Barry Pleads For Unity In Party

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, trying to unite his party, warmly endorsed George W. Romney on Saturday night in Michigan.

But Romney, who opposed Goldwater's selection last July as Republican presidential nominee, told reporters: "I haven't changed my decision. I accept the decision of the party, but I do not endorse it."

HOPPED ABOUT
Goldwater hopped about Michigan all day, except for a brief airport stop in South Bend, Ind., preaching party unity and urging voters to back all the party's nominees.

At each stop, Goldwater had kind words for Romney, urging his re-election.

But Romney passed up a chance to introduce the presidential candidate at Midland and, when he did introduce him at a night rally here, was only lukewarm in his support.

Earlier, the Michigan governor had told reporters that his appearance with Goldwater on the platform at the Midland County fairgrounds didn't mean he planned to endorse Goldwater.

His position, as he restated it, was, in effect, that he couldn't give Goldwater his all-out support, but neither did he plan to support President Johnson.

Asked about this as he returned to his plane to fly to Detroit, Goldwater said, "What he does is up to him. I think it's very necessary that all Republicans work together. That's why I'm endorsing him. I would like to have his support, but he has to make that decision."

TAX CUT
In his prepared speech Saturday night, Goldwater called again for a tax cut, but also endorsed more spending — "if the need arises" — to "maintain our defensive strength and preparedness."

"Unfortunately in the present state of the world, military expenses are and must remain high," he said. "Of course we must have economy in defense but we cannot afford the false economy of weakened defenses."

In his prepared introduction, Romney called Goldwater "a hard-working and dedicated man," and said the Republican

NEGRO VOTE HAS GROWN

ATLANTA (AP) — Simple arithmetic gives President Johnson a strong hand in most of the South on the basis of a Negro vote which is nearly twice the size it was four years ago.

Registration of both white and Negro voters has been heavy in the 11 Southern states, and particularly during the past two years.

Negro voters now number more than 2 million, compared to 1.1 million four years ago. White voters total about 13.6 million in the 11 states from Virginia to Texas.

HHH Talks About Bread And Butter

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey carried the LBJ pennant into Appalachia on Saturday with a new campaign twist, leading a flying cavalcade over the hills of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Fifteen small planes brought the Democratic vice-presidential nominee and his party into this beautiful, but economically troubled mountain area in a half-hour flight from Huntington, V. Va.

With him, he brought a bread-and-butter message promising the Democratic party's full

Continuing his fire on Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, Humphrey said in remarks prepared for a Memphis, Tenn., rally:

"Men who are truly strong do not talk tough, nor advocate policies of bluff, belligerence and brinkmanship. 'This is no time to play Russian roulette with a nuclear arsenal.'"

The day's big campaign operation involved an airplane "mosquito fleet" invasion of Prestonsburg, Ky.

It is the traditional opening day for eastern Kentucky's Democratic campaign and Humphrey was bringing to the party his campaign entourage — some 70 or so of his aides, newsmen, photographers and radio-TV technicians.

Because Humphrey's chartered Electra was too big for the Prestonsburg landing field, an armada of small planes was ordered to airlift the Humphrey group from Huntington through the hill country.

Humphrey arrived in Louisville Saturday morning, hot on the heels of the GOP standard bearer. His plane, "The Happy Warrior," taxied in 45 minutes after Goldwater's plane thundered off following a speech by the Arizona senator Friday night.

The Minnesotan quipped that during his travels through Michigan Friday, much of the time in Republican territory, he discovered that "people who showed up with Goldwater buttons were just coming to confess their sins."

Asked at a Louisville Airport news conference to compare the Americans for Democratic Action, which he helped found, with the John Birch Society, Humphrey said, "that's like trying to compare a civic club with a conspiracy."

HOOVER REPORTS

FBI Finds No Label For Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover said Saturday summer riots in the North were neither race riots nor the work of Communists or other extremist organizations.

Instead, the FBI director said, they represented "a senseless attack on all constituted authority without purpose or object." Hoover reported at President Johnson's request on the FBI's investigation of disturbances in seven Northern cities and two resort areas from coast to coast between July 18 and Sept. 7. The bulk of his 19-page report dealt with the seven cases of big-city violence.

RESPONDS
Johnson responded to one of Hoover's recommendations by ordering the FBI to make riot control training available to all police departments in the country. The President also directed the Defense Department to increase National Guard riot control training throughout the country and to make that training available to local police forces.

While racial tensions contributed to the city rioting, Hoover said, none of the disturbances was a race riot "in the accepted meaning of the phrase."

"They were not riots of Negroes against whites or whites against Negroes," he reported. "And they were not a direct outgrowth of conventional civil rights protest."

NOT REDS
Hoover made short shrift of charges that the riots were instigated by the Communist party or other organizations. He said: "No evidence was found that the riots were organized on a national basis by any single person, group of persons, or organization."

In all cases, he said, mob violence was "dominated by the acts of youths ranging in age up to the middle 20s. They were variously characterized by responsible people as 'school dropouts,' 'young punks,' 'common hoodlums' and 'drunken kids.'"

Hoover had an endorsement for Johnson's antipoverty program as he dwelt on the "social and economic conditions in which much of the Negro population lives." He termed these "demoralizing." He said the antipoverty program "as well as other private and public activities should result in steady improvement."

BLAMED
The FBI chief blamed what he termed "the breakdown of respect for law and order among young people" in part on "an immunity to public exposure for serious offenses and often the absence of punishment of any kind."

Young people — especially lawless ones — "are well informed of their privileged condition," a factor which has encouraged the growth of contempt for law, Hoover said. Johnson, on receiving the

Hoover report, issued a statement from the LBJ Ranch in Texas in which he said his administration "feels strongly that this must be a society of law and order in which citizens live by recognized rules of conduct."

Fog Moves In To Help Fight Voracious Fire

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Fire fighters' hopes lifted slightly Saturday as a lowering fog retarded the voracious 5-day-old Santa Barbara fire.

The U.S. Forest Service said the 88,000-acre blaze was 50 per cent contained early Saturday. No estimate was made on when it would be fully contained.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Edward A. McDermott, director of the President's Office of Emergency Planning, inspected the disaster area by helicopter to see how much of the devastated area might be eligible for federal aid.

Key to the hopes of 2,000 men still struggling on a 20-mile-wide fire line was the weather which took a sharp, favorable turn Friday night.

Since the fire began last Tuesday, temperatures in the upper 80s and 90s and hot, dry winds from inland deserts — California's legendary "devil winds" — kept the fire racing back and forth. Three times the winds drove the fire to the perimeter of Santa Barbara.

But Friday night a deep fog bank rolled in off the Pacific and into the steep canyons of the charred Santa Ynez Mountains behind the city. Light drizzles hit the lower slopes, not extinguishing the flames but cooling the area enough to let fire fighters work closer to the blaze.

Johnson Orders No Sanctuary For Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson reportedly has decided that if Communist planes attack U.S. naval forces operating off Viet Nam, American fighters can chase them across the Red China frontier if necessary.

The decision to provide more precise authority for U.S. pilots to apply the principle of "hot pursuit" and deny the Communist "privileged sanctuary" reportedly was prompted by the Red Chinese movement of Soviet-built jet warplanes into Communist Viet Nam early in August.

The aircraft were introduced into the area after American planes blasted torpedo boats and other installations in North Viet Nam following attacks on American destroyers in the Tonkin Gulf Aug. 2.

The sequence of events indicates a slow and cautious escalation of the danger of direct U.S.-Chinese clashes in Southeast Asia.

This situation is likely to become more tense, and probably much more serious, if deteriorating political conditions inside South Viet Nam tempt the Communists to exploit the disorder and political instability.

A buildup of military pressures inside South Viet Nam by increased Red guerrilla strikes and parallel external actions could produce a very grave crisis in short order.

From Washington's point of view, however, the South Vietnamese situation is subject to so many unpredictable developments that no one here can say whether the worst possibilities of increasing danger are likely to be realized or not. What is said authoritatively is that administration leaders, deeply occupied at home with the American political campaigns, would like to do what they can within the limits of U.S. policy to keep the situation as quiet as possible.

Immediately following the Aug. 2 attack, President Johnson ordered the Navy to do more than defend itself if attacked but "to attack with the objective of not only driving off the attacking force but of destroying it." This was considered a "hot pursuit" authorization from the President but its extent was unclear from the public announcement.

Purge Demanded, Coup May Be Around Corner

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Young military officers Saturday demanded a purge of six older generals, and a high government source said a coup is possible at any time. Troops took up guard posts at strategic areas and set up barbed wire barricades and gun positions outside navy and air force installations.

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, premier for nine months, was out of town to deal with a tribal uprising in the central mountains.

The state of military activity in Saigon came after nightfall.

Two main roads leading to the navy base on the Saigon waterfront were closed by barbed wire barricades and three 20mm cannon mounted on trucks guarded each entrance. Machine guns were spotted alongside the base and rolls of barbed wire were at various locations ready to be strung across the streets.

Marines whisked through the city in trucks. Others were guarding the zoo and roads leading to navy headquarters. Fifteen soldiers in combat dress were on guard inside the main post office.

Warren Commission Report To Be Made Public Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation awaited Saturday the imminent disclosure of official conclusions on the how and why of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

A seven-man commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, was charged by President Johnson last Nov. 29 with finding and disclosing "the truth . . . as far as it can be discovered" about the tragic events of last Nov. 22-24 in Dallas.

On Thursday, the commission delivered to the President the digest of its findings — a 4-inch-thick book. Later, the White House announced that the report will be made public Sunday at 5:30 p.m. EST.

The book is the fruit of the questioning of scores of persons, many on-the-scene studies in Dallas, the examination of scores of reports, photos and other exhibits prepared by the FBI and other police agencies.

It is expected to tell whether the commission is convinced, beyond doubt, that the rifle shots which killed Kennedy were fired by Lee Harvey Oswald, a 24-year-old, unstable ex-Marine and avowed Marxist. And it is expected also to express the commission's conclusions on whether Oswald acted alone or was a part of some sort of conspiracy.

The report is to cover also the killing of Oswald by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator, two days after the president was slain.

There's no question that Ruby committed this act — for which he now is under death sentence — because it was carried out in full view of dozens of police officials and untold hundreds of thousands of television watchers. But, again, the question of whether Ruby acted alone is one for which the commission is expected to have an answer.

With the submission of its report, the special commission goes out of existence. Any further investigations will be in the hands of permanent agencies.

The commission is a bipartisan one, although by formal party affiliation the Republicans outnumber the Democrats five to two.

In addition to Warren, other Republicans are Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, and John J. McCloy, New York financier and former high commissioner to Germany.

The Democrats are Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Every cloud has a silver lining. So grieve not for that 13-0 licks Snyder gave us on the gridiron Friday evening; maybe we learned a lesson in football. It's going to take harder noses and quicker reactions, but then we have two weeks before we begin playing for keeps.

Rain and cloudy weather have accentuated the arrival of autumn, and happily the summer heat has been broken and routed. Last week's showers were similar, in some respects, to those of a couple years ago when the pattern was reversed. This time the south half of the county received soaking rains up to three inches—the north half generally about half an inch.

The moisture should enable a lot of farmers to plant a lot of small grain and thus enhance prospect for winter grazing. While pastures and hills are turning green rapidly, not much grass (with strength to produce substance before frost) will be produced. Some areas, however, will have winter weeds and win.

House Divided

Two rooms of this suburban Kirkwood house have been rented by the Bonhomme Township Democratic organization at the same time the other two rooms were rented by Robert O. Snyder, Republican candidate for re-election to the Missouri House of Representatives. Snyder's campaign chairman, Ray Luzzi, and Mrs. Nelson Mariow, Democratic organization chairman, are shown tacking up posters of their favorite presidential candidates. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Statewide Rains Slow Down Farm Operations

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Farming activities were either stopped or delayed by the rains, some excessive, some light, which moved across the state this past week. The rains were general but the amounts were varied, said John Hutchison, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Pastures and rangelands will receive much benefit from the moisture, especially in the areas where there is still time for plant growth before frost, he said.

Small grain seeding will also get a big boost and long-dry or nearly dry stock tanks have been filled or materially improved in many sections, he added. But a prolonged period of cloudy and rainy weather could have an adverse effect upon crops still in the fields.

In their midweek reports to Hutchison, district extension agricultural agents all reported rains but they were not sufficient in every case to relieve the moisture situation.

W. W. Grisham Jr. at Amarillo said rains varying from one and a half to five inches covered the Panhandle. The harvesting of early sugar beets in Deaf Smith County had started and cattle and range conditions were fair.

Soil moisture is still short over the South Plains except in the northern counties, reported Billy Gunter at Lubbock. Wheat planting was well under way with some fields up to a stand. The cotton harvest has started in the southern counties. Tomato and watermelon harvests are at the peak.

James Simmons at Vernon said rainfall over the Rolling Plains varied from showers to four and a half inches. Moisture was not adequate in eight counties and short in the other 14 counties of his district. He added that small grain seeding and cotton harvesting would resume as soon as fields dry.

Good rains covered the entire North Central Texas area with heavy flooding in some sections, reported Ted Martin from Denton. All field work has stopped. The moisture should insure a good peanut crop and pastures should continue to improve.

R. S. Loftis at Mt. Pleasant said hay production would be aided by the good rains in Northeast Texas but some damage to open cotton would result. Light to excessive rains improved the soil moisture situation in far West Texas and ranges in the eastern counties of the district and in the Edwards Plateau should improve, advised Ray Siegmund from Ft. Stockton.

General soaking rains over all of the West Central Texas area gave a big boost to early seeded and volunteer small grain and filled or partly filled stock tanks, reported Roy Huckabee at San Angelo. The cotton harvest was delayed but the moisture will help pecans.

Though amounts of rain were spotted, the fall was sufficient in Central Texas for adequate soil moisture, said R. G. Burwell from Stephenville. He reported that 80 per cent of the area's cotton was harvested and the rains will delay its completion.

District-wide rains in East Texas left soil moisture conditions adequate to short, reported

Frontier Post Is Chronicled

BROWNWOOD — A new book by a distinguished professor of history at Howard Payne College is to be published Sept. 28. It is "Camp Colorado, a Decade of Frontier Defense," by Dr. T. R. Havins, who is well known for his works on the history of Texas. It is his second book on history of the West Central Texas region. The book is published by The Brown Press, 1709 Eleventh Street, in Brownwood, at $5.00. Camp Colorado, located in eastern Coleman County, was one of a string of military establishments that reached from the Rio Grande to Red River in the Civil War period. The new book, covering 1856-65, is the first attempt by a historian to write a military history of a particular post. The book contains four maps of the area as it was at that time, and shows the various counties in which the soldiers operated.

he summarized in brief were Vernon Whittington, Dr. Harold Smith, J. D. Jones, Bill Bradford and Bill Emerson. Gibson was another in a series of speakers drawn from within the ranks of the club. Program director Richard Hughes said the series had proved highly successful and would be tried again shortly. Hughes also stated that the next program presented by the club would be dedicated to the Living Endowment Program sponsored by the organization as part of a nation-wide project. He said that coach Don Robbins of Big Spring High School would fulfill a speaking engagement before the club sometime in October.

'Hi Cousin' Will Get Plenty Answers

Be careful of yelling "Hi Cousin" at Garden City schools—you may get 17 replies. All these youngsters are not only cousins, but first cousins, at that. They are, front row: Danny Kohutek, Jan Hirt, Becky Hirt, Barry Hirt, Kenny

Garden City School Cozy With Cousins

By M. A. WEBB

GARDEN CITY—Garden City isn't in Tennessee or Kentucky, but there are plenty of first cousins in the Glasscock County Independent Schools here.

There are 17—count 'em—and four more are on the way. Judy Hirt, the eldest of the lot, has one more year, and next fall will see a quartet of young cousins enter the first grade.

They all spring from the Hirt family which moved to the St. Lawrence Community about 10 years ago from Wall.

The Hirts, Batlas, Frericks, and Kohuteks are all farmers around St. Lawrence, except Delmer Batla, who is the ginger.

Sidney Hirt is also a member of the school board, now serving his third term. In tying the families together, the Hirts lead. Sidney Hirt is brother to Mrs. Batla, Eugene Hirt, Mrs. Frerick, and Mrs. Kohutek.

Six of the 17 who are first cousins are in the first grade. They are Dana Kohutek, Jan Hirt, Becky Hirt, Barry Hirt, Kenny Batla, Jacque Frerick, all 6 years of age.

Others are Melissa Kohutek, 7, Linda Batla, 7, second grade; Mike Batla, 8, Roxanne Hirt, 8, Chris Hirt, 8, third grade; Dinell Hirt, 9, Lisa Hirt, 9, fourth grade; Cathy Batla, 10, fifth grade; Steven Hirt, 12, seventh grade; Ronnie Hirt, 14, ninth grade; and Judy Hirt, eleventh grade.

By families it comes out this way: Dana and Melissa (Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kohutek), Jacque (Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Frerick); Roxanne (Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hirt); Kenny, Cathy, Linda, and Mike (Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Batla); Jan, Barry, Dinell and Chris Hirt (Mr. and Mrs. David Hirt); Becky, Lisa, Steven, Judy Ann and Ronnie (Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hirt).

The first graders are the first of the children to be born in the St. Lawrence community. Next year's first graders will be the twin sons of the Delmer Batlas—Larry and Gary; Cheryl Kohutek, daughter of the Robert Kohuteks; and Gregg Frerick, son of the Hubert Frericks.

All of the children are among the 37 grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hirt of Wall, and 30 of the 37 live in St. Lawrence.

Rio Grande Slows Rapid Rise In Laredo Section

LAREDO (AP)—The Rio Grande slowed its rapid rise Saturday after forcing an estimated 2,000 persons from their homes in Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

The muddy river—prodded by flash flooding upstream—churned to within inches of the bed of the four-lane bridge which connects the two Laredos and is a major international gateway. But the bridge remained open.

Friday night, a super-traffic jam occurred as residents sought to cross to their homes before the predicted closing of the artery.

Glen Arvilla of the Red Cross disaster unit said crews evacuated 375 to 400 families in Laredo. Of that number 209 persons checked in at seven emergency shelters while the remainder moved in with relatives and friends.

A Nuevo Laredo police spokesman, Nicolas Guzman, said about 50 persons were evacuated from low places in that city by midmorning. But he said no more evacuations were planned.

The Weather Bureau said the river level was 36.18 feet at noon. Official flood stage is 39 feet. Immediately after the peak, the raging stream began receding.

Water went into several homes in Laredo, but there was no accurate count or damage estimated.

Sheriff P. L. Flores said several homes in low areas, usually occupied by migrant workers now out of the state, were forced open so household goods could be removed.

The river earlier in the week forced an estimated 4,000 persons from their homes for a time 56 miles upstream in Del Rio, Tex., and its sister city of Ciudad Acuna, Mexico.

Vapor lights removed from the Laredo international bridge Friday night in expectation of water going over the span were replaced today. The bridge railings had been loosened for quick removal, also, but were tightened during the afternoon when officials decided water would not reach them.

The tumbling river is restoring thousands of acre feet of badly needed irrigation to Lake Falcon. The lake level climbed to 1,400,000 acre feet of water Saturday.

The lake went above one million acre feet Thursday for the first time in more than four months. An acre foot is 325,851 gallons.

The usually listless Rio Grande—known as the Rio Bravo in Mexico—normally is 2 to 4 feet deep at Laredo.

Falcon Dam, which has been very low for some time, will retain most of the flood water, thereby preventing any threat to the flat plains of the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Upstream at Eagle Pass, Tex., and Piedras Negras, Mexico, up to 5,500 persons fled their homes ahead of high water. About 500 were on the U. S. side.

Scattered showers fell in other areas of the state Saturday, and they were expected to continue through Sunday as a new cool front moves across the state.

The cool front edged past Amarillo Saturday afternoon, and temperatures over the state at the time were mostly in the 70s and 80s.

The Texas Highway Department reported most highways and roads flooded earlier in the week open to traffic.

Fatigue can often be traced to an eye condition, according to eyesight specialists across the nation.

"Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision with an annual, professional eye examination by a Doctor of Optometry," advises Dr. S. J. Rogers of Texas State Optical.

Consult your telephone directory for the TSO office nearest you.

Other Churches To Join Crusade

Two other Latin American Baptist churches in this area are planning for evangelistic services this week as part of a statewide crusade.

In addition to two churches in Big Spring and one at Garden City, the Coahoma Baptist Mission at Vincent and the Temple Baptist Church at Ackery have scheduled services during this week. This is part of a special effort to reach some 2½ million unevangelized Latin Americans in the state.

Farm Home Loan Program Beamed To Young Folk

Emphasis is being placed upon helping young farmers become established as operators, said Lee R. Tunnell, county supervisor for Farmers Home Administration.

During the past year 1,000 farmers less than 35 years of age have received financial and technical assistance from FHA in Texas. This continues as a major endeavor during the coming year "to assist young farmers in accomplishing the extremely difficult task of acquiring the capital and skill needed to take over farming from their retiring elders."

In Howard and Glasscock counties, added Tunnell, there are 21 young farm families with FHA loans to assist in purchase of land, construction of essential farm buildings, the acquisition of livestock and machinery, and for further development of resources.

He said that assistance is available to those who cannot qualify for private financing if the young families meet other eligibility requirements and have the ability and desire to become established successfully in farming and ranching operations.

Completion Of El Chamizal Deal Not Due Until 1968

By GARTH JONES

EL PASO (AP)—The presidents of the United States and Mexico closed the Chamizal land trade here Friday, but don't start looking for that new boundary line yet.

Final settlement of the century-old dispute will occur only when the United States has acquired title to all land in the Chamizal area and all persons have vacated their property.

Then Mexico will get 630 acres in dispute for 100 years in return. Texas will receive 193 acres held undisputedly by Mexico. A new concrete channel of the Rio Grande will become the international boundary.

The target date for completion of the entire project is 1968.

However, the final handshake between the two nations' chief executives gave the green light for redeveloping the Chamizal area that was cut away from Mexico by a change of course in the Rio Grande.

By Oct. 1 about 50 persons will be working to speed achievement of what has been called Mexico's greatest diplomatic triumph in dealings with the United States. Joseph Friedman, U.S. member of the International Boundary and Water Commission, will be in charge.

Real estate appraising will be the first task. A total of $44.9 million has been authorized for the Chamizal, including $32 million earmarked for purchase of property. It is expected that all the property will be ready for turning over to Mexico within two years.

Meanwhile, two new international crossing points and the various customs inspection and immigration facilities will be constructed at a cost of $3 million to $4 million.

Work will start on digging the new river channel, to be concrete lined. This job will take at least 18 months.

The bridge and channel projects will be financed and constructed jointly by the two nations.

Construction Jobs Moving Rapidly

Progress on a number of Big Spring construction projects is moving along rapidly, although the siege of wet weather this week temporarily slowed portions of the work, several builders reported.

