State Has 58 Traffic Deaths

By UNITED PRESS

Traffic deaths in Texas during the Christmas-New Year's holiday season today passed the halfway mark of what the Department of Public Safety predicted.

The worst traffic smashup so far of the holiday season was a three-vehicle crash near Texarkana, Tex., late Thursday. Four persons died in the flaming wreckage of two trucks and a passenger car.

So far, 58 persons have died on Texas highways. The DPS predicts 115 deaths from traffic for the 12-day holiday period which began at 12:01 a.m. Dec. 21 and ends at midnight Jan. 1.

The overall total of violent deaths in Texas to date is 110. Besides traffic, this includes homicides and shootings and other accidental deaths.

The only section of Texas without a holiday traffic death so far is the 13-county Austin district. It has recorded one violent death—a homicide.

2nd Payment Of Securities In Hotel Due Jan. 1

The office of the Community Hotel Company of Pampa is busy preparing notices to purchasers of securities in the community-owned hotel for Pampa reminding them that the second payment on the securities will be due on Jan. 1, 1957.

The forms that are being mailed out state that the amount due will be paid to one of the two local banks. The form which each purchaser of stock will receive will state the bank to which the payment is to be made.

The payment must be made to the bank as the laws of Texas require the bank to hold the money for the hotel company until such time as it is released by the government, hotel leaders report.

Ballots for the election of 24 directors of the hotel company are being received at the hotel office, which is located in the Chamber of Commerce offices at City Hall.

Leaders of the hotel campaign urge all persons who purchased stock to have their ballots returned to the hotel office by next Monday so that they can be counted. Any ballots received after Monday will not be counted in the election of the directors of the hotel company, they reported.

Newsmen May Face Fines

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Three American newsmen who slipped into Red China illegally could face heavy fines, imprisonment and loss of other privileges, government officials said today.

The State and Treasury Departments already are considering whether banking and other accounts while the newsmen are in Red China.

Government legal officers are determining possible legal actions which might be taken against the newsmen. When they do come home, their passports may be seized — an action that could bar any foreign travel for an indefinite period.

Officials told the United Press that no decisions had been made on what course of action, if any, will be followed.

The first newsman to enter Red China in violation of passport restrictions was William Worthy, Negro correspondent for the Baltimore Afro-America. Worthy entered Red China the day before Christmas.

State Department officials heard Thursday that Edmund Stevens and Phillip Hollington, both of Look Magazine, had flown from Moscow to Peiping without U.S. government permission. Hollington is a photographer.

Permits To Build Businesses Issued

Two construction permits for business buildings were issued today by the City Engineering Department.

W. S. Fannon was issued a permit to build a service station at 1405 Alcock at an estimated cost of $17,500. Construction of a concrete block building at 818 W. Brown was granted to O. K. Rubber Welders. Estimated cost will be $4,000.

Work Underway On Suez Canal

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

CAIRO (UP) — The United Nations salvage fleet was reported at work clearing the Suez Canal today, and Cairo newspapers said the move meant the Middle East crisis was nearing an end.

Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, head of the U.N. salvage team, ordered his salvage vessels to start work today at Suez at the southern end of the blocked waterway.

Wheeler did not say how long the job would take but it was expected to run into months.

The newspaper Al Ahram called the beginning of canal clearance gratifying.

"It means that the grave crisis is nearing a satisfactory end," it said. "For the people of Egypt it also has satisfactory significance That Egypt enforced her will about the withdrawal of Anglo-French aggressors before clearance work is started."

The morning newspaper Al Shaab said in an editorial:

"If Egypt agreed to commencement of Suez Canal clearance operations, she has done so to give proof of her good will and solicitude for world well-being and because she is very careful to respect United Nations resolutions.

"This however does not mean she is prepared to give up any of her legitimate rights or that she is ready to bow to (Israel) Premier David Ben-Gurion's caprices with regard to the Gaza sector."

Negotiations were reported started on the future operation of the canal.

Israel disclosed that Egypt's blocking of the canal had enabled Israel to seize naval control of the Gulf of Aqaba by sending some vessels around the Cape of Good Hope and by transporting others across the Negev Desert.

Prisoner Exchange Planned

Israel also disclosed it had offered to exchange 5,600 captured Egyptian soldiers for four Israelis held by the Egyptians, said it was preparing to claim huge reparations from Egypt, and raised new protests against Egyptian commando activities.

Almost every step in plans to reopen the canal have been delayed by a series of negotiations between Egypt and the United Nations, but U.S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, the U.N. salvage chief, twice told the United Press work would begin today.

Two U.N. officials arrived from New York to try to prevent further snags from developing. They were Andrew W. Cordier, executive assistant to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, and Alfred G. Katzin, deputy undersecretary of the U.N. secretariat.

Nasser, Menon Confer

India's roving ambassador, V. K. Krishna Menon, conferred in Cairo Thursday and today with President Gamal Abdel Nasser and was believed outlining the latest ideas of the United States and other nations for the future of the canal.

The talks were in preparation for a new effort to settle the matter at the next session of the United Nations which resumes early in January. Krishna Menon leaves today for New York.

The redeployment of United Nations Emergency Forces (UNEF) from the Port Said area was in full swing with the departure Thursday of a Danish-Norwegian battalion of 650 men. The group was moving into the Sinai Desert behind the Israeli troops.

Burglary Here Is Solved

The burglary of Ogden and Sons Service Station, 501 W. Foster, Sunday night was solved this morning when a local boy, 11, admitted to juvenile authorities and local officers that he and another boy, 14, had broken into the firm Sunday night.

All of the items taken in the burglary were recovered this morning following the youth's admitting the breakin.

The two boys had gained entry to the firm by breaking a window and had taken a .22 caliber bolt-action rifle, a .22 caliber pellet gun, an air rifle, pellets for the air rifle and ammunition for the rifle.

Officers had trailed the two youths to the Hobart Street Park by the tracks left by their bicycles. The stock of the rifle was found under a railroad culvert by the officers and the remainder of the rifle was found yesterday by railroad employees.

The boy who is 11 also admitted that they had broken into the service station before but had not taken any items at that time. He also admitted that he had broken into the Royal Crown Bottling Plant at 805 W. Foster and had taken a case of soft drinks. This burglary had not been reported to the authorities.

Man Pleads Guilty To Liquor Charge

Joe Holland of Pampa pleaded guilty this morning in county court to a charge of transporting liquor without a permit and was fined $100 and costs.

A 1957 Dodge owned by Holland was spotted about 4 o'clock this morning by Jesse Goad and Dan Lewis, local policemen, and they tried to stop the car.

According to the officers the Dodge headed out the Miami highway at a speed in excess of 100 miles - per - hour and the officers had radioed for road blocks at Miami and Canadian.

When the Dodge was near the county line the right rear tire blew out and Holland was not located when the officers came upon the car.

The local officers notified Liquor Control Board officers who impounded the car and the whiskey.

Gordon Steele, liquor control deputy stationed at Borger, and Jimmy Dale, supervisor of the Liquor Control Board district office at Amarillo, stated this morning that approximately 50 cases of whiskey were removed from the car. The bottles were packaged and bore identifying marks to indicate where the packages were to be delivered.

Dale estimated that the liquor would probably be worth approximately $2,000 but that a definite value could not be placed on the load until an inventory could be completed at Amarillo, where the whiskey would be taken.

Holland went to his attorney this morning who brought him to the police station and turned him over to the Liquor Control officers.

Holland did not admit that he was driving the car, the officers stated, but he did admit he owned the car that was being used to transport the whiskey and pleaded guilty to the charge of transporting the liquor because he owned the car, the officers stated.

'Curtain' Ministers Get Invite

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ambassadors and ministers from Iron Curtain countries — including those from Russia and Hungary — have been invited to be "honored guests" at President Eisenhower's Inaugural Ball next month.

The Communist diplomats last week received invitations to the fancy dress affair despite two facts which will make their attendance somewhat ironic:

—Some of the money received from inaugural ball ticket sales will be donated to Hungarian relief.

—The name of the presidential reviewing stand for the Inaugural Parade preceding the ball has been changed from "Court of Honor" to "Court of the Spirit of Freedom" as a trioute to the Polish and Hungarian uprisings against Moscow.

Inaugural Ball committee and State Department spokesmen emphasize that tradition and protocol are responsible for the "honored guest" status for Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin and satellite diplomats.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman said that "as far as I know" Zaroubin plans to attend the ball just as he did in 1953. Other Iron Curtain social secretaries who could be reached indicated the same about their bosses.

Trumped Up Charge Claimed In Union Man's Arrest

GARY, Ind. (UP)—A rebel union leader, seeking to oust David J. McDonald as president of the United Steelworkers, promised action today to free one of his aides who he said was jailed on "trumped up charges."

Don C. Rarick, a veteran McKeesport, Pa., steelworker, opened his campaign for the USW presidency here Thursday night at a meeting with his followers in the steel-rich Gary-Hammond area.

Shortly before Rarick arrived here from Pittsburgh, however, sheriff's deputies arrested Robert T. Richardson, leader of the Gary rebel group, on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Richardson had been arrested previously on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was released on $300 bond. Thursday, the charge was changed to assault and bond was raised to $10,000.

REPORTS — Vice President Richard Nixon, left, reports to President Eisenhower at the White House the results of his recent inspection trip of refugee camps on the Austria-Hungarian border. President Eisenhower is expected to ask Congress to make the United States a haven for more refugees, not only from Hungary but from other Communist-controlled countries as well. (NEA Telephoto)

Third Major Brush Fire Burning Near Malibu

By HARRY BOYLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

MALIBU, Calif. (UP) — The third major brush fire in three days broke out early today in the fashionable Bel-Air district of Los Angeles located less than 20 miles away from here where 1,200 firefighters are battling flames that have blackened nearly 27,000 acres and turned this movie colony into a "disaster" area.

The Los Angeles city fire department sent 12 engine companies manned by 110 men to the residential area in Bel-Air where flames were reported spreading over foothills.

A fire department spokesman said no homes have been destroyed yet. He said "there is a good chance of containing this fire before it does any damage." No injuries were reported.

Cause Not Known

The cause of the latest fire was not known. But fire officials said an arson squad is investigating both the fires here and the blaze at Bel-Air.

Flames that have blackened about 25,000 acres and destroyed at least 60 homes exploded through the streets of an area here early Friday and came within a few yards of the swank $350,000 Malibu Sands hotel.

The flames swept over the Santa Monica mountains into a business area which had been evacuated earlier. Swearing firefighters stood on rooftops of buildings and houses as the fire moved down the center of a street.

