Double Parking Fines Assessed By Policemen

In case automobile drivers in Lamesa find a little orange-colored traffic ticket sticking under the windshield wiper of their automobile, might be a good idea to report to City Judge W. T. Webb and pay the required fine for double-parking.

City officials are going to do something about the parking situation in Lamesa, beginning at once, said Police Chief William Chilton. Men in the police department have been giving repeated warnings for the past few days, and now they mean business.

Costivity of the double parking violation will be a dollar a shot. That dollar will be paid for leaving a car double parked without a driver or when a double parker blocks a parking space, Chilton pointed out. Triple parking will absolutely not be tolerated, he warned.

Assisting Chilton with the traffic and parking situation in the business districts will be J. B. Yarbrough and F. L. Grogan, members of the day police force.

One means of solution for the parking problems in Lamesa hinges on the fact that business people ride those two or three blocks to work and park their own cars in front of business houses. City officials have requested that the business men and women who live within walking distance leave their cars at home.

PAYMENTS CONTINUE

Daily feed payments will be continued to June 30, 1946, C. E. Tarter of the local AAA said Wednesday. Some persons were in doubt concerning the payments. He urged that farmers keep their cream stubs to bring in for the dairy feed payments.

'Buy a Piece of Victory' Is Victory Loan Suggestion On Eve of County Student Contest With Bond Awards

Reminding Dawson County citizens that "It's our last chance to buy a piece of victory," Chairman J. P. White of the Victory Loan drive has announced plans for a Dawson County student bond-selling contest. Bond sales are going entirely too slow, leaders said Wednesday.

Prizes in Victory Bonds will be given students selling between $10,000 and $20,000 in E bonds. W. K. Crawley, C. A. Hollingsworth and Carl Rountree compose the student prize committee.

The awards will be made as follows: $100 bond for sale of $20,000 in E bonds; $75 bond for $15,000; $50 bond for $12,500; $25 bond for $10,000.

The county-wide student contest will open Monday, White said. Supplies will be furnished to school superintendents or principals, together with instructions for filling

TB Seal Sale Opens Monday In County Area

Dawson County Tuberculosis Association's annual Christmas Seal sale will open officially Monday. The TB seals will be mailed out from the office of Mrs. Henry McQuen, executive secretary, Saturday.

County quota for seal sales this year has been placed at $2,000, said C. E. Tarter, chairman of the seal sale in Dawson County.

As is the custom, the Christmas seals will be mailed to individuals in Dawson County, and checks or cash will be accepted by mail or may be handed personally to members of the committee.

Each afternoon at 5 o'clock, Dawson County may hear a radio program from the Midland station fostering the sale of TB Christmas seals. The program is sponsored by Dawson, Ector and Midland County tuberculosis associations. A. J. Cronin is the narrator.

"Accomplishments of Christmas seals can well be likened to a modern crusade against the evils of tuberculosis," Tarter said Wednesday. "Through their sale, funds have been raised to fight this plague throughout America."

"Through organization, made possible by Christmas seals, there has been provided a large part of the 95,000 tuberculosis hospital beds, many of the 20,000 public health nurses, and the 1,000 tuberculosis clinics... as well as most of the work of teaching children and adults about tuberculosis. In addition, a great medical research program financed by Christmas seals is at constant work to solve puzzling problems about this plague," he added.

Prisoner of Japanese More Than Three Years, Former Lamesa Physician Finds Hearty Welcome in Old Haunts

By ALLENE CURRY

Dr. John is back in Lamesa! Yes, and Lamesa citizens are giving him a hearty welcome that brings tears to the eyes of even an armymen who spent three and a half years in a Japanese prison camp. His adverse feeling toward the inhuman Japanese is understandable since he survived the famed "death march."

Army records show that he is Lt. Col. John B. Bennett, but to Lamesa friends that quiet-spoken physician is simply Dr. John. Colonel and Mrs. Bennett arrived in Lamesa, where the doctor did private practice for eight years, early this week. They are being sought after for entertaining much as perhaps royal celebrities. And to Lamesa friends that quiet-spoken physician is simply Dr. John.

Colonel and Mrs. Bennett arrived in Lamesa, where the doctor did private practice for eight years, early this week. They are being sought after for entertaining much as perhaps royal celebrities. And to Lamesa friends that quiet-spoken physician is simply Dr. John.

"To win this final battle, we need only keep on doing, for a little longer, the same things we did so well during three and one-half years of war. We need to keep on saving until reconversion is complete."

"The next few months will tell the story and if, during this critical period, we will only use the brains, the will power, the energy, the enterprise, the materials and resources with which we have won our war, we can't fail to win the peace and make this the richest, happiest land the world has known."

"Making the VICTORY LOAN a smashing success will be a clear notice of our intentions."

Colonel Bennett was reunited with his wife and their three sons—John B. Jr., 16, and twins, Floyd and Lloyd, 14—in Los Angeles at his return to the states in October. They heard from him entirely too seldom during his imprisonment. The family stayed in San Antonio until two years ago, when they moved to Los Angeles, Calif.

The Japanese people are simply not civilized, was Colonel Bennett's description. "They are completely barbarous underneath their thin skins and perhaps civilized on the outside, but that thin skin is mighty easy to scratch through," and the sparks flew from his eyes as he said it!

Yes, Dr. John suffered beatings for no obvious reason from his Japanese captors—all the American prisoners of war did.

But Colonel Bennett's mind wasn't on himself much—he thought mainly about the condition of the other men in his care. That's natural, because Lamesans well remember when his patients here were numbered one on his list of cares.

It was back in 1926 that the physician first came to Lamesa, following his completion of medical school. He was then associated with his brother, Dr. W. H. Bennett, who died here in 1932.

"Actually," he said, "I'm hinging on my brother's reputation here." But that's doubtful. Too many people are anxious to shake Dr. John's hand and assure him that Lamesans are happy beyond words that he's back.

From 1932 until 1938, Dr. John was in South Texas, Falfurrias, to be exact. Then in the fall of '38 he

Union Takes Dist. Title In Six-Man Football Contest

Union's six-man football team took off district honors in a game with Sparenberg on McCollum Field Lamesa, Saturday afternoon. Final score was Union 21, Sparenberg 19.

The Dawson County championship team will play Whiteface for bi-district. Date and time for the game will be announced later. Co. Supt. P. K. Humes said Wednesday.

Saturday's football melee was played before a good crowd of six-man football followers.

Sparenberg got off to a six-point lead in the first quarter when Phillip Truitt raked in a touchdown pass thrown by Boyce Mahaney.

Union went ahead in the second quarter when L. D. Payne traveled around left end for 40 yards and a tally behind good blocking. J. C. Freeland went through center for the extra point.