Construction activity in general was moving at a fast pace this month, considerably above the August total, with more than $600,000 in building permits already taken out through Friday.

Permits were taken out for two major projects, the remodeling of the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, with a permit of $144,184, and the new Americana motel on north IS 20, west of US 87, for $260,000.

SHOPPING CENTER

The first work is due to get under way this week on the new Highland South shopping center, at FM 700 and US 87. Grading work will first begin on the project, Kent Morgan, one of the developers, said this week.

Work on the Ponderosa Apartment project, west of the present Ponderosa unit, is about one-third completed, Morgan said, with the new apartment addition expected to be ready for occupancy by about Dec. 1. The contractor, West Texas Builders of Lubbock, which is also contractor for the Highland South center, has about completed the framing up work, Morgan said.

Two church projects, the First Baptist Church on west Marcy Drive and the College Baptist Church, 1702 Eleventh Place, are also well under way.

The earth fill work is completed at the First Baptist, along with the main sanctuary footings and retaining wall for the south portion, according to John Gary, of Gary and Hohertz, architects. The stems for the structural steel for the south classroom wing are also completed.

Steel erection will start next on the south classroom wing, along with foundation work on the north classroom wing and the north portion of the sanctuary. Brick work will get under way in about six to eight weeks.

Framing for the new sanctuary of the College Baptist has been completed, with the exterior sheathing and brick work to begin next, Gary said. The sanctuary should be completed by about Dec. 1. The roofing and interior finishing will also begin soon, with the project moving into the final stages.

College Baptist's superstructure is well along.

Work is progressing on construction of the new Jet drive-in theatre, which will replace that on Highway 87. New location is on the old San Angelo highway, opposite the City Park entrance, where the Terrace once operated.

REBUILDING

However, there will be a complete rebuilding process, said owner Ike Robb. The parking ramps are being prepared to accommodate 770 cars, as against the present Jet's 600.

A new scree to be erected will be 42 by 92 feet in size, contrasted to the present Jet's 40 by 88.

The new concession house is being erected, and will be of brick construction and air-conditioned. The new Jet entrance—from the north side—will provide a longer drive to handle more cars during entrance periods.

Foundation work has been under way at the new Americana motel, north of IS 20, and the exterior brick work has been completed at the Towncliff Shopping Center at East Marcy Drive and Birdwell Lane.

GOOD MONTH

A new building at 2204 Gregg St. is nearing completion with paving of the area around the structure to begin after the weather clears up again, according to Bob McAdams, a local builder. The project will house a new laundry service.

High month thus far this year for construction has been June, with more than $1,029,000 in permits taken out. Total for the year is now more than $3,500,000.

September's permit totals put the month as the second highest for the year thus far.

Take Care Of The Boy

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of an eight-year-old boy from a former marriage. My present husband is insanely jealous of my son and I think it is because the boy looks so much like his real father. My husband and I work different shifts. He has to leave the house at 3:30 p.m., and I don't get home until 6:00 p.m. My husband insists that the boy is old enough to stay alone and he won't let me get anyone in to stay with him. Abby, I am practically out of my mind worrying about what can happen to my little boy until I get home. He means the world to me. I am constantly pulled between my husband and my son. I love my husband, too, but my son means more to me than life itself. Please tell me what to do soon.

DEAR UNHAPPY: If your son really means more to you than "life itself," quit your job and live on what your husband earns. That way you'll be able to stay at home and be a full-time mother to the boy who "means the world" to you. Otherwise, continue to work and hire someone to look after your son during your absence. And if your husband doesn't like it, tell him to do what Ben Franklin did—to go fly a kite!

DEAR ABBY: I was recently invited to a miscellaneous bridal shower for the daughter of a friend of mine. Since the shower gifts were not confined to "kitchen" or anything special, I thought a Bible would be a very welcome and unique gift. I bought the nicest Bible I could find and had it beautifully gift-wrapped and presented it to the bride at the shower. When she opened my gift, she remarked, "Oh, dear, if I had wanted a Bible I could have STOLEN one from any hotel room."

Everyone laughed, but I had a lump in my throat the size of a lemon. Do you think my gift was inappropriate, and I would like your opinion of the bride.

IOWA READER
DEAR READER: I think your gift was wonderfully appropriate. If the bride was attempting to be "funny," her judgment was poor. And if she was serious, you obviously cast pearls before a swine.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T SLEEP" IN OAK PARK: You need another ex-wife to support like a drowning man needs water. Think it over.

Problem? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Coahoma Lions Hear Talk On Soviet System

COAHOMA — A Coahoma high school student, Eddie McHugh, discussed the Communist system and the American heritage in a talk to the Coahoma Lions Club Thursday.

A star halfback on the Coahoma high football team this year, McHugh was a delegate to a five-day seminar at Sam Houston State College, Huntsville, on the Communist system. He was one of three youths selected to attend the conference from this area, all sponsored by the Howard County Farm Bureau.

McHugh described how the Communist system arose in Russia and how the American political system may be considered soft and hard regarding communism. He is the son of

Sports Background Pays Off In Oklahoma Politics

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—In Oklahoma, it helps to have a sports background to carve out a career in politics. At least three Oklahomans of athletic fame have found this to be true.

Bud Wilkinson, Allie Reynolds and Tom Sturdivant have proved the drawing power of their reputations at the Oklahoma polls. All three face a final test in the Nov. 3 general election.

Wilkinson, who led University of Oklahoma football teams on the glory trail for 17 seasons, retired after the 1963 competition to run as a Republican for the U.S. Senate. He won the nomination in the May 5 primary.

Reynolds, onetime mainstay of the New York Yankee baseball pitching staff, has made a name for himself in state business circles. Now, he's running for state senator on the Democratic ticket. He won the nomination in a runoff primary May 28.

Sturdivant, the only one of the trio till active in sports, is tending to his duties as a pitcher for the New York Mets while running for the Oklahoma Senate as a Republican.

Reynolds and Sturdivant are from Oklahoma City but are in different districts.

Oklahomans are proud of their athletes' achievements and speak of the OU football team almost with reverence. They remember Reynolds' two no-hit games and his seasons as the star pitcher while the Yankees rolled to five world championships from 1949 through 1953.

They recall the Sooners' 47-game football winning streak under Wilkinson and the Oklahoma national championship teams in 1950, 1955 and 1956. And they still keep up with Sturdivant, who started his baseball career with the Yankees.

Oklahoma has produced many great athletes—the late Indian football immortal Jim Thorpe among the foremost.

Others have included pitcher Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants and Pepper Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals, the late football coach Steve Owen and such present day baseball stars as Mickey Mantle.

But only this year have any athletes shown much inclination to turn politician in a state where athletics is a strong part of the environment.

Meeting Scheduled

The Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers will conduct a membership campaign from October 1, through October 21. The campaign entitled "Operation Snowball" will be initiated with a dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Sands Motel Aloha Room in Midland. The buffet dinner, which will cost $2.50 per person, will be preceded with a social hour.

Alamo City Sets Huge 'Hemisfair'

By RONNIE THOMPSON
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Long noted for its fiestas, this Spanish-American city wants a fiesta to top all fiestas on its 250th anniversary in 1968.

Plans center on an $85 million hemisfair—short for hemisphere fair—to salute all the Americas.

San Antonio, 700,000 people where the name Rodriguez appears as often as Smith, is a center of inter-American culture and trade.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzales, D-Tex., said two years ago it would be fitting for the city to be host for the first "Fair of the Americas."

MONEY RAISED
His idea is well past the talking stage. Money has been raised and a staff hired.

Backers want nothing short of the Seattle World's Fair of 1962. They express the idea that if Seattle—a smaller city—can do it, San Antonio can.

Ewin Dingwall, who directed the Seattle fair, has the $40,000-a-year post to stage Hemisfair.

Much of the enthusiasm may have been prompted by the picture painted by a research firm that said:

Hemisfair will create 40,000 man years of employment directly and indirectly.

During its construction, Hemisfair will increase retail sales $175 million.

A total of $86 million to $112 million of new wholesale sales will be generated.

Earlier this year voters overwhelmingly approved the largest bond program in the city's history—a $30 million issue geared mainly to support Hemisfair.

A $10 million convention center forming a hub of the fair was included.

It took Bill Sinkin, department store chain owner and president of the fair, and his group only five months to have a $7.5 million underwritten by businessmen.

Raising $3.5 million in Seattle was a four-year job.

The fair will spread over an 85-acre urban renewal area on the fringe of downtown. It is bordered on one side by the Alamo and another by La Villita, a cluster of buildings of the original San Antonio.

Permanent buildings, to be used only temporarily by Hemisfair, will be constructed when structures in the urban renewal area are demolished.

After a 184-day run, the fair will leave to the city the convention center, exhibit areas, an inter-American trade institute, stadium, military museum and library. Any profits go to the city.

DIVERT RIVER
Architects have plans to divert part of San Antonio River, which winds through downtown, through the fair grounds.

President Lyndon B. Johnson praised the exposition as "dedicated to the advancement of social, economic, and cultural well-being" of all peoples in the Americas. He said it "will not only be a symbol, but a product of our unity."

Dingwall said "this is the first time Latin American countries have been the focal points of a fair."

"They participated in Seattle, New York and Brussels, but this is the first time they are the featured performers."

Response from North and South America has been encouraging, he said.

A Mexico City public relations firm with offices in 12 Latin American countries—Brazil, Colombia, Chile, Peru, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Mexico, Panama, Uruguay, Nicaragua and Venezuela—has been retained to promote the fair.

EXHIBITS
Each country in the Western Hemisphere with the exception of Cuba will be invited to build a pavilion or exhibit area.

Several things make Dingwall think the fair will be successful.

In contrast to New York and Brussels, but true in Seattle, the fair will leave behind a permanent physical plant.

The city itself as host is unusual and distinctive. Its deeply Spanish-American flavor and long history of being a Spanish city make it inviting to a tourist.

The Olympics are in Mexico City the same year. San Antonio will be the funneling point for tourists traveling to Mexico City from the East and West. Hemisfair will operate before and after the games.

Dingwall likes to call it a "jewel-box fair—small, compact, but beautiful and colorful."

LARGER
Hemisfair with its 85 acres is larger than the Seattle fair, which covered 74, and smaller than the New York fair which has 550 acres.

Construction begins in 1965 and 1966.

FIGHTING TO STAY FREE

Billie Sol Estes Has Quiet, Busy Abilene Life

By FINIS MOTHERHEAD
ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes, whose West Texas financial empire crashed in a national scandal, now lives a quiet but busy life here, fighting attempts to put him in prison and interesting himself in dozens of potential new projects.

The boyish-looking tycoon, not yet 40, no longer has the $130,000 house in the little town of Pecos. Although bankrupt, he resides now in a $50,000 home, drives an air-conditioned Cadillac, and occasionally relaxes on a lawn sloping down to a private dock and fishing pier.

LITTLE TIME
There is little time for relaxation. Estes is appealing two prison sentences against him, and further trials lie ahead.

Frequent trips take him away from the handsome lakefront home in an exclusive Abilene subdivision, and his telephone rings constantly.

While avoiding direct comment on most matters, Estes and his comely blonde wife Patsy make no bones about wanting to live quietly and to maintain a normal home atmosphere for their five children—four daughters and a son ranging from 7 to 16 years old.

But he was not able to keep his name out of the presidential campaign. As expected, the Republicans opened fire on both the Estes and the Bobby Baker cases.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, campaigning across the nation, charged that the Estes case had grave reflections right across the White House. It was, said the Republican presidential candidate, "more than just a scandal... a sordid picture of favoritism and fraud. It is a study in the operations and attitudes of some of the top officials of government, many of whom are still with us."

Estes, who once associated with some leading Democrats, declines to discuss politics or personal hopes for the future—just as firmly as he refused to talk when a Senate committee sought to quiz him about charges of using gifts and influence with Agriculture Department employees during the Kennedy administration.

INADVISABLE
Aside from the press of personal affairs, he points out that his legal involvements make it inadvisable to court public attention.

Except to acknowledge the loan of his name to possible new enterprises and to a non-profit corporation for aiding underprivileged persons, Estes won't discuss anything else he may be doing.

"But here's a clue," he said, displaying half a page of undecipherable notes on a home telephone scratch pad. "Right there are some pretty important things developing in 15 or 20 states."

Once the Estes home phone was unlisted in an effort to avoid hundreds of unsolicited—and often unpleasant—calls. The maneuver proved ineffective. Since the family moved here a year ago from Pecos, 250 miles to the west, the number has appeared in the directory.

RANG STEADILY
During a reporter's recent visit, the telephone rang steadily. Seven times while they were at lunch Mrs. Estes answered, and each time she called her husband from the table. As often as not the calls appeared to come from other cities.

"Sometimes I wish he had an office downtown again," she sighed, with a good-humored grimace, "the way people keep phoning. We even had an unlisted phone while for our daughters (two are teenagers), but everybody seemed to learn it without any trouble."

Estes, black haired and bespectacled, looks physically trim and much more relaxed than during his 1962 and 1963 trials on charges of swindling and fraud.

He displayed interest but did not seem disturbed at the government's current move to revoke a $100,000 appeal bond and put him behind bars at once.

"As far as I know, my lawyers will handle that," he said.

The government contends that since the U.S. Court of Appeals has refused to set aside his 15-year sentence for mail fraud

'In Memory'

Lester Maddox points to monument he built "in memory of private property rights." Inside the monument is a casket along with a copy of the U.S. Constitution and Declaration of Independence. The monument, 38 feet high and cost $5,000, is at the site of his restaurant in Atlanta, Ga. He closed rather than serve Negroes. Maddox will reopen the restaurant today but under another name. Asked if he would serve Negroes he said "everyone knows my stand on that question." (AP WIREPHOTO)

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Texas Air Tour Due Saturday At Airport

The 16th All Texas Air Tour, (including some pilots from out of state again) will hit Big Spring Saturday for its first overnight stop. Naturally, a big time is being planned for the pilots and passengers making the 3,012-mile tour. The more than 50, and possibly 75, air planes will begin setting down at Howard County Airport any time after 4:30 p.m., although scheduled time is 5:05 p.m.

Volunteers will furnish transportation to the Settles Hotel. Each driver will be assigned occupants of one airplane. He will take them to the hotel, and return them to the airport next Sunday morning. If possible, he will also transport them, at 8:45 p.m. Saturday, to Cosden Country Club for two hours of fellowship, dinner, and entertainment. The "treat" will be on the Ambassadors Club of the Chamber of Commerce, and will include some special music and entertainment by a Midland orchestra.

FIRST STOP
Big Spring will be the end of the first day's hop of 287 miles from Temple. Stops will also be made at Brownwood and San Angelo. When the tour leaves here Sunday morning it will make the 296-mile flight to El Paso where members will be treated to all kinds of entertainment, including horse races and a jaunt into Juarez.

After leaving El Paso Monday, Oct. 5, the other overnight stops on the week's tour will be Plainview, Arlington, Lubbock, Brantleyville, Port Isabel and San Antonio.

"Howdy" and lunch-stops will be made at: Wink, Lamesa, Lubbock, Hereford, Amarillo, Borger, Snyder, Quanah, Wichita Falls, Graham, Cleburne, Sulphur Springs, Tyler, Austin, Castroville, Laredo, Kingsville, Sinton, Palacios and Victoria.

Dr. Fred Lurting, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, has announced that four to five airplanes, carrying members of the Ambassadors Club will leave Big Spring about 4 p.m. Oct. 2. They will fly to Temple where they will spend the night, visiting and getting acquainted with members of the tour. They will also carry literature about the city for distribution to those joining in the flight.

AVIATION PROMOTION
E. M. Anderson, president of Texas Air Tours, Inc., says the corporation is dedicated to the development of general aviation through the promotion of aviation appreciation and aviation education.

"It is through air transportation that the community is provided with a most vital link in forging the anchor chain of economic stability," he said. "The Air Tour's annual mass flights are planned to stimulate a community interest in and appreciation for the local airport facilities and to help impress upon the citizens, the great potential of air transportation. In these pilots from Mexico, California, Illinois and other states, have joined in for the sheer pleasure of flying and getting acquainted with Texas and Texas people. They are expected to be with the tour again this year.

'Lady Bird Special' To Seek Demo Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's whistle stop train — painted red, white and blue — will carry Dixie Democratic leaders along a 1,628-mile route Oct. 6-9 through Southern states holding 86 electoral votes.

The President is making plans to drop in along the route of the "Lady Bird Special" and may turn out to see his wife's entourage depart.

The First Lady's trip is shaping up as a major effort to enlist Southern voters and Southern leaders behind Johnson.

The White House announced Saturday that five Southern governors and four U.S. senators will be among honorary chairmen for the eight-state swing.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, former governor of North Carolina, and Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

LBJ Plans Monday Trip

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson will visit all the New England states except Massachusetts on Monday, the traveling White House announced Saturday.

Johnson will make speaking appearances in Providence, R.I., Hartford, Conn., Burlington, Vt., Portland, Maine, and Manchester, N.H.

There had been speculation he might also stop at Boston to visit Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who is recovering from brain injuries suffered in an airplane crash last June.

George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, said nothing like that was on the schedule. However, Johnson in the past has added stops on short notice.

Former Sen. Theodore Francis Green, D-R.I., will meet Johnson at Providence's Green airport and join him in a motorcade to the Brown University campus where the President will address Brown's 200th anniversary convocation.

Court Dismisses Goldwater Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A question over the legality of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater's right to run for President was dismissed in Supreme Court Friday at the same time the Republican nominee for President was speaking here.

Justice John H. Brennan rejected a suit filed by Ralph Ginsburg of the Bronx. Ginsburg contended Goldwater was not a "natural born" U.S. citizen because he was born in Arizona three years before it became a state.

Registration Is 881 At HCJC

Final registration figures at Howard County Junior College showed 881 signed up for work during the fall semester.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said this compared with 871 at the end of registration a year ago. In this year's total, however, are 446 full time students, a gain of 57 over the fall semester of last year. This means around 660 semester hours more work, the real gauge of the amount of college work being taken. It also is the basis on which state aid is paid. The gain in this area may be up to 10 per cent.

THE WEEK

ter grass in the flats as a result.

That curve in US 87, about 17 miles northwest of Sterling City, claimed another victim last week. Airman Donald E. Car-mean, corpsman at the Webb AFB Hospital, was killed instantly when his small car rolled over a rain slick road with a truck and trailer. In almost the same spot in early August, an Austin couple was killed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bosse of Lansing, Ill., paused in Dallas long enough to drop a note saying: "We'd like to thank the kind Texas man, driving a pickup truck, who so kindly helped us out of a little Texas mud. We slipped into the berm; he noticed our predicament and stopped to help us. It was on a broad curve just past the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring."

It makes us proud when our young people show real achievement, and such is the case in the National Merit Scholarship tests. There were five from Big Spring High School — probably the largest number from a single school in West Texas — who became semi-finalists. They are John A. Thomas, Kathryn J. Seddon, Nancy J. Thomas, Cynthia Ann Nolen and Richard J. Ream Jr.

Another reminder in event it has slipped your mind: Membership enrollment (adults $9, students $4) for the Big Spring Concert season is now under way. Offerings for the year include Mantovani and his orchestra; the Broadway comedy hit, "Never Too Late"; and Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt, famous duet. This column will be happy to assist you in signing for season tickets.

Speaking of entertainment, the Civic Theatre is preparing for the Oct. 23 (that's Friday and Saturday) presentation of "Solid Gold Cadillac." This is only one of an ambitious schedule for the season, which includes "Hansel and Gretel," Dec. 11-12; "Bus Stop," Feb. 12-13; "All the King's Men," April 2-3; "The Man Who Came to Dinner," May 14-15.

The upcoming weekend will bring some other activities, including the overnight stop of the Texas Air Tour. This will bring some 150-175 private fliers to our city Saturday evening. Then on Monday (Oct. 5), Hal Woodward, state highway commissioner, will do the honors when the Interstate 20 Highway loop is dedicated here as part of National Highway Week observance. Service clubs will meet jointly with the Jaycees for this occasion.

Howard County Junior College topped the 880 mark in its final registration figure. This is only about one per cent over last year in head count, but the number of fulltime students (which really reflects the class load) is up 15 per cent. Besides those signed for college credit courses, HCJC has over 50 others in adult vocational courses.

The Shrine Circus was all but rained out Thursday, but the show went on because tightly scheduled dates would not permit a delay. However, few will complain at not being able to use pre-sale tickets because proceeds go to finance the Shrine hospitals for crippled children and for burn centers.

Anyone have any extra or unused putters? Most of those for the Big Spring State Hospital miniature golf course have broken shafts. Some replacements are needed so the course, given by the Downtown Lions, can be enjoyed.

Frankly, White House spokesmen say, this journey's aim is — "to visit and to elect Democrats." Bills are being footed by the Democratic National Committee.

Mrs. Johnson and her two daughters, Lynda, 20, and Luci, 17, will make brief speeches to the crowds. Fifteen Ladies for Lyndon will act as hostesses in a hospitality car for local dignitaries.

The governors, who will come aboard with their wives and serve as honorary chairmen, are Albertis S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia; Terry Sanford of North Carolina; Donald S. Russell of South Carolina; Farris Bryant of Florida and Carl Sanders of Georgia. None of them is engaged in personal election battles this year.

Sanford and Bryant can't succeed themselves in office, and the Democratic gubernatorial candidates in their states are Dan K. Moore of North Carolina and Haydon Burns, mayor of Jacksonville, Fla., have been invited aboard to ride the First Lady's train in their states, too.

In Louisiana, the White House said, Sens. Allen J. Ellender and Russell B. Long, also not up for re-election this time, will be honorary co-chairmen for their state, and similarly safe Sens. Lister Hill and John J. Sparkman, will be the Alabama co-chairmen.

Directing the campaign in Mississippi is Douglas C. Wynn, a Greenville attorney, who heads the Johnson for President organization in his state.

Two county accidents were reported Friday. Mrs. Patricia Ann Miles, wife of Stephen Miles, Webb AFB, was taken to the base hospital for treatment of bruises received in a one-car accident west of Coahoma.

In the first accident, Carl Benson, 1745 Purdie, assistant district superintendent for Phillips Petroleum Corp., was in collision with a horse 11.3 miles south of Big Spring on FM 33, at 4:30 p.m. Highway patrolmen said the horse started across the highway in front of Benson, he applied his brakes and skidded into the animal. The horse's head went through the windshield of Benson's car. About $500 in damage was estimated to the car. Benson was not injured.

The second accident, 3.9 miles west of Coahoma on the IS 20 south service road, occurred when Stephen Miles, going east, came upon a car parked in the middle of the road without lights. Miles swerved to miss the car, turned back, and skidded into the south borrow ditch where his car turned over. Damage to his car was estimated at $300.

No one was injured. The mayor and his wife were home at the time.

Chief Robinson said "everything that can be done to apprehend those responsible is being done." It was the second time the mayor and contractor Willie Washington had been singled out by night riders.

