FOR SERVICE IN 1959

Robinson Honored as Top Chamber Member

More than 250 civic leaders Thursday night honored Glenn R. (Bob) Robinson as Colorado City's outstanding Chamber of Commerce member.

The award, for service during the 1959 work year, was announced at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in Civic House by Max Caddell, chamber president.

Caddell presented a plaque to the outstanding member in a highlight of the banquet program.

"In recognition of outstanding service to the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce," the engraved plaque stated. Robinson, who owns and operates the Robinson Drilling Company here, served as chairman of the chamber's industrial development committee during 1959.

It was his committee which mapped and planned the organization of the Colorado City Industrial Team, which was incorporated as a non-profit corporation to assist in the location and expansion of industry within the Colorado City area.

"As in the case with an award of this nature," Caddell told the banquet audience, "it is always difficult to name only one who has been outstanding... especially when there have been so many who have worked hard, given freely of their time and efforts."

"The honor this year has been bestowed upon a man who has given of his time unselfishly... a man who thoroughly believes in Colorado City and its future... and who is willing to do anything he is asked to do to make our community a better place in which to live."

Introduced at the banquet were the chamber's officers and staff for 1960 — Caddell, who begins his second year as president; Dr. Seth Cowan and Philip Berman, vice presidents; Dr. H. Jene Steakley, secretary; Wayne Shawn, treasurer; Rex Felker, manager.

Directors, in addition to the officers, presented to the audience were Roy P. Bates, Fred McKay, W. J. (Dub) Turner, all incoming; George Witten, Harold Maniss, Paul Boyd Hunter and James Boyd, holdovers.

Outgoing directors, who were praised for their service at the conclusion of 3-year terms, were Jeff Taylor, R. B. Baker, J. C. Costin and Luke Thomas.

Final rites were conducted Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Catholic Church in Loraine. Burial was in Loraine Cemetery under direction of Kiker & Son Funeral Home.

Survivors include 5 sons — Felipe, Ben, Alex, Jesus and Jose Hermosillo, all of Roscoe; 4 daughters — Mrs. Jimmy Boquerene, Mrs. Virginia Hermosillo, Misses Magdalena and Frances Hermosillo, all of Roscoe; and a stepson, Alex Martinez, also of Roscoe.

GUNSHOT VICTIM

Autopsy Reported Awaited in Death

Inquest verdict in the death of Andreas Hermosillo, 70, Thursday awaited an autopsy report from an Abilene pathologist.

But District Attorney Eldon Mahon and Sheriff R. E. (Dick) Gregory Jr. both indicated their investigations had found no evidence of foul play.

Hermosillo was found dead at about 6:30 a. m. Monday at his home on the Wallace Ranch about 3 miles south of Loraine.

He had fallen back on his bed with a bullet hole in his left temple. At his right side was a bolt action, single shot .22 caliber rifle.

His bed was neatly made and he was fully dressed with coveralls, jacket and cap.

Hermosillo had lived in Mitchell County for 20 years and resided alone at the little ranch house.

Justice of Peace S.H. Hart Jr. of Loraine said his inquest verdict would await the autopsy report from Dr. Jarrett Williams, Abilene pathologist, who performed the autopsy with Dr. Kenneth Cowan of Colorado City.

BANQUET SPEAKER SAYS

Future in Business Men's Hands, Ideas

The man who coordinates the business and industrial progress of Amarillo declared here Thursday that Chamber of Commerce is a matter of life and death.

"Job of the Chamber of Commerce is nothing less than to develop our most valuable resource—free men. Destroy it," said Jack Lacy, "fail to strengthen the organization of American business and you have knocked the props out from under free enterprise."

Lacy, executive vice president and general manager of Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, was here as principal speaker for the community's annual chamber banquet Thursday night in Civic House.

The manager whose year has ranged from optimism to business, industry and professional management—tied together aims of the chamber, business and democratic enterprise.

"Officers, directors and committee chairmen of your Colorado City Chamber of Commerce," Lacy said, "hold in their hands the most precious commodity in the world today—volunteer time of free men."

"No place else on earth can this commodity be found except in the United States."