Homes Sprayed

The firefighters sprayed homes and buildings with water and were believed to have saved all structures in the area. It took only a few minutes for the blaze to whip through the streets and continue its deadly path of destructions in the nearby foothills.

The swank Malibu Sands hotel, its rooms empty, had stood as easy prey for the fire but extra crews established a ring around the hotel and beat out flames. The fire also was reported near a Franciscan monastery known as the Serra Retreat. But all persons at the retreat were reported evacuated by the sheriff's office here.

Congressional Forest Service Probe Seen

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said today he will order a congressional investigation of the competence of the U.S. Forest Service in connection with handling recent disastrous forest fires in Southern California.

Indians managed the areas better before white settlement by burning out the brush every year, he said.

"The last man out of the hills every winter set the brush on fire," he said.

Engle said handling of the fires has raised "serious questions" about the competence of the forest service.

To Hold Hearing

The California congressman said he intends to have a subcommittee of the House Interior committee, which he heads, look into the matter soon in a hearing in California.

The fires, including those this week in the Malibu Beach area, have brought into question the forestry methods of the service and its competence as a fire control organization, Engle said.

"Recognized authorities on the subject tell me the forest service has permitted these forest areas to grow up into impenetrable and highly inflammable piles of brush just begging to catch on fire and burn up everything in the area," he said.

Fighters Lose Lives

Engle also asserted that more fire fighters have lost their lives this year while under forest service supervision than have been lost in 10 years by the Los Angeles fire department.

Geologist Wins Credit For Helping Indict Map Thieves

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A bookish geologist who raises flowers in his spare time won credit from the government today for helping indict rackeeters for whom he had stolen valuable Gulf Oil Corp. survey maps.

U.S. Attorney D. Malcolm Anderson said without the testimony of bespectacled Thomas Smith, 47, a trusted Gulf employe for 25 years, it would have been impossible to build a case against four men.

Smith, who was fired by Gulf last January, showed up at the local federal building Thursday carrying a book entitled "Optical Crystalography." He was reported to have related to the 19-member grand jury his role in the fantastic swindle. The maps he admitted pilfering from Gulf pinpointed locations of potential oil reserves worth millions of dollars.

Smith, a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, and John Marvin Leivia, an Orange, Tex. geologist, were named as co-conspirators in the fantastic theft but were spared indictment because they had cooperated with the government by testifying.

Indictments were returned against Odie Seagraves, 70-year-old Houston, Tex. wildcatter who spent a colorful half century in the oil business; Edward Lieberman, 30, a carpet company executive and his brother, Emanuel, both of New York, and Irving Milner, a fugitive in Canada.

Emanuel Lieberman, alias Lester, is in a New York prison on a conviction of attempting to extort a half million dollars from financier-draft dodger Serge Rubenstein before he was mysteriously slain last year.

Negroes Wage Their Second Of Three Big Integration Campaigns

By UNITED PRESS

Negroes waged their second of three big integration campaigns with indirect federal court sanction today in Tallahassee, Fla., with whites mapping counter moves in the other two test spots.

Buses remained integrated in Montgomery, Ala., but integration was called off pending legal action in Birmingham, Ala.

Tallahassee integration leaders said the Negroes will take advantage of a federal injunction forbidding the city to interfere with the bus line even though it permits integrated seating.

Federal Judge Dozier Devane in issuing the injunction from his home in an extraordinary hearing Thursday night said he believes segregation law is as "dead as a doornail."

But in Montgomery, where buses were integrated under a court order a week ago, and in Birmingham, where a later dispute smouldered, white citizens council leaders planned new legal and "popular" opposition.

One council leader announced a series of rallies of whites to decide how to oppose the drive to integrate Birmingham buses. Another proposed that white "minutemen" ride the buses and enforce segregation.

White segregationists in Montgomery also threatened to prosecute the Rev. Martin Luther King for his part in instigating the Birmingham integration attempts which resulted in 21 arrests Wednesday and another Thursday.

The Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, Birmingham Negro leader, called off defiance of bus segregation laws until they can be tested in federal court in defense of the 22 defendants.

Birmingham Police Commissioner Robert E. Lindbergh ordered officers to continue to make "spot checks" to insure that buses remain segregated and warned white "minutemen" would also be arrested.

The Rev. C. K. Steele, Tallahassee Negro leader, urgde Negroes to continue to sit where they please on buses despite local segregation laws but to avoid conspicuous demonstrations.

A throng of jeering teen-agers late Thursday caused Steele and other Negro leaders in Tallahasse to abandon a publicized plan to board a bus in a large group and mingle with whites.

Move Is Designed To Build Government

By JACK MEEHAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST —UP— The Russians have withdrawn three of the 12 to 14 divisions they had in Hungary at the height of last month's rebellion, independent non-Communist sources reported today.

One hundred and twenty-seven trains have carried the tanks, troops and supplies across the Soviet-Hungary frontier recently and the movement eastward is continuing, the reports said.

The information about the Soviet withdrawal has been received by several independent reliable sources here. It is believed designed to mesh with a master plan to build a Hungarian government similar to the "new look" Communist regime in Poland.

Fewer Tanks on Guard

Fewer tanks stood guard in Budapest today and Soviet truck convoys laden with what appeared to be office furniture moved through the snowy streets of the city — carefully observing the traffic rules.

Two Soviet Guards divisions were stationed in Hungary when the revolt first flared in October. Between 10 and 12 more were rushed into the country from Romania and the Soviet Union itself, according to reports, between Oct. 22 and Nov. 4.

The present reported withdrawal, therefore, represents a cut of one-fourth of the Soviet armored strength that was concentrated in the country during the worst period of the rebellion.

Meanwhile, the Hungarian Writers Association, one of the most active groups early in the revolt, met in closed session in Budapest. Its members were discussing "recent events" and possibly examining reports of the revolt in the foreign press and by writers abroad.

Cut Off Intellectuals

As the writers met, the government newspaper Nep Szabadsag accused Hungary's pre-revolutionary government of cutting off Hungarian intellectuals from the western world.

Hungary's restive workers, meanwhile, were showing new signs of resistance to the present Soviet-supported regime. The workers' anger was being spurred by the nation's economic crisis which has resulted in widespread unemployment.

Workers Voice Demands

Reports reaching Vienna said steelworkers of the Csepel Island industrial complex laid strong demands before puppet Premier Janos Kadar at a meeting in Budapest Thursday.

The workers were incensed at a pre-Christmas government order which left only 4,000 of the huge industrial center's 38,000 employes on full pay.

Hungarian Relief Drive Soars Higher

The Pampa Chapter's contribution to the National Red Cross appeal for funds for Hungarian Relief soared over the thousand mark yesterday with the donation of $500 by M. K. Brown.

Previously the total to be sent in was $790.50 which was just a few dollars over the original quota of $782; but with yesterday's donations by Brown and others it went up to $1290.50. Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the Pampa chapter, said this morning that the entire amount has been sent in to the national agencies of the Red Cross for distribution.

The appeal for aid for Hungary was started about two weeks ago, and the original goal for Pampa was $782. This was reached within a very short time after it was begun, although the national total had not yet passed the $2,500,000 mark with their goal set at $5,000,000.

The national agency then announced that funds would continue to be accepted until the goal is reached, and even further as long as the need persists.

In accordance with this the Pampa office of the Red Cross will continue to accept all donations for Hungarian relief, forwarding them immediately to the national distributing agency.

Communist China Hits Marshal Tito As Threat To Reds

TOKYO (UP)—Communist China assailed Marshal Tito today as a threat to the international Communist movement.

It also criticized Tito and other Yugoslav Communist leaders for their views on Josef Stalin and his mistakes and said they were "going too far."

The rebukes were contained in a long article to appear in the Saturday issue of the official Peiping Peoples Daily which was broadcast in summarized form by Radio Peiping.

"It is understandable that the Yugoslav comrades bear a particular resentment against Stalin's mistakes . . . we also agree with some of the points in Comrade Tito's speech (at Pula), but we are amazed that . . . he attacked almost all the Sociālist countries and many of the Communist parties," the article said.

Tito, it added, took a "wrong attitude" when he maintained the issue now was whether Yugoslavia's independent Communist course or the "Stalinist course" would win out.

Such a contention, the article said, "can only lead to a split in the Communist movement."

"Even if some part of their criticism of brother parties is reasonable, the basic stand and method they adopt infringe the principles of comradely discussion."

The matters concerned are so vital to the unity of international communism that "we cannot but offer our brotherly advice to the Yugoslav comrades," the newspaper said.

British Doctors Threaten 'Strike' For Higher Pay

LONDON (UP) — Forty-thousand British doctors threatened today to quit the state-controlled National Health Service unless the government meets their demands for a 24 per cent pay increase.

The dispute involving some 22,000 general practitioners and 18,000 consultants and hospital staff members will reach a showdown next Friday when medical leaders meet with government officials to discuss pay demands.

The British Medical Association said the "strike" against the National Health Service will not affect patients. Doctors will continue to work but will refuse to accept their government salaries which have remained unchanged since 1951, the BMA said.

The 1948 national health program gave free medical treatment to every inhabitant of Britain against payment of a compulsory insurance premium of up to $2.80 a month.

Since then, the government has authorized small charges for medicine and prescriptions, but has turned down the physicians' request for more pay.

The government now pays the doctors as civil servants at the rate of $6,160 a year. They demand an annual salary of $7,560 to meet the rising cost of living in Britain.

Dr. Donaldson Addresses Lions Clubs

The Pampa Lions Club and the Pampa Evening Lions Club met together yesterday at the noon meeting of the Pampa Lions Club in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Members of the two clubs heard Dr. Joe Donaldson disc[illegible] Security. He was introduced by Ray Duncan, program chairman for the month of December.

Dr. Donaldson told the Lions that Social Security is not an insurance program but is a tax. He stated, "It is the Social Security fraud."

He explained that all money collected by the government on Social Security payments goes into the general fund. He stated that the money is not earmarked for Social Security payments and is used to pay the bills of other government agencies.

The government, Dr. Donaldson stated, makes the payments to the Social Security program out of this general fund but is not obligated to do so unless Congress approves the payment.

He stated, "Social Security has become a political football; it has become a vote buying power."

He continued by showing that the government could continue the tax indefinitely and could raise the amount workers must pay but could stop all benefits under the present laws of the country.

He concluded by stating, "There ain't no such thing as a free lunch, somebody has to pay for it."

Hershel V. Wilks, new manager of the Celanese plant, was introduced to the noon club by Cliff Whitney. Whitney stated that Wilks had been a Lion for over seven years and was transferring his membership to the noon club.

