Picked up from the mail:

Day-trips and weekends away from home are replacing the customary two-week vacation for many families this year, as they try to stretch their recreation dollars.

Also, a travel habit that was reported as "new" a few years back and which apparently is here to stay, is a preference for spreading vacation time throughout the year, instead of confining it to the summer.

This undoubtedly influenced Congress when it tried to put as many national holidays as possible adjacent to weekends.

If you drink a glass of pineapple juice, it probably came from Hawaii, the Mid-Pacific State. It supplies about 65 per cent of the canned pineapple consumed in the country and 85 per cent of all pineapple juice.

Moreover, so much sugar cane is grown in Hawaii that in some fields traffic lights are needed to control farm vehicles used in the cultivation and harvest of the crop.

Ever wonder why automobile insurance is higher for drivers under 25 than older drivers?

The National Highway Traffic Safety Association says that night driving, often a social habit of the young, is a strong contributing factor to their disproportionately larger share of crashes compared to other age brackets. Also, the heaviest drinking age bracket reaches its maximum level at 22-25 years, which tends to further increase the number of highway crashes for drivers in that age group.

Of the 14 species of crane in the world, two are found in North America—the whooping crane and its cousin, the sandhill crane. Today, due to destruction of habitat, careless hunters and natural disasters, the number of adult whoopers in the wild had dwindled to 49, with an additional 24 in captivity.

The whoopers have not been able to make a comeback as did the alligator when it was threatened.—WACIL McNAIR.

Raid On Texas Gas Feared

ORDERED NOT TO LOAD GRAIN—AFL-CIO President George Meany tells a Washington news conference that longshoremen at East, Gulf and Great Lakes ports have been ordered not to load newly-purchased grain destined for Russian ports. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Allowable Unchanged

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Jim Langdon of the Railroad Commission said today that the federal government may raid Texas' natural gas supplies this winter to head off a fuel shortage in other states, and this would be a "rape of Texans and the intrastate gas market."

Langdon addressed oil and gas men before announcing that Texas' statewide oil allowable for September once again would be 100 per cent.

September will be the 42nd consecutive month of wide-open crude oil production in Texas.

The usual exception was made for the oil-rich East Texas field, where production was restricted to 86 per cent of potential to avoid possible waste.

Twelve of the 14 major buyers of Texas crude asked for the same amount of oil in September as this month, with Gulf Oil Corp. and Exxon Corp. slightly reducing their nominations. A spokesman for Gulf noted his company was merely trying to bring its nomination in line with actual production.

Langdon said indications are that there will be a 15 per cent shortfall in interstate gas pipelines this winter, with states such Pennsylvania and Ohio experiencing natural gas shortages two to three times the national average.

"This will draw attention to the intrastate gas reserves" of states such as Texas and Louisiana, Langdon said. He added that Texas had arrested a drilling decline and stockpiled gas at a "very high cost to Texans, who were willing to pay a high cost for gas and to keep it."

Langdon said federal agencies are holding emergency meetings to decide what to do if there is a severely cold winter this year, "and they will be looking at" at reserves in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

"It will be a rape of Texans and the intrastate market for that gas to be allocated out from under us" after $1 billion has been spent building up supplies, Langdon said.

"If it is a cold winter, and indications are that it will be, things are going to be pretty tough, gentlemen," Langdon said.

Nominations by major crude oil buyers for September, in barrels per day, with any changes from August in parentheses:

Amoco 350,000

County Budget, Tax Rate Are Up Slightly For '76

County Commissioners yesterday adopted a budget of $4,849,982 for 1976 and set the tax rate at 79½ cents per $100 assessed valuation. Last year's tax rate was 0.720. The new budget compares with the current budget of $4,653,447 for 1975. The total assessed valuation is $243,000,000, or about 10 per cent of actual value, indicating the county remains on a sound financial footing. The assessed valuation last year was $232,000,000.

The only outstanding indebtedness of the county is $385,000 for the coliseum, which will be paid off completely in three years. In 1976, the county will pay $125,000 on the principal and $9,675 on the interest for the coliseum.

Some of the larger departmental budgets follow: Four commissioners precincts combined, $662,753; hospital operating, $1,859,137; permanent inprovement fund, $178,213.37; parks, $172,827; sheriff's office, $146,196; tax collector, $112,987; coliseum operating, $98,043; airport, $96,415; county clerk, $72,825; and library, $67,212.

The total for the general fund is $2,396,242. The county has an annual payroll of about $2,000,000 for some 250 employes, including hospital employes. The revenue from the hospital takes care of its operating expenses. Thus, the hospital is not asking for any tax money in 1976.

The slight increase in the budget reflects general increases in costs and materials which has been threatened throughout the economy for the past several years. However, most of the increase includes additional funds for the general fund which are earmarked for a new jail along with $291,000 from revenue sharing funds.

The budget also includes money for a 5 per cent salary raise, which may be approved next January.

Three Die In Austin Plane Crash

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three persons died today when their twin-engine plane crashed into a residential section of north Austin and burst into flames.

Division Fire Chief Tommy Anderson said the dead were in the plane.

Several persons in houses near the crash scene told of narrow escapes. Two witnesses said they thought the plane exploded just before it crashed in flames.

"I was lying in my bed when I heard a sound like a bomb in the front yard and I ran out the back door," said Ruth Whitehead whose house was heavily damaged by flames. No one in the house was injured.

The aircraft came to rest against a tree in the front yard.

The crash site is on one of the approaches frequently used by planes in taking off or landing at the municipal airport.

C. N. Von Roeder Dies Here Today

Clemens Nelson von Roeder, 86, widely-known throughout the agricultural industry and long-time civic leader in Snyder died at 2:30 a.m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a long illness.

Funeral service has been set for 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. Bentley Baize and Cleckler Smith will officiate. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Austin County, Mr. von Roeder was married on Aug. 1, 1909, in Lockhart to Miss Ella Bodeman. They moved to Scurry County that same year.

He originated the Von Roeder Cottonseed and established the Von Roeder Seed Farms, which are still operated west of Snyder. The Scurry County Historical Survey Committee erected a historical marker in his honor for his cottonseed breeding work.

Mr. Von Roeder served as a district director of the Farm Bureau for 20 years, was active for many years in the Texas Seed Breeders Association, having served as its president, and served on the first Chamber of Commerce board for 18 years. He also served on the first City Council when Snyder adopted its present city charter in 1952. He had been appointed to the U.S. Naval Academy in 1907 before coming to Scurry County.

Surviving are his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Edda Bohannon of Big Spring, Mrs. Julia Riley, Mrs. Bonnie Brooks and Mrs. Patsy Dolliver, all of Snyder; a son, R.B. von Roeder of Snyder; three sisters, Mrs. Ella Richter of Snyder, Mrs. Frieda Murphy and Mrs. Agnes Sorrells, both of Ira; a brother, Dr. H.S. von Roeder of Ira; 14 grandchildren, 13 great grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Strike Call Is Defied

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Communist-dominated central trade federation Intersindical called a 30-minute general strike today to protest "escalating Fascist reaction" and attacks on Communist parties across the country.

But many of the two million Intersindical workers — approximately two-thirds of the nation's work force — defied the strike call though the federation had said it expected 80 per cent support. As the strike began at 11 a.m. — 6 a.m. EDT — most taxis, buses, subways and hotels ran normally in Lisbon. The national airline TAP, however, halted its operations.

