Q. Is it true that a couple now has to wait 3 days before getting married?

A. Yes, a new state-law which went into effect on January 1, now requires a 72-hour "cooling off" period, from the time the marriage license is issued until a couple can legally be married. Date and time of the issuance will be stamped on each marriage license certificate. Previously, a couple could get married immediately after the issuance of a marriage license. Several years ago, a couple had to submit to venereal disease test and had to wait for the test results before they could apply for a marriage license.

Fires

One mobile home was destroyed and another heavily damaged by fire here over the Christmas holiday weekend.

Local firemen were called at 6:26 p.m. Christmas Day to the home of the J. Williams on Lafatte Ave. Firemen spent almost an hour and a half fighting the blaze, but the mobile home and all the family belongs were destroyed.

Fire broke out in another mobile home about a 1/2 mile south of Colorado City on Highway 163 at 6:43 p.m. the next day, Dec. 26. Heavy damage resulted but not as severe as the earlier.

Malfunctioning butane gas regulators were believed the cause of both fires.

A crowd of some 55 interested truckers attended the day-long seminar on new trucking regulations held at the Civic Center Wednesday. The Seminar, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and First Western Savings was conducted by area DPS troopers from the license and weight division.

Good crowd attends trucking seminar

Some 55 persons, a larger crowd than expected, participated in the day-long seminar on the new trucking regulations held at the Civic Center Wednesday.

The seminar, sponsored by Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce and First Western Savings, was conducted by License and Weights DPS troopers Marvin Keenan and Bend Lockhart of Big Spring, Clark Kilpatrick of San Angelo, J. D. Summerlin of Sweetwater, and

B. N. "Buddy" Hertenberger of Colorado City.

The new regulations affecting private and for hire trucks in excess of 10,000 pounds gross weight have been imposed by the Texas Railroad Commission beginning this year. Some of the major concerns of the truckers include requirements of maintaining driver time logs, driver qualification tests, $500,000 liability insurance, registration and many other new regulations.

Plans getting underway for annual livestock show

Plans and preparations are underway for the 51st annual 4-H and FFA Mitchell County Livestock Show.

The annual show is scheduled for January 21, 22 and 23 and will be held at the Fair Grounds Ag Barn.

Dave Stubblefield, president, said Show officials are currently raising funds through advertisements, donations and contributions. He reminded all interested persons and firms that contributions must be in by the end of the coming week in order to appear in the premium book.

Other Show officials are George Walker, vice-president; Jim Dockrey, secretary; Tony Turner, treasurer; Ricky McPhaul, finance chairman.

Serving as swine superintendent will be Mark Rascke; Bruce Gale as steer superintendent and Ricky McPhaul as sheep superintendent.

The pens will be set up at the Ag Barn on January 16, Stubblefield said.

In the meantime, under the direction and the County Agent Mike Mauldin and school Vocational Ag Teachers, hundreds of Mitchell County 4-H and FFA youths are busy preparing their animals for the January 21 weigh-in. Judging of the three divisions will be held on January 23.

LARRY E. HALE
Commissioner 3 candidate

Larry Hale announces for Commissioner

Larry E. Hale has authorized The Record to announce his candidacy for the office of Mitchell County Commissioner of Precinct 3, subject to the Democratic Primary Election, March 8.

Hale, 42, is an employee of Mitchell County working on the Road and Bridge crew. He has resided in Mitchell County for the past seven years, after returning in 1981. He and his wife, Bee, have 11 acres in the Plainview community, where they now live and plan to raise a family. He is an active member of the Plainview Baptist Church and the Sun-down Lions Club. He was honorably discharged from the U. S. Navy in 1966 and retains his membership in the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In making his announcement, Hale said, "During my six years with Mitchell County, I have been involved in all aspects of road work. I feel that knowing the employees, their jobs and the equipment they have to work with is invaluable. I have knowledge of making county purchases for equipment, repairs and supplies. Getting quality items for the lowest prices will be one of my top priorities."

"The next commissioner will take over the responsibility of 105 miles of road, 8 bridges, and approximately 3/4 of a million dollars of equipment. The taxpayers of Mitchell county can ill afford a costly learning period."

