More Urgency Asked In Race With Russians

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council called tonight for a greater sense of urgency in the race with Russia for survival.

It said a special session of Congress should be convened if necessary to finance a speedup in military and research programs.

It said rivalry between the armed services should be ended if it is delaying the programs.

"The all-out effort of the Soviets to establish themselves as masters of the space around us must be met by all-out efforts of our own," said the Council in a statement approved by Adlai Stevenson, former President Harry S. Truman, and other leading Democrats.

The Advisory Council is a 24-member policy branch of the Democratic National Committee. Deputy Chairman Sam Brightman denied published reports that Stevenson, the party's presidential nominee in the last two campaigns, had refused to approve the statement.

The Council listed 17 members it said had approved the statement in a telephone poll, including Stevenson. It said the others could not be reached in time.

Declaring the United States has fallen behind Russia in developing the "weapons of tomorrow," the Democratic statement said:

"If our military and research programs are being held back because of lack of funds, a special session of Congress should be called requesting the necessary additional appropriations and, if required, the raising of the debt limit which is today artificially holding back the expenditure of money already approved.

"If the rivalry between the armed services is delaying our programs and causing unnecessary expense, as we believe it is, this rivalry should be put to an end and unified action taken within the Department of Defense."

The statement, a critique on President Eisenhower's two recent national security broadcasts, said the President's speeches contained "no suggestion for a program to win the battle for outer space despite its importance in the world of the future."

The statement, pledging Democratic support for any "sound action," said:

"The problems we face are the most momentous in our history. They are not merely military problems. It is a question of survival. The science of destruction has now reached a point where the actual survival of mankind be jeopardized in World War III."

Activity which stemmed from the so-called Scurry County Junior College bill in the state legislature last Monday should be evidence enough that keen interest continues here in the college proposal. This area's two legislators, Rep. Robert R. Patterson and Sen. David Ratliff received many telephone calls and telegrams concerning the bill from people representing virtually every segment of the community.

So people here apparently want a change to vote on the junior college proposal.

* * *

Incidentally, the bill would not have been necessary if the old law had made it possible for the state board to take current figures on scholastics into consideration in sanctioning the proposal. The county now has over 5,000 scholastics and can prove it. However, the law required the state board to consider only the figures in the official scholastic census for the previous year, and Scurry fell short of the 5,000 mark on that count.

Getting a special bill through the legislature during a special session is not necessarily an easy task. In the first place, a local bill cannot even be submitted in a special session unless it is routed via the governor. Since the governor always has specific legislation in mind when he calls a special session, local bills must wait, and of course the governor is under no obligation to approve any of them.

Fortunately, Gov. Price Daniel let in some local bills after the special session got its primary business pretty well taken care of. The rest of the college bill story is history, of course, but it demonstrates what can be accomplished through legislation when citizens let their representatives know what they want.

We were a bit tardy in making our wishes known this time. This probably can be attributed to the fact that most people thought it unlikely that the governor would send down any local bills during the special session.

* * *

Another local proposal, often discussed before, has moved closer toward development than ever before. Local forces finally have solidified their efforts toward improving Avenue S south of town (the Big Spring Highway) and they now have a definite proposal to submit to the State Highway Commission. A hearing before the commission has been requested in December.

Dulles Expected To Ask Stevenson's Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is expected to ask Adlai Stevenson Monday to join in working out an Allied political and military program designed to restore the crumbling confidence of North Atlantic Treaty countries in United States leadership.

The American - British crisis with France over Tunisia has redoubled the conviction of administration leaders that urgent measures are necessary to pull the alliance together.

This is in large part a question of restoring confidence in American leadership, a confidence badly shaken by Russia's surge forward in the missiles race and by fears of allies that the United States would not risk nuclear devastation to live up to its commitments to defend them against attack.

Only by restoring confidence, high officials here believe, can the United States win acceptance of its plans for setting up intermediate range missiles bases on allied territory extending from the North Atlantic into the North Pacific.

Similarly, restoration of confidence is considered necessary to win acceptance of plans for the kind of nuclear armaments program which Washington would like to carry through over the next two or three years. Allied forces would be trained in atomic warfare and promised access to nuclear weapons provided by the United States if war broke out.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee twice defeated by President Eisenhower, is due here tomorrow for a Monday meeting with Dulles. He has said that he could not undertake to make Eisenhower's NATO policies for him but he has offered to comment on the President's plans and to support them where he agrees. He may attend the NATO summit conference at Paris December 16-18 as a Democratic adviser to Eisenhower.

State Department officials express the hope that although Stevenson has refused to take the lead in policy-making, he is prepared to make detailed suggestions to Dulles. The latter was represented as ready to try to incorporate Stevenson's ideas. He and other administration leaders have been searching for proposals which would breathe new life into the alliance systems of almost 50 nations to which the United States belongs.

One reason Stevenson was called in, some informants say, is that Dulles after several weeks of of consultation and planning is still hard-pressed for top-flight ideas. Another reason obviously is that he hopes that Stevenson, through contacts with Democratic leaders in Congress, will be able to build strong bi-partisan support for proposals requiring congressional action. One of these will be a plan to share U. S. atomic weapons secrets with other nations, notably Britain.

Snow Hits Dalhart, More Is Predicted

By The Associated Press

Snow fell at Dalhart Saturday night.

The Weather Bureau predicted rain and possibly more snow in the northwestern Texas over the weekend.

The temperature never rose above 41 at Dalhart Saturday which was the low maximum. The high was 86 degrees at Kingsville, Alice and College Station.

Rainfall for the 24 hour period ending at 6:30 p.m. Saturday included .08 at Dalhart and a trace at Childress.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for extreme southwestern Kansas and snow began falling in eastern New Mexico during the afternoon.

The weather bureau forecast occasional rain for all sections of the state during the weekend. Rain and some snow was forecast for the northwest portion of the Panhandle early Sunday.

Heavy snow developed along the eastern slopes of the Rockies in northeastern New Mexico and southeastern Colorado during the day.

The only clear areas of Texas were in the eastern sections.

Earlier, a cold front that had been expected to produce freezing rain, sleet around Dec. 1 on the corner of 26th St. and Ave. S.

Missiles Tangle Foreign Aid Fight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Congress members are squaring away for a 1958 struggle over foreign aid—a fight likely to be complicated by the need to find more money for missiles.

Reports say President Eisenhower is preparing to ask Congress in January for about $4,200,000,000 to continue assistance to foreign nations.

Congress this year voted about 3½ billions for the program.

While many in Congress may want to cut such funds to balance rising missile spending, others say foreign aid is needed as much or more than ever.

Among the leaders in the fight to keep foreign aid going in high is Vice President Nixon. He has been suggesting in speeches that the forthcoming foreign aid request could be more important than the military fund increases Eisenhower will ask.

This view does not seem likely to be shared by his California colleague, Sen. Knowland, the Senate's Republican leader. Knowland has cautioned against deficit spending. He and others may look to foreign aid as the most likely place to counterbalance the increases that obviously are going to be made in military outlays.

The State Department's expected appointment of Asst. Secretary C. Douglas Dillon as coordinator for foreign aid seems likely to please Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, and others who have been urging such action for a long time.

On the other hand, any such action might be cited as indicating there could be elimination of some duplicating functions which would permit the International Cooperation Administration to get along with less money.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he hopes Congress will not be so fired up over the missile program as to lose sight of the value of foreign aid.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), another Foreign Relations committeeman, said the Russian missile and satellite accomplishments make it more obvious than ever that "we can't stand any gaps in the free world's armor."

Ike, McElroy Meet For Defense Talks

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy will meet here Tuesday to discuss just how big a defense spending hike is needed to meet the Russian space era threat.

The President's vacation headquarters said McElroy will be accompanied from Washington by the Pentagon's fiscal expert, Asst. Secretary of Defense Wilfred J. McNeil.

Before completing arrangements for that meeting and getting in a round of golf delayed by rain, Eisenhower talked by telephone with Secretary of State Dulles regarding French protests over Anglo-American arms shipments to Tunisia. Dulles was in Washington.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, declined to provide any detail on the Eisenhower-Dulles discussion. The token arms shipments stirred French wrath just a month in advance of a Paris NATO council meeting designed to strengthen the North Atlantic Alliance in the light of Soviet Union advances in development of missiles and other space age weapons. Eisenhower and the government heads of the 14 other NATO member nations plan to attend that meeting.

In Paris, an emergency session of the permanent council broke up without healing the breach. Delegates decided to hold another conciliation session next week.

Eisenhower was kept closely posted regarding efforts to smooth over the rift.

As for United States defense spending plans for the fiscal year starting next July 1, the President and McElroy will confer at the Augusta National Golf Club Tuesday against the background of Eisenhower's assertion that expenditures for weapons of the future must be increased by "a very considerable figure."

Nuclear Blasts To Be Studied By AF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—An Air Force "feasability study" of how nuclear explosions might be tested out in space sharpened interest today in the quest for something that can destroy a ballistic missile in flight.

Col. McPherson Morgan, head of a 16-man scientific team at Kirtland Air Force Base, N. M., said his unit was exploring the nature of nuclear blasts in airless space. It has been suggested that such blasts could destroy missiles in flight.

An announcement at Kirtland said scientists there are "well on the way" to answering that question. It added that "once the blind spots vanish, they will have achieved a major scientific breakthrough, the key to America's defense against an intercontinental ballistic missile."

This report was published soon after Secretary of Defense McElroy had disclosed that all anti-missile missile (AMM) programs are being coordinated into a single project under a single manager.

Air Force headquarters here looked into the situation. The explanation given was this:

1. Preparation of a news release at Kirtland Air Force Base on the activities of McPherson's group at the armed force special weapons center was made well before McElroy decided to integrate the now separate Air Force and Army AMM projects. So, it was explained, the release was not another manifestation of inter-service rivalry even after McElroy had signed the directive.

2. McPherson's group makes feasibility studies of how tests of various nuclear weapons could be conducted. The stuies are entirely theoretical, but are used in helping arrive at a final decision on techniques of testing weapons. Such paper studies must be subjected to laboratory and field tests before they can be applied to actual, full-scale trials of weapons.

DANIEL SAYS NO OTHER BILLS

Hearings Set Monday For Troop-School Proposals

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—Texas lawmakers took another Thursday to Monday weekend recess and said they hoped to wind up the second called session of the Legislature next week.

Hearings are scheduled Monday in the Senate and House on three versions of the troop-school bill which the session was called on to pass.

Gov. Price Daniel insisted again he would not submit any other topic, including a controversial farm and ranch water use plan. A filibuster against the bill that would close schools faced with state or federal troop control did not seem likely.

That raised hopes of Daniel and many lawmakers that the session's sole objective could be reached perhaps by Wednesday but most likely by Thursday or Friday. Then the legislators could go home.

While both the House and Senate held token sessions Thursday, they did nothing, having no business to transact. That in effect gave them a long weekend holiday characteristic of recent regular and special sessions.

The first special 30-day session, which finished all of its program with only eight minutes to spare, gave Daniel virtually everything that he asked for in water, lobby, influence and crime study legislation.

A source close to Daniel meanwhile indicated that he probably will not make an appointment to the Water Board until after the second special session ends. Facing him is a vacancy on this board and numerous others that may not be filled until the session ends. That would mean no Senate action on confirmation until the next session.

Daniel issued a statement praising William A. Harrison, whose nomination as insurance commissioner was rejected by the Senate this week. Harrison was appointed by the Insurance Board, which was appointed by Daniel and confirmed by the Senate.

Daniel said he regretted the Senate's action, which under the constitution was taken in secret and which under Senate rules the upper chamber is not required to explain.

The prospects were good that Daniel, in addition to his first session successes, would get affirmative action on the troop-school bill. He expressed satisfaction with the work done by the first session, and confidence at what the bob-tailed second session may accomplish.

Daniel said yesterday Texas can handle its own touchy integration problems in its own way, that state or federal troops are not needed, and that the legislation he proposes would underline that position.

No Trouble Getting Riders In First Manned Space Ship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—America's first manned space ship will be more crowded than a rush-hour bus if everyone who wants to climbs aboard.

Bids for the flight are trickling in from Maine to California despite official turndowns and forecasts that any space travel is still years away.

A Vanguard information officer reported today he's received some 30 offers from Americans to go space flying since the Soviets launched dog-carrying Sputnik II early this month.

Project Vanguard is the U. S. government's scientific program for shooting up some baby earth moons. The information officer figures a good chunk of the citizen mail on space matters gets routed to him, including the letters sent to President Eisenhower.

The volunteers are young and old and in varied walks of life. Some may have tongue-in-cheek, like the Arkansas writer who said he's specially qualified for the first manned satellite—"I've gone around in circles most of my life."

But others seem 100 per cent sincere. And a number obviously figure the first trip could well be just one way.

A Massachusetts man placed a million-dollar price tag on his offer to go orbiting. He said he wanted the money to put his sons through college and provide for his wife.

A 23-year-old Maine convict wrote that although he's due to get out of prison soon, the chances are he can't get ahead in society with a police record. "So therefore I want to volunteer myself for anything that will benefit the people in the future," he said.

An ex-con in Texas said he had no family, so: "I have nothing to lose but my life and what greater way can a man die, but to give his life for his country? Perhaps then and only then will I have truly atoned for my past mistakes."

A letter to "Dear Mr. President" in girlish hand from Akron, Ohio, said:

"There are two of us. One weighs 83 lb. and the other weighs 73. We will galdy (sic) take any chances there will be. Would you please send us your decision."

OIL ROUNDUP

Progress Reported In Voluntary Cuts

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Progress was reported this week in the government's program for voluntary cutbacks in foreign oil imports but one refiner said imports have become a grim matter of survival.

Capt. M. V. Carson Jr., administrator of the voluntary plan, said the challenge posed by the program has been met for the most part by the oil industry.

Carson told the 37th annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute in Chicago failure of the program would lead to mandatory controls. He said, however, that importers so far unwilling or unable to adhere strictly to the plan constitute a "small, lonely minority."

Meanwhile, in Dallas, Ted Stauffer, director of foreign operations for Sun Oil Co., said Eastern refiners have not been using foreign oil as a simple means of broadening profit margins.

Stafuffer said a fierce competitive situation forced Sun three years ago to abandon a general policy of acquiring its crude oil almost wholly from domestic producers.

Carson identified Sun, Eastern States Petroleum and Chemical Corp., and Tidewater Oil Co. as the three importers which as yet have not accepted the voluntary program.

Imports To Eastern Area Cheap

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Society of Exploratory Geophysicists, Stauffer said a progressive increase in the use of foreign crude resulted from the fact that imports can be delivered to Eastern refineries at a lower cost than domestic oil.

"The Eastern Seaboard refiner who did not resort in good part, at least, to the lower cost foreign oil found himself at a serious competitive disadvantage," he said.

Stauffer said Sun's 160,000 barrels a day refinery at Marcus Hook, Pa., could not have met this competition and survived without foreign oil.

Carson said the oil industry can have a strong measure of insurance against governmental controls only so long as the voluntary method is successful.

Carson said the degree of noncompliance varies widely among Sun, Eastern States, and Tidewater. He said reasons given range from contractural obligations to company policy to financial considerations.

He said the three companies in September exceeded their suggested allocations by 38,000 barrels a day. Current estimates, he said, indicate an excess of 46,000 for October, 34,000 in November, 46,000 in December, and 38,000 in January and February.

Stauffer said foreign oil accounted for only 9.9 per cent of total refinery runs at Marcus Hook in 1954, compared to 78 per cent for other Delaware Valley refiners and 64 per cent for the East Coast as a whole.

"Even today Marcus Hook runs of foreign crude are only 34.1 per cent of total runs compared with an average of 69.5 per cent for competitive Delaware Valley refiners," he said.

214 Oil Wells Completed In Week

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Railroad Commission today said 214 oil and 30 gas wells were brought in during the past week.

It upped the year's oil well completions to 13,715 as compared to 14,384 for the same period last year. Gas wells totaled 1,719 as compared to 1,575. There were 139 dry holes.

Seven oil wells were completed in unproven territory, four were in the West Central Texas District. Oil wildcats brought in for the year total 455 as compared to 511 last year while gas wells in unproven territory totaled 94 as compared to 115. There were 84 dry holes in inproven territory.

