KELLOGG CLAIMS REDS ARE PLOTTING

COMMUNISTS IN NICARAGUA AND MEXICO SCORED

SECRETARY TELLS GROUP FROM SENATE ABOUT CONDITIONS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Latin-America and Mexico are conceived as "a base" for communist "activity" against the United States, Secretary Kellogg said today in a document submitted to the senate foreign-relations committee, and made public by Chairman Borah.

"The bolshevik leaders have had very definite ideas with respect to the role which Mexico and Latin-America are to play in the general program of world revolution," the document said.

"They have set up as one of their fundamental tasks the destruction of what they term American imperialism, the necessary prerequisite to the successful development of the international revolutionary movement in the world."

"Thus Latin-America and Mexico are conceived as a base for activity against the United States. Communists in the United States have been repeatedly instructed to devote special attention to the struggle against 'American imperialism' in Latin-America, and to the organization of resistance to the United States."

The Lubbock county commissioners' court, in regular session here Wednesday, voted unanimously to reject bids submitted for grade and drainage structures on Highway No. 53, the project from Lubbock to the county line in the direction of Brownfield, and will re-advertise for bids.

Only one bid was submitted on the project, due in the opinion of close followers of highway affairs, to the present unsettled conditions in financial circles of the highway department, and in view of the fact that the bid was considered high, the rejection motion was adopted.

HASSELL GIVEN DEATH PENALTY

Jury Deliberates Two Hours In Farwell Murder Case

(By Associated Press)
FAIRWELL, Texas, Jan. 12.—Swift justice of the law was dealt out here to George J. Hassell, farmer and self-confessed slayer of his family, when he was found guilty and assessed the death penalty for the murder of his stepson, Aldon Hassell. The jury was out less than two hours, having received the case shortly before midnight. The verdict was returned about 1 o'clock this morning.

Hassell was unmoved as the verdict was read. His attorney was absent.

Crowd Is Dispersed
The large crowd that had milled around the court house in this small Panhandle town during the past four days, had dispersed and only a few persons were present when the jury reported. Among them were the aged parents of Hassell's slain wife, and a step-daughter, who calmly listened to the report.

The sheriff placed Hassell in jail here, because the evidence of feeling had subsided.

Three weeks after their disappearance in December, Hassell's wife and eight step children were found dead. The bodies were in a caved-in dugout on his farm. Hassell made a confession, telling of the killing of his family by choking, shooting and using an axe. He said he had killed a woman and three children in California some years ago, but refused to disclose when or where.

It has not been determined what will be done about the remaining eight indictments against Hassell.

Chinese Troops Are Molesting Americans

LONDON, Jan. 12 (AP).—A Ruetter dispatch from Peking today said Cantonese troops were seizing American property at Shaowu and at other points in Fukien province. The American authorities ordered the missionaries to quit some places in Fukien and prepare for immediate departure for other centers.

Fukien province borders on the coast and lies to the southeast of the middle Yangtze valley in which Hankow and Kukiang, some of recent anti-foreign riots, are situated. Shaowu is in Northern Fukien. An Amoy dispatch last Friday reported that the position of the missionaries at Shaowu and about it was "desperate." Soldiers were said to have commandeered schools, churches, hospitals, and even missionary homes. Native Christians were also affected.

BASEBALL CZAR DECIDES GAMES WERE ON LEVEL

RISBERG AND GANDIL ARE REPUDIATED: INCIDENT IS NOW CLOSED

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—All the baseball players involved in the alleged scandal between the White Sox and the Tigers in 1917 were exonerated by Commissioner Landis in a decision today.

Commissioner Landis ruled that the fund raised by the White Sox was not collected or paid to the Detroit players for "sloping" the series in Chicago, but was paid because of Detroit's achievement of beating Boston.

The commissioner further ruled there was no "sloping" of games in 1917 or 1918 except possibly by "Sweede" Risberg and "Chick" Gandil, who, according to the White Sox and Tigers, had played fixed games. Risberg and Gandil testified the White Sox "sloped" a series to Detroit in 1917 to pay the Tigers for "sloping" the series of 1917, so the White Sox could edge out Boston in the tight race for the American League pennant.

Commissioner Landis said that beyond the statements of Gandil he received in the case disclosed nothing to the effect that the raising of the money was ever discussed at a meeting of the players. Whether such a meeting actually took place is important only as going to the question of credibility, the decision said.

Silent On Cobb-Speaker
In his verdict today Commissioner Landis did not deal with the case involving Ty Cobb, who was indicted in 1918 in the interest of a betting coup. Both speakers upon the Landis verdict in the White Sox-Detroit situation here pressing the commission for any action upon their case.

Neither did the case mention anything of Buck Weaver, ousted from baseball because of a "crooked" world's series of 1919, who appealed to Commissioner Landis for reinstatement.

After a good sleep over night, Comstock returned to his work as a porter in a local barber shop.

His first act was to add 23 more coffee beans to his coffee bean studded "championship belt." When he set a record several months ago his friends gave him the "belt" with 62 beans, one for each cup consumed.

There will be no more coffee drinking for a while. Gus confided to friends, but when he has had sufficient "resting up" he will be Zepeda said that the Liberals were buying rifles and machine guns from American firms. He also asserted that he had documentary evidence, as well as a letter from the military commandant of Puerto Cabezas, sent of the Liberal government, stating that the Bragmans Lumber company and the Cuyame Fruit company, operating in the Liberal controlled zone, of their own accord have been aiding Dr. Sacasa rather than appealing to the United States for protection.