297 criminal cases filed

In looking over his records for 1987, County Judge Bill Carter has revealed that a total of 297 criminal cases were filed in his Court during the year.

One hundred and fifty seven of the cases were filed by the Colorado City Police Department; 117 by the Department of Public Safety; 10 by the Mitchell County Sheriff's Office; and 13 others.

Of those cases, 160 or 53.8% were on charges of driving while intoxicated. Sixty of the cases were traffic citations appealed from Justice of the Peace Courts.

The violations included charges of speeding, 47; driving while license suspended, 18; possession of marijuana, 14; weapons violations, 9; arresting arrest, 8; no seat belt, 5; assault and theft, 4 each; three each for alcohol to a minor and harassment; two each for reckless driving, public intoxication, criminal mischief, no liability insurance, and terroristic threats; and one each for intersection passing, running stop sign, disorderly conduct, failure to yield, left scene of accident, failure to appear, criminal trespassing, boat violation, no license tags, and no lights.

Midland youth arrested on local forgery indictment

An 18-year-old Midland youth was arrested in Snyder Tuesday night on warrant from Mitchell County on charges of forgery.

A sealed indictment on the charge was handed down by the recent Mitchell County Grand Jury for 32nd District Court against Manuel Mitchell Gutierrez.

Gutierrez was transported to Mitchell County from Snyder Wednesday by Sheriff Wendell Bryant. He was released on bond shortly after his arrival here.

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"A prince may be persuaded by patience, and a soft tongue may break down solid bone." Proverbs 25:15

Here are some tips for the local politico hopefuls who are beginning campaigns for the upcoming primary election:

Benjamin Franklin's method of persuading others to his point of view took patience and endurance. It assumed that people often are won over slowly, often indirectly, and "a man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still." If you don't win the bargain today, Franklin would say, go after it again tomorrow—and the next day.

Some of his other persuasion tips were:

1. Be clear, in your own mind, about exactly what you're after.

2. Do your homework, so that you are fully prepared to discuss every aspect and respond to every question and comment.

3. Be persistent. Don't expect to "win" the first time. Your first job is just to start the other person thinking.

4. Make friends with the person with whom you are bargaining. Put your bargain in terms of his or her needs, advantages, and benefits.

5. Keep your sense of humor.

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "It is better to debate a question without settling it than to settle a question without debating it."

WANTED IN 1988—More to improve, fewer to disapprove. More "doers", fewer "talkers". More to say "it can be done", fewer to say "it can't be done". More to "inspire" others with confidence, fewer to throw "cold water" on anyone taking even one step in the right direction. More to get into the thick of things and "do something about it", fewer to sit on the sidelines merely "finding fault". More to point out what's right, fewer to keep harping on what's wrong. More to "light a candle", fewer to "curse the darkness".

DID YOU KNOW? 1988 is the year of the dragon, according to the ancient Chinese calendar, but the new year actually begins February 17.

37,000 get TU Electric aid funds

TU Electric's Energy Aid program has helped some 37,000 needy, elderly, ill or disabled area residents during the past five years by providing almost $2.5 million to pay for essential energy services, the company reported.

Energy Aid was begun in early 1983 with initial contributions by the company and its employees, to pay for electricity, natural gas, and other energy sources such as propane and kerosene for those unable to afford essential services. TU Electric customers were then asked to add a dollar or more to their monthly electric bill payment to continue the program. Energy Aid is administered by experienced social agencies in the cities served by the company.

"We want to thank our customers for their support of Energy Aid," said Bill Griffin, Western Region Manager. "We also want them to know that a renewed interest in the program is needed for its continued success. We have found that the pledge card method is the most successful way of collecting contributions for the program, and we urge all interested customers to fill out one of the cards."

Customers completing pledge cards designate an amount to be added automatically to their TU Electric bill each month. Cards were included in the December bills of all the company's customers. They also are available from local TU Electric offices. One-time contributions are still accepted, although a check box for the program no longer appears on bills.

TU Electric serves more than two million customers across approximately the northern third of Texas.

Commodities to be distributed

Commodities of cheese and butter will be distributed Wednesday from 1-3 p.m. at the ag barn, from 9-11 a.m. in Loraine and from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. in Westbrook.

