France Moves To Readjust Its Currency

Cooperation Of United States And Great Britain Pledged In Economic Move; Is Seen As Final Revaluations Act

Improvement Seen

Move Is Expected To Remove Uncertainty In International Situation, And It Is Hoped, Speed Better Times

FRANCE, with the cooperation of the United States and England, moved today to readjust the value of its currency.

Many bankers and economists regarded this as probably the final chapter in the succession of currency revaluations which the march of world economic depression left in its wake.

Removes Uncertainty

It was thus seen as removing one of the big remaining elements of uncertainty in international economic affairs, tending to lift one of the chief causes of trade quotas and restrictions, and, it was hoped, speeding better times.

A number of Wall Street leaders described the step as "highly constructive." London financial circles looked for stimulation of international trade.

Started 5 Years Ago

Economists explained that the move to readjust currency values gained impetus following the removal of the British pound from its old gold standard five years ago. That disturbed much of the rest of the world since more than half of the world's trade is financed through British and related currencies, and it tended to reduce price levels in the United States and other important countries.

Unavoidable Realignment

But now, since currency readjustments are largely completed in the leading monetary powers save France and a few of her smaller neighbors, and because but little of the world's international trade is financed in French currency, it was explained that readjustment of the franc may be regarded as accomplishing a final and probably unavoidable realignment.

Furthermore, joint simultaneous announcements from Washington and London by the American and British treasuries was accepted as indicating co-operation by their huge foreign exchange control funds to prevent disturbing fluctuations in international exchange pending accomplishment of the French readjustment.

To Submit Proposal

The French government announced, in effect, that it would place dealings in gold under control at least temporarily, and submit to parliament in an extraordinary session on Monday a pro-

Light Rains Fall Over Area Friday

Intermittent fall that ranged from showers to light rain was received over several districts of the South Plains.

The fall at Lubbock continued far into the night and evidenced no cessation early this morning.

A slow rain was falling at Post at midnight, said Santa Fe dispatchers, and Denver officials said showers were reported from Quanah to Fort Worth.

Most of the South Plains, it was indicated, either received moisture or was overcast by threatening clouds.

Five-hundredths-inch fall had been gauged at the experiment sub-station east of Lubbock Friday morning, but precipitation was much greater in the afternoon and night. No reading was obtained late in the night.

Other places reporting rains were Lockney, Quitaque, and Petersburg.

Friday's maximum temperature was 74 degrees, minimum 60. Midnight recording was 67.

Weather Report

WEST TEXAS: Local thundershowers, colder in the Panhandle Saturday; Sunday cloudy, showers in south portion, colder except in the Panhandle.

NEW MEXICO: Generally fair Saturday and Sunday; colder Saturday.

Use Of X-Rays To Cure Cancer, Is Reported

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. (AP)—The use of low-voltage x-rays to cure many cases of cancer of the tongue was announced today by Memorial hospital, the first cancer hospital established in the United States.

The announcement carries the printed authorization of James Ewing, M. D., one of the foremost cancer authorities in the world. It is a new development of the past year.

Low-voltage x-rays differ from the other rays by being much less penetrating. They are absorbed near the surface of human tissues.

Ralls' Silver Anniversary Is Celebrated

Rain Fails To Dampen Spirits Of Crosby County People As They Gather To Mark 25th Year Of Town's Existence

By Staff Correspondent

RALLS, Sept. 25.—The spirit that has kept Ralls in the forefront of South Plains' up and coming towns, prevailed here today and in spite of the rain that fell during the afternoon, the silver anniversary program was carried out almost on schedule. A crowd, estimated at between 2,000 and 2,500, attended and were fed, most of them at least, with a barbecue, at the close of the afternoon program.

A muddy field forced a football game to be cancelled. Later the teams voted to go to Matador to play. The afternoon's attendance was cut down at least half, Mayor Will Marr, P. B. Ralls and others estimated, by the rain.

Parade Opens Festivities

A parade of over 600 school children, led by Theo Holmes, business manager who was superintendent in 1915 when the first high school class was graduated, opened the festivities. Just as it closed, the rain began to fall.

Lloyd A. Wicks, city attorney and secretary to the late John R. Ralls, founder of the town, presided as master of ceremonies. Senator G. H. Nelson, Lubbock, spoke on the principles of living as applied to Texas government. He urged a closer study of government by Texans and gave a brief, clear history of the founding of the state. He lauded the town's founder and the pioneers of the city and county.

Mahon Is Speaker

Congressman George Mahon, Colorado, who followed, paid a tribute also to John R. Ralls and to the school system of the town. He stressed a need of "a sense of appreciation for the schools." He pointed out that Texas in 1836 had but 50,000 people and that now there were 100 times that number. "The hour for action has struck again," he declared. "There never was a greater need for patriotism in Texas than today."

In a fiddler's contest with six entries, Raymond Brown, Spur youth, placed first, receiving $5. Nathan Stevenson, McAdoo, was second and Mrs. Emma Matthews, Ralls, third, receiving $3 and $2, respectively. Other entries were: G. W. Whitehead, Ralls; H. T. Hall, Caton and Robena Stevenson, McAdoo. Judges were: Tom Reed, John Kerlin and W. T. Webb. M. G. Hargrave was master of ceremonies. A dozen or more amateurs were on an amateur hour that followed the regular program.

Citizens Aid In Capture Of Baird Bandit

H. L. Meyers Is Caught At End Of Blind Lane Near Baird Friday After Attempting To Rob Bank There

Stage Gun Battle

Convict, On Furlough From Pen, Chased Out Of Building By Fusillade Of Bullets Fired By Bank Official

By The Associated Press

BAIRD, Sept. 25.—A Texas convict's holiday ended today when bank employes and private citizens aided in capturing H. L. Meyers, who essayed to rob the First National bank here and came to complain that holdup victims "start shooting" instead of holding up their hands.

Meyers, on furlough from the state penitentiary at Huntsville, where he was serving a five-year sentence from San Antonio for robbery by assault, was chased into unfamiliar country and captured when he sped in an auto up a blind lane.

Routed With Pistol Fire

Clifford Jones, assistant cashier, routed Meyers with pistol fire when Meyers attempted an early morning holdup. The convict fled in the car but Lamar Henry, passing near the rear of the bank in machine, gave chase and trapped Meyers.

He was joined by officers who arrested Meyers when the convict surrendered.

"This is a funny country," ruefully remarked Meyers. "When you point a gun at people and tell them to throw up their hands they start shooting at you."

Spotted Behind Fixtures

Jones spotted the would-be robber concealed behind fixtures when the assistant cashier opened the bank. Jones was forced to the bank vault and ordered to open it.

As he fumbled with the combination, his brother, R. F. Jones, entered. The convict wheeled and fired at the head bookkeeper, Jones

Three Treated After Mishaps

Plainview And Amarillo Men Injured In Collision Near Abernathy; High School Boy Suffers Grid Accident

Three persons were admitted to Lubbock sanitarium for treatment Friday night after highway and gridiron mishaps.

J. P. Forson, 19, of Amarillo suffered a bruised shoulder and L. C. Slemmons, jr., 19, of Abernathy, extensive lacerations of the nose, bruises of the right eye, lacerations over the eye, fractures of the nasal bone and one over the right eye, and lacerations, in an automobile collision just the other side of Abernathy on the Plainview road.

Grid Player Hurt

Charles Purcell, 7, son of C. S. Purcell, suffered a fractured left leg when playing football with the Cowhands, second string grid team of Senior High school, that afternoon at Silverton. The father is manager of Sears-Roebuck, 1115 Broadway.

Attaches at the sanitarium were told Forson, accompanied by his wife and baby, were driving to Lubbock and stopped to repair a "flat" tire. Another motorist was "flagged down" so that a jack might be borrowed. The other motorist ran past, stopped, and backed to the Forson car. Slemmons, driving north to Plainview, hit the Forson car, it was understood.

Two Not Injured

Victims were admitted between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. Mrs. Forson and the child wer not injured.

All mishap victims remained overnight in the sanitarium, but general conditions appeared satisfactory.

Young Purcell's leg had been placed in a cast.

T.C.U. And Tech Elevens To Meet Before Thousands

Tech's New Stadium To Be Dedicated With Game; Weather Is Threat Last Night; Both Teams Take Final Practice For Contest Under Lights Friday; Ceremonies Scheduled

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

TEXAS TECH crashes the football big time tonight when its scarlet clad Matadors meet Texas Christian university's Horned Frogs in the dedicatory game of Tech's new stadium.