Arrested Bishop In Mexico Disappears

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12 (AP).—Bishop Pascual Diaz of Tabasco, who was arrested Monday, apparently has vanished in thin air. All traces of him have been lost since he was taken by the police to the department of the interior on Monday morning, but the fact that he sent home later for a suitcase has confirmed the belief that he is being deported.

According to Angel Torres, secretary to the bishop, the prelate was escorted by ten police agents in a motor car to Toluca, a few miles outside of the city, where he boarded a Vera Cruz train in the company of two police. Dispatches from Vera Cruz say that the immigration authorities here claim to have no knowledge of deportation proceedings against the bishop.

The prospective home builder who is looking for a bungalow of five or six rooms will find many features in this plan that will interest him. While, as shown this plan calls for four rooms, the back bedroom can be eliminated without disturbing the rest of the plan. This room also may be converted into a sleeping porch or sun-room.

The living room is ample and lighted by casement windows on two sides. There is a fine fireplace with built-in book shelves on one side and the entrance to the dining room on the other. THINGS WILL BE DIFFERENT WHEN HER SON MARRIES

"Let justice rule your conduct every day."

For when you meet the judge, you'll need fair play.

"Every time Mrs. Brown goes into that house, Dave Brown and his wife don't speak for a week after. It's another case of mother-in-law."

"How about Mrs. Brown's mother?" She goes there and stays for weeks at a time. It's the difference in women I suppose."

But there was no difference in the two mothers-in-law. Both were fine women, both had reared fine children. However, the neighbors were right.

Approaching Wedding Of Miss Julia Johnson And James Pryor, Amarillo, Is Announced At Tea In Posey Home

The approaching marriage of Miss Julia Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Johnson, to James Pryor, of Amarillo, to take place on January 28, was announced this afternoon at a tea that is being given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Posey, 1218 8th street, with Mrs. Posey and her daughter, Miss Evelyn Posey, as hostesses. One hundred and ninety guests, many from out-of-town, were invited to call during the afternoon.

The announcement was made on tiny scrolls, encircled with purple ribbons and violets, on each refreshment plate. Violet and purple hues were used in the dining room. Streamers of violet maline were draped from the center light of the room to the four corners of the table and wisteria blossoms hung from the streamers. A miniature bride and groom stood before an arch covered with green and purple vines and tall lavender tapers burned on the table which was covered with a beautiful linen and lace cloth. Other rooms, all of which were illuminated with soft artificial lights, were pretty with baskets of cut flowers.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. W. S. Posey and presented to the honoree. Others in the house party were Mrs. J. S. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. D. E. Roderick, Miss M. E. Jones, Mrs. D. B. Dugan, Claude Hurlbut, C. J. Wagner, E. O. Nichols, of Plainview, J. A. Rix, H. A. Davidson, W. B. Powell, Floyd Beall, Neil H. Wright, H. T. Kimbro, A. V. Weaver, S. C. Arnett, W. H. Meador, Roscoe Wilson, W. O. Stevens, Sam Denham, Hub Jones, O. L. Slaton, M. L. Price, G. M. Cosby, Lawrence Bacon and Kenneth I. Kimbro. Mesdames Blanche Bacon, Lula Mae Cravens, Virginia Conley, the visits of the husband's mother seemed to bring friction. The visits of the wife's mother never seemed to make much difference in the tranquility of the love nest.

Now there was a reason for the unfortunate endings of the Dowager Mrs. Brown's visits to Son David. To begin with, women are usually jealous of other women. There we have a psychology regardless of age or relationship. I have known mothers who made absolutely no protest about their sons going to war and facing annihilation, who failed utterly to be reconciled to their marriage.

We cannot help our human hearts or the passions that are as much a part of us as our breath. It is hard for a mother who has watched her baby boy grow and develop under her care to the perfect flower of his manhood, take another woman on his arm and walk down the rosy path of the future.

Mothers who lose daughters by marriage may have heartbreak, too, but it is a different kind of heartbreak. Their common interests of sex and family are still a strong tie, that in some cases grows with time.

The mother of a married son goes into her son's house with the feeling that it belongs to another woman. Most young wives are too inexperienced to realize that one of the first things they should learn is exceeding patience with the mothers of their husbands. There may be a tremendous fight going on in the older woman's breast—a struggle she is trying hard to win.

Ruth Slaton, and Lula Elkins assisted in the dining room. Tea was poured by Mesdames H. T. Kimbro, A. V. Weaver, W. H. Meador and S. C. Arnett. Miss Louise Jennings and Mesdames K. I. Kimbro, Lawrence Bacon and J. A. McElvey presided over the bride's book.

CARDS BETTER SAYS MANAGER

O'Farrell Also Says He Will Not Be Alone But Will Be 'One Of The Boys'

By NEA Service
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—Robert O'Farrell, as the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball champions, "is going to be one of the players," O'Farrell not only is going to be "one of the players," but he is going to be the "alleged" type manager. There is nothing laudatory or hysterical about O'Farrell.

O'Farrell expressed his appreciation to Sidney Hresford for the opportunity to advance in his profession; he announced with Rogers Hornsby that he officially accepted terms, including the predecessor of the opening that was before him and in a way had permission to become the new manager of the Cardinals.

