Members will also sing as part of the Friday night show in the Friday evening pageant for "Miss Mitchell County" beauties at 8 p. m. in Colorado High School gymnasium.

In the Buford Community lights went our and the community was without electrical power during the storm. J. W. Blassingame reported .9 inch of rain with no hail at his farm but high winds which damaged trees and antennas in that area, he said.

News from the Library

The following is a list of new books just received at the Federation Library. They are available, by request, from Mrs. Boyd Dozier, librarian.

"WHAT'S GOT YOUR BACK UP?" Bill Maudlin (Harper.) A prize collection of more than 200 cartoons from the best recent work of Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Bill Maudlin of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"FLAG ON DEVIL'S ISLAND," Francis Lagrange with William Murray (Doubleday.) Autobiography of one of the great art forgers and counterfeiters of modern times, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penal colonies of French Guiana in 1930.

"THE IMMORTAL JOLSON HIS LIFE AND TIMES, Pearl Sieben (Fell.) A vivid biography of the well-remembered vaudeville star, recreating the hectic, grueling, thrilling days of the early theatre in which he got his training and became a resounding success, as well as the intimate, personal side of his life.

"THE FALL OF THE DYNASTIES: The Collapse of the Old Order, 1905-1922," Edmond Taylor (Doubleday.) From the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo through the fall of the Hapsburg, the Hohenzolern, the Ottoman, and the Romanov families, who had ruled much of the western world, and the fatal defects that doomed them. With maps and charts. In the "Mainstream of the Modern World" series.

"THE AGELESS RELICS: The Story of Sequoia," Norman Taylor (St. Martin's.) A popular history of the giant redwoods pushing down to southern Oregon and California, trees often 350 feet high and 20 feet in diameter (some are 30 feet). They are reckoned to have originated 100,000,000 years ago and to be from 2000 to 4000 years old. Illustrated in color and black and white.

"WAR OF NERVES," Paul Bricknil (Morrow.) Robert Mackay, from Australia, was taking a drink in the Caveau des Loups when a dark young stranger came in and shot a distinguished Algerian to death. It was vitally important for the police to catch the killer and Mackay was the only one who had seen him clearly — as both murderer and police knew.

"DEATH OF A BUSYBODY," Del Shannon (Morrow.) A woman's body was found in the Southern Pacific yard, and Lieut. Luis Mendoza's Sunday peace was abruptly shattered. His wife identified the strangled woman as Margaret Chadwick who had quarreled with Roberta at a shower the day before. Then another woman was found, strangled.

"TECHNIQUE FOR TREACHERY," Selden Truss (Doubleday.) When Sir Burke Aubury was murdered to prevent his unmasking a traitor, the Foreign Office sent his son to help Scotland Yard's Superintendent Gidleigh find the killer.

"HONEY AND SALT," Carl Sandburg (Harcourt, Brace & World.) Seventy-seven poems about love and night and memories and people, full of the poet's word magic — like "The evening sunsets witness and pass on" and "Elm buds are out . . . They are the mice of early spring air" and "Even their violence goes in velvet."

"MORE BITTER THAN DEATH," Kate Wilhelm (Simon & Schuster.) A storm uncovered the skeleton of Janey Halstead, who was supposed to have run off with a Coast Guard officer sixteen years ago. Then her son Grant brought a young woman to Janey's funeral that looked so much like Janey that the murderer planned to kill again.

"RED MOUNTAIN," David Lavender (Doubleday.) Johnny, freed of a murder charge by lack of evidence, sets out to build a road to the silver-bearing Red Mountain, fighting Indians and other troubles on the way, only to have the market for silver fall to pieces. A competent novel of Colorado in the eighties, not a bang-bang western.

Mrs. L. S. Girvin announced that the dinner originally scheduled for May 16 in the Baker Hotel had been postponed to May 17. Mrs. Deolece M. Parmalee of Monahans is to present a history of Mitchell County at the dinner.

Guests at the meeting were Mmes. Simonton and John Brown.

Members present were Mmes. Larry Kinard, Eldor Mahon, James Trammell, Sam L. Majors, Jr., Robert Aycock, Ray Noble, Rhode, Lewis, Curtis Latimer, Girvin, Jim Edison, J. S. Craddock, Jr., Roy Warren and Trevor Crawford.

County Agent Talks Wheat

Buddy C. Logsdon, Mitchell County Agricultural Agent said yesterday that approximately 274 wheat producers of Mitchell County would be eligible to vote in the May 21 referendum which will determine the nation's wheat program for 1964.

Mitchll County voters will choose between two alternatives offered under the Food and Agricultural Act of 1962; namely, the regulation of production through marketing quotas and acreage controls or fewer production restrictions but with lower price supports.

If two-thirds of the growers vote "yes" in the referendum, the first alternative will be placed in effect by the Secretary of Agriculture. If more than one-third vote "no," the second alternative will go into effect, the county agent said.

Logsdon emphasized that all Mitchell County wheat growers should take part in the referendum and urged them to base their vote on as many facts as can be gathered on the proposed 1964 wheat program.

The county agent pointed out that in most peace time years during the past four decades, American wheat growers have produced more wheat than could be used domestically or exported for prices satisfactory to the growers. Also that per acre yields have been going up and per person consumption going down. He said that about 600 million bushels of wheat are consumed in the U. S. each year but that about twice this amount was being produced.

End Project

Local Girl Scout Troop 280 have finished their project of establishing cactus gardens and flowers at the Scout Hut in Ruddick Park.

Leaders for the troop are Mmes. Don Butler and John Denton.

The cactus used for planting were donated by Mrs. Chester Hart. Flowers were donated by Mrs. Jack Wood and English Ivy was donated by Mrs. Joe Igo. The Colorado Sand and Gravel Company provided the gravel.

TO MARANATHA CLUB

"Prayer Is A Necessity" Says Mrs. Sam Bullock

"For the Christian, prayer is just as necessary as food, water and air," Mrs. Sam Bullock told the members of the Maranatha Study Club at their recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Wilford Fox.

Mrs. Bullock presented the program at the meeting, on the subject, "Prayer."

"The one concern of the devil is to keep the saints from praying," she said. "He fears nothing from the prayerless studies prayerless work, prayerless living. He laughs at our toils and mocks at our wisdom, but he trembles when we pray."

She told the group that the spiritual world is as real as the world in which we see touch, hear, smell and taste. She said that prayer is just as real as love and beauty.

"Prayer is compared to electricity. In the early days of rural electric lights, one man refused to have his house wired. As a result, it remained dull and dark while his neighbors' houses were brightly lighted even to every corner of the rooms.

"Man's soul can remain dark if he fails to use the source of spiritual power. We need to make use of God's power plant and light up the dark places in our lives," she said.