The commission said the total average calendar day oil allowable today showed a 7,382-barrel increase over last Saturday. Today's allowable totaled 3,054,948 barrels as compared to 3,047,566 a week ago.

A total 232 wells were plugged

New Discovery In Nolan County

A Mississippian chert discovery virtually has been assured in Nolan County and a third well indicated in a Strawn field.

Shelly Oil Co. No. 24-A Sears, in 179-1A-H&TC, Nolan County Mississippian chert prospect located five miles west of Maryneal North and Venamadre (Cisco) fields, flowed 30 barrels of oil in six hours on the latest test.

Flow was through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations between 7,195-99 feet. Tubing pressure was 225 pounds.

Operator has corrected top of the Ellenburger to 7,204 feet from 7,196 feet. Derrick floor elevation is 2,486 feet.

Third producer and a 2,100-foot southeast extension to the Group, West (Strawn) field of Nolan County virtually has been assured with the flowing of 50.2 barrels of 33 to 38 gravity oil, no water, in two hours on a drillstem test at Monterey Oil Co. of San Antonio No. 1-103 Emily A. Bridgford, in 103-1A-H&TC, nine miles northwest of Blackwell.

Tool was open three hours and 19 minutes. Gas surfaced in six minutes.

Cleaned to pits, the project then flowed two hours through a 2-inch choke, making 25 barrels of oil, four-tenths of 1 per cent mud, the first hour, and 25.2 barrels of oil, two-tenths of 1 per cent mud, the second hour. Packer failed when operator attempted to reverse out. Unloaded was 15 barrels of oil. Recovery was 1,600 feet of oil and 100 feet of mud-cut oil. Gas-oil ratio was 458-1.

Cut In Discount Rates Is Shot In Arm To Business

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Business got a potent shot in the arm this week. It came at a time when, many said, a hypo was badly needed.

With the blessing of Washington's top monetary authorities, four of the nation's Federal Reserve banks cut their discount rates from 3½ to 3 per cent. This is the interest they charge on loans to commercial banks. It was considered a safe bet that the eight other Reserve banks would take similar action.

The tonic effects were expected to spread through the economy, bringing warmth to spots pinched by tight credit or numbed by sluggish sales.

If things worked out as planned, banks, finance companies and insurance firms would soon have more money to lend to businessmen, home purchasers and instalment buyers. Eventually you should find it easier and cheaper to get a loan.

The Federal Reserve's action, announced late Thursday, was just what Wall Street had been waiting for. The stock market came to life with a bang. Based on a $4 climb in The Associated Press 60-stock average, Friday's rally boosted the total market value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange by nearly 5 billion dollars.

Merchants and manufacturers also had cause for optimism—not to mention executives of airlines, railroads and resort hotels and builders of boats and houses.

Theory behind the switch to easier money was this: when credit is easy to come by, people loosen up. They're more willing to go into hock for appliances, furniture, college expenses, vacation trips, homes and autos.

This gives business a lift. Sales spurt, production zooms, there are more people in more jobs at higher wages. Business prospects look wonderful. Symptoms of inflationary fever may pop up but nobody seems to care. Stock prices surge upward. A boom psychology takes over.

For the past two years, Federal Reserve Authorities had been pushing the economy in just the opposite direction. They had been saying that the boom was running away with itself, heading for an inflationary blowup. So they checked the boom by holding a tight rein on credit.

As Wall Street and Main Street saw it this week, the reduction in the discount rate signaled a sudden about-face. From now on, the Federal Reserve would give the boom a little push from time to time and try to get it rolling faster.

care of any financial contingency that might arise should any school have to be closed because of possible integration violence. State aid would not be shut off and teachers' pay would continue. Also, schools so closed would lose none of their academic standing.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and staff labored over the weekend on two opinions bearing on the special sessions.

In one, he was asked to say whether the Senate's failure to confirm Harrison as commissioner of insurance is valid. In the other, he was asked to rule on constitutionality of the troop-school bill.

The public hearing before the Senate State Affairs Committee Monday at 10 a.m. on the school bill and the afternoon hearing in the House State Affairs Committee will be held regardless of whether the opinion is delivered by then.

It was not expected that the Harrison opinion would be forthcoming immediately. The Insurance Board raised several fundamental questions of law that will require considerable study.

Both requests put Wilson squarely on the spot in two delicate matters.

Information Abuse Cited By Newsmen

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The National Sigma Delta Chi convention today asked President Eisenhower to eliminate what it called abuse of an executive order aimed at national security.

A resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the professional journalistic fraternity said the group "desplores and condemns" abuses by federal agencies which deny proper information to the public.

Robert Cavagnaro, general executive for the Associated Press at San Francisco, was elected president. James A. Byron, news director for WBAP, Fort Worth, was elected vice president for professional chapter affairs.

The resolution on information also endorsed five congressional bills which the fraternity said would eliminate "legal roadblocks" to the free flow of rightful knowledge and information.

A report from the fraternity's committee for the advancement of freedom of information earlier cited 93 specific instances of what it called "needless secrecy" within the executive branch and department of defense.

The 350 convention delegates, in effect, postponed until the 1958 meeting at San Diego, Calif., a final decision on a controversial question dealing with membership eligibility of persons in public relations.

Recommendations interpreting current constitutional provisions on eligibility were adopted, but a special 7-member committee was named to make a report on possible constitutional changes to be considered at San Diego.

Others elected included Bart Marvin, University of Kansas, vice president of undergraduate affairs; and Edward Lindsay, Lindsay-Schaub Newspaper, Decatur, Ill., vice president for expansion.

James Donald Ferguson, president and editor of the Milwaukee Journal, was elected honorary president.

AP Man Chosen Head Of Sigma Delta Chi

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Robert Cavagnaro, 52-year-old veteran Associated Press executive, today was elected president of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism fraternity, at its 48th annual national convention here.

Cavagnaro, who succeeds Sol Taischoff of Washington, D.C., is general executive for the western states for A.P. He has been a member of the organization's executive council three years.

The election highlighted the final business meeting for the four-day convention.

Other officers installed:

James A. Byron, news director of WBAP-TV, Fort Worth, vice president in charge of professional chapter affairs; Bart Marvin, dean of the William Allen White School of Journalism, University of Kansas, vice president in charge of undergraduate affairs; Edward Lindsay, editor of the Lindsay-Shaub newspaper group, Decatur, Ill., vice president for expansion; E. W. Scripps, II, of the Denver Rocky Mountain News, secretary, and Buren McCormack, vice president of the Wall Street Journal, New York, re-elected treasurer.

More Negro Solons Seen

ATLANTA, Nov. 16 (AP)—Election of at least five Negro congressmen from three Southern states by 1960 was predicted here today as the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People launched a southwide campaign to register Negro voters.

Mapping the campaign at a two-day session were NAACP leaders from 12 Southern states, directed by Roy Wilkins, secretary of the national organization, and Clarence Mitchell, head of NAACP's national legislative office in Washington, D.C.

Mitchell told the conference that the registration campaign, operating under protection of the new civil rights bill, should result in election of at least three Negro congressmen from Mississippi and one each from North and South Carolina by 1960.

He added that in Georgia, Alabama and Florida it should be possible to elect Negroes to other officers. "It is a hard political fact of life," he said, "that when you sit down to discuss who to support for mayor or governor, it is possible to get Negroes elected to other offices."

Mitchell also warned Southern vote registrars that regardless of what they may have heard otherwise, they "can be put in jail without a jury trial for capriciously denying a Negro the right to vote on the basis of race," under the civil rights bill.

He said that while the "hue and cry has been about integration in the schools, what our opponents really fear is integration at the polls."

Wilkins said the immediate objective is to bring the percentage of registration of eligible Negro voters up to the same level as the percentage of registration of eligible white voters in all areas.

Protroleum Stocks Said Not Too High

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Stocks of petroleum products are considerably higher than a year ago but the government's oil and gas division does not view them as alarming high in relation to present requirements.

"They should not have any adverse affect on the oil industry," an official said.

But this official, who declined to be quoted by name, added that estimates indicate the domestic demand for all petroleum products next year may slack off a bit fro mthe annual rate of increase in recent years. These estimates, he said, range from a 2 to 3½ per cent increase in 1958 as against any average annual increase of 5 per cent for several years.

Gasoline stocks on the East Coast are figured to be up about two million barrels, or five per cent, over a year ago.

On the West Coast gasoline stocks are estimated at three to four million barrels higher than a year ago and fuel oils about three million barrels higher. On the Gulf Coast, gasoline stocks are reported at about the same level as this time last year, heating oils five million barrels higher and heavy fuels less than one million higher.

The government's program for voluntary curtailment of oil imnumber of holdout companies to ports meanwhile has narrowed the three, this official reported. He did not name them, but Navy Capt. M. V. Carson Jr., administrator of the program, told the American Petroleum Institute in Chicago this week that Eastern States Petroleum & Chemical Corp., Sun Oil Co. and Tidewater Oil Co. had exceeded their suggested import quotas for September.

Kiwanis Club Sets Pancake Supper

The Snyder Kiwanis Club is all set for its annual pancake supper, scheduled for Tuesday evening in the High School Cafeteria.

Tickets for the even, which sell for 75 cents each, have been on sale for several days by members of the Club.

A ticket entitled the purchase to "all the pancakes he can eat" at the supper. And, of course, there will be timmins, such as bacon or sausage, coffee and milk.

Serving hours in the cafeteria will be from 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The pancake supper is major event on the Kiwanis Club's schedule each year. Money raised throug this event is used to help finance the club's welfare program during the Christmas season.

Each year, the Kiwanis Club heads up a community-wide program to provide food, clothing and toys for underprivileged families in this area. Many other clubs, organizations and individuals participate in the program through Kiwanis administraton, but a major portion of the funds required comes from the pancake supper each year.

The Kiwanis Club already has started active plans for the Christmas welfare program this year.

In announcing the pancake supper, Kiwanis officials expressed appreciation for action taken by the Snyder Quarterback Club in making the cafeteria available for the supper Tuesday night. The Quarterback Club usually meets in the cafeteria on Tuesday nights, but next week moved its meeting up to Monday night.

VICTORIA, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Leeman Chapman, 37, of Corpus Christi, was killed and four other persons injured today in a car collision two miles west of here.

Two passengers in Chapman's car, H. D. Enger, 35, and Don Hitchcock, 30, of Corpus Christi, were seriously injured.

They were en route to the Rice-Texas A&M football game in Houston.

The driver of the other car, Mrs. Dorothy Jane West of Orange Grove suffered a broken leg and other injuries. Her four-year-old son received only bruises.

The accident occurred at the intersection of highways 77 and 59.

Tempers Are Flaring Up In Alpine

BOLZANO, Italy, Nov. 16 (AP)—Some hot tempers may heat up the air in this Alpine valley tomorrow as a border dispute—mainly over languages—rages on. One side is shouting demands in German; the other in Italian.

This is the South Tyrol problem—in which the simple posting of a street sign has set off violent reaction. Each street in South Tyrol has two street signs, one in German and the other in Italian.

Now the construction of a housing development threatens more violence. To the German speaking population of South Tyrol, the housing development represents a stacking of the deck, with Italians in a move to outnumber the Germans.

South Tyrol is a prosperous 8,200-square mile area in northern Italy on the Austrian border. It was handed over to Italy from Austria after World War I. In its north live 330,000 German-speaking inhabitants. In the south are 470,000 Italians.

During the Mussolini regime, Italians flocked into South Tyrol in an "Italianization program" to offset the heavy German speaking population. After the war, Austria insisted she had the right to demand a square deal for the German - speaking population. The Germans demand more rights, especially recognition of German as the official language.

Italy promised a square deal. That was when bilingual street signs went up.

The latest flare of tempers is over a housing development built by the Italian government for 900 families in Bolzano. The Germans charge it is designed to bring in more Italian families to alter the ethnic make up.

This dispute could break out more heatedly tomorrow. At least 20,000 Germans are expected to attend a mass protest meeting. Italian speaking South Tyroleans will hold an opposition rally sponsored by neo-Fascists.

Market Is Saved From New Decline

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board's surprise action in lowering the discount rate rescued the stock market from another weekly decline this week and pushed it to the upside.

The credit easing move was what the Wall Street community had been praying for, but rather hopelessly in view of the tone of recent statements by federal money authorities.

News that the discount rate had been lowered to 3 per cent from 3½ per cent in four districts came after the New York market close on Thursday. That day, stocks took a medium-sized beating despite the fact that President Eisenhower had made a speech the night before proposing more defense spending.

Other business news was not regarded as encouraging. Among the reports that day was one on rail carloadings which told of the sharpest drop for any nonholiday week in 1957. This dragged The Associated Press average of rails stocks to its third straight low for the year in as many market sessions.

At the close of the market on Thursday, prices were substantially lower than at the end of the preceding week. Then came the news of the Reserve Board's action. The Pacific Coast Exchange was still open and prices responded with a brisk advance.

It was in the cards that the same trend would prevail next morning on the "Big Board" in New York and it did so, with emphasis.

The Friday market was a vigorous one. Prices made their best advance since the historic rebound of last Oct. 23 which was the best one-day jump in 28 years. Skipping that one in a backward look, however, the Friday rally was the best since March 15, 1933, when security exchanges reopened after the "bank holiday" at the start of Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration.

The broad Friday advance made it possible for the AP average of 60 stocks to close the week with a gain of $1.10 to $156.39.

Rail Strike Is Scheduled For Nov. 22

CHICAGO (AP)—Fifteen non-operating unions have set Nov. 22 for a strike against the Santa Fe Railroad in a long-standing dispute over what the unions term the railroad's refusal to approve a union shop.

Union officials planned to meet today to discuss strike procedure.

The strike date was announced yesterday by George E. Leighty, president of the Railroad Telegraphers Union and chairman of the 15 unions' joint negotiating committee. Some 42,000 union employes had previously authorized the strike.

The announcement, which followed a meeting of union leaders, came on the heels of a Washington conference between union and Santa Fe officials. The Washington talks, under the auspices of the National (Railway) Mediation Board, failed to bring any agreement.

The union shop agreemeent, which makes union membership a condition of employment, has been the only point in dispute. The unions said the Santa Fe is the only major railroad in the United States without such an agreement.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A court jury sniffed and sipped of moonshine yesterday and convicted a man accused of possessing a five-gallon jug of the stuff on which no tax had been paid.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Nunez and Revenue Agent Oliver Sills laboriously upended the jug to pour samples into a paper cup.

The cup was passed around, some taking a smell, others a sip.

Federal Judge W. J. Barker commented from the bench with a smile: "If you want a chaser, gentlemen, we'll supply you with that."

Veteran Doctor Has Own Ideas About Rates, Pain

DAISETTA, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—White - haired Dr. Byron Lee Jordan, a gentle doctor of 81, says he still charges the same fees he charged when he started practicing as a "bushwhacking doctor" more than a half century ago.

The outspoke physician told Houston Chronicle Columnist Sigman Byrd that his office visits are $2 and house calls $3.

"Why should I Charge more. I've never been hungry, and I don't owe anybody anything but goodwill," he said.

Dr. Jordan was born on a farm in Tyler County. When he was 10 his father developed a cardiac condition and spent a fortune on medication and treatment.

"Sometimes Pa would have four doctors treating him at once. I decided then and there to get my share of that kind of money. And I did — but no more than my share," he said.

As a bushwhacker, the doctor rode horseback over Tyler County. Sometimes he rode more than 50 miles, round trip, to see a patient. And apt as not, the fee would be $3.

The doctor has delivered 5,421 babies. "And I never lost a mother and never had any infection develop," he said.

"It's a funny thing about women in labor. I don't know how many times I've gone to a house in the country to find a woman lying in bed with a handsaw, a crosscut saw or an ax on the floor under the bed.

"When I asked them how come, they said it was to cut the pain. Great day in the morning, women have brought forth their children in pain ever since Eve. I never met but one woman who said she had not pains. She calimed she'd given birth to three children with never a twinge of pain.

'I told her she was a liar," the doctor said.