O'Farrell is a complete contrast to Hornsby; Hornsby was one who used plumes of stinging words on his players in urging them on to the pennant. He cracked a stinging whip. O'Farrell speaks with actions more than words.

"I am not going to bring in a bit of Hornsby's regime into the 1927 Cardinals," says O'Farrell.

"In fact, I am going to avoid the Hornsby situation as much as possible. I see good friends and we're going to remain good friends. I'll punch to my first talk with the players will be:

"Forget the past and dig into the present. We will not draw crowds in 1927 on the reputation of 1926. We must remain a contender to make it profitable for the owners."

"I desire to belittle Hornsby as a player or a manager but it is my opinion that we will be better in 1927 than in 1926. Not through any managerial brilliance on my part but through the further seasoning of our playing ball players."

"Take juveniles like Flint Rhem, Taylor Douthitt, Tommy Thevenou, Foster Hill and Chick Hafey. They'll improve next season."

"I have considered Frick one of the game's most brilliant stars. I am not discrediting him a bit. He will hit 'em higher and farther than Frankie but let me tell you Frankie is quite an asset at the plate—to hit and run, to shoot a drive through the infield."

"Frick was one batter I could not do without. He didn't have a weakness. I didn't know what he was good for."

"I am in the market for a catcher. I'm willing to do as much work as the manager as I did as the player when I caught 147 games but if something happens I want to be prepared."

"In case I am hurt I want a substitute just as capable as myself—and perhaps I'll find a better catcher than I am. Who knows?"

First Photo Of Baseball Scandal Trial; Gandil And Risberg Before Landis

This remarkable picture is the first to come out of the sanctum where Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is investigating the latest tangle of scandal charges. It shows a general view of the hearings when "Chick" Gandil, exiled White Sox first baseman, appeared to substantiate charges by "Swede" Risberg, another of the "Black Sox." Risberg and Gandil are shown before Landis, surrounded by baseball players and newspapermen.

Hitting Sports Highspots With James R. Dow

Although the Westerners are slow in their actual basketball development Coach L. J. Von Tunelsen is not at all discouraged, but on the contrary is satisfied, for he feels that by developing slowly the quintet will be in its stride by the time of the county and district meets.

Rhodes Ingerton, physical training instructor of Texas Tech, states that something like sixty students have enrolled in his night class of fundamental football. This class has been established for the benefit of students who do not know football. Mr. Ingerton's class will be a great aid to the football training; as much time is spent every fall by the coaches in giving fundamental knowledge to the inexperienced.

Just what will be Kenesaw Mountain Landis' decision on the recent baseball scandal, in which "Swede" Risberg and "Chick" Gandil have charged some of the most prominent figures in baseball is not known—but is generally thought that nothing will be done toward putting any of the accused out.

Coach Grady Hightbottom put his quintet through some scrimmage practice last evening. Fast work is being given the lads already in order that the floor organization will be in shape for the initial contest with the Sul Ross five of Alpine at the assembly hall of January 24th.

As soon as heat is piped into the new assembly hall baseball training will start. On the west side of the hall no seats have been put in; this will serve as good training quarters for the diamond performers. Track men will also use this space for their early training.

The Westerners will meet with the Slaton Tigers Thursday night on the Slaton floor. Both the first and second teams will invade the Tiger territory.

Friday, January 21, the Von Tunelsen men will meet with the Amherst quintet on the local court.

The milk diet was regarded merely as a good story until Brown had beaten Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard. Against the first two teams not a single substitution was made.

At that stage of the season the pint-of-milk theory of the Brown coach began to be a source of much worry to him.

Advertising Stunt
"My insistence on the players drinking a pint of milk daily after practice brought me hundreds of communications on the subject," says the Brown coach.

"They come from leading dairy companies throughout the United States, breeders of Jersey, Holstein and other kinds of cattle, farm weeklies and medical journals."

"No doubt for advertising the value of milk as a food, all wanted articles from me dealing with explanations of my theories on the subject and what it meant to my football players."

"Brown may be a milk-fed aggregation again next year, but it is a cinch our publicity department will be asked not to stress the fact."

of the teams using the huddle put the ball into play," said the coach with a smile. "was due to the fact that some of the boys couldn't make up their minds whether to forward pass, run the ends or buck the line."

"The huddle gives too many cooks a chance to express an opinion and some of them haven't any."

No doubt the coach is a trifle unkind and probably doesn't mean all he said, but it looks as if he had given one good reason for the wasted time that is a part of the huddle with most teams.

Vic Hanson, the greatest athlete developed at Syracuse in years, intends to turn coach next fall. If for only a few years.

Hanson is a protégé of "Chick" Meehan, football coach at New York University, who had one of the best teams in the country last season.

Meehan formerly coached at Syracuse and had much to do with the early development of Hanson. It is said "Chick" had already tied Hanson up for next year as his assistant.

If Hanson is half as good a coach as an athlete, he is going to be a big help to Meehan.

Bristling Battles of Bare Fist Days

MY LIFE STORY by Jack McAuliffe

I pulled a lot of clever tricks on some of the men I met on my barnstorming tour with Billy Madden, my manager, but I sure got mine in Philly.