Mrs. Bullock told the group that we cannot get along without God. She said that we ought to ask Him for help. She said that this is an expression of our dependence on Him and our faith in Him.

"God expects us to be humble and penitent and to come to Him with a believing heart. He loves us and wants us to have the best. But sometimes our selfishness and lack of wisdom rob us of God's blessing.

"Prayer is God's greatest gift. Through prayer, we find the solutions to our problems and forgiveness for all our sins and strength for every burden," she said.

Mrs. Wayne Shawn was leader for the meeting. She spoke to the group on the subject, "The Little Things In Life."

Mrs. Shawn started her program with the quote: 'Do little things now, so shall big things come to thee by and by, asking to be done."

She also quoted Helen Keller: "The million little things that drop into our hands, the small opportunities each day brings, He leaves us free to use or abuse, and goes unchanging along His silent way."

She told the group, "The powers of little things to give instruction in happiness should be the first lesson in life, and it should be inculcated deeply.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Mitchell County Figures Increase

Monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Mitchell County now top $63,000.00, Erven Fisher, District Manager of social security in Big Spring, said today on releasing his annual county benefit data report.

The new monthly figure represents an increase of 11 percent over the corresponding priod last year.

"This increase can be attributed to the changes in the law in recent years, as well as to the growth of our age population," Fisher said. "This money stimulates county business; most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter."

Monthly benefits first became payable in January 1940 and they have continued without interruption for 23 years, accompanied by a steady growth in the number of beneficiaries. Fisher noted that as of December 31, 1962, some 1197 Mitchell Countians were collecting about $756,000 annually from social security, an increase of 104 in the number of persons receiving benefits.

More people in Mitchell County, he said, could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law, and for that reason they are urged to visit or call the local social security office whenever they have a question concerning their benefits or responsibilities.

As of January 1963, in the nation at large, more than 19 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at the rate of $1.18 billion per month.

The average monthly old-age retirement benefit in January was $76.19 for all States, while in the State of Texas the average was $68.49, Fisher said.

The following table shows the number and amount of each type of monthly benefit paid in Mitchell County, as of December 31, 1962.

BENEFICIARY GROUP

Retired Worker 611 $38,677.
Wife or Husband: 220 $6,684
Widow or Widower; 102; $5,701.
Mothers and Children 205;
Disabled Workers and Dependents; 57 $3,676

Sweetwater Hands Wallace First Loss

The Wallace High School Wildcats were handed their first loss of the season by Sweetwater Monday afternoon after the game ended with an 8-11 score.

The Wildcats made a nice start as they jumped on the Bulldogs for four runs in the bottom of the first. Melvin Williams walked, Charles Belvin doubled him home. Jesse Burton grounded out, but the next two runners were on base via an error and a base on balls.

Sylvester Williams flied out. Two more Wildcats came in on several Sweetwater errors. Curtis Taylor struck out to end the inning.

The score stayed 4-0 until the third. Then Sweetwater made three runs on no hits. Three bases on balls, a hit batsman, and an error caused the three runs.

The Bulldogs surged ahead in the fourth as they collected two bases on balls, collected four hits (one double,) and scored on a Wildcat error. When the inning was over, Sweetwater had plated six men.

Wallace got two runs back in the fourth, but Sweetwater continued their run scoring by making two in the fifth. Wallace only scored two other runs in the sixth.

Eddy Campbell started for the Wildcats and was the loser. Frank Biggers relieved in the fourth. Blueford started for Sweetwater, but Leroy Hunt relieved in the first and picked up the win.

Lake Champion Level Benefits by Runoff

Lake Champion's level was raised by .10 of a foot following Sunday afternoon's thunderstorm and showers. Elevation of Champion is now 2057.

Lake Colorado City elevation stayed unchanged at 2067.80 feet after the rain and the runoff from rains "up stream."

Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir, gained .10 of a foot to elevation of 2254.42, about 700 acres feet of water, a report from Lake Thomas showed.

CONVERSATION CORNER

WELL, NOW! The Census Bureau is getting ready to survey 3,600 families in 100 cities across this country to find out—guess what—how families feel about money!

Requested by the Federal Reserve Board, the census will survey family income, assets and debts and attitudes.

That's one survey that ought to be a doozy.

* * *

NOBODY ever bothers to survey the house on Chestnut St.

Never, ever, has a poll-taker, opinion-getter or survey-specialist come knocking on the door to inquire things like what we're watching on TV, cooking for dinner . . . or what we think about the birth rate, crime rate, tax rate, the crisis in Cuba and/or the G. O. P.

We're like the feminine counterpart of the forgotten man when it comes to surveys.

* * *

WONDER if it would do any good a-tall to wire Mr. Census Bureau (collect) to say how happy it would make some of us left-out ones to add some tried and true answers to the how-do-you-feel-about-money-survey?

Right off the bat we could tell 'em one thing. It's not too easy to know how you feel about money if you hardly ever get to feel OF it.

* * *

Feel about money? Had rather feel of it—
Have a strange feeling that we'd simply love it.

* * *

IDEALISTS can go right on saying that old supposed to be consoling bit that goes "Money can not buy happiness."

A realist can only add, honestly, "Maybe not. But money has a fairly good chance of financing a finer fit of the miseries."

The dreamer loves to sing along with things like "The best things in life are free."

Mind making up an itemized list?

* * *

JUST in case the survey skips us, as usual, we have prepared herewith a few pertinent answers.

How do you feel about money? The answer is, "Swell. Wonderful stuff."

Is your family income adequate? "Are you kiddin'?"

* * *

INTEND to act coy about the assets question. If Mr. Census Man gets too insistant there'll have to be a list of 'em reading: typewriter, piano, gas range, new curtains, a middle-aged Ford and two fairly respectable wardrobes. Oh yeah. One mama cat with kittens.

Debts? Heck. With luck we'll own the American Medical Association lock, stock and barrel some time shortly after the year 2003.

* * *

ATTITUDE toward investments? Nice. Very nice indeed. But only if investments can be stretched to include a gorgeous blue hat and 10 pairs of shoes along with this season's new muu-muu.

Educational levels, they want to know about too. Well, Mister, it's only fair to tell you, we both can read 'n write. But when it comes to figuring the bank balance—just put down "illiterate." That's as good a way as any.

* * *

If it takes education to learn to stretch a penny,
Then of higher education we just aint got any.

* * *

SEEN LATELYS, hither, thither and yon, were Ruth Latham . . . Elinor Jeffries . . . Arvie Clark of the Post Office crew . . . Freddie Guitar of the Chamber office . . . Dorothy Forbes, bright little nurse from Root Memorial . . . And beauteous blond Mrs. Bob Barman.