Republican Women Vote Two Strong Resolutions

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The National Federation of Republican Women hit Saturday at the U.S. Supreme Court and two Democratic Senate candidates, Robert F. Kennedy and Pierre Salinger.

The women, holding their national convention, voted to urge Congress to draft two constitutional amendments that would:

— "Prevent the Supreme Court from intervening in legislative and political areas where it has no constitutional right to act."

The vote followed a strong speech by Ivy Baker Priest, Stevens, wife of a California businessman, who served as treasurer of the United States under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Stevens charged that President Johnson "talks out of both sides of his mouth" and said "socialism can and is coming to this country" under the Democratic administration.

The first resolution denounced the Supreme Court for ruling that representation in both houses of state legislatures be based on population. The resolution said that decision "is a nullification of almost 200 years of constitutional practice."

The second measure, although it names no names, was clearly aimed at Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., and former Atty. Gen. Kennedy. It said, "Two candidates currently running for the United States Senate are neither inhabitants nor qualified voters of the states they seek to represent."

The resolution criticized "the device of selecting highly publicized personalities and imposing them upon selected states, together with unlimited campaign funds and a powerful centrally directed political machine."

NEW YORK (AP) — A presidential panel offered Saturday a set of recommendations aimed at heading off a Maine to Texas dock strike by 60,000 workers threatened for midnight Wednesday.

The main proposal, urging a reduction in work gang sizes in exchange for a guaranteed annual wage, was aimed at one of the major issues separating the International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shippers Association.

The New York contract usually sets the pattern for agreements all along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. But this year an impasse developed over the shippers' demand that the gangs consist of less than 20 men.

The panel, headed by Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds, recommended a work gang reduction of from 20 down to 17 men over a three year period.

To offset union objections, a spokesman said, the panel offered a guaranteed annual wage, computed at 75 per cent of a worker's average wage earnings during 1963-65.

Other recommendations include a 35 cents an hour wage and benefit boost over three years, with 10 cents effective immediately, increased pension benefits to encourage faster retirement, changes in seniority patterns, control of absenteeism and changes in worker flexibility patterns.

Although the three-man panel was divided on some issues, they all agreed on the need for a reduction in gang size.

The union has vehemently fought past attempts by the NYSA to alter gang size or seniority patterns.

Two panel members, Reynolds and Professor James Healy of the Harvard School of Business Administration, recommended a four-year contract. Arbitrator Theodore Kheel urged a five-year agreement, with wages subject to renegotiation in the fourth year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whooping cranes apparently are making their annual migration south early this year.

The Fish and Wildlife Service reported a whooper was sighted Friday at the Salt Plains National Wildlife Refuge near Jet, Okla.

Records kept since 1938 show the earliest arrival of a whooper at their regular wintering grounds in Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas coast is Oct. 4.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he expects approval for:

1. A plan to expand the Junior Reserve Officers Training Course now operating in 254 high and preparatory schools to 1,200 over the next five years.

McNamara opposes expansion of the high school units, saying

Lockhart Dies Of Heart Attack

AUSTIN (AP) — Bob R. Lockhart, 48, office manager of Austin's Johnson-Humphrey campaign headquarters, died Friday, apparently of a heart attack.

Lockhart was a native of Houston and came to Austin after World War II.

Barbara Campbell, 2900 Parkway, told police at 1:50 a.m. Saturday that someone had opened the vent glass on her car and then opened the door, while she was at the midnight show. She said a purse and $11.50 in cash was gone.

Police Check Thefts Of Money

C. W. (Buddy) Proffitt, Standard Sales at 108 Lancaster, reported the theft of $94.95 in cash and $32.70 in checks from a truck parked at the office Friday. Proffitt said the driver, Chuck Martin, said he left the money folded in a magazine on the front seat of the vehicle at 7:30 a.m. and that it was gone at 1:50 p.m.

Union Talks Begin Again

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and the striking United Auto Workers set up a quick resumption of negotiations Saturday for a contract agreement to get the corporation's paralyzed car plants back into production.

Talks, suspended since Friday when more than a quarter-million workers walked out, will start again at 2 p.m. Sunday.

GM and United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther announced the scheduled resumption in separate statements.

Both announcements came approximately at noon, or in the 26th hour of a UAW strike that closed most of GM's plants from coast to coast.

The UAW walked out in its "selective" GM strike at 10 a.m. Friday, the union deadline, after failure of negotiators to agree on a new three-year contract.

Neither the company nor union elaborated on the statements on the resumption of talks.

The government hailed the decision.

William Simkin, head of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the government was "encouraged." Simkin, though in Detroit recently, has kept aloof from the negotiations.

Both the union and corporation have indicated a preference to negotiate privately although Reuther, a day before the strike deadline, had proposed arbitration. General Motors rejected the proposal.

The union said its strike had nothing to do with a worker's pay check but was called over working conditions, including production rates.

General Motors already had agreed to match the higher pensions and other liberalized fringe benefits granted in prior UAW settlements for more than 200,000 Ford and Chrysler workers.

At the same time GM said it was willing to compare its plant conditions with those of any other manufacturer.

Truman Talks On Goldwater

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Asked if Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater would make a good President, former President Harry S. Truman, a Democrat, said yesterday in Liberty, Mo.:

De Gaulle Visits Heroes' Hall

LIMA, Peru (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle visited Lima's "Pantheon of the Heroes" Saturday and paid silent tribute to Peruvians who died in the country's fight for independence.

As he emerged a group of 30 to 50 students pushed through the crowd and shouted: "Francisco S. Yanke, no."

Police shoved the youths aside and the visiting French president ignored the incident.

Peruvians were giving the French leader one of the warmest welcomes ever accorded a visiting dignitary. Newspaper headlines atop full pages of pictures of De Gaulle proclaimed "the hero of France conquers Lima."

Surging crowds were held back by police lines as the French president arrived at the San Carlos Jesuit Church, converted in 1924 to a pantheon for Peru's dead heroes.

De Gaulle waved to the crowd as he entered the church.

An estimated 250,000 persons lined the streets and cheered the soldier-president when he arrived on the fourth day of his 10-nation South American good will tour. He leaves Monday for Bolivia.

Carr Asks Court To Stay Appeal

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr asked a federal court Saturday to stay, pending outcome of an appeal, a ruling that all military personnel can vote in Texas if they meet usual voting requirements.

The motion was sent to the three judges who made up the court: Circuit Judge John Brown of Houston; Dist. Judge Homer Thornberry of Austin and Dist. Judge Adrian Spears of San Antonio.

The court, sitting in San Antonio, issued the ruling Aug. 26. The ruling declared a 1954 amendment to the Texas Constitution violates the U.S. Constitution.

The amendment restricts servicemen to voting only in the county in which they resided at the time they entered the service.

Contacted in New York, an alarmed Walter Jetton raced to a telephone.

The caller turned out to be Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's social secretary who wanted to make arrangements for a barbecue.
Jetton was relieved.

WORRIED
"I was a little worried," he admitted. "When I heard Lyndon wanted me I figured I had gone and said something I shouldn't have—one of those quotes got turned around or something."

Jetton, undoubtedly Texas' most famous barbecue chef, has been recruited to cater Democratic fund raising events. He welcomes both the business and the opportunity to talk about his friend, Lyndon Johnson.

Jetton was known as "king of the barbecue men" long before Johnson became President. For years his mobile units traveled over Texas and the Southwest bringing custom feed-outs of barbecued beef and ribs, ranch-style beans, sour dough biscuits and fried pies to thousands.

ENTIRE TOWN

Once Jetton fed the entire town of Perryton, Tex. (population 6,800) when the local bank opened a new building and the town decided a celebration was in order.

He and Johnson crossed trails more than a dozen years ago, and since then Jetton has been summoned periodically to the LBJ Ranch to serve his spicy wares along the banks of the Pedernales River.

"When we go down to the ranch," he said, "we know exactly where to set up and what to do. We serve 'em under the live oak trees."

But, he said, eyeing a reporter squarely:
"I'm always afraid I'm going to say the wrong thing with all you fellows around."

One sojourn to the LBJ Ranch came shortly after Johnson became President and met there with German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

MISTAKEN

"I think some of those photographers—they were everywhere —may have mistaken me for Erhard after he put on a Western hat," chuckled Jetton.

whose girth approximates that of the chancellor.

Jetton has been described as "a short, round, bald, beaming man of 57 who looks like a car-toonist's impression of a chef."

He does business in a big way.
Each of his 17 trucks can serve up to 3,000 people. Each vehicle has a refrigeration unit, barbecue pit, oven, deep-fat cooker and water tank, along with a supply of cooking gas, charcoal, wood, tables, paper plates and cutlery.

Jetton and his lieutenants emphasize authentic western atmosphere along with the authentic western food. An old-fashioned chuck wagon goes on many of the trips to lend atmosphere and serve as a base of operations. Western garb is required of all personnel.

TRAVELS

On New Year's Day, the 240-pound Fort Worth barbecue king can be found in Dallas catering an informal press gathering prior to the Cotton Bowl game. The next day he might be taking his crew to the California hills or to an eastern hotel.

He takes obvious pride in his product, and adds a touch of showmanship. He might even be considered an amateur diplomat. After a rib rendezvous with then-Vice President Johnson and 30 delegates to the United Nations, he proclaimed:
"Good food is the greatest tool in the world to promote friendship. It seems you can make friends out of strangers at the drop of a fork."

Jetton's close relationship with the Johnson family once took him to Washington when he did not expect it. He tells the story this way:

He received a letter from Mrs. Johnson, when her husband was vice president, asking the secret of the famous Jetton barbecue sauce. She explained that Lynda Bird, her daughter, was having a "function" and wanted to serve barbecued ribs. Jetton style.

VOLUNTEERS

Assuming the affair would be at the ranch, Jetton volunteered to do the job himself, and charge the Johnsons only for the meat.

CESSNA 172-F CHOSEN FOR USE IN INITIAL FLIGHT TRAINING

Light Plane To Be Used In Pilot Indoctrination

Civilian contractors will train Air Force student pilots in initial flight training in the Cessna 172F light aircraft beginning in August, 1965.

The new program will utilize eight civilian contractors who will operate flying schools near existing Air Training Command (ATC) undergraduate pilot training bases.

The bases are Webb AFB, Big Spring; Craig AFB, Ala.; Laredo AFB, Tex.; Laughlin AFB,
Tex.; Moody AFB, Ga.; Reese
AFB, Tex.; Vance AFB, Okla.;

and Williams AFB, Ariz.

Civilian contractors will be selected by individual commanders following a call for bids at the training bases after Jan-1, 1965. Cessna's 172F, designated T-41A by the Air Force, will be civilian contractor operated to provide flying training in Phase 1 of primary of the Undergraduate Pilot Training Program. This will be a supplemental step for the current all-jet training.

Introduction of this aircraft permits expansion of the pilot training program at a reduced cost per pilot trained.

Light aircraft are now being used at a number of colleges and universities for ROTC cadet flight instruction. According to Air Force studies, ROTC graduates of the flight instruction course have a lower attrition rate in jet training than other students.

Students in the new program will enter 53 weeks of training instead of the present 55. Total flying hours will be reduced to 240 from 262 hours.

Student pilots who have not received flight indoctrination training in ROTC will spend 30 hours in the T-41A. ROTC graduates will receive approximately 12 hours. All trainees will receive 210 hours. Ninety hours will be spent in the T-37 and 120 hours in the supersonic T-38.

Cessna Aircraft Company was low bidder at a cost of $1,239, 650 for 170 of the light aircraft.
Top speed at sea level of the T-41A is 121 m.p.h. Service ceiling is 16,150 feet. Some 630 feet is required for runway takeoff.
Total gross weight is 2,000 pounds. Wing span is 36 feet, two inches, and the length is 26 feet, six inches.

UF Kickoff Set At Webb

Kickoff of the United Fund drive at Webb AFB has been set for Wednesday, according to Lt. Col. Bedford H. Underwood.
Col. Underwood has named project officers for various units, and these officers will select their workers.

Also on tap to get the base drive off to a good start will be the United Fund slow-pitch double-header in soft ball set for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday on the ball diamond across from the base theater.

Games will be between the over-35 officers going against the over-35 airmen and under-35 officers playing the under-35 airmen.

Individuals interested in playing in this unusual double-header should submit their names to the Comptroller Office, Ext. 303.
The Air Force Aid Society is one of the 13 organizations that operate from United Fund monies. There is no separate Air Force Aid Society drive at Webb.

Organizations that share in the United Fund include Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts, Young Men's Christian Association, YMCA Lake View Branch, American Red Cross, Salvation
Army, Big Spring Milk and Ice
Fund, West Side Recreation Program, Big Spring Crippled Children's Center, Texas United Fund and the Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Production Credit Meeting Monday

General managers of 13 Production Credit Associations serving a 104-county area of West Texas, the High Plains and Panhandle, will gather in Midland Monday for their semi-annual conference.

The one-day business session will open at 8:30 a.m. at the Ramada Inn.

In addition to the association managers, others expected to attend the conference will be representatives of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for all 36 PCAs in Texas, and Roy Scudday of Fort Worth, state public relations director for the associations. David K. Workman, Stanton, will attend.

The thirteen home-owned and operated agricultural financing institutions provide more than $15,000,000 each year in loans to farmers, ranchers and dairymen in their 104-county area.

Proud Airmen Ready To Pass Out The Cigars

Thursday will be cigar and candy passing time at Webb AFB as 139 spanking new stripes accompany the bearers' wide smiles return "thank you" after being congratulated on their promotions to the next higher grade.

The 139 airmen will pass out the traditional smokes and confectionary indicative of their advancement.

LOSERS HELD TO A MERE TWO FIRST DOWNS

Texas Longhorns Rattle Raiders, 23-0

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Defending national champion Texas crushed Texas Tech 23-0 Saturday night for its 13th straight victory and slammed into the lead in its search for a record third straight Southwest Conference football title.

The last half was played in a driving rain. A record 47,100 fans huddled in the stands.

Turning to the forward pass, with quarterbacks Jim Hudson and Marvin Kristynik at the throttle, Texas rolled easily over the hopeful Red Raiders, while a leathery defense held Tech to two first downs.

Tech got no farther than its 43-yard line except in the closing minutes when David Baugh, son of the immortal Sam, intercepted a pass from sub-quarterback Gary Moore and ran to the Texas 39.

Passes to Sandy Sands set up two Texas touchdowns, Kristynik's passing and Ernie Koy's running led to another and Olen Underwood blocked a Donny Anderson kick and the ball rolled out of the end zone for a Texas safety.

The crowd was the largest in Lubbock history, bettering by more than 5,000 the previous high set by the Texas-Texas Tech game in 1962, when 42,000 saw the game.

In the closing minutes things got a trifle hot and at one jun-ture Bill Malone, Tech tackle, took a punch at Barney Giles, Texas guard. Malone was put out of the game.

Texas was running up its longest winning streak in history bettering a 12-0 record set three times by the university over the past half-century.

The game Saturday night was the opening conference test and the only conference game played thus far.

Army scouts in the press box got an eyeful as Texas unlimbered a deadly passing attack. The Longhorns never have been known for passing, but they went at it from the start. Texas plays Army at Austin next week.

Tech was held to 104 yards total offense, 75 of it on the ground. It made only one first down under its own power. The other came as the result of a Texas penalty.

On the other hand, Texas racked up almost 300 yards with 132 of it in the air.

Tech never passed midfield in the first half and got only to its 43 except when it heaved its 47 on a pass only to have it wiped out by a 15-yard penalty.

Texas rolled up 174 yards and 10 first downs in the first half. The Longhorns reached the Tech 34 but lost the ball on a fumble in the first period. They reached the Tech 37 in the second period in addition to its scoring jaunt set up by a Tech fumble.

The first touchdown came when Diron Talbert hit Tom Wilson of Tech so hard he dropped the ball and Howard Goad recovered on the Tech 26. Hudson passed 16 to Sands, Koy ripped off six and Harold Philipp smashed through for the touchdown. David Conway converted.

Oh, For A Brea'-A-Way Jersey

Although the Coahoma Bulldogs whipped the Big Spring B team Saturday night in Coahoma, 28-8, the score would have been at least six points higher if Coahoma's Eddie McHugh had a tear-away jersey. In the above action, Big Spring's Donnie Anderson

(22) made a fine defensive play and stopped McHugh from going all the way in the third quarter as Anderson was the last Big Spring player to be tackled by Coahoma's Eddie McHugh (84) of the Bulldogs is coming up to enter the action. (Photo by Jimmy Townes)

Eddie McHugh Leads Coahoma To Victory

By PAT WASHBURN
COAHOMA — Spike Dykes' Coahoma Bulldogs proved conclusively here Saturday night to a stunned Big Spring B team when it took the field in the second half. The Bulldogs scored the first time they got the ball, going 49 yards in three plays, capped with a scoring strike from Marshall Williams to end Dean Bohannon good for 43 yards. McHugh added two points over right tackle.

Then to put the icing on the results, Coahoma put in another six points with 6:07 left in the game as fullback Tony Butler hammered across from the 2½-yard line after a short Steer boot and McHugh's return had put the ball on the Big Spring 21. Williams had set up the six points with an 11-yard gallop that had given the Bulldogs a first and goal to go situation. McHugh again went over right tackle for two points.

Coahoma controlled the entire game, especially in rushing yardage as the Bulldogs racked up 44½ yards to the Steers 118. Coahoma's edge in first downs, 20-6, told the entire story.

The two sensational gallops gave the Bulldogs a hard-earned 12-8 lead at halftime as the Steers got their lone TD with 8:36 showing on the clock in the second period. Beginning on their own 32, the Steers sent Bobby Baker over the middle on a standard dive play on the second play from scrimmage and 63 yards later he was hauled in on the Coahoma two. Two plays later Donnie Baker went over left guard for the Steers' only touchdown while quarterback Van Tom Whatley added the extra points around left end. Coahoma looked like it had just been toying in the first half

SA Lee Gets Past Runnels

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Lee resorted to the spectacular plays Saturday afternoon here as it edged past the Runnels Yearlings, 18-14, in a meeting of the ninth grades.

After garnering a first period safety by tackling Runnels quarterback Junior Mendoza in the end zone, Lee returned a punt for a 55-yard touchdown in the second quarter and the opening kickoff for 80-yard touchdown in the third quarter. Lee successfully completed a two-point play after each touchdown to provide the winning margin.

Runnels' first touchdown came in the second stanza as Mendoza raced 90 yards to the goal line after intercepting a Lee pass. Then in the third period Runnels again got on the board with another six points as Joe Robles went 41 yards around right end. Mendoza added two points around end and the contest's scoring was ended.

Robles, Randy Foster and Jimmy Minnick were praised for their offensive work by Runnels coaches while Minnick, Mike Gattman, Eugene Scott, Joey Baker and Charlie Tubb got credit on defense.

White Sox Win

Seminoles Shut Out Christians

FORT WORTH (AP)—Florida State combined a relentless offensive attack with a glittering defensive assault and blanked Texas Christian 10-0 Saturday night in an intersectional football contest.

The stubborn Texans turned back frequent Florida drives that repeatedly carried deep into the shadow of the TCU goal.

For the most part, it was a sparkling defensive duel with Les Murdock's 33-yard field goal in the first quarter the threadbare difference until the fourth period.

Murdock's kick came with 12:40 elapsed in the first stanza and shortly after the Frogs had punctured a Florida state drive at the one-yard line.

Phil Spooner, an elusive junior halfback, put the game out of TCU's reach with a six-yard scoring burst with 9:30 remaining in the contest.

Texas Christian, absorbing its second straight loss, moved to the brink of an end zone breakthrough in the final stanza. Trailing 3-0, the Frogs rolled to the 16 before the thrust split-

Trojans Romp On Sooners

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Southern California, with dazzling quarterback Craig Fertig completing passes almost at will, overwhelmed No. 2 ranked Oklahoma 40-14 Saturday before a stunned sell-out crowd of 61,700.

The 40 points were the most scored against the Sooners since Missouri manhandled Oklahoma 41-19 in 1960.

Goliad Teams Win In Pair

Goliad Junior High rang up two important football victories here Saturday night.

The ninth grade Mavericks prevailed over Snyder Travis 6-0, after the school's eighth graders had beaten representatives of the same school, 8-0.

In the ninth grade joust, quarterback Dean Gilstrap passed five yards on a third down play to halfback Don Crockett in the third quarter for Goliad's TD. The drive went 70 yards.

A clipping penalty had wiped out a Maverick touchdown earlier, Don Wiggins going 55 yards to pay dirt. On the successful drive, Norman Lundy caught a 27-yard pass to keep the march going.

Travis was threatening at Big Spring's 15 when the final buzzer went off.

Linebacker Don Malone, tackle Butch Caldwell, center Chuck Smith, tackles Jerry Ryan and Steve Riordan and fullback Lonnie Clanton showed to advantage for Big Spring.

The Mavericks now have a 2-0 record, having beaten Snyder Lamar earlier, 26-14. Goliad plays the same team here next Thursday.

In the eighth grade engagement, Goliad won 8-0. Steve Russell got the touchdowns from ten yards out in the opening period at the end of a 55-yard drive.

The eighth grade Mavs now boast a 1-1 record. Travis is 0-2. After Big Spring's TD, Kenneth Barfield ran across the extra point.

Travis never got inside Big Spring 30 but one time and fumbled away the ball on that occasion. Goliad was inside Snyder's 20 three times and was driving at the visitors' ten when the game ended.

Standouts for Big Spring included Kyle McAlister, Gary Chrane, Terry Jenkins, Cliff Cook, Jimmy Wilson, Mike Bethell, James Newman and Ford Farris, along with the aforementioned.

Rockets Win By 18-6 Tab

Big Spring Lakeview beat cross-town rival Runnels' eighth graders, 18-6, in a football game here Saturday evening. The Yearlings were playing without the services of their star quarterback, John Patton, who is in the hospital with a virus.

Lakeview scored in the second period after recovering a Yearling fumble on the Yearling 25. Senimal Johnson ran four yards for the score. The drive required seven plays.

In the third, Runnels got on the score board on a 49-yard drive, Roy Lee Warren going the last 33 for the tally.

The Rockets, who were using seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys, marched 63 yards for the go-ahead TD with four minutes left in the game. Leonard Evans getting the tally from the 34.

With 45 seconds left, Claude Tucker returned a punt 35 yards for another Lakeview tally.

Lakeview made four first downs to one for Runnels, 134 yards rushing to 57 for the Yearlings, punted once for 21 yards to four for a 25-yard average for Runnels and lost three fumbles to five for the Yearlings. Lakeview was penalized 20 yards, Runnels 27.

Huskies Chew Up Baylor Bears, 35-14

SEATTLE (AP) — Tiny Steven Bramwell sifted like a waith through 67 yards of Baylor Bears the first time Washington got the football Saturday and the Huskies romped from there to a 35-14 victory over the air-minded invaders from Waco, Tex.