Four of the Lions Sweethearts for the past year who are home from college attended the meeting of the club. They were: Connie Head who is attending North Texas State College, Cynthia Cantrell who is attending North Texas, Sheila Chisholm who is attending Benedictine Heights at Tulsa, Okla., and Anita Wedgeworth who is attending Stephen F. Austin College.

The directors of the noon club announced that Ralph Thomas, chairman of the Agriculture Committe, had been authorized $100 for the purpose of holding the Gray County Junior Livestock Show.

the critical coal and fuel shortages. Only maintenance and repair men were kept on full pay.

Idled workers received another blow from the Red regime. Budapest Radio announced food would no longer be provided to workers in the idled factories on a special basis. The broadcast said the action was taken in accordance with the "normalization" of food supplies.

Coal A Problem

The Red regime's immediate problem was to get coal mines into full scale production. An attempt to pressure "volunteer" workers into the mines failed and the government announced it was "drafting" peasant farmers to work coal mines in the Pecs area.

Reliable reports in Budapest political circles said Kadar was personally trying to speed up the "broadening" of the Hungarian government by including prominent non-Communist political leaders.

Western observers in the Hungarian capital believed the Russians have decided to pull out and accept the formation of a new Budapest regime along the "new look" line of Poland's government.

It was believed in Budapest that Kadar was awaiting the greenlight from the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee which met recently in Moscow.

The first mishap occurred at 1:12 p.m. on Hobart, 20 feet north of Kingsmill. Paul Edward Chambers of 1002 W. Wilks was driving one car, a 1954 Mercury. Mary B. Winegeart of 316 N. Wells was driving a 1953 Mercury. Estimated damage to the Chambers car was $45 with $80 estimated damage to the Winegeart automobile.

The other mishap occurred at 6:14 p.m. on Russell, 600 feet north of Browning. A 1952 Oldsmobile being driven by Harold Eslinger of 628½ N. Russell hit a parked 1953 Ford owned by Mack Harmon of 425 N. Russell. The Ford in turn hit a parked 1954 Chevrolet owned by Homer Bowers of 427 N. Russell.

Estimated damage to the Eslinger car was $400, the '53 Ford received an estimated $300 damage and the '54 Chevrolet received $125 estimated damages.

Homemade Bomb Is Found In Times Square Theater

NEW YORK (UP) — A crude homemade bomb wrapped in a red sock was found in a seat at the Paramount Theater in Times Square early today and police said it apparently was the work of the "mad bomber" whose explosives have injured 15 persons here since 1940.

Bomb squad detectives using a blast-proof truck swiftly removed the device from the theater which had been emptied an hour earlier following the last show.

Discovery of the bomb was made seven hours after police received a telephone call from a man who said a bomb would go off in the Paramount at 7:55 p.m. Without disturbing the 2,500 theater patrons, police searched the theater but found no trace of a bomb.

But during a more thorough search early this morning, police found the latest weapon, wedged in a 15th row orchestra seat. The seat had been slit, apparently with a knife, and the bomb placed inside.

"This looks like the real thing," a police official said, in an apparent reference to the psychotic who has planted some 30 pipe bombs — several wrapped in socks — in public places here during the past 16 years. Only seven of the bombs have proved to be duds.

Today's bomb was the second found in Manhattan within a 12-hour period. An unidentified woman discovered an aluminum device believed to be a bomb, Thursday afternoon in the lower level of the Grand Central Terminal. It was unlike the lethal weapons planted by the "mad bomber," who uses a timing device.

Airmen Face Charges

TEMPLE, Tex. (UP) — Three Negro airmen from Gray Air Force Base faced charges of narcotics possession and robbery by assault today. Police said two ounces of marijuana were found on the three Negroes, Johnny Stanford, Robert S. Burwell and Herman L. Wright. They were accused of beating E. J. Loving in a robbery attempt.

No Flying Saucer

HEIDENHEIMER, Tex. (UP) — A "flying saucer" over Heidenheimer, seven miles south east of Temple, Thursday turned out to be an Army weather balloon, with the sun reflecting on it at 6,000 feet.

Ex-Afrika Corps Member Returns To United States

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (UP)—A former sergeant in Rommel's Afrika Corps fulfilled a 10-year dream Thursday by returning to the country he had come to love during three years in prisoner-of-war camps in the southwest.

He was Leo Wodarz, 40, who arrived from Germany with his wife and two children along with 1,137 displaced persons aboard the transport General Taylor.

Wodarz told reporters he was serving in a Luftwaffe unit attached to the Afrika Corps when captured by Free French forces in North Africa in 1943. He was among a group of Nazi POWs shipped to this country in the summer of 1943, and subsequently spent three years in prison camps in Oklahoma, Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

"Everywhere I went, I saw what wonderful people Americans were," Wodarz said. "They were kind and generous even to us prisoners. I made up my mind that if I ever got a chance to return here after I was shipped home, I would do so and become an American citizen."

It took Wodarz 10 years to make his dream come true, but he finally made it. Returned to East Germany in 1946, he escaped to the western zone two years ago and applied for entry to the United States as a displaced person.

Wodarz got his family up early Thursday morning to see the Statue of Liberty as the General Taylor steamed up the harbor. They're bound for Indianapolis, Ind., where he will work on a farm operated by his admitting sponsor, Paul E. Hoffman.

Rosi, Vasquez On TV Tonight

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Paolo Rosi, the balding Italian who is as agile in the ring as he is on the dance floor, ruled a 2-to-1 favorite over Baby Vasquez in tonight's nationally televised 10-round bout at Biscayne Arena.

Both lightweights are known to television fans, for each won his last appearance before the cameras.

Rosi, who has won several rhumba and cha-cha contests in his spare time, has a record of 23 victories in 26 fights since he came here from Italy.

Vasquez has won 45 of 58 fights.

Slight damage by a fire in a parked auto was reported by the Pampa fire department yesterday.

A 1948 Buick parked at 720 S. Gray was burned when the carburetor caught fire and caused some damage to the motor. The fire occurred at 11:50 a.m. Thursday.

NEW YORK (UP) — Jimmy Fisher, young Philadelphia welterweight who suffered a slight concussion in his losing battle against Rudy Gwin of Cleveland at Madison Square Garden last Friday, was reported in "good" condition at St. Clare's Hospital today. Gwin was assisted from the ring after taking a severe battering for six rounds.

CoC Directors Set Meeting

This will be the first meeting of the new board since the election of officers. It has been put off thus far due to the fact that all of the members were involved in details connected with the recently completed hotel campaign.

A directors meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was set today for Jan. 14 at which time the committee chairmen for the year will be announced, according to Paul Crouch, president of the Chamber.

Crouch said that work will begin immediately on the completing of all committees and arranging of programs for work for the year ahead.

To Roast, To Broil Requires Fine Art

Meat, without a doubt, has become the heart of American menus.

It is looked upon by many homemakers as the piece de resistance of the meal, and deservedly so.

Every homemaker, in relation to her own family needs, has learned by experience how to choose and prepare various meat cuts to suit her family's wants.

Choosing and buying meat for the family needs, has learned by experience how to choose and prepare various meat cuts to suit her family's wants.

Every homemaker, in relation to her own family needs, has learned by experience how to choose and prepare various meat cuts to suit her family's wants.

Choosing and buying meat for the family isn't the whole story. According to Reba Staggs, home economist in the meat industry, meat must be prepared properly to receive the seal of approval from guests and family. Now perhaps you'd like to brush up on a few of the standard roasting and broiling procedures.

To Roast:

1. Season with salt and pepper.
2. Place meat fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan.
3. Insert roast meat thermometer.
4. Do not add water. Do not cover. Do not baste.
5. Roast in a slow oven — 300 degrees F. to 350 degrees F.
6. Roast to desired degree of doneness.

To Broil:

1. Set oven regulator to broil.
2. Place meat 2 to 3 inches from heat.
3. Broil until top of meat is brown.
4. Season with salt and pepper.
5. Turn meat and cook until done.
6. Season and serve at once.

MATURE PARENT

When Robinson Crusoe was cast up on his island, he was relieved to find it uninhabited. Solitude became his safety. Then it was suddenly taken from him.

Walking along his beach one day, you'll recall, he came on the human footprint that told him he was no longer alone. He was panic-stricken. But as he discovered that he had nothing to fear from the intruder, he grew quite fond of him. He began to find safety, not in solitude, but in the companionship of his man Friday.

All he needed to alter his feeling of apprehension to one of acceptance was the passage of time.

A first-born child who is about to become a brother or sister is entering upon a Robinson Crusoe experience.

A young husband whose wife signs herself "Anxious" seems sure that it is bad, cruel experience. His wife writes:

"He is so afraid of jealousy in our four-year-old girl that he won't let me tell her another child is coming. The baby is due in less than three months. But instead of letting me tell Edwina so she has time to adjust to it, he says it's time enough for her to adjust after the baby's here. I have to watch everything I say in front of her . . ."

If a parent is so frightened of arousing a first child's jealousy, we have a right to wonder if he has worked out his own.

A person who has outgrown child hood jealousy of brothers and sisters does not fear it in his own child. So he doesn't hide the coming of a new one, but announces it with pleasure. Though he will understand his little child's inexperienced and jealous belief that the baby means her destruction, he does not share it.

He knows it as a temporary one — one that will change as the child gradually learns she is still safe and loved, despite the intruder. Because he has found companionship in the brothers and sisters who once intruded on him, he appreciates the baby's ultimate value to his little girl. Like Robinson Crusoe, he has outgrown the scared idea that solitude is safety.

But if he still resents his brothers and sisters as destructive to him, he will indeed be very sympathetic with his little girl's jealousy. Inflicting a rival on her will seem unbearably cruel because it still seems unbearably cruel to have had one inflicted on him.

His little girl needs the baby to help her become a member of her own generation.

Having one certain day a week in which you send all of the family clothing that needs it to the cleaners is a good idea. It can prevent those last-minute disasters in which some member of the family has nothing to wear because a favorite garment is stained or soiled.

Leftover Holiday Turkey Problem Is Solved With Pickle Turnovers

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Use leftover holiday turkey in really tempting turnovers, then keep in your freezer to use later on. Do the same with piquantly flavored creamed turkey. Serve these during the next hnmfwtseo. these during the next few months.

Mrs. Betty Frascella of Trenton, N.J., taught us this trick. She says she uses the turnover for lunch for her two school-aTge children and herself.

Widow On Wall Street Proves Women Have Sixth Sense In Business World

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Here's a note to tuck in your husband's brief case some morning before he heads for the office:

"Women have a sixth sense in business more husbands should value."

The woman you'd be quoting speaks with authority, for she's Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay, first woman in the 200-year history of Wall Street to become board chairman and president of a New York Stock Exchange member firm.