Almost a field-length punt return by Freeland was responsible for the second Union touchdown. Freeland took the ball almost on the goal line and ran it to the Sparenberg four-yard line before being tripped by Mahaney. A right end run by Freeland was the scoring play. A pass, J. D. Bourland to J. R. Tuttle accounted for the extra point. Score at the half stood 14-6, Union.

In the third period, Mahaney's pass to Truitt was good for 60 yards and another score for Sparenberg, but the extra point failed. Union received the football on kickoff and punted to Mahaney, who ran 60 yards for Sparenberg's third touchdown, on which the team took the lead over the champions, 14-19.

With only five minutes left in the fourth quarter, Union's Earl Hatfield intercepted a Sparenberg pass on his own 45. He crossed the line to score unopposed. The extra point was good on pass from Bourland to Hatfield, leaving Union winner by two points.

Sparenberg kept the ball until the game ended, continuing to threaten until the final whistle.

Freak Accident Injures Farmer

H. B. Miller, Lamesa farmer, sustained broken spinal vertebrae lacerations and pulled muscles in his right arm in a freak accident that occurred Monday evening. The 29-year-old man was moved from a Lamesa hospital to Baylor Hospital, Dallas, Wednesday.

Miller's farm car, which he was driving to town, swerved as he drove into a sand dune, throwing the right door open. In an attempt to hold the door as well as the steering wheel, Miller was thrown clear of the car. His injuries were caused by the fall, since the car did not overturn.

The injured man's wife and daughter, Norma Lynn, 3, live on the farm. He was accompanied to Dallas in a Hieghinbotham ambulance by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Miller of Lamesa.

Mrs. Eloise Trigg Johnson, Extension Specialist on Family Life Education, will discuss "Family Life in a Post War World" with the Home Demonstration Agents.

Thanksgiving Service Slated

Five churches in Lamesa will cooperate in the union Thanksgiving service scheduled for Wednesday night, 7:30 o'clock, at the First Christian Church, Dawson County people have been given a cordial invitation to attend.

Rev. W. J. Benson, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will bring the message. Special music and congregational singing will round out the service.

Cooperating churches include the Church of the Nazarene, the First Christian Church, First Methodist Presbyterian and Assembly of God.

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes, still dazed by their smashing defeat at the hands of Abilene Eagles last Friday, have little chance of rebounding into the win column this week as they collide with the pride of the plains, the unbeaten Odessa Bronchos, here on McCollum Field Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Odessa's record lost some of its luster Monday but remained spotless as the Bronchos barely got by Sweetwater's fast-improving Mustangs 13 to 12. Coach Clayton Hopkins' crew now has only to defeat Lamesa and Midland to gain the district 3-AA crown.

The Bronchos, led by high-scoring J. W. Thompson in the backfield, will be huge favorites to knock the Tornadoes over easily. Thompson, once a blocking back and a good defensive man, was converted into a ball carrier by Hopkins late last season, and he has been going to town ever since. He weighs 181 pounds and takes off around end like a pig on a 15-day furlough. He has tallied 109 points this year.

Not far behind Thompson in excellence and possessing more versatility is Byron (Santone) Townsley, Broncho halfback, who has counted 43 points so far. These two Odessa aces are one-two in the district scoring race. Other stars for the visitors have been Partridge at end, Eritt at tackle, Tommy Tucker at guard and Jack Marcel at guard. Marcel however suffered a broken collarbone in the game with San Angelo and won't be ready again until and if Odessa gets into the play-offs.

Several Odessa lads were reported in bed with the flu just before the Sweetwater tussle, but the squad will be ready for Lamesa except for Marcel. Critics have pointed to Marcel's absence from the lineup and the several mild cases of flu as reasons for Sweetwater's strong stand against Odessa.

Coach "Choc" Sander scouted the Odessa-Sweetwater melee and expects to have his Tornadoes playing better ball against the loop leaders. He said that end play and the work of the line-backers was far below par against Abilene, but pointed out that Lamesa held the Eagles to a 13 to 6 advantage in the last half.

Bill Matlock, regular Tornado tackle, sustained a knocked down shoulder in the Abilene game and is likely to see little if any action against Odessa. The rest of the Lamesa squad is ready for duty. Bud Eddy, who moved from guard to fullback against Abilene, will be scheduled to start in Matlock's tackle slot.

Arthur Blizell, younger brother of starting guard J. R. Blizell, will start in the backfield. Sanders said Tuesday. He will be at halfback or quarterback with Pat Patterson the other quarterback choice. Orvil Nie, man in fourth place among the district's scoring leaders with 31 points, will be at his regular half-back post and Homer Rippy at fullback will round out the starting secondary.

The Tornadoes went through long, stiff workouts Tuesday and Wednesday as they tried to get ready for a supreme effort against Odessa. Officials of the Broncho school are said to favor a move to put Lamesa back into class A or into district 1-AA.

Supt. V. Z. Rogers said that Odessa had already spoken for 500 reserved seats and that probably 8 bus loads of Odessa students would follow the team, band and pep squad to Lamesa. It is possible that the number of visiting fans will out-number the home crowd which would accentuate Odessa's.

T-Sgt. Carl H. Weeks, 1002 South Sixth Street, Lamesa, who served in the Pacific with the Fifth Air Force for 24 months, has been discharged at San Antonio. Weeks' job was ordnance inspector. He was formerly employed by Phillips Battery & Electric Company, Plainview.

Reports to this office from over most of Texas cotton land indicate disappointment in this year's crop. Acreage is down, bad weather and insects have cut into yields, and difficulty in getting pickers and pullers is causing some loss in quality as well as bulk. With only a fair feed crop this year, stockmen are looking to the winter with considerable apprehension.

Archer County's cotton is being harvested satisfactorily, though acreage is down. Record breaking acreage in wheat has been sown this year and there is much optimism about pastures.

Cotton harvest over the south plains is expected to be over the hump in another week. Mitchell County feeders report feed buying difficulties, even though the feed harvest is under way.

Wichita county's yield is 50 per cent of normal, due to weevils and wet weather. Cattlemen are fearful of hte winter. In Young County, about 60 per cent of the cotton has been harvested, but yields are low. Picking and pulling labor is short. Corn and wheat there is said to be poor, also, due to dry weather and grasshoppers, but rains in October helped small grain, and the pasture outlook there is good.

Jack County is proud of its pecan crop this year—also its peanuts and pasture, but its feed crop is short. Peanut harvest of about 35,000 acres in Eastland County is about completed. Some peanuts have sprouted in the field from excess moisture, but greatest damage is from the stems rotting off so the nuts are not plowed up. Hay from peanuts plowed up just before October rain is a total loss, but later hay is food. Shelling plants are at Carbon and Gorman, and a new plant is under construction at Cisco.

