British Force For Rhodesia Seen Shaping

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson was expected to announce today that Britain is sending a token military force to Rhodesia's northern frontier. Qualified sources said Wilson had agreed to a request from President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia for help in protecting the Kariba hydroelectric dam on the Zambia-Rhodesia frontier. Last Friday, saboteurs blew up a tower on the power line which carries electricity from the dam to Zambia's copper belt.

Contaminated Dried Eggs Are Destroyed

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A State Health Department official said Monday the illness of a welfare recipient has led to destruction of 45 tons of federally supplied powdered eggs in Washington State as unfit for human consumption. Dr. Ernest E. Ager, head of the State Division of Epidemiology, said that after the welfare recipient became ill, a random sampling of the cans of dried eggs showed more than a third were contaminated by salmonella bacteria, which can cause a serious and sometimes fatal type of food poisoning. The eggs, purchased by the U.S. Agriculture Department from two packing plants in Iowa, one in Minnesota and one in Nebraska, were shipped to Washington for use in school lunch and welfare programs, and public institutions and hospitals, Dr. Ager said.

Red Infiltration Seen Tripled In Viet Nam

U.S. 'No Longer Losing' In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, back home from Viet Nam, said today the Communists are tripling the rate of infiltration from the North. But he also declared that "We've stopped losing the war."

GEN. EARLE WHEELER

McNamara said he believes there are now nine North Viet Nam regular regiments in South Viet Nam. He said the rate of infiltration from the North had been about 1,500 a month during the recent rainy season, but the rate during the dry season is expected to be 4,500 a month. McNamara said the Communists had been defeated in their effort to cut South Viet Nam in two, and their casualty rate had risen 100 per cent over what it was a year ago. But he said the enemy was "very substantially raising the level of infiltration."

Cold Blast Penetrates Into South

A late-autumn cold snapped the midcontinent today and sent a sharp chill deep into the Southland.

The mercury fell below zero in the Dakotas and Minnesota and into the teens as far south as Alabama and Virginia.

The wintry temperatures maintained a heavy snow cover which blanketed portions of the Northeast during the weekend. Flurries continued from the Great Lakes region to the Appalachians and more snow fell along the eastern shores of the lower lakes.

Snow squalls earlier had dumped two feet of snow at Conneaut, Ohio, and heavy snow was reported in much of northeastern Ohio and northwestern Pennsylvania. In New York State, a foot of snow was on the ground in western areas and 16 inches in the north-central region.

The Weather Bureau issued warnings of a hard freeze to night in Arkansas, northern Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Readings early today ranged down to 17 degrees at Richmond, Va., 19 at Birmingham, Ala., 22 at Jacksonville, in northern Florida, and 24 in Atlanta. Roseau, Minn., reported 10 below zero and it was 7 below at Bemidji, Minn., and Aberdeen, S.D.

Light rain fell during the night and early morning in western Washington and parts of Florida. Gale warnings were posted for the Northwest coast as a new Pacific storm approached the region.

Haney, Jane Murphy Get 4-H Gold Stars

By SAM BLACKBURN Robert Haney, Vincent, and Jane Murphy, Luther, are Howard County's Gold Star boy and girl for 1965. They were presented with their awards at the annual 4-H Club Achievement dinner Monday night in the Howard County Junior College student union.

ROBERT HANEY . . . Gold Star Boy

JANE MURPHY . . . Gold Star Girl

Seventy-two other awards, to three score boys and girls of the county 4-H organization, were also distributed at the dinner.

HIGHEST AWARD The Gold Star Award is the highest honor a boy or girl in the 4-H Club movement can receive at county level. Haney is 16. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haney and is a junior in Coahoma High School. He is a member of the Vincent 4-H Club. He has been in 4-H Club work for six years and president of his own club for two years. He served as vice president of the Howard County 4-H Club Council in 1964 and presently is secretary of that group. He was a junior rodeo director in 1964. He has fed and shown in livestock projects—swine, one year; lambs, three years; steers, five years; and quarterhorses, five years.

He has won numerous showmanship awards. He showed the reserve champion steer at the 1965 Howard County steer show. His greatest achievement was the 1962 grand champion junior quarterhorse at the Odessa show and the reserve grand champion junior quarterhorse at the 1964 San Angelo show.

Jane Murphy is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Murphy of the Luther community, and has been in 4-H Club work nine years. She is a junior in Big Spring High School. She is the president of the Gay Hill 4-H Club, and, as president of her club, represents it on the county 4-H council. Her parents have served as organization leaders for the Gay Hill club.

PROJECTS She has carried projects in clothing, food, nutrition, money management, garden, sheep, home improvement and junior leadership. She also attended electric camp and leadership camp.

The two Gold Star winners received their awards from State Rep. Roger Brown. The banquet was attended by 300 club members, their parents, friends and special guests. It was served by the 4-H Club adult leaders.

Guest speaker for the evening was Paul Gentry, Lamesa, a 4-H Club leader in Dawson County 10 years. He was introduced by Lawrence Long, Howard County 4-H Club council president. Long was toastmaster for the evening. Presentation of the awards was made by Mrs. Catherine Crawford, home demonstration agent, and Don Brandenberger, assistant county agent. Herb Helbig, county farm agent, told the group the objective of the achievement day banquet. He also introduced the special guests of the evening and expressed his appreciation to these persons for the help they have given the 4-H Club movement in this county.

ROBBIE BROWN Robbie Brown, county club member who won state honors in clothing, was not present to receive a special certificate of recognition as a mark of her state victory. She is in Chicago attending the National 4-H Club roundup. Her mother, Mrs. Robert Brown, accepted the award for her daughter.

James Haston, who won first place in state 4-H Club competition in electricity, was presented with a special citation for his accomplishment. A special event of the evening was the presentation of a certificate of appreciation to the Joe Mac Gaskins family. This certificate is from the Extension Service and from the National 4-H Club Foundation. The family was honored for serving as host to Fumiko Hasegawa, Japanese exchange club member, earlier this year.

Huge South Viet, U.S. Buildup Due

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong returned to the attack today after a brief lull in heavy ground fighting during Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's latest inspection of the war zone. Another major buildup of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces seemed certain in the wake of McNamara's visit. He left for Guam Monday night with a warning that Communist North Viet Nam had clearly decided to escalate the conflict. He forecast a long war.

CARRIER ARRIVES Within hours of McNamara's departure, the $5,000-ton nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise left the Philippines to join units of the U.S. 7th Fleet operating against the Communists in Viet Nam. The "Big E," the world's largest carrier, was escorted on her first combat mission by the guided missile frigate Bainbridge, also nuclear-powered. In South Viet Nam's central

Informant To Testify In Klansmen's Trial

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Top government attorneys — trying to prove conspiracy in the shooting of Viola Gregg Liuzzo — were expected to bring an FBI informant into court today. Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar of the Justice Department's civil rights division declined to say definitely, however, whether he would call Gary Thomas Rowe Jr. He did indicate Rowe, a paid FBI informer for five years, would testify in the trial of three Ku Klux Klansmen. The Klansmen went on trial Monday on charges of violating the civil rights of Mrs. Liuzzo, a white Detroit housewife, who was shot to death March 25. Mrs. Liuzzo, mother of five,

Airmobile, Division McNamara visited the American encampment Monday. The fight took place along the Mang River, about 200 miles northeast of Saigon. A government company went to the rescue of the beleaguered militia men, radioed it had taken moderate casualties, and then went off the air, U.S. spokesmen said. No American troops took part.

CAMP ATTACKED About 200 guerrillas attacked a Vietnamese special forces camp and a nearby militia post. However, in the bitter fighting northwest of Saigon on Saturday, the Viet Cong machine-gunned a number of Vietnamese troops who tried to surrender. The air war continued over the skies of North and South Viet Nam. U.S. spokesmen said Air Force and Navy jets battered bridges, highways and suspected troop concentrations in the Communist north, while two air wings flew 399 attacks against suspected Viet Cong targets in the south. More than 200 structures, including fortifications, were destroyed within South Viet Nam, the spokesmen reported.

The Klansmen on trial are Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala., and Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala. They are defended by former Mayor Art Hanes of Birmingham.

The trio was indicted on state murder charges in addition to the federal charge. Only Wilkins has been tried in state court, however, and he was acquitted by an all-white jury at nearby Hayneville. Eaton and Thomas are scheduled to be tried on the murder indictments next spring.

One-Stop Federal Job Centers Set

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson approved today a one-stop plan for government job seekers which he said would make it easier to attract capable people. When it is in full effect, interested citizens won't have to go from agency to agency to learn about federal job opportunities, but will be able to get all the information in one place. 55 CENTERS Information centers will be set up in 55 major centers, acting for the entire federal government. They will replace 684 boards of examiners, each acting for only one department or agency. Some cities now have as many as 30 or 40 of these boards. Sudan's Army Battles Rebels

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Three quarters of Sudan's army is locked in a violent struggle with terroristic rebels who call themselves Anyanas, after a lethal jungle insect.

The rebels, like the insects, stir fear throughout Sudan's great southern rain forests near the Congo and Uganda frontiers.

There, in three provinces inhabited entirely by Africans, the Sudanese army has sought for 10 years to stamp out the Anyanas, mutineers who sprang up after a century of colonial rule.

REPLACED BRITONS

British officials once administered the predominantly Christian provinces of Equatoria, Upper Nile and Bar Al Gazal in the South Sudan. With independence in 1955, Arab governors from the Moslem north replaced the Britons.

"The two peoples never had a chance to know each other under British rule," a Khartoum government spokesman commented. "The British governed the North and South Sudan separately. They would not allow northerners to go south to live because, as they put it, they didn't want the south to be exploited by northern Arabs."

The British acknowledge these two Sudanese peoples became split so that the country developed as two units. One was Moslem, the other largely Christian.

To avoid Arab domination, southerners sought a federal system in Sudan after the British pulled out. The central government in Khartoum approved in principle but never has moved to put such a system into effect.

As a result, southerners rebelled against the Arabs in a mutiny put down by the Sudanese army in 1956. It has been fighting to keep it down ever since.

The Anyanas today are reported stronger and better organized than ever. The Sudanese army, according to reliable informants, follows the trail of blood in the south only along main highways and in large towns.

Space Chase, New Suits Next Step Toward Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The next U.S. step toward the moon features a cast of four astronauts, two of them flying in their underwear, and a 103,000-mile orbital pursuit, with one spacecraft chasing and catching the other for a formation flight at over 17,000 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, back on earth, one of the astronaut's wives may have a baby.

All of this is tentatively planned for two weeks before Christmas.

At the end of it, the United States could have an even wider lead in space records, may have proved the complex techniques that it hopes will carry three Americans to the moon by 1970—and may have broadcast the first cries of a newborn to a father orbiting in space.

By best measure, the United States and the Soviet Union are nearly neck and neck in the eight-year old race to the moon.

BIGGEST ROCKETS

The Soviets still have the biggest operational rockets—giants that push into space with 1.4 million pounds of thrust, compared to only 530,000 pounds of thrust for the Titan rocket that puts U.S. Gemini astronauts into orbit.

Yet, despite its smaller boosters the United States has grabbed every major space record it has.

—The world's most traveled spaceman, Lt. Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. who has two flights totaling some 225 hours in orbit.

—The most man-hours in space, 642 to the Soviet cosmonaut total of 507. The longest single flight—two men in orbit aboard Gemini 5 for nearly eight days. The most flights, nine, compared to eight for the Soviets.

The records testify to the pace of the U.S. program. The Gemini 7 flight, scheduled now for Dec. 4, will extend some 14 days, give two men a new record of space endurance. At the same time, Gemini 6 will be launched to chase down the Gemini 7 spacecraft. Inside the Gemini 7, two astronauts will have stripped down to their long underwear to prove that space travel can be comfortable, and show a faith in the integrity of their spacecraft's atmosphere.