She got that way because her late husband who was U.S. ambassador to Norway for seven and a half years talked shop with her.

"He used to make me take the other side of every argument to clarify his thinking," she says. "Now when I make a decision I can practically hear him talking to me. He was teaching me to be a widow without realizing it."

Mrs. Bay is quick to explain that her husband also had no idea she would someday hold a top job in the financial world. Before her marriage she had successfully operated a Christmas card business and rescued a bookshop from failure.

"But I don't believe my husband ever really thought of me as a business woman," she says.

kaee mlan n oott o ed "He steus "He used to take me along on business meetings because he thought I'd remember what he forgot."

At those meetings, she kept quiet and listened.

Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay, president and board chairman of a New York Stock Exchange member firm.

"You always have to let a man feel he's making the decision, more or less," she counsels. "I've learned what I know about men from my husband. He'd do anything I thought was right — if he thought it was his choice."

Before you put that note about a woman's sixth sense in your husband's brief case, here are two more points of advice from Mrs. Bay:

Be sure your husband is secure in himse.f

And be sure you're a wife who places her home, husband and family ahead of a career.

"I think every woman places her husband before her desire for business recognition," she says.

At first she thought men would resent her lofty role as head of A. M. Kidder & Co., a 92-year-old Wall Street firm. But all she got was cooperation.

"Bankers have gone out of their way to be helpful," she says. "I think the banking profession must be very nice."

Away from Wall Street, Mrs. Bay is a yachtswoman, collector of fine china and complicated recipes, a golfer, and mother to three adopted children. She also owns seven thoroughbred horses and will gladly give you a sure thing for the next Kentucky Derby (it's a horse named Slaipner).

But back to that note to your husband again.

Warm water is best for sprinkling cothes, since it spreads better.

Homemakers Club Has Annual Party

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Future Homemakers of America held their annual Christmas party recently in the homemaking department of White Deer Skellytown High School. The guests sang Christmas carols and listened to records. Cookies and hot chocolate were served. Miss Geraldine Rampy, club sponsor, was hostess to the group.

Those attending were Misses Joy Kotara, Marilyn Kotara, Joyce Bowers, Joyce Chapin, Nancy Buchannan, Paula Lowe, Alice Norris, Priscilla Moss, Reginia Baker, Nancy McConnell, Lorita Frost, J'Non Urbanczyk, Cathy Bennett, Ramona Hill, Karen Collins, Pokey Freeman, Kay Guyer, Carolyn Anderwald, Nancy Lester, Suzanne Bates, Ann Tyler and Lee Ann Crause.

Manners Make Friends

When you have an exceptionally pleasant evening at a friend's home, why not telephone her next day to say how much you enjoyed it? Of course, you told her when you left, but saying it again the day after is bound to please any hostess.

Charm is made up of just such little "extra" gestures.

Unless your doctor advises against it, scrubbing floors on hands and knees is one of the best abdominal and back exercises you can perform. It's excellent, too, for reducting the upper arms.

Following the burning of the trees everyone is invited to attend a pageant in the church to be put on by the Sunday School children. REV. RUSSELL G. WEST
. . . to preach Sunday

Ex-Pastor To Preach Here Sunday

The Rev. Russell G. West of Colorado will preach two sermons this Sunday at the Church of the Brethren. At 11 a.m. he will preach on "Your Greatest Hour," and at 7:30 p.m. on "The Greatest Story Ever Told." The evening sermon will be illustrated with Kodacrome slide pictures.

For twelve years Rev. West served as pastor here, and for six of those years he taught the Bible in the Pampa High School. While living in Pampa Mrs. West served as a teacher in the Pampa schools. While here they were both active in inter-church and civic movements.

Rev. West is a graduate of Bridgewater College in Virginia and Bethany Biblical Seminary of Chicago. Besides his work in Pampa he has served pastorates in Virginia, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, and Colorado. On Sept. 1, the Wests closed a period of thirty-four years of pastoral work and entered into a four-year period of full-time evangelism.

The Pampa Church of the Brethren, of which Rev. James L. Minnich is pastor, invites you to worship at 600 North Frost this Sunday.

Christian Science Services

The ever-present power of the Christ, Truth, will be set for that Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon to be read entitled "Christian Science" includes the following from Isaiah (52:10): "The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (55:15-21): "Truth's immortal idea is sweeping down the centuries, gathering beneath its wings the sick and sinning. My weary hope tries to realize that happy day, when man shall recognize the Science of Christ and love his neighbor as himself, — when he shall realize God's omnipotence and the healing power of the divine Love in what it has done and is doing for mankind."

Revolutionary Auto Builder Dies Wednesday

YPSILANTI, Mich. (UP) —Preston Thomas Tucker, a man with visions of an auto empire in 1946 but a financial ruin by 1950, died Wednesday of cancer at the age of 53.

Existing auto firms hadn't dusted off peacetime machinery in 1945-46 when the handsome Tucker, a "mystery man," unveiled sketches of the revolutionary teardrop "Tucker Torpedo."

The public — investors, would-be dealers and buyers — was to invest $28 million in the sketches and some 60 handbuilt and partly-finished models before Tucker's final exit in 1950.

Tucker announced engineering features which auto firms had only on drawing boards or experimental cars. He got an impressive list of auto executives and technicians to join him. He leased a $200 million war plant to build the cars. He tried to buy a government - owned steel mill.

He flew his first handbuilt model around the country before his plant was set up and sold more than $17 million in stock. He sold $18 million in franchises and car delivery certificates to dealers who never got a car and got buyers to pay $33 million for accessories for cars never made.

The government indicted Tucker and seven other executives of his firm for stock fraud, mail fraud and conspiracy. But a federal court jury acquitted the defendants and Tucker charged until his death opposition by powerful figures of the auto industry, political and financial worlds prevented his success.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

Church World Service (215 Fourth Ave., New York City), a department of the National Council of Churches, is working with various Protestant denominations to prove "assurances" (support, work, and a job) for thousands of Protestant and Eastern Orthodox refugees now seeking to enter the United States from European areas. Many hundreds have been added to the waiting list through the recent disturbances in Poland, Hungary, and the Near and Middle East. Persons knowing where there are available jobs and homes for such families are urged to write to the relief agencies of their own churches or to Church World Service.

The Young Women's Christian Association and the Young Men's Christian Association — of Austria — are joining with their world bodies in extending to refugees from Hungary their recreational, educational, cultural and spiritual program. This includes not only camps and other installations in the western parts of Austria, but also the reception camps in the Vienna area.

"By the Waters of Babylon," a dramatic presentation "depicting the suffering of ordinary people and refugees," has been published in a new version by Edinburgh House Press, 2 Eaton Gate, London S.W.1, England. First presented at the Evanston Assembly of the World Council of Churches in 1954 as report of the work of the Division of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees, the play has been revised by the author, Janet Lacey. Miss Lacey is director of the Inter-Church Aid and Refugee Service of the British Council of Churches. In her introduction to the play Miss Lacey states: "While much is being written to help Christians understand what the ecumenical movement is, and to encourage the study of doctrinal and theological issues, little if anything, has been written in dramatic form to capture the imagination of the ordinary church members, many of whom find such studies difficult in the first place . . . It is my hope that national and local groups and perhaps local councils of churches seeking to use drama as a means of ecumenical education, as well as a way of explaining the needs of those who suffer, will find this presentation helpful." She urges other authors to write plays and scripts in this field.

Falcon Reservoir Water Storage Low

LAREDO, Tex. (UP) — Water storage in Falcon reservoir at the year's end is the lowest since Oct. 19, 1953, when the dam was officially dedicated.

Consequently, the 1957 cotton crop outlook in the Reynosa-Matamoros area of Mexico and the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas is now poor. Authorities on the Mexican side of the river below Falcon dam have limited cotton farmers to one irrigation for not to exceed 25 acres, regardless of how much acreage each grower has.

Last year Mexican growers were allowed three irrigations. The new ruling is expected to result in reduced acreage, unless there is heavy rainfall in January or February.

Present storage in Falcon reservoir is 287,500 acre feet and the lake covers 16,180 acres, according to the Boundary Commission at Laredo. Mexico owns almost two-thirds of that water.

Spare Weight, Time Are Objects Of Resolutions

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — The New Year's resolutions of TV performers seem to fall into two categories this season — losing spare weight and finding spare time.

John Scott Trotter, bandleader with the George Gobel show, has knocked off 60 pounds. Next year, he resolves to whittle off 40 more.

Jackie Gleason, whose tonnage fluctuates between improbable and impossible, also is on another diet kick. June Taylor, choreographer on his show has vowed that she'll try to coax Jackie into the ballet classes at her dancing school to help him with his pounds-off program.

Comic Jack E. Leonard also has resolved to remain svelte. So has Denise Lor of the Garry Moore show — her goal is to shed 15 pounds.

Hitchcock Dissents

About the only dissenter around is Alfred Hitchcock. "I'd like to be thin in '57," says Hitchcock, "but I don't have the will power to be grouchy."

Digging up leisure hours to enjoy their huge earnings is a problem of many TV stars. Says Ralph Edwards: "In 1957, I plan to spend more time with my family and less with my dictaphone."

Tennessee Ernie, with one evening and five daytime TV shows, asks of the new year that he get enough time to read just one book a month. Bob Sweeney of "The Brothers" wants more time off from work to spend with his wife, daughter and his garden. And Lucille Ball adds: "I just want more time to spend with my children."

Some of the other resolutions: Groucho Marx — "To stop looking at pretty girls unless they're alone or with somebody."

Lawrence Welk — "To find a young musician in the coming year who will achieve national stardom before the end of '57."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. PAUL FITCH

"BUT GOD"

Text Psa. 73:26 — "but God . . ."

What glowing hope that little phrase, "But God" brings into life! When it appears in Scripture, it is like . . .

An open door from a dark room into the sunlight,
Like the turning point in a critical illness,
Like a sudden break in the clouds or the lifting of fog.
Like the first breath of wind on a dead calm sea.

This phrase marks the transition from spiritual death to eternal life, from utter helplessness to abounding strength in Christ, from being under the circumstances to being above them. "My flesh and my heart faileth," said David "but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion forever."

We were without strength and ungodly, "But God commanded His love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Rom. 5:8); we were dead in trespasses and sins, dominated by the world and the prince of the power of the air and the lust of our flesh, "But God, who is rich in mercy . . . quickened us together with Christ." (Eph. 2:2-5); we had no hope and were without God "But now in Christ Jesus we are made nigh by the blood of Christ; our flesh would naturally produce a hideous crop of works, "But the fruits of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness faith, meekness, temperance:" (Gal. 5:22-23).