A man often took his life in his hands when he invaded a town where there was a lot of pride in the local fighter. If I went in and slapped him silly I usually had to watch I didn't get a brick bounced off my skull by the fallen fighter's brother or idolizer. The modern Jack Dempsey gives me and a lot of the other veterans a laugh when he talks about his Shelby fight with Tommy Gibbons. Jack claimed the first row in the arena at Shelby had a lot of guns in it and that he was afraid some of the town boys would shoot him if he hurt Gibbons. Why that's the bunk. He should have gone through what we had to.

I remember well one December in 1885 I was playing Philadelphia Bull McCarty, a rugged, rough stevedore, was my opponent. The house was a McCarty house from top to bottom. I looked over the howling mob and told my manager Billy Madden we were in a tough spot. He said he didn't need the information. He knew it.

Bull McCarty came into the ring and he brought his gang with him. They eyed me suspiciously and said they had heard all about my barnstorming tricks and were going to sit tight and see that nothing happened to their Billy McCarty.

McCarty was a tough fellow, as I figured him to be, but he did not know a thing about boxing. He started the first round very cautiously, eyeing my seconds all the time and I had a chance to smack him quite a few times before he woke up.

In the second round he started shuffling away with looping rights and lefts. I stood off, speared him with my left and cracked him on the chin with a hard right and down he clattered.

I was surprised at the lack of disturbance in the house. I thought the whole gang would pile into the ring after me although I had knocked him out cleanly. I was walking slowly to my corner when Madden shouted a warning at me.

"My God, look out, Jack!" he screamed.

I turned to see McCarty's father swinging a heavy chair down on my unprotected head. I tried to sidestep but—bloop—it crashed and I went completely out.

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the next chapter McAuliffe tells how the blow of the chair affected his brain and how he fought four rounds with Jack Hopper with his mind a total blank.

May Tells Of New Plans On Traffic

Texas is soon to have a regulation traffic system that will eliminate many of the dangers to motorists on the highways and streets of cities, in the opinion of T. E. May, chief of police of Lubbock, who returned last night from Austin where he attended a two day session of traffic men from over Texas.

The law, details of which have not been made public, in all probability will be offered in the present session of the legislature, and is similar to the statute now in use in the state of New York, where it has operated successfully for some time.

A Federated Central America?

A Federation of Central America, uniting under one government the five small republics lying between Mexico and Panama may be an outgrowth of the present troublesome situation in Nicaragua.

With each revolution in this area
sentiment grows among the cooler leaders for such a union. A single government, the unionists hold,
they could present an imposing front to the world. They point first to the United States and then to Mexico
as examples of the great material benefit to be derived from such a program.

The fact that the Central American republics are now renting small legations in various nondescript buildings of Washington is explained, in the opinion of some diplomatic, by a realization that some day in the not too far distant future Central America will have an ambassador to represent Nicaragua, Honduras, Costa Rica and Salvador.

But general peace, industrial development and prosperity, rather than imposing embassies, is the aim out by those who favor a Central American union.

Sentiment for union is strongest in Honduras and Salvador. Nicaragua and Guatemala are also envisaging it sometime in the future. Costa Rica has been a comparatively peaceful country, is getting along very well by herself, and is inclined to look contemptuously on her more turbulent neighbors.

Central America was a federation of states when separated from Spanish rule in 1821. The federation also included what are now the Mexican provinces of Chiapas and Soconusco.
But whereas the Spanish control had been strong, when Spain left the states acquired too much power and the federation retained not enough.
The Central American party sought to dominate the whole and failed. After almost constant warfare from 1821
to 1842 the federation went to pieces
too weak to hold together.

Ever since, sporadic efforts have been made to re-organize the sometimes involving all five and sometimes but two or three.
Central American diplomats declare
the issue is by no means a dead
duck.

Form And Geography
These funny savages! How childish, how superstitious, how utterly irrational they are!

Take the South African bushman,
for instance. He will not drink water unless he is standing and he throws
it into his mouth with the hand.

The Senegals of Malakka, however, will only drink when the water is held in a folded leaf.

And other races would feel defiled
if they did not drink from pumpkin gourds or coconut shells, and some from human skulls, because made from the skulls of their slain enemies.

But, suppose you had a young girl
at a school of some other fancy fellow that there was a kind where it was considered very very bad to eat soup
from the south instead of the north,
that knives and spoons must be laid to the right of the plate and forks to the left, that napkins should only be laid unfolded, and that tin cups were never put on the table. How funny he would think us!

Elegant and good form seem largely
by a matter of geography!

Master's

When he who adores thee has left but the name
Of his fault and his sorrows behind,
Oh! say wilt thou weep, when they darken the fame
Of a life that for thee was resigned?
Yes, weep, and however my foes
may condemn Thy tears shall efface their desire.

For Heaven can witness, though
guilty to them,
I have been but too faithful to
thee.

With thee were the dreams of
my earliest love,
Every thought for my reason was thine;
In my last humble prayer to the Spirit above Thy name shall be mingled with mine!

Oh! best are the lovers and friends who shall live
The days of thy glory to see;
But the next dearest blessing that Heaven can give
Is the pride of thus dying for
thee.

IN NEW YORK
SEE-SAWING UP
and down
BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Times was when "Mulberry Bend" was almost paradise of its poverty.

Sight-seeing bus magnaphones
pointed to the old-fashioned magicians, the tenement broods crowded its streets, and gangsters made it a battle-ground.

