Uganda Reports Fighting Denied By Tanzania

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Uganda military spokesman today reported heavy fighting between Uganda and Tanzanian troops, but a military spokesman for Tanzania denied the claim.

The Uganda source pinpointed the fighting in an area just inside Tanzania at the border village of Mutukula. He said a former Ugandan official had been captured. There had been heavy casualties on the Tanzanian side, he added.

Tanzania's spokesman, however, declared the border command reported everything quiet in Mutukula.

In a statement broadcast by Radio Uganda, the spokesman said: "There has been very hot fighting this morning between the Uganda army and Tanzania troops and guerrillas, and among the people captured at Mutukula Forest across the border was Joshua Wakholi, former minister of the public service and cabinet affairs in the former government.

"Mr. Wakholi was captured by the mechanized battalion and is reported to be severely wounded. It is not known if he will reach Kampala. There were heavy casualties on the Tanzanian side, and fighting is still going on."

The spokesman said that a medical card belonging to Lt. Col. David Oyite-Ojok had been found near Mutukula, and "It is likely that Ojok was killed during the fighting."

Oyite-Ojok, who fled to Tanzania after the overthrow of Uganda's former President Milton Obote in January 1971, was thought to have been commanding the guerrilla force.

The spokesman said Uganda would not send its air force to bomb the area, "because that would affect many innocent lives." He appealed to Tanzania to withdraw its forces from the area.

The latest report of London's Institute for Strategic Sudies says Uganda's army has 12,000 men to 10,000 for Tanzania. Uganda has a 600-man air force and 21 combat planes, while Tanzania has a 500-man air force, and only transports and trainers.

They've found another use for the Scurry County Coliseum, and this one may be the biggest yet. Those attending the 1972 Scurry County Fair apparently were well-pleased with the facilities at the coliseum.

This was the first time that the fair had been held there and it was evident from the very outset that it would be more convenient, not only for exhibitors but for visitors and the carnival, and not only in the coliseum itself, but also the parking facilities.

Many commented on the desirability of the coliseum for the booths, individual exhibits, the art show, flower show, etc. Also, the facilities for the special entertainment, new features this year, are convenient.

"Now if we just had a place out here to exhibit livestock and poultry, it would be complete," said more than one observer.

Rich Anderson, the Borden County Rancher who also is the Republican candidate for State Representative in the 63rd District, took advantage of the fair to do some visiting here. He told of his campaign kickoff event a few weeks ago when a heavy rain set in just as a number of guests arrived at his ranch for a barbecue.

"It really poured," said Anderson, "And we already had good rains before that. But I told them I had been on a ranch too long to pray for it not to rain."

The rains produced some big mosquitoes around here, among other things. However, city officials were pleased over the "Kill" which resulted from aerial spraying on Sept. 16— the second time around. The first aerial spraying had been less effective because it rained again the next day.

The second spraying, however, apparently got good results and some good side effects were reported, such as the demise of bugs which had been damaging elm trees here in the late summer.

If you've ever had hiccups, you've probably heard of many "remedies."

The latest, according to the Health Insurance Institute, is swallowing one dry teaspoon of white granulated sugar.

They say that latest experiments show this procedure "cured" nine out of 20 cases of hiccups. That's a better average than some of the older remedies.

And if you are a hay fever addict, you may take some comfort in the fact that you have plenty of company. There are 13 million cases of hay fever each year in this country.

And this is the season. No less than a quarter of a million tons of ragweed pollen are airborne during the fall season and very few places in the country are considered entirely free of ragweed.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

Today is Sunday, Sept 24, he 268th day of 1972. There are 98 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

CHUCK WAGON—J.J. Koonsman, an early Scurry County rancher, is shown standing by the chuck wagon used on a cattle drive he made about 1900. Koonsman was the father of Alvin Koonsman and the late Jesse Koonsman, Scurry County ranchers. This is one of the pictures used in the new book prepared by the Snyder unit of Ranch Headquarters Association.

Early-Day Water Sources Covered In Ranch Book

"Early Ranching and Water Sources in West Texas" is the title of a new 55-page book which will go on sale for the first time at Snyder's fourth annual Ranch Day on Sept. 30.

The book tells the stories of several well known watering places in the Scurry County area used by the early cattlemen when they brought their herds into this part of West Texas for the first time. The water theme was chosen because of the importance of water to the ranching industry, and a map showing many rivers, creeks and springs in Scurry and adjoining counties is also included.

Dr. W.C. Holden of Lubbock, well known as a historian and author, wrote the foreword of the "Early Ranching" book. Articles in the book tell about the Head of Tobacco country in Borden County, Sweetwater Creek, Seven Wells in Mitchell County, Pioneer's Well on the Llano Ranch in Garza County and Cooper's Canyon in Garza County, Greene Springs, Camp Springs, Rough creek, Deep Creek, and the water hole at Dunn. There is also a story entitled "Windmills: Legacy of the West" and a story about cisterns. There are 15 articles in all and 50 illustrations.

"Early Ranching" was prepare nd published by the Snyder unit of Ranch Headquarters Association, and is the third publication sponsored by the Snyder group. T.D. Cramer and Mrs. G.A. Parks; Jr., served as editors. An original water color painting by Jay Huckabee was used on the front cover and a color photograph of Greene Springs by Cramer on the back cover.

"We feel that we were fortunate to have the help of the writers who contributed to this new book," Cramer said. "All our contributors have shown their interest in preserving the history of our area by working with their local historical survey committees, museum organizations, Ranch Headquarters, and on personal research projects. Two of the contributors, Dr. Holden and Dr. Jane Gilmore Rushing, are professional writers who gave their time and research because of their interest in our project.

"We would like to express our thanks to area residents who helped with the book by loaning pictures to be used, and to Jay Huckabee and Jess Everett who did paintings for the book," Cramer added.

G.A. Parks, Jr., will serve as chairman of the book sales committee. The book will sell for $3 including tax on Ranch Day and may be ordered by mail for $3.50. Orders should be accompanied by check or money order and may be sent to Parks at 2706 Twenty-eighth Street, Snyder, Tex., 79549. Parks is also interested in contacting persons who would like to sell copies of the 1971 book; "First Cattlemen on the Lower Plains of West Texas", and will pay $5, twice the original purchase price, for copies in mint condition.

BCG May Help Eradicate Cancer

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — A scientist at Oak Ridge National Laboratory says a cancer treatment he has helped develop gives promise of becoming an effective cure for the disease through immunotherapy.

Dr. Michael Hanna Jr. said Friday that injection of a chemical called BCG into laboratory animals at Oak Ridge has been 100 per cent effective in eradicating cancer tumors and arresting the spread of cancer cells.

The prospect of cancer treatment using BCG has been discussed by immunotherapists in recent months as a possible new alternative in fighting the disease.

In Clearwater Beach, Fla., last March, Dr. Frank C. Sparks of UCLA told a American Cancer Society seminar how a research team led by Dr. Donald Morton had injected BCG into the nodules on the skin of melanoma patients and had melted the tumors away.

Sparks said BCG—Bacillus Calmette-Gruerin—was still highly experimental and was not ready for use by the average physician.

Other work in the field has been done by Dr. Edmund Klein of Buffalo, N.Y., Dr. Richard L. Simmons of the University of Minnesota and Drs. Herb Rapp and Bert Zbar of the National Institute of Health in Washington.

BCG, Hanna said, stimulates the body's natural immunological reactions against tumors to the point where they are strong enough to eradicate the cancer cells. "I think we've now discovered how this works," he said.

BCG has helped overcome some of the limitations of the white blood cells, the scavenger cells that normally destroy unwanted invaders, Hanna said. When BCG is injected, he explained, the white cells "enter the tumorous area and attack the BCG. In the process, they also kill the cancer cells."

"With BCG, we've overcome some of the limitations of the white blood cells. When BCG is injected, they enter the tumorous area and attack the BCG. In the process, they also kill the cancer cells."

Hanna said cancer researchers would meet in two weeks in Bethesda, Md., to discuss the BCG treatment and make plans to test it on a wide scale in human cancers.

Flipinos Under Martial Law

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philippines government proclaimed martial law, closed major newspapers, took control of radio stations and cut communications with the outside world today.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos said in a broadcast heard in Malaysia that he imposed martial law to "arrest the danger of a violent overthrow of the government."

Addressing the nation over radio and television he said the martial law did not mean a military takeover and that civilian government would continue.

Marcos said all colleges, schools and universities would remain closed for a week starting Monday.

All mass media both domestic and foreign must clear reports with his Malacanang Palace before dispatching information or printing them.

He also announced all public utilities came under his government's control immediately.

The drastic measures came amid unrest caused by the country's worst summer floods in history and a growing wave of bombings and terrorism culminating in an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the defense secretary Friday.

Government sources said President Ferdinand E. Marcos signed the martial law decree transferring power to military commanders late Friday.

But other reports said the order was dated Thursday and had been prepared before Defense Secretary Juan Ponce Enrile escaped unhurt from shots fired into his car in Manila by unidentified gunmen who fled.

A Manila police spokesman said three senators of Marco's opposition, the Liberal Party, and a newspaper columnist were arrested, but gave no reason.

Gunshots were reported on the campus of the state university, where classes were ordered suspended. The university has been a center of leftist activity.

Freed POWs Not On Plane

VIENTIANE (AP) — The Russian Aeroflot airliner that was expected to carry the first American prisoners of war to be freed by North Vietnam since 1969 arrived in Vientiane from Hanoi today, but the POWs were not aboard, U.S. television crewmen leaving the aircraft said.

Two American television crews had flown from Vientiane into the North Vietnamese capital on the same airliner earlier in the day in the expectation it would return on its way to Moscow with the freed POWs.

Waiting at the airport to meet the scheduled flight were American Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley and other senior American diplomats.

Godley told newsmen before the airliner landed that he hoped to board the plane and talk privately with the three released pilots if the men were aboard.

Nixon Appeals For Demo Votes

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — After wooing Democrats, President Nixon wrapped up a Texas campaign swing today by boosting the state Republican ticket and claiming success for his economic policies.

Before flying back to Washington, he tarried at San Antonio International Airport to see Mrs. Nixon off for a speaking stop in Oklahoma City and to confer with Sen. John Tower. Republican Tower faces a strong November challenge from Democrat Barefoot Sanders.

In a statement, Nixon said the latest statistics show "we definitely are on the right track with our economic policies."

"The latest price statistics show that the 1969 rate of inflation has been cut more than half," he said, adding that "the battle is not yet won." He said he is determined to pare the rate still further.

At Floresville, Tex., Friday night the President, appealing for Democratic votes, said members of the opposition party should only consider "what is best for America."

Perhaps of equal interest, he pictures Texas Democrat John B. Connally as a man of destiny and the architect of a successful national economic policy—all without mentioning Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who conceivably could emerge as Connally's rival for the nation's highest office four years hence.

The President and Mrs. Nixon spent the night at the Picosa ranch of John and Nellie Connally before leaving Texas today.

The Connallys hosted a dinner of ribeye steak and black-eyed peas Friday night for several hundred "Democrats for Nixon," who included James and Elliott Roosevelt, sons of the Democratic president.

