Young Getty Turns Up Minus Ear

ROME (AP) — J. Paul Getty III was found alive Saturday, five months after disappearing from a Rome hippie haunt. His right ear was gone and his release was reported to have cost nearly $3 million in ransom.

Family sources put the figure at $2.7 million. More than a week ago Getty's mother said ransom money was made available through her ex-husband. The 17-year-old grandson of American oil billionaire J. Paul Getty was in good health despite the missing ear and what he said were long transfers by his kidnapers through rugged countryside from one hideout to another.

Police said he did not describe how his ear was removed. A Rome newspaper had received an ear and a lock of hair described as Paul's and allegedly sent in an effort to prove the kidnapping was not a hoax.

Paul was found shivering in a rainstorm and sub-freezing temperatures at a gasoline station along the superhighway leading south from Naples to Sicily.

"I had been standing there for hours trying to stop passing cars," police quoted him as saying. "But nobody would stop."

A truck driver saw the boy and called police. Later he was reunited with his mother, former actress Gail Harris, and then they drove back to Rome.

Police said the boy gave scant information on his captivity. He said he was abducted from Piazza Farnese, a hangout for hippies and drug pushers in downtown Rome, early in the morning of July 10 after leaving a night club.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

Pre-Christmas trade, brisk all week, reached a new high Saturday with most commercial areas jammed with shoppers. Even after discounting the inflation factor, most businesses are showing substantial gains. And most of them may be about cleaned out of seasonal merchandise by the end of the year.

One of those tragedies which can't happen but did claimed the life of Tommie L. Romine, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Romine, Thursday. With companions from West Texas State College, he was sliding down a Canyon slope when momentum caused him to lose control and he hurtled over precipice. In another unusual mishap, Robert Fred Surratt, 28, choked to death on a bit of food at his room in the Big Spring State Hospital.

Our cotton harvest now is around 55,000 bales and some observers felt this might be about 70 per cent complete. As gins fell further behind, the number of big ricks of cotton increased in fields. To the north, Dawson County has processed 100,000 bales — and there is a possibility another 100,000 bales may yet come in. Prices continue to hold well above the 50-cent mark. Hence, cotton producers may have more money than ever before in history, but bankers are cautioning them to hold

Special Session Comments

Here are comments from a number of legislators concerning the calling of the special session of the legislature beginning Tuesday:

Sen. Grant Jones, Abilene, said, "If the federal government passes that law, we won't have much choice other than to comply with what they mandate. I hate to see us take action at a state level until they have completed work at the federal level."

Rep. Lynn Nabors, Brownwood, said, "I don't know whether I favor lowering speed limits or not. I would like for it to be 60 miles per hour. This is the feds dangling a carrot in front of us. If we don't take the action they want, they could take away our highway trust funds. I would like to wait and see what Congress passes before I make up my mind."

Rep. Elmer Martin, Colorado City, said, "I support lowering speed limits because we are in a fuel crisis and we need to do all we can in order to keep industry going."

Rep. Joe Hanna, Breckenridge, said he is in favor of lowering speed to 55. "We need to conserve gasoline. All the best information we have says we are in a real crisis. This is not unprecedented. We did it during the war and then we rolled it back to 35 as I recall."

Rep. Renal Rosson of Snyder said he is "not in favor of dropping the speed limits any more than we have to. I think we ought to find out what the feds are going to demand before we do any volunteer work in that area."

Jack Hightower of Vernon said he favors lower limits but hopes it will be limited to speed limit issue.

Railing Crash Kills Blind Man

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A blind young man was killed early Saturday morning when the car in which he was a passenger crashed through an expressway railing in San Antonio. He was identified as Richard Foster.

Borger Explosion Hurts At Least 12

BORGER, Tex. (AP) — At least 12 persons were injured, some critically, Saturday afternoon when a series of gas explosions ripped parts of the southeast section of this Panhandle city.

Six of the injured were firemen. Several homes were set afire.

"The main fires are out right now," a fire department spokesman said shortly before 7 p.m. "We are just trying to keep people out of there."

"I don't think there are any deaths," the spokesman said. At least two men, critically burned were rushed to an Amarillo hospital. They were identified as W. S. Cutrell of Stinnett, and a railroad switchman, and R. L. Harris, a Borger fireman. Authorities at the scene said workers were trying to unload

U.S. OFFICIALS EXPRESS CONFIDENCE Mid-East Peace Parley Delayed

By The Associated Press
Egypt said Saturday that the Middle East peace conference scheduled to begin on Tuesday in Geneva has been delayed for three days, Cairo's official Middle East News Agency reported.

United States officials traveling with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in the Middle East said the problem was in arrangements for invitations to the conference. Kissinger talked for six hours in Damascus with a grim-faced President Hafez Assad of Syria. He then flew to Amman for talks Saturday night with King Hussein of Jordan.

SQUABBLE
The squabble over invitations centers on Arab insistence that the conference be tightly controlled by the United Nations. Israel, which has few friends in the United Nations, wants the American and Soviet roles emphasized.

U.S. officials are optimistic that the problem will be resolved when Kissinger visits Israel. He is due to arrive in Tel Aviv Sunday night.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy said the delay was due to contacts under way among the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Lebanon.

He met Saturday with the Cairo ambassadors of those countries and informed them of the Egyptian position, the news agency said.

Egypt did not immediately indicate what was being discussed.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who had planned to fly to Geneva Sunday to attend the conference, canceled his flight, a Soviet diplomatic source in Geneva said. Kissinger had been scheduled to dine with Gromyko on Monday night in Geneva.

DEAR FRIEND
In Tel Aviv, Premier Golda Meir said over Israeli state television Saturday, before any public word on the conference delay, that Israel may have to deny American requests at the conference. She didn't specify what the disagreements might be.

"But whenever we do have arguments with America," she said, "we know we are arguing with a dear and great friend."

She said she expected the peace conference to be drawn out and "replete with crises."

The Cairo news agency said Fahmy had contacted Syrian officials about the conference delay and said, "there is complete coordination between Egypt and Syria on this."

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT — Housewife Dru Briggs decided to become a student again after raising a family. Now, at 44, she's student body president at Bellevue, Wash., Community College. She said she decided to run for president because housewives weren't being adequately represented.

'Uppity Women Unite' Champion

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) — Housewife Dru Briggs "just quit work one day and came over" to Bellevue Community College to see if she could make it again as a student after raising a family.

Now, at 44, she's the student body president.

Wearing her "Uppity Women Unite" button, she notes 2,000 of the 7,000 students at the two-year college are housewives attending on a part-time basis.

The former saleswoman and one-time model decided to run for president because the housewives weren't being adequately represented, she says.

"Three years ago the women were going to their cars to eat their lunches because they felt out of place," she said.

And she says she's already making changes. "I'm instituting a new government," BCC has just elected its first student senate under her leadership.

Ms. Briggs, who has sons 17 and 13 and prefers "Ms." to "Mrs.," gave up her academic career as a music major years earlier. This time around she says she's interested in a society and justice program that would prepare her for social work.

"Singers retire about this time of life anyway," she said.

She wants to attend the University of Washington but for someone just re-entering the academic mainstream "the university looked like a pretty scary place."

"I think the community colleges are the greatest thing since peanut butter. They give women returning to college a chance to test the waters — and themselves — and build their confidence."

Nixon Signs Daylight Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed a bill Saturday putting the nation on year-around Daylight Saving Time starting Jan. 6.

He also called for Congress to act before the Christmas recess next week on the more expensive energy conservation bill which cleared the House early Saturday.

Nixon said the extra hour of evening daylight will save "an estimated equivalent of 150,000 barrels of oil a day" this winter.

GET UP EARLIER
The measure cleared Congress Friday, and Nixon acted quickly so clocks can be moved ahead one hour beginning at 2 a.m. Jan. 6. Had he waited another day, the law could not have taken effect before Jan. 13.

Under the law, daylight time will be in effect all year for a two-year period and for the first time since World War II. Some estimate its impact could reduce electricity and heating demands by up to 3 per cent, mainly in the North.

As a companion to the law, Nixon also signed an executive order setting up machinery for considering appeals from parts of the country, notably states falling into two time zones, to seek exception from the daylight time requirement.

QUICK ACTION
The House worked into the early morning hours Saturday to pass an emergency energy bill — the one Nixon is urging quick action on. However, it differs in many respects from similar Senate-passed legislation and requires compromises that would have to be worked out quickly if a final bill is to reach Nixon's desk by the end of next week.

The House version was passed by 265 to 112 following a 15-hour session that included 23 roll-call votes and decisions on 50 proposed amendments.

The measure gives Nixon broad powers to deal with the energy crisis but was amended by the House to prohibit allocation of funds for busing children beyond neighborhood schools and to cut off all petroleum exports for military use in Indochina.

MANY DIFFERENCES
Another amendment would give either house of Congress 15 days in which to veto by majority vote any administration plan to ration gasoline or other fuels.

Senate-House conferees are expected to start work Monday on resolving the many differences.

Both versions would give the president such powers as rationing gasoline and making a ban on Sunday gasoline sales compulsory. Clean-air standards could be waived to permit burning of dirtier fuel.

Reductions in speed limits, thermostat restrictions in both public and private offices and curtailment of hours in schools and other institutions would be authorized. The House bill, however, would require congressional approval of these conservation actions.

Other major differences are the House's inclusion of anti-busing provisions and its restrictions on oil company profits.

ENERGY POLICY
Some administration actions have been announced in anticipation of passage of the bill.

The President had set aside Saturday morning to go to the National Naval Medical Center in suburban Bethesda, Md., for his annual physical checkup. He canceled that plan, however, because aides said he wanted to devote most of the day to the energy crisis.

Nixon met with William E. Simon, head of the new Federal Energy Office, and his deputy, John C. Sawhill, to discuss energy policy.

Plainview Train Wreck

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Two persons were killed Saturday evening when two Santa Fe freight trains collided just south of this northwest Texas city.

A spokesman for the Department of Public Safety said no other persons were injured. There was no fire.

The names of the two victims were not available.

The World At-A-Glance

SAIGON (AP) — About 30 Communist troops ambushed and killed an unarmed American officer and wounded four other U.S. soldiers as their choppers landed to search for the remains of a GI 12 miles south of Saigon, a survivor said.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Common Market leaders ended their summit talks unable to agree on oil policies and embarrassingly split into pro-Arab and pro-Israeli factions. Still they were in enough accord to warn four uninvited Arab foreign ministers that their oil cutback could yet harm the Arab cause.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue checks of truck stops shows that the rate of violators selling diesel fuel above price ceilings continues at 26 per cent, the Cost of Living Council said. The rate under a nationwide check begun Monday was the same as a check of 16 states the previous week, the council's deputy director, James W. McLane said. He said the check of truck stops has resulted in 567 price roll backs so far.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger denounced the shooting attack on a South Vietnamese "despicable act" and said "we should be prepared to take the necessary measures" to prevent a recurrence. "We will indicate our substantial displeasure to the other side, but we will not cease the search for the missing in action," Schlesinger said during a talk before a group of Jaycees officers.

WIDOWER CAN COLLECT WIDOW'S BENEFITS

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A three-judge federal court has ruled that a widower can collect widow's benefits under Social Security.

The court said Friday that the Social Security Act discriminated against Stephen Weisenfeld when it denied him "mother's insurance benefits" after his wife, who was the family breadwinner, died in childbirth on June 5, 1972.

Weisenfeld's wife, Paula, was a teacher, and he was continuing college studies.

Weisenfeld, of Edison, N.J., applied for the Social Security benefits when his wife died and was turned down. The benefits would now amount to $248.30 a month.

The opinion written by U.S. District Court Judge Clarkson S. Fisher ruled Section 402 G of the Social Security Act invalid because it "discriminates against women such as Paula, who have successfully gained employment, as well as against men and children who have lost their wives and mothers."

Dissident Truckers Mulling Shutdown

By The Associated Press

Some truck drivers who pulled their rigs off the road to protest rising fuel prices and lower speed limits said Saturday they would continue their stoppage through the weekend.

But other truckers across the country seemed to be having second thoughts about whether to continue the shutdown.

Bob Webb, a 33-year-old trucker manning telephones at a trucker manning telephones at a house in Denver, predicted Saturday night the shutdown "will hold the weekend or maybe another 48 hours."

DOUBT However, Webb said a number of truckers were expressing doubts on whether to continue the stoppage.

"We're finding that a lot of people are telling them it's time to roll, but we don't think so," he said. "Some truckers probably don't believe in the shutdown and are trying to convince others."

Mike Parkhurst, editor of Overdrive Magazine, said Saturday morning that drivers were back on the road except around Denver, Lamar, Pa., and Old Washington, Ohio.

By Saturday night only six trucks were still stopped at Old Washington, but shutdowns continued around Denver and in some areas of eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

Officials in Ohio and Pennsylvania said truck traffic was lighter than on a normal Saturday.

In Washington, energy chief William E. Simon said Saturday night that he has talked to President Nixon about the trucker's complaints of price gouging, low speed limits and diesel fuel shortages.

FUEL PRICES Simon said that under new fuel allocations, truckers will receive 110 per cent of the fuel they used in 1972. He also said Internal Revenue Service agents have been investigating fuel prices at truck stops around the nation.

Leaders of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, which claims 25,000 members in the central and eastern United States, voted Saturday afternoon to stop participating in the shutdown.

However, William Hill, association president, said the group would call for another strike next month if the truckers' demands are not met.

Hill said that Saturday's meeting in Pittsburgh involved only association members in Ohio and Pennsylvania. But he said he expected other chapters in the organization to follow.

In Ohio, some drivers at East Liverpool and Youngstown ended their shutdowns after learning of the Pittsburgh vote.

YOU CAN'T FIGHT MAMA

LAMAR Pa. (AP) — A trucker who calls himself Michigan Running Bear says the driver shutdown will be a success if America's women get angry.

"When mama citizen goes shopping Monday morning and finds the shelves empty," he said, "she's going to want to know why."

"Washington knows how to fight a man, they know how to fight kids who stir up protests, but they never figured out how to fight a woman."

"If these women get mad, something's going to get done."

Garden City Man Injured

GARDEN CITY — Joe B. Sellers, 45, Garden City, was listed in critical condition at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene Saturday.

He and his wife, Bobbie, 44, were injured in a one-fatality, head-on collision four miles west of Tye on IS-20 at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Sellers was suffering from numerous fractures and in the hospital's intensive care unit. His wife was in satisfactory condition.

Herman Albert Rutch, 47, Clovis, N.M., was killed. He was driving alone in a 1969 car.

Rutch appeared to have "lost control" of his car, which crossed the median, meeting the 1973 pickup driven by Sellers in the west-bound lane, Texas Highway Patrolman J. C. Welch said.

Funeral arrangements for Rutch were pending at Kiker-Warren Funeral Home in Abilene.

Youth Facing Marijuana Rap

An 18-year-old local man was arrested for public drunkenness, possession of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphernalia at 12:54 a.m. Saturday.

Police reported finding the youth unconscious under a telephone in the Holiday Inn lobby.

A small plastic bag of marijuana and plumbing fixtures adapted as pipes were among the items they said they found on the suspect. The youth was in city jail Saturday.

Cyclist Killed

DALLAS (AP) — Lawrence K. Dock, 16, was killed late Friday when his motorcycle and a postal truck collided. Officers said the cycle hit the side of the truck which was making a left turn.

Britons Buying Expensive Things

LONDON (AP) — Britons went on a buying spree Saturday in an all-out splurge before facing up to the labor unrest and energy crisis that threaten to make this Christmas the gloomiest since World War II.

"We're short of oil, short of electricity, short of coal and short of trains, but I can assure you that the public is not short of money," said an executive at one of London's busiest department stores in Oxford Street.

"People are buying the expensive things," a spokesman at the swanky Liberty's store said. "It's quite amazing. They say they're afraid that the pound will not be worth much next year, so they're shedding sterling like confetti."

In another store, a well-dressed lady purchased two dozen flashlights, explaining she wanted them for guests who might be caught in a power blackout after attending her dinner party.

From Monday the big stores — like most other commercial premises — will be allowed to operate only five days in the last two weeks of the year in an effort to save energy.

In the new year Britons also face a three-day week, enforced through electricity cuts declared by the state-run power industry. Industrial plants working round the clock will have more room for maneuvering, with 65 per cent of their normal power supply that they can use as desired.

THE WEEK

on to it to hedge against reduced supports next year and a big, fat tax bite.

Those who can remember 10 cents a barrel for oil back in the deep Depression days of the early 30's can't believe quotations on newly discovered or new plus production. Some of this oil here brought $8.51, about twice the posted price.

Lack of pipe continued to stymie oil exploration and drilling of development wells. Companies, chafing over what they consider an unfair price level, have acres upon acres of pipe in storage but not for sale. In southeastern Borden County Charter Petroleum No. 1-32 Leroy Shafer was completed as a Clearfork discovery making 65 barrels of oil and 2 1/2 barrels of water. Beech and Snoody No. 1-40 G. G. Wright will be a deep wildcat in northwest Howard, seeking the reef near a depleted Cisco zone. Southeast of Big Spring Fowler No. 1 Flanagan was continuing to make hole below 9,000 feet in its search for Fusselman pay, but the target may be a week away.

All of a sudden the political pot began to simmer here last week. Both Rep. Charles Fennell of Holiday and Ray Farabee, Wichita Falls, came here to make personal announcements of their campaigns for state senator from the 30th district. (Sen. Jack Hightower, incumbent, broke the log-jam when he announced for Congress.) State Sen. Walter Mengden, Houston, came here to talk about a proposal for dedicating oil from Texas public domain for Texas priority, but you can suspect he probably has a larger goal in mind.

The city ran into more trouble with its search for a dump site when Banks Addition residents successfully asked for rescinding of a 1971 approval of a landfill in their area. Who can argue they are not due as much consideration as southeast Big Spring residents? Perhaps the easiest solution is for the city just not to pick up waste, then it won't have to bother about a disposal site.

That proposal for an earlier turnout time for city schools (and indeed for several area schools) was killed at the end of the week when Gov. Dolph Briscoe withdrew his request. Meanwhile, the Daylight Savings Time bill has been completed, with a Jan. 6 effective date apparent. Unless businesses, etc. open later, it may not prove much of an energy saver in this area because we are on the western edge of time zone.

Construction permits have amounted to more than $3 million so far this year. This total might considerably exceed that if HCA takes out the building permit on its hospital project before the end of the year or the Big Spring Park Apartment project is launched within the next fortnight. Still another major apartment development is in the wind.

Our basketball teams are going great guns. Although they took their lumps Friday evening, the Big Spring Steers are a surprising 9-3. The HCJC Hawks beat New Mexico Junior College 105-94 after an earlier 75-73 squeaker with Clarendon, to run their record to 16-2 for the season and 4-0 in conference.

Two banks made additions to their board during the week. First National announced election of A. K. Guthrie, and Security State Odell S. Womack.

The City Council voted to help in the fight against Texas International Airway's request to suspend service, although the aspects made the question of how or how much uncertain. The county indicated it might help if airport revenue funds can be applied.

Various groups got together to assure opening of a detoxification unit at Firehouse Six with Ed Mitchell (7-5551) as the director and Steve Birdwell as chaplain. The unit will take over the business of handling emergency cases, also will serve as a counseling and informational center on alcoholism.

Ralph McLaughlin has been installed as Chamber of Commerce president, with Tom Locke, Jimmy Taylor, Clyde McMahon Jr. and Don Reynolds as vice presidents.

Hurt In Wreck

Paul Arthur Bedwell, 16, Sterling City Route, was in good condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital Saturday night.

He was injured when the car he was driving collided with a parked car at 2500 Westover Road at 11:15 p.m. Friday, police said. The parked car belongs to David Layman, San Angelo.

Young Thief

Personnel at the Piggy Wiggle Store in Highland Shopping Center notified police Friday afternoon that a 10-year-old had been stopped for shoplifting. Police said the boy was an illegal alien, and plans are underway to return him to Mexico.

Car Theft Tussle

A 20-year-old girl and 21-year-old local man arrested on warrants issued for car theft in Colorado Springs, Colo., have been released by Big Spring Police.

The couple were sitting in a car at the Sonic Drive-In, 1200 Gregg St., when police arrested them on warrants issued in Colorado Springs.

The girl claimed to have purchased the car from an ex-boy friend in Colorado Springs where the car was reported stolen Nov. 17. But she did not have the title.