STILL UNMATCHED

But the Soviets are orbiting larger spacecraft. None of the manned U.S. spaceships has

Skirts Must 'Measure Up' At High School

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Girls in a San Antonio high school must "measure up" to certain standards or be sent home, a high school principal has decreed.

Homer Smith, principal at Marshall High School, said Monday that all girls whose skirts fail to reach the proper length will be sent home.

To determine the proper length, Smith will require each girl to kneel. If the skirt hem reaches the floor, it will be considered proper. If it doesn't, she will be sent home.

Smith said a male teacher complained that short skirts were causing distraction in classes.

Also banned at the school are hairdos with bangs.

Students boycotted the school cafeteria for two days after Smith's bangs' edict but business was reported near normal again.

matched the craft the Soviets have launched for weight, or roominess. It could take only one Soviet effort of long duration to wipe all of the U.S. records off the slate.

In early 1967, the United States hopes to have its Saturn IB booster—with 1.5 million pounds of thrust—ready to hoist men into space for the training of three-man Apollo crews.

Until then, and possibly for some time thereafter, the Soviets will have a clear lead in rocket power.

So, who's ahead? Obviously there is no simple answer.

White House space expert, Charles S. Sheldon II, drew this comparison recently between the two countries: The United States puts up more than twice as many spacecraft as the Soviet Union, "but continues to fall behind each year in the weight of the payload orbited."

Answering who is ahead in the space race is not as meaningful, Sheldon said, as considering the goals of each program.

EXAMPLES AHEAD

This, of course, goes beyond records alone. The upcoming flights of Gemini 6 and 7 are examples. Gemini 7, with Frank Borman and James A. Lovell aboard, is a long-planned attempt to subject men to 14 days of weightlessness. If there are no serious medical problems, doctors feel assured they can commit humans to moon missions of the same length.

The Gemini 6 mission, with Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford, was planned to chase down a target satellite in the sky, and to dock with it—the first time such a maneuver had been done. The target satellite failed to orbit—and it looked like the failure could delay the test of rendezvous and docking in space.

The maneuvers are essential to U.S. plans for the moon trip. In that flight, a mothership will go into orbit around the moon, discharge a small space cab to take two men to the moon's surface. To get back home, those first lunar explorers will have to pursue and link up with the mothership in lunar orbit.

NEW SPACESUITS

Less concerned with the problem of docking, U.S. officials have decided not to wait to test the rendezvous procedure which is critical. That is why Schirra and Stafford will chase down the Gemini 7, then fly in formation with their sisterships. In Gemini 7, Borman and Lovell will test out new spacesuits and see whether man can disrobe and dress again in the cramped cockpit.

The fact that Lovell's wife is due to have a baby in mid-December is not part of the program, but it does testify to its urgency.

In the eight years since Sputnik I, the United States has done much more than the Soviet Union to exploit the arena of space for the benefit of earthlings.

Communications satellites ring the earth providing instant, transoceanic television. Weather satellites keep careful eyes on the churning clouds of the earth, on watch for hurricanes and typhoons. There are navigational satellites planned and dozens of unmanned scientific laboratories already orbited. Since Sputnik I, the United States has orbited more than 300 satellites, compared to 150 for the Soviet Union.

Man-made fiber consumption is expected, it said, to reach a record high of more than 41 per cent.

The department said sharper reductions in prices of man-made fibers have contributed heavily to their increased use.

Illinois Steer Grand Champ

CHICAGO (AP)—"Someday," a 1,650-pound Aberdeen-Angus owned by a 17-year-old Illinois farm boy, was named grand champion steer Monday at the International Livestock Exposition.

A slap on the rump from the chief steer judge, Prof. Herman Purdy of Pennsylvania State University, proclaimed the summer yearling calf winner of the top award. Owner John Reel, a high school senior from Congerville, yelled: "It's great, it's great."

The reserve grand champion steer was a Shorthorn, Paisley, owned by Mrs. Shirley Miller, 30, of Osceola, Iowa.

"I didn't think I had a chance," Reel told newsmen. He bought the steer for $260 at the McLean County Fair last August with financial help from his father Merle and brother Leslie, 26.

Investments In Philately Stir Warning

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Stamp collecting, a favorite hobby, has developed into a "miniature stock market" in West Germany.

That is the description of a Frankfurt expert who warns of an impending "crash" for thousands of investors.

Some stamps have increased in value up to 60,000 per cent within a few years, says Arnold Ebel, a man who has been in the business for 45 years.

Ebel, who recently held a $750,000 stamp auction here, says short-term speculators with considerable stockpiles soon will try to cash their profits, and the market will not be able to stand it.

DANGEROUS BRACKET
"Part of the postwar issue is in a very dangerous price bracket," he comments. He predicts that postage stamps issued in the last five years will be first hit in the crash, as speculators have been buying up new issues by the sheet since 1960.

The situation has been aggravated by stamp firms that advertise philately as a worthwhile capital investment and "a hobby that relaxes and brings in big profits," he says.

Ebel says children who take up stamp-collecting are more interested in the profits they can make than in the fascination of the stamps themselves. Trading of stamps is a regular business at schools throughout West Germany.

The children — and probably a good number of adults — are under some illusions as to the real value of stamps, says Ebel. For dealers are not always interested in increasing their stocks at the market prices, unless the stamps have a particular worth.

Ebel maintains that the predicted crash will hit postwar European issues as well as other stamps that happen to be in fashion.

SAFER INVESTMENT
Stamps from less "fashionable" countries, especially old overseas dominions, are a safer investment in his view.

He estimates that millions of West Germans dabble in the philately business, but only a small percentage are genuine "collectors," with specialized knowledge and the necessary finance to support them.

Stamps are always a good investment for people who study the market cautiously, and genuine collectors have nothing to fear from falling prices, Ebel says.

But to people who invest their savings in stamps in preference to normal stocks and shares, Ebel issues a warning:

"There is simply no room for short-term speculation."

Hagler Will Be Extradited

HONOLULU (AP) — David Hagler Jr., 47, of Dallas must go back to Texas for trial on two charges of forgery, the Hawaii Supreme Court held Monday.

He had been free under $100 bond pending the ruling on his appeal of an extradition order. Texas authorities will come here to return him, state officials said.

Defense lawyer Joseph Ryan filed the appeal, contending that Hagler was removed by force from Australia in disregard of the 1931 treaty of extradition between the United States and Australia.

The court rejected Ryan's legal citations as not applying in the Hagler case.

Hagler was arrested last September and brought here by an Australian policeman. He was turned over to FBI agents, who arrested him on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

This charge was dismissed in federal court, and police immediately arrested him for extradition proceedings.

Leaves Set In Job Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Job Corps expects about 80 per cent of its 16,000 members to spend this Christmas at home, with the government paying round-trip travel expenses.

A corps official said all corpsmen are entitled to transportation-paid home leave after six months service, and that this period will coincide with the holiday season for about half the membership.

Members with less than the required length of service have been offered advanced home leave over the holiday season, the official said, with the understanding that they will forego the time off after six months duty.

Two Inmates Get Requested Federal Terms

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Two state prison inmates have been given federal prison terms, as they asked, for threatening the life of the President and mailing obscene material.

Arthur Phillips, 26, of Revere, Mass., and Lamont Raney, 23, of Murray, a Salt Lake suburb, were sentenced Monday by U.S. Dist. Judge Sherman Christensen.

Phillips, who was serving a five-to-life term for robbery, and Raney, serving two other sentences of up to 20 years for bad checks and forgery, testified at their trial they wrote an obscene letter to the U.S. attorney general's office.

The letter, written July 7, threatened President Johnson and Lady Bird Johnson, and to kidnap their daughter Luci.

The inmates said they wrote the letter in order to draw a federal sentence and be removed from the Utah prison.

Judge Christensen informed them "it doesn't work that way." He sentenced Phillips to five years in federal prison and Raney to three years — to start after their release from the Utah penitentiary.

Americas To End Confab

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The conference of 19 American republics ends today after laying the groundwork for a sweeping overhaul of the inter-American system.

Chief U.S. delegate W. Averell Harriman said the meeting was "of historical significance." He said its most significant action was a proposal to incorporate into the charter of the Organization of American States the social and economic principles of the Alliance for Progress.

APPROVES ACT
The conference early today approved by acclamation an "Economic and Social Act of Rio de Janeiro" containing a series of proposed amendments to the OAS charter. It is a companion to political recommendations approved Sunday.

Both will be submitted to another conference in Buenos Aires next July for incorporation into the OAS charter.

The act states that "it is essential to incorporate into the economic and social field of the inter-American system, as juridically binding, principles of mutual security, solidarity, cooperation and assistance."

The act provides a blueprint for a great society for Latin America.

COMMON MARKET
It calls for more equitable distribution and better use of land, better cities, stable prices and an end to inflation, fair prices and access to markets for exporters, reduction in barriers to trade, and economic integration of the hemisphere with a Latin-American common market as the goal.

For the first time the more-developed nations of the hemisphere will have a binding obligation to aid their less-advanced neighbors.

The act also calls on all OAS members to refrain from carrying out any economic policy likely to affect another member adversely.

The act urges joint action to beat down barriers against Latin-American products abroad.

Lawyer's Trial Due

HOUSTON (AP)—Selection of a jury was scheduled today in the case of a lawyer accused of selling faked Masonic lodge memberships.

Five defense motions seeking to delay the trial of Chester Divine were overruled Monday. Divine reportedly scuffled with a television newsman in a courtroom hall after proceedings were adjourned for the day.

He was indicted with Neal Hillard, grand master of the King Solomon Lodge, on charges of selling bogus memberships to persons who were led to believe they would be admitted to Masonic orders.

Hillard was convicted and sentenced to 10 years on another felony charge and the prosecutor dropped the membership sales charge against him.

Surgery Scheduled For Mrs. Goldwater

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Peggy Goldwater, wife of former Sen. Barry Goldwater, was scheduled to undergo surgery today for removal of a tumor.

Norther Dips Deeper In Texas Areas

By The Associated Press
Some of the chilliest weather so far this fall spread deep into Texas early today.

Skies were generally clear and no more than a few clouds were expected to form in any section.

Before daylight it was freezing as far south as San Antonio, where the mercury slid down to 30 degrees. Among lower readings farther north at the same hour were Dalhart 22, Amarillo 29, Lubbock 30, Wichita Falls 31 and Fort Worth 32.

The early morning marks contrasted with Monday's highs ranging from 55 at Amarillo and El Paso up to 72 at Galveston.

A slow warming was predicted for all sections of the state. Temperatures were expected to hold at least a few degrees above freezing in most sections overnight.

Dear Abby

Note To Parents

DEAR ABBY: Every time I see a letter in your column from a mother grieving because some nasty boy got her "innocent" little daughter in trouble, my blood pressure rises. My 16-year-old son is dating steady (and I DO mean steady) a 15-year-old girl. He practically lives at her house. We've tried to impress upon him the pitfalls of too much familiarity. But about the time we get the message across to him, and he breaks away from her for an evening, the girl's mother invites him to dinner or for a day-long outing. The girl is available any time of night or day on a moment's notice. She seems to have no restrictions. They go to school together, eat lunch together, come home together, and if they don't spend the evening together, they're on the phone talking. When they're here, they're constantly holding hands, scuffling or necking. I assume they behave the same way at her house. Perhaps this girl's mother doesn't know what she is doing. Your publishing this letter might wake her up.