Distribution time will be from 9-11 a.m. Thursday at the Wallace Center.

More taxes take effect

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that the final stages of a massive tax bill passed by the state Legislature last summer will go into effect on January 1.

"This has been one massive job, but we are ready to handle the changes made by the state's lawmakers," Bullock said.

Bullock said the Legislature authorized the wider tax base and increased the state sales tax to six percent in order to balance the state's 1988-89 budget.

Two services, data processing and commercial real property repair and remodeling, become taxable on January 1, according to Bullock.

Several other services, such as debt collection, pest control, information, security, janitorial, landscaping and garbage collection, became taxable October 1.

The Legislature also temporarily raised the state franchise tax rate to $6-70 per $1000 of taxable capital, Bullock said. The minimum franchise tax due was raised from $68 to $150. This increase will expire in 1990.

Banks are subject to the same tax rates as other corporations.

Bullock said lawyers will be paying a new occupational tax beginning January 1. The yearly fee of $110 will be collected by the Comptroller's office when the lawyer's state license is renewed.

Other professionals, such as physicians, architects and accountants, began paying an occupational tax in September.

The state's hotel-motel occupancy tax and motor vehicle sales tax were increased to six percent in September, according to Bullock. The state's cigarette tax has been 26 cents per carton since October, he said.

Get well message prompts reply from First Lady

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article appeared in the Bay City Daily Tribune and concerns the 10-year-old granddaughter of Vivian Ruddick Beights of Colorado City. The youngster is the daughter of Perry Ruddick of Gladewater, formerly of Colorado City.

A couple of weeks ago a letter addressed to Tiffany Ruddick with The White House written on the envelope arrived in her mailbox. It was a letter that she hoped would arrive, but when she saw it, she was nervous about opening it.

"I was excited and puzzled. I didn't know how to open it," said Tiffany, 10, and a fifth grade student at Cherry Elementary School.

The letter was from First Lady Nancy Reagan. Ruddick had written to Mrs. Reagan when she was in the hospital for her breast cancer surgery. The reason Tiffany wrote to her was because she had similar cancer surgery when she was 3 1/2 years old.

Tiffany's case was diagnosed as adenocarcinoma. Her mother, Connie Wells, said the cancer was found when bathing her. Tiffany's pediatrician, Dr. Fred Matthes, instructed her mother to watch the lump for six months for changes. When the lump grew in size, Dr. Matthes referred Tiffany to Dr. Bryan Simons who did a biopsy.

When the tumor was found to be malignant, he referred her to Dr. D.H. Mahoney and Dr. Charles McGill at Texas Children's Hospital in Houston. The lump was removed in 1980 and it has never reappeared. Dr. Mahoney told Mrs. Wells that this type of cancer is very rare in children under 10 years of age.

From her stay at Texas Children's Hospital, Tiffany remembers very little.

"I remember pushing the IV pole up and down the hallways and I remember the boy who had chemotherapy."

When Tiffany wrote to Mrs. Reagan she said, "Dear Mrs. Reagan, I'm very sorry for what happened about you having cancer. I know how you feel because I went threw (sic) the same thing. I had cancer when was 3-years-old. Now, I am 10 years old. I was the youngest case of what they have found."

Riveras host holiday visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rivera of Colorado City hosted all their children and their families for Christmas.

The holiday visitors included Dr. and Mrs. John Martinez from Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rivera Jr. and family from Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rivera and family from Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rivera and family from Colorado City.

When Mrs. Reagan wrote back to Tiffany, she said, "Dear Tiffany, I just received your nice letter and want you to know that I was touched by what you wrote. It was very sweet of you to think about me when you have such a serious illness yourself. I am sure it is often hard for you to understand why this has happened to you, but it is during times like this that your family and your faith in God become so important. You will be a strong person in the years to come because of your experience with cancer."

Tiffany is active in several activities at Cherry. Her favorite subjects are physical education, art, science and spelling. She also loves to roller skate and gymnastics.

Ray

Mayo

Welcome, 1988!
It seems as though 1987 was just getting started good when you showed up. Sure, I know I should have been expecting you, but what's a guy to do when he's barely scratched the surface of some of the resolutions he made in 1987?

