

CLEARING OUT THE STORM

The big job of clearing snow drifts to make streets passable started early Monday. This equipment is operating between the FW&D railroad and Holton Gulf on 8th Street, where five cars stalled and had to be abandoned Sunday. Just few feet away, high winds swept the ground almost clear.

Burial Here Wednesday for Storm Victims

Double burial services for two victims of the Sunday blizzard, both former Wellington residents, were conducted at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24 at Fairview Cemetery.

They were Genero (Gene) Pena, Jr., 37, and Samuel R. Garza, 21, both of Shamrock.

The men were found in their car about five miles west of Shamrock Monday morning, and Judge Cecil Amerson, coroner, ruled death by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Glen Richerson of Richerson Funeral Home, Shamrock, told The Wellington Leader the vehicle motor was still running and that he turned it off about 9:30 a.m., when he reached the scene.

The men were brothers-in-law and were the son and son-in-law of George Garza, Sr., who lives on north Dalhart Street in Wellington.

The two had started to their jobs with the Western Beef Packing Co., in Pampa, and apparently they were blinded by the blizzard. They were found only 400 feet from shelter at the West 40 Camp Ground.

Pena was employed at Gilmore Locker Plant for several years before moving to Shamrock.

County Agent Don Reeves and several of the fathers will accompany them, taking the steers in pickups and trucks.

The junior show is slated early next week.

All calves that could be brought into Wellington Tuesday were being housed in the Soil Conservation Service Show Barn to get them out of the weather. Trimming and grooming will begin at mid-week, Mr. Reeves said.

While in Houston, most of the young exhibitors will attend the rodeo which opens on Feb. 26 with Johnny Cash headlining matinee and evening performances through Feb. 28; B. J. Quail Boys Win 3-B Crown Over Lefors Quail Quails won the District 3-B boys basketball championship by taking the Lefors Tournament finals Saturday night, Feb. 20. The team earlier won the round robin play, one part in determining the Class B crown holder.

Coach Bill Wilson's Quails defeated Lefors Pirates 99-65 in the finals, after overcoming Miami 80 to 35 in the opener and the Samnorwood Eagles 67-64 in an overtime period on Friday.

Quail led Lefors 25-14 at the end of the first quarter Saturday night, and continued to enlarge the lead.

Jerry Barton and Darrell Feemster led the scoring with 27 points each, Tommy Oatman added 22, Mark White 14, Julian Torrez 8 and Laron Peters 1.

Varta Tarbot had 21 points for Lefors.

Miami never had a chance against the powerful Quails on Thursday, and by halftime the victors led 44-14.

Fatheree of Miami was high point man with 22. Scoring for Quail were White and Barton 12 each, Feemster 11, Peters 10, Torrez, Terry Canada, Jerry Alston and James Culppeper 6 each, Oatman 5, Larry McCann 4, Redgie Souder 2, Lonnie Needham was the other player.

Most exciting game of the tournament was that with traditional rival Samnorwood.

The Eagles took a strong lead 24-10 by the first quarter, but Quail pulled to within 4 points, 30-34 by halftime. Norwood had a strong third period and still led 51-43.

At the buzzer sounded to end the game, the score was tied.

Rotarians from Chile Visit Wellington Club

Three Rotarians, members of a group study exchange team from District 476, Chile, visited Wellington during the week end, where they experienced one unscheduled event, the blizzard.

They were Gustavo (Gus) Vega, a lawyer from Concepcion, Dr. Nelson Briceno, a surgeon from Angol, and Alejandro Villegas, a professor at the secondary school level in Los Angeles. The three cities are in south-central Chile.

Charles Darter, Rotary president, and Mrs. Darter, headed arrangements for the visit and the three were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Parsons. Other Rotarians and Rotary Anns assisted.

Their entire visit will be in the Texas Panhandle.

They have shopped in Panhandle stores and find food and clothing less expensive at home. But cars are three or four times more expensive in Chile.

"Everyone in the U.S. has a car. In Chile, everyone has shoes," commented Senor Villegas.

Arnett Boy Second in Oklahoma Contest

Kenny McDowell, an Arnett senior, has won second place in an Oklahoma statewide essay contest sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Entitled "The 1971 Ability Counts Contest," it drew more than 4,000 entries.

McDowell will receive a $200 United States Savings Bond and a two-year scholarship covering college tuition aid fees, said Mrs. Merle Ellis, Arnett teacher who was Kenny's local sponsor.

As he plans to study medicine, McDowell will request that the scholarship cover the last two years at the University of Oklahoma, after studying the first two at Altus Junior College. His winning essay described handicapped persons in Harmon County and at Dodson who continue to do useful work.

McDowell is a married student, and his wife, the former Zana Tucker, is also a senior at Arnett. Their baby daughter, Shana Lea, was born Feb. 1.

Zana is this year's Betty Crocker Homemaker at Arnett and a contestant for a Betty Crocker scholarship.

Kenny is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McDowell and helps his father farm. He is outstanding scholastically and in student affairs. He drives a school bus and both he and his wife are active in 4-H Club.

B. B. Martin of Dodson Dies Friday

B. B. Martin, 76, Dodson farmer and commander of the Dodson American Legion Post No. 535, died in Veterans Hospital, Amarillo, Friday, Feb. 19, after a long illness.

He had lived in Dodson since 1910, and on the same farm for more than 45 years.

A native Texan, Burke Burnett Martin was born June 26, 1894 at Crafton, Wise County, and named for the Texas rancher and oil man who had been his father's friend when both were cowboys.

A veteran of World War I, he served with Co. E, 5th Engineers, and saw action in the Argonne Forest and at St. Mihiel, France.

A charter member of the Dodson American Legion Post, he had held offices a number of years, and earlier belonged to the Hollis Post.

