed Revenue

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas' First Baptist Church surpassed its needed revenue for its 1972 general operating budget by more than $84,000, church leaders announced Sunday.

The church had conducted a month-long campaign for pledges among the church membership to meet a record $2,618,604.53 budget.

Church spokesman said the amount pledged totalled $2,702,939.17.

UT Has Girl Cadet

AUSTIN (AP) — When the University of Texas Air Force ROTC detachment issued uniforms for incoming cadets this semester, one uniform needed some adjustments—the skirt was too short.

The uniform was for Carol Lynn Christen, the first female cadet in the university's corps.

"We also had to go to Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio to get the uniform," she said. "I guess they weren't prepared to take me on."

The Air Force officers who lead the corps, however, said they were very pleased to have their first female cadet in the program. "She may keep some of our other cadets on their toes," siad Col. Tom Campbell administrative officer for the detachment.

Miss Christen, however, doesn't think her presence has had much effect on the other cadets. "Most guys in Air Force ROTC are polite and gentlemanly anyway," she said.

Although not contemplating becoming a jet fighter pilot, Miss Christen said she is interested in pursuing an Air Force career, possibly as a space system analysis officer.

"This would mean working with computers to plot satellite orbits or study missile defenses," she said.

Miss Christen, a freshman math major from Houston, said she plans to remain in ROTC throughout her college career.

Casaroli Returns From Poland

ROME (AP) — The Vatican's chief expert on communism has returned from Poland after what he termed useful but non-definitive talks in Warsaw on normalizing relations with Poland.

Most Bowl Teams Already Decided

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that the bowls have played the dating game, Nebraska and Oklahoma are about to play the rating game ... with Alabama-Auburn not far behind.

Much of the college football season will revolve around what happens on Thursday in Norman, Okla., and Saturday at Birmingham, Ala. In the former game, top-ranked Nebraska's defending national champions take on runnerup Oklahoma in the Game of the—pick one—Week, Year, Decade, Century.

Two days later, Nov. 4 Alabama and No. 5 Auburn square off for bragging rights in the South.

All four titans had this weekend off but two other contenders for the national championship kept rolling along. Third-ranked Michigan turned back arch-rival Ohio State 10-7 on Billy Taylor's 21-yard gallop with 2:07 remaining, giving the Wolverines their first perfect regular campaign since 1948. Penn State, rated sixth, got three more touchdowns—nos. 26, 27 and 28—from record-breaking scorer Lydell Mitchell and crushed Pitt 55-18.

Then the bowl people went to work with open arms and came up with the following lineup:

Sun Bowl, Dec. 18—Iowa State, 7-3 with one game left, vs. Louisiana State, 7-3 with one game left.

Pasadena Bowl, Dec. 18 Memphis State, 4-6, vs. either Long Beach State, 8-3 with one game left, or San Jose State, 4-5-1 with one game left.

Liberty Bowl, Dec. 20—Arkansas, 8-2-1, vs. Tennessee, 7-2 with two games left. However, Arkansas could wind up in the Cotton Bowl if Texas A&M upsets Texas on Thursday.

Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, Dec. 31—Colorado, 9-2, vs. Houston, 8-2 with one game left.

Cotton Bowl, Jan. 1—Penn State, 10-0 with one game left, vs. Texas, 7-2, provided the Longhorns beat Texas A&M in their finale on Thursday.

Rose Bowl, Jan. 1—Michigan, 11-0, vs. Stanford, 8-3.

Elsewhere in The Associated Press Top Ten, seventh-ranked Notre Dame bowed to No. 14 Louisian State 28-8 as Bert Jones passed for two touchdowns and scored a third; No. 8 Georgia was idle; ninth-rated Arizona State clobbered San Jose State 49-6 as Dan Whited pass for three touchdowns and Woody Green ran for 175 yards and No. 10 Colorado walloped Air Force 53-17 as Charlie Davis ran for 196 yards and John Tarver added 126.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Tennessee downed Kentucky 21-7, No. 12 Texas was idle, No. 13 Toledo flattened Kent State 41-6 No. 15 Southern Cal battled UCLA to a 7-7 tie, No. 16 Houston whipped Miami, Fla. 27-6; No. 17 Arkansas blanked Texas Tech 15-0; No. 18 Stanford held off California 14-0; Northwestern upset No. 19 Michigan State 28-7 and No. 20 Mississippi was idle.

Cornell and Dartmouth each wound up with a half-share of the Ivy wreath as the Big Red stopped Penn 41-13 and the Big Green discolored Princeton 33-7. Cornell's Ed Marinaro rambled for 230 yards and five touchdowns and added the oneseason NCAA rushing record (1,881 yards) to his career mark (4,715).

There were some happy people in Ann Arbor, Mich. One was Taylor, who called the victory "the ultimate" and added, "It took me three years to score against Ohio State."