Nixon told the ranch guests that he didn't like the term "Democrats for Nixon."

"I would like you to talk," he said, "in terms of Democrats for America, which really puts it where it belongs."

When a Democrat supports a Republican in a critical election, he said, "it cannot be simply on personal terms, it cannot simply be on selfish terms, it must be on terms of whether America's interest requires it."

S-Viet Troops Sweep Towns

SAIGON (AP) — The Saigon command announced today that 20,000 South Vietnamese troops spearheaded by 200 armored vehicles are sweeping southwest of Quang Tri City and Hue aimed at "searching for and destroying the enemy."

The drives are a continuation of the northern counteroffensive aimed at preventing North Vietnamese forces from reoccupying areas they had been chased out of earlier. The Saigon command said no fresh troops are involved and those participating had been in place for weeks.

South Vietnamese forces recaptured Quang Tri City Sept. 15 after a savage 80-day campaign, although most of the northernmost province is still either controlled by North Vietnamese forces or contested.

Only three days ago, President Nguyen Van Thieu said in a nationwide radio address that the victory at Quang Tri was only the beginning.

NY Welcomes Chess Champ

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Fischer's official City Hall welcome to New York city had all the trappings of a political rally—including "Bobby for President" buttons.

A choir sang "In Excelsis Deo." A U.S. Coast Guard band played a spunky tune, familiar at this year's Republican convention. And Fischer arrived early—instead of late—wreathed in smiles and wearing a maroon suit.

He strode past the red, white and blue bunting and the American flags—past a crowd of cheering fans and up the steps of City Hall, under a huge banner reading "Welcome Bobby Fischer, World's Chess Champion."

Fischer's controversial behavior in Iceland during his chess match with Boris Spassky once brought grumbles. But on Friday there was another Fischer, articulate, patient, and gracious.

"Hey, Bobby! You're bad, Bobby," barked a young man, happily thrusting a page at Fischer for an autograph. Fischer smiled and signed.

He carefully autographed wooden chess sets, crunched-up pieces of paper, hotel stationary, due bills, and address books. He drew the line only once, when a young girl asked him to sign her arm.

A balding man in an old blue suit, jockeyed for position with a couple of slim young girls in hot pants and yelled, "Come to Brooklyn and play us a game. Is it a date?"

"Well, I don't know," said Bobby, with a chuckle.

"Fischer will replace Lindsay," joked Anthony Saidy, chess master and friend of Fischer's.

"I'm running him," said Mayor Lindsay, following his presentation to Fischer of a gold medal and scrapbook of press clippings.

"Thank you. It's very nice," said Bobby, bending to receive the medal.

"I never thought the day would come when chess would be all over the front pages of newspapers here, and only one paragraph in Pravda," Fischer said in a short speech.

At a champagne reception held later, someone suggested that Fischer run for senator.

Fischer doesn't know yet about his future plans and where he will live. "I come and go," he said.

For now, he's staying with friend Paul Marshall.

Marshall has a guard in front of the house and has so far been successful fending off Fischer fans.

Nixon, McGovern Trade Long Distance Barbs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Nixon and challenger George McGovern have traded long-distance barbs as the 1972 presidential campaign appears to get a little bit more prickly.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro Agnew kept up his attack on the Democratic presidential nominee, and McGovern's running-mate, Sargent Shriver, flew to help Democrats in Nevada.

The President loosed his barbs from Floresville, Tex., where he and Mrs. Nixon attended a dinner with wealthy Democrats at the ranch of former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

While appealing for Democratic votes Friday night, Nixon hit McGovern on defense and economic issues. As has been his custom, Nixon did not mention his Democratic challenger by name.

"We reject the arguments of those who say that we would cut our defenses so that we become the second strongest nation in the world," the President said.

McGovern made tongue-in-cheek references to the Watergate affair and its links to Nixon's re-election organization as the Democrat campaigned Friday in Detroit, Rochester, N.Y., and Pittsburgh.

Referring to Nixon's Texas trip, McGovern said: "I don't know what this second visit's about unless he's going to come back with another suitcase full of money. The last guy they sent carried a suitcase between his legs with $700,000 in cash."

The South Dakota senator referred to recent disclosures that Nixon fundraiser Roy Winchester flew from Texas to Washington with a suitcase containing $700,000 for Nixon's re-election fund.

Four of the checks carried in the suitcase were reported to have been found in the bank account of Bernard Barker, one of the seven men facing trial in the June 17 break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex in Washington.

Agnew was campaigning in the South and continued hitting McGovern's criticism of U.S. bombing in Vietnam.

By criticizing the Nixon administration bombing policy, Agnew said in Roanoke, Va., McGovern "hurts the American morale by implying that we are murderers for doing the same thing we have always done through our history, and that is to go to the aid of people who have been victimized by aggression."

Meanwhile, Shriver flew to Las Vegas, Nev., to lend a hand to Democratic Gov. Mike O'Callaghan, who invited the vice-presidential candidate to speak at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner for candidates to the state Legislature.

Shriver arrived in Las Vegas after a campaign day Friday that included an appearance at a New York subway stop and a Mexican-American party in Texas. In Texas, Shriver ate tamales and drank beer just seven miles from Connally's ranch, where Nixon and the wealthy Democrats had dinner.

At the same time, Nixon dined with a by-invitation-only group of prominent Democrats as the guest of the former treasury secretary.

The President was to return to Washington today after meeting privately with 16 Texas Republican candidates and party officials in San Antonio.

He sounded his law and order theme at the border city of Laredo as he toured one of the first lines of defense against drug smuggling—a U.S. Customs inspection station.

Crowds estimated at anywhere between 30,000 and 60,000 swarmed to the Laredo motorcade route, flashing banners and signs, sombreros and flags to greet the President. Many signs were in Spanish.

South Texas Welcomes Nixon

FLORESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — President Nixon swept across South Texas into John Connally country Friday, receiving a Latin-flavored welcome from large, mostly Mexican-American crowds in three cities.

Following him into the vote-rich state was the No. 2 man on the Democratic ticket, Sargent Shriver, who campaigned here briefly and ate tamales on the courthouse lawn just seven miles from Connally's ranch.

Gin Hands Are Sought

The Texas Employment Commission is seeking all types of cotton gin workers to fill openings in Central and North Texas areas.

Needed are head ginners, press hands, suction hands and gin laborers, according to Mrs. Preston Wilson, in charge of the Snyder TEC office.

The work is expected to last two or three months, and transportation to and from the job will likely be furnished by the employer.

Applicants who are interested in these job openings should report to the Texas Employment Commission office located on the third floor of the Scurry County Courthouse or phone 573-5971.

Explorer 47 Is Launched

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Explorer 47 climbed into an earth orbit that will take it more than halfway to the moon today for a bird's eye view of the "magnetosphere"—a giant teardrop-shaped field enveloping the earth.

Nicknamed "IMP" (for Interplanetary Monitoring Platform), the 860-pound satellite roared into space at 9:20 p.m. EDT atop a three-stage Delta rocket.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the largest Explorer spacecraft to date was "right on the button in good orbit."

Tracking data showed the highly elliptical orbit carried the artificial moon as far as 146,200 miles from earth and as close as 153 miles to earth, NASA reported four hours after launch.

Ground controllers plan a midcourse correction Monday to achieve a more circular orbit, ranging from 155,000 to 127,000 miles out.

A veritable flying physics laboratory, the Explorer is designed to probe the interplanetary phenomena of solar plasma, cosmic winds, radiation and magnetic fields.

Dr. L. D. Kavanagh, project scientist, said the satellite will provide a "basic fountain of data which can be used for basic science or for better weather prediction in the future."

Information from earlier satellites is being used by meteorologists in predicting solar storms and improving earth weather forecasts.

Ultimately, better world weather forecasts will be possible through the scientific research conducted by Explorer satellites, Dr. Kavanagh said.

The $14 million Explorer 47 mission—including $6 million spent on the launching—also is supposed to yield new information on how violent sun storms have sent cosmic rays across space to cause earth magnetic storms, radio blackouts and auroral displays.

Explorer 47 will further define the nature and extent of the magnetosphere. Scientists say radiation particles streaming from the sun at supersonic speeds are unable to penetrate the earth's atmosphere. The stream flows around the planet forming the magnetosphere.

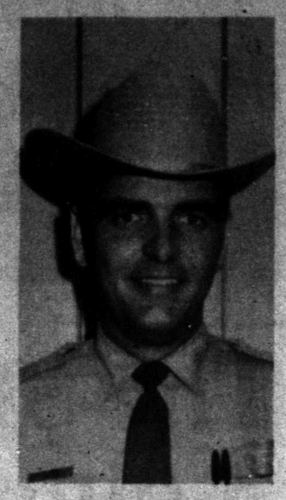

National Teacher Exams Set

ABILENE—The National Teacher Examinations will be administered on Nov. 11 at Hardin-Simmons University which has been designated as a test center.

According to certification officer, Dr. E. L. Bowden, college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systesm which encourage or require the NTE are eligible to take the tests. In addition, the designation of Hardin-Simmons University as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Dr. Bowden said.

Last year approximately 120,000 candidates took the examinations which are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization. The examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, are limited to assessment of those aspects of teacher education that are validly and reliably measured by well constructed paper-and-pencil tests.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing Registration Forms as well as sample test questions may be obtained from H-SU or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Education Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540.

25 Families Receive Aid

Twenty-five families received Red Cross assistance following the Aug. 13 flood in Snyder.

Assistance provided here was in the categories of food, clothing, linens, beds and bedding, cooking utensils, minor house repairs, appliances and basic household furnishings.

Betty Moody, a National Red Cross Caseworker, was in Snyder to assist Sis Jones, local chapter executive, in providing the needed disaster relief. Red Cross relief expenditures in Snyder exceeded $3,000.

Donations to aid the victims of the Snyder flood may be made to the local Red Cross chapter. The American National Red Cross has recently spend $22½ million in relief of flood victims of Hurricane Agnes and the disaster budget is deflated.

Hearing Is Set On Fogg

HOUSTON (AP) — A hearing on a federal suit to stop the destruction of the sunken tanker V.A. Fogg was set for Monday in Galveston here Friday, too late to stop part of the blasting.

A demolition crew, unaware of the court order, began blasting the superstructure of the sunken tanker 50 miles off the coast of Galveston Friday afternoon. They were unable to hear news of the court order because radio equipment on the boat divers were using was turned off to prevent premature explosions of the radio-controlled explosives.

Further demolitions will be postponed until after the Monday hearing, said Frank Boulanger, general manager of the J&J Marine Diving Co. of Pasadena.

The Fogg, owned by Texas City Tankers Inc., exploded and sank Feb. 1 in about 100 feet of water killing its 39-man crew.

The suit, filed by environmentalists and also by relatives of the crew, say blasting the tanker will destroy a natural reef which has grownup around the ship and also scatter the remains of the dead crew on the bottom.

The owners say the ship is presently a hazard to navigation.

