BUSINESS IS AT A STANDSTILL

Calm Of Christmas Continues In City

A calm, peaceful Lubbock today enjoyed another day of rest and quiet as the post-Christmas holiday was observed.

Business houses as well as city, county, state and federal offices remained closed today. Traffic was at a minimum on city streets, and no serious accidents had been reported over the long week end in the city.

Welcome For Employes

For store personnel, the extra respite was welcome, for Tuesday the inevitable rush to exchange sizes and colors of Christmas gifts will inevitable start.

Approximately 4,000 needy children in Lubbock and environs were helped to a more joyful celebration of Christmas as 1,000 volunteer motorists played Santa Claus and delivered Goodfellow packages to their homes.

The packages were said to be the most bountiful since the Goodfellows became an organization here 15 years ago.

Each of the gift bundles contained from two to four new toys especially selected for the child receiving it, as well as generous quantities of fruits, nuts and candies.

Boy Scouts loaded the addressed packages into the cars of the volunteer motorists at the distribution center Sunday morning while extra policemen were assigned to direct the movement of the traffic.

Additional contributions to the Goodfellow fund poured in Saturday and today, raising the total subscribed to $3,990.02, making

Her attorneys are seeking her release on parole pending straightening out of a complicated legal tangle.

GERM WARFARE TESTS ADMITTED

Japs Plead Guilty Of Soviet Charges

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Moscow radio said today that 12 Japanese being tried in Siberia had pleaded guilty to charges of delevolping deadly germ warfare before and during World War Two.

The war crimes trial began yesterday only two days after the Russians announced they were prosecuting the 12, including four generals. They are accused in the indictment of "partially utilizing" such weapons as non-explosive bombs to spread fleas and other insects carrying deadly plague and cholera germs.

(The suddenly-announced trial was seen by some observers as Russia's answer to demands of Japanese and U. S. occupation authorities for the release of Japanese soldiers held as prisoners of war four years after the fighting stopped.

Tests Are Described

(Russia claims she is holding 10,000 Japanese as war criminals, but Japanese officials say the total is much higher. U. S. army officials say the germ warfare charges are old stuff. On Jan. 3, 1946, the army announced that intelligence reports gathered in Japan disclosed the Nipponese had experimented with use of germs as weapons, but added there was no evidence they actually had resorted to bacteriological warfare.)

Moscow radio said one of the defendants, Maj. Gen. Kawashima Kiyoshi, told of testing the containers filled with germ-carrying fleas.

"With cynical calm," the radio report said, "the defendant depicted a revolting picture of how bombs filled with plague-carrying fleas were tested on living people at a testing ground.

Visit To America Deterrent To War

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26. (AP)—An ex-Nazi army officer, now a student at the University of Pennsylvania, says Hitler never would have started war against the United States if he had ever been to this country.

Hans Oehmke, 24, came to the United States as an exchange student under the Army Department's re-education program. He's majoring in comparative languages.

"This country is so big", Oemke says. "Now I understand what my father said when the war broke out. He had been to America on business in 1938, and when war was declared, he said: 'If the Americans are changing their industry into military production, we can never win.'"

Mercury Hits 15-Degree Low

Fifteen-degree cold early this morning gave Lubbock another low reading for the fall and winter, matching the minimum of Dec. 15, Melton Connell, observer at the U. S. Weather bureau station at Municipal airport, said today.

He predicted that the afternoon temperatures would rise to 50 degrees or so, and tonight's minimum would approach 20 degrees.

Fair Skies Seen

Continued fair skies were seen for the South Plains area, with little chance of precipitation. A weak cold front to the northwest was expected to have little effect even if it should get this far, which was doubtful.

Texas weather was a mixed affair today, the Associated Press reported.

It was clearing and cold in the Panhandle and cloudy and warm in East Texas and along the Gulf.

Dalhart reported a low temperature of 14 degrees. Amarillo had 18 degrees, Wichita Falls 24 and Fort Worth 31.

In East Texas and along the Gulf it was cloudy and warm. Texarkana reported a temperature of 50 degrees. Brownsville had 66.

Ex-Wife Holds Man's Girl For "Ransom"

FORT WORTH, Dec. 26. (AP)—Something new in "kidnapping" was reported to Fort Worth police today.

A North Side man declared that his ex-wife was holding his present girl friend for $50 ransom.

"That's not my idea of Christmas spirit," he blurted.

Gold Bracelets Are Found In Airliner

MERIDA, Mexico, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Customs agents questioned two pretty airline stewardesses for several hours Christmas eve all because none of the plane's passengers would claim an overcoat.

Agents found the overcoat in question hangink in the back of the plane as they inspected the craft prior to its departure for Havana, Cuba. Thirty-six gold bracelets, worth about $3,000 (U. S.), were stuffed in the coats pockets.

Faced with possible smuggling charges, none of the passengers would claim the coat and the customs men took the stewardesses into custody for questioning. The two young women were released about six hours later but the coat and contents—still ownerless—remained in possession of the customs office.

Two Doctors Killed; Youth Badly Injured

Three Pinned In Wreckage; Fourth Occupant Unhurt

(By The Associated Press)

SLIDELL, Texas, Dec. 26.—Mrs. F. J. Hickerson, telephone operator here, said this morning two men were killed and a third injured when a Navion plane from San Angelo crashed on the Sproles ranch, three miles east of here, early last night.

She said the dead were Maj. George Grupe, 47, San Angelo chiropractor and group commander of the West Texas Civil Air Patrol, pilot of the light plane, and Dr. William L. McLaughlin of Big Spring. Dr. Grupe is a member of the state board of chiropractic examiners.

Youth Is Injured

Reported seriously injured was James Thomas Livingston, 18, of San Angelo, a Texas Christian university student.

George J. Grupe, 18, son of Dr. Grupe, reported the crash to Mrs. Hickerson at 7:45 a. m.

Mrs. Hickerson said he had been wandering about the country and was picked up and brought here early this morning by J. L. Leverton of Slidell. She said he was in a daze and first said the crash occurred at 6:35 this morning.

Rescuers from Slidell immediately went to the scene and reported they found the two older men dead.

Livingston told them, Mrs. Hickerson reported, that Dr. Grupe died about 5 a. m.

Needed Help Earlier

"If we only could have had help earlier," he said.

Livingston was reported seriously ill from exposure.

The three were pinned in the plane. The younger Grupe, a sophomore at Texas A.&M. college, said he was not caught in the wreckage of the plane and set out for help. He found a house, but no one was at home, and afterward he became lost.

Meanwhile a search had been organized at Fort Worth for the plane, which had communicated with the municipal airport control tower there, at 6:30 p. m. Dr. Grupe then reported that he was flying at 3,000 feet on the airport's north course and had enough gasoline to remain aloft for an hour and 15 minutes.

Although he did not report distress, he was not thereafter heard from. Shortly afterward a plane was reported in trouble over Weatherford.

Dr. Grupe took off at San Angelo for Fort Worth at 4:44 p. m. yesterday.

Lt. Col. Howard Smith, CAP officer in Dallas, said Dr. Grupe was not flying on a CAP mission.

Slidell is in northeast Wise county.

Assailant Of Girl Sought

UNION, S. C., Dec. 26 (AP) — A young girl choir singer whose skull was crushed by a mysterious assailant was under the care of a brain specialist today.

Visiting relatives discovered Virginia Grace Eubanks, 16, unconscious Christmas eve beside presents she had been wrapping.

No weapon was found. Police said they had found no motive for the attack.

Taken To Hospital

She was taken from a hospital here to a Charlotte, N. C. hospital. She was reported still unconscious this morning.

"It was no accident," declared her uncle, R. P. Gossett, who operates a dry cleaning plant in Union. "It was foul play. We're going to push this thing to the limit."

Her sweetheart, James Estes, about 22, a navy veteran, told police he talked by telephone to the girl a few minutes before she was found in her home in the Union Mill community.

Father Is Ill

A friend of the couple said they planned to be married, although no engagement had been announced. The friend added that Estes plan-

Murder Suspect In Critical Condition

Wealthy New York Man Is Stabbed To Death; Wife Gulps Sleeping Medicine

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Joseph Failla, 32, accused of stabbing her wealthy husband to death Christmas morning, was in critical condition herself today from an overdose of sleeping medicine.

Her husband, a 38-year-old dress manufacturer, bled to death under the family Christmas tree from 13 stab wounds while his wife and two children looked on.

When police arrived, 10-year-old Camilla Failla pointed and said:

"Mommy stabbed daddy."

But Failla, dying, tried to protect his wife.

"I don't know who did it," he murmured. He was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Police, who said Mrs. Failla admitted the stabbing before she collapsed from the sleeping medicine, said she turned on her husband in a jealous rage, claiming she had found two letters in his clothing from another woman.

Pickir.g up two steak knives—one in each hand—she drove him from the kitchen to the living room in a slashing, stabbing attack while the children tried to hold her back.

Failla tried to crawl under the grand piano, but collapsed under the tree—his blood staining a $5,000 mink coat and other presents he had bought for his wife.

Police said Mrs Failla was to have visited a psychiatrist last Friday, but broke the appointment.

As soon as Failla fell, his wife rushed to the bathroom and gulped down the sleeping tablets. Camilla and her 12-year-old brother,

NO AMERICANS ON INJURED LIST

Japanese Volcano Erupts; Three Die

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 26.—Japan awakened this day after Christmas to the rumble of the earth and the roar of the world's largest volcano.

The earth of central Honshu island quivered intermittently for several hours. National police said three persons were killed, two were injured and several were missing.

Mt. Aso, oldest active volcano on earth and the largest, erupted on Kyushu island south of Honshu. Rocks of tremendous size were hurled 500 feet into the air. No lava flow followed.

No American personnel were among the casualties of the earthquake, which rumbled through nine prefectures immediately north of Tokyo.

Imaichi Hardest Hit

The town of Imaichi, 65 miles north of Tokyo, was hardest hit. The homes of about half of its 17,000 inhabitants damaged or destroyed.

A hundred American servicemen in quarters at Nikko, five miles north of Imaichi, escaped injury. Pvt. Charles Penton of Terrell, Tex., desk clerk at the Kanaya hotel in Nikko said the hostelry tuffered only a few broken windows.

Persistent earth tremors have been recorded by the Tokyo central meteorological observatory for several days. Three were felt in Tokyo today between 6:46 and 8:48 a. m. Tokyo time (4:46 p. m.-6:48 p. m. Sunday EST).

Injuries Not Serious

At Utsunomiya, 60 miles north of Tokyo, 13 tremors were felt between Sunday evening and this morning.

Sections of the railroad between Utsunomiya and Nikko sank forcing passengers to take to buses for the last 20 miles of the Tokyo to Nikko run. Unconfirmed reports said two freight trains near Nikko were derailed.

The police chief at Imaichi said doctors and nurses arrived there and were caring for the injured. Most of them were hurt only superficially by cuts and bruises. He said for the time being there is enough food and clothing for 'quake victims.

Landslide Reported

Earlier Japanese reports said four persons were killed and five apparently had been buried by a

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 26. (U.P.)—A sharp earthquake jarred the Inglewood area today at 6:27 a. m., PST.

Police said the shock centered here but was felt in El Segundo and at Los Angeles international airport.

Hundreds of residents telephoned police to ask about the quake, but there were no reports of large-scale damage.

Economy Move Gets Support

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—One member of Congress today credited the public—and voters in particular—with support for a new year's resolution for economy.

"For the first time in nearly 20 years there seems to be a genuine popular trend for balancing the budget," Senator Dworshak (R-Idaho) told a reporter.

Mail Is Received

Dworshak said he is getting a lot of mail from individual voters and organizations urging him to battle for less government spending and oppose any tax increases.

"Apparently a lot of these voters do not know that's exactly what I've been doing for nearly 10 years in both the House and Senate," he said. "But it certainly shows a healthy trend after years of spend, spend, spend and let the other fellow pay the bills."

Dworshak said he believed Republicans could recapture control of both the Senate and House in the 1950 elections if they make "economy and a balanced budget the main issue.'

The senator said he believes the next session of Congress can "cut at least 10 per cent off our

Heart Of Southern Pennsylvania Town Is Razed By Fire

(By The Associated Press)

HYNDMAN, Pa., Dec. 26.—A fire in a Christmas tree grew into a raging inferno last night, destroying the heart of this southern Pennsylvania town of 1,500. One person was missing and presumed dead.

More than three blocks of the business district and surrounding residences were burned to the ground. The flames methodically consumed the post office, the bank, about 12 other buildings and more than a score of houses and apartments.

Mayor Ernest Harden estimated damage at $500,000. Two other prominent citizens figured losses would run to at least $1,000,000.

Hyndman is about 14 miles north of Cumberland, Md., and the Maryland-Pennsylvania border.

Started In Tree

Police Chief Paul Wise said the fire started in the Christmas tree of Somers Fisher. Fisher's wife, Corrine, 60, who was upstairs when the evergreen kindled the flames, still was missing.

Dr. John Topper, the town's only physician, said she "presumably perished." Fisher himself suffered serious burns. Memorial hospital at Cumberland termed his condition "bad."

Twenty to 30 fire trucks from a dozen nearby communities rushed to aid the town's volunteer company.

Organization in battling the blaze was impossible. When the assisting fire companies arrived, their chiefs picked a spot and began the fight.

Pressure Is Normal

Fortunately, water pressure remained normal, in spite of the sudden drain on the town's reservoir. Some water was taken from the creek that runs through the village.

Red Cross disaster groups from Cumberland and Bedford, Pa., arrived about 10 p. m. and immediately began bringing in cots to set up in the schoolhouse.

The committees set up coffee and doughnut canteens for the homeless until more substantial provisions could arrive.

The citizenry were not taking the catastrophe too easily. Only last Thursday a $100,000 fire swept the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Co., one of the town's major industries, and threw many workers out of jobs.

Hours after the fire was declared under control, a heavy, thick smoke continued to hang over the community. Occasionally glowing embers would burst into flame again, and the closest group of firemen standing guard would turn to with hoses.

One big reason the outside fire companies arrived as quickly as they did was a pretty 21-year-old telephone operator, Mrs. Helen Turner.

"I called firemen from several surrounding towns," she said. There was only one line open and we had the busiest night I've ever experienced."

Injunction Asked On Strike In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 26 (U.P.) The Cleveland transit system will seek an injunction today to end the city's five-day transportation strike.

CTS legal counsel Robert Shoup said he would go before common pleas Judge Joseph Artl at 3 p. m. to ask for the injunction and an order restraining officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employes (AFL), from interfering with the movement of strikebound streetcars and buses.

Murder Count Lodged Today

A negro who was shot early Sunday night in another negro's mortuary here died early today. A charge of murder with malice was filed against Theodore Solden Jamison, 40, of 2507 East Ave. E.

Fred Douglas Gibson, 29, of East Nineteenth, died at 2:05 a. m. in Chatman hospital, where he was taken by the defendant in Jamison's ambulance.

$2,500 Bond Set

Bond of $2,500 was set by C. E. Lynn in binding Jamison over to investigation of a Jan. 2 grand jury.

The charge was sworn to by Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney.

Pharr went to county jail at midmorning to take a statement from witnesses. District Attorney Lloyd Croslin questioned the defendant Sunday night.

Pistol Is Recovered

A .38 caliber pistol of the defendant admitted firing four times was recovered by officials, as well as an open knife that was found on the blood-stained floor.

Jamison told officials he had returned from a trip to Littlefield shortly before the shooting and had found Gibson lying on a bed in a back room of the mortuary. With the help of a friend, Lonnie Evans, 30, 2404 East Ave. B, only other witness to the fight, Jamison forced Gibson to leave the building, it was related.

The shooting occurred when Gibson allegedly re-entered the place, a knife in his hand, and started an argument, Jamison said he dashed past Gibson through an anteroom to his office, secured the gun, and fired the shots some time during the ensuing struggle.

One bullet entered Gibson's

Well-Known Minister Claimed In New York

JAMESVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 26 (U.P.) — The Rev. Dr. Bernard Lea Rice, 71, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, died yesterday.

He was well-known as a poet and at one time was managing editor of the Presbyterian Advance.

Dr. Rice, a native of Canyon City, Colo., served pastorates in that state, Texas, Ohio and Massachusetts before coming to New York state to take over a church at Dryden in 1944. He retired in 1946 but returned to the pulpit a year ago.

55 Lives Are Snuffed Out In Yule Tragedies

Traffic Toll 30, Flames Claim 10 And Shootings 8

(By The Associated Press)

More than 50 persons died violently in the holiday week-end in Texas. With another day to go, 55 had been killed in traffic accidents, stabbings, shootings, fires and other mishaps.

The traffic toll was 30 while 10 died in fires, and eight by shooting.

The count of holiday deaths began after midnight Thursday.

Burns To Death

J. H. Copeland burned to death when a one-room house was destroyed by fire at Kilgore early Christmas morning. He was a retired carpenter.

William Doyle Hathaway, 29, Consolidated Aircraft employe of Fort Worth, died at Fort Worth of auto accident injuries received in Tarrant county near Benbrook Dec. 24.

Reuben P. Flippin, 77, farmer, was killed in an auto accident in Burleson county Christmas day.

Violent Death Toll Hits 395

(By The Associated Press)

Everynight minutes—during the remainder of this three-day Christmas holiday—someone in the United States will die a violent death.

A life will be lost either in a traffic accident, in a fire or through some awful violence.

That's the pattern of violent deaths this holiday weekend since the Associated Pres began its nationwide survey Friday, 6 p. m.