ONE BOY'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: In the absence of restrictions from the girl's parents, YOU should set up a few. I'll publish your letter not only to awaken that girl's mother, but to awaken countless other parents who need it.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a hostess who asks, "Would you like a cold drink, a sandwich, coffee or something?" Then she sits on her bottom without making a motion toward the kitchen? Shouldn't a hostess place the refreshments in front of her guests without any hemming and hawing? I know that 99 out of 100 people would really like to have something, but when it is put to them like this they say, "No, thank you, don't go to any bother."

OFTEN A GUEST
DEAR ABBY: The hostess who "offers" refreshments in such a half-hearted gesture is hoping she'll be turned down because she's too lazy to move. Yes, the hostess who sincerely wants to serve her guests doesn't "inquire"—she acts.

DEAR ABBY: We have to do a "career book" for school and my chosen career is modeling. (Fashion modeling.) I have always wanted to be a model, Abby, and I don't think that is anything to be ashamed of. People snicker when I say I want to be a professional model as though modeling were not much of a profession. Some have even hinted that it isn't very respectable. Others say there is no future in it. I have been told I have the figure for it. I am 5 feet 8 inches tall and weigh 112. I am 17 years old and have done some amateur modeling, and people in the fashion business have told me I am good. Will you please tell me the truth about modeling?

WANTS TO MODEL
DEAR ABBY: Modeling is a respectable profession. (It's the "part-time" models with side-lanes that give it a bad name.) And as for the future: Grace Kelly, who married the Prince of Monaco, was a model. Does that answer your question?

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Irish Drop To Tenth In AP Football Poll

Ten days ago Notre Dame battled Michigan State in what would have been the game for the national college football championship. Today, a lot of fight having gone out of the Irish, Notre Dame finds itself barely a member of the Associated Press' Top Ten.

Because of a scoreless tie with Miami, Fla., the Irish tum-bled from sixth place last week to ninth in this week's balloting. The final poll will be taken following the post-season bowl games in which eight of the current Top Ten play.

Notre Dame was fourth before the game with No. 1 Michigan State Nov. 20 but fell to sixth following the 12-3 loss. This week the Irish received 79 points, just 22 ahead of 10th ranked Texas Tech.

Besides the Irish, the only other Top Ten team not headed for a bowl game is eighth-ranked Southern California.

Michigan State, which closed its regular season against Notre Dame, accumulated 35 of 46 first-place votes and a total of 348 points.

Arkansas drew 10 votes for first and 398 points while Nebraska, unbeaten like Michigan State and Arkansas, compiled 348 points.

The bowl game picture shows No. 1 Michigan State and No. 2 UCLA in the Rose Bowl, No. 3 Arkansas and unranked Louisiana State in the Cotton, No. 3 Nebraska and No. 4 Alabama in the Orange, No. 6 Missouri and unranked Florida in the Sugar, No. 7 Tennessee and Tulsa in the Bluebonnet and No. 10 Texas Tech and Georgia Tech in the Gator.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points on a 10-9-8, etc. basis:

- 1. Mich. State (35) ... 10 0 0 446
- 2. Arkansas (10) ... 10 0 0 398
- 3. Nebraska ... 10 0 0 348
- 4. Alabama (1) ... 8 1 1 286
- 5. UCLA ... 7 1 1 255
- 6. Missouri ... 7 2 1 186
- 7. Tennessee ... 6 1 2 109
- 8. Southern Calif. ... 7 2 1 91
- 9. Notre Dame ... 7 2 1 78
- 10. Texas Tech ... 8 2 0 56

Yearlings Win Over Lamesans

Runnels Junior High started its season seasonationally against Lamesa here Monday night, bombing the opposition, 70-55.

The Yearlings didn't throw up much of a defense, but didn't have to.

Claud Tucker led the Yearlings in scoring with 32 points while Johnny Patton followed with 28.

The Runnels team opposes San Angelo Lee there Thursday evening.

Big Spring High School's C team caught fire in the last half to defeat Goliad's ninth graders, 50-25, here Monday night.

Greg Willis spurred the Short-horns with 13 points while Ford Farris and Bill Henry each had nine for the losers.

Goliad, now 0-2 on the season, hit 43 per cent of its shots from the floor the first half but only 16 per cent after the intermission.

Goliad defeated Coahoma in two other games unrec'd. The eighth graders prevailed, 45-22, after the seventh graders had finished in front, 28-11.

Tommy Ryan had 17 points for Goliad's eighth, now 2-0 for the season. The seventh graders, making their first start, were led by Randy Womack, who counted 13 points.

Goliad's eighth and ninth graders go to San Angelo Thursday to play Edison.

GOLIAD 7th (28)—McLaughlin 8-31; Pink 0-11; Price 0-11; Cederberg 2-0-4; Duvon 0-0-0; Johnson 1-0-1; Womack 6-11; Proffitt 1-0-2; Vasquez 2-0-4. Total 49-22.

Score by quarters: 16-29 34-45. Goliad 6-12 17-22. Coahoma 10-17 22-34.

Pro Circuits In Skirmish Over Iowan

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Professional football's signing war had its first post-draft skirmish today with defensive end Dave Long of Iowa the key figure.

Both the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League and the Houston Oilers of the American League claimed to have Long's signature on contracts.

Long was drafted in the third round of Saturday's NFL draft by St. Louis and in the sixth round of the AFL draft by Houston.

But the dispute seemed destined to end before it really started. Houston owner Bud Adams, who said he had signed Long Friday night, was reported to letting him go to the Cardinals.

"He signed, as I remember it, Friday evening," Adams said. "We made a mistake by not having him sign again the next day. We sent our man out on other chores when we should have had him stick around and get that second signature."

The Houston owner said every pro team uses the double signing. Clubs don't want to waste a high draft choice on a boy unless they have him nailed, preferably on the dotted line, Adams said.

The loss of Long seemed to make Adams even more determined to snare his No. 1 draft choice, Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis, who could be the Joe Namath in dollars and cents of this year's crop of draftees.

The New York Jets reportedly paid Namath $400,000 last year and Adams said he was ready to go past that figure to get Nobis in an Oiler uniform.

Nobis was the first player tabbed in the NFL draft when the Atlanta Falcons named him. The husky longhorn linebaker spent Monday touring Atlanta with Falcon owner Rankin Smith and presumably listening to the new franchise's offer.

Meanwhile, the Falcons jumped into the lead in the battle of the bankroll with nine players signed. Smith added three signatures Monday, getting backs Ken Reeves of Norfolk State and Willie Asbury of Kent State, both fourth-round picks, and fullback Bill Johnson of the University of the South, a seventh-round selection.

In the American League, Boston signed four players including its first and second choices, Karl Singer of Purdue and Jim Boudreau of Louisiana Tech, first went to Syracuse, 7-3.

Hawks To Oppose TWC Here At 8

Howard County Junior College, fresh from a third place finish in the Garden City, Kan., tournament, will seek its fourth victory in five starts here at 8 o'clock tonight against the Texas Western College freshmen.

The job won't be easy. The TWC club beat the Hawks twice last year and are supposed to be loaded again this season.

This will be the first start of the season for the Ore Diggers, who are coached by Moe Iba, son of the famed Oklahoma State University mentor, Hank Iba.

Moe is in his fourth season as the TWC coach. He doubles as a scout for the El Paso-based club. His 1964-65 team wired together an 18-2 won-lost record and both defeats were by one point.

Young Iba has been described by his superior, Don Haskins, as "the finest young coach in the nation." He has a good, quick mind and a rich background in basketball.

During his three seasons at Oklahoma State, Iba was considered the best outside gunner in the Big Eight Conference.

Among the players young Hank will use here are John Kenny, 5-10, an El Paso product; Richard Crockett, 6-7, also of El Paso; Gary Crowell, 6-4, Lancaster, Ohio; Mike Echols, 6-2, Amarillo; Phil Harris, 6-10, Rensselaer, N. Y.; and Steve McRay, 6-3, El Paso.

This will be the final home game for the Jayhawks until Dec. 16, at "hic" time they host NMMI in a Western Conference game.

Thus far, HCJC has beaten Cisco, 104-92; Highland, Kan., 67-65; and Sterling, Colo., 69-65; and lost to Dallas Baptist, 78-62; Henry Willis, freshman from

MOE IBA

BARRY HUGHEY

Levelland, leads the Hawks in scoring with 72 points while Kurt Papp had scored 70 and Charles Vass 57.

In their four starts to date, Buddy Travis' boys have averaged 75.5 points a game to an even 75 for the opposition.

Probable starters for the Hawks tonight include Willis, Papp, Vass, Barry Hughey and Larry Morris.

Hawks Picked 2nd In WC But First In Region V

Howard County Junior College is picked to finish second to South Plains College of Levelland in the Western Conference race but first in the Region V race by coaches within the area.

The poll was conducted by Dal Martin Herring of HCJC, statistician for Region V. In the poll, the coaches were permitted to exclude their own teams in their balloting.

Results of the survey: WESTERN CONFERENCE

- 1. South Plains College (Levelland)

Raiders Lead In Statistics

DALLAS (AP)—Donny Anderson and Tom Wilson of Texas Tech and Bobby Burnett of Arkansas won the major statistical championships of Southwest Conference football in a year that produced records galore.

Anderson grabbed all the scoring and kickoff returns in passing and tied with Eddie McLean of Texas A&M for the lead in yards receiving.

Burnett carried 232 times for 947 yards to top the rushers. His 232 carries was a new record by four and he became the fourth best yardage gainer for a single season.

Anderson, who ran for 1001 yards last year, was second to Burnett this season, rushing 169 times for 705 yards.

Anderson scored 102 points and his 17 touchdowns were the greatest number made by a player since Jim Swink of Texas Christian scored 20 in 1955.

Wilson led in total offense with a massive 2050 yards on 328 plays and topped in passing with 172 completions of 283 for 2119 yards and 18 touchdowns.

McLean caught 13 passes for 250 yards in the game with Texas as Thanksgiving Day. This was a record for a single contest.

Phil Scoggin of Texas A&M won the punting championship with an average of 43.6 yards. David Conway of Texas was second with 43.3. Scoggin's 88 punts bettered the conference record by one.

Jack Brasuell of Arkansas led the punt returners with 285 yards on 21 runs. John Richards of Texas Christian, Garry Moore of Texas and Eddie Whiddon of Baylor tied for the lead in pass interceptions with five each.

Indians Named Finest In East

NEW YORK (AP)— Dartmouth is the 1965 winner of the Lambert Trophy.

Dartmouth's selection as Lambert winner designates the Indians as the East's top major college football team.

The Indians, who finished with a perfect 9-0 record and a 28-14 triumph over Princeton in their showdown for the Ivy League title, got 11 first-place votes and one second. The other first went to Syracuse, 7-3.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: GEORGE ALLEN, defensive coach for the Chicago Bears: "The best defense against Fran Taranton (Minnesota Viking quarterback) is to hire four cowboys and give each one a rope."

ROCKY MARCIANO, former heavyweight boxing champion: "I would liked to have fought Cassius Clay. I think, for all his natural ability, he can make mistakes. But you can't beat him in the center of the ring. I was lucky that I had a funny style and a good overhand right. I know I'd hit him, because he keeps his hands down low and leaves an opening. I thought that if Floyd Patterson hurt him, Clay might not recover too quickly, because he isn't that much of a professional fighter, yet, who does the instinctive thing."

JOHN BRODIE, quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers on who he waited until the final six seconds of the game to call for the field goal try that beat the Los Angeles Rams recently: "I've seen too many games lost in this league with only one play left. I wanted to make sure the Rams didn't have a chance to come back."

GENE STALLINGS, Texas A&M coach: "When I was playing, a 220-pound man was a big man. Now a lot of folks have fullbacks that big. I remember Jack Pardee weighed 212 pounds. I thought he was extra big. I didn't think anybody had folks that big."