Ellis County farmers, who estimate crop losses of half a million dollars to cows, have organized to cut them down to size. Heavy losses occurred during past two weeks to grain sorghum, sown wheat, pecans, etc.

If we have price ceilings on watermelons next year, they'll be lower than this year. OPA announces ceiling of $40 a ton through June 4, and scaling downward through the season.

Sugar note: Production in the Dominican Republic will be high year, but Philippine output is slow getting started, and sugar movement in Java is being prevented by the civil strife there. Sugar rationing here will continue through 1946.

Albert Goss of the National Grange says rolling back prices to less than cost means bankruptcy for agriculture. He says some economists want to let the surplus war production continue and pile up until prices are reduced below ceiling.

SIDELIGHTS FROM WASHINGTON

By GEORGE MAHON

According to the weather bureau, the sun will rise in Washington on November 15 at 6:51 a. m. and set at 4:54 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

War-time was never the misfit in Washington that it was in West Texas, the reason being that West Texas is on the very western edge of the central time zone. Except for the convenience of having all Texas in the same zone, much of West Texas would perhaps be better served if it were in the western zone. In fact, much of West Texas was in the western time zone prior to March 4, 1921, when an act of Congress placed all Texas in the same zone. The central standard time zone extends cross-country from Knoxville, Tenn., to El Paso, a distance of 1633 miles.

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington has authority to change the time zone boundaries in all states except three—Texas, Oklahoma and Idaho. In these three states, specific acts of Congress fix the time zone boundaries.

On December 29 Texas will again get national recognition on a postage stamp. It will be a three-cent stamp, commemorating the 100 years of statehood since our entry into

The Union in 1945. The design will soon be officially selected and announced.

This is a fast moving world, and most people do not take time to give attention to the designs, colors and printing on postage stamps—the usual thing being that a stamp is a stamp, not a thing of beauty, an object of curiosity, or a thumb-nail story or lesson. I have become somewhat interested in stamps because occasionally a young stamp collector from our district writes me and asks me to send him any unusual stamps that show up on my incoming mail.

Occasionally someone will address a letter to me, using a new stamp on the first day of its issue, which is cancelled across the face: "First Day Cover." When Jim Farley was postmaster general, he would frequently write a "First Day Cover" letter to Members of Congress as a gesture of good will. One of his jobs was making and keeping friends in Congress.

Since January, 1940, there have been issued 84 varieties of stamps. 27 of them in the three cents classification. Among the most interesting stamps issued in recent years from an educational standpoint was the series of 35 stamps issued in 1940, memorializing outstanding Americans in the different arts and

Dolls Have World Of Own at Exhibit

By JEAN MEEGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK — Doll collectors are staging the largest show of its kind in the world under the auspices of the American Hobby Federation on 14th Street. There are 10,000 entries. Beautiful, fragile dolls from Germany, Okinawa, and Guam, which somehow survived the aerial bombardments, are on display under glass through the good wishes of soldier sons, brothers, husbands, and sweethearts of collectors.

Unlike stamp or coin collectors, doll addicts some times make their own items. Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson of West Springfield, Mass., are exhibiting a pageant of pirates, soldiers, African savages, and American Indians made out of lobster shells. There is a case full of dehydrated apple dolls fashioned by Mr. and Mrs. James Gripp of New York.

There are examples of the first doll patented in America and there are French dressmaker dolls of the last century all gussied and sored, hooped and dooped to show off the latest in 19th century Paris gowns. There are images of Lily Pons, Gen. DeGaulle, George Washington, Mary Lincoln, and an 1891 leather tea cozy that's the image, accidentally, of Winston Churchill.

The most interesting item of all is a naked white porcelain baby doll which even has the experts stumped. The addicts can't place it historically or nationally; all they know is one slip and the cry will be: "I tell you my doll is dead."

Mrs. John Smith of Big Spring spent the week end here visiting her sister, Mrs. Roma Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kennedy returned from Dallas after a lengthy visit with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ameral Payne.

Latest News From COUNTY AGENT

County Agricultural Agent
T. A. BARFIELD
WHY FARMERS ARE BUYING BONDS

The last organized bond-selling drive is now in progress and extends through December the eighth. It is the Victory Loan.

And one aim of it is to make certain that agriculture avoids the mistakes it made after World War One. You remember... a great many farmers lost their war-time savings in land speculation and unnecessary buying.

The Treasury Department has been interested in finding out what purposes some farm families have invested heavily in bonds. Interviewers have found that these farm and ranch families still are willing to eat-mark new bonds for major improvements such as a new home or a complete soil conservation program. Others are saving money to buy additional farm land when prices go down.

Other farmers are buying bonds for retirement annuities in their old age. Seventy-five dollars a month invested now means one hundred-dollar-a-month annuity ten years from now. Younger couples on farms and ranches are buying bonds to help finance the education of their children.

More and more families are buying bonds as an investment. They prefer the Series E Bond which is paying more interest than any other government security available. The interest on Series E Bonds is 2.9 per cent per year, compounded semi-annually if the bond is held until maturity in 10 years.

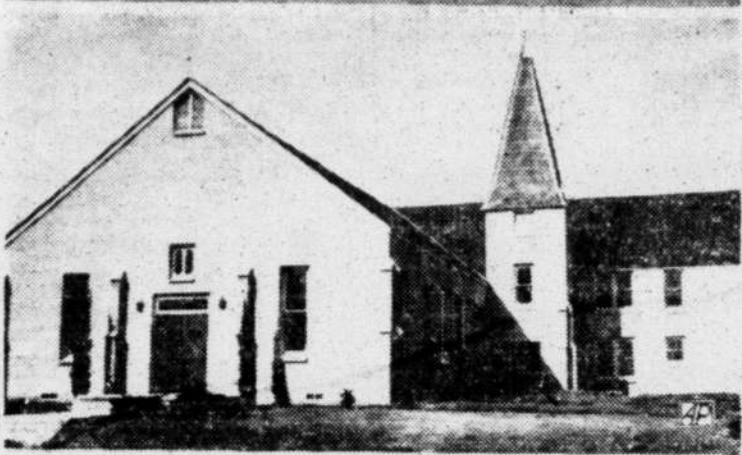

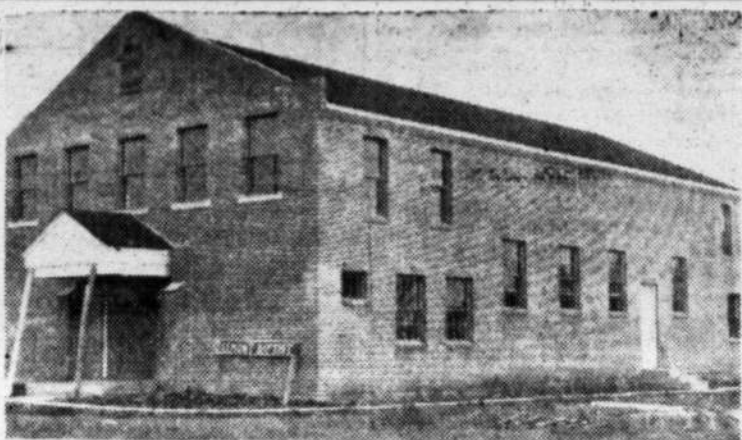

Now some advice from the County Agent, T. A. Barfield. He says the E, F, and G bonds are excellent reserves to protect a family against the hazards of farming and ranching. These bonds have what is called a "fixed redemption value." Their cash value won't decrease in the years ahead. What's more, bond buying on a big scale these next few weeks will do a lot to ward inflation, Barfield says.