He said that Chamber of Commerce members are charged with the responsibility of engineering the social aspects of a free economy.

"Through the Chamber of Commerce, business leaders must set unselfish goals that benefit the community as a whole," Lacy stated.

And the chamber is the only place, he pointed out, where every phase of community business life is benefited by planning, preparation and action of volunteer citizens.

The Amarillo executive placed importance upon the goals of a city.

"Every city must have long-range goals," he said, "to keep the citizens from being discouraged by short range failures."

"American communities today must be led by positive thinking men—men who can see the opportunities in every difficulty, rather than the difficulties in every opportunity."

"We cannot be satisfied with present standards. We must constantly be setting higher standards for each of our communities... and we must be constantly striving to achieve them."

Lacy, who has served as president and dean of faculty for Southwestern Institute for Chamber of Commerce executives in Dallas, spoke of the ideas that are born from men.

IN JOINT MEETING

Methodist Women of Africa Studied by WSCS and WSG

Featured on the program presented to the Wesley Service Guild and the Women Society of Christian Service when they met in Fellowship Hall Monday night for a salad supper were Mrs. Clarence Collins, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. R. H. (Bob) Ratliff Jr. and Mrs. Porter Richardson.

Mrs. Collins told the group about the women of Rukwazano Rwe Wadzimal a town in Africa and their Methodist Christian Society.

"The women of the Rukwazano Rwe Wadzimal are earnest consecrated Christians who have truly received Christ as Saviour and whose greatest desire is to lead others into a like experience," she stated.

Some rules stressed by these Christian women, Mrs. Collins said, are: "She teaches her children the way of Jesus Christ by family worship, example, talks and prayers for and with the children to lead them to accept Christ."

Mrs. Collins stated that a member of the Rukwazano Methodist Church does not smoke or drink, does not work in the tobacco fields nor send her children to work there.

"She keeps her home and her children clean and looks after the clothing of her husband, keeps it clean and sews on the buttons," the speaker reported, "and she brings him food and hot water for washing."

Mrs. Collins said that these things might make you smile, but they are details that help make Rukwazano marriages resistant to divorce and quarrelling.

"These rules are not just an idealistic statement to look nice in print and then be forgotten," she continued, "for when a woman is received as a member of the society she promises to keep these laws and if she breaks them, to hand in her badge to the chairman and cease wearing the uniform."

Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Ratliff and Mrs. Richardson presented a skit on some of the facts behind the Wesleyan Service Guild.

During the skit it was pointed out that there are 47 units in 42 countries. Forty countries have one unit each and there are 5 units in the North America area.

The group was told that in 1939 the organization was founded with Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, who served as its first president. They were also told that the World Federation represents 81 million people.

The group learned that Mrs. Ernst Scholz, of Berlin, Germany, is the president of world organization and Mrs.

Paul Arrington of Jackson, Miss., is the vice president.

The group was shown a display of the states of Alaska and Hawaii after the close of a short business session.

Mrs. E. M. Fisher was welcomed as a new member into the Wesley Service Guild.

Orr, Turner Honored on Birthdays

EXPERIENCE TEACHES A DEAR SCHOOL

Older people remember from past experience that you usually get no more than you pay for. Anyone looking for a bargain generally pays more than the true value.

Recently the New York City health department stopped the sale of medicines by door-to-door peddlers. Their exaggerated claims about benefits and savings were injuring the health and in many cases defrauding the public.

Do not gamble with your health. You can always depend on the quality and fair prices of the medicines, health aids and vitamins we supply.