And there were some unhappy people, too, notably Coach Woody Hayes of the losers. Angered by a Michigan interception and lack of an interference penalty during a desperation Buckeye drive in the closing minutes, Hayes stormed onto the field and promptly drew a penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct.

His players hustled the volatile coach to the sidelines but moments later Ohio State drew another unsportsmanlike conduct penalty and Hayes exploded. He snapped the down marker across his knee and hurled the pieces onto the field, then tore down the officials' bright orange 10-yard chain markers.

Southland Loop Still Undecided

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The chaotic Southland Conference football chase could windup in a three-way tie for the championship this Saturday if Lamar University defeats Arkansas State in Beaumont.

Louisiana Tech and Trinity completed their SLC schedules in at least a co-championship Saturday. Trinity whipped Arkansas State 28-11 to pull even at 4-1 with Louisiana Tech which blanked Northeast Louisiana 23-0 in a non-conference tussle.

Lamar ran its record to 3-1 with a 23-14 victory over Texas-Arlington.

In the only other game involving a conference member, Southwestern Louisiana fell 20-10 to McNeese State.

Quarterback Mike Curry paced Trinity to victory over Arkansas State, passing for two touchdowns and running for a third.

Penn State Vs. Texas?

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Penn State will be pulling hard for a Texas victory over the Texas Aggies Thanksgiving Day because the Nittany Lions still feel there's some unsettled business from the 1969 season.

You remember the fuss. Texas defeated Arkansas in Big Shootout I with the nation and President Nixon looking on. He proclaimed Texas national champion and the Longhorns grabbed the mythical title with a 21-17 victory over Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl.

Penn State raised cane but the Nittany Lions passed up a chance to play the Longhorns by voting to go to the Orange Bowl.

Now Penn State is coming to the Cotton Bowl as the guest team. The host team will go to Texas if it defeats A&M. Should the 'Horns tie or lose, Arkansas will come.

Penn State star running back Lydell Mitchell said Penn State would have never voted to go to the Orange Bowl in 1969 "If we had known for sure that we could have played Texas for the undisputed national title. Things like that just happen, but I can tell you the feeling of the team to go to the Cotton Bowl (this year) is as strong as it was to go to the Orange then."

Offensive tackle Dave Joyner said "Although Arkansas is a fine football team we really would prefer to play Texas. Texas is a team that has been in the public eye the past few years. We'd like to prove ourselves against them."

The Aggie-Texas showdown to decide the Southwest Conference championship also will determine whether Arkansas meets Tennessee in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 20 on prime time national television. Should Texas win, the second-place Razorbacks would play in the Memphis, Tenn. post-season classic.

Arkansas defeated Texas Tech 15-0 Saturday to complete its SWC slate at 5-1-1. Texas has suffered one league defeat — at the hands of the Razorbacks.

In other SWC games Saturday, SMU clubbed hapless Baylor 20-6, Berl Simmons kicked a 41-yard field goal with 21 seconds left to give TCU a 20-19 victory over luckless Rice, and Houston thrashed Miami 27-6.

Aside from the Thanksgiving Day showdown between the fast-improving Aggies and the Longhorns, Baylor is at Rice, TCU is at SMU and Utah is at Houston next Saturday.

Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips worked out briefly Saturday for the Longhorns but did not test his sore shoulder. Substitute Donnie Wigginton is considered the likely starter at signal caller for the 'Horns.

Texas A&M safety David Hoot says it doesn't really matter which quarterback Texas uses because Wigginton seems about as good as Phillips to me."

Penn State scouts will be there with notepads in hand.

Joe Paterno, Penn State Coach who gave his team a lecture on state pride before the Nittany Lions crushed Texas Christian 66-14 earlier this year, had this to say about 1969 and 1971 after his team defeated Pittsburgh 55-18 Saturday:

"We felt we had to prove ourselves to Big Eight fans in those Orange Bowl games," Paterno said of his 15-14 victory over Kansas in the 1969 Orange Bowl and a 10-3 verdict over Missouri last year. "Now we hope we can show fans in the Southwest that we really can play a little football."

Any questions Arkansas or Texas????

Pokes Take Over East Loop Lead

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're a pretty good football team," said Coach Tom Landry.

"We're still in the race," countered George Allen.

Landry had just watched his Dallas Cowboys vault into the lead in the National Conference East with a 13-0 victory over Washington, regaining the spot they had been pursuing since being knocked off 20-16 by Allen's Redskins seven weeks ago.

But Sunday's triumph wasn't the only thing on Landry's mind. "We're thinking about Thursday," he said. That's when the Cowboys take on the Los Angeles Rams.

The game will be an additional Thanksgiving Day feast for National Football League fans, bringing together a pair of divisional leaders.

