SLATON C.-C. LAYS ITS PLANS FOR PROGRESS AT BIG BANQUET

HOOD IS CHOSEN AS PRESIDENT OF CITY'S BOOSTERS

MORE THAN 100 ATTEND ANNUAL EVENT IN SLATON

TWO VISITORS SPEAK

ST. LOUIS AND PLAINVIEW MEN ARE ON SPECIAL PROGRAM

By RAY B. MCCORMICK

J. W. Hood was chosen president and S. F. Stages, vice president of the Slaton chamber of commerce at its regular annual banquet and get-together meeting held in the high school auditorium in that city at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. More than 100 people, including chamber of commerce members, their wives and invited friends were present. The dinner was served by the Presbyterian ladies of Slaton.

Superintendent C. L. Stone of the Slaton schools served as toastmaster, and after a few well chosen words in which he summed up the activities of the organization during the past year, he announced the first number on the program—a piano solo by Misses Jeanette Ramsey and Grace Braley.

Smith Talks

President W. H. (Bill) Smith, Santa Fe agent and one of Slaton's best boosters, then gave a brief review of the work done by the Slaton chamber of commerce during the past year. Mr. Smith's remarks were to the point, his words were well chosen and were appreciated by those who heard him. In speaking of the city's marvelous growth he stated that it had been only a few years since there was not a building in Slaton sufficiently large to care for a small gathering much less the size of the body assembled at that time. He predicted that the city's growth would continue in the future as in the past.

Kelso Makes Address

Judge I. R. Kelso of St. Louis, president of the Texas Utilities company with offices in 40 South Plains cities, was the next speaker. He was well pleased with conditions on the plains and stated that without an exception the Plains country and West Texas are the greatest and most rapidly growing sections in America. The speaker gave very high praise to the Santa Fe railway company, and said he would be glad to see the Santa Fe given a permit to build all the lines they wanted to build. In speaking of the Bartington road (Denver) he said the Santa Fe was to blame for the Bartington's coming into this section. Santa Fe officials have praised the road.

Ghost Of Yellow Peril Invoked To Aid Albert Fall And Doheny

SHOWDOWN LOOMS IN MEXICO SPAT

OIL AND MINING CONCESSIONS CORRESPONDENCE IS MADE PUBLIC

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—Smouldering disputes with Mexico over application of her new laws to American oil and mining interests are drawing to a showdown.

On January 1, foreign oil and land owners in Mexico must agree not to seek diplomatic protection of their home governments for their holdings, or by the new laws, they must forfeit them to the Mexican government.

It is not expected that the foreign companies will do that and it is not expected that the Calles government will concede from its demand.

Traces History

Frank J. Hogan, counsel for Doheny, traced the history of all of the transactions involving the oil leases and contracts step by step. Spending four hours in a vigorous and at times impassioned statement of what the defense contends the evidence will prove.

Instead of a $100,000 bribe given to Albert R. Fall as the government represented him, Doheny was described by Hogan as a patriotic citizen who acted in the national interest when he required his company to enter into the contract for the Pearl Harbor naval storage.

May Stop Sheffield

As a possible key to what might happen if the Calles government persists in its course, the references to recognition may furnish a clue. One form of action between governments in such cases is the withdrawal of an ambassador.

It would not be unprecedented if Ambassador Sheffield, enroute today from Cuba to Vera Cruz, on his way to Mexico City, were recalled. Such a step is short of a break in diplomatic relations, which only is accomplished by the departure of embassy staffs of both countries.

In diplomatic history, breaks in diplomatic relations between nations have followed by war. Such, however, has not always been the case in relations between the United States and Latin America.

ELKS HILL LEASE PART OF DEFENSE PLANS, IS ALLEGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Occasional flashes of oratory by opposing counsel served to lift out of the humdrum the second day of the trial here of Albert R. Fall and Edward L. Doheny on charges of conspiracy to loot the naval oil reserves in Elk Hills, California.

For five hours, counsel for the government and the defense drew pictures of the 45-year-old former cabinet officer and the 71-year-old multi-millionaire oil man that were in as sharp a contrast as the vigor and the fire of the presentation.