Most Christians cannot save much "for a rainy day" — "But my God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." (Philipp 4:19)

Joseph's brethren had no good intentions toward him, but he trusted God through all his trials and as he looked back he said, "So now it was not you that sent me hither, BUT GOD." (Gen. 45:8). In the storm on the lake the disciples were almost in despiar, — but straightway Jesus spake unto them . . . (Matt. 14:27) and soon all was well. Even the great Apostle Paul was troubled about certain details of his travels, but twice he said, "But I trust in the Lord." (Philipp 2:19,24)

We ought never to confront the trials of life, or wrestle with its problems, or make important decisions without remembering the mercy, love, wisdom and power that lies hidden in that little phrase — "But God . . ."

Example Of Bungling

The Virgin Islands Corporation is a U. S. governmentally owned business established in 1917 when this nation's government took over the Virgin Islands from Denmark, a friendly nation.

Prior to our federal acquisition of these islands, the inhabitants were a productive and self-sustaining people. There are approximately 2600 people who live on these islands. They and their homeland have been systematically drained of their self-sufficiency and their productivity over the past forty years.

The sorry state of the Virgin Islands Corporation is perhaps most startlingly revealed when we examine page 60 of the 1955 audit report of the comptroller general. Here, the official auditing agency of the United States government reveals that a "number of deficiencies in accounting procedures and controls" exist. Pages 6 and 7 of this report show that $510,886 worth of equipment is "in a poor state of repair and maintenance and stored outdoors in a haphazard manner."

Page 8 reveals "an adequate inventory of materials and supplies had not been taken in recent years . . . warehouses include many obsolete and worthless items. Inadequate procurement procedures and the absence of maximum and minimum stock levels have resulted in needless and excessive buying."

The Virgin Islands Corporation, among other things, provides the islanders with housing. Rentals range from $5.00 to $40.00 a month. During the year 1955, receipts from rentals totaled $3,220. During that same year, maintenance costs of these housing units totaled $11,102. Village homes are also rented by the corporation. These rentals produced in 1955 a total income of $10,300. Maintenance costs for the village homes in 1955 totaled $31,258.

Each year the taxpayers of the United States are compelled to put up $100,000 for "water and soil conservation programs." Yet with each passing year the productivity of the soil is lessened. There is a program of land clearance which cuts down trees in one area, while a program of reforestation plants trees in another area.

There are, or were in 1955, fifteen water conservation programs completed or underway. Nine dam projects have exceeded estimated costs by 230 per cent. One dam project exceeded estimated costs by 692 per cent.

Despite these expensive projects to make use of the water resources of the island to best advantage, the Congressional Record of June 27, 1955, reveals that water which is supplied by boat by the U. S. Navy is still the principal source of usable water on the islands.

This corporation also is attempting a "livestock development program." The herd consists of 93 animals. The net loss after three years came to $38,895.

According to the Hoover report, the American taxpayers have poured $75,000,000 into the Virgin Islands Corporation since this nation acquired it.

A precise example of the open competition which exists in the Virgin Islands between the corporation itself and the free enterprisers left on the island is shown by the following:

The corporation cultivates 4000 acres of sugar cane, producing 59,728 tons (15 tons to the acre) which on an interest free, rent free, tax free basis, costs the American taxpayers $8.12 per ton to produce. Private farmers have planted 2000 acres in sugar cane, are producing $39,714 tons (20 tons to the acre), upon which production they pay interest, space costs and taxes, yet these private farmers sell this cane to the government owned and operated sugar factory at $7.02 per ton and still make a profit.

In addition to all this, the Virgin Islands Corporation, and that means the American taxpayers, are underwriting the annual losses of the manufacture of low-grade rum which is made under their auspices there.

This is one specific example of the government's intrusion into free enterprise.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A reader has recently asked for another article on obsessions. Her husband she says, has a bad one about dirt, washes constantly, and won't touch anything or anybody.

The subject of obsessions or phobias is indeed an interesting one. This particular obsession carries a name of Greek origin: mysophobia.

What must be remembered about phobias and obsessions is that the situation is abnormal only when excessive.

For example, many people have some fear of high places, but when this fear is unreasonable, it is known as acrophobia. There are many other similar fears of obsessions which are normal if they are not excessive, including fear of lightning—astrapophobia; fear of closed spaces—claustrophobia; fear of snakes— ophidiophobia; fear of darkness—nyctophobia, and fear of fire—pyrophobia.

A severe phobia usually cannot be overcome by the person who is involved, at least not without assistance. Such obsessions make the victims completely miserable and often so dominate their lives they can think of little else.

While some phobias may be more or less amusing to others they are never amusing to the victim himself.

Some of them appear to be symptoms of true mental disease and the aid of a psychiatrist may be needed. Indeed a psychiatrist may help many of those with obsessions to at least live with their difficulty.

A closely related condition which seems to be rather common is known as kleptomania, or the desire to steal. The kleptomaniac often does not know why he or she behaves that way and whether as excuse or explanation often says, "I just can't help it."

There is some debate as to whether kleptomania is a comparatively simple behavior problem or the sign of true mental disorder. I certainly am not qualified to ex-

ing and he knew I needed a fifth week to make the payments. So when I was killed in the picture he let them photograph with my 'dead' body in the picture for another week."

You share some supper with Coral Browne of the Old Vic, a magnificent Lady Macbeth, but tonight a young, beautifully-gowned English woman with a torrent of wit at her command. . .About 5 o'clock in the morning, you and Syd decide that's it, and you both go out into the still teeming night.

BETTER JOBS

A Commandmentless God

In the last issue I was quoting what the late Henry C. Link wrote in "Faith and Freedom" under the sub-heading "Is a God without Commandments worse than no God at all?."

This is an important item since such prominent Methodist preachers as Bob Shuler Jr. of the First Methodist Church of Santa Ana says the Golden Rule and the Commandments have been superseded. Henry Link had an entirely different opinion. Under the heading of "Moral Intolerance" he wrote:

"When a recent series of Supreme Court decisions declared that stealing, violence, and the deliberate ruining of a man's business, when done by unions under certain circumstances, were not illegal, the churches should have marshalled their complete powers of moral intolerance. They should have declared that, no matter what the legal technicalities, it was just as wrong for unions to steal, persecute, and commit violence as it was for employers or any other individuals.

"Such intolerance need not be expressed primarily as a condemnation of labor unions or of any other group as such. It should be the disapproval of immorality as such. It should be a dogmatic stand on the basic moral laws which, when violated, create either class warfare, race conflict, or personal crime. It is just because the churches have been so tolerant of the violations of the basic commandments in the field of personal behavior generally, that they now find it difficult to condemn these same violations in the larger areas of social conflict.

"When, as has happened in recent years, Jewish temples and Catholic shrines are desecrated by vandals, the fervent plea has been for greater religious tolerance. The plea should have been for greater religious intolerance.

Emancipation from Moral Law

"All sects have been too lax in respect to the elementary morals toward which, regardless of creed, they should have presented a united front. They should have been consistently intolerant with all forms of vandalism against the persons and property of others. From the stoning of factories, shops, and workers' homes to the desecration of churches is only a small step.

"But, as Marx pointed out, the proletariat cannot be emancipated so long as it is Christian any more than the Jew can be emancipated so long as he clings to his religion. Many Jews have now been emancipated, to misuse the word, from their religion. That is to say, they have freed themselves from the compelling authority of their greatest contribution of civilization, the moral law. They have been emancipated from the one great force which stood between them and persection, the Ten Commandments.

"Instead of their plea for greater tolerance, the Jews today might well reaffirm their moral charter for the world. They might well proclaim, with the righteous wrath of a Moses, that no matter what the social system, whether capitalism or socialism, democracy or communism, the Ten Commandments are the only power which can ultimatey assure the dignity of the Jews, or of any race, class, or individual.

Irresponsibility Encouraged

"The Christian churches, under the secular influences already described, are also being emancipated from the authority of the Ten Commandments. But what is still more significent, an imporiant minority, especially in the Protestant denominations, has systematically if unwittingly encouraged their violation.

"A leader in this minority was the late William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury and head of the Episcopal Church of England. Speaking in 1942 before 6,000 workers in the Albert Hall, a mass meeting organized by the Industrial Christian Fellowship, he advocated a socialized economy. Speaking of material goods, he said: '. . .of these, so far as they are purely material, it is true to say that the more one has, the less there is for others, so that each man's success represent corresponding failure in his neighbors.

"That is to say, if a man has less than his neighbor it is so not necessarily through any fault of his own but because that neighbor has obtained more than his share. If one man catches ten fish and another only one, the latter's failure is due to the former's success.

"Whatever the truth of the Archbishop's premise, and it is basically false, it is an incitement to class warfare of the most inflammatory kind. It says, in effect: you should not only covet your neighbor's wealth but you should take steps to get your just share of it.

"This social gospel is a far more subtle provocation to class hatreds than the preachings of Marx and Hitler which were based on exactly the same premise. Marx claimed that the capitalists grew rich entirely at the expense of the wage earners, and Hitler condemned the Jews for having obtained their wealth at the expense of the German working class."

BID FOR A SMILE

Master of House — Katie, did anybody telephone while I've been out?

Maid — Yes, sir, but I could not make out the name. To be on the safe side I said you would let him have something on account tomorrow.

The young bride was asked what she thought of married life.

"Oh, there's not much difference," she replied. "I used to wait up half the night for George to go, and now I wait up half the night for him to come home.

The Red Carpet Rolls Out For Widow Of Hyde Park

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Eleanor Roosevelt recently has been giving us an indication of the new Communist offensive in this country. As of now, Communism is not bad per se and, of course, there are an undetermined number of such good Communists among the refugees from Hungary who are flocking into our country over the barriers of the McCarran-Walter Law. It has been argued for years that the Chinese Communists were good Communists and the recent Polish revolution against the Soviet regime was stolen from the patriotic Anti-Communist martyrs by good Polish reds.

The developing design calls for a tension, a Communist world, including the United States. This would be the best of all possible worlds simply because it would be free of the domination of the uncouth masters of the Kremlin.

The developing design cals for a Communist Europe and, by extension, a Communist world, including the United States. This would be the best of all possible worlds simply because it would be free of the domination of the uncouth masters of the Kremlin.

The Hungarian and Polish Communists probably are more purely Communistic than the Soviet Communists because in Russia the regime has been built into a feudal structure controlled by a small, ruthless aristocracy which enjoys the few best material things of life. The masses have in common only their poverty, misery and slavery.

Yet the Hungarian and Polish Communists are not undesirable. They are charming fellows simply because they objected to an alien administration of their own Red regimes. The fact that they would presently clamp down their own version of the Muscovite terror and develop their own equivalent of the aristocratic parasitic class is something to be thought of next week or next year.