He was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

On Dec. 26, 1926, he was married to Miss Frances Jean Gear of Hollis.

Funeral services were conducted Monday, February 22, at the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson, with the Rev. Howard Smith, pastor, and Minister Van Bonneau, minister of the Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was in the Dodson cemetery with military rites, under the direction of Coley Funeral Home, Hollis.

Pallbearers were nephews, Thomas Sanderson, Wilson Sanderson, Chester Lemons, Myrtle Whitfield, Bruce Martin, Jr., and Ronald Gear. Honorary pallbearers were members of Post 535.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Frances Jean Martin of Dodson; a sister, Mrs. Florence Crawford of Lubbock, and a brother, Joe Wilson of Munday.

Fierce Blizzard Immobilizes Collingsworth Over Week End

Snow that blew in on the back of high wind in the early minutes of Sunday, Feb. 21, immobilized Collingsworth County as completely as it has been at any time in a decade. This was but one part of the storm that gripped the entire Panhandle, Kansas, and parts of New Mexico and Oklahoma.

No lives were lost here, but two men who died west of Shamrock, Genaro Pena, Jr., and Samuel Rodriguez Garza, were members of Wellington families.

Leslie Moore and his father-in-law, W. R. Adams, were among those men who went out to feed cattle Sunday morning. They were stranded and took refuge in a storm cellar until they were rescued about 10:00 p.m.

Heroic rescue efforts came with the combined work of law enforcement officers, the National Guard, Highway Department, County Road Department, and an uncounted number of volunteers.

Had it not been for all these there would have been several lives lost here, said Sheriff John Rainey.

Conditions became dangerous quickly Sunday morning as people began to move about and roads became blocked within a half-hour period.

Temperature here dropped no lower than 19 degrees, according to the Weather Bureau reporting station, but winds clocked at up to 60 miles an hour with gusts to 70, sent the wind chill factor down below 0.

Visibility most of the day was limited and outside of Wellington was frequently at 0. The snow drifted several feet high in town, but it was in the rougher areas of the county that the wind swept these drifts to impressive size and heights of 14 to 18 feet.

As the storm blew itself out, there was only one vehicle in the county traveling with certainty—the armored tank belonging to the National Guard Platoon. It made numerous rescue missions, as did all other Guard equipment.

Shortly before this, a county road bulldozer reached Moore and Adams after previous rescue attempts failed.

Ironically, after the snow and sleet started to fall, a barn on the Clarence Wilbur farm south of town burned to the ground. Trucks, pickups and cars became stranded early Sunday.

Sheriff Rainey said many drifts over the county were 5 to 8 feet high. He also estimated that had there been no wind, this would have been about an 8-inch snow.

In most danger for the longest period were Mr. Adams and Mr. Moore, four miles east of Lucky Corner. Oran Starkey attempted to reach them before noon and twice National Guard vehicles tried to go in. Then Chester White, county road supervisor, took the bulldozer and with Pat Glenn doing part of the driving, and Barney Glenn

DRIFTS

Wind drifted snow fence high at the home of Mrs. L. M. Bartlett, shutting her car in the garage as completely as lock and key. Although the drifts brought inconvenience in Wellington, their dramatic havoc was saved for the rougher countryside of Collingsworth.

18-foot Drifts Fail to Halt Guard Tank

Even before Governor Preston Smith sent the National Guard into the emergency, Wellington's Platoon, commanded by Lt. Neal Gray, was in action with three wheeled vehicles and the tracked vehicle or tank. One truck was turned over to law enforcement officers after their own cars became stalled.

The eight men available for duty here remained ready for search missions until noon Tuesday.

Although none of the Guard vehicles has a heater, the men spent many hours patrolling Highway 83 and on other missions.

The tank, driven by Lt. Gray went through snow drifts 12 to 14 feet high beyond Buck Creek about midnight Sunday to bring in Charles Carter of Childress.

"That was a sure test of the equipment," declared Gray.

The tank, officially a 42 mortar carrier, returned Monday morning to check for Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byrd, missing since the storm started. They were at the Palo Cummings home. Several stock men went along to check cattle on the way.

Next, the tank went north to Lutie to pull out stalled tractors, then east for Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hill, who were at their cabin.

This tracked vehicle will carry 12 or 14 people but there are no seats in it, Lt. Gray said.

Road Clearing Starts As Storm Hits County

The Texas Highway Department began running snow plows at 2 a.m. Sunday and they had not stopped Tuesday night, reported Jake Meadows, maintenance foreman.

Men from the engineering department took over Monday night to keep equipment moving and allow maintenance workers to rest after working 36 hours straight through.

Drifted snow was highest on Highway 203, also west of Dozier and Samnorwood, as well as in the Dodson area on FM roads, Mr. Meadows reported.

Bridges and hills were sanded, but most of the time snow was too deep for this to be effective.

Two Hurt as Car Hits Truck

Two Wellington young people are in St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of injuries received when their car struck a truck parked on the west shoulder of Highway 83, almost in front of Rountree Grocery at Lutie on Saturday night, Feb. 20.

Linda Orr, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. K. Orr, Jr., has facial cuts, but her condition Tuesday was improved, her mother said.

Roger Browning, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Browning, has head, knee and back injuries, but he, too, is improving, according to his parents.

Patrolman Don Gosnell, who headed the investigation, said as Browning neared the truck, he apparently swerved his car to try to miss it. He caught the left rear of the truck with the right side of the car, tearing off the right rear door and the top partially off, the patrolman continued. The truck was knocked about 10 feet. The driver, an Amarillo man, was sitting inside and was the first person to reach the injured students. They were brought to Wellington by Kelso ambulance.

Farm Program Sign-up Will Begin March 1

County farmers will begin signing up for the 1971 farm program Monday, March 1, Bob Weatherly, county executive director, announced this week.