It was a short holiday for at least 395 persons. Traffic accidents killed 294 of them. Fires ended life for 53 and 48 others were killed in a variety of accidents.

Traffic Toll Heavy

Fifty-five of the deaths occurred in Texas. Thirty died in traffic mishaps, ten in fires, eight by shooting and seven from other causes.

The National Safety Council has estimated that traffic mishaps would will 435 by midnight Monday. During the Christmas holiday last year—observed for two days—396 accidental deaths were recorded, 277 in traffic accidents and 119 in fires. For the first 10 months of 1949, the council said, 83 persons were killed or succumbed to injuries sustained in accidents every 24 hours—bout one every 18 minutes.

This Christmas saw a family of

Christmas Still Around For Second Holiday In Most Areas

Santa's Gone But There're Millions Of Trees In Front Room And Lots Of Turkey In Kitchen

(By The Associated Press)

Christmas, which usually comes but once a year, stayed around today for a second holiday in most parts of the country.

Even if the packages were all open and the toys already a little battered, there were still millions of Christmas trees in the front room and lots of turkey left in the kitchen.

After a day of religious remembrance, gay parties, talks by world leaders and plain family fun, the country could relax and get in shape for a quiet week. Then the new year will come and open the second half of the twentieth century.

But Christmas was not all sweetness and light. From the start of the long holiday at Friday midnight, nearly 400 Americans died violent deaths —most of them in auto accidents and fire. Tonight's rush back to work and the cities will probably claim scores more.

And Christmas brought little but tragedy to the southern Pennsylvania town of Hyndman and its 1,500 people.

A Christmas tree caught fire in one home and before the blaze was out more than half the town was gone. One woman was missing and believed dead, a dozen were hurt, and scores were homeless.

It was anything but a white Christmas—away from a radio set—and only scattered parts of the country reported snow. Mostly the weather was clear and cold, with snappy temperatures and blue skies. It was the same in Europe, too, where only the Alps and other moun-

LINCOLN DAY DINNERS SCHEDULED

GOP Party Planning To Issue Policy Statement February 1

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Republicans set February 1 as the target date today for a new statement of party principles to start off the 1950 congressional campaign.

A. B. Hermann, executive director of the GOP National committee, told a reporter that by that date the Republicans hope to come up with a platform they can lay before 2,500 Lincoln Day dinner gatherings across the country.

Policy Group Named

Guy G. Gabrielson, the national chairman, started the ball rolling yesterday. He appointed a 15 member policy group to represent the national committee in dickering with Senate and House GOP policy groups on the proposed statement.

Hermann said this group will ask Republican state chairmen and GOP governors to submit it to their ideas about what should go into the new platform.

The national committee's ideas about the policy statement then will be tossed into a pool with drafts made by the Senate group, headed by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and the House group, headed by Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts.

Members Are Split

Gabrielson's policy group, of which he named himself chairman, seemed heavily populated with all-out critics of the Truman administration's program. Nine of the members Gabrielson chose supported him in his party-dividing election as national chairman last August 4, while five voted for his opponent.

An analysis of 6,700 replies to a policy questionnaire sent party workers showed rank and file members split over whether the GOP should launch an all-out attack on the Truman administration's domestic aims.

For instance, a Michigan financier said it would be better to go down fighting the "welfare state" than not to fight it at all. A New York industrialist pointed out that everybody is for welfare, adding that the Democrats would capitalize on such Republican opposition.

February Dinners Set

Hermann said the national committee already has been advised of 1,237 Lincoln Day dinners to be held in February and hopes to boost this total to 2,500.

The kick-off for these affairs will be a $1 a plate dinner, to be held in a local sports arena. It will contrast with the $100 a plate affair to be staged by the Democrats in a National Guard armory with President Truman as the principal speaker.

The Republicans aren't trying to raise money with their dinners but are trying to steam up party workers, Hermann said. He added that funds are beginning to trickle into the party's almost bare coffer.

Air Force Lieutenant Shoots Self In Head

WICHITA, Kas., Dec. 26. (AP)—A young Air Force lieutenant was wounded fatally yesterday in front of his bride of a few months.

Deputy Coroner Dale Fairleigh said First Lt. Ray Guy Harris, jr., 27, shot himself.

Brig. Gen. Ray G. Harris, retired, the father of the young officer, said his son had removed shells from a .38 caliber revolver and was jocularly putting the gun to his head and pulling the trigger.

The father said his son evidently overlooked one shell and the gun fired the third time he pulled the trigger.

Mrs. Harris was treated for shock.

Lieutenant Harris was spending a convalescent leave in Wichita. He had just been released from the station hospital at Keesler field, Miss., where he had been undergoing treatment for a stomach ailment.

Christmas Tree Business For Detroit Is Very Grim Venture

DETROIT, Dec. 26. (AP)—The Christmas tree business turned into a grim one in Detroit this Yule holiday.

As one dealer put it:

"I figured to make a killing. Instead, I nearly got killed."

Willis Ross, the dealer, lives in Lincoln, Mich., about 250 miles north of here. He diagnosed the situation correctly when he noted that Detroit, where in other years you could but a fine tree for a song on Christmas eve, was in for a severe shortage.

Many Were Burned

Other dealers had burned thousands of evergreens and seen their profits go up in smoke in recent years. This year they apparently decided not to load the Detroit market.

So Saturday evening, when the tardy tree buyers were paying $5 to $20 for some tiny, spindly specimens—if they could find even those—Ross and his two sons drove in with a carload and set up shop.

They intended to sell the trees for $2 to $5. But the huge crowd that gathered when sound trucks announced the sale couldn't wait to buy.

The mob got out of hand and a free-for-all resulted. Nineteen-year-old Carl Ross was beaten unconscious. His father finally got away with the truck and about half his trees and took Carl to receiving hospital for treatment.

Ross said he tried to give the rest of the trees to charitable organizations, but they were refused because it was too late for distribution. Finally he said they would be burned, after all.

Then there was the incident of the Detroit man whose family was one of hundreds that went without a Christmas tree. He complained to police that a dealer beat him up.

"I offered him 50 cents for his last tree," the would-be buyer told police. "I've been doing that for years. I always got a good tree before. This time he got mad."

Bugs Bunny Creator Claimed By Illness

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Death has taken Leon Schlesinger, 65-year-old retired producer of movie cartoons—the man who gave the nation Bugs Bunny.

The creator of "Merrie Melodies" and "Loony Tunes" and other cartoons died yesterday after a long illness. He was born in Philadelphia.

Portugal's oldest woman, 108-year-old Josefa Morgado, still sews without glasses.

Two Escape Death In Train-Auto Accident

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 26. (AP)—A freight train sheared a stalled automobile in two at a crossing near here Christmas night, but two car passengers were only slightly hurt.

Driver George E. Ford, 69, of nearby Delhi, was thrown back with the rear half of the car. With one ear cut, he stood up dazedly and dashed across the track to locate his passenger, Mrs. Maude Russell, 65, of Spencer, Ia.

She was in the midst of the wreckage of the car's front half—and suffered only a broken arm. Both were treated at a nearby hospital and released.

New Syrian Cabinet Has Short Life Span

DAMASCUS, Syria, Dec. 26. (AP)—Syria's newest cabinet resigned last night after only 23 hours in office, the shortest life span of any Syrian government.

Premier Nazem Kudsi's letter of resignation did not specify the reasons for his move, which came after an unexpected meeting of the council of ministers.

Kudsi formed a cabinet on Christmas eve in the hope of ending a week-lond cabinet crisis. Former Premier Khaled Bey Azem had been unable to form a government and Faris El Khoury, Syria's delegate to the United Nations, had declined to try.

The week's political unrest had begpn with a coup within Syria's army which unseated the commander-in-chief, Gen. Semi Hennawi. Hennawi had seized the government last Aug. 15 in another coup which resulted in the executions of President Husni Zayim and Premier Muhsen Bey Berazi.

Kudsi, independent Syria's first minister to the United States, is a member of the Populist party, which won a big majority in national elections Dec. 15.

Methodist Bishop To Visit South America

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26. (AP)—Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, resident head of the Methodist church of the Philadelphia area, and Mrs. Corson will sail Saturday for a tour of mission fields in South America.

Bishop Corson said they would visit Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and Puerto Rico.

Designated as the fraternal messenger from the council of bishops to the Brazil General conference, Bishop Corson is head of the denomination's educational work.

He also is scheduled to address the School Directors conference of South America at Lima, Peru.

Weddings Solemnized During Holiday Time

December, which vies with June in being a month of marriages, has seen a number of ceremonies performed here and on the South Plains.

St. Paul's Episcopal church will be scene of the marriage of Mrs. Christine Whiddon Pemberton of 2206 Ave. J, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Whiddon, and Binkley Powell Brown, son of Mrs. Marcia Brown of Dallas, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Claude Canterbury, rector, will perform a double ring ceremony.

Gene Horton, organist, and Miss Marion Canterbury, soloist, will provide wedding music.

Thomas A. Whiddon is to give his sister in marriage. She will wear an afternoon dress of bronze lace over taffeta with gold lace mitts. She will carry a white prayer book and a white orchid.

Mrs. Eugene Pavlicek, matron of honor, is to wear a blue lace afternoon dress over taffeta. Her bouquet will be of pink carnations.

Attendants To Bridegroom

Douglas Brown of Dallas is to serve as best man and Mr. Pavlicek and R. J. Jones, jr., of Abernathy will be ushers.

At the reception to be given in Hilton hotel Navajo room, Mrs. Marcia Brown, J. D. Brown, Mrs. Pavlicek and Mrs. Morris Cooper are to assist with hospitalities.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will live at Lamesa. Mr. Brown is associated with the Stanolind Oil company of Texas.

Outh-of-town guests are to be from Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore. Austin, Dallas, Lamesa, Midland and Abernathy.

MEADOW COUPLE IS MARRIED

Mr and Mrs. E. F. Schwartz of Meadow are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Bettye, to Joe Jolpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jolpin of Meadow, which took place recently at the Meadow First Baptist church. A double ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with gladioli and poinsettias.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, H. Joe Schwartz, wore a light tan suit with white and navy blue accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with red roses For something old, the oride wore her mother's saphire ring, and for good luck, she wore a penny in her shoe.

Miss Pat Schwartz, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a gray wool dress with green accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Gene Jolpin served as his brother's best man.

Play Wedding Music

Wedding music was offered by Miss Frances Brown, pianist, and Mrs M. G. Brown, sister of the bride, who sang "I Love You Truly." LaVern and Patsy Jolpin, sisters of the bridegroom, lighted candles.

At the reception given in the Schwartz home, the bride's table was covered with an Irish linen cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake. Mrs. H. Joe Schwartz and Mrs. E. S. Brister served guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolpin have gone on a wedding trip to New Mexico.

Out-of-town wedding guests were from Olton, Springlake, Plainview, Meadow, Smyer, Abernathy, Slaton and Brownfield.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Farm Couple's Budget Is Wrecked As Man Uses Their Place For Free Vacation Resort

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My nephew Earl is married, has two babies and recently bought a heavily mortgaged home in the nearby city where he works—so you see he can't afford to lose his job.

Last Spring he and his employer were in our neighborhood on business and they drove by to see our farm. We had a pleasant visit, Mr. X asked if he might bring his wife to call, and a few Sundays later they spent a day with us. In leaving Mr. X said that when plowing started he'd like to come for a week-end to help us. In a spirit of hospitality we said "Fine," and in a fortnight they came back—and stayed two weeks! But Mr. X did help, so we didn't mind.

Four times during the summer they came for a week-end and stayed two weeks. In early September they appeared unexpectedly for a week-end, bringing both mothers. As I had other company we were overcrowded. In October they came again, bringing four in-laws that time. But two weeks ago was the last straw, when they bore down on us in two cars, bringing nine people for breakfast, dinner and supper.

NERVOUS NEPHEW URGES DIPLOMACY

MR. X's greeting was "Hi-ya, folks, how's things on the farm? Meet the folks, we're all starved." And believe me he wasn't exaggerating. Due to feeding them and their retinue this past year we've almost beggared ourselves; and we cannot continue to exhaust our funds and supplies, but when I hint at food costs Mr. X usually replies, "If you really want to learn about food costs you should live in the city."

When I spoke to my nephew about this recently, he said he had no idea Mr. X's country vacations were spent with us. And when I said I couldn't afford to continue this way, Earl asked me please to be most diplomatic. He said Mr. X is a sorehead when crossed and might fire him in retaliation, and I know Earl has reason to feel his job would be jeopardized, because while Mr. X has a bluff hearty manner, he can also be vindictive.

But how can I be diplomatic in dealing with folks who take everything as their due and have no compunctions about bringing all their relatives to partake of our hospitality? My husband threatens to tell Mr. X that he and his kin are no longer welcome. I've asked him to wait until we hear from you before taking a definite stand. Please advise—Signed R. P.

SEEMS A THROWBACK TO FEUDAL RAIDING

DEAR R. P.: This is an extraordinary situation. Since getting his foot inside the door at your place, Mr. X has been presuming as if he were a feudal lord in the Middle Ages, visiting the peasantry on his ancestral acreage for fleecing purposes. He invades your domain with his retinue as if all that is thine were primarily his.

No doubt you hung out the latch-string to this invasion of locust at first, partly due to being swept off your feet by Mr. X's drive, also with the idea of helping Earl curry favor with his boss, and moreover in the excited hope of becoming close friends with a big shot, which you took Mr. X to be—so that in case of need you'd have influential backing.

The picture you give of Mr. X's baronial descents on the farm, also your nephew's bullied fear of crossing him, pointedly indicates that you are naively involved with an aggressively selfish man whose "bluff hearty manner" means that he grins like a fox while knowingly exploiting submissive subjects. Yet combined with his insatiable greed is a bad conscience about his wrong dealings, and it flashes forth in vindictive behavior (a form of neurotic defense) when his performance is thwarted or challenged.

DON'T SURRENDER TO THE INVADERS

THIS kind of pirate is always stalking his own advantage and I daresay Mr. X figured from the first visit that here was a grand vacation set-up he could use cost-free if he played his cards right. Emboldened by your tolerance, his abuse of your hospitality has become outrageous—and I agree with your husband, it should be stopped.

Don't martyr yourselves to Earl's craven psychology. Let him handle his problems in relation to Mr. X and you solve yours. For diplomacy, try a planned policy of friendly non-cooperation. That is, is Mr. X brings a party unannounced for meals, or if he or his wife write or telephone to negotiate overnight accommodations, have other purposes, to declare. If you find them at the door, say you were going away—you don't need to explain where—when you'd finished chores, changed clothes, etc and then suit your actions to your words. And decide together, here and now, just where you could go in a pinch like that, to give substance to your stand.

Unusual Figures On Rock Are Exhibited

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (AP)—A Christ-like face, a cross, and what appear to be other Biblical figures stand out, apparently by an accident of nature, on a rock owned by Miss Helen Barnhart.

The slab of dolomite (a form of limestone), is three inches thick and about the size of a woman's handkerchief. Observers see in its ridges and depressions the face of Christ, a cross with seven steps leading up to it, an angel above the cross, an avenging angel, and the grief-stricken Mary beside the cross.

Miss Barnhart says the rock was found by her mother in 1910 on a farm near Wessington Springs, S. D. She said it was exhibited in the capitol at Pierre, S. D., for six years until she brought it here five years ago.

Vows Read In Amarillo

A formal ceremony read Thursday, Dec. 22, in Amarillo united in marriage two Tech graduates, Miss Marty Lou Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bond of that city, and Donald Orr of Uvalde, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Orr of Graham. Rev. N. B. Moon of Crowell, read the double ring ceremony in Amarillo First Baptist church.

Miss Jeanne Dudley of Silverton was maid of honor and Miss Helen Bishop of Winters and Mrs. Luke Thompson of Lubbock were bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore a yellow taffeta frock and the other attendants were in aqua.

Douglas McSwane of San Angelo was best man and Luke Thompson, Bobby Williams of Phillips and Wilson G. Bond and Kennison Bond, the bride's brothers, were ushers.

The bride wore a starlight slipper satin wedding gown and carried a bouguet of gardenias.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

Mr. Orr is a former Tech Red Raider and at present is assistant coach at Uvalde.

Picture By Picasso On Playing Cards

LEEDS, England, Dec. 26 (AP)—A new picture by French artist Pablo Picasso is on the back of a playing card. The local company he designed the card for (John Waddington, Ltd.) is pushing sales to the United States in line with this country's dollar export drive.

Picasso's card is described as showing a lobster and something like a Chinese Lantern. The artist has signed the design.

MOTIVE IN SHOOTING SOUGHT

Society Woman Is Killed And Worker At Ranch Is Wounded

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Dec. 26. (AP)—Authorities were trying to piece together today the motive behind a wild Christmas eve shooting spree that left prominent San Francisco newspaperwoman dead and a worker at her ranch critically wounded.

Carl Schwartz, 39-year-old ranch foreman, was booked for murder. Several witnesses said they saw him do the shootings. But Schwartz insisted:

"I didn't shoot anybody."

Killed Preparing Dinner

Mrs. Jane Maggard Dickson, prominent newspaper writer and San Francisco bay area social figure, was killed while preparing dinner for her family. A few moments earlier, Lyman W. Lacy, a ranch employe, was shot through the abdomen.

Four shots were fired at another ranch worker, Dick Harrison. But he dropped to the floor and escaped injury.

Mrs. Dickson's two children—she was expecting a third—and their maid were in the ranch house at the time. They were not threatened.