Jordan has read the Bible through 27 times and is now on his 28th reading.

The doctors was asked for his thoughts on the Russian satellites.

"I think they're a lot of bull," the doctor said. "It's nothing but a streak of ignorance. The stupidest fool in East Texas ought to know better than to believe a human can go to the moon. How can an educated people believe that stuff, when medical science can't even find out why I don't have colds."

Dr. Jordan said he has not "had a cold since 1900. Wouldn't have got one than if I hadn't chased down 17 head of guineas in a snowstorm — a thing I've got more sense than to do today."

Income Of Texans Up

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—Despite dramatic drops in farm income personal incomes of Texans have increased rapidly in recent years, the Bureau of Business Research reported today.

The University of Texas said that total personal income received by Texans in 1956 was slightly over 15 billion dollars, representing a gain of six per cent over the 1955 figures. This compares with a seven per cent increase for total U.S. personal income. Growth of Texas personal income of 45 per cent over the six year period 1950-56 compares with an increase of 44 per cent for the nation.

"Despite the parallel performance of the State's income total relative to the national figure for the 1950-56 period, the rate of growth in Texas personal income has shown a slowing tendency to that of the U.S. in recent years," said James Byrd, Assistant professor of finance, in a bureau report.

The major sources of Texas incomes in 1956 was the trade and services group with manufacturing, government, construction, farms and mining following in that order.

West Texas Bank Forms Yule Club

The West Texas State Bank is now accepting memberships in its new Christmas Club, H. W. Cargile executive vice president, has announced.

The Christmas Club, which is something new in Snyder, provides a systematic method for individuals to save money on a weekly basis. Deposits into the club are made regularly by members for a 50-week period. At the end of the 50-week period the funds are distributed to the members. The distribution, of course, comes at the beginning of the Christmas shopping season.

Each member receives the amount he has deposited during the 50-week period. For example, if a member has deposited 50 cents per week he will receive $25, if he has deposited $1 per week he will receive $50, etc. The amount deposited per week, of course, is left up to the individual.

The Christmas Club plan has proved highly successful in many cities and towns, although it has never operated before in Snyder.

Building Is 'Blown Up'

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Workmen, although delayed six hours by a mechanical snag, hurried today to demonstrate that the fastest way to build a factory is to blow it up with balloons.

They set out late yesterday to erect an aluminum dome the height of a conventional five-story building in 20 hours.

Special riveting devices failed to function satisfactorily and workers were taken off the job during the night until new riveting machines arrived by chartered plane from Detroit.

Despite the temporary delay, officials held to an estimate that the time devoted to actual construction would be less than 24 hours.

They started by placing big balloons inside the top framework of the dome and attaching the first of the aluminum panels that will form the outside of the unusual building.

Then they inflated the balloons part way, lifting he top of the dome, and attached more panels.

The process was repeated, gradually raising the growing dome on a swelling cushion of air.

The completed structure will rest on 25 concrete piers taking the place of a conventional foundation. The dome will be 145 feet across at the bottom and provide 16,500 feet of floor space, all on one level. The structure will have no supporting beams.

17 Persons Perish In Apartment Fire

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Seventeen persons, including a mother and her eight children, perished early today as fire billowed through a narrow three-story apartment housing two Negro families.

Fourteen of the dead were children. Nine others were injured.

Flames surging through stairways and halls trapped many in their bedrooms. At least one was killed in a jump to the ground.

The victims, besides the mother and 14 youngsters, included 2 adults reported staying with the 2 families.

The frame building, once the Moonglo Hotel, was a splintered, charred tomb. Firemen searching for bodies walked on ladders stretched along upper halls.

Mrs. Mary Ewing, 25, died with her 8 children—Howard, 9; Horace Jr., 8, Arline, 6; Linda, 4; Gloria Jean, 3; twins Terry and Jerry, 1, and Bonnie Patricia, 2 months.

Also dead were 6 children of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Reid—Walter, 17; Carson, 10; Harvey, 6; William, 3; Sanford Jr., 2, and Mary Louise, 5 months.

The other victims were Jack Thomas and John Johnson, roomers.

Mrs. Frances Haynes, who lives across the street, said the sound of an explosion awoke her.

She looked out and "saw flames pouring out of a window on the second floor of the house across the street." By the time she had awakened others in her own house, "we looked again and the entire building was in flames."

The fire was reported at 4:35 a. m. by patrolmen in a police cruiser.

Firemen said the flames roared through the building so fast that some of the youngsters might have died asleep. Some of the victims probably had no time to reach a window, firemen said.

Cause of the fire was not determined, but firemen said an exploding heater could have started it.

State Farmers Union Head Due Here

ALEX DICKIE
. . .Farmers Union leader

Alex Dickie, Jr. of Denton, president of the Texas Farmers Union will be main speaker Thursday evening at the monthly meeting of the Scurry County Farmers Union.

Dickie will also be speaker at noon that day for the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club here.

The Farmers Union meeting, set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the district courtroom, will include the election of new officers for 1958 and of seven delegates, including the new officers, to attend the state Farmers Union convention.

The state convention, set for Dec. 6-7 in Abilene, will feature Sen. Ralph Yarborough as speaker.

Dickie, 32, was first elected Texas Farmers Union president in 1954 and has been re-elected twice since. At Denton, he owns 820 acres and operates 700 acres owned by his father, all in a stock farming operation. He is a graduate of Texas A & M College and holds a master degree from North Texas State College.

The Scurry County Farmers Union, which now has 325 members, has as officers Grady Williams, president; Glenn Tate, vice-president; and Jordan, secretary.

The Farmers Union says its purpose is the protection of the family-size farm, achievement of 100 per cent of parity, and to attempt to get the government to place supports on all farm products, since the organization contends that all farm products are basic.

AGRICULTURE

IN NORTH TEXAS AREA

Strange Growing Season Concluded

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Probably the strangest cotton growing season in history for the North Texas area was concluded with the freee of two weeks ago.

Rain, fog, and generally miserable weather for harvest since the freeze also is resulting in the strangest harvest season in history.

The harvest prospect picture is not bright.

Most of the cotton should be out of the fields. But harvest percentages range from 5 in Archer and Jack counties, 10 in Clay, Childress, Cottle, King and Collingsworth, 20 in Baylor, 25 in Wilbarger, 35 in Foard, 40 in Haskell and 50 in Throckmorton.

Cold, wet weather has slowed the gathering of the lint.

In Wichita County, for example, information from Agricultrue Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Office Manager Bob Crocker indicates the freeze lowered yields by about 20 per cent.

Only 15 per cent of cotton is out of the fields.

Condition of labor is "spotty," according to Crocker and B. T. Haws, county agent. Weather is interfering with harvest, and laborers may move on to other areas if clearing weather is not seen soon.

C. W. Wilhoit, county agent for Archer County, said the county's 1,100 acres were planted about three weeks late, and frost damage may be compounded by the moist weather.

According to ASC office Manager Ermon Williams, farmers with acreage in the soil bank are happy with their decision to lay out of the cotton producing game this year.

O. L. Cook, Wilbarger County ASC committee chairman, said moderate insect infestations, late planting and the early freeze all took their toll. Loss to adverse weather was estimated by Cook at about 25 per cent.

8,222 Bales Here

Cotton ginning has made several starts here this season.

The season, after getting underway, was stopped because of damp weather, but late last week it got back into full swing again.

By yesterday, the nine cotton gins in Scurry County had turned out 8,222 bales, or about 1,200 more than had been ginned by the week before.

Farmers in many areas, who have already seen losses becauses of weather, have bringing in wet cotton, and gins, a few ginners reported.

The grade has been hurt some, in varying amounts around the county. In some areas, ginners reported there was surprisingly little grade damage to cotton, while in other areas the loss on grade was figured to average $15 to $20 per bale, or even more.

The three Snyder gins have turned out a total of 3,255. In other areas, reports were 1,135 at Inadale, 1,080 at Hermleigh, 985 at China Grove, 493 at Dunn, 694 at Fluvanna, and 590 at Ira.

Sorghum Output In Texas To Double

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—Texas' sorghum output this year is expected to almost double its 1956 crop, the Bureau of Business Research said today.

The most important grain sroghum state in the nation, Texas will produce about 40 per cent of the record U.S. crop estimated this year at 514 million bushels and 2½ times the 1956 output.

Timely rains and large acreage expansion are the main factors for Texas' big gain, said bureau assistant George Neel Jr.

Texas' yield is expected to hit 213,249,000 bushels as compared to 124,202,000 bushels last year. Its production per acer has increased from 26 burhels to 31.

Texas Farmers Needing At Least A Month Of Sunshine

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—At least a month of sunshine is needed in Texas to salvage crops following weeks of cold, wet weather, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today.

John E. Hutchison, director of the extension service, said a survey of district farm agents showed rain, drizzle and low temperatures had paralyzed farm operations in "practically every nook and cranny of Texas."

"Farmers who scanned their fields a month or more ago with possible bumper harvest expected already have suffered severe damage, mostly in the northern half of the state and especially in the South Plains and Panhandle where cotton and grain sorghum were just beginning to mature and be harvested," he said.

Besides this, he added, many farmers want to prepare and plant more acreage of small grain and soil building winter legumes for grazing and cover crops.

"Ranchers still say they are entering the winter with the best prospects in years for range and pasture grass. However, in many sections in the eastern half of the state the soil is too wet for maximum growth of early planted small grain and too boggy to turn cattle in for grazing," he said.

Hutchison said there was damage to dry grass on ranges, which is needed for livestock roughage.

A shortage of men and machines for the "big rush," he said, likewise complicated the state's agricultural picture.

At Amarillo, Knox Parr summed up conditions this way, "damp, cloudy weather and high humidity has paralyzed harvest operations in this entire area since Oct. 6...wheat and cattle, however, are doing exceptionally well."

In the Rio Grande Valley, which was the only dry spot in the state a week ago, Joe H. Rothe reported at Weslaco that up to three inches of rain helped. However, it will cause some loss of vegetables due to the delay in harvest.

Far West Texas conditions were described by Ray D. Siegmund at Fort Stockton as "very good" for ranchers with winter grasses and weeds on ranges and small grain making excellent growth. Livestock was in good condition.

Most peanuts in deep East Texas fields were being ruined by continued wet weather, Walter L. Scott at nacogdoches added. About 20 per cent of the cotton and peanut acreage planted still is in the field. Oats and winter legumes were making good growth.

In Van Zandt County in Northeast Texas an estimated 75 per cent of the 1200 acres of sweet potatoes will be lost due to cracking and rotting, and large acreages in other areas also still were in the field as all harvest had been stopped, said John H. Surovik at Mount Pleasant. Fields were too wet to graze, but livestock was in good condition.

"With a wet spring, very dry dummer and extra wet fall odds for losses to North Texas farmers have increased," added Ted Martin at Denton. "Cotton is from 30 to 75 per cent harvested in some sections and only 25 to 60 per cent of small grain acreage has been planted."

About the same conditions existed in the rolling plains where harvest has stopped and the delay meant further damage to cotton and planting of more small grain, reported James G. Simmons at Vernon.

Rice farmers in the Gulf Coast area had another setback as high winds whipped through their fields, and cotton farmers who have an estimated 40 per cent of their acreage still to be harvested were delayed further by rain, Silver Whitsett said at Rosenberg.

In the south plains more rain and cloudy skies caused additional misery to cotton and grain sorghum producers as the major portion of their crops have not been harvested, said W. H. Jones at Lubbock.

Central Texas was too wet for field work and maximum growth of small grains which will furnish grazing as soon as fields are dry, added R. G. Burwell at Stephenville. Also worms were damaging oats.

Farmers caught up with small grain planting in local sections in South Central Texas, but still were behind in the San Antonio, Austin and Gonzales area, Joe M. Glover said at Gonzales. Pastures and cattle were in good shape except for some screwworm damage to cattle.

The Edwards Plateau ranges were improving, but cotton and grain sorghum farmers said they need at least a month of clear skies for cotton to open and to complete harvest, concluded Roy Huckabee at San Angelo.

A good many lambs were being born, but screwworms were bad in Mason County.

Bodies Of Newlyweds Found In Wreckage

NEWPORT, Isle of Wight, Nov. 16 (AP)—The bodies of three newlywed couples bound for a honeymoon were recovered today from the wreckage of a big flying boat which smashed in flames into a chalk cliff near here last night, killing 43 persons, including the crew of eight.

All but 15 of the 50 British passengers perished.

Police and troops toiled for 12 hours before pulling the last charred victims from the debris.

Civil aviation officials said the crash came 15 minutes after the pilot radioed he was returning to Southampton with one of the four engines out of action. The double decked plane had been headed for the holiday isles of Madeira and the Canaries.

Ike, McElroy Will Confer On Weapons

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy will confer here Tuesday regarding administration plans for a hike in defense spending for space age weapons.

Plans for the conference were announced at the President's vacation headquarters today by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

In his nationwide television-radio address from Oklahoma City last Wednesday night Eisenhower said it will be necessary to boost spending for missiles and other weapons of the future by "a very considerable figure" in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The President did not estimate how much of a hike will be required. Defense spending for the current fiscal year will exceed the original target of 38 billion dollars.

Demo Council Set To Attack Ike's Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said today its advisory council of 24 will attack President Eisenhower's two recent speeches designed to reassure the American people about the nation's space-age defense.

The committee said the statement will be released for publication tonight.

Sam Brightman, deputy chairman of the committee, denied published reports that Adlai E. Stevenson, a leading council member, refused to approve the statement.

He said Stevenson, who has agreed to consult on administration plans for the December meeting of NATO, endorsed the statement along with former President Truman and all other council members who could be reached in a telephone poll.

DEPARTMENTAL MEETINGS of the school industrial education department serve several purposes, including in-service training. Staff members who carry on the industrial education program in the schools here, left to right, are J. C. Jackson, W. A. Mayfield, Jiggs Falls, J. C. Crawford, Harold Nolte, Ed Raborn, Joe Harwell, and Frank Miller.

NOW SIX YEARS OLD

Industry Program In Snyder Schools Grows

Now six years old is t' industrial education department of the Snyder schools, which during the past week has been taking inventory, during American Eucation Week, of its progress since its beginning.

"We are constantly striving to improve the program," W. A. Mayfiel, head of the department said. The industrial education program includes two phases. They are general educaton, which includes courses in drafting, wood, metal, and crafts, and vocational education, which includes distributive education and industrial cooperative training.

Organization of he department was governed by recommendations of a citizens advisory committee, which was composed of Maurice Brownfield, W. J. Bryant, Ned Butler, W. T. Dabbs, Harold Grant, Ray Keenan, J. M. Long, Harry Reed, and Nolan Watson, with Theo Lamb and Hicks Allen added to the committee later.

This committee studies the proposed organization submitted to them by the school administration and Mayfield and then made recommendations to the school board. The board adopted their recommendations and authorized the administration to set up the department.

"And enthuslastic staff with philosophy of good education for all students has been the backbone of our program," Mayfield said. At the present time, the high school staff includes J. E. Falls, woodwork instructor; Frank Miller, general metals; W. E. Raborn, general crafts; Mayfield drafting; J. C. Jackson, ICT; and Harold Nolte, DE. At the junior hgh are Jack Crawford, crafts, and Joe Harwell, general shop. Calvin Edwards is general shop instructor and Mrs. Lois Powell, is crafts instructor at the Lincoln School.

The place of an industrial education program in a total school program has been exhibited by the high standards of education established in the program through the school system by the personnel, Mayfield said the program here has been listed in the top 10 of such programs in the nation. This is not a satisfying statement, but a challenge, Mayfield added.

"We are not as strong as we should be, especially in elementary industrial arts, where we are greatly in need of help, and at the high school level, where the program should be broadened to cover at least two more industries," Mayfield said.

Asked how new requirements for graduation will affect the industrial education program, Mayfield said, "We know our program must grow to meet the requirements of our ever-expanding industries, or our industrial nation will become weak. We feel the school systems throughout our land will come to realize this and provide our children with the necessary tools of learning and increase our industrial knowledge, thus keeping our nation strong."

Mayfield cited a statement made by C. A. Wiken, vice-president in charge of engineering and research for Rockwell Manufacturing, Co., who said industrial arts training should be made compulsory if the nation is to remain strong in the atomic age.