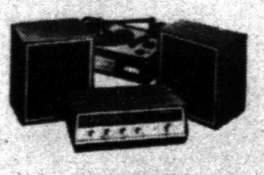

Mike Price, president of a Houston skin diving school, said a group of 35 to 40 divers plan to stage a swim-in at the site of the sunken ship Sunday to make sure there is no more blasting.

WHY THE CITY COUNCIL CALLED THE SALES TAX ELECTION!

THE CITY OF SNYDER, TEXAS
AC 915/573-3526
P. O. DRAWER GG
1624 24th STREET 79549

Dear Fellow Citizens:

The Snyder City Sales Tax election offers Snyder voters a choice.

Voters can choose a one percent city sales tax which everyone pays, or by rejecting the sales tax at the polls, choose to continue reliance on increased advalorem property taxes which home owners and property owners pay.

The proposed city budget is $63,000 short due to the cost to rebuild the bridges which were destroyed in the August 13 flood. This additional revenue can be raised by increasing property taxes about 18%. This would bring in an estimated $64,000.

If the sales tax is approved, it would bring in an estimated $70,000 (1/2 year collection) for use in the 1972-73 fiscal year. This amount would make up the budget deficit and leave a small reserve.

The sales tax would not apply to such items as automobiles, groceries, gasoline, prescription medicines, cigarettes, school lunches, or many other purchases. It would be paid only on the items now included in the state sales tax.

One fact is certain - - - - more money must be raised by taxation for operation of our city services. Please go to the polls and vote on October 10 so that Snyder can continue its progress.

Ann Barnes, Bill Streety Pledge Double Ring Vows

MRS. BILLY WAYNE STREETY

Avenue D Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage of Beverly Ann Barnes to Billy (Bill) Wayne Streety. The Rev. James C. Appleby, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony which was at 7 p.m. Sept. 16.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Barnes of Robert Lee and Streety is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil L. Streety, 2316-41st, Snyder.

Two matching basket arrangements of white gladiolis and light pink carnations accented with wine rose ribbons and streamers banked on either side by a seven branch candelabra decorated with garlands of flowering boxwood foliage adorned the altar of the church. A kneeling bench of antique gold with cushions of gold velvet completed the bridal setting.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of satin with an empire bodice and slightly gathered skirt which flowed into a chapel train. Pearls accented the appliqued peau 'd ange lace which formed a yoke and trimmed the cuffs of the long, full sleeves and encircled the hemline. She carried a cascading bouquet of white glamellias touched with light pink and wine rose sweetheart satin roses edged with stephanotis and natural foliage of English ivy atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Ted Morgan of Catasqua, Pa. served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of burgundy peau de soie trimmed in pink featuring a sweetheart neckline and empire styling. She carried a colonial nosegay bouquet of wine rose carnations centered in light pink carnations and baby's breath and trimmed with wine rose lace.

Bridesmaid was Fern Roberson of Garland. She was attired in a floor-length pink peau de soie gown with burgundy trim styled like that of the maid's of honor. She carried a colonial nosegay of light pink carnations centered in wine rose carnations and baby's breath and trimmed with light pink lace.

Terri Greaves of Plano served as flower girl. Her gown was identical to that of the bridesmaid and she carried a white basket of fixed light pink and wine rose carnations with a touch of baby's breath and bows and streamers of matching satin ribbon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Barnes wore a floor-length burgundy sheath dress trimmed with gold buttons and featuring long sleeves. She chose burgundy shoes and a gold necklace and earrings. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a tailored long sleeved floor-length pink dress with pink shoes and a white pearl necklace. She wore a burgundy carnation corsage.

Bob Lieb of Snyder served as best man. Richard Elkins of Odessa was groomsman and Richard, Mark and Rex Reynolds of Colorado City, cousins of the groom, served as ushers.

The groomsmen and fathers wore boutonnieres of white carnations and the groom's boutonniere was of white glamellia and stephanotis from the bride's bouquet.

The musical program was furnished by Mrs. Glen Thompson, organist, and Miss Dewelene Forbes, soloist. Selections included "More" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception immediately followed in the fellowship hall of the church.

Mrs. Rick Barnes presided at the three-tiered white wedding cake which was trimmed in pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Centerpiece for the table was of light pink and wine rose carnations with touches of baby's breath.

A memory candle of lily-of-the-valley scent set on a crystal plate and surrounded by leaf foliage and light pink and wine rose carnations centered the registry table. Marena Johnson presided at the guest book.

Others in the houseparty included Mmes. Kenneth Woods of Snyder and Sam Bruner of Fluvanna. All members of the houseparty wore shoulder corsages of light pink and wine rose carnations.

For the wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the bride chose a burgundy pant suit with pink ruffled crepe blouse. She wore a white gardenia shoulder corsage trimmed with light pink and wine rose ribbons and bows.

Out of town wedding guests were from Irving, Hurst, Texarkana, Garland, Hawkins, Canyon, Colorado City, Andrews, Dallas and Plano.

The bride is a graduate of Rankin High School and Childe's Beauty College of Cosmetology and Instructor School of Midland. Her husband is a 1964 graduate of Snyder High School and has attended Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech University.

The couple is at home in Irving where Streety is a clerk for Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad in Dallas.

The Journal published results based on interviews with about 700 women between 1968 and 1971. Half of the women suffered from breast ailments.

Quotable Women

Here are quotable quotes from women during the week:

"What the government and press have refused to acknowledge is that we provided information and letters when nobody else could. They refuse to acknowledge it because it's embarrassing that a mother of three and her committee can produce these results." Cora Weiss, peace activist in Hanoi overseeing the release of the American POWs.

"I'm going to kiss him and then buy Daddy some candy." Three-year-old Kirsten Charles as she sees her father, a POW on the way home, on television.

"You can discuss children, childbirth, cooking, marital problems, things I'd never dream of discussing before, and, when men find out I'm a mother, all the flirting becomes friendly instead of serious. It's marvelous." Virginia Dodd, mother of three who returned as an airline stewardess after a court suit ruling her firing had been discriminatory.

"In the U.S.S.R. we saw representatives of many nationalities living and working as members of one big friendly family. Back home we shall speak of the women's movement in the U.S.S.R. and the happy life of the children." Angela Davis on a television program broadcast in Moscow.

"Better looking than I remembered him after five years apart," Minnie Lee Gartley after the first glance at her POW son, Navy Lt. Markham L. Gartley.

"Within the last 10 days it just seems like it's all come together." Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood disputing rumors of discord in George McGovern's camp.

For a good before-dinner cocktail, mix equal amounts of clam and tomato juice. Season with lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce.

Miss Brown, Bobby Jordan Say Wedding Vows Saturday

Juanelle Brown and Bobby R. Jordan exchanged wedding vows at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 23, in the First United Methodist Church of Rotan. The Rev. Bob Ford of Post officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar of the church was decorated with basket arrangements of pink and white glads flanked by a candelabra holding pink candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Lee Brown, of Abilene, wore a carpet-length gown of satin fashioned with Venetian lace on a high rise neck. The gown featured an empire bodice, Victorian sleeves and an A-line skirt. Venetian lace also trimmed the full-length double veil of English silk illusion which fell from a pearl tiara. The bride's bouquet was of pink bridal roses topped with a white orchid.

Patti Upshaw of Rotan was the maid of honor and Judy McBeth, of Friona, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of pink cotton and carried bouquets of pink sweetheart roses and white feathered carnations.

Serving as best man was Connie Ellis of Colorado City and John Lee Brown of Dallas, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Ken Jordan of Friona, brother of the groom, Joe Hefner of Sweetwater and Don Hefner of Lubbock, cousins of the bride, served as candle lighters and seated guests.

Kay Kennedy of Denton presented organ music and Peggy Upshaw of Rotan registered guests.

Serving in the reception, which was held on the church patio, were Mrs. Freddy Bell of Plainview, Mrs. David Siler of Paint Rock and Mrs. Vernon Moffitt of Corpus Christi, all cousins of the bride.

Ginger Bell and Keith Bell of Plainview and David Moffitt of Corpus Christi distributed rice bags.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. John O. Brown of Rotan and the late Mr. Brown, is a graduate of Hobbs High School at Rotan and McMurry College at Abilene. She is associated with the Abilene Public Schools.

Jordan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin R. Jordan of Friona. He is a graduate of Friona High School, attended Texas Tech and is completing his tour of duty with the Air Force, stationed at Dyess AFB.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 3350 South 3rd Abilene.

HOW TO BRING UP CHILDREN

World Shares One Common Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE—The world has a common problem—how to bring up children. A survey shows parents around the globe are trying to bring up their children as they were brought up; or as they wish they were brought up; or as the government tells them to bring them up. The lesson is either nothing works, or anything works.

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP)—If, as Wordsworth said, the child is father of the man, then no wonder there are wars.

Look how children are brought up. All over the world there is one question common to the human condition: How do you bring up Ivan or Hans, or Pierre, or George, or Manuel, or Nils? Or all of the above?

And all over the world, an Associated Press survey finds total parental confusion. Parents try to bring up their children as they were brought up, or as they wish they were brought up, or as government tells them to bring them up. The lesson is either that nothing works, or anything works.

In West Germany, for instance, studies show that 50 to 80 per cent of parents think it is useful to beat their children.

When you find people believing in such stringent exercise or parental authority, you also find a counterpart in permissiveness. One West German professor has suggested that sex education ought to include intercourse as early as age 13. Under teacher's guidance, of course.

In Paris, too, it's a coin toss. Some think it normal for early teen-agers to strike against school authorities, while others are so strict that they teach little boys the courtesy of kissing a lady's hand.

In the Soviet Union a child is taught to behave and not ask questions. Two parents were asked if they thought their children should be taught to acquire a mildly questioning attitude toward accepted ways.

"I don't know what you mean," said one. "I've never heard of such a thing."

The other replied: "I never asked any questions. It never occurred to me."

That this tradition is not 100 per cent effective is indicated by the fact that some dissidents have emerged from a purely Soviet education.

But the Soviet Union shows little of the public groping toward change that appeared in an inquiry among half a dozen other non-Communist countries. Among them the U.S. level of permissiveness in raising Muddle and uncertainty seem least prevalent.

The whole question, said a Dane, "is in a painful state of confusion."

Take sex education, for example, a subject which Europeans might be expected to accept more matter-of-factly than other parents.

Said one French parent:

"This is still a tough problem and we haven't found any ideal solution. It's considered a matter for parents, but 90 per cent of the parents in France seem to be at a loss as to how to go about it."

Said another: "Very few teachers deal with it. Books are rare and seldom used."

In one London primary school the headmaster insisted on regular sex lectures for all children from the age of 7 on.

In Italy there is no sex education in the schools. In Japan mention of the word "sex" in front of minors was taboo until after World War II. Even today sex education is called "chastity education."

The Danish government, at least, seems to know what it wants. Since last fall a law passed unanimously by parliament requires sex education in all municipal schools, from the first grade up. Some parents moved their children to private schools.

If sex education is an indication of the degree of permissiveness at large among the world's parents, then so, too, is the question of how a child should use his time.

In Brazil, at least among the well-to-do, parents feel the need to know where their children are and what they're doing at any given moment. Play time is usually supervised.