Police quoted the district attorney in Colorado Springs saying he would not start extradition proceedings.

Ex-St. Joseph Publisher Dies

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Henry D. Bradley, 80, retired publisher of the St. Joseph News Press and Gazette, died Friday. He was an active newspaperman for more than 60 years until suffering a paralytic stroke in 1971.

THEFTS

Mrs. Patricia A. Summers, 24, Box 1971, reported Friday night that her billfold, $15 and a check book was stolen.

A purse containing $125 left in G. F. Wacker's Variety Store Friday afternoon was stolen, police report. It belongs to Mrs. Anne Wolf, 1404 Virginia Ave.

The father of a person suspected of purchasing a revolver and ammunition with a forged check has indicated he will reimburse City Pawn Shop, 204 Main St., police said. The forged check was for $133.

A window was broken and $29 taken from a money tree in the Park-In Lounge, 2711 Wasson Road, police were told.

A motorcycle helmet was stolen from the front yard of the house at 507 E. 7th St., police report. It belongs to Gary Willingham, 18, Gail Route Box 102.

Lin Wallace, 3308 W. 9th St., reported his 1973 motorcycle was stolen from a locked garage Thursday. The motorcycle, worth $315, was stolen once previously and discovered by a neighbor, the victim told police.

C. E. Upton, 46, 2615 Cindy Lane, told police Thursday an eight-track tape player worth $50 was stolen from a car parked in the driveway.

A bicycle belonging to Paula Martinez, 407 NW 9th St., was found with its tires missing.

DEATHS

Charles Bussey Jr.

Charles H. Bussey Jr., 57, died at 2:30 p.m., Friday in a local hospital.

Sex Scandal Inquiry Ends At Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An investigation into sexual misconduct by policemen ended Friday with 24 officers disciplined for involvement with a blonde teen-ager, Police Director Jay W. Hubbard said.

"A total of 39 officers have been disciplined either for participation or failure to exercise judgment and control expected of supervisory rank," Hubbard said, releasing a final report on involvement between policemen and Charlotte Tyler, 19, of Paris, Ark.

Mrs. Tyler, a divorcee, told investigators last month of having sexual relations with a number of policemen on the 1,100-man force.

"The evidence supports a finding that 24 officers actually had relationships with the woman," Hubbard said. "Of those, two can be confirmed as having occurred on duty and in a police vehicle."

Punishment ranged from reprimands to 45-day suspensions without pay. Hubbard did not indicate how many officers were placed on suspension without pay. The officers were not named.

Mrs. Tyler was arrested in October and charged with soliciting for prostitution. During a physical examination, required by law, doctors found she had a venereal disease.

She told vice squad officers that if she had the disease a number of policemen did too. The remark led to an investigation by the police Internal Affairs Bureau.

Mrs. Tyler has also claimed she was involved with officers in Arkansas and Kansas City.

After an investigation, Col. Bill Miller, head of the Arkansas state police, suspended one man for 10 days and reprimanded four others.

Police in Kansas City declined comment on Mrs. Tyler's allegations.

Jury Finds For Defendants

She had sued Lester Irvin Trucking Co., Midland, and Wilson Black in connection with an accident on the north service road of IS-20 near Moss Creek Road. The accident happened in Feb., 1972.

Out On Bond

Stephen Daniel Foster, 18, Vincent Route, was released Friday on $3,000 bond set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr. Foster is charged with burglary.

IN DIFFERENT SORT OF WAY

They Live Like Kings

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — They read by the flickering light of a kerosene lamp. Their water is pumped by hand. And the bathroom consists of a tub in the front yard and an outhouse in the back.

There is no energy crisis in the lives of Doc and Shelley Dachtler. They say they live like kings, in their own different sort of way.

NO ELECTRICITY

There's no electricity for the remote log cabin the Dachtlers built nearly two years ago with the help of neighbors. There's no natural gas either. In the summer — and only in the summer — they buy a tank of propane gas to fuel an old refrigerator that sits in a lean-to.

"We could get along without a refrigerator, but I wouldn't want to do that," said Mrs. Dachtler, 28.

When it's time to do the dishes, Mrs. Dachtler walks 50 feet to a well, fills a bucket of water, carries it to the house, heats it on the wood-burning stove and then starts washing — by the yellowish glow of the kerosene lamp. The pump is attached to a windmill, which pumps the water when there's wind.

AREN'T ALONE

A foot-powered sewing machine is used to mend clothing. The toilet is a wooden outhouse tool shed behind the house. Bath time means filling an outside tub with water heated on a wood-burning stove.

The Dachtlers moved to the country six years ago after finishing college because they wanted to live as rustic a life as possible. Their first rural home had electricity.

"It wasn't so much seeing the energy crisis coming as far as electricity was concerned," said Dachtler, 29, a University of California graduate. "It was just that we decided to do without it in terms of building a house. We didn't want to be dependent on it."

The Dachtlers and their 2-year-old son, Nathaniel, aren't the only ones in this Sierra foothills area north of Sacramento who are living by choice without electricity. About 30 other families have adopted the same life style. Most are refugees from city life.

COLD AND WET

The Dachtlers' home, with 677 square feet of space, has a big kitchen and small living room. An upstairs loft serves as a bedroom. Shelves are loaded with home-canned vegetables from the garden.

Dachtler teaches mathematics and reading for three hours a day to first, second and third graders in the 100-student rural school district. He earns extra cash by tutoring, and walks the six miles to school and back five days a week.

"We live below the poverty level, but we live like kings, I feel, in many ways," said Mrs. Dachtler, a member of the school board.

But it's not always satisfying. "You know, one thing most people don't realize is that it's a lot of hard work," Mrs. Dachtler said. "Sometimes it's cold and wet."

Post Office For Lenorah

Lenorah is among the six Texas towns which have been selected for construction of new post offices.

The offices will be built privately, but the U.S. Postal Service will hold options to buy, said Carl C. Ulsaker, regional postmaster general at Memphis, Tenn.

The Lenorah facility will contain 13,500 square feet and will be located on State Highway 176 at its intersection with a county road. Cost of site has been pegged at $2,000, according to Robert L. McCov, manager of the San Antonio district in whose area the Lenorah office functions. S. J. Foreman, Lenorah, will be the owner of the building.

The plant would go in to operation in 1978. If feasible, said Etheredge, the lignite, a low grade of coal, would be strip mined. The electricity produced would serve South Texas coops. Plans also call for the land to be reclaimed and reseeded after mining. One estimate that the plant would cost $400 million is "a bit high," said Etheredge. He declined to speculate on actual cost, however.

South Texas Coal Plant?

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Feasibility studies for a 500-megawatt coal-burning electric plant in South Texas are being conducted jointly by electrical cooperatives in Victoria and Waco, the San Antonio Light reports.

The plant would be located in South Atascosa County.

About 9,000 acres in Atascosa and McMullen counties near the town of Christine are under lease by the South Texas Electric Cooperative of Victoria and the Brazos Electric Cooperative of Waco for coal exploration.

Studies are under way to find whether lignite deposits in the area can be economically mined and burned as fuel for electrical power generation.

The big electrical generation plants in San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Austin now use natural gas and fuel oil.

The Medina Electric Cooperative of Hondo reportedly has an option to buy a share of the plant if it is constructed.

John Etheredge, manager of Area Industrial Development for the Brazos coop, said studies by the Abilene engineering firm of Tippet and Gee are expected to be completed next year.

The plant would go in to operation in 1978.

If feasible, said Etheredge, the lignite, a low grade of coal, would be strip mined.

The electricity produced would serve South Texas coops. Plans also call for the land to be reclaimed and reseeded after mining.

One estimate that the plant would cost $400 million is "a bit high," said Etheredge. He declined to speculate on actual cost, however.

Homosexuality Axed From List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trustees of the American Psychiatric Association voted today to remove homosexuality from the association's list of mental disorders.

The vote was 13 to 0 in favor of two abstentions.

The vote followed a 10-year fight by gay activist groups and by growing numbers of psychiatrists. They contended that the classification of homosexuality as a mental illness in the association's list of mental disorders was discriminatory against the nation's homosexuals.

The gay organizations say American male and female homosexuals number 20 million, about one-tenth of the population. Polls have indicated that from one million to 15 million persons are homosexual by preference, practice or proclivity.

The policy-making board of trustees also approved unanimously, with one abstention, a three part resolution placing the 20,000-member association on record as:

— Urging the repeal of legislation on the books of 42 states and the District of Columbia "making criminal offenses of sexual acts performed by consenting adults in private."

— Deplored "all public and private discrimination against homosexuals in such areas as employment, housing, public accommodation and licensing."

— Urging "the enactment of civil rights legislation at local, state and federal levels that would insure homosexual citizens the same protection now guaranteed to others."

On the association's own classification, the board will vote on a proposal to remove "homosexuality per se" from the group's official manual of mental disorders. The proposal would replace it with a new category and definition called "sexual orientation disturbance."

"This category," says the resolution, "is for individuals directed primarily toward people of the same sex and who are bothered by, in conflict with, or wish to change their sexual orientations."

"This category is distinguished from homosexuality which by itself does not constitute a psychiatric disorder."

The New York-based "National Gay Task Force," in a statement issued before the board meeting, declared:

"The diagnosis of homosexuality as an illness has been the cornerstone of oppression for a tenth of our population"

Briscoe Sets Session To Slice Speed Limits

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas will be given some leeway in obeying the 55 miles per hour speed limit sought by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in his call for a special legislative session, state police director Col. Wilson Speir said Saturday.

Briscoe called the session for noon Tuesday to enable Texas to comply with an expected act of Congress requiring states to set the 55 m.p.h. limit or lose federal highway construction funds.

Speir testified before the House Transportation Committee, which had scheduled a hearing on the speed limit question before the governor issued his call Friday for the session.

TOLERANCE

The Texas Department of Public Safety director said highway patrolmen "never have filed for a mile or so" over the present 70 m.p.h. limit.

"I would surmise our tolerance would not be any greater or less under the new bill than it is now. We want to have a substantial violation before we file charges," Speir said.

He did not say what he meant by "substantial," but there are indications it would be 5 m.p.h. over the limit.

Speir said he also believed Texas should have a "grace period" to get used to the new limit before they are given tickets for exceeding it.

Asked whether truck drivers had tried to block Texas highways as they have in some other states, Speir said there had been rumors but no actual attempts.

CLEAR THE ROAD

"If anybody blocked a highway, we would clear the road. We would use all the facilities we had and do it as immediately as we could," he said.

Some committee members grumbled at being compelled by Congress to reduce speed limits to save gasoline—but the panel indicated it would approve a bill in some form once the legislature convenes.

Sadler Bridges of the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A&M University estimated that reducing the limit from 70 to 55 m.p.h. would result in a gasoline saving of 5 to 5 1/2 per cent statewide. He noted that 70 per cent of the gasoline consumed in Texas is used in urban areas, not on rural highways where the limits would be reduced.

BILL VIEWED

Charles Purnell, Briscoe's executive assistant, gave committee members copies of a speed limit bill drafted by the attorney general's staff last night at Briscoe's request.

The bill would allow the Texas Highway Commission to reduce speed limits for six months if the governor declared an emergency and the commission determined the 70 m.p.h. "prima facie" limit set by law wasted natural resources or jeopardized the state's welfare.

One sticking point with some committee members was a provision giving the commission power to declare "absolute

MILK PRODUCERS FUND NIXON

Web Of Activity Puzzling

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The political arm of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., was sending contributions to the Nixon administration in 1971 at the same time officials of the Justice Department in Washington were taking no action on a recommendation by subordinates in an antitrust investigation of the huge cooperative, the cooperative's current general manager says.

"I am puzzled that simultaneously funds were going in and no action was being taken on the recommendation," says Dr. George Mehren, who became general manager of AMPI on Jan. 12, 1972.

ANTITRUST SUIT
Mehren discussed Friday what he called "a web of activity" leading up to the filing of a civil antitrust suit by the Justice Department against AMPI Feb. 1, 1972.

Although he called the web of activity puzzling, he said he was making no accusations of misconduct, improprieties or illegalities on the part of Justice Department or any other officials and he said he had no evidence to support any such accusations.

Mehren's statements came at a deposition hearing in response to questioning by a federal antitrust prosecutor. The deposition will be included in the record of the pending antitrust suit, as well as several other pending private lawsuits against AMPI.

Mehren expanded on a background statement which AMPI has filed in the antitrust case.

seeking government documents which it says may produce evidence of misconduct, improprieties or illegalities. The Justice Department has not provided such documents, AMPI says.

FAILED TO ACT
Mehren says he has learned since becoming AMPI's general manager that AMPI's political arm, Trust for Agricultural Political Education (TAPE), contributed to the Nixon campaign up until mid-September 1971, the last payment of which Mehren says found its way to the so-called White House plumbers unit to finance the Ellsberg burglary.

He said AMPI also has learned the Chicago office of the antitrust division of the Justice Department began investigating AMPI in April 1971. By August 1971, Mehren says he has learned, the federal antitrust division had told an AMPI competitor in a letter that the Chicago office had submitted a recommendation to the Justice Department in Washington.

"I am puzzled by the failure to take action," said Mehren. Although Mehren did not say so specifically, the antitrust suit was filed after the contributions from TAPE ceased.

TO THIS DAY
Mehren also did not allude directly to a December 1971 letter from attorney Patrick Hillings promising the Nixon administration $2 million from the milk producers. He said he had no direct knowledge that such commitments were made.

However, he recounted subsequent events in 1972 which he said leads further to his "puzzlement" about activity surrounding the antitrust case.

On Jan. 14, 1972, two days after he replaced Harold Nelson as AMPI general manager, Nelson and attorney Jake Jacobsen met with President Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, in Los Angeles, to "this day" have never reported such a meeting to Mehren, Mehren said.

"For some reason . . . Mr. Nelson and Mr. Jacobsen found that their highest priority after the change in management was to arrange to see Mr. Kalmbach and then go and do it," Mehren said.

One hypothesis of why such a meeting took place, said Mehren, is that "there might well have been some agreement to contribute funds in 1972" and that, had such a commitment been made by the milk producers, "the keeping of such commitment might be jeopardized" by the change in AMPI management.

Mehren also said he has learned Kalmbach sent memoranda to the White House staff either Jan. 16 or Jan. 18, 1972, in connection with the milk matters and that on Jan. 26, a long memorandum was written from within the White House to the Department of Justice.

Mehren said he learned of the Jan. 14 meeting of Kalmbach, Nelson and Jacobsen, as well as the two sets of memos, from the nature of questioning of prosecutors when he was a witness before the Watergate grand jury.

AMPI now is seeking both sets of memos, which apparently have never been made public, to prove or disprove what the cooperative's lawyers say is a strong suggestion of extortion in activity of the government surrounding the antitrust case.

J. P. Walker
'Not Guilty'

COLORADO CITY — A two-man, ten-woman jury found John Phillip Walker, 54-year-old service station operator, "not guilty" in connection with the murder of his wife, Emma Lee, who died of a gunshot wound last July 22.

The jury deliberated for an hour and a half before returning at 6:45 p.m. to report the verdict to District Judge Weldon Kirk of Sweetwater.

Mrs. Walker was found dead in the dining room of the Walker home of a bullet through the chest after Walker had called police and asked them to check on her.

Walker told police he thought he had heard a gunshot as he drove away from home to return to work at the service station.

Dist. Atty. Frank Ginzel contended that Walker had shot Mrs. Walker intentionally as set out in a confession attributed to Walker.

Defense attorney Tom Rees contended that the shooting was accidental.

Gil Jones To Take Oath
As Licensed Attorney

Gil Jones, who grew up in Big Spring, will receive the oath before the Texas Supreme Court in Austin Monday to become a licensed attorney.

He will be following in the footsteps of his father, Gullford Jones, who will be on hand for the 9 a.m. swearing, although he had not planned it initially.

He started out to be an accountant, but as he was confronted with the legal ramifications of his practice, he decided to return to school and become an attorney.

All of his elementary and secondary education came in Big Spring. He took his BBA in accounting in 1966, but three years in the Navy intervened aboard the USS Kitty Hawk as a lieutenant (j.g.). After separation to account practice and earned his CPA in 1969 while serving as an auditor for Arthur Anderson Co.

It was at this point in 1970 that he decided to enter the University of Texas law school, from which he earned his LL.B. degree in August 1973.

He will practice with the firm of Bill Hilger, Daugherty, Fielder, Golden and Juperman in Austin. (Bill Hilger, of the firm, is married to the former Sara Lamun of Big Spring.)

Jones is married to the former Willie Dee Thomas of Pasadena and they have two children, Russell Todd, 5, and Melissa, 4.

San Antonio
Homicides

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three San Antonio residents died in separate shootings Friday night and early Saturday.

Police reported these details: Willie Chapman, 35, was shot and killed at a shopping center where his car collided with one driven by a woman. A male relative of the woman arrived afterward and shot Chapman in the back of the head after an argument. Officers were seeking the man.

Two men standing on a corner asked Alberto Guadarrama, 25, for a ride while he was stopped at an intersection. After he refused, both drew pistols, demanded money and shot Guadarrama twice. The two then fled.

A woman acquaintance told officers that Lawrence Johnson answered the telephone while visiting in her apartment about 3:30 a.m. He talked briefly and departed in a hurry. She heard three shots a few minutes later and looked outside to see Johnson lying mortally wounded on the ground. His assailant was being sought.

Alleged Bilking Tied To Dummy Scholarships

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An audit of the office's books is still going on. The newspaper has quoted UT sources as saying as much as $20,000 was embezzled through an alleged scheme involving phony scholarship applications in the names of real students.

Edward Lee Carpenter, who resigned this month as student financial aids director, has been charged with embezzlement.

Carpenter was hired as assistant director in 1966 and took charge of the office in 1968.

Carpenter, 39, waived extradition proceedings Friday in Lancaster, Pa., where he was arrested Dec. 7. The investigation was touched off by his abrupt resignation and disappearance a week earlier.

Task Force Considering Ground Water Management

One of the stickier issues confronting the governor's Water Conservation and Development Task Force has been passed over until the Jan. 9 session.

It has to deal with ground water management. Chairman Walter Wells, Waco, called for an "integrated resources" policy which would bring ground water management into the picture along with surface waters. San Antonio and High Plains representatives on the task force oppose this. Wells said he thought it was essential but conceded that detail of management could be worked out within localized areas because of great variance in characteristics of aquifers.

Several other matters are under consideration by the task force, of which O. H. Ivie, Big Spring, general manager of Colorado River Municipal Water District, is a member. He was on the panel to draft the structure of the task force.

Cables At Webb AFB Prove Tasty To Prairie Dogs

The prairie dogs on Scenic Mountain may eat marshmallows occasionally, but their kin below at Webb AFB enjoy a different fare — cables.

The little animals can be seen between the runways at Webb. They scamper around, work on their burrows and look for food, ignoring the roar of jet trainers only feet away.

The apparently tasty cable, containing six pairs of wires, carries signals from a remote radar transmitter to air-traffic control radar units. The cable is buried 30 inches underground, but that's where prairie dogs spend a lot of their time, too.

No one knows exactly how they've developed an affinity for cable insulation.

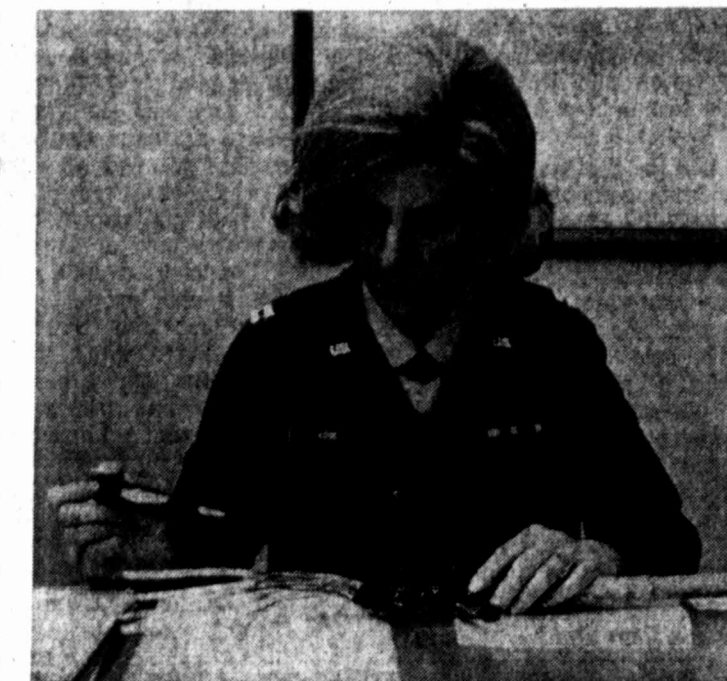

Maj. Daniel Goodson, communications officer, said, "One engineer didn't really believe us until he came in and saw it for himself." It isn't every base that has this problem, anyway.