The Rams, harrassing quarterback John Brodie all afternoon and limiting potent San Francisco to a pair of field goals, made it a season sweep over the 49ers with a 17-6 triumph that put them atop the NFC West.

In the day's other "big" game—naturally all games in the NFL are big but some are bigger than others—Miami grabbed a bit of breathing room in the American Conference East as Garo Yepremian booted the Dolphins to a 17-14 victory over the Baltimore Colts.

Around the rest of the league, Kansas City kept on Oakland's heels in the AFC West with a 28-10 victory over Denver while the Raiders were squeezing by San Diego 34-33, Detroit stifled Chicago 28-3, Minnesota beat New Orlenas 23-10, Pittsburgh beat the New York Giants 17-13, Cleveland crushed New England 27-7, Cincinnati belted Houston 28-13, the New York Jets whipped Buffalo 20-7 and Philadelphia swatted St. Louis 37-20.

In tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game, the Green Bay Packers invade Atlanta to take on the Falcons.

"Thirteen points just isn't a great deal by any means—unless the defense is playing like ours," said Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, who scored the game's only touchdown on a 29-yard scamper the first time the Cowboys got their hands on the ball. Mike Clark got his foot onto it twice for 6 and 48-yard field goals.

Brodie threw four interceptions, three of them picked off by Gene Howard. But the other one was the killer, a theft by Jim Nettles who ran it back 29 yards for a touchdown in the final minute of the first half that put the Rams ahead 14-6. Earlier Roman Gabriel had flipped a 13-yard scoring strike to Jack Snow.

"We knew we had the ability to control our own fate," said Dolphins Coach Don Shula, who left the Colts in 1970 to take over at Miami. "But by no means are we in." Baltimore has four games—including another one with the Dolphins on Dec. 11—to wipe out Miami's 1½-game lead.

The Colts scored first on Don Nottingham's four-yard run in the first period. But in the third, the Dolphins bounced in front as Jim Kiick plunged over from one-yard out and Bob Griese hit Marv Fleming with a 10-yard touchdown pass. Before the period was over, though, it was tied again as Norm Bulaich bulled over from the four

FIGHT FOR BALL — Western Texas College's Jimmy Hill (55), Walter Hanibal (25) and Joel Dyess (41) leap for the ball during the basketball contest with New Mexico Military Institute here Saturday night. It was the first game for the new school, and WTC scored an impressive 90-72 victory. Hanibal was the high point man.

Westerners Stop Bronchos, 90-72

The Western Texas College Westerners made history here Saturday night with their 90-72 triumph over New Mexico Military Institute Broncos. It was the first basketball game for the new college and their first victory.

It was a close contest during the first half with the Westerners never able to get more than a 5-point lead. The lead changed twice and the score was tied four times in the final four minutes of the first half.

But, the Westerners came out hustling in the second half and built a 10 point lead in the first three minutes. They gradually increased the margin and led by 22 points in the final stages of the game.

"I was real proud the way our bench came through and with the hustle of the team in the second half," declared WTC Coach Sid Simpson.

Walter Hanibal, one of the two post men for the Westerners, was outstanding. He kept WTC in the game in the first half by pulling down 19 rebounds. He finished the night as high point man with 28 points, getting eight field goals and three free throws in the first half. Hanibal saw only limited action in the second half and grabbed just one more rebound, but he was tops in that department for the night. The Fort Worth product demonstrated that he can jump with anyone.

James Houston, the 6-3 Freshman from North Carolina, was runnerup in scoring with 15 points. He also had a good night under the boards, grabbing 11 rebounds. Ralph Jackson, post man from Brownfield Union claimed seven rebounds.

Joel Dyess of Garland and Johnny Neff, the quick guard from McAddo, each roped 10 points.

For NMMI, Dan Armijo and Mike Pick each collected 12 points. Mark Wohlgemuth and Bob Boehler each put in 10 points.

The Broncos tried to slow down the Westerners with a three-quarter court press early in the second half, but Neff and Mike Simpson of Denison—the only Sophomore on the WTC team penetrated it with smooth ball handling, and the Westerner post and wingmen were able to score well from inside and the corners.

The shooting from the floor was only about average with 13 of 44 for 32.

per cent in the first half and 19 of 47 for 44 per cent in the second half. At the free throw line, they dunked in 26 of 42 for 64 per cent for the entire game.

WTC led throughout most of the first half, but the Broncos went ahead 31-30 with 4:20 remaining. WTC went ahead on free throws by Mark Pearson of Borger and Jimmy Hill, but the Broncos tied it up at 33-33 on a floor shot with 2:51 remaining.

It was nip and tuck for the remainder of the half with score being tied again at 37-37 on a corner shot by Armijo with 40 seconds left.

Western's Hanibal hit a jump shot from the corner at the buzzer to give the Snyder team a 39-37 lead at halftime.