Her husband, Frederick W. Dickson, jr., heard the shots while duck hunting nearby. He thought they were from other hunters and did not investigate.

Disliked Society People

District Attorney Charles J. McGoldrick said Schwartz' wife, Virginia, 27, told him her husband disliked "society people" in general and Mrs. Dickson in particular. She said McGoldrick added, that her husband had accused her of flirting with other men.

Authorities said that Schwartz, not normally a drinker, bought a bottle of liquor and consumed a large portion of it to celebrate his birthday. He had driven to San Rafael with a friend to celebrate. The shootings occurred after Schwartz returned.

Mrs. Dickson was the daughter of Edward H. Maggard, retired president of the Northwestern Pacific railway.

Colorado Hermit To Make Annual Journey

CANON CITY, Colo., Dec. 26 (U.P.)—Frank E. Gimlett, a hermit who loves people, is ready for his annual trek to Washington to confer with congressional leaders on the state of the union.

The white-haired hermit of Arbor Villa spends his summers camped atop lofty Monarch Pass. But every year at this time, he boards a train for the nation's capital in an effort to "get the nation back on a sound financial basis."

Gimlett wants hard money—silver and gold—instead of currency.

"Paper money just doesn't mean anything," he insists.

Losses In Packing Shed Fires Mount

McALLEN, Dec. 26 (U.P.)—Losses in packing shed fires here over the Christmas weekend mounted to almost $200,000 today.

A fire caused an estimated $150,000 damage at the South Texas Produce Co.'s shed Sunday. It occurred only a block from where a Saturday blaze caused $37,000 to another shed.

Although fire department officials could not immediately determine the cause of the blaze, Scott Dogherty, owner of equipment in the South Texas shed remarked there "has been an epidemic of tramps at the sheds and around boxcars on nearby sidings; some of them might have started a fire to sleep by and left it burning."

Southern Pacific railroad owned both sheds. About half of the estimated loss in the Sunday fire covered supplies and machinery owned by Dogherty.

Street Lights To Be Erected By Hamlet

FLATVILLE, Ill., Dec. 26. (AP)—This hamlet may not be much of a dot on the map—but it's going to be a bright one.

Twenty-five volunteers from the countryside have started to put up street lights. The community has no organized government so the lights were bought by trustees of the Immanuel Lutheran church.

Post Mayor's Mother Dead At Fort Worth

POST, Dec. 26 (Special)—Mrs. H. B. Herd, mother of John T. Herd, pioneer resident and present mayor of Post, died at 8 p. m., Sunday, in Fort Worth, it was learned here.

Mrs. Herd, who was about 83, had lived in Fort Worth for 70 years. Funeral services have been set for Tuesday at the First Christian church in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Herd was a member of that congregation for many years prior to her recent affiliation with Texas Christian university's church.

Her husband, whom she married in 1889, died in March, 1937. He was instrumental in establishing the First National bank here.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ferd Moore of Sherman; two sons, John T. Herd of Post, and George W. Herd of Fort Worth; two sisters, Mrs. Sadie T. Beckham and Mrs. Lillian T. Anderson, both of Fort Worth; three grandchildren; and ten great-grandchildren.

Amarilloan Hurt In Lubbock Car Crash

A 64-year-old Amarillo man was seriously hurt in a two-car collision at Thirtieth and College Ave. at 10:43 a. m. Sunday. Two other Amarillo residents who were riding in the car with him suffered minor injuries.

In West Texas hospital with a fractured neck vertabrae and scalp lacerations, was H. R. Staples. His condition was described by hospital attendants as fairly good today. Mrs. Nina Jane Braxton, 25, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Susie Braxton, 51, were released after emergency treatment for lacerations and bruises.

All were hurt when cars driven by James Allen Braxton, 27, husband of the younger Mrs. Braxton, and O. P. Foster, who gave his address as the Lubbock hotel, collided at the intersection of the two streets. Neither of the drivers was hurt.

Foster was given a ticket for negligent collision by failure to grant right of way. Staples was taken to the hospital by McDonald ambulance, the injured women by Braxton.

For an evening party spice apple cider and serve it hot. For about eight cups of the cider you will need a teaspoon of whole cloves, a few small sticks of cinnamon, and six whole allspice. Tie the spices in a loose cheesecloth bag and boil in the cider for several minutes.

Sealed Letter May Disclose Clue In Slaying Of Woman

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—A sealed letter handed to her attorney 10 months ago was expected today to yield a clue to the slaying of Mrs. Margaret Lee Edward Talle.

The pretty 29-year-old Denver woman was found dead on the patio of her new $75,000 home in exclusive Montecito Heights Saturday.

Husband Is Jailed

Her husband, Thomas P. Talle, 37, a wealthy retired New Mexico cattleman, was in jail today booked on suspicion of murder. He would not discuss the case.

Attorney Elmer D. Jensen said Mrs. Talle handed him a letter 10 months ago with instructions to open it only "in case of my death." He said he did not know its contents but hoped it would yield a clue. Jensen said he'll open the letter tomorrow before relatives of Mrs. Talle.

Sued For Divorce

A friend of the Talles, Wiley Van Hecke, said "they fought like cats and dogs."

Sheriff Howard Hornbuckle said Mrs. Talle had sued for divorce but dropped the action. The Talles were married about four years ago and have no children.

Talle was surrendered to authorities by his attorney several hours after his wife was found shot. A .44 calibre revolver which Talle identified as his was found in the home. Police said it had been fired.

Quick and easy dressing for cole shaw is made by adding sliced stuffed olives to sour cream and seasoning with salt, sugar, celery seed, and cider vinegar.

Local Baby Dies Of Suffocation Sunday

Raymon Tackett, one and one-half months old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tackett of 715 Fifteenth, was found smothered to death shortly after 7 o'clock Christmas morning in the bed where he slept with his parents and a two-year-old brother.

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn indicated he would return a verdict of death by accidental smothering in the case.

Tackett, a 25-year-old roofing company employe who recently moved here with his family from Roswell, N. M., told officials the infant had been placed between his parents when they went to bed. The other child slept at the foot of the bed, only sleeping accommodations in the one-room dwelling.

The body of the infant, born Nov. 8, was found in the center of the bed. Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubanks aided Lynn at the inquest.

Sanders Funeral home here, in charge of burial, said definite funeral arrangements had not been completed.

SOLON'S COOPERATION UNLIKELY

President And Aides Prepare Annual Reports For Congress

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 — That scratching noise you hear around here is President Truman and his aides getting a few things in order: figures and messages.

Congress comes back Jan. 3 and shortly thereafter Mr. Truman will start bombarding it with his "state of the union" message, his economic report, and his budget, probably in that order.

In his state of the union message the President will lay out his program — that is, who he'd like Congress to do — for the year 1950 in the way of new laws and such.

In his economic report, put together by his council of economic advisors and others in the government, Mr. Truman will say how he thinks we're doing economically and what he thinks we should do.

Long Debates Expected

And in his budget message he'll give Congress the bad news on how much he figures the government will have to spend in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950, and ending June 30, 1951.

Then, when that's done, we'll be off to the races and Congress can get to work.

Of course, it won't get down to work before congressmen all over the place have a few hundred or thousand words, per congressman, to say on:

1. The state of the union message.
2. The economic report.
3. The budget.

These always provides no end of talk every year for a few days at least, and then plenty of talk week after week as Congress gets down to the question of doing, or not doing, something about them.

To Ask T-H Repeal

In his state of the union message, for instance, Mr. Truman is sure to tell Congress it ought to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law, put through his civil rights program, and set up a national health insurance program.

Right now it seems pretty certain Congress won't do anything about any one of those three, anyway, but that won't stop the talk about them.

So all, in all, you who have been living in a state of comparative calm since Congress went home in the fall, can get ready for a deluge of oratory, arguments, bickerings, criticisms, sarcasms.

We always start off the happy new year that way.

Man Risks Death In Flaming Cabin To Save Young Child

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Edward Flerx's neighbors today agreed that he should "get a medal or something" for risking his own life to save an infant girl from a horrible death in a burning tourist cabin.

Flerx, a Philadelphia, Pa., rooter, was spending a quiet Christmas eve in his cabin with his wife when he heard someone scream: "Fire!"

Cabin In Flames

When he looked out the door, he saw one of the small frame cabins "going up like a tiny tinder box."

Another tenant of the court shouted: "There's baby in there."

Flerx ran into the crackling cabin twice. In his first search he found nothing, but returned when Mrs. Betty Whitley again screamed: "She's still in there . . . Chedaria Hale's in there."

Baby Is Found

The 20-month-old child had been left in care of a young baby sitter by her mother, who had to work Christmas eve.

He found Chedaria, tightly bundled in a blanket, on the floor and staggered out with her.

Flerx spent Christmas day in bed from an overdose of smoke.

Local Lawyer, Wife Injured In Accident

LAMESA, Dec. 26. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Warlick Carr of Lubbock, two of four persons injured in a two car collision five miles north of here Sunday, were to be transferred from Lamesa General hospital to West Texas hospital in Lubbock today.

Injuries of the Lubbock attorney and his wife are not believed serious but they will remain hospitalized for observation.

R. F. Wyche, 54, and Mrs. Leona Johnson, 24, both of Lemesa, two of five occupants of the other car, were reported resting well this morning by hospital atendants. Wyche suffered cuts and bruises and a discolated hip and Mrs. Johnson received a broken leg.

The Cars were on their way to Big Spring to visit Mrs. Carr's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Ragan. The other car was taking Wyche and his family to Tahoka for Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barnes. Mrs. Barnes is his daughter.

Petersburg Woman's Brother Dies Sunday

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 26. (AP)—Calvin Thomas Jaycox, 66, Chicago insurance man, died here Sunday.

Jaycox, sales representative of Employers Mutual Insurance Co., Wasau, Wis., came here Dec. 19 with Mrs. Jacox to spend Christmas with a sister, Mrs. True Rosser of Petersburg, Tex. He was stricken with a heart attack shortly after his arrival.

His body was sent to Chicago. His residence there was 850 Lakeshore drive. He was a former vice president of the Illinois Manufacturing association.

Rites Slated Today For Horace C. Greer

Funeral services for Horace Clinton Greer, 74, who died about noon Saturday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Floyd Durham at Ropesville, were to be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the Riv Funeral Home chapel. Burial was to be in Lubbock Memorial cemtery.

Green has been in ill health for about a year.

Slowdown In Salary Hikes Is Reported

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—There has been a slowdown in pay raises for people on city payrolls.

The International City Managers Association and the Civil Service Assembly made a study of pay rates in 100 cities, and reported:

"Fewer cities gave pay raises during the first six months of 1949 than during similar periods in 1947 and 1948. Forty per cent of the 100 reporting cities raised pay rates during the first half of 1949 compared with 47 and 61 per cent for the first half of 1947 and 1948 respectively."

Littlefield And Mexia Battle For State Class A Crown

Wildcats Rated Two-Touchdown Favorites In Final Encounter

Littlefield's Wildcats and the undefeated Mexia Black Cats, sole survivors of a gruelling season of Class A schoolboy grid play, were slated to tangle this afternoon at Abilene for the championship of the A bracket. Kickoff time was 2 p. m.

Upwards of 7,000 spectators are expected to sit in on the Class A finale, providing the title tussle gets a favorable nod from the weatherman. Originally, the probable attendance was estimated at 5,000, but interest in the game has mounted to fever pitch throughout West Texas in the last few days. Almost 3,000 rabid rooters of the Wildcat team are expected to follow the Littlefield squad to Abilene for today's tilt.

Odds May Shrink

On the eve of battle, Littlefield retained its role of two-touchdown favorite, although the odds were expected to shrink slightly as kickoff time approached.

Chiefly responsible for Littlefield's being favored is a devastating ground assault which has enabled the Wildcats to amass 495 points in 14 games this season. Although beaten in their first 1949 outing, and given serious scares by Sudan and Levelland in District 4-A play, the Cats have "caught fire" in the playoffs, where they've been rougher than a sailor's vocabulary.

Coach J. S. Fikes' Big Red team simply pulverized Spur, Lefors, Ballinger and Garland, and most West Texas observers think they can do the same to Mexia.

Bain Coaches Mexia

The Black Cats' unblemished record must not be discounted, however. Coached by Ty Bain, former Texas Tech quarterback, the Mexia team has been monotonously consistent in rolling to 14 successive triumphs—including a 26-6 decision over New Braunfels, pre-season favorite for the state Class A crown. The Black Cats had only two really close squeezes—against Huntsville in the district playoff, 16-13, and against Uvalde in last week's 7-6 semifinal. Over the full season, Bain's blasters have registered 383 points to the opposition's 64.

One important factor in Littlefield's favor is a marked weight advantage in the line. The agile Wildcat forwards will average 180 pounds each—10 pounds per man above Mexia's front-line troops. Since both teams are known to prefer a running game, the matter of weight quite possibly will help decide the issue.

Wildcat Backs Heavier

Littlefield also will field a heavier backfield, but for once the Wildcats will meet a club that just about equals them in secondary depth. Mexia boasts one of the best - balanced backfields in South Texas Class A football, according to all advance reports. Sparkplug of the crew is Derrell Carlile, 160-pound fullback, who is helped with running chores by Halfbacks Bruce Outlaw (a freshman) and Bobby Duke. Skinny Garland Cain, quarterback in the Black Cats' T formation, does the passing.

Against this quartet, Fikes is prepared to counter with his usual slambang sextet of Tom Bailes, Charles Askew, Frank Gage, Gene Renfro, Stephen Brock and Donald Crossley. Crossley will attend to the passing, if an aerial attack is needed. In its last two games, Littlefield has uncorked such terrific ground power that only one pass completion has been posted by the Wildcats.

Mexia was reported Sunday to be near top form physically. Littlefield suffered a slight jolt Friday when Folyd Pinkerton, regular right guard, was sidelined by an emergency. The gap will be filled by Billy Frank Davis, who played enough to letter during the season.

Today's clash marks the end of the line for the state's gigantic Class A scramble, in which Littlefield and Mexia have blasted their way through a playoff field that originally numbered 32 district champions. The Wildcats were 4-A titlists, while Mexia won in 20-A.

Last year, the first in which state eliminations were held in Clas A, the championship went to the Monahans Lobos of District 5-A.

Two other state grid crowns already have been awarded this year, Wichita Falls taking Class AA honors and Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) pulling down top prize in the City conference.

Complete records of today's Class A finalists:

Cage Tourney In Spotlight

(By The Associated Press)

Southwest conference basketball teams—four of them—turn to tournament play this week.

Otherwise, one will be making a far-western tour and the other two will be playing intersectional games at home.

It's a full week of intersectional games—something at which the conference has been doing worse than mediocre this season. Last week, for example, the teams played eight games against outside foes and lost all eight.

Tourney To Open

For the season to date the record is seven wins against 28 losses.

Texas, Baylor and Arkansas go to Oklahoma City tomorrow for the all-college tournament, the big early-season feature in this area. They will compete against Wyoming, Oklahoma A. and M., Vanderbilt, Alabama and Oklahoma City university.

Slate Is Given

Tomorrow night Texas A. and M. opens its western tour against Arizona at Tucson while Texas Christian entertains Wichita at Fort Worth. Wednesday night Rice plays Wichita at Houston. Thursday night Texas A. and M. takes on California at San Francisco and Friday night plays Stanford at the same place.

Also, Friday night the Cotton Bowl intercollegiate tournament opens in Dallas with Baylor, Southern Methodist, Navy and St. Louis participating. Saturday night Texas Christian plays North Texas State at Fort Worth.

Former Pitcher Is In Coast Hospital

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, 62-year-old holder of the National league record of 373 pitching victories, will learn tonight whether he has any hope for recovery from cancer.

"Old Pete" was hospitalised for the second time in recent months after police found him unconscious Saturday in an alley behind the apartment house where he lives. He was taken to General hospital where doctors said his condition was good and promised an immediate diagnosis.

His former wife, Mrs. Amy Alexander, said the famed baseball player suffered a "bad gash" in the fall.

Surgeons in St. Louis removed Alexander's right ear two years ago in an effort to stop the cancer's spread, but the operation was unsuccessful.

North Eleven Tilt Favorite

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP) — The North and the South meet again tonight in the second annual game before an anticipated crowd of 40,000 or more in the Orange Bowl.

The forecast for continued high winds and scattered showers for the 8:15 p. m. (EST) kickoff time was expected to trim the crowd from earlier estimates of 50,000.

Yanks Are Favored

With six players from Notre Dame, Yale Coach Herman Hickman's "Yankee" squad ruled a slight favorite over the "Rebels" coached by Miami's Andy Gustafson and Baylor's Bob Woodruff.

The North was favored last year, too, but the South won, 24-14, before 33,056 spectators.

The "Yankee" squad can field a team averaging 229 pounds up front and about 200 in the backfield, but Gustafson claims his men are faster afoot.

Aerial Battle Seen

The South is expected to bombard the Yankees with passes, thrown by Baylor's Adrian Burk, who completed 110 forwards during the 1949 season to lead the nation.

Both squads held limbering up drills yesterday and were guests of the Shrine at Christmas parties in their respective hotels.

