DEBATES APPLAUDED

McAllen Citizens Depart Undecided on Next Procedure

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—The house of representatives tonight refused to budge from its previous position in voting to seat W. R. Montgomery of Hidalgo county as a member and a crowd variously estimated at from 200 to 500 citizens of that county who came here to "picket" the legislature and ask that it reopen the case was undecided on its next course of action.

The invading friends of E. M. Smith of Edinburg, who had contested Montgomery's seat, sat in the gallery during the proceeding and listened to nearly four hours of debates upon parliamentary procedure, at times applauding ardently remarks of some friendly legislator on the floor below.

At one time Speaker W. S. Barron warned the spectators that "if there is any further applause, the galleries will have to be cleared."

The protest was turned down on a point of order by Keller of Dallas that the subject dealt with matters heretofore considered by the legislature, and that a motion to reconsider and table had carried, precinding its being reopened. The vot on the point of order was 74 to 55

Following disposition of the case, the delegation filed quietly out of the capitol. They were not in evidence tonight, and some of them went home, Gordon Griffin, attorney for Smith said tonight.

Griffin said he did not know what further action would be taken.

Although he was fortified by two parliamentarians, an extra one having been imported into the house especially for the occasion, Speaker Barron submitted each of the many points of order to the house membership for disposal.

Never before in the history of Texas, it is said, has a demonstration similar to the one made before the legislature today by the Hidalgo county been witnessed at the state capitol.

Petition to Woodruff

The delegation made its way into the capitol in a body shortly after the house had convened after the noon recess. It climbed the stairs to the second floor and halted in front of the outer doors to the hall. The door was guarded by Sergeant-at-Arm Joe White and his assistant, Rand Roberts.

WARSHIP PLANS BEING DRAWN

Coolidge Signature Leaves Money Only Need

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (US)—President Coolidge today approved the bill to authorize the construction of 15 modern cruisers and one airplane carrier for the United States navy.

His action followed a long and spectacular fight, in which the "preparedness" forces played a conspicuous part, to give this country an adequate sea fighting force.

To all intents and purposes the building program was launched within a few minutes after the president's signature made the bill a law. Navy constructors immediately began the preparation of the plans and every preliminary detail was arranged to expedite the laying of the keels for the first five of the ships.

The one matter yet to be arranged is provision for the $274,000,000 which will be required to complete the program. As most of this money will have to be allotted under the administration of Mr. Hoover, the president wished to consult with him and congressional leaders.

It was agreed that as a preliminary, a comparatively small sum would be expended during the remainder of this fiscal year, which ends June 30. This will be about $12,000,000 and will provide for all possible work which may be done within that time.

For the next fiscal year there will be an appropriation of some $45,000,000. This, it is estimated, will provide for the work on the five cruisers to be laid down the first year of the three-year program.

The airplane carrier is not to be built immediately and probably will be projected in the program for the second year.

Last Rites Held Wednesday For Pioneer, Founder of City of Olney

John W. Groves Buried in City He Made Possible by Granting of Townsite in 1907; Five Brothers Survive

OLNEY, Texas, Feb. 13—Last rites were said here today for John W. Groves, pioneer West Texan, and founder of the city of Olney, who died at his home here yesterday.

"Uncle Johnnie," as he was known to his hundreds of friends, had been confined to his bed for the past five months, and had been in ill health for two years. His passing takes away another of a group of dauntless men who made development of West Texas an easier problem by their pioneer efforts.

When he came in Texas in 1885, the territory surrounding Olney was virtually uninhabited. In 1907, when the railroad was surveyed through this section, he gave part of his land for a townsite, and was one of the first builders in the town he made possible.

In later years he was instrumental in the organization of the First National bank of Olney, and was one of its first officers and directors.

He was a devoted church worker among those of his faith, that of the Cumberland Presbyterians.

He leaves five brothers, Henry, Smith and Joe of Olney, and Bob and George of Fannin county, Texas. His wife died about five years ago.

BABY SLAYING STORIES VARY

Mother and Daughter Give Different Versions

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Feb. 13. (UP)—Confined in cells of the county jail here tonight, a weak-minded daughter, Mrs. Okel Gorham, 25, continued to accuse her mother, Mrs. Ethel Lewis, 50, with aiding her in the gruesome task of killing five of their babies in the past 15 years.

The accusing girl's mother, who authorities say shows signs of derangement also, stoutly denied she had any part in the murders but police said they found many conflicting details in her denials.

Mrs. Gorham, in her original confession, said she and her mother killed seven children but police said her amended the story later, saying only five were killed. She said three of the children were her own and two belonged to her mother. A third child of Mrs. Lewis is missing, Mrs. Gorham said.

The mother, authorities said, changed her story several times of the strange circumstances surrounding the babies' deaths.

Finger marks were found on the throat of the last Gorham infant to be found dead and its stomach will be examined for trace of poison. Mrs. Gorham, according to the confession, said her mother gave the last Gorham baby milk mixed with liquid from a bottle marked "poison" but choked the infant before it died from the liquid.

Mrs. Lewis admitted she fed the baby but denied giving it any poison. Her husband, William Lewis, told investigators that two of his children died at birth, one near Indian Lake, Mich., and the other at Granger, Ind., where the family lived formerly.

Lewis and Herbert Gorham, husbands of the women who made the confession, were held for questioning but no charges have been placed against them. Murder charges which had been filed against the two women were later withdrawn and sanity tests are planned.

General Booth Definitely Ousted As Council Names New Army Head

SUNBURY-ON-THAMES, Eng., Feb. 13. (AP)—The high council of the Salvation Army tonight elected Commissioner Edward J. Higgins, general of the army, succeeding Bramwell Booth.

The council moved swiftly to confirm its action earlier today when Bramwell Booth was adjudicated unfit for service by a vote of 55 to 5.

The new commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army is an Englishman occupying heretofore the post of chief of staff. He has been in close touch with the international headquarters at London, and at the same time has been regarded as highly acceptable to the American commissioners because of the knowledge of conditions in the United States. The new general lived for eight years at Mount Vernon, New York.

JACK WALTON THINKS PEOPLE NEED GUARDIAN

Impeached Governor Believes Territorial Rule Best for Oklahoma

JOHNSTON'S CHANCES

Tables Turned Against The Governor, But Citizens Are With Him

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—Jack Walton, impeached and removed as governor of Oklahoma in 1923, today gave his impressions of the trial of Gov. Henry S. Johnston, now in progress before the state senate court of impeachment.

Walton views the situation of Johnston as an ironic turning of tables, he told the Associated Press in an interview. He said he was "decidedly interested in seeing Johnston caught in the same machine which he helped form to get me." Walton blames his removal on the Ku Klux Klan, for which he said Johnston was a lecturer and officer.

Johnston's Chance Better

The former governor said he believed Johnston stands a better chance of acquittal than he did.

In the event of another impeachment proceeding, Walton said the United States government should declare the citizens of Oklahoma incapable of self-government and replace the state under territorial rule.

Public sentiment is for Johnston, Walton said, but if the senate is against the present executive, "he will be ousted despite the sentiment."

Impeachment Common

"Oklahoma has tried to impeach nearly all of its governors except former Governor Robert L. Williams, probably the reason the territory didn't try to get him was because he was a war-time governor.

"I am taking no sides in this matter, one way or the other. I have a great deal of sympathy for Governor Johnston, believing that the man is honest and has done his best under the conditions, but on the other hand, it is decidedly interesting to me to see him caught in the meshes of the same machine that he helped form as a lecturer and high officer of the Ku Klux Klan.

"Public sentiment over the state favors Johnston and the question

The law covering conviction for the crime named calls for a punishment of from two to 10 years imprisonment.

Companion Wounded

Eaves was jointly indicted with Rudy Pettiet for an attempted holdup of the Miller-Martin garage and filling station in Electra. The attempt was thwarted by the intercession of Electra officers, and in the brief affray which followed Pettiet was wounded by a shot from an officer's gun.

Sam Spence, district attorney conducted the case for the state, introducing Jim Gordon and Roy Hart, Electra officers, and Cyril White, employe of the garage who was in the building at the time of the attempted robbery, as witnesses.

Under the questioning of Mr. Spence, the state attempted to show that Eaves had been sitting in an automobile with the engine running while Pettiet went into the garage and pulled his gun on three men. Jim Gordon, Electra officer, who had been tipped off to the attempt, was on the spot and promptly intervened and ordered Pettiet to "stick 'em up" according to the testimony. Lindy Has Everything Necessary To Begin Home Life in Gift Museum

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 13. (UP)—A fleet of seven Pan-American airways planes led by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will take to the air at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning in search of Harry Rogers and three companions, missing after having been forced down somewhere off the Florida coast today.

Lindbergh returned here at 9:30 o'clock tonight after nearly three hours in the air over the Florida Keys in search of Rogers.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 13. (UP)—Pretty much the whole world may have a willing hand in furnishing the home of Charles A. Lindbergh and Anne Spencer Morrow.

With a lavishness probably never before equalled it has showered the noted flyer with trophies and with worldly goods from which they could start housekeeping tomorrow.

But there's a genuine question whether Lindbergh would consent to break up his unique, world-wide collection, now on display and the shrine of hundreds of thousands at Jefferson memorial here.

For the sake of a story, however, that collection contains virtually everything but a furnace, a fireplace and front steps for the Lindbergh home.

One city gave him a 197-piece sterling silver dinner set, the admiration of everyone who seen it, and presumably of Miss Morrow herself, who saw it for the first time last Friday.

"Of the thousands who have seen that set," Mrs. Nettie H. Beauregard, curator of the museum, told the United Press, "Miss Morrow

BERGDORF GOES IN RAGE OVER DEATH PENALTY

Slayer Attacks Deputies In Courtroom After He Hears Verdict

DALLAS BOY SLAIN

Defendant Claims Memory Failed After Purchase Of Liquor

BIG SPRING, Texas, Feb. 13. (AP)—Five officers were required to subdue A. A. Bergdorf, farmer, in the courtroom here late today after a jury had given Bergdorf death for the murder of Charles Wallace, Dallas youth, last October.

For a moment after the verdict was read Bergdorf retained his stoical indifference. Then he suddenly attacked the deputy nearest him with his fists. There was a wild scramble before the officers subdued the man and placed handcuffs on him. He still was struggling as he was led from the courtroom.

Wallace, who with a companion had come to West Texas to pick cotton, was shot through the head with a rifle as he stood in a filling station waiting for a farmer who had employed him.

Witnesses said Bergdorf, acting "queerly," drove into the station and ordered the youth to get in his automobile. When Wallace refused, they said, Bergdorf took a rifle from the car and fired. He was arrested the next day after he apparently had attempted to disguise himself and his machine.

Bergdorf testified today he remembered everything the day of the shooting up to the time he purchased a quantity of liquor. After that his mind was a blank, he said.

State witnesses testified they conversed with Bergdorf 10 minutes before Wallace was slain and that he appeared normal at that time.

Elaborate Dresser Set

Then there's an 18 karat gold-backed dresser set for the future Mrs. Lindbergh, donated by the company which supplied spark plugs for "The Spirit of St. Louis" in which Lindbergh flew to Paris.

There are 158 books covering the range from Mother Goose to the Bible, and speaking of Bibles, there is the smallest complete volume of that work extant, from Scotland, requiring a magnifying glass to read. There also is a copy of the Koran, in Persian script, penned in 928 A. D.

Inlaid mahogany tables, rugs, elaborately embroidered pillows, linen table sets, gold-laced sombreros, richly adorned serapis, the actual capote worn by the famous Mexican matador, Jose Ortiz, when he slew a bull for Lindbergh Dec. 18, 1927, innumerable gold and silver bowls and trinkets, and an antique silver chandelier from Mexico City are representative of the collection.

Clothes-Pins Aplenty

On a Monday morning the future Mrs. Lindbergh would not lack for clothes-pins, as the collection includes many such utilitarian articles. If the colonel cared to indulge in the manly art of boxing, he could bring out a set of gilded gloves donated to him by a famous boxer. There are tennis racquets and bows and arrows, and other recreational articles.

Getting down to the serious business of living, there are five pairs of pajamas for the colonel, a carton of boots and shoes, six suits of underwear, numerous shirts and night-shirts, several pairs of suspenders and garters, 14 ties, two hats and four caps aside from the sombreros, boxes of handkerchiefs, military brushes, razors and shaving outfits, and four gold collar buttons. There's a suit of clothes, too.

Both the pilot and passenger were found safe on board.

A scant two hours after arriving here, following his nine-day air voyage to Central America with the United States mail, Colonel Lindbergh again entered his Amphibian Sikorsky plane at noon to lead the search for the plane of Richard Hoyt, millionaire sportsman, which had been forced down on a flight from Havana.

COUPLE'S PLANS ARE INDEFINITE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13. (UP)—Anne Spencer Morrow, who is interested in eighteenth century French literature and aviation, isn't sure just when she will become the bride of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh or just where they will make their home after the wedding.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Morrow, wife of the American ambassador to Mexico, in an interview today, told of the girlhood days of her daughter whose engagement to the world famous flier was announced Tuesday.

Anne and Colonel Lindbergh have not made any plans for the wedding, she said. They have no plans as to where they will live and nobody in the family has the least idea as to their intentions.

is what weight will the sentiment have on the senate.