La Boca Grande's whooping impudence is marvelous in its success as well as in its preposterousness. Exposed in a thousand details, she nevertheless maintains a cult of idolators who get glassy-eyed at impious mention of her person or works.

Cardinal Spellman addressed a scornful reproach at her with biting reference to her career as a mother, but some defect in the popular process of moral appraisal sustains her still as by an oriental miracle on a plane distinctly superhuman if not supernatural and spiritually sublime. She goes traipsing here and there, accumulating counterfeit coinage of medals and "citations." In the current theme, which is now the party line of her public, she upbraids the masters of Moscow for precisely the same brutality which endeared Stalin to her husband and earned for the enemy billions in machinery and secrets, the property of the American people.

In a recent composition, she wrote that she had broken bread with a Madam Kelthy, "a Communist" but a desirable one because she professed to have spent four years in prison, and favored dissipation of the great baronial lands. The Roosevelt barony remains intact but for sale by due process. Madam Kelthy belongs to the Social Democratic Party of Hungary and it may be well to note that here the Social Democrats and their propagandists profess to fight and hate all Communists. This is an absurd pretense, of course, because Communists infested Dave Dubinsky's "Liberal" Splinter-Party until it folded last year and there was a question whether they dominated the show. Dubinsky's political manager, Jake Lovestone, was a blood-red Bolshevik who has never managed to retract his exhortation for gore in the gutters of our cities.

John Santo, a vicious Romanian saboteur who decamped to Hungary after persecuting the helpless poor of New York with cruel slowdowns and other abuses on the public transportation, now wants to come back and tell all, professing to repent and repudiate. Santo was a power in Mike Quill's oppression of New York workers in the subways and buses and it now appears that, after five years of high-life as a leech on the famished bodies of the decent, subjugated victims of the terror in Hungary, he thinks to earn asylum and further years of the abundant life as a refugee among us.

It is now pressed upon us that Quill never was a Communist, although he seemed to approve their methods and share their objectives, including in his organization an army of rabble who were to turn out by magic at the word of command for whatever emergency duly the union and the CIO in general imposed on them.

Joe McCarthy and a hundred other crusaders of politics and journalism have been liquidated for fighting Communism. There are only a few weak and weary veterans left to fight a sort of "partisan" action from the alleys and the housetops, but the Red, red carpet rolls out for the widow of the Hyde Park haunt.

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. HAGERTY
President, Spiritual Mobilization

Is it unlawful for a labor union to picket after it has lost a representation election? The National Labor Relations Board recently was confronted with conflicting recommendations on this point.

Having lost an election 28 to 1 at a Washington, D.C., furniture store, the union argued:

"The fact that there was embarrassment and discomfort, or even economic loss to the employer is the natural concomitant to organization picketing and that peaceful picketing whether for organizational or recognition purposes after the board's certification of the 'no union' vote does not restrain or coerce employes within the meaning of the law."

Sidney Lindner, a trial examiner, reportedly agreed with this argument. Howard Myers, another trial examiner, assertedly recommended that picketing in similar circumstances should be found coercive of the employees.

Well, I agree with Mr. Myers. But, whether one does or not, is there no legal protection for embarrassment and discomfort, or economic loss" which the union (an International Brotherhood of Teamsters local) admits "is the natural concomitant to organization picketing"? If we have come to the place where labor unions can harass employers in any way they please while claiming the protection of the law, then what has become of justice in this country?

Hungarians Believed West Would Come To Their Aid

By HENRY McLEMORE

MUNICH — A great majority of the Hungarian refugees who are passing through the Army processing center here, before being airlifted to the United States in Operation Safe Haven, believed that the Western powers would come to their aid in their battle against their Soviet masters.

The question "Did you fight because you though you would get Western aid?" is one of many being asked the refugees by representatives of The Voice of America. With disappointment, but no bitterness, in their voices, almost all of them answered "Yes." And those who said "No, we thought we'd have to do it alone," spoke without rancor.

Another question — "Why did you believe that the Western countries would supply aid?" — drew an assortment of answers, but the gist of them all was this: "Because we have heard so much, for so long, about the sympathy the West had for captive nations."

"I just couldn't believe that America and England would not send us men, guns and planes," a 35-year-old Budapest draughtsman told me. "While you had never promised us military aid, we felt that that was what you were trying to tell us with your sympathetic words. We felt that you of the West knew that no matter how hard we fought, we never could hope to win without your help."

I asked half a dozen of the refugees, both men and women, if they would have fought anyway, even if they had known for sure that they were going to have to fight the Russians by themselves.

They all answered in the affirmative. And one of them, a roofer who escaped with his wife and three-year-old daughter after days of street fighting, said the length of the struggle was proof of this.

"We didn't stop when we saw that you were not going to help us. We fought on, and there are thousands who are still fighting, and will continue to fight."

Why did the Hungarians start the revolution? They fought, they all said, because of their hatred for the Russians and with the knowledge that they faced a life without hope.

Without exception, the refugees I have talked to made it clear that the blank wall of the future was too much — that death, or the risk of death, was not too high a price to pay for a chance to live as free human beings. I have not talked with one refugee who has expressed regret at having to tear up his roots from his homeland, abandoning every single possession.

Talking to them, I had the feeling that life under the Russians is many times more terrible than we have heard it is. These people were willing to run any risk to escape the oppression of the Reds.

Running through all the refugees' conversation is a disbelief that they didn't receive help, and that the Hungarians still fighting aren't going to get help.

"The West does not seem to know," a farmer told me, "that freedom is at stake. It is not only Hungary that is trying to survive, it is freedom itself."

One refugee told me that already the Russians have resorted to vicious tricks of deception in an effort to stem the flow of escapees. He said they were shaving the heads of collaborators, beating them until they were badly bruised, and, parading them through Budapest as examples of Hungarians who had made their way into American hands, but had returned because of brutal treatment.

"They broadcast that Hungarians are given shots to dull their minds, and then hauled off to slave-labor jobs," he said. "I don't think any Hungarian believes the lies."

Ike To Stay With 'Tight Money' Policy

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower Administration has rejected demands that it abandon its "tight money" policy, based on higher interest rates to borrowers, because of its economic advisers' yearend forecasts that 1957 will be "moderately prosperous," and possibly as booming a period as 1956.

The principal concern at the treasury and in Federal Reserve circles is still inflation. Although prices of heavy and consumer goods, especially food, are expected to increase by two or three per cent, accompanying wage boosts will provide buyers with cash and credit to offset increased costs. Where wages are not tied to the cost of living index, as they are in many industries, the unions will demand fatter pay envelopes.

The money managers at Washington would prefer that people save more and spend less, although not too much less for fear that business will become stagnant. Giving banks under Reserve jurisdiction the right to raise interest payments was an inducement in this direction. It is counted on to help to check any spending spree, as will rising prices.

Hiking the rediscount rate was designed simultaneously to prevent business and industry from overexpansion and overproduction, although it has not had as full an impact as anticipated. In fact, the upward trend convinces Secretary Humphrey and Federal Reserve Chairman William McC. Martin, Jr., that the monetary lid must be kept on.

Current plans for new plant and equipment, already at record highs, call for an increase next year to more than $40 billion. The figure will go even higher, if Secretary Humphrey grants tax concessions in the form of "fast write-offs." Business loans have also shown an increase in recent weeks.

The people, too, resist restrictions on their pocketbooks. Consumer credit and time borrowings are increasing, although more slowly as consumers fill luxury and semiluxury needs.

On November 6, the voters were asked to pass on bond issues totaling $2.6 billion, and they approved $2.4 billion for schools, roads, water and sewage systems, hospitals, libraries, city halls and courthouses — all nonproductive items."

It is this spirit of "hang the expense" which worries Washington, especially as interest on bonds is skyrocketing. A Virginia county recently had to pay 4.74 per cent for school money, an amazing figure.

In its management of money, the Administration seeks to level off the boom without killing it or slowing it down too severely. The basic purpose is to maintain an even and high level witout sharp ups and downs. As the developments listed above indicate, it is a delicate and difficult task to make necessary adjustments of policy at the proper and precise moment.

Representative Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, has launched his periodical attack on the Humphrey - Martin policy, and he has been joined by governor Averell Harriman of New York. They charge that the Administration's program hurts the "little businessmen," and favors the big banks and industrialists.

They insist that it also has a monopolistic tendency, in that large corporations can obtain funds or use their own reserves, while smaller units cannot afford the higher borrowing charges. But it is doubtful if they will gain general support on Capitol Hill from Democrats or Republicans, barring a serious and unexpected downturn.

Humphrey and Martin argue that, despite the higher cost of money, runaway inflation's effect on everybody, from a corner bakery to a Wall Street bank, would be even more disastrous. As hard-boiled men, they favor hard rather than "cheap" money.

Pampa Boxers In Amarillo Matches

Pampa fighters will put up their months of training against the abilities of other area boxers tonight when they enter the fight night event slated at the Amarillo Community Center.

Matches get underway at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.00 for ringside seats; 75 cents for general admission and 35 cents for children. The center is located on S. Carolina Street near West 6th.

Entered are teams from Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Plainview, Wellington, Canyon and Guymon, Okla. Amarillo will have two teams — Amarillo Boxing Club and D&D Pharmacy. An estimated 15 bouts are slated.

The matches are warm-up bouts in readiness for the annual district and regional Golden Gloves tournaments to be held in January.

Pampa coaches Ollie Wilhelm, Bill Martin, Cliff Dunham and Ben White plan to carry about 15 fighters to the matches in order to try and match as many as possible.

One of the outstanding fights on the card will be the Manny Perez-Gary Wilhelm event in the 135-pound class. Both are well-known fighters and the younger brothers of former regional champions.

Dean Webb, Mel Appling, Joe Jones and Ladell Pugh will serve as officials.

The Pampa Optimist fighters will carry another team to compete against Borger at Borger Saturday night. The Borger Optimist and Jaycees, who both have teams, sent some fighters here last week. The Borger fights will start around 7:30 p.m. and will be held in Klein's Sports Arena.

Meets Take Over College Basketball This Week End

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

North Carolina aimed to follow up its most impressive victory of the season by beating Duke tonight and thereby make a strong bid to replace Kansas as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team.

The second-ranked, unbeaten Tarheels never looked better in demolishing 16th-ranked Utah, 97-76, in the opening round of the Dixie Classic Thursday night but they'll be running into a red-hot Duke team which beat eighth-ranked West Virginia, 73-67, in the opening round.

