

Must Test 47 Herds

Brucellosis-Free Status of County Up for Recertification

It is time to recertify Collingsworth County as a modified certified brucellosis free county, ranchers and livestock men were reminded this week. June 19 is the deadline for herd inspections that are required for recertification.

Willard Copeland of Childress, state livestock inspector, Texas Animal Health Commission, explained the recertification procedure which is required every three years.

Mr. Copeland has met with County Judge Zook Thomas, members of the Commissioners Court and Don Reeves, county agricultural agent.

"They have offered wholehearted support in aiding or assisting in this recertification program," he declared.

"In order to qualify Collingsworth County and maintain our status as a modified certified brucellosis free county, we must test 47 herds averaging 23 head per herd by the June 19 deadline," Mr. Copeland continued.

The program is voluntary until June 19. Unless it is accomplished by then, the county will lose its certification and Collingsworth will become a quarantined county.

"This means that all cattle leaving the county must be tested for brucellosis prior to shipment," said the inspector.

Those desiring to have their herds tested under the recertification procedure may contact the county agent or county judge office to set up a time and date for the testing.

Federal and state animal inspectors (this is a federal-state co-op program) will be here to help with the testing.

"We place the emphasis on the ranchers and farmers asking for a date so they can pen their cattle when the inspectors are here. It is no problem for us to test the herds, but it will be a problem to some to get them penned," it was explained.

The figures on the number of cattle and herds to be retested came from federal and state offices in Austin.

"It is most important that we keep in the modified certified area," Mr. Copeland said. "If we lose certification, then the entire county will have to be tested. With good cooperation we can test the 47 herds in two weeks time.

"This program is designed to control and eradicate brucellosis in cattle.

"People cannot afford to lose a calf crop or have half a calf crop and stay in business. Enough brucellosis has been found in this and other areas that we must make every effort to eradicate the disease."

She is a member of the student council and works in the school office.

Mrs. N. R. Cocke, Resident Here 60 Years, Dies

Mrs. N. R. Cocke, prominent Wellington woman and member of families instrumental in the development of the town over a long period of years, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday, April 26.

She had suffered a broken hip last year and became seriously ill several weeks ago.

A Wellington resident for 60 years, she took an active part in its social and civic affairs as a younger woman, as well as in the affairs of First United Methodist Church, of which she became a member early in life.

A former teacher, she valued education and encouraged better schools to benefit the children of the community.

Mrs. Cocke was the former Bettie Elizabeth Sledge, the daughter of the late T. B. and Sally Boston Sledge. She was born at Whitesboro March 24, 1888.

When she was 10 years old, she moved with her parents to Durant, Okla., where she was graduated from high school and from Presbyterian College. She then taught in the Durant High School until she came here with her family about 1910.

She was married to N. R. Cocke Oct. 24, 1912. He preceded her in death Jan. 2, 1961.

Funeral services were conducted at 3:00 p.m. Monday, April 27 in First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. R. T. Dyess, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the family plot in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were nephews: Sandy Parsons, Ansel McDowell of Hereford, Dr. Ansel McDowell, Jr., of Peryton, Tim Hatch

Primary Election Saturday Climaxes Quiet Campaigns

Unless last-minute developments surface, this will probably go down as one of the quietest Democratic Primary elections of recent years.

Neither local nor state races have aroused interest or comment here, and this feeling is shared area-wide.

At the end of absentee voting Tuesday, April 28, 118 votes had been cast in the office of Lorene Jenkins, county-district clerk. Six applications were still out.

This is 32 above the number cast four years ago when the same offices were being voted on.

The county has a voting strength of 2331.

Lack of opposition in some of the key races on the state and district level account for some apathy on the part of voters.

Unprecedented in the district is the fact that there are no Democratic opponents to two Republican office holders, Congressman Bob Price and State Representative Tom Christian. There is opposition to two county races.

County Judge Zook Thomas, running for a second term, is opposed by Jack Lackey.

In the county-district clerk's race, Lorene Jenkins, the incumbent, is opposed by Carmen Lindley.

The keenest competition has developed in Precinct 4, with five candidates running for the office of Commissioner. They are W. R. Breeding, the incumbent, and J. M. Morgan, Jr., of the Samnorwood-Dozier area; Alton Wilkins, W. R. Ward and Cecil Shanks of Wellington.

Since the re-precincting of the county, Precinct 4 includes approximately the northwest one-fourth of the county and a long narrow corridor leading into and including part of Wellington.

The remaining three-fourths of the county's population does not have this interest. Melvin Seale is unopposed in his race for Commissioner of Precinct 2, and commissioners of Precincts 1 and 3 are not elected this time.

Mrs. Yvonne Brewer, seeking her second elective term as county treasurer, does not have an opponent, and neither does J. L. Harper, candidate for a first term as county school superintendent. The incumbent, T. E. Lennon, is not a candidate.

Justice of the Peace C. E. McKinney is unopposed. All voters in the county will vote on the justice of the peace this year, since Justice Precinct 1 was extended to include all parts of the county except

One Voting Box Serves County Republicans in May 2 Primary

The Collingsworth County Republican Primary will be held Saturday, May 2, in the Club Room of Bura Handley Community Center, according to David Baumgardner, county chairman.

There will be only one voting box for the entire county, Mr. Baumgardner explained.

Mrs. Baumgardner will be the election judge, and her assistants are to be named.

It is unprecedented in election history that two Republican incumbents in district offices do not have Democratic opponents. They are Congressman Bob Price from the 18th District, and State Representative Tom Christian of the 75th District.

Although unopposed, Mr. Christian has been here several times during the campaign, and Malouf Abraham of Canadian, candidate for state senator, 31st District, was here.

Republicans also remember visits of George Bush and Paul Eggers from earlier campaigns.

The names appearing on the Republican ballot are:

U. S. Senator: Robert Morris and George Bush.

Representative, 18th District: Bob Price.

Governor: Roger Martin and Paul Eggers.

Lt. Governor: Byron Fullerton.

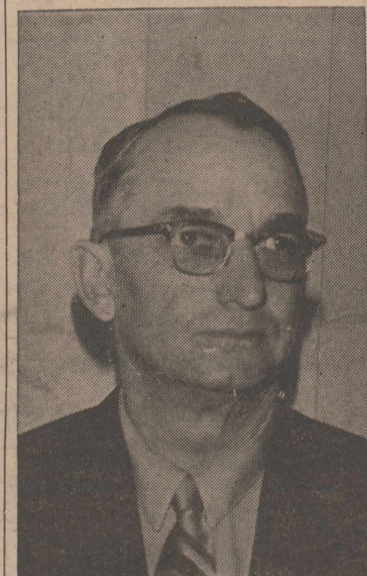

Attorney General: Edward M. Yturri.

Comptroller of Public Accounts: S. L. Abbott.

State Treasurer: Robert F. Koennecke.

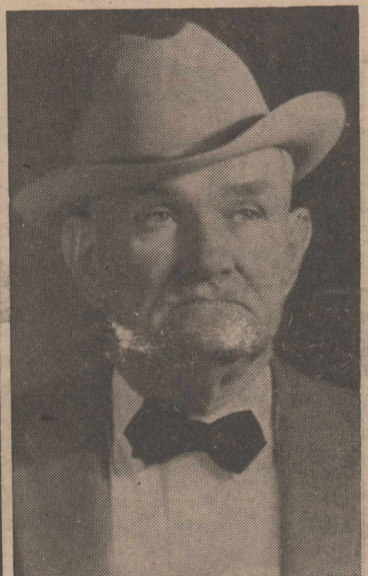

Commissioner, General Land Office: Harry Trippet.

Flea Market Items Are Sought for Gala Sale

You never know what you'll find in a flea market... perhaps something you've always wanted, or something worthless but so cute you've got to have it!

A flea market stocked with items from homes throughout the county will be a feature of Hospital Week Gala and Barbecue Friday evening, May 8, according to Mrs. Barney Glenn, chairman.