Most industrial educators do not agree to that extent, Mayfield said, but they do believe industrial education should be made an integral part of the educational system. Wiken has said that no scientific discovery, outside medical and biological research, of even major significence has much impact on industry or society as a whole. It is only when a discovery is translated into technological change that a revolution takes place, he said, reminding that the fundamental scientific theories on which atomic energy developments are based have been known for 50 years. Yet even today the atomic energy industry is still in its infancy because of a "time lag" between scientific discovery and technological change.

"Industrial progress is marked not by the elimination of the human element in the conversion of raw materials to finished products, but by upgrading the importance of that element. Somebody still has to translate all the mathematics and physical theory into reality of materials and machines as they exist today," Wiken said.

He continued that there is a danger today that a new breed of white collar engineers may arise who have no conception of basic machine operations, who are lost when faced with the task of translating scratch pad sketches into three dimensional reality. It still takes basic machine tool knowhow to fashion the structure of a space satellite. Industrial arts training can give the engineer a grasp of technological reality which will help him be a better and more successful designer and builder of the devices, products, and processes needed at the frontiers of research, the industrialist said.

This is the philosophy on which the Snyder schools industrial arts program is built.

"With so great a need for technical expansion, it is easy to understand why our educational programs must be broadened to meet these needs," Mayfield said, concluding. "An education after all is for the purpose of developing the abilities of the student and to help him to become an active participant in the world in which he lives."

SOME WANT SPECIAL TAX SESSION

Tough Tax Bill Is Seen For 1959 Legislature

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)— Despite low oil production in Texas the last half of this year, state revenue from oil has not varied considerably from that of a year ago.

And officials in the state comptroller's office said today an upswing in franchise and insurance occupation taxes are likely to rub out most of the drop.

But with more money going out for old age pensions and increased state services, Comptroller Robert Calvert estimated the General Revenue Fund still would dip into the red by more than 12 million dollars by Aug. 31, 1959, the end of the current two-year fiscal period.

All indications point to a new, tough tax bill by the next Legislature in 1959 while some legislators here for the second special session think a special tax session could be called for next year.

Gov. Price Daniel said this week that he was not worried over the 12 million dollar deficit estimate. He has said that he considers the comptroller's estimates as being very conservative and aimed at covering all eventualities.

One of the biggest jumps in the cost of government would come if voters approved a proposed constitutional amendment next November calling for annual salaries and annual sessions of the Legislature.

The per biennium cost for each of the 181 legislators now is about $3,500, counting salary, transportation and other expenses. One legislator estimated that if the amendment was adopted the cost would skyrocket to $19,000 each for the two years.

During the last fiscal year, the state collected about 12½ million dollars a month from the production tax on crude oil. The average monthly take was mixed up in the spring when production hit record peaks as a result of the Suez Canal crisis. Actually it was December of last year before collections topped the 12 million dollar mark for the fiscal year.

Dipping below the heretofore rock-bottom of 15 producing days, the commission ordered the permissive flow set in 13 days in July. This was retained for two months and then only 12 days were wet for the last three months of the year.

State revenue on oil totaled $11,896,436 in July, $12,067,807 in August, $11,828,706 in September, $11,527,092 in October, $11,350,103 (estimated) in November and $11,661,840 (estimated) for next month.

Kenneth Kimbro, statistician for Calvert, said he expected the franchise tax and the tax on gross premiums of insurance to "continue showing a good growth." These taxes do not become due until the first of the year. His records showed the recent insurance scandals had no effect on the continuing climb in insurance premiums.

The state gets 4.6 per cent of the price of a barrel of oil, or about 14.3 cents now compared to 13 cents in January. The production runs about 12 per cent below the allowable and about 700,000 barrels a month are not taxable.

These other expenses may also be faced by the next Legislature: More money for water development and highways, schools and hospitals, handicapped and old age, teachers and state employes and new state buildings.

Italian Prisoner's Message Is Found

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 16 (AP)—A message purporting to come from an Italian war prisoner in Soviet Siberia was recovered here recently. It was attached to the foot of a migratory bird. The message spoke of 300 prisoners being held "in the land of slant-eyed men."

The Vatican's powerful new radio announced in repeated broadcasts this week and last that the message had been received.

Soviet authorities have denied they are holding any Italian war prisoners.

Radioactivity Film Made By Japanese

TOKYO, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs has produced a documentary film showing the gruesome effects of radioactivity. The film pictures deformed babies and adults at Hiroshima and radioactivity experiments that produced two-headed fish. Waterler, a Dutch banker who died in 1927, put up the peace prize to be awarded each year.

Actress, Husband Suing Joan Benny

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Donna Reed and her husband, producer Tony Owen, are suing the adopted daughter of comedian Jack Benny for $20,500 in connection with the sale of their house.

The complaint, filed yesterday in Superior Court, charged that the comedian's daughter Joan and her husband Alan (Bud) Rudolph, a clothing merchant, agreed to buy Owens' Beverly Hills home for $95,000, but later backed out of the deal.

The Owens said they later sold the house, but incurred expenses not contemplated in the agreement with the Rudolphs.

Troopers Break Up Gangland Confab

APALACHIN, N. Y. (AP)—Two state troopers stepped obviously into the parking lot of a remote hilltop mansion, took out their pencils and began jotting down the license numbers of the sleek limousines.

What followed was the breakup of one of the most interesting parties ever held in this south-central area of New York State.

State police termed it a national gangland convention.

The 58-name guest list included many of the underworld's luminaries and has attracted the interest of police from coast to coast and the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Speculation has tabbed the Thursday gathering a meeting to carve up the racket kingdom of slain mobster Albert Anastasia or a conference of the Mafia, a notorious underworld organization with roots in Italy.

However, the guests, of whom several had been questioned in the slaying of Anastasia in a New York City barbershop last month, insist they just happened to drop in on a sick friend at the same time.

The "sick friend," was Joseph Barbara, a beer and soft drink distributor who has had his brushes with the law.

Police said the guests included racketeers, dope peddlers, bookies and some seemingly legitimate business men.

Troopers moved in on the mansion after they became curious about the unusual number of plush limousines that glided about this hamlet of about 4,000 persons.

Lt. Kenneth Weidenborner said the troopers set road-blocks around the roads leading from Barbara's palatial retreat.

Then Sgt. Edgar Croswell and Trooper Vincent Basisko stepped ostentatiously into the parking lot and began writing down the license numbers of the big cars.

"We realized this would sort of flush them out," Weidenborner said.

The top figure at the meeting was mobster Vito Genovese, 59, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J. Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey once described him as "the king of the rackets."

UVALDE, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Pete Knowles, who operates a government surplus store here, has found a ready market for Navy Frogman suits.

Heavy rains has made farmland in the area so muddy field workers are using the suits in weeding and planting.

Thoughts On Religion

Must We Go To Church To Be Christians?

You've probably heard people comment at times on the fact that their Catholic neighbors go to church so often. Perhaps you have wondered yourself ... is all this necessary?

Catholics, you may be sure, have good reasons.

Going to Mass on Sunday is, of course, an obligation for every Catholic. Confession and Holy Communion at least once a year are a sacred duty. But most Catholics go to Confession and receive Holy Communion oftener ... some every month, some every week, some every day.

There are also many other special services and devotions for which Catholics go to church. In the average city, the Catholic Church is always open — and seldom empty. Many will enter the church at any hour of the day to visit Jesus Christ present on the altar, mindful of His invitation: "Come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

Catholics believe that Christ not only called upon us to honor and serve God ... but prescribed the ways in which we should do so. He did not say how often we must go to church ... nor how many prayers we were to recite. But He did establish a Church with the power and authority to carry on His work ... and He promised that His Church would last to the end of time — that it would have God's protection in teaching all men to observe all things. He had commanded, especially to believe and to be baptized and thereby become members of His Church to attain the purpose of their lives.

And how do Catholics know theirs is Christ's Church?

Because it possesses the distinguishing marks Christ gave His Church. It covers the earth as Christ said it would. Unchanged after nearly 2,000 years, it continues to live and grow, in fulfillment of His promise that His Church would last to the end of the world.

But the most convincing mark that He gave it is its unity of faith, worship and obedience under the authority of the lawful and historical successor of Peter, the first Bishop of Rome and the "rock" upon which Christ built His Church. Just as Peter was the first Pope and the first Vicar of Christ, so also is Pius XII the 262nd Pope and the Vicar of Christ today.

If you would like to know more about the distinguishing characteristics which Christ declared His Church must have and which the Catholic Church possesses today, we will be glad to send you, in a plain wrapper, without cost or obligation, an interesting and enlightening pamphlet. And nobody will call on you. Write today for Pamphlet KC-2.

Do you bring home everything you've paid for?

It's a good question.

Which you can answer "yes" — if you always buy from the business people right here at home. Where you live.

Wherever you buy, part of your money goes to build and to keep up the community in which you spend. To support schools, churches, civic projects, to pay the people who work in that community, and to provide better business and job opportunities for those who live there.

When you buy in YOUR OWN town, you get about the same merchandise you'd get anywhere else — PLUS the enjoyment of these other things that your money pays for.

When you buy anywhere else, you get merchandise ONLY. And your home community is a little poorer because you carried off part of its resources. And the many things other than goods that your money pays for are left for somebody else to enjoy, while they wait for you to return and give them some more.

It Pays to Buy where you Live

No. 1 Aggies, No. 2 Sooners Suffer Upsets

Owls Fight Off Aggies By 7-6

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Rice's Owls combined a mighty defense with the fancy work of two senior quarterbacks, Frank Ryan and King Hill, to upset Texas A&M, the nation's No. 1 team, with a 7-6 defeat in a thrilling battle before a crowd of over 72,000.

The Owls, seven-point underdogs, drove 79-yards in the second period for a touchdown and then stopped three A&M threats inside the 20-yard line before yielding the Aggies a score on the second play of the final period.

The difference in the score was the extra point kicked by Hill.

The conversion attempt by Lloyd Taylor, Aggie halfback, was wide and to the right.

It was the first defeat for Texas A&M in 15 games and the loss deprived the Aggies of at least immediate claim to the Southwest Conference championship. Rice and Texas now join the Aggies in a showdown race for final two weeks of the title campaign. The defeat also knocked A&M out of an immediate invitation to be host team at the Cotton Bowl.

Hill scored the Rice touchdown from the one after Ryan had directed a 78-yard surge that began late in the first period.

Quarterback Roddy Osborne powered over from the one to climax the A&M scoring drive that began when the Aggies recovered a fumble on the Owl 14.

The entire third period was played in Rice territory, with the Owls halting threats that carried to the 16 and 11. Rice came back in the final period for a 46-yard surge that failed with a fourth down incomplete pass from the A&M 4.

Time ran out as A&M made a desperate final bid. With four minutes to play, Hill punted out on the A&M 1. From that point Osborne and a reserve quarterback, Jimmy Wright, needed only 10 plays to move the Aggies 76 yards to the Rice 23.

Mat Gorges, 198 pound right guard, then crashed through to throw Wright for an 11-yard loss. The final gun sounded with A&M holding third down and needing 21 yards from the 34.

Ryan used two neat pitchouts to Sonny Searcy and Gordon Speer, a pair of reserve halfbacks, to gain crucial first downs in the Rice touchdown drive. Searcy gained 12 yards at left end to the A&M 41. Two plays later Speer moved around right end for 16 yards to the 26.

Fullback Raymond Chilton powered on the draw play for 15 yards to the 11, and, on the final play of the third period Ryan, fighting off Bobby Marks, Aggie left end, raced around left end to the one. Hill then replaced Ryan and scored on the second play.

Guard Allen Goehring started the A&M touchdown by recovering a fumble by Howard Hoelscher, Rice fullback, on the Owl 14. Three carries by Osborne and one by fullback Gordon LeBoeuf got a first down on the two.

The Rice line stopped Osborne for no gain, then gave up one yard, and then stopped the 175-pound quarterback inches short of the goal line. On fourth down Osborne powered across for the touchdown.

John Crow, hard-charging Aggie halfback, appeared to have been used as a decoy for other runners most of the game but a 21-yard run to his 31 gave life to the A&M surge in the closing minutes. He was the game's leading rusher, however, with a net of 63 yards in 15 carries. Osborne had 62 in 21 plays, while Hill led Rice with 43 in 13.

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Statistics of the Texas A&M-Rice game:

	Texas A&M	Rice
First down	17	12
Rushing yardage	218	209
Passing yardage	97	9
Passes	8-17	1-3
Passes intercepted by	1	3
Punts	2-39	6-31.8
Fumbles lost	2	2
Yards penalized	50	46

Rice, a team that had relied heavily on passes while building the nation's eighth best record of total offense, used only three aerials today, completing one for nine yards.

The wild final quarter saw Rice receive the ball on the 50-yard line as the Aggies twice kicked out of bounds after scoring. Hill and Chilton then combined efforts to move the Owls to a first down on the nine in eight plays. Three plays got to the four and on fourth down Hill's pass in the end zone was incomplete.

A clipping penalty put Rice in a hole after the second-half kickoff and Hill punted out on his own 37. Seven plays moved to the 19 but on fourth down Crow picked up only three yards, one short of a first down.

The Aggies came back after Hill punted out at midfield. LeBoeuf and Osborne went to the Rice 29 in six carries. Osborne then hit end Don McClelland with an 18-yard pass to the 11. Gillis hit McClelland with a jarring tackle and covered the fumble on the 11 then the 175-pound end lost the ball.

Hill kept twice and moved to the seven, but Hoelscher lost the ball on a crushing tackle by halfback Robert Sanders. Goehring covered on the 14 and the Aggies had their touchdown eight plays later.

A&M launched drives for 44 and 45 yards early in the second period only to be thrown back by the Rice defense.

After Rice scored, A&M moved behind Crow, Osborne, and LeBoeuf for three first downs to the Rice 45. LeBoeuf got two yards and a Milstead pass was incomplete. Milstead then picked up four yards to the 39 but Sanders got only three on fourth down and Rice took over.

On the first play, Milstead intercepted a Hill pass on the A&M 39. LeBoeuf and Bobby Conrad got a first down at midfield. Hill then had to pull LeBoeuf down from behind on the Rice 18 after the Aggie fullback took a 32-yard pass from Milstead.

Two carries by LeBoeuf moved to the 15 but on third down end Gene Jones crashed through and threw Osborne for a 14-yard loss. On fourth down, A&M faked a field goal and had Taylor pass to Crow. Taylor was beyong the line of scrimmage, however, and the illegal formation gave Rice the ball on its 33.

Irish Snaps OU Win Streak, 7-0

By SAUL FELDMAN

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Oklahoma's all-time record of 47 Straight football victories was shattered today by an underdog Notre Dame team that marched 80-yards on the ground in the closing minutes for the all-important touchdown and a 7-0 triumph.

Oklahoma, No. 2 ranked in the nation and an 18-point favorite, couldn't move against the rockwall Notre Dame line and the Sooners saw another of its national records broken—scoring in 123 consecutive games.

The defeat was only the ninth for Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson since he became head coach at Oklahoma in 1947 and virtually ended any chance for the Sooners getting a third straight national championship.

Although the partisan, sellout crowd of 62,000 came out for a Roman Holiday, they were stunned into silence as the Sooners were unable to pull their usual last-quarter winning touchdowns—a Wilkinson team trademark.

As the game ended with Oklahoma's desperation passing drive was cutoff by an intercepted aerial, the crowd rose as one and suddently gave the Notre dame team a rousing cheer.

It was a far cry from last year when the Sooners ran over Notre Dame 40-0. The victory gave the Irish a 3-1 edge in the 5-year-old series dating back to 1952.

The smashing, rocking Notre Dame line didn't permit the Sooners to get started either on the ground or in the air.

The Sooners were able to make only 98 yards on the ground and in the air just 47. Notre Dame, paced by its brilliant, 210-pound fullback Nick Pietrosante, rolled up 169. In the air, the Irish gained 79 yards hitting 9 of 20 passes, with Bob Williams doing most of the passing.

Notre Dame's touchdown drive, biting off short but consistent yardage against the Sooners' alternate team, carried from the 20 after an Oklahoma punt went into the end zone.