Addressing the jury calmly and dispassionately, Owen J. Roberts required just an hour to outline the case as the government expects to present it by oral testimony and a great raft of oral documents, the identification of which began before court recessed until tomorrow.

Norris Church Sued

City Asks for Taxes

FORT WORTH, Nov. 23 (AP)—The First Baptist and First Christian churches were sued in district court today for delinquent city taxes totaling $3,848.61 on property not used exclusively for religious purposes.

The First Baptist church is said to be reaping returns from its Sunday school building across the street from the church proper by leasing the ground floor to a gasoline filling station and variety store.

First action to collect First Baptist church taxes was followed by a campaign of denunciation of city officials by the Rev. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist pastor, from pulpit and in his "Search-papers." An argument concerning these attacks is said to have preceded Norris' fatal shooting of D. E. Chipps, friend of Mayor H. C. Meacham, last July, in connection with which the preacher faces trial for murder in January at Austin on charge of venue.

EXPENSE OF FIVE MILE HIGHWAY CHARGED STATE

"EASIER TO EXPLAIN TO HOME FOLKS" JIM IS QUOTED

DESIGNER TESTIFIES

"INVISIBLE TRACK" IN HOME COUNTY OF FERGUSON PROBED

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 23.—Court of the five mile "invisible track" highway between Belton and Temple will approximate $246,000. S. B. Moore, designer and estimator of the highway, Tuesday told the house investigating committee. He said the road was built largely as an experiment.

Mr. Moore said preliminary work had started on a 16-mile stretch east of Temple, that a cheaper type of highway would be placed on this section, and estimated the cost of the 21 miles of the "invisible track" highway if the 16 miles of the east section are surfaced would be $700,000.

On "Invisible Track"

Richard Critz, committee attorney, read into the record a report compiled by highway department books showing that between February 15, 1925, and October 31, 1926, there was spent for maintenance in Bell county $717,169.18. A large portion of that amount was spent on the "invisible track" highway.

The $246,000 cost for the five-mile stretch included cost of permanent structures and elimination of grade crossings, Mr. Moore said. He explained that Bell county paid for only the right of way, adding "most counties expect the county to pay for an experiment."

"Do you know of any other county where the state spent so much money without the county putting up its proportionate share? Why should the state spend so much money in Bell county, the home of the governor?" Critz asked.

"I think I can explain that," Moore answered. "James E. Ferguson told me that, if the experimental road was a failure, he could explain it much easier to the home people."

Jim "Interested"

Mr. Moore said that in December, 1924, he discussed the building of an experimental "invisible track" highway with James E. Ferguson, who told him he was much interested, because it was his (Ferguson's) ambition to give country people good roads. Ferguson introduced him to Frank Latham, highway commission chairman, who employed him, Moore said.

It Will Be Westerners Versus Coyotes for District Championship; Wichita Falls Ruled Back in; and Lubbock Loses on Coin Flip

The Lubbock high school Westerners will play the Wichita Falls Coyotes in Wichita Falls Saturday November 27 for the inter-scholastic championship of this district, the game to be called at 3 p. m. Burton Rex, referee, Hal Briscoe umpire and Morgan of Quannah head linesman.

This was the brief information telephoned here last night by Coach L. J. Van Tongen of the Lubbock high school after a session of the general board of athletic heads of the district at Quannah yesterday, at which meeting Wichita Falls, ruled out last week after they had defeated Vernon, was reinstated.

Van Tongen and the Coyotes mentor flipped a coin to see where the game would be played, and the Westerners coach lost, so that the Lubbock team will have to make a journey of hundreds of miles to cinch the title, and earn the right to go further in the race for all-state gridiron supremacy.

Modern Ways Lower Women's Life Span

BY VIRGINIA SWAIN NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The modern American girl has ahead of her a short life and a merry one.

Having shortened her hair and her skirts, she is also abbreviating her expectancy of life.

For the first time on record, the census figures show a higher mortality rate for females than for males at the same period of life, announces Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute of New York.