TOM PROTHRO, head coach at UCLA, when asked where he had come up with his new pre-play, the variations on the "I" formation and other fancy maneuvers: "When you take from one coach, it's called stealing. When you take from many coaches, it's called research."

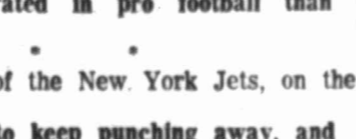

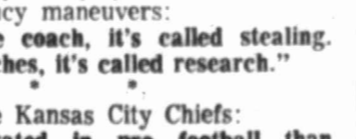

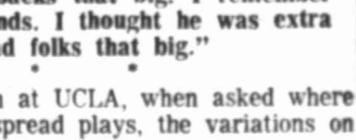

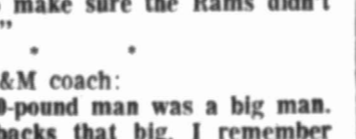

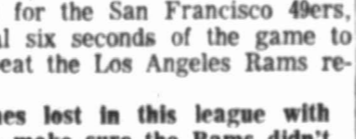

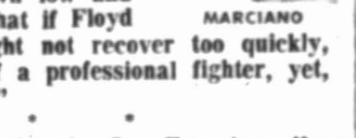

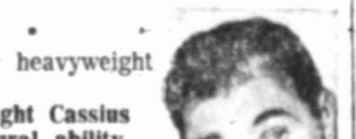

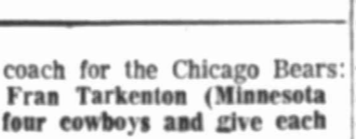

LAMAR HUNT, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs: "Nothing is more over-rated in pro football than scouts."

SONNY WERBLIN, owner of the New York Jets, on the upcoming draft: "We owe it to the fans to keep punching away, and we're prepared to spend another $1 million. Besides, we can do it better now that we're drawing big crowds at home."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlanta columnist: "Am I not correct when I repeat that Jerry Burns of Iowa was Playboy Magazine's choice for 'Coach of the Year'?" I wonder if they meant for coaching."

HERB CAEN, San Francisco columnist: "Horace Stoneham hopes to start the Giants' Sunday doubleheaders next season at 10:30 a.m.—and he will if the churches don't raise a fuss."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS: "George Lindsey, who plays 'Goober' on the Andy Griffith TV show, attended Florence State College in Alabama on a football scholarship. He was a blocking back. He roomed with a tall end who later did some pass catching for the Chicago Bears. Fellow named Harlon Hill."

All-Star Unit Has Goliaths

NEW YORK (AP)—Formerly, football fanatics glued their uninterrupted gaze on the ball carrier and paid no attention to the defense.

All that has changed in the past decade and if the 1965 Associated Press Little All-American team could be assembled for an All-Star fray, two jovial behemoths on defense would be as much of an attraction as any fancy-stepping halfback.

They are Frank Cornish, a 285-pound tackle from Grambling, and Willie Lanier of Morgan State, a junior linebaker who has never played in a losing game as a collegian. Every time Morgan State has lost in the past three years came with Lanier on the bench because of injuries.

For sheer bulk, Cornish is the biggest man on the 22-player offensive-defense squad picked by The Associated Press in conjunction with football experts throughout the country. His poundage is stretched over a steel-hard frame that towers 6-7 feet.

Lanier is 6-1 and weighs 230 pounds. He is a speedster who has averaged 12 unassisted tackles a game and scored two touchdowns this season, once via a recovered fumble and the other following an interception.

Coach Earl Banks says Lanier is the best football player at Morgan State since the days of Roosevelt Brown, a National League standout for more than a decade.

Cornish's presence on the defense platoon and Willie Young's on the offensive forward wall makes Grambling the only college to place two men on the first team.

The first team on offense lists a trio of repeaters from the All-Star team of a year ago in Tom Mitchell of Bucknell at end, Dan Summers of Arkansas State at guard and Randy Schultz of the State College of Iowa at fullback.

ON MARK TWAIN'S ANNIVERSARY

Do You Remember Huckleberry Finn?

(Today, Nov. 30, marks the 120th anniversary of the birth of Samuel L. Clemens, better known as Mark Twain. One of his great classics, of course, is the story of Huckleberry Finn. A contributor, Mrs. Lois Davis, has submitted a whimsical piece about the young character of American fiction. How would you remember Huck? —Editor's Note.)

BY LOIS FITZPATRICK DAVIS

Ten years after Huckleberry Finn became famous as the hero of a book by Mark Twain, a free lance writer visited St. Petersburg, Huck Finn's home town, and interviewed some of the people who had known him personally. A copy of this previously unpublished report was recently discovered by the Missouri Historical Society among the private papers of Rebecca Thatcher Sawyer. The question asked by that anonymous interviewer was, "Do you remember Huckleberry Finn?"

HOMER SNOODGRASS

—SCHOOL TEACHER

"Let me think a moment. I've taught so many boys, you know that it's difficult to remember any particular one — but yes, I do remember Master Finn. I guess you always remember the ones that give you the most trouble. When he first came to school, I thought 'Huckleberry' was a nickname, and so I asked him to give me his real name. He looked puzzled for a minute, and then said he didn't have any other name but he could call him John or Henry or Matthew if it would make me feel better. Naturally I thought he was being impertinent and made him sit with the first graders the rest of the morning. He didn't come back to school that afternoon. As a matter of fact, he was absent more than he was present and finally dropped out altogether. Not that he was stupid. He just couldn't seem to keep his mind in the classroom. The only subject Huckleberry ever showed a genuine interest in was history, and he loved to hear about the Vikings, the early English explorers and Captain John Smith. As I recall he admired nearly all the great heroic figures except Christopher Columbus. That odd aversion nearly caused a fist fight between him and Tom Sawyer because Tom thought Columbus a very brave fellow and Huckleberry thought him a fool. Said no one with good sense would start out not knowing where he was going, and when he got there not know where he'd been, and do it all on borrowed money.

Speaking out of turn in class was not Huckleberry's most offensive habit. He also brought his pipe to school and during recess would pass it around for some of the other boys to take a puff. Needless to say, I soon had several irate parents complaining about his bad influence and you couldn't blame them. Huckleberry's tobacco was appreciably stronger than the corn silk most of the boys smoked at home behind the barn. Whenever I caught the boys smoking, I gave them a good thrashing but Master Finn was not really impressed. To be perfectly honest, it was a great relief to me when he stopped coming to school."

MYRTLE JACKSON—

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER

"Mercy, yes, I remember Huckleberry Finn. Always felt like I failed that boy somehow. 'Course he was so aggravatin' most of the time that it was all I could do to keep from boxin' his ears and right in Sunday school, too! One morning he was reading about Joseph, and Huckleberry allowed that maybe if Joseph hadn't been so uppity and show offy, his brothers would of liked him better and not sold him into slavery in the first place, and in the second place, Joseph's father hadn't ought to of let on to everybody that he loved one son more than all the others and made such hard feelings amongst them. I tried to tell him that it didn't matter what Joseph's father did, it was what his brothers did that made up the story, but he kept right on sayin' that Joseph needed takin' down a peg or two. Now what can you do with a bull head like that? I told him we couldn't waste time arguin' and I gave him an extra verse to learn for bein' so contrary. 'Course he ever came back to Sunday school after that."

MARY HARPER

—LAUNDRESS

"What you wanna know about Huck Finn? I told that other writer fella all I knowed about Huck Finn a long time ago. I ain't heard nothin' more since except that Tom Sawyer got a job workin' for a . . ."

Unfortunately the rest of this interview, along with the author's name, has been obliterated by age and water marks. Nevertheless, the manuscript is considered important because it provides some additional information about the boy who disappeared so abruptly after the

Mr. Jackson and me have four boys our own selves and I was sorry for Huckleberry with no Ma to see that he ate regular and washed regular. His neck and ears was always dirty. I told him once that if he'd split some kinlin' to heat the extra water, he could come over to our house on a Saturday night and have a good, all over soaking. But he said he'd just as leaf go swimmin' in the creek with all his clothes on and wash everything at the same time. When he said that to me, I said to myself I said, 'Myrtle, you might just as well give up! Some folks just don't know how to appreciate Christian charity.' I was real surprised that a smart man like Mr. Twain would want to write a book about Huckleberry Finn. If I was to write a book, I'd write it about the Widow Douglas. Now there was a sweet woman who deserved to have a book wrote about her."

ABNER HANKS

—STOREKEEPER

"Huck Finn, you say? Who could forget him? He was a liar and a thief! Wouldn't surprise me none if he turned up on one of the sheriff's 'Wanted' posters. I wish I had a nickel for every apple that heathen stole from me. Why, I'd no sooner set a barrel of Winesaps by the front door than Huck Finn would come strollin' along rubbin' a core. Once I grabbed him by the ear and said, 'Where'd you get that apple, boy?' And he looked me square in the eye and said, 'I found it.' Found it, my foot! He stole it outa my apple barrel! Just a natural born liar, that's what he was. Only one person in town could tell bigger whoppers than him and that was his old man. Finn used to set right there by that stove and just lie like a rug. Told all about the big deals he was cookin' up with his big city friends and how rich they was gonna make him. Told all about how he really come from a rich family up north who'd had all their fortune stole by a slick crook. And all the time he was the slickest crook of all. Him and that snotty-nosed kid of his was a disgrace to the community. O I tell you, things is comin' to a pretty pass when trash like that is allowed to run loose and decent folks can't sleep easy in their beds at night. It was just lucky that Huck Finn left town before he was run out Good riddance to bad rubbish, I always say."

TOM JESSUP

—BLACKSMITH

"Sure, I knowed Huck Finn. In this town everybody knows everybody else and everybody's business besides. He hung around here lots. Lots of the boys hangs 'round here beggin' to help me at the forge when they'd ought to be home tendin' to their own chores. Huck, he hung 'round morn' the rest cause he didn't have no home to go to what with his paw drunk or gone off some'eres most of the time. There was some that said Huck was a bad boy—a chip off'n the old block. They said—he'll come to no good,' they said. But I ain't never seed a boy with a better hand for horses than him. Why, one time I had a mare here that got into the oats and foundered herself and Huck stayed up all night takin' care of her. Kept a fire goin' and heated bricks so's to have warm blankets to lay on her belly and talked to her and petted her just like she was a sick human. He didn't get no pay for it neither cause she was old and tired and the man as owned her didn't set no store by her. Well, he done all he could but the mare she died anyway and I could see Huck was mighty tore up over it, like it was his fault he couldn't bring her 'round."

I never seed him do a mean thing to any dumb animal. Some of them boys'll tie a tin can to an old cat's tail and then nearly bust a gut laughin' when the poor critter tears around in publication of "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." What kind of man did Huck Finn grow up to be? Did he marry and have children? Did he ever return to St. Petersburg? Perhaps like Tom Jessup, the blacksmith, one can simply hope that whatever happened, he "did good."

Recruits Go To Ft. Bliss

EL PASO (AP)—Recruits for Ft. Bliss' new basic combat training facilities started arriving Monday.

The first group of 40 teenagers will be among several thousand to receive basic combat training at Ft. Bliss, which has not trained recruits since the Korean War.

Army officials said about 800 men will arrive each week, starting Dec. 13, until 8,000 trainees are here.

Ft. Bliss is mainly an artillery base and training center for Army missile crews.

Hair Coloring For Men In Sales Boom

NEW YORK (AP)—A man will dye, dye, dye for his job, but not for the woman next door.