Class distinctions play an important part in Britain. For middle-class teen-agers, school takes up most of the day. Television may be rationed to an hour or two. The youngsters are under pressure to "outdo" their parents and climb another rung up the social ladder.

Jeanne Starr, a psychologist who works in southeast London, reports that life is a good deal different in working-class areas. It is not that the parents are poor. Children may get substantial amounts of pocket money to fritter away. But they are often left alone at home to watch TV and are rarely encouraged to read books. Sport becomes almost an obsession, she says.

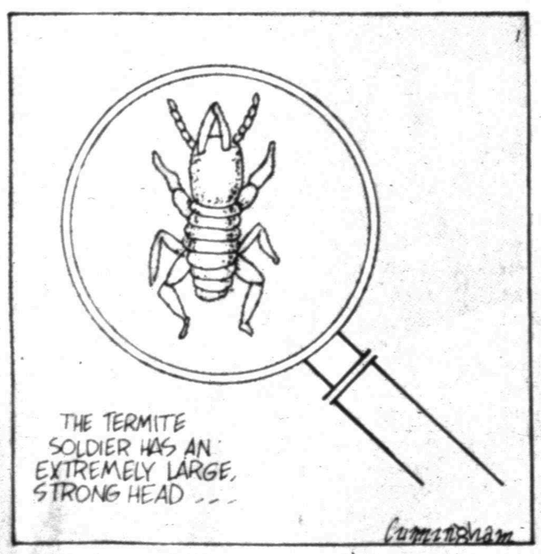

The French school day is long, too, and although the government has officially banned homework, a lot of kids have to do an hour or two anyhow. Many French parents are ready to allow a good deal of freedom to children who do well in their school work. Grades are usually given on a strict zero to 20 scale and no teacher hesitates about making a child repeat a year if the grades are too low.

Frau Inge Lindner, a teacher in Frankfurt, finds some German parents so fond of homework for their children that they make it up themselves if they think the children don't get enough—much to the annoyance of teachers.

In West Germany pressure to achieve is applied early in life. At the end of the fourth grade there is a sharp division among children. Those who do not get into the Gymnasium, as the academic high school is called, find themselves in an educational stalemate.

Junior Editors Quiz on TERMITES

QUESTION: What is a termite?

ANSWER: The termite is an insect, sometimes called the white ant. It is not an ant. Actually, it is much lower on the scale of insect life than the ant and more closely related to the cockroach and grasshopper. Termites are abundant in warm regions in Africa, Australia and the Amazon section, in many sections of the United States. They are sociable insects, living in colonies with a caste system of king and queen and workers, and soldiers assigned to guarding the colony from enemies, such as ants.

Termites eat wood, paper and other materials containing cellulose. They are divided into soil dwellers and wood dwellers. The wood dwellers eat the wood of trees in tropical forests and do great damage to orange trees and sugar cane. The soil dwellers have tunnels underground and eat any wood in contact with the ground or close to it. Most species of termites thrive on moist wood, so builders seal off the moisture by applying creosote to the lumber used in the home. Metal shields and concrete blocks are often used in home construction to avoid the problem of termites.

Mid-Management Course Blends Theory, Practice

Mark Stephens gets up in the morning and goes to school at WTC. He works at O'Rear Furnituure in the afternoons and does his studying at night.

He is a student in the Mid-Management Course offered at the college. According to Harry Dietz, Assistant Professor of Mid-Management, "It is an accelerated manager training program which combines classroom theory with practical on-the-job training."

The program has four qualities that make it particularly appealing to today's youth. It is cooperative, vocational, flexible, and accelerated. A large part of the program rests upon Snyder's business men. They provide students with the opportunity to learn on-the-job skills. In the first semester, students go straight to the job and schedules for the regular curriculum are balanced around needs of the student.

A 1971 graduate of SHS, Mark enrolled in the program last year and has been enthusiastic since with the many aspects of practical learning.

"I think it's a good program," he said. "I believe that when I leave here I could sell furniture for anyone or even manage a store."

After receiving an applied science degree from WTC, Mark hopes to attend University of Texas at Arlington and then seek management career in a large metropolitan area.

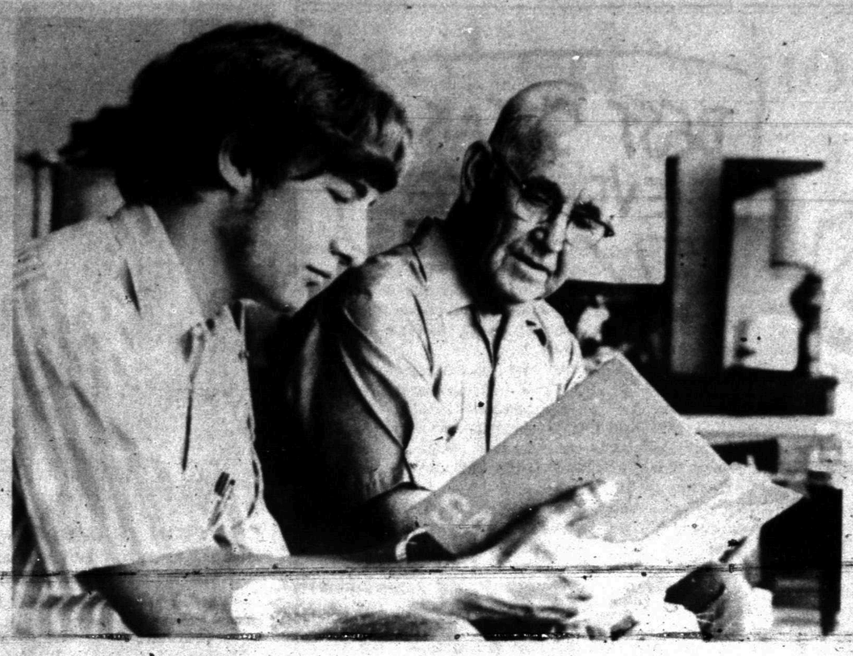

According to Mark, the toughest aspect of Mid-Management is selling and dealing with the public.

"It's hard work sometimes. The course is complex, with many different things you have to take into consideration. I've done everything here from moving and dusting furniture, to setting up displays and selling."

Mark is not all work and no play, though. He collects antiques. And he spends his spare time restoring antique furniture.

Nineteen-year-old Stephens is also the president of WTC's business management club, Beta Mu Sigma.

Owner-manager Marvin M. O'Rear, with 23 years in the furniture business said, "It's a great program. It gives young people the chance to get first hand experience."

CONSULTING THE BOOK—Mark Stephens and Marvin M. O'Rear discuss an idea from a salesmanship textbook. Mark, a mid-management student from WTC, gets on-the-job experience at O'Rear Furniture. (SDN Photos By Bill Baldwin)

A PART OF LEARNING—Learning every aspect of the business, including delivery, is basic to a business degree at WTC. Mark Stephens said, "It's hard work sometimes, but I like getting this kind of opportunity."

SBA Office Closing Soon

The Small Business Administration office which was opened at the Snyder City Hall following the Aug. 13 flood, will be closing next week, and those who had flood damage and have not yet contacted the SBA should do so as quickly as possible.

The office was set up here on a temporary basis to handle applications resulting from flood losses. It is handling applications in connection with personal property losses, as well as those for home owners and businesses.

Anyone interested in making an inquiry about the SBA flood damage program should go to the office at the city hall, or call 573-3537. Tony Barnett of the SBA office in Lubbock is operating the temporary office here.

Being A Consumer More Complicated

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — The business of being a consumer is growing more complicated every year, claims a Birmingham University professor. So courses should be run at universities, aimed at equipping women for a career in shopping.

Prof. Gordon Borrie warned the National Council of Women at a Midlands meeting that future generations of housewives will inevitably fall into financial pitfalls as shoppers.

Wheat And Oil Dominate News

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Wheat exports and oil imports were live topics in business news the past week. Wheat exports are destined for further investigation and oil imports will be boosted in the final quarter of 1972.

The Agriculture Department late Friday eliminated completely wheat export subsidies, at least through Monday.

The action makes the price of U.S. wheat about 18 cents higher per bushel for foreign customers. It also makes American wheat 50 per cent more expensive on the world market than it was a month ago.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said the Federal Bureau of Investigation would "look thoroughly" into the question of whether big grain exporters, selling wheat to the Soviet Union, had taken "any undue profit, due to any misinformation or improperly revealed information on the part of the federal government."

The White House said later the investigation was requested by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, said a House small business subcommittee which he heads would examine the whole subject of how American farmers fare in foreign trade.

A House agriculture subcommittee headed by Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Texas, held a three-day hearing on the wheat topic, raising such questions as whether farmers in the early harvest states of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas had been kept in the dark about the extent of the Soviet Union's needs for wheat.

At the same hearing Agriculture Department officials denied that six major grain exporters had derived any advantage from their telephone calls on Aug. 24, advising the exporters that a change in wheat subsidy policy was in the making.

Clarence D. Palmby, who left the department June 7 to join Continental Grain Co., testified that contentions he had carried government secrets with him were an "outright lie."

Because of increasing demand for petroleum products, which domestic producers have been unable to match, and because stockpiles are diminishing, President Nixon issued a proclamation raising import limits, especially for No. 2 heating fuel, which is used extensively in the Northeast section of the nation.

During his freshman year at the academy, Cadet Allen was honored by being named to the Superintendent's List two semesters, the Dean's List twice and the Commandant's List three semesters for his academic achievement and military excellence.

This past summer, the cadet and other members of the class of 1975 completed an intensive three-week course in water and combat survival and introductory prisoner-of-war training.

The cadet will be commissioned a second lieutenant and receive a B.S. degree upon graduation from the academy in June 1975.

He is a 1970 graduate of Snyder High School, where he was a member of the National Honor Society and lettered in sports.

Facts About The Snyder School Bond Election

Propositions 1 and 2

The idea of a junior college in Snyder was born in the early 1950s and many attempts were made to achieve this goal. Propositions 1 and 2 are a result of one such attempt.

It was thought that if the Snyder Independent School District touched Howard County we might be permitted to operate a campus in Snyder under the direction of Howard County Junior College. In order for the Snyder School District to touch Howard County, the Snyder Board of Trustees traded a portion of the Snyder School District to Ira Independent School District for an equal amount of their district which bordered Howard County.

As a legal technicality and in order to collect taxes on that portion of land which we received from Ira, these two propositions should have been voted on at the time the property was received from the Ira School District. Propositions 1 and 2 need to be approved so the portion of land annexed from Ira school district can legally assume its tax share.

Proposition 3

There are several reasons why the Board of Trustees of the Snyder Independent School District feel the necessity to call for a bond election in the amount of $2.9 million.

One phase of the bond issue proposal is for air-conditioning the existing school buildings. While this part of the issue is critical in terms of personal comfort and, according to local doctors, of student health, there is little further explanation possible since the actual type air-conditioning has not been decided.

A request from several hundred patrons requesting the schools be air-conditioned was submitted to the Board in 1971.