That means that the girls of today are less healthy and hearty than the daughters of earlier and less emancipated generations—that the Victorian miss who sat on a cushion and sewed a fine seam had more chance of living to be a grandmother than the modern girl who sits at a typewriter and smokes a fine cigaret.

And She Was Only 4

The only "perfect woman" medically speaking, discovered among 200,000 patients examined at the institute was Betsy Ray Miles, who, being only 4, had not had time to encounter the advantages and disadvantages of this much cauterized freedom for women.

"The Victorian girl," says Dr. Fisk, "was not the frail housewife flower of popular tradition. She actually had more taste and more opportunity for athletics than the modern girl generally speaking.

She rode horseback, played tennis, took long bicycle trips and usually did not smoke or drink her health away, whereas most of our modern girls lead a sedentary life and dissipate their strength with late hours and cigarettes.

"College girls of today do lead a healthful, outdoor life. But the great mass of young women is imprisoned either in factories, or offices, with great nerve strain and little chance for recreation. The recent increase in the death rate of young women has proved that, biologically speaking, woman is not made for business life."

Not only does business impose unhealthy conditions upon young women, but it also blocks their natural destiny of marriage and motherhood.

"The fur coat is a danger," says Dr. Fisk. "It is often worn when the weather is mild and the body becomes overheated. Then, when it is thrown off, the wearer catches cold.

"Lightweight porous clothes are well enough, but they must be of materials to supply sufficient warmth, if the body is to stay well."

Beauty culture is another menace to women—not only because it includes some hurtful treatments, but because it flatters women into believing they are still young and perfectly well, when their physical strength is actually declining.

"This youth craze," says Dr. Fisk, "while it is a good thing in some ways, is causing women of middle age to refuse to admit the natural infirmities of their years and to refuse to seek medical help until it is too late.

Stressful Mental Health "Unscientific weight reduction is also reaping many deaths.

"Beauty culture should begin in the medical clinic, to remedy basic ills before the surface is adorned."

And last and most important—health depends upon mental serenity. This is one of modern woman's greatest lacks, says Dr. Fisk.

"Women, suddenly forced to adapt themselves to a new sphere of life, to new strains and responsibilities, are suffering from nervous tension that brings on many serious physical ills.

"Though I believe women should have their chance at the work they want to do, I shudder at the thought of what economic competition is doing to the minds and bodies of our young girls.

"I don't believe any business success will make a woman so happy and healthy as family success."

With one of the most outstanding programs in the history of the society the Sorosis club discussed Texas artists Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Royalty, 2011 Main street. Everett Knott of the Dallas News, was discussed as the pen artist by Mrs. C. Y. Partain. Enlivening sketches with humorous incidents, she told of his life history and of many of her cartoons. Mrs. R. T. Campbell talked on Edwin Eisenlohn as the pencil artist, telling much of his family life and career. The various periods of architecture with characteristics of each were discussed by Mrs. O. B. Hewitt, who also told of Elizabeth Ney sculptor, who studied for many years in Berlin and other foreign art centers before coming to Austin to make her home. She was known by Mrs. Hewitt for many years and something of her idiosyncrasies of dress and manner was told along with praise of her work.

In discussing the palette artists, Mrs. J. R. B. Cooper, who was leader for the afternoon, told of two outstanding ones in San Antonio, Page and Onderdonk the latter being noted especially for his bluebonnet pictures. Fannie and Jessie Andrews, of Austin, were discussed as outstanding artists in that city with Frank Roy of Dallas, who is famed for his pictures of cattle, being named for that city.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST — Grapes, cooked whole wheat cereal, thin cream, crisp rye toast, creamed dried beef, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Salmon timbales with creamed peas hearts of lettuce with French dressing, pineapple Bavarian cream, milk tea.

DINNER—Roast beef, browned potatoes, brown gravy, buttered cauliflower, carrot salad, lemon meringue with bananas and cream, plain cake, whole wheat rolls, milk, coffee.

These are simple, reasonable menus suitable for the average family. Cabbage can be substituted for the cauliflower in case the first vegetable is not available.

The carrot salad combines chopped carrot, celery and green pepper with a well-seasoned bolled dressing. If the salad is wanted for children under school age, the pepper should be added after their serving is apportioned.