Some taxi drivers blocked Lisbon's main street, Avenida da Liberdad, and a crowd gathered and fistfights broke out; but as strike time ran out, the crowd dispersed and normal traffic resumed.

The Socialist party issued a statement urging its members to "ignore, despise and fight this desperate maneuver to control workers."

Strong Defense Pledged By Ford

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — President Ford warned the Soviet Union today that detente "is not a license to fish in troubled waters" and said he will seek an additional several billion dollars for strategic weapons if there is no new agreement on limiting nuclear arms.

A strongly anti-Communist audience of about 7,500 American Legionnaires applauded the President when he declared the United States must maintain a strong defense posture. They applauded again when he declared the United States is keeping a wary eye on the Soviet Union, especially in Portugal, to determine its true intentions on detente.

The speech highlighted a busy second day of a two-day swing through four states. He planned appearances later in the day in Pekin and Peoria, Ill.

Ford told the American Legion National Convention that detente is a two-way street "... a fervent desire for peace — but not peace at any price."

He said detente means "a moderate and restrained behavior between two superpowers — not a license to fish in troubled waters."

The Legion often has been critical of Ford's support for detente. Although there were 50,000 Legionnaires, auxiliary and their families in Minneapolis, there were more than 1,000 empty seats in the convention center when he delivered his address.

The applause generally was restrained except when the President spoke of a strong defense policy.

Before the American Legion speech, Ford spoke at a breakfast attended by about 90 newspaper and broadcasting executives from six states — Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

He said he hopes that by fall "we can finalize and formalize a SALT II agreement with the Russians." But if there is no SALT II agreement, he said that on the recommendation of the secretary of defense he will have to ask for an increase of $2.8 billion dollars for the next two years for strategic weapons, with additional spending thereafter for which he had no estimate.

DeRoman Rites Set Wednesday

Funeral rites have been set for 10 a.m. Wednesday at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Mrs. Francisca DeRoman, 97, who died at 5:50 a.m. Monday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Fr. Tony Moran will officiate and burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. DeRoman was a native of Lampasas, Mex., where she was born on March 18, 1878. She had lived in Snyder since 1950.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Tomaso Salas and Mrs. Catharena Ramirez, both of Snyder, and Mrs. Pyola Rebetta of Brownfield; two sons, Alisco DeRoman and Jose DeRoman, both of Del Rio; and 25 grandchildren.

Rescue Behind Curtain Drew Quick Rifle Fire

TRAUNSTEIN, West Germany (AP) — "It was terrible, they started firing right away ... They could at least have given us a warning."

In an interview from a hospital bed here, wounded American pilot Barry Meeker, 33, on Monday recalled his daring rescue mission into Czechoslovakia in a rented helicopter the previous day.

He said he lifted out three members of an East German family, including two men and a 14-year-old girl who was shot in the leg.

But he said he was forced to leave behind an injured woman and a friend who had requested the rescue and "their fate is unknown."

"The two men with the family had already boarded and my friend actually threw the (wounded) girl into the helicopter," he said.

Then shots, apparently from a rifle equipped with telescopic sight, "came at intervals of about five to seven seconds," he said.

"Ahead of me was an elderly lady on the ground, obviously injured, and then suddenly bullets hit me right through the helicopter." He said the bullet pierced his elbow.

Meeker said the family was not at the pre-arranged meeting spot when he landed and "the whole affair was delayed. Instead of 10 seconds, as previously calculated, I had to remain almost two minutes on the ground. When the refugees arrived at the helicopter, I noticed that the girl was shot through her leg."

Fearing that the shots might ruin the entire mission, Meeker said he signalled his friend to leave the injured woman and come aboard.

"But he did not see me. When I heard another shot fired at the helicopter, I thought, 'Now you've got to get out of here fast, or else we've all had it.'

"I took off, flying toward Munich at high altitude, but noticed very quickly that my fuel was running low. Having been a rescue pilot before, I knew my way to Traunstein hospital and had exactly the amount of fuel to reach it," he said.

The West German Foreign Ministry said it had received no diplomatic protest from Czechoslovakia.

There were reports that Meeker, a civilian flying instructor, had once served with the U.S. armed forces in West Germany.

He said his home town was "Hartford" but hospital officials abruptly cut off the interview before he could name the state.

German authorities gave no information about him or his passengers. Their identities and relationship to each other was not known.

Doctors said Meeker was satisfactory at the city hospital, 12 miles from the Austrian border. They reported his injuries on Monday and only then did Bavarian authorities learn of the flight.

Louisiana Prison Inmate Stabbed

ANGOLA, La. (AP) — State prison officials said a 25-year-old prisoner was stabbed to death Monday in Angola's medium security yard.

Asst. Warden Lloyd Hoyle said officials were investigating the slaying of Alfred Robinson, serving three years on a Jefferson Parish conviction for simple burglary.

Husband's Boss Really Can't Hold His Liquor

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is an executive with a large insurance company. My problem is my husband's boss. He's not an alcoholic, but when he drinks too much (which is every time we entertain him in our home), he loses control of his kidneys, and I can't tell you what he has done to our furniture! (I had to re-cover a satin brocaded chair because the cleaners couldn't get the stain out.)

Another time the boss had one of those "accidents," my husband let him wear his best bathrobe for the rest of the evening. The boss wore it home, and I never saw it again. It happens to be the robe I gave my husband last year for Christmas, and I want him to get it back, but he doesn't have the nerve to ask for it because he doesn't want to embarrass his boss.

What do you suggest?

NAMELESS IN HARTFORD

DEAR NAMELESS: Since your husband is in the insurance business, perhaps you are covered for such damages and losses. (Have you flood insurance?) In any case, if your husband lacks the courage to ask for the robe, write off the loss. And the next time you entertain the boss, make it a beach party.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the husband who was being driven up a wall because his wife used "you know" at least once in every sentence:

I recently made a tape-recording to send to a friend, and when I played it back, I couldn't believe my ears. I had said, "and what not" at the end of nearly every sentence.

After that, I vowed to overcome that obnoxious habit.

The husband who is tired of hearing his wife say, "You know," all the time ought to rent or buy a tape recorder and get first-hand evidence of all those "you knows." After she hears it, she will clean up her act.

SUSAN

DEAR SUSAN: You know, that's a dandy idea!

DEAR ABBY: I am 64. I raised my children alone after an early divorce. Somehow, I never took the time to make myself glamorous or think of a second marriage.

Two years ago (at age 62), I had an excellent secretarial job. A man my age came from another state to be my boss. He was extremely attractive but he had a good marriage and grown children, so I had no designs on him.

Because he went home only on weekends, we dined together every night, and soon our friendship developed into an affair. It was the greatest thing that ever happened to me, although I knew there was no future in it.

He has now been permanently based with this office, and his wife has moved here. She and I have become the best of friends. (I am now retired.)

The wife and I visit each other, but the man I see as her husband is not the man who comes to visit me when he gets a night out alone. I still love him deeply, but I'll never do anything to cause another woman any pain. We are very discreet and no one knows. (Can you imagine two people in their 60s having an affair such as ours?)

He will eventually retire and make his home in a distant state, and I'll probably never see him again. Meanwhile, I'll enjoy whatever happiness I have with him. When he leaves, it will be over.

I enjoy my family, travel a lot and will just kill time until I'm old enough to die. I consider myself a respectable woman. There is no problem, so no solution is needed. Thanks for reading this. I had to tell someone.