The Blue Devils were the nation's 12th-ranked team but were not expected to handle Rod Hundley & Co. Yet they out-rebounded and out-hustled the Mountaineers and even made Hundley look bad despite 24 points. Duke also has beaten third-ranked Kentucky so Thursday night's victory could not in any way be regarded as a "fluke."

North Carolina, however, will go into tonight's game at Raleigh, N.C., a heavy favorite on the basis of its velvet-smooth shellacking of Utah. Len Rosenbluth, who wound up with 36 points, led a drive that put the Tarheels in front, 42-32, at half-time and midway in the second half the lead had ballooned to 19 points.

Southerners Sweep Clean

Defending champion North Carolina State upset 20th-ranked Iowa, 84-70, and Wake Forest whipped DePaul, 74-68, to make it a clean sweep of the southern host teams into the semi-finals. NC State and Wake Forest meet in their semi-final game this afternoon.

The Dixie Classic packs the greatest prestige of the 11 tournaments currently in progress but there were important results elsewhere.

The University of Connecticut staged a late rally to beat Miami (Fla.), 74-70, in the first round of the Orange Bowl Tournament after Pittsburgh topped Seton Hall, 76-66. Stanford defeated Valparaiso, 68-51, and Western Kentucky whacked LaSalle, 89-76. Wayne Davis scored 20 points for Connecticut, Pittsburgh limited Seton Hall ace Dick Gaines to 10 points; Stanford set a tourney record for defense in one game and Owen Lawson pumped in 33 points for Western Kentucky.

Colorado, ranked 20th along with Iowa and California, whipped Missouri, 64-55, and Michigan State downed Nebraska, 79-65, in their first-round games of the Big Seven Tournament at Kansas City, Mo. Bob Helzer's 17 points led Colorado while Jack Quiggle notched 21 for Michigan State. Kansas, 58-57 victor over Iowa State in the opening round, plays Oklahoma in the feature game of tonight's second-round play.

In the Queen City Tournament at Buffalo, N.Y., Canisius beat Cornell, 79-60, and Minnesota knocked over defending champion Xavier, 83-76, to reach Saturday night's title round. Hank Noawk scored 30 points for Canisius while four players hit double figures for Minnesota.

W&L Stops Columbia

Washington & Lee upset previously unbeaten Columbia, 69-65, to reach the semi-finals of the Richmond Invitational against Lafayette, which added heavily to its prestige by walloping William & Mary, 89-27. Washington & Lee accomplished its upset despite a brilliant 27-point performance by Chet Forte, the nation's third-ranking major college scorer. Pennsylvania beat Davidson, 83-79, and Penn State defeated Richmond, 64-60, in other games. Play continues today and tonight with the finals Saturday.

Seattle thoroughly whipped 18th-ranked Tulane, 94-76, in the most surprising result of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City. Elgin Baylor had 32 points and Dick Stricklin 30 for Seattle. Memphis State beat Texas Tech, 99-77, Marquette walloped Georgia Tech, 102-78, and Oklahoma City topped Idaho State, 70-66, in the other games.

Hofstra's defending champions beat Upsala, 63-57, in the Hofstra Invitational Tournament at Hempstead, N.Y., while West Virginia Tech toppled Gettysburg, 115-78, Bucknell defeated Wagner, 85-65, and Cortland Teachers outclassed Springfield, 81-62. Ken Hammond of West Virginia Tech was the star of the day with 33 points.

OPORTO, Portugal, Dec. 27 (UP)—"The Twenty Vitorias," a private syndicate of friends, now numbers only 19.

SMU, Rice May Meet In Tournament Finals

By JOHN COLTON
United Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (UP) — The possibility of a replay of last year's title game in the Southwest Conference basketball tournament took shape today after defending champion Southern Methodist and Rice, the 1955 runnerup, emerged with opening round victories.

Both SMU and Rice came through as expected. But underdog Texas A&M and darkhorse Arkansas both pulled upsets.

SMU defeated Texas Christian, 74-65, and Rice had an easy time with Baylor, 71-55. Arkansas surprised Texas, 89-76, while Texas A&M put down a persistent Navy team, 76-75 in a thriller that ended with a Navy shot bouncing off the rim.

SMU Meets Aggies

Southern Methodist takes on the Aggies at 7:30 p.m. today, and Arkansas meets Rice at 9 p.m. in the championship bracket. Texas plays Baylor at 2 p.m., and TCU meets Navy at 4 p.m. in the consolation bracket.

Sharp rebound work accounted in large part for the Aggies' upset of Navy. Sophomores Neil Swisher and Ernie Turner turned in some top-notch boardwork for the Aggies, who lost forward George Mehaffey on fouls with seven minutes left in the game.

Mehaffey and Navy players George Bouvet and Frank Petinos tied for game scoring honors, each getting 28. The final buzzer sounded as Navy forward Dave Smalley bounced a 20-foot shot off the basket rim.

Jim Krebs scored 36 points to lead Southern Methodist to its victory. Krebs, the conference's leading scorer with 196 points, hit 14 field goals to tie the tournament record set last year by Rice's Temple Tucker. He also got eight of nine free throws.

O'Neal Leads TCU

Dick O'Neal led TCU with 24 points. SMU led at the half, 39-35, and held its biggest margin—13 points—about midway in the second half.

The Texas-Arkansas game was a defensive battle with most of the scoring done on long-range shots. Raymond Downs of Texas was high with 31 points, and tied the tournament free throw record of 17 set last year by Temple Tucker of Rice.

Texas held a one-point halftime lead, 43-42. The lead changed hands 18 times during the game and the score was tied 14 times.

Rice had little trouble with Baylor, although Tucker fouled out in the final five minutes. He got only nine points while in the game.

Pittsburgh, Georgia Tech Vie Saturday

By DAWSON OPPENHEIMER
United Press Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh wind up drills today with similar final workouts before renewing Saturday a rivalry that began almost 40 years ago but was all but forgotten until the first day of this year.

The grudge match, labelled as the "natural" of the year's big bowl games, should turn out to be the stiffest defensive test either team has faced all fall, with Pitt girding to stop Tech's speed, while Tech concentrates on the Panthers' rugged power and dangerous passing game.

Both teams were to spend their final minutes of pre-game work going through loosening-up exercises and running through a few dummy formations for about half an hour this afternoon.

Then, only a good night's rest separates them from the second recent chapter of a rivalry that began in 1918 when Pittsburgh, under Pop Warner, trounced the Engineers, 32-0.

Warner's talented team went on to make it three in a row over Tech, but the series ended in 1920 and never was renewed until Coaches John Michelosen and Bobby Dodd led Pitt and Georgia Tech to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans Jan. 1 of this year. Tech won the renewal 7-0.

Donelli Named Columbia Coach

NEW YORK (UP) — Little Aldo (Buff) Donelli, who never ducked a fight in his life, today faced one of his toughest assignemnts as the new head football coach at Columbia University.

Under Lou Little, who was retired this year after a 27-year term at Coumbia, the one-time roaring Lions turned into tame tabby cats as their material declined in recent years. Little's last winning year was 1951 when Columbia won five and lost three. Since 1951, the Lions have posted a dismal 11-33 won and lost record.

Donelli, on the other hand, enjoyed marked success with equally limited material as head coach at Boston University during the last 10 years. His Terriers won 46 games, lost 36 and tied four. In 1954, BU posted an impressive 7-2 record, losing only to Boston College and Holy Cross by one-point margins.

When his appointment as the new Columbia coach was announced Thursday, Donelli admitted he took the job "because it's a challenge."

Australia Takes Davis Cup Award

By LEO PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

ADELAIDE, Australia (UP) — vored Australia wrapped up a clean 5-0 sweep over the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round today but two rays of hope appeared for America — the expected loss of Ken Rosewall and the brilliance of Sam Giammalva.

Having already clinched the cup on Thursday, the Aussies sent twin stars Rosewall and Lew Hoad out for a sweep today and they came through in dazzling style.

First dark-haired Rosewall, who is expected to announce Saturday he is turning professional, downed young Giammalva of Houston, Tex., 4-6, 6-1, 8-6, 7-5 in a hard-fought match, and then blond Hoad ripped easily through 38-year-old Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

Second Straight Sweep

It was the second win for each Aussie star in this round, and the second straight year that the Aussies beat America by a perfect 5-0 score.

But there could be trouble ahead in 1957 for the Aussies. The expected loss of Rosewall to Jack Kramer's touring professional troupe will be felt, even though Hoad still will be around as the world's No. 1 player and a number of young Aussies are ready to help him.

And Giammalva, 22, showed again in his loss to Rosewall that he is rapidly becoming a player of top international ability.

Looks Tougher Next Year

"Next year he might be too much for us," admitted Australia's non-playing Captain Harry Hopman in a brief talk at official ceremonies when the cup was presented to the Australian team. Giammalva, extremely popular with crowds here because of his good-natured gestures while playing and his determination, bowed to Rosewall only after a hard fight.

The 33-year-old Seixas, on the other hand, appeared at the end of the big-time trail in his match with Hoad. Although neither seemed to be going all out, Hoad simply overpowered the veteran U.S. player and won just about as he pleased.

Hoad made it clear in a few brief words spoken to the gallery at the presentation ceremony that he isn't going to turn professional. "I hope to be around next year and help us to win the cup again," he said.

Harvesters, Shockers Post Unbeaten Marks

The Wichita Falls Coyotes, for years the powerhouse in North Texas basketball, invade Harvester Fieldhouse tonight to begin a two-night stand against the unbeaten Pampa Harvesters.

The Coyotes of District 7-AAAA may give the Harvesters their stiffest test of the year and the 11-game winning streak enjoyed by Pampa may be jeopardized. Wichita Falls, coached by Perry Goolsby, comes into tonight's game with a 4-3 season record.

Tonight's contest starts at 8 with the Shocker - Coyote B team game starting at 6:30 p.m. The same starting times prevail Saturday night.

The Coyotes had previously been scheduled to play in Pampa's Top o' Texas cage meet here this week end but the tournament was cancelled and the two games were scheduled for holiday competition.

Wichita Falls has been a perennial contender for district honors for several years. Last week the Coyotes lost in the opening round of the Pre-District 7-AAAA meet in Arlington but bounced back to win the consolation crown.

The Coyotes have won over Lawton, Burkburnett, Garland and Irvin this year while dropping games to Burkburnett, Lawton and Denison. They have averaged 57 points per game while allowing opponents 53 per game. Wichita Falls will bring 15 players to the games and will be forced to use some of their B team players in the varsity contest. The B team has won four games.

Unlike the Harvesters, Wichita Falls has one player who has done most of the scoring. Guard Charles Horton, 5-9 senior regular, has scored 146 points in seven games. Other probably starters include forwards Jimmy Embree, 5-11 senior, and Don Elliott, 6-0 junior; center Pliny Andrews, 6-1 senior; and guard Don Graham, 5-10 junior.