Change in Manhattan with the speedy "see-you-see-it-not-you-don't" of the old-fashioned magicians.
The other day I wandered down to the "bend" after an absence of a few months. Just off Hester street, east of the old East Side, I heard a telephone clicking off market reports from a marble building.

The battered old stores have become centers of a new commercial life, where you may find all the Italian wares, from olive oil to spoonful. The old fish dealers now have trim looking tanks in front of their places and the fish that once flopped in the windows now swim
in fresh water where all may see.
Food of all sorts tempt from the pewees and a modern business air permeates the entire section.

Old Mulberry bend is gone—Mulberry street of romantic flavor is no more. One by one the old districts pass.

New York, which found itself base
on the subject of skyscrapers, now finds even its jaded imagination whetted by the announcement of a new 108-story building, stretching a quarter of a mile into the air! Thousands pass the spot on 42d street where it is to be located and stare into the vacant space, trying to visualize this mountain of steel and stone. Already the plot of ground is pointed out to visiting tourists.

It is mentioned casually that such a building will cost $22,000,000.

But it is not so generally mentioned that actual hostility exists against the steady increase of skyscrapers. A strong organization works diligently for laws that would keep buildings from being higher than the width of the street upon which they are located. As, one by one, the new giants rise, a committee gets new battles to wage war against this invasion of the sky.

They point out that the New York traffic problem, already bringing grey hairs to many heads, will become more and more involved as these buildings rise. They argue that such buildings can hold such a vast number of persons that when several are built in a given neighborhood it is almost impossible to get people to and from the spot.

Elevator problems also are raised and serious debates are held concerning the strength of the steel cables.

No one seems to know where it will stop, or how high buildings may rise.
And a considerable fraction of Manhattan is worried.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—If some otherwise rational citizen has a scheme for perpetual motion, equalization of private wealth, painting permanent murals on clouds or applying the metric system to the calendar, the servants of the people in Washington
know when to expect to hear about it.

If he feels he is being followed and persecuted or that the world is to be destroyed on a given date, the secretaries to the great know just when to reserve a niche in the waste basket for his letters.

When the moon is full—that's when the "nut letters" are written. These come to executives, department heads, senators and congressmen and the man who receives none may well believe that his name is not widely known outside the capital.

Four or five days after the full of the moon the last of them arrive. It takes as long as that for the ordinary letter to come from the Pacific coast.
"Nut letters" from erratic correspondents seemingly affected by the lunar planet who live nearer Washington arrive sooner of course.

And then the "nut letters" stop, except for an occasional one, until the moon is full again.

This, at least, is the story of those who open the strange missives. The department of justice, for instance, is said to be deluged with "nut" communications. But such correspondents are not particular to whom they address their communications. Any official is likely to hear from a "citizen" who has a remarkable invention to be patented or who knows where a treasure is hidden and needs only a little financing.

Financing, indeed, is a prime need of a goodly portion of these agitated souls.

Congressman Fiorello La Guardia of
New York, the wet Socialist member who becomes a wet Republican member in March, tells this one: He was making a speech in Brooklyn and many Italian folk were there to greet their hero.

La Guardia, reaching into his pocket
to pull out a paper and read from it, found that the light was poor and had obvious difficulty in making out the print.

"Your eyes no good!" said a man who rushed up to him after the speech.
"You drink da Scotch, I like you and I tells you. She's no good. I make it myself."

Busy Congressman Thomas S. Butler
of Pennsylvania, who has served 15 terms in congress and is chairman of the house naval affairs committee, is becoming more and more deaf—apparently. Virtually everyone who telephones him at his office is advised that he can't hear over the telephone.

But not everyone. And nobody except Butler can tell just how well he can hear through the receiver. Your correspondent is suspicious, especially since Butler remarked to him:

"If I had my way we'd throw out every telephone and every door bell."

However, one gathers that Butler
says mean things like that to cover up an unusually kindly nature. He went on to tell about his home door bell. In order to pull it, he said, one had to carry it back out into the middle of the street.

Butler is 71 years old. Despite his age he is one of the most peppery men in congress. He is especially peppery when he talks about the nation's naval deficiencies.

MR. BERGDOLL'S MONEY

When the alien claims bill adopted

it doubtless will be, a young man over in Germany will be interested in it.
All German property eventually will be returned, taking about twenty years under this bill. The young man with the sustained interest is Grover Cleveland Bergdoll.

Mr. Bergdoll's various adventures in and out of this country since 1917 are well known. But only the other day, if news reports are correct, the government moved to seize some $20,000
which he inherited upon the death of an aunt last March and to impound the same with the alien property custodian.

If this procedure is correct, it seems to place the government in the attitude of regarding Mr. Bergdoll as an enemy alien. If he is an enemy alien,
he could not have been a draft evader
in 1917. If he is an enemy alien, it seems he would be entitled to his $20,000 some time in the twenty years.
And since we are not at war at this good moment with Germany, what is to prevent Mr. Bergdoll, enemy alien, from returning to this country, pointing out the error of such things as have been done him and reclaiming his place in society—as a German citizen?