The market will be set up at the Ellison Park Gala site. The opening hour will be announced next week. All proceeds will go to the hospital heating system fund.

This is not a rummage sale and the items will not be junk, Mrs. Glenn emphasized, as she asked for the donation of items.

"We need items that are usable, but which you are unable to use or are tired of. Others may find them most useful," she said.

Such items might be clothing in good condition, curtains, bedspreads, vases, pictures and almost any kind of household accessories.

Discarded furniture makes good flea market items, since so many people are antiquing these pieces, Mrs. Glenn pointed out.

Those wishing to give things to the flea market may bring them to St. Joseph's Hospital, where the Dominican Sisters will store them in the hospital garage until time of the sale.

Anyone who cannot bring their items may call Mrs. Glenn or a member of the Hospital Auxiliary and they will be picked up.

"There are numerous things everyone has at home that you no longer use. Just sort them out and bring them to the flea market," she urged.

Quail Graduation Events Slated Friday, May 22

All graduation events of the Quail School will be combined in one event, to be held Friday, May 22 at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The speaker for this program will be Gaylord Cook, minister of the Church of Christ in Wellington.

This will include the senior baccalaureate service and commencement, and the eighth grade graduation, Supt. E. P. Haynie explained. The plan was adopted because there are only two seniors, J. D. Atkinson and Susan Finlay Crowder.

There are 10 members of the eighth grade class, however.

Mr. Haynie said that classes will continue in session until Thursday noon, May 21. Students will return Friday morning for report cards and an assembly program, when the eighth grade class will and prophecy will be given.

Kiwanians Hold Egg Hunt Here Sunday Afternoon

Wellington Kiwanis Club will hold its annual egg hunt for the children of the Wellington area Sunday, May 2, in Ellison Park. It will begin at 3:00 p.m., according to Sam Adams, president.

This hunt is to replace the one traditionally held at Easter, but which was snowed out this year.

There will be three age groups, each hunting in a different section of the park, Mr. Adams said. They will be for pre-school children, those in the first through third grades, and the other division for students of grades four and five who are 11 years of age and under.

Two thousand candy eggs will be hidden in the grass and shrubbery—and even in the trees, said the Kiwanis president.

There will be a number of prize eggs among them, according to Mr. Adams.

Kiwanis Club members will meet at the park just after noon Sunday to hide the eggs and they will remain to assist with the hunt.

Egg hunts have been held annually by the Kiwanis Club for approximately 38 years.

throughout Texas, Mr. Christner explained.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to help support the Scouting program at Samnorwood, as well as help provide jobs for the blind.

The entire membership of the Samnorwood Lions Club has been organized to help in this annual program.

The program will be given by the students.

The banquet will come to a climax with the presentation of awards in all categories.

Ten special awards also will be given. These include the Fighting Heart Award, Best Student Athlete, Best All-Around Athlete, Mr. Basketball, Miss Basketball, Outstanding Football Lineman, Mr. Football, Most Valuable Track Man and Mr. All Around Skyrocket.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER

Reception at Arlington Honors Mrs. D. H. Handley on Birthday

Mrs. D. H. Handley, now of 712 North East, Arlington, was honored with a reception Sunday, April 26, on her 90th birthday. The event was given in the home of a granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Young, North Bowen Road, Arlington.

Among the things which made this a festive occasion were the presence of young members of the family, either home from Vietnam or living at considerable distance. They included Danny Rider, a great-grandson who was just out of the Navy after serving in Vietnam, CWO Lane Heath, another great-grandson who was a helicopter pilot in Vietnam; Capt. and Mrs. Kelton Conner of South Carolina, and Mrs. Edward Svoboda from Freeland, Wash.

Mrs. Handley's sister, Mrs. Grover Blundell of Edna, also was present, and Mrs. Bura O. Handley and Mrs. Charley Hill attended from Wellington.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a lace and embroidery cloth and appointed in silver. Granddaughters and great-granddaughters served the guests.

Mrs. Handley was the mother of seven children, the late Bura O. Handley, Mrs. Ruby Baldrige of Arlington, J. Bee Handley of Bigg, Calif., Jess A. Handley of Ada, Okla., Mrs. Edward E. (Ina) Conner of Arlington, Mrs. Vella Mae Thompson of Tulsa, and Mrs. John F. (Martha Faye) Lee of Alamogordo, N.M.

There are 14 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-granddaughter.

Still amazingly well, with the exception of failing eyesight, Mrs. Handley has a rich store of memories which delight the descendants. She sometimes tells of the "cold reception" the family received when they came west to live, from her native Caldwell County.

She was a young wife and mother when they moved to the Oklahoma Territory, near Eldorado. When they got off the train at Quanah, they were met by one of Texas's famous blizzards. Icicles the size of a man's body were hanging from the railroad water tower, she recalls. Their first home was a half-dugout, and for a time there was quite a battle with rattlesnakes, skunks, coyotes, as well as sandstorms.

There was no bridge across Red River, and more than once she watched in terror as a headrise came down the river after she had started across the broad, sandy dry Red River bed.

Only one son, J. Bee, of Mrs. Handley's seven children was born out of Texas, and he was born while the family lived in Greer County.

The Handleys became Texans again when they moved to White's Creek community in Childress County, and in 1917 they came to Wellington.

Mr. Handley divided his time between farming and working as a carpenter, until he developed a fruit farm two and a half miles north of Wellington. Here he raised peaches, plums, blackberries and grapes of a quality that brought buyers from throughout much of the Panhandle.

Mrs. Handley managed like all other pioneer mothers and wives who had large families. She was an artist with a sewing machine and mending basket and was an excellent cook. Family get-togethers were frequent and always a favorite at dinner was her big pot of chicken and dumplings.

She rendered her lard, made her soap, hominy and kraut, and her cellar was always full of good food.

They were a healthy family. Mrs. Handley recalls that only one of the seven children ever got a broken bone while growing up. Vella Mae cracked an elbow when she fell off a wagon wheel at age 5.

After Mr. Handley's death she moved to Arlington, to share the home of her oldest daughter, however, she still refers to Wellington as home and returns at every opportunity.

She follows with interest the career of a grandson, Major Phil W. Handley, son of the late Bura O. Handley, who is now serving with the Air Force in Thailand.

Shower Saturday Afternoon Honors Mitzie Hartman, Summer Bride-to-Be

A shower was given Saturday afternoon, April 25, for a summer bride-to-be, Miss Mitzie Hartman, in the home of Mrs. John Sherman.

Miss Hartman is the fiancee of Gary Killian. Both are students in Texas Technological University.

Bird's Diet Not the Best

SAN ANGELO.—If that peanut butter and jalapeno pizza you had last night is causing you misery today, take comfort in the knowledge that even in nature, animals don't always eat what is best for them.

A San Angelo sportsman happened upon these regurgitated items which Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists say probably came from a very queasy bird of prey—blackbird feathers, the remains of some unidentifiable fish species, a plastic fish tag from Lake Nasworthy, a lead fishing sinker, a length of line and a fish hook.

The sad thing is that out in the wild there are very few places the unfortunate bird could get bicarbonate of soda.

Wellington Wins Events

Pam Patterson Crowned College Rodeo Queen

Pam Patterson brought the Clarendon Junior College Rodeo Queen's crown back to Wellington after she was picked from 85 contestants in ceremonies Saturday afternoon, April 25, before a packed Clarendon arena.

It was the second year a Wellington girl has been selected, and she received her crown from her cousin, Jan White, who concluded her year's reign.

Pam is the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Patterson. She has ridden in junior rodeo competition for several years. Although much of this has been with the Collingsworth 4-H Riding Club, all the way up to state competition, she also is an accomplished contender in invitational rodeos as well.

She is a freshman in Wellington High School. Pam wore a lime green western suit with dark green hat and was mounted on her big red Dawn's Twinkle.

At times during the three performances, Wellington seemed to dominate the competition, and its boys and girls brought home more honors than any other town competing.