ON WIRING AND RE-WIRING

If you're planning to buy new electric equipment or appliances for the home or farm in the next few months, you'd better give a thought to your wiring.

A good many farms and homes already using electricity aren't properly wired for increased equipment, in the opinion of T. A. Barfield, County Agent. More appliances will over-load light wiring. This is dangerous and further it's poor economy.

Installing small wires to serve heavy-duty equipment is like laying quarter-inch mains for a farm water system. They won't carry the load. And suppose your wires for a motor are too small. The motor won't be able to reach its rated horsepower and it'll cost more to operate.

CONGREGATION-BUILT CHURCHES — Because of the material shortages, new churches in Texas were a rarity during the war, but a few congregations, led by their pastors, solved the problem by donating overalls and doing much of the construction work themselves. Such was the case of the Tremont Baptist Church, Dallas (top), and the Grace Methodist Church, Fort Worth (below).

If you're wiring the place for the first time or if you're "reconverting" for more equipment, there's still another item to be considered. And that's the number of circuits you need. Make sure you have plenty of outlets so you can have both light and power wherever you need them. A wiring system like that is worth the money when you want to plug in a pair of electric clippers in the barn or use a motor around a granary.

And don't forget to have plenty of outlets in the house, too. They're both necessary and convenient.

Good wiring will cost you a few dollars to begin with. But, Barfield says, day in and day out it will give you full value from your electric power and save you money. If correctly installed, it will be safe and dependable.

Step right up, amigos...Have a Coca-Cola

...Yank friendliness comes back to Leyte

Naturally Filipinos thrilled when their Yankee comrades came back to the Philippines. For along with freedom they brought back all the friendliness that America stands for. You find it quickly expressed in the simple phrase Have a Coke. There's no easier way to say Relax and be yourself. Everywhere the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola has become a symbol of how Yankee friendliness follows the flag around the globe.

Area Leaders Make Plans for Chemurgic Meet

Dawson County business leaders have been invited to attend the Regional Chemurgic Clinic in Wichita Falls on December 5 and 6 through the local chamber of commerce. Specifically selected subjects have been selected especially for West Texans.

Keynote address will be made by Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News. "Science has made great strides during the war. We believe that out of this meeting our West Texas leaders may find new commercial and industrial possibilities through a greater utilization of grain sorghums, mesquite, West Texas clays and other natural resources or farm crops which are especially adapted to our territory," said R. W. Knight, manager of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce.

Other topflight speakers scheduled for the two-day program include D. A. Bander, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; R. E. Karper of the Lubbock Agricultural Experiment station, who will discuss "Grain Sorghum;" F. K. Pence of the University of Texas, "Ceramics, Raw Materials and Products;" Dean R. C. Goodwin of Texas Technological College; E. D. Marshall of the Texas Forest Laboratories, Lufkin, "Utilization of Mesquite;" and Dr. E. H. Johnson of the University of Texas faculty, "By Products of Natural Gas."

Armistice Day Observed Here With American Legion Sponsored Barbecue

A hilarious time was had by all who attended the barbecue which was sponsored by the Lamesa Auxiliary of the American Legion Monday, November 12 at five p. m. in the City Park celebrating Armistice Day.

The party really got underway when "chow call" was sounded by Dale McElroy on his trumpet. The most popular person attending was, of course, Eugene Barrett, mess sergeant for the auxiliary, who, after completion of his famous barbecue, was recommended for the Distinguished Service Medal.

Needless to mention that the most unpopular attendant were L. E. Eager and Dan Blackman representatives of the Local Draft Board. It has been mentioned to this reporter that Ed DuBose, F. M. Stovall and Vernon Adcock were seen trying to make the "drafters" consume K-rations.

Assisting Mr. Barrett with the dinner, was Mrs. Jeff Smith, President of the Ladies Auxiliary, who was chairman of the "covered dish" committee. The Ladies Auxiliary is launching a drive for the wives of World War II veterans and all those interested should see Mrs. Smith.

The food presented by the mess sergeant and his assistants evidently hit the spot, because Ed DuBose and Vernon Adcock were caught going through the line at least three times, however, no one has a definite check on just how many refills they did have.

The business meeting was called at 7:30 by Commander G. K. McDonald, and a large number of visitors were present to hear him administer the oath to 32 new members, following which a short address was presented by Judge Louis Reed on the Present Meaning of Armistice Day. Rev. Cal C. Wright, Post Chaplain, offered the closing prayer.

Richard Young and the High School Band furnished music throughout the evening and "a public expression of thanks is offered them," said Ed DuBose and F. M. Stovall.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held the second Monday night in December with plans for a new legion hall to be discussed. All members are urged to attend this important meeting.

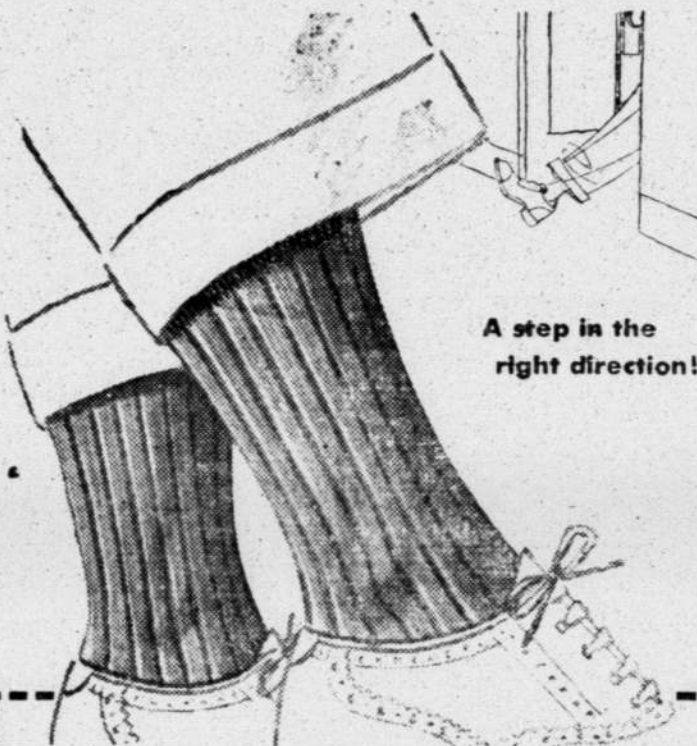

The 32 new members who received the oath were Leon H. Warden, W. Franklin Patrick, Herbert C. Terry, Harvey G. Haggerton, Gus S. Junis, Edward C. Dement, James V. Chapman, John Rogers Porter, Jr., M. L.