Time after time, Pietrosante picked up the necessary yard when he needed as the Irish smashed through the Oklahoma line. Notre Dame moved to the 8 and the Sooners first team came in to try to make the third Sooner goal line stand of the day.

Pietrosante smashed for yards through center and Dick Lynch was stopped for no gain. On the third down, Williams went a yard though center.

Then Lynch, who had failed to score from the one-foot line in the second period, crossed up the Sooners and rolled around his right end to score standing up. Monty Stickles converted to give Notre Dame the upset and end collegiate football's longest winning streak.

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Statistics of today's Notre Dame-Oklahoma game:

	Notre Dame	Oklahoma
First downs	17	9
Rushing yardage	169	98
Passing yardage	79	47
Passes	9-20	6-15
Passes intercepted by	1	1
Punts	6-35.5	10-38.5
Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	45	33

The closest Oklahoma could get to Notre Dame's goal was in the first quarter when the Sooners' alternate team moved to the 13 before being held on downs.

In the third period, brilliant punting by first string halfback Clendon Thomas and alternate quarterback David Baker kept Notre Dame back on its own goal line but the Sooners couldn't capitalize.

Thomas set punts down on the Notre Dame 15 and 4 and Baker put them down on the 3 and 7 and waited for the breaks that have come the Sooners' way in the past to help them keep up their streak through 47 games.

Auburn Squeaks By Georgia, 6-0

By MERCER BAILEY

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 16 (AP)—Underdog Georgia scared mighty Auburn within an inch of its nationally ranked life today but the unbeaten Tigers dug in and squeaked to a 6-0 Southeastern Conference football victory.

A 15-yard penalty helped Auburn get its touchdown with less than a minute left in the first first half. After that a fierce Bulldog defense stopped Auburn at every turn.

Late in the fourth period, Auburn drove 71 yards only to lose the ball at the Georgia 1 when the Bulldogs held Lloyd Nix for no gain on a fourth down quarterback sneak.

All-America end candidate Jimmy Phillips, a stalward all afternoon, got the touchdown that kept Auburn unbeaten and the leading candidate for the Southeastern Conference championship.

Phillips pulled in a four - yard pass from Nix after a personal foul penalty against Georgia had given the Tigers a first down at the Bulldog 5.

Although Auburn remained unbeaten, and stretched its winning streak to 12 games, the Tigers can't go to a bowl this year. They are on NCAA probation.

Georgia's defense, led by center Dave Lloyd, guard Cicero Lucas and end Jimmy Vickers, was almost as effective as that of Auburn. Except for the Auburn score and the march to the 1, Auburn made no real threat.

Oregon Wins Way Into Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16 (AP)—Fullback Jack Morris led Oregon to a 16-7 victory over Southern California today and to all intents ushered the Webfoots into the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 as the representative of the Pacific Coast Conference.

It took the 188-pound runner from Bedford, Ore., less than 5 minutes to end Oregon's 37-year quest for a Rose Bowl appearance.

In that space of time, Morris kicked a field goal, raced 63 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown and kicked the extra point. The 10 points were more than enough to whip the Trojans.

Morris carried the ball 15 times for 212 yards, breaking all rushing records for Oregon in one game and the Trojans' all time opponents' record for yardage made against them.

The conference, as in the case of the Big Ten and its probable representative at Pasadena, Ohio State, won't vote on the PCC representative until Nov. 25. But today's triumph gave Oregon a record of 6 victories against 1 defeat in PCC play, a mark that cannot be matched by any other team eligible for the Bowl appearance.

Coach Len Casanova of Oregon said he is not ready to be concerned about meeting Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

"We've got to beat Oregon State next week. Then we can worry about Ohio State. We have to beat Oregon State to win the undisputed conference championship and really earn that Rose Bowl bid."

Oregon State has a 4-2 record but is ineligible to play in the Rose Bowl, having been there last New Year's Day. But OSC could tie Oregon for the PCC championship if it wins next week.

Back in 1920, Oregon lost the Tournament of Roses game to Harvard, 7-6. It has not been back since.

Pennsylvania Wins

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Frank Riepl led Pennsylvania to 28-6 victory over Columbia today in an Ivy League game. It was Penn's second triumph of the season and Columbia's seventh defeat.

Drake Slips Past WTS By 20-19 Tally

DES MOINES, Nov. 16 (AP)—Passes by Roger Labrasca set up two final quarter touchdowns which gave Drake a 20-19 victory over West Texas State today.

The Border Conference team from Canyon, Tex., making its Midwest debut had led throughout most of the game. West Texas opened its attack by intercepting a LaBrasca pass in the first quarter.

The Texans drove from the Drake 30 in a march climaxed when fullback Rex Loftis plunged over from the 2. End Tommy Coffey's attempted conversion was wide.

In the second period, Drake moved on the ground from its own 49 to the West Texas 15. LaBrasca then passed to end Dick Treimer in the end zone and Bill Leeman's extra point gave Drake a 7-6 lead.

The Texas team rebounded minutes later when Bob Whechel, after an eight-yard gain, lateralled on the 50 to Bob York who went all the way. Coffey converted.

The Texas lead was increased to 19-7 in the third quarter on a 33-yard touchdown run by fullback Charlie Sanders.

Drake began its fourth period comeback with a pass from LaBrasca to end Jerry Mertens, good for 38 yards. Fullback Floyd Wilkins drove to the West Texas 1 yard line and went over on the next play. Leeman made the crucial conversion.

HPC Downs A&I, 14-7

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Howard Payne Yellow Jackets climaxed homecoming activities here today by taking a Lone Star Conference win over Texas A&I 14-7.

The Jackets spotted the Javelinas a first half touchdown.

Texas A&I halfback Jerry Thompkins snagged a pass from Howard Payne Quarterback David Walls on the Jacket 35 and returned it to the 12. Following a five-yard penalty, quarterback Joe Green passed to Thompkins for 17-yards and the score. Green added the extra point.

Sandies Rout Borger, 64-0

BORGER, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Amarillo's undefeated, untied Golden Sandies crushed the Borger Bulldogs 64-0 today to clinch the District 3-AAAA championship.

The Sandies ground out 519 yards rushing and stopped every Borger attempt to move out of its own territory. The Bulldogs wound up with a net loss of two yards rushing.

The Sandies scored twice in each of the first and second periods and three times in each of the third and fourth periods. Their third and fourth teams played most of the last half.

Halfback David Russell scored the four touchdowns in the first half on runs of 57, 18, 15 and 6 yards.

Berry Ward scored one of the most thrilling touchdowns of the game. He fumbled the ball, recovered and raced 67 yards for the score. He got a second touchdown on a one-yard plunge.

The other touchdowns were two by Chris Cadenhead, one a 6-yard plunge and the other on a 32-yard pass from Frank Thompson; a 2-yard plunge by Ken Kendrick and a one-yard plunge by Thompson.

4 SWC Teams Now In Title Picture

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference football race was thrown into mad confusion Saturday as Rice beat Texas A&M 7-6 to bring four teams into the title picture.

A&M, the nation's No. 1 team, could have won the championship with a victory over Rice but the hard-bitten Aggies finally failed, after eight straight triumphs.

Rice went into a virtual tie with Texas A&M for first place since the Owls have won three and lost one and A&M has taken four and dropped one.

Texas beat Texas Christian 14-2 to knock the latter out of the race but keep it in third place just one-half game back of A&M. Texas was tied 7-7 by Baylor and defeated 19-12 by Southern Methodist and has a 4-1-1 record. Texas could beat Texas A&M out by defeating the Aggies on Thanksgiving Day at College Station—the last game for both teams.

But Rice in that event could win the championship should it be victorious in its final two games—against TCU and Baylor. If Texas A&M beat Texas and Rice won its last two games, Texas A&M and Rice would tie for the title.

Southern Methodist Beat Arkansas 27-22 to cling to a chance at sharing the crown. SMU has won two and lost two and in the event some team should finish at the top with two losses SMU could tie for the title—that is if it won its two remaining games, against Baylor and Texas Christian.

Next Saturday Baylor and SMU play at Waco, Rice meets Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Arkansas closes out with a non-conference game against Texas Tech.

A&M and Texas play Nov. 28. Baylor clashes with Rice and Southern Methodist meets TCU Nov. 30 to wind up the conference race.

The conference standings:

	W	L	T	Pct.	Pts.	OP
Texas A&M	4	1	0	.800	53	19
Rice	3	1	0	.750	61	33
Texas	3	1	1	.700	69	42
SMU	2	2	0	.500	73	80
Arkansas	2	4	0	.333	75	88
Texas Christian	1	3	0	.250	28	47
Baylor	0	3	1	.125	30	66

Mississippi Upsets Vols

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 16 (AP)—Mississippi coupled a 42-yard punt return and a recovered fumble for a 14-7 win over Tennessee today. The victory meant an almost certain bowl bid for the once-beaten Rebels.

Tennessee, the nation's seventh ranked team, was a 6½ - point favorite over eighth ranked Mississippi. But the sluggish Vols never even threatened until late in the final period.

Both Mississippi touchdowns came after Tennessee had stopped Mississippi drives on its five-yard line. Halfback Leroy Reed set up the first with a 42-yard runback of a Tennessee end zone punt. He was tackled on the 2. Fullback Bill Hurst bulled across two plays later.

Army Ekes By Tulane 20-14

WEST POINT, N.Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Bob Anderson, the nation's leading scorer, led Army to come-from-behind 20-14 victory over underdog Tulane today. The 200-pound sophomore from Cocoa, Fla., broke Glenn Davis academy record for rushing yardage with 145 yards that boosted his season total to 965 yards.

After Richie Petibone flash 66-yard punt return and Jim Blount's conversion had put Tulane out front 14-13 in the third period, Army struck back to win in the final five minutes.

Lions Rate No. 2 In NAIA Rankings

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP)—East Texas State was rated No. 2 in the nation today by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The Lions, who have won six and lost one football gaes, were ranked only nine points below No. 1 Middle Tennessee.

Abilene Christian College was rated in a tie for seventh with the Pittsburg, Kan., Teachers, while Lamar Tech was ninth.

Longhorns Grind Out 14-2 Win Over Frogs

By FRANK N. MANITZAS

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—University of Texas sophomores today paced the Longhorns to a 14-2 victory over Texas Christian in what turned out to be a crucial Southwest Conference football game.

It was Texas' first win over TCU since 1954 when the Longhorns won a slim one point victory. TCU humiliated Texas the past two years with lopsided wins of 47-20 and 46-0.

Sophomore quarterback Bobby Lackey's pitch outs to George Blanch brought 39 of Texas 55 yards for the first score.

After Blanch set it up with a 34-yard run, he scored seven plays later on another pitchout from Lackey. Blanch crossed the goal line from 2 yards out standing up.

Fabulous Rene Ramirez, who won two other games for the Longhorns, sewed it up in the fourth period on a left end, fourth down, 3-yard scoring run.

Quarterback Walter Fondren, who kicked both extra points after touchdowns, piloted Texas to its final score.

With two seconds left, TCU blocked Lackey's kick and touched the ball before it went out of bounds to gain an unusual safety and two points. Merlin Priddy blocked the punt but the entire TCU team was credited with the two points.

Texas' win coupled with Texas A&M's 7-6 loss to Rice at Houston threw the SWC spotlight on the always rough and unpredictable Thanksgiving clash between the Aggies and the Steers. Rice also is in the running with only one defeat.

It was A&M's first loss and Texas has only lost one while being tied by Baylor, 7-7 last week.

Fumbles plagued both Texas and TCU in a game which saw the Longhorns use the pass sparingly.

TCU's major scoring threat came with less than three minutes to play. Taking the kickoff on its own 30, TCU worked the ball to the Texas 8 yard line in 12 plays. Texas took possession on downs after quarterback Dick Finney was tackled by James Shillingburg for no gain.

Horned Frog sophomore Marvin Lasater made a spectacular pass catch in the TCU scoring threat. Lasater fell on his back as the pass from Finney was tipped up into the air, but Lasater caught it while flat on his back for a 20-yard gain to Texas' 20-yard line.

Halfback Jim Shofner, who gained 49 yards in 11 carries for TCU, was held by a strong Texas line. Fullback Buddy Dike gained 53 yards in 19 carries while Lasater had 48 in 15 times with the ball.

Blanch was Texas' and the game's top rusher with 65 yards in nine carries.

TCU lost the ball twice on fumbles while within Texas' 30-yard line.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Statistics of the Texas Christian University-Texas football game:

Tiger B Romps To 40-7 Victory

The Snyder B team got sweet revenge from Big Spring B yesterday afternoon by walloping the Big Springer, 40-7, at Tiger Stadium.

Big Spring B, in an earlier meeting with Tiger B, had won 19-0.

Yesterday's game was a slambang affair through two quarters at which time Tiger B held a 12-7 edge.

But the Tiger B teamers broke the game wide open in the third period with three touchdowns to up their lead to 33-7. The locals then coasted home the final period, picking up their final TD.

After a scoreless first quarter, Tger B opened the scorng in the second on a pass and laternal play. Quarterback Dale Cates lateralled ou to Alez Corss who in turn three to end Bo Brown for 35 yards and a touchdown. The point was missed to leave the score at 6-0.

Big Spring struck back to go ahead on an intercepted pass that wound up on the Tiger three from where the visitors scored and kicked point for a 7-6 lead.

However, the future Tigers came right back to regain the lead when Cross hit Brown for another scoring pass, the play covering 65 yard giving te locals a 12-7 halftime lead.

Cross limbered up his pitching arm again early in the third to hit end Stanley Woolever with a scoring toss, the play eating up 57 yards. Cross kicked the poi t to make it 19-7.

Lynn Atkinson drove over from the Big Spring two for the nxt Tiger B score which was set up by a 36-yard pass from Cross to Brown. Cross added the extra point to boost the Tiger B lead to 26-7.

Raiders Win 26-21 Thriller From HSU

LUBBOCK, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Texas Tech Quarterback Jerry Bell scored twice, threw two touchdown passes and kicked two extra points today as the Red Raiders defeated Hardin-Simmons University 26-21.

Bell also completed 11 out of 13 passes for 133 yards as he accounted for all the Tech scoring in a game that changed hands five times.

The Red Raiders started the scoring early in the second quarter as Bell passed 9 yards to end Gerald Seeman. The try for the extra point failed.

The Cowboys quickly took the lead as they drove 85 yards with the next kickoff to score in seven plays. Fullback Pete Hart ran the final 13 yards. Joel Honeycutt converted.

Cowboy tackle Pat Young recovered a Tech fumble on the Raider 48 to set up Hardin-Simmon's second quarter less than two minutes later. Quarterback Ken Ford passed 41 yards to fullback Don Sizemore for the score. Don Bohling converted.

Tech then drove 75 yards for its second touchdown. Bell climaxed the drive with a one-yard quarterback sneak. The try for point was missed and the Cowboys led 14-12 at the half.

Early in the third, Bell connected with a 29-yard pass to halfback Jimmy Knox to give the raiders the lead again. Bell converted.

Hardin-Simmons went 69 yards in the same quarter to take the lead again. Ford passed 19 yards to end Jim Doom and Honeycutt converted to give the Cowboys a 21-19 edge.

The Raiders scored the winning touchdown early in the fourth. It was set up by an intercepted pass by Tech quarterback Floyd Dellinger on the Cowboy 49. Bell took the ball over from the two and then made his second conversion.

ACC Routs Trinity 40-12

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Abilene Christian College used the passing arm of Don Harber and the speed of Jimmy Hirth to rout the Trinity Tigers 40-12 before a homecoming crowd of 7,000 here today.

The Wildcats, still smarting from a 40-0 lacing from the Tigers last year in San Antonio, built up a quick 21-0 lead in the second quarter.

However, the Tigers roared back to score twice and the half ended with the visitors trailing only 12-21.

ACC took the opening kickoff and went 80 yards with Bill Lovelace plunging the last foot. Minutes later the Christians climaxed a 46-yard drive with Don Rhoden going over from the three. The Wildcats added the third touchdown early in the second on Harber's 42-yard pass to Robert McLeod.