"I now keep several pieces of gnawed cable in my 'IN' basket for skeptics," the major said.

The problem first came to light when the radar simply quit once. After troubleshooting the unit and finding nothing, repairmen decided to dig up the cable — more than a mile of it.

While prairie dogs looked on, the problem was unearthed.

"Since the cable is underground, we don't actually have any ewntnesses who can say it was the prairie dogs who are guilty of the illegal munch-breaks," Major Goodson explained.

"There are a few families of ground squirrels who also live in the neighborhood, but our instinct tells us that the prairie dogs deserve the glory," he added.

Replacing the vulnerable and damaged cable could cost as much as $80,000.

Several solutions to the problem have been suggested. Armored cable could be used instead of the more tasty variety. The scrumptious steel spaghetti could be housed in metal or concrete conduit.

Whatever the ultimate solution, the existing cable has been rendered unusable.

Maj. Goodson said that for now the best he can hope for is to get ahead of the gnawing problem when the prairie pups hibernate for the winter.

HCJC Routs Cisco, 95-77

The Howard County Hawks finished up the first half of their basketball season here Saturday with an easy 95-77 triumph over the Cisco Wranglers.

Leading from the start and never facing trouble except for a few moments in the second half, the HCJC cagers lifted their season standing to 17-2 in sweeping their second game from Cisco this year.

The 1974 portion of the Hawk slate is set to get under way Jan. 7 when the American Business Club hosts its three-day ABC Olympic Classic here.

Taylor Williams, who missed part of the first half with a minor injury and sat out the end when the game was put away, led all scorers with 29 points, while Thomas Bledsoe hit 18. Bobby Beall and Leroy Lumzy each chipped in 14 points in the victory.

For Cisco, the main man was little Ervin Wesley, who threw in 28 markers. Robert Daniel contributed 20 points and Jim Murphy had 10 for the all-freshman Wranglers, who fell to 6-5 on the year.

The Hawks rolled to a 30-14 edge midway through the first half, and led 47-34 at the intermission. Cisco cut it to seven points with 10:45 left in the game, 63-56, but the threat never really materialized.

Williams, who dominated the boards the entire game, led a Hawk surge and the edge was back up to 15 points in less than two minutes.

Howard County hit 50 percent of their shots from the field, and had a good night from the foul line, connecting on 19 of 25 for 76 percent. The Hawks also outbounded Cisco, 53-31.

BILL WALTON GOES SKYWARD

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B

SEC. B

Bruins' Revival Sparked By Foul-Plagued Walton

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Top-ranked UCLA proved emphatically Saturday that it may continue to rule the college basketball world even after big, bad Bill Walton joins the pros next season.

Coach Norman Sloan of second-ranked North Carolina State for one will verify that feeling very quickly.

For 21 straight minutes, Walton twisted and turned on the bench with four personal fouls and still the Bruins outgunned the challenging Wolfpack 84-66 in their nationally televised basketball showdown.

Obviously disappointed, Sloan, whose team had recorded 29 straight, said: "Everybody thought it would be a big break for us when Walton got in early foul trouble. However, you don't have a great basketball team like UCLA's if you are a one-man team."

"We made an awful lot of mistakes. Of course, UCLA had a lot to do with that. They did not wilt under pressure. They have been there before and they know what it is like."

John Wooden, the scholarly boss of the Pacific-8 Conference's proud Bruins, was as happy about this one as any of the others—perhaps even more so.

The 63-year-old Wooden, aware that Walton returned and started intimidating the Wolfpack with a display that quickly put the game away, paid tribute to Keith Wilkes, sometimes regarded as the Bruins' unsung star.

"I'm real happy for this young man," Wooden said of Wilkes, "because I've said all along he's truly an All-American."

Wilkes, a senior, took charge while Walton rode the bench and poured in a career-high of 27 points. More important, he held N.C. State's All-American David Thompson to 17.

Wilkes was the only player who talked to the press. Wooden, known to discourage his players from talking with the news media after important games, shut the door on reporters and brought Wilkes into a news conference with him.

"It looked bleak when Walton went out, but it's the kind of thing where the show goes on," Wilkes said.

"I had a feeling we were going to win," Wooden admitted. "I told the players that if we could stay close until the middle of the second half, we'd be all right."

The victory was UCLA's 70th in succession. The challenging Wolfpack, in quest of its 30th consecutive triumph, could maintain no real intensity against the invincible Bruins from the Pacific-8 Conference — winners of seven straight national championships.

Walton, returning to the scene of his greatest hour last March in the national finals, put the Bruins, who trailed 33-32, ahead for good at 56-54 with 9:23 remaining in the game.

The big, red-haired star took charge of the backboards and made life miserable the rest of the way for the North Carolinians of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

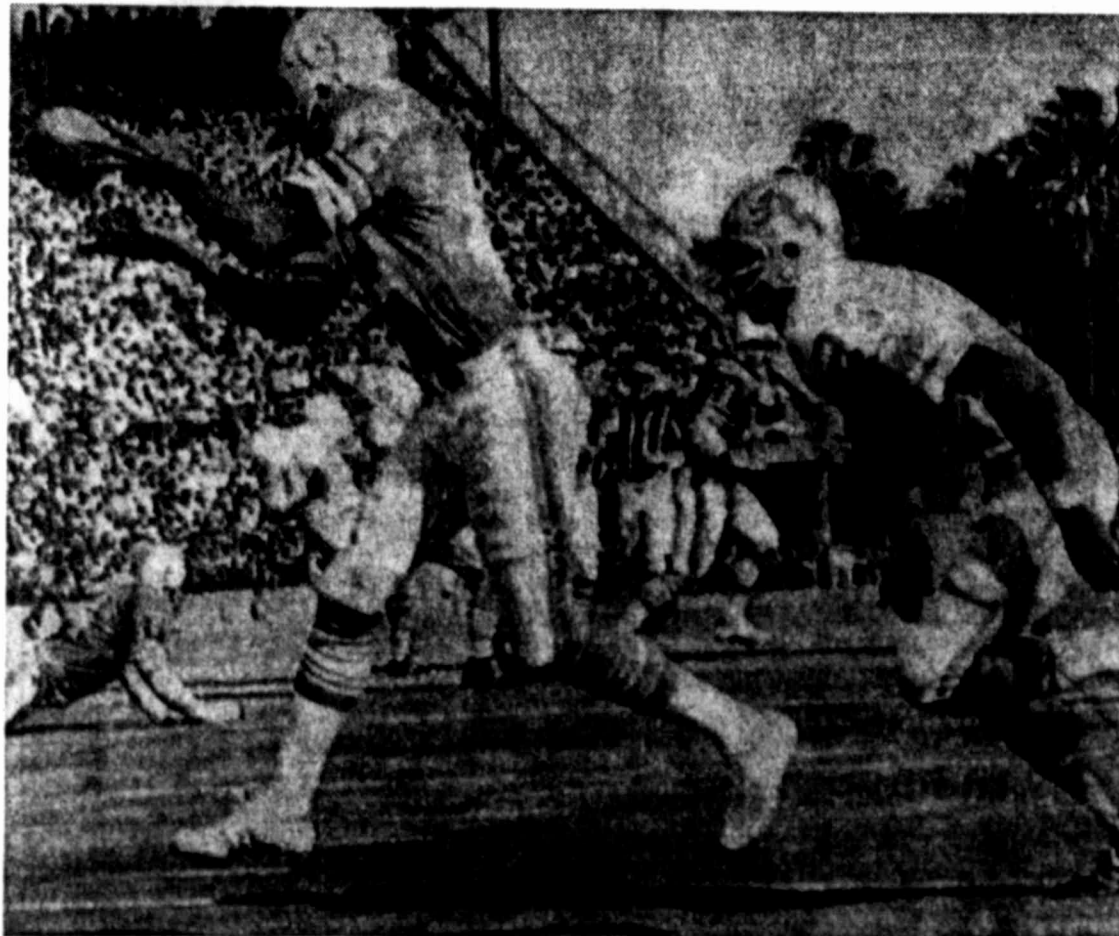

Seconds after the 6-foot-11 Walton reappeared, Steve Nuce tied the game at 54-54. The clock showed 9:42 left.

That was North Carolina State's last bid.

In addition to the one-point advantage State held at the half, the Wolfpack was out front only twice.

UCLA has lost only five games in its last 218 tests. The Bruins' last defeat was January 23, 1971, to Notre Dame, 89-82, at South Bend, Ind.

Saturday's game, played before a capacity crowd of 18,461, was one which might have been played last March after both the Wolfpack and the Bruins moved through the season undefeated. But N.C. State could not play in post-season action, barred because of recruiting irregularities.

Successful High School Coach Named At Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Bob Cummings, a high school coach at famed Massillon, Ohio, Saturday was given the task of reviving Iowa's lagging football fortunes.

Cummings, 40, replaces Frank Lauterbur, who was fired Nov. 20 after refusing to make changes in his coaching staff. Iowa was 0-11 in 1973—the worst season in Hawkeye history.

"I'm elated," said the former Hawkeye player from his Ohio home. "This is what I worked for all my life."

Iowa Athletic Director Chalmers "Bump" Elliott made the announcement at a hurriedly called news conference Saturday morning.

Cummings has been head coach since 1969 at Washington High School in Massillon. His teams have compiled a record of 44-5-1 and his 1970 team won the Ohio state championship.

Football-rich Massillon has produced a number of outstanding coaches, including Paul Brown, head coach of the professional Cincinnati Bengals; and Earle Bruce, Iowa State's coach.

Neither Elliott nor Cummings would reveal the length of the contract signed by Cummings, or the salary.

Lauterbur had a five-year pact.

Cummings was a gritty 173-pound guard on some of Iowa's outstanding teams in the mid-1950s.

Iowa has not had a winning season since 1961 and Cummings knows the program is down.

"I know there has been trouble at the school in recent years, but that would be forgotten if it had a winner," he said.

Cummings, an assistant coach at Iowa under Forrest Evashevski in 1958 and 1959, is Iowa's fourth football coach in 10 years.

Mexican Grid Riot Claims One Life

MEXICO CITY (AP) — One 22-year-old girl was killed when a molotov cocktail exploded and 36 other youths were injured Saturday night in rioting that broke out at the end of an American-style football game at University Stadium here, the Red Cross said.

The game was the classic event between the National University and the National Polytechnic Institute which was won by Polytechnic 19-13.

Immediately after the game ended, fights broke out between rival students of both college-level schools in and around the 60,000-seat stadium which was packed to capacity.

In the fighting several molotov cocktails, bottles containing burning gasoline, were thrown and one reportedly hit Maria de los Angeles Rivas, a university student who had attended the game, a Red Cross spokesman said.

She was dead on arrival at the local Red Cross hospital, the spokesman said.

Warfield Sparks Miami In Romp Past Detroit

MIAMI (AP) — Paul Warfield caught four touchdown passes Saturday to lead Miami to a 31-0 halftime advantage as the Dolphins concluded their National Football League regular season by trouncing the Detroit Lions 34-7.

Warfield, unused in the second half, finished one scoring reception short of the NFL record set in 1950 by the Chicago Cardinals' Bob Shaw against Baltimore.

Warfield's first score came on the third play of the game after the Dolphins recovered a second-down fumble by the Lions' Mel Farr. Warfield caught a 21-yard pass from Bob Griese on the sidelines just inside the end zone.

He caught a seven-yard pass to conclude an 82-yard drive later in the quarter and added scoring receptions of 16 and 4 yards in the second period. The 10-year veteran from Ohio State, who entered the game with seven touchdown receptions, had two other catches in the half for a total of 102 yards.

Garo Yepremian added a 27-yard field goal in the second quarter and a 28-yarder in the third period.

The Lions, held to 88 total yards in the first half, scored with 36 seconds left to play when Steve Owens carried over from the 3.

Louisiana Tech Nabs Grid Crown

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Cornerback Wenford Wilborn set up two Louisiana Tech touchdowns and the Bulldogs shut off Western Kentucky's offense Saturday as Tech took the NCAA's first national small college championship with a 34-0 victory in the Camellia Bowl.

The victory boosted the Bulldogs' record to 12-1 and marked their sixth bowl victory in the last seven years. The loss was the Hilltoppers' first of the year. They ended their

Red Raiders Roll To Easy Victory

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Senior guard Richard Little scored 22 points and Texas Tech romped to an easy 88-56 intersectional victory over Northern Colorado Saturday night.

Tech, now 4-2 for the season, held a fat 41-25 halftime lead coasted to the win.

Defense Worries 'Liberty' Coaches

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Both sides expect to strike often offensively when North Carolina State and Kansas collide Monday night in the Liberty Bowl football game, but each head coach has his fingers crossed for his defense.

"The defense is a coach's best friend," said North Carolina State's Lou Holtz, whose

Technical Spark Owls

HOUSTON (AP) — The scrappy Rice Owls scored five points on seven technical fouls called against Pan American University Saturday night and fashioned an 80-71 upset basketball victory over the Broncos.

Pan Am's Bruce King, who led all scorers in the game with 32 points, also received a technical foul.

The Broncos, who dropped to a 2-4 record, led 40-37 at halftime but the inexperienced Owls battled to a deadlock with eight minutes left in the game and took the lead for good with 4:01 to play on a basket and two free throws by Tim Moriarty.

Four Broncos fouled out of the game including King. Moriarty led Rice scorers with 24 points. John Kabbes added 14 and Pete Meyers and Scott Fisher each scored 10.

'Six Yards' Sitko Dies

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Emil "Six Yards" Sitko, a stubby, explosive runner who starred on four undefeated Notre Dame football teams, died Saturday in his Fort Wayne home.

He had suffered two heart attacks but the cause of death was not determined immediately. He was 50 years old.

Sitko played in 39 games involving Notre Dame. He was on the other side in the only one the Irish lost, to Great Lakes Naval Training Station in 1943. It was the only Notre Dame defeat that season.

He played halfback on unbeaten Irish teams of 1946, 1947 and 1948, making the All-American second team the third year. He switched to fullback in 1949 and was named first-string All-American.

Tyler Smacks Sam Houston

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Tyler John Tyler's tight end Ronnie Lee caught a quick look-in pass from quarterback Larry Hartsfield and rambled 79 yards for a touchdown with 3:10 left in the game Saturday to spark the Lions' 22-7 Class 4A semifinal schoolboy football victory over Arlington Sam Houston. It was Hartsfield's only pass of the game.

The pass broke a 7-7 tie that probably would have allowed Arlington to advance to the finals. The game also was tied 2-

Hartsfield scored on a three-yard run with 31 seconds left to seal the victory.

Arlington trailed 7-0 at half-time after Tyler halfback Earl Campbell, who gained 168 yards on 29 carries for the day, raced 85 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Arlington tied the score 7-7 on the last play of the third quarter when quarterback Ruben Tomlin scampered five yards for a touchdown.

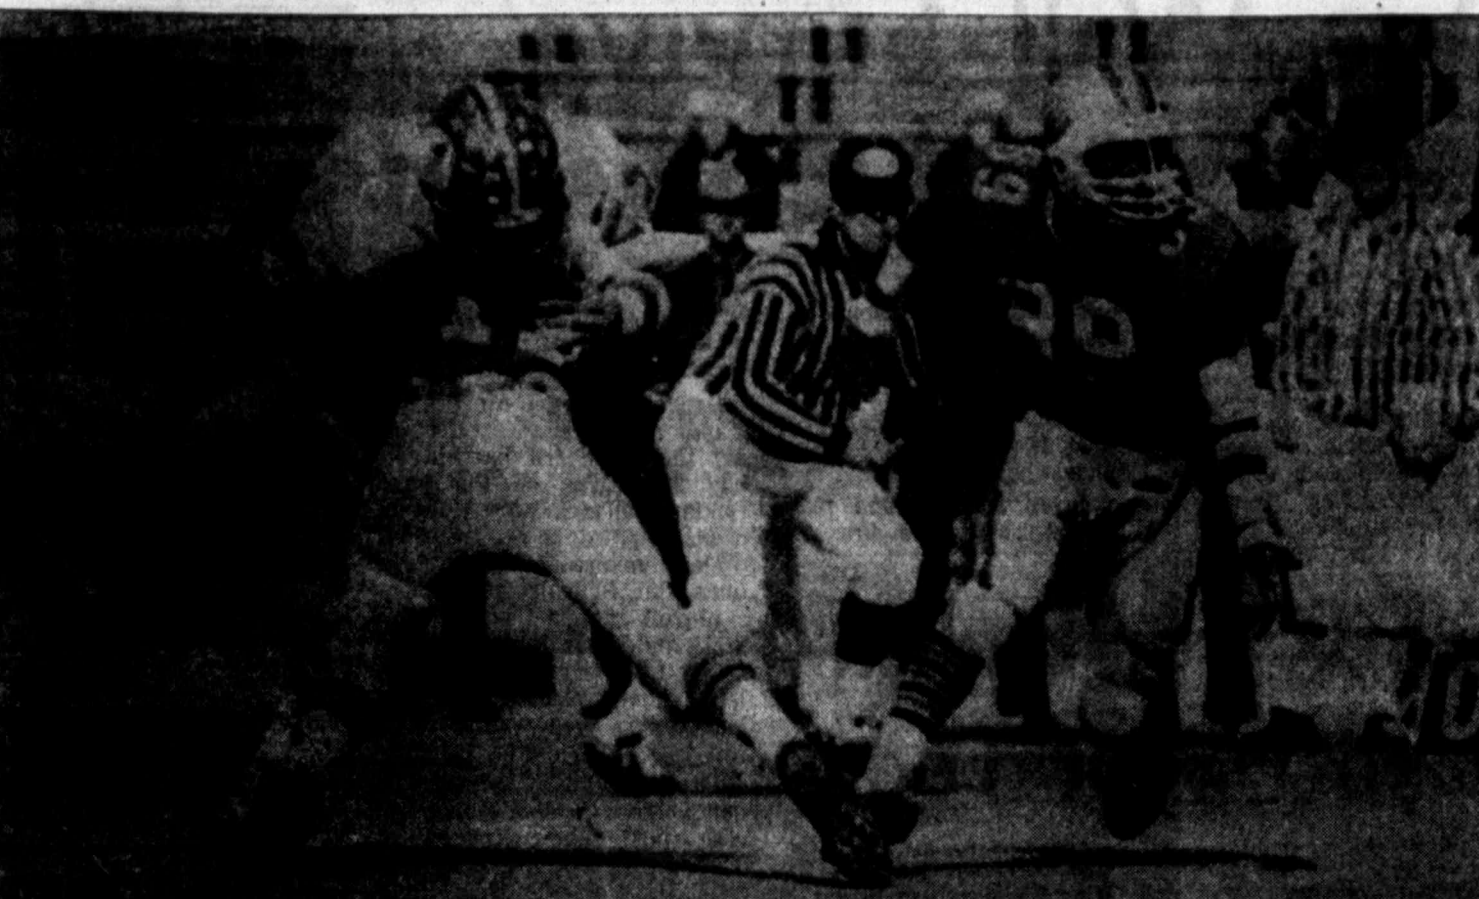

The run climaxed a 79-yard drive in which Tomlin completed five key passes.

Before Campbell's long run broke the scoring ice, both teams missed good first half scoring opportunities by fumbling inside the 10-yard line.

Tyler, using a methodical running attack, picked up three of its five first half first downs in a drive from the Arlington 49 to the nine-yard line but Campbell, whose brothers Tim and Steve anchored the Tyler defense, bobbled the ball and Derek Mott recovered on the 11 for Arlington.

John Tyler is 14-0 for the year and Arlington is 13-1.

Talley Among Nation's Best

AUSTIN (AP) — Of the top 144 track performances by school girls this year, Texas claimed 54, according to the National Federation of State High School Associations.

No other state can claim even a dozen of the best performances, the national organization said.

Kathy Jones of Baird, near Abilene, was one of three Texas girls to run 100 yards in 10.9 seconds, and no other girl in the nation broke 11 seconds. Miss Jones also leaped 5 feet, 11 inches in the high jump, three inches higher than any other girl.