Average Annual Proposed Principal and Interest Requirements, 1974 - 1980* 506,500

*upon payment of the final payment of 1980 the school district will then be debt free.

Proposed new construction is planned with climate control included since research shows that more learning results when the learner is physically comfortable in terms of temperature. To improve this comfort and therefore to increase learning, air conditioning existing facilities seems desirable.

The Snyder High School building was opened in 1953. At the time it was considered the ultimate in school structures, just as the 1953 model cars were the latest word. Twenty years later - and with no significant strutural changes - it compares favorably with that same automobile. New instructional techniques and curricular offerings have developed but our facilities are basically the same now as they were in 1953.

Up-dating, then, is one of the reasons for asking the voters to approve this bond issue and is the basis for the proposed new science facility. Additional lab space is also a factor in the request since all students presently do not have access to equal facilities.

Space limitations as well as up-dating of service offered is the justification for the new library facility. Study halls as most of us remember them are out-dated, educationally speaking. Therefore, the Student Center concept would lend a more pleasant atmosphere for studying as well as give the high school students more of a choice in foods offered by the school food services at the snack bar.

The band and choir, while doing an excellent job in producing music and musicians, have been hampered by facilities which were too small and limited in function. The new band hall would remedy this handicap for the band and the present band hall would be utilized by the choir to the ultimate benefit of both programs.

The vocational agriculture-industrial arts (shop) building is inadequate for today's enrollment in these two areas. The industrial arts department does not have classroom available for lectures; any classroom discussion for woods or metals classes must be conducted in the shop area itself which is not conducive to the student learning. The power mechanics classes - we now have five sections scheduled - are in the same situation. The agriculture shop is much too small for as much work in this area as we would like to offer and their is virtually no storage space for the ag people.

In the proposed new vocational building, the ag department would have two classrooms and a greatly enlarged shop. The building would also house the ICT (Industrial Cooperative Trades) program and the DE (Distributive Education) pgogram. Both of these program are "co-ops," that is, a student spends a half day at school and a half day in on-the-job training. At the present time, these classes are meeting in a classroom shared by other type classes and consequently the instructors are unable to specialize in their instruction to the extent which we would like because of storage and equipment limitations.

Space relieved by the construction of the new facilities would be converted into classroom space, enabling the ninth grade to be housed in the high school building.

Why Move the Ninth Grade Into High School?

1. Ninth graders are physically, socially and educationally more similar to pupils in the tenth grade than they are to the younger pupils in the eighth grade.

2. Pupils in the 9th grade begin earning credit for graduation. Placing the ninth grade in high school will make these students more aware of the importance of the full four years grades than is now evident with the 1-3 splitting.

3. By being in a four year high school, a student has a broader and more flexible schedule and can take advantage of more elective offerings.

4. By placing the ninth grade in high svhool, the dropout numbers might be reduced at that grade level. Many students do not come back to the ninth grade because they do not wish to return to junior high.

5. The high school band and choir programs might improve and be enlarged by utilizing outstanding ninth graders in high school units.

6. By closing one of the junior high school buildings, a savings should result in maintenance, utilities, equipment, supplies and probably teaching personnel.

7. By removing the ninth graders, the junior high schedule could become more flexible in time allotment because the rigid fifty-five minute present class period would not be necessary.

CRAYTON RAMBLES—Snyder High School's Hubert Crayton (with football) pulls away from a Big Spring defender during the first period of the Class AAAA grid contest in Tiger Stadium Friday night. Crayton, who led ball carriers in the game with 155 yards on 13 carries, gained 51 yards on this play to set up a touchdown. The talented tailback scored two touchdowns in the third quarter to lead Snyder to a 21-10 victory.

Tough Tigers Rip Big Spring Steers, 21-10

How sweet it is! Victory, that is. Snyder's Tigers cranked up their offense and put forth a sound defensive effort to blast Big Spring's Steers 21-10 in a non-district football battle here Friday night.

Snyder took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter, then saw the Steers take command 10-6 at halftime. But, the Tigers rallied with two touchdowns in the third period and added a field goal in the last stanza to claim the victory.

The Tigers swept 80 yards in four plays the second time they got the ball in the first quarter. Tailback Hubert Crayton, who was the leading ground gainer with 155 yards on 13 carries for the Tigers, raced 51 yards from the Snyder 20 to the Steer 29. Fullback Paul Norred added one, then Welton Cobb was stopped for no gain. Then quarterback Tim Holder hit halfback Jimmy Don Dyess with a pass for the touchdown with the play covering 28 yards. Dyess made the reception up the middle surrounded by Steer defenders at about the 10 yard line and raced on in for the tally. There was 7:05 remaining on the clock.

A fumble spoiled the conversion play.

An interception by John Smith set up the Big Spring field goal in the second quarter. Smith stole the aerial at the Big Spring 48 and returned it to the Snyder 37. With quarterback Alan Davis and running backs Ricky Steen and Barry Truette doing the honors, Big Spring drove to the Tiger 24. A loss by Truette back to the 30, a gain to the 24 by Davis and an incomplete pass set up fourth and 10 at the Tiger 24. With Earl Reynolds holding the ball at the 33 yard line, Steen kicked a field goal with 1:11 remaining and the visitors trailed by only 6-3.

The Steers Willie Williams grabbed a fumble at the Big Spring 48 and the Steers needed only two plays to beat the clock and get the touchdown. Davis lofted a 25 yard pass to end Jerry Knoepfel who was stopped at the Tiger 27 by David Yearwood. On the next down, Davis threw a long pass to Earl Reynolds who was running down the east sidelines. He made the reception at the eight and raced in untouched. Steen's extra point kick gave the Steers a 10-6 halftime bulge.

Snyder had dominated play in the first quarter and for 10 minutes in the second period. But Big Spring was able to take advantage of the Tiger mistakes—an interception and fumble—to take the lead.

The Tigers scored twice on their only two possessions in the third quarter, driving 40 yards in six plays and 89 yards in six plays. The tough defense set up the first TD by holding the Steers on a 4th and 1 situation at the Tiger 41. Davis was spilled for a one yard loss at the 40 and the Tigers drove in. Norred gained 16 yards to the 24 in two carries, then Jimmy Don Dyess gained three to the 21. Crayton was stopped for no gain, then a five-yard penalty put the ball on Big Spring's 16 with first and 10. Crayton took a pitch out and went wide right the remaining 16 yards to pay dirt. A run for extra points failed, leaving the Tigers in command 12-10 with 7:45 remaining in the period.

Crayton scored on a 65 yard run with 1:16 remaining in the quarter. The Tiger tailback sliced across left guard and broke a tackle in the secondary. The safety got one hand on the speedy back, but Crayton slowly pulled away and went all the way. The drive began at the Tiger 21. Crayton, Norred and Holder took turns lugging the leather to the 35 in five plays to set up the touchdown. The 18-10 lead just about sacked it up for Snyder. A fumble spoiled the bid for extra points.

In the fourth frame, the Tigers held the Steers again on a fourth down play at the Snyder 39. With Norred, Welton Cobb, and Crayton doing the damage, the Tigers drove from their 39 to the Big Spring 17 where they faced third and three. A loss back to the 20 set up fourth and six. The Tigers went for the field goal with tackle Micky Gonzales kicking accurately through the cross bars from the 27 yard line.

Only 1:48 remained in the contest, and Big Spring almost scored.

Ronald McKee returned the kickoff following the field goal from the Andrews seven to the Tiger 43. From that point they drove down to the eight in six plays. A half-the-distance to the goal penalty and a 17 yard aerial, Davis to Nate Poss, accounted for most of the yardage. Two of Davis' aerials missed target from the four, then the aroused Tiger defenders knocked the quarterback to the turf, and he lost possession of the ball. Richard Gorman made the recovery for Snyder at the 15 and the Tigers ran out the clock.

The Steers had tried to mount an aerial attack in the first quarter, but the defenders shot through the line and spilled Davis for two successive losses. Big Spring had started the series on their 19 and had to kick from the two.

The visitors punted out and Snyder drove from the Steer 33 to the 19 in four plays with Cobb and Crayton carrying the ball. A pass on second down into the end zone was intercepted by John Smith early in the second quarter to spoil the Tiger threat.

After Big Spring's touchdown in the second quarter, the Tigers moved from their 21 to the 49, but an interception by Glenn Carlton stopped the march and Big Spring ran out the clock.

Late in the third quarter, Big Spring launched a drive from its 23 that ended at the Tiger 23 early in the fourth frame.

A 45 yard pass from Davis to Craig Brown and a 17 yard scramble by the quarterback were the big gainers in the drive. But the Tigers held with Richard Gorman breaking up a fourth down pass at the 10 yard line.

Good blocking along the offensive line coupled with a superb defensive effort when the chips were down accounted for the Tiger victory.

Snyder is now 2-1 for the season while the Steers are 0-3.

It was a great team victory by the Tigers. The center of the Tiger defensive line has proved that it can more than hold its own under stress. Big Spring gained moost of its yardage via the pass, but Davis was held to just seven completions in 22 attempts.

Holder hit 3 of 11 for 53 yards for Snyder. Norred was the second leading ground gainer, collecting 89 paces on 17 efforts, and Welton Cobb gained 34 yards on eight trys. Davis was the leading gainer for the Steers, getting 59 yards on 16 carries.

Next weekend, the Tigers take on Andrews there.

Bulldogs Blast Union Terry 45-0

IRA—It was a pretty good indication of the kind of game it was going to be when Ira's Kirby Sterling gathered in the opening kickoff and ran it back for a touchdown.

And from there on it got better for Ira's Bulldogs and worse for Union-Terry as the Bulldogs galloped to a 45-0 decision in their six-man football game Friday night.

Dale Wiggins and Kirby Sterling paced the Ira offensive attack, scoring two touchdowns each, as the Bulldogs scored just about every way it can be done.

Meanwhile, a stubborn Ira defense kept Union-Terry stymied all evening, with Randy Sterling and Tom Daves leading the forces who kept the pressure on throughout the abbreviated game. Ira achieved its 45-0 lead in the third period, at which point the game was called and Ira declared the winner.

Coach Patrick Sadler had praise for both his offense and defense. He was particularly pleased with Ira's passing attack, which he said was vastly improved under direction of Donald Sellars, quarterback. Steve Sallee blossomed as a dependable receiver and the combination accounted for good gains against Union-Terry.

The Bulldogs are now 2-0 for the young season. They will host Christoval next Saturday evening in Ira's homecoming game.

Allison In Pole Position

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Bobby Allison, who has no fear of 200 mile per hour speeds, says Sunday's Old Dominion 500 stock car race should be "a fun race, the kind a professional race driver really enjoys."

That's because he and 35 other starters will do battle in an arena that measures only slightly over a half mile and, as he puts it, "presents a friendly, close-order challenge every time we go around."

Allison, 37, one of America's busiest drivers, won the pole position for the Old Dominion Friday at a track record speed of 85.780 m.p.h. in the Chevrolet with which he has captured eight events this year and pocketed $206,050.