This cake recipe is suggested because it uses a minimum of eggs, but makes a delicate cake.

Plain Cake

Two eggs, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 6 tablespoons melted butter, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Break eggs into mixing bowl and beat until very light. Gradually add sugar, beating with an egg beater. Beat in melted butter. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat with a slotted spoon until smooth; stir in vanilla. Turn into an oiled and floured dripping pan and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Or bake in a loaf for 15 minutes.

PETTY THIEVERY STILL REPORTED

OFFICERS SPURRED TO ACTION BY FURTHER TALE OF DEPREDAATIONS

Adding fuel to the fire of investigation well kindled by the arrest here early Sunday morning of four young men on charges of burglary and the finding of loot in the rendezvous of the youths amounting to approximately $2,000, according to officers, other reports of petty thievery continue to sift into police headquarters here, spurring officers on with the determination that the culprits will be apprehended despite the apparently professional tactics of the offenders.

Officers, believing that the band had been broken up with the arrest of the quartet, who, investigators say, were doing business on a wholesale scale, again delved into the probe Tuesday as reports of thefts poured into the office, but little progress on the latest phase of the crime wave had been made last night.

Among the numerous reports Tuesday was a complaint by Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, that culprits had entered his garage and stolen a new battery from his car. But not content, insult was added to injury when the culprits went on into his study and removed a new typewriter, a pair of trousers, a fountain pen, and much loose leaf paper and stationery.

Other reports included the loss of a portable typewriter from an office in the Leader building, the disappearance of a rifle from a car parked in front of a haberdashery on Main street, and various other offenses of a similar nature.

BIG WEEK FOR LAMESA COTTON

5,534 BALES BROUGHT IN TO CITY DURING THE PAST SEVEN DAYS

(Special to The Avalanche)
LAMESA, Nov. 23.—Five thousand, five hundred and thirty-four bales of cotton were the receipts in Lamesa during the past week.

That was the largest amount of cotton received in this city during any week this fall and shows that since the snapping has started much cotton is being gathered.

At this time the report was obtained yesterday afternoon there were more than two hundred bales waiting to be ginned in the yards. They were not counted in the totals.

There seems to be plenty of cotton pickers here now if the weather will stay favorable a great deal of cotton will be out in a few more weeks.

The total ginnings for the county up to date is twenty three thousand bales. This is already more than the county made last year and not over forty-five per cent of the cotton in the county has been gathered.

Star Athletes Superstitious

"Red" Grange had his 77, Harry Wilson of West Point is just as strong for No. 10.

Some college football stars have in the past attracted attention by claiming No. 13 as their lucky charm.

Harry Wilson, sensational Army halfback and former Penn State lumbar-ache, by the way, in 1923 did just about everything for Penn State that "Red" Grange did for Illinois in 1925.

As a sophomore halfback at Penn State, he was not showing to much advantage when the numbers were given out early in the fall.

Wilson accepted an appointment to West Point and for the past three years he has been a "padding" man on the Army roster.

During these same three seasons, No. 10 has continued to adorn his broad back. What is more, he even insists on having No. 10 on his basketball and lacrosse jerseys.

The Cornhuskers, who Saturday broke the University of New York eleven's string of eight straight victories by defeating it 13-7, predicted that the fight here will be close but that the tria of Nebraska backs will plow through the purple and gold line for a win.

Arnold Oehlrich, plugging fullback has been a consistent ground gainer. Edward Howell is expected to start in the other backfield berth.

All was not well along the banks of the Charles and in the secret alleys of Old Nassau. There was dirty work at the cross roads and dirtier work at the line of scrimmage.

The infuriated Princeton racoons swanned down on Cambridge field and gnawed their first subway into the coal posts after Harvard had given another faithful impersonation of Joe Tackett's snuff of the pie.

It was an affable already as far as the Boston fist dogs were concerned. They penalized themselves and made the rest in a taxi.

Rules committee will be asked to curb emotional outbursts of the rampant racoons in future games. The police departments of the land must be preserved and no questions asked.

the Crimson team. He figured prominently in that sensational 71-21 triumph.