It all seems very involved. One would like to know what is the status of Mr. Bergdoll—Mineral Wells In-

Road Contracts To Be Given Saturday

Contracts for construction of the grade on the new line of the Denver railroad from Estelline to Dimmitt and Lubbock, through Petersburg and Plainview, will be awarded next Saturday by rail officials, and work will be carried on simultaneously at three points along the route, O. L. Slaton, chairman of the Lubbock chamber of commerce railroad committee, said late Tuesday following receipt of the information from Denver officials.

It is understood here that work is to be started at Estelline, Lockney and Lubbock, and surveys of the route in this county that the road will take have been mailed to the committee here, so that right-of-way may be secured in time for the grading crews.

The ceremony of formal breaking of dirt on the road was held some time ago at Estelline.

The project is the second on which contracts have been let in Lubbock county, the first one, on the Slaton highway, now nearing completion. The contract calls for only grade and drainage structures similar to the Slaton contract.

Dutchess Of York
Has Marine Maid

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A burly
British marine of the "What Price Glory" type has the detail of "doing"
the Duchess of York's hair on her voyage to Australia.

He is private Uden, a Kentishman,
who joined the navy to see the world,
but who is now resigned in seeing massacre by the hands of the heads of the Duchess, and per two ladies-in-waiting, Lady Cavan and the Honorable
Mrs. John Gilmour.

The Battleship "Renown," on which the Duke and Duchess are traveling,
has never carried women passengers,
but the Navy officials wanted to appear sophisticated so they sent private Uden to a fashionable West End hair dressing shop for a course of training.

First construction on an 11-story
tower, proposed as the tallest building in the world, will begin in Detroit in January.

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

When the heavy steel door—camouflaged to look like innocent wood, on the inside, at least—opened, Faith whirled, her arms involuntarily going out to her sister.

There stood Cherry, small head held high and proud, a smile curling her beautiful mouth, the lips freshly tinted with rouge, the apricot flush on her cheeks burning high and bright, her golden eyes clear and wide and innocent—innocent of worry, apparently, as well as of the guilt of being a murderer.

"Hello, folks. It's sweet of you to come. I knew you would. How's Mother?"

"Hello, darling," Faith dropped her arms and answered in a voice that sounded flat to her own ears. "Mother is resting well. I think she is enjoying the hospital."

"She doesn't know anything about—about Cluny," Jim Lane cleared his throat and rose stiffly to kiss his daughter.

The warden and the matron of the female wards, a tall, stout, pleasant-faced woman, who looked like a Sunday school worker and club woman, took seats unobtrusively after the warden had locked the door.

"Don't look so woe-begone, Long," Cherry called her brother, after she had kissed him. "How's Fay? Is she going to turn you down—after this?"

"Not on your life!" Junior's worried young face broke into a broad grin. "Say, Cherry, she wants us to get married right away—to show the world what she thinks of the Lanes."

"That's sweet of her," Cherry's eyes misted over with the first tears she had permitted herself since the interview had begun. "But don't you go rushing into marriage, Long. You can't tell what will happen when you get married," she tried valiantly to be humorous.

"I've brought you some clothes, honey," Faith indicated the suitcase at her father's feet. "You—you don't have to wear—anything special," she asked lamely, remembering those drably clad women who had stared at her as she passed along that sinister wall of iron bars.

"Oh, no. I can wear anything I please. What did you bring? I hope you thought of my green chaiseuse. It's so practical. Oh, yes, here it is!"

"And I brought you some turkey sandwiches—white meat, some deviled eggs, some pumpkin and mince pie, some chocolate cake, a little fruit," Faith lifted the heavy hamper and offered it to her sister with trembling hands.

"Have you seen Stephen Churchill?" Jim Lane demanded gruffly.

"Oh, yes, he was here within an hour after they brought me in," Cherry's bright voice faltered only momentarily. "He's the most magnetic thing. Positively hypnotic. Of course I told him I'm not a bit worried over what the grand jury will do Monday. I didn't do anything wrong, and I'm not afraid. I'm not going to let anything frighten me. I'll be home Monday, Dad. Don't worry."

"Gee, Cherry, you're great!" Junior breathed admiringly. "I didn't think you had it in you."

"Did Mugsy send me any message?" the girl turned to Faith with the first real shot of agony in her eyes. "Of course she doesn't know I'm—here—"

"I told her you and—Chris were on your honeymoon, that you were very happy. She said to tell you that your Mugsy isn't mad at you at all. Those were her very words."

"Time's up, folks," Warden Little interrupted, with some hesitation. "We'll take good care of the little girl I'm afraid we're going to miss her—after Monday."

U. S. Develops Effective Treatment for Leprosy

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

In Carville, La., the United States government maintains a hospital for lepers. Since 1921, 395 lepers have been in this institution. There are at present 275.

From time to time some of the lepers are discharged, others escape. Of course, the patients are not discharged until the attending physicians are convinced that they have been cured, which is determined by the most careful scientific tests. These lepers are asked to return to the hospital at various intervals for repeated examinations.

Twenty-nine lepers have died, most of them admitted to the hospital, however, in a serious condition.

Changing Ideas
It was formerly believed that leprosy constituted a menace to those who were nursing the patients, whereas it is now generally known that it is not really so dangerous to those coming in contact with it as are many other diseases.

A few years ago it was found that chaulmoogra oil had specific virtues in the treatment of this disease. The authorities at Carville say that absolutely conclusive reports have not been obtained, but that definite improvement has followed in a sufficiently large number of cases to encourage both the physician and the patient in continuing the treatment. Various methods have been devised for giving the chaulmoogra oil so that it may be taken without dis-

Other improvements in the care of the leper has been the application to his condition of those things commonly included under physical therapy. These are hot and cold baths, light, heat, massage and exercise.