Saw slender Melba Morgan Mikle whose Army sergeant husband is overseas on special assignment for six months . . . Plus Ida Kirschbaum, at the lunch hour.

* * *

THINGS you may or may not know already: a great, big, beautiful wonderful magnolia blossom was being prized by Corinne Oliver (Mrs. Casey.) The soup-bowled sized bloom grew on the magnolia tree in the yard of the Marion New home, Chestnut St.

The original James L. Shepherd (Sr.) was a lifelong friend and the law partner of the late Judge C. H. Earnest, father of Joe and Miss Martha Earnest. Earnest-Shepherd offices were upstairs in the old bank building which still stands at 2nd and Walnut St.

Mrs. Mabel Cooper, Root Valley Fair Lodge, is also daughter of the late Judge Earnest and will attend the Shepherd reception.

Joe, by the way, is former County Attorney here and presently Mitchell County Bar Association president. He's official host, along with other Bar members, for the open-to-the-public reception in Terrace Room at 3 p. m. Friday. The party honors Justice Robert W. Calvert, James L. Shepherd Jr. and Robert A. Shepherd.

* * *

JOHN T. MERRITT, spied buzzin' around making ready for the entertainment for Texas Tech visiting students during Tumbleweed Festival, was asked "Are you president of the Tech Exes?"

"Naw," our John Tom said happily. "I'm just the oldest." Tech choir and drill teams will be feted by Texas Tech Exes and Chamber of Commerce with luncheon and a swim party.

* * *

OFFICE VISITS have brought in several familiar faces . . . Like those of Mrs. Witt Hines, W'brook teacher . . . Mrs. Bonnie Johnston, C. City teacher and chairman for the "Miss Mitchell County" beauty contest arrangements.

Mary Ruth Rudd (Mrs. Laurence H.) was in for a minute. She was saying that daughter Ann and her husband Louis Lester, now of Honolulu where they're in the American Fence Co. business, have been to their first luau! Ann and Louis and four-year-old son Rick moved to Hawaii in February.

Plus nice young Larry Sullivan, W'brook Methodist pastor, planning an old-fashioned gospel singin' for Sunday . . . By then, come Sunday, Tumbleweed festivities will be over. Guess Larry figures it'll be high time then to raise the rafters with singin' praise.

* * *

MEANTIME, put on your new spring bonnet

Editorially Speaking

A Fact To Remember

For 174 years our government has served as an inspiration and a beacon light for oppressed peoples of the world who seek freedom, justice and equality.

The heart and sinew of this system is law. It distinguishes our governmental form from those operated by the rule of force. The freedom and justice grounded in a just system of laws, protected by the courts, are the keystones of America's strength and her principal claim to moral leadership in the world community.

This concept of government under law, the antithesis of communism, was proclaimed as Mitchell County last week joined the nation in observance.

It comes at an hour in our history when world order is in peril, when even within our own boundaries a wave of rebellion against law and order seems rising among our youth as well as among adults.

Whether it be a traffic violation, cheating a customer, denying rights to a minority, or trying to steal a whole country, the end result of disrespect for human rights and law is chaos and trouble—certainly not the foundation upon which to build a safe, progressive existence.

Laws are made not alone to curb the evil-doer, but to give reasonable regulation to the lives of all people. It is through this dual function of law that Americans enjoy liberty and the opportunities inherent in a free society.

No citizen is relegated to the sidelines in the fight to preserve law and order as our way of life. Each day we can strengthen our system in some way—by respecting and obeying all laws; by aiding public officials in the prevention of crime; by bearing witness against crime; by serving on juries when we are called; by respecting the rights of others.

"Law Day USA" is not an experiment. It is the root of our very existence.

Special Applause For Special Students

A special group of Colorado High students deserve the special plaudits of their fellow students, teachers and the community as a whole.

They are 10—just announced as the ranking honor students of the school's 1963 graduating class.

Through four years of high school studies their grades have averaged above 93.5. And that's achievement deserving of more attention than touchdowns or home runs.

That's why the Record takes special note of these youths who have excelled in scholastics—the core of education—while at the same time exhibiting clean, active all-around citizenship.

Too often, the deed that gets the most publicity is some outstanding athletic performance—which, in reality, is no more than a contributing factor to education.

It should be especially noted that the valedictorian of this 1963 class is Don Hairston, who averaged 95.7 in grades while presiding at the head of the Student Council, participating in football, basketball, track, and contributing to the welfare of more than half dozen student organizations.

This same high type of all-around citizenship is evident in the other nine honor students—Sue Holman, salutatorian; Ricka Guitar, third ranking student; Billy Harris, Carol Kendrick, Carol Ellis, Alexis Cowan, Janie Lee, Jean Findley and Sandra Williamson.

This newspaper sincerely salutes their achievement and recommends that we take a look in the direction of the State of Maine, where this year is begun the program of awarding "letters" — much as the same as in athletics—to sophomore students ranking in the top five per cent of their class.

Traffic Accidents Rate Critical

Texas Safety Association has labeled the traffic accident situation in Texas "critical" and called on the citizens of the state to help stop the increasing trend in traffic accidents and fatalities.

During the first three and one-half months of this year, traffic fatalities increased about 17 per cent over the same period last year. Traffic accidents increased approximately 12 per cent.

The safety association said it was going to take "an all-out effort on the part of every driver to stop the needless waste of lives, the human suffering and the economic loss caused by accidents."

With vacation time just around the corner, the association urges individual drivers to increase or work toward developing skills and attitudes to meet every driving situation and appeals to all civic clubs and other organizations to encourage safe driving.

"Each driver can help himself and other drivers by driving carefully and courteously. Civic clubs and other organizations can aid the cause of traffic safety by initiating and supporting safety campaigns.

"So, let's all drive safely and talk safety," the statement emphasizes. "The life you save may be your own."

FOR CROPS, FERTILIZING

Farmers Now Are Relying on Tests

Today many cropping and fertilization recommendations are based on soil testing information. And many farmers and ranchmen are making use of the three soil testing laboratories in Texas to obtain this information.

A new bulletin of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service explains just what soil testing is and how it can be used by the producer.

"Test Your Soil for Profits" is the booklet and says that soil testing is a scientific method to determine the fertility needs of a particular field. It explains that chemical means are used to determine soil reaction (pH), organic matter, available phosphorus, available potassium, available calcium, and soluble salts. Soil salinity can also be determined by special testing techniques.

Soil tests can be used as a basis for fertilization and liming of soils, according to the bulletin. Also, a soil test can help the producer determine what should be filled out as completely as possible and sent along with the samples, the bulletin says.

Samples should be submitted at least one month prior to the date of fertilization to allow time for testing and return of the results. Under high levels of production or high rates of fertilization soils should be tested every year but with lower production they may be taken at two or three year intervals.