"If we have about one more session of this kind in the state, I believe the United States government should declare the people of Oklahoma incapable of self government, should repeal the act giving them statehood and place them back under government control, as was done when the people of the Philippine islands were declared incapable of handling their own affairs," Walton concluded.

JOHNSTON'S FEE PAYMENTS AIRED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 13. (AP)—The impeachment trial of Gov. Henry S. Johnston dragged today through prosaic technical testimony intended to show that he acted illegally in issuing deficiency certificates involved in seven of the 11 charges voted against him by the house of representatives.

The house board of managers, prosecuting the suspended governor, centered its fire on a certificate issued to provide for the payment of an advance attorney fee to Kirby Fitzpatrick, who had worked actively for Johnston in the primary and general election campaigns of 1926, when Johnston was elected.

Fitzpatrick was retained as a special attorney in the state banking department and was given a fee of $3,500 before he performed any services. Edwin Dabney, attorney general, told the senate court of impeachment today that if he had been asked by the governor, he would have advised that the advance fee was illegal. Dabney admitted his office had submitted the governor an opinion that a deficiency certificate could be issued for the payment of Fitzpatrick's services if an emergency existed.

Dabney said his office had not been asked to do the work for which Fitzpatrick was retained, collection of surety bonds on failed state banks. The attorney general testified that the governor had not asked his advice as to the legality of issuing the other six deficiency certificates.

E. P. Hill, veteran member of the legislature who was defeated for re-election in Pittsburg county last year because of his opposition to Johnston's administration charged intestimony before the senate court that the governor had broken faith with the legislature in employing Fitzpatrick.

O. B. Mothersead, former bank commissioner, told the senate court that there was no necessity for another attorney in the banking department when Fitzpatrick was employed, and that the banking board engaged him because of the governor's insistence.

Eaves Given 7 Years in Prison

a "death trap frameup", in which one man, seeking to get them "out of the way" had hired another to lead them into the attempt at robbery in the hope that they would be shot. He claimed that a third man, in the employ of an enemy of the defendant, had supplied the gun and had lured the youthful defendants away from their sweethearts into the attempted holdup.

Eaves Takes Stand

Eaves, taking the stand in his own defense, admitted that he had driven to the scene of the holdup and had waited for the return of Pettiet.

Earlier in the trial, Mrs. Eaves was called to the stand and, in the absence of the jury, told of the efforts of the man described as her husband's enemy to break up their home. Her testimony was ruled out by Judge Martin.

The defense also called Miss Myrtle Webb who testified that she had been in the car with the two defendants earlier in the evening before the attempt at robbery was made.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Martin ruled that if the jury believed Eaves was "led and allured" into a trap they could consider that fact as a mitigating circumstance in assessing his punishment, if any.

Pettiet Trial Today

In an appeal for law enforcement in the county Mr. Spence asked the jury for the full limit of the law, calling for a sentence of 10 years. He was assisted in the trial by George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, and by Jimmie Allred.

Eaves was represented by O. M. Wylie of Archer City and C. C. McDonald.

The trial of Rudy Pettiet is set for 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Council Votes On Traction Increase

Amendments were made at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to the ordinance passed on first reading last Monday night granting permission temporarily to the Wichita Falls Traction company to increase the street car fare here one cent.

The effect of the amendments adopted it was stated at the city offices, was to clarify the clause relating to the repeal of the proposed ordinance. Should the measure become an ordinance, the traction company would be granted the one cent increase for a period not to exceed six months. Discussion on the measure, which was passed on its second reading, indicated that it will not pass on third reading until the city receives written agreement from the authorities of the traction company to enter into negotiations for the drawing up and adoption of an entirely new franchise.

Getting Up Nights Is Nature's Danger Signal

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 324 N. Park St., Columbus, Ohio, says, "I feel I am doing real missionary work when I tell or write how my wife was relieved of a serious case of bladder irritation with Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). "I light up a Lucky

Herbert Bayard Swope

Herbert Bayard Swope, Internationally known journalist, former Executive Editor, N. Y. Morning World

"The activities of a newspaper demand good physical condition. I find Lucky Strike an immeasurable aid in helping me keep trim and fit. Whenever I am tempted to eat between meals, I light up a Lucky. Toasting makes Lucky Strike the cigarette of joy and benefit."

HERBERT BAYARD SWOPE

THE modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

WALTERS MILK QUOTA UPHELD

Creamery Company Great Aid to Farmers

(By Staff Correspondent)

WALTERS, Okla., Feb. 13.—Recent bear-zero temperatures have not affected deliveries of cream at the Cotton County creamery, according to L. B. Selman, manager.

Last Saturday, in addition to cream received from other territory, 103 farmers of the Walters area delivered their usual quota of cream.

Farmers engaged in dairying as a supplementary source of income or as a major farm project are going through the winter as determinedly as at any season of the year and many of them, according to Mr. Selman, are preparing to expand their operations.

Creamery Aids Farmers

The creamery company is taking the initiative in aiding them to this end and is planning the importation in the near future of two carloads of registered Jersey calves. These calves will be sold to enterprising farmers on deferred payments whenever necessary on that basis.

The creamery company is extending to the farmer engaged in dairying, or starting in the industry, every assistance at its command. Farmers are aided in securing cows, and in getting feed at lowest prices.

Preferring to rely upon its own resources in the education of the farmer to the advantages of dairying and poultry raising, the creamery company at its own expense employs F. M. Byers, who knows cows and chickens, to go among the farmers in the capacity of director of development. Byers and the company car bearing the Cotton County creamery legend are encountered in every part of the county.

"In Walters we have a creamery and a poultry packing plant that have in a short period of operation demonstrated their possibilities to the community," said Mr. Selman. "These plants are operating on a volume of output that might be considered satisfactory, but they have a capacity in excess of their present receipts. It is our business to create a supply that will enable these plants to operate to fullest capacity and this we purpose to do. When that point is reached we shall consider expanding. Our interest in the farmer is not wholly unselfish, nor is it our purpose to exploit him.

Promote Dairying

"We know the resources of Cotton county, we have seen what dairying has done for other sections. We know that if we can make a considerable number of farmers prosperous through dairying, others will follow until the farm without its dairy cows will be the exception.

"Before the creamery and poultry packing plants were established here it was proposed to secure the establishment of a milk condensary. One of the large concerns sent a field expert here. He surveyed the situation. 'You have no cows,' he said, 'and there are a lot of other conditions that will have to be changed. Go ahead and put in a creamery, get a cow population, build up a dairying industry and then you will have no difficulty in getting a condensary or anything else you want.'

"Instead of putting the horse before the cart, we are acting on that advice.

"There is real money, profit money," declared Mr. Selman while showing to visitors tier upon tier of wire crates filled with poultry in the poultry house, situated in another part of town several blocks distant from the creamery. "It is getting to be a big business; it will be a huge business. Merchants know it, bankers know it. It's getting so that bankers are reluctant to loan money to the farmer who has no poultry or cows. That's a good sign. But the banks are eager to help the man who wants to help himself."

Better Market Seen

Poultry raisers of the Walters area are in line for a shade better than the market hereafter, if efforts being made in behalf of Walters by D. W. Anderson are successful. Mr. Anderson, manager of the Cotton County Poultry and Egg company, an organization cooperating with the Cotton County creamery, is now in New York negotiating with concerns in a position to command top prices for high grade dressed poultry, eggs and other farm products marketed by his company.

GRAHAM PLANS NEW CHURCH

First Baptists Seek $50,000 Edifice This Year

(By Staff Correspondent)

GRAHAM, Texas, Feb. 13.—Construction of a church edifice in 1929 to cost $50,000 is the aim of the Rev. W. E. B. Lockridge, pastor of the First Baptist church of Graham.

The Rev. Mr. Lockridge is chairman of the Young county board of education, a member of the Graham Rotary club, the Graham Chamber of Commerce and is active in all civic projects. He has occupied his present pastorate the last four years. During that time the membership has increased to a total of 632.

Native of Kentucky

He is a native of Lawrenceburg, Ky., and a graduate of the University of Kentucky, class of 1915. He was commissioned as second lieutenant in the United States army in May, 1927, saw overseas service as a line officer and had attained the rank of captain prior to his discharge in 1918.

Returning to the states, he entered the Baptist seminary at Fort Worth and received his first charge in the ministry at Royse City, Texas.

Shortly after his graduation from the University of Kentucky he married Miss Maude Underwood, member of an old Southern family. Two children, a boy and a girl, add to the happiness of their home.

The Rev. Mr. Lockridge is of the jovial type of minister, fond of a good joke and relishes telling of one of his experiences in Graham, which is common property in the town.

Couldn't Sleep

Prior to his coming to Graham one of the brothers of the flock had for years scandalized the devout ones by invariably falling asleep during the sermon. The new minister was appraised of this fact. From the first sermon delivered by the Rev. Mr. Lockridge, the somnolent brother appeared wide awake through every service. At the end of a year the pastor congratulated him upon his apparent interest in the sermons.

"Do you know, Brother Lockridge, that your voice bothers me so that I just can't sleep while you are preaching?" was the response that destroyed the pastor's illusion that he had been able to arouse the interest of the indifferent brother.

The citizens of Graham are confident that the congregation of the First Baptist church before the end of the year will be domiciled in a house of worship creditable to the town.

Dalhart Sheriff's Vaults Bulge With Liquors After Dry Raids

Special to The Record News

DALHART, Texas, Feb. 13.—A bizarre assortment of various types of intoxicating liquors is to be seen in the vault of the sheriff of Dallam county as the result of various raids made on bootleggers in this area the past few days. Five people are out under bond awaiting the action of the grand jury in May.

Sheriff Alexander, Deputy Rube Hutton, City Marshal Lem Fife and Deputy H. D. Faust have succeeded in bringing in more than $1,500 worth of whiskey and beer, when considered at bootleggers price.

The latest haul was 70 gallons of bootleg whiskey found in 14 kegs in a canyon a few miles northwest of Dalhart.

Charred wooden kegs, vinegar bottles, beer bottles, regular pint whiskey bottles, perfume bottles, listerine bottles and small jugs contained the contraband spirits.

Clue to Missing Girl Fizzles Out

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (UP)—The nationwide search for Fannie Lee Minter, University of Texas co-ed, missing for two weeks, has been following a blind alley, it was revealed today. Police found that the license of the car in which the girl supposedly escaped is on another Austin car.

Miss Minter left the university two weeks ago in a blue roadster. At the same time, Jack Griffith, alias Jack Frieth, disappeared. It is thought Griffith, who had been on the stage, induced the co-ed, who was falling in her courses, to accompany him, promising her a stage contract.

Authorities from here to California and those in Mexico have been keeping a diligent watch for the couple.

ORDERED OUT AFTER WEDDING

Egyptian Diver Ousted By Immigration Laws

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13. (US)—Lucky in love, unlucky in other things—there's an old saying something to that effect.

Last night Farid Simaika, 21-year-old Egyptian Olympic diving champion, married Mabel Van Den Akker after her wealthy and socially prominent parents raised all sorts of cain.

Today he appeared before immigration officials in Los Angeles and heard the sad news that their superiors in Washington had ordered his deportation to Egypt.

Simaika was told that he has 30 days in which to depart from the land of the brave and the home of the free.

This didn't worry him, as he and his bride last night announced they were leaving for Alexandria, via New York, within the week. Simaika is scheduled to participate in the Near East Olympic games in the Egyptian city next April.

Although the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Den Akker, reluctantly permitted the marriage to take place in their home after their 20-year-old daughter had voiced all kinds of defiance to their will, they are responsible for the handsome Egyptian being in his present pickle.

They whispered to immigration officials that he had violated the permit upon which he entered the United States four years ago. Investigating and finding it so, the duty-bound officials arrested Simaika and then released him on $500 bond. He will not forfeit the bond if he leaves within the stipulated 30 days.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.—Adv.

Youth Shows Its Callousness By Marrying While Still in College

Selfishness of Youths Who Marry While Still in College—Shall This Sick Wife Leave Philandering Husband?—Can a Man Be Too Good to His Wife?

Dear Miss Dix—We are two college men, 21 and 22 years of age, who are madly in love with two girls of high social standing and wealth. These girls love us and we wish to marry immediately, because we fear a trick of fate may separate us before graduation if we wait until then. A number of our fraternity brothers are happily married, and have advised us to elope. Would you advise the double marriage? —A. C. AND J. D.

Answer: It seems to me, A. C. and J. D., that the proper persons to consult in this matter are your parents, inasmuch as they will have to support you and your wife if you get married while you are still in college.

If they are like the great majority of American parents who make a great sacrifice to give their sons the benefit of an education better than they had, they may not feel very enthusiastic over the prospect of having to work harder, and deprive themselves more, and draw in their hunger belts a little tighter, in order to provide you with brides.

If you have ample fortunes of your own that would enable you to indulge in the luxury of matrimony while you are still college students, that is one thing. It is something else yet again, Mawruss, when you are dependent upon an old father and mother who are doing without a new overcoat, and wearing their last year's hats, and cutting down on the grocery bill in order to keep you at college.

Then it becomes the height of dishonor for you to marry and lay another burden on your parents' shoulders. Somebody will have to feed and clothe and pay for the shelter of your wives, and if you cannot do it, then it is up to father and mother.