Probable starting lineups:

NORTH	POS	SOUTH
Wightkin, N. Dame	LE	O'Quinn, Wake F.
Donovan, Boston	LT	Allen, Duke
Murray, Purdue	LG	Matthews, Ga. T.
Grothaus, N. Dame	C	Walsh, Virginia
Reed, Rutgers	RG	Mouser, Baylor
McGehee, N. Dame	RT	Copp, Vanderbilt
Beeman, Dartmouth	RE	Ison, Baylor
Sengin, Boston	QB	Burk, Baylor
Deuber, Penn.	LH	Griffith, Kansas
Coutre, N. Dame	RH	Rich, Vanderbilt

Cotton Bowl Events Underway In Dallas

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Cotton Bowl weeks in Dallas started officially today. There will be athletic events, music, theater, and most everything else along the entertainment line.

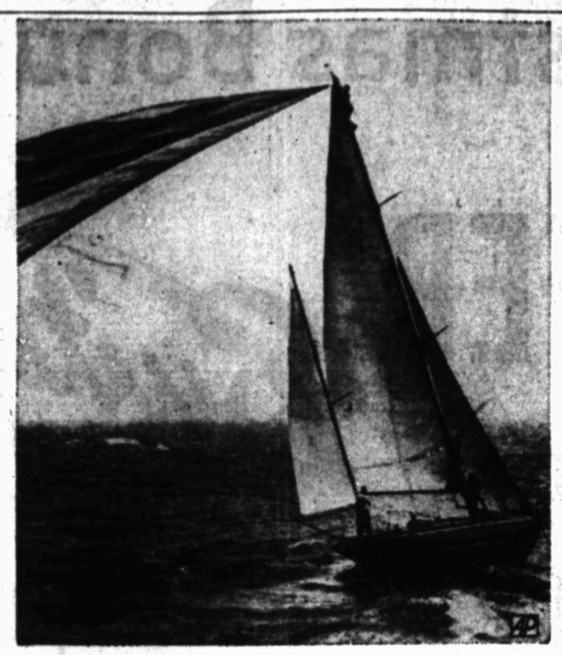

A high school basketball tournament started today.

The two football teams that will play in the fourteenth annual post-season game Jan. 2—Rice and North Carolina—still were taking Christmas holidays.

Rice and North Carolina both return to the practice field tomorrow after skipping Friday, Saturday, Sunday and today. But North Carolina has only one more work-out on home soil. Wednesday, the Tar Heels board a plane for Dallas, arriving in mid-afternoon in time for practice here.

An intercollegiate basketball tournament is scheduled Friday and Saturday night. Navy and St. Louis university will play Southern Methodist and Baylor of the Southwest conference. The Navy squad will arrive Tuesday afternoon to start work-outs. The St. Louis squad comes here Thursday morning.

Andy Pilnery, former Notre Dame backfield great, is serving as assistant football coach to Henry Frnka at Tulane.

YACHTSMEN TAKE A BLOW—Yachtsmen expect all kinds of weather, but the Mackinac Island race on Lake Michigan was sailed through a squall that forced the crew of the Rubaiyat to cut a spinnaker guy line to keep from capsizing.

THREE BROWNS ARE HONORED

Graham Is Picked On All-Star Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Automatic Otto Graham, the brilliant passer who made the Cleveland Browns one of the most powerful football teams in history, was honored today as the only player to be chosen on the now-defunct All-America conference all-star team during the four years of the league's existence.

The former Northwestern university sensation led the Browns to 52 victories against only four defeats and three ties during those four years. On each occasion Cleveland won both the seasonal crown and the playoff championship.

Graham was one of three Browns on the 1949 team selected by coaches, sports writers and sportscasters. The San Francisco Forty-Niners, second best team in the league over the four-year span, placed four, headed by Fullback Joe Perry, who polled more votes than any other back. Los Angeles, New York, Baltimore and Buffalo each placed one man on the team.

End Mac Speedie, chosen two previous years, and Center Lou Saban were the other Browns on the first team. Besides Perry, San Francisco placed Frankie Albert, a passing specialist second only to Graham, End Al Beals and Guard Visco Grgich.

Cleveland dominated the second team, placing End Dante Lavelli, Tackle Lou Rymkus, Guard Bill Willis and Fullback Marion Motley. The New York Yankees placed Tackle Martin Ruby, Guard Joe Signaigo and Halfback Buddy Young.

Second Team Listed

Also on the second team were Center John Rapacz and Halfback Bob Hoernschemeyer of Chicago, End Al Baldwin of Buffalo, and Rookie Halfback George Taliaferro of Los Angeles.

The league, which folded when Baltimore, Cleveland and San Francisco merged into the newly-formed National-American Football league, also gave honorable mention awards to the following players:

Tech Gridders Resume Drills

Red Raider gridders were scheduled to resume practices today at Jones stadium after a three-day layoff, and thoughts of turkey and dressing will be replaced by those of the Raisin Bowl battle with San Jose State in Fresno, Calif., and Dec. 31.

Workouts were interrupted Friday to allow the players to spend Christmas at home, and Coach Dell Morgan will be faced with the job of getting the minds of the players back on football.

As the team resumes training it is reported to be in top physical condition, and the players are in good mental shape for the contest, realizing how important the tilt is to themselves and to the Raider fans.

Remaining practice sessions can be counted on one hand with workouts today and Tuesday on the field and other drills Thursday and Friday in Fresno.

The team will leave by train at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, arriving in Fresno at 2:05 p.m. Thursday in time for a workout that day.

Heavy offensive drills are expected for the Raiders this week, with the defensive assignments also scheduled to get a thorough going-over to suit the style of play used by the Spartans.

Jewell McDowell Sets Torrid Pace

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 26. (AP)—Jewell McDowell, the perpetual motion man of the Texas Aggies, gives no sign of slowing up as the Southwest conference basketball campaign rolls past the one-third mark.

The five-foot, nine-inch guard takes particular pride in his defensive work, yet he found time to average more than 14 points per game in the Cadets' first nine tilts this season His total is 128.

McDowell's scoring performances range from nine points against St. Louis to 20 against Arizona university. He tabbed 18 against Niagara, 14 against Long Island and 13 against Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater.

Winter Racing Season Opens

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—Winter racing returns to Santa Anita park for the 13th season today and the opening day card signaled the start of interesting events to come.

First off was the feature of the day, a $50,000 stake with added money making it worth $83,921 for the 11 Christmas-foaled two-year-olds scheduled to race in the mile and one sixteenth event.

Ponder Is Watched

National attention was focused on the Calumet stable's Ponder, winner of the 1949 Kentucky Derby, as he winds up his career as a three-year-old in the $7,000 Monrovia purse.

Trained Jimmy Jones is pointing Ponder for the $100,000 Santa Anita maturity next month and today's six-furlong sprint offered a good chance to tune the colt up for the rich fixture ahead.

Coupled with Ponder was his stablemate, the crack Fervent, and racing against the entry was Fred W. Hooper's pace setting Olympia and the rest of a field of 11.

Citation To Race

Later Calumet's big horse, Citation, moves on to the track in search of renewed laurels and purse winnings, coming back to the races after a year's layoff.

Well regarded in today's $50,000 feature were Selector, Blue Reading, Your Host, Thanks Again, Quihi and others.

Some of the country's leading riders, notably Gordon Glisson, Johnny Longden, Steve Brooks, Eddie Arcaro and others are here for the meeting.

North Texas To Play In Oklahoma Tourney

(By The Associated Press)

The schedule is light this week in Gulf Coast conference basketball. Only two of the four teams have games.

North Texas State goes to Enid, Okla., tomorrow for an all-college tournament. Friday night North Texas State engages Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

Trinity and North Texas State lead the campaign. Trinity has won three and lost three while North Texas has taken four but dropped five. University of Houston has a 3-5 record and Hardin 1-6.

Conference play hasn't yet started.

Cellar Baseball Clubs Facing Gloomy Prospects Next Season

JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—There'll be a new year, a new start and a new high in the optimism for most baseball clubs in 1950; however, for a few there can be only dismal expectations of the same old sorry finish.

In the gloomy group are such longshot entries as the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators. None of that quartet finished higher than seventh last season. Although officials of those stragglers affect a cheerful outlook occassionally, they're not really fooling anyone.

In fact, Manager Frank Frisch of the Cubs, Luke Sewell of the Reds, Jack Taylor of the Browns or Bucky Harris of the Senators would rate some rich and novel award if he were able to finish as high as fifth.

The bitter truth is that Frank, Luke, Back and Bucky lack the playing talent with which to climb.

Frisch has high hopes for such rookies as Catcher Carl Sawatski and outfielder Bob Borkowski—both up from Nashville of the Southern association. Sawatski led that league in homers, and Borkowski was the loop's batting champion. However, the Cubs have had little luck with Southern association graduates during recent years.

Taylor is reluctant heir to a lot of guys named Joe—some with promise, some with experience and some with only ambition.

Most notable additions to his Browns are Pitcher Al Widmar and Outfielder Ken Wood from the Baltimore Orioles, Shortstop Billy De Mars from the Philadelphia Athleics, and Pitcher Lou Kretlow from Detroit. If those four play up to expectations, Taylor might be in line for "manager of the year" honors.

Problems Are Familiar

But it's the height of optimism to expect all four Brownie newcomers to live up to their advertisements. Taylor, a practical man who rarely luxuriates in daydreaming, expects no miracles.

Although Harris is just taking over the Washington club, he should be thoroughly familiar with the Senators and their problems. Twice previously he managed them, and he once was their second baseman. And Bucky is lucky this time to be working under a three-year contract, for he'll need at least three years to make order out of the current chaos in the capital.

Washington's outstanding addition since the close of the season has been Outfielder Irv Noren, obtained from Hollywood of the Pacific coast league. In the movie center, Noren was pure poison for opposing pitchers.

Reds Need Help

Sewell, considered a managerial wizard when he piloted the Browns to their only pennant in 1944, must use even greater magic to boost the Reds to a flag.

Cincinnati devoid of stars, has little chance of crowding National league contenders in 1950 or even in '51. For a time it seemed Ewell Blackwell might lead the Reds out of obcurity, but even he is a distince question mark now.

Many baseball men will greet young 1950 with gusto, but when a feller says "happy new year" to Frisch, Sewell, Taylor or Harris, he should whisper it.

West Coast Cagers Battle New Yorkers

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—West coast basketball teams, beaten ignominiously in four straight games by New York quintets last week, will set out once again to break their victory famine in Madison Square Garden tonight when Santa Clara meets Manhattan and San Francisco plays Long Island University.

The oddsmakers made both Pacific coast teams underdogs. Manhattan was installed a four-point choice over the Broncos in the opening game of the double-header and L.I.U. 3½ points over the Dons, 1948-49 National Invitation tournament champions, in the nightcap.

California was beaten twice and Southern California and San Francisco once each by New York teams during the past week.

In a double-header at Buffalo, N. Y., Canisius met Western Kentucky and the University of Buffalo faced Temple. Utah was pitted against St. Joseph's and La Salle against U.C.L.A. in a twin bill at Philadelphia. Idaho played Lawrence Tech in an intersectional clash at Detroit.

Single Game Slated In Lone Star Loop

(By The Associated Press)

A single game provides all the activity of the Lone Star conference basketball campaign this week.

Sam Houston State, which, like Southwest Texas State, has won 3 and lost 3 for the best mark of the season, takes on Brooke Medical at Huntsville Thursday night.

North Texas State of the Gulf coast conference beat Southwest Texas State 45-39 last week while East Texas State lost both its games in a tournament at Topeka, Kans., going down before Washington 56-44 and Maryville, Mo., Teachers 57-48.

Tarheel Team Will Make Trip By Air

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—North Carolina's Cotton Bowl football party, which takes off Wednesday, will be so big that it will overflow the chartered plane. There will be 84 "official" travelers, including the wives of players and some 20 newspapermen. . . . Louisiana State's Ebert Van Buren, Steve's kid brother, who may turn out to be a better all-around player than the Philly Eagles' star, likely will see only defense duty against Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. An expert linebacker, Ebert requested duty "wherever I can do the best job for the team." . . . Missouri's headquarters for the Gator Bowl game is a Ft. Lauderdale hotel owned by Wynne Castell, a team mate of Coach Don Faurot in 1923-24 . . . During a California practice session, Tackle Jim "Truck" Cullom made a mistake . . . Coach Lynn Waldorf pointed out the error and sent in Herb Schmalenberger to do it right. Herb made exactly the same mistake . . . As Waldorf was about to blow a valve, Cullom soothed him: "Heck, pappy, the kid can't help it if he has a bad case of hero worship."

Teacher's Face Red

Lou Watson, Indiana U. basketball guard, is doing his practice teaching in a physical education course at the university high school . . . One day recently he gave his pupils a long session on foul-shooting, with personal exhibitions from the free-throw line . . . The evening after Lou's flaw lecture, the Indiana varsity played a game and Watson missed six of seven foul chances. . . . Needless to say, the pupils all reminded him the next morning that they had been there.

Record Is Claimed

The Phillies claim a record of some sort in having had three athletes who played shortstop last season without having one chance in the field. Buddy Blattner, Ken Silvestri and Eddie Miller helped establish the mark, but Gran Hamner did most of the short stopping . . . Grand Forks, N. D. is all steamed up over its two hockey teams—North Dakota U and the Grand Forks Amerks, both coached by former Blackhawk Fido Purpur. They're already talking about a national championship for the college lads . . . Joe Bednenk, Penn State grid coach, blushingly admits he used the two-platoon system only once during his first season as head man. Movies revealed to him that on one extra-point attempt against Syracuse he had 12 men in the lineup.

Harry Lancaster, Kentucky's assistant basketball coach, figures that Jim Line "will ruin more good high school players than you can imagine after we get our new field house so they can see him." . . . Lancaster figures the kids will be trying to copy Jim's patented line-drive push shots. . . . Garden publicity tabs Middleweight Walter Cartier as the "picture puncher." Does that mean he couldn't punch his way through a picture?

Economic Basis Of Movie Industry Is Strengthened In '49

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26.—Names lyike Rita Haworth, Ingrid Bergman, Robert Mitchum and Shirley Temple made the Hollywood news bristle with excitement in the year 1949.

But the industry itself spent a quiet year of trying to get back on a sound economic basis. By year's end, the feat is pretty well done.

Quality Is Hiked

The quality of pictures also shows much improvement over the trash of the boom years.

Here is how the Hollywood highlights of 1949 look to this reporter:

Best pictures: "All the king's men," "Battleground," "Champion," "The Heiress," "A Letter to Three Wives."

Best foreign film: "The Bicycle Thief."

Nicest comebacks: Marie Wilson, Bill (Hopalong) Boyd.

Best radio show: Jack Benny.

Best hit song: "Riders in the Sky."

Cagney, Crawford Praised

Best hit record: Frankie Laine's "Mule Train."

Best male star performances: James Cagney, "White Heat;" Broderick Crawford, "All The King's Men;" Kirk Douglas, "Champion;" Gregory Peck, "12 O'Clock High;" Richard Todd, "The Hasty Heart."

Best female star performances: Jeanne Crain, "Pinky;" Olivia DeHavilland, "The Heiress;" Barbara Hale, "Jolson Sings Again;" Susan Hayward, "My Foolish Heart;" Ann Sothern, "A Letter to Three Wives."

Losses of the year: Wallace Beery, Harry Davenport, Richard Dix, Frank Morgan, Sam Wood, Maria Ouspenskaya.

Old Grid Equipment Set Goal For Doak

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Doak Walker, who became the first three-time All-American in Southwestern football history, got his burning desire to play the game out of a dark, musty closet at North Dallas High school.

That's what Walker, the legendary Southern Methodist gridder, says in the first of six articles written on his life for the Dallas Times-Herald.

In the copyrighted feature, Walker says:

"That may sound funny to you, but it's just about the truth."

Then he relates how, when he was a small boy and his father, Ewell Walker, was a teacher at North Dallas High school, he would go to the school with his mother to wait "for dad to finish his last period class."

While doing so he would play football on the campus with a pal, Kirk De Laney, whose father also was a teacher at North Dallas.

The boys would tire of this and then Walker would climb through a first floor window and head for a large closet in which was kept all the old football gear. "I got a big boot out of sitting there in the semi-darkness playing with those old shoulder pads, helmets, hip pads and pants," Doak recalls in his story. "And strange as it may seem to you, I liked the smell of that old, beat-up equipment. You know how some people are about the smell of fresh cut hay or the odor of pine in the forest? Well, that is what the smell of that old gear did for me.

"I would sit there and picture myself racing down the field (dressed in a fine football suit, of course) with the opponents close on my heels, but never close enough to keep me from crossing the goal line standing up. The only thing that would keep me from scoring at will was when Dad would pull me out of the closet and take me home. The game was over then, but the desire to play football on a real team some day burned more brightly after each visit to that closet."

Lesson In Sportsmanship

Walker's father understood this. He had played football at Austin college and he wanted his son to have his chance if he showed any promise at all.

Doak said his first lesson in sportsmanship came the day while, in a baseball game, he was called out on strikes and took out after the umpire with his bat. "Dad explained to me that if I was going to participate in sports I would have to learn to accept the decision of the umpire just like the rest of the fellows," Walker writes. "I've always remembered that and I've always tried to follow the rule."

Santa Cuts Red Tape To Give Video Sets To Vets' Hospital

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Dec. 26. (U.P.) The St. Cloud veterans hospital got two sleek television sets for Christmas, but it wasn't the easiest job Santa ever had.

Government red tape gave him a hard time. A Minnesota senator and top Veterans administration officials at Washington finally came to the rescue.

Dr. Claude Lewis, head of the hospital, received the sets for his patients yesterday and apologized for a snarl of red tape which threatened to hold up the Christmas gift until after the holidays, if not permanently.