Soil testing takes the guess work out of fertilizing and insures better profits from the use of fertilizer, concludes the bulletin. For a copy of L-265, "Test your Soil for Profits," contact your county agricultural agent.

In taking soil samples, obtain one from each major soil type in the field, using a spade, soil auger, or soil tube. Information sheets can be obtained from the local

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Legislators Keep Governor Close to Writer's Cramps

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Gov. John B. Connally signed 27 bills into law . . . then he and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith left the state.

Their departure was to permit Sen. Martin Dies, Jr. of Lufkin to take over as "Governor for a Day."

Each bill applied to a special area of interest. For example:

1. House Bill 16 by Rep. Olen R. Petty of Levelland interests State banks. It exempts them from the State sales tax and franchise tax so long as federal banks are exempt. Saves them $1,000,000 a year.

2. House Bill 588 by Houston Rep. Tom Bass interests firemen and policemen. It enables them to credit toward "job seniority" time taken off for military service and guard duty. This speeds up their promotions.

3. House Bill 614 by Rep. Amando Canales of San Diego and Rep. Jerry Butler of Kenedy interests hunters. It puts a "No Hunting" sign on Duval County for the next five years.

These laws will go into effect late in August.

* * *

LOOPHOLE — Municipal annexation bill, which has passed both houses, is ready for Governor Connally's signature. It gives every city an "extra-territorial jurisdiction" — from five miles for cities of more than 100,000 population to one-half mile around cities of 5,000 or less population.

It sets up an extra-territorial area of one mile around cities of 5,000-25,000; two miles around cities, 25,000-50,000; and three and a half miles around those with populations ranging from 50,000 to 100,000.

Under this proposed law a city could annex in a year no more than an acreage equal to 10 per cent of its size on the first day of that year. In computing this, many have drawn concentric circles around sample cities.

But this is not the limitation it would appear to be.

Actually, instead of extending its whole perimeter, a large city could annex a five mile strip along major highways without approaching the 10 per cent limit.

* * *

VOTERS REGISTRATION — A registration system to take the poll tax's place is all but decided by the Legislature.

Senate-passed bill by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells calls for a 25-cent registration fee in lieu of the $1.50, or $1.75, poll tax. If House took the 25-cent fee provision out of the bill. So a House-Senate conference committee will have to settle this dispute. Another House amendment would require rural people and those residing in small towns to register every year, if they are over 60 years of age.

At present, these people are allowed to vote without registering at all.

Entire registration revision hinges on a constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax. This bill, by Rep. Abraham Kazen of Laredo, passed the Senate, but is tied up in a House committee.

* * *

CRIMINAL CODE — The much-opposed revision of the State Criminal Code now has the approval of the District and County Attorney's Association, through an endorsement by its president, Alton Griffin of Lubbock.

Endorsement applies to the House Criminal Jurisprudence committee's vision of the State Bar Association's plan for streamlining the code. House version is so different from San Angelo Sen. Dorsey Hardeman's bill which passed the Senate, that it may be a long, hard fight for approval. And there's less than three weeks left in this session. It must end by May 27.

. . . CAMERA!' 'ACTION

We haven't come to wide screen extravaganzas — and our movies are "silents" — but doctors nowadays are using motion pictures and x-rays to obtain important medical information about you.

As a matter of fact, I have a friend who also is a radiologist — specializing in x-rays in diagnosis — who's taken "movies" of more than 2,000 small intestines.

X-ray motion pictures are past the experimental stage. (Doctors call it "cineradiography.") They are used every day, and they are fast becoming a "routine" instrument for study of certain anatomical areas.

The movies help us particularly in studying the gastro-intestinal tract and in many procedures where heart conditions are being investigated.

One of the chief advantages I have found in x-ray motion pictures is that it's easier to understand motion.

In study of the duodenum, the first part of the small intestine and the place where peptic ulcers are most likely to appear, x-ray motion picture appears during its "pushing" or peristaltic cycle.

What this means is that vantage: they are able to retestinal lining, or mucosa, as small abnormalities in the mucosal pattern can be more quickly recognized by the radiologist than when conventional examination techcord the pattern of the inply o fdiagnostic equipment.
tures have a unique adniques are used. Sometimes those abnormalities are benign, and sometimes they're cancerous.

So, the x-ray motion pictures are a very important part of the radiologist's supply of diagnostic equipment.

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers

Two major stories dominated the front page of Friday's Amarillo Daily News. One was the report of a Goldwater speech, the other, a report of a Rockefeller speech. Both damned the administration.

Over the Goldwater story and at the top of the page was the question, "Are We Afraid of War?—Goldwater"

Of all the asinine questions!

Wonder how this headline would have looked 15 years ago.

Yes, Mr. Goldwater, we ARE afraid of war! We haven't forgotten 1941—1945 so soon. We haven't forgotten the disrupted lives. We haven't forgotten the plaque we helped buy for the high school on which was listed the names of graduates killed in action. We haven't forgotten the news telegrams which began, "The War Department regrets . . ." We haven't forgotten local military funerals.

And we haven't forgotten those who became millionaires at the cost of war. We haven't forgotten those evil men of all ages who have wanted war, childless devils who had nothing to lose but everything to gain.

Yes, General Goldwater, we ARE afraid of war. And we hope to heaven that we never have a man in the White House who isn't afraid of war, who will involve us in war if there is any other alternative.

We hate warmongers, whether they be greed business men, political demagogues or ambitious military men.

Are the hatemongers now adding warmongering to their sins?

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Seat Belts Can Strap You Down

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek doesn't seem to like a new invention he read about somewhere.

* * *

Dear Editor:

With so many things needing to be invented, like a salt shaker that works in damp weather or an automobile tail pipe that won't rust out or a light bulb that notifies you a day ahead of the time it burns out, it always puzzles me to see people working on non-essential ideas.

For example, I read in a newspaper last night about a new invention that's now on the market that made me throw the paper down and turn on television.

This new invention is a gadget that keeps you from starting your car until you've gotten your seat belt fastened. An electronic device is connected to the starter, and the switch won't work until the seat belt is strapped around you.

Now I haven't got anything against seat belts, they save lives if you're going to have a wreck and if you keep driving you probably are, but if I haven't got sense enough to use one, I don't want anybody inventing something to make me.

I have enough trouble starting my car now, without having to check to see if the wire from the seat belt to the starter is broken. Cars have too many wires anyway, if you it's a five-passenger car, would all five belts have to be fastened before you could start? This sure would require hauling a lot of people around unnecessarily.