Washington kicked off, stalled the Baylor attack with a vicious defense and the Bears punted. The 155-pound Bramwell hauled in the ball at his own 33, danced behind good blocking and scooped at a slant into the end zone. The little speedster ran another er Baylor boot for 52 yards in the third quarter but the tally was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Washington rolled up four touchdowns before the vaunted aerial attack of the Bears could produce more than midfield first downs. Then Roger Mike Marshall, successor to national passing champion Don Trull, located Ken Hodge with a toss good for 55 yards and a Baylor mark on the scoreboard.

The Bears threw 42 passes, completing 20 for 330 yards, but the only other touchdown strike was Marshall's pass to Larry Elkins half a minute into the final quarter.

It was the only catch of the afternoon for the 1963 national reception champion, who was thumbed out of the game by the officials on the following kick-off.

Baylor kicked but the play was nullified by offsetting penalties, and Elkins was waved out of the game as the officials stepped off a 15-yard additional penalty against the Bears.

Baylor Coach Jim Bridgers said he did not have an explanation.

Washington ground out one more tally, powering 36 yards in a dozen plays to score with seven minutes left in the game. Baylor tried a first period field goal but Bob Purvis' 37-yard attempt was barely wide of the standards.

Washington then marched 80 yards in six plays, breaking Junior Coffey into the clear for a 43-yard touchdown gallop. Six seconds into the second quarter Charley Browning was spun into the clear for 13 yards and Washington's third touchdown. The Huskies, with quarterback Bill Douglas mixing passes and runs ran the count to 28-0 midway in the quarter when Browning dived a yard to climax a 72-yard drive.

Kentucky Wildcats Upset Ole Miss Rebels, 27-21

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Kentucky made a myth of Mississippi's vaunted defense, stopped its offense in its tracks and blasted the top-ranked Rebels 27-21 Saturday in the biggest football upset of the young season.

Kentucky end Rick Kestner, a second teamer, scored three of the Wildcat touchdowns on a pass from halfback Roger Bird and two more aeriels from quarterback Rick Norton.

This was to be the beginning of Ole Miss' march to a third straight Southeastern Conference championship, but it took Kentucky just one offensive play to let the Rebels know they were in for a long afternoon.

yard pass play from Norton to Kestner. A point-after man, Rick Tucci, made the kick for the final margin.

The Wildcats iced the game with about 30 seconds to go when Ole Miss quarterback Jim Weatherly passed to Mike Dennis, who fumbled the ball going down at the 20. Kentucky's Talbott Todd recovered at the 16.

Kentucky then just ran out the clock.

A Short Gain For Benny Kirkland

Benny Kirkland (11), Big Spring quarterback, benefits from a fine block thrown by Ricky Earle (24) on Snyder's Leslie Brown and goes for a short gain in the above picture. He was eventually run out of bounds by No. 10, J. N. Wall. Snyder won the game, 13-0, and held a wide edge in the statistics. The loss was the first for Big Spring after two wins. Snyder punctured Big Spring's vaunted defenses for two first half touchdowns and outplayed the Longhorns in the last half to bring an end to the Steers' modest winning streak in the muck and mire here Friday night. Final score was 13-0.

On a field made mushy by several days of rain, the hard-nosed Snyder line presented the Longhorns with precious few scoring opportunities and the provincials were able to cash in on none of those. The Steers were held to a modest 27 yards rushing and could manage only 59 through the air. Leslie Brown, playing perhaps his finest game on both defense and offense for the Jungle Cats, and Tom Kincaid more than balanced the scales for Snyder and got splendid help from such operatives as Jay Williamson and J. N. Wall. End Kenneth Dower got behind the Big Spring defense to spear quarterback Richard Waters' 13-yard pass in the end zone for Snyder's initial TD, the play culminating a 61-yard drive that required six plays.

Kincaid inspired the march with runs of 11 and 22 yards, at which time Brown was content to clear the way with bone-crunching blocks. There was 1:33 showing on the first quarter clock when Dower got his meat hooks on Waters' aerial.

Kincaid booted the PAT and Snyder led, 7-0. Just 1:12 minutes before the half evaporated, Brown added to the Snyder aggregate with a thunderous 73-yard run, cutting back after a slant off right tackle. A Big Spring defender had a shot at him about the Big Spring 30 but Brown left him standing shell-shocked with a tremendous change of pace. Big Spring twice drove into Snyder territory in the second round but the enraged Tigers dug in to hold and take the ball on downs each time.

On one occasion, the Steers chugged 38 yards down to Snyder seven but four plays later Snyder took over the ball on the 20 after some great defensive work.

Don White later recovered a Snyder fumble on the Tiger 27 but the Steers couldn't take advantage of the break. Following Brown's long TD run, Wall tried a pass to his left end that was too tall and Snyder had his margin for the night.

In the third, Snyder hacked out yardage to the Big Spring five but the Longhorns stiffened to contain the opposition and took the ball on downs.

Later in the round, the Steers turned on the steam to maneuver to Snyder's 26 but again Snyder's rock - ribbed defense was too much for the locals.

In the fourth, the farthest Big Spring could penetrate was to Snyder's 34. Early in the canto, the visitors had bombed their way to the Steer 43 and Brown tried a run on a fourth down fake kick. The ruse didn't come off and Big Spring took over on the Tiger 49.

Big Spring had won three in a row going into the game, including the finale of the 1963 season. Snyder is now 1-2.

White was outstanding on defense for Big Spring. Wayne Nail was a threat as a pass receiver.

Bob Allison Is Out For Year
LOS ANGELES (AP) — First baseman Bob Allison of the Minnesota Twins has a broken bone in his left hand and will miss the rest of the season.

Low Krause of the Kansas City Athletics struck Allison on the hand with a pitch Wednesday night.

Playing desperately and fighting for every point, the bounding, sliding McKinley and the poised and determined Ralston reeled off three more points in a row to save Ralston's service.

Then in the ninth game they pounced on the dazed Stolle with both feet, breaking him at love.

McKinley, Ralston Shade Australians

CLEVELAND (AP) — American's Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston battled back from the brink of defeat Saturday and whipped the great Australian team of Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle in doubles 6-4, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3 and 6-4 for an imposing 2-1 lead in the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

A crowd of 7,162 in Cleveland's Harold T. Clark Stadium gave the scrappy pair of young Yanks a standing ovation when Stolle hit a backhand into the net, ending a dramatic 1 hour, 57-minute struggle. The United States now needs only to win one of Sunday's final two singles matches to retain the big silver bowl wrested from the Aussies at Adelaide last December.

In these matches, Ralston, the sometimes temperamental and often brilliant 22-year-old collegian from Bakersfield, Calif., plays Stolle and McKinley, the bouncing boy from San Antonio, Tex., faces the mighty Emerson, holder of the Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. championships and rated the best amateur in the world.

The doubles victory, achieved in bright 70-degree weather, makes the Americans a 2-1 set to retain the cup. Ralston is favored to beat Stolle, clinching the cup and making the final match a formality.

Trailing 3-4 and down 6-30 on Ralston's service in the eighth game of the dying final set, the American team looked like a beaten pair.

Then McKinley made a brilliant winning volley in an exchange with Emerson when it appeared that the point had been won by the Australians, and the Americans took on new life.

Playing desperately and fighting for every point, the bounding, sliding McKinley and the poised and determined Ralston reeled off three more points in a row to save Ralston's service.

Then in the ninth game they pounced on the dazed Stolle with both feet, breaking him at love.

Wade is the advance billing. Dallas, which edged Washington last week, moved into Pittsburgh to take on the Steelers, who surprised the Giants. The Cowboys can rumble on the ground where the Steelers are most vulnerable but John Henry Johnson figures to test the Cowboys' league-leading rushing defense.

In the AFL, the New York Jets play at Boston in a battle of two unbeaten. Weeb Ewbank's Jets had a week off after an opening victory over Denver. The Patriots are red hot with two in a row over Oakland and San Diego. However, the Jets beat Boston twice in pre-season exhibitions.

Kansas City will have Chris Burford in the line-up at split end for the first time when the Chiefs invade Oakland, where Al Davis' Cinderella club of last year still is looking for its first victory.

Ronnie Caveness Shines In Hog Win Over Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Linebacker Ronnie Caveness intercepted a pass and ran for one touchdown and recovered a fumble which led to another score in starting Arkansas to a 31-22 football victory over Tulsa Saturday.

Tulsa was leading 14-0 on the passing of quarterback Jerry Rhone when Caveness intercepted a pass by wingback Eddie Fletcher at the Arkansas 12 in the second quarter and raced for a touchdown.

Immediately after the kickoff, Caveness recovered Rhone's fumble and three plays later Tom McKnelly kicked a 44-yard field goal for Arkansas.

The Hurricane led 14-10 at halftime, but its early surge was squelched by Caveness' work. The senior linebacker was credited with eight unassisted and seven assists in the game. In the second half, Arkansas seized three short Tulsa punts—of six, 12 and 10 yards—and punched for quick touchdowns to race ahead.

Quarterback Bill Gray passed 22 yards to end Jerry Lamb for one touchdown, wingback Jim Lindsey raced 41 yards for another and Gray sneaked one yard for the third.

Rhone hit on 20 to 26 passes for 185 yards and two touchdowns — a five-yarder to end Howard Twilley in the second period and a 23-yarder to wingback Jeff Jordan with 41 seconds left in the game. Fullback Bill Goods got Tulsa's other score in the first quarter on a one-yard charge.

Cards Claim 3rd In Row

HERMLEIGH—Hermleigh finished strong to topple Meadow 16-0, here Friday night. The win was the third straight this year for the Cardinals, who last year ended the campaign without a triumph to their name.

Fullback Terry Smith broke over right tackle for 85 yards and the Red Birds' initial score in the third period.

In the fourth, guard Richard Campbell intercepted a Meadow pass on the visitors' 45 and ran it back 15 yards. Quarterback Curtis Brown scored the TD from that point.

Jim Kubala ran across the first two extra points for Hermleigh while halfback Don Taylor managed the last two the same way.

Meadow surged inside Hermleigh's ten-yard line on two occasions and once got inside the Cards' five but stout defensive play, led by Campbell and Smith, stopped the drives.

Meadow made 11 first downs to three for Hermleigh, and 203 yards rushing to 161 for the winners. Hermleigh tried only three passes and didn't complete a one. Meadow caught four of seven for 30 yards.

The Cardinals play in Rochester next week.

Braves Rock Phils In Ninth Inning

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rico Carty tripled across three runs in the ninth inning, boosting Milwaukee to a 6-4 victory over floundering Philadelphia that cut the Phillies' shrinking National League lead to one-half game.

The loss, their sixth straight and eighth in nine games, chopped another game off the Phillies' lead over the Cincinnati Reds, who won their seventh straight contest with a 6-1 triumph over New York.

The defeat also pulled the Reds even with Philadelphia in the loss column. Philadelphia, which held a 6½ game lead last Sunday, has six games remaining, Cincinnati seven.

The Braves trailed 4-3 going into the ninth. But Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews singled off Bobby Shantz, who had snuffed out a Milwaukee rally in the previous inning. Pinch hitter Frank Bolling then hit a ground ball to Ruben Amaro, whose throw to second was dropped by Tony Taylor, loading the bases.

Carty followed with his triple to center field, scoring Aaron, Mathews and Bolling.

One out later, Mike de la Hoz drove a fly ball to left field, which first was ruled a hit. An argument ensued, however, and the umpires changed the call to an out. Carty, who had come home on the play then was called out for leaving the base too soon on the fly out.

The Braves announced at the time they were playing the game under protest because of the play.

Cincinnati Hammers Mets To Close In On Phils

NEW YORK (AP) — Marty Keough drove in three runs with a double and single as the Cincinnati Reds stormed to within one-half game of the National League lead Saturday, whipping the New York Mets 6-1 for their seventh straight victory. It's the longest winning streak in the league this season.

The Reds, who have rolled to 10 victories in their last 11 games while lopping six games off Philadelphia's lead since Sunday, now are tied with the first-place Phillies in the all-important loss column. Philadelphia has six games remaining and Cincinnati seven.

Keough doubled to deep left center in the second inning, driving in Deron Johnson with the Reds' first run and then lashed a key two-run single as the Reds put it out of reach with a three-run rally in the fourth inning against Mets' starter Denis Ribant.

The Reds got started in the fourth when Frank Robinson's liner was dropped by George Altman for a two-base error. Johnson then took his second single to right, Robinson stopping at third. Johnny Edwards doubled in one run before Keough dropped a single into left field for two runs.

The Mets got one run back against John Tsitouris in the fifth inning when Bobby Klaus walked and Ed Kranepool doubled.

The Reds wrapped up the scoring with single runs in the seventh and ninth. Pete Rose's single, a sacrifice and a single by Vada Pinson produced the seventh inning run. Chico Ruiz walked in the ninth, raced to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

The winning field goal was on top of a third quarter touchdown by Jim Rich from the one yard line. But Kimball tied the game up early in the fourth quarter as Mike Hester rammed off his own right side for six yards to cap a 36-yard march.

Kimball nearly scored several other times but miscues proved costly.

leaky faucet. A spurt of speed and vicious power, and ripped the underdog visitors, 34-6, before an enthusiastic home crowd. It raised the Bearcats' season record to 3-0 and marked them as one of the finest eight-man schools in the state.

High-Stepping Halfback

Garden City halfback Gary Pagan (22) found the right end route unexpectedly blocked Friday night in Garden City by an unidentified Gail defender, but he didn't let this lone road-block stop him as he ripped past the defender and went for a sizable gain in the fourth quarter. Scenes like the above were common as the Bearcats controlled the ball most of the second half and scored all their points in the final two periods en route to a 34-6 victory over the Coyotes. Jaybirds Get Easy 39-0 Forsan Victory

JAYTON — The Jayton Jaybirds continued their mastery of the Forsan Buffaloes that they showed so effectively a year ago when they beat the Bisons twice as the Birds rolled to an impressive 39-0 victory here Friday night.

William Smith, Eddie Morales and Kenneth Judy each scored twice as the Jaybirds looked like district champs.

Morales' TD's came on an 11-yard dive play and a seven-yarder over right tackle. Smith returned a punt 45 yards and an intercepted pass 40 yards, and Judy scored on two interceptions of 25 and 15 yards.

Ronnie Rinker kicked one extra-point while Grandville Smith accounted for a two-point.

Forsan only completed five-of-19 passes, while five were intercepted by the opposition. Jayton's defense proved hard to pierce through the game as Forsan collected only 58 yards total offense.

Flag-Hopeful Cardinals Close In On Phillies

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The pennant-hopeful St. Louis Cardinals rode the hitting of Mike Shannon and the pitching of veteran southpaw Curt Simmons to a 6-3 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday.

Shannon put the Cardinals ahead to stay 2-1 in the fourth inning with a bloop single to right off Pirate ace Bob Veale, now 18-12.

Dick Groat opened the inning with a double. Ken Boyer walked and Bill White sacrificed. Julian Javier was purposely walked before Shannon singled home two runs. Another run scored when right fielder Roberto Clemente threw wildly to the plate. Shannon came in with the fourth run of the inning on Tim McCarver's infield hit.

The Cardinals got an insurance run in the sixth when White doubled off relief pitcher Tommy Sisk, advanced on Javier's sacrifice and scored on Shannon's infield hit.

Simmons, gaining his 17th victory against nine losses had to pitch out of a couple of dangerous situations. Barney Schultz came on in the ninth to get the last out.

The first one came in the second inning when the Pirates got their first run. With one man out the Pirates loaded the bases on singles by Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski and a walk to Gene Alley.

Rookie catcher Jerry May then followed with a sacrifice fly, scoring Clendenon. But Simmons got Veale on a ground out.

The Pirates, who scored on homers by Alley in the sixth and Bob Bailey in the seventh, also had Simmons in trouble in the fifth.

With one out Bailey and Manny Mota singled, but Simmons got Clemente to fly out and Gene Freese to pop out.

Clemson Kayoed By Wolfpack

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina State scored early and then threw up a fierce defense Saturday to whip Clemson 9-0 for the Wolfpack's second straight Atlantic Coast Conference football upset.

The Wolfpack scored a field goal and a touchdown in the first 12 minutes before the small but speedy Tigers could find the right defensive combination.

State hung on gamely the rest of the way against Clemson's frantic attempts to move the ball.

The final two quarters were a different contest. And a big part of the credit for Garden City's victory must be given to the Bearkat line. Gail's forward wall was whipped, and whipped badly, and it supplied Garden City backers with the chance they needed for personal heroics.

The first time the Bearcats got the ball, they moved to a touchdown, going 34 yards in eight plays with Seidenberger providing the momentum with a 13-yard gain on a third-and-three situation that placed the pigskin on the Gail three. Two plays later Pagan got his only six points of the nights over left guard and the game was tied. Newsom's pass to end Riley Chandler for two points put the Bearcats ahead permanently.

Seconds later Garden City again had possession on the Gail 39, after a 29-yard punt by the Coyotes. On the first play from scrimmage, Seidenberger skirted left end and went all the way as he threaded the sidelines like a tightrope artist. Several crunching blocks left the way open with one Coyote being taken out so hard at the one that he had to be helped from the field. The try for extra-point failed.

Midway through the fourth quarter, the Garden City time-bomb exploded. Taking over on their own 16-yard stripe, the Bearcats marched 64 yards in eight plays for the longest touchdown journey of the night. Seidenberger set up the TD with a 27-yarder around left end to the 11-yard stripe from where Newsom rolled out to the right and went over the flag as he was hit by two Gail tacklers. The try for extra-point failed.

Four plays later the Bearcats took over on downs on their own 23-yard line and rolled over in three plays. Pagan slammed 11 yards over right tackle and left guard to the 12 from where Seidenberger raced unopposed down the left side for his second TD of the contest. Again two points failed.

After the kickoff and two plays afterward, Mark Pearce intercepted a pass off the arm of Gail's Bryant Payne on the Coyote 14 and returned it to the 10. Seidenberger again got in motion and swept left end for the third time of the night as he again remained untouched going for six points. Pagan romped to two points over left tackle.

Seidenberger had 172 yards in 19 carries for a 9.1 rushing average.

Roaring Springs Is Winner Over Sands

By PRESTON MAYNARD
ACKERLY — The Roaring Springs Yellowjackets combined a driving running game and sharp passing with some jarring defensive play to edge the Sands Mustangs, 16-12, Friday night, despite a never-say-die battle by the Mustangs into the closing seconds of the game.

The mud-slogged battle was a tight duel from the opening moments until the final whistle sounded, with the Yellowjackets taking the lead in the second quarter with four minutes left in the half. Quarterback Joey Thacker, a 155-pound senior who turned out a top performance all evening, pitched the pigskin to halfback Mike Peacock who slashed eight yards off left guard to pay dirt. In the PAT attempt, Thacker fired an aerial into the end zone to senior end Jerry McGee for the two points and the score stood 8-0.

After Mustang halfback Ricky Kemp took the opening kickoff of the second half on his own 15 and ran it back to the Yellowjacket 33, Sands struck for pay dirt on the first play from scrimmage. Quarterback Eddy Herm, who played a top defensive game in addition to his offensive chores, handed off to Kemp who raced around left end for 38 yards into the end zone. Yellowjackets swarmed into the Mustang backfield to drop Herm behind the line on the PAT attempt and the score stood 8-6.

The see-saw battle continued into the final quarter, after Sands was forced to punt three times and Roaring Springs punted once and lost the ball on downs once before the Yellowjackets again found touchdown range. After a Mustang punt went out of bounds on the Sands 24-yard-line, Thacker handed off to freshman back Don Brandon, another backfield mainstay for the Yellowjackets, who cut over left guard for eight yards to move the pigskin to the Sands 116-yard-line. Thacker dropped back and tossed a pass to McGee down the left sideline for the TD, with four minutes left in the game. Thacker bruised over center for the PAT and the score was 16-6.

Moments later a scrapping Sands team drove for three first downs from its own 30-yard-line to the Yellowjacket 13, where Herm took the pigskin on a scamper around right end into the end zone for the touchdown, with less than a minute and a half left in the game. Yellowjacket defenders knocked down a pass attempt for the PAT and the score stood 16-12. The Yellowjackets took the kickoff and held their ground through a series of downs before the whistle sounded.

Both teams, hampered by a slippery pigskin and mud-drenched uniforms, displayed some hard running and bruising defensive play throughout the encounter, with the ball going back and forth numerous times on fumbles and punts. The Yellowjackets threatened in the opening moments as they drove for four first downs and moved from their own 34-yard-line to Sands 2-yard stripe, where Sands took over on a Yellowjacket fumble. Sands punted out six downs later and the see-saw battle was under way.

Corsicana Sees Record Spoiled By Tyler High

By The Associated Press
Rockwall held the longest winning streak in Texas schoolboy football today as the defending Class AA champions ran their string to 17 straight while Corsicana, which could have equalled the streak, lost in its 17th try.

Rockwall lashed Grand Saline 42-0 Friday night in another streak toward the top of the ratings. The Yellow Jackets now are third.

Corsicana, the Class AAA state champion now playing in Class AAAA, saw its gaudy winning streak go down the drain under the foot of a big tackle.

Earle Maxfield kicked the point after touchdown that gave Tyler a 7-6 decision over Corsicana. The Tigers tried to run the ball over for two points after their touchdown and failed.

Garland, the Class AAAA defending champion, built itself the second longest victory streak. The Owls beat Mesquite 16-0 and made it 15 straight.

Petersburg, the Class A champion, won its 10th in succession

The team that plays the pros at San Antonio as part of PGA week will be composed of the following:

John Farquhar, Amarillo; John Fleckman, University of Houston; Richard Yates, Corpus Christi; Dave Eichelberger; Waco; Mark Hopkins, University of Houston; Ed Hopkins, Dallas; Randy Petri, Austin; Homero Blancas, Houston (Fort Polk, U. S. Army); Rives McBee, Garland, and John Thornton, San Antonio.

Two alternates were named—John Paul Cain of Houston and Don Addington of Dallas.

Sunland Opens Fifth Season

EL PASO—One of the nation's most unusual beautiful and exciting race tracks opens its continuous season of 82 racing days through April 11. Aptly named Sunland Park, the track is located in the heart of the sun country, and celebrates its fifth birthday opening day.

Known primarily as the race track that brought big-time to the Southwest, the desert turf center has also gained prominence as the track that will go to any length to justify its claim as "The Place Where Fun Spends the Winter."

A visit to the desert turf resort reveals bonuses in the way of added attractions not found at most horse racing plants.

It has been said that it is worth a trip to Sunland Park just to view its splendid setting. With the breath-taking Franklin Mountains forming a magnificent backdrop for the ultra-modern plant, it would be difficult to improve on the surroundings nature has provided. Even the track builder, the late Riley Allison, included the final touch—a shimmering, man-made lake covering the entire infield. The lake itself is unique in this sagebrush and cactus country.