The sign-up period will go through April 9.

The set-aside acreages have been announced in the three major crops, he reminded. This is up to 20 percent of the feed grain base, 20 percent of the cotton base allotment and 75 percent of the wheat allotment. He urged that all operators know how much they are going to put in the set-aside when they come in to sign up.

Leslie Moore Relates Long Ordeal in Snow

The suddenness with which Sunday's blizzard became dangerous was best shown when Leslie Moore and his father-in-law, Bill Adams, went out to feed their cattle and were stranded 15 hours before being rescued.

Mr. Moore told The Wellington Leader how this happened.

"We went out about 8:30 a.m. and made it fine. We were in the pasture about 30 minutes, and when we got to the gate it was blocked.

"We ran the pickup until it was nearly out of gas, and the snow drifted in on the motor and we couldn't get it started again. We had no other choice but to go to the dug-out, and we barely made it, about 300 yards.

"There's nothing in the dug-out. We didn't have anything to eat or drink. We had a little package of gopher matches, but there was nothing to burn.

"It seemed fairly warm when we first got in, but the longer we were there the colder it got. We kept moving to keep our circulation up.

"About 11 o'clock (Sunday night) we saw the bulldozer coming by, pulling a pickup with a spotlight, because the cat had no lights.

"It went on down to the pasture, and we heard it again as it came back. It was about even with the cellar.

"I took off as fast as I could to where they were, and when it stopped I was able to catch up and knock on the door."

Kiwanis-Lions Slate Benefit Basketball Game

The Wellington Kiwanis and Lions Clubs will meet in a benefit basketball game Thursday, March 4, according to Jeff Wilson, Kiwanis president.

Heading arrangements for the Lions is Horace Moore, club president.

The game will be played in the Wellington High School gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a small admission charge and all proceeds will be divided between the two clubs for the benefit of the youth programs which each has in operation.

Wheat Production May Double by Year 2000

Dr. Ronnie Thomason represented the School of Agriculture, West Texas State University at the First Interregional Wheat Workers Conference held at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater Feb. 9 to 11.

It was attended by approximately 200 wheat researchers representing universities, commercial companies from 31 states, Mexico and Canada, and the United States Department of Agriculture.

The highlight of the meeting was an address, "I Predict," by Dr. Lewis P. Reitz, USDA, Agr. head of Cereal Investigations, Crops Research Division, Beltsville, Md., reported Dr. Thomason.

Some of his predictions were:

1. Wheat production will double by the year 2000.

2. There will be an overall reduction in the use of chemicals but essential chemicals will be available on a "prescription" basis.

3. There will be an increase in the number of wheat varieties available to farmers primarily from commercial companies.

4. Protein grades will be integrated into market grades.

"Dr. Reitz went on to point out that most of the basic laws of nature are known, but young people are needed to apply the basic sciences to agriculture, the applied science," said Dr. Thomason, an associate professor in the Department of Plant Science.

Other high points of the conference included the discussion of triticale (cereal crop developed by crossing wheat and rye) feed wheat and the Plant Variety Protection Act.

"The Plant Variety Protection Act passed in 1970 provides a means by which varieties are protected by a system similar to a 'patent'. It is not called a patent but is similar to the Patent Law. Although the law prevents one commercial company from increasing and selling a variety developed by another company or individual, it allows the farmer to produce seed for himself and his neighbor."

Dr. Thomason is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Thomason and visited in Wellington en route to the conference.

Blevins Back in Vietnam

Sgt. Robert Blevins, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Blevins of Quail, recently completed his regular tour of duty in Vietnam and returned Feb. 2 for eight months extension of duty. He will rejoin the 128th Aviation Company at Phu Loi.

While there on his first tour, Sgt. Blevins was awarded the Vietnamese Campaign Medal, Vietnamese Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal and Army Air Medal. He also received the Air Crewman's Wings.

Trio Attends ASCS Conference at Galveston

County Committeemen of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the executive directors from all Texas counties attended the state conference in Galveston Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 9 and 10.

Representing Collingsworth County were Bob Weatherly, director, Troy Thomason and J. W. Thomas, committeemen.

New programs were explained, including REAP, which replaces the ACP as one of the programs within the ASCS. The state development committee met following the Galveston conference, and recommended practices are due this week from the state offices. From these recommendations, the county development board, made up of ASCS and Soil Conservation Service representatives, will select the practices to be carried out here, Mr. Weatherly explained.

One of the principal differences in the new program is its emphasis on pollution abatement.

Featured conference speakers were E. F. Behrens, executive assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture; George V. Hansen, deputy administrator, state and county operations, and Charles Cox, assistant deputy administrator, state and county operations, ASCS, Washington, D.C., also.

J. P. Jones, Southwest area director, ASCS, Washington; and Ray Wax of Illinois, president of the National Association of Farmer-Elected Committeemen.

Group discussions gave county committeemen an opportunity to discuss provisions of new farm legislation with state and national officials.

Agriculture More Than Farming

By John Leidner
State FFA Vice President

What's the most important decision that a young person can make? There are many arguments about which is the most important decision, but undoubtedly, the choice of one's vocation would be one of the most important. This year during National FFA Week, we of the nearly 50,000 Future Farmers of Texas will be emphasizing the theme of FFA—"Involved in America's Future". The decision of many Future Farmers to enter the industry of agriculture will of course make us involved in America's future. However, not only is the future of America at stake, but also the future of many countries who depend on America.

America is a growing and complex country and the agricultural industry is one of the best examples of America's growth and diversification. In agriculture, a young man will find a challenge. The rewards of the agriculture industry are many. There is a great demand for college trained men and women in agriculture and this demand far exceeds the present supply. The FFA offers encouragement to high school students who are interested in agriculture by providing the opportunities for advancement through the FFA Foundation. The Foundation is composed of businesses, industries, organizations, and individuals, who support these awards programs.