Great hustling in the second half enabled WTC to build a 48-38 lead in the first three minutes of the second half. They led 54-41 with 15:13 remaining, 61-48 with 11:10 left, and 71-48 with 8:16 remaining.

Coach Simpson was able to substitute freely. He cleared the bench and tried several differednt combinations. All of them were effective.

The Westerners will be at Kerrville to take on Schreiner Institute at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Joel Carlson, an Air Force junior from Coloma, Mich., this season has played quarterback, flanker and tailback.

Outlook Bright For Dietitians

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I'm a sophomore in high school, and at the present time I'm very interested in nutrition and diet. Could you please guide me on careers in this? — P.E.R., San Diego

Related home economics careers may appeal to you also, but opportunities in dietetics are as varied as a Thanksgiving feast. Outlook appears excellent, and this is a good field for part-time and return-to-work jobs. About [illegible] women, though [illegible] for men as well. Must have's: interest and aptitude for science, like working with people, flair for high quality food.

JOB SCENE. The dietitian is not a cook. Her work varies by specialization, but in general, she is trained in science of foods and nutrition, and in institution management (about 65 percent work in hospitals and related institutions). The American Dietetic Association (ADA) describes several specialties:

ADMINISTRATIVE DIETITIAN – contributes to management policies, exercises cost controls, trains and supervises personnel, assures nutritionally adequate and safe food, and develops specifications for purchasing of food and equipment.

CLINICAL OR THERAPEUTIC DIETITIAN – health team member who participates in helping individuals and groups attain optimum (best) nutrition. May confer with physician(s) and develop modified diets. Knows nutrition to make adaptations for food allergies, effect of drugs on certain foods, how certain foods upset lab tests, etc.

TEACHING OR DIETITIAN EDUCATOR – instructs patients, students and public about foods and nutrition and how the body utilizes foods.

RESEARCH DIETITIAN – evaluates and expands knowledge in nutrition education, management, food service systems, equipment, marketing and related areas.

CONSULTING DIETITIAN – an experienced dietitian who advises on food service management and/or nutritional care in health institutions.

PUBLIC HEALTH NUTRITIONIST – usually needs a master's degree. Many work in the community service area.

OTHER DIETITIANS have jobs in business and industry – food manufacturers, processers and distributors; advertising agencies, restaurants and cafeterias; equipment and utility companies, and companies operating food services for employees.

A number are writers or public speakers, appear on tv and radio, participate in nutrition surveys, studies and experimental cookery, or use computers to handle inventories – food orders – menu planning. Still others are officers in the Armed Forces.

Qualified beginners can earn $8-9,000, and experienced professionals $15,000 up.

PREPARATION. The R.D. (registered dietitian) needs a bachelor's degree with a major in foods and nutrition or institution management followed by an approved dietetic internship or 2 years of qualifying experience. After obtaining ADA membership, registration examination can be taken to become an R.D. A given number of continuing education hours must be accumulated on a 5-year basis to maintain registration status. High school students should take math, physical and life sciences in a college prep program.

NEW – DIETETIC TECHNICIANS. Requires a 2-year prescribed course for dietetic technician leading to an associate degree from an accredited college. Salary data is sketchy but estimated to be about $7,000.

FOR MORE INFORMATION – The American Dietetic Association will send you a brief career brochure, a list of schools, and a reading list of publications on dietetics available at moderate cost. Send your request to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper, enclosing a 16-cent stamped, self-addressed long white envelope. Write "Dietitian" on your outside envelope and allow several weeks for delivery. Don't forget 16-cent stamped return envelope.

National Black Party Next?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clenched black-power fists shot into the air and smiles broke out all over the room when black members of the House of Representatives announced they were calling a national black political convention.

It will be a historic first, people kept saying. Never before in the 352-year history of black America, slave or free, has there been such a convention. The Saturday night announcement raised two questions:

—Would this turn out to be the first step toward formation of a national black political party?

—Was the cooperation that has begun between mainstream black politicians and the black-nationalist community in the urban centers finally be extended to a national level?

The convening document specifically included "the nationalist community" in a group set up to meet before Christmas to work out convention mechanics. Two other categories were mentioned, "local elected officials," and "community organization leaders." The House members said the convention will be in April or May.

One member of the subcommittee that wrote the call was poet-playwright Imamu Baraka, the politically active Newark black nationalist formerly known as LeRoi Jones.

The convention call climaxed two days of open workshops and closed strategy sessions for about 200 black elected officials and political activists.

The closing speeches, which stopped just short of calling for a black nation, seemed to contrast sharply with those at the beginning, which dwelt on the need to build coalitions with other minorities, poor whites, women and the young.

But a number of black political strategists who spent much of the two days locked in private debate, argued that the differences were more apparent than real.