Aquatic sports buffs travel impressive distances to witness the daily pre-race performances of the Sunland Skiers, rated among the top in the Southwest.

Called "The International Track" because of its location, Sunland Park is situated in New Mexico only a nine iron shot from the Texas border and just minutes from downtown El Paso. Across the silver Rio Grande, which winds its lazy way less than a furlong from the backstretch, is the Republic of Mexico.

From the all-weather, glass-enclosed grandstands, patrons can view three states in two nations: Texas and New Mexico in the United States, and the Mexican state of Chihuahua.

No special event or holiday passes without observation or ceremonies at Sunland. Civic and social groups, both local and national, are frequent guests.

Movie and television celebrities enter into the spirit of the track where fun spends the winter and often make winner's circle presentations. Internationally known sportsmen and racing figures are frequent visitors.

Noted Hollywood star Desi Arnaz will be on hand opening day to help Sunland celebrate its 5th birthday, and the famous jockey Bill Hartack will fly in from New York for a guest riding appearance October 18.

Even though the name Sunland has come to be identified with all that is new and progressive in racing, it is respectful of all that is traditional. An example is the association's revival of the historic Texas Derby, which was run at the old Arlington Downs track between Fort Worth and Dallas before being discontinued in 1937. The Texas Derby now decides the three-year-old champion and is one of Sunland's winter classics.

Sunland Park lost its president Riley Allison last year but prominent rancher and thoroughbred breeder George Ranchich has assumed his father-in-law's post and has carried on with the same high principles to which Mr. Allison had been dedicated.

Operation of the plant is in the hands of El Paso civic leader R. F. Haynsworth who directed the plant to one of its most successful seasons in its first year at the reins.

With its new look, imaginative approach and—not last in the eyes of horsemen—more than one million dollars in purses, Sunland Park is gaining the attention of sports enthusiasts throughout the nation.

Arizonan Is New Champ

SANDWICH, England (AP)—Stubby little Carol Sorenson holds the 1964 British women's amateur golf championship today, a winner over a nail-biting habit.

"I didn't bite my nails once out there," the 21-year-old Arizona State student from Janesville, Wis., said proudly as she basked in the glory of one of the world's most coveted golf titles.

"I'm a nail-biter, but I didn't do it in that round."

This was a considerable step forward for the youngster who triumphed over England's Bridget Jackson, one up in 37 holes Friday.

It was a heart-breaking final match for both of them. Carol was three down with only seven to go and still pulled the match out of the fire.

Both girls played one-under-par golf with rounds of 72 in the morning, and then were never far from perfect figures in the crucial afternoon battle, played under bright sun on the 6,017-yard Prince's Links.

Miss Sorenson is the fifth American to hold the British title in its 71 year history. Babe Zaharias was first in 1947, followed by Louise Suggs, Wiffy Smith and Barbara McIntire.

RESEARCH CONSUMED TWO YEARS

Shell Builds Auto Centers

Shell Oil Company is entering the automobile repair and service business directly in a major way. After two years of research and planning, Shell has developed a unique concept in the design and operation of a series of automobile diagnostic and service centers throughout the country.

P. C. Thomas, marketing vice president, formally launched the project recently in announcing that a subsidiary corporation, Shell Motorlab, Inc., has been formed to carry on this business.

The first Shell Motorlab will be built in Redford Township, Mich., a suburb of Detroit, he disclosed. Ground will be broken soon, and it is scheduled to be in operation next May.

Thomas said the Detroit facility will be the prototype of many motorlabs throughout the country. Currently all Shell's field marketing managers are evaluating prospective locations for other motorlabs.

The motorlab is Shell's unique concept of a one-stop bumper-to-bumper service center which will give car owners unequalled convenience and reliability in providing all their motoring needs at a fair price, he said. For the first time motorists will be able to obtain in one place all the major categories of their automotive requirements—gasoline and oil, car washing, tires and accessories, and service and repairs.

A continuing research program is another significant element of the Shell Motorlab operation, Thomas said. Construction of a Motorlab Research and Training Center Adjoining Shell's large manufacturing research laboratory at Wood River, Ill., began in July. It will be operating next month.

At this center Shell automotive engineers and technicians will conduct a continuing program of evaluating diagnostic equipment and procedures, as well as training personnel for the motorlabs. The research center staff has already begun establishing complete performance standards for all makes of cars.

With this background, and through continuing close cooperation of car manufacturers, these experts expect to establish performance standards of new models even before they are introduced to the public. They will also seek to develop improvements in analytical equipment and testing procedures.

At the heart of Shell's unique automotive service center is a production-line type of diagnostic lane. It will be equipped with the most advanced testing instruments and will use Shell's exclusive series of test procedures, including simulated low-speed and high-speed driving conditions.

After a car has undergone the more than 80 checks and tests in the motorlab diagnosis, the diagnosticians will know more about the car than anyone has ever known before.

At the end of the diagnosis the diagnosticians will discuss the results with the customer in consultation booths. They will explain just what needs to be done to put the car in tip-top shape. The customer may order the work done at the motorlab or take his car to a service station or garage of his choice.

Another unusual feature of the motorlab will be the quality control bay. In this area, also equipped with a dynamometer and other instrumentation, mechanics will check out the work done in the motorlab. This will enable Shell to give the customer the ultimate assurance of reliability—a written guarantee.

Shell has designed the motorlab so that a customer can pass the time enjoyably while waiting for a car to be diagnosed or serviced. A customer may watch his car move along the diagnostic lane, observing test results on duplicate instrument panels. Customers may relax, read, write, or watch TV in a comfortable lounge. They may browse through a large retail store area stocked with automotive items and a wide range of other attractive merchandise.

Transportation to and from the business and shopping center of the city and a car rental service will also be available. Arrangements are being made for Shell dealers in the trading area of the motorlab to participate fully through referrals on which they will receive a commission.

For the first time all Shell dealers in the vicinity of a motorlab will be able to offer customers a full range of service, parts and guaranteed repairs through referrals to the motorlab. Regardless of a station's size or facilities, its customers can count on complete car care.

Shell regards its concept of a one-stop complete bumper-to-bumper automotive service center as a progressive adjunct to the traditional service station business that will make Shell a leader in giving the American motorist the best in more convenient and more dependable service, Thomas said.

FIRST SHELL MOTORLAB WILL BE NEAR DETROIT, MICH.

Fringe Area Pit Hearing Is Set

The Texas Water Pollution Control Board has delayed action on a no-pit order for a group of Panhandle counties on which a hearing was held Aug. 5, but it scheduled a hearing for fringe area counties.

This includes parts of Crosby, Dickens, Garza, Howard, Midland and Glasscock counties, and the hearing date is Dec. 2 at 9 a.m. This issue is whether oil operators and others will be required to cease use of open, surface saltwater disposal pits

Oil Industry Has Annual Meeting

DALLAS (AP) — Water pollution and small tract drilling operations will be among the subjects discussed here Monday through Wednesday as the Texas oil industry holds its 45th annual meeting.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association represents all segments of the industry within the state — independents, major companies, refiners, and pipelines. National and international problems also are on the agenda.

M. J. Rathbone, board chairman of the world's largest oil company will speak at Wednesday's final general session.

Rathbone is the chief executive officer of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and is to speak on "a look at some current oil problems."

Other speakers at the final session include Thomas Martin, Washington, executive vice president of the General Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, and Clayton Orr, Findlay, Ohio, general counsel for the Marathon Oil Co.

Martin will review the industry's Washington problems. Orr speaks on "why tamper with gas producer prices — let our competitive system work."

The Texas association, representing large and small operators, normally avoids such controversial issues as oil imports but repeatedly has asked Congress to kill the Federal Power Commission's authority to regulate wellhead prices of natural gas sold to interstate pipelines.

The final Wednesday speakers will be Gov. John Connally and Alvin Burger of Austin, executive director of the Texas Research League.

Use Is Estimated
NEW YORK — An oil company economist says the average American household will use about 8 gallons of petroleum products every day of 1964. Nationally, consumption is expected to average more than 449 million gallons a day during the year.

The commission reported 12 wildcat oil wells drilled. The average calendar day allowable as of Saturday was 2,889,238 barrels, compared to 2,881,987 barrels daily the previous week, an increase of 7,251 barrels a day.

Gould Named New Chairman

MIDLAND — Ben D. Gould of Midland has been chosen successor to C. B. Leatherwood of Kermit as chairman of the Permian Basin chapter of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors. He was chosen at a Wednesday night meeting of the group at the Midland Country Club.

Joe Smith, also of Midland, was named vice-chairman and Jack Parks of Odessa secretary-treasurer. Parks succeeds Rudy Lay of Midland.

Joe Shelton of Dallas, general counsel for the AAODC, addressed the group. He discussed many legal problems confronting the drilling industry today, and offered suggestions for the handling of these problems. Shelton was accompanied by H. D. Paxson of the association's Dallas staff.

Nearly 100 members and guests attended the meeting.

Completions Dip From 1963 Figure

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission reported 150 oil well completions in Texas last week, bringing the yearly total to 6,362, compared to 6,592 at this time a year ago.

The commission also reported 68 gas well completions, raising the 1964 total to 2,109, compared to 1,842 at this time in 1963.

There were 163 wells plugged last week, including 90 dry holes.

The commission reported 12 wildcat oil wells drilled. The average calendar day allowable as of Saturday was 2,889,238 barrels, compared to 2,881,987 barrels daily the previous week, an increase of 7,251 barrels a day.

This is the 4th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

meet the 'SENIORS' of the Cosden family...

BOYCE H. PATTON

Although Boyce Hilburn Patton did not join Cosden until July 25, 1949, he felt a part of the company six months earlier. It was during that period that he worked for the engineering company which erected the catalytic cracker at the Big Spring refinery.

Once with Cosden, he worked on the yard and at the asphalt loading rack before moving to the crude unit as a fireman. When the styrene unit came on stream Dec. 16, 1956, ushering in a new chapter in Cosden history, Patton was on the unit as a stillman. In a year and a half he was made Operator No. 1.

A Lamesan by birth, Patton has lived in Big Spring since infancy. For the two years beginning in 1952 he served in the Army's artillery division. When he was discharged as corporal, he had spent a year in Korea. As a lad he was a member of Boy Scout Troop 4, which his brother and fellow Cosdenite, Garrett Patton, now presides over as scoutmaster. Their father, Edward Patton, also worked for the company prior to his death.

Patton, who is a bachelor, makes his home with his mother. They relocated last August in a new residence at 1303 E. 18th Street.

His special interests are photography, swimming and bowling in the Cosden League. Patton is a member of the Knights of Pythias, and is a Baptist.

Little Theatre Opens Season

One of the successes of the stage, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," will begin the 1964-65 season of Big Spring Civic Theatre. It was written by Howard Teichman and George S. Kaufman.

The comedy is a satire on big business and politics as it tells about a little old lady who is seemingly lost in the realm of stock, bonds and high finance, but who throws the shady directors of a corporation into a panic with the common sense of her inquiries. This role will be played by Christine Tatum. With her insignificant 10 shares in General Products Company, she drops into its annual stockholders' meeting and before the president has been able to bang a conclusive gavel on the formalities, her harmless appearance has gained her a chance to get up and speak.

The panicked corporation officers silence her by giving her a job in charge of "stockholder relations," but instead of muzzling her, this post only gives the little lady a chance to be more nosy than ever into the conduct of the rascals who run the corporation. Although later they try to fire her, she has a few tricks up her sleeve which involve the president of the company who has become influential in Washington, D. C.

In this production, Bill Anderson, Carl Davis, Clark Frayser and Ed Dale will play the parts of the corporation directors, and Jack Richards will appear as the Washington tycoon.

Others in the cast are Betty Kasher, Marshall Cockrell, Jo Ellen Fiveash, Hillary Sherrod, Jerry Kasher, Don Boyd, and Bob Tatum. Judy Spencer is the director and Louis Loveless is the producer.

The Little Theatre declares that all holders of admission tickets will receive a laugh dividend of 100 per cent payable at 8:15 p.m. on October 2 and 3 at the Municipal Auditorium. Tickets at the door will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students and Webb airmen. Season tickets will be available in the lobby. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium Oct. 2-3.

County Tax Rolls Ready For Payers

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax collector - assessor, said Saturday that tax statements for the county will be placed in the mail on Tuesday and Wednesday and should be in the hands of taxpayers by Oct. 1. That is the first date that current taxes may be paid.

She said that poll tax payments will also be accepted as of Oct. 1. Poll tax receipts issued on that date are applicable for elections of 1965. The voters who wish to ballot in the Nov. 3 election or in any other election which may be held in 1964 need only to present poll tax receipts which were issued to them last fall. These, she points out, bear the date "1963" but are effective for 1964 elections.

Mrs. LeFevre said that the completion of tax statements has been easier this fall than usual. She said that taxpayers can come to the tax office on or after Oct. 1 and all preparations to accept their payments are in order.

For the first month—October—tax bills are subject to a 3 per cent discount. In November the discount drops to 2 per cent, and in December to 1 per cent. After that the entire face of the bill comes due.

Many taxpayers who come to the office to pay their real and personal property taxes also pay their poll tax at the same time.

Support Squadron Will Be Merged

The 3560th Support Squadron, Webb Air Force Base, will be no more as of Thursday. The support squadron will be consolidated with headquarters squadron of the Air Base Group.

The discontinuance of support squadrons in Air Training Command was made by special order last July.

All functions and associated manpower spaces, with the exception of squadron overhead, will be transferred to air base groups. The new unit at Webb AFB will have 44 officers, 482 airmen and 829 civilians for a total manpower strength of 855. Squadron commander will be 1st Lt. Hollis I. Marshall, and the first sergeant is M. Sgt. Cecil T. Mallory.

Billy Graham Is Threatened

BOSTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has been threatened with death several times recently, police in Boston disclosed last night.

The Boston Garden, where Graham spoke to 13,909, was searched by police after a bomb threat was received. Nothing was found and the meeting was not disturbed.

WAYS TO BUY!

REVIEWING THE HISTORY of home demonstration work in Howard County are Mrs. Delaine Crawford, center, county agent, and two women who have furthered the work of the clubs for many years. They are Mrs. Shirley Fryar, left, and Mrs.

Frank Wilson. The first club was formed in the county in 1929, and that year the members were first introduced to the use of the pressure cooker in canning. There is now a total membership of 200.

FIFTY YEARS OF EXTENSION WORK

THE CORE OF HOME demonstration work in this area is the Howard County Home Demonstration Council which meets monthly with delegates from 12 clubs. In this manner, new phases and programs are introduced to the widely separated groups. Officers for this year are, standing, Mrs. Ray Swann, chairman, and Mrs. Vern Vigar, secretary. Seated are Mrs. Neil Fryar, vice chairman, and Mrs. Ralph White, treasurer.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1964

MONEY IS A MEANS of supporting 4-H work, printing educational literature and providing necessities for home demonstration work activities. Mrs. Alton Underwood, left, and Mrs. Billy Gaskins, members of the finance committee, unpack a box of vanilla and pepper which HD members sell to support their projects. During the annual stock show and Hereford sale, they will operate a concession booth and serve barbecue lunches.

"A WORLD OF JEWELS" is the name of the decorative ball held by Mrs. D. S. Phillips, right. Mrs. Phillips is working with Mrs. Earl Hollis, left, and Mrs. John Birdwell in planning the showing of objects for the home which will be exhibited this week during a tour which will include several homes and displays in two commercial establishments. The exhibit will include crafts, flower arrangements, clothing and special foods.

CLOTHES FOR SUBURBAN LIVING will be modeled Wednesday at a style show scheduled for HD members. The theme will be "Original Fall Fashions," and models will wear garments which they have constructed and will tell the fiber content and general information about the styling. At left is Mrs. Francis Zant, and on the right is Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins. Mrs. Sonny Shroyer, center, will serve as commentator.

RUGGED EXTERIOR
Home on the hill built for "bachelor" fun

Dream House For Bachelors

By JO BRIGHT

This is the house that Jack built—with some help from Alfred and Lanny. Still incomplete, it is insured for $70,000—and should the owners decide to sell—the asking price would be about $100,000.

This, in itself, is not unusual. What is, however, is the fact that the home was conceived, planned and will be decorated by two young bachelors who apparently are having a ball doing it!

"I'm surprised—but pleased—that everything fits," said Alfred Moore, 28, one of the owners who served as architect. His only formal training was a drawing course at Howard County Junior College. He later attended Texas Tech where he studied accounting and built a home in Lubbock while still a student.

The co-owner is Lanny Baize, 22, an employee of Texas Electric Service Company. It's a good thing he knows a little about the subject, too, since their lighting fixtures alone are valued at $4,000. An imported crystal chandelier will hang over the swimming pool. This might have presented a problem except that the swimming pool happens to be in the living room.

LOTS OF ROOM
The home is located on four acres of rolling country in the Silver Heels addition where it would have to be a still day, and mighty loud shindig to disturb the neighbors.

"We like to entertain," said Alfred, the tall, lanky one, as he guided a pick-up over the rutted road that leads up the hill. "Rather than join a club, we decided to build one!" Maybe that's the reason there are five built-in bars.

The outside presents a view of offset Arkansas rock, a staggered cedar roof with Dutch gables and 1,000 square feet of glass.

The main room, the heart of the home, is 60 feet long and 50 feet wide. The front and back walls are glass with sliding doors opening on to the back patio. Inside the room and to the left of the double doors at the entrance is a triangular sunken garden about 500 square feet which has been planted with palm trees, rubber plants, spruce, a magnolia, elephant ears, hibiscus, ivy, caladium, red bougainvillea and passion vine. Pebble concrete stepping stones lead to an island area at the pool's edge where a small wrought iron table and chairs will be placed for poolside dining. The pool itself is an easy figure eight with a ceiling support in the middle which will be disguised as a palm tree. When the pool is not in use, tubing has been placed around one side and can be turned on to form a curtain of water. The pool is heated, of course, and the entire house has central heat and is completely air-conditioned.

There is an edging of pale blue Mexican terrazzo tile around the pool and joining that will be Chinese red carpet. There is a room divider of the Arkansas stone which has a built-in crystal cabinet-bar, and two aquariums. On the other side is the kitchen area with built-in fixtures and stained mahogany cabinets. Next to it is a circular "inside-outside" bar which is divided by a sliding panel of glass.

ALL INTERESTING
After seeing the main room, the rest of the house is anticlimactic but interesting. The bedrooms each have one embossed, upholstered wall, tufted and with gold studs and tiny gold metal loops. All beds are round and chandeliers are used for lighting. The rooms are pink, blue and lavender with matching carpet. A black and gold hall leads to the master bedroom-living area which features a lava rock fireplace which covers one wall.

At the other end of the house is the all-white den with a white marble fireplace wall. Another wall is called the "entertainment center" wall and has space for a color TV, radio, record player, records, and books. Incidentally, the bar in this room is built into the stereo set which furnishes music throughout the home.

What Moore calls a "natural rounded patio" is at the back of the main room. The men plan to put ceramic tile for a width of ten feet from the building but leave the rest with a rustic look. Moore would like to plan an artificial stream to flow from the upper level past the corner of the house.

LITTLE HELP
When they met, three years ago, Moore showed Baize his plans for the home and they decided to build it together. The construction started about a year ago, most being done by local sub-contractors. A Midland consultant advised them about the use of color inside but most of the ideas have been their own. They didn't say who suggested the red satin drapery, but that's what it will be.

The men are hoping for an early completion date so girls who would like to go swimming this Christmas are advised to keep their swimming suits handy.

Home Demonstration Clubs Note 50 Years

Cooperative Extension Service completes 50 years of service to rural and urban families this year. This nation-wide system of out-of-school education in the area of agriculture and home economics, was started in 1914.

On May 8, 1914, Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act which gave authority for the United States Department of Agriculture and the state land grant colleges to join forces in establishing and maintaining this educational program. Funds for this work are provided by the federal, state and county governments, and are administered by the cooperative extension services of the colleges.

Since 1914, county home agents, plus state specialists in nutrition, clothing, home management, health, family living and consumer information, have brought the latest, impartial facts in these fields to all interested homemakers.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service was started in 1903 and is done through Texas A&M University.

Home demonstration work is an essential part of the educational program of the extension work. Much of the planned family living program is carried out through home demonstration clubs. In the rapidly changing pattern of modern day living, homemakers need an up-to-date, reliable source of information that will help them in solving problems of the family and community. Home demonstration work is designed to meet that need. The objectives are inspiration, information, recreation and association.

The work was started in Howard County in 1929 when nine clubs were organized. The need for a council was seen and it was organized the same year. There are now 12 active clubs in the county with a total membership of 200.

The clubs and their presidents are Airport, Mrs. Ila Mae Dunlap; Center Point, Mrs. Earl Hollis; City, Mrs. D. D. Johnston; Coahoma, Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel; College, Mrs. R. L. Coleman; Elbow, Mrs. D. H. Yates; Fairview, Mrs. H. S. Hanson; Forsan, Mrs. Louis Soles; Knott, Mrs. Billy Gaskins; Lomax, Mrs. Neil Fryar; Luther, Mrs. Frances Zant; and Wasson Road, Mrs. Carl Mangum. Each club meets twice a month.

Wednesday HD club members will take a tour starting at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. T. E. Newman in the Lomax community. A style show will follow afterward at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. After lunch, the Knott and Fairview clubs will present an exhibit at the Texas Electric Reddy Room, and the tour will end at the home of Mrs. Alden Ryan in the Luther community.

Information concerning work of the area clubs will be incorporated in Thursday's story covering the tour.

Leave Roots On

When par-bolling or boiling onions that are to be stuffed, leave the root ends untrimmed during preliminary peeling so that the onions will stay whole.

Secretary Views Men's Bad Side

Odette Joyeaux, the film actress who has written several novels, has just finished writing "Wanted: Secretary" for October publication in Europe. "For nine months I studied stenography and bookkeeping, and for nine months I learned the inner lives of secretaries," she said. "Now I understand why so many would rather be actresses. They are the heroines of the business world, living lives of boredom, slavery and martyrdom. They see men at their worst, not their best."

MRS. W. K. DENTON

Denton Home Reveals Ingenuity, Imagination

By MARY COCHRAN
Since the time of Eve, women have been busy making their homes more attractive. That first homemaker probably rearranged things in the Garden of Eden for the convenience of her husband and to please her artistic sense.

A modern Eve is Mrs. W. K. Denton who has taken the basic elements of home furnishings and made them into something special. To step inside the door at her home at 2714 Lynn, is to enter an interesting and unique household. A big comfortable chair in deep blue provides a comfortable place for her husband to relax when he comes home from his work at International Harvester Company. A hand crafted coffee table with a wrought iron base taken from an old peddle-type sewing machine accents the provincial lines of a large divan. The living room is disarmingly simple with excellent paintings gracing the walls.