They started counting the football big time from the Southwest conference last year, where the Southern Methodist university Mustangs and the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs, in that order, dominated, and Texas Tech has attracted the well known Frogs here to meet the Matadors in the main event of an auspicious occasion in this town.

The proceedings start soon after 8 o'clock this evening.

Texas Tech's status in the 1936 football world will be determined largely by the outcome of tonight's conflict on the sod which is expected to be the focal point of approximately 15,000 spectators arranged on the three sides of the football rectangle.

DEDICATION PROGRAM

The following program has been announced in connection with the dedication ceremony tonight:

Introduction of Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college and master of ceremonies.

Formal presentation of stadium to board of directors.

Acceptance, Clifford Jones, chairman of the board.

Address by Congressman George Mahon.

Address by Senator G. H. Nelson.

Address by Representative Doyle Settle.

Music by Texas Tech band.

Murky weather last night lessened the possibility of a sell-out for the first big game on the Red Raiders' schedule, but it did not dampen the spirits of Coach Pete Cawthon's Crimson or Coach Dutch Meyer's Purples, who are to oppose each other, rain or moonlight, in the chief attraction of Tech's new stadium dedication program.

Two important points play in the suggestion that Texas Tech is bidding for admittance under football's big top, and they run together.

Stadium First Requirement

First requirement for high class society was a stadium capable of accommodating crowds in proportion to the territorial population. This has been met, and Tech's new 15,000 capacity horseshoe wood-and-steel stadium is to be formally presented to the college and dedicated to sportsmanship tonight. Secondly, a popular football club, ranking high nationally in gridiron efficiency, was required to provide the desirable competition. Signing of Texas Christian's Frogs took care of that.

And that leaves everything taken care of—except the Horned Frogs. Cawthon's and Smith's Red Raiders will attempt to do that tonight.

A Tough Assignment

It is a tough assignment.

On the form sheets, Texas Christian is due to win and most predictions lean that way. On Tech's gridiron it's a trifle different, but not enough to give Tech anything like an edge.

The Red Raiders will hold a slight weight advantage, but beyond that the only thing in Tech's favor is the fact that the game is being played "at home" and that it's the dedica-

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 25 — President Roosevelt tonight gave a recess appointment to Harry H. Woodring as secretary of war, temporarily filling the vacancy caused by the death of George H. Dern.

Woodring, a former governor of Kansas, has been acting as head of the war department since Dern, a former governor of Utah, died late last month.

Only Temporary

The White House said the Woodring appointment was only temporary but gave no indication whether he or someone else would be given the post permanently.

The announcement said that under the law the cabinet vacancy must be filled within thirty days.

Half a dozen other men have been mentioned for the war department post, including Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana and Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming.

County Agent Roy Hickman and Miss Juanita Hockett, home demonstration agent, are in charge of the exposition.

Judging was conducted by C. B. Martin, Hale county agent, and Mrs. Julia Kelley, home demonstration agent, in charge.

Benefits from recent rainfall were reflected in quality of exhibits, said T. J. Briscoe, editor of the Cochran County News.

President Is Still Considering Cross-Country Swing To Coast

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 25. (AP) Focusing further attention on plans for his October reelection maneuvers, President Roosevelt tonight still was considering a cross-country swing to the coast.

He said at a press conference, nevertheless, his first political invasion of the west could carry him no farther than Denver under present tentative arrangements. Only if conditions permit at the time, he said, will the stumping tour be continued to coast states.

Hundreds Reported Killed In Bilboa By Bombs Dropped In City's Streets By Rebels; Mobs Slaughter Hostages

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 25 — Authoritative sources declared tonight Argentine officials in Madrid had informed the Buenos Aires government that Spanish President Manuel Azana had asked refuge aboard an Argentine cruiser off Spain.

These sources close to the government said the Argentine foreign office was told the situation in Madrid, harassed by Fascist insurgents, was chaotic.

President Azana was quoted as asking for a haven on the Argentine cruiser 25 De Mayo, now at Alicante on Spain's southeast coast. Other members of the Spanish government also were reported to have sought refuge there.

Roaring Mobs Slaughter Fascists Held As Hostages

BILBAO, Spain, Sept. 25. (AP)—Roaring mobs slaughtered 60 Fascist hostages tonight and ran through the streets screaming for more executions after hundreds of citizens were killed or injured in an insurgent aerial bombardment.

"Kill all the rightists!" the infuriated mobs cried as they stormed government buildings and howled for their leaders to bring out all of the 4,000 hostages held here.

Rage Stifles Terror

Rage stifled terror as the shouting men, women and children ran through the streets that for more than two hours had roared with explosions of 500-pound bombs from eight Fascist tri-motored planes flying so low that the features of the pilots were clearly discernable from the ground.

More than a hundred inhabitants of the city were either blown to pieces or crushed to death under piles of flaming wreckage.

Nobody knew or ventured a guess on the actual toll of dead and wounded. One entire block of homes was razed by the heavy Fascist bombs.

Firemen and militiamen counted 126 dead but they were still dragging more bodies from blasted homes.

Women and children dashed wildly to and fro to claim their dead, but most of the bodies were so mangled that identification was impossible.

DID you notice in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" column this week a cartoon that pointed out that it costs less to ship a bale of cotton from Houston, Texas to Shanghai, 10,000 miles away, than from Dallas to Houston, 400 miles away?

Someone down at Dallas figured that the rail distances between the two Texas cities is 242 miles. By highway it is 245 miles. In neither case could this be stretched to 400 miles.

Mr. Ripley, who is usually so accurate that he invites a checkup, here nearly doubles the mileage between two cities. In other words, you were wrong Mr. Ripley, believe it or not!

THE PEANUT VENDER

THOSE who have spent any time near the White House in Washington, D. C. have noticed an old peanut vender. Well, his name is Steve Vasilakos and at intervals he is ordered to move, the charge being that he is "staying in one place longer than necessary to make a sale." He has been there for 28 years.

* * *

Probably nothing will come of the charge because Mrs. Roosevelt intercedes in his behalf pleading that he be allowed to stay since he has become such a familiar figure.

CODE OF SAFETY

Is there a gun in the house? Remember that it is always loaded until proved innocent!

Put small bells on all poison bottles—or shove three or four pins into the cork (heads up) to warm the groper in the dark.

Mop up spilled grease now—not "in a minute."

Keep all pot handles turned away from the front and edges of the stove.

Keep gas cocks extremely tight if you have small children.

Never burn a gas or oil stove in a closed room. Always have at least one door open. The pan of water on top of the stove won't save you from carbon monoxide.

Keep pails, scrub buckets, tubs, and so on, covered.

Put used matches in a tin can.

Don't put pins in your mouth.

Don't handle electrical fixtures with wet hands.

Don't leave a chair in the normal path of travel through a room. Somebody may kill himself on it in the dark.

Open all doors to the oven to ventilate it before lighting it.

Don't look for a gas leak with a match. Soapsuds on the suspected pipe are better. The gas man is better yet.

Don't use gasoline in the home for cleaning. It cannot be used safely for this purpose.

PRICE OF FAME

Work On Fair Grandstand Is Nearing End, Says Williams

Sixty workmen are rapidly transforming three carloads of steel and piles of lumber into a grandstand on the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds. The stand will seat 5,000 persons and will cost approximately $12,000.

More than two-thirds of the steel was in place, and at least a third of the lumber had been bolted to the framework Friday morning.

Jess Williams, contractor, said all steel work would be finished in 24 hours and the entire grandstand completed sometime Sunday, ready for the fair opening Monday.

The grandstand work was an attraction center on the grounds, dotted with several hundred cars hourly today. Exhibits were beginning to pour into the buildings.

School Supplies Contributed In Special Matinee At Lindsey

School supplies of every sort were contributed Friday afternoon by Lubbock children who attended a school supply matinee at the Lindsey theater.

Supplies, each article of which is worth a nickel or more, will be diverted to those who have had difficulty in buying equipment.

Four hundred sixty-three children from five to 12 years old attended, and supplies included pencils, tablets, crayon, scissors, paste, theme paper, erasers, ink, and other equipment. Some of those who attended brought articles worth several times the price of admission.

Eleven Persons Indicted For Million-Dollar Bank Shortage

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 25. (AP)—A federal grand jury has climaxed a long investigation of an alleged $1,000,000 shortage in the Commercial National bank of Bradford, Pa., by indicting eleven persons.

Stenographers, bookkeepers and some of their superiors were accused in the indictments.