Embree has scored 91 points in seven games, Elliott has added 15, Graham has connected for 17 points and Andrews has 89. Embree and Horton are starting regulars back while another, Larry Phillips, broke an arm and will not see action until later in the season.

Pampa's probably starters will be Jerry Pope, 6-1, and Sam Condo, 6-2, forwards; Tommy Gindorf, 6-6 center; and Bill Brown, 5-11, and Dickie Mauldin, 5-10, guards. Pope is the Harvesters' leading scorer with 144 points. Brown is second with 140 followed by Condo with 136, Mauldin with 124 and Gindorf with 121.

Pampa has been averaging 77.9 points per game this year while allowing 50.3 points per game. The Shockers, who will be after their 11th consecutive victory, have averaged 76.3 points per game.

Geigel Takes On Bolo This Week

Two of the most colorful wrestlers in this area will go against each other in the main event of the Pampa Shrine Club's wrestling matches Monday night at the Sportsmans Club.

Bob Geigel takes on the masked Great Bolo in the one-hour, two-of-three falls main event. Both have been wrestling in Amarillo recently and are real crowd pleasers. Geigel has appeared here previously.

Roger Mackay and Mario Llanes tangle in the semifinal event scheduled for 45 minutes or for two of three falls. The contest is a rematch. Rip Rogers and Tommy Phelps will meet in the one-fall, 20-minute opener.

The matches begin at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Modern Pharmacy and will be on sale at the Sportsmans Club.

BOWL ROUNDUP

Uneventful Halfback Leads Colorado's Bowl Game Hopes

(EDITORS NOTE: This is the eighth of a series on the teams in the major 1956 football bowl games.)

By GENE MEAKINS
United Press Sports Writer

BOULDER, Colo. (UP) — Halfback Ellwin Indorf carried the football twice for six yards this season and never scored a touchdown, but the 172-pound sophomore put Colorado in the Orange Bowl.

Indorf, who transferred from Colorado A&M to Colorado and was a wrestling star at St. Francis, Kan., booted 16 of 19 points after touchdown. He kicked the necessary point to beat Kansas, 26-25, and booted two in the last half as Colorado came from behind to tie Missouri, 14-14.

Had Indorf missed on any of these Colorado would not be flying to Miami next Sunday for the New Year's Day game against Clemson.

Just One Example

Indorf is just one example of how Coach Dallas Ward's sophomores "came through" this season to win seven games while losing two and tying one.

It was in the backfield where the Eddie Dove, who took over the wingback spot in Colorado's single wing, gained 374 yards running and was especially brilliant on reverses.

Howard Cook, who alternates with junior Bob Stransky at tailback, gained 396 yards and was a brilliant punter and fair passer.

Boyd Dowler, quarterback or blocking back, completed 13 of 26 passes and punted 41 times for a 42.1-yard average.

Those three teamed with senior fullback John Bayuk, 220 - pound bulldozer who gained 659 yards to lead the team, and junior tailback Bob Stransky, who gained 548 yards and proved he can pass in the clutch.

Ward believes Clemson's "principal threat" is halfback Joel Wells. He calls him a "terrific back."

The Colorado coach believes the Orange Bowl game will be played mainly on the ground. He points out that neither Clemson nor Colorado pass much.

Ward prefers to send Bayuk up the middle time and again until a weakness develops or the defense switches. Then one of the fleet wingbacks or tailbacks might take off on a buck lateral or double reverse. The pass is used mainly to support the ground attack.

Waco Will Not Use River Water

WACO, Tex. (UP) — The Waco City Council has decided not to use water from the Brazos River for the time being.

The city was on the verge of having to use river water, but last week's rains put about a month's supply in Lake Waco.

Brazos River water also is heavily laden with gypsum and it costs about $400 a day extra to treat it and pump it into the city's water mains.

TV Stars Package Hope For New Year

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — The most precious gift that can be offered to a child on the brink of a new year is—hope.

TV stars have been packaging hope for kids around the world for many years now. They have been active members of an adoption plan, an organization that permits "adoption" of waifs in Belgium, France, England, Holland, Italy, West Germany and Korea.

The credit list is impressive. Garry Moore plays father to a youngster in Greece — one one of his morning shows last week, Garry talked to the boy via trans-Atlantic telephone to wish him Merry Christmas.

Garry's office staff has taken over the financial care of another child, six year old Marius Christophe of France. Denise Lor and Ken Carson, both singers with Garry's show, also are foster parents.

Others Are Members

Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows are members of the plan. So are Jack Benny, Helen Hayes, Ben Grauer, Sophie Tucker and Molly Berg of "The Goldbergs."

Bob Cummings has taken over the financial burderns of two French children. Eve Arden of "Our Miss Brooks" visited her charge in France.

Art Linkletter, with the plan since 1948, has three "adoptees" —in Greece, Italy and France. On a recent visit to Greece, Linkletter found his "child" living in a house without a roof. He promptly had one built.

Until his death, Fred Allen was a foster parent. The CBS public affairs staff chips in to support three youngsters — Ed Murrow recently visited one of them in Rome.

Others on List

You can add to the long list of names Bob Carroll and Madelyn Pugh, writers of "I Love Lucy."

"Adoption" of the kids, some of them orphans, all of them made destitute by war, is only financial. The sponsor gets a picture and case history of the child and is permitted to correspond with him.

Anyone can join — about 600,000 people have.

The relations often have a kind of wacky warmness about them. Robert Q. Lewis got a letter from his "child" in Italy that went: "Many thanks for the bed springs, mattresses, sheets and the stove." It was addressed to: "Robert Q. Luigi."

Red Party Meeting Proceedings Secret

United Press Staff Correspondent
By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Soviet Russia apparently is keeping secret a great part of the proceedings at the meeting of its Communist Party Central Committee.

A big shake-up in the Soviet economic planning administration has been announced.

But nothing has been said about two highly important questions.

These are 1) The admittedly spreading unrest among university students and factory workers and 2) Russia's relations with its satellites.

It is inconceivable that these pressing problems were not discussed at the five-day meeting of the 133 committee members and 122 alternates assembled from all over the Soviet Union.

Gave No Explanation

It is inconceivable also that Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the party, did not feel called upon to do some explaining about the way his "de-Stalinization" campaign got out of hand.

There is every indication that Soviet leaders realized the meeting would be an embarrassing one.

Under the present collective leadership, Russia of course remains a dictatorship. But the Central Committee is supposed to be the country's policy-making authority. Josef Stalin used to ignore it. But since his death the committee meets, as it is supposed to do, twice a year.

The committee had met last March to put into effect the de-Stalinization — liberalization policy of the Kremlin faction led by Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai A Bulganin.

Meeting Postponed

The meeting just ended was supposed to start on Dec. 17. But it was postponed until last Thursday.

Moscow dispatches indicated that the meeting was postponed because Khrushchev and his colleagues wanted more time to decide just what to say in explanation of the uncomfortable time they have had since March.

Before the Communist Party met Moscow correspondents had listed the student unrest as one of the chief topics on the program for discussion. The Central Committee was supposed to approve plans to get the students and workers back into line by a combination of stiffened discipline and concessions.

It seems pretty certain that such plans were discussed and approved but that Khrushchev and Co. decided that the least said about them publicly, the better.

Crackdown On Liquor Law Is Requested

DALLAS (UP) — Dallas beer wholesalers, alarmed at a sudden increase in local tavern murders, have called for a crackdown on state liquor laws.

Beer spokesmen called on the Texas Liquor Control Board Wednesday for "immediate action" in law enforcement.

Several knife and pistol slayings have occurred in Dallas taverns in recent months. Dry forces were successful in banning the sale of beer in Oak Cliff in an election Dec. 17 by charging that lawlessness and crime existed at many taverns.

In a telegram to Coke Stevenson, administrator of the Liquor Board, the group called for an "immediate investigation with a view of license suspension under provisions of the Liquor Control Act."

Trucks Stilled For Week End

DETROIT (UP) — No trucks will roll in Michigan for 36 hours this weekend in order to help state teamsters union boss James R. Hoffa prove a point.

Hoffa said the stoppage would halt all intercity truck traffic from 9 a.m. Saturday to 9 p.m. Sunday and would still the motors of at least 4,000 trucks and a similar number of drivers.

He said the ban on truck movement was to demonstrate what would happen if the state legislature should pass a contemplated bill which would ban trucks from highways on the weekend. A bill of this kind was introduced at the last session of the legislature but was defeated.

Jerry Lewis' First Try At Serious Singing Was A Hit

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — They all laughed when Jerry Lewis stood up to sing — and nobody was more surprised than Jerry when his first attempt at serious crooning turned out to be the "sleeper" hit record of the year.

Decca records released Jerry's Al Jolson-ish version of "Rock-a-Bye Your Baby" and "Come Rain or Come Shine" with a notion of selling about 50,000 platters.

So far the fans have hauled more than 600,000 copies of Jerry's new talent. Decca expects the record to go a million.

Fans figured Dean Martin was the only member of the old Martin - Lewis combination who could croon, but Jerry also is electrifying the nightclub customers with songs in his new single nightclub act. He'll also display the pipes on his first single television show, on NBC Jan. 19.

The newest threat to Crosby, Como and Sinatra is taking this unexpected success with his usual seriousness. In fact, he's the first to admit every star should have a helpful wife, for it's because of Patti Lewis that Jerry wound up on the hit parade.

"It was all an accident," related Jerry as he sat behind his office desk.

"I subbed for Judy Garland at Las Vegas when she got sick last August, and it was the first time I'd performed alone. I did an hour and six minutes of comedy. How do you get off? You either dance or sing or take a fall.

"Suddenly I remembered the lyrics of 'Rock a Bye'. I got an ovation.

"After the show Harry Cohn (head of Columbia Studio) had tears in his eyes. He asked why I didn't make records.

"When I got home my wife said, 'Why don't you do what Harry Cohn said?" But I felt I wasn't a singer and didn't intend to be one. Patti said, 'Well, record the songs for me to keep.'"

Jerry did. But unknown to him, Patti sent the home-made recordings to Decca.

"I was surprised when Decca called," said Jerry. "I didn't know my wife was playing jokes' They gave me the best deal ever made for a record artist — 10 per cent royalty."

Lewis had to be talked into singing in his first single nightclub act which he polished at the Sands hotel in Las Vegas, and which opens in Chicago this week. He also fractures the customers by dancing.

"I always sang with a squeaky voice when I worked with Dean," said the new, more mature Lewis. "I never even knew I could carry a tune."