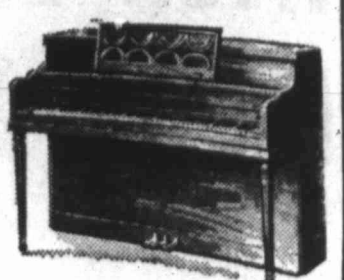

Sales of men's hair coloring products have boomed 73.3 percent this year, the biggest jump in the men's toiletries field. Barbers report a big business in touching up the gray. One manufacturer, L'Oreal of Paris, has developed a line of 12 shades of coloring. Clairol, which made hair coloring for women socially acceptable, is entering the field, advertising: "Does he or doesn't he? Hair coloring so natural only his barber can tell for sure."

Dr. W.G. Ellasberg, a psychiatrist and author, says older men color their hair because they are afraid of losing their jobs to younger men, not because they want to enhance their sex appeal.

"Some men make sex their careers. On the whole, these are the real exceptions," he said. "The man at age 40 to 45 who hasn't sown his wild oats is an exception, and an industry can't be built on him."

A Swirl Of Curls Where You Want Them

Hair stylist Michel Kazan demonstrates three ways in which a short hairdo can grow into a glamorous seemingly long coiffure, thanks to fake curls pinned in beautiful, strategic clusters. At left, the curls are gathered on top. In the center, the curls are at the nape of the neck and two encircle the ears. At the right, a cascade of curls spill down the back of the hair to the shoulders.

Fickle Females Cut Curls -- Then Pin Them Back On!

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The dream of the balding man, the fashion fickle woman, or the barber with the too-quick scissors are all summed up in the newest trend in beauty frauds — the pin-in curl.

Whether the balding man ever musters the courage to thicken his locks by teasing in an extra strand of fake hair here and there remains to be seen.

But the fickle female — the lady who wants short hair today and long hair tomorrow, straight hair now and masses of curls minutes later — is already taking the pin-in curl to her heart and head.

Even the capricious miss who desires several shades of hair despite a deep determination of a single bed of roots, can have them as easily as sliding bobby pins in her hair.

FAKE STRAND
The single fake strand is the latest in the trend to diminish to a variety of small parts. Before strands came chignons, pony tails, wiglets, and wigs on headbands. Now the only way the wig fad can be reduced to an even simpler dimension is to see hairs one by one.

Oddly, the less wig the wearer has, the more versatile it becomes. Hair stylist Michel Kazan, big-time promoter of the frou-frou curls, can vouch for that. He has been through all the scissor sieges.

He has suffered through the hairdos and hair don'ts. And, probably, he has commiserated through the second thoughts of women who wanted short hair until snip-snip it was short.

ACTIVE PAYTIME
Short, straight hair is wonderful for an active daytime, sporty life. But when the moon is high and the night is romantic, one of the most sensuous features of a female, her luxuriant locks, romantically ought to be silken and curly, and at least indicatively abundant. Once the hair is short, there is no natural way to accomplish this.

Hence the pin-in curls. The lady with slick, short hair can do so much with one, two, or a dozen. She can pin two at the sides, dangling them fashionably as long, sweeping sideburns.

Or she can tease just one into a thin spot in her hair. Or she can pin a mass of curls at the nape of her neck or high onto the crown of her head, or around the sides as a coronet, or even as a halo if she is angelically inclined.

CURLS PIN IN
The curls pin in, crisscrossed with bobby pins. While the curls can be had to match any hair hue created by nature or chemistry, some ladies, as was mentioned earlier, prefer to add a variety of colors to their curly locks.

After all, it is only temporary. This is some consolation to the barber who snips off more than his client bargained for. He can always pin some hair in until nature corrects the oversight.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but by me." (John 14:6, RSV)

PRAYER: Eternal God and Father, Thou hast entrusted us with the gift of life and provided us with resources by which to use that gift wisely. Grant us a growing desire to be guided by the spirit of Christ, that we may be led along that high way of life. We pray in the spirit of Him who has become our Redeemer. Amen.

Timely Advice

Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes recently gave some advice to the members of the Legislature and the people of Texas.

It is likely, he said, that the 1967 Legislature will have to produce a tax bill of at least $50 million a year. That does seem inevitable, what with the increasing cost of and emphasis on education.

If the state does not meet its responsibilities to what has been called the public sector of the economy, the federal government will have to encroach more and more on what have traditionally been considered state functions. Also, public sector money properly spent should be looked on as an investment, which will more than pay off in state economic development.

Barnes was, we think, justified in urging legislative candidates not to commit themselves to any specific levy and certainly not to run on the somewhat demagogic theme of "no new taxes." The House speaker properly reminded legislators that "we must be flexible."

All this is not to say that the Legislature should succumb to extravagance and waste. Of course not. But it does mean that legislators should keep an open mind on the state's revenue demands, which must be met if all powers are not to be concentrated in Washington, and on the types of levies necessary to meet them.

Speaker Barnes is a conservative. This lends even more significance to his judgment that state government is going to cost more and more—a nationwide trend—and that we should face the challenge objectively and unselfishly. Texas simply cannot remain in the bottom rank of state governmental expenditure in most categories and supply all the services demanded of it.

The states must take a leadership role; and if they fail, then our inspired aspirations will turn to dust. Barnes is to be commended for facing up to the issue.

Monitoring Pesticides

It is good news that a comprehensive national program to monitor pesticide residue levels is getting under way. Such a program will do much to relieve anxiety about these useful but deadly chemicals.

There is a sound basis for anxiety, which became widespread following publication of Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" two or three years ago. Events since then have made it all the more clear that a careful balance must be struck between the public health and agriculture's need for pesticides.

The program to be undertaken by various government units under the aegis of the Federal Commission on Pest Control is a broad one. In addition to keeping tabs on the levels of pesticide residues, an effort will be made to determine how chemicals of this kind affect human and animal life, food, water and soil.

Some work of this kind has already been going on for a considerable time. An example of this is the Food and Drug Administration's surveillance of foods. As a supplement to this, the Agriculture Department will obtain many samples of meat and meat products for analysis. This department also will make scattered samplings to learn how fast pesticides accumulate in the soil.

The Fish and Wildlife Service will carry on animal studies, and questions of human welfare will be studied by the Public Health Service. There will be periodic samplings of water in the major rivers. Both immediate protection and guidelines as to long-range control programs should result from all this.

Our Non-Neighbors To The South

WASHINGTON — Many critics inside and outside of Congress have been pointing a finger of blame at the United States government for failing to consult the Organization of American States before intervening in the Dominican Republic. Not until this past week, however, has it been convincingly revealed that any effort in that direction would have been futile. For Latin America today apparently does not fully realize what the Communist threat means to its safety.

SECRETARY OF State Rusk went to Rio De Janeiro a few days ago to attend a meeting of 19 nations of this hemisphere in an attempt to get an agreement on a formula for cooperative action in the event of Communist subversion or interference in the internal affairs of the various countries in Latin America.

This is not a novel position for the United States to take, because it was originally proclaimed by President Monroe that this country would not tolerate the establishment of any foothold in the Americas by powers outside of this hemisphere.

FOR MANY decades, of course, the

Billy Graham

With your influence why don't you enter the political field? Don't you believe that there is a great need for people of integrity to enter government work? —B.K.

I am in the ministry for one reason: God called me to serve Him in this capacity. Christians are not always free to do what they choose—their choice is made by the Holy Spirit, and it is theirs to obey.

Yes, there is a great need for men with Christian conviction in government. This is not to say, however, that there are no Christians and men of principle in government office. Some of the most dedicated men I know are serving their country in political office. The old saying: "All politicians are crooked," is as unfounded in fact, as: "All doctors are quacks."

However, to me, the greatest work in the world is the proclamation of the good news of the Gospel. George Lansbury of England said: "As I near eighty and look back across my life, I see that I have not been unsuccessful, but if I had it to do over again, I would give my whole life to the changing of men, for without that change, nothing can be changed."

That is why the ministry is called "the high calling." There is no greater work in the world, for layman or clergy, than witnessing for Christ.

United States has intervened by itself whenever an international crisis arose that demanded the protection of the lives and property of its citizens in other countries. But in recent years, due to the criticism in Latin America, the United States has advocated procedures whereby disturbances could be dealt with by united action.

It has, however, been made clear at the same time that, while anxious to get an inter-American peace force organized, the United States could not afford to forsake its neighbors if the principal countries of Central and South America refused to put into effect a Pan-American police operation.

"ANTI-YANKEE" agitation often gets some popular backing in Latin-American countries. Much sympathy for and appreciation of the United States, however, are expressed privately by prominent citizens and leaders in those same countries. But the moment they speak out they find themselves challenged by radical groups, many of which are directed by Communist agents or sympathizers.

One might assume that, with the success of the Communist apparatus in taking over Cuba, the other Latin-American governments would be impressed with the menace that exists toward them all. But there is no evidence that the Cuban example has been taken to heart, and scarcely a month goes by when there are not, in one Latin-American country or another, disturbances fomented by Communists with an idea of weakening the existing government.

SECRETARY RUSK urged in vain the members of the Organization of American States — most of whom sent their foreign ministers to the conference at Rio De Janeiro — to recognize the need for common defense against the Communist threat.

It is well known that economic aid is supposed to continue at least until 1970. More and more efforts are to be made for closer economic cooperation. But, at the same time, it should become obvious to the Latin-American countries that the people of the United States are not likely to approve blanket support for all of Latin-America if the Communists begin to play an influential part in the internal affairs of any of the republics to the south of us. The United States is anxious for the countries in the Western hemisphere to progress and prosper. But certainly the people of the United States expect reciprocity and cooperation.

Intermission Time On World Stage

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is intermission time on the world stage.

For most of this century a succession of colorful men dominated the mind and imagination of the world. Most are dead or retired now. The rest of this century will have to manufacture new men to take their place.

There were loudmouths among those giants of the past, and actors, orators, fanatics, and true world leaders, whether they were loved or hated.

OF THEM all, only two still have top billing. Red China's Mao Tse-tung and French President Charles de Gaulle. A few others from the past are still in the show but have quieted down from age or circumstance.

At 72 Mao has become a shadowy figure, hardly seen, more a legend than a man. He says little the world hears. He is never colorful. It is hard to know anymore what his real role is.

De Gaulle, always the actor, is still colorful even if he says nothing and points his nose in the air. At 75 he seems certain of a new seven-year term as president. But his dominance is limited mostly to France and Western Europe.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, a newcomer to the world scene, has concentrated on his domestic problems and stayed pretty much off the international stage. So it would be straining to say he is a dominant world figure, capturing men's minds.

President John F. Kennedy was the opposite. He was a newcomer, too, but while he was no smash-hit in getting Congress to do what he wanted, he plunged into the international act early.

The result: In the less than three years of his presidency he was a famous and generally admired figure around the world.

For example: Before he was six months in office he had visited De Gaulle, dined with the queen of England, had a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Vienna, and then had a crisis over the Berlin wall.

OTHER FIGURES from the past, although still in power, say few lines anymore: Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, and Indonesia's President Sukarno, very rambunctious until his home-grown Communists recently tried to take the play away from him.

Chiang Kai-shek is still head man on Formosa but in his more than 35 years before the world audience he was never colorful, never said much.

Nothing shows the contrast between past and present more than the Khrushchev case. Bounced over a year ago, he is now in obscurity. Probably not one American in 1,000 could name his successors, much less spell their names.

YET KHRUSHCHEV, one of history's greatest actor-loudmouths, was also one of the most fascinating figures of the century. In recent days Red China and the Soviet Union moved closer to a fatal split. They exchanged long invectives.

But the leaders said nothing in their own names. What they said sounded like a dialogue between pedantic philosophers.

Not one figure on the scene today, except perhaps for Mao and De Gaulle, is known to the world audience or entrances it like Churchill, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Harry S. Truman, Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky, Hitler, Mussolini, Eisenhower, Nehru, Gandhi.

Sidewalk Philosopher Reflects

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Philosopher:

One of the lucky things in this world is to have something obviously wrong with you.