The 11,000 depositors, who had approximately $4,465,000 in the bank, were protected by federal deposit insurance. The shortage was disclosed after the assistant cashier, 47-year-old Frank W. Calkins, had been found dead in his garage from monoxide fumes.

Rabbi Alex Klein of Chicago officiated at last night's services, speaking on "The Road of Destiny."

This morning's rites will begin at 8 o'clock. "The Monument of Immortality" will be the theme of memorial services at 11:30, and the rabbi will speak on "The Open Gates of Heaven" in a final sermon at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

New Refinery Is To Be Built At Corpus By Eastern Group

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 25. (AP) Thomason and Richter, local real estate firm, announced today a group of eastern capitalists, the Petrol Refining company, plans to construct a $1,000,000 refinery here.

Pete P. Prunty, former sales manager of the Standard Oil company of New York, heads the group.

A forty-acre tract near the Southern Alkali corporation plant has been purchased as a site, Thomason and Richter, said. Construction of the plant, with a daily capacity of 6,000 barrels, will be started Oct. 1. Gasoline and furnace oils will be manufactured.

Vote Of 900,000 In General Election Is Seen For State

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP) — A vote of 900,000 can be expected in the November election in Texas, if figures mean anything.

In the Roosevelt-Hoover campaign of 1932, the vote was 854,917. That year 1,108,086 poll taxes were paid. This year, 1,168,223 poll taxes are in the hands of the voters. These figures are augmented by exemptions of persons over 65 and exactly 21, estimated at 15 per cent.

Movies Draw Crowds Again

Screen Industry Is Looking Up With More Than 80,000,000 Persons Attending Weekly; Pictures Show Improvement

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—These are happy days in movieland, with 80,000,000 persons flocking to the screen each week—and more in sight.

The big, highly-organized industry is having its best season since 1930, and is preparing for a better one.

New production schedules, based on needs of a recovery rather than a depression public, are under way.

New Patrons Attracted

General business up-swing and a marked improvement in quality of the pictures released have attracted the new patrons, theater men assert.

Twelve-cent cotton in the South and dollar wheat in the Widwest helped those sections lead in the rush to the screen, they say.

They believe audiences in 1937 may be close to the 85,000,000 mark weekly if the trend continues. That is still under the record high of 110,000,000 in 1930, but 10,000,000 a week better than last year, and a far cry from the 60,000,000 of '32.

E. L. Kuykendall, of Columbus, Miss., president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, thinks that along with business improvement, better pictures are responsible.

Antonio Almeido lost a shoe in a race at Rio de Janerio but won over 26 contestants.

Baugh Et Al To Give Tech Boys Trouble

Hard-Fought Game Expected Tonight In Dedication Of New Stadium As Local Squad Seeks Victory

Cawthon's men look good against a stubborn Texas Wesleyan crew last week, after the Rams had scored the first touchdown, largely against Tech's shock troops.

"We'll start our best team Saturday night," Cawthon said yesterday, a few hours before the night practice session. "I think the shockers could play a good game, but we're not taking any chances, at least in the beginning. Cawthon would make no comment regarding the possible outcome of the game, other than to say "we've got a bare chance."

Frogs Work Under Lights

Coach Leo "Dutch" Meyer, who brought his Frogs into town early yesterday and sent them through a secret workout last night under the Tech lights, reiterated Cawthon's statement about "the chance," and announced that "it will be an awfully tough game."

So there are the coaches' predictions. Several sports writers who will watch the game have been slightly more specific. Their expressions are contained in another column of this section.

"Seats For Everybody"

Regarding tickets, Graduate Manager Bo Williams said last night that two complete sections of grandstand seats would go on sale this morning and that 1,500 general admission tickets would be sold at the entrance gates. "There'll be seats for everybody," he said.

Football fans will flock to Tech's new field tonight, for one reason, to see "Slinging Sammy" Baugh, the Sweetwater sharpshooter, do his stuff. Few individual grid performers gathered more "publicity" than did Frog Baugh last season. He was heralded as one of the country's greatest passers. He was a junior then.

Last time Baugh was in Lubbock, he ran in as a substitute for a right halfback in a Lubbock-Sweetwater high school game. Sweetwater won the game, going away, but Baugh had little to do with it. The ace of Sweetwater's team was Ney "Red" Sheridan, now of University of Texas. Baugh's name barely filtered through the game reports.

He Has Made Up For It

But he has made up for it since then, and how! Baugh's rise to fame rested not only on his passing ability but on his running and kicking game as well. He's dangerous any time he has the ball.

To counter Baugh's threat tonight, Tech will have its own Jim Neill, playing at left halfback. And the majority of fans tonight will be looking to Big Jim to offset the injury done the scarlet and black by Sam Baugh. Neill came into his own last Saturday, played the game of his life to batter down the Rams. If he's still imbued with that spirit, it bodes no good for Horned Frogs tonight.

Gone are Baugh's backfield helpers of last season, Tilly Manton, Jimmy Lawrence, George Kline and Rex Clark, but with him here tonight is a trio of backs, starting backs, who are calculated to give him all the desirable assistance. They are Scott McCall, Harold McClure and Ward Wilkinson. The first two are seniors, along with Baugh. Wilkinson, fullback, is a sophomore, one of two sophs on the Frog lineup.

Tech Backs Heavier

The Frog backfield, averaging close to 175 pounds, will spot several ounces to Tech's regulars, Captain and quarterback Demp Cannon, Halfbacks Jim Neill and Winny Baze, and Fullback George Winters.

Gone also from the great T. C. U. team of last year is Captain Darrell Lester, the all-American center, along with Wilson Groseclose, tackle, and Tracy Kellow, guard.

The losses, however, do not keep Coach Meyer and his aides from nodding to the suggestion that T. C. U. has the greatest manpower in the school's history.

There are capable reserves for each position, sometimes two deep, and with the exception of the two sophomores—I. B. Hale, 220-pound tackle is the other—the Frog lineup is composed of staunch lettermen.

Tech's line will outweigh the T. C. U. wall by a few pounds. There are lettermen for each position on the Tech team, too, and no sophomores in the first string gang.

TICKETS AND PARKING

Although the largest crowd in Lubbock football history is anticipated tonight at the T. C. U.-Tech game, Graduate Manager Bo Williams said last night that plenty of seats will be available for late arrivals.

Fifteen hundred general admission tickets, admitting fans to the new north section grandstand, and two thousand reserved seat tickets go on sale today. The reserved seat tickets may be purchased this morning at the Walton's men's store. General admission tickets will be sold at the box offices.

Patrons holding tickets for the new east side stands are urged to park their automobiles on the north parking lot, entering from the north end of the stadium. This applies also to general admission patrons. Fans who have purchased tickets for the west side are to park as usual, on the south lot. Automobiles will be guarded during the game.

Six Southwest Conference Teams Are To Line Up In Grid Battles Today To Give Fans Tantalizing Taste Of Fare

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

Six of the Southwest conference's seven seekers after football glory line up tomorrow in battles which will give rabid fans a tantalizing taste of this season's grid fare.

Standouts of the schedule are the Rice-Louisiana State university, Baylor-Hardin Simmons and Texas Tech-Texas Christian clashes.

Arkansas, Texas A. and M. and Southern Methodist, the first two sharing the favorite's position with Baylor, meet opponents who should give no more than a light test of mettle.

Texas Longhorns Idle

Texas university will be idle until next Saturday when it meets L. S. U.

Preparing for the conference chase, expected to be the closest in years, four elevens—S. M. U., Arkansas, Texas A. and M. (the "team to beat") and Baylor make their seasonal debut, while Texas Christian and Rice hope to record their second victories.

Nation's Ranking Game

The clash at Baton Rouge between the Rice Owls and the sturdy Southwestern conference titlists will be the ranking game in the country.

Interest was on the Baylor game with Hardin-Simmons because the West Texas cowboys always put on the field one of the toughest teams in Texas. Baylor is given the benefit of most doubts by sports writers and hopes to prove the orchids are merited.

Texas A. and M. parades for the first time its great array of gridders against the Sam Houston State Teachers college at College Station. The Aggies, with Dick Todd, the Crowell Comet, and a large assembly of lettermen and star sophomores, have a chance to be in the future in the play of the Cadets.

Arkansas, with two aces on the bench, should defeat the Kansas State teachers of Pittsburg at Fayetteville.