Pick up your prescription if shopping near us or let us deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

FOR INCOME TAX

Local Taxpayers Favor Small Form

Treasury records show that at least one out of every four Mitchell County taxpayers use the simplified form tax Form 1040A, says Ben M. Hawkins Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue Service, Big Spring. Revenue's budget (size of an average bank check) tax form may be used by individual with total income of less than $10,000, consisting of wages reported on Form W-2 and not more than $200 in dividends, interest, and wages not subject to withholding. Husband and wife may file a joint 1040A return for '59, if their combined income doesn't exceed the stated limits. Taxpayers using Form 1040A automatically file the standard 10 per cent deduction allowed for such personal expenses as contributions, interest payments, medical expenses, and such. Taxpayers with allowable deductions for these items in excess of 10 per cent of their income for '59 must use the standard Form 1040. If they wish to claim them," Hawkins explained. Taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 may figure their own tax, or have someone do the chore. Taxpayers with incomes of $5,000 or more must figure their own tax. Form 1040A must not be used when taxpayers claim "head of household" or "surviving spouse" status; dividends received credit or re-

JOLT LAKE VIEW, 68-59

Wolves Startle 3-AAA With Second Triumph

Colorado City Wolves played both ends of the game Tuesday night and climbed right to the forefront of District 3-AAA basketball.

They started and finished strong—one of the few times they've put the 2 ends together this season in a single game—to stun Lake View, 68 to 59, on the Chief's home court.

It was district triumph No. 2 for Coach Caddo Matthews' rebounding cagers against no losses in District 3-AAA play the finest mark so far within the district.

For Lake View, defending 3-AAA champions, the loss registered a forlorn opening for their 1960 district schedule.

The Wolves, now winners in their last 4 out of 5 contests, had previously opened their 3-AAA schedule Friday in Snyder with a 66 to 62 success against Snyder Tigers.

And to keep the winning habit, they scored a 54-51 victory Saturday night in their Colorado City gym against Roscoe.

Only other undefeated 3-AAA club is the highly regarded Lamesa Tornados, who Tuesday night opened their 3-AAA effort with a resounding 56 to 51, win over Sweetwater.

Sweetwater, who came back Tuesday night to slaughter Snyder, 72-45, is stamped as a co-favorite with Lamesa for the 3-AAA title and comes to Colorado City Tuesday night to mix it with the Wolves.

The Wolves in Lake View Tuesday night spurred into the front quickly as they moved toward their second consecutive league victory.

In fact, Matthews' boys were sprinting with a 20 to 11 lead at the end of the first quarter. But the Chiefs, led by the accurate Ken Phillips, pressed the Wolves quickly in the second period and trailed only 34 to 33 at the half.

However, CCity still managed to close out the third period with a 50 to 48 advantage and then held on through a nip and tuck early fourth period.

But with a minute to go, the local club was in front 63 to 59—and then stretched that lead 5 more points before the final whistle.

Jerry Haley, the high scoring Wolf senior, led the CCity offense with a total of 29 points—13 of those from the free throw line.

Haley, Ronnie Bassinger, Jerry McKay and sophomore Steve Hillhouse furnished the scoring spark which sent the Wolves into that 20 to 11 first quarter lead. Twelve of those 20 points came from free tosses—Hillhouse and McKay each sinking 4 without a bobble.

The Wolves were almost shut out in the cold in the second period except for the shooting of Haley and Bassinger. And it was Haley again with 3 field goals and 6 gratis shots—who mostly kept his team going in the third as Lake View sought to fuel its rally into a victory pace.

Then, in the fourth Hillhouse, who added 2 more free throws without a miss for a perfect night and 2 field goals; Steve Smith, Haley, McKay and Bassinger all chipped in to assure the triumph.

Phillips tossed in 12 field goals and a couple of free throws for 26 Lake View points. No. 2 scoring honors for the night behind Haley.

Bobby Shuffield of Lake View, Bassinger and Hillhouse each counted 12 points.

Wallace to Play Here Friday Night; Bops Snyder 102-45

The Wallace Wildcats, who play Lamesa here Friday night in Colorado High Gym, reached the century mark Tuesday night in Snyder when they romped to a whopping 102-45 win over hapless Lincoln High crew.

The first quarter was a tight one that saw the Bulldogs hold the Wildcats to only a 15-10 lead.

But Wallace began inching away in the second quarter. The Bulldogs could count but 10 while the Wildcats burned the nets with 25 points. The score at the half was Wallace 40, Snyder 20.