Suzy Lowe had the best average of two runs in the barrel race, and Linda Williams was second. Suzy came in second Friday night and first Saturday night among 21 racers. Her time for both performances was 19 seconds flat.

Linda was first Saturday afternoon with 19.3 seconds and second Saturday night with 19.1.

Pam also competed in the barrel race, placing third Saturday afternoon with 20 seconds and tied for third Saturday night with 19.4.

Each girl received a rodeo belt buckle for first place and a buckle for the three average winners.

About 40 barrel racers were entered for all three performances.

Ricky Nall was winner of the best average of two performances for the bareback bronc riding and Reece Bowen was second.

Ricky had second high average in the bull riding in spite of the fact that in the Saturday night performance his bull threw him, pushed him along the ground with his head and then stepped on his leg, putting him out of the remainder of the competition.

Monty Kromer of Vinson had the best average in the ribbon roping contest.

The all-around cowboy and cowgirl titles went to Mitchell Martin of Clarendon and Roger Johnson of Claude, tie, and Carol Willis of Elk City, Okla.

Eddie Orr won second in the tie down calf roping Saturday night.

Among the other Wellington boys competing were Larry Kane and Ricky Brown.

Most Wellington contestants were from high school, although the rodeo was open to both high school and college students.

Greenbelt is interested first in restoring power to the devastated area and it will total the damage to its property later, it was pointed out.

This year's entertainment at the meeting was by the Clarendon College Choir.

Three board members were re-elected, Selba Rainey, Harold White and A. J. Garland. Hold-overs are Kenneth Kromer of Vinson, T. B. Henderson of Twitty, Fred Bourland of Quail, and Kenneth Matthews of Claude. Reorganization of the board was held following the meeting.

Cedar Apple Rust Hurts Both Trees

If you find your cedar trees covered with a slimy orange substance, they are infected with a fungus disease known as cedar apple rust. Jerral Johnson, Extension plant pathologist, says the organism is rather unique in that it lives for two years on cedar and one on apple trees. Chemical controls have not proved effective but by removing the galls before they mature, prevention of the jelly-like substance can be achieved. If the substance has formed, it can be washed away with a high pressure stream of water, says the pathologist.

Watch the Wind if You're Boating

Strong winds and high waves have sunk many seamen, and the Texas Safety Association says that preparations should always include checking forecasts for wind velocities, swelling tides, possible storms and sudden changes when going out in your boat. A good portable radio will take most of the guesswork out of weather forecasting when on the water, and it is well to listen frequently.

Wind warning flags are another weather aid to boaters. One red triangular pennant is enough to signify that winds may gust up to 40 mph. Two pennants signal a gale.

If a boater does get into trouble, daytime distress signals include waving outstretched arms up and down, smoke devices, and waving an article of clothing on an oar or fishing pole. At night, a red flare or waving light should attract help.

DEATH TAXES—FEDERAL AND STATE

Federal Taxes

When first enacted in 1916, the federal estate tax affected only families of great wealth. Since that time it has grown until it is now the most formidable claim against many estates.

The federal government approves, indeed encourages, proper tax planning and rewards with substantial savings those who act to minimize the tax. We all face income taxes annually; but estate taxes are faced after death by somebody else—a time everyone tends to regard as too remote for present consideration.

What Is the Gross Estate?

The federal estate tax is imposed upon the decedent's property which is transferred to his beneficiaries. The tax is based on the fair market value of the estate at the time of death, or, at the option of the taxpayer, the value one year from the date of death.

The taxable estate includes insurance on the decedent's life in which he possessed any "incident" of ownership at the time of his death, and includes many things besides the property owned outright by the decedent (such as real estate, stocks, bonds, cash, and personal effects.)

It may even include property transferred by the owner during his life but in which he retained certain rights, the decedent's interest in property owned by him and others as joint tenants with rights of survivorship and certain property which the decedent held the right to direct the disposition of.

Tax Rates

The federal estate tax is a progressive tax much like the income tax. The rates increase with the value of the estate. The first $60,000 of an estate is exempt from taxation. The rates start at 3% for the next $5,000, and may be as high as 77% for very large estates. Moderate estates, such as the estate between $100,000 and $250,000, are taxed at about 30%.

Deductions

Funeral expenses, accountant's fees, attorney's fees, the costs of property management, claims and debts against the estate, and so on may be deducted from the gross estate.

Paying the Tax

As a general rule, the estate tax must be paid in cash 15 months after the date of death. Under certain circumstances the estate may obtain an extension of time within which to pay it.

The Internal Revenue Service can allow up to 10 years to pay the tax with 4% interest of "hardship" would result from paying the tax in a single payment. In addition, a similar 10-year installment payment is available if part of the estate includes an interest in a business with a few stockholders.

Texas Taxes

The Texas inheritance tax was enacted in 1907 and has not changed much since then. The rates are low and seldom is the tax a large liability.

The state government, like the federal government, encourages proper inheritance tax planning, and with a little planning the inheritance tax can be avoided altogether.

How the Tax Works

The federal estate tax is imposed on the property a person owns at his death, but not the Texas inheritance tax. The inheritance tax is based on the value of the property a person gets from an estate.

A certain amount of property received by each person is exempt from the inheritance tax according to the degree of kinship between the deceased and the person inheriting it. For example, the first $25,000 passing to a wife or child is exempt, with the next $25,000 taxed at 1%, the next $50,000 taxed at 2% and so on.

As the relation of the recipient to the decedent becomes more distant, the exemption diminishes and the tax rate increases. In the case of a friend only the first $500 is exempt, with the next $10,000 taxed at 5%, the next $15,000 at 6% and so on.

To arrive at the net value of property subject to the inheritance tax, the estate is allowed to deduct debts, attorneys' fees, executor's fees, court costs, etc. The inheritance tax is due whether the person dies with or without a will and is payable within 15 days after the date of death.

Date of Value

Like the federal tax, all the inherited property may be valued at the time of death, or at the taxpayer's option, one year later and the tax may be paid on the lower value.

Summary

Death and taxes are inevitable, but the federal and state governments encourage planning to avoid (not evade) death taxes. Financial rewards are ample to the family whose parents were wise enough to plan.

NEXT: With a proper will, Texas probate court costs are minimized and fees of those serving the estate can be estimated. Texas lawyers suggest attorneys receive 3% of an estate's value. A lawyer's charge for drawing a will is small, everything considered.

COMMODITY MONEY AND DEBT MONEY

In terms of the concept of exchange, there are two broad classifications of money. They are commodity money and debt money.

We know that commodity money was expressed in terms of the wealth which it represented such as pounds, drachmas, etc. Later, money took on more the concept of the discharge of indebtedness and the units of exchange were referred to as notes and bills.

This early debt money was related to its commodity backing since it was considered to be a promise to pay in terms of the commodity, be it gold, silver or whatever. The trend, however, is away from this original concept. Debt money is increasingly considered to stand on its own strength and no pretense is made at commodity backing.

Demand deposits are a common form of this concept.

Norwood Girl Scouts at First Camporee

Singing around the campfire, camping together, exchanging ideas and making new friends highlighted the fourth annual Junior Camporee of the Quivera Girl Scout Council recently.

The 400 campers and adults set up camp Friday, April 24, at Camp Mel Davis near LeFors. A campfire of singing and introduction of each troop followed.

Competition in skills and knowledge were held Saturday. Troops were rated on knowledge of uniform insignia, flag courtesy, nature identification, first aid and skill in using of the compass. Points were given also for neatness and use of campcraft skills at each troop's campsite.

Saturday's all-camp campfire consisted of campwide game awards and a ceremony in which each troop burned a friendship faggot, making a special wish as each log burned.

Receiving Blue honor camper ribbons from Samnorwood was Troop 42.

Following a special church service Sunday, camp was broken at 10:00 a.m.