Matty Bell trots out his "greenhorns"—the Southern Methodist Mustangs, against the North Texas State Teachers college of Denton. Bell has the question mark team but one which draws greater support every day. Although no one has dared predict another team as capable as the Rose Bowl eleven wrecked by graduation, the experts believe crafty Matty will hold his own against most teams.

The only night games on the list are the T. C. U. fracas at Lubbock and the Baton Rouge clash between L. S. U. and Rice. S. M. U. and Baylor play at home.

Cowhands Play Silverton To 0-0 Tie On Muddy Gridiron

SILVERTON, Sept. 25.—The Silverton High school Owls, aspiring to a District 4, Class B football championship this season, held the strong Lubbock High school Cowhands, coached by Walker Nichols, to a scoreless tie in a mud-slinging contest here this afternoon.

Owing to condition of roads after a heavy rain, the Cowhands were unable to return home tonight.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Two big innings, the fifth and the eighth, gave the Milwaukee Brewers a 7 to 5 victory over Buffalo Bisons tonight in the first game of the Little World series. Forrest Pressnell, yielding only one hit in three and two-thirds innings in a relief role, received credit for the victory. Gullic hit a home run for Milwaukee and Mulleavy and Boland hit one each for the losers.

Picadors Play A. C. C. Eleven

Coach Berl Huffman's Frosh Team To Inaugurate Season Against Abilene Crew This Afternoon At 2:30 O'Clock

Texas Tech's first grade footballers, called the Picadors, are all set to show their instructors and the college fans what they can do under fire and to offer a suggestion of Tech's future varsity teams.

Coach Berl Huffman's freshmen open their six-game schedule this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in a game with the freshmen team of Abilene Christian college.

Site Uncertain

The game probably will be played on the Tech practice field west of the main grandstand in order that the turf of the Tech playing field may be protected until tonight's main event between the Tech varsity and the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs.

Bert Williams, graduated varsity tackle, will have charge of the Picadors this afternoon in the absence of Freshman Coach Berl Huffman, who is scouting Wichita University, Tech's Oct. 10 opponent, against Washburn college at Topeka, Kansas, today.

May Play On Field

Should the sun shine today the Picadors and the A. C. C. Kitties will play on the varsity playing grid, otherwise bleachers will be arranged around the practice field west of the grandstand.

The probable lineups, with numbers and weights, follow:

A. C. C.—Ends, 51 Bristo, 180 and 62, McCright, 175; tackles, 64, Storey, 219, and 31, Farmer, 185; guards, 25 Nottingham, 170, and 54 Aamon, 175; center, 26, Orr, 185; quarterback, 65, McCaleb, 155; halfbacks, 66, Bennett, 160 and 68, Heiry, 156; fullback, 69, Boack, 169.

Eagles Spring Surprise With Fast Offense

Harold Ingley's Running Big Factor In Westerner Score; Third Deadlock Registered By Two Teams Since 1934

BY PREXY ANDERSON
Abilene News Sports Editor

ABILENE, Sept. 25—This matter of tie ball games is getting to be a habit with Lubbock and Abilene. The deadlock which had existed for the two previous years was still in effect late this afternoon when the Eagles and the Westerners had fought four bruising quarters. The score in 1934 was 7 to 7, the same in 1935 and today it was 6 to 6.

Lubbock took an unexpected lot of the bruising, as the rookie Eagle forwards blocked with the precision of veterans, paved the way for the touchdown drive and kept the Westerners on the defensive for three of the four quarters. The fact that Abilene made 13 first downs to four by the Westerners is a fairly accurate tipoff on the game, although the fancy running of Harold Ingley, Lubbock safety man on punt returns partly offset this advantage.

Ingley Gets Loose

It was Ingley who set up the invaders' score in the second quarter. He took one punt at midfield and ran it to the Abilene 26-yard stripe. Lubbock got nowhere immediately, but when Abilene's James Beam kicked out Ingley was back in Abilene's hair racing 32 yards behind the interference of Ince and Letsinger to the Eagle 13.

Lubbock took it over in six plays, Rutledge covering the last two paces on a wide sweep.

The Abilene fans howled on the play for a home wingman was clearly clipped by big Rate Nabors, but the arbiters were looking elsewhere.

Westerners Penalized

Babe Ritchie booted the ball between the uprights, but Abilene had a break when the Westerners were penalized 15 yards, and Ritchie's second attempt for point was kicked into the middle of the line.

Abilene, which had driven to the 12-yard line in the opening period and to the five-yard stripe in the third, finally succeeded in its third march, also in the third quarter.

Smashing over his left tackle and guard, 200-pound Leonard Joerss and Bob Beams, Fullback Odel Herman carried the ball six of seven times required to negotiate 59 yards, and covered the last yard in a plunge over his right guard.

Cumpton's conversion try was wide.

Besides Joerss and Beams, Virden garnered principal honors in the Abilene line, while Short and Simmons claimed first notice for Lubbock.

Plainview Defeats Floydada On Long Scoring Plays, 13-0

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 25 (Special)—Coach Madison Pruitt's Plainview High Bulldogs blanked the Class B Whirlwinds from Floydada, 13 to 0, tonight in their annual game.

Mason, ace of the Plainview backfield, accounted for both scores, retrieving a punt on his own 20-yard line and running the distance of the field for a touchdown late in the second quarter. Early in the fourth, Mason snagged a pass from Ray and ran 10 yards across the goal line. The pass traveled 30 yards in the air.

Floydada outplayed and outfought the Class A team in the first quarter and for most of the second, but lacked the necessary scoring punch. Strong on defense, the Whirlwinds never got within serious scoring distance.

Here's How Game Looks To Sports Experts

Not that it makes any great difference, but here's what sports writers of Texas daily newspapers and other servere critics think of tonight's football game between Texas Christian university and Texas Tech.

The Morning Avalanche asked for these direct statements, and they are exclusive in today's edition.

ED PRELL, sports editor of the Morning Star Telegram, Fort Worth, who is here to "cover" the game:

"Doping football, like any other sport, is a very risky business.

"Too many untoward incidents can happen to make the prophet ridiculous. I'll go this far, though—on form, T. C. U. should win. But any club of Texas Tech's calibre has a chance to beat any team it might be playing if things broke just right. No matter which way it goes, it is certain to be a thriller. There will be so many passes in the air that we will get the idea there's a juggler out there performing."

JERRY MALIN, sports editor of the Amarillo Globe-News, who'll be here for the contest, wires his feelings:

"So far as Amarillo and the North Plains are concerned I never have known a college football game to attract so much attention.

"Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith deserve the decorated palm for bringing this game to this part of the country. No doubt about the national reputation of Sammy Baugh and the Frogs being largely responsible for the acute interest, but the color and dash of the Red Raiders have splashed into the highest prominence ever accorded a college team in this section.

"This is one 'big' game for the Plains that appeals to the fans as not being a setup affair for either team. Fans look for a battle all the way.

"Personally, I believe Texas Tech can and will win the game. The score likely will be around 21 to 14. Thats my honest prediction, but don't offer to bet with me, for I'm a sports writer, not a sporting editor."

POP BOONE, veteran sports editor of the Fort Worth Press, here to cover the game, writes especially for the Morning Avalanche:

"Your guess is as good as mine. One thing you can lay a little bet on, if you're one of them guys who like to take a chance, and that is the Frogs won't have the Red Raiders underestimated.

"Coaches and players have a very definite idea of what to expect in the way of ruggedness and if the Matadors win it won't be because they caught a ho-hummy ball club in too chesty a mood.

"Also, you won't hear any squawks out of us as to crippled players or anything. Our club has improved a lot in physical condition and is ready."

J. WILLARD RIDINGS, publicity director (and a darned good one) for Texas Christian university, who got stuck in the mud but got here anyway yesterday, says:

"Everyone I have talked with in Lubbock asks, 'Who will win Saturday nights game?'

"My answer is, 'I wish I knew!'

"The Frogs are ready. They'll play a brand of football that will give their money's worth to the 15,000 fans I am told will be there.

"T. C. U. is on the spot right. Picked by sports experts all over the country to finish again near the top in national ratings, they can't afford to bog down just as the season gets under way.

"The Matadors, of course, know that there is more excitement in West Texas over this contest than any September game in many a day."

DEWITT (JUDGE) LANDIS, operator of Radio Station KFYO and a recognized football "expert" in West Texas, has this to say:

"I hardly see how you expect me even to have an opinion on the Raider-Frog fracas. But I have. Owing to the fact that the Frogs have played in mud their last three starts (two of them were last year) I fear they will take our side, two touchdowns to one, in the mud. Should the field be dry, I look for a Tech victory, by a single touchdown."