When he entered that game he wore No. 19 on his back, that being the jersey of an injured player. Wilson's own number had been down in the archives somewhere and had not been attached to a jersey.

His career at Penn state ended. Wilson accepted an appointment to West Point and for the past three years he has been a "padding" man on the Army roster.

Gas Is Promised in the Near Future

Gas is coming to Lubbock and in the near future, so say the officials of the Texas Gas company, who have a franchise for gas here, ever though a large number of Lubbock people have begun to doubt the statement.

Construction on the line has been delayed because of a delayed shipment in the pipe order. The P. M. in Chicago underestimated the amount of pipe needed by the company in the construction of the line here.

John DeLorme of the Panhandle Construction company stated yesterday that his firm had received notice from the gas company that construction would start in the near future.

Rearrangement of routes 1, 2 and 3 will be made in the near future, Vaughn thinks as the work is now in the hands of an inspector and it is likely that additional territory will be placed on the routes.

Slaton Will Meet Floydada Thursday

(Special To The Avalanche) SLATON, Nov. 21.—Slaton high school Tigers, twice winners of the Interscholastic League B. Class football championship in district one, will meet the Floydada Whitebirds at Floydada Thanksgiving Day to determine another annual championship.

Cochs in Miller, of the Tigers, has a strong fighter's machine, a team that will be in good form when the two schools clash for this year's B. Class honors at Floydada Thursday.

A large delegation will go en masse to the Floydada game from Slaton, and the Tigers, says Coach Miller, and hundreds of loyal fans, will win a third championship Thursday Thanksgiving Day.

The correct dope has it that the Tigers are rightfully expected to win Floydada's 22 points in the game. Slaton is expected to score 21 points lost with opposing teams this season. The Tigers have won 207 points and lost 117 points with opposing teams. Plainview, a Class A school, scored 13 points on the Tigers in their first game of the season while the Tigers scored 13, thus opposing a team in a higher classification. All other points scored by opposing teams came as a result of Coach Miller allowing his second team, the Kittens, to supplant the Tigers for practice benefits when playing weaker teams. This was true when Slaton played Sls and Tahoka, the only teams that scored on Slaton after their Plainview.

Spur suffered a 5 to 9 defeat at the hands of the Tigers while Floydada barely nosed out with a 14 to 13 victory over Spur. Slaton's defeat of Lockney was just as decisive as was Floydada's defeat of the same team, but the superiority of the Tigers over the Lockney boys was considerably greater than the score indicated. Many Lockney fans were heard to voice this opinion.

And so it is that a victory for the third successive year looms in sight for the Tigers, and they are determined to make it a reality.

Spur suffered a 5 to 9 defeat at the hands of the Tigers while Floydada barely nosed out with a 14 to 13 victory over Spur.

Takes Tough Job

GRINNELL CONFIDENT GRINNELL, Iowa, Nov. 21. (AP)—The hopes of Grinnell College football followers soared today with the announcement that West Stotts and Meeter, former stars in early season form for the Drake team Thanksgiving day, both players were returned to early games but have fully recovered in the last two weeks. The fans are hoping to meet the Bulldogs with a surprise attack.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

The raccoon coats have developed a two-edged veneer of belligerency. They are bristling with fight, fangs and homicidal fun.

Army and Syracuse are on the ice-frosted verge of severing un diplomantic relations because some of the boys tried to sever ears, noses and householder's knees with wild swinging left hooks.

This respective alumni interpreted these gestures as overt acts and the motion was made and abruptly carried to credit all cheer leaders with machine guns.

From now on the Syracuse inmates can expect no protection from the Army in moments of peril. If anybody sets 'em it will be no affair of Smedley Butlers.

That's only one side of the rubber collar. The further the Army keeps away from Syracuse in the future the safer they'll feel for a lot of fashionable reasons.

Princeton and Harvard swung from the hip in violation of century-old traditions of good fellowship and bad football.

All was not well along the banks of the Charles and in the secret alleys of Old Nassau. There was dirty work at the cross roads and dirtier work at the line of scrimmage.