A portrait of Mrs. Denton done in sanguine pencil dominates the wall area. It was done by Aherra, a noted artist from Montevideo, Uruguay, the home of her husband's parents. The other painting in the room was executed by her mother-in-law, who is a pupil of the artist, and reflects the cool soft tones of the furnishings.

BOLD COLORS
For bedroom decor, Mrs. Denton has turned her imagination to the more dramatic, and with articles gathered from attics and second hand stores has created charming furniture. Her bedroom holds the miscellany of an old-fashioned wash stand, camel-back trunk and an old school desk. They have been painted orchid and accented with touches of gold or sprays of flowers to make charming accessories for an unusual room.

The seven-month old son, Mike, has his own bedroom gaily accented with Indian pictures by Dee Flag. Another camel-back trunk in his room is resplendent with a totem motif in brilliant Indian colors.

The master bedroom is dominated by a king size bed decorated in powder blue and avocado green. Tones of green accent the room and a series of bird prints that reflect the blue-green colors accent the main wall area. For contrast, the master bath is brilliantly done in red and white.

INTERESTING ANTIQUES
Mrs. Denton reversed the antiquing process with a simple old ladder back chair by first spraying it gold and then rubbing with black to make a deep soft blending of color. She accented it with clusters of hand painted gold grapes. Her sewed box is a wooden cheese box, decked with paint, flowers and embroidered tape. Waste-baskets in the home are rather special with their bouquets of ribbon or flowers. Twenty dollars worth of second hand dining room furniture takes on a French air now that the suit is painted turquoise and banded in gold.

During her studies at Kansas State University, courses in craft work and interior decorating gave her the impetus to try her hand with her own home. It was at the University that the telephone lines began to hum between the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority house and the Delta Upsilon fraternity, and the red-haired Miss Hardy from Kansas City became seriously interested in a six foot, 2 inch business major from South America.

Denton came to the states at the age of 14 to attend high school in Atchison, Kan., and continued his education at Kansas State University and Arizona State, where he received his MA degree. He joined International Harvester, the company his father has been affiliated with for 23 years in Uruguay, and moved his family to Big Spring several months ago. He attended a British school in his youth and speaks five languages. Golfing is his main hobby interest.

MRS. JOE MYERS

Feathers Form Fancy Foliage For Flowers

By MARY COCHRAN

Mrs. Joe Myers does not have to travel to far-away places to find the unusual and sometimes bizarre objects she uses in the making of art objects and dried arrangements in her home. Sometimes a trip to the pasture with her husband to search for a lost cow will yield just the right gnarled bit of wood or unusual rock she needs.

A trip into town from the home place at Knott may take a little extra time if some exciting bit of rock or unusual weed can be seen from the highway. That 14-mile stretch between Big Spring and her farm home has been traveled many times too, for Mrs. Myers is active in a number of organizations.

She belongs to the Rosebud Garden Club and the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge. At Knott she is a member of the home demonstration club and the First Baptist Church. If she is not teaching crafts at Bible school or dashing in for a conference at the county home demonstration office, she may be off on a jaunt with one of her seven grandchildren or just simply out hunting native objects to enhance her home.

With the aid of a jeep, she once combed the Big Bend area to gather cacti and native plants for a special rock garden at her home. Mrs. Myers used to spend many happy hours hunting for game with her husband, and even found the chore of cleaning birds could reap more than just the reward of food in the larder. She saved the feathers and has used them to create unusual pictures and simulated floral arrangements.

She has a storage room filled with grains, dried plants, rocks, sticks and bric-a-brac many less discerning people would throw in the trash.

"My husband calls it junk and I call it loot," she said in explaining that the back of the car is often loaded with these materials.

"When I was a child, my father enticed me into helping him pluck the feathers from the birds by promising me a pillow made from the down," she said. "Maybe that is when I first became interested in feathers."

She has created an arrangement with feathers from peacock tails, pin tail ducks, and any floral arrangement in design or form. The patterns on the feathers have been arranged to create an accent to each delicate flower-like object and the dramatic colors of the peacock tails add a bright bit of color to the muted tones of the design.

An interesting picture she has made on a piece of wood is an exotic bird fashioned of varicolored feathers. The plumage comes from several different fowls and glimmers with a natural sheen.

The family yard is bright with flower beds and the welcoming green of lawn and shade trees. When her daughter, Mrs. Bill Bybee, and family come over from Midland for a visit, one of the favorite gathering places is the shady patio in the back yard where a big black cat nestles in one of the patio chairs and flowers border the inviting setting. Joining the gathering will be her son, Jack Myers, and his family who live a short distance from the home place.

Friends and family are not surprised to find a palm tree apparently growing on the patio.

Closer examination proves it to be a fishing pole that has been adorned with plastic leaves, and an artificial feathered bird nestles in the branches. She has an acorn tree that has been made of copper tubing and wired with leaves and acorns.

Mrs. Myers has experimented with all types of methods of drying leaves and foliage to create dried arrangements. There will be an interesting bit of wood or rock to add the right touch to these art works. She shares her art with friends and family and never finds time to be bored or restless.

She proves the old adage that there is gold buried in one's own back yard. She finds a wealth of pleasure in her surroundings and is constantly improving on the simple things of nature.

Meet Madame President

Mrs. Randol Nichols, 1309 Utah, took office this fall as president of the Service-Women's Club for a six-month term. Sentiment Makes Selling Easy Task

When school teachers in Germany decided it was time to supply students with modern desks and chairs, they found a way to pay for the furniture themselves.

They sold the old desks and chairs to sentimental former students who got their education in them 30 years ago.

Educators Recognize Marriage Problem

By JO BRIGHT

"School-age marriages may not be wise, yet after one becomes a fact, adults working with the couple have a responsibility to help them succeed."

So says Patsy Reynolds, extension specialist in family life education at Texas A&M University. Furthermore, Miss Reynolds believes indications are that they will continue to increase in numbers, and marriage is always a time of adjustment regardless of the age of the couple.

"And to the normal problems of this period the disapproval and often bitter incriminations of the parents and the load becomes almost impossible for the young couple to carry," she said.

Wayne Bonner, counselor at Big Spring Senior High School, is more aware than most people of the overpowering problems faced by the partners in a school-age marriage. In his capacity as a counselor he offers these youngsters the benefit of his professional knowledge—and as a compassionate human, he realizes that there are strong emotions on the part of all who are affected by such a marriage.

NO TRAINING

"Once the marriage is consummated, it is the hope of society that it will work out," he said. "However, in the public school curriculum there is no place that touches on family life training for boys. In home economics classes girls have the opportunity to face some realities of family living but usually the basic problems of marriage are not discussed."

According to a study made by Dr. B. J. Fallon, formerly of Big Spring and now at Texas Tech and executive secretary of the West Texas School Study Council, school-age marriages have a divorce rate two to four times greater than for those who marry at age 20 or older. Dr. Fallon directed the survey in 238 Texas schools in 1962.

Conclusions of the research indicate that schools should educate for what Dr. Fallon terms a "balanced social perspective." If these school-age marriages are to be reduced or those which occur are to succeed, Dr. Fallon feels that the parents and community can give the young couple practical education for dealing with problems such as budgets, house cleaning and care and use of household equipment, and preparation for earning a livelihood.

It is his opinion that students who marry should be encouraged to complete their education if at all possible.

"Human potential is rarely maximized without the benefit of formal education," he said. "Less than full realization of human potential constitutes a loss for the individual, the community, and society at large."

LOCAL FIGURES

There are no figures available to determine how Big Spring ranks with other cities in the state according to the percentage of school-age marriages but Bonner has compiled rough figures here for several years. During the 1962-63 term 18 students were married while still enrolled in the senior high school. Of these, 15 were girls and three were boys. In the 1963-64 period, so far the total has risen to 20; 13 girls and seven boys. Bonner explained that the figures were incomplete because some students withdrew from school but did not give marriage as the reason although it may have been. This year seven students returned who had dropped out.

"According to Texas school laws youngsters cannot be prohibited from attending school because they are married," said Bonner. "Nevertheless, here as well as in some other places, they cannot participate in extra-curricular activities." This

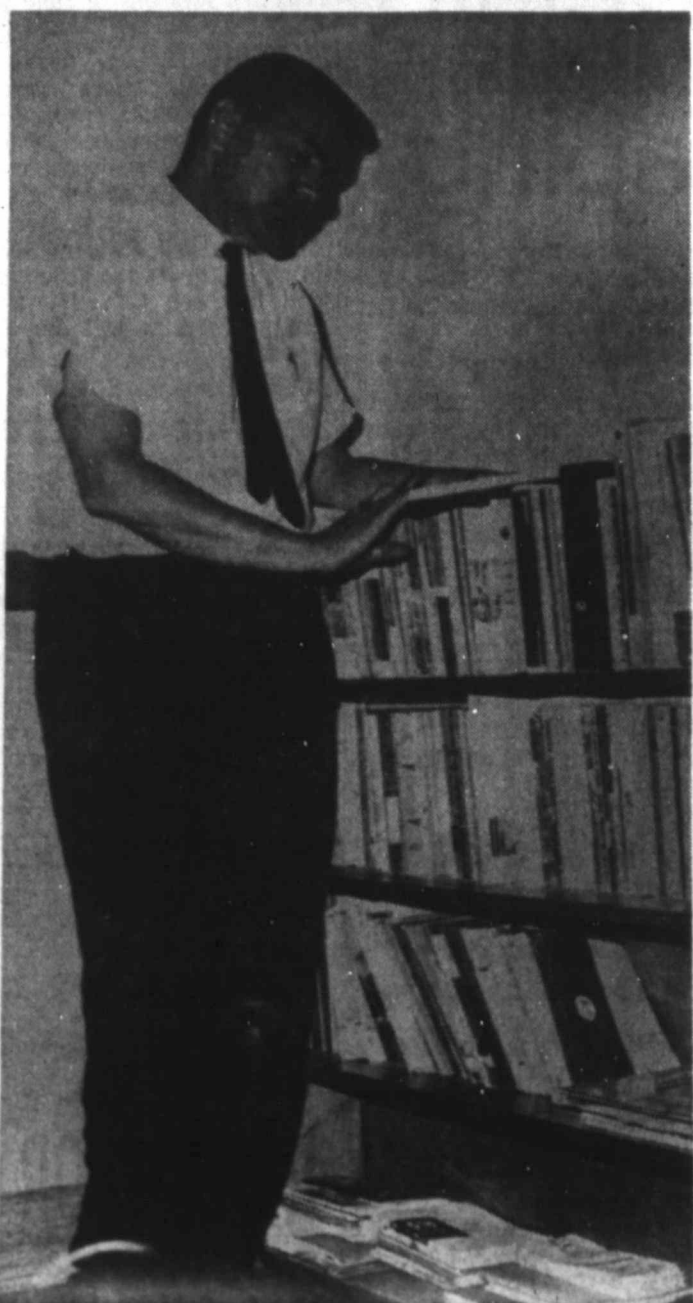

Party Held For Pupils

STANTON (SC)—The primary one pupils of the First Baptist Church were honored with a farewell party Monday afternoon in the Sunday school department. Next Sunday is promotion day for the Sunday school.

White roses were the table decoration at the refreshment table. The song, "Autumn Leaves are Now Falling," was sung. Mrs. U. A. North directed several games, including a musical game, with Mrs. Walter Graves at the piano.

Mrs. Fred Holder led the group in prayer. The teachers assisting with the social hour were Mrs. Lee Keaton, Mrs. North, Mrs. Buster Adams, Mrs. Graves, and Mrs. Holder.

Eleven class members attended and visitors were Craig Graves, Margie McQuerry, Julie McQuerry and Robert Cowan.

is a decision of the local school board and means that a married student cannot hold office, be a band member, go out for athletic teams or participate in numerous organizations that are connected with the school.

According to Bonner's study and observation, there are multiple causes for early marriage. He lists them as customs of the community, the desire to escape from home, the wish to gain emotional security that he or she has not been able to gain alone, the desire to escape loneliness, and the need to prove his or her adequacy as a man or woman.

"Those causes for early marriage do not give the kind of emotional and social maturity and practical competence that the responsibilities that married life demands," said Bonner.

PROBLEMS

"Teenage marriages—or those under 18—have some exceptional problems. First, they must be self-supporting or depend on parents, and secondly, society ostracizes these people to some extent. These young married couples are in the minority, therefore friendships with other couples are not readily available. They are no longer a real part of the old crowd and yet have little in common with more mature married people."

Until recent years most educators preferred to ignore the problem of the married student, the thinking being that it would

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Affair

Miss Joyce Davidson was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ed Cherry, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. W. E. Wadsworth, in receiving guests at a gift shower given in her honor Thursday evening. The pre-nuptial event was held in the home of Mrs. Dee Foster Jr., 2314 Roberts Drive.

Assisting Mrs. Foster as hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Hayworth, Mrs. Jake Rowland, Mrs. Hoyle Nix and Mrs. Ben Nix. They presented corsages to the honoree, Mrs. Cherry and Mrs. Wadsworth.

The refreshment table, decorated with an arrangement of pink carnations and red roses, was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of red and white. A cake centered with love birds and hearts completed the decorations, and appointments were crystal and silver.

Miss Carla Wadsworth registered guests.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

The bitter pain of losing the ballgame Friday night was overcome only by the pleasure in seeing all of our "stadium seat" friends. Many of the people have had the same places in the grandstand as long as we have which is as long as the structure has been built. Some of our children, during this time, have gone from the elementary school level through college and we still gather together each fall. Some who have been there a long time include the W. S. GOODLETS, the BILL GIBSONS, the ELMO PHILLIPSES, the TED HULLS, and the ROXIE DOBBINSES. These are the people whose toes we have stepped on for years . . . they always are on time and we are always arriving just as the teams come on the field. More recently the R. J. REAMS and the COY CONNERS have been our neighbors for ball games. It's always good to see them again.

MRS. S. GORMAN is due to return this evening from San Francisco where she, along with MRS. CHESTER MATHEW, attended the Desk and Derriek convention. When they left Midland by air Wednesday, both wore beautiful knits. MRS. GORMAN'S was a three piece forest green with a lively banding of tangerine. Her single strand of wooden beads featured a tassel of tangerine wool. MRS. MATHEW, who wore a cobalt blue and black accessories, plans to return to Midland Wednesday after spending several days with her niece and her family, the DEAN TODDS who are stationed at San Francisco with the USAF.

MR. and MRS. C. W. MAHONEY spent the weekend in Memphis, Tenn., on a combination business and pleasure trip. He wanted to look over the cotton situation and they both were anxious to visit their son and his wife, MR. and MRS. RALPH MAHONEY.

It would be disappointing to be away from Big Spring when the rains finally came but if you can be away on a trip like the C. C. JONESSES are on it would probably be worth it. Tomorrow they will leave Los Angeles harbor, aboard the luxury liner Lurline for a trip to Hawaii which isn't a bad way to start the fall season.

DOCK L. BROWN and GARY R. BIGALKE were among the many who toured the caverns at Carlsbad, N.M., during the past week.

When MRS. SHINE PHILIPS went to New York the past week to meet her daughter.

ter, CHAMPE, she was joined in St. Louis by her daughter's long-time friend, MRS. DAKIN WILLIAMS, who was JOYCE CROFT before her marriage. Champe has just returned to the states on the SS Hope after having spent a year on a mercy mission to Ecuador. On the return trip, Mrs. Phillips and Champe plan to spend some time in St. Louis with the Williamses.

LARRY EVANS, his wife and their two sons, Eric and Greg, have returned to Houston after visiting here with his parents, MR. and MRS. EARL C. EVANS. Larry has a piano studio and has been asked by the Piano Teachers Forum to present the opening program at the University of Houston.

The Evanses came through Big Spring en route home from a trout fishing trip to Laramie, Wyo. Friends will be interested to know that BILLY EVANS, talented younger brother of Larry, is with the Army at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio and is staff pianist with the Army band. When he receives his discharge he plans to return to West Texas University where he has been an instructor in piano.

MRS. SEARCY WHALEY, the former Margaret Bettie, is improved following a heart attack suffered Monday. The former Big Spring resident is a patient at Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

MR. and MRS. WACIL McNAIR and their two younger sons, Terry and Lee, were over from Snyder Friday night for the game and came early enough to break bread with us. Their eldest son, Larry, has transferred from Hardin-Simmons to Baylor.

MRS. W. M. GAGE returned to Austin with MR. and MRS. E. J. DAVIS JR. and their son, Pat, who were here for the funeral of BILL GAGE. She plans to stay a week with her daughter. Other members of the family who have returned to their homes are JAY DAVIS of Lubbock, MR. and MRS. C. E. HAHN and MRS. BILL HAHN of Carlsbad, N.M.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Manley, 1314 Mt. Vernon, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Paul Fannin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fannin, 1606 E. 6th. The couple plans to be married Nov. 14 at the 14th and Main Church of Christ with Perry Cotham officiating.

Space Theme Sparks District WSCS Meet

"Flight Into Tomorrow," the Big Spring District workshop for members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, was held Thursday at the First Methodist Church where Mrs. W. N. Norred led the opening prayer.

The Rev. Marvin James gave the devotion, and Mrs. Dale Clemmer, Snyder, district vice president, presided.

The 25th anniversary goals were outlined by Mrs. James Jones of Stanton. This was followed by a solo presented by Mrs. Don Newsom, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton.

"A New Age—A New Purpose," was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Clemmer, and a skit by Mrs. Robert Hill pointed out the changes in names and duties of some of the WSCS officers.

Mrs. Cecil Matthews, Lubbock, jurisdictional secretary of Spiritual Life Cultivation, spoke on changes in structure, terminology and function.

"The cost of leadership is going up," said Mrs. Matthews. "It requires the very best that we can do with the help of God. More competence is needed but the same full commitment is required."

During the noon break, each district officer sat with her local officer for a question and a discussion period. At 1 p.m., the program resumed with song and prayer led by Mrs. B. J. Whittenbach, Midland, district secretary of Spiritual Life Cultivation.

Methods of presenting programs were explained by Mrs. Raymond Hamby, who spoke on materials; Mrs. H. H. Stephens, who described audio visuals; and Mrs. Robert Pinckney, Midland, who told of methods.

The program book for the year was reviewed by Mrs. Russell Johnson, Andrews, and she was assisted by representatives of four area churches.

During a time reserved for detailing plans for presenting studies, the women who spoke and their topics were Mrs. J. L. Tidwell, Midland, "The Churches Mission Among New Nations"; Mrs. Norred, "Spanish Americans—Death of A Myth"; Mrs. George Vannaman, Midland, "United States Responsibility in a World Community of Nations"; and Mrs. Marvin Dixon, "Genesis: Beginnings of The Biblical Dramas." In her presentation, Mrs. Norred was as-

An interest center was a bulletin board with a blue background and a picture of Christ in the center. Encircling the picture were satellites for each program emphasis.

Mrs. Louis Wolfson, 2613 Lynn, was hostess at a party given by Mu Zeta of Beta Sigma Phi on Thursday. She was assisted by Mrs. Bob Badger. Guests and members participated in a crazy-bridge session and Mrs. Arthur D. Clonts and Mrs. J. E. Shillenburg were winners.

Guests were Mrs. Clonts, Mrs. Shillingburg, Mrs. Ronald H. Gregory and Mrs. Jack Thomas. Refreshments were served on an aqua linen covered table to 14.

The next meeting will be held Monday in the home W. T. Drake, 3300 Drexel.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1964 SEC. D

Sub-Normal Crop Also Runs Late

Cotton harvest in Howard County has not built up to anything resembling a boom and the chances of such a development are remote. However, what little cotton picking was under way was brought to a halt by the welcome rains of last week.

The Texas Employment Commission, in its check of the gin-nings, showed Howard County with a total of 254 bales at last week began. Very few additional bales were handled during the week.

Cotton Crop Report

County	Crop Rtg.	Pct. Hvsted	Pct. Open	Est. Crop	Bales Ginned
Howard	poor	1	10	15,000	254
Martin	good	10	10	45,000	275
Glasscock	good	6	15	10,000	600
Dawson	fair	10	10	100,000	275
Fisher	fair	1	35	25,000	515
Nolan	fair	35	35	10,000	143
Mitchell	poor	10	10	18,000	500
Scurry	poor	20	20	18,000	100

TEC has pegged the crop estimate for this county at a questionable 15,000 bales. It classifies the crop as "poor" and estimates that 10 per cent of the fields are now open. Only one per cent has been harvested.

Farmers welcomed rains although some minor damage may have been done to cotton now open and in the fields. Farmers and ranchers are happy to charge off any minor damage and take the benefits that the soaking rains offered for the year ahead.

ERRATIC

Meantime, farmers and observers continued to puzzle over what the 1964 cotton crop will really turn out. In the Vincent community, for example, some fields are rated by veteran cotton men "as very good." There are scattered fields all over the county which promise fairly good yields.

There are other fields where the cotton is hardly worth the harvesting.

Some cotton is being pulled, but most farmers plan to machine gather their crop. "I'm going to hold on, if I can," observed one veteran planter, "until the frost hits. Then what little lint I have can be stripped."

Of the eight counties in the Big Spring area, only two rate the classification of having good crops in the TEC report.

GLASSCOCK SAME

One of these is Glasscock County where 600 bales have already been ginned. The TEC estimates the crop in Glasscock at 10,000 bales which is just about what it was in 1963. Fifteen per cent of the crop is now open and 6 per cent has already been harvested. Glasscock County leads in the total number of bales ginned.

Martin County also has a "good" credited to its crop conditions. The estimated crop in that county is 45,000 bales with 10 per cent of the crop now open but only 275 bales ginned. Other counties, rated along with Howard County as "poor" in cotton prospects, are Mitchell with an estimated 18,000-bale crop forecast. Thirty-five per cent is now open and 500 bales have been ginned. Scurry County, with 18,000 bales forecast, has 20 per cent of its crop open and only 100 bales processed.

"FAIR" AREA

"Fair" crops are credited by TEC to Nolan, Fisher and Dawson counties. Nolan has 35 per cent of its estimated 10,000 bale crop ready to harvest and has ginned 143 bales.

Fisher County, with an estimated 25,000 bale crop in sight, has 35 bales ginned and at least 35 per cent of its crop ready to harvest. Dawson County, giant of the local cotton area, is classified as fair with a potential crop of 100,000 bales. So far only 60 bales have been ginned and only 10 per cent of the crop is open.

A shuffle in the reporting system leaves Howard and Sterling to the Big Spring office, Martin, Glasscock and Midland to Midland, Dawson to Lamesa, and Mitchell, Scurry, Nolan and Fisher to Sweetwater.

Commissioners Due To Study Food Stamp Plan

If Howard County wants to participate in the new Federal Food Stamp plan as a means of assisting its needy citizens, county commissioners must act before Wednesday. If they do not make application by then, the next date for application will be at the end of June 1965.

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare department officer, has received a letter from W. M. Herndon, director of the Commodity Distribution Division of the Texas Department of Public Welfare in which he called attention to the new plan.