I often wonder at the callousness and selfishness of young people who rush into matrimony to gratify their own desires, and then leave their parents to pay the bill for their folly.

Boys such as you are, who have never made a dollar and who have no earning capacity whatever, blithely step out and get married, and father and mother have to dig down into the pitiful little horde they are trying to save up for their old age to support their sons' wives.

Girls marry, against their parent's advice and protestations, lazy loafers or drunken no'er-do-wells and in a few years come back home with a baby or two for mother and father to take care of.

All of us know among our acquaintances half a dozen old couples whose lives are being wrecked by their children's marriages. They haven't the hardihood to deal with their children as they deserve. They can't shut their doors in their children's faces when they have nowhere else to go. They can't see their children and their grandchildren go hungry, so they are literally dividing their last crust with them.

If they had only themselves to support, they could live comfortably enough on the little they have saved by pinching economies. If they could live alone they would have peace and quiet and rest.

When their tiny income has to be spread over helping John's family along, and taking care of Sally and her children, however, it means that father has to keep on with a job long after he should be able to quit work, and that mother is turned into a nurse maid in her old age, and that father and mother must do without, every little luxury because the money is needed for certified milk for the baby, and shoes for little Tommy, and having little Susie's adenoids taken out.

So, my dear young friends, I urge you, if you have any sense of honor, not to think as getting married until you are standing on your own feet and are able to support your own wives. Don't worry about these two particular girls not waiting for you. If they really love you they will wait, and, besides, by the time you are ready to marry your taste may have changed and you may not desire them.

Anyway, there will always be be plenty of girls.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a girl friend who has been married 11 years and has two children. Now in all these years her husband has been having love affairs with other women. His wife has just found it out and is thinking of leaving him, but her husband says that he has always loved her, and is begging and pleading with her to stay with him. He says he has had his lesson and has more sense now. The wife has been ill for seven years and cannot make her own living. The couple is waiting for your advice and will do what you say. —M. C.

Answer: It is a hard thing for a woman to believe that her husband can really love her and still be unfaithful to her at times, but undoubtedly there are cases in which this is true. Particularly is this true where the wife is an invalid.

The best in a man can love his wife. Whatever is highest and most spiritual in his nature he can give to her. He can still admire her, and reverence her, and put her above all other women, and at the same time his carnal nature can long for gross women who will get drunk with him and go on orgies with him.

So it is possible that your friend may believe that her husband still loves her while he philanders with other women. Also it is possible that he has had his lesson, and that he will walk in the straight and narrow path henceforth.

There are millions of women who have forgiven their husband's sidestepping, and millions of men who have repented and become the most domestic and home-keeping of husbands.

In your friend's case she has to decide between two evils, and it seems to me that she will have a far better chance of happiness if she stays on with her husband and keeps her home together than she will if she leaves him. Divorce is not a panacea for the hurt heart and pride of a wife. It doesn't bring her peace. It only brings her loneliness and the necessity of supporting herself.

Your friend is sick, unable to work. She could not make a living for herself and the two children. Nor could she depend on living on what alimony she would get. Hence she would just add poverty and want to her other misfortunes, whereas, if she has the courage to carry on, she has at least the chance of saving the whole situation and probably winning her husband back. —DOROTHY DIX.

SUGAR IS BOON IN DAILY DIET

The Truth About Sugar and Tooth Structure

There has been so much talk in this country about teeth that we recently asked an outstanding dental authority to discuss dental care from the standpoint of sweets.

"Sugar in the diet," he says, "has no effect on the tooth structure of either child or adult. Wherever people have poor teeth, it is not a case of sugar but due to some other cause which sufficient study would reveal."

It may be heredity or faulty diet during childhood or later. Children, in order to develop good teeth and bones, must have the vitamins and minerals of milk, cereals, fruits and vegetables. Adults must continue to include these in their diet if the teeth and bones are to remain healthy.

Note how sugar may actually be a help to good teeth. It encourages children and adults to eat the needed foods. Sugar makes milk, in milk-shakes, and also cereals, fruits and vegetables delicious. People will eat foods that bring pleasure, and sweetness develops the fine flavor of healthful foods.

No sweet or starchy food, or other food, must be permitted to stick to or lodge in the teeth. Keep the teeth clean, see a dentist regularly, and balance the diet with milk, cereals, fruits and vegetables. Sugar makes dieting for good teeth a pleasure. The best cooks are generous with sugar. NOTED BEAUTY MAKES DEBUT

Mme. Walska Sings for First Time in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (US)—Mme. Ganna Walska, singer and noted beauty, gave her first New York concert this afternoon in Carnegie hall and enjoyed a great deal of applause from a large audience.

Her program included difficult arias by Bach, Giordano, Scarlatti, Mozart, Shubert, Brahms Brimsky-Korsakoff and Liszt. She was accompanied by Walter Golde at the piano and Ernest F. Wagner, flutist.

At first obviously nervous, Mme. Walska overcame this and appeared thoroughly at ease. She was gracious, happy. She even skipped off the stage when encored. Celebrities who came to hear her and to applaud included Mary Garden, Maria Jeritza, Hope Hampton, the Grand Duke Alexander, Princess Jacques de Borgile, Count Varrelli, Jules Brulatour and Mrs. Joseph Schwartz.

After the concert Mme. Walska was the center of a green room jam of would-be handshakers that almost tore the train from her long white gown, and wrecked two floral tributes.

Even at this she smiled and declared breathlessly:

"I was nervous, and now I am dead. Next time I know I will do much better."

She wore no jewels and her dress came to her ankles. Her black hair was slicked behind her ears and her shoulders were bare.

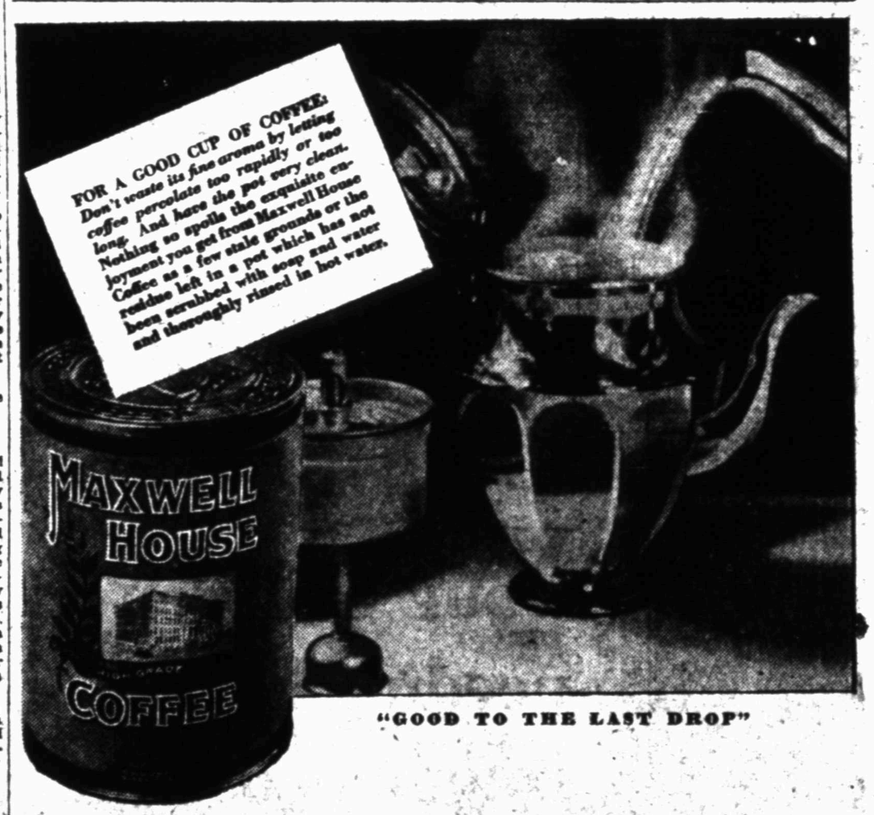

Her most popular number was one not listed on the program, "If No One Ever Marries Me," by Lily Lehmann. Laughter broke out when her accompanist announced this, for everyone knows that Ganna has had four distinguished and wealthy husbands.

"GOOD TO THE LAST DROP"

America's most popular coffee . . . created by patient, expert

BLENDING

BECAUSE coffee is so important, every household has its favorite way of making it. But whether your coffee is percolated, dripped, or boiled in an old-fashioned pot, one thing is above all necessary—the coffee itself must be right to start with.

The creator of the matchless, mellow flavor of Maxwell House Coffee went back to this first principle.

He was a gentleman of the Old South—bred in the South's tradition of good living—and he knew coffee. He had tried them all—the "heady" coffees of Arabia, the mild coffees of Java, the rich and syrupy coffees of Brazil—and every one was tantalizingly not quite perfect. So he had the inspiration to make a new coffee flavor—to combine in one gorgeous drink the diverse virtues of many choice coffees. After months of experimenting, at last his genius triumphed in a coffee which delighted even his critical palate.

It got its first acclaim at the famous old Maxwell House in Nashville. Thence news spread abroad of the unique sparkle and flavor of Maxwell House Coffee until today it is in demand all over the United States.

"The Old Colonel," as he is known to his friends, has lived to see the coffee he perfected become his country's favorite—the choice of America's most prominent hostesses, the fine coffee served in America's foremost homes from one coast to the other.

Your own grocer has Maxwell House Coffee, sealed in tin to preserve all its fragrance and flavor.

'SECOND DAIL' HOLDS MEETING

Anti-Treatyites Write New Irish Constitution

By PATRICIA HOEY

DUBLIN, Feb. 13. (US)—A unique spectacle has just been witnessed in Dublin. Twelve of the men and two of the women who voted against the treaty 10 years ago assembled in the rotunda, and held a public session of what they insist is still the second dail. Since the treaty was accepted they declare all parliaments held were null and void, and that they alone are still the lawful representatives of the Republican government of Ireland.

They all speak, and obviously believe, as if they had only to wait a little time until the republic shall be again proclaimed.

Veterans Present

Yet some of these standard bearers are growing old. Of the original anti-treatyites there were present Miss Mary McSwiney, Professor Stockley, Count Plunkett, T. Maguire, Brian O'Higgins, Austin Stack, C. Murphy, S. O'Mahoney, D. Kent, H. Mallens.

Of these Miss McSwiney seemed the one on whom time had made least mark. She looked not a day older, and it was remarkable to see her personality dominating the assembly of men. A constitution bill was introduced for the republic and it was she who introduced it in a speech an hour long. Her party proposes to publish the new constitution in pamphlet form, and so bring it before the people. Austin Stack, Count Plunkett and Brian O'Higgins all said a few words. But Mary McSwiney's constitution bill was the chief interest of the day.

The Free State authorities stood calmly aloof and took no notice at all.

Girls in Charge

The second dail, with J. J. O'Kelly in the chair, assembled in a peculiarly cold and dreary room. It was the pillar room of the rotunda. Admission was by ticket, but under a hundred people were present and these were mostly women.

For the first time since the treaty smart girls openly wearing the prohibited uniform of Cumann Na Mban, the women's military movement of the republic, stood on guard and took charge of the proceedings. Their green uniforms were the only spot of color in the grey room.

None of the old idealist leaders of the Republican movement was there. Cathal Brugha, Arthur Griffith, Michail Collins, Harry Boland, Liam Mellowes, all dead and gone.

Outside, Cosgrave's and De Valera's followers, comprising the most of Ireland, were both standing apart, both going different roads.

Some of the chief features of the constitution bill for the future republic of Ireland are as follows: Nationalisation of land which will be inspected by the government and compulsorily used for the benefit of the country, but private landowners will not necessarily be dispossessed; grazing land to be licensed and no land to be transferred without government sanction; no alien to be allowed to hold land. This provision, it is stated, is to prevent the British having any foothold in the country at any time.

English Is "Permissible"

Irish to be the official language but English to be permissible. No documents, however, in the English language will be called official.

All children in the fifth and sixth school grades to be obliged to take a course in civic instruction, including government functions, power of the vote, etc., the course to be compulsory for future voters.

Divorce will be prohibited and the preaching of atheism will also be prohibited. Neither will Mormons be allowed to function.

Atheists will not be obliged to have their children taught religion, but no provision will be made for "godless" schools.

Aliens to be subject to a probation of five years before becoming citizens. All Irish to be citizens if they reside in Ireland and whose parents were in Ireland for not less than 10 years, and who ask within one year after the declaration of the republic for citizen rights.

No Standing Army

There will be no senate and no second house at all. No standing army, since the republic will not undertake any war of aggression; but a defense force in which every male citizen will be trained.

The republic will provide submarines and aircraft for defense for Ireland.

They propose to cut down the dail from 253 to 156 members.

The president of the republic will have a salary of $5,000 a year, but will not be allowed to select his ministers, some of whom will be selected by the dail and others by a council of economic experts.

The whole constitution is "dedicated to Almighty God."

EASTLAND CASE TO BE RETRIED

Supreme Court Affirms Road Reversal

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—The case of Eastland County vs. G. A. Davisson and others, involving the contract for construction of a system of roads and purchase of the county's $4,320,000 bond issue must be retried. The supreme court today affirmed the court of civil appeals in reversing and remanding the case.

The district court had given Eastland county judgment against Davisson, road contractor, and C. R. Starnes, county judge, for $388,575.50, and against Joe Burkett, former senator and member of the highway commission, and Sam D. Young for $5,000.