It ordinarily helps a human being to get ahead if he has a recognizable but not too repulsive defect.

This is one way in which people differ from chickens, and other perhaps lower forms of zoological life.

The pecking order in chickens requires complete similarity. If you put a spot of blood on a healthy chicken, the other chickens will surround and peck it to death, feeling it is a threat to the rest of the flock. They suspect it of being diseased.

THE DIFFERENCE between the chicken flock and the human herd is simply this: Chickens unreasonably require perfection in their leaders and each other; people are suspicious of perfection claimed by their leaders or claimed by followers of such leaders. And to some extent they are aware of their own limitations.

We expect excellence always from our champions, and usually from each other. But we also expect failure and lack of performance from them sometimes, too.

ONE OF THE things we like about Babe Ruth is that, although he knocked 714 home runs, he also struck out a lot of times.

One of the things we like about George Washington is that, for all his granite force of character, he now and then let his temper get the better of him—and blew his stack, even as you and I.

One of the things we like about Abraham Lincoln is that, for all his political sagacity and eloquence in sustaining the American Union, he was homely and perhaps mildly henpecked. So was Socrates.

EVERY HERO that has embedded himself deeply and lastingly in the affections of mankind has had a recognizable wart. This enables the rest of us to identify ourselves with him, and smile and say, "Well, after all, he was human, too."

It is hardly satisfactory to be sympathized with merely for one's warts. Every human heart also yearns to be remembered for something about it that is right. This takes a bit of demonstrating.

I was pleased until I noticed that he inhales all the time. I am wondering if the switch has been beneficial.—MRS. E. R.

We know that pipes and cigars are less hazardous so far as the lungs are concerned, probably because most people DON'T inhale the smoke from them. We don't know yet how hazards compare when they DO.

In other respects, the nicotine from any source can affect the body in different ways. I therefore would stop inhaling (because that certainly increases the amount of nicotine he absorbs) but apparently he's going to have to find out for himself.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Nothing Like Class Pride

It's been so many years since I graduated from high school that I have forgotten the names of most of my fellow students.

Therefore it came as a sort of shock the other day to open a letter and find myself invited to the "10th Annual Reunion of the graduates of the Electra High School." Some one must have dug my name and in the records to get my name and, I assume, the names of my classmates.

ALTHOUGH I did not attend the reunion, the letter revived a few memories of the year I was a senior. The high schools in Texas in that time taught only 11 grades. I suppose bigger towns had junior high schools but we did not. You were a freshman when you were advanced to the eighth grade, a sophomore in the ninth and junior in the tenth. When you completed eleventh grade work you got your diploma.

Our senior class established a record.

We were the biggest senior class the school had ever graduated. There were 30 graduates in my class. I can recall the names of only half a dozen. When I get to going over the list I am puzzled sometimes, being uncertain whether the boy or girl I remember was in my class or in a class which graduated later on.

THE CLASS which graduated a year ahead of mine had established an earthshaking precedent. It had published the first school annual, and I was permitted to be the editor for the juniors. There are some very appalling articles in that aging volume bearing my initials as the author.

My class in its senior year was in a time when oil production was "off" and times were hard. Early in the school year, it was made clear the school authorities did not want us to try to publish an annual.

THIS WAS A jolt to our class pride. Here we were—the largest class in the school history, with some of the brightest students—and some of the most renowned athletes. And yet we were not to be privileged to make a deathless written (printed) record of our greatness.

We sizzled for weeks. Late in the school year, a fellow classmate and myself decided, school officials or no, we would publish an annual of sorts for our class.

WE WENT out on the town and sold enough ads to meet the expense of the printing. One of my pals was a printer. He set up the type, laid out the pages and in, the last stage, printed the book, working at night. We had no money for photos of the class but we did have the zinc etchings of the junior class (which had been at the time) from the preceding year's annual. Our printer pal sawed these out. A few newer students were missing but we explained a neat way that the students whom we named were also graduates but that photos were "not available."

THE FINISHED product was a small brochure bound in heavy cardboard. We printed a red border on each page. Our school colors were red and white. We called our publication The Tigerette. This was the name of an unauthorized (by the school officials) newspaper I edited, published and promoted to help pay my way through high school.

I wonder how many copies of that annual Tigerette are still around?

Congressional Junkets

WASHINGTON — In this capital where jealousies and rivalries burn as fiercely as those backstage at the Metropolitan Opera no man is better loved and more respected for his personal qualities than Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

But in the course of what might be called the Mike Mansfield goodwill tour of the world rather sharp questions are raised about his effectiveness as an amateur diplomat. Whether he has added to the sum total of knowledge or merely increased the confusion surrounding thorny and as yet unresolved foreign policy issues is debatable.

THIS IS THE season for Congressional junkets and members of Senate and House are traveling far and wide. Some have hardly more purpose than the thinly disguised goal of Hong Kong and getting the little woman's three favorite evening dresses copied at a price you would hardly believe. Others have a valid objective and conscientious junketeers inform themselves about problems they will confront in Congress.

As they spin off interviews and statements from airport to airport their foreign hosts often get the idea that every American is his own Secretary of State. And at times this seems to be an impression shared by the travelers themselves.

SETTING OUT to visit a dozen or more capitals on a loose schedule in a jet provided by the Air Force, Mansfield took with him four Senators with a higher-than-average responsibility rating.

With the tour about half over, the score thus far is unimpressive. In Paris Mansfield alone with an interpreter saw President Charles de Gaulle. The Senator learned nothing new. De Gaulle is, of course, always a master performer but he was obviously not ready to deliver himself of any major pronouncements.

IN MOSCOW Mansfield and the four other Senators had over an hour with Premier Alexis Kosygin in the Kremlin. Most of the time was devoted to a harangue on Germany, the proposed multilateral nuclear force and the peril of nuclear weapons in the hands of the Germans.

It was when the Mansfield tour got to Bucharest that the real flap started. Stories out of Vienna reported that Rumania was acting as intermediary in an effort to bring peace to South Viet Nam. This gave a new impetus to speculation that the President had commissioned Mansfield to find a way to peace and had even given him a new tentative proposal to use in exploring ways to end the war.

NOTHING COULD have been further from the truth, as it turned out. While there was some tendency to bill the Mansfield trip as a rebuke to Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee, who is in the Administration doghouse, and while Mansfield had a talk with the President before he left he seems to have no special commission. State Department officials spent hours rebutting the negotiation stories which had stirred new currents of false hope and uncertainty.

The biggest lesson out of all these quickie trips may be that there is no easy answer to the foreign policy riddle. To encourage any other belief is a disservice.

Bending The Law

WASHINGTON — Worry-warts about presidential power must have been dozing when Mr. Johnson lifted 200,000 tons of copper from the national Stockpile and pumped them into the general economy.

TWO REPUBLICANS did remonstrate over the Stockpile raid, but they were the Senate and House minority leaders, Dirksen and Ford, whose duties require them to be faultfinders. Strangely, the regular guardians of government-by-law-not-men gave consent by silence to the President's action—but it's a power move that ought to be questioned.

It ought to be questioned, even though LBJ acted—this time—in what appears to be the national interests. He pleased just about everybody—even if he had to bend the law.

BUT IT IS far from being an open and shut case. The President reached for his emergency powers, and he needed a very elastic definition of "emergency." Back in March, there was an outbreak of fever in South Viet Nam. Medical authorities found themselves short of quinine which, like copper, is stockpiled among the "strategic and critical materials." Under the Stockpiling Law (Public Law 320, 79th Congress) Congress holds jealous control over such items. But Section 5 of the Act permits the President to make disposals "for purposes of the common defense." The quinine shortage in Viet Nam was a clear case where "the common defense" warranted the President to act under Section 5, and he did so.

YES, BUT WAS he equally warranted to plead "the common defense" under Section 5 for the release of copper? All of the major American industries—the manufacturers of automobiles, television sets, household equipment—have been hurting for lack of copper. The supply was short, the prices high, and pressure on Washington intense. A check-up by the Office of Emergency Planning found only 35,000 tons in government keeping that could be called surplus and the Commerce Department found a lower figure of 15,000 tons. The government's release of such small amounts would neither have satisfied the market, nor have restrained the creeping rise of prices.

IN ORDER to accomplish both these purposes, Mr. Johnson had three choices: He could recall Congress, or wait till the next Congressional session in January, or fall back upon his emergency powers to act for "the common defense." Attorney General Katzenbach was asked for an opinion. He decided, not surprisingly, to make it easy for the President. Section 5 was invoked, and the copper was released, just as the quinine had been.

PERHAPS IT IS academic hair-splitting to raise the question at all. The President gave the domestic market what it needed, and he incidentally practiced some executive price control. Since virtually everybody benefited, virtually nobody squawked. But the fact remains that Mr. Johnson reached into copper supplies which (unlike the aluminum stores) are officially marked as a strategic-critical reserve. In choosing between future war needs and present prosperity needs, he clearly put prosperity first and preparedness second.

Nuclear-Powered Ship Enters War

MANILA (AP) — The 85,000-ton Enterprise, the world's largest aircraft carrier, entered the South China Sea today for the first combat patrol ever undertaken by a nuclear-powered surface ship.

The Enterprise sailed from the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay late Monday or early today and set a westerly course to join units of the 7th Fleet operating against the Communists in Viet Nam.

MOVES CLASSIFIED
The giant ship's movements are classified, and a Navy spokesman would only say the Enterprise is "no longer in Subic Bay." However, the Navy had announced earlier that the "Big E" would be assigned to station in the South China Sea with the 7th Fleet.

Troops Of Red China Probing India Frontier

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Communist Chinese troops are probing south along India's Himalayan frontier. Some Indian blood is being spilled. Peking is flooding New Delhi with protest notes charging India with provocations and warlike activity.

Why this Chinese war of nerves? Two theories are popular in government circles: —The Chinese, frustrated by a lack of success in Africa and Southeast Asia, are hardening their stance from India to Korea so as to exploit every opportunity to cause trouble, especially for the United States.

SUPPORT PAKISTAN
—The Chinese intend to give moral support to Pakistan in its conflict with India and at the same time create "irritations" and conflicting claims that could be propaganda preparation for renewed hostilities against India.

New Delhi doesn't expect a major Chinese attack soon, however.

One of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's top Chinese experts points out that the winter snows have closed the mountain passes leading south from Chinese-held Tibet to the Indian plains.

Neither do Indian experts expect a major Chinese intervention in the Viet Nam war or a trial of strength elsewhere against American armed might.

The Chinese for the moment seem willing to let the Vietnamese take the punishment inherent in tangling with the Americans, these experts say.

NO INHIBITIONS
No such inhibitions are evident among the Chinese troops on the Indian front. They push across the border with impunity.

One Indian expert on China said Peking's current campaign seems aimed at destroying the last vestiges of restrictions left over from the 1962 border war.

Cave Dweller Dead At 85

WHEELER, Tex. (AP) — Noble Chancy Myers, who lived in a cave much of his 85 years, died on a bed of burlap bags Monday, but he owned the bed and the 320 acres around it.

Myers, who said he had worked in Paris, watched bullfights in Spain and punched cattle on the pampas of the Argentine, returned to the cave on his half section of land 12 miles north of this Panhandle town for at least a few months each year.

For the past 30 years, he called the cave home, which he died his "summer home." When the chill of autumn came, Myers always left for warmer climes. Several months ago, however, he fell ill.

Milton Finsterwald and his son Larry of Mobeetie said they had been furnishing food for Myers recently.

In another cave, friends found a metal box containing the title to Myers' land, a bank book from a Wheeler bank showing a balance of $20,000, a will and other papers. Sheriff Bus Doran estimated value of the land at $40,000.