Today's trends show that more people are leaving their farm and rural communities and moving to cities. Whereas the number of farmers is steadily decreasing the total production is increasing each year because of the effects of scientific research and more efficient production. Many of today's FFA members are following this trend of moving away from the farm. For them, the area of agri-business gives them the opportunity to specialize in one of many bright fields. The FFA is now emphasizing the growing importance of agri-business to the agriculture industry by initiating new programs of instruction and a new series of agri-business awards through the FFA Foundation.

The agricultural industry is continuing to make advances in the United States and our country is passing on many of these advancements to other countries around the world, so they too can benefit from our labor. Research is making tremendous gains. The types of research varies from marketing to production of agricultural products. From the new methods produced by research, agriculturalists seek to increase the food available and hopefully avert a grimly predicted food shortage crisis.

With the emphasis on ecology on our planet, the agricultural conservationists seek to preserve man's natural resources. The FFA is realizing dangerous potentials of a deteriorating environment and have started a new program entitled "Build Our American Communities." The local FFA chapters first analyze their community's needs and then use their resources to go about combating some of their problems. What better place is there to start cleaning up the planet than your own community?

So just as agriculture is changing to meet the needs of a changing world, so is the FFA changing. During National FFA Week, I think it is appropriate that people pause and just think about the food they eat and appreciate the blessing of living in the world's number one agricultural nation. Future Farmers will be doing their part in keeping this nation number one in agriculture and they are proud that they are involved in America's future.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

Is the term "Roman Catholic" accurate when applied to all Catholics?

No! The only "Roman Catholics" in the world are those good folks who actually live in the City of Rome. I am an English Catholic, Perry Como is an American Catholic, etc. . . The phrase is used by Protestants because the central government of the Church on earth is in Rome. But, would you as a Texan like to be called a "Washington American" because the central government of America is in Washington?

Does the Bible ever speak of "the Catholic Church"?

No! Nor does it mention the Lutheran, Baptist, Methodist, etc. . . It is very clearly stated and implied by Christ and the Apostles that His Church is to be universal (e. g. Matt. 28, 19), and another name for universal is "catholic". It's as simple as that. St. Ignatius of Antioch was the first one to coin the phrase in 110 A. D.

Mona Odell, Douglas Darrow Wed in Lutheran Ceremony February 6

Trinity Lutheran Church in Shamrock was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mona Viola Odell and John Douglas Darrow on Saturday evening, February 6.

The Reverend Paul Stueckler, pastor, performed the ceremony at eight o'clock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Odell of Shamrock and Mr. and Mrs. Ewell E. Darrow of Samnorwood.

Altar decorations were two arrangements of white chrysanthemums and carnations, with altar candles providing illumination. Baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons were at each side of the prayer bench. Aisles were marked with pink satin bows.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. John Cullers, organist, while the vocalists were Mrs. Vicki Hendrix and Billy Bob Seeds.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and satin in A-line design. Lace formed the bodice and appliques accented the dress and train which swept to chapel length. Her tiered waist-length veil was attached to a headpiece of white daisies studded with seed pearls. Her bouquet, on a white ribbon, was of white carnations showered with white satin streamers with pink forget-me-nots tied in love knots. As the traditional something old, she wore a ring belonging to her great-grandmother.

Miss Janis Rankins of Hereford was maid of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Freida Crossland of Tyler and Mrs. Zeda Hooten of Shamrock. They wore pink satin A-line dresses with long sleeves, puffed at the top. Cameos were worn at the neck-line. They wore pink picture hats and carried baskets of pink roses.

John Johnson of Altus, Oklahoma, was best man, while the groomsmen were Danny Cullers and James Hooten. Guests were seated by Dale Darrow, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Huntley.

Shelly Rankins was the flower girl and Kelly Odell, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Candles were lighted by Mike Odell and Ross Odell, also her brothers.

Guests were registered at the wedding by Miss Becky Bush.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Odell honored the couple at a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Receiving the guests were the parents of the couple and feminine members of the wedding party.

Mrs. Arthur Pforr was at the register.

The bride's table was laid with a cloth of white linen and lace, while the centerpiece was a basket of pink roses.

Miss Vicki Gragg served the wedding cake and Miss Shirley James poured.

Following a wedding trip to points in Texas, the couple is at home at 511 Grand, Hereford.

'George M' Heard by Club

The February 16 meeting and program of Wellington Music Club was dedicated to the National Federation of Music Clubs' Parade of American Music.

Reviewing the musical production, "George M." was Mrs. Velman Warrick. About the life of well-loved George M. Cohan, the musical features his songs. He started being on the stage professionally at the age of fifteen years. The theatrical strike of 1919 ended his musical performing career but he later went into the legitimate theatre as a song and dance man.

There is a statue of him on the "Broadway" he loved at Times Square opposite the Palace Theatre, where "George M." made its brilliant New York debut. He has been described as "the most brilliant and versatile gentleman in the theatre of his day." Through various publications and films, his career is known around the world. His songs continue their vitality and popularity. President Roosevelt personally awarded him a gold medal for his songs of American spirit; Congress voted him such an honor.

An ensemble from Wellington High School Band performed stirring arrangements of some of Cohan's better known works. Members of the ensemble were: cornet, Dickie Johnson, Brad Kopp, and Earl Hartman; baritone, Mitzie Pendleton; clarinet, Carol Cochran, Lillie Rogers, and Linda Orr; flutes, Cathy Singley, Carey Lewis and Leigh Nall; saxophones, Judy Jones and Gwen Lewis.