The whole idea is a trend that can lead to more and more complications. For example, some smart alec may invent a gadget to keep you from turning on your television set until you've worked 8 hours, or a device to keep you from turning your tractor engine off until you're through plowing, regardless of whether the fish are biting.

If the trend keeps going, and cars get more and more electrical devices, like a radio controlled system that automatically applies you brakes when a stop light turns red, or a gadget to lock the steering wheel when you try a right turn from the wrong lane, etc., the time may come when you have to go into intensive training for years like an astronaut before you're qualified to drive one.

This might be the answer to the traffic problem, but I doubt it. There are only a handfull of astronauts now, but sooner or later if they keep hurtling around one of them is going to collide with another out in space.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

PEGGY'S Paragraphs

By PEGGY BELVIN

THIS SATURDAY NIGHT will be a very important night in the life of one of this area's fair young ladies.

This Saturday night, one of the nine young ladies in the 1963 pageant to determine "Miss Tumbleweed" will be named the fairest of them all.

This Saturday night, when the Tumbleweed Crown is placed on the tresses of one of these nine young beauties, eight other young beauties will feel something besides triumph.

Eight of the girls will feel bitter, hurting disappointment.

But those same eight girls will also feel pleasure in the lucky girl's good fortune.

WOULD HATE TO BE a judge in this year's pageant. Would hate to be responsible for choosing one of the nine.

All the girls are lovely.

All the girls are worthy of the title, "Miss Tumbleweed."

All the girls would be a logical choice.

This girl may have beautiful hair, another may have sparkling eyes, one may have a lovely figure, another may have a warm, sweet smile, and still another may have poise and confidence.

How to choose?

The girl who has the most beautiful face may not have the poise of another girl.

JUDGES OF BEAUTY CONTESTS choose the girl who has the biggest total number of these combined attributes.

A girl who is poised and confident may not have the big blue eyes of another girl.

But which one to choose?

THIS YEAR'S WINNER will join the growing list of Tumbleweed Beauties of years past.

MISSES NATI LYNN SMITH, SANDRA CUSHING AND SANDY LANDAU are beauties that everyone has good reason to be proud of.

And this year, a new name will be added to that list. A new beauty will be named the current fairest of them all.

Advance congratulations, "MISS TUMBLEWEED, 1963!"

FOR 1963-64 SCHOOL YEAR

Sponsoring Family Needed For City's Exchange Student

At the end of this school year, Suraiya Akhtar, Colorado City's foreign exchange student, will return to her home in Karachi, Pakistan.

And, unless a home and foster family can be found, Colorado City will have no exchange student next year.

The exchange students are brought to American high schools by the American Field Service, a private, non-profit, educational organization whose purpose is the furthering of understanding and good-will among the peoples of the world. It carries out this purpose by bringing teen-aged students from abroad to study in American high schools and preparatory schools and to live in American families and communities for a year.

AFS students are boys and girls, between 16 and 18 years old from some 50 different countries who are carefully chosen abroad for personal qualities as well as for academic ones. They are all able understanding and good-will to speak English, passably well if not fluently.

Participating countries in the AFS program are Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Cambodia, Chile, Columbia, Costa Rica, Denmark, Ecuador, Ethiopia, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Iceland, Indonesia, Iran, Italy and Japan.

Also Kenya, Laos, Lebanon, Luxembourg, Malaya, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Portugal, Rhodesia, Singapore, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uganda, United Arab Republic, Uruguay, Venezuela and Viet Nam.

AFS students live with one family during the year in the U. S. as a member of the family, sharing equally in the pleasures and duties of the home. The parents have the same authority over the student as they have over their own children, and they also have the same responsibility for giving him care and affection.

There is no rule that says there must be a child of the same age and sex as the AFS student in the home. It is preferable, however, to have host parents who have had experience as parents of children at this age level.

There are certain disqualifications. Families are not eligible to apply for an AFS student for certain reasons. These disqualifications are based on experience and will not be waived in any case.

Any family in which either parent was born abroad of foreign parents and came to the U. S. after the age of twelve cannot be considered. Canada is considered a foreign country.

Any family in which one of the parents is less than 37 years old cannot be considered.

A family in which the mother works during the evening hours or more than six hours a day (unless the working hours coincide with the student's school hours) cannot be considered.

A couple who are of appropriate age but who have not had any children of their own cannot be considered.

AFS Chapter presidents or representatives, or any one responsible to AFS for conditions and arrangements during the year, cannot be a U. S. family.

A family which is also providing the $650 participating contribution, or a sizable portion of it, cannot be a U. S. family.

A family which has had an AFS student during one year cannot be considered for another student the subsequent year.

Any family in which one parent is lacking cannot be considered.

Qualifications for the U. S. family are, in general as follows: a heart, large enough to share a portion with another child from another land for a year, and probably forever; a mind, open to the different life and culture the student will bring with him, open to accepting him for his differences and not for his similarities; and a share of laughter and gaiety to shrink the problems that may come up to strengthen the bonds of communication.

E. M. Findley, principal of Colorado City High School, has this to say for the AFS program: "I'm completely sold on the AFS program. I think it is one of the finest things a high school can have. If gives the students an understanding, not only of the foreign countries government, but also of the people in that land.

"We will be unable to host a foreign student next year unless we can find a sponsoring family. All is needed now is a home for the student.

"The sponsoring family will choose the sex of the student, and from what country he will come. These things do not matter nearly so much as the fact that our school needs an exchange student. I think we will be passing up a great opportunity if we do not have one.

"Finding a sponsoring family and a home for the student is of prime importance," he said.

If any family who meets the AFS qualifications is interested in being a sponsoring family, they are asked to contact Findley or Mrs. George Witten, president of the Colorado City Chapter of the American Field Service.

T. D. WIMAN REPORTS

How Many 1963 Graduates Will Continue Education?

There are 78 students in the graduating class at Colorado City High School this year. How many of these graduating seniors will further their education by attending a college or university?

T. D. Wiman, counselor for the school, says that approximately 60% of these 78 students will go on to college.

"The school records show that 56% of the graduating class of 1960 indicated that they planned to further their education," said Wiman.

"For the class of 1961, 55% indicated their intentions for college and for the class of 1962, 60%," he said.

"Our students attend colleges and universities all over the Texas and in other parts of the country," he added.

In naming some of the schools, he listed North Texas State University in Denton, Texas Tech in Lubbock, University of Texas in Austin, Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Rice University in Houston, Texas A & M College in College Station, Baylor University in Waco, Princeton University in Princeton, N. J.; Scripps College in Claremont, Calif., Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and University of Houston. Also Hardin-Simmons University, McMurry University and Abilene Christian College in Abilene, Lubbock Christian College, Southwestern University in Georgetown, Austin College, Howard County Junior College in Big Spring, San Angelo College, John Tarleton Agricultural College in Stephenville and Arlington State College.