Staff for the event included Mrs. Jack Duke, camp director; Mrs. Joe Ray, assistant director; Mrs. W. J. Felter, program director; Mrs. T. M. Whiteley, business manager; and Mrs. Fike Morgan, program nurse. Miss Celia Fowler, council executive director, also attended.

Girls going from Samnorwood Troop 42 were Cindy Coleman, Jayne Morgan, Eugenna Weldon, Debbie Roberts, Debbie Clark, Leitha Martindale, Margaret Sanderson, Alethea Ray, Di Anna Schaub, Ida Beth Stice and Tonya Kincannon.

The leader was Mrs. Douglas Coleman and assistants Mrs. Alva Clark and Mrs. James Martindale. Brownie Tammie Clark also attended.

Federal Land Bank Reduces Interest Rate

Jack Williams, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Shamrock, received word today that The Federal Land Bank of Houston has reduced the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 8 1/2%.

The variable rate loan plan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank last July lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. In large measure, therefore, the rate in any specific year will reflect the changes in the price which the Bank must pay for the money it makes available for farm mortgage loans.

"Recent improvements in the money market have made this reduction possible," Williams said.

On Jan. 1 of this year, the Bank had slightly over one-half billion dollars in volume of loans outstanding. The local-association makes and services loans in Collingsworth and Wheeler counties. Members of the local board of directors are J. C. Emmert, Robert Terry, Tom Cunningham, Woodrow Wood, C. F. Waters and H. J. Finsterwald.

Wellington is not the only town that is distressed by old automobiles on the streets and on private property. Wichita Falls has 2,752 by actual count located on private property and the city is planning on junking its old ordinance. In its place they plan to pass a new ordinance that would permit the systematic removal of abandoned cars, trucks and other junk.

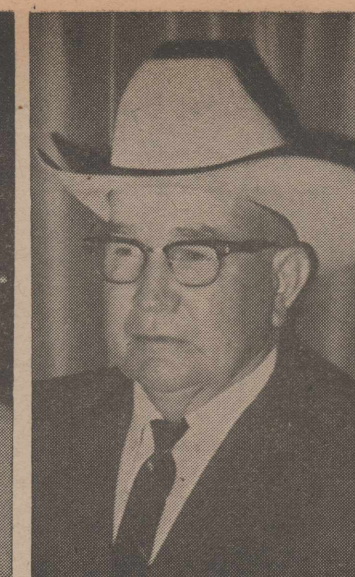

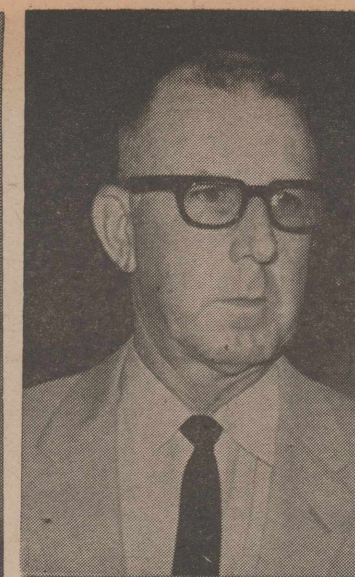

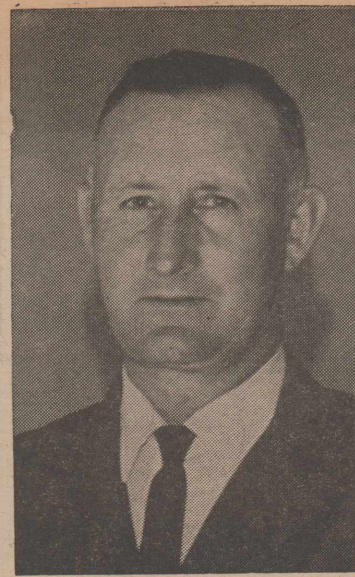

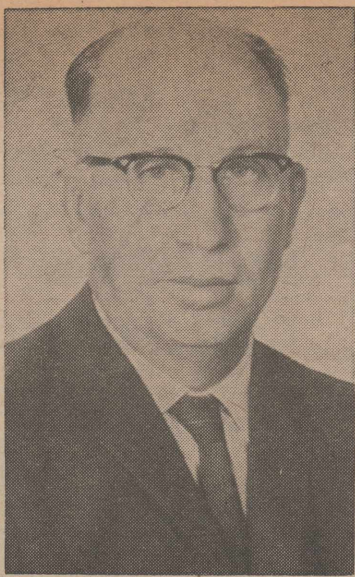

Cars are not the only difficulty in Wellington as far as general appearance is concerned. There is the matter of dilapidated buildings, oil cans, tires, machinery, weeds and grass and other unsightly items. No governing body can take care of all these things alone. It will require a concerted desire and effort on the part of the majority of the people to make our town as clean and as attractive as it should be.

This is the season when the wildflowers are their loveliest in this area. If you want to see a twenty-mile carpet of the beauties drive south on 83 and turn west on the Memphis road. The pastures and the roadsides are flaming in color. There are acres of grassland solid in yellow while the roadsides present a pleasing variety of white, red, blue, purple, orange and more shades of yellow. The scenery is undoubtedly as attractive on other roads. Make your plans to get out on the highways soon. The lesser traveled roads provide the best scenes.

The Federal Government claims that these electric reducing belts are a health-hazard besides being useless and the information arrives at the time I was thinking about starting to do something to improve my waistline. One man tried several of them over a four month period. Bruce E. Thorp, writing in The National Observer, says that after spending long hours with a variety of special belts that were weighted, inflated or electrically stimulated his waist measured exactly what it did when he started—34 inches. He says that the reason more people do not complain is that they are "too damn vain to admit they have been taken."

The auction will follow the barbecue and start at 8:00 p.m. with Paul Guthrie as auctioneer. Mrs. Hubert Bowen is overall director of the auction and Billy Moseley is in charge of hanging the pictures.

Pictures must be framed in order to hang.

The artist will be paid for the cost of his frame, but the price received for the painting will go to the hospital fund, Miss Willis explained. He may, however, donate the entire amount to the fund if he wishes.

Beginning Monday, the pictures will be shown at C&H Pharmacy, Parsons Drug, Wells and Wells Insurance, First Wellington Agency, Montgomery Ward, Wilkins Furniture, The Wellington Leader, Sears Roebuck, Wellington State Bank, City State Bank, The Fair, Gibson's, Chamber of Commerce office, West Texas Utilities and Jayce's Shop.

Each artist should bring an easel, either table or conventional type, to hold the painting.

Boys and girls as well as adults are invited to donate a picture to the Hospital Fund. These may be in any medium—oil, water color, charcoal or open and ink drawing, or any other.

The pictures may be still life, landscapes, or portraits. Western art is popular, but the style may range from the realistic to the abstract, said Miss Willis.

Enzyme Detergents

Do enzyme detergents cause skin allergies? Testing points out that enzyme laundry products are equal in safety and mildness to the detergents that have been in use for more than 20 years.

The amount of enzyme that can remain in clothing after it has been washed, rinsed and dried is exceedingly low. "As a matter of fact, our most sensitive analytical procedures cannot detect any enzyme residue in such clothing."

To further check for possible skin effects, 50 men were asked to wear washed, but unrinsed T-shirts while working in hot, humid areas such as kitchen or laundry. The men wore enzyme-washed T-shirts for five days and then switched to non-enzyme-washed T-shirts for a second five-day period.

Four of the men reported itching or exhibited a slight skin redness when they wore shirts washed with non-enzyme products. The same men were not affected by shirts washed in enzymes.

The reverse was true in five cases. Two men reported similar symptoms with both products. Thirty-nine showed no symptoms.

The results indicated that wearing of tight-fitted, unrinsed garments under hot humid conditions may be mildly irritating to a few people but that enzyme products are not more irritating than non-enzyme products.

4-H Food Show

Here is the recipe for Green Enchiladas that won Rosemary Popwell a blue ribbon at the District I 4-H Food Show. Maybe you'd like to try it, too!