The shooting of Charles Lindsey and Tony Jones led the attack in the second half which found Wallace making 62 points to 25 for Snyder. Charles Lindsey had 40 points and Tony Jones had 21 points for their totals. The other scorers were David (Tee-Lee)

Miles 19, Clifton (Catfish) Lee 10, and Henry Burton 10. Burton, a second stringer filling in, played as well as the regulars with his crafty shooting and ball handling. Melvin Williams and Willie Taylor had one point each.

The Wallace girls eked out a thrilling 35-34 win over the Wallace girls. The Wallace scorers were Jewelene Williams 14 points, Dorothy Johnson 10 points, Sue Taylor 7 points, and Effie Woods 3 points. L. Archie had 23 for the winners.

Sue Taylor had a chance to tie the score at 35-35 with five seconds left but missed the second of 2 free shots. Snyder froze the ball the remaining seconds. Wallace Wildcats, behind the crafty shooting of Charles Lindsey, David (Tee-Lee) Miles, Clifton Lee, and Tony Jones, swamped the Munday five here Friday night. Melvin Williams, Curtis Scott, Jerry Williams, Herman Lewey, and Curtis Alexander also figured in the Wallace scoring.

Charles Lindsey (26 points) got the Wildcats off to their regular start by hooping 12 points in the first quarter and seven in the second quarter. David Miles made only six points in the first half, but his aims in the second half were better and he had a 16 point total. Clifton Lee and Tony Jones had 12 each. The Munday "54" which consisted of L. McDonald, J. Webb, P. Shearod, D. Shearod, and O. J. Adams, tried frantically to stop the talented Wildcats. They even called three time outs in the first quarter.

The Munday girls took a 50-19 decision from the Wildkittens. P. Tolliver, E. Hunnicutt, and J. Boozer had 19, 18, and 13 points respectively. Jewelene Williams made the most points for the Wildkittens. She had 12.

Education Moves Agriculture Forward

A year-end summary of conservation educational activities carried out during 1959 in Texas shows that real progress was made, says Jack H. Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist. The summary was compiled by Barton from the 1959 annual reports of the State's county agricultural agents.

The specialist said that team work and understanding between the supervisors of the Soil Conservation Districts and the county agents of Texas—like here in Mitchell County—were largely responsible for the progress made in educational activities. These activities included meetings, tours and contests, educational exhibits and demonstrations, preparation of newspaper and magazine stories, presentation of radio and television programs, distribution of printed material, and meetings involving SCD supervisors and county agents.

All educational activities showed good increases, Barton said. Outstanding increases were noted in the use of educational exhibits and demonstrations and printed materials for furthering conservation work, he noted.

Barton pointed out that the 177 soil conservation districts of Texas now cover approximately 98 percent of the farm and ranch lands and that the districts are the medium through which local residents can develop and promote their own soil, water and plant conservation program.

Each of the districts, he added, is a self-governed, State subdivision established by the district residents through popular vote. They concentrate the authority in the local community and exercise it by democratic methods. A local district is supervised by a five-man board, and are elected public officials of a subdivision of the State government.

The Texas Legislature in 1940 authorized the creation of Soil Conservation Districts as an aid to carrying out the State Constitution as it relates to the conservation of soil and water resources, and to promote and protect the health, safety, and general welfare of the people of Texas.

And the work in this program carried on here in Mitchell County by conservation "disciples" will increase in value as the years roll by.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Scientists in Big Farming Mistake

Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek seems to have a good idea of the letter this week indicates. It's not the first time.

Dear editor:

With life these days is that most people are being led down with progress, and there's no escape in sight. Everybody who has been to a big city along about quitting time is the late afternoon knows the automobile at that hour creates more problems than it solves.

Or take farming. We don't have any traffic congestion, but we've got a surplus that's just as bad.

What brings this to mind is an article I read last night in a newspaper an insurance salesman left out here. According to it, scientists are working on a scheme to prolong the life of fresh fruits and vegetables 10 times what it is today. By using some sort of atomic radiation they claim they can make potatoes or a head of lettuce stay fresh at least 10 times longer.

Then, the scientists are taking a great step forward, but what they're fixing to do is put fresh fruits and vegetables in the same shape we've gotten all other agricultural products.

Say you're the secretary of Agriculture. Up to now, while you might be pressed down with worry over the surplus of corn, wheat, cotton, etc., you at least would smile when you thought of lettuce.