Wm. Kirk McKinnon, Dolphus Kowiton, Leon Nolan, Tony P. Ybarra, Ernest Barrett, Lex L. Brock, Calvin Richmond, James M. Faulkenberry, James O. Bradley, James M. Wasell, William E. Barrett, Allen G. Barnard, Andrew J. Moore, Jr., Rupert D. Austin, I. V. Middleton, Guy V. Cope, John Scoggin, Bill Harrington, Jim Foster, J. Stansell Clement, G. C. Clift, Jr., Michael T. Garvin, Bill Weaver, Vernon D. Adcock, Hubert Lee Simmons, and Sammie E. Ansley.

The Auxiliary has extended a cordial invitation to all Dawson County Wacs, Waves, Spars and Women Marines to join.

Approximately 600 service men, ex-service men and their families attended.

Animal Hospital Now Located on South Seventh

Dr. A. M. Simpson, Lamesa veterinarian, has changed the name of his hospital to "Animal Hospital." It is located a half block east of the highway on South Seventh Street.

In Lamesa since February, Dr. Simpson is a native of West Texas. His parents live 18 miles north-east of Big Spring. He came here direct from Texas A&M College where he took his degree February 2.

The Animal Hospital telephone number has also been changed to 379. Dr. Simpson's night telephone number remains the same—322M.

The veterinarian has kennels to take care of small animals (dogs and cats). He asks that owners bring small animals to the hospital for treatment. He has board-

First Aid Treatment For Old Goats

COLLEGE STATION—"If there's wear in an old coat yet, this is a year to give it first aid or beauty treatment, for the clothing shortage is not over," says Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Mrs. Barnes offers numerous suggestions. A small hole or tear may be mended with ravel yarns from a straight inside seam; linings worn only at the neck, sleeves, or hem might be repaired with a matching or harmonizing fabric; shields or lining cloth tacked in at worn underarms do double duty. An entire new lining for a coat can be made using the ripped-out pieces of the old lining as a pattern.

"A worn buttonhole can be renewed by machine stitching around it close to the edge and then reworking it," declares Mrs. Barnes, "and the worn edge problem can sometimes be solved by cutting down collar and cuffs to smaller shape or by making entirely new ones. Suitable restyling of sleeves or new shoulder pads often helps the looks of an old coat."

For the final finished look to a repaired coat, steam press it by covering the wool with a dry wool cloth, then a dampened cotton cloth. Next, set the iron down, and lift it with just enough force to drive the steam through the wool. After pressing, lift the cloth and beat the fabric by hand to drive out the steam.

At the end of World War II, American refineries were making more than 500,000 barrels of aviation gasoline a day, or about 85 per cent of the world's production.

Due to increased air traffic the United States Department of Agriculture has a fierce fight on its hands with regard to dangerous pests, which arrive in ships and planes from abroad.

Mrs. Ogletree Review Book For Rotarians

Friday's Rotary Club luncheon was highlighted with a book review presented by Mrs. D. W. Ogletree, one of the outstanding reviewers in this area. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Matt McCall, chamber of commerce manager.

Mrs. Ogletree chose for her review "This Man Truman" by Frank McNoughton and Walter Heh-meyer. The book describes the life and activities of Pres. Harry S. Truman, and Mrs. Ogletree's review was termed by Rotarians as a feature program for the year.

The speaker, who was connected with Lamesa schools for a number of years, is now a postal employee here. She is active in civic, church and community work, and is now serving as president of Lamesa's Delphian Club.

Visitors for the Friday luncheon in addition to the guest speaker included Monty Montgomery, James Wassel, Wayne Boothe, Guy Orr and Rotarian M. S. Doss of Seminole.

week she is a student at South-western Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth where she is preparing for a career of religious work among the deaf.

A master of the sign language she learned from deaf parents, Miss Osborne began interpreting religious services at the age of 14 in Nashville, Tenn. It was there that she realized the opportunity for service and dedicated her life to it.

"My experience convinces me that a group of deaf persons must have a hearing person as a leader," she says. She considers interpreting the sermon of a pastor at a regular service far superior to separate congregations for the deaf when the sermon would be confined to the sign language.

The deaf in the First Baptist Church here have their own organization for everything except the preaching service. At it, they sit together with Miss Osborne standing to the side of the pulpit and interpreting with lightning-like gestures of her hands.

Miss Osborne came to Memphis to interpret services during a two-week revival. Her audience grew to 53 persons and it was then that the church decided the work must be continued. The weekly round-trip by air from Fort Worth to Memphis, 440 miles each way, was arranged so she could continue her religious training.

Dr. Caudill is studying the sign language under Miss Osborne's teaching. He has mastered the alphabet and many of the signs for words—signs which permit communication as rapidly as by voice. He plans to converse freely with his "silent friends" before many months have passed.

Feed Buying Tops November Business for Ray Ayers & Son

METHODIST MINISTER WHO RESIGNED — Rev. J. H. Hamblen (above), 40 years a pastor in the Methodist Church, who, critical of what he termed "modernism" in the Methodist Church, tendered his resignation and was granted withdrawal by the North-west Texas Annual Conference at Abilene, Texas, Nov. 8. American nationals own about 57.7 per cent of the world's present proved crude-oil reserves, estimated at almost 64 billion barrels.

In 1918, the military forces of the allies consumed about 39,000 barrels of gasoline a day. In World War II, the total was 800,000 a day.

Ten years ago the pumping of a molten metal was generally considered impossible, but molten magnesium is now being pumped in melt-shops and foundries.

FALL SEASON FEATURES GRAIN—Ray C. Ayers & Son is a busy place all the year round, but grain buying keeps the place humming along about this time of year. Shown in the above picture is the grain-feed-seed hatchery, together with the grain elevator on the right.

Topflight business this time of year for Ray C. Ayers & Son, local hatchery and retail feed store, is buying sorghum grains. The firm, located at 102 North First Street, buys and ships grain by the carload.

T. C. Kimes manages the local business, which has been in operation for a year and is a branch of the Ray C. Ayers company at Slaton. The Slaton headquarters, a pioneer West Texas firm, is operated by Ray C. Ayers Sr., who has been in the feed and grain business for 20 years.