Patients Cheerful
Under such treatments improvements have been obtained in cases of stiffness of the joints and weakness of the muscles, especially of the arms. The patient with leprosy is likely to suffer pains from the pressure on the nerves by the nodules of this disease. These pains have been relieved by the newer methods now employed.

In a recent visit to the leprosyarium, I found the patients unusually cheerful for hospitalized patients under continuous control.

Many of the patients were engaged in industrial pursuits. Most of them avail themselves of the radio and lectures.

The most beautiful surroundings have been provided in this institution by the government. The rooms for the patients are commodious. Everything possible is done to provide these unfortunate sufferers with a livable existence.

CALLES SAYS CATHOLICS PLANNED REVOLT

HIS STATEMENT RAPS STAND OF HIGH PRELATES

MEXICAN PRESIDENT SAYS CHURCH IS TRAITOR TO COUNTRY

(By Associated Press) MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—The Mexican Catholic episcopate is accused of responsibility for recent Catholic uprisings in Mexico under the banner, "Long Live Christ the King" in a statement issued today by the office of President Calles.

The statement declares that the Mexican government is convinced that the rebels are acting under specific instructions from the episcopate and that orders have been issued to punish energetically clergymen guilty of inciting to rebellion.

Calls Episcopate "Traitors"

The Catholic episcopate of Mexico City, with the knowledge that international relations with the United States would be severely strained or unfavorably modified beginning January 1, showing that they still are traitors to the country, ordered the Catholic clergy to induce the largest possible number of men to revolt against the Mexican government, the statement says.

Reviewing Catholic rebellious activities since January 1, the statement declares that the clergymen's efforts have failed except in a few states.

99 Soldiers Killed

The statement charges that the clergymen's activities resulted in revolt in six states and in the death of 99 federal soldiers and 75 Catholic insurgents. In one case a letter signed by Rene Capistran Galza, reported provincial president of a "New Mexican government" was found on the body of a rebel.

Fred Hines Hurt Again HE'S A REAL CHAMPION Is Bear For Hard Luck

Fred Hines today added another mishap to his long string of accidents and took a firmer hold than ever upon the championship of the Avalanche-Journal's "hard luck crew" when, while adjusting the newspaper press in the mechanical department, he fell into the cellar under the machine, breaking three ribs and rendering himself unconscious as his body struck the concrete floor.

He was immediately revived by fellow workmen and administered to by Dr. Sam H. Stewart, hurriedly summoned from an adjoining building, and a few moments later, his injuries blistered by bandages and adhesive tape, was about his business of caring for the big press.

A year ago "Hiney," as he is universally known in Lubbock and among the printing fraternity of Texas and Oklahoma, suffered a crushed foot when a page form fell upon that member, and a few months later had a hand badly mangled when it was caught in the mechanism of the press. During the holiday season of 1925 he was badly burned when a stove exploded in his home. All in all, Hines holds the "accident laurels" of Lubbock pretty well in advance of any other citizen, he believes. He has resided here for the past three years, joining the mechanical staff of the Plains Journal when its plant was completed in 1924. He is regarded as one of the best printing pressmen in the Southwest by printers and newspapermen alike.

SCOUT LEADERS OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR NEW FUNDS

$20,000 NEEDED TO KEEP UP WORK ON PLAINS, IS DECISION

Plans for a campaign to raise $20,000 in twelve counties to promote Boy Scout work in the South Plains area, launched here Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of executives and interested citizens from nearly a score of towns in the council territory, were gaining momentum as the representatives who attended the meeting began negotiations to carry on the outlined campaign in their respective towns, according to reports received at scout headquarters here today.

Half of the amount will be used in adding improvements to the Post Memorial camp near Post, the other half to be used in promotion of the movement. Quotas have been assigned to 25 towns in the council where scouting is active, ranging from $6,000 in Lubbock to $250 at small towns, and a plan of campaign adopted that has proved successful in hundreds of similar campaigns.

Davis General Chairman

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, was selected as general chairman of the campaign, and explained the outline of the plan at the meeting Tuesday, and although representatives from all towns were not permitted to speak due to the press for time, those who did speak were highly enthused over the proposition and pledged support to the movement.

J. P. Fisch, regional executive of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, explained the workings of a scout organization, its ideals and purposes, and cited statistics showing the great growth of the movement. He pointed to scouting as an ally to the home, school and church, which supplements the work of these organizations as to other work can do.

Harkeys Tells of History

L. S. Harkey, termed in his introduction as "the father of scouting on the Plains," reviewed briefly the history of the movement in this part of the state, saying that 40 cents will educate a boy in scouting as against $50 required to care for him after he has gone wrong and is sent to prison. Representatives who were present at the meeting returned enthused with the movement, and now will open campaigns in their respective towns to sell scouting to the citizenship. Little trouble is anticipated by leaders.

Barbers say imitation of men's styles and habits by women is given as the direct cause by those now engaged in raising hirsute adornments. Smoking, proponents of the beard say it stands out more than ever as a badge of masculinity, and the vogue of the clean-shaven man is on the decline.