Oh, there might be a surplus of lettuce for a few weeks, but you could get an inner glow out of remembering the problem would soon wilt, and a month from now the surplus, however tremendous, would disappear. Instead of hanging around for years staring you in the face like wheat.

But no. Scientists aren't satisfied with a situation like that. What they're working on is a scheme to make lettuce stare the Secretary of Agriculture in the face for months and maybe years. Not only lettuce but tomatoes, cabbages, green beans, watermelons, oranges and anything else you can think of.

If scientists had us farmers and the Secretary of Agriculture's best interests at heart, what they'd be doing is leaving the fresh fruits and vegetables alone and working on a brand of wheat for example that expires six months after it's harvested, if it wasn't made into flour by then, it'd disintegrate.

If the same thing was worked out for corn, cotton, etc., the surplus problem would be whipped and all the national magazines could stop worrying about what the farmers are costing the government.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

History's Lesson Is For Today

The brilliant Harvard philosopher, George Santayana, once said: "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to relive it."

To remember and learn from the past is the reason for being of history—and of the individual and institutions which devote themselves to the recording and interpretation of history.

A remarkable and unique example is the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace at Stanford University. It houses upwards of 25 million items, books, documents, and files of the press the world over. Its records, in two-score languages, began with the cause of the First World War and are constantly being added to.

Former President Hoover has said of it: "During this century there have developed forces and events which, as never before in our national life, have had so profound an effect on our independence, our form of government, our social and economic system, and the setting of the American people in the international world.

Here in this Institution is the greatest storehouse of the records of these forces and even events, which exist in the world. Its upbuilding and preservation have become doubly precious to the world because of the wholesale destruction of libraries and historical material during the Second World War."

The over-all mission of this Institution is, from its records, to recall the voice of experience against the making of war, and by the study of these records—and their publication to recall man's endeavors to make and preserve peace and to sustain for America the safeguards of the American way of life.

If our nation, or any nation, is to have a better life it must remember the past.

BIBLE COMMENT

Literature, Yes—Also Book of God

Many books about the Bible, particularly in recent years, have dealt with the Bible as literature, or as a book of human interest.

This approach is valid as far as it goes. It did not need translation of the Hebrew and Greek texts to reveal its greatness as literature.

But the printing of the Bible in English—arising out of an age which produced Shakespeare—gave it a pre-eminent place in the literature of the English-speaking world.

In human interest, too: the Bible is a captivating and profoundly revealing book about man. The archeologist and the anthropologist can find in many of its pages much that is significant.

But the Bible is primarily the book about God. The unbeliever who looks to it for literature may pay it the compliment of his interest, and though he may not realize it, he actually uses it despitely, through failing to recognize what it is.

The Bible is great as literature because of the "greatness of the ideas, quests and the truth with which it deals. It is not merely a cliché to suggest that one can find true spiritual uplifting from reading the pages of the Bible.

For a true spiritual courage that few prayers that can be missed that which appears in Psalm 139:23, 24: "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me into the way everlasting."

Retailer's Lesson In Auto Campaign

By ROY V. FOX
Record Co-Publisher

The big three of the automobile industry will spend $300 million to advertise their new compact cars in 1960.

Their budgets are approximately equal—$30 million each.

At the moment, the importers of small foreign cars are not alarmed by the huge advertising budgets of the new competitors.

In fact, the importers feel that the increased advertising of the compact car by Ford, Chevrolet and Chrysler will actually help the sale of imported small cars.

The officials of American Motors, manufacturers of the Rambler, are thinking in a similar vein. They plan to make their Rambler during 1960, they believe.

It is a good idea to study the advertising of the compact cars. The automobile industry is a good example of a well-planned advertising campaign.

Auto Insurance Ruckus Stirs Up Loudest Noise in Months

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Nothing that has come out of state government in recent months has caused as bit a ruckus as the merit plan auto insurance rates.

It is possible to take either side of the question and start a lively argument on almost any street corner.

Critics have mounted a two-pronged attack: (1) to get the Board of Insurance, which authored the plan, to change it and (2) to get the courts to declare it unconstitutional.