Then Trinity caught fire. The Tigers went 36 yards with John Dubose going over right tackle for the final 13. Last in the first half, the Tigers marched 99 yards for their second score. Wesley Gideon passed the final 30 yards to Howard Meissner.

It took ACC only two minutes to score in the second half with Hirth ripping off a 40-yard jaunt. Hirth scored again a few minutes later from the two to climax an 85-yard drive.

Harber passed eight yards to Keith Davis for the final ACC score.

Spartans Rip Gophers 42-13

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP)—MICHIGAN State used a combination of blinding speed and crushing power to completely over run Minnesota 42-13 in a Big Ten football mismatch here today.

A crowd of 65,718 saw the snappy Spartans roll to a 35-0 halftime lead and coast in from there.

The only thing that threw a damper on the victory celebration was the word from Columbus that Ohio State had beaten Iowa 17-13. The Buckeyes now are automatically in the Rose Bowl and any Spartan hopes for an unprecedented third trip to Pasadena have ended.

In the Minnesota rout, the third Michigan State team, run mostly by sophomores, was in romping before the first half was over. Vestpocket fullback Henny Young, who weighs in at only 143 pounds, was among those scoring.

Buckeyes Nip Iowa To Gain Rose Berth

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 16 (AP)—Third-string fullback Bob White took Ohio State on a personally conducted tour to the Western Conference championship and the Rose Bowl today.

The 207-pound sophomore from Covington, Ky., gained 157 yards in 22 tries and scored the winning touchdown as Ohio came from behind twice to dethrone Iowa's Hawkeyes in a 17-13 thriller.

With Iowa leading 13-10 late in the final period, White carried the ball on seven of eight carries for 65 yards in a 68-yard drive to the final touchdown. White scored the winning marker on a five-yard crash over tackle, but the five yards reached all the way to the Big Ten throne room and Pasadena.

Don Clark, Ohio's ace ball carrier and top scorer, did not see action, but White more than took up the slack as he thrilled a crowd of 82,935, largest ever to fill the Buckeye Stadium, with his tremendous up-the-middle ball carrying.

The victory was Ohio's sixth straight in conference play and the defeat was Iowa's first against four league wins and a tie.

Regardless of the outcome of next week's Buckeye game with Michigan, Ohio is certain of its third Western Conference championship in the last four years and its fourth trip to the Rose Bowl. In that post-season game the Bucks have a 2-1 record.

Ohio State got away to a 3-0 lead in the first period on Don Sutherin's 15-yard field goal which ended a 74-yard march, all on the ground. After that the two teams traded touchdowns. Iowa went ahead 6-3 in the first period on an eight - yard scoring pass from quarterback Randy Duncan to end Bob Prescott. The drive covered 66 yards in 10 plays.

A 16-play, 79-yard ground march with quarterback Frank Kremblas scoring from the 1 made it Ohio State 10, Iowa 6 early in the second period.

In the third, Iowa went 71 yards in 11 plays with Duncan plunging a yard and then came Ohio's big fourth-period splurge to wrap it up.

Iowa fumbled away its chance to win. In the first session the Hawkeyes fumbled and lost the ball on Ohio's 15 and in the second they fumbled the ball away on Ohio's 5.

Pass interceptions also played a big part in holding the Hawkeyes at bay.

Iowa	6	0 7 0—13
Ohio State	3	7 0 7—17

Iowa scoring—touchdowns: Prescott (8, pass from Duncan); Duncan (1, sneak). Conversion: Prescott.

Ohio State scoring—touchdown: Kremblas (1, sneak); White (5, run). Field Goal: Sutherin (15). Conversions: Sutherin 2.

Meredith Leads SMU Over Porkers, 27-22

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Don Meredith, Southern Methodist's mighty sophomore bomber, passed for a tremendous 231 yards and two touchdowns and scored two himself in a 27-22 victory over Arkansas.

The triumph, gained before a crowd of 25,500 in the Cotton Bowl, kept SMU in the Southwest Conference race. It also exemplified the tall youngster from Mt. Vernon, Tex., as the most exciting back of the year.

Meredith scored touchdowns on 1 and 3-yard plunges and passed to end Henry Christopher for 12 yards and to Billy Dunn for 41 to get the other two Southern Methodist 6-pointers.

It was one of the wildesg games of the season, filled with long runs, one which was Arkansas' George Walker's 66-yard touchdown dash with a punt, and it ended on a bizarre note as Meredith knelt in the end zone to give Arkansas a safety so SMU could get out of its territory with time running out.

Don Christian and Donnie Stone, two of the hard running Arkansas backs, scored the other Razorback touchdowns.

It looked like it might be a rags-to-riches story as SMU led in the first half 14-13 on two extra points kicked by probably the rankest substitute in college football—Stan Eckert. Eckert, on the varsity squad for three years, got into his first game, kicking two extra points out of three. Meredith added the final conversion for SMU.

Don Ritschel made the two Arkansas extra points.

Arkansas was fighting to the end, driving to the SMU 14 in the last minute. Billy Kyser had run a kickoff back 52 yards to the SMU 38 to set up the final Razorback threat.

Walker, whose passing was a big threat to the Methodists all day, shot one to Charlie Whitworth on the SMU 28 and then to Kyser on the 14. But Charlie Jackson, who was the principal target of Meredith in the mighty SMU passing attack, catching 7 for 84 yards, intercepted Walker's pass on the goal line to end it all for Arkansas.

It was SMU's second interception of the day. Arkansas was able to pick off only one of Meredith's throws. A penalty for holding set SMU back to its one and finally Meredith just knelt in the end zone and surrendered two points to Arkansas to get SMU out of the hole.

SMU stormed 348 yards rushing and passing while Arkansas had 334.

It was old-time Southwest Conference football as SMU tried 28 passes, 19 of them in the first half, while Arkansas threw 22.

And the punting was sensational, with Dave Sherer of SMU, the nation's top kicker, averaging 42.3 yards. Arkansas kickers, principally Gerald Nesbitt, the great Razorback fullback, averaged 45.5. Nesbitt had the sensational 54.5 average.

Nesbitt, however, was held pretty well in check in running, being limited to 56 yards. Jerry Ferguson, powerful Arkansas fullback, led the ground-gainers with 82 yards.

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Statistics of the Southern Methodist-Arkansas game:

	SMU	Arkansas

Tiger Ground, Aerial Attack Sinks CC, 35-0

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 18 — The Tiger footballers unleashed a terrific ground and aerial game here Friday night to carve out a smashing 35-0 victory over the Colorado City Wolves and take sole possession of second place in the District 3-AAA standings.

The Tigers were tied for second with the Wolves and Lamesa going into Friday's game. Lamesa bowed 33-0 to Sweetwater to drop into a two-way tie for third with Colorado City.

Sweetwater, by defeating Lamesa, captured the District 3-AAA title and will meet Breckenridge in bi-district play.

The Tigers put together their ground and air attack for 415 yards in routing the Wolves Friday. The Bengals netted 280 yards on the ground and 135 in the air.

Bud Morgan, although he didn't get in on the scoring act, led the Tiger running attack with 105 yards on 12 carries. Fullback Mickey McGrew was next with 73 yards on eight totes.

As has been the case in most Tiger games this season, touchdowns were spread around in the Bengal ranks Friday. The Tigers scored five TD's against the Wolves with five different fellows lugging the mail into the promised land.

Sophomore halfback Dick Hayes got the Tiger scoring parade underway with a scintillating 88-yard return of a Wolf punt in the dieing seconds of the first quarter.

Hayes, after fielding the punt, fumbled it momentarily and appeared to be trapped by several onrushing Wolves at the 12 yard line. But Hayes shook loose and raced for the east sidelines where he found running room and after tight-roping the sidelines to about the midfield stripe, he cut toward the middle of the field and scampered over standing up.

Time ran out in the first quarter on Hayes' scoring jaunt. Israel Hinojos converted to make it 7-0. Two fumbles had halted Tiger drives in the first period.

The Tigers moved further ahead in the first two minutes of the second quarter. Tiger Jimmy Allen fell on a Wolf fumble on the C-City 17 on the second play of the second quarter. In four plays the Tigers had their second touchdown.

James Vincent cut over left tackle for the final seven years and Hinojos again kicked the point for a 14-0 lead with 10:08 minutes left in the first half.

Colorado City made its most serious scoring threat midway through the second quarter when they drove from their own 38 to the Tiger 28. But half back Bancker Cade of the Wolves fumbled and Vincent recovered for the Tigers to stop the drive. That was the deepest Wolf penetration during the night.

The Tigers then took over and drove 72 yeards to paydirt despite a 15-yard clipping penalty en route. A 21-yard run by Mahan on a third-and-six situation moved the ball to the Wolf 16 to set up the third Tiger TD.

McGrew broke through a gapping hole in the middle of the C-City line and easily romped into the end zone on the next play. Allen split the uprights for a 21-0 Tiger halftime lead.

After a scoreless third period, the Tigers went to work again early in the fourth to put the game on ice. A fumble inside the C-City 20 stopped a Tiger drive in the opening seconds of the fourth. The Tigers, starting from their own 36 in the third period, moved to the Wolf 14 early in the fourth where Paul Stanley fumbled and the Wolves recovered.

But the Tigers held and scored the next time they got the ball after Joe Maddox's punt rolled dead on the Tiger 39. It took the Tigers just five plays to score with Mahan hitting Johnny Drake for 26 yards and the touchdown. Allen converted to make it 28-0.

The final Tiger TD came on the next play of the game. Johnny Darke intercepted a Wolf pass and returned 16 yards to the Tiger 44 to set the stage for the last score. After a delay-of-game penalty against C-City moved the ball to the Wolf 49, Dickie Martin fired a pass to end Rex Wilson on the Wolf 28 and Wilson grabbed it and raced across standing up.

Wilson juggled the ball momnetarily before he finally gained full control of the pighide and there was no one between him and the doublestripe. Hinojos kicked his third point of the night to conclude the scoring.

There was only enough time left for the kickoff of which Joe Black returned 15 yards to his own 35.

The Tiger defense played superb ball, allowing the Wolves only 98 yards rushing and passing. The Wolves gained 81 on land and 17 through the air lanes.

End Kenneth Drake with eight tackles, Ronnie Giles with seven and linebacker Dickie Martin with five led the Tigers defensively.

The win gave the Tigers a 7-2 season record and 2-1 in 3-AAA play. The Bengals close out against Lamesa Friday night at Tiger Stadium.

IN TEXAS SCHOOLBOY

Playoffs Begin In Lower Ranks

By The Associated Press

Half of the district representatives have been determined and the others will be decided this week as the upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football prepare for state playoffs.

Both defending champions will be in the field. This was determined last week when Abilene, three times Class AAAA titlist, won its way to the playoffs. The Eagles hung up their 46th straight victory by beating Midland 41-0.

Garland, the defending Class AAA champion, went into the playoffs by downing Fort Worth Brewer 33-6.

El Paso Austin, Abilene, Amarillo, Dallas Highland Park, Texarkana, Houston Bellaire, Galena Park, Austin and San Antonio Jefferson became district representatives in Class AAAA. Amarillo crushed Borger 64-0 Saturday to clinch the Dist. 3 championship. Halfback David Russell scored four touchdowns in the first half for the Golden Sandies.

In Class AAA Sweetwater, Breckenridge, Garland, Killeen, Brenham, Nederland, Cuero and San Benito had clinched places in the state playoff, leaving eight spots to be determined.

Nederland reached the playoffs as the only undefeated, untied team in Class AAA.

Here is the situation on deciding the remaining district champions in Class AA AA this week: Fort Worth Paschal by beating Fort Worth North Side, Dallas Crozier Tech by beating North Dallas, Wichita Falls vs. Grand Prairie, Houston Sam Houston by beating Houston Milby, Port Arthur by beating Beaumont South Park, Corpus Christi Ray by beating Corpus Christi Miller and Laredo vs. San Antonio Burbank.

In CLASS AAA it's like this: Levelland vs. Littlefield, Kermit by beating Brownfield, McKinney vs. Gainesville, Kilgore by beating Gladewater, Cleburne by beating Ennis, El Campo vs. Bay City, San Antonio Edison vs. Kerrville, Del Rio by beating Uvalde.

Navy Overpowers Colonels, 52-0

Stage Set For Tom Sawyer

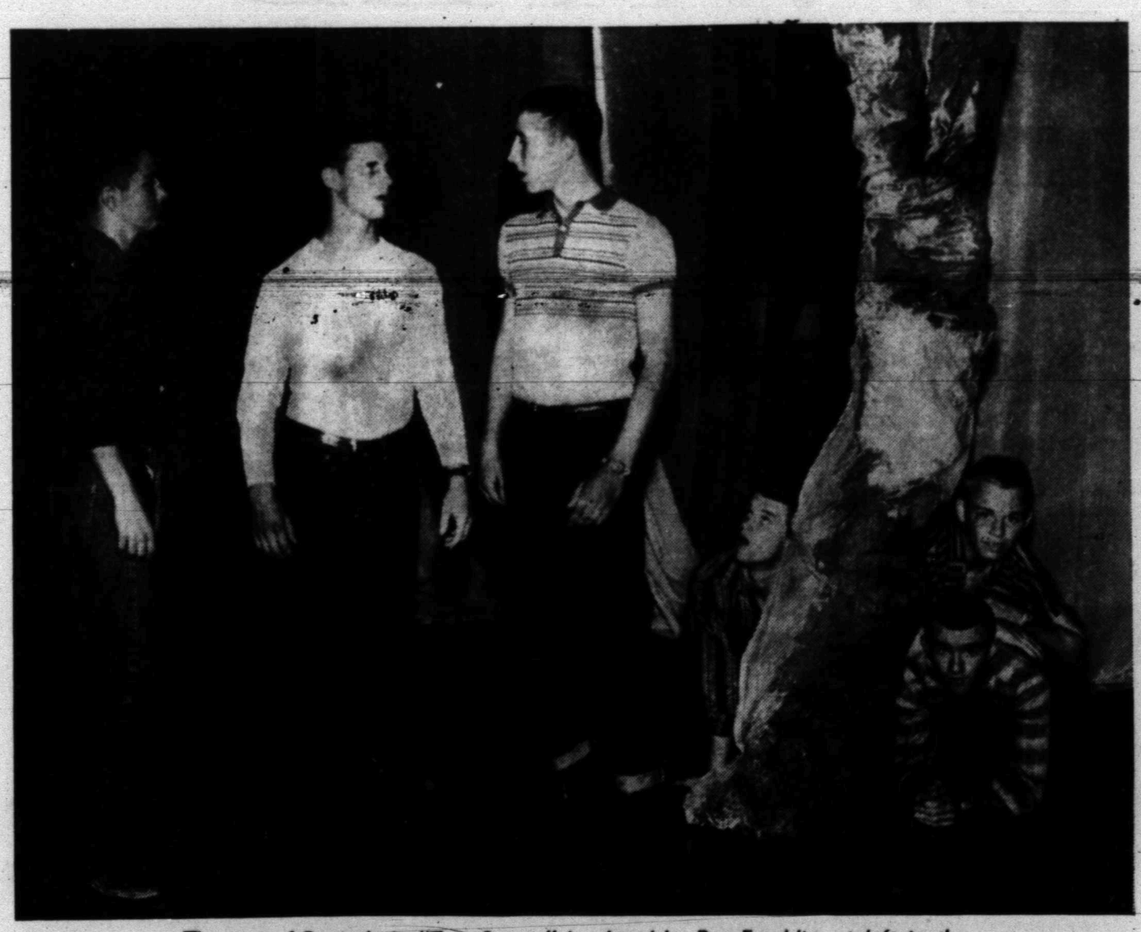
The adventure of Tom Sawyer will be an adventure for Snyderites Nov. 25, 26, and 27.

This new adventure will be confined to the stage of Snyder High School, but for the participants, both in front of and behind the footlights, it promises to be an interesting and realistic adventure.

Because of the historic and literary values of the play it will be offered for all students of the Snyder school system in special performances. Elementary school pupils will see the play at 1:30 o'clock on the afternoons, and the public and high school students will see it on the night of Nov. 26.