Karen Arp of Ropesville, near Lubbock, and Marcia Talley of Garden City, near Big Spring, also ran the 100 in 10.9, and Miss Talley had the best time in the 220-24.7 seconds.

Reagan Advances To State Finals

AUSTIN (AP) — Aided by two missed conversions and two fumble recoveries, Austin Reagan advanced to the Class 4A schoolboy football finals Saturday by defeating Angleton 21-19.

Two Reagan touchdowns in the first half followed recovery of Wildcat fumbles, one on the Angleton 16 and the other on the 13.

Angleton, trailing 21-7 at the half, made a strong comeback effort with touchdown drives of 60 and 52 yards.

But Bobby Cranston's kick after Greg Alexander's leaping touchdown catch of a pass from Kent Lawson hit the left upright and bounced back. In the final period, Reagan's John Clark raced in and deked Lawson as the Angleton quarterback tried to run for a two-point conversion.

Angleton halted a Reagan drive at the Wildcat one-yard line when Ronnie Hall recovered a Reagan fumble.

Reagan's big touchdown play came on its first down after receiving an Angleton punt on the Raider 30 in the first quarter. Quarterback Mark Steadman threw a strike to Ronnie Madison, who juggled the ball at the Angleton 35 then dashed in for the score.

Leading ground gainer was Larry Mitchell of Reagan, who ran 88 yards for an average of 4.4 yards per carry, including touchdown runs of 4 and 13 yards.

Austin Reagan, seeking its fourth state championship in seven years, is 13-1 for the season and will meet Tyler John Tyler next week for the championship. Reagan won titles in 1967, 68, and 1970.

Angleton finished the season with an 11-3 record.

Steelers Send Brodie Out On Unhappy Note

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Rowser's 71-yard touchdown run on a pass interception put an early damper on the retirement party of San Francisco quarterback John Brodie Saturday, and the Pittsburgh Steelers trounced the 49ers 37-14 to clinch a National Football League playoff berth.

The Steelers finished the regular season with a 10-4 record by winning the nationally televised game. They will enter the playoffs as the American Conference's wild-card team or, should Cincinnati lose to Houston today, as the Central Division champion.

Cornerback Rowser intercepted two passes thrown by Brodie, who played only one period of the game which ended an illustrious 17-year career.

Rowser stepped in front of receiver Dick Witcher for his first interception and dashed for a touchdown on the fourth play of the game.

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Kiel Winston scored two touchdowns, passed for another, and kicked a 21-yard field goal to lead the unbeaten and No. 1 ranked Friendswood Mustangs to a 24-0 Class 2A semifinal victory over the Randolph Ro-Hawks Saturday.

Friendswood, now 14-0, met the Hooks in the Class 2A finals. Winston scored on a one-yard plunge midway in the second quarter, capping a 79-yard drive. He added the point after to give Friendswood a 7-0 lead.

appointing 5-9 in the National Conference West, tied the score at 7-7 in the second quarter when defensive back Windian Hall blocked a punt and fell on the ball in the end zone.

The Steelers then mounted their first successful offensive drive, with quarterback Terry Bradshaw taking the team 50 yards, and Pittsburgh went ahead to stay on Preston Pearson's one-yard touchdown plunge late in the quarter.

Roy Gerela, the AFC scoring leader, kicked field goals from 27, 27, and 35 yards in the second half and Bradshaw threw a 58-yard touchdown pass to Frank Lewis before being shaken up by a hard tackle and leaving the game.

The Steelers widened the lead to 37-7 when reserve running back Steve Davis, who had two touchdowns nullified by penalties, scored an official one on a one-yard, fourth-period run.

HIGHLAND CENTER

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

I've never been one to read other folks' mail, but since this particular letter ran in the newspaper, well, I just figured I'd take a look at it, and... How about that. They were talking about me.

The man who wrote in to the newspaper attacking Big Spring's (non) support of high school basketball was heading in the right direction. Local folks are missing something by staying away from Steer cage games in astounding numbers, and likewise, the kids miss something when only a handful of people show up.

But to put such a problem off on the newspaper is like blaming Watergate on the Washington Redskins. The Herald is not responsible for luring fans to games, and it's not merely a source for scrapbook material, though sometimes it turns out that way. If it seems that football gets more coverage in the newspaper, it's because it does — and the reason is numbers.

Consider 5,000 persons at a football game, plus three times that many who don't go but retain an interest in the account, and compare it with 400 at a basketball game. A newspaper's coverage of an event is dictated by reader interest, and while I've always liked basketball above all other sports, football commands the most attention.

That's why the term "support" is the wrong word when talking about the newspaper. The sports department isn't a sports information bureau for the school, nor is the sports editor a cheerleader. While local news obviously should have a local slant, the writer isn't going to make certain his story pacifies the hometowners if he has any intention of calling himself a "reporter."

The fact that basketball is important to the kids who play doesn't warrant equal coverage across the board. Just as high school tennis and golf aren't No. 1 on most readers' lists and therefore get less ink than basketball, so must there be a distinction between the cage sport and football.

And that's where the sports editor comes in. That's his job, to determine what gets how much play and what is most important to his readers each day. Keeping all that in mind, basketball has been far from underplayed in The Herald. So far there have been 12 stories on the Steers, plus a couple of column mentions, and six pictures. That's hardly ignoring the game.

Bu speaking of the crowds, it really is amazing how few people show up at the game. The Thursday and Friday bouts with the two Amarillo teams, Tascosa and Caprock, didn't draw a combined figure of 500. That's less than many Class B schools pull.

I'm not trying to shame anyone into attending the games. That's not my job, either. But what's hard to understand is the lack of student support. In a school with 1,800 in four grades, it seems like there would be more than 150 or so kids at the game — especially on a Friday night.

It's really not bad basketball. You might try taking in a game or two instead of playing gin or watching television some night...

While we're on the Steers, one could probably offer an analysis now that they've got 12 games behind them and are no longer a mystery team. One answer is immediately obvious — they're missing a big guy.

The 9-3 record is the best Big Springers have seen in a long time, and it has a chance to get better next week when the Steers take on Coahoma and then enter the Borger Tournament. Still, they'll be hard-pressed to make a challenge when Dist. 5-AAAA play comes around in January since Midland Lee, Abilene, Cooper and San Angelo have all been outstanding in the early going.

Tom Dunn and Randy Marshall are the "big guys" (6-3), and 6-4 Ricky Traylor adds rebounding strength when he makes his way into the lineup. John Thomas Smith is the same uncanny athlete he proved himself to be on the football field, shooting off balance and outbounding taller opponents, and Albo Smith has been one to contribute big baskets when they were in demand.

Jim Ray, one of two sophomores, and Larry Stanley are both better-than-average outside shooters, and Jeff Kuykendall drives to the basket with more authority than Ferdinand the Bull. James Zapp, a 6-3 soph, has a good outside shot to go with his rebounding, while Tom Sorley and Bobby Greene have also been valuable in recent games. Vicky Woodruff is just recovering from a knee injury, and should be able to play by this week.

In short, just about any of the 12 players on the varsity could be starters without much damage to the attack, and that could be a big advantage. Coach Ron Plumlee can always keep rested players in the lineup, and there's the likelihood that at least one of the players can get hot and spark a rally when it's needed.

Malnutrition May Claim Texas Deer This Winter

AUSTIN — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists should encourage hunters to harvest surplus deer to help say they fear many parts of the Edwards Plateau will experience deer losses this winter due to malnutrition.

Donnie Harmel, department project leader for the Edwards Plateau Regulatory Area, has urged landowners in the affected areas to use as many antlerless deer permits as possible in order to thin the deer herd.

Harmel said although most deer inspected and weighed in locker plants throughout the Hill Country appear to be in fair condition, many reports of poor deer are being received.

Recent frosts slowed or stopped the growth of forbs, weeds on which deer are largely dependent, and deer conditions are likely to go downhill, according to Harmel. A lack of acorns and other fruits has already created a food shortage.

Rod Marburger, the department's wildlife disease project leader in Kerrville, said that although deer body conditions generally appear to be adequate at present, the animals he has inspected do not have fat reserves.

Marburger said these reserves are necessary to deer in case food supplies are cut sharply. He said an increasing number of the diseased deer reported to him recently are proving to be malnourished deer.

Biologists say landowners

INTRODUCING THE STEERS

No. 12 in the Big Spring Steer basketball lineup this year is Jeff Kuykendall, one of 10 seniors in the Longhorn lineup.

Kuykendall, a 5-11 guard, is averaging five points a game and is a valuable playmaker. "Jeff's done a good job for us so far," said coach Ron Plumlee.

"He can shoot and he's a good defensive player." The 17-year-old Steer is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall at 2608 Rebecca. He'll be seeing action Monday when the Steers host Coahoma, seeking their 10th victory.

Only One Will 'Survive' Denver-Oakland Collision

By The Associated Press

Some National Football League clubs spent the last week trying to calculate their way into the playoffs.

"If we win and they tie and score fewer than..." and so on.

Not Oakland or Denver. They know exactly where they stand. One wins the AFC West title today at Oakland and the other goes home. That's it; Denver or Oakland.

Or as Oakland defensive end Art Thoms said, "Now everybody knows the money is on the line."

The Raiders are seeking their sixth division title in the last seven years. The Broncos are after their first ever.

In other games today, Cincinnati is at Houston, St. Louis hosts Dallas, Philadelphia is at Washington, Los Angeles welcomes Cleveland, Atlanta entertains New Orleans, New England visits Baltimore, San Diego is at Kansas City and Chicago hosts Green Bay.

Denver and Oakland played to a 23-23 tie the first time around but Thoms says things will be different this time.

"A lot of turnovers killed us up there, and we'll be tougher this time," he said.

Denver speedster Floyd Little stands a good chance of cracking the 1,000-yard barrier. He has 937 yards on the year. Oakland fullback Marv Hubbard needs 150 yards to reach 1,000.

The Cincinnati-Houston game finds the Bengals looking for a playoff spot and both Boobie Clark and Essex Johnson closing in on 1,000 yards. The Oilers, 1-12, have already clinched league.

Dallas can wrap up the NFC East title with a win over St. Louis. The Cardinals may go with rookie Gary Keithley at quarterback in place of the injured Jim Hart.

Washington needs a victory or a tie to insure a playoff spot. Bill Kilmer is expected to replace Sonny Jurgensen at quarterback for the Redskins.

Los Angeles, with 11 victories, can establish a club record by dumping Cleveland. The Browns are one of the teams which could make it into the playoffs if...

Atlanta, another of those if and, or but playoff clubs, could have its first 1,000-yard rusher ever if Dave Hampton picks up 88 yards. New Orleans will be out to avenge a 62-7 loss to the Falcons on the season's opening day.

O. J. Simpson needs just 61 yards for Buffalo to break Jim Brown's single-season rushing record of 1,863 yards. The Bills also have a shot at a playoff spot if several other teams cooperate.

Cowboys Look For Eighth Straight Playoff Spot Today

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Galloping at flank speed, the Dallas Cowboys are solid favorites to beat the St. Louis Cardinals and snare their eighth straight National Football League playoff berth today.

The Cowboys, 9-4, face an injury-riddled Cardinals squad, 4-8-1, in their National Conference East finale, and the expected absence of injured Cards quarterback Jim Hart makes the possibility of a St. Louis upset even more remote.

The 29-year-old Hart also sat out last week's 32-10 Cards surprise victory over the Atlanta Falcons, which was engineered by Rookie Gary Keithley.

"There's no way we can sneak up on them," Cards Coach Don Coryell says in respect to Dallas, which would clinch the East Division title with a victory.

Dallas, although deadlocked in standings with the Washington Redskins, would claim the title on the basis of a scoring edge in their two meetings.

Should the Cowboys lose and the Redskins beat the Philadelphia Eagles, a complex formula may be needed to select an NFC "wild card" playoff participant.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose team shot down the Redskins 27-7 last week, has thus warned that "this game is more important right now than the Washington game."

"You never know what's going to happen," Landry added. "We've got to play a very tough football game."

The Cowboys, featuring the running of Calvin Hill and the passing of Roger Staubach, amassed 578 yards in thrashing the Cards 45-10 in September.

Since that time the St. Louis defense has toughened and, as Coryell put it, "just set itself loose" in restricting Atlanta to 120 yards.

Of more concern to Coryell is the Cards' offense, including a battered line in addition to Hart, who has a hyperextended elbow.

Dallas' vaunted defense makes it unlikely too that St. Louis can mount a strong ground offensive equal to the 243 yards it totaled against Atlanta.

"The team has confidence in him," Coryell says of the 6-foot-3 Keithley, however. "We're just going to go out there and give it everything we've got."

Troup Trips Falls City

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Mike Toole took Troup's Tigers 80 yards in the fourth quarter for a 21-20 victory over Falls City in their Class A semifinal schoolboy football game Saturday.

Toole, who completed 11 of 22 passes for 260 yards, threw 12 yards to end John Cole on fourth down for the touchdown. Keith Tillman booted the extra point for the win.

After a 14-14 standoff in the first half, Falls City recovered a fumble on the second half kickoff and drove 24 yards with Kevin Jurgajits scoring on a five-yard run.

The center snap was high on the extra point try and Eugene Toole partially blocked the kick.

It was Eugene Toole who blocked Falls City's first extra point try after Ronnie Gawlik's six-yard touchdown run had put the Beavers in a 6-0 lead. It was shortlived because on the first play after the kickoff Mike Toole passed to Keith Tillman for 80 yards and a touchdown. The kick made it 7-6 for Troup.

Falls City came right back with Gene Kasprzyk passing 17 yards to Ross Moczygemba and Ronnie Gawlik ran the two point conversion to make it 14-7 Falls City.

Roger's Mother Buried Saturday

CINCINNATI (AP) — Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Elizabeth Staubach, mother of Dallas Cowboys' quarterback Roger Staubach.

About 100 persons, including Staubach and his wife, attended morning mass at St. Vincent Ferrer Church.

Mrs. Staubach died Thursday in Dallas after a long illness. She was 62.

He was her only child. Staubach, a Cincinnati native, won the Heisman Trophy 10 years ago at the U.S. Naval Academy.

He is expected to start Sunday's National Football League game against the Cardinals.

Making the play for the Longhorns are David Lester (24), Fil Velasquez (42) and Larry Maxwell (44). Caprock won the game, 72-55, ending a seven-game Big Spring win skien.

Steers' Win String Ends

By JACK COIWAN

Before the tip-off Friday night at the Big Spring High School gym as the Steers prepared to battle the Amarillo Caprock Longhorns, Steer coach Ron Plumlee wondered aloud about is team's mental attitude.

"I'm afraid they're not ready for this one," the coach said. "I just don't think they've got the maturity yet to handle a winning string like this. If we could just get a couple more under our belt..."

Plumlee was right the first time. Caprock led all but about a minute and a half in the game, and broke things open in the third period as the Big Springers saw a seven-game win streak end with a 72-55 setback at the hands of the 'Horns before about 200 onlookers.

Caprock used the inside work of a pair of 6-5 post men, Fil Velasquez and Larry Maxwell, added 16, while Steve Marcum for most of their points. Velasquez hit 21 points and Maxwell 10, and the Steers from the outside and hit 20 points.

Big Spring scattered its scoring among 10 players, with John Thomas Smith's 13 points leading the way. The Steers hit a weak 33 per cent from the field as they slipped to 9-3 on the year, while Caprock was tossing in 43 per cent of its shots. And for the first time in several games, the Steers committed more turnovers than the opposition.

Caprock shot to an 11-4 advantage six minutes into the tilt, but the hosts battled back on the shooting of Larry Stanley, who had all his eight points in the first period, and took the lead at 12-11 with 39 seconds left in the first stanza. At the end of the quarter Big Spring was on top 14-13.

But when Velasquez hit a basket a minute deep in the second quarter it put the Longhorns on top for good and at one point the visitors got the edge up to 10 points, 26-16, before Big Spring cut it to 29-24 at the intermission. Jeff Kuykendall and Bobby Greene sparked the Steers' comeback.

The locals looked good early in the third quarter, and sliced Caprock's lead to 31-30 two minutes into the third period. Then came a dry spell of four and a half minutes, and the Steers never challenged again as the 'Horns powered to a 48-34 lead going into the final eight minutes.

Smith personally directed a Steer assault in the fourth quarter, notching nine points, but the locals never got closer than 13 points as Caprock easily cracked a Big Spring half-court press. Velasquez got 12 of his markers in the last quarter as Caprock QB David Ream continually found him open under the basket during the press.

Caprock also won the junior varsity game 59-47, behind the 14-point performance of Rex Harris and Tommy Burned.

For Big Spring, Robert Aldridge collected 16 points and Bobby Winters managed 10. The young steers slipped to 5-4 with the loss.

Next action for the Big Springers is Monday, when they host Coaroma in a pair of games.

Big Sandy, Cuero Roll

By The Associated Press

Cuero and Big Sandy rode high-powered ground games Friday night to state schoolboy football crowns, the first for both teams.

Arthur Whittington rushed for 122 yards and scored two touchdowns as Cuero beat Mount Pleasant 21-7 for the Class 3A championship, and Big Sandy tumbled Rule 25-0 behind four touchdowns by Bobby Mitchell to win the Class B title.

Cuero, which had been ranked second in the final Associated Press poll, recovered from a miserable first quarter in which it had no first downs and four touchdowns in each period thereafter. Whittington ran seven yards for the Gobblers' first tally and bucked one yard for another score moments after he had scampered 72 steps to the Mount Pleasant 12.

Big Sandy, which had been ranked No. 1 from the start of the season, completed its overwhelming year by soundly whipping second-rated Rule, which suffered four turnovers in the game. Three of these were converted into Mitchell touchdowns. The talented senior rushed for 183 yards for the night, and his touchdowns runs were for 35, 3, 12, and 2 yards.

In the only other playoff game Friday night, Hooks blanked Alpine 21-0 as Billy Sims rushed for 184 yards. Hooks will play the winner of Saturday's Friendswood-San Antonio Hand-dolph game for the Class 2A title next week.

Finalists in Class 4A and Class A also were to be determined Saturday.

QUARRY WINS, AWAITS BOUT WITH FOREMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Quarry, with his reputation for ruining the aspirations of fast-rising contenders fortified by a quick knockout victory over Earnie Shavers, appeared close today to a title fight next spring with heavyweight champion George Foreman.

Foreman, who attended a post-fight press conference after Quarry stopped Shavers in 2:21 of the first round of a scheduled 12-round bout Friday night at Madison Square Garden, said he would give the Cypress, Calif., bomber a title match.

"I was impressed with Jerry. He should fight for the title as much as anyone," said Foreman. "He's paid his dues."

"I'm ready, willing and able," said Quarry. "Give me a shot."

'Y' To Hold Cage Clinic

A two-week basketball clinic will kick off the 1974 Gracy cage season at the YMCA, with the first of the sessions set for Monday at 5 p.m.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders are eligible for the hour-long clinics, which run through this week and resume Jan. 2 following a Christmas break. An organizational session and information meeting for parents is set for Jan. 5 at 9:30 a.m. at which time teams will be formed.

YMCA Physical Director Pat Owens said there would be two leagues, one for the fourth graders and another for the fifth and sixth grade cagers. Teams will be evenly divided, and games will be played each Saturday. Last year, there were 10 teams in the league and Owens expects at least that many this season.

Jan. 5 is the registration deadline. Parents can register their children at the YMCA or by returning forms distributed through the schools. There is no cost for the program, including the clinics, for "Y" members, while there is a $5 activity fee for non-members.

RUNNELS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL Miss Arnold's Entry Is Adjudged Winner

By JENNIE SPEEGLE
The decoration contest was judged last Friday, Dec. 14 and Miss Arnold's advisory's entry won grand prize.

Miss Arnold's class also won first prize in the bulletin board section of the contest. Mr. Gowler's advisory won second place, while Mrs. Upton's advisory won third place.

In the door section of the contest, Mrs. Tanner's advisory captured first place, while Mrs. Terrazas' advisory took second place, and Mrs. Barron's advisory took third place.

Honorable mention was given to Mrs. Talmadge and Mrs. Bathurst.

The decorations were judged on neatness, colorfulness, originality, theme (expressing one idea) and over-all appearance (easily read from a distance).

The band played a concert with Goliad last Tuesday. The Runnels Band played Paso Doble entitled "La Mascarada," "The Black Knight" by Grundman, "Christmas Suite," "Christmas Chimes," and a variation of Jingle Bells called

"Christmas Fantasy."