We all know that resolutions are made to be broken, but still, I would like to be able to say that I kept at least one resolution from the previous year.

I really had some good intentions about this time last year. However, intentions are only good when followed through and in most areas I failed miserably.

For instance, at the top of the 1987 list (as well as for several years previous) was to eat less and exercise more. I bombed out on both counts.

I have a problem when it comes to food. I eat too much of it. I know it's bad for my health, but eating has become somewhat of an addiction. If you think bad habits are hard to break, try an addiction. I've always heard that someone can't love food, but in my case, I must take exception. Food, especially the fattening kind, is really one of my loves.

While exercise has become one of America's favorite pastimes, it hasn't become one of mine. Who has time to exercise when you're busy eating? Seriously, how can anyone call bending and twisting their body into various unnatural shapes fun?

Another resolution I haven't been able to keep is to be less cynical. I suppose being a newspaperman for so long has made me have a somewhat suspicious nature. I realize it's wrong and believe me, I have tried to change. Being positive in a negative-oriented society does take effort, though. Does that sound negative to you? If so, I'm sorry. I should have said that I'm going to be positive for the coming year-period.

So, as I embark on a new year, I'm positive that there are going to be some resolutions I'll be unable to keep. Just kidding. I know that that attitude is anything but positive.

Another resolution I had a problem with in 1987 was saving money. It's just getting more and more difficult to save money when everything but my bank account keeps going up. Oops, that's being negative, isn't it? Can't you take a little humor, boss?

Actually, the folks at the bank snicker when I make a small deposit into my meager savings account. Sometimes, they even check their computer a second time to make sure the balance is right. Talk about embarrassing!

This time next year, I hope to report that I was, indeed, able to keep some of my resolutions. Of course, I'm not telling anyone this year what my resolutions are - just in case.

I've been remembering all the adventures I've had with automobiles - like the weekend my '61 Olds stranded me beside the highway five different times on a single 350-mile trip.

Once, I wound up riding my daughter's 20-inch bicycle that somebody had brought her that morning from the North Pole, into a service station two miles up the road.

Another time, when I was assigned to cover a football game, I got 10 miles out on I-20, then realized I hadn't picked up a credit card. I turned around, fetched the card, got back on the road and drove to the game. Afterwards I got halfway home before the tank ran dry.

No stations were within 15 miles - but I did have the credit card. Going back a little farther, I can still see myself driving a '56 black and blue Buick from Amarillo to southwest Oklahoma.

The radiator kept overheating so a shade-tree mechanic friend told me to watch the temperature gauge and when it moved into the red area, to pull over, try to get the cap off without steaming my arm away, and then pour in more water.

I had somehow managed to confiscate a large can, and it rode comfortably in the backseat with the water in it - as long as I didn't hit a bump too hard.

Youthful ignorance inspires courage, I suppose. I did the same thing on a trip to Plano a couple of years ago by trying to ignore an electrical problem, and later confessed to you about the disastrous results. Youthful ignorance wasn't the cause, though.

At any rate, I got maybe 40 miles from my destination in the old blue and black Buick when a service station mechanic said I'd have to get along without my thermostat. He took it out and sent me on my way.

About 15 miles down the road, a screwdriver he'd left on the breather, rolled into the fan. The fan, in turn, pitched the screwdriver through the radiator, where it stuck.

A disgruntled family member finally answered a late-night call and pulled me the rest of the way.

I can remember having five dollars to get home on once, and home was 48 miles away. Problem was, one of my bald tires was losing air at an alarming rate, and I'd long since used up my spare.

You hate to blow your last five bucks on rubber, but it was that, or get stranded. So I found a pair of used tires for $2.50 apiece. The price included putting the tires on the rim and placing one on the ground and the other in the trunk.

The good man at the second-hand lean to tire shop, even agreed to get rid of my old tires for me. The first of the two new, used tires lasted approximately 18 miles before blowing itself out.

The second one was gone in another four miles. I drove the rest of the way - maybe 23 miles - on a blown out tire, grumbling all the way about not having my five bucks.