Donated By Group

The sets were donated by State Employes, Inc., at St. Paul. They were brought here from the statehouse by Howard Lazerte, operator of the Golden Valley Transfer company, who volunteered his services.

Accompanying Lazerte was Edward O. Dahl, president of the state employes' organization, who enlisted Sen. Edward Thye, R., Minn., and top VA officials in an aggressive campaign to defy government red tape and get the sets installed on Christmas day.

Dahl first discovered how hard it was going to be to play Santa Claus when he telephoned the hospital last week that the gifts would be sent up from St. Paul.

Rules Are Lifted

A special services official told him that, among other things, the donor of a T-V set must send enough spare parts for three years and a special fund for repairs. The set also should be a new model, currently in production, Dahl was told.

"Santa Claus" got hopping mad. He called Thye and Thye called Washington.

Washington called St. Cloud and told Lewis to forget about regulations in this instance and accept the sets.

That cleared the way for Santa. The only flaw was that the veteran patients weren't on hand as he arrived in triumph.

They were attending a movie when the sets came. Lewis accepted them in a quiet, apologetic ceremony.

Old Monastery Of Byzantine Period Is Found In Egypt

CAIRO, Dec. 26 (U.P.)—A 64-room Coptic monastery of the Byzantine period has been unearthed at Helwan, a suburb of Cairo.

Doctor Zaky Saad, of the Royal Excavations, revealed that during the 7th season of excavations he discovered this monastery, which is believed to have housed some famous Egyptian historians.

Fragments of glass and pottery, as well as gold, silver, and bronze coins found on the site show that the monastery was in use as early as the 8th century A. D. There is no evidence of the time when it was finally deserted.

It is believed that this is the monastery mentioned by the Arab historians Sbu Salih and El Shaboshty, who state that Calip Abdel Aziz Ibn Marawan stayed at a monastery in Helwan during an illness.

Canals Discovered

To the north of the monastery are the remains of small red brick canals, obviously used for irrigating gardens there. To the south is a cemetery containing 36 tombs, of which 15 are intact. The bodies were wrapped in cloth, completely decayed, and nothing was left of the coffins but pieces of rusted iron.

This cemetery was obviously the burial place of monks, as all the bodies recovered are those of males. With one of the bodies was a flat rectangle of ivory, bearing a Coptic inscription ,but it was too decayed to be deciphered.

With another of the bodies was a seal in silver, with its owner's name inscribed on the flat base. He was a doctor called "Kassimus" or "Casmos."

Irrigation Provided

In the middle of the monastery was a large water reservoir. On one side was a swimming pool. Another basin supplied the water for irrigating the garden.

Drains were fitted for the disposal of water waste, which indicate that the monks maintained a high standard of cleanliness.

There are also vertical drainage pipes fitted into the walls off the roof. In general the impression is of great architectural skill in the construction of the building.

Remains were also found of mud and brick buildings, one of them obviously the residence of a notable, and of a building which probably was a church.

Folsom Seeks Change In Racial Attitudes

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 26 (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom has asked Alabamans to adopt a more Christian attitude toward negroes.

Negroes, he said in his annual Christmas message, make up 35 per cent of the state's population.

But, he asked, "are they getting 35 per cent of the fair share of living?

"Are they getting adequate medical care . . . ? Are they provided with sufficient professional training to produce their own doctors, professors, lawyers, clergymen, scientists?"

"As long as the negroes are held down by privation and lack of opportunity, the other poor people will be held down alongside them.

"Let's start talking fellowship and brotherly love and doing unto others, and let's do more than talk about it—let's start living it.

"The great carpenter of Nazareth showed us the way more than 2,000 years ago—and we have learned so little from his teachings."

Third Tuna Breeding Area Believed Found

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 26 (AP)—Capture of a baby tuna in North Australian waters has led fishery experts to believe that a new breeding ground for these fish—the third in the world—has been found. The only two other known tuna breeding grounds are in the Mediterranean Sea and near Costa Rica in the Caribbean.

The inch-and-a-half long tuna was caught from a fisheries vessel which had been engaged for five months on a survey of northern Australian waters.

Long Street Names Puzzle City Head

TORRANCE, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—How to abbreviate names like Yaseo de la Estrella, Calle de Anda Lucia or Via Monte D'Oro? That's the problem facing city manager George Stevens who plans to install street signs in the suburbs.

Stevens figures the signs should be no more than two feet long with letters at least six inches high and proportionately wide. That only leaves room for 12 to 15 letters.

EMBARRASSING MOMENT

CHICAGO (AP)—As Mrs. Frank Brawley was leaving her hotel apartment, she reached into a dark closet for an umbrella and hurried off. On a bus she noticed that fellow passengers were looking at her with a great deal of interest. On the street later she found herself the target of amused glances. She happened to peer down her umbrella-totoing arm. Dangling there was a red sign. It read: "Maid Service."

Crowds At Churches

Lubbock's churches saw capacity crowds for the special services Christmas day. Many were out-of-towners visiting relatives and friends in the city for the holidays. Midnight services were held at St. Paul's Episcopal and St. Elizabeth's Catholic church.

Many persons are expected to drive through the city tonight and see the Christmas decorations. Some will see them for the first time, the pressure of pre-Christmas business having prevented earlier tours. Most of the decorations will remain lighted through New Year's next Sunday.

Business men were not sure yet, but they think that final totals will show it to be one of the best spending Christmases on record. And for once, shoppers shopped early—or at least quit early, for the last shopping day was strangely quiet.

All in all, it was about the best Christmas since that long-ago one in 1938, when it looked like there might not be a war after all.

Even big sprawling New York City got a special Christmas present of its own—a net gain of 163,000,000 gallons of water in its parched reservoirs.

But probably no one was up in the air over Christmas like 77-year-old Thomas Brown.

His elevator stuck between floors in a Manhattan office building late Saturday—and no one came to get him out for 23 hours.

Ex-Wife Of Paralyzed Veteran Goes Back Home After Visiting Him Over Christmas

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26 (U.P.) — Pretty Mrs. Joan Grunden, 20, faced a lonely airplane trip home to Portland, Ore., today.

Mrs. Grunden spent the Christmas weekend here with her divorced husband, Army veteran Jack Grunden, 20, who is paralyzed below the waist. His buddies at Birmingham Veterans' hospital arranged the trip in hopes that the couple would reconcile.

"I hoped so, too — more than anything," the slender blonde said tearfully. "I love Jack very much and he loves me, but he says he doesn't want to tie me down to a cripple. I can't convinced him it doesn't make and difference."

Grunden, who insisted that his wife divorce him six months ago because of his physical condition, said he still felt the same way.

"I love Joan, and she's been wonderful to stick by me this way," he declared. "But I don't want her to feel bound to me.

"The doctors say maybe I'll be walking again after a year or 18 months. After that, we'll see."

Grunden returned to the hospital last night after a gala holiday weekend of sightseeing and meeting movie stars. They were quartered in a honeymoon suite at the lavish Country Club hotel, which also offered Mrs. Grunden a job if the reconciliation had worked out.

Best American Drinkers Are Claimed Just Beginners Compared To Japanese Champs

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Dec. 26.—Americans in Japan consider the Japanese "poor drinkers," but the bar boys at the Tokyo Correspondents club differ.

The boys insist they've seen no foreigners who can come near the two local record holders.

The bar boys claim that the best American drinkers in Japan would be "just beginners" in any contest with the native champions who specialize in drinking sake, the famous Japanese rice wine.

The sake drinking record is held jointly by Shuzo Tsuiakaya from Shikoku Island and the Priest of Kumamoto—seven and a half gal-consumed during an all-night drinking match.

So far as the historically-minded Japanese are concerned, the record was set in recent times, only some 300 years ago during the Tokugawa period.

Long, Long Ago

It was back in those feudal days that the town of Takamatsu on Shikoku, one of the four main Japanese islands, produced a heavy drinker called Shuzo Tsutokaya.

Like most Japanese, he ate while he drank. But unlike most Japanese, he regularly consumed unhulled rice and raw salt when drinking in a full-dress manner.

No one knew how much he could drink, but he rapidly gained local fame and the stories of his ability spread far.

One day a Nichiren sect priest came over from the town of Kumamoto, on Kyushu, another of the main Japanese islands, and asked about the alleged capacity of Tsutakaya.

Challenge Issued

"I'd certainly like to have a drinking match with this man who drinks sake on unhulled rice and raw salt," the priest said.

No sooner said than done, a messenger set out to locate the local champion.

"It is no fun for two persons to drink alone," said Tsutakaya when he arrived. "If we are going to have a contest, let's invite all the drinkers in the neighborhood to participate."

And so, 50 of the best drinkers were called together. The drinking bout started with the group of 50 in an anteroom of a temple, while Tsutakaya and the priest confronted each other in the main hall.

Amateurs Drop Out

Before long the 50 drinkers were drunk. Some became sick and dropped out. Others gave up and went to the main hall to see how the big match was coming along.

The night wore on but the two remaining drinkers kept on tossing off cup after cup of sake and neither appeared to be the least intoxicated.

By the time the sun was coming up, Tsutakaya and the priest were polishing off the last bottle and were agreeing that they were equally matched.

They decided to call the bout a tie, and so after putting away seven and a half gallons each, they took an umbrella and went for a walk in the rain.

back puncturing the right lung and the liver. Another passed completely through his right wrist. Evidence of four shots, three holes in the floor near the spot where Gibson fell and one near the center of the anteroom, was found by Deputy Sheriff's F. H. Bolen and Marvin T. Hill who investigated the shooting.

Only theft reported during the day was that of a green gabardine coat valued at $60 which was taken from a downtown cafe as its owner, Miss Bernice Wisdom of the Woody apartments was eating.

Gonzilas Retas, 46, a Mexican national, was arrested at Slaton allegedly in possession of a pistol, the sheriff's department announced.

Numerous Drunks

There were numerous cases of drunkenness. One of the victims was among approximately 20 prisoners the chief of police, Lewis Kittrell, had released from jail as a "Christmas present." The others apparently appreciated liberty more than he, and were not reported to have given any trouble.

Another man was latched up when he appeared to demand that his brother be released from jail.

Two brothers fought so furiously at an address in 1200-block Ninth that they were jailed, and the owner of the place was studying the possibilities of filing a charge against them, for wrecking his place, police said. They sought to fight in the police car that took them to the station, and had to be held apart at the station while being booked, reports showed.

Another man charged with absorption of too much "bottled Christmas" went to his mother-in-law's and proceeded to "give her a good cussing."

A husband filed on his wife for abusive language.

A youth paid a $15 fine for shooting firecrackers inside the city limit. A car he selected for bombing, police said, was a radio prowl car. A cracker went off under it.

filled with plague-carrying fleas were dropped from a plane on the firing ground. Colonel OOta, who directed this operation, was sorry, the defendant testified, that not all of the people perished during this experiment because owing to the hot weather, the fleas were not very active."

Kiyoshi was quoted as saying 3,000 persons perished during five years of experiments in bacteriological warfare at Manchurian prison camps. The germ warfare section—called unit 731—was established in 1936 by a special decree of Mmperor Hirohito, according to the Russian indictment.

Chinese Town Hit

After 1941, Kiyoshi was quoted as saying, the Japanese "especially intensified" work in bacteriological warfare. The radio said the Japanese general declared that plague-carrying fleas were dropped in 1941 on the Chinese town of Changteh, "as a result of which a plague epidemic broke out among the peaceful population."

The radio report said Kiyoshi testified that in June, 1942, plague-carrying fleas were dropped again, "while bacteria of cholera, paratyphoid and anthrax were spread in pure form through infection of water reservoirs, wells and rivers."

Reduced Budget Seen

Persons who are in a position to know Mr. Truman's plans predicted over the week-end that he will submit a reduced budget to Congress. They indicated a reduction of from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 under the current year's peacetime record spending of around $43,500,000,000.

These predictions came at a time when there also is talk that Mr. Truman will not make an immediate fight for additional taxes to balance the budget.

Save That Tree! Use It Next Year

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26. (U.P.) — Conservation - minded Agriculture Minister Nazario Ortiz Garza "recommended" today that everybody hand on to this year's Christmas tree.

"The same tree can be used for several years if it is kept right", Garza said without specifying how to keep it.

"Millions of trees can be saved by eliminating the need for cutting new ones each year."

The government banned the wholesale cutting and sales of Christmas trees in Mexico this season but the only visible effect on the market was a slight increase in prices.

Woman Puts "Curse" On Family And Tries To Murder Daughter

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 26. (U.P.) Mrs. Bessie Herrling, 43, was held today after she "put a curse' on her family on Christmas eve and attacked her daughter with a razor blade.

She was booked for assault with intent to do bodily harm. Her daughter, Mrs. James Baker, 26, mother of three children, suffered cuts about her face and on her right leg.

On Christmas eve, Mrs. Herrling wrote a note to "Jim, Jeanne and Buddy." The latter is her son, Martin Herrling. In the note, she said:

"My curse on you. Let it be the first thing you hear of a morning, the last thing at night. Let is follow you wherever you go; be at your side whatever you do. May only death bring you peace from it."

Seized By Police

Mrs. Herrling was seized by Officer Russell Edwards who was summoned by Baker.

Edwards said he rushed into the bathroom of the Baker home as Mrs. Herrling "grabbed Mrs. Baker by the hair and swung repeatedly at her with a razor blade."

Before Mrs. Herrling wrote the note on Christmas eve, Edwards had visited the Baker home to deliver Christmas food packages and baskets of toys for the Bakers' children, Pamela, 3, and twins Cathey and Carroll, 1. He had recommended them himself as a deserving case for holiday relief.

Carrying Gun Costs Man Long Sentence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Judge George D. Neilson just got fed up.

FIREMAN LOSES STATION

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Like it or not, fireman Eugene Sremins, 61, is being transferred. And Cremins doesn't like it because he's been at the Main Street station for 32 years. He loves it as much as his home. But the fire department is selling the building and Cremins is being sent to a station nearer his residence. Cremins finds only one advantage in being moved closer to his home. Said he: "At least I'll save on gas."

Truman Ignores Cold To Take Daily Walk Around Home Town

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 26. (AP)—President Truman walked for 30 minutes through Independence streets today in nippy 18-degree temperatures.

The walk took him by the Jackson county courthouse where he will speak at 11 a. m. (CST) and present the county with a life size statue of Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Truman gave another autograph. Linda Lou Choplin, a pretty 10-year-old blonde, was waiting when the president got home.

Gives Girl Autograph

Linda Lou asked Mr. Truman for his autograph. He told her he would be happy to give it to her. Yesterday he autographed a book for a 13-year-old girl.

No one knew what the President would say in his speech.

Mr. Truman himself gave no advance indication as to what he might have to say, but his home folk have become accustomed to him making important off-the-cuff remarks such as last year when he said Russian leaders were split wide open as to their policy toward America.

After the speech he planned to drive to his penthouse apartment in the Muehlebach hotel at Kansas City to get in some hard work.

Jackson Is Praised

Mr. Truman often has expressed admiration for Andrew Jackson, calling him a friend of the "common man."

He once referred to him as a man who "made a living reality of the high Democratic doctrines for which men of our nation fought and died—the extension of basic rights to all men."

Jackson, a Tennessean, became President in 1829 and was reelected in 1832.

He was the idol of the west when Missouri became a state in 1821. The county, of which Independence is county seat, was named after him.

The statue is the second of Jackson to be presented to the county and President Truman was responsible for both.

When Mr. Truman was presiding judge of Jackson county court in the early 1930s, he was instrumental in deciding that another statue of Jackson be placed in front of the 26-story courthouse in Kansas City.

The new Jackson statue stands in front of the Independence courthouse.

Eight - year - old Marie Nall, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Nall of 406 Hub Homes, who was burned when her clothing caught fire about two years ago, will be taken to San Antonio early in January for plastic surgery on her left hand and left thigh. Surgery is to be performed at Santa Rosa hospital, said her mother. Some of the leaders are drawn as result of burns.

Police said Ruth Tims, 16, of 239 North Ave. H was injured slightly in a 12:40 a. m. automobile mishap in 2500-block Texas Ave. She was examined at West Texas hospital.

Condition of A. B. Ellis, 1714 Ave. M, who is ill in Lubbock Memorial hospital, was showing slight improvement today, hospital attaches said. Mr. Ellis pioneer Lubbock resident, was admitted to the hospital Thursday after suffering a slight stroke.

Students Interested In Teacher's Travel

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP)—About 1,000 children are interested in Miss Louise Jackson Wright's trip to South America. Each of the junior high school youngsters will get five letters from five South American cities. And in each letter will be two stamps from the country in addition to the stamp on the letter. That is for the stamp collections.

The letters themselves will have comments on history, geography, art, music and other subjects. But the lessons are well concealed in the chatty notes from the traveler.

Miss Wright has made similar previous trips. Educators have been pleased with the results. When children request it she arranges correspondence between children in South America and U. S. children.

Britain, Yugoslavia Sign New Trade Pact

LONDON, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—The board of trade announced today that Great Britain and Yugoslavia had signed a trade agreement calling for exchanges totaling $616,000,000 in the next five years.

Britain will grant Yugoslavia a guaranteed credit of $22,400,000 and other "substantial credit guarantees are contemplated," the board of trade announcement said.

Line Built At Cost Of $73,000,000

Midwest Region Is Aided By New Southwestern Pipe Line

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 26.—The country's newest long-distance pipe line is in operation today as Louisville Gas and Electric company received the first delivery of natural gas from Southwest gas fields through the new 26-inch line of Texas Gas Transmission corporation.