In his keynote address Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, spoke of coalition politics.

"We must create an all-out strategy to improve the quality of life for minorities wherever they may live," he said, adding that any "national black agenda" should provide "a united, single approach around the issues that bear upon black, brown, red, poor and disadvantaged people in this country."

Similar themes were repeated many times in workshops on health and housing, child care and political strategy. But others offered variations.

"We must put the interests of our group before the interests of others," said Rep. William Clay, D-Mo. And Texas State Sen. Barbara Jordan, noting that "the old coalitions began to fall apart in the 60s," said any new coalitions "will be different in form, different in style, but will relate to us and our blackness."

ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY—Roy White, 26, 3608 Kola, driver of this 1966 Model Plymouth Fury, and a passenger, Jimmy Niblett of Hermleigh, escaped serious injury when their car was in collision with another one on U.S. 180 .8 mile west of Snyder at 6 p.m. Saturday. They were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service and released after receiving treatment for minor injuries. James Hamblen, 25, Route 1, driver of the other car, also sustained only minor injuries. Both vehicles were demolished.

8 Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Eight persons were injured in two separate automobile mishaps over the weekend investigated by Highway Patrolmen.

James Hamblen, 25, Route 1; Roy White, 26, 3608 Kola; and, Jimmy Niblett, Hermleigh, were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service following a two-car collision on U.S. 180 .8 mile west of town at 6 p.m. Saturday.

All of them were treated and released. They had cuts and bruises, and Hamblen had a leg injury.

Patrolmen said Hamblen was driving a 1964 Barracuda. White was operating a 1966 Model Plymouth, and Niblett was a passenger in his car. Both cars were traveling west, according to patrolmen, who said White's car struck the other vehicle from behind when Hamblen slowed to turn right into the driveway of the Trailertopia. There was extensive damage to both vehicles.

A 1970 Chevrolet station wagon occupied by eight persons overturned on the Old Lubbock Highway near the entrance gate of the Country Club at 1:40 p.m. Sunday. Patrolmen said the mishap occurred when Mary Louise Ramirez, 18, 510 East Main, Brownfield, the driver of the car, tried to dodge a bale of hay that had fallen from a trailer. The car overturned and was damaged extensively. They were traveling toward Snyder when the mishap occurred.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service for treatment of injuries were the driver; Elisa Perez, 59; Norma Ramirez, 15; Maria Martinez, 38; and, Josephine Martinez, 8. All of them are from Brownfield. They were treated and released.

Norma Ramirez was the most seriously injured with a fractured collar bone. Mary Ramirez had cuts on her face. Elisa Perez had cuts and bruises as did Maria Martinez. Josephine Martinez had chest injuries.

Humphrey Accuses Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., has accused President Nixon of going to the AFL-CIO convention with "a set script to provoke confrontation."

Nixon told labor delegates Friday that he will make his economic program work with or without the support of organized labor.'

Humphrey sent AFL-CIO President George Meany a telegram, which he asked to be read to the convention today:

"Richard Nixon came to this convention not to seek cooperation but rather with a set script to provoke confrontation; not to correct inequities, but to accentuate differences; not to explain to the convention and the American people his economic program, but rather to demand obedience to executive edict," Humphrey said.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, asked about the icy reception given Nixon at the convention, said that nearly everyone on the campaign trail faces unpleasant situations and "I'm not surprised when they happen. This is the age of confrontation in politics; it's the way things are these days."

In another political development, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said: "I think it's going to be difficult to beat the President under any circumstances."

He said in a Time magazine interview that the task will be tougher if Nixon succeeds in ending the war, solving economic problems and reaching an arms limitation agreement with the Soviets.

Although Kennedy has been mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential candidate, he has repeatedly disclaimed any intention to run next year.

A Gallup Poll released Sunday said that Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., has support of only 13 per cent of the Republicans for the GOP presidential nomination but a much greater percentage of independent and young voters.

McCloskey, a critic of the President's Vietnam war policy, had the support of 23 per cent of the independents and 33 per cent of all voters between age 18 and 30 in a race with Nixon.

Russians Send Congratulations

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Russian scientists have sent congratulations on the success of Mariner 9.

The American spacecraft was in its 16th orbit of Mars Sunday when controllers at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory received a three-sentence message over a teletype line from Moscow.

Governors Assured Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert J. Dole, the Republican national chairman, has assured GOP governors they will have "a piece of the action" in the 1972 presidential campaign.

But he said their specific role will depend on political decisions made by President Nixon and his campaign strategists.

"It's a little different when you have an incumbent president," Dole said in an interview. "You have to consider what the President wants."

What the governors want, according to their chairman, Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, is "a strong voice in how the national campaign is run" next year, and two of the top jobs at the GOP national convention in San Diego.