FLEM HALL, sports editor of the Evening Fort Worth Telegram, who watched the Raiders defeat the Texas Wesleyan club last Saturday night, opines:

"If played on a dry field the Texas Tech-TCU football game is likely to develop into one of the most spectacular contests of the season, sparkling with brilliant passing and magnificent punting.

"If played in the rain or mud most of the glitter will be lost.

"In either case, the play will be rugged but not unduly rough.

"T. C. U. will have a slight edge on a dry field and should win by a narrow margin, say 13 to 7, but if the going is heavy or the ball is slick a scoreless tie will be in order."

WILLIAM T. RIVES, Associated Press sports writer, says:

"Texas Christians team, crowded with lettermen and potential stars, hopes to dig in against the Red Raiders of Texas Tech at Lubbock Saturday night. Last Saturday the Frogs beat Howard Payne, 6-0. Tech, however, appears to present a greater problem than Howard Payne and probably will give 'Slingin' Sammy' Baugh and his mates a peck of trouble."

COLLIER PARRIS, Avalanche and Journal sports editor, sticks to the predictions printed yesterday afternoon:

If wet: T. C. U. 7; Texas Tech 7.
If dry: T. C. U. 13; Texas Tech 20.

Justice And 'Chivalry'

THAT the jury system is far from perfect was proven again the other day when Terrence Bramlett, 21-year-old CCC enrollee, was given a 50-year penitentiary sentence for the murder of Marlie Childs, while Childs' widow, tried and found guilty of the same offense, was given a 25-year sentence.

Mrs. Childs, older than Bramlett and admittedly the initiator of an illicit affair with the youth, testified in her trial that Bramlett fired the shot that killed her invalid husband. Bramlett testified in his trial that the shot was fired by Mrs. Childs, herself.

Regardless of who fired the shot, both the Childs woman and the CCC enrollee were equally guilty of the murder of former Shelby county treasurer. Either Mrs. Childs' sentence was too light or Bramlett's was too heavy. That justice slipped in the case is plain as plain can be.

When a woman kills, her victim is just as dead as if he were slain by a member of the male sex. When a woman connives with another to murder her husband she is just as guilty as the second party to the offense, whether or not she pulls the trigger and regardless of sex.

The old idea of "chivalry" toward women in court is passe—it's no good any more.

And it's time our juries realized the fact.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DUNN, pretty young nurse, is hired as a stewardess on Overland Airways and, the same day, meets TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot who flies the trans-Pacific route.

Kay is assigned to the western division of the service. MONTE BLAINE, apprentice pilot, pays her marked attentions. Monte is daring, romantic, but Kay is more interested in Ted. She and DICKIE, Ted's adopted 7-year-old son, become close friends.

Ted leaves on a flight across the Pacific. When he returns Kay and Dickie are waiting for him. Ted asks Kay to have dinner with them, but the Japanese servant has nothing in the house to eat except canned beans. Kay herself prepares the dinner, is pleased at Ted's compliments.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

Ted's courtship—if such it could be called—was the strangest Kay had ever known. He made it quite plain that he wasn't interested in matrimony. Nevertheless, she was attracted by his air of quiet resolution; even when she rebelled against it, she could not resist the attraction.

Ted was too reserved, too matter-of-fact, to be exciting company. Kay had learned that one may not judge the quality of experience. The quality of accomplishment can be judged, though, and she never doubted the worth of Ted's accomplishments in the air.

She admired him, loved him. One seemed inseparable from the other.

Monte Blaine was always about and tried to see her whenever she had a free moment. She refused his invitations steadily, but if Ted had any plans that included her, she always accepted.

Monte was exciting but reckless; she never had occasion to distrust Ted.

He had come back from his last trip to the Orient with a new, inspired look in his eyes. Kay observed it as soon as the ship came in. She had been waiting at the quay to see him, to tell him that she couldn't get leave for Dickie from military school this time. The child had been disconsolate, and had shed some tears.

"Sorry the little shaver couldn't come down to see us make port," Ted asid. "But I'm glad of one thing—I'll be able to see you alone tonight. You look simply swell."

"Thank you!"

"What time will you be free to go to dinner?"

Kay hesitated. It was Doris Lee's last night in Oakland for a long while, and Kay had allowed Doris to prepare dinner for the pair of them.

"I don't know, Ted," she said. "I promised Doris—"

"Oh, Doris is a good gal!" he said, laughing. "She has a heart of gold, but I can't let her get in my way."

Kay laughed. "Doris is the best friend I have. Lots of people don't appreciate her. She's grown a shell about her, like a turtle. Back east she fell in love with one of your apprentice pilots, Ralph Bangs, but she doesn't trust him any more. Says he has a girl in every port."

Ted chuckled. "I'll tell you what I'll do! I'll call up Ralph, tell him to report to your apartment at dinner time, and Doris will have to entertain him. Then you call Doris and say you won't be home for dinner. That leaves a dinner for two and she will have to ask Ralph to stay. Perhaps it will lead to a reconciliation."

"It may mean murder," Kay warned, "but I'll take the chance. They tell me Ralph's a model lad now."

"I'm glad to hear that — from you," Ted said seriously. "We need serious-minded pilots for Trans-Pacific Airways."

"Where are we going for dinner?" Kay said.

"We'll dine out and then go back to my place. I want to talk to you." He added hastily, "I want to tell you about the last trip when Dickie isn't around to ask a lot of questions."

They dined in a little Ship Grill overlooking the lights of the bay. All through the meal Kay observed a curious light in Ted's eyes — those pale blue eyes that had seen so much danger. She wondered about it, wondered why Ted eyed her as he did.

Later they stopped at the little house on the beach and Sato served them coffee. About the room were many of the trophies of Ted's flying career. From a window Kay could see the trans-Pacific air liners at anchor in the harbor, bobbing up and down like surface ships.

Ted brought out a giant map and showed her the four-day course across the Pacific ocean, via Honolulu, Midway, Wake, Guam and Manila. He told her about the quiet achievement of the trans-Pacific flight.

It had meant five years of steady planning, but Ted had learned patience early in his career. He had been a pioneer in establishing air service to the tropics. He was one of the few pilots to have more than 10,000 hours in the air to his credit.

He showed her, too, a map of the world flight, called "Around the World in Twenty Days.' It included a regular commercial time-table flight around the world, in which the Trans-Pacific Airways was to play a major part.

Ted didn't talk much about his own part in all this achievement. He talked a lot about the engineers, the new direction finders, the designers and mechanics.

He went on, speaking of his ideals and aspirations in life. There had been a time, he explained, when he had been impulsive, reckless in the air. That was when his young wife had died, 15 years ago. Since that time a life of danger had left its mark on him. It wasn't just maturity. Scientific planning for real progress in the air had changed his nature.

Kay sat listening, her hands folded neatly in her lap. She couldn't take her eyes from his face. He was so earnest, so fervently sincere. Everything that he had done was part and parcel of his admirable character.

When he told her about the jade market at Macoa his voice seemed to carry her across the ocean, so that she walked along the Bund, admiring the pieces of jewelry.

There were amusing stories, too, inciednts involving members of the crews on the four-day flights across the Pacific.

He told her about the wild birds on Midway Island, the albatrosses. He made her see clearly the tiny tufts of green that were the islands, encircled by coral reefs in the middle of the blue ocean. The ocean swells rolled across the barriers of coral in waves sometimes 50 feet high, but inside the lagoon where the Mariners came to rest all was as quiet as in a pond.

He told her about the cosmopolitan amusements under Diamond Head in Hawaii, of surf-riding on the beach at Waikiki.

In that evening she came to love the trans-Pacific flight, as Ted loved it.

He took out some articles of jade he had bought at Macao, and laid them before her on the table. "I bought the ring for you," he said. "But you may have anything else you want—"

Smiling, she tried on the ring. It was one of the most beautiful she had ever seen.

Ted said, laughing, "It matches your eyes."

"My eyes!" she said a little ruefully. "Ted, this is too lovely for words. I adore it. You have such excellent taste. I should like to have it, but—just because I've tried to do things for Dickie when you're away—"

"Oh, Dickie!" Ted said. "For the moment I had forgotten about him." He looked at her intently for a few seconds, then went on. "I was thinking of you when I bought that ring. I thought about you a lot on this last trip. Up there in the clouds you see things pretty clearly."

"Thank you!" she said prettily. "Then of course I shall wear it."