"This list of colleges is in no way complete," said Wiman.

Though many of the graduates of Colorado City High School attend ut-of-state colleges, Wiman said that 95% of the graduates attend institutions in Texas.

Students many times choose their high school courses to coincide with the career they plan in college.

Courses in the local high school and the number of students enrolled in each are: Chemistry, 54; Algebra II, 43; Trigonometry and Solid, 25; Physics, 21; Vocational Agriculture, 25; Typing I 91; Typing II, 23; Stenography Practice, 14 and Shorthand, 24.

Bookkeeping, 28; Journalism 22; Speech, 12; Industrial Arts (shop) 55; Mechanical Drawing, 24; Spanish I, 56; Spanish II, 35; and Homemaking, 17.

There are 10½ courses or units required by the state of Texas. A student's schedule allows only 16 units. This does not leave him free to enroll in every class he might want to.

"There are many other courses that we would like to offer," said Wiman, "but there are limiting factors. There are only so many periods in a school day."

The state requires 4 units of English, 2 units of Math, 2 units of Science and 2½ units of Social Studies.

"We have students that check college catalogs and make definite plans for higher education. We try to work with these students to see that they get required studies that will permit them to enter the college of their choice.

"Anywhere in Texas, a high school graduate must take one of two examinations before he can enter college. This is either the Scholastic Aptitude Test or the American College Testing Examination. The results of these tests, in most instances, are used for counseling and placement after the student enters the college.

"But in all eastern schools and some in Texas, a student must score in the upper 50% of these tests to be permitted to enter the college.

"We must have the student ready to take these tests. We must have him ready to enter college. I think the majority of our students have done well with these tests.

"Also there is much work to be done with the remaining 40% of the graduating class who does not plan for college. We must try to get them ready for jobs or ready for technical or business schools.

"I have only been with the Colorado City High School for the past two years, but I am very pleased with the type of work the school does and the graduates it turns out," said Wiman.

● Just as Colorado City has performed a clever trick in turning the tumbleweed into something special, the Texas and Pacific Railway is constantly looking for clever ways to improve services to its customers.

In the old days finding a rolling rail shipment could be as frustrating as trying to locate one tumbleweed among the thousands that roll across the Texas prairie.

Now, with T&P's "instant" car data service, we can "take a card" and give you complete information on YOUR carload shipment within minutes after it reaches a T&P gateway. Complete data on every car shipped via T&P is electronically processed and sent by wire to T&P offices across the nation.

T&P congratulates Colorado City on its 4th Annual Tumbleweed Festival . . . keep 'em rolling!

ARE PARENTS FAIR?

Teen-Agers View Parents

By PEGGY BELVIN
Record Women's Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is last in a series of articles on teen-aged dating habits. In this issue, the teen-agers themselves give their views on whether parents are fair to their teen-agers and state their opinions on teen-agers in general.

* * *

ALL BUT ONE of the teen-agers agreed that they thought that parents were very fair in their treatment of their teen-agers.

"I think that parents, in general, are fair to their teen-agers," said Don Free.

"But I don't think they understand them. They are too quick to blame everything on teen-agers. They don't understand what we like and what we want.

"For instance, we like fast cars. Parents don't understand why we like them, so they won't let us have them. They don't understand that some things are just part of growing up," he said.

Dickie Summers said, "I think that, on the whole, parents are doing a pretty good job of raising their teen-agers."

"I think the way all teen-agers are publicized, it leaves the public thinking that most parents are doing a horrible injustice by raising their teen-agers the way they do," said Judy Root.

"I don't think this is true," she said.

Theresa Lee said, "As a majority, I think the parents are being very fair to their teen-agers."

"I agree with that," said Danny Galey.

"Of course, there are a few exceptions," he said.

* * *

"I THINK PARENTS ARE THE SAME as they have always been since the end of time. I don't think there has been a change for this generation of teen-agers," said Arla Jo Payne.

Said Cecilia Lee, "I think the parents are doing a good job with their teen-agers."

"I disagree," said Don Latimer.

"I don't think that parents, in general, are doing a very good job of rearing their teen-agers. There is too much teen-aged drinking and this should be stopped.

"I think the police should reprimand each teen-aged drinker, and I think the parents should be expected to do their part," he said.

"I think all parents love their children and try to do best for them," said Terri Washmon.

"Of course, sometimes they show their love in funny ways and the best is not always accomplished. I think the parents are thinking of themselves when they were teen-agers and are trying to steer us around their mistakes," she said.

Said Anne Rhode: "I think the parents are doing a pretty good job. But I do think they should tighten up a bit and know where their teen-agers are all the time."

* * *

IN WHAT SHAPE do the teen-agers believe themselves to be? Most of the ten teen-agers thought that the teen-agers in our town were in fine shape.

"I think that here, in our town, we have the best group of teen-agers to be found," said Dickie Summers.

"If there wasn't so much gossip, I think people would think much more of teen-agers. The good things that teen-agers do, people never know about. But the bad things, everyone has something to say about," he said.

"I think this could be true for the parents, also," said Judy Root.

"When a teen-ager does something to be proud of, none of the credit goes to the parents who have taught the child. But when a teen-ager does something bad, it is generally known to be the parents' faults. I do not think this is fair.

"I do believe there is more violence and delinquency than there used to be," she said.

Cecilia Lee said, "I think teen-agers, on the whole, are in pretty good shape."

"I think teen-aged morals are pretty low," said Don Free.

"But we certainly get blamed for a lot of things we don't do. All or the biggest part of vandalism in this town is not done by teen-agers who are in high school, as most people believe.

"This violence is done by high school drop-outs," he said.

* * *

"IT IS TRUE that teen-agers are on the go a lot," said Theresa Lee.

"But I am glad that they are, that they are always doing things, having fun. This is the way it should be. But this certainly doesn't make us juvenile delinquents," she said.

"I agree with that completely," said Danny Galey.

"I don't like the way teen-agers hang around at certain spots in town," said Don Latimer.

"At these places they are able to sit in their cars and the general feeling is that it is fine to do anything here, because they have always been allowed to do it," he said.

"It is only natural for every town's teen-agers to have a hang-out," said Danny Galey.

"Yes, but I think the management of these places should tighten up or the teen-agers should pick another place to where they get out of their cars," said Don Latimer.

Said Dickie Summers: "I think it should be all right for the teen-agers to gather at these places as long as they go about it in the right way.