The new transmission line, built in less than eight months, is the longest constructed and put into operation during 1949. It will have an initial capacity of 304,000,000 cubic feet a day when completed to Middletown, Ohio, next month. This will be increased in 1950 to 400,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Deliveries To Start

Deliveries will start this month to other utilities along the line, and to Texas Eastern Transmission corporation next month for transmittal to subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas system and Consolidated Gas corporation, and to other northeastern utilities.

The new line, built at an approximate cost of $73,000,000, brings additional supplies of natural gas to utility customers in Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas in time to meet peak winter heating needs.

Louisville Gas and Electric received its first gas from Southwest fields today as part of a contract under which it receives up to 20,000,000 cubic feet a day during the first year of the new line's operation, 30,000,000 a day during the second year, and 40,000,000 thereafter.

Utilities To Benefit

Other utilities will benefit by the start of operations of the new gas artery. Existing customers of Texas Gas serving more than 115 large and small communities will receive approximately 120,000,000 cubic feet a day more than their present supplies. These utility customers include the Light, Gas and Water Division of the City of Memphis, Mississippi Power & Light company, West Tennessee Gas company, Southern Indiana Gas & Electric company, Western Kentucky Gas company, and Indiana Gas & Water company.

When the new line is completed later in January to Middletown, Ohio, Texas Gas will be ready to deliver to Texas Eastern initial minimum quantities of 123,000,000 cubic feet a day, which will be increased by the addition of compressor horsepower to 235,000,000 a day by mid-1950. Texas Eastern will sell this amount through a new loop line in Ohio to the East Ohio Gas company, serving Akron, Canton, Cleveland, and Youngstown, Ohio; The Manufacturers Light and Heat company and the Ohio Fuel Gas company, which serve numerous communities in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia; and Philadelphia Gas Works, Consumers Gas company, Allentown-Bethlehem Gas company, Harrisburg Gas company, and National Gas & Oil company.

Ten compressor stations with a total of 68,800 horsepower will push gas through the new line.

With completion of the new 800-mile line from Carthage to Middletown and addition of compressor horsepower, Texas Gas will have by the middle of 1950 a pipe line system totaling 2,400 miles of pipe with total capacity of over 650,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

MISHAPS CLAIM 593 IN 1948

Accidents Are Reported As Major Cause Of Death Toll

AUSTIN, Dec. 26 (Special)—Take all deaths among children from 1 to 4 years old caused by the so-called childhood diseases, and they would total a little more than half the child deaths caused by accidents.

Figures released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, show accidental deaths in 1948 killed 593 children under 4 years of age, 214 of them under one year, while the combined deaths from diseases of childhood—scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria, measles, poliomyelitis, and epidemic meningitis—killed only 324 children in the same age group.

Accident Rate High

The report shows one of every three deaths in the 5-9 age group is accidental; four of ten deaths in the 10-19 age group is accidental, and very little decline is noted in that rate through the other age groups under 30.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox said, "State and local health officials can prevent epidemic diseases, and safeguard food and water supplies, but it is up to the individual citizen to protect himself from untimely death by accident."

Progress Is Cited

According to the report, of 100 accidental deaths, 30 involve motor vehicles, 12 are due to falling or crushing, 5 are due to drowning, and 4 are due to burns.

And despite frequent reports of death resulting from "not knowing it was loaded," only three of every 100 accidental deaths involve firearms, the Health Department report revealed.

The state health officer pointed out that only diarrhea and enteritis, and pneumonia exceeded accidents as a cause of death in the first four years of life.

"We've made remarkable progress in prolonging life during the last decade," Cox asserted. "But apparently we've prolonged it only to have it snuffed out in accidents—mostly foolish accidents."

Comedian's Daughter Has Debut On Radio

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Joan Benny, 15-year-old adopted daughter of Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone, has made her radio debut—on her dad's show.

She played a bit part yesterday as a Girl Scout selling cookies. As she left the microphone, Jack cracked:

"She's very cute, but you'd think her father would dress her a little better."

Goldilocks...and the Three Bottles

Adapting the "modern touch" to the old familiar story . . . the "little" bottle of Bell Milk would have been big enough for Goldilocks. The "middle size" bottle might have been too big for her, alone – but there is no doubt about it, the "great big" bottle, containing one-half gallon of Bell's pure milk, would have served her entire family.

Yes, it's a family bottle—the new one-half gallon bottle that is now available for home delivery. And you'll be especially pleased to know you save a half-a-cent a quart when you buy the "great big" bottle. Order Bell today! Dial 4381 for home delivery.

SURPRISE CEREMONY IS HELD

Cary Grant, Betsy Drake Are Married

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Cary Grant and his film protege, Betsy Drake, are honeymooning today after a surprise runaway marriage Christmas day to Phoenix, Ariz.

Howard Hughes, multi-millionaire movie executive and planemaker, flew them to a home on the desert for the quiet ceremony.

Thus within a week, two of Hollywood's most eligible men were scatched from the bachelor list. Last Tuesday Clark Gable and the former Sylvia Hawkes, widow of Douglas Fairbanks, sr., slipped away to be married at a ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif.

Preparations for the wedding of Grant, who is nearly 46, and Miss Drake, 26, were made so quietly that Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Hebbard, at whose home the rites were performed, insisted they didn't know who was to be married until the couple entered the house.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stanley H. Smith, Methodist minister. Hughes was best man. The bride was unattended. Witnessing the rites were Col. C. A. Shoop, Hughes' chief test pilot; Will Hinckle, Grant's attorney; Richard Mason, a Jhoenix attorney, and the Heubards.

After an informal reception, the wedding party returned to Hughes' plane and flew back to Hollywood. Their flight plans were kept so secret that no photographer or newsmen met them when they landed near here.

For her wedding, Miss Drake wore a light brown and white checked woolen dress. Grant had on a light grey, single-breasted checkered suit. It was the actor's third marriage and his bride's first.

They met two years ago on shipboard as both were returning from England. When Miss Drake arrived in Hollywood, Grant introduced her to studio executives. A screen tes and contract followed.

The actress achieved prominence in her first role, being cast opposite Grant in the romantic comedy, "Every Girl Should be Married."

Even though there was no announcement of wedding plans, the marriage is hardly surprising news to Hollywood. The couple have been seen together frequently for the past 18 months. And Grant made no secret of the fact that he had marriage in mind.

Grant previously was married to Virginia Cherrill, later the Countess of Jersey, in 1934. They were divorced in 1936. Next he married the former Barbara Hutton, dime store heiress, now the Princess Troubetzkoy, in 1942. They divorced in 1946.

The actor, star of such films as "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "I Was a Male War Bride," was born in Bristol, England. He came to this country in 1920 and became naturalized in 1942.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Drake, prominent in Washington, New York and Chicago society, wos born in Paris and came to this country when she was seven. She is an American citizen.

Miss Drake currently is working on a picture and her studio said plans for an extended honeymoon will have to wait.

Europe Has Cheeriest Post - War Christmas

Tension Still Grips Nations

LONDON, Dec. 26 (AP) — Most of Europe is celebrating its cheeriest Christmas season since war began 10 years ago. But even the holiday spirit doesn't wipe out continuing East-West tension.

Food is more plentiful. There are more toys and luxury goods for Christmas presents. And from Rome, a call for Christian religious revival comes at the start of the Roman Catholic church's holy year.

Victorious Christmas

Even in eastern Europe, whose Communist leaders scorn religion, Christmas did not pass unobserved yesterday. The Prague newspaper Lidov Noviny called it a "victorious Christmas for the workers" of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Romania and other "people's (Communist) democracies.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, called in a Christmas message for good will among men as a defense against the spread of Communism.

Throughout most of Europe, it was the fattest and flashiest Christmas in a decade. Britain, western Germany, France, Italy and the low countries reported gains in Christmas sales, reflecting a sharp gain in prosperity from the days just after the end of the war.

Expresses Gratitude

King George VI in his annual Christmas day broadcast expressed gratitude for American aid, but called on his subjects for courage, perserverance and endurance in Britain's economic fight for survival.

"We are deeply grateful to our good friends in the United States for the imagination and sympathy with which they first realized our problems and then set to work to help us over them," the king declared.

"But none of us can be satisfied till we are againn standing upright and supporting our own weight, and we have a long way to go before we do that."

In Rome, half a million worshippers attended Christmas day services in St. Peter's basilica after Pope Pius XI conducted a solemn midnight mass. The faithful filed through the holy door opened by the pope Saturday in a symbolic beginning of the Catholic church's celebration of holy year.

Fervor Sweeps Italy

Religious fervor appeared to be sweeping all Italy to a degree unusual even for that country of devout Catholics. In Milan, heart of northern Italy's Communist section, thousands jammed the churches for Christmas services.

Today the pope will descend from his Vatican apartment to the

THE QUESTION

What new year's resolutions have you made? (All children answering this question are first grade students at Roscoe Wilson).

THE ANSWERS

MARY ELLEN BREEDLOVE. 2614 Twenty-third, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Breedlove: "I'm going to take care of my baby sister when my mother asks me to without fussing about it. I'm not going to fuss with my 2-year-old sister anymore, either."

GENE FIX. 3106 Twenty-second, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fix: "I'm not going to play with matches anymore. I've been building fires with them this year, and my mother doesn't like it."

NANCY EARNEST. 2502 Thirtieth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Earnest: "I'm going to do things around the house without mother having to tell me to; things like hanging my clothes up when I come home from school and keeping my room clean."

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (U.P.)—A Milwaukee mother was shocked to see her young son playing in the snow clad only in red boots and an undershirt. When the youngster had called out "I'm putting on my boots" before leaving the house, she figured he was warmly dressed.

LARRY GLAZNER. 2519 Twenty-fifth son of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Glazner: "I'm not going to fuss with my big brother anymore; we fight quite a bit now. I'm also going to do what my mother tells me to."

CECILY SMITH. 3101 Twenty-seventh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Smith: "I'm going to be nicer to my little sister. Sometimes I take things away from her and fuss at her too. I'm going to mind my mother better, too."

MIKE WEBB. 2408 College Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Webb: "I'm not going to run away from home like I've been doing. I'm not going to sneak over to my friends' houses, either. I'm going to try and mind my mother better, too."

Agar Pays Daughter Short Holiday Visit

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Christmas and baby Linda Susan brought Actor John Agar back to the home of Shirley Temple, his divorced wife.

Agar visited his 22-months-old daughter for awhile to give her two imported French dolls and other toys.

Asked about possible holiday plans for Agar and herself, the 21-year-old Shirley told reporters:

"We aren't doing much at all for Christmas. It's not exactly easy you know. Let's just say Merry Christmas and try to make the best of it."

Good Business Seen In 1950

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer regards 1949 as a good year and expects that business will get off to a good beginning in 1950.

He said in a year-end review that he expects 1950 "will start with a volume of business activity not materially different from the high rate which prevailed in the second half of 1949."

Sawyer reported:

"At the end of the year business activity was moderately below the postwar high reached at the close of 1948.

Demands Continue

"Consumer demands continued at the high rates prevailing throughout the year.

"Residential construction, which had rebounded from the lows in the early part of the year, was at peak rates.

"Government expenditures were rising with the insurance dividend payment to the GI's in the offing.

"Business demand for plant and equipment and foreign demand for our goods, on the other hand, were declining."

Senator Myers (D-Pa), in a separate statement, said "our economy is humming along in good shape for the most part, with plenty of signs that the future looks good."

Colorado Solon Dies In Suicide Shooting

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Dec. 26 (AP)—A gunshot ended the life of Pat Magill, jr., 38, Democratic speaker of the 1949 Colorado House of Representatives, on Christmas day.

His wife found him dead in his sporting goods store in this northwestern Colorado community. Coroner Howard Root said it was suicide, stemming apparently from Magill's growing poor health. He had used a powerful rifle.

Magill left a short note, saying his ill health was becoming intolerable and he had no wish to be a burden.

Magill served four terms in the legislature as a representative from Routt and Moffat countries. He suffered a nervous breakdown during the last session.

Says She Spent A Lonely Christmas

Jean Wallace Is Booked For Being Drunk In Automobile

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. —The name of Jean Wallace, 26-year-old divorced wife of actor Franchot Tone, is in the police report today for the second time in a month—the latest episode a charge of being drunk in auto.

She was booked yesterday after police said her car struck a parked auto. Officers said she was scantily attired in only a coat, slippers and lace panties.

She said she was en route to visit friends after spending Christmas eve at home alone "hoping I'd get a call from Franchot inviting me over to see the children. I guess I just waited too long."

The couple's two sons, six and three, are in the father's custody under a pre-divorce agreement. At home on $50 bail, put up by her mother, she showed reporters gaily wrapped Christmas packages which she said were for the boys.

A month ago, she was treated at police emergency hospital for a stab wound in her abdomen which her mother told officers was self-inflicted. That happened after she had returned from the Tone home where she had spent the day with her sons.

IT'S LIFE OR DEATH MATTER

Ex-Wife Of University Dean Awaits Outcome Of Shooting

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 26. (AP)—The ex-wife of Dean John E. Drewry of the University of Georgia's journalism school today was sitting out a life and death matter in jail.

Mrs. Kathleen Drewry, 45, is accused of pumping five fast shots into her husband and his former secretary, Miss Miriam Thurmond, 28, Friday night.

While the 47-year-old dean was reported on the road to recovery, Miss Thurmand was reported in serious condition and "perhaps a shade better" by the hospital last night.

Sheriff Tommy Huff said Mrs. Drewry had admitted shooting the couple at Miss Thurmond's home and was being held on an open charge, pending outcome of the Young woman's condition.

"If Miss Thurmond dies," said Huff, "we will bring a murder charge against Mrs. Drewry."

In Fit Of Rage

The Floyd county officer said Mrs. Drewry told him she shot her husband and Miss Thurmond in a fit of rage.

He quoted his prisoner as saying Drewry had dined with her that night to discuss reconciliation, but when she called him later and found he was not home, "I knew where he was."

"So while away the time yesterday, Mrs. Drewry spent the morning opening Christmas presents in her unadorned cell.

The Drewry's married life began 23 years ago, ending last July in a divorce. They have one son, Milton, 17, a freshman at the university.

Dean Drewry, widely known as an author of books dealing with journalism, is the university's administrator of the George Peabody awards, the pulitzer prizes of radio.

Unofficial "Santa" Is Jailed In City

An errant "Santa Claus" spent Christmas Day in city jail here.

Police said a man walked into the station about 7:30 p. m. Saturday — Chirstmas Eve—and offered to pay some prisoner's fine.

The man selected by officers to receive the "gift" walked from the station a few minutes later with his benefactor.

A few hours later, three to be exact, one of the men was back. This time it was the generous citizen, booked on a charge of disturbance and facing the possibility of further charges of destruction of property.

Officers said the liberated prisoner was one of the few gentlemen in the house when they broke up a fight at a Ninth street residence and jugged "Santa Claus."

The PLAINSMAN

JUST three years ago today, we published here a little verse of our own concoction which we titled "L'Envoi Noel."

On December 26, 1946, we printed it for fun.

Today we print it not for fun, but, instead, to point up an idea. The verse goes as follows:

L'ENVOI NOEL

'Tis the night after Christmas
And all through the house
Not a creature is stirring:
And Pa, the old louse
Has swigged down three highballs
And rolled into bed,
He's already knocked out
As if he were dead!

While Ma, in kimono,
Her face caked with grease,
Is studying her wrinkles,
Her neck's every crease,
The children are scattered
Some near and some far,
After fighting it out
To see who got the car!

A Christmas has came
And a Christmas has went.
So each one returns
To his natural bent.
Gone is the mellowness—
Gone the good cheer—
Both back in the mothballs
For another year!

★ ★ ★

"AS let-down as the day after Christmas" probably is the best simile of the week, as the above verse indicated. But why should we permit ourselves to be "let down"?

True, it is impossible for human beings to maintain the Christmas spirit the year 'round—and if they could, or did, Christmas would lose its present meaning by becoming commonplace, instead of unusual.

But even so, it isn't necessary—it isn't even good, or proper—for us to begin December 26 by tossing the Christmas Spirit, and all that it stands for, onto the ashpile, like a frazzled tree, or a worn out spray of holly.

★ ★ ★

Let us contemplate the probable reaction to the First Christmas by those unnamed individuals whom we call "The Three Wise Men."

Somewhat like ourselves, The Three Wise Men viewed the First Christmas in a rather detached manner.

Ordered by King Herod to follow the Star, they finally found Mary and the Infant in the manger at Bethlehem. Instead of following out their orders to divulge Jesus' location to Herod, they fell down before the Christchild and, as St. Matthew reports, they "worshiped Him;" they "opened their treasures" and "presented unto Him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh."

Then, instead of going back and reporting to Herod the location of Jesus and Mary, they, as Matthew reports, "departed into their own country another way," so Herod could do the Mother and Child no harm.

★ ★ ★

WHAT do you suppose The Three Wise Men thought about, and talked to each other about, as they made their way back to their homes on the day after the First Christmas?

Do you suppose they forgot about the wonders they saw in the stable?

Do you suppose they more or less said to themselves and each other: "Well, it was a great day while it lasted, but it's all over now"?

Do you suppose they went back to their flocks, or their herds to their farms, or their shops—to whatever businesses they had—and thought no more about their great experience until a year had passed?

Do you suppose they didn't talk with their friends about what they saw and about what it meant to them? About how they even risked the wrath of the villainous Herod in order to protect the Saviour?

Of course you don't.

★ ★ ★

Those Three Wise Men must have been important citizens, else they wouldn't have been chosen for the task which originally was theirs.