The infuriated Princeton racoons swanned down on Cambridge field and gnawed their first subway into the coal posts after Harvard had given another faithful impersonation of Joe Tackett's snuff of the pie.

It was an affable already as far as the Boston fist dogs were concerned. They penalized themselves and made the rest in a taxi.

Rules committee will be asked to curb emotional outbursts of the rampant racoons in future games. The police departments of the land must be preserved and no questions asked.

Besides it's all low-legged to keep the bluecoats on the sidelines during the regular game. The have a right to play from the start and earn their money by the sweat of their brow.

Other games scheduled for this week were the invasion by the Gensets Marines of the Washington Base field at St. Louis and the international battle between Iowa state and the University of California southern branch at Los Angeles.

At Des Moines, Drake's Bulldogs proved themselves sleepies by continuing practice against the elusive pivot shift which the rained Pioneers have used up and down the valley with remarkable success this year.

Nebraska Arrives for Coast Game

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 21. (AP)—Thirty four University of Nebraska football players arrived here today for a Thanksgiving day game against the University of Washington.

The Cornhuskers, who Saturday broke the University of New York eleven's string of eight straight victories by defeating it 13-7, predicted that the fight here will be close but that the tria of Nebraska backs will plow through the purple and gold line for a win.

Glenn Freeman, halfback was among the leaders of the Missouri Valley conference and is counted on to make heavy yardage here Thursday.

Bob Stephens, quarter, is rated as having an edge on Washington's kicker, Louis Terreau, in the exchanges.

Arnold Oehlrich, plugging fullback has been a consistent ground gainer. Edward Howell is expected to start in the other backfield berth.

Nin Lawson and Edward Lee are favored to start in the wings. At tackle captain Louie Stiner and Cliff Ashburn or Ray Randall will be given the call. Dan McMullen and Elmer Helm or Bob Whitmore are slated as guards and James as center.

AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—Entertainment between the halves at the Texas-A and M game will be furnished rooters by members of the Texas Cowboys and the Orange Jackets, according to members of the two organizations.

Texas Cowboys' crack "pep" of University of Texas boys, and the Orange Jackets, special rooting section for girls have been practicing daily on new formations and many surprises are in store for those who witness the Thanksgiving game, it is said.

Some of the formations are the famous T U formation, a T and a star, it is said.

Worst Year in Stag's Lengthy Maroon Regime Chicago is experiencing one of the worst football seasons since Stag came to the Midway institution in 1922.

In their last four games the Maroons haven't scored a point, meeting defeat at the hands of Penn. Park, Ohio State and Illinois. Pugh and Pinta won mostly with the other half, winning by one touchdown margin.

The Maroons capped their first two trips, beating Florida and Maryland. Then they stopped and unless the dope is wrong, Stag's charges are pretty certain of winning up the chase with six straight defeats. They'll be lucky to score for that matter.

SEARCH FOR GRAVE IN BOY SCOUT PARK

INFANT WAS BURIED ON OLD CURRY-COMB RANCH IN 1883, MOTHER WRITES

During the opening of the Post memorial boy scout camp in the summer, R. C. Burns, county tax assessor gathered a group of scouts and searched for the grave of a small child which was buried at the ranch seventy years ago.

Mrs. Della McCommis, the mother of the infant that was buried on the old Llano or Curry-comb ranch during the winter of 1853, writes from Abilene, Texas, Nov. 19, her appreciation of the fact that R. C. Burns has given the boy scouts the information that the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie McCommis was buried on her ranch.

She writes that Uncle Johnny Heffer, who was wagon cook for the ranch made the coffin, and that he is living at Cloudford, New Mexico.

Mr. Burns hopes to have some of the old settlers and friends visit him and go with him to the C. W. Post memorial boy scout camp this summer to locate the grave and bury the child. He wants to make some plans for the erection of a suitable marker for the resting place of the first child born in Garza county. Mrs. R. L. Holly, of Brownfield, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCommis. There are ten children living that are brothers and sisters to this infant.