The original contract for road construction was awarded to Fleming-Stitzer Road Building company, a partnership of several parties, including Davisson. The contractors agreed to purchase at par and accrued interest the bond issue. Later the contract was taken over by Davisson with consent of the commissioners' court.

In its suit the county alleged the contract was breached to the extent of the items sued for and an item of $36,388.40 allowed by the commissioners' court as a credit for matters of bond sales, legal, etc."

Discoverer of 'Complexes' Gives Information on Other Problems

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 13. (INS)—"Sex is not the main driving force in life, and if it were human beings would be the same as rabbits."

The declaration is that of Dr. Alfred Adler, distinguished Vienna psychologist and discoverer of the "inferiority complex." Dr. Adler, on a visit to California today explained other mysteries which perplex the human race.

"Sex is not so important as the freudians claim," Dr. Adler said.

"Human life is a definite striving toward a goal of superiority.

"When this striving ceases, human beings have the inferiority complex, which I am credited with expounding for the first time.

Cessation of Striving

"All criminals, suicides, degenerates, and women of low morality have this inferiority complex—so have drunkards.

"This inferiority complex is an escape to the useless side of life, the cessation of striving toward the proper goal.

"It is proved by the lack of courage.

"If people realized the importance of the inferiority complex in their natures, all crime could be stopped and all suicides.

"No man would kill another or kill himself, if he realized that what he was doing was an expression of cowardice and weakness.

"All the murderers of history have had this inferiority complex."

Completing his analysis of his inferiority complex, he turned to another of his mental products—the superiority complex.

"The superiority complex always is based on an inferiority complex," he declared.

"It is an inferiority complex hiding behind a bold face.

Boasters Have It

"All people who go about boasting and attempting to tyrannize, suffer from the superiority complex.

"Napoleon Bonaparte had the superiority complex."

Before closing the interview, Dr. Adler turned his attention to America.

"There is less of the inferiority complex or the superiority complex in this country than there is in Europe," he said.

"Over there most of the opportunities have gone.

"The country is over-populated.

"There are centuries of tradition to bind the actions of these inhabitants.

"In America, the land is young.

"There is room for expansion, self-expression, with opportunities everywhere, and it will be so for at least a hundred years."

What Shall I Do for Gray Hair?

By ALICE STRAWN

I am often asked for a good way to restore gray, faded or streaked hair. While there are many preparations on the market for the purpose, I know of nothing better than a mixture of good old sage tea and sulphur. You can either prepare the mixture at home yourself or as most women prefer, buy it already prepared and ready to use.

The correct recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, may be had in Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound. All druggists carry it and since the cost is only 75c a bottle, there is really no need for any woman to go to the bother of preparing it herself. You would be surprised if you knew the number of men and women who employ Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur because its use is undetectable.

You simply moisten a comb or a soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears and another application or two sees your hair beautifully and evenly restored to its full original color. There is no suggestion of that hard, dyed look that repels fastidious women. I advise any woman—or man—whose hair is turning gray to try Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur.—Adv.

WHAT KISSES TELL MOTHER

Keeping children well is easy when mother can read the early symptoms of childhood's ills.

If little ones are fretful, pale, languid, won't eat and want to be mothered; when they often get colds and sore throat and seem feverish, depend upon it the bowels are sluggish. You notice unpleasant breath when you kiss them—sure sign of constipation and a sour stomach.

Give a little California Fig Syrup to purify the system and see how quickly it restores strength, appetite and joyous spirits. It acts without pain and gently cleanses the bowels of constipated waste which causes feverishness, sours the digestion and keeps the little one sickly and backward.

If you suspect measles or some other children's disease, give a dose of California Fig Syrup without delay. The doctor will praise your forethought. California Fig Syrup is the finest laxative in the world for children. It suits them perfectly and they love its delicious taste. For a child who is habitually constipated there is no other remedy to equal California Fig Syrup for coaxing the bowels back to healthy regularity. If you have a child who is troublesome in this way try California Fig Syrup. Get a bottle today. All drug stores have it.

California Fig Syrup has been trusted by the World's mothers for over 30 years. That is why the word "California" should be emphasized when buying. — Adv.

Confederates Invited To March in Inaugural Parade for First Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (UP)—In line with President-elect Hoover's plans for consolidating the gains the Republican party made in the solid South in the last election, the Confederate Veterans' association has been invited for the first time in history to participate in an inaugural parade. An invitation to take part in the festivities March 4 was sent some time ago to the survivors of the southern armies and as the parade committee has received no reply a second invitation has been forwarded. It is feared the first may have gone astray in the mail.

Pershing Ordered To Remain in His Room

PARIS, Feb. 13. (AP)—The case of influenza which General John J. Pershing brought with him when he landed from the Leviathan yesterday is proving rather stubborn, and then general must remain in his rooms at the hotel Crillon for a few days.

The general, himself answering telephone today, said:

"I feel quite all right, but the doctor says I am a sick man and must remain indoors. He ought to know."

Acts Promptly In Relieving Stomach Ills

You'll Notice a Difference After the First Dose

G. M. GORDON
Discoverer of Gordon's

Thousands of former sufferers from stomach trouble, many of whom had given up hope of ever being well—unqualifiedly indorse Gordon's (formerly Gordon's Antiseptic). Some go so far as to rate it as performing "near miracles."

Gordon's, an internal antiseptic, stops fermentation (souring of food matter), which is the greatest obstacle to the successful treatment of stomach disorders. It goes right to the seat of the trouble because it exercises a distinctly antiseptic as well as digestive effect.

It will soothe and heal the irritated or inflamed condition and bring quick relief in cases of indigestion, gas, dyspepsia, sour stomach, "that tired feeling," heartburn, bloating, excess acid, bad breath, constipation, sick headache, and nervousness, when caused by faulty digestion. It will tone up the digestive organs and stimulate the stomach and bowels to their normal functions. The first dose will convince you.

Gordon's is made in liquid form. A large 8-ounce bottle, price $1.50—less than 3 cents a dose—at druggists. — Adv.

Justice For Cotton Growers

FOR WEEKS AND WEEKS the house ways and means committee has been grinding. Texans have been in evidence. They demand protection for the cotton growers of the South. Representative Marvin Jones of the Panhandle district pleaded for a duty of three cents a pound on jute, now imported free of charge. He said the imposition of the duty of three cents would keep out millions of pounds of jute from India, used in the manufacture of bagging for cotton bales, and to encourage the use of cotton for this purpose.

Senator Ransdell of Louisiana lent his aid to Jones of the Panhandle. He asked a rate of 10 cents a pound on jute burlap, now dutiable at one cent. Senator Ransdell cited imports of more than 200,000,000 pounds of jute and over 500,000,000 pounds of jute fabrics in 1927. He did this to show the extent of the uses to which low grade cotton might be put if such imports were cut down.

Jones of the Panhandle declared that if cotton were substited for jute in the manufacture of bagging it would create an outlet for 450,000 bales of low grade cotton, now being sold at a loss, and increase the average price of cotton by $2 or $2.50 per bale. Representatives of the 15 jute twine and yarn manufacturers of New England and the eastern states announce their opposition to the Jones and Ransdell demand.

These makers of things are clamoring for free jute regardless of the effect that the East India product has on the pockets of the 2,000,000 southern families who are engaged in the production of cotton. Representatives of the American Farm Bureau federation supported the pleas of Ransdell and Jones for higher jute duties.

If protection is the thing, why not pass it along? Why not protect the southern growers of things as well as the northern makers of things? Why free jute? Why free crude from foreign fields?

Representative John N. Garner of Texas is on the firing line. He favors abolition of the existing flexible provision of the tariff act under which the president can raise or lower duties as much as 50 per cent. The gentleman from Texas favors substitution of a plan whereby the house would pass on individual proposals for rate changes.

He would have the speaker of the house appoint three Republicans and three Democrats to the tariff commission whose duty it would be to obtain data on any commodity on which a rate revision was sought. In other words, the speaker of the house, instead of the president, would name the tariff commission.

It is a matter of record that the 41st legislature of Texas adopted a resolution asking that the American congress give tariff protection to the products of the farm and the ranch of this commonwealth.

It is a matter of record that the state lawmakers overlooked free jute from the paper fields of East India and free crude from Mexico and all other oil producing countries of the world.

Developing the Mind

THE AVERAGE MAN develops less than half of his real mental capacity. The race is constantly producing hundreds of minds potentially as great as those of Einstein, Edison, Ford or Rockefeller, but only two or three out of each hundred ever rise above the commonplace.

These assertions come from the country's leading psychologists, as interviewed by Myron M. Stearns in the February issue of World's Work.

One psychologist is quoted as saying that most men develop hardly more than a fifth of their natural brain power. Another says that every adult, at least up to the age of 50, is as capable of learning new things as a child—but fails to do it. Most of us, says another, stop learning in our 'teens, and go through the rest of our lives with closed minds.

There is both discouragement and hope in that idea.

It is profoundly discouraging to learn that we are failing to accept our opportunities. This modern age specializes in the elimination of waste; but what could possibly be more wasteful than the habit of letting more than half of our gray matter lie idle?

Yet there is room for hope in it, too. The blindness and stupidity that cause most of the world's unhappiness and suffering are not things that we must always carry with us. We can get rid of them, just as we can get rid of disease and poverty. Surely, if mankind can voluntarily raise its own mental level, almost any kind of optimism is justified.

The trouble, of course, comes from the fact that there is such a wide gulf between what is possible and what is actually done.

We are born with great gifts, but we are also born lazy. We want, more than anything else, to be contented. We hate things that unsettle us. Comfort is the greatest boon life can bring us.

So we follow the path of least resistance and settle into grooves. We find a comfortable place and stick to it. We make ourselves be contented with something inferior, because it would be too much trouble to get the best.

The contentment that comes from a sense of genuine achievement is one of life's greatest blessings. The contentment that most of us get, however—the contentment that means we have stifled our visions of what is high and noble in order that we may put up with something ordinary and commonplace—is a curse. It prevents us from being as fine as we were meant to be.

To be restless and dissatisfied is to be unhappy—granted; but it is not possible to make progress in any other way. When a man takes stock of his achievements and feels ashamed because they are not better, instead of proud because they excel those of his neighbor, he is on the way toward attainment.

CARROTS FOR A MONEY CROP

The second crop, above mentioned, is that of growing carrots. The value of growing carrots cannot be denied. The crop does not have to be rushed on the market at any one time, flooding the market, and they can be held for a good price whenever they are in demand. They grow well in this rich Collin soil. A small acreage of carrots should pay rich dividends to every grower of this crop.

Lo, the Poor Indian—And How He Got That Way!

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—"I have seen several most interesting stories about the old brownstone courthouse which has just been razed at the northeastern corner of City Hall park," said the veteran lawyer, "but I have not yet seen anything about one of the greatest characters the legal fraternity ever knew in this town—a man who used to practice a good deal in the old court house—Tommy Nolan.

"He was a good-natured giant who had not only kissed the blarney stone but could talk a bird out of a tree. One of his main avocations was to talk the Yiddish voters into voting for Tammany candidates. Recently I was looking through some of my scrapbooks and I came across the report of Tommy Nolan's great speech for William Jennings Bryan in Bryan's first presidential campaign. Here is the way it went:

"'Friends and fellow Democrats, draw around. Draw around and hear the truth. Let us consider the silver question, bearing in mind the advice of the past:

"'If young folks would mind,
What old folks would say,
When danger threatened
They would run away.'

"'And again—we are threatened with danger today. Let us consider what course was pursued by the ancient peoples. From Thucydides and Tacitus, and many other historians, we learn that the Athenians and Posterians, to say nothing of the Phoenicians and the Egyptians, used silver coins. The ancients were in favor of free silver and so am I. (Great applause.) And mind you, I'm speaking intelligently now. Let us not be deluded by the emanations of deception. (A voice: Hurrah for the counselor! and cheers.) No, no, let us hurrah for the candidates:

Bryan, Boru, and Sewell, too.

"'That's my motto and I'm proud of it. Let me tell you of the great wrong that was perpetrated upon defenseless silver. In 1783 (here the counselor paused, drank a pint or so of ice water and winked at his audience), as I was saying, in 1873 (a voice: You just said 1783, counselor). Ah, but what differs a matter of ninety years in the great onward and irresistible march of free silver? Come, answer me that, now! (Cheers.) Our enemies are in no beter position to answer our arguments than a fish out of water. (Cheers and a voice: You're all right, counselor.)'

"Tommy Nolan was a great hand at trying accident cases. Often his legal opponent was John M. Scribner, a man with a tremendously high forehead and a poll as bare as an egg. Scribner represented the Dry Dock Railway company. In one of their bouts Tommy Nolan was describing the nature of the accident which had injured his client and expatiating upon the merits of the unfortunate man:

"'Gintlemin,' he said, 'Ye must understand how this sad accident happened to my unfortunate client. The sand car was going round a curve. Me poor client was shovelin' sand into the hopper. The driver shouts: 'Hould on!' But phwat would he hould on to—the air? He was pitched out into the street and landed on his head and likewise he busted his thrachael gland. Now, gintlemin, this thracheal gland is a very important filment in the progress of digistion, and his digistion has been ruin't iver since the fateful day.