Matador Boosters Are To Be Favored

The signers of the guarantee pledge recently circulated here to underwrite the game between the Tech Matadors and A. and M. college October 28 on Tech field, will be given first choice of tickets when the advance sale opens, E. W. Provencher, business manager of the college said today.

A total of 146 names were affixed to the pledge, including four members of the board of regents, who pledged nearly half the required amount, $1,450 was pledged by the four members, including Mrs. F. N. Drame, of Corsicana, who matched the $500 pledged by Anon G. Carter, president of the board. Preparations have already been started here to accommodate what is expected to be the biggest crowd in the history of football in West Texas.

L. Slaton, chairman of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce railroad committee.

Bids on the grade were to have been received last Monday, but due to certain circumstances surrounding the proceedings, awards were not made. Work is to get under way immediately after contract awards, it was said, and officials have stated that the first train over the new line will come into Lubbock within 18 months from beginning of construction operations.

Blood Continues Flowing

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12 (AP)—Special dispatches from Guadalajara state that 26 rebels were killed when federal troops recaptured the towns of Coahuila, Arantzen and Tostotin in the state of Jalisco. The towns, military headquarters reported, were taken by the rebels a few days ago.

(Dispatches from Guadalajara yesterday said that 21 persons were killed and 16 wounded in a clash between Catholics and the municipal authorities in the town of Ocuila, the mayor and a local deputy being among those killed.)

General Miguel Jimenez, under secretary of war, today declared that the present revolutionary activities do not offer a military problem. He said that the uprisings were sporadic and unconnected and added that the fact that a small number of men were destroying railway bridges and tracks in various sections of Mexico does not indicate a serious military situation.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12 (AP)—Cotton opened easy with first trades showing losses of 3 points. NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points under southern and local selling, but quickly turned firmer on renewed trade buying, covering and some commission houses demand promoted by continued favorable reports from the cotton goods markets.

Increased spot business noted in the south since the beginning of the month also appeared to be coming in for more attention, and the market sold up to 13.60 for March by the end of the first hour, or 8 points net higher and into new high ground.

The forenoon market showed increasing activity and strength. March advancing to 13.27 and July to 13.65 or 12 to 15 points net higher. December sold up to 14 cents on the advance, which was attributed to trade buying, continued covering, and commission house demand.

CHICAGO REPORT CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP)—With only scant stocks in Chicago and the amount steadily decreasing, wheat showed an early upward trend today. Opening unchanged to 1/4c higher, wheat soon made material gains all around.

Corn and oats also developed firmness, corn starting 1/4c off and 1/2c up and subsequently scoring a general advance. Provisions were easy.

Stocks And Money

FOREIGN EXCHANGES NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Foreign exchanges steady. Great Britain demand 4.84 7/8; cables 4.85 5/16; 60-day bills on banks 4.81; France demand 3.96 1/2; cables 3.97; Italy demand 4.24; Belgium 13.90; Germany 23.71 1/2; Tokyo 48.81 1/2; Montreal 98.81 1/2.

WALL STREET REPORT NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Price movements lacked uniformity at the opening of today's stock market. Standard industrial stocks were inclined to heaviness while rails showed a tendency to resume their recent advance. Freeport Texas showed independent strength by touching a new high record, but U. S. Steel common, Allied Chemical and Radio corporation opened fractionally lower. Atchafalou, with an initial gain of over a point, led the upward move in the railroad shares.

Early selling centered largely in the farm implement, chemical and motor shares. Commercial Solvents B quickly dropping 3 1/2 points and Allied Chemical, American Agricultural Chemical, preferred, Case Threshing Machine and advance Rumely, preferred, yielding a point or more. Pressure against the motors followed announcement of additional price cuts, Hudson being the hardest hit. Oils held steady in the face of a cut in its stock price by the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Persistent accumulation of the railroad shares had a steady effect. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Canadian Pacific all moving up a point or so in the first half hour. Foreign exchanges opened steady, the only change in consequence being a jump of nearly 20 points to 15.94 cents in Spanish pesetas. Demand sterling was quoted at 4.84 1/2 and French francs around 3.96 cents.

Governor Expected To Answer Chambers

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Jan. 12.—Governor Allan A. Ferguson is expected to take cognizance today of the action of District Attorney C. M. Chambers of Bexar county, who Tuesday postponed trying criminal cases until Mrs. Ferguson leaves office January 18.

Chambers charged that the governor's postponing proceedings have "made life and property unsafe." He said so far as he could learn, only a few convicts in Bexar county have not been released.

No Comment Made Neither the governor nor former Governor James E. Ferguson would comment last night, but they implied something would be said today.

Since the governor last her race for reelection to Dan Moody, in August, 1926, approximately 1,000 clemency proclamations have been issued. The available record to date shows a total of 3,177, with 930 full pardons, 815 conditional pardons, seven commutations of death sentences, and the remainder restorations of citizenship, paroles, furloughs and remissions of fines, bonds and jail sentences.

This establishes a record for clemency in Texas.

Despite the number, the prison population, which was about 3,500 when the governor went into office two years ago, remains above the 3,000 mark.

LIGE ROBERTS, OF THE CITY Drug Store, who has just recently returned from a trip to Waxahatchie, Dallas and other points in that part of the state is very enthusiastic regarding the method in this section since he has visited that country. He says this looks like a paradise with a beam on compared with some of the towns he visited while away.