Hermleigh School Lunch Policy Set

HERMLEIGH—Free meals and reduced price meals are again available to students in the Hermleigh Public Schools whose family income falls within the eligibility standard or who qualify under the four special hardship conditions for adjusting income.

Ray Simmons, superintendent of Hermleigh Public Schools, said Letters explaining the free meal will go out to parents the first week of school with application forms. Parents should complete the forms and return them to the school. They will be notified within 10 days as to whether they are eligible or not for this program.

The eligibility income scale for free meals is 1 family member, $0-3230; 2, 0-4240; 3, 0-5250; 4, 0-6260; 5, 0-7190; 6, 0-8110; 7, 0-8950; 8, 0-9790; 9, 10550; 10, 0-11310; 11, 0-12060; and, 12, 0-12810. For each additional family member, add $750 per year for free meals.

The four special hardship conditions under which families may qualify for free meals are unusually high medical bills, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income or disaster or casualty losses.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color or national origin.

If parents do not agree with the school's decision on their eligibility, they may request a hearing by calling or writing Ray Simmons, Superintendent, Box 195, Hermleigh, 79526, or phone 863-2451.

All Agree Charter Is Sufficient

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — On this, the Americans and the Russians agree: the 30-year-old United Nations charter shouldn't be changed.

Jacob Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister and veteran U.N. ambassador, defended the charter in its present form, including the big-power veto, at Monday's session of the special committee on charter review.

U.S. diplomat and legal expert Robert Rosenstock told the 42-nation committee last week that the risks of revising the charter far outweigh the chances of getting anything better.

"Harm to all can result from forcing matters when the time is so clearly not right," Rosenstock said.

The U.S. and Russian speeches were in answer to the majority of smaller countries, plus China, who favor charter revisions and persuaded the 1974 General Assembly to set up the review committee.

Of the five permanent members with veto power on the Security Council, only China has come out for revision. The other four are the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

The Soviet Union, which has cast a record 110 vetoes, presented the strongest defense heard so far of the charter in its present form.

Malik credited it with helping to prevent World War III, with promoting detente and with meeting the needs of all countries — large and small, socialist and capitalist.

Nations truly interested in peace are against changing the charter and peace would be jeopardized by attempts to revise it, he said.

Malik said socialist countries could not "entrust their destinies to the whims of the capitalist countries no matter how progressive they might be" — but the reverse is also true with regard to destinies of the capitalist countries.

Burglars Hit Local Store

Burglars forced entry into Hack's Grocery on East Thirty-seventh Street last night and took about $700 worth of merchandise.

Sheriff's Authorities, who are investigating the case, said the burglars smashed a hole in the wall to gain entry. Taken in the burglary were costume jewelry, gloves, pocket knives, transmission fluid, shampoo and other articles.

Sheriff's Authorities said they are working on "several leads."

PAST AND PRESENT—Texas Tech University scientists at the Lubbock Lake Site discover the bone of a horse butchered by men who hunted in the area 9,000 to 12,000 years ago. The bone was found at the Clovis level, indicating the presence of Clovis man who may have been present as long as 13,000 years ago. The break at the end of the bone and tool marks are signs that the horse was butchered. Admiring the discovery are, left to right: Charles Johnson, field co-supervisor who is working toward the doctoral degree in geosciences at Texas Tech; Dr. M. Elizabeth King, co-investigator for the project and curator of anthropology at The Musuem of Texas Tech University; Eileen Johnson, field co-supervisor and candidate for the doctor's degree in zoology; and Carla White, a University of Vermont student who, as one of 40 students at the 1975 dig, discovered the bone.

Believe Worst Over For Home-Building Industry

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's home building industry appears destined for its slowest year since the economy emerged from World War II, but signs are that the worst is over.

Industry economists say the key now is how fast the federal government can convert into bricks and mortar its paper promises to support construction of new low-income housing units.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that builders reported July construction of new housing at an annual rate of 1.238 million units after adjustment for seasonal factors.

That was a monthly advance of 14 per cent but left activity 6 per cent behind a year earlier. The industry ended 1974 about 34 per cent behind 1973, construction and it wasn't until this spring that builders began pulling out of a nosedive which started in 1972.

The number of new building permits issued, a sign of future activity, was up for the fourth straight month in July, this time by 6 per cent.

Carla A. Hills, secretary of housing and urban development, called the statistics encouraging. "This trend seems to indicate a continued recovery for the housing industry," she said.

The latest estimate from the National Association of Home Builders is that the industry will start 1.08 million new apartments and houses this year, compared to 1.352 million last year. This year's projected production would be the lowest since the 1.02 million started in 1946.

"It won't be a big year," said Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the home builders. But he said the best half of the year is ahead with starts hitting an annual rate of 1.4 million by year-end.

And even that modest projection is based on the assumption that the Department of Housing and Urban Development will make good by December on the 35,000 low-income apartment units it has promised to support with rent subsidies to low-income families.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments affecting consumers:

—The Federal Energy Administration says consumer petroleum prices may be boosted no more than about 3 cents a gallon as a result of the expected end of oil price controls Aug. 31 but that the price increases may come sooner than expected.

—Old aluminum wiring in mobile homes poses a "more serious, more dangerous" threat of fire than in houses and apartments, Lawrence Kushner, a member of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, said. The commission is developing mandatory federal safety standards for aluminum wiring.

—Ford Motor Co. is seeking to overturn the Department of Transportation's authority to fine automakers who contest and lose the department's automobile safety recall orders. The automaker said the practice violates due process.

—Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., chairman of a House consumer subcommittee, said a proposed Federal Reserve rule will cost credit card users billions of dollars extra each year by allowing merchants to add a surcharge to every credit card purchase and not have to divulge it if the surcharge is no more than 5 per cent.

86 Teachers Are Shifted In Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin school officials have transferred 86 school teachers across town to keep Washington authorites from withholding about $1 million in federal funds.

Forty-three black and Mexican-American teachers in 16 eastside schools and 43 Anglo teachers from schools in other parts of the city will swap places when school starts next week.

The transfer is the answer of the Austin Independent School District to federal government charges that too many minority teachers have been assigned to minority schools.

Emergency School Assistance Act (ESSA) funds of up to $1 million have been withheld from the district by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare because its Office for Civil Rights had contended the Austin teacher distribution violated the district's desegregation plan.

Supt. Jack Davidson said most of the 43 minority teachers being transferred are black because most of the Mexican-American teachers in eastside schools are involved with the bilingual program.

Seek Funds From Escrow

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana Atty. Gen. William Guste said Monday his office will go to bat to try to get up to $40 million interest on tidelands money held in escrow by the federal government.

Guste said the amount recovered, if a state suit is successful, could range from $25 million to $40 million.

This would be interest on the state's $100 million share of money from a disputed offshore oil and gas lands sale held in escrow by the federal government for 19 years.

Guste said his office will base its argument primarily "on the principle of fair play" and suggest that the courts should not allow enrichment of the federal government at the expense of Louisiana.

Guste said the state also will contend that under the agreement creating the tidelands escrow fund, it was intended that the federal government hold the money in trust.

In that position, he said the state will argue that the federal government "cannot traffic in our share without paying just compensation and that they must return any profit they made."

Disciples Face Controversial Issues Today

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Delegates to the General Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) faced possibly the most inflammatory debate of their five-day convention this morning.

Abortion, civil liberties, capital punishment and pornography were among issues to be opened to debate by more than 9,000 Disciples of Christ members.