Myers' only living relative, Daisy Fuller of Oklahoma City, said her brother left home when he was 14 and took a job as a bronc rider for a Texas ranch.

Mrs. Fuller said he came to Wheeler in 1915 and bought the land on which the cave was located.

Air Strikes By U.S. Fall Short Of Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the basis of Pentagon-stated objectives, the U.S. air war against North Viet Nam is far from a success after nearly 10 months.

Based on the same announced goals, there are some elements of failure.

These views are the consensus in discussions with a wide range of qualified sources within and outside the U.S. government, and are supported in a study of other information available from the government.

A main objective of the bombings, which began last Feb. 7, was to cut down the flow of aggression in the South. Hanoi's chiefs seem more defiant than ever.

Indications point to intensified U.S. bombing in the North around the clock.

MARKED RISE
This probably will mean a marked rise in the number of jet combat sorties, now averaging about 600 a week.

It also undoubtedly will mean more U.S. air losses. So far, 149 U.S. planes have been downed.

The bombing targets are likely to remain essentially the same — mostly bridges, roads, railroads and ferries along the lines of communication leading through North Viet Nam.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara almost certainly would dispute any conclusion that the limited air war has been a failure.

Authorities reflecting his views contend that if it were not for the bombings, infiltration of men and arms would have been far greater.

Critics in the armed services and in Congress do not complain that hammering at communications lines obviously is not doing the job.

What they want is a wider ranging assault to knock out North Viet Nam's ability to sustain the aggression south of the 17th Parallel.

U.S. Exports More Wheat
WASHINGTON (AP)—An export report today showed the United States is moving more wheat abroad than it did last year even though it has not been able to sell to Russia.

The Agriculture Department said exports of wheat and flour from July 1, the start of the current marketing year, to Nov. 19 totaled 301 million bushels, an increase of 33 million bushels or 12 per cent over 1964.

The Soviet Union and Red China have made large purchases of wheat from Canada to supplement short production at home. No known move has been made by these Communist countries to obtain wheat from this country. No trade is carried on with the Chinese.

The percentage increase in U.S. wheat exports this year is about the same as Canada's, including Canadian sales to the Communist countries. The department placed Canada's exports at 246 million bushels, compared to 214 million a year earlier.

UAR Seeks Death Penalty
CAIRO (AP) — The government announced today it will seek the death penalty for newspaper editor Mustafa Amin who is charged with passing information harmful to the United Arab Republic to a foreign power.

The country was not identified in the indictment announced today, but Amin, a former editor of the Cairo newspaper Akhbar Elyom, was arrested July 21 with U.S. Embassy official Bruce Taylor Odell. Odell was accused of being a Central Intelligence agent.

He was released almost immediately and since has left Egypt.

Federal Funds Partly Support Antiwhite Act

NEW YORK (AP) — Each night in a makeshift Harlem theater a group of young Negroes give vent to their hatred of white people.

They act out dreams of a day when the Negro will stand apart from the white world, and Harlem will be an independent nation.

Their leader is the bitterly antiwhite poet-playwright, LeRoi Jones, 31. He founded the seven-month-old Black Arts Repertory Theater-School, partly supported by federal funds.

"I don't see anything wrong with hating white people," says Jones. "Harlem must be taken from the beast and gain its sovereignty as a black nation."

Jones rejects integration as a solution for the American race problem. He advocates force to bring about outright separation of black and white.

"The force we want," he once wrote, "is of 20 million spooks (Negroes) storming America with furious cries and unstoppable weapons. We want actual explosions and actual brutality."

TO HARLEM
Last April Jones left his cold water Greenwich Village flat, his Jewish wife and their two children, and with several other Negro artists moved "to Harlem with our people."

They founded the theater to provide a platform for the artists and, in Jones words, "to re-educate the nearly half a million Harlem Negroes to find new pride in their color."

A three-story tenement in the center of Harlem was converted to their purposes. Classes were set up in such subjects as the cultural history and political philosophy of the black man in America, play-writing, painting, dance and sculpture.

Remedial reading and math courses were taught to about 50 children between the ages of 7 and 13. Jones said they were also instructed in "hard core nationalism."

USE CHALK
In the theater the use of white actors is avoided by rubbing black faces with chalk.

All the productions seethe with rage against "Whitey," an all-inclusive term for whites, who usually are portrayed as homosexuals.

The word "Negro" is avoided as a white invention. "Black man" is a term of pride.

The project's pace stepped up after $40,000 in federal antipoverty funds was made available. Four hundred students were recruited for an eight-week summer teaching session.

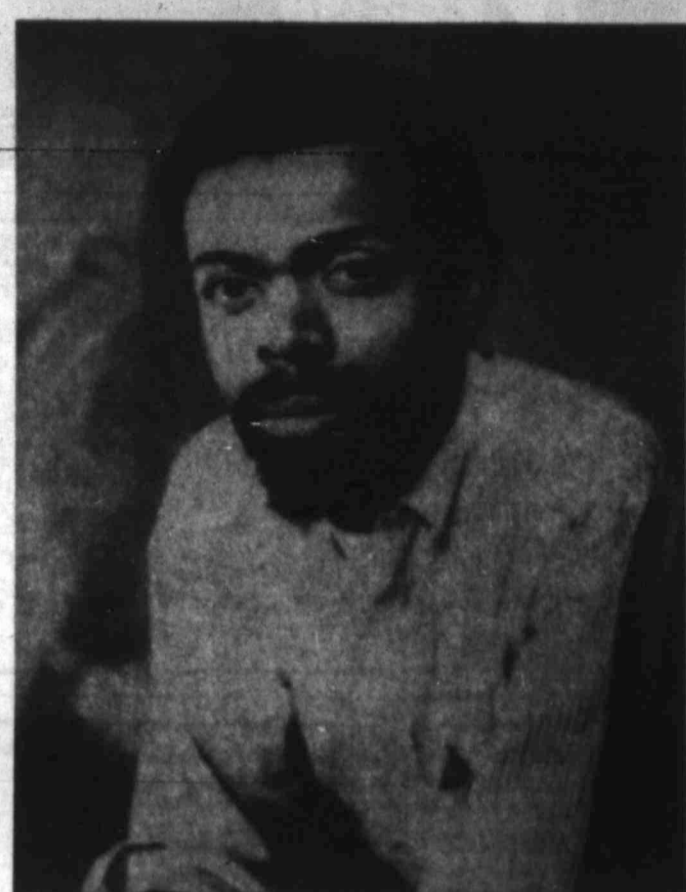

The group also put on a five-week outdoor program, attracting thousands to thrice-weekly night presentations of drama, poetry readings, dance and jazz concerts on dimly lit street corners.

"BROTHER, SISTER"
The 12 to 15 actors who form the repertory company's core, along with the 20 or so writers, sculptors and painters who teach at the school, address each other as "brother" and "sister."

The late black nationalist Malcolm X is spoken of reverently. A photograph of Malcolm hangs over the desk of Jones' secretary.

Bayard Rustin, architect of the 1963 civil rights march on Washington, says the preaching and teaching of Jones and his followers is having little impact.

Alexander J. Allen, executive director of the Greater New York League, thinks the group might have some value, explaining: "It is creating a new cultural awareness and that is a constructive thing."

LeRoi Jones, 31, above, is the leader of the group of young Negroes who nightly give vent to their hatred of white people in a makeshift Harlem theater. Seven months ago Jones founded the Black Arts Repertory Theater-School, which is partly supported by Federal anti-poverty funds. (AP Wirephoto)

There are certain aspects of the need for heritage and the need for pride in blackness that are very constructive. For too long we have been afflicted by a set of values that made white a positive value and black a negative one," Allen says.

Peace Corps Hike Rugged
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Leith Taylor of Mexia, Tex., was among 60 Peace Corps trainees who told of an 18-mile hike along Washington's wind-lashed coast on Thanksgiving weekend.

The bruised and tired trainees, bedraggled and wet, ate a hearty breakfast Monday after days of boiled eggs, rice, raisins and lentil soup.

Students on the hike said it was a constant battle against lizards as they made their way along the rugged, cliff-lined shore of the northern coast. It rained the entire trip.

"We saved our few dry clothes to wear when we got into sleeping bags at night," one said. "In the morning we would put on wet clothes again."

Miss Taylor said she saw a seal and elk and what she believed to be bear tracks during the hike, made to help prepare the trainees for work in Nepal.

Bullet Deflected By Money Bag
WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert A. Poole, a Washington businessman, wasn't short-changed when he went to the bank Monday.

As he returned to his car, two gunmen surprised him.

"This is a holdup," one said as he jumped in. Poole stepped on the gas.

The gunman was jolted out of the auto, but not before he fired a shot. The bullet struck Poole's heavily stuffed money bag, penetrated some bills and deflected weakly off a roll of silver. Poole suffered a slight thigh injury.

Rendezvous Aloft Hinges On Launches

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The experts will hand half the credit to Lady Luck if Gemini 7 and 6 can be launched in a brief enough time span to permit rendezvous in space.

"If we can get them both off the ground," however, said flight director Christopher Kraft, "the odds of achieving rendezvous are high."

50-50 CHANCE
Air Force Lt. Col. Jack Albert, launch director in charge of the Titan 2 booster rockets, said Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford have a 50-50 chance to soar into space in time to catch the orbiting Gemini 7 crew, Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

Borman and Lovell are to lift off at 2:30 p.m. (EST) Saturday on a marathon two-week flight. Schirra and Stafford are to blast off from the same launch complex, nine days later, on Dec. 13.

"Unquestionably, we're going to have to have a lot going for us" during those nine days, Kraft said.

There is only one launch pad equipped for Gemini at Cape Kennedy. Teams must clean up the launch area after Borman and Lovell take off, erect another Titan 2 and spacecraft and check out all the systems. Normally, this takes 29 days.

"We've got a good chance of doing it," said Kraft. "There are three factors involved: How well the spacecraft 7 operates. How well we do with the checkout of the Gemini 6 space and launch vehicle, and the weather.

"If you run into an area where you've got to do extra testing, then you might have a problem. We don't want to launch Gemini 6 unless we're absolutely convinced we've done everything humanly possible to have everything right."

He said the Gemini 6 launch could be delayed up to 12 or 13 days after Gemini 7 blasts off, if Gemini 7 is functioning properly.

LOW BACK DISORDERS By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

There is so little need for suffering with low back disorders and there are so many who suffer constantly without getting relief.

This office treated a number of new patients last week and there were those usual low back complaints who had enough so they came to see what Chiropractic could do for them.

This woman really was suffering, couldn't hardly walk, get up or down in a chair and trying to get into bed was a matter of pain. She was easy somewhat when lying down but who can take care of a house and family while lying in bed? Normal and routine examination located the area of disturbance and the "out of place" vertebrae was located. The treatment was rendered and she walked out a great deal like her old self. No. 3046.

This man was twisted in the typical position and he didn't like either the feeling or the position he was in. "These low back pains are for the birds," and we agreed with him. Again routine examination found the slipped and mis-aligned vertebrae and now the trouble has gone away — like the birds go away in the winter. No. 3050.

Don't suffer needlessly! Investigate what Chiropractic can do for you! Hansen Chiropractic Clinic across from Figgly Wig-take care of a house and family

Y today.

What makes a car styling, performance, handling and ride. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. You know how well a car's engine runs after a tune-up? Buick tuning has the same effect on the whole car. Not just the engine. The whole Buick. Every Buick. This is the Skylark Gran Sport. Like every Buick this year, it comes equipped with a lot of safety features that used to be considered extras: Back-up lights; 2-speed electric wipers; windshield washers; padded dash; padded sun visors; shatter-resistant rearview mirror; outside mirror; and front and rear seat belts (which, because we like Buick owners to come back for more Buicks, we sure wish you'd buckle.)