"'But, gintlemin, that was not the worst av it. He fell on his poor head, and the injoory—how can I describe it? Ah, friend Scribner, ye have a beautiful head. Will ye lind me the loan av it while I diagramate the awful injoory upon it?'

"He reached out his big hands for Scribner's polished poll and Scribner retreated angrily. The jury sniggered. Tommy went on:

"'Ah nivver mind. Sure, friend Scribner is not willing. But I am not so great a man. I didn't defend Jake Sharp who put up the money for the boodle Aldermen. I will dimonstrate upon me own head.'

"He won that case and a great many others of the sort, not all of them any too ethical, I suspect. A great character, Tommy, in a very colorful and interesting period of New York life."

Wee Willie used to be a butler in the home of several bachelors. When one of the boys married he took Wee along with him and installed him as major domo in the new home just off Park avenue. Things went along for a time as they had in the days of bachelorhood. Finally Wee turned up at the home of one of his former employers and asked to be taken back, saying he had found he could not be happy in the home of the married man.

When pressed for an answer he replied: "I like men. In my job up town I have to make cocktails and serve them to women. This I cannot do. It makes me uphappy."

Wee, who is one of the best makers of a New England boiled dinner, although a Chinese, says he learned the art in the navy a good many years ago. Wee is with one of his old masters now and is probably set for life, as his boss says he does not intend to marry. If he does he will lose Wee.

As Told by Them to
FRANK E. NICHOLSON

By ALICE WHITE

Alice White is the movies' latest one-woman-crime-wave — the purveyor of flapperism de luxe. Alice's voice is heard in her current picture, but, as the sage said, "It isn't their voices that get them Rolls Royces. . . ."

ALICE WHITE

"Don't stop me if you've heard this," Alice begged, and as I hadn't I didn't.

"A couple of Broadway blokes were lit up like a Polish church. They decided to walk home, and came staggering down the sidewalk—all over the sidewalk. Finally they came to one of these Mlle. somebody's exclusive frock shops. Drunk No. 1 stopped and peered into the show window.

"'F'cryin' out loud!' he said. 'Cummon over and lookit thish sign!'

"The other strained his eyes. 'Whazzit shay?'

"'Shays ladies ready to wear clothes.'

"'Well,' replied the other, 'ish about time, ain't it?'"

I Saw It Myself

By C. W. ROGERS
Record News Staff Correspondent

Still holding forth in Walters, Okla. Rather like this place. Plenty to see here. Got an eye full in the Mistletoe cafe, another good one, just discovered, that helps the reputation of the town. Chairs all dolled up in pink jackets, pink scenery scattered all over the place.

Was under the impression that the "chicken peddler," so numerous in other days, had pased out with the advance of progress but saw one here. He was working on a new line. He came in with a big truck loaded with about 150 chickens. Instead of the old custom of exchanging tinware and household dewdads for the farm wife's fowls he now pays spot cash and he pays the market. Can't fool them on the farm any more. Farm folks get the market news every day over the radio or through the daily newspaper.

Have to get away from the tall fronts and bright lights to find out what's going on in this fast moving world. Over here in Walters Mrs. Adkins' Beauty Shoppe is purveying a new fangled electric machine which is recommended for making plump ladies slimmer. Never heard of it before. It may be like the electric hobby horse Cal installed in the white house a few years back, but we asked no foolish questions.

Sent Photographer Spivy over to shoot a picture of the high sheriff of Cotton county. The sheriff chose to take a position right by a big automobile sign in front of a sales agency. Later learned that the sheriff owned the big end of the business and that the sign bore the name of the car he is selling.

Saw W. E. Wilson, realtor and owner of numerous farms, whizzing along the streets in a big new car that must have cost all of $2,500. He purchased the car, it is said, from the sheriff's agency. Also, it was said that Brother Wilson recently received $11 an acre bonus for a lease on some of his land. When oil money starts into circulation the sheriff is prepared to catch 'em coming and going. He owns a bank at Randlett in which the money may be placed or he can take it in exchange for a car.

Stepped around to call on Roy Elliott, manager of the Badger Lumber company. He says January business was good in his line, but a trifle slow durjng the recent cold weather. Chicken and cream money will help to make this a good year for Walters business men, he says.

Ross-Way Hardware Company is all set to garner some of the chicken and cream money, plentiful now, and will be more so with the coming of grass time. This store devotes its window space to a big display incubator, brooders, poultry feed and cream separators. R. S. Lamphere, on the sales floor, says the demand for this class of merchandise is increasing. Farmers are discovering that a $100 cream separator soon pays for itself. A little down and a little now and then is an added inducement to buy.

Comanche Indians are numerous in and around Walters. They are intelligent, most of them prosperous and some wealthy. Saw a few of the older men wearing their hair braided, feathers in their sombreros but none enveloped in blankets. A few of the women folks have a fondness for Umatilla blankets of brilliant hues. The maidens flap just like their paleface sisters are garbed in suits and cloaks of the latest mode, high heeled shoes, etc., but shun the lipstick, rouge and powder puff.

Monday is the big day for the Indians to come to town and trade and enjoy themselves. The head of the household usually brings in the whole family, including the little ones. The Indian likes to spend money on his progeny. The youngsters get a plentiful supply of toys and whatever else they want when they are brought to town. Saw Chief Frank Mo-e-ta and Mrs. Moe-ta and others of their friends dining in a cafe here last Monday. They demand the best the bill of fare affords.

Not much cotton seen on the streets of Walters these days, as the ginning season is ended but there is considerable of the staple in warehouses and in farm shelters. Many of the cotton growers of Cotton county are signed up with the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association under agreement to deliver their cotton to the association's warehouse. The association advances $75 a bale on delivery; if the market goes above 15 cents a pound they win all above that figure on the upward range. L. E. Taskell, local representative of the state association, has just stated that of the 6,000 bales turned out by Walters gins, the association received 4,451 bales.

The chain store has been slow in making its advent into Walters; so far only one of the five-and-ten class,—one dry goods and one grocery. The explanation may be that the established merchants hold prices down to a level that discourages entry of competition from without.

Oil men from Wichita Falls in considerable numbers are operating in Cotton county just now and their presence in Walters contributes substantially to local business. The greater part of the acreage in this section is under lease and the bonus money is circulating freely. Gray brothers of Wichita and their crews are busy building rigs.

Principal McCormick Starts New Activities

FREDERICK, Okla., Feb. 13.—The student in Frederick High school need not necessarily reside on a farm to acquire an elementary knowledge of progressive methods in agriculture or the theory and practice imparted and demonstrated by the 4-H club.

BOY OBJECT OF DREAM SEARCH

Mother Dreams Her Missing Son Is Alive

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—A dream of a Brooklyn woman in which the name "Picardo" was impressed on the subconscious mind has resulted in a request by Representative Celler, Democrat, New York, that the navy send airplanes to San Salvadorean waters in search of the woman's son, Lieut. Henry John Schmidt.

Schmidt was missing from his quarters on board the battleship Arkansas a month ago and inquiry developed that he apparently had been washed overboard in Central American waters.

The officer's mother, a letter to Celler said, investigated after her dream and found that "Picardo" was an island off San Salvador. She thought it possible that her son was on the island and asked that the government make an investigation there.

Inquiry by Representative Celler developed there was no such island, but that a bay existed by that or some similar name near San Salvador. He asked Secretary Wilbur to send airplanes to that region to see if Schmidt still is alive.

BOYS KILL TO FINANCE AUTO

Youthful Hijackers Confess To Fatal Robbery

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 13. (INS)—Because they wanted a little extra money, two young men confessed here today to the slaying last night of James Reese, 18, filling station attendant. The two, Orville Trout, 19, and Walter I. Tryon, 18, confessed to Charles Frederick, city detective and friend of Reese's father.

The youths were apprehended 15 minutes after the crime when Trout returned to a place near the scene to search for his revolver which he had thrown away. Both are well dressed, presenting the appearance of the dapper "jellybean."

Tryon's confession states that the youths committed the burglary and subsequent murder because they needed extra money to keep up expenses on his car. They both asserted that their bandit career started a week ago when they robbed another filling station.

Both stated that the shooting of Reese was accidental and that they had no intention of shooting and that Reese in his excitement, struck Trout's arm causing the gun to be accidentally discharged.

The two youths are being held at the city jail where they will be viewed by victims of recent holdups in an effort to identify them with those crimes.

LAREDO SCRIBE STILL MISSING

Whereabouts of Harry Williams Is Mystery

Special to The Record News.

LAREDO, Texas, Feb. 12.—Coatless, hatless and with but 30 cents in his pocket, Harry B. Williams, a young newspaper man employed by the Laredo Times, walked out of the Hamilton hotel here at 1 o'clock in the morning of January 19 and never was seen afterward by anybody who knew him.

Not a single clue to his whereabout has been discovered although police and sheriffs on both sides of the international boundary line have been searching for him for weeks and even the 350 immigration officers along the international border have engaged in the hunt by special direction of Robe Carl White, assistant secretary of labor in charge of immigration.

Had Pay Coming

Had Williams waited a few hours he could have drawn his weekly salary check from the newspaper office and checked out of the bank a small sum of money on deposit there.

Earlier on the night of his disappearance, young Williams, who is 24, and unmarried, had been in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, across the international bridge from Laredo, with a friend from the newspaper office and the two returned to Laredo a while before midnight, at which time the international bridge is closed to traffic for the night. When he walked out of the Hamilton hotel, it was with the intention of going to his room two blocks away on the principal business street. He did not appear there and his clothes in the room were undisturbed.

Williams had gone to Laredo from Muncie, Ind., about six weeks before he disappeared. In Muncie he had worked in the editorial department of the Muncie Press nearly two years and a half and his employers there say he was reliable and steady and without a bad habit. In Muncie are his widowed mother, who has given her son up for dead, and a younger brother. Always on trips away from home it was the young man's custom to write regularly to his mother.

Questions Arise

Was he kidnaped for ransom and, if so, why have not the kidnapers demanded it?

Was he killed by smugglers through mistaken identity and his body disposed of?

Is he a victim of amnesia and wandering somewhere unable to give his name?

Was he killed by a motorist who feared the consequences of the accident and buried the body?

Was he picked up by an aviator friend and taken into interior Mexico where both may be now detained and unable to communicate with friends?

Was he a victim of bandits?

Is he ill in some hospital and unable to give his name?

Nobody knows who will tell.

Harry Williams is of blond type, including light hair and grayish blue eyes; weight, 130 pounds and height about 5 feet 8 inches. When last seen he was wearing light trousers, more brown than [illegible] and black shoes. He was without a hat or coat. On his skull on the right side at the top of the forehead, is a scar that is noticeable when his hair is combed back.

Uncle Sam Confronted With Three Serious Rio Grande Water Cases

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Water has become a complicated and controversial subject of international importance between the United States and its neighbors, Canada and Mexico. For the present the Canadian controversy is somewhat in abeyance but the situation with regard to Mexico is coming to the fore with a meeting of the Mexican-American international water commission in the near future.

It will be concerned chiefly with the problems relating to use of the waters of the lower Rio Grande, of the lower Colorado, and of the Tia Juana rivers. The commission will endeavor to reach an agreement upon which to base a treaty.

Distinct Problems

Each of the three rivers present a different proposition, but it has been deemed advisable that the three be considered together. On the Rio Grande about two-thirds of the water is furnished by Mexico, on the Colorado all of the water is furnished by the United States, and on the Tia Juana the larger portion of the water is furnished by the United States.

In the case of the Colorado there is the question of whether navigation rights apply and have been recognized. There is also the question of how far the United States is to recognize existing uses in Mexico as against later rights in the United States, and whether rights are limited to the low water flow of the river or to the flow as it will be regulated by storage. In this connection the Boulder dam recently authorized by congress comes into the picture of the international water controversy.

Reservoirs Possible

On the Rio Grande there appears to be opportunity for a large international reservoir along the river. On the lower reaches of the Rio Grande there has been a rapid growth of irrigation taking place both on the Mexican and American sides of the river.

The Tia Juana at times is a bed of dry sand with no water flowing on the surface. Its intermittent discharge is so valuable that Mexico is planning, and has begun, the construction of storage and diversion works which cost between $14,000,000 and $16,000,000 to complete.

On the American side of the boundary the city of San Diego is vitally concerned in securing an agreement that will enable it to build a reservoir in the channel of the Tia Juana river on the boundary, one end in Mexico and the other in the United States, so as to store the run-off from the American tributaries.

The Mexican members of the international water commission are: Gustavo P. Serano, chairman; Ignacio Lopez Bancalari and Fortunato Dozal. The American chairman is Dr. Elwood Mead, head of the bureau of reclamation of the department of the interior with W. E. Anderson and General Lansing H. Beach as the other two commissioners.

BILL CAREY TO BE NAMED HEAD OF MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

DEMPSEY MAY BE PROMOTER

Jack Probably Can Have Job if He Wants It

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 13. (UP)—The successor to Tex Rickard as president of the Madison Square Garden corporation will be William F. Carey, millionaire railroad builder, provided "Bill," as he is affectionately known in these parts, consents to take the job. This was made clear today when Rickard Hoyt, young New York banker, who holds the largest block of garden stock, informed the United Press that the next president of the corporation undoubtedly would be chosen from within the present organization.