Dole said he will discuss those requests with Milliken early next month. But he said it is too early to start assigning specific roles, in the convention or the campaign.

He said some of those decisions will be made by Nixon's campaign manager, presumably Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Republicans will govern 20 of the 50 states next year, and Milliken said they are in an ideal position to generate cooperation of people and government to solve such problems as racism, crime and pollution.

"To do this, we must have full participation in the 1972 convention, in drafting of the platform, and in the campaign itself," Milliken said at the Republican Governors Conference in French Lick, Ind., last week.

He already had written Dole asking that governors be assigned two key positions at the national convention, and that they participate in the presidential campaign organization, particularly in their own states.

Loaded Ferry Sinks

MANILA AP—An inter-island cargo boat with about 200 persons aboard sank Sunday night between Leyte and Cebu islands, and between 66 and 106 persons were feared lost.

The Coast Guard said 94 survivors drifted ashore or were rescued. Sixteen bodies were recovered, and the Coast Guard said an estimated 50 to 90 persons were trapped inside the hull of the Bethoven II, which sank on a 25-mile run from Palompon, on Leyte, to Bogo, on Cebu.

The Coast Guard said the boat had been licensed to carry only 11 passengers, and that license had expired in April.

The Bethoven sank during bad weather between the islands in the Camotes Sea.

The Manila Evening News reported that most of the passengers were students returning to schools in Cebu after spending the weekend at their homes on Leyte.

Troop Strength At 184,000

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Vietnam reached the 184,000-mark today nine days before the Dec. 1 deadline set by President Nixon.

The U.S. Command said 185,000 American servicemen were still in Vietnam as of last Thursday. Reductions since then lowered the level to 184,000 and possibly a little less.

The command said the total force was reduced 3,300 men during the week ending last Thursday.

The President said 45,000 more men would be withdrawn during December and January, bringing the ceiling by Feb. 1 to 139,000 men.

NPD Decline Result Of Stormy Congress

By OTTO DOELLING
Associated Press Writer

HOLZMINDEN, Germany (AP) — Before he took bitter leave of the chairmanship of the National Democratic party (NPD), Adolf von Thadden summed up the reason for the decline in the party once feared as the herald of resurgent Nazism.

"When the sun is shining," he told the party's tumultuous annual congress over the weekend, "it is difficult to sell umbrellas for the next rain shower."

The rain shower that brought the ultra-rights their first successes was the 1966-67 economic recession. By 1968, the NPD had won its way into seven of the 10 state parliaments, and there were fears at home and abroad of resurgent German nationalism. The federal government considered banning the party, and the Soviet government warned that it still possessed victor's rights of intervention if "neo-Nazism" gained more strength.

As recession turned back to boom, the NPD's fortunes changed drastically. In the 1969 election, the party failed to win the 5 per cent of the vote necessary for seats in the federal parliament. Defeats in nine state elections followed, and the party is now left with seats in only the Baden Wuerttemberg state parliament. It is expected to close these next spring.

The Interior Ministry says the party's membership has dwindled from 40,000 to 18,000; The NPD still claims 30,000 members.

Von Thadden, a 50-year old Prussian nobleman who helped found the party in 1964, said he was fed up with intrigues by the street fighters of the radical wing led by Siegfried Poehlmann of Munich.

Von Thadden told the congress the party was faced with the choice of regaining stature by appealing to the voters' reason through sound argument or reverting "to an activism....that frightens the citizens and makes no lasting political impression."

Von Thadden's wing carried the day when their dark horse candidate Martin Mussgnug, a 35-year-old lawyer, defeated Poehlmann for the chairmanship. But there was considerable doubt that an uneasy truce between Mussgnug and Poehlmann would last until the 1973 elections.

While the delegates squabbled inside the convention hall, 400 persons assembled by the Communist party marched outside in protest. A policeman on guard at the hall commented: "If it wasn't for the attention given them by these demonstrators, the party would dwindle down to the equivalent of a club of pigeon fanciers."

Showers Pelt Parts Of Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light showers pelted scattered sections of Texas today, missing only the eastern part of the state, coastal areas and the countryside west of the Pecos River.

Skies started clearing in far West Texas as the clouds and moisture moved eastward. Forecasts called for the rainfall to taper off by tonight except for parts of Northeast Texas Tuesday.

Most of the shower activity this morning dotted Northwest Texas between Lubbock, Amarillo and Wichita Falls, a Central to East Texas sector embracing Breckenridge, Corsicana, Texarkana, Lufkin and College Station, and near the coast from Victoria to north of Houston.

The cloud cover kept temperatures fairly mild, although readings near dawn sagged to 35 degrees at Dalhart and 36 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. They stood in the 40s to 60s elsewhere, staying as high as 66 at Brownsville and McAllen in the far south.