A reception followed to honor the ensemble. In the entrance to the receiving room was a candle-lighted arrangement of red, white and blue, saying "Our Thanks, Band Members." A glittering poster featuring "George M." was accented with a bouquet of fresh red and white flowers. The hostess committee was Mrs. L. W. Wells, Mrs. Claude Groves and Mrs. Dan Henard, Jr.

An American music motif was emphasized at the refreshment table with a gold treble clef accented with flower notes. Ceramic figures were holding various music instruments.

Presenting Junior Musician Awards to the individuals of the ensemble was Mrs. Truett Holland.

Following the NFMC Hymn of the Month, there was a business session with Mrs. Henard presiding. The following slate of officers was presented and

"Famous Trees of Texas" Published

COLLEGE STATION.— Governor Preston Smith recently received the first copy of "Famous Trees of Texas". The book is being published by the Texas Forest Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System. The initial copy was presented to the governor by Paul R. Kramer, director of the Texas Forest Service at College Station.

Copies will be sold for $3 each.

Famous trees featured in the 200-page full-color book include the Treaty Oak at Austin, Sam Houston Pecan at Huntsville, Bloys Symbolic Oak near Fort Davis, Masonic Oak near Brazoria, the Rough Riders Pecan in San Antonio, and 90 others.

Harold Pigg of Lubbock was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Pigg.

Consider Pasture Rotation, Texas Ranchers Are Told

COLLEGE STATION. — It's animal moving time for ranchers involved in a pasture rotation system. It is also time for those who haven't previously implemented this program to do so.

"A pasture rotation system benefits both the livestock and the range land," Extension Range Specialist Dan Rodgers says. "It is especially helpful to range grasses during the critical periods of low food reserves during the early growth and at seed set."

The pasture rotation system, commonly known as the Merrill System, was developed in the late 1940s at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Sonora. In experiments during the drought of the 50s, there was an actual increase in the stocking rate of one-third, Rodgers said. During this same time, while others were losing animals from bitterweed poisoning, there were no losses on the rotation pastures, he continued.

"The system consists of four pastures and three herds of livestock, with one pasture always being rested for a four-months period," Rodgers explained. "At the end of a four month period, one herd is always moved to the rested pasture."

Under this system, each pasture is grazed for 12 months and then rested for four months, thereby allowing each pasture to have one rest period in each season when the cycle is completed in four years.

"This benefits all desirable grasses regardless of when their critical growth periods occur," Rodgers said.

"A rotation system should be used by East Texas ranchers, too," Rodgers said. "Their rotation period would have to depend on the amount of growth each season."

While in West Texas the rotation system is used to provide stability through the frequent droughts, in East Texas a rotation system should be used to take advantage of excess forage production caused by unusually high rainfall, Rodgers concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wampler of Scurry spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wells.

Mrs. C. A. Kesler and Mrs. W. C. Harwell visited Mrs. C. A. Dysart in Mobeetie Thursday.

Computer Gives Instruction in Arabic Writing

AUSTIN.—A computerized instruction system for the Arabic writing system is in operation at The University of Texas.

Its designer, Dr. Victorine Abboud, believes the system to be the first of its kind. In preparing the instruction program, which was her doctoral dissertation at UT Austin, she produced a computer program writing from right to left and designed a graphic pattern for transferring the Arabic script and cursive systems into computer language.

The computerized method for teaching the alphabet has been used successfully in beginning Arabic classes.

Get Most From Beef Purchases

To get the most from beef purchases, W. M. Bailey, Extension livestock and meats specialist, suggests that buyers use both the USDA quality grades, which have been in use for many years, and the newer yield grades. The quality grades indicate palatability of the meat while the yield grades indicate the yield of meat that can be used for cooking.

Other Editors Say . . .

Crime Code Should Wait

Some reports from Austin indicate that the Texas Legislature may decide not to debate adoption of the proposed new Texas Criminal Code until 1973.

That would be a wise decision. Considering that the proposed sweeping changes were five years in the making and that the code has been generally available for study for little more than two months, its adoption at this session would be premature.

Haste could be damaging also because the proposed new code has precipitated a clash of philosophies of crime and punishment.

The new code—in keeping with the modern trend—contemplates reduced penalties, new defenses, new trials, added appeals, longer procedures and easier parole—all of which favor the accused.

Law enforcement generally opposes liberalization of the criminal law at a time when the system of justice—already badly in need of streamlining—is trying to cope with a high crime rate. The effort is further complicated by unsettled points of law and procedure stemming from decisions handed down by the Warren court.

In any case, the code itself needs to be fully debated by all interests.

On the new code, the Greater Dallas Crime Commission comments: "If it is passed as now revised, it will mean we are going to release on the streets in every city in Texas twice as many ex-convicts as we now have."—The Dallas Morning News.

"Why did you have to let your maid go, Clara?" asked the neighbor lady. "Well, Elaine, I started thinking about our house and I decided that with my completely automatic kitchen and laundry and all the other gadgets round the place, I didn't really need a maid . . . So, I hired a mechanic."

CROSSROADS REPORT

A new law, which will be in effect until some court knocks it off, makes it illegal to mail printed smut to anybody who states that it is offensive to him.

Which will be a big help to folks who are too weak physically to throw unwanted mail matter into a wastebasket, or to weak mentally to resist a printed pitch.

But my hopeful neighbor says as long as it's the law that we can't be offended by mail, he wants to get his name on the list of people the Internal Revenue and other bill collectors can't send their offensive missives to.

I see where some people in a small town got uptight about dirty air and sicked the air wardens on their local zinc smelter. So the operators of same decided to close it up.

And these finicky folks will soon have lots of clean air and lots fewer neighbors to work for and sell to and share their tax load with.

Then science will discover what it has long overlooked: that primitive man with abundant clean air and water did not live as long and probably enjoyed it less than modern man with his particulated air and fortified water.