Although only delegates may vote, debate is open to any of those attending the convention.

Dr. Lamb

Two girls are 'veggies'

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My girls became vegetarians a year ago. They were 13 and 11 years old. Both are very active, make average grades in school and haven't slowed down at all. I must confess that although I am worried about their being veggies, as they call it, I can't find a single argument against their being veggies. They are both in good health and love vegetables, fruits, cheeses of all kinds, eggs, and I keep plenty in the house.

They fell strongly about this. A major factor in their decision not to eat meat is TV. The shows that make pet cows, pigs, chickens and other animals almost human and their love of animals makes them deplore the slaughter of animals. They think if they don't eat meat they are not contributing to the slaughter of animals.

I'm not sure why I'm so worried or why I wish they would go back to being meateaters. I would like your unbiased professional opinion.

DEAR READER—It is hard to give up beliefs one was raised with. For years we have been told that eating meat was essential to good health. Meat is excellent food, but you can certainly live a healthy life without it. To do so, however, you must get an adequate amount of the right protein in your diet. Failure to have all the essential amino acids in sufficient quantity can lead to stunted growth and poor development. The growth phase demands more protein than some other years.

For more information on protein write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents and ask for The Health Letter number 3-5 on Protein Part I.

Particularly for the growing years I like to see vegetarians include plenty of milk or its equivalent in the diet. To avoid too much saturated fat this can be fortified skim milk, or even the non-fat, dry milk powder used in cooking.

A vegetarian can use more eggs than those who are heavy meat eaters, because the vegetarian diet otherwise is usually low in cholesterol. Plants and their products contain no cholesterol. Even so, I am not encouraging a large consumption of egg yolks (the whites are fine), because many young people have high cholesterol levels according to recent surveys.

Most cheese, except the cottage or farmer cheese is very high in fat (about 80 per cent of its calories are fat), and about half of the fat is saturated fat. I do think that low fat cottage cheese is excellent for both protein and calcium. The milk, cottage cheese and mature beans, if used in sufficient quantity, will provide adequate protein.

Vegetarians tend, as a group, to live longer than others in our modern society. Heart attacks and strokes may occur an average of 10 years later. Most vegetarians are health-conscious and weigh less, don't tend to smoke or have other bad habits. All of this helps in staying younger longer in good health. A recent study from Harvard Medical School showed that groups eating mostly a vegetarian diet tended to have significantly lower blood pressure.

Crochet Your Child A Treat

By Judy Love

We've found the perfect project to crochet for church bazaars or for a special child in your life. A companionable pair that will win any child's heart, our Tyrolean twins are an almost-lifesize two feet high. The bodies can be stuffed with soft, washable fiberfill to make a safe, cuddly buddy for a toddler or a pillow-playmate for a preteen's bed.

To make this winsome twosome, you'll need a washable acrylic yarn like Columbia-Minerva's Nantuk Bulky, which comes in 2 ounce pull skeins. For the bodies, you'll need 20½ ounces of a flesh color and 2 ounces of white. We used 2 ounces each of yellow and tangerine for the girl's and boy's hair, and 3½ ounces of forest green for their Tyrolean hats. The boy's suit requires 3½ ounces of brown. The girl's skirt, 3½ ounces of blue and her vest 2 ounces of scarlet and black. You'll also need a size hook to make 3 sc to an inch. The rest of the notions needed to finish the dolls, like buttons, scraps of fabric for blouses, aprons and eyes you'll probably have at home. You also may have yarn saved from old projects. If so, this would be a good time to use them up. Just weigh the yarn on a kitchen or postal scale to see how much you have and substitute whatever colors you have handy. Just make sure you use all washable yarns.

Complete instructions are available from your local paper. Just send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, Radio City Station, Box 508, New York, New York 10019. Ask for leaflet No. 427 and be sure to enclose your full name, address and zip code.

CROCHETED COMPANIONS—Crocheted Tyrolean twins will make constant companions for a child of any age. Almost two feet high, they are stuffed with soft batting to make huggable pillows of lifestyle playmates for a toddler.

Knit-Knacks

Dear Judy Love: What is the best way to go about changing colors when making designs requiring more than one color? I've tried tying knots, but that doesn't look neat on the back side and also it sometimes pulls the stitches out of shape. S. W., New York.

Dear S W.: "How do I change colors" is one of he most asked questions. It really isn't hard when you do the following: Work in the 1st color until you are at the end of that section and you have two loops remaining on your hook. At this point drop the color you are now using, pick up the new color and work those two remaining loops off the hook and continue using your new color until another change is required. See how easy it is? — Best, Judy Love.

Tourism Drops Small Amount

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) — A total of 610,170 tourists visited South Africa in 1974, a drop of .28 per cent on 1973 figures, tourism minister Marais Steyn said here. Traditional tourist countries like Spain experienced drops of more than 12 per cent in the number of visitors, he said.

Abortion Decision Is Woman's Own

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The right of a girl or a woman to have an abortion is strictly her own, says a federal appeals court. A wife doesn't have to ask her husband; a minor doesn't have to ask her parents.

In affirming the decision of U.S. District Court in Miami, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals declared two Florida abortion statutes unconstitutional.

One of the statutes protected the rights of a husband.

But the appeals court noted Monday that the statute dealt with the husband — not necessarily the fetus's father — and said:

"The rights of the husband, which arguably spring from his interest in the fetus, are of doubtful applicability in this case."

It added, however, that it may be paradoxical for the federal government to hold both that men have a right to beget and raise offspring and that women have a right to abort them.

"The state may secure the man's procreative rights by merely making unconsented abortion a grounds for divorce," it suggested.

"The man may then enter into a new marriage relationship and the state may thereby protect his procreative interests without infringing upon the former wife's right to abortion."

The appeals court said a minor's right to an abortion must be upheld because teen-age motherhood could seriously impair a girl's physical and psychological health.

"The magnitude of the minor's interest ... suggests that the developmental differences between adults and minors do not warrant denying constitutional protection to the minor's abortions," the appeals court said.

It said most girls would normally consult their parents, but it added that the decision would prevent a hostile set of parents from forbidding an abortion without considering the best interests of their daughter.

"The requirement of parental permission is unlikely to achieve the state's aim of insuring the preservation of the family," the court said. "If a minor's pregnancy has fractured the family structure, imposition of a parental prohibition of abortion cannot reasonably be expected to restore the family's viability as a unit."

Adoptions Declining

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — There has been a sharp decline in the number of children available for adoption in Texas because of the use of contraceptatives and because of legal abortions, the Texas Department of Public Welfare reported Friday.

"Consequently, previously hard-to-place children, generally those who are school age, black, or handicapped, are now finding permanent homes," said the annual report on adoptive placements by the department.

Another aspect, the report said, was the appearance of unmarried adoptive parents and parents who are willing to adopt a child of a different race.

"From the children's point of view, the new trends in adoption are all for the good," said Bobbie Mae Matthews, director of the welfare department's family and children's services. "The adoption revolution simply means that some of the previously unwanted children now have a chance to be loved and to belong to someone."

The report said that of 2,200 children placed by private adoption agencies and the welfare department in Texas during the past year, 310 were older than six years and 216 had emotional, mental, or physical handicaps.

ASCAP Members Use Pseudonyms

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers has such members as Stevie Wonder, Irving Berlin, Richard Rodgers and Bob Dylan. It also has a large number of members who use pseudonyms.