"We are sure that the boy scouts of the South Plains will very tenderly care for this plot of ground. And will perhaps build a rustic fence of cedar about the plot in memory of this little child, and the mother may rest assured that these grounds are in good hands," H. B. Palmer stated yesterday.

TESTIMONY IN OIL LEASE SUIT

ROBERTS OPENS CASE WITH THE REVIE WOP EVENTS PRECEDING DEAL

(By the Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Before a jury that remains under guard until it reaches a verdict, the federal government today began to unfold the evidence upon which it hopes to convict Albert H. Fall and Edward L. Doherty of criminal conspiracy in exploitation of the nation's oil reserves.

Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, one of the two lawyers appointed by President Coolidge two and a half years ago to prosecute the cases, began the government's opening statement with a review of the negotiations that led up to the leasing of the Elk Hill oil reserve to the Doherty interests while Fall was secretary of the interior. He said the prosecution contended the $100,000 sent by Doherty to Fall in a little black satchel was a part of the conspiracy charged against the defendants.

Accused Set Together
 As during the examination of prospective jurymen yesterday, the former interior secretary and the oil magnate, friends for many years and once prosecutors together in the west, sat near together and listened tensely to every word spoken by court and counsel.

Roberts reviewed the legal steps which led to original establishment of the naval oil reserve. The act of 1920, he said, specifically took three reserves out of the hands of the interior department and placed them under control of the navy, but a retransfer was made by the executive order of May 21, 1921, signed by President Harding.

Secretary Fall had been in charge of the reserves only a short time, Roberts said, when he suggested to Secretary Denby (of the navy) that he could work out a plan whereby royalty oil could be used for storage. Secretary Denby approved that plan, but later he wrote a letter saying there should be no drilling except of off-set wells on the edge of the California reserves.

Said Asked For $100,000
 Roberts then told the jury that while negotiations for the contracts between Doherty and Fall were on for the Pearl Harbor storage contract, Fall discussed his financial affairs with Doherty and asked him for $100,000.

"Doherty caused his son to draw $100,000 from his bank account in bills of large denominations and to bring it here to Fall, who gave his demand note," continued the government attorney. "The whole transaction was shrouded in secrecy. Fall took the money in cash to El Paso, where he paid over most of it to purchase a ranch adjoining his own at Three Rivers, New Mexico."

The expenditure of this sum became known to the senate committee, said Roberts, and Fall "did not tell the truth about it, but tried in every way to conceal it."

"We shall show that three other companies declined to bid on the storage tank contract because they held it to be illegal," he added. "Despite this and the opinion of the solicitor of his own department and of the legal officers of the department of justice, Fall went ahead with the execution of the contract."

Says Preference Given
 Roberts sought to impress upon the jury that an important part of the contract was a provision giving Doherty's Pan-American Petroleum company preference rights to future leases of the naval oil lands in the Elk Hill reserves.

"We shall show you by the admission of Mr. Doherty himself that he believed that contract to be worth $100,000,000 in profits to his company."

Upon all this evidence, he continued, the government will ask the jury to find that the $100,000 payment from Doherty to Fall constituted corruption and that there has been a conspiracy to defraud the United States government.

REV. E. E. WHITE IS PAST CRISIS

LUBBOCK PASTOR, HURT IN CRASH, WILL BE OUT OF ALL DANGER SOON.

Reports current here Tuesday to the effect that Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the First Methodist church was at the point of death, and that hope had been abandoned for his recovery, were branded as wholly false by doctors at the Lubbock Sanitarium, where he is under treatment.

Rev. Mr. White has passed the crisis, doctors said, and unless complications develop, will be entirely out of danger in two or three days. His condition Monday night was grave, it was said, due to a hemorrhage in the large artery in the left side of his face, but this yielded immediately to treatment, and the patient rested fairly well the balance of the night. Four such hemorrhages have been witnessed since Rev. Mr. White was injured. It was said.

The pastor was injured last Thursday night when a passenger bus in which he was enroute to Waco to officiate at the funeral of an old friend crashed into a light car driven by a negro near Post, hurling him through the windshield of the bus, breaking his nose, cutting a deep gash over one of his eyes, and inflicting other cuts and bruises.