Almost A Christian!

BY GAYLORD COOK

In the 26th chapter of Acts an account is given of the apostle Paul appearing before Agrippa. Paul told Agrippa of the things that had happened to him and how Christ had completely changed the course of his life. At the conclusion of Paul's statement, Agrippa said, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." This statement is both wonderful and at the same time sad. It is wonderful when one is brought near to obeying the gospel of Christ, but it is a sad thing when one stops when he is only "almost persuaded." Sadly, there are those today who are "almost persuaded" to be Christians, those who someday intend to follow Christ, but who never come to full obedience. Surely you do believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. Don't let that faith die without producing action in your life. We invite you to come study God's word with us.

Capt. Morris Teaches at Military Academy

Capt. Darryl Morris, an instructor in the Department of English at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., was awarded the Master of Arts Degree in English from the University of Pennsylvania in December.

A Vietnam veteran, he has served in the Marine Corps as well as the Army, and for two years, before he decided on a military career, he served in the Wellington National Guard unit.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morris, he was reared at Quail. His wife is the former Sharon Bettis, and with their two daughters, Debbie, 10, and Nicki, 1, they live at Newburgh, N.Y., near West Point.

Capt. Morris began his service career by enlisting in the Marine Corps Reserve and serving six months active duty at San Diego, and Camp Pendleton, Calif. Upon release from active duty, he completed the requirements for a B.S. degree in secondary education at West Texas State University.

He then taught in Childress High School two years while remaining active in the Wellington unit of the Guard, having transferred from the Marine Corps Reserve in Amarillo upon graduation from college.

"While a member of the National Guard, I attained the rank of Staff Sergeant and was awarded the Expert Infantryman's Badge," he recalls. "I also attended the National Guard non-commissioned officers school at Fort Hood and the Officer Candidate School at Austin and was commissioned a reserve Second Lieutenant of Artillery in 1963. That same year, I entered upon active duty in the Army."

His first assignment was to the Field Artillery Officers' Basic Training Course at Fort Sill, Okla., followed by a three-year assignment as a Tactical Platoon Leader, executive officer and battery commander at the Field Artillery Officer Candidate School at Fort Sill. He received a Regular Army commission and Army Commendation Medal for meritorious services.

He then volunteered for service in Vietnam and after attending the Airborne and Ranger training courses at Fort Benning, Ga., he served as the Liaison officer, Forward Observer for the 25th Division Artillery. In Vietnam, he received the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Bronze Star for meritorious service.

Back at Fort Sill to attend the Field Artillery Officers Advanced Course, he was selected for graduate civilian schooling at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, where he studied from January 1969 to August 1970.

Capt. Morris is on the current list for promotion to the

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Garden mulches and how to use them is the subject of a new leaflet available from the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

Gary Reed, SCS, said the leaflet "Mulches For Your Garden" has the best and most concise explanation of how to use mulches and compost in a garden that he has ever seen.

"The leaflet explains how mulches cushion falling raindrops which reduces soil loss and soil compaction," Reed said. "Mulches keep soil cool in summer, conserving moisture; they also furnish food for earthworms which are valuable for aerating the soil. Organic matter added by mulches helps keep soil crumbly and easy to work."

Reed said that some mulches are more valuable if composted before using. The new publication shows how to build a simple compost bin out of wire or boards and is complete with drawings and pictures.

The leaflet lists the number of cupful of various kinds of fertilizer, wood ashes, or epsom salts to add to a bushel of compost to speed decomposition and to increase the compost's plant nutrient value. Details are also given on how to make acid compost for use with azaleas and rhododendrons.

"Proper handling of mulches is one of the most important but least understood soil and water conservation measures used in Texas," Reed said. "All good conservation farmers leave the stalks and stems from their crops on the land to reduce erosion and conserve moisture. Few conservation measures do more to reduce pollution from blowing dust or from sediment."

The conservationist said gardeners could use the same principles in flower and vegetable gardens by utilizing mulches from grass clippings, tree leaves, straw stems and stalks from harvested vegetables, and other material.

Financial Facts

By Jeff Wilson

WHEN THE U.S. LOSES GOLD
Do you know what happens when a foreign government cashes in dollars? And takes the money out in the form of gold.

First the gold is moved from Fort Knox to New York. However, it is seldom shipped across the ocean to a foreign government.

It is deposited for safekeeping in the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve. There the gold resides five stories underground. It is protected by an air-tight cylindrical door ninety tons in weight.

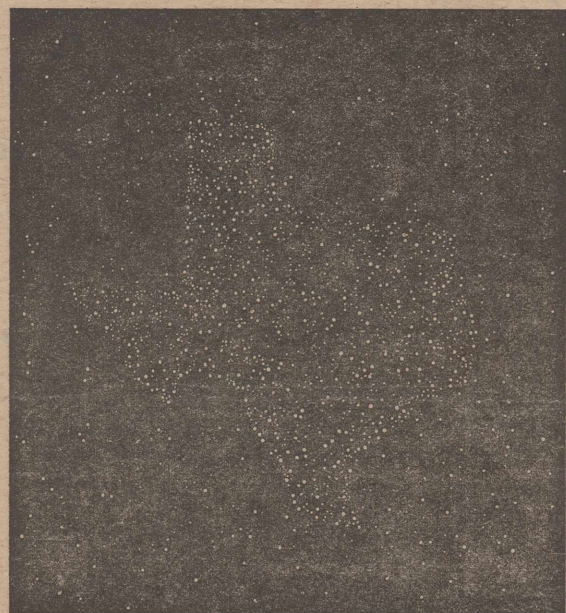

When this gold is officially received, the foreign government issues a check. This check is drawn on its bank account to the order of the United States government. The Treasury deposits this check at one of the Federal Reserve banks. Both countries adjust their records accordingly.