Attila, Dante, Darwin and Elijah are members of ASCAP. So are Ugly Butch, Billy Bombay, Sandy Courage, Coventry and Pierre Vivant. If your musical taste runs to the hot there are Diable and Bonfire Mars and for nature lovers there are Frog and the Eloquent Elephant.

Paul Minnesota, Sam Trade Wind, Buck Trail, Two Dollar Bill, Joe Cowboy and Cowboy Joe are members of ASCAP and all try to Be Good. Be Good is a member, too.

The Society of Jesus (Jesuits) was founded in 1534 by Ignatius of Loyola.

During the Colonial period in America, no textile product was considered disposable. Every scrap was saved and recycled as long as possible. One happy result was the emergence of patchwork, a uniquely American art form, Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, notes.

Goes For Couch, But Gets Hotel

SUPERIOR, Neb. (AP) — Fredrick "Rick" Alexander had his eye on an antique, velvet-covered couch when he went to an auction, but he ended up with a hotel.

Alexander said that when he went to an auction of the old Union Hotel and its furnishings he thought the couch might be something his bride-to-be, Ann Sweet of Hardy, Neb., would like.

"I thought I had it (the couch) bought for $2, but the guy wanted $5 for it, and I thought it was too much money, so I didn't buy it," the 21-year-old University of Nebraska senior recalled Friday.

But he said he decided to hang around the recent auction anyway, and the bidding on the hotel itself started a short time later, at $15,000.

Alexander said no one was interested at that price, and openers eventually fell to $2,500.

Alexander then chimed in with a bid of $2,600. A few rounds later, he was proclaimed the hotel's new owner for the price of $3,000.

He also got the couch he wanted, along with all of the other furnishings left in the building, a landmark here since 1880.

"I didn't even really intend to buy the stupid thing, then after I bought it it kind of hit me," said Alexander.

"I'm going to keep it for a couple of years and see what happens from there."

Five persons now rent rooms, but there are a total of 22 rentable rooms which go for $3.50 per night, $15 per week or $50 per month. Alexander said he's thinking about raising the nightly charge to $4.

The retiring owner of the Union, Maurice Kilgore, claims the hotel was the first west of the Mississippi River to offer travelers private lavatories in their own rooms.

Alexander said it looks like "the original ones" are still there.

Aggie Attack Jells

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M University head football Coach Emory Bellard spent last spring trying to create an offense of which the Aggie defense can be proud.

There are signs he is succeeding.

While the 1974 Aggie defensive unit ranked second nationally behind Notre Dame in total defense, the offense sputtered despite A&M's impressive 8-3 record.

Before spring training, Bellard hired Texas Tech assistant coach Tom Wilson as his offensive coordinator, installed the I-formation and lit a fire under the offense. By spring's end, Bellard could see progress.

"I think the defense will be about the same as it was last year," he said. "We'll be improved on offense too. I think we'll be perhaps stronger at running back."

Bellard doesn't even object to preseason polls that have picked his Aggies as the Southwest Conference favorites.

"Actually, we're complimented at being picked No. 1," Bellard said. "We've been working mighty hard to get our program on a level where it will be recognized.

"This is the best football team we've had since I've been at A&M. But there's a lot of proving to be done. There are any number of teams that could come on and win it SWC title this year."

Wilson quarterbacked the 1965 Red Raiders into the Gator Bowl using Coach J.T. King's I-formation but Bellard isn't abandoning the wishbone offense he helped pioneer as an assistant coach at the University of Texas.

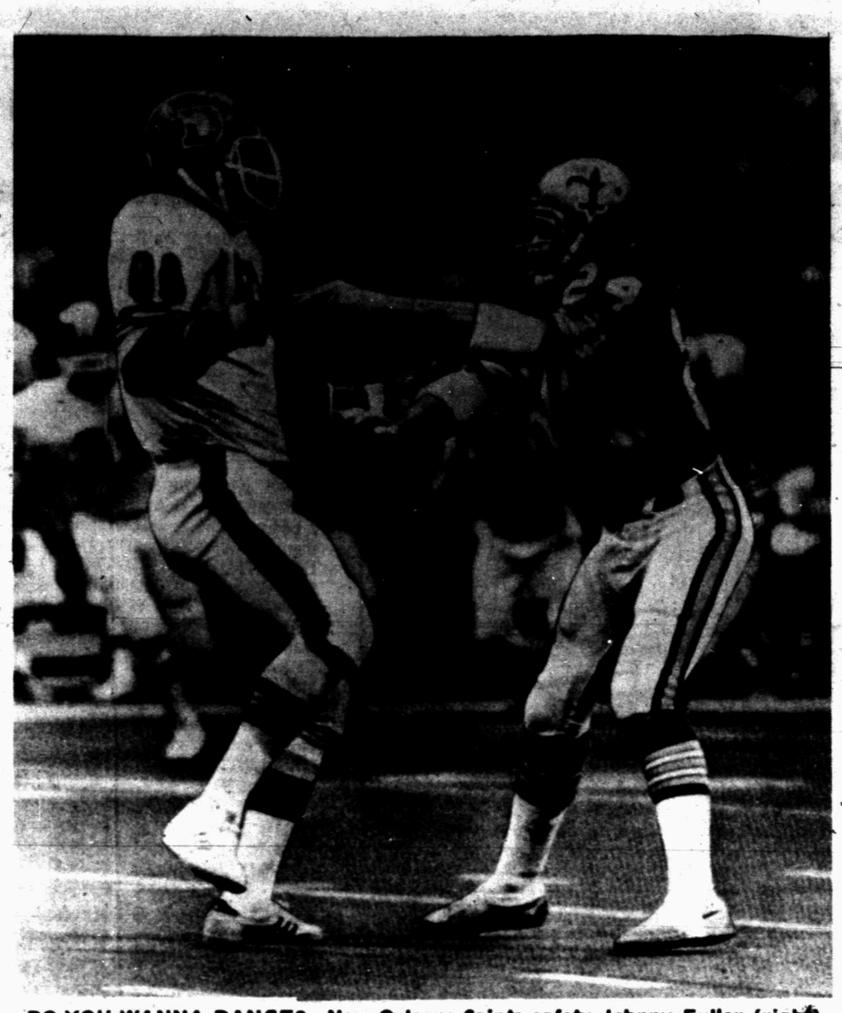

Bellard says the Aggies will be a wishbone team about 80 per cent of the time.

Ten starters return on offense for one of A&M's most experienced teams in history. Nine of the 22 starters are three-year lettermen.

Bellard, starting his fourth year as head coach, hopes to benefit from his first recruiting crop that includes tight end Richard Osborne, split end Carl Roaches, running backs Bubba Bean and Skip Walker, defensive back Pat Thomas and linebacker Ed Simonini.

"This is the first senior class to have gone through our program and they may provide some leadership that we might not have had before," Bellard said.

Much of last season's criticism of the offense centered on quarterback. Nothing was settled by spring training so it'll be a three-way battle among David Shipman, David Walker and Mike Jay when fall two-a-days begin.

Fantastic Catch Nips Pokes 26-20

By ROBERT MOORE
AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Coach Paul Wiggin of Kansas City called it "a freak play." Coach Tom Landry of Dallas Said his defense "went to sleep."

Both coaches referred to a sensational, almost unbelievable 63-yard pass reception by Andy Hamilton, a catch that set up the Chiefs' winning touchdown in their 26-20 victory over the visiting Cowboys with 45 seconds left in a National Football League exhibition thriller Monday night.