That means they must have been intelligent men; men of greater natural perception and, perhaps, more education than most of their fellows.

St. Matthew's account of their reaction to the scene in the stable, of their quick understanding of the dream in which they were told not to report their findings to Herod, marks them as men of quick minds. It was because of this understanding that later generations have marked them as wise men.

So it is safe to hazard here, almost 2,000 years later, that The Three Wise Men were wise enough to know that what they saw and heard in Bethlehem was of utmost importance; that it insisted upon their further contemplation and study—as well as upon their reporting their experience to others.

Do you suppose they stopped talking among themselves, and to their friends, on the day after the First Christmas, or on the second day, or the third day?

Or do you suppose their lives were so affected by their experience that they thought about it and talked about it all the rest of their days?

That's undoubtedly what they did.

Christmas couldn't have been a one-day affair for them, who were on the ground and saw, with their own eyes, the newborn Saviour. It couldn't have been just a one-day-a-year affair for them, either.

★ ★ ★

WELL, we who live today haven't been privileged to see, with our own eyes, the Saviour, in the flesh. We haven't seen Him in life, as the Wise Men of old saw Him.

But 2,000 years later, we know about Him; about His works; about His influence on mankind down through the generations. The Three Wise Men didn't have our experience from our prospective and, being men, they couldn't imagine the impact that was to come on all humanity as the result of the First Christmas. But we have seen all this. We can be Wise Men, too.

So we can say that we have seen a miracle, too—a miracle just as much a part of Jesus as His birth, as the Star, as the Three Wise Men. And having seen a miracle of our own, we can be wise enough to realize that the event which Christmas commemorates is no one-day-a-year affair, either.

Just as The Three Wise Men must have talked with each other of their Christmas experience—just as they must have thought and talked it day after day, year after year—so can we, so should we. Wise Men remember today and every day what Christmas really stands for. And we should think about it and talk about it do everything we can to make it live.

This is the day after Christmas and while there may be no avoiding of a let down in outward observance, we Wise Men will avoid to whatever extent we choose, a let-down in our inner feelings and in our attitude toward others.

DOUBLE HOLIDAY

All holidays are happy ones . . . But they are extra nice . . . When they occur on Sunday and . . . We celebrate them twice . . . They make the week-end longer and . . . We have more leisure then . . . Before we have to rise and rush . . . To get to work again . . . The double holiday affords . . . A chance to rest and play . . . As though we all were millionaires . . . And we could have our say . . . We figure we have lots of time . . . For what we want to do . . . To please our inclinations and . . . To make our dreams come true . . . But when that Tuesday morning comes . . . Our manner may be gruff . . . Because the job ahead of us . . . Is always twice as rough.

BY DREW PEARSON: U. S. SHOULD RE-EXAMINE ITS OWN POSITION IN THE "COLD WAR"

Philippines' Romulo "Little Man With Big Voice"

WASHINGTON — Some people are scornful of the "little man with the big voice" named Carlos Romulo. The British opposed his election last September as president of the U. N. general assembly, and a leading British delegate recently described the five-foot Filipino as "a little public huckster."

PEARSON

But Romulo has got his teeth into a project for peace — and he won't let go. He thinks the atomic armaments race of the big powers is 'playing with apocalyptic fire." And he has a plan of his own for putting an end to that race—namely, an armistice on building all atomic weapons in order to give the world more time to work out a permanent plan.

The U. S. Quakers also have a plan. So have the Argentines. There is no lack of plans. But there is a great lack of the thing which is supposed to abound at this season of the year—good will. And none of these plans will come to anything without good will.

The Kremlin has dealt so treacherously since the war that the State department has no good will for Russia. And the west is now building such a tight defense that Russian leaders have actually come to believe their own propaganda line—tht they are in danger of attack.

No good will on either side—hence no room for agreement on control of the weapon which could blow both sides to bits.

But this as a time when at least the U. S. government and people should set their own house in order and be ready for the day when a timid plenipotentiary of peace might come knocking at the door.

• • •

Revising U. S. Atom Plan

We should be sure that our own plan for atomic control is one we want to stand by. If it isn't, we ought to come up with a revision—and a revision might bring us nearer to the Soviets, who are already on record as willing to admit international inspection.

Ever since the day when President Truman spoke at the cornerstone laying of the United Nations, repeating that the United States stands on its own plan for controlling the atomic bomb, a lot of people have been asking if the United States would actually accept its own plan.

This plan calls for the surrender of atomic weapons and factories and facilities to an international body. This means the U. S. government would surrender its stockpile of atom bombs, would surrender operation and control of its atomic plants—Oak Ridge, Tenn., Hanford, Wash.—to a U. N. commission on which Russians would be represented.

The plan was offered at a time of east-west good will in 1945. It was a noble idea, and the three gentlemen who conceived and sponsored it Acheson, Lilienthal and Baruch) all acted in good faith, honestly believing we could surrender everything we had to a world atomic authority.

These gentlemen are beginning to have their doubts now. High officials of the United Nations (including both Romulo and Secretary General Trygve Lie) are saying privately they do not believe the United States would accept its own plan today.

If that's the case, the U. S. government is insisting that Russia accept an atomic-control plan which we ourselves would not accept.

We cannot, by saying "Merry Christmas' over and over again, change the policies of Stalin. But at least we can re-examine our own position to be sure it makes sense, and also try to draw together the various western ideas for peace, instead of denouncing a man with a plan as "a little public huckster."

SEN. ARTHUR Vandenberg demonstrated last week that, in spite of a critical operation, he is still the same snorting, roaring, Republican warhorse.

The main points of Vandenberg's homecoming statement to the press have already been published, but not the details.

"My God!" roared Vandenberg as he stomped in to meet the press, "The Alumni association has grown."

While flashbulbs exploded and reporters scribbled, Vandenberg delivered an invitation, in effect, for President Truman to meet the Republicans half way on foreign policy. He suggested calling it "unpartisan" instead of "bipartisan" foreign policy.

The recuperating Michigan senator had anticipated most of the questions, had pecked out the answers in advance on his typewriter.

"No carbons," he apologized as he unfolded his handiwork.

A reporter offered to give Vandenberg some carbon paper for Christmas. He chuckled, then boomed forth his opening statement at dictation speed.

When Vandenberg got wound up on GOP politics and "me-too-ism," a reporter commented:

"Sounds like one of Dewey's speeches."

"The campaign is over," retorted Vandenberg, grumpily.

Between breaths, the Michigan senator was bombarded with questions—most of which he parried.

"News must be short this week," he grinned.

Finally, he wound up with a statement on "what the Republican party should stand for."

"I will read one sentence and I won't answer a damn question," he threatened merrily.

Then he read: "The Republican party's purpose should be to restore the American system to safe foundations before it is too late and gear dependable programs with national solvency and individual freedom."

"You used the word 'restore,'" blurted a reporter. "That sounds as if you are going back a little."

"I'm going forward, too," chuckled Vandenberg. "In politics, there are generalities on both sides of the fence."

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"OUR only daughter has married a young man who is just getting started in his career and it hurts me to see her going without pretty clothes, struggling along to make ends meet, being completely tied down by her six-month-old baby and never having any fun.

"My husband and I could easily help them out financially — but my husband just says: 'Let them alone; they're getting along all right' whenever I mention the subject. Don't you think that is a stiff-necked, selfish attitude for him to take?" asks one of my readers.

MILLETT

On the contrary, I think it is a hard-headed, unselfish attitude. Don't forget it his his daughter, too. It would undoubtedly give him a great deal of pleasure to play the big-hearted father who hands his daughter a check ever so often and says: 'Here, go buy yourself some pretty clothes." Or, "Get yourself a maid and I'll pay her wages."

But he undoubtedly realizes that the young couple have the right to make their own way, to shoulder their own responsibilities, and to feel they are dependent on no one but themselves.

• • •

LOOK BACK WITH PRIDE

PERHAPS your husband remembers the pride a man takes when he looks back over his career and says with satisfaction: "And nobody ever gave us a dime. What we have we earned ourselves."

Going without and working hard and being tied down are part of the pattern of early marriage for most couples.

And they can stand up under that better than having help handed to them. For with financial help usually goes advice and interference.

So take your husband's sound advice and let them alone.

If they ever really need your help—they'll ask for it. But until they do just remember: "They're getting along all right."

FROM the service paper of the occupation troops in Japan comes the story of the G.I. who appeared at mess with a magnificent black eye. "I came back to camp late last night," he explained, "and as I entered the area, a sentry challenged me with 'Halt! Who goes there?' Feeling no pain, I answered 'General MacArthur,' and the sentry gives me this shiner."

"Next time you'll give your right name," his friend surmised.

"I should say not," said the G.I. "If he did this to MacArthur, can you imagine what he'd do to me?"

Don Beach-Comber Is Pillar Of Hawaii's "Uplift" Group

HONOLULU, DEC. 26.—My old friend Don Beach-Comber, a wiry Louisiana creole whose name used to be Beaumont-Gant before he changed it in the interests of business, finds himself in the unusual position of being a pillar of Hawaii's civic uplift group—practically a Babbitt of the southern seas.

RUARK

This is apt to be amusing to the people who know Don because Don is a fellow who built a successful career out of being a tropical tramp of the more picturesque persuasion. Beach-Comber is the boy who ran about six bucks worth of rum, a bamboo shack and a couple of coconuts into a million-dollar restaurant business before the yen to return to the tropics hit him.

Beach-Comber also was possibly one of the more vivid warriors in the late unpleasantness in Europe. He rose to a lieutenant-colonelcy on his talent for scrounging. He was put in charge of rigging rest camps for aviators in the Mediterranean area, and when Don went abroad in a jeep or plane on a scrounging expedition, nothing unprotected by armed guard was safe from his itchy fist.

• • •

Could Smell Cache

Don could smell a horde of rare brandy or a cache of precious scotch around a corner or over a hill. He once illegally commandeered two cargo planes and flew them all the way from Naples to Leopoldville and back because he heard about a stock of scotch and other liquors to be had in the Belgian Congo. His rest resort on Capri was famed all over the theater, and sometimes the fliers rested so hard there that they had to return to active duty to catch up on their sleep.

After the war, Beach-Combed returned to his restaurant interests in Los Angeles and Chicago, but Chicago drove him nuts and he kept fretting for the Pacific. He finally sold out and packed up for Hawaii. He took all his capital and plowed it into a huge thatched Samoan nightclub across the street from the Royal Hawaiian hotel, where he has proceeded to teach the natives how to be Polynesians on a broad, showman's scale.

• • •

THE DARK, thin, cigar-smoking Beach-Comber is one of the better showmen of the age. His series of large interlocking long houses is built in a palm grove, around the palms themselves. On moonlit nights the impression is that one is loose at a pig-killing festival in Tahiti.

When Won throws a luau, authentic Hawaiian prayers are said over the pig, and Don is something of a sight himself in a 25-year-old battered linen jacket, a pareo, or he-sarong, boars tooth bracelets and a shark's tooth necklace, with a male lei around his shoulders and a battered kona sombrero perched on his head.

On other nights, he is an impeccable yachtsman in blue coat and white flannels, or he is apukka sahib in shorts and bushcoat. When he throws a party, even at $10 a head for the tourists, nobody gets in who is not attired at least in an aloha shirt and a sarong. His music is authentic. He has revived interest here in the classic hula, and constantly imports talent from Tahiti and Samoa.

• • •

Business Is Success

Beach-Comber's operation, while built according to Hollywood specifications, is the first striking thing Honolulu has offered the tourists that would convince them they have actually arrived in the romantic South Pacific. It is a shrewd approximation of what they thought they ought to find, and has even been successful enough to survive the longwinded longshoremen's strike, which busted many a business.

With the solid backing of the Matson Navigation Co., which has the biggest stake in Hawaii's tourist industry, the picturesque Mr. Beach-Comber has become the local authority on what the town needs to lure the tourist trade. He is a tireless prognosticator at the better-business conclaves. Every third day finds him quoted in the best Babbitt tradition in the local papers. Don the Beach-Comber has come home to comb his beloved beaches, and finds himself, instead, a leading light in a luncheon-club set and for all I know, a potential deacon in the church.

Yes, people worry a lot over troubles that never happen. And, on the other hand, they derive a great deal of pleasure out of anticipating happiness, much of which never eventuates.

Today's Thought

There were also that said, We have borrowed money for the king's tribute, and that upon our lands and vineyards—Nehemiah 5:4.

• • •

Neither a borrower nor a lender be:
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls, the edge of husbandry.
—Shakespeare.

Today's Journal Editorial

A THING OF THE PAST

Christmas of 1949 now belongs to the past. For the great majority of people, it has left memories they will treasure. The comparative few who did not share in the joys of the day are deserving of deepest sympathy if sorrow or misfortune saddened their holiday. Others, who have become so hardened they are immune to the joyous infections of the season, are to be pitied.

But wouldn't it be wonderful if most of those who cherish joyous memories of yesterday would refuse to allow it to become a part of the past? Wouldn't it be wonderful for all if more of us would try to apply to our daily living the same thoughtfulness, kindliness and benevolence which characterize the conduct of most people during the Christmas season?

Naturally, no such Utopian dream is possible of large-scale realization. But it is an ideal within the grasp of all. And it is much to be thankful for that a few recruits may have joined the ranks of those who carry Christmas in their hearts every day in the year.

Cicero Smith Lumber Co. Has Everything In Building Line

Everything in the building line is available at Cicero Smith Lumber Co., 1020 Seventh street, here in Lubbock.

Cicero Smith can supply you with everything from the cement with which to build the foundation of your home or business building on up to the last coat of gleaming paint which adds the final touch.

So, whether you're just remodeling your present home or business building, or "starting from scratch" and constructing a new place entirely, you can't go wrong by getting all your materials from Cicero Smith Lumber Co.

The local lumber company has complete and practical building plans and blueprints available for its customers, and will be glad to make free estimates for them.

Cicero Smith Lumber Co. also can furnish a prospective home builder with names of reliable, experienced contractors.

Then, with preliminary planning out of the way, the lumber company can provide the home builder with complete stocks of the finest obtainable kinds of lumber, paints, plumbing supplies, builders hardware, shingles, doors, cement, plaster — in short, just about anything you might need in building.

Once Lubbockites and residents of the South Plains area have traded with Cicero Smith Lumber Co., they nearly always come back again for building materials they need afterwards.

It's not just luck on the part of Cicero Smith Lumber Co. that old customers keep coming back, but the result of a policy of "square dealing" and integrity in supplying the best available materials at the most reasonable prices.

This policy has been followed by the lumber company since it was established in Lubbock over 30 years ago.

The company has consistently followed the practice of adding new lines of materials and merchandise as soon as they are proved satisfactory and worth the purchase price, says Carl Owens, manager of the Lubbock branch of the company.

The company will continue this policy in order to bring the best of the new lines — as well as the old, well-established lines — of building supplies to its customers, Mr. Owens added.

HEADQUARTERS FOR HOME BUILDERS — The Cicero Smith Lumber Co., 1020 Seventh street, is one of the oldest and most reliable lumber firms in Lubbock. The company offers a complete stock of materials needed for any construction job—whether large or small — including lumber, paints, builders hardware, plumbing fixtures and supplies, shingles, doors and cement and plaster. Cicero Smith Lumber Co., follows a policy of adding new lines of building supplies and materials from time to time as they are proved satisfactory and worth the money. For its customers, the company has available building plans and blueprints. Estimates are gladly given by the firm. Shown in the above picture is a portion of the company's yards at the corner of Seventh and Ave. J. Offices and showrooms are housed in the building shown in foreground.

Holsum Bread Is Fresh, Nutritious, And Good Tasting

Lubbock is a Holsum town.

You see that message on signboards on all the main highways and thoroughfares leading into the city. And it means just what it says.

More and more Lubbockites are switching to Holsum bread, for they have found that Holsum is always fresh, nutritious, and good tasting.

They know, too, that "unseen qualities" in each and every loaf makes Holsum a better buy for their money. For one thing, only the finest ingredients are used, including highest-quality flour and milk. And Holsum bread is prepared and baked under the most scientific and sanitary conditions at the modern new Holsum plant at 202 East Broadway.

Next time you're grocery shopping, reach for a loaf of Holsum in the familiar red, white, and green wrapper.

Then compare it with the brand of bread you now are using for freshness, fine texture, and good taste.

Chances are you'll be a Holsum fan from that time on.

Spain's Provinces of Valencia and Castellon recently had torrential rains, running as high as six inches in a few hours.

VERNON'S FOR GOOD FOOD

The place to go when you want good food is Vernon's Drive Inn, located at 709 Fourth.

At Vernon's, you're assured of food that not only tastes good, but is prepared from the best ingredients under the most sanitary conditions.

So drop by Vernon's next time you want a mid-afternoon sandwich or an after-theater snack. It's located one block east of Ave. H on the way to Mackenzie park.

A team of British research workers is in Tanganyika testing the use of systematic insecticides in combatting the sisal weevil.

See Alderson Cadillac For Good Used Cars

In the market for a good used car, with a reasonable price tag on it?

If you are, go by Alderson Cadillac Co., 814 Ave. H, and inspect the stock of clean reconditioned used automobiles on display there.

Alderson's staff of trained automobile mechanics and body men has reconditioned each car so that it will give many a future mile of trouble-free transportation.

There's almost certain to be a good used car at Alderson Cadillac within your price range. Extended payments can be arranged so that you can pay for your car out of current income as you drive it.