B. H. Barnett, part-owner of Ayers here, handles the seed and grain buying for the Lamesa feed store. Barnett is a pioneer in the Lamesa grain buying field.

Conferring with Santa Fe Railway officials last week, Barnett was successful in securing from them assurance of some 200 boxcars needed in moving the Dawson County grain. He spent several hours with the Santa Fe men showing them that most storage space in Lamesa is filled to capacity with grain.

As to new, moving of grain by rail has been slow, but the railway men were sure of the intense need for boxcars in this area. If needed another train schedule will be added to ship feed out of Dawson County to markets, the field men told Barnett.

Facilities of the Lamesa Ayers elevator are complete, offering fast and efficient unloading service. Truckloads of grain are dumped mechanically. The elevator is conveniently located to the public scale where most grain produced in this area is weighed.

The Ayers elevator is equipped not only to unload grain, but it also houses a cleaning process for seeds. This gives farmers additional market for better seeds.

At the Ayers feed manufacturing plant in Slaton, poultry and stock feeds are made and shipped to a wide area in Texas. A modern ad-

The local firm operates a large hatchery, supplying chicks to individuals in the territory as well as other feed stores.

The Lamesa store's stock of poultry supplies is the largest in this section. It includes complete broiler plants, all types of chick brooders and popular lines of poultry remedies.

G.I. College Wrinkle

By ROWLAND EVANS, Jr.
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON — There's a peculiar wrinkle in the GI Bill of Rights of which a smart veteran might want to take advantage.

As the law is now written, a high school graduate veteran who can lay claim to the full amount of free education can get through four years of college and to within one year or less of a law degree, all within the allowed time limit.

Here's why and how:
Four years is the maximum time any veteran may get free schooling under the GI Bill.

Four years is four years... or is it? A school year is only eight or nine months. A calendar year is 12. But the four years allowed under the law are calendar years.

Now then — for each "ordinary school year" the government will pay up to $500 for tuition and other essential fees. That raises the question: How long is an "ordinary school year?"

Veterans administration has decreed that an ordinary school year is from 30 to 38 weeks.

Before the war few colleges or universities allowed students to complete more than one school year in one calendar year.

But wartime lack of doctors, engineers and other specialists forced many schools to give year-around training.

Some schools which tried the heavy duty curriculum may retain it.

So, instead of using up his four allowance calendar years, the veteran can zoom through a four-year course in about two and a half years into that time. That leaves him a year and a half to get a start, and almost a finish, on a post graduate course. Of course he won't get any vacations to speak of.

Another item, interesting to school-bound vets is the fact that credit for at least one semester's work will go to the average ex-GI.

After the last war American educators endorsed a program which gave a certain amount of blanket credit to all veterans. In many cases too much credit was given, and 42 per cent of all veterans who went back to duty with the books were forced to quit. They had been allowed to get in over their heads.

This time, in spite of the liberality most schools will extend to ex-servicemen, credit for things learned while in the service will not be granted haphazardly.

The Army ANSWERS Your Personal War Problems

Your questions on allotments, insurance, legal problems or other matters as they relate to Army personnel and their dependants will be answered in this column or by letter. Write Headquarters, Eighth Service Command, Dallas 2, Texas.

Q. I now receive a pension, as my husband was a World War I veteran. I have two minor children. In case I re-marry, would I still receive part of the pension for my children? If so, how much?

A. You would still receive part of the pension for the children—a total of $38 per month if your husband's death was because of injury or disability due to Army service, or a total of $27 per month if his death was due to other than Army service.

Q. To be eligible for discharge from the Army of Occupation in Germany, does a soldier have to stay there until he gets the required points? How do these soldiers get points?

A. Soldiers are released from occupation duty in one of two ways. When they become eligible for discharge, they are sent home and separated from the service. They are returned for duty in the United States as the size of the Army of Occupation decreases and as it becomes possible to replace them with lower-point men or by those now enlisting or being inducted into the service. Points have not been given for service since September, but from time to time the Army has reduced the number of points necessary to make a soldier eligible for discharge.

Q. Is there any way for a farmer to be discharged?

A. Soldiers are not separated from the service merely because they are farmers. However, a discharge can be given based upon the soldier's importance as a civilian to national health, safety or interest, each case being decided on its own merits.

However, the Japs allowed the prisoners to have the peels from their potatoes, he grinned, and at first they had a little dried fish to supplement the diet. When the fishing boats were pinned in by Allied vessels, that stopped.

Colonel Bennett suffered only one of those extremely brutal beatings so often administered by the insufferable Japs—that was for failing to call a group of men to proper salute since he was the senior officer present. "I say salute, but actually we were required to bow to those insufferable Japs!"

Grapevine news from the steel mills told the American prisoners that the war was over. They were told about a week after the August 14 end of the war that the "Emperor had decided to stop the war."

Then for 30 days before their release September 15, B-29's dropped packages to the prisoners.

Colonel Bennett was flown back to San Francisco, reaching there October 7. For the rest of November he is on sick leave, and he will report to San Antonio on December 1.

Capt. T. McMahan To Arrive Soon

Mrs. J. A. McMahan received a letter from her son, Captain Twain McMahan, stating that he would leave Korea November 3, to sail for the United States.

claim that the gridiron gatherings here are always very small.

Odessa is said to be troubled too on account of the fact that Broncho teams almost always are far superior to Lamesa's eleven and beat them by top-heavy scores. So it would seem that Broncho followers are nearly as anxious for the Lamesans to win one of these tussles as local fandom is.

Lamesa rates little chance of upsetting the powerful Odessans however. The figurative explosions that would reverberate round the world from such an upset would put the atomic bomb in the peashooter class. However, Lamesa is expected to do much better against Odessa than against Abilene. The Tornados had ill luck or they might have beaten Sweetwater, a team that held Odessa to a narrow one-point triumph. The local lads undoubtedly played their worst game of the year against Abilene, and the Eagles conversely looked

AAA to Select Committeemen in December 4 Poll

Community Committeemen for the 12 Agricultural Adjustment Agency Communities in Dawson County will be elected Saturday, December 8, C. E. Tarter, secretary of the county agricultural conservation association, has announced.

The procedure has been changed, so that a nominating committee in each community will nominate members for that committee and producers are furnished ballot with their names, the ACA secretary pointed out.

Farm operators, landlords, tenants or "sharecroppers" may vote for one of the persons whose name appears on the ballot, or may "scrach" them all and write in any farmer of their choice, Tarter said. Polls will be open throughout the day. Nominees and location of voting boxes will be announced after committees meet.

Bizzell and Angus Roberts at guards, John Hurley at center.

Lamesa's band, winner of first place in a contest at Canyon recently, will entertain at half-time unless the weather is bad, director Richard Young announced.