The pass was thrown by Tony Adams, trying to wrest the quarterback assignment away from 40-year-old Len Dawson, who has masterminded the Chiefs for 13 years.

Hamilton snared the ball away from two Dallas defenders, including Charlie Waters. He fell on the Dallas seven.

After Ed Podolak rammed up the middle for three yards, Adams, who led the World Football League in passing with the Southern California Sun last season, spiraled a four-yard pass into the end zone to Billy Masters.

"It was a case of one of our guys wanting it more than one of theirs," said Wiggin, unable to conceal his excitement over the Chiefs' first victory under his regime, "and that one guy was Hamilton."

"The defense thought we had the game and went to sleep," said Landry, whose team went ahead 20-19 with 1:56 remaining on Toni Fritsch's 31-yard field goal. "They relaxed, and when you relax, you get beat."

Landry noted the game, played before 35,630, was "ragged in the second half. It was just a matter of who was going to bungle it last. My gosh, fumbles and interceptions."

Despite Hamilton's miracle catch, Landry was inclined to give much of the credit for the victory to Dawson, locked in a battle with Adams and two others for the quarterback slot.

"Dawson is still pretty clever with the play-action and choice of plays," Landry said. "He put 16 points on the board."

Dawson, who played only the first half when the Chiefs ran up a 16-14 lead, connected on 12 of 19 passes for 176 yards and one touchdown on a 41-yard flip to Larry Brunson. Jan Stenerud kicked four Chiefs field goals on boots of 36, 28, 24 and 40 yards, the last with 5:04 to go.

After that last field goal, Dallas linebacker Calvin Peterson, who earlier scooped up a bouncing Dawson fumble and ran 18 yards for a touchdown, fell on Cleophus Miller's fumble on the Chiefs' 19, setting up Fritsch's 31-yard field goal.

The Cowboys' other points came on a 26-yard field goal by Fritsch and Roger Staubach's 17-yard touchdown pass to Robert Newhouse.

After watching all four of his quarterbacks in two games, Wiggin said he was "just not in a position to say for sure who has been the most impressive."

The Chiefs are 1-1 and the Cowboys 0-2.

Inductees Run Gamut Of Emotions

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame inductees ran the gamut of emotions, from Judy Johnson's sob-interrupted acceptance speech to Earl Averill's controlled indignation over the electoral system which brought him and four others here for enshrinement.

While Johnson's words came in monosylables and with difficulty, Averill, "The Rock" of the Cleveland Indians from 1929-39, said plenty.

In a prepared statement released after the ceremonies Monday, Averill revealed: "Had I been elected after my death, I had made arrangements that my name never be placed in the Hall of Fame.

"My disagreement with how the Hall of Fame elections are held, and who is elected, is not based on bitterness that I had to wait 34 years after retirement to receive this honor.

"But it is based on the fact that statistics alone are not enough to gain a player admittance into the Hall of Fame."

Still, the 73-year-old Averill is there now, along with Johnson, former Pittsburgh slugger Ralph Kiner, Bucky Harris and Billy Herman.

Johnson was a most remarkable speaker — not so much for what he said but because began a sentence, stopped and cried for two minutes, then resumed his remarks at the very spot where he left off.

"So many people have been nice to me coming up ...," he said before the excitement caught up with him and forced his right hand over his eyes.

He appeared to reel momentarily and his son-in-law, former center fielder Bill Bruton, hurried to the stage to be sure all was well. His hand went to Johnson's shoulder before the 75-year-old whispered, "I'll be all right."

Then he returned to the microphone and said: "... I want to thank all of them."

The crowd of 7,500 gathered at the grassy clearing where the ceremonies were held, applauded one of the top third basemen in the folklore-history of Negro League baseball.

Johnson finally recovered long enough to tell of the days he used to box with his sister because his father had wanted him to be a boxer.

NCAA Gets Proposal For Super Conference

NEW YORK (AP) — First it was the Super Bowl and the Super Dome. Now the colleges have a brainstorm: the Super Conference.

A mammoth conference of approximately 75 of the nation's major football powers has been formally proposed to the National Collegiate Athletic Association and could become a reality as early as next season.

The plan was presented to the policy-making NCAA Council last week at the special convention on economics in Chicago by the NCAA's Special Committee on Reorganization. The Council said the plan would be considered at its next meeting in October.

"I'd say the Council probably will officially sponsor the proposal at the annual NCAA convention next January," a source close to the NCAA told The Associated Press Monday. "It has very strong support on the Reorganization Committee."

"This super association was one of the things the larger schools proposed four years ago when the Reorganization Committee was formed," according to the NCAA. "It was shouted down at the time and we kind of compromised instead of dividing the majors into two groups."

The NCAA split into three divisions two years ago, but talk of a super conference surfaced again in Chicago last week when the special convention passed new recruiting and personnel regulations that put all 134 of the current Division I schools on equal footing.

A preliminary plan calls for what basically would be a football conference composed of 75 schools — seven conferences plus 15 independents. The conferences are The Big Eight, Southeastern, The Big Ten, Pacific-8, Southwest, Atlantic Coast and Western Athletic. The independents are Notre Dame, Penn State, Pitt, Georgia Tech, Miami of Florida, Florida State, South Carolina, Tulane, Boston College, Syracuse, West Virginia, Air Force, Utah State, Memphis State and Virginia Tech.

The next division would consist of nine conferences — Big Sky, Ivy League, Mid-American, Missouri Valley, Ohio Valley, Pacific Coast Athletic Association, Southern, Southland and Southwestern Athletic — plus the following independents:

Akron, Army, Cincinnati, Colgate, Connecticut, Dayton, Delaware, Florida A&M, Hawaii, Holy Cross, Illinois State, Indiana State, Louisville, Massachusetts, Marshall, Navy, Nevada-Las Vegas, North Texas State, Northeast Louisiana, Rutgers, Southern Mississippi, Temple, Tennessee-Chattanooga, Tennessee State, Villanova and Western Carolina.

The rest of the nation's football-playing NCAA colleges would be remain Division II or III. The super conference would be called Division I, with the other majors Division I-A.

Possible criteria for membership in the super conference are the number of football scholarships, future scheduling patterns, past performances against other teams in the new division, number of varsity sports and athletic facilities.

To remain a member, a school would be required to play 51 per cent of its nonconference games against other teams in the division while independents would have to play 51 per cent of all games against other "super powers."

Thomas Wants Grid Job

DALLAS (AP) — Duane Thomas, who once starred as a running back in the National Football League but now is a free agent, has told sports writers he "is ready to play football for anybody."

He called newsmen into conference Monday to declare he's available.

Thomas is the moody and controversial back who figured in the Dallas Cowboys' drive to a Super Bowl championship in 1972. He later went to the Washington Redskins and has been released by that club.

After saying he has his head together and all his problems are in the past, Thomas was asked if he would consider playing for the Cowboys again. He replied, "I would play for anybody but my first choice would be the Redskins."

A Washington team spokesman said Thomas was in Houston last weekend to talk with Redskins Coach George Allen while the club was there to play the Houston Oilers. The spokesman said chances would be slim for them to work out another contract.

Gil Brandt, vice president for personnel development with the Cowboys, said Dallas has no plans for Thomas.

Lignite coal-fired power plants like this cost more than twice as much to build as gas-fired plants.

But we have to build them because we're running out of natural gas.

The generating unit you see here is being built right now at Martin Lake, near Henderson in East Texas. It will make electricity by burning lignite coal.