All three of the choirs participated in the concert on Tuesday in the Runnels gym. The girls choir sang "We Need A Little Christmas." The soloist was Nancy Porter. The soloists for "Away in a Manger," were Lorrinda Lee, Cheryl Carter, Lori Collin, and Karen Kelley. They also sang "Deck the Halls," "Mister Santa," and "Silver Bells." Soloist in "Silver Bells" was Beverly Thomason and the bells were played by Tricia Cherry and Marsha Spruill. Sharon Stephens sang "The Christ Child."

One selection that the boys choir sang was "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and the soloist was Lloyd Jones. Other songs were "Let It Snow" — soloists were John Allen, and Bill Hart, "The Chipmunk Song" — the chipmunks were Derrick Horton, Arthur Easley, Bill Horton, and Anthony Wright, and "Let There Be Peace on Earth" — soloists were Jeff Hart and Russell Burchett. Bells were played by Bill Hart and Tim Walker. The choir also sang "The Twelve Days of Christmas." Soloists were Derrick Horton, Arthur Easley, Bill Hart, Anthony Wright, and Lloyd Jones. Other soloists were Russell Burchett, Carl Caton, Jeff Wilson, and Billy Jo Combs.

The Advanced Choir sang "Carol of the Bells," "Fum, Fum, Fum," and "Holiday Montage." Leland Daniels sang "The Little Drummer Boy," Steve Cannon sang "Why Me Lord," and Lisa Fort sang "The Christmas Song." Toni Hansen, Tammy Watkins, Debra Hayworth, Pattie Webb, Brenda Kelley, and Linda Kelley joined in an ensemble as they sang "Winds Through the Olive Trees."

Mrs. Coleman's afternoon sewing classes made leopard skin cats last week. Sharon Mathews and Linda Munoz made the best cats. They also have done some embroidery. Her morning classes made fudge and divinity and sold them. They also had open house on Thursday for the parents and the teachers. The best candy-makers were Enriqueta Mata and Julie Rodriguez.

Mrs. Thomas contributed a gallon of salted peanuts to the teachers last Wednesday.

The Chess Club consolation winner is Steve Strain. This consolation tournament was played by the losers of the first tournament.

The hall lights in Runnels were changed from 300 watt bulbs to 60 watt bulbs. This was done because of the energy crisis. However, lighting in the classroom has not been changed.

New students at Runnels are Andrew Marquez and Amador Rios. Both are in the eighth grade.

School will dismiss on Thursday at 2:45. The teachers will have an inservice day on Friday, and school will resume on Jan. 2. The regular schedule will be followed on Jan. 2, 3 and 4.

Because all schools in the area will be dismissed the coming week for the Christmas holidays and most will not resume classes until after New Year's Day, no Megaphone will be printed Sunday, Dec. 23, and again, Sunday, Dec. 30.

Publication will be resumed Sunday, Jan. 6, correspondents can stand advised.

Big Springer Helps Set Team Swimming Record

AMARILLO — "As far as we can tell, we have established a new world's record for team swimming." That is the way Ken Franklin views the past weekend after the conclusion of the swim-a-thon on the West Texas State University campus in Canyon.

Franklin, a 21-year-old premed major from Big Spring, and his 20-year-old partner Bill Ottoson of Canyon started the marathon swim in the university's Student Activities Center pool Friday afternoon at 1 p.m.

"We were aiming for 60 hours," says Ottoson, "that would have taken us up to 1 a.m. Monday morning (Dec. 10). We decided to knock off at 7 o'clock Sunday night (Dec. 9). We were both just too tired and didn't want to miss classes Monday."

Even though the two missed their 60 hour mark, they still managed to swim almost three times the width of the English Channel.

The two undertook the watery task for the benefit of the Women's Athletic Association at a while.

West Texas State. The association is involved in a number of intercollegiate sports for women. Among them are volleyball, basketball, and softball. No state appropriated funds are available for participation in these sports, so the $300 plus raised by Ottoson and Franklin will come in handy. The association members furnished sponsors for every hour the men spent in the water.

As far as their world record is concerned, it is hard to find a comparison. The Guinness Book of Records says an Indian named Mihir Sen swam the strait between India and Ceylon in 24 hours and 6 minutes. That is 50 mile distance. This incident happened in 1966.

Ottoson and Franklin were in the water, separately, longer than Mr. Sen, although each one only swam half the distance of Mr. Sen. This event might have set a record. The two students have not said when they were going to try to break their own record. For the time being, both have had enough water to last a while.

The singing concluded with the lyrics: "Who would want to live in Washington, when there's only one New York." The proceeds from the gala are earmarked for payment of a $100,000 debt left over from the 1972 Democratic presidential primary campaign. Betsy Hogen, who planned the event, said she was sure the net for the evening would surpass $100,000.

Womack New Bank Director

Odessa S. (Red) Womack has been elected to the board of directors of the Security State Bank, according to an announce- ment by J. D. Nelson, president.

Womack came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Womack, from Snyder as a small boy, and went through the schools here. His service with the First National Bank was interrupted by service in the Army Air Force during World War II. After separation from service, he returned to his post with the bank before joining with Clayton Bette to form the construction partnership of Bette & Womack in 1951.

Active in community affairs, he has been a member of the American Business Club, has served as a trustee for the Big Spring Independent School District and on the board of the YMCA. He also is on the board of Fiber Glass Systems, Inc., and is a member of the First Baptist Church.

He and Mrs. Womack, the former Edna Ellis, have one son, Brent, who is active in Bette & Womack.

Chess Tourney Plan Shelved

The Tourism Development Committee Friday postponed consideration of underwriting a chess tournament here.

Mike Craddock represented a group who want $2,500 from the hotel-motel occupancy tax funds.

It was felt June would be a good time for the tourney, and committee members wondered how many would come if the energy crisis worsens.

Approval was given to purchasing $135 in trophies for the gun show held a week ago. Coy McCann was spokesman for the Howard County Junior College rodeo club concerning this matter.

No action was taken on a proposed promotional film for the community. This film will cost around $8,000.

A group from the committee plan to try to get on the next City Council agenda. They propose to suggest lower rates be charged for use of Old Couden Country Club when out-of- town guests are attracted to a function.

Later Friday, a Chamber of Commerce group gathered to plan a promotional brochure, which will be financed with occupancy tax funds.

HCJC Board To Convene

Trustees of Howard County Junior College will have their December meeting at 12:40 p.m. Tuesday in the board room of Dora Roberts Student Union Building at the college.

Left over from the previous meeting is the possibility of changing the college name. Discussion last month centered chiefly on minimizing the provincial aspects of a name, also eliminating the "junior" appellation.

Other matters of new business include a proposed amendment to the 1973-74 budget, consideration of employing a faculty member to succeed Durwood (Woody) McDonnell, instructor in voice and choir, the employment of a campus security officer.

Also on tap is consideration of a recommendation to apply for an Upward Bound program. Upward Bound, financed by HEW, is a pre-college preparatory program designed to generate the skills and motivation which could contribute to success in education beyond high school for young people from low-income backgrounds, or with inadequate secondary school preparation.

EVERY NIGHT

And A Happy, Old-Fashioned Holiday To All!

In the midst of a high speed, busy world, an old-fashioned holiday season brings peace, contentment and happy merriment to all. Handfashioned decorations are all around the house. Cards are designed by the most artistic with everyone helping to make, write and send them. There's a Christmas tree bright with strings of cranberries and popcorn and glistening tree ornaments created imaginatively — right at home.

Christmas dinner is old-fashioned, too, although many of the foods today are more conveniently prepared and provide a simple way of life for the cook as well as her holiday diners. Duckling as the main course for four (or a brace of duckling for eight people enjoying Christmas together) couldn't be easier or more delectable.

Stuffed with a truly old-fashioned stuffing, the duckling bakes in 2-1/2 to 3 hours, requiring hardly a peek in the oven. The Spicy Fruit Cocktail Sauce calls for the same convenient, canned fruit cocktail that everyone loved in summer salads! Now, the combination of five fruits — peaches, pears, grapes, pineapple and maraschino cherries — teams with such flavors as cinnamon and cloves to make a sauce superb. It's served sparkling over the golden brown duckling.

And the dessert! Pirouette Holiday Torte is almost sinfully delicious, as pretty and as irresistible as the holiday season itself. Two different kinds of wonderful Pepperidge Farm cookies are the important "crust" of the Torte. Pirouettes (from which the dessert gets its name) and sugar cookies alternate to circle the torte in a spring form pan. Sugar cookie crumbs form the bottom layer. A cluster of pirouettes stands straight up to garnish the very center of the Torte, along with bright golden peach slices. And extra cookies will never go to waste, of course!

Sunny sliced cling peaches go inside the Torte and unflavored gelatin sets everything nicely as whipped topping and beaten egg whites puff it to a frothy delight. Peaches, inexpensive and versatile, top the dreamy dessert, making it even more colorful and holiday-festive.

Served buffet-style from a sideboard or on the dining room table, the Christmas menu becomes an unforgettable highlight of the happy holiday season.

Old Fashioned Roast Duckling with Spicy Fruit Cocktail Sauce

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 frozen duckling (4-1/2 to 5 pounds), defrosted | 1 egg, well beaten |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1/3 cup hot water |
| 1-1/2 cups coarsely chopped onion | 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning |
| 1-1/2 cups diced celery | Dash of pepper |
| 1/3 cup butter or margarine | Spicy Fruit Cocktail Sauce (recipe follows) |
| 4 cups toasted bread cubes | |

Wash, drain and dry duckling. Sprinkle 1/2 teaspoon salt over neck and body cavities. Cook onion and celery slowly in butter until tender but not brown. Pour vegetable mixture over bread cubes. Add egg and hot water; mix gently. Add remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, poultry seasoning and pepper; mix well. Fill neck and body cavities loosely with stuffing. Skewer neck skin to back. Cover opening of body cavity with aluminum foil and tie legs together loosely. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in 325 degree oven until drumstick is very tender, about 2-1/2 to 3 hours. Serve with Spicy Fruit Cocktail Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Spicy Fruit Cocktail Sauce

- | | |
|----------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1 can (17 ounces) fruit cocktail | 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | 1/8 teaspoon cloves |
| 1 tablespoon cornstarch | 1 tablespoon lemon juice |
| | 2 teaspoons grated orange rind |

Drain fruit cocktail; save syrup. Combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and cloves. Add syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add drained fruit cocktail, lemon juice and orange rind; heat. Serve over duckling.

Pirouette Holiday Torte

- | | |
|--|---|
| 9 pirouette cookies | 1/3 cup kirsch (cherry liqueur) |
| 9 sugar cookies | 1 tablespoon grated orange rind |
| 1-1/2 cups fine sugar cookie crumbs (about 15 cookies) | 2 envelopes (2 ounces each) whipped topping mix |
| 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted | Garnish |
| 2 cans (29 ounces each) cling peach slices | 1 (2 ounce) whipped topping mix |
| 3/4 cup sugar | 7 pirouette cookies |
| 2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin | Red maraschino cherries |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | Green maraschino cherries or candied pineapple |
| 3 eggs, separated | Mint sprigs or holly |

Alternate 9 pirouettes and 9 sugar cookies around edge of buttered 9-inch spring form pan, standing them upright in pan. Combine cookie crumbs and melted butter; mix well. Press crumbs into an even layer over bottom of pan and against bottom of cookies. Chill well. Drain peaches well; save syrup. Set aside 18 peach slices for garnishing top of torte; cover and chill until finishing torte. Add water as needed to reserved peach syrup to make 2 cups of liquid. Combine 1/2 cup sugar, gelatin and salt; mix. Stir in liquid and egg yolks and mix well. Cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture hot. Cool and stir in kirsch and orange rind. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and continue beating until egg whites are stiff and glossy. Fold into gelatin mixture. Prepare 2 packages of whipped topping mix as directed on package label. Fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon 1/2 of gelatin mixture in an even layer into chilled crust. Top with remaining drained peach slices. Spoon remaining gelatin mixture over peach slices. Chill until firm. Garnish torte just before serving. Prepare remaining whipped topping mix as directed on package label. Mark off top of torte into 6 equal wedges using a thin strip of whipped topping put through rose tip of pastry tube or by spooning it on with teaspoon. Arrange 3 peach slices in each section. Garnish with red and green cherries or pineapple. Stand 7 pirouettes upright in center of torte, tree fashion, and top with a mint or holly sprig, if desired. If desired, edge base of torte with whipped topping mix and garnish with red and green fruit. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Miss Nix Marries Michael Glen Paul

Miss Jean Anne Nix and Michael Glen Paul were married at 7 p.m., Friday in Sand Springs Baptist Church with the Rev. Eldon Cook, pastor, performing the rites. Mrs. Mac Schneider was pianist, and the vocalist was Miss Connie Tucker.

The wedding party stood before an archway flanked by branched candelabra and baskets of white carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Nix, Sterling City Rd., Big Spring, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Paul, Rt. 1, Big Spring.

The bride's gown of lace over satin was styled with squared neckline accented with pearls and sequins. The long sleeves formed petal points over the hands, and the chapel-length train, sweeping from a large bow at the waistline, was appliqued with sequins and pearls. Her three-quarter-length veil fell from a bandeau of lace petals.

She carried a cascade of white carnations, red roses and baby's-breath.

The maid of honor was Miss Linda Coates, Coahoma, and the bridesmaids were Miss Shari Nix, sister of the bride, and Miss Andrea Broughton, both of Big Spring.

The attendants were identically attired in floor-length, red and white dotted Swiss gowns with red streamers flowing from the front waistline. The gowns featured scooped Jack Broughton, Big Spring, served as best man, and groomsmen were Richard Nix, uncle of the bride; and Dub Coates, Jimmy Clanton and Eddie Bayes, both of Big Spring, were the ushers.

Melissa Paul and Karla Nix, sisters of the couple, were the flower girls, with Ray Nix, Big Spring, brother of the bride, being ring bearer.

RECEPTION

A reception honoring the couple was held in the fellowship hall, with Miss Linda Carroll and Miss Lorene Nix joining the bridal attendants in serving refreshments.

The table, covered with a lace cloth over red underlay, was centered with the bride's bouquet. Appointments were crystal.

Relatives attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John Paul, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Paul and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Nix, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Maxwell, Archer City; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thorp, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Wagon, Coleman; Mr. and Mrs. Mitch Hoover, Saginaw, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Reno Paul, Brownfield; Mrs. Anne Howard, Abilene; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tate, Hermleigh.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING Take Extra Care If Sewing On Leather

By SHERRY MULLIN
(County HD Agent)
Sew excitingly for fall — sew leather or fake leather.
Buckskin, suedes and chamois skins and imitation skins are readily available in a variety of colors. And, great new patterns have been planned for leather sewing.

First, make a trial muslin.
Remember, leather garments cannot be altered; stitching marks remain when threads are removed.
To begin working with the leather, convert each pattern half into a full pattern, then lay the pattern pieces in one direction on the skin underside. Tape pattern pieces to the skin and cut with sharp shears.

Necessary markings can be transferred using wax, chalk or ball point pen.
When ready to stitch, hold seams in place with paper clips or cellophane tape.
Core spun or silk thread makes a stronger seam. Adjust the machine for seven to 10 stitches per inch, and loosen the thread tension.
Use a Size 16 leather needle.

Bow Tie Dates Back Centuries

The origin of the bow tie is somewhat in doubt, but fashion authorities have found it dates back centuries.

One theory is that gentlemen of the mid-17th Century, tired of high, scratchy lace collars, substituted a piece of white linen around their necks, letting the ends dangle from a knot tied under their chins. In time the ends got shorter until the only thing remaining was a knot with very short ends.

Drama Of Christmas Begins With Music

The musical scene centers today on Big Spring churches celebrating the birth of the Christ child.

At least four churches have major musical and dramatic programs, and within the week several others will join, followed by Christmas eve services in several churches.

The Baptist Temple will lead off in the 11 a.m. worship hour with an extraordinary variety of presentations, including a 10-piece instrumental ensemble, combined choirs and hand bell choir. The program is under direction of Dan McClinton.

CHRISTMAS DRAMA

At 6 p.m., "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be presented at First United Methodist Church. With an extensive cast, unusual lighting and costumes, Charles Parham will direct.

Grace Baptist will present John Peterson's melodic "Night of Miracles," an ever-popular cantata, at 6:30 p.m., followed by the traditional Christmas party in the Fellowship Hall. Rev. Homer Hess is directing.

An unusual twist, which may well become a tradition at First Baptist Church, begins at 6 p.m. in Comanche Trails Park (the tennis courts near the totem pole) where the congregation gathers for a march, with twinkling lights, to the church. There, at 6:30 p.m., a program of solos, ensembles, and an original organ-trumpet composition will be heard, climaxed with a 100-voice choir on Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has received an invitation to select a special day at the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth between Jan. 25-Feb. 3. This is the 78th showing of this regional event. Tanya Tucker, 15-year-old recording star, will be spotlighted entertainer.

The Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions for the Southwest region (Texas and New Mexico) has been set for San Antonio and El Paso. Preliminary auditions for the West Texas area will be Feb. 2 in El Paso. The regional finals will be in McAllister Fine Arts Center at San Antonio College Feb. 16. Information on applications may be had from Junior League, 320 Thunderbird, El Paso, 79912.

"Hog Killin' Time and Other Poems" is the unlikely title of a volume by Bruce Davis and issued by Trilobite Press, Inc., 1015 West Oak, Denton 76202 ($6). Possessing much color and flavor, the collection focuses the poet's sharp eye on injustice that lurks in small corners of the world, yet without bitterness. There's much whimsical humor, too.

Those who like to hunt for gems may be interested in a course in gemology to be instructed by Dr. Ed Kettenbrin at University of Texas at Permian Basin in the spring semester starting after Jan. 11-12 registration. The class meets 7-8:15 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in Classroom 181 and will deal with what makes a mineral a gem, qualities of attractiveness, durability, identification, etc.

A group of about 250 Ashanti gold weights from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Romansky are in the new African exhibit at the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston starting Jan. 15. These originally were used to weigh gold dust, nuggets, etc.

Six Flags Over Texas ended its 1973 season with the highest final attendance in the park's 12-year history. More than 2,267,000 persons visited the center during the season, surpassing the 1972 peak by some 205,000 visitors. Fuel crisis or not, Six Flags is planning on another big season in 1974.

Coming up Jan. 1-30 at the Museum of the Southwest in Midland is a special exhibit on "The Big Thicket," on loan from the Witte Memorial Museum in San Antonio. It is an unusual photographic exhibit with special Texas interest.

Dates for the Six-State Exhibit will be Feb. 3-16 in Amarillo at the Camelot Inn (IS 40 & Nelson). Artists should write Alice Baldwin, 7702 Broadway, Amarillo, 79108 for entry forms as quickly as possible and then submit entries before Jan. 5. Selections of acceptances may be from slides.

Another reminder that the annual bird count of the Audubon Society is set for Christmas Day. Bird watchers (and we have many more devoted ones than you can imagine) can find out who is the count team leader for this area by calling the editor of American Birds (Robert Arvib) in New York City 212-832-2300.

The Heritage Museum has set its annual meeting date for Jan. 24 (Thursday) and it will take the form of a pioneer menu and program. Only members or their invited guests will be eligible to participate in this fun evening. During the week several classes from high school and from Coahoma visited the museum — and there was another distinguished visitor, Truett Latimer, Austin, executive director of the Texas Historical Commission.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sykes, Odessa, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy Gayle, to John Michael Dalton, Waco, son of Mrs. Goldie M. Dalton, Yuma, Ariz. and the late Mr. Dalton. Miss Sykes is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Preston, Big Spring. The wedding will be Feb. 2, 1974 in Bethel Assembly, Odessa.

Musicians Perform At Annual Guest Day

The music of the season was heard Wednesday when "Christmas is for Children" was the theme of a program given by the Music Study Club at First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Clyde Cantrell was program leader.

"The Nativity Carol" composed by Frank Wharton, was performed by Wharton at the organ and Mrs. Carl Bradley, soprano. An instrumental, "Echoes of Christmas Eve," by Ellen Surdo was performed by Mrs. Aubrey Hyden, pianist, and Mrs. Bob Simpson, organist.

Mrs. Joseph Dawes directed the Westside Center Choir in Christmas selections, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Wallace.

Hostesses, Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall, Mrs. James Little and Mrs. C. L. Carlile, served refreshments to club members and their guests prior to the program.