Sunday's top marks went as high as 83 at Alice, the warmest spot in the nation, but no higher than 52 at Dalhart.

S-Viets Launch New Offensive

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese troops under an umbrella of U.S. air power launched a new offensive today against North Vietnamese supply lines in eastern Cambodia.

No ground fighting was reported, but officers in the field claimed that air strikes killed 40 of the enemy near Chrum.

The thrust north of Highway 7 about 90 miles northwest of Saigon is aimed at rear staging areas of three enemy divisions operating on several fronts in Cambodia from the border to the outskirts of Phnom Penh.

Field commanders said they hoped to reduce the threat of attacks on South Vietnanese bases on Highway 7 and to divert North Vietnamese forces battling Cambodian troops close to Phnom Penh.

Associated Press correspondent George Esper reported from the forward headquarters at Tay Ninh that an armored column spearheaded the initial push by more than 5,000 South Vietnamese troops who had been massed inside Cambodia in the past week. This number is expected to increase as the offensive progresses.

Esper said scores of U.S. helicopters and advisers poured into Tay Ninh, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, to support the operation.

South Vietnam has had troops inside Cambodia since April 1970, when they crossed the border to attack enemy bases that had previously been immune to attack. U.S. troops went to help in May and were pulled out two months later.

South Vietnamese forces have remained in eastern Cambodia ever since, sticking mostly to their base camps in the border region. They suffered a severe defeat last May when North Vietnamese regulars pushed them out of Snuol with heavy losses.

Parole Hearing Set For Winnie

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Winnie Ruth Judd, famed trunk murderess of the 1930s my be a free woman by Christmas, but she faces a tough parole hearing Nov. 29.

Mrs. Judd, 67, the red-haired "Tiger Women," was convicted of shooting her former roommate, Agnes Anne LeRoi, to death 40 years ago. The dismembered body of Mrs. LeRoi, 27, and that of Hedvig Samuelson, 25, were found in two trunks dripping blood in a Los Angeles railroad station Oct. 19, 1931.

Mrs. Judd was convicted on Feb. 24, 1932, after a stormy trial and sentenced to hang. Three days before the gallows trap was to drop, she was declared insane and committed to Arizona State Hospital.

She escaped seven times and spent nearly seven years during her last escape—from October 1962 to June 1969—working as a domestic in the San Francisco Bay area. A fingerprint check in a California murder investigation revealed her true identity and Mrs. Judd was returned to Arizona in August 1969 and imprisoned.

Last February, the State Board of Pardons and Paroles voted 2-1 to commute Mrs. Judd's sentence to time served.

Board chairman Walter Michael changed his no vote to yes last month, and Gov. Jack Williams concurred. The board will consider the question of parole when it meets Nov. 39.

But Michael's vote had no actual bearing on the decision to commute, since board members Keith Edwards and Abe Cruz had outvoted him and a simple majority is all that's necessary.

Benefit Match Nets $20,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethel Kennedy and Mrs. Elliot Richardson were the star attractions in a benefit tennis match that netted $20,000 for a Washington remedial training center.

Mrs. Kennedy, the widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and U.S. tennis singles champion Stan Smith defeated Mrs. Richardson and U.S. Davis Cup doubles team member Erik Van Dillen 6-5 in the benefit match at Georgetown University Sunday night.

Approximately 2,300 persons attended, paying between $2 and $25 for admission.

The contest benefitted Kingsbury Center, which offers diagnostic testing, remedial tutoring, psychological services and teacher training for children with specific learning disabilities.

Among the spectators were Sen. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy, Sen. and Mrs. Charles Percy, former postmaster Gen and Mrs. Edward Day and Elliot Richardson, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Tokyo Is Largest City

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Tokyo has more people living within its city limits and in its suburbs than any other other city in the world, a U.N. publication reported Monday.

The new issue of the U.N. Demographic Yearbook, an 830-page collection of figures analyzing population trends, listed New York as second behind Tokyo in both city and suburban residents.

The most recent count showed Tokyo with 9,005,000 residents in its "city proper," the yearbook states, compared to 7,793,757 for New York City.

If the suburbs are added, Tokyo comes out ahead with 11,454,000 inhabitants compared with 11,448,440 for New York suburbs in New York State.

If the New York suburbs in northeastern New Jersey are included, the total becomes 16,037,395. But a metropolitan area around Tokyo with less than one-third the amount of space, had 20,485,542 inhabitants at last count.

A list of the five largest cities shows London in third place with 7,703,400 residents.

Pamela Watkins was arrested later and booked for investigation of murder and possession of dangerous drugs, Police Capt. Stan Carey said.

Yarborough Can't Decide

AUSTIN (AP) — It's a good bet that liberal Democrat Ralph Yarborough will run for governor or U.S. senator but he can't decide which office to seek, the former senator said Sunday.