Green Enchiladas

¾ lb. lean ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic (minced)

4 tablespoons instant onion (large, chopped)
1 can cream of chicken soup
¾ cup evaporated milk
¼ lb. green onion dip mix
1 small can green chilies
1 small jar pimientos
6-8 oz. longhorn cheese
14 tortillas
½ cup corn oil
Red and green hot chili peppers.

Add salt, garlic, instant onions to beef and brown slightly; heat soup, milk and pasteurized cheese until cheese is melted. Add onion dip mix, green chilies, and chopped pimientos. Add browned meat to grated longhorn cheese. Mix well.

Soften tortillas in hot oil and drain thoroughly on paper towels, fill each tortilla with some meat mixture, roll tightly, and place in shallow baking dish. Pour cheese sauce over tortillas. Cover with foil and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Put red and green hot chili peppers around dish. Serve hot. Serves 6-8.

COUNTY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

I am grateful for the support that has been given me during the 10 years I have been superintendent of the Wellington Schools, and I am asking for that same support in the office of Collingsworth County School Superintendent. Any success I may have in helping improve the schools of this county will be due to your co-operation and support.

I feel strongly the need to make Collingsworth County Schools superior. Education of our children today determines the quality of our citizens tomorrow. In this period of great change now taking place in Texas Schools the office of county superintendent plays a big part. I hope to be able to contribute something to this.

I appreciate the fact that I do not have an opponent and in asking to be your county superintendent for the next four years, I pledge my best efforts to the boys and girls of Collingsworth.

Gas heating: The beginning of gas cooling.

If you have central gas heating, you can buy central gas cooling. For less money than you might think. You already have a furnace blower and, probably, adequate ductwork. So there's a lot less to install. And gas air conditioning is worth installing. It has fewer moving parts to break down, longer service life and lower month-to-month operating costs. Begin to cool off by seeing your gas air conditioning dealer today.

LP Gas Vital to Polution Fight: Ramsey

AUSTIN—(Special) Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey said here today propane, butane and mixture fuels of liquefied petroleum gasses appear destined for an important role in the continuing fight to control air pollution.

Ramsey is seeking a second full term as a member of the three-member Commission in the primaries May 2.

The ever increasing demand for liquefied petroleum gases as fuel for internal combustion engines, space heaters, and central heating units, Ramsey said, constitutes one of the most dynamic segments of the growing market for petroleum products. These light, pure hydrocarbons burn cleanly and efficiently, he explained, and do not contain the solid particles nor the lethal gasses that state and federal authorities have found to be harmful and dangerous to humans, plants and other animal life.

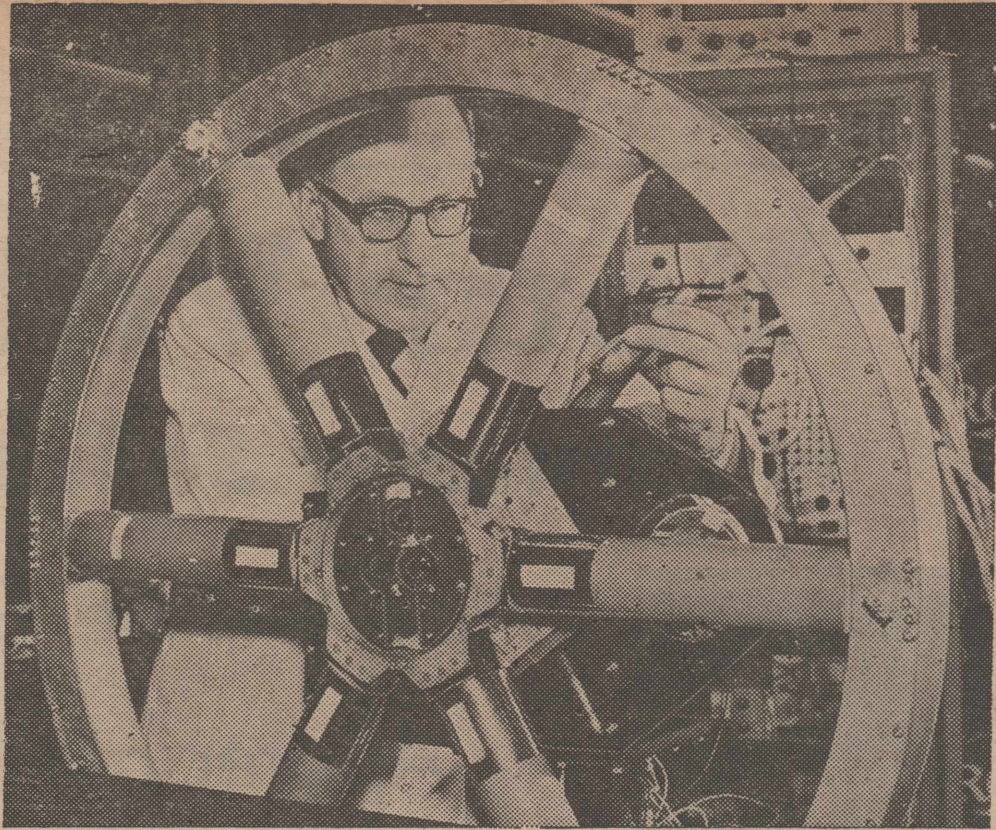

Ramsey said the Commission, responsible for protecting the public health and safety in the transportation, storage and use of these gases, has recently adopted revised requirements tailored to help maintain liquefied gas as one of the safest fuels available to the consumer.

The Commission, Ramsey added, also has moved to help improve the supply and demand situation that has plagued the propane and butane markets in recent years. The said Commission acknowledgment of jurisdiction over the underground storage of these products is designed to help smooth out the erratic supply and demand fluctuations that propane has been experiencing due to its dual role as a fuel and product supply for the chemical industry.

C'mon in, The Fishing's Fine

NEW YORK—Crewmen of an oil rig off the Louisiana coast were delighted recently to find a seal-like creature cavoring beneath them. It remained for days, and scientists confirmed it was a California sea lion.

Once an oil rig is set in the water, it becomes an artificial reef. The legs and cross braces become covered with barnacles, algae and seaweed, which attract fish, which in turn—in this case—attracted a passing sea lion far from home.

The entomologist is widely known in the West Texas area for his efforts in initiating the High Plains Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program in the fall of 1964. He served as area entomologist from June 1963 until September 1967 before returning to Texas A&M to work on his doctorate degree. Rummel returned to his present position on Sept. 11, 1969 and is headquartered at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and

An Accounting Of My Service As Your County Judge

It has been an honor to serve you as your county judge during my first term in office.

The county is in much better financial condition than it was when you elected me county judge and the county roads are better graded and cared for as you may have observed. All new machinery has been paid for in cash and no person has had to discount a warrant during the time I have been in office.

The bonded indebtedness of the county was $59,000 at the time I took office. Now there is no bonded indebtedness of any kind — the last bond having been paid on March 6, 1970.

During the past 3 years Collingsworth County has bought:

- |                             |                        |
|-----------------------------|------------------------|
| 4 Trucks                    | 3 Pickups              |
| 3 Cars (for Sheriffs Dept.) | 2 New Road Maintainers |

and the property for a County Park.

All of this equipment was paid for in cash giving this county the Best Road Equipment it has ever owned.

The county has more miles of all weather roads and the dirt roads are better graded and better maintained than ever before and more of them are being topped with gravel with each passing month.

I am grateful to the voters and to the members of the Commissioners Court for your part in making this possible by your cooperation and your support. I have only one promise to make and that is if you elect me for a second term I will do my best to conduct the affairs of the office as I have in the past.

I Will Sincerely Appreciate Your Vote of Confidence for Commissioner of Precinct 2

I want to express my appreciation to the people of Precinct 2 for the fine co-operation you have given me during the three and one-half years I have been your commissioner. You have worked with me and you have participated in your county's government in a most commendable way.