Ted went on. "In these modern times people seem to have lost their naivete about such things. They don't even ask the question. They just seem to grow into it! But, Kay I want you to marry me."

Baby At Houston Lives After Undergoing Rare Operation

HOUSTON, Sept. 25. (AP) — Little George Kuhleman, eight weeks old, nursed a bottle today with a hearty appetite, unaware he has survived a rare surgical operation.

Surgeons said the child had undergone an operation as unusual as that performed in Chicago on Baby Julian Tafel, jr.

He was three days old when doctors operated and learned his stomach had no outlet. A small section of the intestine was malformed and withered.

The doctors made an opening in the stomach and connected it with the healthy part of the intestine. For several days they fed him a course cereal. Finally the baby went on an ordinary diet.

George Edward, son of W. A. Kuhleman, a laundry machinery salesman, now weighs 11 3-4 pounds.

The News Behind The News

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON

SOME of the President's keenest advisers regard his attack upon Hearst's "communist" series of articles as a major political blunder. Though signed by Secretary Early, the statement was inspired by FDR, who is running his campaign all by himself.

The presidential deplorers are afraid that the White House pronouncement reflected a spirit of concern and irritation which may spread to friends and foes. Until now the President has exhibited a serenity over his reelection which encouraged partisans from Chairman Farley down to the humblest precinct worker. What they fear is that this blast may wreck party morale by suggesting that FDR is losing his poise.

Worse of all, the White House statement advertised the Hearst articles, and forced many hostile and rival publishers to carry the gist of the "communist" charges in their newspapers. Mr. Roosevelt's action was a complete surprise to his closest aides because every adviser except Harold Ickes has urged that he ignore the publisher's enmity and the attempt to inject a "red scare" into the campaign.

BRAHMIN: The Boston drizzle which slanted off President Roosevelt's top hat was balmy by comparison with the welcome which Harvard officials and alumni extended to their most distinguished alumnus at the tercentenary celebration. The President's party was given a cold, academic shoulder.

In awarding honorary degrees, President Conant jibed at New Deal aims and principles. Despite contrary (Roosevelt) theories, he noted that "mathematical cycles still revolve" and that the constitution still preserves our liberties. FDR was allowed to huddle in the rain during the open air ceremonies, although wealthy and prominent Harvardians nearby had more than enough umbrellas to go around.

University officials angrily refused to permit the White House press party to set up telegraph wires on the spot. So poor were the arrangement that some reporters accompanying the President could not squeeze into the hall. Veteran presidential companions can't recall when a chief executive was so thoroughly rebuffed as FDR was at his alma mater. In his manner and in his tart address joshing Harvard for its dislike of Democratic Presidents, Mr. Roosevelt gave tit for tat.

COALITION: President Roosevelt will revamp 60 per cent of his cabinet in the event of his reelection. He feels under no obligation to reappoint any member of his present official household, although he won't break the bad news before election day.

According to present plans, the only four who will remain are Secretaries Hull, Morgenthau, Wallace and Ickes. Attorney General Cummings could probably stay on, but he is expected to resume private practice to recoup a fortune never any too large. Ill health will force the retirement of Navy Secretary Swanson. Frances Perkins will probably be drafted as head of a university. Harry Woodring of Kansas will be honored with the War portfolio after election, but he will not carry on if FDR has another four years. Mr. Farley will return to his contracting business, and Secretary Roper will just quit.

There will be no dearth of material to fill these vacancies. Senator Couzens, whose New Deal sympathies defeated him for renomination, can have almost any post he pleases, so FDR has told friends. Another New Deal Republican—Mayor LaGuardia of New York—needn't worry about a wolf at his door. FDR will have a "coalition cabinet" in a big way if returned to the White House.

NUMBER: Although Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is an old-fashioned, southern conservative, he was the invisible hero of the Roosevelt progressives' recent Chicago conference. The Senator's ears would have burned if he had heard the praise showered upon him.

It started when a young and zealous Mississippian cited the senator as an "ardent progressive and New Dealer." Rep. Tom Amlie of Wisconsin immediately leaped up to protest against such a citation appearing upon the liberal record, asserting that Mr. Harrison could not be called a progressive by any yardstick. Mr. Amlie conceded that the Finance Committee chairman had gone through the legislative hoop for the President, but he insisted that the Senator's heart wasn't in the act.

Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas zoomed to Mr. Harrison's defense. "Senator Harrison," said the San Antonio man, "deserves more credit for supporting the President than many of the progressive senators. He backed the administration, although he didn't believe in many of its policies. That takes political courage and loyalty of a rare order." So the senator from the deep South was admitted as an honorary member of the independent clan.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

WE recently reported that Walter Chrysler's presence at a New York dinner in honor of Vice-President Garner caused a furore in certain anti-New Deal circles. It was feared that perhaps Mr. Chrysler might wreck the "united business front" by going over to the enemy, although he had not said or done anything specifically in support of Roosevelt.

In point of fact, Mr. Chrysler's political attitude has shifted several times since 1933. Originally sympathetic to the tenets of the Liberty league, his personal sentiments underwent a marked change after a personal visit to the White House about two years ago. For a while he was the New Deal's biggest booster in big business. Lately his ardor had obviously cooled somewhat, although it was not easy to determine just where he did stand.

A private recheck now gives comforting assurance —from the anti-New Deal view-point—that Mr. Chrysler has seen the light. In the past couple of weeks he has been actively soliciting contributions from some of his business associates on behalf of the Republican National committee.

OFFENSE: A man of distinguished anonymity predicted some months ago that a striking series of recruits to the Landon cause would be announced as the campaign developed. The statement of Mr. Felix Warburg that he favors the Kansan—which crashed the front pages in New York—can be taken as one of the series.

But financial insiders are privately more amused than impressed. They recall that Mr. Warburg was pro-Hoover in 1932 and remark that it would have been a case of man-bites-dog if he had come out the other way. At the same time, it is admitted that his open espousal of the Landon cause is useful in giving the lie to absorb but persistent-whispered changes that the G.O.P. nominee is anti-Semitic.

Keen New York observers also call it a bit naive of Mr. Warburg to say that what the country needs is expansion of present enterprise and encouragement of new buinesses. They comment that the current tendency to give full consideration to established businesses before permitting the financing of additional unlimited competition is one of the New Deal's cardinal offenses from the viewpoint of bankers who prosper on volume of financing.

SUBSTANTIAL: One word may make a lot of difference to the Securities Exchange commission in forthcoming court tests of its legal authority.

The securities act of 1933 tates: "The finding of the commission as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive." In the Securities Exchange act of 1934 the word "substantial" is inserted to qualify the word "evidence."

It's a cinch that lawyers for clients charged with market manipulation by the SEC are going to bear down hard on that "substantial" when they get to the courts. Whoever was responsible for getting it in the 1934 law was not an enthusiast for air-tight enforcement.

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Peculiarly distressing for a movie queen is the court ordeal in which she is not drawing $2,000 an hour for great emotional acting.

As worrying over the debt repayment seems idler than straight unemployment, we are surprised it hasn't been made a project.

Coach Dutch Meyer Is Speaker At American Business Club

Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian university voiced high praise of Texas high school football coaches and their players in a brief address at the American Business club luncheon in Hilton hotel Friday.

"Ten years ago you had to go through all the details from the ground up when college coaches started training high school graduates," Meyer declared.

"We've had excellent high school coaching, as a whole, in recent years.

"The Interscholastic League as a whole is a fine thing. They've developed high school football so much that in 10 years there is a decided difference in the high school boy of today."

College football in Texas, he continued, is getting the benefit of that training, and for that reason "Texas college football is as good as any you see anywhere."

Ranger Stationed At San Augustine

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP)—Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the department of public safety, annouriced today Ranger Manny Gault had been stationed in San Augustine in response to requests by county officials.

He said the officials had expressed some apprehension over prospective release of a man sent to the penitentiary two years ago in a general cleanup of the San Augustine area by Rangers.

"Gault will remain there indefinitely," Carmichael said. "Capt. Hardy Purvis is at Lufkin, about 30 miles away. I want the people of San Augustine who want the law enforced to know that we are squarely behind them."

Ranger Captain J. W. McCormick, now stationed at Wichita Falls, led the drive against outlawry about San Augustine soon after Governor Allred took office. About 40 persons were convicted and given prison terms ranging from 99 years down.

In return for his services, Capt. McCormick was given a public vote of thanks by citizens of San Augustine.