Board hearing to review the plan was called at the request of Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, one of the most vocal objectors to the plan. Just before the hearing, a group of attorneys from the Harris County chapter of the Texas Association of Plaintiffs' Attorneys filed suit in an Austin district court seeking a permanent injunction against use of the plan.

Chairman Penn J. Jackson declared the Board would listen to all protests with an open mind. Most insurance rates, he said, are subject to frequent changes. However, Jackson emphasized that the Board is directed by law to consider safety incentives and driving records, past and prospective, in its rate making.

Some motorists complain that in the past they have paid fines on tickets when they were not actually at fault—just to avoid the trouble of going to court.

Sen. Hazlewood derided the idea of putting all violators in the same class—those that go 23 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone and those that go 100 miles an hour. He charged, too, that much ticket giving is merely a money-raising proposition. Residents of cities where traffic is strictly policed and all accidents and violations faithfully reported to the Department of Public Safety will get it in the neck, said the senator. Small towns are generally less diligent in policing or reporting violators to DPS.

Hazlewood said he was and still is in favor of a "realistic" merit rating plan.

Defenders of the present plan say that if law enforcement is at fault, this, not the insurance plan, should be worked on.

With all the fussing and fuming, say proponents, it must be admitted that motorists are now giving more thought to careful driving than ever before. A traffic ticket costing $60 is a sobering thought.

SESSION URGED—Texas teachers still hope to get a salary raise in a special session of the Legislature this year.

Leaders of public school teachers' organizations say they believe Gov. Price Daniel will call a session after Feb. 1.

Teachers want to see the matter come up at a special session rather than at the next regular session in 1961. In a regular session, they would face again the same obstacles they faced in 1959, the necessity of taking care of regular money needs probably including a deficit before any new appropriations will be considered.

FACULTY RAISES—Commission on Higher Education recommends the Legislature raise salaries for state college professors by 12 per cent for 1962 and 18 per cent for 1963.

Commission said Texas colleges need to pay this much more to be able to keep up with other colleges in competing for the available supply of teachers.

During its last session the Legislature cut the Commission's requested college budget by 71 per cent.

Commission has agreed to hear the University of Houston's request for inclusion in the state college system at its April meeting.

BANKING AUTHORITY—Savings and loan associations may not open branches without approval of the State Banking Commission.

State Supreme Court issued this opinion in an 8-to-1 decision on a case in which a Houston savings and loan association had challenged the commission's right to pass on a proposed branch. Savings and loan associations, like banks, are chartered by the Banking Commission.

Court said this regulation was necessary to prevent "excessively zealous competition through control of building and loan associations in an area."

Dissenting judge said there is nothing in the law to give the commission this power.

WASHINGTON REPORT

3 Major Issues Facing Congress

By CLINTON DAVIDSON
Special Correspondent

Congress settled down this week to a scheduled six-month session that, in addition to partisan political debate, includes three major issues.

Congressional leaders have talked with list those issues as: (1) foreign policy, (2) farm programs, and (3) economic policies. The three could be lumped under the general heading of "peace and prosperity."

Add to those, as secondary issues, debate over civil rights, federal aid to education, tax revision, changes in social security legislation, and the federal aid highway program.

Nobody in Washington will be forgetting that this is a presidential-election year in which all Representatives will either be running for reelection or voluntarily retiring. Further complicating the Washington situation is the fact that, as in 5 of the past 6 years, Democrats have a large majority in Congress, while Republicans are in charge of the Administrative branch of government.

There is more political unity on foreign policy than any of the other important issues before Congress. There is solid backing for President Eisenhower in his Summit Conference schedule for late spring in Paris.

There are differences, however, over foreign aid, both economic and military. Our European allies are the most prosperous since before World War II and there is strong demand in Congress that they share a larger part of the Free World defense costs.

The President wants and likely will get, some kind of a "food for peace" program that will call for increased shipments of food to such under-developed countries as India at a cost of somewhere near $3 billion.

There are sharper political differences over farm programs and such economic issues as inflation and management-labor disputes. Success of the Administration's anti-inflation program depends on settlement of strikes without substantial wage increases.