Another time a water pump went out and stranded my family near Lubbock on our way to Amarillo. My daughter was less than a year old, then. I took her baby bottle, slowly filled up the radiator from a puddle of water beside the road, then drove us all the way home - which was fortunate, since I didn't have the money on me to buy a new water pump.

I don't know if I just take less chances now, or drive better equipment.

What I do know is my driving adventures, with the exception of the Plano trip, haven't been nearly as exciting as they used to be.

Well yes, I am quite thankful about that, now that you mention it.

Replacement Resolutions will save money

If you've already given up on some of those resolutions you made for 1987, you might be ready to make some more. These are relatively painless and can save you hundreds of dollars. Here are a few we recommend:

Resolve to do less impulse buying and more comparison shopping;

Resolve to check out warranty information on every purchase you make;

Resolve to deal with reliable, established businesses who have reputations to protect;

Resolve to use credit wisely, not get carried away by someone who wants to sell you something above your credit limit;

Resolve to ask about return and layaway policies;

Resolve to take contracts seriously. Never sign anything you haven't read and understood thoroughly, even if it means not purchasing something.

Perhaps most important: Resolve to complain if you're dissatisfied with a product or service.

When you do complain, have a clear idea of exactly what the problem is and how you want it resolved. This will make the transactions go much more smoothly.

If possible you should start your complaint process with the person who sold you the defective or unreliable product. (It's always a good idea to get the salesperson's name when you buy.) Calmly state the problem and what action you would like the seller to take. There will be situations in which you want to put even your first complaint in writing.

Remember, the sooner you complain, the more likely you are to get satisfaction. If you let a bad situation go, the seller will be less likely to take your complaint seriously.

If the first person you speak to isn't helpful, talk to his/her supervisor and continue up the chain until you do get a positive response.

Of course, there will be situations that require outside help. After you've tried to resolve a problem yourself, you may call the Better Business Bureau or my consumer Protection Branch offices and ask for a complaint form.

Plant trees to attract wildlife

The economic and aesthetic value of land can be increased with the presence of wildlife. Wildlife has three basic requirements - food, water and cover.

Trees planted on your land can help provide the food and cover requirements and thus increase the wildlife population. The Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District is offering wildlife packets to landowners at a cost of $65 per packet of 100 trees. The four packets being offered are aimed at improving the habitat of quail and pheasant, deer, turkey, and squirrel.

The quail and pheasant packet contains Russian olive, native plum, skunkbush sumac and four-winged saltbush.

The deer packet contains flameleaf sumac, bur oak, four-winged saltbush and pecan.

The turkey packet contains cottonwood, bur oak, pecan and mulberry.

The squirrel packet contains osage, orange, hickory, pecan and cottonwood.

The packets contain 25 tree seedlings of each species for a total of 100 trees. To order packets call the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District at 728-3473.

Windstrip conference set

Mitchell County farmers may be interested in attending a conference to learn how farmers can use windstrips to reduce erosion on cropland. The conference will be held on January 12, at the Holiday Inn Civic Center in Lubbock. The meeting will start at 9:30 a.m. with registration starting as early as 8 a.m.

For further information contact the SCS office at 728-3473.

Cooper Cougars take Christmas Invitational

Junior post Paula Scott scored 16 points to lead four Abilene Cooper players in double figures during a 66-60 win over the Snyder Tigers here at The Pit Tuesday night that earned the Cougars first place in Colorado City's Lady Wolves Christmas Invitational basketball tournament.

Also in double figures for the Cougars were Liz Greer with 15 and Wendy Hill and Holly McMillan with 12.

Shelly Tomlin and Teri Sue Henry led Snyder with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Snyder, the defending champion and favorite for the second annual Christmas Invitational, kept pace with Cooper for one period of play before Scott led a decisive second period for the Cougars.

Snyder's Henry scored six points in the opening period that ended with the teams tied at 14-14.

Rhonda Echols scored 7 points for Snyder. Echols scored all 7 points in the second period but Cooper's Scott offset Echols with six points as the Cougars outscored the Tigers 19-15 in the period to take a 33-29 halftime lead.

Scott and Snyder's Tomlin both scored six points in the third period in which the Cougars outscored Snyder 14-12 to increase their lead by two points for a 47-41 score.