Plug Tobacco Exponent Wins Over Apostle Of Twist Kind In High-Wind Spitting Event

FISHERVILLE, Va., Sept. 25. (AP) Jasper Davis, bronzed and robust Fisherville farmer, successfully battled a high wind here Thursday to win the title of "spittingest" man in South River district.

Taking a generous "chaw" from his hip-pocket plug, Davis scored a bull's eye at 12 feet 9 inches to lead the field by a full inch.

Bill Barton, who prefers the tobacco twist, expectorated mightily but lacked accuracy beyond 12 feet 8 inches.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, No. 54

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

When the Leopard Clan warriors caught a glimpse of Old Timer and The Kid in the tree, a wild shout of triumph issued from the steel-taloned horde. At once a hail of speers and arrows flew upward toward their human quarry. Nkima scurried away in panic.

Old Timer and The Kid clung tightly to the tree trunk, trying to shield their bodies. But almost immediately the torrent of missiles ceased, for the Leopard leader shouted: "Remember the wish of Lulimi, our chieftain. We must take captives alive if we can!"

He smiled proudly as he continued: "And it is easy to take these alive. We climb the tree and pull them out with ropes.' With eager, excited cries, some of the warriors started laboriously up the tree. "They've got us this time," The Kid said bitterly. . . .

. . . When Tarzan heard the shouts he knew that something was amiss. It could only be that Old Timer and The Kid were discovered. He set out to aid them; though he knew that now he would face no small band, but the full force of the Leopard Clan war party!

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25. (AP)—Business in distant months brought the cotton market lower today and options closely, irregularly off.

Fair notice day in the October options resulted in the issuing of tenders of 1900 bales at New Orleans and 6400 bales at New York. At New Orleans the tenders were stopped quickly and the market held above the previous close during the morning.

Better cables helped the opening tone that saw both Oct. and Dec. touch 11.88 and May sell at 11.74. But in late dealings persistent hedging began to make itself felt and the market slumped off. Oct. finished at 11.83, a point up, but March at 11.73, May at 11.70 and July at 11.57 were from 4 to 9 points lower.

Transferring of hedges from near to distant months was another factor that served to bring later months lower.

Scattered rains along the northern part of the belt, extending over into the Carolinas had little effect on prices. Lower temperatures were reported from the upper fringe of the belt, the customary seasonal development as September draws to a close.

There was no sign of a let-up in the demand for and the movement of cotton. At primary markets today 66,913 bales changed hands. Exports of 23,919 bales today brought the total for the week to 132,966 bales, an exceptionally good movement for this time of the season.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under hedging, liquidation and foreign selling. December declined from 11.90@11.78 with the general market 3 points higher on October to 8 points lower for other months.

The opening was steady. The market weakened when sentiment was unsettled by nervousness over the French monetary situation.

The first October notices amounted to 8,200 bales and were said to have been stopped by the trade.

Exports today 16,393 making a total of 637,818 for the season.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 11.94 cents a pound.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 25. (AP) (USDA)—Grass cattle trade at Kansas City this week was marked by a fairly liberal movement on Monday and Tuesday but the balance of the week receipts were curtailed so that the total supply was about the same as last week. The marketing of Kansas and Oklahoma grassed Texas steers is nearing completion and most members of the trade believe that supplies of low grading she stock will be comparatively light the balance of the season. Quality of the stockers and stock calves was improved this week. Monday's receipts including several shipments of Texas, New Mexico and Colorado origin.

In the hog market, weights 170 lbs. and up were unchanged, while underweights ruled steady to 15c higher. The top was 10.00.

Range lambs advanced 25 cents, natives and sheep holding steady. Choice Colorado range lambs 9.30 and natives 8.75.

posal to devalue the franc from its present gold parity by an amount ranging from approximately 35 to 34 per cent.

This would compare with a devaluation of the American dollar of about 41 per cent, the British pound, on the basis of yesterday's quotations, of 39 per cent, the Belgian Belga of 28 per cent, and the Japanese yen of 65 per cent.

Dollar Follows Pound

Beginning with a drop in the British pound in 1931, the forces of deflation have moved inexorably from leading financial capital to financial capital, exacting a readjustment of the values of the world's principal currencies. The dollar followed the pound two years later.

Devaluation of currencies has meant reducing the amount of gold which each unit of the currency represents. In theory, and to varying extent in effect, it has meant that the unit of currency—be it the American dollar, or the British pound sterling—would buy less.

In most countries, it has meant a consequent increase in the price level, although in most lands the increase has been modest. The effect, nonetheless, as explained by many economists, has been to lift the severe pressure of world depression against prices and wages.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. (AP)—Severe unsettlement of European exchange rates did much to tumble wheat values down 2⅝ cents a bushel maximum today.

Collapsing of the wheat market accompanied heavy selling both of commission house holdings and of grain futures owned by a number of the larger professional traders.

Rallies at the last in Chicago wheat prices were only fractional, notwithstanding that earlier the Winnipeg market had climbed to new high levels for the season, and that today's export purchases of Canadian wheat were estimated at 1,500,000 bushels.

Wheat here closed nervous, 1⅜ to 2 cents under yesterday's finish, Sept. 1.17⅝@1.17¾, Dec. 1.15⅛@1.15¼, May 1.14⅝@1.14¾, corn ⅛ cent off to 3 cents up, Sept. 1.15¾@1.16, Dec. 95¾@95⅞, May 90⅝@90¾, oats ⅛ to ¼ down, Dec. 42½, and rye showing ¼ to 1 cent setback, Dec. 83. Provisions results were unchanged to 7 cents lower.

September corn was in anxious demand from traders who were short and who have only tomorrow in which to settle their accounts except by actual arehouse or track delivery. Otherwise corn, oats, and rye took their cue mainly from wheat weakness.

Provisions averaged lower with grains.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 25. (AP)—Demand for grain was fair at Fort Worth today.

Wheat No. 1 hard 1.35½@1.40½.

Call Is Issued For Relics To Be Shown In Museum Exhibit At Fair Next Week

Are there relics of historical interest in your attic?

If so, they may find better appreciation than is given by the spiders and bugs.

Relics will be appreciated for the museum exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains fair to be held next week, said Dr. W. C. Holden.

Many relics to be shown in the exhibit are to be loaned or given to the museum which will be opened this winter at Texas Technological college, although relics may be shown by persons not planning to leave them for the museum. Doctor Holden is curator for the museum, the building for which is now under construction on the campus.

Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson and Mrs. Bob Crawford will be in charge of the booth at the fair. Relics may be taken to the booth, located in the industrial building, today or any time next week. If taken today, they will be shown throughout the fair.

Branding irons may be entered in the exhibit. Any object of historical significance is being sought.

Coughlin May Get 'Warning'

Prelates At Vatican Declare They "Wouldn't Be Surprised" If Pope Doesn't Hand Out Stronger Rebuke

(By The Associated Press)

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 25.—Prelates said today they "wouldn't be surprised" if the Vatican were obliged to give Father Charles E. Coughlin a stronger "warning" than the one which appeared recently in Osservatore Romano.

Such a step might be necessary, the prelates added, if the Detroit radio priest continues his attacks on President Roosevelt.

Says FDR Anti-God

At Cincinnati, last night, Coughlin said the president was "anti-God" because, he asserted, Mr. Roosevelt "says destroy and devastate." He also asserted he would advocate "the use of bullets" should an "upstart dictator" make the ballot void.

Such expressions, said the prelate, came clearly under the rebuke which the Osservatore, authoritative Vatican newspaper, administered recently when it said it was not proper to attack constituted authorities; much less so, for a priest to do so.

Should Respect Authorities

The newest declaration, they added, "cannot be reconciled with the belief by authoritative Vatican circles that in every polemic, authorities should be respected."

The prelates reiterated the Osservatore's previous remarks were not merely those of a newspaper, but reflected the opinion of the Pope that Coughlin, by continuing his personal attacks on Mr. Roosevelt, was going directly contrary to the pontiff's desires.

It was possible, they said, the Osservatore might publish another, and more strongly worded, statement.

Argument Over Settlement Of Crop Results In Man's Death

NEWTON, Sept. 25. (AP) — Three charges from a shotgun took the life, yesterday of Craft Griggs, farmer and cattleman of the Stringtown community.

A neighbor surrendered to Sheriff Hughes. He told the officer an argument arose over settlement of a crop.

James Fish and Wesley Harvey, witnesses, said both men had shotguns. They said Griggs fired once as he fell and the other man fired only the three shots.