WIFE'S AFFECTION VALUED HIGH

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—A million dollars in the value set upon his former wife's affections by Charles Burham Squier, financier, who was divorced last May in Paris.

He has filed alienation suit for that amount against Horace Raymond Paige, realty dealer, whom Mrs. Squier married after her divorce.

Squier and Miss Olive Ray of St. Louis were married in 1913. He claims that they lived happily until 1925, when, he alleges, Paige seduced his former wife by "various acts, promises, gifts and payments of money."

Paige was at that time married and living with his own wife and two daughters, says the complaint.

Squier alleges that Paige promised Mrs. Squier he would get lawyers and witnesses for her if she would get a divorce, and assured her that she could get $1,000,000 in alimony and counsel fees, enough for both of them to live on.

Fire, originating in the office of the L. L. service station at the corner of 12th street and Avenue G at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning practically destroyed the frame structure that housed the station owned by C. C. Lane.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is presumed that it originated from an oil stove. The loss of the building is partially covered by insurance, Mr. Lane said, but it was not known whether the three cars parked in the rear of the building were insured. Firemen were handicapped in doing battle with the flames by hoses that would break when pressure was turned on.

DAILY MARKET NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The steadier ruling of Rio Exchange rates was reflected in further covering and trade buying in the market for coffee futures today. March contracts selling up from 14.90 to 15.20 and closed at 15.05. The general market opened at a decline of 8 points to an advance of 5 points, sold 29 to 25 points net higher, but lost part of the gain under realizing. The close showing net advances of 7 to 19 points. Estimated sales 41,600 bags. Closing quotations: December 15.37; January 15.29; March 15.05; May 14.88; July 14.66; September 13.67. Spot coffee steady. Rio 7's 16; Santos 4's 20 1/2 to 20 3/4. Cost and freight offers included port Bourbon 2's and 2 1/2 at 19 to 19 1/2.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK PORT WORTH, TEXAS, Nov. 23 (AP)—Generally steady conditions were seen in the livestock trade here today. The exception was in the hog division where values declined 25 cents. Receipts called for 2,500 grown cattle, 1,300 calves, 800 hogs and 2,200 sheep.

COTTON SEED OIL NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The cotton seed oil market was comparatively narrow today with a limited interest. Prices were lower in sympathy with cotton and wheat which led to moderate local selling. While there was partial recovery in sympathy with hard, active positions showed net losses of 2 to 12 at the close. Total sales 5,700 barrels. Prime crude 6.25 bid; prime summer yellow spot 7.85 bid; November closed 7.80; December 7.87; January 7.90; March 8.08; May 8.23.

COTTON GOODS NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—Cotton goods were steady and quiet today. New price lists on flannels and other lines are being prepared. Cotton towels were reduced from 7 1/2 to 40 per cent. Burlaps held firm on light weights for spot delivery. Calcutta was reported as unchanged on burlap prices.

NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The cotton market was somewhat easier today under a little more southern selling and further near month liquidation. January selling off from 12.53 to 12.43 and closing at the lowest. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 9 to 13 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 3 points, with active months lower under over night selling orders from the south or elsewhere, and some local selling which may have been encouraged by the large crop figures. There was more or less trade buying in evidence and spot houses bought December with the demand showing a tendency to increase around the 12.50 cent level for January contracts, this held the midday market, but offerings increased slightly in late trading when there appeared to be a little more southern selling here and further commission house liquidation. December sold off to 12.47, while March declined to 12.53, and last prices were at the lowest of the day on the active positions.

It was reported that while some trade buying orders had been cancelled following the government crop report, others had been placed in the market and brokers with continental trade connections were among the buyers.

Spot house brokers continued to buy December against sales of later months and the near month liquidation in preparation for the notices expected tomorrow was absorbed in 4 or 7 points of the January price.

Rumors were circulating that considerable cotton was coming here from the south for delivery before the end of next month, and with December selling so near the value of January, local traders said they expected notices against a large part of the local stock tomorrow.

Exports today 27,615, making 1,700,811 so far this season. Pure receipts 118,754. U. S. Port stocks 2,755,729.