The financial well being of this county in the years ahead is of major concern to me, and I want to give you this report:

- Collingsworth County is now free of all bonded indebtedness. The last of the bonds were paid in March.
- The county has the best equipment it has ever had.
- We work constantly to keep our roads in good condition and we are working for more Farm-to-Market hard surfaced roads.
- We work in harmony and co-operation with federal and state agencies on those programs which can benefit our county.
- With other members of the Commissioners Court, I will continue to study such regional programs as RC&D, Regional Planning, Water Projects and others, keeping always in mind the welfare of Collingsworth County and its people.

I will continue to work for the business-like operation of this county's affairs. I hope to see each of you before the first primary, but if I miss you, this is my personal request for your vote of confidence May 2.

SELF DEFENSE FOR WOMEN

Striking as a defensive measure when attacked includes use of head, hands, or feet, with or without a weapon. To be most effective the first strike should be a surprise, should be severe, and should be directed at a vulnerable spot. The object is to stun the assailant long enough for you to escape. Punching at random with fists will not do this. The strike must disable assailant for a few seconds. After just hurting assailant, you may not get a second chance. The list of the strikes below are selected as being more suitable for an unarmed woman to use in gaining some advantage of time.

—Ram head into pit of assailant's stomach. From a position of a few feet in front of assailant, get head low, and throw weight of body forward off balance, and dig hard with legs to develop momentum.

—A hard kick with one or both heels (bare) into the pit of the stomach can be effective if you are close enough to fold up for a good straight drive.

—A blow to the point of the chin with some small heavy object which you can grip easily in fist, yet large enough to leave an area bare for contact with chin is perhaps your best bet. Examples: a heavy glass or metal salt shaker, a stone, a cosmetic cream jar. It would help to "sack" the object in a napkin, scarf or a cloth drawstring pouch about six inches deep. Such a container might be filled with small coins and carried in the pouch especially at times when you will be alone in hazardous places.

—A blow to the Adam's apple or side of neck under jaw with a weighted object such as a small stick of stove wood or a rolling pin can be effective.

—A club of some sort is needed for a defense strike against a knife. Aim the blow at the knife hand or the arm just above the wrist. Follow with a blow to the chin or a thrust to the pit of the stomach. Even if the first blow disables the arm, the assailant can still shift the knife to his good hand. You must prevent this. A piece of pipe, a fire-place poker, a stick of wood, or a rolling pin will serve as a club.

—A club also can be used in defense against a club. Grasp your club at each end and swing up to ward off blows. Use in strike at chin at first opportunity or maneuver yourself into position to escape. A small straight chair which you can handle might be used to ward off knife or club long enough to get you in position to escape. A straight thrust of chair legs at assailant's face might connect a leg with his chin or Adam's apple.

—Warning: a severe blow with a club to the temple, the skull, or back of neck might prove fatal.

—Push thumbs or fingers hard against the two arteries high on each side of neck under jaws. Successful pressure here will impede blood going to brain and weaken assailant. Practice locating these arteries on self and friends.

—Pressure against a breast-bone nerve in lower part of chest might help loosen a grip. Double fist and work the long finger knuckle around to locate the nerve. Usually a subject's reaction (if it affects him) will tell you when you hit the nerve. A ring mounting or a spike heel might be better than the knuckle.

—Dig thumb between the two inner fist knuckles to weaken a grip. Instruct a friend to try to hold one of your wrists and practice locating the nerve. Some persons are very sensitive to pressure here.

—Pushing a comb's teeth at point where nose joins upper lip can be effective in breaking a grip. A thumb nail might work.

The Importance of Your Support of Enforcement Agencies

The protection of your person, your property, and your freedoms depends ultimately upon the efficiency of our civil enforcement agencies. Privacy in your home, respect for you on the street, the deed to your property, the safety of your children, all are insured only through the work of officers. No matter what laws and ordinances are passed by legislative bodies, no matter what the orders of courts might be, democratic government fails when the civil police system fails.

The alternative to civil police is anarchy or martial law. Under anarchy it is every man for himself. Under martial law democratic civil procedure is suspended. Some person rules by decree. Martial law is a democracy's last stand against anarchy. Continued martial law would evolve into a dictatorship. Conditions which spawn one spawn the other. Either system results from a failure of citizens to support enforcement of the civil and criminal laws and ordinances which they enact to promote the welfare of their community. There is no such thing as a free democratic society without an effective system of civil police.

The police are doing a job which you as an individual can not do for yourself. The least you can do for your own welfare is to cooperate with police in every way possible. It is your duty to help them identify and prosecute outlaws by furnishing information or physical evidence or by serving as a witness or juror.

You can also remind unthinking people, who thwart the efforts of police or who through indifference, place an extra work load on the police, that such acts or omissions seriously endanger the democratic liberties they enjoy.

Your Vote Is Earnestly Solicited

And Will Be Greatly Appreciated on May 2 and the Days Thereafter

I am asking for your vote for Commissioner of Precinct 4 and will greatly appreciate your support next Saturday.

I am a native of Collingsworth County and have spent my life here except for the time I spent in the Army in World War II.

All of my adult life has been devoted to agriculture. Therefore I believe that I am familiar with the problems that face our community and our county.

I am aware of the duties and responsibilities of the office of County Commissioner. If you see fit to elect me to this office, I will at all times strive to discharge the duties of the office in a business like manner and work in harmony with the other members of the Commissioners Court with only one thought in mind—to make Collingsworth County a better place in which to live. It has been a pleasure to meet with you. I thank you for your courtesy and consideration.

Eighth Grade Banquet Features "Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow"

"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" was the theme of the banquet given Saturday evening, April 25, for members of the Wellington eighth grade graduating class. The event was held in Bura Handley community center.

The small antique-type car belonging to Mike Tyler was parked beneath a tree, made especially for the occasion, and in the background a red barn carried the sign: "Class of 1974."

A motorcycle and posters set the theme for today's transportation, and tomorrow's mode of travel was a space ship moving among the moon and stars.

Table decorations carried out the same motif. Ed Watkins was mistress of ceremonies and Terry Futch gave the invocation.

Randall Hodges welcomed the class members and visitors and a group of boys and girls from the eighth grade sang "Yesterday," "Today" and "Now World Coming."

Dian Brooks and Steve Kane read the class will, while Juliana Baumgardner and Brent Wade presented the class prophecy.

A humorous style show saw models in a "dinner dress," decorated with paper plates and plastic knives and forks; a "print dress" made of newspaper, and a "combed cotton dress" decorated with combs, as well as others as ingeniously decorated. Mrs. Raymond Hodges was the narrator.

FTC Rules on Products Coupons

COLLEGE STATION.—New rulings from the Federal Trade Commission say that coupons enclosed in consumer products may contain no expiration dates. If a date is necessary, it must be such as to allow purchasers of the product at least six months to redeem the coupon.

The ruling resulted from complaints by homemakers that the coupons too often have expired before the product ever left the grocer's shelf, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University. Manufacturers who state on the outside of the package or in their ads that a coupon is enclosed also must clearly define the limits of the coupon. They must state what it is for, how much it is worth and what limitations are placed on its redemption.

University Press Receives Award

AUSTIN.—The University of Texas Press won four of the seven prizes given recently for books in competition sponsored by the Texas Institute of Letters.

The four UT Press books which were honored were described by Allen Maxwell, book editor of the Dallas Morning News, as "exemplars of excellence in regional studies."

The award winners were: "No Quittin' Sense" by the Rev. C. C. White and Ada Morehead Holland, winner of the Carr P. Collins Award of $1,000 as the best Texas non-fiction book published in 1969. "Country Music, U.S.A." by Bill C. Malone, winner of the Friends of Dallas Public Library Award of $500 as the year's most useful and informative book in the field of general knowledge.

"The Franco-Texas Land Campaign" by Virginia H. Taylor, winner of the Amon G. Carter Award of $500 as the best 1969 book of Southwest history.

"A Thomason Sketchbook" edited by Arnold Rosenfeld and with an introduction by John Graves, for which the book's designer, Miss Jo Alys Downs of the UT Press staff, received the Wilson Book Shop of Dallas Award of $100 for best book design.