NATIONALISTS INTERNED

HANOI, Indochina, Dec. 25. (AP) —A well informed source said today 8,00 Chinese Nationalist soldiers crossed into Indo-China Christmas Eve and will be sent to an internment camp. The informant said the force crossed in the Langson-Caobang sector, about 90 miles northeast of Hanoi and was disarmed without incident.

Expert Heating Work Offered By Stanley-Newton

It's a well-known fact that the coldest weather of a West Texas winter quite often comes in January and February.

Mr. Businessman or Homeowner, that's your cue to have your heating system checked NOW before the "blue northers" hit.

And who could be more qualified to do the job than the skilled workmen at Stanley-Newton Plumbing Co.

They are experienced in making expert repairs on most well-known heating systems.

On the other hand, it might pay you to have new heating equipment installed if your present heating system is outmoded or incapable of doing a thorough heating job.

There again, Stanley-Newton Plumbing Co. is your best bet. For the firm offers both sales and service for precision-engineered Chrysler Airtemp heating systems, and for Comfort air conditioning and heating equipment.

Stanley-Newton Plumbing Co. is located at 904 Ave. H. The company telephone number is 4504.

Indochina may seek world trade for its socalled "lanh," a handwoven type of high-luster black satin-like silk which, it is claimed, will not fade when washed.

WORLD'S "BEST LOVERS" GIVEN QUITE A JOLT

French Devalue Love, Kiss Romance Goodbye; Some Blame The Franc, Others Phosphorous

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 26 — Frenchmen were jolted out of a certain complacency when an American woman journalist declared that "Frenchmen no longer live up to their reputation of the world's best lovers. Norwegians are better."

The challenge was immediately taken up by the sensational Parisian weekly, "Samedi Soir," which proceeded to open an exhaustive inquiry to find what truth, if any, there was in this shattering statement.

Famous novelists, popular playwrights, leading actors and actresses; psychologists, as well as men and women in all walks of life were asked to reply to the following questions:

Is there really a crisis of love in France? Is it true that morality has disappeared? Do you agree that cynicism, sexual anarchy and brutality mark today's relations between men and women?

Life Complicated

From all comments offered by masculine authorities on the far-reaching question of "love," one fact stands out like the Eiffel Tower: Life today is too complicated; there are too many financial difficulties to allow Frenchmen much time out for sentimentality.

Rene Bazin, successful young novelist, thinks love has less attraction for today's young men because (1) psychoanalysis has taken all the poetry out of love (2) feminism has "depoetixed" women (3) a certain snobbish attitude rails at romance and true love and (4) the invasion of women in many professions has changed men's attitude towards women besides destroying much of their glamour.

Another dramatist attributes the lack of phosphorous in the wartime diet of the young as one of the causes of their lack of interest in love but adds: "The young Frenchman is a 'lion' compared to his American contemporary."

Marriage Is Goal

On the feminine side, marriage, rather than romance, is the goal of the modern French girl, says Mme. L. Bresmes, chief of personnel in a concern employing hundreds of women. The 1949 girl is ambitious. Love in a cottage does not appeal to her. She is more interested in men of 35 to 45 than in a youngster of her own age mainly because he has, by that time, acquired a settled position and is financially more secure.

Under the German occupation things are different. Youngsters made big money in the black market. The older men were ignored, proving that the attraction of youth for youth is irrestible—provided there are no financial problems.

On the other hand, experts are pretty generally agreed that the young Frenchman of today is far too engrossed in making good to flit from one girl to another. If he is serious-minded, he thinks in terms of marriage.

Sports Responsible

According to Andre Maurois, when times are easy people have more leisure for love. "Gone are the days", he says, "when a man could devote four or five hours a day to the girl of his dreams."

Claude Farrere, 75-year-old author of many successful novels, poo-poos the notion that the decadence of love has anything to do with ambition, cost of living, lack of sentimentality or even phosphorous. Over-indulgence in sports by both sexes, he says, is this main factor responsible for this sad state of affairs.

The older generation is unanimous in deploring the business-like attitude of young lovers. They ignore all of the classical ceremonial with which their grandmothers were wooed and won. They have no time for patience for sighs and swoons, for advances and retreats.

"Do you ever see young couples wandering hand in hand under the trees by moonlight?" they ask. "How can romance blossom in a cocktail bar?"

Mistunguette, too, is full of regrets. "A woman does not boast of a lover these days but talks of him as a pal," says the famous dancer. "Tenderness has disappeared with the many little attentions which women of my day expected and received. Yesterday's lover was shy; today he is a savage."

The promiscuity of bathing resorts, masculine and feminine "Bikini" beach wear are not conducive to romantic love, thinks a 35-year-old bachelor. The element of mystery on which romance flourished has vanished. Stark realism has taken its place.

Romance and marriage, however, are still the goal of the 28,000 women who it is said, seek advice and comfort through the "Advice to the Lovelorn" columns of women's weeklies and magazines in France. In France today there are 21,500,000 women to 19,500,000 men. And the divorce rate is going up every year.

ARE THEY TALKING OF LOVE? Naturally, according to French cartoonist Gus, but it's love that involves the franc. Says the caption in "Samedi-Soir," sensational Paris weekly: "It was a real romance; he was the son of a Black Market king."

American Legion To Push Drive For Toys

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—The American Legion today began a "Tide of Toys" campaign to get every American child to give one of its new Christmas playthings to some less fortunate European youngster.

National Commander George N. Craig urged the nation to get behind the drive.

"For reasons which the child's mind cannot hope to comprehend," he said, "there are today millions of empty hearts and unfilled stockings in lands abroad."

He said the tide of toys campaign "is the American Legion's invitation to the young people of America to share their Christmas bounty with those who were born into misery and want."

MAN ARMED, BROKE AND HUNGRY

Search For Murder Suspect Is Pressed In Border Area

LAREDO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Officers pressed a great search today for customers broker George Ochoa—an Ochoa they described as armed, broke and hungry when he woke a family here before dawn Christmas day.

The manhunt was in full cry on both sides of the historic Rio Grande for the 38-year old Laredo man. He is accused of murdering two men in a hotel here July 31.

Since then he has been reported in Mexico. But about 5 a. m. yesterday, officers said, he found his way into the Laredo home of J. M. Ballesteros, manager of a brokerage firm Ochoa formerly owned.

Broke Window Glass

Deputy Sheriff A. C. Canales said Ochoa broke the glass in a French door at the Ballesteros home; entered; menaced Ballesteros with a pistol; asked for money; didn't get it; snached some cold tamales from an ice box, and disappeared through the back door.

Canales told the Associated Press officers were "hot on Ochoa's trail." He said they believed he waded the Rio Grande to this side, and may have gone back to Mexico the same way after his appearance at the Ballesteros house.

To efforts of Laredo city, Webb county Texas, officers, and Mexican officials, in the search were added those of the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

May Be Heavily Armed

Officers on the U. S. side used two-way radio to keep in constant touch with each other. They were proceeding on the assumption that Ochoa, well known as a hunter, may be heavily armed.

The deputy said: "If Mexican officers don't catch him we think he will be back across the border. He is hungry, broke, and he looks terrible."

All day yesterday and last night the search went on. A heavy guard was thrown around Ballesteros' house to prevent further intrusion.

Officers believed Ochoa has been in the Laredo vicinity for several days. Laredo is on the Rio Grande across from Nuevo Laredo, Mex.

Two Slain In Hotel

Ochoa is charged in the deaths of Henry D. Whittenburg, 31, South Texas ginner, and Cpl. James Lindsay, 30, of Fort Worth, Tex., and Oneida, Tenn. Both men were slain with the same pistol on separate floors of a Laredo hotel.

Since the slayings Laredo officials had sought to have Ochoa arrested in Mexico and returned here.

Whittenburg lived here. Lindsay was a visitor. Ochoa knew Lindsay, but it has not been established that he ever met Whittenburg. District Attorney E. James Kazen said the slain men were acquainted and both knew Ochoa's wife.

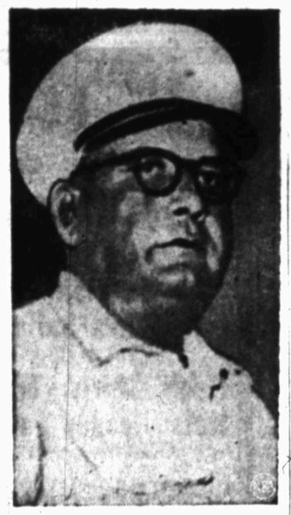

Laredo Police Chief David O. Gallagher has said: "I think there was a motive of jealousy."

Last week there were these developments:

On Dec. 20 federal judicial police of Mexico reported Ochoa was being sought, but they couldn't find him.

The U. S. embassy in Mexico City said provisional detention of Ochoa had been asked Sept. 2, and that a request for his extradition was delivered Oct. 3 to the Mexican foreign office.

On December 19 the Mexican foreign office said Ochoa had through an attorney asked an injunction of a Mexican court. The injunction would have suspended action in the case temporarily, at least, and eventually might have protected Ochoa against arrest and trial. Judge Javier Aguayo refused the injunction request.

CAUGHT IN COUP — Gen. Sami el Hinnaoui, above, head of the Syrian army, was reported arrested in the revolt of a Syrian army group that seized the government and the Damascus radio, and banished key leaders, in the third such coup in a year. General Hinnaoui himself was a colonel when he seized control of the government in a coup last August. In that revolt, President Husni Zayim was killed.

Kentucky Educator In School 83 Years

MURRAY, Ky., Dec. 26. (AP)—Eighty-three years is a long time to stay in school. But Dr. John Wesley Carr, president emeritus of Murray State College, who is 90 years old, has made that record.

He started to school Oct. 8, 1866 and has been in schools ever since. At the age of 17 he taught his first school—in Green county, Indiana. Later he headed school systems in Anderson, Ind., Dayton, Ohio, and Bayonne, N. J. He was high school principal at Muncie and Bloomington, Ind., and in Philadelphia.

After serving as state supervisor of high schools in Kentucky, 1922-23, Dr. Carr became the first president of Murray (Ky.) State college. H was president 1923-26 and again 1933-36. At other times he was dean and is now president emeritus. Still in a school room, he has his writing desk in the main reading room of the library, "with a group of the students ever with me."

Business Code Will Protect Housewives

SANTA ANA, Calif., Dec. 26. (AP)—This city has amended its business and professional code to protect housewives. Some women, says deputy agricultural commissioner Roy E. Black, weren't getting the chicken or rabbit they paid for.

As an example, Black cited the case of a woman who bought a bird at the live weight price, asked to have it dressed, and was given a smaller dressed bird instead.

The amendment requires sellers to price the purchase the way the housewife receives it, live, dressed, or table dressed.

Teen-agers love a party dessert of cream puffs filled with ice cream and topped with chocolate sauce and crushed peanut brittle.

For Hamburger De Luxe mash blue cheese and add enough well-seasoned French dressing to make it of spreading consistency. Broil hamburger patties and when they are done spread the cheese mixture over the top and place under the broiler again for a minute or two until the topping is bubbly.

Couldn't Stop Crying On Gunman's Order

Tavern Owner's Daughter, 7, Shot In Arm During Robbery

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 (AP)—Seven-year-old Penny Gust lay in Evangelical hospital with a bullet-shattered arm today as police held a gunman they said shot her when she couldn't stop crying during a tavern robbery.

Held without charge in the shooting is Bruce Meeks, 19. Meeks, seized in a near north side hotel yesterday, was quoted by police as saying:

"I was half drunk and didn't know what I was doing."

Police said robbery victims reported the little girl came into her father's tavern Christmas eve after the holdup by two gunmen was in progress. The little girl became frightened and began to whimper.

Shattered Bone

"Shut the kid up or I'll let her have it," one of the gunmen shouted to the father, John, 46.

When Penny was unable to control her tears, the gunman fired, hitting the girl in the arm and shattering the bone.

Penny's father leaped over the bar and wrested a gun from one of the robbers, firing at them. The pair fled with $580.

Also held without charge is William Riley, 30, who police said implicated Meeks as the man who fired the gun. Riley, a one-armed one-eyed ex-convict, was captured at home shortly after the robbery when victims identified his picture at the detective bureau.

Two Youngsters Lost In Forest Are Found

ROSEBURG, Ore., Dec. 26. (AP)—Two "injun hunters"—ages 11 and 5—played safely at home today after spending Christmas eve and morning lost in rainswept woods of southern Oregon's mountains.

The boys, Freddie White, age 11, and Johnny Lauderdale, age 5, were found late yesterday. They had huddled through the night under a fallen log with their pet dogs—and their Christmas gift bows and arrows.

The older boy had erected a shelter of tree limbs to keep off the cold rain when nightfall homes at Azalea, 28 miles south of here.

Douglas county Deputy Sheriff Red Eckart said the boys' families had called authorities for help about 9:30 p. m. Saturday and the organized search got underway. Forest rangers equipped with portable radios directed the several hundred volunteers.

The youngsters were taken to the Josephine General hospital at Grants Pass last night for examination but did not require treatment.

In a good suit, shoulder padding is usually made of fine lightweight cotton that feels soft and flexible. To test interlining, bend back corner of collar. In a well-made suit it will flip back into place. Material usually considered best for trousers' pockets and facings is firm cotton twill—soft and leathery in feeling.

Basilica and lead groups of pilgrims through the holy door.

A few hundred Christian pilgrims attended services at Bethlehem, Christ's birthplace. Free access to the Palestine shrines is still hampered by the presence of Israeli and Arab troops holding the defense lines established by the armistice when ended actual fighting last year.

The Bethlehem celebrations end today with a procession to "shepherds' field," reputedly the spot where the angels announced the birth of Christ to shepherds tending their flocks.

The egg of the ostrich is larger than that of any other living bird. Ostrich eggs measure six to seven inches in diameter and, incidentally, require about 40 minutes or longer for thorough boiling.

Actress Planning To Ask Divorcee Decree

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Actress Gloria Grahame will sue for divorce from her director-husband, Nick Ray, as soon as the papers can be prepared, her attorney disclosed today.

She and Ray were married in Las Vegas, Nev., June 1, 1948, the day her divorce from Actor Stanley Clements became final.

STRANGER TO LOVE—Although she has been married twice, Beverly Jean Turney, 19, of Los Angeles, told Gretna, Louisiana, police she is a "stranger" to love, because she didn't know her husbands lang enough. She is being held by Gretna police as a material witness in an arrest involving three desperadoes who are accused of a large number of robberies around Gretna. Beverly denied any knowledge of the holdups. (NEA Telephoto.)

Austrian Refugee Risks Life In Attempt To Save Girl, 8, By Blood Transfusion

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26. (AP)—John Anzengruber has only one regret today about his Christmas eve effort to save the life of an eight-year-old girl—it failed.

Anzengruber, 29-year-old Austrian refugee, is under close surveillance at Hahnemann hospital following his futile effort to give life saving blood to little Mary Bailey.

The child died at Anzengruber's side Saturday night of hepatitis, a virus infection that attacked her liver and poisoned her blood. She was the daughter of Dr. Charles Bailey, renowned heart surgeon.

Ans ered Appeal

Anzengruber's second Christmas in America was clouded by the death of a child of whom he never had heard until her name came over his radio while he was trimming a tree in his north Philadelphia apartment.

It was a radio appeal for type B-RH negative blood that brought him to Mary's hospital bed where for three hours he lay with tubes joining his arteries with her veins —an unusual cross-transfusion.

It mattered not at all to Anzengruber that his own life was endangered; that he might contract the fatal liver disease.

Azengruber only said, "If I can help the child that's all I'm interested in."

His wife is the only visitor permitted to see him now. Doctors want him to rest. A quart of Mary's poisoned blood was pumped into his healthy body.

Under Hospital Care

"Our only problem," a hospital spokesman said, "is to make sure he stays well. If nothing happens within 21 days it means his good liver was able to absorb the poison that killed Mary Bailey. It means he won't get the disease himself."

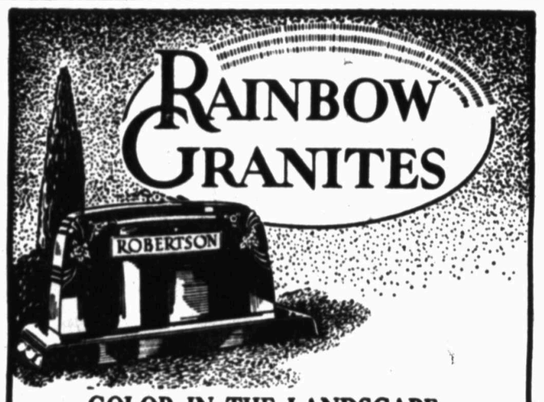

Doctors explained that it was necessary to pump the girl's poisoned blood into Anzegruber's in exchange for the healthy blood in order to be able to cleanse the child's system of the infection.

The theory behind the usual experiment is that Anzengruber's healthy liver will be able to overcome the infection. This type operation is in the experimental stage.

In buying cauliflower avoid heads on which the flowerets have begun to spread. The head should be compact, creamy white, and have fresh green leaves around its base.

RAINBOW GRANITES

COLOR IN THE LANDSCAPE IS PLEASING TO THE EYE . . .
Color relieves drabness and seasons a view much as salt brings savoriness to food.
The high polished surfaces of Rainbow Granites brings out all the beauty in the natural stone. Moisture, gas and impurities from the air cannot penetrate the surfaces of these hard, northern granites. There is a wide variety of colors and a great many new, interesting designs from which to choose. You are always welcome to call whether or not you are ready to buy.