A substantial number of Congressmen favor "soft" legislation to prevent protracted strikes in important industries, such as steel and transportation. Such legislation isn't likely, however, in an election year.

Most troublesome of all is the problem of developing a farm program which would (1) reduce farm aid costs, (2) halt the buildup of surpluses, and (3) reverse the sharp decline in farm income.

The division over farm issues is almost strictly along party lines. The President vetoed a Democratic farm bill last year, and Congress flatly refused to consider an Administration farm program that Mr. Eisenhower has again asked for this year.

LONE STAR DEGREE

Degree Honors Hull For Service to FFA

James Hull, electrification advisor for Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative Inc., was presented the honorary Lone Star Farmer degree Saturday in Big Spring.

He was one of four West Texans who received the award at the annual mid-winter conference for vocational agriculture teachers of a 43-county area.

Hull, 29, was nominated for the award—symbol of outstanding and exceptional service to Future Farmers of America—by the Colorado City FFA Chapter.

Receiving the award with him in Big Spring were Fleck Powell, butane dealer of Fort Stockton; Ray Adams, farmer of Ackerly; and R. B. Dooley, agriculture instructor at San Angelo Junior College.

Hull in his 3 years on the staff of Colorado City's Lone Wolf Electric has instituted and planned an active program in support of agricultural development for youth.

His firm contributed 200 bags of light bulbs to the local FFA Chapter for their sale to selected customers with $1 of the $2 sale price going for the chapter's sale campaign and expenses and $1 going in to the chapter fund to finance the FFA's annual parents-son banquet.

Hull also through his firm assisted the chapter's skill team in compiling data and training for the demonstration which won first place in FFA district competition.

Various electrical demonstrations and films for better farming and living also have been shown the chapter through the cooperation of Lone Wolf.

At a banquet Friday night the area group was welcomed by Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College. The speaker was Floyd Parsons, superintendent of Big Spring schools who spoke on "The Place of Vocational Agriculture in the Total School Program."

Saturday morning Penrose Metcalfe, state board of education member from San Angelo, spoke on "The Latest Developments in the High School Curriculum Studies." Also on the program was Sweet Gerald Thomas, dean of the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech, speaking on "Education for Modern Agriculture."

Others on the program were: Roy Werley, principal, Big Spring High School; E. C. Weekley and E. L. Tiner, consultants for Agricultural Education, Texas Education Agency, Austin; J. L. Ward, Texas Electric Service Company, Fort Worth; Sam Thomas, Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo; and John Holcomb, executive secretary of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas, Austin.

The Conference was at Howard County Junior College under the supervision of Clemon Montgomery, area supervisor of vocational agriculture with the Texas Education Agency.

On Journey...

Pat Boone and Diane Baker star in "Journey to the Center of the Earth," showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Palace Theatre. Also starring are James Mason, Arlene Dahl and Peter Ronson.

TO PALACE THEATRE

Science Fiction Feature Coming

Jules Verne, the first and perhaps the greatest of all science fiction writers, was more than a century ahead of his time when in his nineteenth century writings he described the atomic submarines and the airships that have become the fare of modern warfare.

Who knows how far ahead he was looking when in 1864 he wrote "Journey to the Center of the Earth," opening Sunday at the Palace Theatre, about man's invasion of inner space?

Twentieth Century-Fox doesn't claim to answer the question in "Journey," but it will give you an excellent glimpse at the imagined marvels that are said to lie under the earth's crust.

The guides on this perilous journey into the innards of the earth are none other than Pat Boone, James Mason, Diane Baker, Arlene Dahl and Peter Ronson, a new lack on the screen from Iceland, and his pet duck, Gertrude.

On their way to the lost city of Atlantis, this attractive quintet actually encounters a plant forest of mushroom trees; a reptile stampede; a cavern of glistening quartz; an underground natural show; a magnetic storm; a water spout; and a huge subterranean ocean. The expedition begins in Iceland and ends when the party rides a great air elevator—like a cosmic elevator—up through the volcano Stromboli and out onto the floor of the Mediterranean Sea.