"That speed is comparable to 190 m.p.h. at the longer tracks, say at Talladega, Ala.," Allison said. "Here, you have to hit each of the shallow corners just right or you can get in trouble. At Talladega, you never lift your foot off the accelerator, and it's more a matter of holding the car in the racing groove."

Allison admitted, however, that 500 laps around the tight little Martinsville Speedway is "just about as much work as driving 500 miles at Talladega."

He added that "it's a lot more fun here. The cars actually are so close at Martinsville that, with the slower speeds, we actually could shake hands as we go around."

Allison and six other drivers shattered Martinsville's three-month-old lap record of 84.163 m.p.h., which the Alabama driver set prior to the Virginia 500 in June. Not only that, Bobby Isaac equaled the old mark.

David Pearson snared the other front row spot with a clocking of 85.921 m.p.h. in his Mercury.

DIGGING OUT—The Snyder High School Tigers beat the Big Spring Steers 21-10 Friday night. It was the first victory for the Tigers over Big Spring since 1964. One of the main reasons for the triumph is Hubert Crayton, Tiger fullback (45), shown here digging for yardage. An unidentified Steer tries unsuccessfully to make the tackle. Wayne Dickens (60) blocks Crayton's path while his teammates, Gilbert Pesina (76) and Glenn Carlton (43) come up to offer assistance.

GOOD DEFENSE—One of the reasons Snyder High School's Tigers were able to pin a 21-10 setback on the Big Spring Steers here Friday night is a tough defense. Here, an unidentified Tiger lunges into the ball carrier while his teammates, Grant Knipe (75) and Willie Smith (66) come up to offer assistance.

Ranked Schoolboy Powers Are Upset

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Losses riddled the Class 4A flight in Texas high school football Friday night and idle San Antonio Lee reaped much of the benefits.

Lea's Volunteers, the defending 4A champions and No. 1-ranked 1972 team, watched gleefully as three of its four top challengers fell. They had a Saturday date with unranked San Antonio Roosevelt.

Second-ranked Port Neches-Groves lost 13-8 to Baytown Sterling, No. 3 Houston Westchester was beaten 24-14 by 10th-ranked Austin Reagan and No. 5 Killeen was stopped 17-6 by Abilene Cooper, which holds the No. 8 spot. Most of the remainder of the top 10 4A teams were not much more impressive—with sixth-ranked San Angelo edging Galveston Ball 7-6, Wichita Falls High nipping crosstown rival Hirschi, the No. 8 3A power, 14-6 and No. 9 Odessa Permian idle.

All the top 3A teams except Hirschi were victorious Friday, with No. 1 ranked Uvalde's 49-7 thrashing of Del Rio and third-ranked Brenham's 85-0 massacre of Strake Jesuit leading the way. Elsewhere in 3A, No. 2 Silsbee edged Cleveland 7-6, No. 4 Ennis waxed Waxahachie 14-0, fifth-ranked Cuero dropped Navasota 17-6, No. 6 Gregory-Portland blanked Calallen 28-0, No. 7 Mount Pleasant lashed Texarkana Liberty Eylau 21-6, ninth-ranked Monahans whopped Crane 35-0 and Kilgore ranked 10th, held back West Rusk 13-3.

The Class 2A kingpins had a similar night, with three of the top four entering the loss column. No. 3 Childress became the best bet to advance with a 58-6 rout of Paducah, while top-ranked Jacksboro was shocked 29-19 by Iowa Park, a 3A team; second-ranked Tomball was shut out 6-0 by Magnolia and No. 4 Tidehaven was tumbled by Needville 23-6. Other 2A winners besides Childress were Friendswood, No. 5, over La Porte 10-8, No. 6 Refugio 14-6 over Bloomington, seventh-ranked Hondo 35-12 over San Antonio Samuel Clemens and 10th-ranked Halletsville over Ganado 21-7. Ninth-ranked Rockwall was idle and No. 8 Denver City was tied 7-7 by Kermit, a 3A school.

In Class A, top-ranked Sonora escaped with a 24-20 triumph over Reagan County, but the West Texas team should easily retain its perch as three leading challengers were stopped. Memphis stunned No. 2 ranked Crowell 27-13, Ozona, a 2A team, outscored third-ranked Mason 49-22 and another 2A squad, Lubbock Roosevelt, walloped Seagraves 41-7. In other Class A games involving ranked teams, fourth-ranked Comfort edged Medina 16-13, No. 6 Schulenberg smashed Smithville 30-6, No. 7 Franklin roughed up Centerville 48-0, eighth-ranked Wallis won by forfeit over Schulenberg Bishop Forest, No. 9 Agua Dulce topped San Diego 24-14 and 10th-ranked Falls City blanked Yorktown 12-0.

Saturday, top-ranked Celina met seventh-ranked Prosper in the featured Class B game of the weekend, while No. 4 Loraine faced Rochester. In Friday games, No. 2 Rule whipped Munday 25-3, third-ranked Big Sandy blanked Union Grove 25-0, No. 5 New Waverly crumpled Iola 52-0, eighth-ranked Happy humiliated Whiteface 50-0, Dawson silenced Coolidge 40-14 and Chillicothe shut out Tipton, Okla. 13-0.

Buffs Beat Trojans

FLUVANNA—The Fluvanna Buffalos following a precedent set in Scurry County Friday night downed the Divide Trojans 53-14.

Quarterback Richard Gill guided the Buffs quarter by quarter to an almost flawless high scoring victory. That flaw came in the fourth quarter, when Divide nailed Fluvanna for a safety.

Leading ground gainer Larry White (103 yds) put the Buffs on the scoreboard first with a 14 yard run. John Milano followed through with the P.A.T. and the Buffs were on their way.

Gill, with a sizzling throwing arm, passed 14 yards to Chuck Jones for another six points. The P.A.T. was blocked.

In the second quarter, again it was Gill to Jones for another six-points this time covering 35 yards. Halfback Larry White covered 36 yards for another T.D.

The Trojans found their way to the end zone, courtesy of Juan Chavez, who toted the ball 35 yards.

The second half began with the Buffs well ahead at 28-6. Gill sighted in on the Trojans, passing to Steve Stansell for 31 yards and a tally. J.W. White ran for 31 and a score, with Gill coming back to J.W. White for the long bomb and another score. The pass covered 53 yards.

Divide made another T.D. in the third, with Chavez going over from the one.

In the fourth quarter, Divide got a safety on the Buffs, but gave an arm for a tooth, when Larry White ran 33 yards for another Fluvanna score.

Adding up the figures for Fluvanna's first win of the season, Richard Gill passed for a whopping 182 yards and Larry White had covered 103 yards on the ground.

The New York Mets will end their 1972 baseball season with a night game at Montreal, Wednesday, Oct. 4—unless they win the National League East race.

Bad Memories Bug US Coach

By BLAINE NEWNHAM
Eugene Register-Guard
For The Associated Press

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The English countryside, the gem lakes of Switzerland, even the grandeur of Paris couldn't eradicate the memories of Munich for Bill Bowerman.

"Who in the hell will ever want to go to the Olympic Games?" Bowerman asked sardonically, a little more than two weeks following the Summer Olympics in Munich.

"I was physically and emotionally exhausted after the Games," he said Friday. "I took a week to relax and then thought if I wanted to eat this winter, I'd best get back to Eugene."

Bowerman, track coach at the University of Oregon, is back but the bitterness and frustration of Munich lingers on.

"As far as public relations and treatment of fans, the Olympic Games were a fiasco," he said. "Like tickets. Where else would they make tickets available to the black market, to the crooks?"

While he is disillusioned about what happened at Munich, Bowerman does not find fault with the performance of the American track and field team he coached, nor does he think the Olympic Games should be ended.

"We won six of 20 track and field gold medals," he said. "The Russians won six, too, which leaves eight for the rest of the world. Maybe somebody should ask 'what's wrong with the rest of the world?'"

Bowerman said he went to Munich hoping the U.S. team could win from five to 10 gold medals.

"And we got jobbed out of three medals," he said. "The "decisions in the 400-meter relay, in the pole vault and in the shot put were outright thievery.

"Everytime we turned around, we got jobbed. It wasn't coincidental that our 400-meter relay team drew lane one, and so did our best 400-meter runner, and so did our best man in the 200 meters."

For sounding off during the competition, Bowerman was censured by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

The future of the Olympic Games?

"Saying the Olympic Games have outlived their usefulness is like saying democracy has outlived its usefulness," Bowerman said. "The true spirit of competitive sport is part of people's heritage. It's just too bad it has been lost in people like Avery Brundage (outgoing president of the International Olympic Committee).

"There's no question that the Olympic Games are too big," he said. "First of all, there are too many officials, and too many hangers-on. And if a country doesn't have an athlete who is competitive, he shouldn't be there. It's just like the aristocracy (the International Olympic Committee) to put up a warrior with a sword in his hand he can't even lift."

Bowerman has given up hope that the OIC will effectively change the Olympics and called for the countries themselves to implement change.

Houston Rallies, Wins Tournament

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Defending champion Houston rallied Friday to win its fourth straight Centenary Fall Invitation Golf Tournament by four strokes.

Oklahoma State led by seven strokes as the final 27 holes began and widened the margin to eight strokes with nine holes to play.

Houston went in front to stay on a two-under-par 69 by Fuzzy Zoeller and the steady play of Bill Rogers and Bruce Liepzke.

Houston finished the 54 holes with a 1,094 total and OSU second at 1,098. Wichita State was third at 1,148, followed by Centenary 1,179 and Southwestern Louisiana 1,192.

Danny Edwards of OSU won individual honors with his 210.

Motorcycle Rider Dies In Crash

GARDENA, Calif. (AP) — Motorcycle rider Ted Longwith was killed Friday night in a crash during a race at Ascot Park.

Longwith, 20, of Orange, Calif., a rookie in the expert cycle class, clipped the rear fender of a motorcycle ridden by Ron Moore of San Bernardino, Calif., lost control of his own cycle and was thrown into the wall. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Gardena Memorial Hospital.

Dallas, New York Giants Vie Today

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"When Detroit and Minnesota play," Vikings Coach Bud Grant once commented, "nobody wins. It's just a matter of which team is ahead when the game ends."

That pretty much describes the collisions of these two powerhouses in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

The last eight times, Minnesota's been ahead at the end, and it's been those victories that have paved the way to the Vikes' four straight divisional championships.

At the moment, though, it's the Lions who are ahead. They beat the New York Giants 30-16 in their opener while Minnesota lost 24-21 to Washington.

And if Detroit can withstand the Vikings' typically-crushing defense Sunday, there's a good chance the Lions will have sole possession of the division lead.

Chicago, like Minnesota, will be out to even its record but the Bears have a formidable foe in the Los Angeles Rams. Green Bay, currently sharing the Central lead with Detroit, surprised Cleveland 26-10 a week ago.

This time the Packers' defense will be tested by Oakland's always-dangerous Raiders.

Other games find Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, St. Louis at Washington, Dallas at the New York Giants, the New York Jets at Baltimore, Houston at Miami, San Francisco at Buffalo, Cleveland at Philadelphia, Denver at San Diego and Atlanta at New England.