Insecticide Resistance

Perhaps the greatest problem facing cotton producers today is insect resistance. Since the early 1950's, at least 10 species of insects and mites have developed resistance to one or more of the organic insecticides.

In most instances, the problem has not been too serious since effective control could still be obtained with other chemical types of insecticides or insecticide mixtures.

However, the bollworm-tobacco budworm resistance problem is more serious.

Since about 1960, when the tobacco budworm was first recognized as an economic pest of cotton in Texas, it has been difficult to impossible to control with commercially available chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides. Also, the cotton bollworm has developed a high level of resistance to most of the formerly effective chemicals.

Both species must be controlled by the time they reach 1/4 inch in length (about 5 days old) for best results with any insecticide. The development of organophosphate resistance in the tobacco budworm threatens to destroy cotton production in certain areas of Texas.

Tied very closely to the bollworm-budworm resistance problem is the destruction of parasites and predators through unnecessary insecticide applications. These natural control factors should be protected and encouraged for as long as possible during the bollworm-budworm season. Beneficial insects and insecticides both, but recognize the advantages and the shortcomings of each. To do this, regular field inspection is an ABSOLUTE REQUIREMENT.

The program is specifically planned to close the gap between average and potential yields of all economically important agricultural commodities produced in the state, said Extension Director John E. Hutchison, in announcing the program recently.

Concrete Slats Work Well in Hog Facilities

COLLEGE STATION.—With the upsurge in swine production in Texas has come the question of what type of housing to construct. W. S. Allen, Texas A&M University Extension agricultural engineer, reports that many swine producers are constructing production buildings with slotted floors over pits for waste collection with good results.

A properly built system permits waste management in accordance with legal regulations and at a cost operators can afford, says the engineer. Concrete slats are proving popular for such use but Allen warns that costly damage can result from careless concrete mixing, reinforcing or finishing.

Phyllis Sullivan and Lennie Morgan; B honor roll: Terry Futch, Keith Davis, Randall Hodges, Kathy Manuel and Annabelle Harris.

I sincerely appreciate the many courtesies you have extended as I carried my campaign for Commissioner of Precinct 4 to you.

During the few days that remain before the election May 2, I hope you will consider the things I stand for, and what I will work for both as it concerns Precinct 4 and the entire county.

- BETTER ROADS. We must continue to improve our roads until there are well maintained public roads to which every citizen will have access.
- STRONGER SYSTEM OF LAW ENFORCEMENT. I feel many of the laws we now have are weak, favoring the criminal rather than the victim. I believe the commissioners court should work with the grand jury and our law enforcement officers in every way possible for stronger action on the local level, without exceeding their jurisdiction. I think this is a matter of concern in the county, the state and the United States.

Other Editors Say . . .

The Bulk Mail Rates

President Nixon's plan to boost postal rates provides for an increase for the charge for bulk mail from 4 cents an item to 5.33 cents. The bulk mail is the so-called junk mail that is often addressed simply to "occupant." Aside from bills, it is usually the least welcome of all kinds of mail.

With the Post Office Department facing a $1 billion deficit even if the higher rates are approved, with first class letters slated by Mr. Nixon to go from 6 cents to 8 cents, and with second class charges on newspapers and magazines set to go up 50% under the bill, it seems to us that the people in the bulk mail business are getting off light.

Why should the most vitally important man, like business correspondence and love letters, cost a minimum of 8 cents when uninvited mailbox stuffing would only cost 5.33 cents an item? After all, first class service makes money for the post office at the present 6-cent rate while third class mail is a losing proposition.

It's true that postal policy must take into account the social benefits of various kinds of mail. It should not establish one rate for all. But we wonder if the post office, for all its versatility, should really be quite so deep in the advertising business. Why shouldn't bulk mail, measured by its popularly regarded level of social value, at least pay its own way?

Texas All Americans

Borger, Cuero and El Paso are three Texas cities among 11 All-American Cities chosen in competition sponsored by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

Borger's story has been one of oil boom, then bust and now steady growth through united efforts of civic leaders. This is described in detail in the current issue of Texas Town and City, publication of Texas Municipal League.

That publication also tells how Cuero won its honor by developing industrial, medical and other facilities to make the DeWitt County town a good place to live as well as to earn a living.

El Paso, Texas' fifth most populous metropolis, was the largest city to win 1970 All American honors. A hospital fund drive, a unique youth opportunity program and other activities were cited as reasons for choosing the border city.

Although they vary widely in size and geographical location, the Texas cities share a common denominator. This is recognition of local needs and responsibilities, followed by community determination and cooperation to get the job done. In these days of "let Uncle Sam do it," while urban problems pile up, this local leadership is commendable.

—The Dallas Morning News

Government Help

Medical expenses have risen faster than any other factor in the soaring cost of living, and a great many American families feel that they are being "priced out of the market" yet feel helpless when it comes to solving the problem.

In the light of this problem, a campaign has begun in Washington on a long range drive to get the federal government to pay everyone's medical bills.

Established by United Auto Workers president Walter Reuther as the Committee for National Health Insurance, the group is part of a lobbying force forming to push for blanket medical coverage for all Americans. This would be much more complete than the protection that Medicare now gives to the elderly.

Senator Edward Kennedy is one of the leaders of the drive. He says, "In the face of the soaring cost of health care, ever larger numbers of our citizens are confronted with financial catastrophe if they become seriously ill. Only through a system of comprehensive national health insurance can we provide the security that is needed."

Everybody agrees that the cost of a national program would be astronomical, but apparently those pushing the plan are convinced that the United States is rich enough to provide it.

Estimates of the cost range from $10 billion to $40 billion up to $100 billion a year. Nobody seems to know how much it would cost. One factor is that if the government footed the bills, more people would go to see the doctor and the hospitals.

As might be expected the American Medical Association is against any such plan, and for good reason. They point to the failure of socialized medicine in England as one good reason for avoiding it here. Then, too, no doctor relishes the idea of swapping his practice to become a salaried civil service employee.

It may never come to pass. But stranger things have happened and we sure wouldn't bet against it.

—The Perryton Herald

AUSTIN.—Experts on moods of the voters think that fewer than half the 4,100,000 Texans who registered to vote will take part in the primaries Saturday.

Precinct conventions, also slated for both parties Saturday, haven't produced a ripple of controversy.

Since there is no contest for the governorship in the Democratic primary for the first time since primaries were begun, less attention is being given to statewide races. The Texas Election Bureau is estimating that 1,800,000 Democrats will vote.

Main attention has been going to two contested races. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., of Houston is trying to oust Sen. Ralph Yarborough. State Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin and Fred Williams of Houston are trying to defeat Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

The Yarborough - Bentsen race has proceeded at a fairly cool level.

Little attention has been paid to the effort of David Brown of Sherman to defeat Attorney General Crawford Martin, or to the campaign by Connie Lawson of Taylor against Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey.

Lawyers are taking an active part in the two high court races. Hawthorne Phillips of Austin, Judge Matt Davis of Texarkana and Judge James G. Denton of Lubbock are seeking an open seat on the Texas Supreme Court. Judge Truman Roberts of Hamilton and Earl Smith of San Angelo are candidates for an open place on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Other statewide offices are uncontested.

Saturday's Republican primary is expected to draw about 150,000 voters. U. S. Representative George Bush of Houston is favored to win the U. S. Senate nomination over Robert Morris of Plano. It is Bush's second try for the Senate. Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls, although he was ill and unable to campaign for nearly two weeks, is favored over Roger Martin of Bainesville in the gubernatorial race. It's Eggers' second race for governor.

Tuition Raise Proposed

Coordinating Board of Texas College and University System is urging legislation to boost tuition fees in senior institutions from $50 to $125 a semester.

Spokesmen said students should pay at least 25% of the cost of education, and that is what the tuition fee hike would produce.