The stars still shine on Texas

In the beginning, the stars shone all over America.

Then something happened. As the air slowly got dirtier and dirtier, the day came when you couldn't see the stars.

First in Pittsburgh. Then Los Angeles. Then New York. Then Detroit. Then Cleveland. But the stars still shine on Texas. Because Texas air is clean. And at Lone Star, we're doing our best to keep it clean.

One thing we're doing is supplying the cleanest burning fuel known to man. Pure natural gas.

And we've equipped 400 of our service trucks to run on liquefied petroleum gas. (This means 97% less pollution than if these same trucks were running on gasoline.)

And we're going into factories and plants and working with manufacturers to develop incineration systems that will drastically reduce industrial pollution.

The stars still shine on Texas. Let's all work to keep the stars in the sky.

Blizzard Closes School, Cancels Several Events

Sunday's blizzard brought all public activities in the Wellington area to a standstill, well into mid-week.

Students in all schools got an unscheduled vacation Monday and Tuesday.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile, due in Wellington Tuesday, Feb. 23, was cancelled. The next visit will be announced as soon as the date is set.

A District Court session set for Monday, Feb. 22, was called off, according to Sheriff John Rainey. The next session will be Monday, April 5, when a new term begins, James Richardson, court reporter, said.

Wellington Future Farmers called off their annual parent-son banquet set for Monday night. It will be held within the next few weeks, said Rodney Myrick, sponsor.

A coffee planned for Sunday night and Rotary Club meeting Monday, which were to honor three Rotarians visiting from Chili, were not held.

Cubs Hold Blue, Gold Banquet Thursday Night

Wellington Cub Scouts will hold their Blue and Gold banquet Thursday, February 25, in Bura Handley Community Center.

Dave Agnew, Comanche District Scout Executive, will be the speaker and Charles Darter will be master of ceremonies.

Advancement awards will be presented to a number of boys.

This year marks the 42nd anniversary of the Cub Scouts, youngest division of the Boy Scout movement, according to Bill Anders, Cubmaster.

Some Couldn't Return Home

Several county residents, out of town for the week end, had difficulty in returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Phipps were in Eldorado, Okla., to attend church services. Starting home about noon Sunday, it took them three hours to travel 15 miles to Olustee, where they stayed with friends until Tuesday. Reaching home, they could not get from Highway 203 to their house because of 5-foot snow drifts in front of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mauldin were in Oklahoma City visiting their son and daughter-in-law. Dr. and Mrs. Richard Mauldin when the storm struck. It took two and one-half hours to drive 68 miles to Weatherford, where they stayed with their other son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mauldin, until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Palo Cummings, Jr., were returning from a visit with their daughter at Temple. They came as far as Paducah, where they spent the night. They were able to reach Wellington Monday morning.

rock, and he was regarded as an excellent employee. Several of Garza's brothers also had worked for Gilmore Locker.

Samuel R. Garza was born March 28, 1950 at Weslaco and came to Wellington with other members of the family in 1959.

He was married to the former Josie Castor.

Survivors are his wife and son, Samuel R. Garza, Jr., 2, of Shamrock; his father, of Wellington; six brothers and four sisters: Noe Garza of San Antonio, Nick Garza of Decatur, Ind., George Garza, Jr., of Shamrock, Simon Garza of Pampa, Saul and Souel Garza of Wellington, Mrs. Eva Pena of Shamrock, Mrs. Dora Medreno of Weslaco, Mealea Garza and Carmen Garza of Wellington.

Genaro Pena, Jr., who lived at 411 South Austin, Shamrock, was born Jan. 1, 1933 at Houston. He, too, came to Wellington in 1959.

He is survived by his wife, Eva, a daughter, Mary, 5, and two sons, Luis, 10, and Michael, 9, of Shamrock; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Genaro Pena, Sr., of Houston, two brothers and five sisters: Danny Pena, Joe Pena, Mrs. Gladys Sanchez, Mrs. Janie Jackson, Mrs. Lillian White, Mrs. Ellenard Sanchez and Mrs. Eleanor Sanchez of Houston.

Preceding the burial here, funeral services were conducted at First Baptist Church in Shamrock, with the Rev. James Coffman, pastor, and the Rev. Larry Ortega of Munday, officiating.

UNHIGHLY EDUCATED

More than 4,000,000 adult Texans do not have a high school education.

LIQUOR IN A HOSPITAL? Yes — at Schick Hospital in Fort Worth, Texas, a new facility exclusively for the treatment of alcoholism. A nurse checks the well-stocked liquor cabinet where beverages are stored for use in the conditioned reflex aversion technique which develops within the patient a dislike for the taste, smell and sight of alcohol. Treatment period at the 42-bed, half-million-dollar facility is 10 days.

Concepcion, and he serves as its advisor. He is vitally interested in community health projects. An outstanding athlete, he has won three national championships.

In the health field, Chile and the United States have a common problem: more physicians are desperately needed.

Senor Villegas teaches history and geography at the high school level, and he is chairman of the Department of History and Geography at the Liceo de Hombres.

He spoke proudly of his city of Los Angeles, center of an agricultural area, but with meat packing plants also.

Schools are state supported, he said, and education is compulsory from 5 to 18 years. His city has a branch of the University of Concepcion.

Los Angeles, Chile, he added, is more stable than Los Angeles, Calif., has been, but Vega added that city of Concepcion has had many earthquakes in its 400-year history.

The three are graduates of the fine University of Concepcion, unique in the world in that it is financed partially by national lottery.

In talking with a group, Senor Vega used the Texas expression "you-all". His Panhandle friends laughed. His English will never be the same, he was told.

"My old headmaster, what would he think of me?" Senor Vega shook his head.