Mrs. Phillips took the letter to the county board on Thursday, but only two of the commissioners were present. She plans to talk with Herndon and get additional information on the program before she reports to commissioners on Monday. Lee Porter, county judge, has been out of town and will be back at that time.

Mrs. Phillips said that the commissioners with whom she discussed the program did not seem interested at this time. The county now carries on a surplus commodity distribution program which helps meet the local situation. This program provided essential foods for 879 individuals from 281 families in August. Mrs. Phillips said this was a relatively low total and she anticipates, in view of the approach of cold weather and the lack of jobs, a much larger number of people to be helped this month and on into the winter.

Herndon's letter pointed out that participation in the Federal Food Stamp program is a voluntary action on the part of the states and the subdivision of the states. In the meantime, he said, the direct distribution of foods to needy people will continue to be available in those communities not desiring to participate in the Food Stamp Program or until such time as the stamp program can be extended to all communities that want to participate in it. Under the stamp program, stamps are used to purchase foods and are redeemed in cash. The State Welfare Department must accept responsibility for the administration of the new program including the certification of applicant households eligible to participate. It will also handle the issuance of the stamps or coupons for eligible households and these coupons or stamps may be handled on the basis of an agreement with local governmental agencies or banks.

He added that the department of welfare for the state has no funds to employ staff members to certify households to participate in the stamp program. The would be for participating counties to pay the salaries and operating expenses of such employees. Presumably, local welfare departments staff members would be eligible to serve.

Legion Puts Its Accent On Youth

Virgil Taylor, Austin attorney and past commander of the Department of Texas, American Legion, was guest of the Howard County Post at its Thursday night meeting. Taylor, who has headed and worked with the Legion Boy's State for many years, told the Big Spring group that the future of the American Legion, but more so the future of America, is in the proper training and environment of our youth. During his term he worked for increased budget and activities in this phase of the Legion programs.

In other youth activities, Vice-Commander Joe Maenner, sergeant at Webb AFB, and scoutmaster of the Legion troop for handicapped youth, introduced Mike Kennedy, Bill Marks and Jerry Tibbetts, who reported on the participation of the troop at the annual summer Boy Scout camp at the Davis Mountain resort. Maenner accompanied his boys.

Commander Tim Jones announced an increased youth activity program under the Legion Americanism Committee by naming subcommittee chairmen for the various activities covered:

T. A. Thigpen, past commander, will head the oratory program. Thigpen has served as a district commander, has worked with other organizations in youth activities, and has 15 years in this program.

Mayor George Zachariah will again head the school award segment of the Americanism activities. Zachariah, a past commander, pioneered this activity with the post. His service in this youth program started in 1947.

Dr. Halver T. Hanson, past district Americanism chairman, will continue as advisor and conduct the memorials.

The American Legion baseball, for youths 15-18 years of age is the forerunner of all the organized baseball programs for the youngsters and nationally has sent more players to the major leagues than all other sources. Jack Pearson will continue for his 17th year to head

Courses Added To Y's Adult Activity Lists

Two new adult education classes are scheduled to begin at the YMCA Oct. 5 and 6. The Basic Bridge instruction, using the Goren point count, will be taught each Tuesday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. by Mrs. Hudson Landers, and will also run for eight weeks. Speechcraft, or how to speak in public effectively, will be taught each Monday from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. by members of the Downtown Toastmasters Club, and will also run for eight weeks.

Both of these will be for adults, in addition to the adult physical activities scheduled during each week.

"No previous knowledge of bridge is needed," Curtis Mullins, general secretary of the YMCA, said. "Those taking the course will learn the table, the fundamental techniques used today in bidding and playing of played. Instructions are for all, whether they are beginners or want to learn the Goren system. Fees for "Y" members is $6 and for non-members $8."

The speechcraft course is designed for beginners and will deal with the fundamental of public speaking, Mullins said.

"The ability to speak effectively is of prime importance as one of the ingredients of success," he continued. "People whose knees shake when they get before an audience may develop confidence and poise, organizing a speech, making impromptu talks, and points of emphasis and persuasion."

Fees for the course will be $5 for "Y" members and $6 for non-members.

The adult physical activities schedule follows: Women's Trim Fit class, Mon., Wed., Fri., 9:15 to 10:15 a.m.; women's volleyball, Thurs., 7-9 p.m.; men's fitness class, Mon., Wed., Fri., 5:30-6:30 p.m.; men's volleyball, Tues., Thurs., 5:30-7 p.m.; adult swim, Mon., Wed., Fri., 5:30-7 p.m.; Sat., 1:30-4 p.m.; family swim, Fri., 7-8:30 p.m.; Sat., 1:30-4 p.m.

The exercise room is open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

County Barn Bid Opening Is Set

Howard County Commissioners Court will open bids at 10 a.m. Monday on a new county barn building.

The structure will replace the present building which is said to be in bad repair.

Approximately $16,000 has been set up in the budgets for this and next year to pay for the new building. Plans and specifications have been approved by the commissioners. The new barn will be of prefabricated metal with a concrete floor.

Crazy Man! That Sidewalk Sale Has Wildest Bargains

"A Great Day of Selling" is going to be held in Big Spring tomorrow when 51 businesses join in the "Krazy - Sidewalk Sale" in most of the shopping areas of the city. Their displays will be placed on the outside of their stores—right on the sidewalk like old-timers did years ago. There will be plenty of wild bargains.

The Krazy-Sidewalk Sale will be new—at least in recent years—in Big Spring, but it has met with success in other areas where it is staged annually, according to information reaching the Chamber of Commerce office.

Some old timers recall the days, before refrigeration and modern canning methods, or even plate glass windows, when most merchants displayed some merchandise on the sidewalks. In fact pedestrians often had to walk on the curb to get around the congestion of sacked potatoes, peanuts, dried beans, wash tubs, wash boards, harness, saddles, furniture, bananas, barrels and cans of molasses, slickers, rubber boots, balls of rope, saw horses, and about anything else the dogs didn't bother.

More business men are urged to take part, even if they haven't called in their entries to the Chamber of Commerce. Those already signed up feel that it will be a drawing card for "sidewalk shoppers." They have slashed prices on items to be put out for pedestrian traffic.

Participating merchants, at 4 p.m. Friday, were: Anthony's, Gibsons, Ford Pawn Shop, Montgomery Ward, J. C. Penney, Sears, White's, Blum's Jewelry, The Record Shop, Zales Jewelry, McCrory's, Wackers (downtown and Eleventh Place), Western Auto Associate Store, Franklin Store, Firestone, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Carter Furniture, Foster Drug, Wheat Furniture, Leed's Shoe Store, Thomas Office Supply, W. T. Grant Store, Mary Jo Dress Shop, Settles Drug, Pragers Men's Store; Also Army Surplus Store, Bell's Eleventh Place Pharmacy, Big Spring Hardware, Bowen Jewelry, Bryant's Auction, Cannon Shoe Store, Furr's Food Stores, Lewis' Variety Stores (all four), Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Piggly-Wiggly, Modesta's, Safeway Stores, Sherwin-Williams, Ward Boot & Saddle Shop, the Bookstall, Wendy's Camera Center, Downtown Christensen Boot Shop, Village Shoe Shop, Stereo Music Shop, Sportsman - Toyland Center, Crystal Cafe, and Allen Grocery.

A Devotional For The Day

(God) said, Certainly I will be with thee. (Exodus 3:12)
PRAYER: Grant to us, O Lord, confidence in Thee that all our fears of the future may be removed. Guide us in knowledge of Thy precepts and by the unerring spirit of the Master, in whose name we pray. Amen.

George Mahon's Record Of Service

Your ballot on November 3 has contestants for elective offices from the presidency to the local precincts, and while most attention is centered on the Johnson-Goldwater race, there are offices vital to the people's welfare to be considered.

Paramount among these is that of the 19th congressional district, the 20-county South Plains area, including Howard H. Mahon, whose representative is George H. Mahon.

If ever a man deserved to have an overwhelming sendoff of backing and approval from his constituents, it is George Mahon this year. In the past few months, he has advanced to the chairmanship of the House Appropriations Committee, a position which ranks him among the half-dozen most influential members of the House.

This is a distinction earned by George Mahon through hard work and high knowledgeability, but it also is an honor to his district, one which we cannot treat lightly.

To be candidly practical about it, a voice of such influence as George Mahon's is worth very much to the 19th district and all its interests and all its people. He can speak up for the farmer, the oil man, the professional man, the businessman, the communities in this district.

This aspect of it, there is no question but that George Mahon can be of outstanding service, both to the nation and the district. We doubt if any person has ever called upon this congressman without getting a fair hearing and every reasonable service. We know that he has worked in the interest of the West Texas farmer. We know that he is aware of, and willing to help solve, the problems of the oil man and the rancher.

His record is strong enough proof that he has taken a reasonable and studied view of various national issues, and, in the main, has voted along with the majority views of West Texans.

The nation is fortunate to have a percentage of congressmen of the integrity and devotion of George Mahon. The 19th district is fortunate in being able to continue him in his position.

Impact And Delayed Impact

A story in today's Herald points out that a program of highway building, involving some eight million dollars, is nearing completion here.

This has had a robust impact on the local economy during the period of construction, and although completion means some momentary lag, the building phase will pale before the long range impact of these programs upon the community.

Highways are modern arteries of commerce, and the better they are, the better are our chance to realize nourishment from them.

Some of these highways are so good that travellers will whiz right on through, but if they have no legitimate business, this is exactly what we want them to do. On the other hand, if we can offer services they need and make them convenient, and see that they are properly advertised, we can still capture our fair share of the travelers who come down the pike.

Our already fine motel facilities are being bolstered by at least two new installations. Several new stations are coming into being and other auxiliary services will spring up. We now need to figure up some other allures, such as some tourist attractions, which will persuade the traveler to break his trip here and spend some time.

We need to turn our attention, too, toward some other highway projects which need to be pressed—the FM 700 west job to mention one.

Holmes Alexander Health Report On Goldwater

PHOENIX—Senator Barry Goldwater's personal physician is Dr. Leslie R. Kober, 62, steel-gray, highly honored in his profession, and as impassive as an electrocardiograph recorder in his medical judgments.

Last week I peeled off from the Goldwater airbase and flew to Phoenix for an engagement with Dr. Kober, whom I had never met. On Sunday morning, September 20th, he was good enough to pick me up at a motel and drive me to his home for a talk about the senator's general physical and mental health. When I asked Dr. Kober for some documentation, he drove me to his office in the Professional Building on Monroe Street in downtown Phoenix. There he went to his filing cabinet and brought out the folder containing Goldwater's medical history.

DR. KOBER moved to Phoenix and came to know Barry Goldwater as a patient in 1930 when Barry was 21 years old. Both Goldwater and Kober went off to World War II, but their relationship was resumed when they returned. A record of annual checkups begins in November 1946, and continues with a break or two until November 1962. When I asked Dr. Kober for some documentation, he drove me to his office in the Professional Building on Monroe Street in downtown Phoenix. There he went to his filing cabinet and brought out the folder containing Goldwater's medical history.

fever in 1942 he suffered an acute hepatitis... If I can be of assistance at any time, please do not hesitate to call on me. Sincerely, Leslie R. Kober, M.D.

ANOTHER MUCH more recent medical letter from Dr. Kober was written on January 3, 1964, to the Senator. It reads:

"Dear Barry: I am enclosing copies of your X-ray examination at St. Luke's Hospital on December 31, 1963. They seem to indicate nothing of any significance."

THUS FAR the reports are those of monotonous normality in a singularly healthy male specimen. But as Dr. Kober thumbed through his hand-written notes on Goldwater down the years, he came to this one which he handed to me to copy. It was dated December 16, 1957, and it read:

"Some increased mental and emotional tension lately. Needs rest and relaxation."

I asked Dr. Kober to dictate what I should write about this notation, and he said:

"I REVIEWED my written medical records on Senator Goldwater since 1946. The only item to be found any place in the entire record was an item on December 16, 1957, that he had mental and physical tension and needed rest. Examination showed normal cardiogram, etc."

"I would say that the record shows that for a man so active physically and mentally with prolonged periods of stress, his general mental and physical condition have been remarkable and reactions normal. I've never prescribed him even a tranquilizer—or any other kind of medication."

Billy Graham

One thing bothers me. Why do so many people leave their church and go into some kind of sect or other religion? I have often wondered about this. R. H.

One reason is: Some people are just not satisfied to be what they were brought up to be. Second-hand religion isn't satisfying to them.

The second reason is: People who stand for nothing fall for anything. Many people, for some reason or other, rebel against the religion they were brought up in. They usually don't take the trouble to have a faith of their own but when they do become interested in religion, some accept the first claptrap religion that appeals to their fancy.

In just about every Christian denomination, Christ is central. Regardless of the church we attend, each of us should have a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Christianity is not temples, creeds and rituals—it is a Person, the Person of Jesus Christ. We may join every church in town, but if Christ is not real to us, we have missed the whole point of being a Christian.

People who are not sure where they stand usually fail. This is why it is so important to study the Scriptures for yourself.

J. A. Livingston Soviets Gain Victory With British Credit

VIENNA — Charm, courtesy, grace. "Gemutlichkeit." That's Vienna to Americans. But, in these postwar years, this cosmopolitan city in which East and West meet, another attribute is warranted: Cynicism.

It comes forth in lime-juice wit. Example: "Premier Khrushchev has developed a new agricultural technique. He harvests grain sown in Canada and the United States, by ship, in the Soviet Union."

WHEN THE news broke that Great Britain had finally fractured the five-year credit limit to the Soviet Union by granting longer loans to purchase chemical and fertilizer plants, the Austrians altered the grain joke: "And now Khrushchev has found a way to transport factories to the Soviet Union from Britain, on the instalment plan."

Viennese bankers and economists do not regard the wheat and factory deals as harbingers of a rapid increase in East-West trade. Soviet commerce with the West has grown too gradually in recent years to suggest that it will suddenly boom (see chart).

Customarily, three limitations to East-West trade are cited:

1. THE AGREEMENT among North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) countries to deny the Communists strategic materials and equipment. This is the so-called COCOM list.
2. The convention to confine credits to five years—a convention to which the British had refused to subscribe and now have breached. But credits set their own limits.
3. They must be repaid. Although the Soviet Union has been "good, prompt pay" in all its postwar commercial obligations, its repayment potential is not inexhaustible. It must sell in order to repay. Western analysts, including the Viennese, ask: What can Russia sell—how can it expand its markets in the West—to meet major commitments?

PLAN. Soviet purchases and sales from abroad are programmed five years in advance. Departures from these projections require either an act from high—from Premier Khrushchev, himself—or a major emergency, like last year's wheat crisis.

Each five-year plan sets forth how much shall be spent on military outlays, capital goods and consumer goods. A radical increase in imports, even on credit, would necessitate readjustments up, down and across the plan. It would derange bureaucratic equilibrium. This invites resistance.

PERHAPS THIS is a reason why commercial negotiations of Western countries with the Soviet Union are usually protracted. Any undertaking must conform to the plan. Every ruble of foreign exchange—every dollar, or West German mark, or Austrian schilling—is spoken for and against. If funds are to be diverted from one project to another, some ministries must be persuaded to release funds allotted them.

Austrians complain that the Russians "force feed" exports to them—as farmers stuff geese to make liver for pate de foie gras. Austrian sales to the Soviet Union tend to run somewhat above purchases—in contrast to Soviet trade with Great Britain or Italy. This gives the Austrians a credit on trading account.

to their foreign exchange, their hard currencies, and use their debtor position as a sales weapon. If you want to be paid, buy!

Austrian trade is less than 1 per cent of the Soviet's total international volume. Russia's deficit with Austria in 1962 was only $22,000,000, based on imports of $67 million and sales of $45 million.

That the U.S.S.R. should haggle—should not pay Austria promptly in hard currency—raises a question: Is the Soviet Union rich in gold reserves? Does it act like a country whose gold mines are highly productive?

THE SOVIET UNION doesn't say to the British or the Italians, "Don't pay in hard currency—pay in goods." It welcomes the hard money, and even seems to manipulate its transactions to produce a plus balance. And, on top of that, it wants long-term loans.

The recent British credit to the U.S.S.R. is ironical. The British buy more than they sell in trade with Russia. So, in terms of strict bilateral commerce, the Soviet Union ought to grant British credit, instead of the other way around.

In the international poker game, the Russians play their cards well and close to their chest—how many gold chips do they have? To get long-term credit from Great Britain, which has had to borrow periodically to protect the pound, is an achievement in persuasion.

To Your Good Health Calluses On Feet Can Be Quite Troublesome

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I removed some calluses from the bottoms of my feet with a gray, sponge-like stone.

It seemed to do the job, but after a week I noticed my feet were very red and began itching. They now break open and bleed. What should I do now? —MRS. C. F.

Callus forms from abnormal pressure. Commonest causes are overweight, weak arches or other foot defects, and shoes which do not fit correctly.

You can grind off the callus (as with pumice or other abrasive) but that doesn't correct the cause. The callus will return.

But removing the thickened skin in that fashion can be harmful if done to extremes. Irritating the skin can make it vulnerable to fungus or even other infections, itching and bleeding.

The fungus is a secondary matter. Anti-fungus treatments doubtless will be successful. As the irritated skin recovers, the itching and bleeding will stop.

But the underlying trouble, whatever it is, which caused the callus ought to be corrected, and the sooner you start, the sooner and easier it will be. I suggest that you see an orthopedist or a podiatrist because you will continue to be miserable until your foot structure, your shoes, perhaps your weight if that is part of the problem, are corrected.

Dear Dr. Molner: Three years ago I was stopped short by a stab of pain as I crossed a street. I limped painfully to a doctor who thought it to be sciatica at first. But pain lingered, from hip down to the sort of deadness toward the foot. X-ray showed nothing. Finally he called it fibrositis or something similar to that, and said there was no cure except time. Is there some special treatment that can be obtained?—W. W.

Fibrositis or fibromyositis is inflammation of the muscle and its sheath—"fibro" for the fibrous tissue surrounding the muscle, and "myo" for the muscle itself.

mation subsides; in some cases injections of cortisone-type medication helps.

Since in this instance the pain has persisted for three years, and also because it is one-sided, I feel that a further checkup is warranted. A defect in a spinal disc, or arthritis of the spine could be present even though not seen in the first X-ray. It is even possible for such cases to be traced, occasionally, to a defect in the arch of the foot. It might be wise to have a test to rule out gout.

I suggest an orthopedist (bone specialist).

Attention all women! For the pamphlet, "The Pre-Menstrual Blues," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover printing and handling. This pamphlet may help you!

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Affection For An Automobile

If you're not running around looking at all the new model automobiles, and oh-ing and ah-ing over their trimness, beauty, power and sheer luxury, you are just not a red-blooded American.

The automobile is our way of life, and most of us would give up the kitchen in the home rather than part with the family bus.

THE PHILOSOPHERS might say that the U. S. fancy for automotive transportation was simply a transfer of affection from that bestowed on the noble horse. They tell me—since I'm so young—that there was a time when the mark of status was the ownership of a spanking matched pair that would whirl the buggy around town in eye-catching fashion.

Well, I don't know about the horse and buggy, but I have had affection for nearly every automobile that came into our family.

I CAN TELL YOU the first one. It was an Essex coach. I don't know whether I was thrilled to my teenage toes just because Papa acquired the family car, or because also that he sold the cow to do so, and thus my milking days were ended.

Anyway, there was the Essex, a sort of a cracker box perched up on a frame that had four wheels, as I remember. It wasn't quite up to Homer's Papa's car—a big Studebaker sedan that vaguely resembled a hearse—but it was pretty snazzy for its day.

THE COACH was a four-cylinder job, and was followed in due time by a couple of other Essex models which had become sixes. They turned out to be a little light for all-purpose work, as I recall, and there came the day that we advanced to a Hudson Super Six. Man! That was high cotton, and that old Hudson took the whole tribe to California and back, with only the usual run of flat tires, broken fan belts, radiator leaks and burned-out brake bands. This was par for the course, you understand, as was a maximum of about 300 miles per day, no matter what brand your car was.

IT WAS LATER that fortune permitted me to have a vehicle of my own, and this, I'll have you know, was a Model T coupe. Had a starter on it, no cranking.

They talk about bucket seats today. Heck, my gang removed the rear deck from that Lizzie, turned it around and made a back rest out of it, put some pillows on the floor, and we had a rumble seat that was a rumble seat. There could have been some dented sacroiliacs from sitting on the bed of a bouncing Model T, but who cared?

THE OLD COUPE finally went the way that tired old cars go, and was replaced with—watch it now—a Model A roadster. This one wasn't black, as Henry F. had previously decreed that all his cars should be, but a real bright blue. And the top let down, you know, and there really WAS a rumble seat.

Who wouldn't have affection for such noble products of the handiwork of Detroit? Model T's weren't easy to come by—just as it takes a bit of digging to handle one of today's sleek jobs. So a car is a car for a that, and a thing of value. Personally important to the owner, too.

—BOB WHIPKEY

Marquis Childs Big Money, Big Scandals

WASHINGTON—The lot of North Carolina Sen. B. Everett Jordan is not a happy one, and that can be rated the understatement of this campaign season.

He has a very hot potato in his lap as chairman of the Senate Rules Committee and he must decide whether to move before November 3 or to take delaying action. He is being pulled and hauled in several directions, and whatever course he follows is almost certain to bring recriminations down on his hapless head.

HOPEFULLY, The Bobby Baker case had been swept under the rug when Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware rose on the floor of the Senate to announce that he had a photostat of a canceled check showing a secret $35,000 payoff to the Democratic campaign of 1960. What is more, the alleged payoff came out of the federal Treasury, since it was part of a check covering the bonding cost of a federal project.

The check was signed by Matthew McCloskey, who was treasurer of the Democratic National Committee. It was made out to Don Reynolds for $109,205.60, which was $35,000 above the charge for the bond on the $14 million stadium McCloskey was building for the district of Columbia. Williams charged that Reynolds kept $10,000 of the overpayment and turned the other $25,000 over to Baker for the campaign.

THIS VERY serious charge compelled the Senate to reopen the Baker investigation. The question now is whether to call McCloskey or to wait until the FBI has completed the investigation which President Johnson requested and then, with all due deliberation, to study the FBI report.

Not much imagination is required to see how partisanship divides. The Republicans with glee, the Democrats with dismay, can see the venerable McCloskey, who was named ambassador to Ireland by President Kennedy, taking the Fifth Amendment. The harvest of black headlines would be manna for the GOP.

McCLOSKEY has raised millions of dollars for the Democratic party while making millions of dollars for himself building great structures for the federal government, one of the most recent of which is the huge new House Office Building that, according to some reports, will cost more than the Pentagon. The builder-big party contributor is an ancient custom with the Democrats.

The Republicans have been able in the past to rely on very wealthy contributors, such as the Pew family in Pennsylvania, who funnel money into the party through various channels. So long as the reliance is on the big money for ever-increasing campaign costs, with an apathetic public apparently willing that it should be so, scandals of one sort or another will come to light.