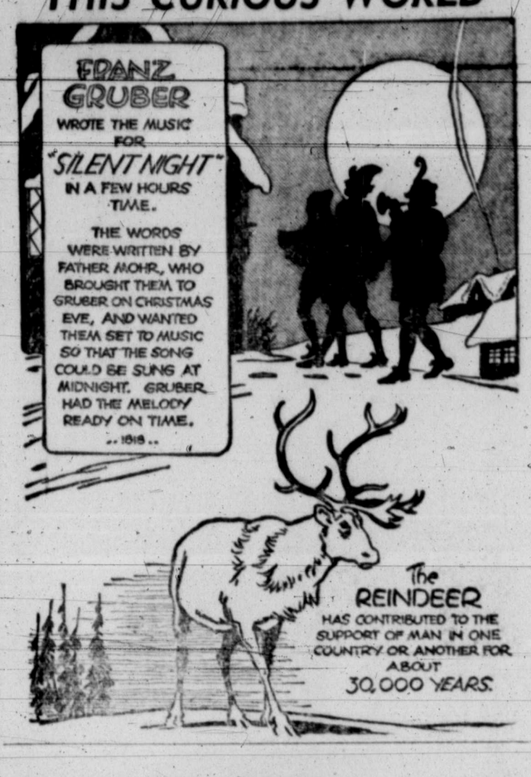

"They need a place to meet so they can get together and talk. But I do think the management of these places should tighten up," he said.

"There are always some very, very bad ten-agers, just as there are some very, very bad people," said Terri Washmon.

"But, aftter all, teen-agers are only young people."

STARTS THURSDAY AT PALACE

Connie Francis Is Star of Comedy

In U. S. Navy term's "seagulls" are the wives and sweethearts who follow the officers and men o fthe fleet whenever and wherever they can.

It is a group of these seagulls, as personified by Connie Francis, Paula Prentiss, Dany Robin and Janis Paige, whose adventures, romantic and other wise, are depicted with hilarious conseqences in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's engaging girl-pursues-man comedy, "Follow the Boys."

There is a plethora of entertainment in this delightful picture. It was filmed in Panavision and color on beautiful locations on the French Riviera (with the U. S. Sixth Fleet anchored at Cannes as a prop!) and in other picturesque spots in the south of France. It has Connie Francis following her hit in "Where the Boys Are" in another comedy part and singing four new songs especially written for her. It has amusing dialogue and situations as the feminine quartet chase after their male prey in a pink, broken-down, two-horse-power car called "Annabelle" which runs away and lands them in an irate French farmer's hay stack!

Here are the dramatis personae:

Connie Francis as Bonnie Paulaski, a sailor's bride of two hours, who follows the fleet to France to make her wedding to Radarman First Class Pulaski (Roger Perry) something more than a matrimonial event.

Paula Prentiss as Toni Denham, sophisticated heiress who seeks to marry her father's canning business to the prospective meat company of the U. S. Maitland's navigation officer, Peter Langley (Richard Long.)

Danny Robin as the enigmatic French charmer Michele, who follows the fleet in search of a mysterious "Lieut. Smith." As it turns out, there is an actual Lieut. Smith (Russ Tamblyn) aboard the Maitland, who knows a French dish when he sees one.

Janis Paige as Liz, wife of Commander Ben Bradville (Ron Randell) who, after ten year's of "seagulling," is determined that her husband transfer to a land-based job so that they can start a home

CAMP BOOTHE OAKS

Scouts Camptime Is Announced

Camptime at the West Texas Girl Scout Council's established camp, Boothe Oaks, begins on June 9 and closes July 25 in the 1963 season.

There were four sessions originally scheduled for this summer, but there has been such an increase in registrations for established camp by the Girl Scouts in this 16-county council that the Camp Committee has added another one-week session to meet this additional demand. At this time, there are 339 girls registered for sessions in the 1963 season at Camp Boothe Oaks.

The four sessions that were originally scheduled for this summer are: Session I: June 9-20; Session II: June 21-July 2; Session III: July 5-11; Session IV: July 12-18.

The Pioneer Unit, an outpost camp for advanced campers, will be from June 21 through July 2.

Since there are more registrations than Boothe Oaks is able to handle within these four sessions, the Camp Committee of the West Texas Council voted at their meeting on April 29 in Colorado City to add Session V to take care of this additional load. Session V will be held from July 19-25.

At this time there are no more openings in Sessions II III or IV; there are a few spaces still in Session I, and registration will be open for the newly-created Session V until May 15. All girls who have finished the third grade or above in school are eligible to attend Camp Boothe Oaks for these two sessions in which there are openings, the fee for the one-week session (Session V) is $20.00 per girl, and the fee for the 12-day session (Session I) is $34.00 per girl. For further information about the camp program or schedule, those interested are asked to contact the West Texas Girl Scout Council at 304 Mulberry Street in Abilene. The telephone number of the Girl Scout office is OR 3-7868.

Camp Director for the 1963 season at Boothe Oaks is Miss Fane Downs, District Adviser in the West Texas Council. This is Miss Downs' third year in this position.

TUMBLEWEEDS and PROGRESS

There is something remarkable in this entire Tumbleweed Festival with its fun, entertainment and colorful tumbleweed floats.

It's the idea and foresight and planning that take's a West Texas "critter" like the tumbleweed and makes it into a thing of beauty . . . a trademark for community progress and celebration.

That's why we salute this 4th Annual Tumbleweed Festival and the men and women who have made it possible. They have demonstrated in entertaining manner how a community like ours—by positive ideas and ardent teamwork—can turn even a "critter" into an asset that beckons support from all of us.

Wheat Issues Summarized By McKenney

The issues on which wheat farmers will vote May 21 are really very clear-cut and the 1964 program is similar in most ways to programs in effect for wheat crops in other years, Rex T. McKenney, Chairman, A Community Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today. As in past votes on wheat quotas, the May 21 referendum will determine the program for only one year — 1964.

"And, regardless of how the 1964 wheat vote turns out," the Chairman declared, "present law and the wheat supply situation virtually assure that another referendum will be held in the spring of 1964 for the 1965 crop."

For the 1964 wheat crop, McKenney explained, the favorable outcome of the May 21 referendum (approval by at least two-thirds of the wheat farmers voting) would mean that the wheat program available to program participants for next year would include (1) allotments and quotas, with penalties on "excess" wheat produced; (2) price supports at two levels — averaging $2 per bushel nationally for 80 percent of the normal production from the allotment acres — but not more than the normal yield of planted acres, and averaging about $1.30 per bushel nationally for the rest of the wheat produced; and (3) diversion payments for shifting acreages from wheat production to a conserving use — made on both the mandatory acreage reduction (resulting from planting within the farm acreage allotment) and on additional voluntary diverted acreage.

If quotas are not approved by the necessary two-thirds vote, however, the program available for 1964-crop wheat would include (1) the same acreage allotments, and (2) price support at 50 percent of parity (about $1.25 per bushel, national average, at current parity price levels) to farmers who plant within their allotments.