Hoyt, a mild mannered man, soft spoken, sandy haired sportsman, with a quiet charm which belies the capacities which have won him his reputation as the most successful of Wall street's younger bankers, laid at rest a few of the rumors concerning the future of the garden which have been circulating of late.

In the first place, said Hoyt, no outsider can buy a controlling interest in the corporation through purchase of stock in the open market. Absolute control is vested in a small group which includes Hoyt, John Ringling, George Walter and Jack McGuire.

No Change in Control

Talk of the garden passing into the hands of Bill Dwyer, owner of the New York American Hockey club, is sheer fantasy, the youthful chairman of the board of directors indicated.

"For at least one year and a half more there can be no change," Hoyt explained. "This period was provided for when the papers of the corporation first made were drawn up."

Talk of dissention among the principal stockholders is equally fantastic, the junior partner of Hayden and Stone told the United Press.

"At no period since the garden corporation has been formed have things been proceeding as harmoniously as at the present time," he said.

"At present, we have not decided upon a president. Action probably will not be taken for two or three months. But I see no reason why we should look outside the organization for the man."

Job Is Carey's

If "Bill" Carey, man of many profitable outside interests, will agree to act as president, the job is his, Hoyt intimated. Carey at present is devoting his time to backing up Jack Dempsey in the promotion of the Sharkey-Stribling fight. Madison Square Garden corporation is sitting back, observing developments. Success or failure of the venture here at Miami Beach will have no bearing upon the selection of the next president of Madison Square garden, Hoyt said emphatically, admitting, however, that he was greatly pleased with the progress already made.

If Carey agrees to accept the presidency of Madison Square garden and devote considerable of his time to the proposition, it is quite likely that he will try to draft Jack Dempsey for the job of promoter.

The ex-champion has a number of other propositions in mind which will assure him of a successful future without the occasion for his returning to the ring, but the post of promoter at Madison Square garden under the presidency of "Bill" Carey seems to fit Jack Dempsey like one of the one-piece bathing suits the girls are sporting on the sands.

MR. HUTCHENSON offers two new ones who have not previously been named by fans for an all-time team. They are Jake Daubert, the Brooklyn first baseman and Frank "Wildfire" Schulte, the Chicago Cub outfielder.

Daubert was a great first baseman and one of the foremost stars of the game when playing with the Robins. He was a brilliant fielder and timely and hard hitter and particularly noted for his scientific batting. Schulte played with the famous Cubs of pennant winning days of the era of more than a decade ago. He was a mighty hitter and excellent gardener.

This column is open to you, fans. Send in your all-star teams, of youngsters, veterans, all-time or what have you, and they will be printed in this colyum.

IS THE DAY of Big Bill Tilden as a tennis internationalist ended? Enthusiasts of the court game are pondering that question following the defeat of Tilden by John Van Ryn in three straight sets the other day in indoor play. Tilden was 36 years old last Sunday. For more than 10 years he has been a foremost internationalist; indeed he reigned as champion of them all for seven or eight years. Now it seems that time is taking its inevitable toll, and that Tilden soon will join Maurice McLaughlin, Bill Johnston and other stars of the game who were forced out from fast competition.

Thirty-six is old, as athletes go. Years of pounding around tennis courts, innumerable hours of grueling competition, the strain of engaging in matches on which rested national and world titles, will bring Tilden's career as a leading star of the game to a close soon, if indeed it is not already ended.

His defeat by Van Ryan however, may not indicate Tilden is a has-been. It was Bill's first important match for months; since his suspension by the U. S. L. T. A. Tilden of course was not at his best in playing Van Ryn. Whether he is to regain his best, or a semblance of that, will not be determined until after a winter and spring of strenuous preparation.

Sharkey-Stribling Fight Success Is Bad News for Hammer Throwers

"Always Belittling" Fellows Get Shock, With Advance Sale For Miami Battle Going at Fast Clip

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Bad news, sad news, for the hammer heavers comes from the land o' the Flamingo.

It appears that William Harrison Dempsey's little pugilistic enterprise on the shores of Biscayne bay is not only now assured of success, but it may even turn out a positive wow, as we say at the club.

Enough clients have already engaged chairs for the exposition of the sour science between Willie Stribling Jr., the king of the cane brakes, and Josef P. Cuckochay, otherwise Sharkey, to pay expenses, and there is reason to believe that a sufficient number of additional clients will appear to produce a profit.

I certainly hope and trust that such will be the case. In a long experience I have never before seen a similar enterprise go to the post against such a prodigious chorus of groans and boos as is attending the Stribling-Sharkey affair. And for no particular reason that I am able to discern, other than the fact that it is being held in Miami, one of the most attractive cities in the entire world.

If Stribling and Sharkey were to meet in New York, they would undoubtedly play to a Madison Square garden sell-out, and the match would be accepted as of great importance, as such things go. They are two of the best prominent heavyweights now before the pugilistic proletariat. The speculators would already have most of the desirable chairs at the garden, as they invariably have most of the desirable chairs at the garden, and would be asking about double the face value of the tickets.

The experts would be dashing back and forth between the gymnasiums where the gladiators would be training, and telling you how they look. There would be great excitement. The gate would total whatever the garden would hold at the prices fixed.

Fight on Its Own Merits

But because the promoters chose to take the fight to Miami, by way of a little legitimate ballyhoo for the Rose of the Southland, some of the lads immediately decided that it must necessarily be a failure, especially after the death of Tex Rickard, whose pet project it was.

It has been said that the fight was planned by Rickard merely to draw business to a dog track and a gambling casino in which he was interested, and that he did not care if the exposition of the sour science lost money. But since William Harrison Dempsey and W. F. Carey, representing the Madison Square Garden corporation, took charge of the fight, they have moved it away from the dog track, and the casino enters not at all into their calculations.

They are presenting the Stribling-Sharkey affair on its merits as a pugilistic attraction, not as an adjunct to any gambling scheme. And if they draw a gate that shows a net against the unreasonable overhead that comes to them as a sort of legacy from Rickard, including a guarantee of $100,000 to Sharkey, it will be because they have a presentation that the pugilistic public wants to see, and not because of any gambling sideshows.

If they merely break even against that overhead of upwards of $300,000, it will be a feather in Miami's municipal cap, because this is a non-championship bout, and I am quite sure that no other city in America twice the size of Miami would turn out $300,000 for a sports attraction of any kind short of a heavyweight championship battle.

Prints Unkind to Miami

It seems to me that some of the public prints have been most unkind to Miami, a city that is very kind, indeed, to the public prints. It pays out more money for advertising every year than any other municipality in the world. The state of Florida disburses more money for printers' ink every year than any 10 states in the union put together.

But the old blast was turned on Miami very early in connection with the Stribling-Sharkey affair, with shy little tip-offs, and covert whistle blowings on municipal misdemeanors that have nothing to do with the fight, and that exist in every other city in the country a hundred-fold more flagrant than in Miami.

If, as was contended by some, the fight was a bust from the beginning, why pay any attention whatever to it? Why spend money keeping writers on the ground to insist that it was going to be a bust, if the bust was so patent from the start? Why not give it at least the same chance that similar shows are given every week in New York? What's the matter with Miami? What's the matter with Florida?

Well, the latest returns from down there indicate that everything is a little bit of all right. It is bad news, sad news, for the hammer heavers. And it will be perfectly awful if the king of the cane brakes and Josef P. Cuckochay cut loose and produce a terrific battle, with a knockout on the end.

Corbett Takes Special

At least one special train is going out of New York for the fight. It is fostered by none other than the youngest man in the world, the Hon. James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, and a survivor of the only other big battle fought on Florida soil.

'Twas on Jan. 25, that Corbett stopped Charley Mitchell, of England, in three rounds at Jacksonville, Fla. They fought for the world's title and a side bet of $25,000. I asked Corbett the other day how much the fight drew, and he said:

"Well, I never heard, but I guess the promoters made money, as I don't recall any squawks from them."

Freddy Block is assisting in the Corbett special, which will leave the Pennsylvania station on Feb. 24, returning the following Sunday. Corbett isn't figuring on any profit, he merely wants a lot of company for the trip. He is assessing each passenger $200 for the round trip, including everything.

The party will live on the train in Miami, and will be away a week. Corbett ran a special to Chicago for the Tunney-Dempsey fight, and the journey is still a bright memory with his customers.

HALL WINNER IN 8TH ROUND

Cyclone Scores Technical K. O. Over Riley

Cyclone Hall of Childress was credited with a technical k. o. over Sam Riley last night in the eighth round of the scheduled 10-round windup of Alex Ross' boxing show. The Oklahoman failed to answer the bell at the start of the eighth round and the referee raised Hall's hand in token of victory. They are middleweights.

Riley claimed he had been hit low a couple of times earlier in the bout but there was nothing the matter with the ripping right Hall landed to Sam's midriff in the seventh round. That punch was decisive, for from then on, Riley's speedy, rope-skipping, jumping attack was halted and he went into a shell. Riley was hit low once in the second or third round but whether it had effect on the ultimate result will be, like other mysteries, such as who struck Billy Patterson, unsolved.

Until its end, the bount was fast and ended one of the most interesting shows staged by Professor Ross this season. It was seen by a crowd which packed the gym at 821 Indiana avenue.

Tommy Scott, Electra, a brother of Howard, also scored a technical knockout last night, when Buck Atkins of Childress failed to answer the bell for the fourth round. It was a slashing mill while it lasted. Atkins was floored thrice by the heavy-punching Scott but fought courageously. They are lightweights.

Jimmy Wilson, that game and popular Oklahoma City welterweight, again figured in one of the feature bouts. His six round war with Pug Sutherland of Childress was a wow. Wilson twice took counts of nine but on each occasion arose to fight back with redoubled fury. The Childress boy showed himself a clever boxer and hard socker and the two knockdowns he scored gave him the edge in the milling.

Jack Betts stopped Homer Oden in the fourth, Aubrey Langford stopped Jack Moreitzer in the third, Jack Smith and Shorty Hood were stopped by the referee in the second and Tommy Mounds and Pete Dixon boxed four rounds in prelims.

Frank Silk, appearing today and tomorrow in vaudeville at the Majestic theater, and a well-known boxing referee from Philadelphia was third man in the ring in the main evnt.

Cashion, With 20 Boys in School Looms as County Cage Contender

Coach M. R. White's Cashion high school basket ball team is a favorite to win the Wichita county tournament this week-end at Iowa Park. There is very good reason for the high esteem in which the Cats are held as cagers. Look at their record.

Cashion has scored victories over the Wichita Falls high school Coyotes, Wichita Falls junior college Indians, and other high schools including Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Clara, Fairview, Randlett, Okla., and Valley View.

This has been accomplished in a school that has an enrollment of 50 pupils, 20 of whom are boys.

N. Neely and Lancaster, regular forwards, are expert goal shooters, as is Doyle, the substitute. Owens, center, is an excellent pivotal man and another adept at laying the ball in the basket. McLean, C. Neely, Lepley and Woodall give Coach White four guards of excellence.

Calmes Handed Nod Over Howard Scott

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 13.—Howard Scott Electra, Texas featherweight boxer, lost the decision to Bobby Calmes of Duncan, Okla., last night in a fast eight-round bout at Fort Sill. The decision was unpopular and was booed for several minutes by spectators.

Scott finished fast and was stronger than Calmes at the end of the bout and was entitled to nothing worse than a draw, in the opinion of a majority of ringsiders.

Leroy Dougan of Blytheville, Ark., defeated Quina Lee of Jacksonville, Fla., claimant to the bantamweight championsip of the south, in another fast go, this for 10 rounds.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Health And Diet Advice

Food Preservatives Not Advisable

With the passage of the federal pure food law enacted by the congress of the United States, many poisonous chemical preservatives and coloring materials were prohibited from the use of manufacturers, but there are still some preservatives which may be employed under special regulations. None of them, however, are advisable or necessary from a health standpoint. The methods of preserving food by canning, sterilising, refrigeration and drying have improved so much within recent years that there seems to be no special need for these chemicals. Some of those used are alum, benzoic acid, benzonate of soda, boron, coal tar dyes, copper, sulphate, formaldehyde, formic acid, salicylacetic acid, salt-peter and sulphur dioxide.

At present the pure food law permits the use of these preservatives in small quantities if the fact is so stated on the label of the package.

Alum is sometimes used in curing meats, to harden vegetables for pickling, and in baking powders. It is not supposed to be harmful in small quantities, but its use in food has been discouraged in this country and entirely forbidden in Germany.

Benzoic acid and benzoate of soda are sometimes used in preserving the fruits, butter, fish and ketchup. Dr. Harvey Wiley, who did such valuable work as the former chief of the bureau of chemistry for the department of agriculture, found that their administration was followed by a distinct loss of weight caused by some disturbance within the body.

Boron compounds are sometimes used in preserving meat, fish, fruit juice and condensed milk. It has been stated that these compounds administered in small doses for a long time create disturbances of appetite and digestion. The principal danger of the use of boron compounds is that when used on partly decayed products, they appear to be fresh and wholesomeness.

The coal tar dyes vary considerably as to their wholesomeness, some being comparatively harmless. They may mislead the customer into believing that the attractive coloring of foods and drinks is natural.