Jack Stinnett Says...

WASHINGTON — The mushrooming of new veterans' organizations or the expansion of old ones to capture members among the veterans of World War II is hardly news these days. But one new veterans' group can stand an introduction because it is certain to be in the thick of several fights that will determine the future defense policies of the United States. It is the newly organized Reserve Officers of the Naval Services.

RONs, as its organizers refer to it, already has established headquarters here in the morning shadows of the White House at 1726 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Interim president is Capt. George S. Piper. Until he returned recently to civilian life, he was aide to former Under Secretary of the Navy Ralph Bard. One of the four vice presidents is Lt. Comdr. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Secretary is Lt. Comdr. Harry Byrd, Jr., son of the Virginia senator; and among executive committee and advisory council members are such names as Commodore James K. Vardaman, naval aid to President Truman; Capt. Gene Markey, Hollywood writer; Cmdr. Eugene Carusi and Col. James J. Keating of the Marine Corps.

Organizational work in all states is now under way, according to Executive Director Lt. Comdr. B. J. Darnille. RONs' goal is to become spokesmen for the 300,000 reserve officers of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines. RONs officials here emphasize that the new group is entirely independent of the Navy Department, but Capt. Piper "points with pride" to a best wishes letter from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, himself a Naval Reserve officer from World War I.

The organizers and interim officials point out that their policies will be determined later by the membership itself, but they list some interesting basic objectives.

First, to stimulate through a politically independent national organization a continuing interest in the naval services and provide a medium through which made known.

Second to consider and take positive action eventually on (1) the proposed merger of the armed services; (2) universal military service; (3) the organization and administration of a permanent reserve personnel; and (4) the encouragement of scientific research and development.

This is interesting, because heretofore the Navy has done most of its public speaking through active or retired regular Navy officials or through established veterans groups which are of course numerically overwhelming Army organizations. There appears to be a pretty good chance that RONs can build itself into something more than just "another Washington lobby."

Lamesa Navyman Is Member of Destroyer Crew

Ruston Irvin Peterson, electrician's mate third class, helped other members of the crew of the USS Flusser run up a war record for that destroyer which extended from the war's beginning at Pearl Harbor to the very last day of the Japanese surrender. Peterson, whose home is on Star Route 2, Lamesa, has been discharged from the navy and is back in Dawson County.

Navy records have disclosed that the Flusser, serving in the early stages of the war in the tough campaigns around New Guinea, the Solomons, New Britain and the Admiralties, carried on to take part in the Philippines and Balikpapan (Borneo) operations.

The destroyer participated in eight landings, including Leyte, Lingayen, Ormoc and Balikpapan. During the Ormoc operation, she and other naval forces were subjected to a nine-hour attack by Japanese suicide planes.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe M. Harrington were in Snyder for the weekend to visit with Mrs. Harrington's mother, Mrs. T. H. Crowder.

Canning Sugar Must Be Bought Now on Coupons

Home canning sugar coupons will expire on November 30, Chief Clerk Clay Randolph of the OPA rationing office has reminded. The coupons, good for five pounds of sugar, will not be accepted by grocers until after that date.

Although the coupons were issued as early as August, Randolph said that a number of them have not been turned in for canning sugar. He urged that housewives get their sugar immediately.

For benefit of retailers of sugar Randolph reminded that if they do not have a ration bank account, these coupons must be given to the suppliers on or before December 31.

Sergeant Major and Mrs. Robert Ragan, Jr., arrived here Monday for a visit with his mother.

Texas School Students Invited to Make Periodical Visits to Capital

Schools of Texas have been invited to resume their pre-war programs of visits to Austin, the Texas state capital. Cooperating in the invitation are the Austin Chamber of Commerce, the University of Texas and the Texas Interscholastic League.

Raymond Brooks of the Austin American-Statesman used the invitation as a subject for his "Texas Topics," sent to the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce. He points to the visits as a means of giving hundreds of high school seniors direct contact with state government, the university and the capital city's wealth of historic interest.

Brooks outlined the plan of schools' each year sending their senior classes and sometimes other student groups for a personal tour of the capitol, the campus and the state's historical shrines.

Other parts of "Texas Topics" follow:

The coming Centennial of Statehood observance, reaching its culmination in Austin early in the year, will emphasize anew this opportunity to give high school students a preview of their state government and the university.

Austin Chamber of Commerce is inviting the schools to plan these trips, again for the present school year and in future. It makes special provision and numerous of its members give time and attention to greeting and welcoming the student visitors, and assisting them in a well rounded organized get-acquainted contact with the city, the university and the state government.

Pres. A. G. Adams, Jr. of the chamber of commerce has announced that it is hoped the pre-war volume of these student and class visits will be reached immediately and much exceeded in the near future. As a preview of what the students have in store is available in a motion picture, made by the chamber of commerce, which can be secured by the school superintendent or principal from the visual education bureau of the University of Texas.

Dr. James C. Dolley, vice president of the University of Texas, in joining the invitation, said:

"In the pre-war years many schools of the state regularly sent groups of students, especially seniors, to Austin for a brief visit. This practice gave hundreds of our public school students a first-hand acquaintance with the Capital City and with the campus of the University of Texas.

"With the ending of the war, we at the university are greatly interested in having this practice resumed and expanded. As residents of Austin, we can assure the public school administrators of a sincere welcome to the capital of the state.

"As members of the university faculty we extend to the schools of the state a cordial invitation to visit the campus of the largest and, we believe, of the best state university in the south. We were happy to have you with us before the war, and we will be more than pleased to have you with us again. We look forward with real interest to another opportunity to show you around Austin and especially around the university."

Emphatic commendation of the plan was given by the Interscholastic league, in this statement by Roy Bedichek, director:

"Visiting the capital of the state, under proper guidance and as a part of a well-organized itinerary, should, in our opinion, be a part of the extra-curricular offerings of every high school in the state for senior classes.

"The seat of the state government and the scene of so much Texas history should be made a part of the personal experience of just as many junior citizens of Texas as possible. "To those fortunate enough to make the pilgrimage, we extend a hearty welcome."

Mr. and Mrs. Hank Olsen and Mrs. Andy Selleck of Long Beach, Calif., visited their sister, Mrs. W. L. Baker, 409 North Seventh Street, and aunt, Mrs. W. M. Edwards, the past week.

LeRoy Clower, 'Iron Lung' Patient Celebrates 3rd Wedding Anniversary, 25th Birthday In Veterans Hospital

Amid hosts of friends and well-wishers, LeRoy A. Clower, his body encased in an iron lung, celebrated his third wedding anniversary and 25th birthday with a party staged in his room at the Veterans Hospital in Muskogee, Oklahoma, recently. With him, besides his wife, were his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Clower, who reside in this city.