Monday night, New Orleans hosts Kansas City. The Vikings have relied heavily on their running game the past few seasons—Oscar Reed and Clint Jones combined for 134 yards against the Redskins—but now they've got a passing attack to go with it. Fran Tarkenton hit for a pair of touchdowns in his 18 completions that netted 233 yards.

The Lions, too, have both ground and aerial attacks. Greg Landry threw only 17 passes last week but his nine completions, three of them for touchdowns, resulted in 207 yards. Steve Owens ripped through the Giants for 113 yards.

Pittsburgh and Cincinati, unbeaten in the American Conference's Central Division, will probably be vying all season for this title.

The Steelers, led by Terry Bradshaw, may have to go with a pair of rookies, running back Franco Harris and tight end John McMakin, since John Fuqua and Larry Brown are injured and doubtful starters.

Ken Anderson is expected to get the starting quarterback spot over Virgil Carter.

Coyotes Clip Smyer, 24-16

SMYER—The Gail Coyotes traveled to Smyer Friday night for a heart stopper that saw them come out on top 24-16.

Coyote Garland Williams scored in the first quarter on a five yard run, while the Gail defense stood fast and held the Smyder Bobcats scoreless.

In the second quarter Williams again scored from eight yards out. But the Bobcats came back strong scoring twice, once on a punt return and then passing for the other TD.

The half ended tied at 16-16.

Each team battled to get on the scoreboard in the third quarter, with the Bobcats twice reaching the Gail 10-yard line only to be held for no score.

Randy Hensley chewed out yardage all night with a total of 177 and in the fourth went over from six yards out for the winning TD. Randy Crittenden who had been completing the extra points all night put the icing on the cake, making the final score 24-16.

Hermleigh Cuts Down Wildcats

HERMLEIGH—The Hermleigh Cardinals rolled over the Water Valley Wildcats Friday night at Hermleigh, 51-6.

Plagued by injuries and, "Unable to find the scoreboard," in the words of Coach Rusty Hackler, the Cardinals had lost their first two openers.

And in the opening plays of Friday night's game it looked like a repeat performance. The Wildcats took the opening kickoff and march to the Card's one yard line.

There the Cardinals stymied the Water Valley Six and took control of the ball. And control the ball, is what they did the rest of the evening. The Card's went to the dressing room at halftime with a 39-0 lead.

The Wildcats sparked in the fourth quarter for a six point tally. Hermleigh gained 243 yards against the Water Valley 169. The Card's leading rushers were Tailback Charles Kuss with 95 yards and Halfback Dale Peterson with 94 yards.

The Hermleigh team completed 8 of 11 passes to gain 85 yards in the air.

Heart Attack Kills Foster

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Glenn Foster, general manager of the Los Angeles Tennis Club, collapsed and died Friday night as he was about to watch a match in the Pacific Southwest Open Tennis Tournament.

Duane Thomas Wants Substantial Pay Raise

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Running back Duane Thomas wants a substantial boost in salary before he'll play for the San Diego Chargers and now, for the first time since being traded July 31 by Dallas, he has an offer to consider, an adviser says.

San Diego lawyer John Schall, who volunteered his services to Thomas in an effort to get negotiations started, said Friday the former Cowboys star met in Palm Springs Thursday night with Chargers owner Eugene V. Klein.

Klein made Thomas an offer, Schall said, but he did not disclose any details. Klein was unavailable for comment and Thomas' whereabouts were unknown. The Chargers made no announcement of a signing or of an impending signing.

Chargers head Coach Harland Svare said the owner and athlete did not meet Friday but he did not rule out the possibility that they would confer again today.

Thomas, a former No. 1 draft pick and a standout for the Cowboys in last year's Super Bowl, is in the final year of his original three-year pact with Dallas which calls for him to receive $20,000.

The moody player told a San Diego friend Thursday that he would accept a new three-year contract calling for $100,000 a year.

The friend, George Powell, said he had never seen Thomas so "close-mouthed."

"But he did tell me if they offered him a three-year extension for $300,000 he'd play," Powell said. "He recognized there's no way to renegotiate the present contract, so he'd play it out. The $300,000 didn't seem unreasonable considering what a drawing card he is."

Before Thursday's meeting, Thomas had twice broken appointments with Klein.

In the eight weeks since the Chargers gave up receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery to get him, Thomas has worked out only once with the club. On that occasion, last Tuesday, Thomas told reporters he was in playing condition.

Meanwhile, most of the Chargers say the week's antics involving Thomas have not affected preparation for their home opener against Denver Sunday.

"We've got 40 men," said defensive captain David "Deadcon" Jones. "We intend to win with or without him. When he makes up his mind to come in, he'll come in and we can use him. But no one man can win a football game for you and no one man can lose one."

One player who did concede that the Thomas question mark might affect the club was veteran receiver Gary Garrison.

"It's bound to affect some of us," Garrison said. "Everybody is thinking, 'Is he coming in or isn't he?' I don't know to what extent it will affect us, but I think it will to some extent."

New Rules Are Closing Job Gap

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: Why have you not touched on the issue of sex discrimination and its adverse effects on young women seeking a career? I urge you to include remedies available at local, state and Federal levels. When you wrote about comparable jobs for professional workers in the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, I thought it remarkable that you had no comment on the large pay differential. Do you think this is right or reasonable? If not, why don't you speak out? – J.E.G., Pittsburgh

On my honor, I think the pay should be equal for both groups, but, miraculously, the Scouting organizations have managed to survive for over half a century without benefit of my opinion. The facts on pay were stated; the reader was given the respect and responsibility for drawing her – or his – own conclusion. As did you.

Job discrimination – age, race, color, religion and national origin, as well as sex – obviously will not be totally eradicated by legislation. However, some recent laws are closing the gap. While space prevents a thorough summary, here are highlights of some laws and remedies as they apply to sex discrimination:

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPOORTUNITY ACT – A 1972 amendment to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, it prohibits discrimination based on sex by employers of 25 (will be lowered to 15 next March) or more workers. A few categories of employers are exempt. This law covers hiring, firing, pay, fringe benefits, job classification, promotion or any other terms of employment. "Protective" state laws can no longer be used as an excuse not to hire women in certain jobs deemed hazardous or too demanding in physical labor, or requiring long or night hours. Pregnancy, childbirth and related reasons are considered to be temporary disabilities and must be treated as such under any health or temporary disability insurance or sick leave plan. Enforcement agency: Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 1800 G St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20506.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246 – As amended, this order prohibits sex discrimination by Federal contractors or subcontractors, and on Federally assisted construction projects. It covers employers with a Federal contract of more than $10,000. Coverage includes all facilities of the contractor. That is, of company XYZ has 350 plants but only one involved with a Federal contract, all 350 plants still are subject to this law. Many, if not most, larger companies have at least one small government contract, so you can see why this order is widesweeping. Among other requirements, a woman must be granted a leave of absence for childbearing and reinstated to her original job, or equivalent, without loss of service credits.

Order No 4 issued by the Office of Federal Contract Compliance (OFCC) sets goals and timetables for affirmative hiring action of minorities, including women. This order applies to Federal contractors with 50 or more employees, and a contract of $50,000 or more. Enforcement agency for Executive Order 11246, and Order No. 4, is: OFCC, Employment Standards Administration, U.S. Dept. of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210.

EQUAL PAY ACT OF 1963 – This act prohibits discrimination in pay for equal work. As of July 1972, a section of the Education Amendments of 1972 brought 15 million more workers under coverage of the 1963 law – including another 4 or 5 million women workers. Newly covered are executive, professional and administrative employees. Outside sales workers are brought under the same protection. Examples of jobs now being protected by the Equal Pay Act are: professors and teachers, school principals and assistants, personnel directors, counselors, buyers, office managers, adjusters, purchasing agents, hospital administrators, editors and writers, TV and radio announcers, technicians, computer programmers, employees of real estate and public relations firms, and commercial artists. Enforcement agency: Wage and Hour Division, Employment Standards Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210.

Charity Roundup Sale Set

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Buyers from all over Texas and New Mexico are expected here Monday for the 13th annual cattle sale of the Cattlemen's Roundup for Crippled Children to aid the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Roundup chairman Charlie Morris says 100 head of cattle are on hand, but another 200 or so are still needed "to really get the job done."

The annual roundup is a major source of income for the center, which is now in its 20th year of serving the handicapped.

Breeding age bulls have been received for the sale from ranches at Cypress, Wingate, Throckmorton, Aledo, Cleburne, Alvarado, Terrell, Forney and Georgetown.

This year, the sale will include an auction of farm and ranch equipment and five antelope hunting permits that will allow the buyers to hunt on a ranch in southwest Mitchell County.

A spokesman said anyone wanting to donate livestock can call the rehabilitation center in Abilene collect, 915-692-1633, and their livestock will be picked up in time for the sale.

Building Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A decline in nonresidential construction permits issued during August was more than balanced by a sharp upturn in residential permits, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Residential construction authorized by Texas cities rose 35 per cent over the July level, which was the lowest for the year. Nonresidential permits dipped 5 per cent from the previous month.

The total construction index rose 12 per cent above July's level.

Compared to August, 1971, total construction authorized last month was up 5 per cent, with residential permits rising 18 per cent and nonresidential permits declining 8 per cent.

3 SHS Students Are Commended

Letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance on the 1971 preliminary scholastic aptitude test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to three students at Snyder High School, Principal Horrace Bostick has announced.

The Commended students at SHS are Revin Stoker, John Mack May and Bill Tate.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation has named 37,000 Commended students in the United States. These students are among the upper 2 per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1973. The Commended students rank high, but below the 15,000 Semifinalists announced in September by NMSC.

Edward C. Smith, president of NMSC, said: "Although Commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their standing in this nationwide program deserves public recognition. Their high performance on the PSAT-NMSQT shows promise of continued success in college.

"The Commended students should be encouraged to pursue their education since their intellectual talent represents an important and much needed natural resource. Both these students and our nation will benefit from their continuing educational development."

The Commended students' names are reported to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the PSAT-NMSQT in October 1971. The reports include home addresses, test scores, and anticipated college major and career intentions of the Commended students. NMSC encourages these students to make every effort to continue their education.

Caller Endorses Nixon

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — "The choice this year is not, in our opinion, inspiring," the Caller-Times said Saturday, but, nevertheless, it endorsed Richard Nixon for re-election as President.

The last and only other time the paper has supported a Republican for president was when it endorsed Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In its subdued endorsement, which coincided with a South Texas Nixon trip, the Caller-Times lamented, "Discussion of the great issues which this campaign was to have produced has been disappointing and at times trivial ... Of the two candidates, Nixon at this moment seems preferable."

The paper cited "flair and imagination" in some of the President's actions, especially his trips to China and the Soviet Union.

It criticized the Vietnam War, though, and urged complete withdrawal from a conflict "for which the world will long condemn us."

"All political decisions have to be made in terms of choices at hand," the paper concluded. "The choice this year is Nixon or McGovern. We prefer Nixon."

Houston Has Less Pollution

HOUSTON (AP) — Smog levels in downtown Houston exceeded federal standards for the protection of health 34 per cent of the time in May and 12.8 per cent of the time in June, a report released Friday by the city's air pollution control division.