Copper, sulphate and other salts of copper are sometimes used in preparing peas, string beans, spinach and other green vegetables. Copper sulphate is sometimes used in purifying water of the larger cities although its use has been replaced to a large extent with chlorin gas which evaporates readily.

Sulphurous acid is frequently used on dried fruits to either bleach them or preserve them. Saltpeter is sometimes used on salt meats. Its use has been replaced to a large extent by salt, which is less irritating.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Scurvy

Question—Ed asks: "Is there a disease among human beings called scurvy? What is a good cure for it?

Answer—There is a disease called scurvy which used to be quite prevalent before people realized the value of fresh fruits and vegetables. It is still frequently found in babies, however, who are fed on prepared and patented food preparations and who are not given in addition orange juice or some other vitamin containing food. The remedy is to correct the diet by introducing acid fruits and green vegetables.

Starchy Vegetables

Question—Mrs. E. A. writes: "Are sweet potatoes and Hubbard squash non-starchy vegetables?"

Answer—Sweet potatoes and Hubbard squash contain some starch and may be used as the principal food of a starchy meal.

Foods for Growth

Question—H. P. asks: "Will you please give me a list of foods that would stimulate the gland at the base of the skull that controls growth?"

Answer—No special foods have been discovered to specifically stimulate the different ductless glands. However, in young people a normal growth usually takes place if enough of the foods containing calcium, phosphorus and the vitamins are used. Some of the foods useful for this purpose are as follows: Kale, tuffles, pumpkin, cucumbers, swiss chard, lettuce, cress, turnips, egg plant, tomatoes, lemons, currants, cheese and egg yolk.

Endocarditis

Question—V. P. I. asks: "What is endocarditis? Is it possible to have this trouble for years without knowing it until an acute attack, brought on by some specific cause? What part does age play?"

Answer—Yes, it is possible to have serious heart trouble for years without knowing it until you have an acute attack. Endocarditis comes on at any age and is often the result of some acute fever or some other disease.

MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: What's that man in yo' chair hollerin' about?

MACK: I dropped a hot towel on his face.

MORAN: How come yo' do that?

MACK: It was too hot to hold.

MORAN: Why don't yo' pull th' towel offen his face?

MACK: I got to wait until it cools off.

MORAN: Big Boy, yo' treats a customer's face like yo' was hollin' fire.

MACK: Well, a man what don't tip me th' first time he comes in is foolish to come back again.

MORAN: Yo' is sure a tough tonsorial artist.

MACK: Yo' aint so good yo'self.

MORAN: Yo' thinks a man's face is a place where yo' strops razzirs.

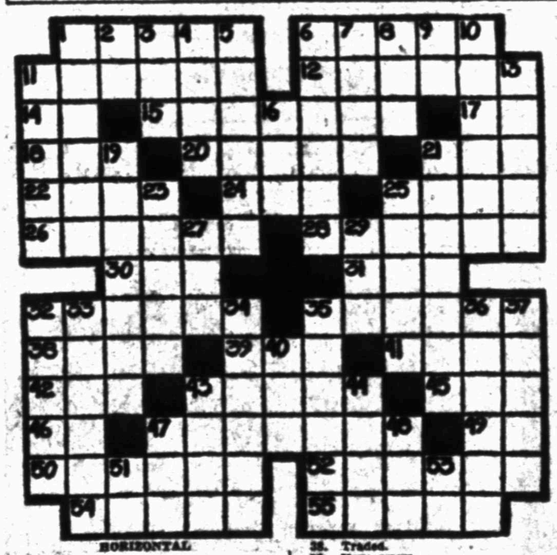

MACK: An' yo' thinks a spool of adhesive tape is a music roll.

MORAN: Well, take that hot towel offen that man's face befo' yo' cooks him.

MACK: An' yo' is one of them barbers what is makin' safety razzirs so popular.

If the Two Black Crows would stop arguing and stick to their barbering, then the next census of the United States wouldn't be so hard to take. In fact, the only persons left would be the Two Black Crows.

Prior to the Civil war, Fort McCavitt was a military post and there Robert E. Lee served as a lieutenant colonel, and many other famous soldiers also served there.

Today the old military buildings are in use at the little town of McCavitt. The old military office is a hotel building.

J. T. Parks, one of the five owners of the McCavitt Oil company, is a visitor in Tulsa. A wire from R. A. Conkling, geologist of Oklahoma City, says the well was drilling below 1700 feet, having a show of gas and oil at around 1600 feet. Geological work by Mr. Conkling indicates the McCavitt structure to be larger than the Yates pool of Pecos county. It extends eastwards into Menard county. Carl Cromwell is the drilling superintendent for the Texon Oil and Land company, which drilled the world's deepest oil well to 8528 feet.

Pampa Pool May Join to Bowers

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 13—A strong possibility exists of the Pampa pool, the first oil area of Gray county, being united with the Bowers and LeFors pools, also the Gray county, and possibly making it a larger field than the Borger-Dixon Creek pool of Hutchinson county, and the Panhandle fields largest oil area.

Mariand Production company's No. 1 Finley, in section 32, block B-2, of H. and G. N. survey, found gas at 2455 feet and at 2640 feet it increased to 5,0000,000 feet. It is in a spot looked on by many geologists as in non-productive territory. It had the big lime at 1945 feet. Oil is expected at 2800 feet.

Another test in supposedly southflank territory is the Malone and others No. 1 Taylor, in section 22, block B-2, which had gas at 2533 feet and was drilling on.

Three miles north of Kings Mill and five miles west of Pampa, the Southern Petroleum Exploration company No. 2 McConnell, in the southwest of the southeast of the northwest of section 174, block 3 of I. and G. N. survey, made 598 barrels the first 24 hours in pay from 3221 to 3222 feet.

Seminole's Seven Pools Register Small Loss

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 13.—The seven pools of the Seminole area showed a gain of 1,367 barrels Tuesday, but due to a loss of 3,198 barrels in the St. Louis pool, the production of the Greater Seminole field fell off 1,831 barrels. The gauge totaled 414,084 barrels from 1,665 wells as compared with 415,915 barrels, Monday's output.

The new wells were completed in the Maud field and the production increased to 44,033 barrels, or a gain of 346 barrels.

Losses in the output of the Searight, Seminole City and the Mission pool were noted, but offsetting gains were seen in the Little River, Bowlegs, Earlsboro and the Maud pools.

COURT TO PASS ON SPACE RULE

Writ of Error Granted In Reversed Judgment

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—The supreme court today granted a writ of error on the "importance of the question," involving enforcement by the railroad commission of oil and gas conservation rule No. 37, referring to spacing of wells in oil fields.

The case reached the court on application of J. G. Bass, who applied to the district court of Travis county for and was granted a permanent injunction against the commission from enforcing the rule, with the court of civil appeals at Austin reversing and rendering the judgment.

Bass claimed the rule was void and unenforceable because it did not come within the powers delegated by the legislature to the railroad commission, and because as applied to the land in question it was unreasonable.

Bass had applied for permission to drill 10 wells on his tract of three and one-half acres in the Powell field in Navarro county. The commission refused the request, but issued an order permitting him to drill two wells.

Under the rule it is not permissible to drill nearer than 300 feet to any other completed or drilling well on same or adjoining tract or farm.

Late Oklahoma Field Reports

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 13 (AP)—Only because it offsets the biggest oil gusher in the state at present, is the Phillips Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Wallace at Maud a disappointment. This well flowed 679 barrels in the 24 hour period ending at 7 a. m. today, this being it's initial full gauge. It was deepened to 4032 feet in the Misener sand yesterday and is to be drilled eight feet deeper today. The Misener sand was topped at 4013 feet.

The Texas company's No. 1 Cassity in the Tonkawa field extension, is making 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas and flowing 25 barrels of oil by heads while drilling in black shale at 4405 feet. It is in the northwest corner of the east half of the southwest of 29-25-1 west.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—The cotton market was generally higher today on covering and trade buying promoted by reports of small fertilizer sales for January and rather more encouraging trade advices. May delivery sold up to 20.17, or 10 points net higher, and closed at 20.12. The general market closed steady at a net advance of one to six points on all months except January, which was one point net lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of five points to a decline of five points. Near months were relatively steady on trade buying and covering. The latter probably was promoted by reports that exports of cotton cloths and yarns from Great Britain in January showed an increase over last year. While the initial advance met considerable realizing, offerings were absorbed on setbacks of a few points.

After selling off from 24.04 to 19.95 for March and from 19.60 to 19.53 for the new October contract, the market stiffened up again and showed considerable firmness in the early afternoon. March advanced to 20.08 and the new October contract to 19.65, making net advances of about eight to 11 points on the more active positions. Demand for March from spot cotton or trade interests was a sustaining factor.

New crop months were bought on report that sales of fertilizers in the south for January showed a decrease of 23.6 per cent compared with last year and that December and January showed a decrease of 26.6 per cent.

The advance above the 20-cent level for spring months attracted a little more realizing. Demand slackened somewhat and closing prices showed reactions of five to eight points from the best under realizing, which may have been combined with a little southern selling.

British exports of cotton yarns for January were reported to have been 17,000,000 pounds against 15,000,000 last year and exports of cloths for January were 379,000,000 yards against 337,000,000 last year. Liverpool cables reported that liquidation in the market there had been absorbed by continental buying and covering but that the demand for cotton cloths was limited and stocks of yarns were accumulating.

Expectation of large domestic consumption figures from the census bureau tomorrow morning was considered one of the factors on the advances locally. Exports today 18,036, making 5,973,791 this season. Port receipts 9,392. U. S. Port stocks, 2,108,270.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13. (AP)—After an irregular opening the cotton market strengthened later today under good trade buying and covering which absorbed liquidation and realizing and forced prices up 10 to 11 points above the previous close. There was a renewal of realizing in final trading and May contracts which had traded up to 19.57 eased off and closed at 19.51, or five points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of four to five points.

Liverpool cables were lower than due but the market here opened relatively steady. First trades showed gains of one point to losses of one point and after a slight rally the market encountered some selling probably induced by the unsteady English market and March sold down to 19.32, May 19.34 and July 19.46, or three points under Monday's close.

Offerings were absorbed at the setback by trade buying and covering promoted by bullish textile statistics of the British board of trade and a reduction of 26.6 per cent in fertilizer sales during December and January. Some of the covering may have been in anticipation of a bullish census bureau January domestic consumption report due tomorrow. At any rate March advanced to 19.39, May 19.52 and July 19.55, or four to five points above the previous close.

After a momentary setback the market turned firmer again under renewed covering and all active positions made new highs for the day in afternoon trading with March at 19.45, May 19.47 and July 19.60, or 10 to 11 points net up. Final prices were six points off from the best due to last minute realizing.

Stocks Favored by Durant Stand Out as High Spots of Dull Trade

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (US)—Durant favorites featured by reason of strength in an otherwise irregular and somewhat quiet stock market today.

Short covering influenced by continued easing in call money conditions was offset by the steady liquidation that reflected fear of the reserve board and caused further declines in Steel, Can and other industrials.

Loew's and Combustion with advances of over 4 and 1 point respectively led the Durant shares while American and Foreign Power with gain of 10 points stood out in a generally strong utility group. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Sinclair with advances of over a point stood out in an otherwise dull oil department.

Kennecott gained over three points while other coppers ruled irregular. Underwood-Elliott Fisher jumped over three points on favorable earnings statement. Volume of trading again held down to the 4,500,000 share level.

The reserve board meets again tomorrow afternoon. Nervousness before the session, however, should be reduced by expectation that the statement to be issued after the close will show a substantial decrease in loans. Most brokers estimate that the decline for the week was $300,000,000 at least. They base their prediction on the actual reduction for their own account but they keep their fingers crossed because if the reserve is trying to effect correction of the stock market through fear the decline reported may be materially less than such estimates.

That the banks have plenty of money on hand was evidenced by the manner in which it was thrown into the market, today, forcing the call rate to six from renewal of 7½ per cent while some loans were made on the outside at as low as 5½ per cent. But while the money position does not appear as bad as painted the reserve board has gone on record and the wise trader is taking profits when possible.

As was the case following former "warnings" of the reserve it was the aggressive operations of the Durant group that did most to bolster faltering sentiment in speculative circles. Combustion remained the outstanding feature as W. C Durant and his associates continued the activity started coincident with the visit to the new plant at New Brunswick, N. J., last week. The stock continued to move steadily into new high territory throughout the day although improvement in earnings as a result of the connection with Public Service of New Jersey cannot be expected for several weeks at the best. Loew's good recovery was due to the acitivity of the Durant group also and was experienced coincident with report that the Warner and Loew interests were closer together in their merger negotiations.

Sinclair continued to be well bought as it was rumored that the directors might take dividend action tomorrow. Declaration when made, it was declared, would either take the form of a $3 regular annual rate or consist of quarterly distribution with extra payment of an amount that would clearly point to a $3 return for stock holders this year.

Great Northern Ore increased dividend is expected for the next few days also. If $1.25 distribution was ordered, as expected, it would mean payment of at least $1.75 a share in the last half of the year. Strength in National Power and Light and other utilities was the combined results of short covering and new investment demand based on knowledge of consolidation plans of the most powerful power interests.