The next meeting will be

Jan. 9 at First United Methodist Church for the program, "Wedding Music at its Best". The leader will be Mrs. Bob Simpson.

TNA Contributes To Local Funds

Donations were made to the Boys' Club and the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation when Affiliate 24, Texas Nurses Association met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Robert Skelton, 606 Matthews.

Mrs. John Payne, president, presided; and the program was presented by Mrs. Henry Dirks who showed film slides of last summer's trip to Europe by the Meistersingers.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 8 in the home of Miss Audrey Elmore, 2711 Carol.

Wedding Slated In January

The wedding of Miss Brenda McAdams to Larry Bruns has been scheduled Jan. 1, 1974 in the Blue Room of Dora Roberts

Community Center. The future bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte McAdams, 306 W. 17th, and Marshall McAdams, Lorraine. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mrs. Ruby Bruns, 1610 Cardinal, and Paul Bruns, Dallas.

AARP Seeks Meeting Place For Retirees

The American Association of Retired Persons, meeting Friday morning at First United Methodist Church, elected officers and discussed an ambitious program for 1974.

Joe Pickle, editor of the Big Spring Herald, installed the new slate. The officers are the Rev. Elra Phillips, president; Mrs. W. E. Moren, first vice president; Mrs. Fred Eaker, second vice president; Marion Ireland, secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Hull, treasurer. Mrs. Moren presided in the absence of Rev. Phillips.

Ireland was elected representative of the AARP to contact or consult with city and county commissioners concerning a meeting place that can be for all senior citizens of Howard County.

Reports were heard from Ireland, Mrs. Moren and Mrs.

Lunch was served after the business session, and the next meeting was slated Jan. 11, 1974.

Music Is Presented By Sixth-Graders

The College Heights Parent Teachers Association met Thursday at the school to hear a Christmas program given by the combined sixth graders.

Mrs. Curtis Compton directed the children as they sang and played songs to answer "What's Christmas About?"

The program was presented by classes taught by Mrs. Maurice Koger, Mrs. Edward Slate and Mrs. Claude Newland.

The president, Mrs. Jimmy Townsend, read a letter emphasizing the need for a social service worker in this area. The city council is striving to get one for next year and needs the support of all PTA units.

A nominating committee was named including Mrs. Charlie Shanks, Mrs. Alton Ditto and Mrs. Jim Thomasson.

Mrs. Newland and Mrs. Slate tied for the room count prize.

Refreshments were served to about 40 members.

Reviewer Describes Love Story

"The Love Story of Mary and Joseph" was the book reviewed by Mrs. Ruby Martin for the Modern Woman's Forum Friday in the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles, 405 Washington Blvd. The book told of the couple's love life and customs of the times.

Concluding the program, Mrs. Bert Affleck presented thoughts on Christmas, noting that it causes a revival of love for God, bringing happiness to many people.

Mrs. Clyde Lowry was a guest.

The home was festively decorated for the holiday season, and members exchanged Christmas gifts. The next meeting will be Jan. 11 in the home of Mrs. Margaret White.

NCO Wives Club To Host Party

A Christmas party for members and families was slated for Saturday by the NCO Wives Club at a Tuesday meeting in the Webb AFB NCO Club. The party will be held in the NCO Club from 1-4 p.m.

A cheeseboard was presented to Mrs. Russell Duske as a prize for recruiting the greatest number of new members during a recent contest.

Tentative plans were made for the January installation of officers under the supervision of Mrs. Jim Walton, first vice president.

Phi Sigma Alpha Exchanges Gifts

The Texas Delta Delta Chapter of the Phi Sigma Alpha sorority exchanged secret pal gifts at their Christmas dinner Monday evening at Furr's Cafeteria. Mrs. Johnnie Winham was decorations chairman. Table centerpieces were hand-made candles based in mistletoe, and a white tree was adorned with green and gold ornaments.

Womanly 'Taste' Sets The Mood

The mood of fall is more than a change to classic, it is a change to the womanly tastefulness of high-soft Shetland plaids, tweedy knits (with new body shaping), soft fur blends and British sporting looks. Now in new smaller groups of colors and fabrics put together with feminine intuition, a sense of rightness.

The classic elegance of woven fabrics has emerged. The prints are neat and crisp, such as the herringbone that pops a floral and a checkerboard into its plaid. Polyester and rayon, it's predominantly green or beige.

Quotable Women

"I am convinced that there is a need for women as priests. Women should not be excluded from the priesthood just because they are women." Sister Amadeus McKevitt, appointed as liaison between Cardinal Cooke and 7,600 nuns working in the archdiocese of New York.

"Santa Claus is going to bring me dollies for Christmas. But he better not bring me grapes or I'll give the dollies back." Teresa Delgado, granddaughter of United Farm Workers President Cesar Chavez.

"When Yair was killed the local tribesmen came and told us they were sorry. I don't know how they knew, but in the desert news travels fast. There is a real grapevine from oasis to oasis." Ruth Swet, an Israeli mother who lost one son, saw one partially blinded and yet another suffer a shattered shoulder in Arab-Israeli fighting.

Two Host Club Party Wednesday

Mrs. Alton Underwood, 610 E. 16th, shared hostess duties with Mrs. W. N. Norred when the City Home Demonstration Club held a holiday party Wednesday in the Underwood home. The hostesses were attired in street-length dresses.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Granville Dawson and Mrs. Bill Conger. Mrs. James Johnston was introduced as a guest.

The program was by Mrs. Norred who presented "Roses at Christmas," after which members exchanged gifts. Mrs. Merle Hodnett, president, gave members new calendars.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Jan. 18 in the home of Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, Snyder Highway.

Gives Tips On House Plants

"House Plants" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Clyde Thomas at an Oasis Garden Club meeting Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. J. D. Leonard, 2310 Roberts.

Mrs. Thomas said that although more people are caring for house plants, the predominantly among apartment dwellers because of limited yard facilities.

Mrs. Boone Horne, 1604 Indian Hill, will host the next meeting at 9 a.m., Jan. 9.

Turban Tricks Protect Hair

Lightweight turbans, in something like stretch terry, are chic and fashionable headgear and work wonders for protecting hair color and preventing split ends caused by excessive sun exposure.

Scholarships Are Awarded

Two scholarships were awarded during last week's dinner meeting of Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at Holiday Inn. Recipients were Mrs. Terry Denton and Mrs. Leonard Burks, the latter a former member of the chapter.

Mrs. George Mixon, presided during the installation of two new members, Mrs. Oscar Zertuche and Mrs. Leo Gonzales.

The annual Bosses Night is slated the first Tuesday in February at La Posada. The committee in charge requested that letters of nomination for "Boss of the Year" be submitted by Jan. 19.

Mrs. Dale Smith, guest speaker, was introduced by Miss Shirley White. Mrs. Smith spoke on papier mache, explaining ways of using it by building on a chicken wire base or plastic bottle. She said torn paper can be used, soaked in starch, or prepared mixes can be purchased.

Items displayed by Mrs. Smith included several nativity scenes, a flower container, bells that can be used outside and an elephant made from a bottle base.

The vocational speaker, Mrs. Gene Hastings, explained her duties as a PBX operator at Webb Air Force Base.

Gifts were exchanged. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Jan. 8 in the home of Mrs. Lambert Misk, 2307 Lynn.

Fanatic Is Nuts

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband, Clarence, became a Christian two years ago, which pleased me because I was already one. A preacher named Orville has influenced Clarence greatly, but I can't go along with some of the things Orville has taught him.

For instance, he says no Christian would own a TV, attend a movie, or allow his children to dance or attend school sports. He also says Christian women don't cut their hair or use any kind of beautifying things.

Clarence had a dream that he was speaking from the pulpit, and Orville said that dream was a "vision" in which God was calling Clarence to preach, so now Clarence plans to preach.

One night last week Clarence said he had a dream that we were getting our tobacco crop ready to sell and some unbelievers kept hiding bad tobacco in our good tobacco, so Clarence decided it was a message from God to get rid of our TV, so he took it out in the back and burned it up.

I am torn to pieces over this. Our four preschool children are becoming very nervous. Why don't I leave him? I love him. And I know he loves me and the children. I have been praying for guidance, but am getting no answers. Can you help me?

LOST
DEAR LOST: I think you should see your doctor and tell him what you have told me. And take Clarence with you. If you could get Orville to go along, it might give the doctor a clue as to what you are up against.

DEAR ABBY: I am 38, but I'm told I look about 25. I've had two marriages. Both were failures for the same reason: I picked losers and tried to help them. I've always held good jobs and worked hard and practically supported both these guys, and got nothing but a kick in the rear.

Now I finally met a man who is hard working and successful, and HE wants to marry ME! He bends over backwards trying to be nice to me, and it's a whole new ball game for me. He says he loves me, and I know I love him. I can't believe it. The only catch is that he is 32. He has been married and has two children. I am worried about the age difference between us. He says he's always been "old" for his age, and my being older doesn't bother him because I look and act younger.

What do you think I should do?
FAITHFUL READER
DEAR FAITHFUL: I think you should grab him.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle an argument I am having with my husband since we visited his sister and brother-in-law last week.

I refuse to go to their home again. They have three dogs and six cats which they keep locked up in their house all day, and when you walk into their home the smell could knock you dead. I might add, that both the sister and her husband are chain smokers and neither my husband nor I smoke. So between the animal odors and the smoke, I was ready to keel over.

At dinner, the animals were fed from the same plates we were using. I objected, but was told: "What's the difference? All the dishes go into the dishwasher." This turned my stomach.

I told my husband I wasn't going to visit them again. He said: "They'll be hurt." What do you say?

NAMELESS
DEAR NAMELESS: I say, I don't blame you. If your husband has the stomach for a return visit to his sister's house, kiss him goodbye and ask him to please fumigate his clothes before he comes home.

MRS. DANIEL RAY HECKLER

Church Rites Held Friday

Miss Micki Craddock and Daniel Ray Heckler exchanged nuptial vows Friday evening in St. Paul Lutheran Church with the Rev. Karroll Kohl officiating before a flower-trimmed arch flanked by spiral candles and baskets of assorted flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mike Craddock, 1804 Dixie, and Mrs. Dorothy Craddock of Clute. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Guss Hecker of Luther.

Wedding music was by Miss Karen Coffee, organist, and Mrs. Warren Wise, vocalist.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of white peau de sole overlaid with Alencon lace. The bodice was styled with natural waistline and long sleeves tapered to the wrists. The skirt, straight in front, was accented at the back with tiers of Alencon lace which formed a flowing train. Her headpiece was a lace and pearl bandeau which held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with blue Sweetheart roses.

Gregg Birrell was best man, and the ushers were Ray Ward and Hubert Sorrells.

The reception was held in the Patio Room of Holiday Inn, where guests were registered by Miss Juli Campbell. The refreshment table, appointed with crystal and silver, was laid with pale blue net, with white underlay, and white lace wedding bells were at each corner.

Serving at the table were Miss Vicky Sorrells, Miss Debbie Loftis, Miss Kim Tucker, Miss Robbie Murdock and Miss Sharon Hodnett.

TO MEXICO

After a wedding trip to Juarez, Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Heckler will reside at 4202 Parkway. A graduate of Big Spring High School, Heckler is employed at Berkeley Homes. Mrs. Heckler attended BSHS.

Relatives attending from out-of-town, other than the bride's mother, were Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Getts and family, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sanders, Lovington, N.M.; and Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnes, Odessa.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Mitchell Craddock of San Angelo, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pale blue, floor-length dress styled with empire waistline and lace collar and sleeves. The bridesmaid, Miss Deborah Smith, step-sister of the bride, was attired in a floor-length, pale blue, dotted Swiss gown with empire waistline. Both the women carried nosegays of blue carnations.

Child Study Club Hears Speakers

Mrs. Don Long, a native of Australia, and Mrs. Tina Norelius, the latter of Taiwan, described traditional Christmas customs in their native countries when they spoke Wednesday to the Child Study Club.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Tom Locke, 2305 Roberts, with Mrs. Howard Stevens as cohostess. At the conclusion of the program, club members told how their families celebrated the Christmas season. Each brought a recipe and sample of her favorite holiday 'goodie' to share with the others. Twenty dollars was donated to the Christmas Cheer Fund.

The next meeting will be Jan. 9.

Good Attendance At Lomax Party
Lomax residents turned out in large numbers for the community gathering given by the Lomax Community Club Wednesday evening. The Community center, with its halls decked with Christmas decorations, was the scene of the event. Ham was provided by club members and covered dishes were provided by those attending.

New Yorkers Rip Pinates

EDITOR'S NOTE: Forty thousand Mexican traditions may be broken in American homes this Christmas season. They are the colorful pinatas of Mexico. New Yorkers alone crack a ton of them every year.

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Armed with ball bats, hand-capped by blindfolds and filled with Christmas cheer, thousands of Americans will bludgeon Mexican traditions this holiday season.

Many of them will be New Yorkers.

One of the men who feeds this desire for smashing things is Peronneau Breese, a bearded, spectacled pinata maker-importer. Pinatas are the gaily-decorated papier mache figures stuffed with goodies.

"GOODIES"
"New Yorkers go through a ton them each year. It's incredible what we ship east," he said.

The pinata is a papier mache figure formed around a clay pot filled with "goodies" from candy to gold watches.

It is covered with bright tissue paper and hung from the ceilings during the holiday season, on birthdays and for special events.

Merry-makers are blindfolded one at a time, handed a bat and invited to begin slashing the air trying to crack open the pinata.

The goodies which spew out of the pinata vanish on a first-come, first-grab basis.

$5 TO $50
Breese's pinata factory employs nine persons who turn out more than 600 pinatas each week. The factory is in a home in this Mexican border town, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex.

From here they are shipped to stores such as Lord & Taylor and Macy's in New York, Burdine's in Florida, and Neiman-Marcus in Dallas.

Even the gift shop in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington sells Breese's pinatas.

The price for this near-ancient novelty ranges anywhere from $5 to $50. They can be filled with anything from candy to $100 bills.

The host at a pinata party is encouraged to remove all lamps, vases and other bric-a-brac before the bat-swinging starts.

PLAYBOY IDEA
At one time, pinatas may have been filled with meat balls, ravioli or something else

Italian in nature.

"In Italy, many hundreds of years ago, during festivals and festive times, they'd take a clay pot, and just warp colored paper around it and fill it with goodies," Breese said. "The tradition then moved to Spain and from Spain to Mexico."

"For years it was just the clay pot with colored paper, then they started to put cone shapes on it, making a star. This, then, was the traditional pinata in Mexico and still is... the Christmas star," he said.

Breese confides, however, that he is working on a Playboy Bunny pinata.

"A lot of people are getting out of the pinata business because the freight rates are so high," he said.

LAVENDER PIG
"Pinata de Pancho," Breese's product, comes in sizes and styles ranging from a 12-inch lavender pig to a life-size fuchsia donkey.

At one time, his factory here employed 42 people in a 30,000 square foot building but economics got the best of such a large operation. His company, Import Traders, located in El Paso, imports 35,000 to 40,000 pinatas a year, reportedly making him the largest pinata importer in the U.S.

EGGS EXCUSE?

TOKYO (AP) — The energy crisis has been blamed for the highest prices for eggs in Tokyo in 17 years.

A dozen medium-size eggs are selling for $1.07 up 23 cents since October.

Egg dealers claim an 18 per cent cutback on Arab oil deliveries to Japan has curtailed truck transport, which means fewer eggs are reaching the Tokyo market and those that do are commanding premium prices.

BOOKS

You Are The Jury

NOVEMBER 22, 1963: YOU ARE THE JURY. By David Belin. Quadrangle—the New York Times Book Co. 522 pages. $10. $12.50 after Dec. 31.

This is a different sort of book about the assassination of John F. Kennedy. David Belin does not attempt to review the whole matter—only answering the critics of the investigating Warren Commission.

After all the attacks on the commission report, this is a healthy book.

Among points gone into in depth and with much direct testimony by commission witnesses are whether Oswald shot Officer J. D. Tippit, the "grassy knoll" theory, the one-bullet questions and the possibility of a conspiracy.

Belin, a commission lawyer, knew of these questions even before the report was issued.

So he became a sort of devil's advocate. He tried to prove that the critics were right. He says he never did.

He writes, "Theories have been propounded without number. Claim after claim has been advanced—conflicts of evidence, telltale clues overlooked or misinterpreted, and misfeasance and malfeasance by the Warren Commission. But in all this pawing over the evidence—not one new fact has been turned up."

Yet this lawyer for the commission has come criticism of procedures. He is sharp in his statements about the FBI's report on the autopsy. He regrets that the Kennedy family would not permit the commission to see the autopsy X-rays and pictures.

"There is a dangerous trend toward preferred treatment for high governmental officials, coupled with a dangerous trend in which high governmental officials tend to think of themselves as some sort of an elite, similar to the nobility of an 18th century European monarchy," he says.

And he also notes that President Lyndon B. Johnson never was questioned by the commission.—The AP (REF).

PARENTS' SURVIVAL KIT. By Edna Van Zandt. Branch-Smith, Fort Worth, Tex. 120 pages. $2.75 paperback.

Edna Van Zandt has listened and talked to thousands of teenagers, listening to their troubles, as youth columnist for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

She came to the conclusion that parents needed help as much as youngsters. They are about as confused and have a helpless feeling.

Result is "Parents' Survival Kit," written in a witty manner. It will give parents an insight into what makes their children tick and how they can help.

The author is trying to wipe out an old saying: "Your parents ruin the first half of your life, and your children ruin the second half."—The AP (REF).

SOUL FOOD, an Illustrated Edition of the Living New Testament. Tyndale House, Wheaton, Ill. $1.95.

The Living Bible, a translation released two years ago with the aim of making the good book more understandable, has had a remarkable success. It has been accepted by some near-fundamentalist groups which normally stick by the King James version.

"Soul Food" is, say the publishers, designed particularly for black readers in a paperback New Testament edition. It is relatively inexpensive. As far as can be determined, it is identical with the other editions except each section contains a preamble indicating how that particular book is relevant to today.—The AP (REF).

ADOBE—BUILD IT YOURSELF. By Paul Graham McHenry Jr. University of Arizona Press, Tucson. 157 pages. $7.95.

Adobe is not an archaic building material. It is used today for some beautiful homes and other structures as this new book shows.

Paul Graham McHenry's book takes the would-be builder from the very beginning of the process step by step to the finished residence.

His pictures and diagrams make it look easy. He is a designer—builder in Albuquerque, N.M., and teaches in the University of New Mexico Community College.—The AP (REF).

The committee, set up to insure "the public's right to public information" follows on the heels of a new Texas open law, says Jack Tinsley, assistant managing editor of the morning Fort Worth Star Telegram.

TEXAS CROPS

One Of Best Cotton Harvests In Years

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cotton farmers on the High and Rolling Plains are having one of the best harvests in years, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Farmers elsewhere in Texas were completing rain-delayed cotton and peanut harvests last week, Hutchison said.

Many ranchers and farmers preparing land for next year's crops reported shortages of fuel and fertilizer supplies, he said.

Late cotton being harvested in the Blacklands and in South Central Texas has been damaged by prolonged wet conditions, Hutchison said.

PEANUT YIELDS

Peanut yields and quality also have been reduced by continued wet conditions in parts of Central, East and Southeast Texas, he said, and soybeans in the southeast also suffered due to prolonged rainy weather.

Moisture is needed to boost small grain growth in the plains and western areas of the state, Hutchison said. Small grains are making good progress elsewhere although rust and greenbugs are causing some damage.

Livestock are in good shape over the state, he said. Feeding has started in the High Plains and in western areas.

The pecan crop is light and of poor quality in most areas but a good crop is reported in Far West Texas, Hutchison said.

Citrus moving to market continues to increase in the Rio Grande Valley. Harvesting of all vegetables is active in the Valley, along the Coastal Bend and in the San Antonio-winter garden area.

District agricultural agents gave these reports:

South Plains: Some counties are expected to complete cotton harvesting with another week of open weather. Large amounts of harvested cotton are being field stored. Trailers are in short supply and gins have a large backlog of cotton. Small grain growth is being hampered by lack of moisture and greenbugs.

GOOD GROWTH
Rolling Plains: About 80 per cent of the cotton crop is in a few counties. Early yields are good. Wheat is making good growth and is providing grazing. Greenbug damage is light to heavy. Rust is also causing some damage. Range and livestock conditions are generally good.