"LeRoy's birthday is just two days after our wedding anniversary date, and we celebrate them together," Mrs. Clower said. It was easy to see that LeRoy was enjoying the occasion. To the left of his iron lung and in the line of his vision was a serving table, upon which rested a gorgeous three-tiered wedding cake. Close by were many gifts, presents of friends. Among these was a beautiful, flexible gold wrist watch band—"Something I have wanted a long time," Clower said.

Letter From General Bradley
The present that seemed to give him the greatest joy was a box of matches, the kind which are in little paper folders, each folder, bearing in gold letters, his name, "LeRoy Clower." He invited every visitor who came to his room to take one of the folders of matches. Members of the facility medical staff, some attendants and nurses along with Clower, his wife and parents enjoyed the party. Mrs. Clower exhibited a letter which she had received from Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans affairs, in which he had expressed warmest personal interest in her husband and his wish for Clower's speedy recovery.

Thanks To Attendants
"It was indeed kind of the general to remember my husband," Mrs. Clower said. "He, and everybody connected with the Veterans administration here have been so kind that it is just impossible to express our thanks as we would like to," she continued. Clower, his eyes shining, mentioned that various organizations in Muskogee had sent representatives with little gifts and flowers, and that their visits had certainly helped him to stay cheerful.

"The men who have stayed by my side day and night, looking after my every want and making sure that the iron lung is functioning perfectly at all times, are entitled to my heartfelt thanks," he said. He was speaking of the white-clad attendants, one of whom is on duty at his bedside at all times.

Clower, a victim of infantile paralysis, was flown to Muskogee from Lubbock, September 14, and it was necessary to return the iron lung which he was then using to Lubbock. The veterans administrator, General Bradley, hearing of the case, dispatched the C-47 plane which had been used by him in Europe while he was commanding the 12th Army group, to Muskogee with another iron lung for Clower's use. The iron lung, although in operation constantly since its arrival here September 17, has functioned perfectly, and Clower has remained quite comfortable in it.

Showing Improvement
Upon inquiry it was learned from

Lieut. Col. Clarence E. Bates, chief medical officer of the veterans facility, that Clower has improved physically, since his arrival at the Veterans Hospital. "He has gained weight and his spirits have been exceedingly high. Upon arrival, he was completely paralyzed but now is able to show some signs of motion in the hands and feet, and can turn his head. Up to the present, he has shown no signs of functioning of the diaphragm and is therefore not capable of voluntary breathing. The constant use of the iron lung is, therefore, a necessity, but we should not be pessimistic about this, as it is not unusual for cases of this kind to require application of the iron lung for much longer periods before improvement is shown," Colonel Bates said.

Push-Button Peace From War Science?

By PAUL B. MASON
AP Newsfeature

DAYTON, Ohio—Your home and mine may someday benefit from gadgets currently under development at Wright Field, the AAF's huge testing laboratory and procurement center here.

Two of the Air Technical Service Command's leading authorities on electricity, Lt. Col. Wilbur T. Harding and Lt. Col. G. C. Crom, put it this way:

"Plans for a push-button war can be applied, in part, at least to a 'push-button peace'—widening not only electricity's usefulness but easing Man's way of life."

Harding and Crom are, respectively, chief and assistant chief of the electrical branch of the ATSC's equipment laboratory.

Complaining that "our industrial designers are too conventional," Crom recalled that two and a half years ago "we couldn't get one of them interested in building us 400-cycle lightweight motors for aircraft. They said it couldn't be done; that even if it could, what market would there be for them?"

So Crom and his assistants set about the task—and produced one which, small enough to hold in the palm of the hand, could operate your garage doors.

Improvement of direct current equipment for airplane use has enabled the AAF to pack upwards of 1,200 per cent more power into each generator installed since 1941, Col. Harding said.

And there may be civilian use, some day, for such an item as a complete recreational kit, including dumbbells, boxing gloves, a badminton set and a bar which was flown to Alaska a year or so ago, to help "ground-wacky" pilots overcome inactivity due to inclement weather.

Or an Army-developed electric refrigerating unit, which can make 40 pounds of ice cubes daily and store food for 100 men for four days, may have an edge upon civilian competition, because it can be shipped "knocked down"—in pieces.

Mrs. Homeyer, now of Ames, Iowa, was graduated from Snyder High School. She and her son went to Snyder with her brother, George Avery, Mrs. Avery and their children, Buddy and Ellen Jo, who were returning to their home in Hermlegh after a visit with the Averages here.

Betty Crocker

Betty Crocker apple crisp
Perfect results assured only with Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour
Place in greased 6" x 10" baking dish... 5 to 6 cups sliced pared or unpared apples (about 6 tart, firm apples)
Mix together with fork until crumbly and sprinkle over the apples... 1 cup sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour, 1/2 to 1 cup sugar (depending on tartness of apples and sweetness desired), 1 tsp. baking powder, 3/4 tsp. salt, 1 unbeaten egg
Pour over all... 1/2 cup melted and cooled shortening
Sprinkle with... 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
Bake 30 to 40 minutes in a moderate oven (350°). Serve warm... with cream or top milk. 8 generous servings.
Here's an amazing tribute to Gold Medal's dependability! Several thousand Home Economists... women who are food authorities... were asked what brand of all-purpose flour they preferred. More than half of all who replied stated they preferred Gold Medal... more than all other brands combined!

Easy on shortening...sugar!

Betty Crocker Apple Crisp is one of the easiest desserts to make... one of the tastiest to eat!

Baked sliced apples are covered with a spicy, crumbly mixture... a delicious, cinnamonony topping that men say is "tops".

Spring this delectable dessert on your family, and you'll be praised to the skies! You'll say: "Thanks, Betty Crocker!"

But—for Betty Crocker results—be sure to use Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour. From wheat to sack, it's tested time and again (including a test by our General Mills Betty Crocker Staff under "home" conditions).

Get a sack today. Use it in all your baking. With the Betty Crocker recipes in every sack, Gold Medal is your simplest, easiest, surest way to baking success.

General Mills

"Betty Crocker" and "Kitchen-tested" are the trade marks of General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.

Better Cakes in less than 1/2 the mixing time!

Try the marvelous New Betty Crocker Method with Gold Medal Flour. You don't cream shortening... you don't beat eggs! Use only one bowl! See recipe folder in sack for details. Folders also contain recipes for pies, rolls, cookies, tested by Betty Crocker Staff.

THESE HINTS HELP

1. Use a fork to mix the dry ingredients together with the unbeaten egg. Mix just until the mixture is crumbly. Do not try to mash the ingredients together into a doughy mass.

2. Do not peel apples—or you'll lose valuable vitamins and minerals found in or next to the skin. Red peels also add eye-appeal. Wash apples, of course.