The Tigers threatened to close the gap in the fourth period but Cooper matched the Tiger's 19 points in the period behind Greer's six points on one goal and four of five free throw shooting.

Greer, Scott and Felicia Elliott made clutch free throws in the final minute to clinch the title.

The Cougars, who reached the state volleyball playoffs, improved to 10-6 with the win and avenged an early season 85-45 loss to the same Snyder team.

"They had just come out of volleyball," said coach Gene Hudson. "There was a big difference in the way we played. I thought we had a chance to win the tournament if we played the way we have the last two weeks. They rallied for the cause. They deserve it. They worked hard for it."

Hudson was pleased with his teams' offense but noted a problem with turnovers.

Cooper, 2-0 in district 4-A, began the tournament with a 65-37 blowout of district rival Odessa High then beat Monahans 55-41 in the semifinals.

Snyder received a first round bye then reached the finals by beating Stanton 44-41.

Stanton rebounded from that loss to beat Monahans 45-35 in the third place contest. San Angelo Lakeview lost to Stanton 52-45 in first round play then beat Odessa 67-47 for the consolation title.

The host Colorado City Lady Wolves bowed out of the tournament with consecutive losses of 48-40 to Monahans and 48-25 to Odessa. Jennifer Monroe scored 12 points to lead Colorado City against Monahans while sister Sheila Monroe had a team high 6 points in the loss to Odessa.

Hearing Tests Set For Senior Citizens

Colorado City-Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Wallace Center on Monday, January 4 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

J. Wampler, licensed Hearing Aid specialist will be available to perform the tests.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year-even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them. Only a hearing test can determine if you are one of the many a hearing aid can help.

The free hearing tests will be given Monday, January 4 from 10am to 12 noon at the Wallace Center. To avoid waiting, call for an appointment. Or, if you can't come in, call 728-2392 for in-home service.

Wolves hosting Clyde Tuesday

The Colorado City Wolves, 9-6, begin their hunt for a playoff spot when they host the Clyde Bulldogs at The Pit for an 8 p.m. basketball contest Tuesday night.

The Colorado City Lady Wolves, already 1-2 in district play, will be resuming district action against Clyde at 6:30 p.m.

Colorado High School's varsity boys team faces a big challenge in their quest for a playoff spot. The Wolves ran away from Sands here Tuesday afternoon with one of their best performances of the 1987-88 season for 79-53 victory that avenged a 66-53 loss at Sands December 15.

The Wylie Bulldogs, with the return of point guard Jeff Wood and big Jay Jones, will again be a tough assignment for rest of the district. The Bulldogs are only 6-8 for the year but losses and wins have come against 5A and 4A clubs-including wins over Odessa Permian and Burleson last week.

The Bulldogs are only part of the war facing the Wolves. The Ballinger Bearcats defeated Brady 96-50 Tuesday night to run their record to an unblemished 13-0.