Sheriff Hughes said the alleged slayer covered the body with a sheet and watched beside it until the officers arrived.

Leaps Through Window

Clifford Jones, thinking his brother had been hit, snatched a pistol and emptied it at Meyers. Meyers fired as he ran to a rear window, leaped through and fled in the car, parked down the street.

Henry, a cattleman, saw Meyers and chased him, firing a gun he kept in his car.

He ran Meyers into a blind lane. The convict came slowly back some time later and surrendered to Sheriff R. L. Edwards and Deputy Clarence Nordyke.

Edwards said charges would be filed soon.

Meyers was released on a 90-day furlough Sept. 10. He served a previous prison term, sentenced from San Antonio for theft over $50.

Trade Keeps Up Advances

All Divisions Continue Past Week At Recent High Rates Of Activity, Dun & Bradstreet Report Says

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—All divisions of trade continue at their recent high rate of activity, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the weekly review of business and trade.

"Retail sales totals were uniformly satisfactory despite heat in some localities," the agency reported. "Wholesale volume kept pace with retail turnover, and an increasing number of manufacturers operated plants at or near capacity to fill current orders. Employment made further gains.

New High Positions

"The principal industrial indexes attained new high positions, well above 1935 comparative levels and also above last week's figures if computed on a daily basis for holiday adjustment.

"Retail sales across the country last week were notable for uniformity in type and volume of buying. Outlets in most cities were favored with the continuation of recent gains over 1935 levels, averaging 10 to 15 per cent and reported the unexpectedly large increases over the previous labor day week of 5 days.

Buying At Rapid Pace

"The volume of business done by hotels, restaurants and theaters, especially sensitive to the spending mood of the consumer, indicated spending was proceeding at a more rapid pace than a year ago, with no unevenness to foretell any immediate slackening.

"The strength of buying which had encouraged some retailers to advance prices slightly last week continued, as did increased demand for quality merchandise in particular."

Ray Terrill

as he and his mother, Mrs. Rosa Patton of Henryetta, Okla., left the prison walls behind and started for Oklahoma City in an automobile.

Terrill explained the "alibi receipt book," which he designed and had printed. When he enters a town he will have a reputable citizen sign the book, giving the citizen one copy of the receipt.

Would Ward Off "Bum Raps"

He said he believed the system would ward off false accusations and "bum raps."

Beside the possibility of employment in a night club, Terrill recently said he will attempt to obtain backing for his patented lock, which he declares is burglar proof.

Warden Kenny described Terrill as an expert locksmith. The outlaw's favorite way of burglarizing a bank was to steal the safe at night by hoisting it on to a truck with a crane. Then at his leisure in some hideaway he would open the safe.

Braced For Return

Terrill braced himself for his return into the world.

"I believe as soon as the public realizes that I am trying to beat back they will be for me, and help me all they can," he said. "But there probably will be a few who would not want to see me make good and would 'job' me if they got a chance."

"During my crime career I knew that I was bucking a losing game," Terrill added.

Knew Crime Didn't Pay

"I have known for a good many years that crime just doesn't pay, but under the circumstances I felt that I had to keep going.

"The years of confinement have not made me bitter, neither have they altered my way of thinking in regard to right and wrong. I want to make good and in order to make good I want to get into something that is above par."

Work Not Profitless

His work there hasn't been without profit. Warden Kenny said Terrill was an expert woodworker, especially in fine inlaid work. Terrill also operated the motion picture projection machine for the prison theater.

He told Warden Kenny he left home when he was 17 "to run around."

He was captured more than once after he first turned to burglary in Tulsa in 1916. The next year found him in McAlester penitentiary, serving a term for grand larceny. In 1921 he was accused of a $10,000 mail pouch robbery. Soon he was reported trailing with Al Spencer's gang of bank robbers. Later he was reported a member of the Matt Kimes gang, but he denied he ever associated with it.

Terrill entered McAlester penitentiary June 5, 1926 for bank burglary in Pawnee county.

More Than 30,000 Adults In Texas In Literacy Classes

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 25. (AP) — More than thirty thousand adult Texans attended literacy classes this summer, Works Progress administration emergency education officials said today.

Although fluctuating according to demands of seasonal employment, enrollment in WPA literacy classes was maintained at a level of from 30,549 to 34,636 during June, July, and August, Dr. J. E. Jackson, director of the department, said. Number of teachers employed to conduct literacy classes ranged from 550 to 703 in the summer months.

Most recent census of illiteracy in Texas, tabulated in 1930 showed 308,121 persons who were unable to read and write. Records showed 10,200 persons were taught to read and write in 1934-36, and that 17,080 in 1935-36.

Oceanic Mails Changes Seen

Creation Of New Maritime Commission To Result In Several Changes, Officials Of Body Indicate

By ROGER HAWTHORNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Drastic changes in the method by which American ships now carry oceanic mails were "under consideration" today at the postoffice department as a result of the creation of a new maritime commission.

Keener competition between foreign-owned and American vessels to obtain mail cargoes will "undoubtedly" result if the contemplated changes are made, one official asserted.

To Administer New Law

The maritime commission will administer a new law which aims to replace the present indirect subsidies to the American merchant marine with a system of direct subsidies. The indirect subsidies are granted through ocean mail contracts; the new subsidies will have no link with the mail service.

Special mail contracts will be terminated and the mails will be carried on a poundage basis.

Changes Considered

Among changes being considered by the postoffice department are:

1. Elimination of the "time differential."

Current postal regulations give American ships a leeway of 48 hours. For example, an American vessel sailing a day and a half later than a foreign ship is considered eligible, technically, to carry mail which could have been sent on its rival.

2. Elimination of the "poundage differential."

Certain ships not under special mail contract are paid so much per pound but there is a wide range now between poundage rates allowed foreign vessels (fixed by the Universal Postal Union) and those paid American vessels.

Receive Higher Pay

Foreign ships, for example, carrying mail from North America to Europe receive 21 cents per pound for letters and post cards. For carrying the same mail the same distance American ships receive 64 cents. The higher rate, postal officials said, has been given largely as a government subsidy.

"I anticipate, however," Harllee Branch, second assistant postmaster general, said "that when the new commission has been able to provide the new direct subsidies there'll be no need for further aid in any form through the postoffice department."

National Democratic Funds Are Sought In Lubbock County

Funds for the national Democratic campaign will be sought in Lubbock county under leadership of a committee composed of L. C. Ellis, chairman, Mrs. Clyde Elkins and Joseph R. Griggs. Quota for the county is between $1,600 and $1,700.

Precinct committees are being formed to work under direction of the main committee. The main committee was appointed under direction of Roy Miller, executive secretary of the finance committee of the Democratic party in Texas. Ellis is chairman of the county Democratic executive committee.

Committees in each Texas county are working under direction of the state organization.

Pension Hearings Conducted In City

Persons not satisfied with rulings of the district supervisor regarding their applications for old age pension Friday were heard by H. T. Kimbro of Lubbock and Austin, member of the state Old Age Assistance commission. Today Kimbro goes to district headquarters at Plainview, but will return after hearing appeals there.

Accompanied by Mrs. Jessie Burch, who takes transcripts of the appeals much as a court reporter records testimony, Mr. Kimbro is located on the third floor of the courthouse. He came here from hearings in Brady and Abilene and will go from here to Wichita Falls and Ft. Worth.

More than 217,000 pension applications have been made to the commission, which is composed of Chairman A. W. Cunningham, of Harlingen; W. O. Davis, of Omaha, and Mr. Kimbro. Approximately 80,000 aged Texans already are receiving checks.

Under the law, the commission cannot hear assistance applicants until after a district supervisor has ruled on their applications in a matter unsatisfactory to the applicant. Commission hearings are in the light of "appeals court" work in the state's setup of jurisprudence.

Denmark is the smallest of the three Scandinavian states.

Question About

CARDUI

PERIODICAL PAINS

"Why do so many women take Cardui for functional pains of menstruation?"

Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and anti-spasmodic— that is, a pain-relieving and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods.

This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve many of the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract, not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others.

Cardui is purely vegetable, liquid in form, and comes in 9-ounce bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. —Adv.

Grounds of the Panhandle-South Plains fair will be patrolled next week by 15 men, nearly all mounted, said Charles A. Pierce, who will head patrol work this year for the third time.

Additional space necessitates four more men, at least, he said. The men will keep unauthorized persons from attempting to enter the place. Mounted men will patrol the fence lines.

The race track space, new this year, will need additional guards. Last year 11 men comprised the force.