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See the Double-Checked used cars, too.

Soviet Court System: Prosecutor In Control

MOSCOW (AP) — On a busy street not far from the center of Moscow cab driver Yuri Nalotov stopped to pick up a passenger.

He got the destination, then wheeled his Volga taxi across the center line to make a U-turn — directly into the path of a motorcycle. Motorcyclist A. V. Panarin was painfully injured, several of his toes being broken.

Nalotov, 38, father of one child and a driver for 14 years, was brought to trial more than two months later, charged with criminal negligence.

week periods, they are supposed to represent the general public in the administration of justice and theoretically have the same voice as the judge in rendering verdicts.

The prosecutor, named Gulperin, read a long, repetitive indictment: Nalotov had made the turn without looking, he wasn't careful, hadn't observed the rules.

Then Gulperin began questioning and berating Nalotov, a somewhat passive-looking man with a fifth-grade education and was, as the court was told, not a Communist party member.

OPEN, SHUT

It was an open-and-shut case: all indications were that Nalotov had indeed been negligent. Nevertheless, the trial offered an interesting glimpse of how Soviet justice works at the basic level.

The two clearest impressions of a Western spectator were: the domination position of the state prosecutor in the Soviet Court system; and the emphasis on judging the defendant within the context of his place in society rather than simply as someone who had committed an offense.

VICTIM ABSENT

A number of witnesses who had been summoned failed to show up but the court decided to proceed anyway, by unanimous consent. Among those absent was the accident victim, Panarin.

In a statement read to the court, Panarin said he misjudged the speed at which Nalotov was making the turn. He added, significantly, "I did not insist on the guilt of the accused."

Though Nalotov pleaded guilty to the trial went ahead as if he hadn't. It lasted two hours and was held in People's Court, the basic court of Soviet justice and roughly comparable to a Western police court.

Presiding was Vladimir Karpenko, 42, a former welder and radio technician who studied law for six years by correspondence, became a lawyer in 1959 and a judge three years later.

REPRESENTS PUBLIC

Sitting with Karpenko were two so-called people's assessors, a man and a woman. Relieved from their regular work for two

"STATE FACTS"

"It is not your business to say who is at fault," Karpenko told him. "Just state the facts."

In summing up, Gulperin lectured Nalotov again, this time on the need for greater driving care as the number of motor vehicles in Moscow increases.

"A taxi driver has to be more careful than anybody else," he said.

Then he effected a more soothing tone, noting that Nalotov in social work and had not been dismissed following the accident.

"That means his employers believe in him," Gulperin said.

The defense counsel in summing up reiterated that Nalotov was a "good worker" and asked for a suspended sentence.

The judge and the two assessors left the courtroom for 25 minutes. When they returned Karpenko read the verdict: Defendant found guilty, sentenced to a year of reform or corrective labor. This simply meant Nalotov would continue to work at the same job, but would forfeit 10 per cent of his salary to the state.

He could have drawn up to two years in prison.

Union Will Stick With Bargaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big Steelworkers Union, ready to quit industry-wide bargaining after the recent contract settlement "suggested" by President Johnson, has changed its mind.

The decision to stick with the long tradition of bargaining in concert with the Big 10 steel companies apparently settles a sharp internal division within the million-member AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union.

Union President I. W. Abel, who unseated longtime Steelworkers chief David J. McDonald in the midst of the recent steel crisis, made it clear the union will continue its 10-year system of negotiating with the major companies that represent 80 per cent of the nation's steel production.

"IT PAID"

"The record shows that our industry-wide program really paid off," Abel said Monday in a talk here.

But the newly elected Steelworkers' leadership sang a different tune when it returned to Pittsburgh from the White House in September to persuade a fired-up membership to accept the settlement, reached after President Johnson had laid specific "suggestions" before deadlocked negotiators and kept them virtually locked up until they reached agreement.

There was fear at the time that the powerful Wage Policy Committee of the union might reject the White House settlement.

At a secret policy meeting, the top union leaders at the time, Steelworkers Vice President Joseph Malony, with Abel also present, said: "Next time we'll take them (the companies) on one at a time and beat hell out of them."

"FALLING DOMINO"

The Teamsters Union, which has the power to halt most of the nation's trucking, has for many years used to good effect the "falling-domino" theory of negotiations, in which one big company at a time is picked off without creating a national crisis and government intervention.

But Abel, in tracing the history of steel bargaining, said that "I don't share this great concern" about crisis bargaining. Abel spoke to a collective bargaining conference being held here by the AFL-CIO Chemical Workers Union.

A Steelworkers spokesman confirmed it was Abel's first public reaffirmation of industry-wide steel negotiations.

Ashley Trial Set Jan. 10

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A second trial for Leslie Ashley, once convicted with Carolyn Lima in the 1961 slaying of Houston real estate man Fred Lima, is tentatively set for Jan. 10 before Dist. Judge Truman Roberts.

The convictions were thrown out by federal court on the ground that the prosecution withheld material evidence. Stays of execution had been issued a scant four hours before the pair was to die.

Miss Lima was convicted again, sentenced to five years, credited for time in custody and now is free.

Ashley was adjudged insane. Subsequently he escaped from a mental hospital, was recaptured by FBI agents months later and ruled sane at a second hearing. He was granted a change of venue from Wharton to Coryell County for the murder trial.

TV Series Has A Special Charm

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "Young People's Concerts," now starting their ninth television season, may not be a barrel of laughs like "Beverly Hills Cop" or "Get Smart," but if you're young — and some of the older ones as well — will sit down quietly and pay attention, they will find the series has a very special charm of its own.

Monday night, maestro Leonard Bernstein was once again busily moving from conductor's podium to piano as he explained musical forms in the clearest, simplest way possible before leading the New York Philharmonic through two symphonies which illustrated the evening lesson.

A DELIGHT

Bernstein's informal method of explaining music is a delight. At one point he was demonstrating musical intervals, inversions and the difference between melody and harmony. To illustrate a point he sang a few notes from "Help," a new Beatles song. And then moved right into a Brahms symphony.

One of the most fascinating hallmarks of the series is the way the camera pans over the audience, lingering on one young face and then another. It catches the unsuspecting child in poses ranging from deep absorption to restless wiggling.

If nothing else, the hour is a blessed relief from the frantic comedies, that infest the early evening network schedules so many nights a week.

BETTER DRIVERS

Americans, generally speaking, are better automobile drivers than citizens — or at least that was what CBS found in a survey made in connection with its "National Citizenship Test" broadcast a week ago.

The survey, on a national basis, found that among those who took its test on the rights and duties of citizenship and the working of government, only 5 per cent were "excellent," and 14 per cent, "good." In last May's "National Drivers Test," 4 per cent were "excellent" and 21 per cent were "good." On the other end of the scale, however, 32 per cent were rated "poor" in the citizenship test, compared with 42 per cent in the drivers test.

Farm Labor Advisory Panel Urged By Chamber

ABILENE — The executive committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has recommended to Gov. John Connally the appointment of a special Agricultural Labor Advisory Committee to help deal with pressing agricultural labor problems in Texas, WTCC President Beaman Fisher announced today.

Fisher said the recommendation from the top leadership of the West Texas Chamber came after careful study and research. Purpose of the committee would be to make recommendations to the governor, and state agencies which the governor might designate, on all matters dealing with Texas Agricultural labor needs. Fisher said this committee should be authorized to call on existing state agencies for research data, information, and statistics to aid in making its recommendations.

Fisher said the proposed committee would keep the governor advised of agricultural labor conditions in Texas; inform the governor of agriculture's labor needs; advise him on federal labor legislation and its possible effect on Texas agriculture; and prepare recommendations for the governor regarding state agricultural labor legislation.

Rhodesian Breakaway Move Strengthens Ghana's Chief

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The breakaway Rhodesian regime has served to strengthen Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah's position at home and in the rest of Africa.

Mobilization of Ghana's armed forces — including recruitment of an unpaid militia just started — will require tightening by the people, Nkrumah says.

Government papers have announced that any commodity shortages and other hardships should be blamed on Rhodesia's white prime minister, Ian Smith.

GOODS SCARCE

No mention was made of scarcities which have been occurring sporadically here for more than a year because of mismanagement and corruption.

Ghana imported consumer goods worth more than $280 million to make Accra appear a well-stocked showcase during last month's African summit conference.

These goods are mostly gone and stringent controls have been restored. Some clothing, shoes and various foodstuffs already are scarce.

"Of course I am hoarding," said one Ghanaian patron cheerfully as she strolled from an Accra shop carrying 25 pounds of sugar.

Wide powers have been assumed by the government under the Africa defense bill rammed through Parliament last Friday. Under it, the president assumed the equivalent of martial law control.

PRESTIGE GROWS

'65 Hurricane Season Over

MIAMI (AP) — The 1965 hurricane season, which included the most destructive tropical storm in U.S. history, ends at midnight tonight.

Only two tropical storms and four hurricanes were counted during the season that began June 1, and only one hurricane reached the U.S. mainland.

That storm was Betsy, which hit Miami Sept. 8, roared across the Gulf of Mexico and battered New Orleans two days later.

Betsy left 75 persons dead in Florida and Louisiana and a damage toll of more than $1 billion.

Farm Labor Advisory Panel Urged By Chamber

ABILENE — The executive committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has recommended to Gov. John Connally the appointment of a special Agricultural Labor Advisory Committee to help deal with pressing agricultural labor problems in Texas, WTCC President Beaman Fisher announced today.

Fisher said the recommendation from the top leadership of the West Texas Chamber came after careful study and research. Purpose of the committee would be to make recommendations to the governor, and state agencies which the governor might designate, on all mat-

McGeorge Bundy Expected To Quit As LBJ Top Aide

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—The expected departure of McGeorge Bundy as President Johnson's top aide on foreign policy would complete a major revamping of the White House staff.

Bundy, the brilliant but often abrasive presidential assistant for national security affairs, has been offered the presidency of the Ford Foundation at about $75,000 a year—more than double his $28,500 White House salary.

The best guessing here and in Washington is that the former Harvard University dean, brought to the White House in 1961 by President John F. Kennedy, will take the job.

Bundy's job as a presidential assistant has been downgraded under Johnson. And it now seems apparent that the assignment as secretary of state, which he apparently would relish, is firmly in the grasp of Dean Rusk.

SUBTLE REVAMPING

Should Bundy resign—and there has been no evidence that Johnson is resisting such a move—it would mark the end of a subtle, two-year-long reorganization of the White House staff along Johnsonian lines.

Kennedy, much like Dwight D. Eisenhower before him, thought of staff aides as specialists. Johnson, more the free-wheeler, likes to tag particular aides to do particular chores without consulting organizational charts.

Instead of viewing the office of the president as a rather formal piece of machinery, Johnson gradually has personalized it into his own kind of machine. As one observer phrased it, "he runs the presidency like a teamster drives horses."

Thus Bill D. Moyers, current press secretary, has been chief of staff for preparing legislation and, wearing still another hat, has assumed many of the administrative functions once handled by Walter Jenkins, who resigned at President Johnson's request in October 1964 after a morals scrape with the law.

From Bundy's own viewpoint things are much different than under Kennedy when he ran a "little State Department" in the White House basement.

A BUFFER

Kennedy, distrusting the State Department bureaucracy, used Bundy's shop as a buffer—and as a source of viewpoints that, he felt, might not otherwise come to his attention.

Johnson has displayed no such distrust of the Cabinet departments. Indeed, he has expressed a preference for dealing directly with top Cabinet officers, feeling each should be the paramount expert in his assigned field.

In view of all this, Bundy apparently feels there is no place to go but out. And Johnson seemingly feels he can get along without Bundy—and without the kind of potent office he has long held.