62-62, and it was Quail who added the 3 essential points in the overtime period to take the game.

Feemster led the scoring with 25 points for Quail. Ronald Carter had 20 for Norwood.

Earlier Quail defeated Allison in playoffs at Shamrock to win the round robin.

Road Clearing

From the beginning of the blizzard until Monday night, the department had five trucks mounted with snow plows and two maintainers out, the work made harder by the many times all the vehicles got stuck.

Mr. Meadows estimated that workers brought in 8 to 10 people from cars stranded south of town.

"Nobody spent the night out in a car as far as we know," he said.

Three additional maintainers were brought in Tuesday, one each from Quanah, Paducah and Matador.

By Tuesday evening, all state and federal highways were passable, although there was only one way traffic in spots.

Beginning Tuesday, US 83 began carrying Interstate 40 traffic through Wellington to Childress, where it moved up US 287 to Amarillo.

"There's lots of people on the road. It's the heaviest traffic I've ever seen on US 83," said Mr. Meadows.

Barn Burns

Early Sunday

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn on the Clarence Wilbur farm south of Wellington about midnight Sunday, Feb. 21, and about the time that sleet and snow started to fall.

The blaze was seen by Randy Motesbocker, driving on Highway 83, who drove to the farm and awakened the family. It had gained so much headway Wellington firemen could not save the building.

Of wood construction with a metal roof, the barn was approximately 20 x 30 feet in size.

Also lost in the fire were some saddles, tools, a fertilizer tank, oats, hay and miscellaneous items, Mrs. Wilbur said.

Samnorwood Peewee basketball teams split a double header with Shamrock Tuesday, Feb. 9.

Norwood boys, coached by John Thomas, won 32 to 29, with Leonardo Segura scoring 8 points for high. The Shamrock girls were victorious 25 to 18. Sandra Fowler made 10 points for Shamrock and Diana Schaub 6 for Samnorwood. John Bond coaches the Shamrock teams.

In a Feb. 16 double header with Quail, Norwood girls won 10 to 10, with Debbie Clark scoring 6 points to lead the victors and Kathy Guthrie 9 for Quail.

Supt. James Stavenhagen is coach of the Quail teams.

stalled out before he got to the Nunnelley pickup and radioed to Marshall and David Peters for a wrecker. This vehicle was stopped so completely it could not winch itself out.

Lt. Neal Gray and Tommy Lindley then took a National Guard 6-wheel truck out and added one more stalled vehicle. Marshall Peters radioed to his brother-in-law, Billy Colson, who with his pickup, and Muri Phipps in a jeep, drove down Highway 83 to where the five men waded waist-deep snow to get out. Nunnelley came out on the Army tank about 9:00 p.m.

One accident was attributed to the snow when a pickup driven by J. B. Wade and car driven by Jackie Hunt collided near Fairview Cemetery. There were no injuries.

Many individuals volunteered their time unselfishly during the blizzard, but attention has been called to two, David and Marshall Peters of South Side Salvage.

These men worked throughout Sunday, pulling out stalled vehicles and not charging a cent for their work, and through the evening bringing stranded motorists into their homes.

Drifts blocked north and south roads and highways, but east-west roads were completely choked. Attempts to clear the roads Sunday saw ruts fill again almost as soon as they were opened.

Searchers went out for others who were stranded. Two sons of Billy Waters of Aberdeen were among those located early.

Charles Carter left Childress about 7 a.m. to feed cattle west of Buck Creek and became stalled after reaching the farm. Unable to start his pickup, he walked nearly a mile to the Porter Lambert farm, which has no phone, and his safety was not known. The NG tank reached him about 1:30 a.m.

Hubert Bowen and his son, Lyndol, left Sunday morning to deliver flowers for a funeral at Dodson, unaware it had been postponed. They were located in their stranded vehicle by Deputy Sheriff Alvin Minatrea and Carroll Daves in a National Guard truck Sunday evening.

Alvin Byrd, who works for Palo Cummings, and his wife went out Sunday morning to feed cattle and became stranded. They remained at the Palo Cummings Jr. house overnight and came out on a tractor on Monday morning.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER Thursday, February 25, 1971

Cherokee Inn was filled with stranded travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Goforth reported. Two loaded cattle trucks came in. Larry Benson and Robert Brenner of Sioux Center Motor Express, Sioux City, Iowa, were told in Childress they could find barn facilities for handling both truck and cattle. There is none here. After being stalled at the sales barn and pulled out by county equipment, they chose to keep the cattle in the truck at Cherokee.

The second truck, driven by Sherman Gasker and Bill Swirl of Bell Creek Truckers, Arlington, Nebr., was en route here and the cattle were unloaded Monday.

A large family, the Herman Pettys of Abilene, were traveling in two cars to a funeral at McLean, when they became separated. The parents and younger children stopped at Cherokee, not knowing where the remainder were.

A daughter in the other car had sung in a Youth Revival at First Baptist Church, and that group went to the church and contacted Rev. Roy Collins, who directed them to Cherokee. The family was reunited. The entire group returned to Abilene Monday, taking along a young couple with a small baby who became stranded and ran short of funds.

Five cars stalled on 9th Street near the Denver Railroad. Some of these were left locked with the emergency brakes on and posed a problem when cleaning the street was begun Monday.

A truck jackknifed at the corner of 8th Street and US 83, blocking the right lane. A car then stalled to block the left lane.

Highway Department personnel removed people from four cars stranded between Wellington and the Jerry Scott farm.

Lloyd Langley reported roads blocked east of Quail and that Paul Bell and Earl Parker were stranded there for awhile.

No problems arose at St. Joseph's Hospital other than difficulty of personnel getting to work. Five who were on duty Sunday remained overnight. Sister Mary Perpetua reported.