Board at the same time postponed action on a staff recommendation that it place new enrollment ceilings for the University of Texas at Austin (35,000) and for Texas A&I University at Kingsville (7,500).

Private and independent college spokesmen, meanwhile, called on the board for aid, including a "tuition equalization program" to place them in a better competitive position with state-supported schools.

Tuition recommendation calls for $500 a semester fee for out-of-state students. Junior college local boards would set their own tuitions but not at more than 75% of the senior college fees for in-district students or 90% for out-of-district enrollees.

Grants Approved

Gov. Preston Smith approved a $124,996 federal grant to the Kleburg County Community Action Committee in Kingsville.

Grant involves $4,169 in unexpended funds, making a total of $129,165 for a 12-months program beginning May 1. Bulk of

CROSSROADS REPORT

It was sure lucky that our great eight-ninths of a Supreme Court happened to get around to ruling on Madalyn Murray O'Hair's anti-God lawsuit when they did.

And it's even more fortunate that these great arbiters, without mediocrity and with only a smidgen of Southern exposure, decided it was all right for Astronauts to communicate with God.

We'd probably have lost these three fine Apollo 13 chauffeurs, being as they are men accustomed to obeying higher ranking people, if the Court had decided it is illegal to pray while riding in a government-owned vehicle.

D. E. SCOTT

the funds will go to Neighborhood Service Centers.

Smith earlier approved a $10,000 state regional planning assistance grant to the Golden Crescent Council of Governments. Council serves Lavaca, Jackson, DeWitt, Goliad, Victoria and Calhoun counties. It is based in Victoria and includes eight cities and seven special purpose governments.

Texas Criminal Justice Council, meanwhile, announced it has $4.6 million available in action grant money to strengthen law enforcement. Money will be used by the state and allocated to units of general local government to fight crime and improve police work.

Conservation Group Meets

New Texas Conservation Foundation was charged by Gov. Smith to work toward providing the state with a top system of parks, scenic points, refuges, scientific and recreational areas.

This Foundation was authorized by the Legislature last year to facilitate state acquisition of lands by gift or purchase and to accept money or property for parks, educational and scientific purposes.

Smith urged the group at its initial meeting here to function as the "strong right arm" of governmental departments and particularly the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Foundation named Glenn Biggs, formerly of Abilene, as chairman, Reagan B. Cates of Victoria vice chairman, and Ralph D. Churchill of Dallas to head a committee mapping definite projects for the group to undertake.

When Disaster Strikes

Texas National Guard units drew high praise for aid in storm-hit communities of the South Plains.

Guardsmen drew special commendations for duties in Plainview, Whiteface and Whitharal. About 300 were assigned to security, search, rescue work and traffic control.

Gov. Smith notified all state agencies to stand by, and prompt requests for a federal disaster act were made.

State Department of Public Welfare set up an emergency food and medical program for tornado-stricken Plainview.

Explosives

Texas is one of 32 states where anyone can freely buy dynamite from anyone willing to sell it to him, but state and national officials are trying to put a stop to such easy access to the high explosive.

There is a state law to stop sales or possession of bombs or dynamite, but the list of exemptions to the law is so broad that almost anyone can fit as a legal dynamite buyer. Attorney General's office is working on a law to curtail the sale of explosives. Proposal will be submitted to the next session of the Legislature.

A bill is in Congress, supported by the Nixon administration, that also would pose a federal ban on possession.

Short Snorts

Dr. John Kinross-Wright, commissioner of mental health and mental retardation, has resigned his position.

Gov. Smith's Criminal Justice Council has been notified that its $4,617,000 application for 50% lawenforcement matching funds has been approved by the U. S. Department of Justice.

Hold Annual Barbecue

The famous John Holton hospitality welcomed approximately 450 friends Thursday night, April 23, as Mr. and Mrs. Holton were hosts at their annual barbecue. His mother, Mrs. O. D. Holton Sr. assisted.

Most of those attending are customers of the Wellington Humble Dealer.

This year's event was in Bura Handley Community Center, with tables filling the large auditorium.

High arrangements of spirea and iris were on the two serving tables, which held the traditional foods, barbecued beef, pinto beans, potato salad, stewed apricots and cup cakes. The Rev. R. T. Dyess of First United Methodist Church gave the invocation and benediction.

"Isn't it wonderful to live in Collingsworth County, with so many friendly people," declared the host.

"Wellington is a small town but there's no place like it. I've been a lot of places, and I've been across the water, but I've never seen any place like it."

Four officials of Humble Oil Company were introduced: Paul Edge of Dallas, J. B. Montgomery of Midland, H. S. Hays and O. C. Nash of Amarillo.

Entertainment was a program by the Sweet Adelines, a choral group made up of 28 Amarillo women, directed by Dwight Elliott.

Among them is a former Wellington girl, Mrs. Jerry Chandler, who will be remembered as Ruthie McCaskill. Her husband is a senior Border Patrol officer.

The group sang a program of well-loved songs that included "When I Leave the World Behind," "Roaring 20's," "Memories," "Ain't's She Sweet," "Mr. Wonderful."

Jimmy Carillo Dies in Action in Vietnam

The Catholic congregations of Wellington and Shamrock lost their first parishioner to the Vietnamese war recently.

He is Sp/4 Jimmy Carillo of Shamrock, who was killed in action with the enemy early in April.

His body was flown back to his native city and funeral Mass was offered for him at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Shamrock April 23 by the Parish Priest, Father Pat Burke. Following the Mass, attended by a huge crowd of relatives, friends, and fellow-Catholics, military services were held at the graveside. A total of 18 enlisted men and two officers formed the pall-bearers party and the firing-squad.

In his closing remarks, Father Pat asked the people to pray God for a swift end to the fighting in Southeast Asia, so that no more Jimmy Carillos need be sacrificed on that faraway battlefield.

Jimmy was raised in Shamrock, and attended public schools there. All flags in the city were lowered to half-staff during the funeral. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Acosta of Texola, and many brothers and sisters.

Students Can Apply for NYC Summer Work

Applications are being taken from boys and girls who want to work on the NYC In-School Summer Program. County Judge Zook Thomas has announced.

The program will be similar to that of the last two years, he said.

Students qualifying must be between 16 and 21 years of age and in high school.

Each enrollee may work 26 hours per week for 10 weeks. The program will start June 1 and end August 22.

Application may be made in Judge Thomas's office.

Non-graduating students who are now working on the NYC program will be eligible to continue on the summer program.

Eleven high school boys and girls are presently enrolled in the program, Judge Thomas said.

In addition to furnishing this income to the students, the program has as one of its principal objectives a complete work plan or future education plan for each of the senior students.

Students interested in applying for NYC summer work may get additional information from Judge Thomas or his secretary, Mrs. Kenyard Poteet.

Two County Women in Farmers Union Fly-in

Mrs. Delbert White and Mrs. Loyd Langley of Quail are among a group of ladies representing Texas Farmers Union who participated in the National Farmers Union sponsored Ladies Legislative Fly-in to Washington April 26 to 29. The program, which brought several hundred women and rural community leaders to Washington, D.C., was designed as a grass-roots lobbying effort.

The key issue confronting the Congress at this time, which is of priority importance to farmers, is the passage of a farm program at the expiration of the present commodity programs this year. The ladies participating in the National Farmers Union Ladies Legislative Fly-In called Congress's attention to the importance of passing a long-range farm program to provide adequate income to the rural area.

They discussed the importance of the Agricultural Conservation Program, which is needed to fight erosion, sedimentation, and pollution. This program is considered the first line of environmental defense. The school milk program and high interest rates came in for considerable attention by the group.

During the three-day period, teams of Farmers Union ladies contacted all 535 members of Congress and the Senate. They visited the Department of Agriculture and were briefed on current farm legislation and proposals for the future.

Although the Ladies Fly-In program was primarily a business trip, the ladies took time off to do some sight-seeing in the nation's capital, including places of historic and cultural interest in Washington. They were entertained by members of Congress at a congressional breakfast and participated in a special Texas dinner.