Pat Boone who kisses a girl (Diane Baker) for the first time in "No Vice, No Virtue" sings four songs while on his subterranean junket.

James Mason plays the part of the University of Edinburgh geology professor who leads the expedition. Mason's an old hand at "Sea" ventures having played the dour Captain Nemo, master of the Nautilus, in "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

As the lady explorer, Arlene Dahl is making a departure from her usual sophisticated roles. No chic wardrobe for her in "Journey." In fact, her costume becomes more and more tattered and scant as the journey progresses.

Diane Baker, in her third laughter and Boone's intended movie role, portrays Mason's ad.

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE

Chevy's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices

Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V8's.

New Torsion-Spring Suspension

Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel rattle! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium- and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels

Front wheels and tires are balanced at the factory. Helps make that new ride revolutionary!

New Cabs—Wider, Safer, More Comfortable

Many models are a whole 7 inches lower (without sacrificing road clearance), so it's easier to hop in and out of cabs. Still there's more space inside: more room for hats and hips, more foot room with suspended pedals. Cabs are safer, too; new build makes them 67% more rigid.

Plus Improvements All Through the Line

A new steering linkage system that cuts vibration, means better control. There's new V8 efficiency. Sixes long famous for saving. New key-turn starting. Higher, wider visibility. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about the world's most advanced trucks.

DAN HALLIGAN'S UNDER 21

Speeder Can Be Like 1 Bad Apple

DEAR DAN: Fourteen of us, a year and two out of high school, have formed a car club. Our primary purpose is remodeling our own cars into custom cars, although one of our by-laws does say we will promote traffic safety.

One of our members has been arrested twice in the last 3 weeks for speeding and we don't know what to make of it. He helped organize the club and we don't want to take any action against him but something's got to be done. We don't live in a really big city, and word will soon get around that we're all a bunch of speeders. Help us right away if you can. Thanks. — G. B.

DEAR G. B.: I don't know what your membership rules say about a charter member being given special privileges but I do know if he keeps giving the club adverse publicity, it won't last long. Remember the story of the one bad apple in the barrel?

If 13 of you impress on him he's getting unpopular. I'm sure he'll straighten out and slow down. Otherwise, vote him out of the club for your own sakes.

DEAR DAN: I am a girl of 17 and would like to know whether or not to speak to boys if we haven't been properly introduced. Specifically, if I'm walking along the street and some boys I know by sight are sitting in a parked car, should I talk to them for any length of time?

My other question concerns dancing with boys. Is it all right to accept a dance with a boy without first being introduced? My whole crowd does this but my father says they're wrong. He says introductions should come first. Thank you for whatever help you can give. — MISS PERPLEXED.

DEAR MISS PERPLEXED: If you know the boys well enough by sight and you're sure they, at least know you on that same basis, it's all right to smile and say "Hi." However, don't go beyond that. A girl doesn't look very lady-like leaning into or standing outside of a car containing boys and carrying on a conversation with them.

Dances are different than sidewalk meetings and I think it's perfectly proper for you to accept a dance with a boy you don't know provided he seems like a gentleman when he asks you. Dances are one of the best methods for teenage boys and girls to become better acquainted and I'm all for them. One final word, no matter how nice the boy may be, don't accept a ride home with him, if he wants a date with you, he can ask you and then come to your house another evening.

DEAR DAN: My girl friend will be 16 in a few weeks and I don't know what to get her for her birthday. I've been figuring on a $10 gift but I'm stymied. Would a gift certificate be proper? Then she could buy something she really needs. — J. M.

DEAR J. M.: Don't get her a gift certificate because it will only be a piece of paper to her. I'm sure she would much rather have something personal from you, such as a jewelry box, her favorite perfume or something similar.

DEAR DAN: My parents just started letting me date last month when I became 14. I like a certain boy very much and whenever he takes me out in his car, I don't sit close to him. My friends say I should but I don't know. My mother says to do what you say. Will you please help me? Thank you very much. — MARGARENE.

DEAR MARGARENE: Don't sit too close to the boy because that is only for those going steady. Slide a few inches in from the door and keep it at that for the time being.