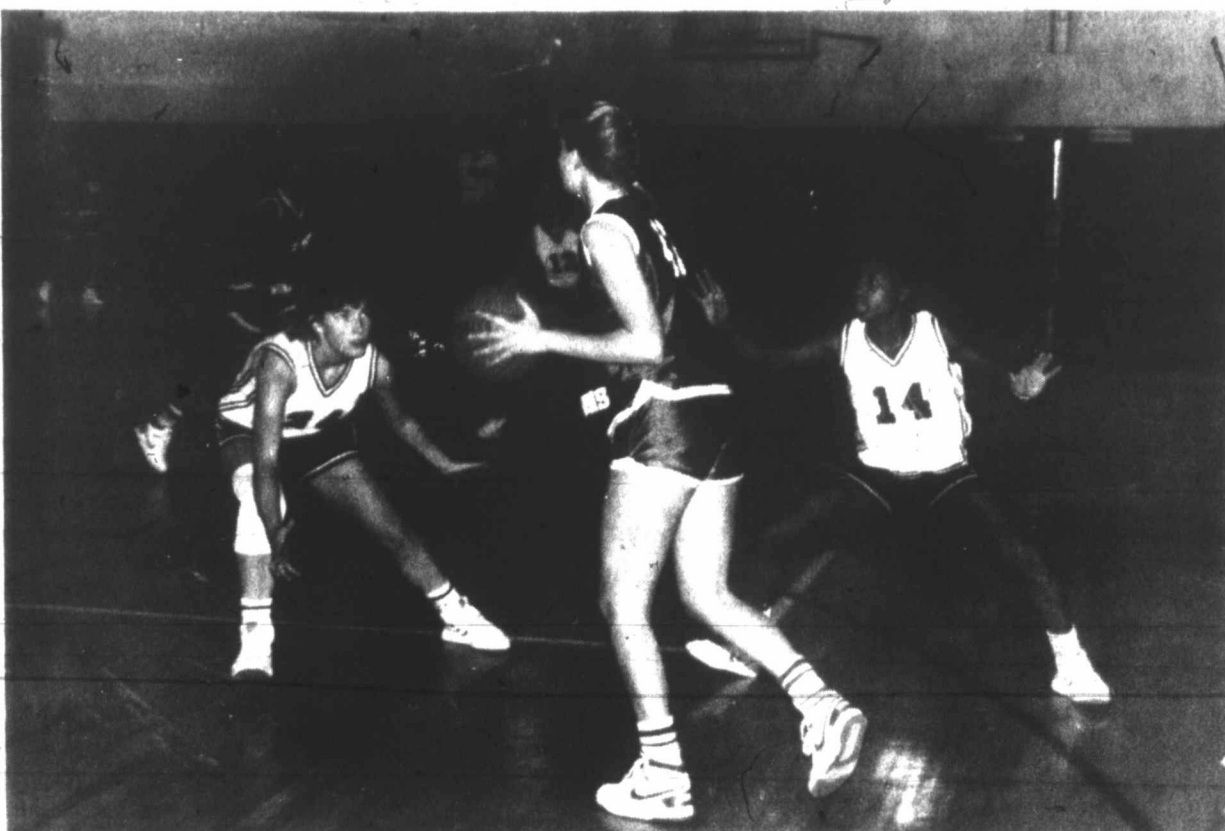

The Merkel Badgers, 10-5, defeated Wylie 66-58 in overtime for third place at last week's McMurry College Holiday Classic tournament.

It doesn't end there. Coahoma beat Roby 75-69 Tuesday night to improve to 13-5. The Bulldogs have already received recognition in the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches poll.

Scoring for the Wolves were Ken Woods 22, Dane Hoover 16, Bubba Bailey 9, Beau Rees 8, Pat Ridge 6, Ismael Silva 6, Paul Ausbie 5, Guy Compton 3, Mark Russell 2 and Gary Jackson 2.

Woods, Rees and Bailey made 13, 9 and 6 rebounds, respectively, for the Wolves who made 31 of 83 shots and 15 of 25 free throws. Silva and Ridge graded highest defensively and Silva and Rees made 3 assists.

Prior to the contest the Wolves' junior varsity took on Westbrook and won 56-51. Scoring for the Wolves were Mark Alvidrez 18, Heath Watlington 16, Dennis Smith 11, George Rivera 7, Ricky Westbrook 2 and Tracy Ausbie 2.

GOOD NEWS ABOUT JESUS

"Let us not give up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another - and all the more as you see the Day approaching." (Hebrews 10:25, NIV)

Someone has said, "Resolutions are made to be broken." I am not too sure how true that statement is, but I have given up making New Year's Resolutions anyway. I never keep them longer than a few weeks, what's the use?! Nevertheless, I still have the desire deep down inside to live a better life and please the God in heaven who loves me and gave His Son for me!

A lot of folks have gotten out of the habit of going to church on Sundays. Oh, they all have their reasons (excuses), but none of them mean anything to Almighty God. He commands us through the writer of Hebrews to meet together on a regular basis. We are to encourage one another and help meet one another's needs. This should be at the top of our priority list. The Day approaching is the second coming of the Lord Jesus Christ.

What a great way to start off the new year! Won't you commit yourself right now to be in your place in God's house every Sunday? You won't be sorry. By the way the alternative to all of this is found in Hebrews 10:26.