All elementary school students will be given the opportunity to see the play for the nominal admission of 20 cents, admission for high school students will be 50 cents and adults will be admitted for 75 cents.

Jane Casebier, high school speach and dramatics teacher, is directing.



The part of Raggedy in "Tom Sawyer" is played by Ben Franklin, at left in the above picture, while other characters from left are: Tony Anger, who plays Muff Potter, Bill Crowell, plays Injun Joe, Steve Melton, the leading man who plays the part of Tom Sawyer, Barry Walker, and Jerry Proctor, who plays Huckleberry Finn.

OMAR BURLESON

Omar Burleson To Speak Here Thursday To LWV

Sparking the introduction of a new phase of study for the Snyder provisional League of Women Voters, Representative Omar Burleson of the 17th congressional district will address the group at its general membership meeting Thursday evening at the Trinity Methodist Church.

Scurry County at the present time is a part of the 19th district, which is represented by Congressman George Mahan, but will be shifted to the 17th district January 1 when the redistricting measure lately adopted by the Texas Legislature goes into effect. At that time Burleson will begin his official representation of Scurry County and Snyder.

Having recently completed a survey of town government, the local League is now preparing to engage in a study of national issues. In keeping with its aim of political responsibility, the League has asked Burleson to include in his address suggestions for ways in which they, as a League and as individual citizens, may be of help to him in his work as a legislator.

Burleson, whose home is in Anson, has been a member of Congress since 1947. A graduate attorney, he has served both in private practice and in public office — in the posts of county attorney and county judge — prior to his election to Congress. He has been a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation and was an officer in the U. S. Navy for three and one-half years. He is at present serving on a number of congressional committees.

The meeting Thursday will be all League members. Anyone wishing to attend is asked to call Mrs. Frank LeFeuvre at 3-6743 before noon Wednesday. Reservations will be $1.50 and dinner will be served at 7:30.

SANDSCRIPTS

BY FRANCES-ELIZABETH JONES

Today this column is frankly sentimental. It's the story of one of Lion Oil Co.'s superintendents, a remarkable little fellow named Leo Carey. For about 30 years Leo "worked the rigs." He had roustabouted on the big old wooden ones that reared their unweildy structures into the skies, and he had risen to supervising the gigantic and complex chore of sucking oil up from deep stratas using the strong steel structures of today. Characteristically, he was out on a lease when the grim reaper caught up with him last week at age 63. The company geologist stood nearby. Leo issued an order to the "mud man". The cadiac spasm acted quickly and ended was the life of a man who, without much formal education, has achieved a place as a West Texas superintendent of his company's production—canny, quick-thinking, wise about this men and his wells.

The thing that made Leo Carey so appealing to hundreds of oil men throughout the Permian Basin and, yes, the whole of the southwest, and the thing that made me want to write this last eulogy for him, is that he represented a breed of oil executive vanishing from the scene. I should like to describe what I mean to you who have no very intimate knowledge of the oil fields and their ways.

Now, Leo, possibly thirty years ago, entered the petroleum industry at the exact bottom. A young man today aiming for superintendency would need 6-9 years of college and an engineering degree behind him. Leo swung out of the rigs in the days when a roughneck was just that if he lasted. He had previously given the embalming profession a fling, changed to running a cafe. He was that rare addition to the Arkansas oil land, a Yankee. Born in south Smithville, R.I.

Leo at a party I attended once told this story of one of his adventures prior to entering the oil game. "We hit this boom town, a place milling with folks, no place to sleep, nowhere to eat. You can just feel the fever in a real oil boom town. My partner and I had four-five dollars in our pockets, pooled, and we decided to convert an old piano crate we spotted into a short order stand. We set up a little portable stove from our camping gear. The customers started coming. I held down the frying pan, and as a customer ate and paid, my partner ran out the back door to buy a little more hamburger meat."

Well, straight and surely Leo rose to the top in the oil profession. When the seismographing crews and the doodle bugs got through and the verdict in Scurry County was "OIL PAY," Leo was called from supervising drilling in the Levelland area. He hit Snyder for Lion (a division of Monsanto Chemical Co.) about the same time the concrete mixers came. The highways then were jammed with ponderous equipment groaning in, crunching up the asphalt. If you had heretofore lived in small ,uneventful Snyder, you rubbed your eyes as past them rolled towering derricks escorted through town by prowl cars, trucks piled high with pipe. You never saw so many pickups in your life. Every car suddenly bore a sign painted on its left door. Men in desert helmets (regulation gear, oil drilling) swarmed into the coffee drinking places. Supply houses were thrown up in a frenzy on Lubbock highway. I happened when it all broke out to be in the old Snyder Hospital Clinic parting with my appendix, and one nurse confided in me that she and her husband, new to town, had nowhere to live. Working in the oil fields, he used the car to sleep days, she slept in it at nights!

During the Diamond M field boom and in the subsequent steadier years since with workovers and routine servicing, and then all over West Texas and Oklahoma, Leo carried on much superintending responsibility. If you don't know any of the fascinating processes which go into dredging out oil perhaps you would like to follow a simulated well we might assume Leo superintended. We'll take a deep gas well. Say it's June, 1950.

From the time the roustabout gang chop weeds of a several-acres-wide area and install a cattleguard (made of oil field pipes), laying a good caliche road (sometimes actually paving or oiling it), Operation Oil is underway and the decisions are Leo's. In the early days, farm bosses, (production formen who directly oversee the well) if they slept at all during the drilling of a well, did it spasmodically between calls from the rig, wound around the gear shift of an old Chevie, half frozen, living on black thermos coffee and Vienna sausages cold from a can. In Leo's lifespan he saw physical conditions bettered for production men. Some companies today furnish portable television sets in comfortable, home-like "dog houses" or trailers, snugly built, air-conditioned, with a phone and ice cubes at hand.

Back to the well. Leo has ordered the "rat hole" dug. (A hole near the well, used to place the "kelley" in and to manipulate pipe throughout drilling) and the drill bit to bore about 3,000 feet, at least through the red bed (term used hereabouts for upper strata). A cellar also is dug about 8 ft. x 8 ft. which permanently houses the valves. The slushpit is shoveled out for waste oil later.

The surface pipe (13 and a quarter inch) is cemented in by the rig crew who have taken it down that far, and the drilling goes on 24 hours a day notwithstanding Fourth of July picnics, daughters, getting married, wives demanding the screen door be fixed, or funerals. Maybe "the show" doesn't always go on, but an oil well drilling invariably, does always go on.

It is Leo's or the production man's responsibility to call in a fisherman for consultation if the pipe sticks. Stuck pipe is an ever-present bugbear for production. If the pipe hangs up in the "key seat" (an imperfect angle of the hole), sometimes fishing will go on for long periods. All operations are slowed down by this. Incidentally, the well hole going down is straight as a dye, and if the drilling contractor who has been hired deviated more than a set number of degrees, an imperfect hole is the result and a drilling contractor is in deep trouble. A firm which does nothing but measure the hole to ascertain if it is within the given leeway of degrees, is the Technical Oil Tool Corporation.

One of Leo's production foremen might notify him the reading on bottom hole pressure of a 68,000 gas well is 1500 pounds pressure. This is touchy enough that Leo orders the blowout preventor rams shut down. Texas law says when the pipe is first set on a well, a blowout preventor is inserted as a safety precaution. The preventor might be called an enormous valve, the rams comparable to faucet shutoffs. The casing crew are there upon completion, summoned by Leo to set a 7 inch casing. The bottom of the casing is perforated by the perforation men who Leo calls at the strategic time. Through these perforations flow out the oil which reaps somebody a nice royalty check.

From inception of the drilling of a well in his jurisdiction until abandonment or completion, the superintendent is under heavy responsibility and pressure. A blown out well of deep gas might manace men and property. A superintendent takes personally the success of his wells, too, anxiously following the geologist's surmises after his inspection of rock cuttings from the bottom ("sample runs"), which are significant to a geologist because they indicate if the drill bit may have chewed through lime. The drill bit, interestingly, is changed for another, each time the drilling crew "makes a trip."

Accurate and constant reports must go out from Leo to his district headquarters. Upon finishing one well, he probably is on his way to another, possibly is going with problems on numbers of wells.

All of the men who go out to the wells here felt Leo's charm lay in his sympathetic way with his men. He had been there. He knew their life with the weighted pipe over them and the tremor of a big motor shaking the ground under them. Today's young superintendents coming on are an intelligent, knowledgeable group of men on the efficiency-expert type who necessarily can know their men well; theirs is becoming a more specialized business. The self-made oil exec, up-from-roustabouting, is vanishing. He was colorful, and in Leo's case, remarkably open to progress, receptive to new ways. He certainly was efficient enough that, so say his fellow office workers, during the last two years since failing health grounded him to an office as asst. supt., he was visited for advice by innumerable men of position and great experience.

Restless caged up at a desk, Leo had managed to wrangle some field work. He loved the life on the leases and was superintending a well near Chandler, Okla., when death came.

Knowing his interest in and affection for all things about bringing up the oil those who know him well feel gratefully that that is the way he would have had it happen —on the job.

Sewing Girls Have Bigger Wardrobes

Make your own clothes and you can have a bigger wardrobe. So says one small seamstress, brunette Marcia Bauer, 13, of Indianapolis, Ind., who parlayed her sewig machine into a trip to New York, and other prizes. She is a student at Westland Junior High School, sings in the church choir and is an assistant Sunday school teacher.

"I usually make about two or three dresses and five or six skirts every year" she says. "I buy wool for the skirts in blocks. It is cheaper than way."

The best sewing plan for new sewers is to make a trial pattern before you cut your good material, advises Marcia. Then you know you are on the right track. It takes a little longer but it is worth it, especially if you cut more than one outfit from the same pattern, she says. Her mother helps fit her.

Marcia buys her fabrics out of her allowance.

Her fathers allots her and her three older brothers and sister each $5 a week. Her 10-year-old brother gets $3, and two little sisters get 25 to 50 cents a week. The six allowances are based on work chores. The boys clean up their rooms and empty the trash, the girls do breakfast and lunch dishes and dinner dishes three nights a week. They must also feed the dogs and cats. Marcia does cat-sitting, too, for vacationing neighbors and earns extra money that way.

She has been a contestant in this sewing contest for three years, won the shop contest for two years with honorable mention in the regional contest until this year when she won first prize in her area. She was runner-up in the big national finale in New York. Her winning dress is made of cotton in a small plaid design in shades of brown, beige and charcoal with a natural linen collar. She employed the cording foot, ruffler and hand hemmer to give it a special prize-winning touch.

Many facial eruptions indicate some inner thing is out of whack, rather than an outside irritation is at work. Rich foods, poor elimination and failure to get the face clean are some of the causes.

Make dishwashing easier by rinsing all dishes thoroughly. Juices, milk and eggs, especially, are hard to remove if left to set in glasses, bowls or plates.

Silly Pillows Easy To Make

AP Newsfeatures

IT'S NO LONGER enough for a pillow to be comfortable. Nowadays pillows are an important part of bedroom decor, and must be unusual, colorful, pretty, whimsical or just plain silly.

Whether you are decorating a bedroom for a college daughter or a kindergarten belle, animal pillows will fill the bill.

You can make a pillow cat and a pillow dog from a standard pattern, following these suggestions from experts at your local sewing center.

Each pillow is made from a round foam rubber pillow, available in department stores, plus two thicknesses of one-inch foam rubber glued together for the smaller circles that form the heads. The pillows are covered in corduroy or fake fur fabric. Each requires about one yard of 35-inch fabric.

Follow pattern directions for cutting and assembling the pieces. The pattern includes transfer designs for the dog and cat faces. Eyes, ears, noses and the dog's tongue are made of felt, and lines tracing the mouth, whiskers and such may be done either with decorative stitching with an automatic zigzagger or may be stitched on with narrow rickrack braid. In any case, finish the faces and decoration before stitching the pillow covers together. Covers are zippered so they can be slipped off for laundering.

It's a good idea to make several of these pillows at once, to use for Christmas gifts or bazaar items. They are quick and easy to make, and are sure to be appciated.

Buffet Is Ideal For Big Meal For Large Families

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

AFTER GIVING MANY THANKSGIVING DINNERS, there is one serving procedure we can recommend if the menu is to be a traditional one.

When there is a large family plus guests, and no outside help, we find that using a combination buffet and sit-down service is convenient.

For this we set places around the dining table (extended, of course) and arrange the centerpiece. In our house this is always a blue milk-glass compote of fresh fruit that never fails to include persimmons and grapes; the compote is surrounded by blue milk-glass egg cups-small ends up—holding tall tapers. On the table, too, go matching blue dishes of cranberry sauce and other relishes, trays of crisp hard rolls and butter pats.

The main course is served from a separate buffet. This means that the bird — after his rich brown glory has been properly admired—is carved and arranged on an electric platter. The stuffing is spooned into a chafing dish to keep hot and the vegetables are served in covered dishes.

Everyone goes to the buffet, helps himself and then sits down at the large table on which there are place cards. One member of the family usually takes it on himself to look after those who want second helpings. Another member of the family eventually clears away the main-course dishes and brings on the dessert which is cut and served at the table.

As part of this plan, we serve our first course in the living room, whether it is a before-dinner drink and hors d'oeuvre or soup or both. Then glasses and plates are cleared away before we all enjoy the bird and trimmings.

TURKEY TALK

If you use a bread stuffing, we can't over-emphasize the importance of packing it into the bird lightly. This way the dressing has its best chance to taste fluffy and delicious. Any of the stuffing that won't fit into body and neck cavities may be baked in a separate dish and moistened with turkey gravy.

Stuff your bird just before roasting.

Allow two to four hours for cooking the turkey giblets. Cover them with water and add salt, peppercorns, celery tops, a sliced carrot, and onion stuck with whole cloves and a bay leaf. One cook we know always saves the stem ends cut from fresh tomatoes and adds these, too. The strained stock adds a great deal to gravy or may be used instead of other liquid in making the turkey stuffing.

Don't make the turkey gravy pasty and thick: if more than 2 cups of gravy is to be made, use no more than 2 tablespoons of flour per cup of liquid. If, after using those amounts, the gravy is too thick, gradually stir in more liquid.

Allow the roasted bird to stand 20 minutes before carving so the meat will absorb juices and be easy to slice.

Make sure your carving knife is sharp as can be. A dull knife will mangle the bird. Even slices of turkey, white and dark, are a joy to serve and eat.

BIRD OF THE DAY:—A rich brown turkey can form the centerpiece for a Thanksgiving dinner buffet. It's ideal when there are many guests and no outside help.

Easy To Make Gifts For The Small Budget

FOR A TRAVELER — Sand unfinished wooden hanger to remove any rough spots. Wax until they have a rich glow and are smooth as satin. Trim with a ribbon bow. For a special touch, tie a tiny fragrant sachet on one, some artificial flowers on another, a small package of bubble bath on another, and so on.

GLAMOROUS CLIPS — for a sheaf of letters or bills begin as plain wood clamp clothespins. Dip in paint. Use household cement to attack pearls, sequins, bead, artificial flowers, etc. Label "Letters" and "Bills" with paint or nail polish. Remember nail polish comes in all pastel colors, even pale green.

MONEY BAGS — People who like to give a gift of money will want these for the holidays. Make little drawstring bags from scraps of silk or velvet. Decorate with ribbon ruffles or anything that comes to mind, such as a cross-stitch design of a dollar sign. These bags can also be used for jewelry, cuff links, and other small items.

CANDLE CENTERPIECE can be really different when you make it like this: Spray a muffin tin with gold paint. Fill the cups with votive candles — dime stores have them. Trim with shiny green leaves and tiny crepe paper butterfly here and there. Tie a big satin ribbon bow at each end of the tin.

TRAVELING EARRINGS — Handsome travel cases for earrings can be made out of coin purses—the kind you get in every handbag and never use. Add a glamorous touch by sewing on cancan ruffles of ribbon. Or slipcover in velvet and add a design of a pair of earrings by sewing on sequins, pearls, small rhinestone buttons, etc.

TO A LITTLE LADY there's nothink like a "big lady" jewel box filled with junk jewelry. Buy a plastic tackle or utility box at the dime store. Use house hold cement to attach pearls tinted with rit, beads, flat rhinestne butons and other glitter.