Copper shares reflected voicing of expectation that the red metal would sell as high as 20 cents a pound. The best straw on copper is Anaconda for the controlling interests thereof are closely watching the metal market and preventing any burdensome surplus of the metal to undermine the work already accomplished. Split up of Anaconda stock and retirement of its seven per cent bonds appear part of the program. There is plan also to finish the operation in Greene Cananea. Nevada Consolidated has been well taken in recent sessions as the strong interests who are behind the merger plan never completed their operation.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. (AP)—In a sudden rush to buy wheat today, the market ran up fast 3⅜c a bushel, outdoing all of this season's previous topmost records. Export business in wheat from North America was of unusual volume, nearly 1,500,000 bushels, and increased anxiety prevailed regarding widespread unfavorable crop conditions, especially over Europe and India and large sections of domestic winter wheat territory.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at virtually the day's highest level, showing 2⅝c to 3⅜c net advance. Corn finished 1¼c to 1⅜c up, oats ⅝c to 1c gain, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 22c.

In addition to free buying of wheat for immediate shipment to Europe, much of today's purchasing of Chicago wheat future deliveries was credited to transatlantic sources. Reports indicated almost unprecedented adverse weather conditions in Europe, and the stimulating effect of these reports was given added impetus by official and private advices telling of continued ground for apprehension about domestic winter wheat prospects.

It was figured that so far this season Europe alone has taken more than 24,000,000 bushels above the total a year ago, and that non-European countries have absorbed more than 52,000,000 bushels beyond the corresponding amount last year. Under such circumstances, wheat offerings here today were relatively scarce from start to finish, and for the most part appeared to be confined to traders who were in a position to realize a profit. Late announcement of 2,352,000 bushels increase of the world's available supply in the last week was practically ignored, and so too was word that Kansas City had sold 100,000 bushels of wheat today to be moved to Chicago.

Corn, rye and oats moved up in price with wheat. Corn shipping demand here was more active, and France was said to have become a buyer of corn.

Provisions were responsive to strength shown by hog values and to reports of liberal consumption of cotton oil.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY Feb. 13. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Shippers at most points around the 11-market circuit had liberal orders for hogs and showed prices to new high levels for the season. Packers at several centers did not follow the advance in its entirety. The day's extreme top of $10.65 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 117,400, a decrease of 17,000 from a week ago and 23,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs ruled unevenly steady to 25c lower, the most down turn shown at Chicago. Although no material price changes were registered on aged stock, a weak undertone prevailed. Best fat lambs in Chicago topped at $16.10. The supply approximated 50,000 against 42,943 last Wednesday and 55,327 a year ago.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 27,400, a let-down of 4,000 from a week ago and 13,500 short of a year ago. The curtailment of the supply prompted more confidence throughout the trade and the decline on fed steers was checked temporarily at least. Some strength developed in light weight steers and yearlings but demand for weighty offerings remained narrow. Eastern dressed beef markets continued sluggish, with additional declines. A trade dispute hampered meat trade at New York.

Receipts of Poultry Show Increase Here

Resumption of heavy receipts of poultry was reported by local dealers Wednesday following a decided slump last week which was attributed to the weather conditions prevailing then.

Increasing deliveries were coming from the territory close to this city, for the most part, while car load lots of live birds being made up in outlying sections are expected to arrive within the next few days.

HIDALGO ARMY MEETS DEFEAT

Invading Hosts Fail to Gain Their Objective

to see Representative Grady Woodruff of Decatur, and was admitted to the reception room. There he delivered to Woodruff a petition to the speaker requesting that the case be reopened, attached to which was a petition bearing what he said were signatures of 5,474 "legally qualified, white American voters of Hidalgo county" asking that Smith be given a hearing on his contest allegations. Accompanying it was another petition addressed to Montgomery, which Griffin said was signed by "5,310 legally qualified white American voters of Hidalgo county" demanding that he resign.

Quiet Is Urged

Returning to the delegation after his conference with Woodruff, Griffin mounted the stairs leading to the third floor, and addressed the crowd briefly, admonishing them to be quiet so as to not disturb deliberations of the house.

A few minutes later the delegation climbed to the galleries, which were already almost filled with spectators from Austin who had gathered to witness the fight.

The senate cut its deliberations short and soon most of the senators were on the floor of the house, many of them accompanied by their wives and members of their families. There were many women on the floor of the house and they contributed with vigor to the waves of applause that swept the chambers as speakers made points from time to time.

Stenos See Fireworks

The stenographers both in the house and senate and from the departments of the capitol gathered to watch the fireworks and when the offices in the building closed departmental heads and their staffs joined the onlookers.

The setting was said not to have been surpassed even by the stormy impeachment proceedings which have taken place in the house in recent years.

State Credit Head To Speak Here

Legislation leading to the strengthening of the hot check laws will be proposed in an address from John E. Phillips, president of the Texas Retail Credit Men's association and credit manager of the Fair at Fort Worth, to be given before the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantor's association at their regular meeting at the Wichita club at 6:30 Thursday evening.

Mr. Phillips will also outline a plan for financing past due accounts which debtors are unable to handle in a lump sum, according to a preliminary announcement of the program.

In the absence of Alva H. Conner, president of the local organization, W. H. Bailey will preside. The first photograph of the association will be made at the meeting and all members were urged to be present.

Europe Cries For Coal And Food in Cold Wave

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Europe, which has been shivering for a week under a cold wave of greater intensity than some sections had known for 200 years, began today to feel the full effects of the arctic visitation. Coal and food have become the crying needs of some countries, while the governments of others were trying to find means of halting threatened shortages in these necessities of life.

CONFIDENCE IN REMEDY

Wichita Woman Tells Experiences Since Taking Orgatone

The greatest evil that faces the people of America today and inflicts the agony of unspeakable torture upon countless thousands of men, women and children is something most terrible. It is stomach trouble—the American malady and the curse of this great nation. The most terrible thing about stomach trouble is that, at the start, it seems so trifling and unimportant that it is almost, always, neglected—yet it counts its casualties, not by the thousands but by the tens of thousands and hundreds of thousands.

First the victim of stomach trouble and indigestion notices a tendency to belch gas after eating. This seems a small matter and nothing is done to correct it. Then comes heart flutterings and palpitations, the result of the pressure of gas from the stomach upon the heart. The acid is constantly fermenting the undigested food in the stomach and gradually poisoning the entire system. The result is constipation, that in time, becomes chronic and billiousness that permeates the whole being and brings mental depression with its despondency. Such are the thousands of cases, right here in Wichita and regarding this subject, Mrs. H. H. Ball of 1704 Holliday, says:

"Several years ago, I began to have stomach trouble and indigestion. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and gas formed and caused heartburn. For a long time I have been bothered with constipation about as bad a case as I ever heard of and had to take something all the time for the pains that were in my side.

"Orgatone is advertised for stomach and indigestion troubles and so I bought a bottle. It is the best medicine I have ever taken for what it is intended. My stomach and digestion troubles are better, my heartburn has disappeared and gas has not bothered me since I took my first dose of Orgatone. Orgatone will help anyone suffering from stomach trouble and I am more than glad to recommend it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug Store under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative. Out-of-town customers are being supplied promptly upon receipt of price, one bottle for $1.25 or six bottles for $6.25.—Adv.

Officers in the Women's Missionary societies of the Southern Methodist church all over this section assembled Wednesday in the regular district officers training conference, held all day in the First Methodist church Wednesday.

Mrs. Miles Hines, district secretary, presided. The conference opened with song and a devotional service led by Mrs. Austin F. Leach. Mrs. Hines offered an invocation and Mrs. George Thorburn gave a vocal solo before the calling of the group meetings which featured the morning's program.

Mrs. E. L. Egger of Dallas, treasurer, and Mrs. J. S. Perry, of Terrell, corresponding secretary, conducted one group. Miss Annie Laurie Long led the discussion of the group which met to consider social service and supplies. Mrs. W. A. In the afternoon session, after the opening prayer and song, Mrs. Joel MacGregor gave a solo. The group listened to reports from the international conference at Memphis, held Jan. 1, and attended by noted missionaries from all over the world. Dr. O. E. Goddard, leader in the field, was quoted as saying: "I dare to nominate missions as the most successful big enterprise of modern times." The group was also told of a tribute from Bishop W. B. Shoddy Jail Didn't Suit Prisoner, So He Left For Another

PARIS, Texas, Feb. 13. (AP)—If the authorities at Stamps, Ark., expect to keep J. C. Arthur in their jail they will have to fix up the place, Arthur declared after surrendering to local officers today.

Two nights ago he left the Stamps jail flat and hopped a freight train for Texarkana. Kind hearted motorists brought him on to Paris and within a few minutes he was resting comfortably in the Lamar county jail here.

Vaudeville Bill Offers Variety

Skit on New York Features New Program

An evening spent in the lights and shadows of New York's Broadway is promised by the new comedy act of Powers and Wallace, headliners on this week's vaudeville bill at the Majestic, which has the appearance of providing a variety of satisfying entertainment.

Both Miss Powers and Mr. Wallace assume triple roles in their six-character comedy, which is styled "New York." Various phases of life among the teeming masses which throng the famous metropolitan district have been written into the experiences of six fares of a taxi driver, who are brought in pairs during the course of the evening into police court. The wide range of human nature as it expresses itself in the hurrying night life of New York has been skillfully portrayed in the varied charges and defenses heard before the police sergeant.

Advance notices accord Frank X. Silk runner-up position on the bill with a running fire of verbal cartoons, and an occasional song, which he has gathered under the title of "Speaking of Home." There is said to be a fine line of restrained comedy in Mr. Silk's monologues in which the title is made to cover a wide variety of subjects, homely and otherwise.

A unique setting is promised for the group of musical narratives announced as constituting the entertainment offered by Ruth Ford. The character songs which she uses were written for Miss Ford by Harry Ruskin and Jack Frost, and are said to be scored to bring out the delightful charm of her voice, and her humor. The act is staged by Harry Crawford.

A singing and dancing revue in which Al Garbelle is surrounded by five feminine dancers, who also contribute much to the singing, is billed under the caption "Silks and Satins."

A trampoline absurdity called "Go 'Head Charley," in which Monroe and Grant combine some new athletic kinks with comedy of sight and sound, completes the vaudeville program.

The motion picture feature accompanying the vaudeville bill of Thursday and Friday shows Chester Conklin's reaction in "The Haunted House." A comedy film, and Paramount views of current events complete the entertainment.

CRAFTSMAN IS GIVEN PARDON

But Detainer Hangs Over Head of Ship Builder

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 13. (AP) A pardon for James E. Sanders, alias Lewis Edwards of Philadelphia, who began a prosperous ship model manufacturing business in the eastern penitentiary, has been signed by Governor Fisher, it was announced today.

Sanders, who is 36, is not a free man, however, as a detainer has been lodged against him to serve 18 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for house breaking in Washington, D. C.

A presidential pardon now will be required to relieve him from serving his federal sentence. He is suffering from tuberculosis.

He was sentenced in 1922, in Reading, Pa., to a term of two to 14 years for the theft of an automobile.

He began fashioning miniature ship models in the prison, and his craftsmanship built a brisk business for his product. It grew until he was forced to establish his mother and brother and sister in the business in Philadelphia, where former convicts who worked with Sanders in the prison are now employed.

Jovial Solons Okeh Election of Hoover

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (UP)—The solemn ceremony of congress certifying the election of Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis was turned into a joyful affair today when the senate and house met jointly. Smith while Republicans retaliated by giving a "rebel yell" when the returns from Texas and Virginia were formally announced.

Katy Stockholders Sue for Dividends

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 13 (UP)—Two stockholders of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad filed suit in circuit court today for collection of 7 per cent dividends which, it was charged, are due and unpaid.

Daniel F. Price, Chicago, owner of 1,000 shares of the railroad's preferred stock, and Henry D. Vinton, Kansas City attorney, owner of 100 shares of preferred stock, are the plaintiffs.

It is alleged in the suit that owners of 810,000 shares of common stock dominate the directors and that holders of preferred stock suffer discrimination. Earnings are sufficient to pay back dividends, it is contended.

The suit is in the form of a bill of equity and was filed by Rice and Vinton in behalf of all owners of preferred stock.

Tax Extension Halts Payments to City

Unless citizens of Wichita Falls take care of their city and school taxes in greater numbers than they have during the last two weeks, according to W. R. Hyer, city tax collector, his office will be congested on the last day of February with taxpayers so numerous that some will of necessity be compelled to wait until a later date and thus be subject to the penalty provided by law for delinquent tax payments.

Since the grant of 28 days extra time in which to pay the annual city and school taxes, Mr. Hyer said, a comparatively small percent of those whose taxes still remained unpaid on Jan. 31 have attended to this item of business.

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT
There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.
That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.
Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

Stop Rheumatic Pain With Prescription A-2851
Local druggists who are dispensing Prescription A-2851 are all loud in their praise of what it will do. It doesn't seem to matter whether the condition is of long standing and the pain constant, or whether only occasional twinges are felt—Prescription A-2851 seems to go right to the seat of the trouble and knock out the pain.
While this particular prescription was compounded especially for rheumatic conditions—it has also proven successful in many forms of gout, neuritis and sciatic nerve pain.
Tear out this announcement and hand it to your druggist, or be sure to remember the name—Prescription A-2851. In liquid or pill form. There is nothing else as good to drive out rheumatism.

Best Remedy for Obstinate Cough Made at Home
You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.
Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.
You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It also promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and at the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.
Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.