Despite the high incidence of ozone and oxidant pollution, the main ingredients of smog, the report said overall air pollution in Houston declined slightly here during the first half of the year.

The report said the levels of two other major pollutants, particulates and sulphur dioxide, appear to have receded from 1971 levels, although they still sometimes exceed state and federal air standards.

Ozone and oxidants are now being measured by two continuous monitoring vans, one downtown and the other on the Houston Ship Channel. The ship channel van found even higher levels of pollutants—38.9 per cent in May and 10.6 in June.

Noting that much of the ozone and oxidant pollution came on weekends where automobile traffic slows, Victor N. Howard, city pollution chief, said, "As of now, it isn't known exactly why it's heavy on weekends."

Asked if the heavy concentrations could come from industry, Howard said, "It sort of appears that way."

The report said there were six days of excessive ozone concentration in May and seven in June with the longest episode lasting 10 hours on May 28.

This was the first semi-annual report issued by the city. They were issued annually in the past. Howard said in the future the city will issue monthly reports.

Cats Need More Than Milk, Fish

HOUSTON (AP) — While cats in cartoons do quite well on a bowl of milk and a piece of fish, real life animals need something more, a veterinarian says. John J. Fishler said fish is no longer an essential part of a cat's diet and should be replaced by red muscle meats.

"Cats need Vitamin B food—fresh, well-cooked beef or hamburger and at least a fresh bowl of water twice daily," Fishler told about 145 cat breeders at a recent seminar here.

He also suggested that the milk be replaced by cottage cheese to give the cat more protein.

LONG ON THE EARTH

Nancy Caton Proof Of Promise Kept

By JEAN EVERETT

"Honor your father and mother (this is the first commandment with a promise) that it may be well with you and that you may live long on the earth." Ephesians 6:2-3 RSV

Nancy Patterson Caton is living proof that the Lord keeps his promise. Come Sept. 26 she will be 92 years old. Mrs. Caton still maintains her home, weeds and waters her garden and yard, is active in club work and attends every service of her church. She drove her car until last year. The familiar 1950 auto carried Nancy on thousands of visits to patients in the hospital, the nursing homes, to shut-ins and to the bereaved. Since being driven by a great-nephew, the green Plymouth has become "The Mayflower" and is the envy of old car buffs.

When not riding with friends or members of her family, Nancy walks to do her shopping. Even on the coldest of days she may graciously decline the offer of a ride, saying: "I want to window shop" or explaining further, "I need the exercise."

Nancy underwent her first surgery shortly before her 90th birthday. With unusual stamina she recovered in time to be present for an all-church supper that turned out to be a birthday party in her honor. During 1971 her total medical bill was$13—a dental fee for cleaning her teeth and a flu shot.

Born in Ellis County, Texas, of farming parents, Katherine and James G. Patterson, Nancy was a loving daughter as long as her mother and father lived. She has honored them since with the quality of her life.

By the turn of the century Nancy had already discovered that what the world needed was a little more love. This was long before a popular song made such proclamation or the flower children began to paint their love signs over the face of America. Nancy has been loving everyone she meets and extending a helping hand to those who need her from her childhood.

In the year 1900 her parents were finding it hard to provide for and educate their five children from the the cotton crop off their small farm. Mr. Patterson took a scouting trip west on the Texas and Pacific train to look for better opportunites. He visited with some former neighbors who recommended Scurry County where land was selling for about a dollar an acre.

On returning to Ellis County, Mr. Patterson sold the farm and chartered a box car for the move. Into the car he loaded all their household goods and farming tools, including the horses the wagon and surrey. The family, minus Nancy, made the train trip to West Texas. Nancy came in May when her school term at Midlothian Junior College was out. Mrs. Patterson was waiting at the depot with the horse and surrey to drive her to their new home, twenty-two miles to the north.

The red, shifting sand of the area was different from the rich, black soil of East Texas, Nancy recalls. She thought it strange and exciting, but she soon learned that the sand "sure could blow and make housekeeping a dread."

Schooling for her brothers and sisters was a problem in the sparsely settled country, so Nancy prepared herself to teach them and the neighbor's children that fall. The men built a one room school. The young teacher and children called it their "Cornbread College" because cornbread was the mainstay of the sack lunches they brought each day.

Sister Nell (Mrs. John R. Covey of Snyder) remembers, "Nancy was such a good teacher that I raised quite a fuss when I had to go to school to someone else."

In those early days the young people had to rely on their initiative to provide entertainment. Nancy, eager to keep up with events in other places, suggested that they subscribe to several good magazines and meet to read and discuss articles therein. Their "magazine club" proved to be an interesting activity. On Sundays they attended church and held "singings".

One of the young men whom Nancy met was Joe Caton.

NANCY CATON
...on steps of her home

While she continued to teach school, Joe established himself in business in Snyder, Texas. After a courtship of six years they were married in June of 1907. On their honeymoon they went donkey riding and sightseeing. Nancy remembers. On their return to Snyder, they worked together in the Caton–Dodson Dry Goods Company.

At that time Snyder merchants had never staged a style show for their customers. Nancy thought that it would be a good thing to do; so, with help from Dallas wholesalers, Caton-Dodson presented their new merchandise on live models. The young ladies paraded in the store windows, creating a big interest and successful sale of all their ready-to-wear which was sent out especially for the event.

Mrs. Caton organized the first Boy Scout troop in Snyder in 1911. She read that Sir Robert Baden-Powell organized such a group in England in 1907 or 1908 and she liked the idea. After informing her Sunday School class of boys about the new group, she designed a pin for each Scout to wear. Later her troop of boys worked to buy a stained glasswindow for the First Methodist Church sanctuary. (1913)

After the Caton-Dodson Dry Goods Company went broke (1930), Mrs. Caton was offered a job with their competitors, Bryant-Link Company. She worked for them until she retired, sixteen years later.

"I've had health enough that I could have worked even until now. But others needed jobs, and as I had a means of living I retired when the age came. I've not been sorry because there have been so many things to do," Mrs. Caton explains.

The "many things to do" have included club and church work and any activity that Nancy felt added to the betterment of those whom she contacted.

Mrs. Caton believes in club work. She says that it good intellectal and community training. During the years of her employment, Nancy formed the first Business and Professional Women's Club in Snyder. In 1930 she organized two study clubs, the Altrurian Daughters and the Art Guild, which are still a means of interest and service for Snyder women.

Permeating her activities through the years has been Nancy's spirit of love and care for all persons. More than anything else, Mrs. Caton has been a spiritual mother to hundreds of persons: to those she served across the counter of a department store as well as to those whom she taught in a Sunday School class.

"I don't recall a time since about 1900 when I haven't taught a Sunday School class unless it is now. And, although I don't teach every Sunday, I do still lead us in study in the Victory Bible Class," Nancy said. The Victory Bible Class is composed of the eldest ladies of First United Methodist Church, Snyder, Texas. However, Nancy spent most of her teaching years in the young people's department.

In the spring of 1941 a group of young women decided to honor Nancy with a living memorial. On Mother's Day of that year they named and dedicated to the service of God "The Nancy Caton Sunday School Class".

Again on Mother's Day, 1953, the congregation of First Methodist named Mrs. Caton as "Mother of the Church" and presented her with a bouquet of long stemmed red roses and an honorary life membership in the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Although Mrs. Caton has no natural children of her own, she is loved as a "second mother" by those who know her. The honor so bestowed on her that Sunday only made that fact official and public.

When Nancy's hearing began to fail she smiled and sat a little nearer to the front of the church. It soon became evident that she would not sit alone. Young children seemed to desire her company and began to make a practice of sitting with her during the services. After one generation grew up and left for college, other youngsters moved into those cherished places next to Nancy.

Nancy continues to be interested in people. Never a day goes by that she doesn't correspond with someone she loves. Throughout the years she has sent thousands of messages, greeting cards, and letters, telling of her care. She sympathizes when someone is ill and rejoices when one succeeds; she shares in personal happiness and grieves with those in sorrow. Through every experience of live, Nancy is constant and abiding in her love.

Nancy believes in a personal relationship with our Lord, Jesus Christ. Her very life is proof that she reads the Bible and believes in it. She upholds her church and her minister by her prayers, her presence, and her gifts, having served in every capacity asked of her. Like the good and faithful servant, Nancy will someday hear her Lord say, "You have been faithful over a little, I will set you over much; enter into the joy of your master." Matthew 25:23 RSV

Teen worried about milk in breasts

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: This is going to sound stupid, but I have to know. Can a girl who is not pregnant have milk in her breasts? I am 16 years old, not married, and I am a virgin, but I could nurse a baby with all the milk that's leaking out of me.

I discovered it when I was doing the routine monthly checkup for cancer or lumps in the breast. My cousin was with me and she was as shocked as I was. She thinks my mental condition could have something to do with it. No, I am not crazy, but my mother is pregnant and so is the woman next door. I also have a cousin who is nursing her baby.

Can this be a mental thing? I don't know what to think, and don't know who to ask. ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

DEAR ANONYMOUS: According to a documented article by J. D. Ratcliff [Reader's Digest, May, 1972], you don't have to be pregnant, married, or even going with anybody to have milk in your breasts. You don't even have to be a girl! [Yes, males have been known to have milk in their breasts!] Don't worry about it. It's temporary, and a bit of a nuisance, but it's not serious.

DEAR ABBY: Much has been said and written about careless brides who are late with their thank you notes—or worse yet—never get around to acknowledging their gifts at all.

How about the other side of the coin? I refer to people who say to a bride [or groom], "I've got a gift at the house—drop by and pick it up, will you?"

This happened to my daughter [at her wedding reception] believe it or not!

I think to ask a couple to go "pick up" a gift is the height of rudeness. What is wrong with people like that?

FATHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR FATHER: In most cases, they are either ignorant, or they just don't care.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Had It," whose husband's stock of old newspapers is overflowing her house.

I can understand his reasons for wanting to save them. After all, he might want to re-read them sometime. But how would he ever find the item he is looking for? A city large enough to support two daily newspapers will certainly have a public library which will keep them on file, possibly on microfilm. Several libraries in the area might have complete files of the New York Times, with its excellent index, which can also serve as a clue to finding things in the local paper by pinning down the probable date.

The local newspaper offices themselves will have back issues and possibly various card indexes to help track down particular items. Perhaps "Had It's" husband is aware of all this, but perhaps he is not.

I know lots of erudite people who are unaware of the many different services the library can provide, and they are usually delighted and fascinated when they discover a new one.

I hope that when "Had It" does dispose of all those papers, she will get them to a recycling station. It sounds as tho they could save a whole forest! Good luck!

LIBRARIAN AND AN AVID RECYCLER

DEAR ABBY: I noticed in one of your recent columns the question of how to gracefully decline an invitation for a particular evening: Perhaps you might be interested in knowing how a popular Washington, D. C., political figure handled that situation.

She would simply say, "I am sorry, but we have other plans for that evening." This way, she never lied. She could be planning to spend a quiet evening at home—or she could be planning to wait for a better offer. WASHINGTONIAN