David Lawrence Ike's Confidence In Goldwater

WASHINGTON—Dwight Eisenhower was President of the United States for eight years, and before that, was the supreme commander of Allied Forces in Europe during the biggest vice, but finally, in his own heart and in his own mind, he has got the answer. And this applies to all kinds of weapons you would use to prevent all of the ways you would use to prevent the outbreak of war—and I am sure that with this kind of an approach you will be successful in keeping us on the road to peace."

THERE HAS BEEN in the campaign, moreover, a lot of talk about "brinkmanship." Former President Eisenhower discussed this criticism, which was directed against Secretary of State Dulles and now is being repeated against Senator Goldwater. Mr. Eisenhower defended "brinkmanship" as "absolutely necessary in this troubled world of ours to keep the peace." He added:

"It is something that you do to show that you are not going to sacrifice a single vital interest of the United States and, therefore, you're not going to be pushed around, but you're not going to extra step, and be the bully and say, 'get out of my way, I'm coming through.' That's not what you are doing. And it's a fine line there that everybody who, as I say, in this great position of responsibility has got to think about, ponder, and never be weak, but never be a bully."

"WELL, I AGREE with you," said Senator Goldwater. "I look upon my problem in getting peace in the world is to maintain all of our strengths—our spiritual strength, our moral strength, our economic, our political, our psychological strength, and our military strength. And the military becomes the last instrument of our national policy that we would ever use. But it is always there as a backup, and I would hate to see our country weaken itself..."

"I don't think anybody in this country wants war. I've been through one of them, and that's enough, and I don't want my children, or my grandchildren, or your grandchildren, or anybody's children going through war."

Sands' Students Take Part In County Fair

By DARLENE WRIGHT

The Dawson County Fair has created a great deal of excitement among the students this week, especially the agriculture boys who had projects entered in the fair. Mr. Henry Ball, agriculture teacher, sponsored the boys at the fair. FFA boys who entered the contest were Ricky Graham and Junior Franklin, who both entered Hereford steers, and Tommy Pitts, who won first place with his Angus steer.

Entering the fair at Lamesa from the Ackerly 4-H Club were Kenny Gillespie, who won a red ribbon with his Beef Masters steer; Junior Franklin, who won a blue ribbon with his Hereford steer; Perry Gillespie, who won a blue ribbon with his Hereford steer; Redgie Hambrick, who won a red ribbon with his Beef Masters steer; Tony Gillespie, who won a blue ribbon with his Hereford steer; and Richard Pitts, who won a blue ribbon with his Hereford steer. Lawrence Long, a member of the Knott 4-H Club, won a blue ribbon with his Hereford steer. The two booths the FFA were in charge of placed in the booth competition. The community booth placed sixth and the FFA booth placed fifth.

Mr. Jerry Hall, last year's secretary of the Sands Booster Club, announced that the Booster Club would soon have a meeting to select this year's officers and schedule this year's activities. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Booster Club should contact Mr. Jerry Hall, tax assessor and collector at the high school.

The Student Council held a meeting last Tuesday. It was decided that the activity periods every Wednesday should continue to be a weekly event throughout the school year. The Council also discussed ways in which they might help to promote school spirit. It was decided that the Student Council

Forsan FFA Members Meet Big Sisters

By SUSAN ELROD
The FFA had its first night meeting which was the official initiation of new members. A formal ceremony by candle light was given by the older members. Each freshman girl was introduced to her "Big Sister," who is an upper classman. We have four girls working for their state degrees in FFA. They are Karen Lawson, Patsy Gooch, Sara Findley, and Nelda Henderson.

The senior class picked out the style for their graduation invitations, Tuesday. The orders will be placed later in the year. Wednesday, Mrs. Ronnie Gandy took her English IV class to see the production of "Hamlet." The movie coincides with their study of William Shakespeare.

The high school choir has been working hard on their first program. They have decided on a theme of songs dealing with the forming of a nation. Coach Oscar Boeker honored the whole football team as players of the week because of their victory over Gail. This was the first time Forsan has ever defeated Gail in football.

Homecoming has been postponed because of a game cancellation. It is now scheduled for Oct. 9. The Student Council completed their invitations to the ex-students and mailed them. They are urging everyone to attend a chili supper before the homecoming, sponsored by the Junior class.

Mrs. Bill Conger's fourth grade gave an assembly program on Friday. The skit was "Belling the Cat." A melody of songs was then presented, including a take off on the Beatles. Kenny Davis, Mario Cevallos, Rudy Holguin and Mike Murphy were the singers.

NHS Members Installed

By CAROLYN SPRINGER

Installation services for new members in the Stanton Student Council and National Honor Society were held Wednesday. Carroll Anderson, president of the Student Council, administered the oath first to the new council members, and then to the student body. Mary Wilson, president of the National Honor Society, led the new NHS members in their oath.

The first meeting of the National Honor Society was held on Sept. 21. The NHS is looking forward to a successful year under the leadership of able officers Mary Wilson, president;

Beth Biggs, vice president; and Betty Glaspie, secretary-treasurer. Mr. William E. Harrell is sponsor. Plans are being made for an NHS sponsored banquet to be held in the spring.

Senior pictures will be made this Wednesday. All seniors please remember this date! The Future Homemakers of America held its initiation of new members Sept. 21. The formal installation was held in the school auditorium Sept. 21. Susan Brandt played background music as the guides, Janice Burgess, Mary Wilson, Sherry Vest, Beverly Clements, Cindy Pickett, Judy Barnhill, Becky Long, and Eunice Stephenson, presented new members. Officers participating in the installation were Charlotte Khulman, president; Carolyn Springer, vice president; Brenda Standerfer, secretary; and Cindy Britton, songleader. New members installed were: Janette Avery, Patricia Badgett, Martha Bradshaw, Neale Ferguson, Charolette Flippo, Linda Glaspie, Barbara Harrell, Kay Harrell, Linda Hays, Cathy Hazlewood, Jane Hughes, Katrina Johnson, Sharon Khulman, Luan Louder, Linda Mullins, Joyce Standerfer, Gayle Tallent, Kathy Therwanger, Margaret Uhlman, Christine Woodrow, Anita Woody, Myra Lawler, and Pam Williams.

All students are urged to buy their annual now. They may be purchased from any member of the annual staff for $5.

The second edition of the "Buffalo Rumble" was published on Friday. The twenty-two students on the paper staff have been working hard, along with their advisor, Mrs. Thixton, to put the paper out.

In listing pledges from Big Spring to sororities at Texas Tech for the fall semester, Judith Kay Jones was incorrectly identified. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell N. Jones, 1401 E. 6th, and she pledged Chi-Omega.

The FFA and the FFA club entered exhibits at the Lamesa fair this week. The FFA girls entered an exhibit on "Flower Arranging." The FFA exhibit was entitled "What To Do or What Not To Do When It Is Lightning."

The high school went to Lamesa Thursday morning to watch the judging of the exhibits. The students left at 9 o'clock on buses and returned at dinner to resume classes.

The senior class has started working on the annual. An annual meeting was held Tuesday night and the annual staff began work on the "Dragons Trail."

The football team lost to Sterling City last Friday night. The pep squad marched at halftime. They formed an "E" for the Eagles and a "T" for the Dragon team.

A social was held in the home-making room after the football game for Sterling City and Dragon teams.

The next football game will be with Klondike. It will be the first district game.

By KATY COCHRAN

Delegates from San Angelo, Midland, and Big Spring met Sept. 21 at the YMCA for the election of West Texas Hi-Y District II Council officers. Those offices filled from Big Spring were secretary, Julia Vaughn, and second vice president, Gary Fish.

The various clubs have been working on their bills for pre-leg which is to be held Oct. 5. Also at pre-leg, nominations for Senate Reading Clerk and a Governor will be made. A discussion of the bills and an explanation of Pre-Leg will be on the agenda.

The Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y's are planning to sell Halloween candy again this year. The cost will be $1 per bag and they will go on sale Oct. 19.

There is a great demand for more participation in the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y program. Anyone interested in joining should come to the Y Monday at 7:30 p.m.

'Bark' Staff Is Organized

By LEITHA MASON

The "Bark" staff, for the first time since Coahoma has been putting out a school paper, is now affiliated with the Interscholastic League Press Conference. Each issue will be sent to the press to be criticized and compared with other school papers. The "Bark" staff members will be attending work shop and entering contests during the year.

Officers for the "Bark" are Judy Wolf and Ann Bennett, co-editors; Lathan Wood, production editor; Donna Coates, copy editor; Terry Eders, business manager; Eddie McHugh and Larry Newman, sports editors; Sharon Casbeer and Marilyn Parrish, typists; and Mrs. Janie Parrish, sponsor.

Anyone who is interested in working or writing for the school paper should contact Judy Wolf, Ann Bennett, or Mrs. Parrish.

The Student Council has as one of its projects, to improve school spirit. Members of the council have asked that everyone bring a white cup towel to be used for a victory sign. Also a suggestion box has been placed in the library for any ideas for improving school spirit.

Last Friday, the freshmen were required to wear signs all day concerning the Coahoma-Stanton game. A box of candy was presented to Marilyn Teale and Mike Childers for the two best signs.

Mr. Bill Easterling, principal of Coahoma Elementary School, went to Mississippi last week to bring back a new school bus.

The Coahoma Quarterback Club will purchase a new bus as this year's project. It will be used for transportation of high school students on out-of-town trips. It will be painted gray with a Bulldog, the school mascot, on each side.

The enrollment for the Coahoma school system has reached an all time record. At the present time there are 924 students. There are 200 in high school, 165 in junior high, 165 in grade school, 255 in elementary, and Midway has 149.

The junior class ended their magazine sales Tuesday. The top two salesmen were Nadine Honeycutt and Ann Bennett. Prizes will be awarded to these girls, as well as to others who sold a certain number of subscriptions. This money will go toward financing the junior-senior banquet, which will be held later in the year.

The Bulldogs won their second straight victory last Friday by defeating the Stanton Bulldogs by a score of 36-7. This was the first time in a number of years that the Bulldogs have beaten the Buffaloes, although in '63 they tied them.

This week, instead of playing on Friday night, the game was played Saturday. Out to win their third victory, the Bulldogs played the Big Spring B-team here at Coahoma. The pep rally was held as usual on Friday afternoon in the gym, but in addition one was held Saturday afternoon down town. The Bulldogs will open their district play against Roby next week at Roby.

Ted Cearly, senior guard, and Tony Butler, junior fullback, were honored this week with the Players of the Week award.

The annual staff has been working on the annual every Tuesday after school. They have asked the seniors to bring their baby snapshots by the end of this week. Also, annuals will go on sale starting the first week of October. They will be on sale for about two weeks, so be sure and order yours soon.

The sophomore class is selling pennants with the school mascot on them. You may get one from any class member, and they will also be sold at the home games.

The high school and junior high cheerleaders are selling Bulldog football men. On Wednesday, ribbons will go on sale for the week's game.

The seniors have signed up to take the ICT test later in the year. Mr. Bill Fishback, principal, spoke to seniors about the test.

The FFA sponsored a party after the Stanton - Coahoma game. This was held in the activity room for both high schools.

Sam Oakes, Tommy Menser, Stanley Phillips, Bobbie Haney, Terry Denton, Eddie Read and Mr. Gerald Oakes, sponsor, went to Stanton last week for a district FFA meeting.

Goliad Class Officer Candidates Make Speeches

By MARTHA JORDAN

Candidates for the various class officers made political speeches at the assembly-pep rally held in the Goliad gym on Sept. 24. Thomas Land, president of the Student Council, served as master of ceremonies and introduced the candidates.

More than 850 assembled students were a receptive audience for the speeches given. Students will vote for class officers during home room period Monday.

The assembly also served as a pep rally for the week's scheduled football games. Eighth and ninth grade cheerleaders led the yells. Coach Jack Tayrien announced that the 8th and 9th grade games, scheduled for Thursday against Snyder-Travis at the old stadium, would be postponed until Saturday because of the rainy weather. Coach Tayrien also gave a brief talk on school spirit and the importance of attending the home games.

The Goliad band elected officers this week. Elected were the following: Bobby Polk, president; Mike Mimms, secretary; Gordon Marchant, drum major; Mr. Russell McKiski, band director, has counted the votes for band sweetheart; the winner will be announced at a later time. All ninth grade band girls were eligible for selection.

Goliad Chapter of the FFA held its first meeting Friday. The program consisted of a panel discussion on "Who You Are As an Individual." Beverly Merrick was elected as Co-Ed Magazine reporter for the Goliad FFA.

The Goliad Student Council held its regular meetings on Monday and Wednesday. Members voted for a box to be placed in the school for students' suggestions. Mrs. Leland Calvert, student council sponsor, appointed the calendar committee to supply the box. Students who wish to make suggestions must have them signed by at least 10 students.

"Poise, Posture, Position" was the theme as ninth grade health students marched down the stairs with books on their heads. Mr. Oakley Hagood, health teacher, stressed that "the way you walk, stand and sit is a reflection of you and of

The Goliad art teachers have plans for an extremely busy week. They will attend an art workshop to be held at the senior high school on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Goliad annual staff is hard at work planning and doing groundwork on the 1964-65 yearbook. Early indications are that this year's issue will be quite successful. Annuals go on sale Monday, Oct. 5, and the sale will continue until Nov. 10, 1964.

Students are urged to buy an annual, and so to preserve a record of their junior high school years.

Sept. 30 marks the end of four and one half weeks of school. Pink slips will be issued Oct. 5. These are notices indicating that a student is not doing satisfactory work and giving him an opportunity to raise his grade before report card time. Those who receive pink slips must return them with their parent's signature.

Students who wish to register for the free record given away through the Megaphone, may do so in the gym dressing rooms. Blanks for entries will be placed in the gymnasium, Monday the 28th.

'BEDTIME STORY'
Marlon Brando, Shirley Jones, David Niven

Likes Appearing In Brando Film

Shirley Jones finds that pitching woo with Marlon Brando, as she's doing in "Bedtime Story," is replete with surprises. Almost never, she reports, does he do the same thing the same way twice in succession, even for the same scene in the romantic comedy, in which the third party is David Niven. The color picture opens today at the Jet Drive-In.

To cope with Brando's free-wheeling techniques a girl has to keep on her histrionic toes nonstop, she says, because, unlike most such sequences, there's no blueprint to work from.

"Go into a clinch with the average actor," relates Miss Jones, "and no matter how many takes the director requests chances are the routine will be acted out in precisely the same way."

Most of the torrid embraces that singe the edges of the acetate strip and appear so smoothly performed to the spectator are the end result, she says, of perhaps many hours of concentrated work on the part of the participants.

If Brando's celluloid love making has an elan uniquely his own that's because he spurns the lessons taught in the drama schools and strikes out on his own, she observes.

Debbie Reynolds Stars In New Ritz Feature

Wonderful entertainment is in store for everyone who sees the rousing, infectious, eye-filling musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," based on the Broadway stage success which held theatregoers for more than two years.

The stars are Debbie Reynolds, as the hoydenish, illiterate Molly, who rises from abject poverty to incredible riches in America's most fabulous Cinderella story; and Harve Presnell, the golden-voiced six-footer, who makes his motion picture debut in the role of strike-rich Johnny Brown, the part he created to sensational triumph on the stage.

With them are Academy Award-winner Ed Begley in his first musical comedy role, Jack Kruschen, stage and screen comedian, and screen comedienne Hermione Baddeley, Vassili Lambros, Marita Hunt, Audrie Christie and a large supporting cast, including some outstanding dancers.

The film retains Meredith Willson's score, including such hits as "Belly Up to the Bar, Boys," "Colorado Is My Home," "I'll Never Say No," "I Ain't Down Yet" and "Soliloquy," together with "He's My Friend," written especially for the picture.

"Stars" in their own right are the magnificent scenic backgrounds of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," filmed in Panavision and color on locations in the Colorado Rockies; the sumptuous interiors, including the fabulous mansion which Molly and Johnny build in Denver when they try to "crash" society; and the rich and elaborate period costumes designed by Morton Haack, with 22 wardrobe changes for Debbie alone.

'UNSYNKABLE MOLLY BROWN'
Debbie Reynolds and Harve Presnell

The story traces the rise of ragtail Molly who sets out for the mining town of Leadville to get herself a rich man, but is temporarily detoured when she falls in love with and marries the young miner, Johnny Brown. As it turns out, Johnny makes the richest gold strike in Colorado history. Snubbed by Denver society despite their wealth, Molly takes Johnny with her to Europe, where she acquires both culture and social triumphs at the cost of the break-up of her marriage. In the end, Molly weighs the merits of worldly renown and her love for her husband, with the latter turning the scales. And, after a spectacular climax involving the sinking of the Titanic in which Molly proves herself a heroine, she wins back both Johnny and the esteem of the Denversites who had once turned their backs on her.

Interlarded amid both laughs and tears are some spirited and imaginative production numbers. Most of the principals participate in the numbers but Debbie Reynolds does the dancing of her life in such revels as the explosive "Belly Up to the Bar, Boys," "I Ain't Down Yet" and "He's My Friend."

They Plan To Shoot Down Bonanza Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — On or about Feb. 23 next, Adam Cartwright is going to get plugged by an outlaw and be buried in Boot Hill.

No cowpoke will have gone to his grave happier than Adam, or rather Pernell Roberts, who has played the role on television's "Bonanza" for five years. The announcement that Pernell was departing came last week. Along with many other things concerning the show, he took exception to it.

"The release made it sound as if they were dropping me," he commented. "That's not true. They held me to a contract for six years. I'm getting out as soon as it is contractually possible, which is next February."

"I was unhappy with the show from the beginning. For three years I fought for some improvement in the quality of the product, but there was never any meeting of minds. The last two years I have spent in a state of resignation, serving my time to the end of the contract. "The others in the cast decided to renew their contracts. That's their business."

"No, I can't say I will leave members of the company with pleasant feelings. But I have tried to be a stoic about the whole thing. Why dwell on the

Stagecoach Depot Provides The Set

A remote stagecoach depot somewhere out West is the setting for the new Technicolor western "Stage To Thunder Rock," which opens Saturday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Heading its cast is Barry Sullivan, Marilyn Maxwell, Scott Brady, Lon Chaney and Keenan Wynn.

"Stage To Thunder Rock" is the story of seven people, who find themselves gathered in a stagecoach depot. Each one of these people have the same conflicting interest . . . 50,000 dollars in stolen bank money which Sheriff Horne (Barry Sullivan) has just recovered.

From the opening scene of this outdoor drama to the climax, not a moment is left without suspense. While Sheriff Horne is waiting for the morning stage he has the unenviable job of protecting the money and keeping an eye on his prisoner and the other greedy members at the stage depot. As the hours pass, the vigil becomes more and more tense and the film rolls to its surprise ending.

Expecting Break With Cubans

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Reports are circulating in several Latin American countries that Mexico will break diplomatic relations with Cuba, Mexican Foreign Minister Jose Gorostiza said.

He said these reports are nothing more than speculation.

'Young And Willing'

Talented Youths Get Movie Break

With top box-office stars down to the barest minimum, something significant is happening in the world of motion pictures. Film producers are placing more and more emphasis on talented youth.

Latest confirmation of this development is provided by the new Universal release "Young and Willing" which will begin an engagement today at the State Theatre. The choice of five unknowns to play leading roles in "Young and Willing" is the more daring because the average age of these talented young performers is little more than 21.

"Young and Willing" is a film about youth—a story of intrigue and the undercurrents of life at a provincial university in England. And the team of Box and Thomas spent many months seeking out the right talent for these young college-age roles. It is a known fact that the producer and director of "Young and Willing" have an uncanny knack of discovering talent, as witness the fame of actresses like Brigitte Bardot and Claudia Cardinale.

Is the public ripe for new names? The question has been partly answered by the success of people like Albert Finney, Alan Bates, Rita Tushingham and June Ritchie—all of them young English actors with talent and the capacity to work and learn.

In "Young and Willing," youth is represented by Ian McShane, Samantha Eggar, Catherine Woodville, John Hurt and David Sumner.

past? It's better for mental health to try to forget."

Pernell has long been the outsider of the "Bonanza" quartet. The others are Lorne Greene, Michael Landon and Dan Blocker. Roberts is a self-made man, an actor and a maverick. Even though the series has earned him more money than he had ever known as an actor, he considered its plots and character development shallow and formula.

Does he have any plans following his liberation? "Not as yet," he replied. "You can't plan very far ahead in show business, I suppose. I will want to get back to the stage, and that means Broadway ultimately."

Purge May Be Planned

By The Associated Press

A Stalin-like purge — first such major housecleaning in its history — may be in store for the Chinese Communist party with high-ranking members of the leadership among its targets.

The tone of Red Chinese pronouncements on the need for a "rectification" campaign in the party leads the reader to suspect that this time the purge will be reminiscent of Stalin's crackdown on the followers of Leon Trotsky and all others who disagreed with him.

The object of this purge would be to remove from authority throughout the party any persons suspected of sympathizing with what Peking's propaganda calls "modern revisionists," meaning followers of Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Peking has made "modern revisionism" a cardinal crime for Chinese Communists.

Clearly, in high places in China, there is what the Communists call an "anti-party group" that disagrees with Mao Tse-tung's theories and policies, both domestically and in the tangled jungle of the Soviet-Chinese Communist dispute.

Today's Red Chinese leaders have led the party for 30 years without a major purge in the style of the Stalin-era crackdowns in the Soviet Union.

Downed Doves Not Retrieved

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Parks and Wildlife Department said one of every five doves killed during the recent whitewing season in the Rio Grande Valley area were not retrieved.

E. A. Walker, assistant director for wildlife, said the loss percentage "was about average." Walker said biologists have set the whitewing take at 289,000. About 49,000 birds were not retrieved. The pre-hunt Valley whitewing population was estimated at 1.2 million.

West Germany will issue two additional stamps in its "capital cities" series, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. One stamp is for West Berlin and the other for West Germany itself, but both show the Reichstag, former legislative headquarters for the German government. Gutenberg was born in Mainz and the museum has his personal effects and early printing presses.

The lowest value features a reproduction of the 1914 rally postcard showing a view of Monaco and a map indicating the starting points. This stamp is diamond shaped.

Peru has belatedly issued a 5-sols airmail stamp marking the 50th anniversary of the first crossing of the Alps by Peruvian aviator Jorge Chavez on Sept. 23, 1960. Turns Whistle Into An Alarm

CHICAGO (AP) — A motorist turned his train whistle into a fire alarm, arousing sleeping residents of a burning apartment.

Paul Bagato, 51, of suburban Cicero, saw flames whipping out of a bedroom window when his elevated train passed about 5 a.m.

He stopped the train and yanked the whistle cord for several minutes. Lights went on all over the neighborhood.

Bagato then moved the train to the next stop and telephoned the fire department, which put out the flames.