It will also cost more than two times as much as a comparable gas-fired unit.

So why are we building it? Because new supplies of natural gas, our traditional boiler fuel, are increasingly hard to get and much more costly.

Lignite fuel is comparatively economical, which in the long run will slow the rising cost of electricity.

Electricity is still a good value today. If you're a customer of Texas Electric, you pay about 27% less than the national average for your electric service.

At Texas Electric we're working to make sure you'll continue having the electricity you need. And that it won't cost any more than it has to.

Million Collected In Bullock's Raids

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock said today his raids on delinquent tax payers have uncovered more than $1 million in sales taxes due the state and cities.

He said a total of 31 business establishments were shut down. Nineteen of them have reopened.

"We've got agreements to pay from some of the folks and they've going back into business now," Bullock said.

Oil Investment Firms Challenge Securities Act

DALLAS (AP) — Ten Dallas area oil and gas investing companies have asked that a three-judge panel of federal judges declare the State Securities Act unconstitutional and enjoin state agents from harassing the companies.

In addition, five of the companies have filed a $3 million damage suit against the State of Texas, alleging that state agents have invaded their right to privacy and breached their confidence in trying to run them out of business.

The suits were filed Monday in U.S. District Court and State District Court in Dallas.

The federal suit also revealed that the state plans to seek a court of inquiry to investigate so-called "Schedule D" companies. The suit asks that the state law permitting courts of inquiry be declared unconstitutional.

Schedule D is a federal securities exemption that enables oil and gas firms to operate with a minimum of government regulation.

The firms which filed the federal suit are Dallas Oil and Gas Inc., Sierra Oil and Gas Inc., Kema Productions Inc., U.S. Energy Inc., Enntex Oil and Gas Inc., Century Petroleum Corp., Landmark Petroleum Inc., LaPrada Oil and Gas Inc., Texas Coal and Energy Inc. and Security Petroleum Inc. Plaintiffs in the state court suit are Dallas, Sierra, Kema, Century and Landmark.

Named as defendants, in addition to the state, are State Securities Commissioner Roy Mouer, deputy securities commissioner A. James Ellisor, securities agent Ray McGregor, Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill and Assistant Atty. Gen. Bill Flanary.

Neither U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Hill, nor state District Court Judge Ted Robertson issued the temporary restraining orders sought by the companies to stop state investigations.

The suits accuse state agents of harassment, unlawful searches and seizures, misinterpretation of the law, misfeasance, "probable implementation" of cease and desist orders, courts of inquiry and return of indictments

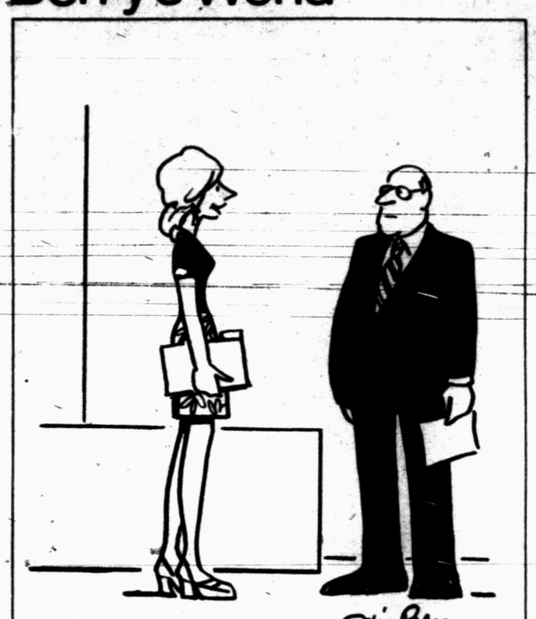

Agents also were accused of turning alleged confidential information over to the news media in violation of the State Securities Act.

The companies object to the state's interpretation of the State Securities Act as requiring anyone selling a security from Texas to a person outside the state to obtain a dealer's license and to register the securities.

None of the firms has registered its secutities with the State Securities Commission because none sells interests in wells to Texas residents, according to the Dallas Morning News.

The state suit also alleges that state government agents have conducted "gestapo-like raids" as part of a plan to run the companies out of the state.

Fluvanna Schools Set Lunch Policy

FLUVANNA—The Fluvanna Independent School District has announced a free and reduced lunch policy for children in the district unable to pay the full price of 40 cents per lunch in elementary school and 45 cents per lunch in the senior high school. Families are urged to apply for free and reduced lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home by students to parents. Additional copies of the forms are available at the superintendent's office.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine the economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under provisions of the policy, the Fluvanna Independent School District will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. Sam Bruner has been designated as the hearing official.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of, or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a lunch. A complete copy of the policy is on file in the superintendent's office where it may be reviewed by any interested person.

Carrillo Asking An Early Recess

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys for Duval County District Judge O.P. Carrillo have indicated they will ask a recess in the impeachment trial, scheduled to start Sept. 3 in the Texas Senate.

The trial by the 31-member Senate follows the 10 articles of impeachment voted by the House against the South Texas office holder Aug. 4-5. Carrillo has been suspended from his judicial post until after the trial.

Arthur Mitchell, Austin attorney representing Carrillo, urged the Senate Administration Committee Monday to keep in its proposed rules for the impeachment the requirement that the start of the trial could be postponed, more than once, by a simple majority vote.

"I wanted to present the problem now," Mitchell said concerning the scheduled Sept. 8 federal court trial of Carrillo in Corpus Christi on alleged income tax evastion charges. "So far as I know it's going to trial, and I'd hate for a federal marshal to drag me out of the Senate if we didn't appear," he said.

"Federal marshals don't have the privileges of the floor in the Senate," remarked Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who will be the presiding officer at the impeachment trial.

Mitchell also called attention to another scheduled hearing Oct. 3 in Corpus Christi for Carrillo before the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

The Senate drew up a long list of proposed rules that will be presented the full membership when it assembles Sept. 3. They included:

—Allow live radio broadcasts of the entire trial.

—Allow natural light photographs while the trial is in progress but no flash bulbs or flood lights.

—Require all persons within the chamber, including news reporters, to register when they enter or leave. Newsmen must obtain special credentials to cover the trial.

—Prohibit senators, who act as the jury in the trial, from making public comments about the trial while it in progress. The "gag rule" may be extended to attorneys later.

—Put a "call on the Senate" which would require all members to stay within the physical limits of the chamber and adjoining rooms while the trial is in progress.

—Gave Carrillo's attorneys full rights to argue "all preliminary pleadings" and to have them decided by the Senate before the Senate begins consideration of the actual articles of impeachment.

Bentsen Preparing To Enter Arkansas Primary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said Monday he probably would enter the Arkansas presidential primary election next year.

Bentsen told reporters at a news conference that he would have to think over the situation and then decide what to do if Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., becomes a candidate in the Arkansas primary.

Bentsen, who had introduced himself to about 250 Arkansans at a get-acquainted luncheon earlier in the day, said he was pleased with the results.

His name is not widely known outside Texas. However, he said trips such as the one to Arkansas would help to change that.

Bentsen said he doubted that Gov. George Wallace of Alabama would be as big a factor next year as he has in the past. Wallace also is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

Wallace carried Arkansas in 1968 on the American party ticket and has continued to attract support with the appeal that a vote for Wallace would amount to a message to Washington that Americans don't like the way things are.