FOR JUNIOR — If your favorite little boy likes to make things, paint a piece of pegboard to match his room. Attach hooks and hang up toy carpenter tools—hammer, pliers, screwdriver, tape measure, etc. Include a work apron with many pockets, too.

Ever-Ready Woolknits Now Designed For All Sizes

Being well-dressed at all times doesn't necessarily involve owning an extensive, costly wardrobe. It means having clothes that are always wearable, ready for immediate use without showing telltale signs of active performance.

Nothing fits these requirements better than a woolknit dress or suit. There's never any last-minute fuss of pressing, or worry about wrinkles sitting in enroute somewhere. No matter how often or how long they are worn, woolknits just plain don't wrinkle. The natural springy resiliency of the all-American wool fiber makes them stay as fresh and unmussed as when new. Whether you have just alighted from a few blocks' bus or car ride, or an overseas plane trip, your woolknit is as beautifully groomed as the first time you put it on.

The new group of woolknit fashions for holiday and resort has a special new excitment in silhouette, texture and unusual yarn designs. Handsome pattern effects are achieved with embossed tracery, welted stripes, bulky rib trims, plaids that have a woven snakestitch that has a rich three-feeling but with a better performance record, and a novel wool dimensional appearance.

These handsome, bulky knits provide the best background ever discovered for long-haired furs that are enjoying such a spectacular revival. One of the best examples is the double-breasted suit in magnified knit, very relaxed in feeling, trimmed with a sporty shawl collar of raccoon. It's the flexible, supple-fitting quality of knitted wool that makes it wonderfully adaptable to the new easy line of fashion: in gently bloused one-piece dresses, suits, with free-action jackets, two-piece dresses with permanently rib-pleated skirts, dress and jacket costumes that happily go from office to party. There are even special styles for Talls.

The ever-ready virtues of woolknits have been further enhanced by some ingenious new tricks that make perfect fitting possible without any expensive alterations. A three-way flexible waistline can be adjusted to short, average or tall figures simply by shifting on elastic-band. A new magic-string hemline enables a woman to choose her proper skirt length by pulling a thread on one, two or three hem strips, leaving a finished selvage edge that requires no sewing. Every figure type can be catered to. Women of generously built sizes are partial to knitted wool fashions because they create a slimmer-than-thou contour if selected in styles that ripple freely here and there. There's no fashion investment made today that pays more dividends.

BURNING ISSUE

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. H. E. Briggs was so anxious to get to church with her family, she forgot all about Sunday dinner. It was in the stove, and the big roast burned. Neighbors called the fire department as smoke billowed out the kitchen window.

TELEPHONE PAYOFF

CLAREMORE, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. S. N. Bell, while househunting, got the wrong number when she called about a place.

However, she struck up a conversation with the party at the other end, and the stranger got her a place to rent.

Buying Ice Cream

If you have a freezer or freezer compartment in your refrigerator, it is more practical to buy ice cream in ½ gallon containers. Ice cream can be stored for 30 days in the freezer before it will show signs of shrinkage or crystallizing.

If your family likes the flavor of poppy seed, try adding it to a French dressing for a green salad.

Cagney Gets Workers' Reception

NEW YORK (AP) — James Cagney, flanked by two New York policemen, walked to the end of Pier 17 through a crowd of tough longshoremen.

The workers greeted him warmly, shouting comments to him. He answered them back in kind, and they were delighted. It was obvious that they accepted him as one of their kind.

Cagney was reporting for a scene in his new movie, "Never Steal Anything Small," which was filming near the Brooklyn Bridge. It's a musical satire in which he plays a tough guy who sings his way to control of a corrupt labor union.

When he did his campaign number before the rugged-looking audience on the wind-swept pier—some actors, some not—he was immensely convincing. James Cagney, ex-hoofer, an actor who has earned millions, still could act the mug.

"That's what growing up in this town did for me," Jimmy said as he sat in the shelter of a truck and surveyed the skyline of New York. "Imagine me trying to play a tough guy if I hadn't been brought up in a tough part of town! Believe me, it has paid off well over the years."

Being back in the scenes of his boyhood prompted some nostalgia on his part. He talked about his early days around 79th Street on the East Side.

"Sure, the kids were tough in those days," he said. "They used blackjacks and knives then too. But there didn't seem to be the organization that there is today. We traveled in gangs, but every guy was fundamentally a free-lancer.

"Today, the kid gangs seem to have taken a note from the mobs in organizing and demanding protection money and that sort of thing. It's vicious."

After 25 years of living in California and New England, he has no yen to return to his native city.

"If you had to live in a city, this would be the place to do it," he observed. "Here you've got the best theater, the best museums, the best schools. But thank heaven I don't have to live in the city."

End advance PMS Nov. 14

ORIENTAL TRADITION was broken when the usually-forbidden area of the Buddhist Temple headquarters in Japan was opened for filming of a temple sequence in "Escapade in Japan," which stars Teresa Wright, Cameron Mitchell, and six-year-old Jon Provost. Director Arthur Lubin, center, and screenwriter Winston Miller are shown here with temple officials.

Top B'way Spot Hard Work

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Standing in the Broadway spotlight, Lena Horne admits, is hard, hard work.

"My friends warned me," said the night club star. "They said the stage would be hard. Well, it's very hard — but it is also gratifying."

Miss Horne, an entertainer of beguiling voice, magnetic eyes and ladylike walk, has won acclaim (the critical paludits "astounded" her) by virtue of her versatility in "Jamaica." The role is her first in musical comedy.

The triumph places an unusually heavy measure of responsibility upon the slim, sleek shoulders of Lena. "Jamaica" opened with a king-sized boxoffice advance of $1,600,000 — largely because of the Horne appeal. The critical verdict on opening night was that without her the show had little to offer in story or humor.

The star has thrown herself into her new career phase with determination, and awareness that Broadway success is a different kind of show business.

"Corny as it sounds," she said, "you have to be thinking every moment up there on the stage. You have to be acting, moving your body and singing. In cabarets you just sing."

Theater Fire: Paul Gregory is one producer who refuses to accept the theatrical cliche that there is a readymade audience for show business.

"There is no audience waiting for you unless you do something fantastically exciting to create it," says Gregory, who divides his energy among theater, movies and television.

This season Gregory is planning major concentration on Broadway, where he won first major success with co-production of "Don Juan in Hell" a few seasons back.

Gregory has recently launched on nationwide tour his production of "The Rivalry" which reaches Broadway in the spring. Going into rehearsal in May is "The Big Banjo," a project he has been long considering.

Discipline and Depth: The longest run in the career of Frederic March and Florence Eldridge has entailed a couple of impressive effects for the husband-wife team.

Their current enterprise, Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey into Night" has just passed the first anniversary in its prize-winning career.

"The biggest thing is the discipline it has put on us," says Miss Eldridge.

Part of the discipline comes from the four-hour running time of each performance; the rest because the Marches usually enjoy variety in their stage outings. They concede the present run has far surpassed their expectations.

"We thought it would be primarily a critical triumph," Miss Eldridge said.

The Marches' high enthusiasm for the work has intensified during the stint despite readjustments it has occasioned in revising meal hours, curtailing social activity and taking double the normal hours for each performance.

Rialto Notes: Sir Laurence Olivier comes to Broadway Feb. 12 for an eight-weeks only appearance in his current London hit, "The Entertainer."...Inbal, the national dance theater of Israel, opens its first American tour here in January...Two quick casualties of the season closed tonight after short runs, "Under Milk Wood" and "Copper and Brass."

Good Writing Makes Singer's Show

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The guy who started it all has some advice for the 16 other singers who have TV shows this season. Says Perry Como: Get yourself some good writing.

There can be no doubt that Perry triggered the age of the singer in television. Last season, he got an assist from Dinah Shore, but hers was not a weekly show. It was Perry who stood up against the giant, Jackie Gleason, two years ago and in his own easy manner eventually pushed him over. The age of the comics was finished.

"I don't see how all of us singers can survive," Perry observed during a rehearsal break. "Seventeen singer shows on the air! Something's got to give.

"I can see what's going to happen: next year we'll all be off the air and the comics will take over again."

Not likely. But it's certain that some of the singers will be casualties. If they follow the advice of the master, they'll take the money for lavish sets and costumes and put it into writing.

"I can't emphasize that too strongly," said the bland crooner. "I'm convinced that if we've had success it's due to the writing.

HAS A LOT TO LEARN

Bennet Not Yet Wanting TV Show

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In a season when every singer wants his own television program — and nearly everyone has a show—Tony Bennett is an exception. He doesn't want his own program—yet.

All jassophiles know Bennett. Hit records, a popular night club act, frequent guest appearances on TV . . . Bennett's away at the top in his field. But even a jazzophobe would enjoy meeting him. He's a pleasant, modest, articulate guy who rather reminds you of Perry Como before absolutely everybody knew Como.

Here's what we mean: Three of Bennett's friends, seated around him the other day, were telling a fellow that Bennett had turned down several offers for his own show.

"Look, don't give the impression that the networks were clubbing each other over the head to get me," Bennett said. "There was an opportunity and if I'd tried hard for it maybe I'd have gotten it, but I didn't want my own show."

That's interesting. Why not?

"I'm not ready for it yet, I feel," Bennett said. "I have a lot to learn. You might say I'm trying to study television, and there's no better opportunity to do that than appearing in guest spots."

Sunday evening, for example, he will appear on the Ed Sullivan Show. Last Sunday he appeared on the Steve Allen Show. He's been a frequent Como guest and has—and will—appear on many another variety program.

"It may be two or three years before I'm ready for my own show," Bennett said. "I don't want to go on just as a name after a network has given me something to do. That just doesn't work out."

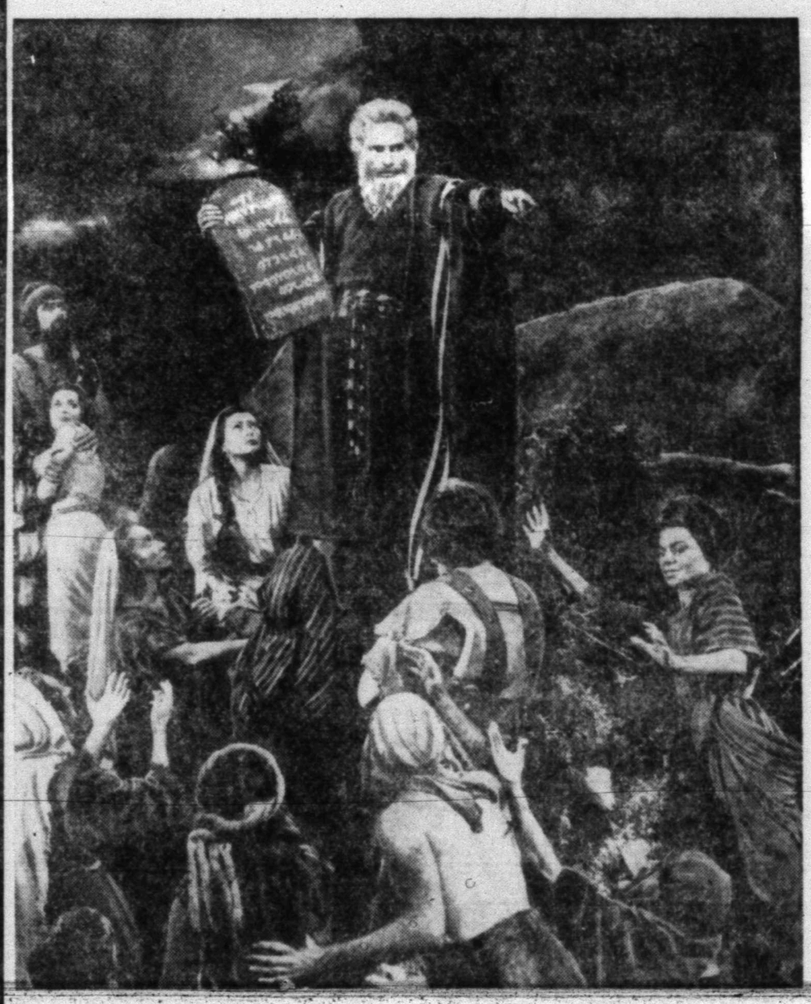
Wonders of Ancient Egypt Recreated In DeMille's 'The Ten Commandments'



The fearful wrath of Moses as he comes upon the evil worship of the Golden Calf is seen above as re-enacted in Cecil B. DeMille's motion picture masterpiece, "The Ten Commandments," opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. Portraying Moses in the mammoth VistaVision and Technicolor Paramount film is Charlton Heston; to the left of the great lawgiver are the bearded John Derek as Joshua, and Debra Paget as Lilia; Yvonne De Carlo, in white, is seen as Moses' wife, Sephora. Yul Brynner, Anne Baxter, Edward G. Robinson and Sir Cedric Hardwicke also star.

The incredible skill of the ancient Egyptians in building their massive cities, long a source of wonder to the modern world, is pictured in authentic detail and with a cast of tens of thousands in Cecil B. DeMille's mammoth production of "The Ten Commandments." Scenes showing the raising of a giant obelisk, the hauling and placement of huge granite blocks during the construction of the pharaoh's treasure city, and the life of the enslaved Hebrews in the brick pits of Goshen have been described as not only stupendous spectacle but a living illustration of history.

The VistaVision-Technicolor dramatization of the Book of Exodus, which will open Thursday at the Ritz Theatre stars Charlton Heston as Moses and Yul Brynner as Rameses, both of whose lives are entangled during the city building.

During the period when Moses and Rameses are both in line for the throne of Egypt, their rivalry is brought to a head when Moses shows more talent for handling the droves of slaves and he incurs the deadly enmity of Rameses. Here, too, he chooses slavery in the brick pits when he discovers he is a Hebrew and commits the slaying of the Egyptian that exiles him.

Using some 25,000 extras with the skill of forty-four years of dedication to the cinematic art, producer-director DeMille has recreated the misery of the Hebrews toiling to build great cities, the vast Exodus, the miracle of the Red Sea and the barbaric Golden Calf worship.

As the weird wonders of the Plagues, the Pillar of Fire, the Burning Bush and the awesomeness of God's writing of the Commandments in Sinai's granite unfold, three-hours and thirty-nine minutes pass as an hour

THE BIBLE

QUESTION: What was Jacob's Ladder?

• • •

ANSWER: Jacob was the son of Isaac and Rebekah and brothe. of Esau. One day Esau became very angry with Jacob and threatened to kill him. Rebekah urged Jacob to flee to his uncle in Haran until Esau's anger had died down.

On the first night of his journey, Jacob slept out of doors, using a large stone for a pillow. In a dream he saw a stairway stretching from earth to heaven with angels ascending and descending it. Above this "ladder to heaven" stood God, who spoke to Jacob. When he awoke, Jacob built an alter on the site and dedicated it to God.

Today, sailors call a wire or rope ladder on a ship a "Jacob's Ladder."

Sky Watch On Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of advances in radar warning systems, the Air Force is relieving its volunteer civilian ground observers of their skywatch for unidentified planes.

The Air Force will put the entire Ground Observer Corps on a ready reserve basis Jan. 1.

Col. Owen F. Clarke, COG project officer at Air Force headquarters announced the move at a meeting of the National Assn. of State and Territorial Civil Defense Directors. Civil defense officials have recruited volunteers for the observer corps.

The Air Force stressed it is not disbanding the GOC. It wants the observers to stand prepared for emergency duty and to remain in a trained and ready reserve status.

Many GOC observation posts and 29 filter centers, will be closed.

Check Passer Is Given Prison Term

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles R. Speedie, notorious nationwide phony check passer, has been sentenced to 1 to 14 years in prison.

"You probably will serve most of this sentence," Superior Judge Lewis Drucker commented. "Any time you seek parole you will find eight other states want to extradite and prosecute you."

Speedie, arrested Sept. 5 in a Cleveland suburb, was known as the "Traveler" to police across the country. He claims he passed $300,000 in bogus checks during a 15-year career.

Pentagon Takes 'Procter's Gamble'

Secretary Neil H. McElroy was president of Procter & Gamble Co. before he assumed office last month.