Far West: The grain sorghum harvest is about complete. Pecan harvesting is past 50 per cent complete and yields are generally good. Irrigated small grains are providing good grazing. Those on dryland are suffering from lack of moisture. Some supplemental feeding is underway.

BUGS DAMAGE
West Central: Peanut harvesting will be completed soon. Some small grains are showing moisture stress. Greenbugs are causing widespread damage to small grains in Coleman and Gillespie Counties. Rust is prevalent in some counties.

Moisture is needed for small grains, pastures and ranges. Some supplemental feeding is underway.

Southwest: Rust and insects are damaging some oats. Eggplant and peppers are ready for harvesting but the market is poor. Strawberries are making good growth in Atascosa County. Screwworms continue to be a problem in livestock. Soil moisture is generally short.

3 Agencies Form Service

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's city council, the Mitchell County commissioners and directors of the Mitchell County Hospital District have agreed to approve a contract forming the Mitchell County Ambulance Service.

The operation will be financed equally and jointly by the three agencies.

It is estimated the service will cost about $9,500 while medical supplies for it and a backup unit will require another $1,000 in expenditures.

The agencies plan to purchase a used vehicle for a backup unit costing $4,000 or less.

Those in need of ambulance service will make their contracts through the city police department. The city will also provide the upkeep on the ambulances.

The ambulance committee was formed in late September after Kiker-Seale Funeral Home asked the local governments to relieve it of the responsibility.

It's about time you relaxed. Let us do the chores, the cooking and the dishes.

Mass Murders Top News Story

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

It was early morning of Wednesday, Aug. 8. Police in Houston got a special telephone call.

The speaker was a 17-year-old, Elmer Wayne Henley, who told officers he had just killed his friend, Dean Allen Corli, 33. That set off a chain of events during which officers found 27 bodies buried in a Houston boat stall, in the piney woods of East Texas and on a windswept beach near High Island.

The 27 were slain, officers said, by Corli and possibly others after they were lured to Corli's home where they became the victims of homosexual attacks and then death.

This was the No. 1 news story in Texas in 1973 by a wide margin, votes in the annual Associated Press poll show. Balloting were editors of newspapers which are members of The AP. Seventeen of the 21 persons voting picked the mass murders as the top news story of the year in the state.

Other first-place votes went to the food problems of the summer, the return of the prisoners of war and the session of the legislature.

LBJ'S DEATH
The second highest rated story in the voting was the death of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Following the Houston murders and Johnson's death in the top 10 in order were the food crisis, the children's homes investigations, the fuel crisis, POWs return, the legislature, rewriting of the Constitution, failure of the legislative pay raises and annual sessions, and tropical storm Delia.

If all legislative acts were considered as one, they would have been given the top spot. These include the session itself, turn-down of the pay raise and annual sessions and the prelude to the Constitutional Convention.

TRINITY CANAL

peared highly important or sensational at one time or another fared surprisingly poorly in the voting.

One that failed to do well was the defeat of bonds for a start of the much-heralded Trinity Canal from the Gulf of Mexico to Dallas and Fort Worth.

A sensational story at the time also was well down in the voting. This was the kidnapping and later release of Amanda Mayhew Dealey, member of the family which publishes the Dallas Morning News.

Another story falling far down the list was the continuing Sharpstown scandals which hardly scored at all. Only a year ago it was the top event. In fact, the whole complexion of news turned around in a year's time. In 1972, the emphasis was on Texas politics, elections and misdeeds of elected and appointed officials.

This year, the top events were more divergent in nature, ranging from UFOs to what is believed the largest mass murder scheme in modern history.

KID PITCHER

The near-opening of the new Fort Worth-Dallas Airport, largest in the world, was almost ignored in the voting.

The closing-down of the famed Chicken Ranch, which contained more fallen doves than chickens, was a titillating story for a few days. But it got few points in the voting.

Even David Clyde, the Texas Rangers' kid pitcher with the great arm, received more vote points than did the ranch, which went under the official name of Edna's Fashionable Ranch Boarding House.

And the voting must have been a crushing blow to all those little green men in those unidentified flying objects after they spent their most active summer entertaining and mystifying people only two editors voted for them and even then didn't rank them above seventh.

Summer Meat Crisis Ranked Third By Editors

By The Associated Press

The top 10 Texas stories of 1973 as determined by the annual Associated Press poll of newspaper editors:

1. Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, calls police, saying he has killed a man, setting off the story of the homosexual ring in Houston and the finding of 27 bodies. 202 votes.

2. Former President Lyndon B. Johnson dies. 132 votes.

3. The summer meat crisis with many bins empty and some animals and birds held off the market or killed because of the cost-price squeeze. 119 votes.

4. Death of a girl in Artesia Hall, home for problem children, starts widespread investigation of institutions caring for children and youths. 106 votes.

5. The fuel crisis toward the end of the year with widespread predictions of shortages as prices climb and conservation measures begin. 98 votes.

6. Many Texas prisoners of war return along with those from other places brought to this state for hospital care and rehabilitation. 91 votes.

7. The legislative session. 70 votes.

8. The tentative rewriting of the Texas Constitution leading up to the Texas Constitutional Convention. 54 votes.

9. Voters turn down pay raises for legislators and annual sessions. 49 votes.

10. Tropical storm Delia sweeps onto the Texas coast, setting off widespread rains and flooding. 42 votes.

Others receiving as many as 10 vote points:

The cold blast which brought snow as far south as the lower Valley, the aftermath and trials of the SEC scandals, the wild Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs tennis match, the kidnapping and release of Amanda Dealey in Dallas, the winter fuel crisis in San Antonio and Austin.

A Reasonable Barometer

If Congress is serious in wanting to reassert its authority and assume full responsibilities in directing the future course of the country, members should support fully a constitutional amendment being pushed by Republican Congressman Clarence Miller of Ohio.

The amendment introduced by Miller would provide for the expulsion of members who miss 40 per cent or more of the votes during a term. Expressed another way, it would require attendance 60 per cent of the time. There is nothing new in Miller's proposal — four similar bills now are languishing before the House Judiciary Committee.

Former Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, Maine Republican, attempted to get action on a similar proposal. After being referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee, it died in gestation — a normal fate for proposals which are politically hot but unpopular with the nation's solons.

Miller, in introducing the latest proposal, emphasized that past reasons for refusing to act on such an amendment are not valid in today's political climate brought on by Watergate. He believes positive action by the Congress in the matter would provide public confidence "in our abilities and commitment to move America forward."

He noted that a five per cent absentee rate is considered high in private industry. This year's absenteeism in Congress ran more than twice that (11 per cent) and it was the best record scored since 1959. The seriousness of the issue, Miller said, cannot be brushed off. According to his figures, on 330 occasions last year the House was unable to form a quorum because members were absent.

The Ohio Congressman has every right to call for an end to Congressional absenteeism. Since coming to Congress in 1967, he has not missed a vote. He's been re-elected three times, so obviously minding the store in Washington hasn't hurt his image or vote-getting back in the home district.

Miller's proposal is a longshot as far as its chances with Congress are concerned unless heavy voter pressure is brought to bear. It is an issue which should receive the attention of citizens who are paying big, full-time salaries to a lot of part-time elected officials on Capitol Hill. While roll calls aren't the ultimate interior, they certainly are one reasonable barometer.

'Fire Horse' Stays Home

Here's our nomination for the one man in the United States certain to have the most unsatisfactory Christmas.

Bob Hope.

For the first time in 20 years Bob will not be overseas bringing his show to soldiers, airmen and sailors far from home.

Bob is already making a pretense of "enjoying the chance to play golf at Christmastime in good old Los Angeles."

It's great that none of our men is now directly exposed to combat conditions, and this is a good reason for Bob Hope to stay home. Like an old fire horse chomping to take off when the bell rings, we suspect that something will be gone out of Christmas for him. But from the entire nation there is something new for him — a new debt of gratitude for all that he did all those years.

What He Fears

Walt Finley

Around The Rim

One more problem in Washington is that they seem to be running out of impeachable sources.

They never were very plentiful.

Now all Judge Sirica has to fear (other than fear itself) is tape worms.

FOR THOSE of you who are interested, intrepid Herald reporter Marj Carpenter's surgery on her left wrist at Medical Center Memorial Hospital was successful and she is about ready to get up and at 'em.

Struck by a truck Friday, Marj already knew it's incredible how rapidly tragedy can strike. She still retains a grand sense of humor. For example:

"There goes the woman I love," said the doctor.

"Why don't you marry her?" asked his companion.

"I can't afford to. She's my best patient."

DAVID SHAW, ex-New Mexico kid, says:

"I'd like to visit Los Angeles, but I wouldn't want to breathe there."

Southpaw J. O. Sheid, printer deluxe, philosophizes:

"The reason dollar bills wear out so fast is that everyone is passing the buck."

I NOW TRY to rehash "the darnedest story of the week," from ex-Alpine cowboy Jay Sanders, yep, that Jay Sanders:

A rancher in Dawson county decided the best thing he could use for a scarecrow would be a big ol' owl, so he asked the local law enforcement officers if they ever came across one to save it for him.

ty jail to save for the rancher, and put it in a cell.

Well, the evening shift came on duty later, picked up the town drunk and put him in the same cell.

All night long they heard the awful screams and noises from the town drunk.

Not knowing about the owl, the officers figured he had the worst case of delirium tremens they'd ever known.

I REPEAT this yarn in an effort to reassure the three local policemen spotted Friday in the 700 block of Scurry St. checking the orange car belonging to John Edwards, another intrepid Herald reporter.

Yes, I know the front grill of the car is battered — but not in a hit-and-run accident.

You see, John explains he smashed into a brave, but not so wise owl on a busy highway near Lamesa about 5 a.m. last Sunday morning. No officer, it's not what you think. John was protecting our country in the service of the National Guard at the time — or something like that.

NOW THERE'S lemon flavored cigarettes advertised.

Do you suppose it puckers one's lungs?

"Red" McMahen, retired pressman turned sportsman, confesses:

"I'm getting to the age where if I kept a memory book, I think it would have a lot of blank pages."

A quickie from Tommy Jordan, you know him:

"I've been yodeling for the past 47 years."

"That's a long time."

"Yes, I'm yodeler but wiser."

Bitter In-Fighting

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Within two days of his appointment as new energy czar, Deputy Secretary of the Treasury William Simon was the target of a humiliating and massive put-down by Roy Ash, fast-rising and highly controversial head of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

ASH, skilled as an enemy-picker and bureaucratic fighter both within the administration and on Capitol Hill, told Simon that he, Ash, and his OMB staff would "run" the energy program — and that Simon would handle "policy" matters.

Moreover, one inside operative told us that Ash's OMB men had pulled the energy-crisis files accumulated during ex-energy czar John Love's ill-fated five-month tour in the hostile White House, at least temporarily denying the files to Simon.

BUT SIMON is no one's patsy. When told to his face by Ash that his duties would begin and end with "policy," he replied with two old and honorable Anglo-Saxon words: "Bull s—t." The power struggle, one of an unlimited number of lesser struggles by which Ash has managed to elevate his power, then went to President Nixon.

BUT MR. NIXON, preoccupied by self-preservation and notoriously unfriendly about the energy crisis, won't have to settle it. That will be done by Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz.

Shultz, who was instrumental in having his deputy, Simon, put in charge of the energy crisis, has no intention of permitting Ash to interfere with Simon's operations. The word in the White House late last week was that Shultz will cut the mighty Ash down to size.

HE'LL HAVE plenty of help both inside the administration and in Congress. When Ash testified before the Senate Government Operations Committee Thursday, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, a key energy expert, tried to make him squirm.

Was it not true, he asked Ash, that the White House had impounded some $40 million last summer that the Democratic Congress had appropriated in a vain effort to force the administration to step up research and development on new fuels? Well, Ash replied, the money was "reserved," not "impounded." Jackson and other congressional energy experts blame Ash for undercutting former White House energy czar James Akins (now ambassador in Saudi Arabia) and Love.

Gift To The People

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — President Richard Nixon is preparing to disclose that he and his wife will leave their home at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. in Washington, D.C., to the American people.

THE HOUSE, known as "the White House," is one of the largest in Washington, D.C., and is considered one of the choice properties in the city.

A spokesman for the First Family said, "Although the President and Mrs. Nixon have not lived in it much, the White House has great sentimental value for them. By leaving it to the American people, the President hopes to take care of all the criticism leveled at him for the taxpayers' money he spent on his homes in Key Biscayne and San Clemente."

THE PRESIDENT's lawyers are now drawing up the papers which will provide that the Nixons can live there for three more years before turning it over to the government. There is some question in Congress as to whether this is legally possible. The President made his decision to donate the White House to the American people long before the energy crisis, according to the spokesman, and he rejected media reports that the reason the Nixons are giving the White House to the nation is that it is too hard to heat.

THE SPOKESMAN said also that President Nixon intends to include in the donation his entire tape collection which is considered one of the best in the entire land.

The spokesman said that by donating their home at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. the Nixons were putting to rest unfounded rumors that Bebe Rebozo and Howard Hughes planned to develop the property for a 40-story hotel and a possible gambling casino.

ORIGINALLY, the Nixons had planned to leave the White House to the Spiro Agnew; but something happened, no one knows exactly what, and the Agnews were cut out of the will.

It was rumored that the Gerry Fords might sublease the White House in 1974, but the spokesman denied this.

"Several people have offered to buy the White House including Nelson Rockefeller, Ronald Reagan, John Connally and Teddy Kennedy, but the Nixons have turned down their offers. The price they offered was not even in the ballpark considering all the improvements that have been made."

A Devotion For Today...

Man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart. (1 Samuel 16:7)

PRAYER: O God, I pray that Christ may be born in my heart today; and that through His life in me, I may show that open, child-like spirit He loved to bless. In His name. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

BILLY GRAHAM

A contradiction bothers me. The Bible is supposed to say that God started the church, but the way that ministers of some denomination push it, it looks like there is little divine power behind it. Frankly, it bugs me.

B.A.R. Listen to this story! It comes from the island of Okinawa.

In 1945, when a war correspondent named Clarence Hall followed the troops into a tiny village, they found a society that evidenced unbelievably high standards of health and happiness. The people were gentle, and their houses clean.

When the military intelligence toured the village they were hard pressed to explain the phenomenon until old Shoesei took down a dog-eared Bible.

It seems that 30 years before, one American missionary, bound for Japan, stopped just long enough in that village of Shimabuku to make two converts and leave that old Bible. God and His Word did the rest — without, I repeat, without the help of clergy or the organized church.

Now I believe God has provided the local church, the ministry and denominational fellowship for our instruction and help. But, in no way is Biblical faith credited to them.

Paper Shortage

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are a businessman with a room full of files or a homemaker with a house to keep in order you might find it hard to believe but, yes, there is a paper shortage.

This one isn't so much the result of inadequate production — although there is that aspect to the shortage — but of the seemingly insatiable appetite of the economic system for newsprint and printing paper and paperboard and paperbags and tissue.

Last year that hunger resulted in between 63 million and 64 million tons being consumed. This year's consumption has been at the rate of between 67 million and 68 million tons, or about 640 pounds per person.

LOOKING INTO the immediate future, analysts foresee little or no letup in demand. In fact, some industry officials believe that by 1975 the country will need eight million tons a year more but that capacity will grow by only half that.

One of the ironies of the problems is that this demand grows in spite of dedicated efforts to reduce man's reliance on paper. In some industries the battle may be considered critical.

The banking system, for example, feels as if it sits beneath a constant shower of confetti in the form of 23 billion checks a year that descend upon its clearing facilities. Bankers everywhere agree that it can't keep up.

Now being developed are systems to record transactions through the use of electronic system that add to or deduct from your account without the medium of the check.

In the securities industry, to cite another example, the inadequacies of paper stock certificates, beautiful as they are, was made obvious by the big increase in transactions during the 1960s.

UNABLE TO transfer certificate quickly, some brokers merely let them pile up in back offices, almost bringing down the entire industry. The confusion hardly can be exaggerated.

Said Paul in 2 Timothy 3:15, "The sacred writings — able to instruct you for salvation in Christ Jesus."

Price Controls Go Off Autos

The Week's Business

- Price lid lifted in return for promises of modest raise
- But steel runs amuck of cost of living council
- Bethlehem wants to spend $2 billion for expanding output
- Airlines run into fuel limits, more layoffs announced
- Memorex joins parade and files billion dollar suit

NEW YORK (AP) — The auto industry this past week became the fourth and by far the largest business to win freedom from the Nixon administration's price controls.

But while automakers were boosting prices, a Phase 4 escape attempt by the steel industry ran afoul of the Cost of Living Council.

In a surprise move, the council agreed to lift controls from auto producers in return for promises that they wouldn't "unleash forces by unforeseen boost prices beyond set limits major economic events."

An increase limit of $150 was set for wholesale prices at General Motors and Ford, with a $100 limit at American Motors. It was agreed that the stripped-down retail price of hot-selling small cars would not go up more than $150.

CHRYSLER DISAGREES Chrysler disagreed with the Council over just what might constitute a "major economic event" and gave no promises. But it was exempted from controls anyway on the theory that competition would keep its prices in line.

Automakers quickly announced price hikes to take up the new slack. And it quickly became apparent that many consumers could expect to pay more than just the newly allowed increases.

Ford raised the suggested retail prices of its vehicles — and options — an average of $192 after dealer markups.

Ford boosted retail prices for small cars exactly $150. But that was for a basic small car with no extras. And while Ford boosted option prices an average of 5 per cent, the hike for extras on small cars went up an average of 8 per cent. The price of air conditioning on one small Ford model went up 25 per cent, from $170 to $212.

BUT NOT STEEL Detroit followed the cement and fertilizer industries out of Phase 4. And a few days before the auto announcement, the Cost of Living Council lifted controls on prices of a variety of nonferrous metals.

But John T. Dunlop, director of the council, said no such relief was in the offing for steel producers, some 27 of whom soon will go before the council to argue for proposed raises the government figures at an average of 5.3 per cent.

Diabetes Isn't 'Cured'

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a diabetic and used to be on pills. My blood sugar has been 85 and 84 lately. Now I've heard several stories about doctors telling patients they're no longer diabetic — that it was just brought on by a shock.

I've lost a lot of weight throughout the years. I asked my doctor about being cured and he said, "No, that's a final condition that you have to accept."

These stories puzzle me, especially when the women are eating everything.

Also what causes the legs to lose energy and become weak when you get light-headed? — Mrs. M. H.

No, diabetes does not become "cured." Here's the explanation: When your pancreas does not produce enough insulin to let you utilize the sugar from your food, that's diabetes.

Most of the time it is possible to control the level of sugar in your blood by diet, or pills, or insulin, or some combination of these. And that is fine! You continue to live an active life.

But that doesn't mean the diabetes is cured. Your pancreas is still in the same condition it was — unable to produce enough insulin.

Some patients by proper treatment and diet get their blood sugar down to a normal level. And they think they are "cured." But sooner or later, they discover their mistake — the hard way.

The only exception I can cite for you is that occasionally a "temporary diabetes" develops in pregnancy, and then may disappear afterward. Unfortunately in such instances, it usually is a sign that diabetes is likely to develop later in life.

Now for your second question. When do these attacks of light-headedness and weakness in the legs come on? Usually some time after you have taken your pills? Or after you have not eaten anything for some time?

You may be experiencing a period of low blood sugar which can do just that. You may have restricted your diet a little too much. If so, eating a little more, particularly protein foods, which are converted only quite slowly into blood sugar, may solve it.

INDICTED SPEAKER — New York State Assembly Speaker Perry Duryea arrives at district attorney's office in New York City where he was indicted along with Assembly Republican majority leader John Kingston on charges of violating two minor sections of the state election law. Duryea, 52, a seven-term assemblyman from Montauk on Long Island, has been widely mentioned as a possible Republican contender in the 1974 gubernatorial race.

Offshore Oil Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil companies would be forced to quadruple federal royalty payments on offshore production under legislation proposed Friday by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex.

He said the legislation would have the effect of encouraging smaller companies to bid and develop federally owned offshore oil tracts.

If a company's profits are narrowed by higher payments to the government, he said, the bids would be commensurately smaller.

"It would mean the small company would have to have less money up front to get into production—less initial outlay," Bentsen said.

He said increasing the government's share of production from 16 2/3 to 65 per cent also would pump millions of dollars in new revenue into the treasury.

The oil companies paid the federal government $300 million in royalties during fiscal 1973. That would have been roughly $1.2 billion under Bentsen's bill.