But, Bentsen said that Americans not only want a spokesman for their frustrations, "they want answers," and that when it comes time to vote, Americans won't be just sending a message, "they'll be sending a President."

On other matters, Bentsen said:

—The death penalty would be justified "in extreme cases." An example, he said, would be an incident in which a terrorist planted a bomb which exploded and killed "scores of innocent people."

—The Congress, where Democrats have a majority in both chambers, is trying to cope with the nation's problems by passing such measures as the jobs bill, the housing bill and the agriculture bill. But, President Ford has vetoed all three of those bills and the Democrats don't have the two-thirds majority to override.

—It would not be appropriate to label him as the most conservative of the Democrats now seeking the nomination. "I don't like labels," Bentsen said. "I just ask myself will it work, will it be effective, can we afford it, and then I vote accordingly."

—His ideas to reduce the consumption of fuel include tax breaks as incentives to encourage manufacturers to convert their machinery to types which use less energy, tax charges on automobile manufacturers for not producing automobiles that get more miles per gallon, tax credits for improved insulation of homes. He conceded that the tax on manufacturers of automobiles probably would be passed on to consumers. He did not favor cutting import taxes on foreign-made cars even though they get better mileage than most U.S.-produced cars. Bentsen said American car makers and their employes needed the protection that import duties give. The taxes inflate the show-room price of imported vehicles.

—The price controls on "old" oil should be removed not all at once as advocated by President Ford but over a period of about 3½ years.

—In bargaining with Russia during the era of detente, the United States has occasionally been "out-traded" and should take a tougher stance to get from the Russians concessions which are more in line with those the United States makes. "I don't want to go back to the cold war," Bentsen added.

—Americans believe in selling agricultural products abroad. The sales, such as grain deals with Russia, ought to be subject to Agriculture Department confirmation that a surplus exists.

Sister-In-Law Of Connally Wounded

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Police said what was described as an accidental shooting sent a sister-in-law of former Texas Gov. John Connally — Minnie Lou Connally, 62 — to a hospital Monday night.

She is the wife of Stanford W. Connally, eldest brother of the former state and federal official, and she suffered a bullet wound in her left arm.

Officers said her husband told them a .38 caliber pistol discharged by accident at their home while he was showing his wife how to use it.

11 Nabbed In Gambling Raid

COLLEYVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Investigators led by Texas Rangers cracked down on alleged gambling at the Ross Downs horse race track here Sunday.

A spokesman with the district attorney's office here said 11 persons were arrested in the raid which was conducted after the sixth race Sunday afternoon.

He said Texas Ranger John Hogg, who is assigned with the district attorney's organized crime unit here, investigated the gambling and led investigators from the district attorney's office, Department of Public Safety and Colleyville police in the raid.

The spokesman said bookmakers were acting flagrantly, hawking their odds in front of the grandstands at the track.

Also picked up in the raid Sunday was a quantity of drugs of the type used to drug horses, he said.

In 1952 Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower became the first Republican to win the presidency since 1928.

Overspending Could Put Solon In Jail

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill has ruled that a House member who intentionally exceeds his office expense account limit is subject to a jail term, fine or both.

A number of representatives have exceeded the amount allowed for office expenses, but "I haven't had to contact anybody in three months," said House budget officer Jim Reynolds.

Hill's opinion said that to knowingly exceed a legislative expense limit would violate a penal code provision against abuse of power by public officials.

The penal code carries a $2,000 fine or two-year jail term or both for violation of that law.

"A representative's authority to charge expenditures to the state is limited by HSR4 (the House expenses resolution). When he goes beyond the limits established in that resolution he exceeds his official power. Thus, in our opinion the act of intentionally or knowingly charging expenditures to the state beyond those authorized in HSR4 could constitute a violation of section 39.01 (of the penal code)," Hill said.

His opinion went to Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, chairman of the House Administrative Committee.

Laney said he had no particular representatives in mind when he sought the opinion.

House members can spend $3,000 per month when the legislature is not in session. Their allowance during sessions is $4,000 per month.

LIKES SNYDER—Walter Cox, owner and operator of the Minute Market, 520 East Highway, says he has found a home in Snyder after operating his grocery store here for the past 2½ years. He said he is always available to help his customers.

Service Is Stressed By Entire Staff Of Minute Market Here

The Minute Market, 520 East Highway, has been in business in Snyder about 2½ years.

"The reception to Minute Market by our customers has been very gratifying," said Walter Cox, owner of the store. "We think our customers are the greatest people we've ever had the opportunity to serve."

He said Snyder is everything "We've ever desired in our 'home town.' We really feel like we've 'come home.' "

Minute Market's standing policy is service with a smile and helping its customers in every way possible. Even when Cox is not at the store, he lives down the street and is only a minute away from his customer's needs.

"I want my customers to know they always have access to me if the need arises," he said.

Minute Market personnel include Mac Henderson, who has been with the store since it opened. Mac takes care of the market and can help you with all your needs in meat. Mary Coronado has been back with Minute Market this summer from college. She joined Minute Market during its first month of operation here and remained with the firm until she went to college.

"We look forward to having her with us each summer," said Cox. Minute Market also has four other girls who work part time. They are Lethia Coronado, Mary Medrano, Linda Rios and Virginia Castillo. A recent employe is Carolyn Kimbrough. She will take Mary Coronado's place as checker when Mary goes back to college.

"She is a lovely, sweet lady and is looking forward to serving your needs," Cox said.

Last, but not least, is the night man, Wesley Bennight.

"Come by and visit and get acquainted with Wes if you don't know him already," suggested Cox.

Cox expressed appreciation to all of Minute Market's customers for their continued patronage.

"We are very fortunate in all the wonderful friends we've made since coming to Snyder," he said, "And we look forward to many long years of friendship and service at Minute Market."

Spiro Out Of Coors Bidding

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Former vice president Spiro T. Agnew has withdrawn his name as an applicant for a Coors beer distributorship in Texas because he said recent publicity might hurt his associates' chance to obtain the franchise, Adolph Coors Co. officials said.

Meanwhile, the company said Monday five men were granted new distributorships in Texas.

Agnew and professional golfer Doug Sanders visited the brewery here Aug. 4 to apply for a distributorship in the Houston area. Agnew said in a letter to the company that he withdrew his name to give his associates a fair chance to obtain the distributorship.

Coors, the nation's fourth largest brewery, is expanding its Texas market by establishing 29 new distributorships over the next 14 months. The five men who were granted distributorhips Monday included former Dallas Cowboy star Bob Lilly.

Lilly and Don Caylor, a certified public accountant, were selected for a distributorship in the Waco area.

Les Kroeger, general manager of the Coors distributorship in Fort Worth, and Ralph Curton Jr., were granted a franchise in the Longview area.

Alfred D. Bryant, who has been employed by a Coors distributor in Dallas was picked to distribute the beer in the Palestine, Tex., area.

Coors said about 4,000 applications for distributing rights have been received since the company decided to expand its Texas sales efforts for the first time since 1966. The company markets Coors in 10 other states.

Trial Postponed For Carmichael

DALLAS (AP)—The trial of G. Elizabeth Carmichael, the wonder car promoter charged with conspiracy to commit theft, has been postponed to a possible date in early September.

State District Court Judge James Zimmerman Monday granted the defense motion to reschedule the trial. It was to have begun Monday.

Zimmerman also denied a defense motion for a change of venue.

Carmichael, a transsexual, was indicted here earlier this year on the conspiracy charge in connection with the promotion of a three—wheeled wonder car.