"As I have traveled over Texas I'm getting the best reception I've had in 10 or 12 years," he told newsmen on a panel show, "Capital Eye."

"I had the biggest dinner ever given me in El Paso. I had the biggest crowd meet me at the airport I've ever had in my life.

"So, with the great encouragement I'm getting over Texas, I feel that I very likely will be a candidate. The odds are 10 to one that I will be."

Yarborough said he attributes much of his support to reaction stemming from the campaign tactics of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who defeated him in the last Democratic primary; to the insurance stock scandal and to the choice of former Gov. John Connally, a Democrat, as secretary of the treasury by Republican President Richard Nixon.

Insurance Industry Is Blasted By McKool

DALLAS (AP)—A blast at the insurance industry was taken Sunday by state Sen. Mike McKool, a frequent and vocal critic of what he calls the "rotten mess" in Texas' insurance business.

McKool said the insurance industry has chosen to write only "the peaches and cream" provisions of various policies.

"I have known for some time the industry was neglecting the public interest in arbitrarily and unreasonably refusing to write and in canceling policies in order to make record profits. A member of the industry sent me a copy of the guidelines repeatedly circulated by one of the leading Texas companies. In an enclosed letter this anonymous sender says:

'Although I have been associated with the insurance industry for many years and naturally opposed to some of your comments about the companies doing business in Texas, I must reluctantly agree that "my people" are now creating an unjust situation for the citizens of our state. To my amazement the greatest prevaricators seem to be our own Texas domiciled companies. An example is the attached directive being repeatedly circulated by (named insurance company). As I am still doing some business with these people, I must remain anonymous, at least for the present time, but if the attached will be of any benefit to you, to restore reasonableness to the industry, use it as you may see fit.' "

According to McKool, the guidelines among other things, prescribe the following: renewal and new policies must have minimum limits of $25,000-$50,000 bodily injury. (State law only requires $10,000-$20,000); will not write policy without liability coverage; will not write accidental death and disability; encouraged to write comprehensive on a deductible basis; agent cannot write, without company's final approval, a policy where owner: (a) has one "at-fault" accident or (b) has one moving violation and one "not-at-fault" accident; (c) resides in areas of high crime; (d) is a restaurant, theater or hotel employee, waitress, professional athlete or entertainer; (e) drives over 26,000 miles per year; (f) has car more than 10 years old; (g) is unmarried, age 29 and over, no more than two moving violations in last 3 years and no accidents in last five years.

"Such unreasonable and arbitrary guidelines have added in bringing about 'the rotten mess' in the automobile insurance industry. This proves, without question, the industry is only interested in selecting the 'peaches and cream' provisions in order to make record profits to the detriment of the public," McKool said.

Police Press Probe

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Police pressed their investigation today into the execution-style killings of two Galveston teen-age girls as new leads in the case cropped up.

The pair, Debbie Ackerman and Maria Johnson, both 15, were found floating in Turner's Bayou at Texas City, their hands and feet bound, two bullet holes in each of the girls.

"We have one (lead) that looks real good," said Capt. Everett Walker. "We may have something good Tuesday."

Miss Johnson's body was found in the bayou Wednesday. It was determined later she had last been seen with a girlfriend and a search near the same spot Thursday turned up Miss Ackerman's body.

Both girls were naked below the waist. Each had been shot twice with a .38 caliber pistol.

Walker said the pair was reported missing Monday afternoon by Miss Johnson's mother. The investigation showed, he said, the two girls had apparently hitched a ride to Texas City and returned to Galveston later in a taxicab. He said Miss Ackerman left her purse in the cab and went to reclaim it around 8 p.m. Monday.

Dr. Robert Bucklin, Galveston County medical examiner, said he found evidence the pair had engaged in sexual intercourse before they were killed but that it was impossible to determine if they had been raped.

"I found no bruises or other marks but there is no way to determine with a certainty they had or had not been raped," he said.

He had said earlier it appeared the girls were kneeling when they were shot and their bodies pitched into the bayou. Their limbs had been bound with fishing line and shoelaces.

Traffic Deaths Estimated

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 620 and 720 persons might be killed on the nation's highways over the long Thanksgiving weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

The 102-hour period covered by the estimate begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

During the same period, 27,000 to 32,000 persons might be injured in highway crashes, the council said.

The council, which makes no count of its own of fatalities and injuries, said there were 651 fatalities during the 1970 Thanksgiving holiday weekend. The Associated Press count for the period was 646. The highest Thanksgiving weekend toll recorded by The AP was 764 in 1968.

Lost Wallet Received Intact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I was completely shocked," said Lorin White. "In this day and age I did not think there were any more honest people especially in Los Angeles."

What shocked White? He lost his wallet Nov. 12 and last weekend received it back anonymously through the mail, its contents intact-including $540 in cash.