"Don't depend on hearsay to decide how to vote in the 1964-crop wheat referendum," Chairman McKenney cautioned growers. "Come in to the ASCS County Office, and, we will give you the facts on which you can make your own decision about what's best for you and for the country as a whole".

HISTORICAL SITE

Burns Home Presented Texas Bronze Medallion

The home belonging to Mrs. Douglas Burns, located at 304 E. 4th St., has been awarded a bronze medallion by the Texas Historical Association.

The medallion was presented to Mrs. Burns for the historical qualities of the house and furnishings.

The house was built in 1900 by F. M. Burns, father-in-law of Mrs. Douglas Burns, and proprietor of the old Burns (Burns and Walker) Mercantile Company here. Mr. Burns was one of the most prominent merchants in this area.

The house is furnished with fine peices from about the turn of the century to World War I, splendidly decorated with elegant china, cut-glass services and other fine pieces. Each room holds a crystal or brass chandelier. The furniture presently in the house is only one-third of the original furnishings.

The house is set back from the street several yards. The lawns, shaded by leafing trees, lead to the stone steps that go onto the wide verandah that encircles the front of the house.

A balcony verandah runs the length of the front of the house on the second floor.

The oversized front door is flanked on either side by cut glass vertical windows. The misty green of the door frames and porch ceiling blend with the blooming shrubs and greenery.

The reception hall at the entrace of the house gives view of the front stairway, the den, the parlor and the master bedroom.

The reception hall is decorated with paintings done in the early 1900's by Mrs. F. M. Burns. The downstairs rooms, excluding the kitchen, are carpeted in a deep rose. The reception hall contains many antique pieces, including a desk that belonged to Mrs. F. M. Burns, a nest of solid mahoghany tables, 2 solid mahoghany corner chairs and a 6-foot mahogany table and mirror.

The floor in the hall is the orginal hardwood floor with irricate laid design around the edges.

The parlor is accented with a huge wood-burning fireplace. The walls are lined with glass bookshelves. An Edison phonograph and console radio, both in working order, are also in the parlor.

In the den is a solid walnut desk that was used in the Burns Mercantile Store for 47 years. There is also a china cabinet and antique china peices.

The dining room is centered with a round table of black walnut with 18 matching chairs. plate rails line each wall, holding a service of blue willow antique china. A china cabinet holds heavy cut-glass crystal.

The back staircase is located off the den.

The kitchen is done in light green and red. Two of the walls are covered with red calico paper and the other two walls are painted in green.

The master bedroom is a half-octagon in shape. The 4-poster bed is of solid mahoghany as is a 6-foot wide chest of drawers.

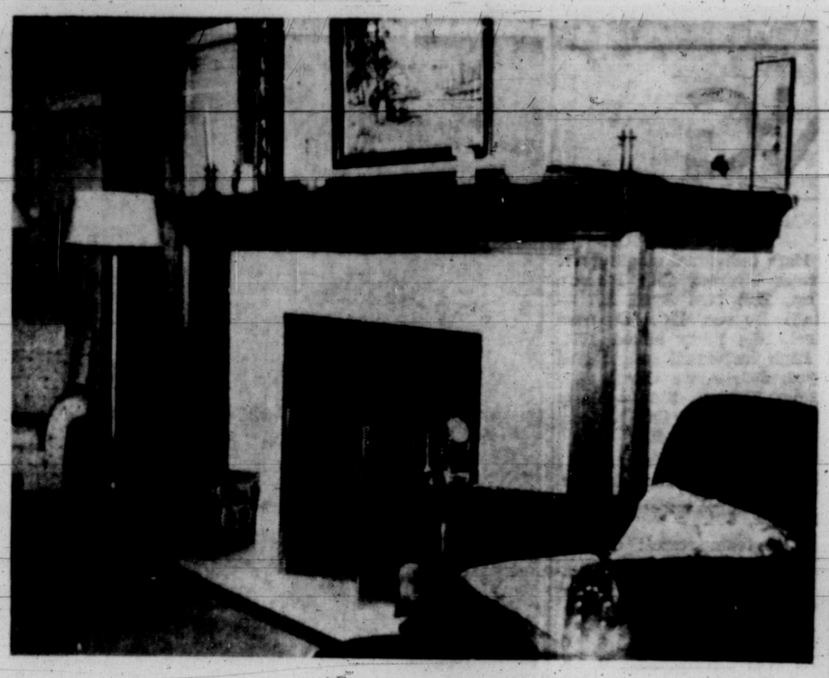

The main staircase that leads from the entrance hall to the second floor is carpeted in the same rose shade as the rest of the house and has light walnut bannisters.

On the first landing of the stairway, there is a 75 or 80-year-old Grandfather's clock that belonged to Douglas Burns' grandmother.

The curving back stairway is located off the den.

The stairway leads to a large hall upstairs. There are five bedrooms, a large bathroom, trunk room and linen closet upstairs. There is also a large sleeping porch.

The attic of the house is large enough for four rooms with 8-foot ceilings. The attic is not in use, however.

'Parlor Scene'

This picture shows the wood-burning fireplace in the parlor of the home belonging to Mrs. Douglas Burns, located at 304 E. 4th St. The home, furnished in antiques, was recently awarded a bronze medallion by the Texas Historical Association for its historical value.

Letters to the Editor

Dear sir:

Remember the story of the Ugly Duckling which turned into a beautiful Swan or the cinder girl who with her troubled plight of misery became the unforgettable Cinderella even for only a short period of time? Now we have the coarse undisirable despised tumbleweed which no one can even touch in some stages because of its thistle-like characteristics. It has become a traditional torture to farmers as they have to clear their fields and ready their crops. Its natural color has no beauty as it rolls across the country but only a drab gray.

It is greedy and grows, forcing its way to grow among the flowers and green grass on our lawns making it a menace to all the West. It, in some ways is comparable to a person who has a warped personality with hatred, evil thoughts or undesirable habits. It can be compared to many things about us which are undesirable but one day somehow somebody comes along and saves the fate of this weed and pulls it out of its plight and misery, even removing its pesky stickery ways, its dullness of gray, its fault is its ever ending "tumbling" search for a world of "greener pastures" over the way, and gives it color, charm, beauty and admiration.

Just look at one of our floats in the annual Tumbleweed Parade and at the beauty you see at our Tumbleweed Festival! There's a remainder of the truth that even though the worst of the lot may seem hopeless, that one day all is well and admired because everything and everyone has something good. It has to be that someone cared enough to try.

Yes, we can compare our story here in our town to the Ugly Duckling or Cinderella!

Yours sincerely,
Bonnie Johnston