He said the 65 per cent payment would not be out of line with the royalties paid by the oil companies to the governments of other countries where they are producing.

"Surely, the American taxpayers are entitled to the same share of production from the lands they own as the people of Indonesia or Nigeria or the Philippines are now receiving from American oil companies," Bentsen told a news conference.

Bentsen, who represents the nation's largest oil-producing state, introduced another measure lifting the depletion allowance for oil and gas production in all foreign countries outside North America.

"Under present law, our tax code allows oil companies the same depletion allowance for production in the Middle East as for domestic production," he said. "We should not have an incentive on the books for production in far corners of the world at a time when we are seeking domestic self-reliance."

OUTLOOK — This is the way the nation's weather shapes up in terms of precipitation and temperatures for the next 28 days, according to the National Weather Service in Washington.

Burleson Thinks New Act May Help U.S. Budgeting

By OMAR BURLESON
WASHINGTON, D. C. — It has been more than 50 years since Congress adopted the Budget and Accounting Act which has as its purpose Congressional control over the purse strings of the Nation which the Constitution so provides.

The trend has been to relinquish that control to the executive branch of Government. There is reason now to be encouraged that the Congress is retrieving some of that responsibility. The House of Representatives has passed a measure setting up its own budgetary procedures which requires a limitation on expenditures and bring under control what is known as "back-door" spending. This means long-term commitments which have to be paid for on a COD basis.

A very large per cent of the federal budget does not require annual appropriations but rather an automatic expenditure for obligations created years ago. The interest on the public debt is one of the most obvious examples. Interest alone on what the government owes will be running nearly $30 billion for the fiscal year 1975 which begins next July.

The present method of budgeting federal expenditures has become chaotic simply because there is no real connection between income and outgo. For the first 100 years of this Republic's history, spending was relatively modest. (In 70 of these 100 years, the budget showed a surplus.) But by World War II spending had begun to soar and agencies of the executive branch of Government began making greater demands on the Congress for purposes which only their own experts could really fathom.

The depression of the 1930's spawned new spending programs for which money was rather haphazardly appropriated. But the money was controlled by the bureaucrats.

For years the more conservative members of the Congress have been insisting on a unified budget, meaning that instead of more than a dozen separate appropriations bills, none related to the other, that there should be a system whereby the totals of these bills should be available before they were sent to the President for approval.

Under the bill passed last week by the House of Representatives, the President will continue to send his budget to the Congress in January but it will cover a fiscal year beginning in October instead of July. As soon as the budget is received, the White House figures will be examined by a new Congressional Office of Budget and a Budget Committee of the Congress will review it.

The Congress itself, by a joint resolution, must agree upon a single comprehensive ceiling on total prospective spending for the year. Priorities would be established and a fixed amount recommended within a ceiling.

The appropriations committee would then go to work and produce a single bill for each department of Government but none sent to the President until all had been completed. The 14 major appropriations bills would then be totaled to see that it was kept within the set ceiling. This action is a big step towards trying to bring greater responsibility into the Federal Government's huge expenditures but it is up to the Congress to make it work.

'THING DIDN'T, AH, QUITE TAKE OFF'

Dandy Don's 'Travelin' Man

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — About four weeks ago, during ABC's "NFL Monday Night Football," they played a record called "Travelin' Man." Don Meredith was seen to wince, even though the singing wasn't half bad.

In fact, the singer was Meredith. And because of the response from the TV audience, Dot Records says it's reissuing Meredith's record and already has mailed 2,000 copies to radio stations.

Dandy Don admits to being a bit surprised both by the company's action and the fan reaction to a recording he made back in the early 1960s with a country and Western band in Dallas, Tex.

CAN'T LOSE

"I really didn't cut it to try and sell it," said Meredith, who was the Dallas Cowboys' quarterback at the time. "It was just one of those things I wanted to do, and so we did it and it was kinda fun."

For the record, the reverse side of the proceedings has him singing, "Them That Ain't Got It Can't Lose."

What prompted him to cut the record?

"Well, ah, that really is a good question," he said. "It sort of started in a beer joint—actually a pretty nice place, called the Reveler in Dallas. They played country music and I used to go over there. I always liked country music, so I started foolin' around with it. And at certain times of the evening it seemed I would migrate towards the stage. It was one of those things."

DO IT

It came to pass that he and his friends in the band got the idea to pop in a Dallas recording studio and record. "We just decided one day, 'Heck, we'll do it,'" Meredith said.

The recording got fairly good air play on Dallas stations, he said, and then Dot Records got hold of it in some way he still doesn't understand.

"I never made a whole lot off it," he allowed. "I got a $2.54 royalty check one year and think that was my biggest year. The thing didn't, ah, quite take off."

He said he had no idea at the time—nor does he now—of carving out a second career as a country singer.

NASTY?

"I'm under no illusion that I can sing," he said. "It's a frustration because I'd really love to be able to do it well. But the guys in the band had to teach me everything."

"I didn't even know about modulation," he said, referring to a key change in a song. "Heck, I always thought modulation was something nasty you do."

He said although record executives have talked to his lawyer about resuming his vocalizing, he'd only do it if it wasn't for serious, if he had a choice of songs and musicians and if it'd be fun.

"I don't want any money," he said. "But I want enough to bring my friends to Nashville and pay their expenses and we'll have a party down there for about a week."

PRIDE AND JOY

Meredith, whose music favorites—and friends—include Roger Miller, Willie Nelson and Kris Kristofferson, was asked who gave ABC the record they played during the football telecast.

"I don't know and they won't tell me," said the 35-year-old pride and joy of Mount Vernon, Tex. He was then asked what he'd do if he finds the rascal.

"Well, I don't really know," mused Dandy Don. "I guess I'm gonna sit and talk to him for a while."

War Museum Plans Blossom

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Hermann Goering's staff car parked next to Douglas MacArthur's staff car?

A submarine, 300 miles from the sea, floating nearby?

All of them in front of a 35,000 square foot bunker?

Many World War II veterans would tell you it never happened. They're right.

But Mike Giles, a 35-year-old ex-Marine, plans to change all that.

Giles, president of the War Museum of History, Inc., plans to open the multimillion dollar facility next spring on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike. He touts it as the "most elaborate facility of its kind in the United States."

The collection of war weapons, machinery, paraphernalia and other memorabilia from World War I to the present already on hand is valued at nearly $3 million, he says.

The five-acre complex will be in the heart of Dallas-Fort Worth's sprawling tourist-entertainment complex within cannon shot of Six Flags over Texas, the Wax Museum, Seven Seas, Lion Country Safari and other attractions.

The purpose, Giles says, "is not to promote war or the suffering it causes but to provide an authentic, realistic vision of the wars as they were. Our main effort is to strive for strict authenticity."

Giles says the company already has acquired the staff cars, a submarine, airplanes, tanks, field pieces, hundreds of uniforms, American and foreign, firearms, medals, military papers and thousands of other items related to America's military history since World War I.

The project will include a parade ground for appearances by drill teams and military band performances, a picnic area and a small airfield behind the concrete bunker.

"We actually won't have enough room to hold all of it," Giles said. "We'll have to rotate some of the exhibits."

Fire Kills Dad, Sons

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — A father and three sons he tried to rescue died early Friday when an explosion and fire destroyed their home.

Donavan Franklin, 31, went into the flaming house in a futile attempt to save his sons. He was found cradling the youngest victim, 11-month-old Ryan Franklin. Also killed were Kevin, 2, and Scott, 5.

The mother, Ruth, suffered serious burns. Her three older sons by a former marriage also were burned but did not require hospitalization.

Neighbors attempted to get into the burning two-bedroom frame house but were driven back by the flames.

'What's The Use Of Changing?'

SOUTHWICK, Idaho (AP) — He's voted Republican in 21 presidential elections, and 105-year-old William E. Kauder says Watergate would not keep him from backing the GOP candidate in 1976.

"I don't think I'll be here in 1976," says Kauder, who first voted in 1892 for William McKinley.

Kauder, born at Quincy, Ill., in December 1868, says he's voted a straight Republican ticket in every presidential election since.

Kauder says the Watergate affair is "a terrible scandal." But, he added, "there's the half that's never been told."

BOSSIER CITY, La. (AP) —

Three men sought by Oklahoma authorities for escaping from the Oklahoma State Penitentiary were arrested by police here shortly after a quick service grocery was robbed. Mayor James Caffey said Riley Bradford White, 35, Jacksonville, Tex.; Billy Jack Jameson, 19, and Richard R. Credille, 39, both of McAlester, Okla., were taken into custody in connection with the robbery and held for Oklahoma authorities.

Local officials said the three were wanted in Oklahoma on here shortly after a quick auto theft and escape charges.

'Candor' Ups President's Popularity

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — More people approve of President Nixon's performance in office since he began his "Operation Candor," according to the Gallup Poll.

But the majority of Americans still disapprove of the way Nixon is handling his job, the poll said.

A survey taken Nov. 30-Dec. 2, after the President made several public appearances around the nation, showed 31 per cent approving of the job Nixon was doing, compared with 27 per cent in a similar poll a month earlier.

The President's popularity had been declining almost steadily since last January, when he received his highest rate of approval, 68 per cent, after the Vietnam peace settlement. The decline in popularity followed revelations in the Watergate scandals.

Nixon's lowest popularity rating, 27 per cent, was recorded last month and in an October survey.

The 1,550 respondents in the latest poll were asked: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Nixon is handling the job as President?"

Thirty-one per cent approved, 59 per cent disapproved and 10 per cent expressed no opinion. In the Nov. 2-5 survey, the percentages were 27 per cent approval, 63 per cent disapproval and 10 per cent had no opinion.

The Gallup organization noted that in the most recent poll the greatest rise in public approval was in the South, where Nixon made several personal appearances. The President received an increase of 7 per cent in the South over the 34 per cent approval he'd been given in November.

In other sections of the nation, the President's popularity went up 3 per cent to 27 per cent.

School Lunches

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has announced an increase in the maximum income a family can have and still qualify for their children to get reduced price school lunches.

Under the increase, a family of four can earn up to $7,440 per year and still qualify for the program — an increase of 25 per cent over the current income maximum.

The expanded program was authorized by Congress in child nutrition legislation signed by President Nixon on Nov. 7.

As of Oct. 1, about 225,000 of the 24.4 million children getting federally subsidized school lunches received them at reduced prices. The rules say a child cannot be charged more than 20 cents under the reduced-price arrangement.

Another 8.4 million children were receiving free school meals. To qualify for the free lunch program, a family of four can earn no more than $4,250 a year.

Songstress Gets What She Needs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A swag of white velvet and a roll of red carpet are just what Marlene Dietrich needs to keep her $30,000 swan feather cloak from getting soiled.

Miss Dietrich, performing at the Fairmont Hotel here, dresses in a $16,000 gown and travels from her suite to the showroom via freight elevator and wheel chair.

The songstress, who needs the wheelchair because she recently injured her left leg in a stage fall, noticed that her Jean-Louis original gown was getting soiled on the trip through "the messy kitchen."

Mag Advises

LONDON (AP) — Parent power could be a decisive force in improving Britain's education system, says the Advisory Center for Education, educational publishers and advisers.

The center's magazine "Where" gives practical advice to parents on how to get things done — like getting rid of a disastrous teacher, compiling and using a dossier on the local education authority, raising money for an improvement the authority can't or won't provide.

There's no quick answer, to bad teaching, inadequate buildings and equipment and the problems of an individual child, the magazine makes clear. And it says that whatever the excitement of campaigning and pressure grouping, the real place for the exercise of parent power is on the governing and managing bodies of schools.

Troubled By Fuel Crisis? Try Amarillo

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Troubled by the fuel crisis? Then the Amarillo, Tex., area is the place to be, an Amarillo booster says.

Roy Tolk, who heads the Southwestern Public Service Co., which serves the Texas Panhandle, says his area has natural gas supplies waiting to be exploited and water aplenty. "We could see what was coming. We trimmed our operations in anticipation of what we see today," said Tolk, addressing the Los Angeles Society of Financial Analysts.

Because of such prudence, his utility's gross revenues for 1973 increased $10.3 million, or 10 per cent, Tolk said.

"We are in the middle of some of the largest natural gas producing country in the United States and we are very aggressive in acquiring natural gas rights," Tolk said.

"A lot of our problem is not supply but that we are sitting on top of some of the richest natural gas deposits in the world that have never been drilled for or discovered," he added.

Announcing an agreement reached by his utility with Los Angeles-based Occidental Petroleum Corp. on shale oil production in Colorado, Tolk said: "Within three or four years, I am confident there will be oil produced from that shale by Occidental, which won't be objectionable to the Sierra Club and all the other groups causing trouble in that area."

Rex Lee Quits FCC Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Rex Lee has resigned from the Federal Communications Commission effective Dec. 31, his office said Friday.

Lee, a Democrat, was named to the commission in 1968 by President Lyndon B. Johnson. His term was due to expire in June 1974.

A spokesman in Lee's office quoted the commissioner as saying he was retiring because he "has things he wants to do" but said he did not know what Lee's plans are.

Lee, 63, is the second Democrat to step down from the seven-member commission in 10 days.

Nicholas Johnson resigned Dec. 5, reportedly to run for Congress in Iowa.

Johnson's term actually expired last June 30 but he served beyond that date because President Nixon did not name a successor immediately.

Nixon nominated Detroit broadcasting executive James H. Quello for the job this fall, but the nomination has been stalled in Senate committee.

Quello's nomination has been criticized by some because of his ties with the broadcasting industry. Many of the critics say Johnson's successor should have been more consumer oriented.

Houston Recount

HOUSTON (AP) — The recount of votes for mayor in the Dec. 4 city runoff election will begin Tuesday.

The recount was requested by Dick Gottlieb, who trailed Fred Hofmeier by 2,920 votes or about one per cent of the total vote.

The recount is expected to take four days spread over about a week.

The election code requires that County Judge Bill Elliott, a district judge, a majority of City Council and a representative of the city secretary be present for the recount.

Representatives of the two candidates also will be present as the totals on 1,202 voting machines stored in seven county warehouses are rechecked.

Cheerleaders Homosexuals

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — When actor Burt Reynolds dashes for football glory in the film "The Longest Yard," his cheerleaders will be nine male homosexuals.

Joe Hopper, the warden of Reidsville State Prison where the film is being made, said Thursday he had approved use of the nine inmates, all admitted homosexuals, in the movie.

The film is about an inmate football team led by Reynolds. The convicts will wear leather hot pants, hot pink knee boots, gold sweaters and gold-glitter eye shadow. Hopper said the costumes were provided by the film company.

WEEK'S PLAYBILL Fantasy Parks Used

Located 500 miles into the Sahara Desert is Delos, a triumph of man's mastery over the environment.

Delos, a playland for adults, consists of three separate resort areas, each with its own special appeal. Michael Crichton, a young novelist, has conceived of the playland as the location of his original screenplay, "Westworld."

The film, which is produced by Paul N. Lazarus III, stars Richard Benjamin, Yul Brynner and James Brolin. It starts Wednesday at the Ritz.

In each of the resorts, they have utilized technology to recreate past environments in human history. These were carefully chosen after extensive market research into communal fantasy. Eventually they settled on the American West; Medieval Europe; and Imperial Rome.

In principle, it is like television or movies — except that you don't just watch it, you participate in it. They believe that modern man, living in a civilized world, needs to escape into fantasy and will pay handsomely for the opportunity.

Thus, they created the greatest amusement park in history, with the help of their highly advanced robotic technology.

Western World, the blue quadrant on the map, is a complete recreation of the American frontier of 1880. Here it is possible to relive the excitement and stresses of pioneer life to the fullest. Western World is a life of lawless violence, a society of guns and action.

Medieval World, the red quadrant, is where they have reconstructed the thirteenth century Europe, a world of chivalry and combat, romance and excitement.

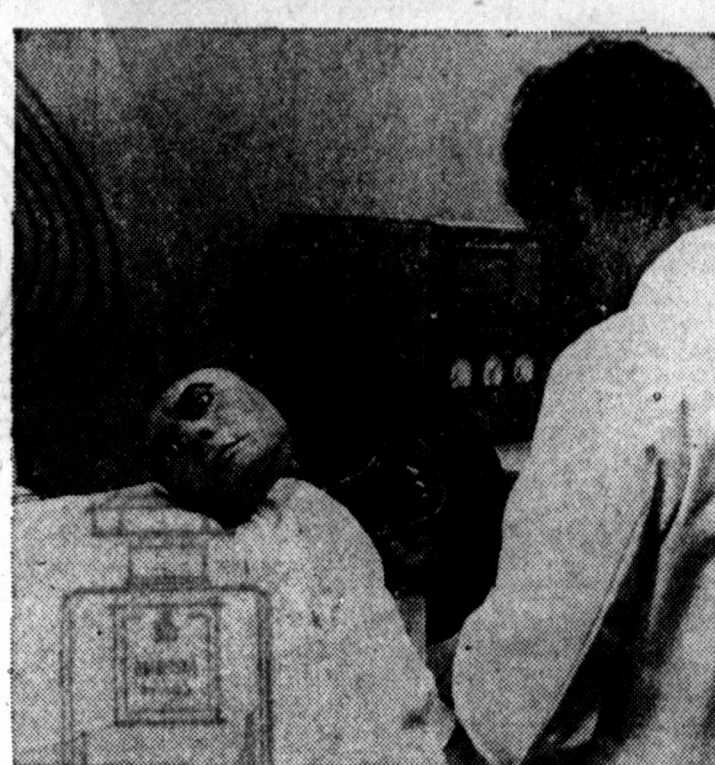

Roman World, the yellow quadrant, is a lusty threat for the senses. In the setting of delightful, decadent Pompeii. Here the traveler can experience the sensual, relaxed morality that existed at the peak of the Imperial Roman Empire.

All together, these resorts comprise Delos, the most exciting vacation spot in the history of man. Completely self-contained, efficient and highly reliable. Hydroponic tanks, recycled air and water systems, climate control, the whole spectrum of technology has been employed in Delos for the vacationer's pleasure. Expensive and unusual, Delos is not for everyone, but for those that choose it, it is truly unique and rewarding.

A visit to Delos will cost a tourist around $1,000 per day. He is taken by hovercraft across the desolate Sahara to the dome covered resort worlds of Delos. On his flight he is given an audio-visual orientation on the amusement park. When he arrives he is taken by tram to a locker room-store where he changes to the clothes of the place and period of his resort. The final leg of the journey is made by a vehicle of the chosen resort world.

Upon arrival the tourist is totally involved in a reaction of the world he has chosen. A majority of the inhabitants of each resort world are highly sophisticated, human-looking robots. The robots are hard to tell from the visitors except for their metallic pupils and finger ridges. Each robot is programmed to serve and fulfill some wish of the visitors from eating to love-making to fighting.

Delos is programmed by a group of highly skilled technicians from an underground central control room. The technicians keep watch over the events of the resort worlds through a system of television monitors. Damaged robots are repaired nightly and new innovations are added at regular intervals to improve the variety of services offered.

Many elements of the Delos resort are potentially dangerous — that's part of the appeal. Gunfights are planned so that tourists won't get shot. Heat-sensing devices are placed on all the guns which act as an electronic safety. Robots are programmed with some physical weakness so a tourist may beat an antagonist in a sword fight. All this is done to bring about as complete a fulfillment of the visitor's fantasies as possible.

TEVYE (TOPOL)
... sings "If I Were A Rich Man"

Israeli Discovers Career In Movies

Topol, who stars as Tevye the milkman in the Norman Jewison film "Fiddler On The Roof," (G), went through a typical teenage career crisis before ultimately achieving his status as one of the most distinguished actors of the international stage and screen.

The picture starts Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre. A native of Tel-Aviv, where he was born on Sept. 9, 1935, Chaim Topol (to use his full legal name), was tapped for the legal profession by his mother. Topol himself, decided at the age of 14 to become a printer, and surprisingly enough, he did for a brief period.

However, destiny in the presence of the Israeli army had other plans for the young recruit. In 1953 he was assigned to the border with a pioneer unit and proved to have greater value as an entertainer than as a soldier. He subsequently became Commander of the Theatrical Group of Nahal. He made his film debut in the Israeli comedy "I Like Mike" and then starred in the award winning "Sallah" (Academy Award nomination, Golden Globe Award and winner at the San Francisco Film Festival). It was his performance as the elderly, roguish "Sallah" that led to his playing Tevye.
