TEXAS HOSPITALS CLOSE DOWN

Medicare Gets The Rap

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

Three small Texas hospitals have shut down rather than meet federal rules on civil rights, number of registered nurses and building standards to qualify for medicare.

They are the 27-bed Rosebud Hospital and the 10-bed Strawn Hospital, in cities of the same name, and the 20-bed Searcy-Fleming Hospital in Hearne.

Doctors owning the hospitals said from one third to one half of their patients were over 65 years old and now would go to certified hospitals where medicare would pick up most of their bills.

BIG BLOW

"Medicare is the biggest blow ever dealt to small towns," said Dr. H. J. Swepston of Rosebud, Tex., who built his hospital 27 years ago.

"Medicare closed us," said Dr. J. P. Fleming Jr., who said he refused to comply with civil rights rules of a central waiting room rather than the three he now operates in Hearne.

"It's going to make hardships on small towns," said Dr. P.C. Pedigo, who joined his father in starting the Strawn Hospital in 1927 but said he had trouble hiring registered nurses recently.

State and federal officials disagreed with their analysis.

John M. Mullane, regional director of medicare in Dallas, said 520 of the 578 Texas hospitals applying for medicare have been certified, and others are receiving approval almost daily. He would not reveal the number turned down but said it was small.

BIG SNAGS

The biggest snags in Texas have come in getting a recommended staff of round-the-clock registered nurses and in establishing a "utilization review" board of lcoal doctors to supervise the use of hospital beds, he said.

Mullane said there is leeway for bending certain rules—for instance, in the registered nurse situation—according to the situation. But there is no way to approve hospitals falling below minimal standards adopted from studies by national doctor and hospital associations.

FOUGHT

"We fought medicare like a tiger for 10 years," said O. Ray Hurst, executive director of the Texas Hospital Association in Austin. "But now it's law and we're trying to make it work.

"I've never seen such dedication and long hours put in by the federal officials on this program. They don't act like bureaucrats and they have bent over backwards to be fair," he said.

"If a hospital can't meet these minimal standards, you can't blame their closing on medicare," Hurst said. "Medicare just brought these things into focus."

Hurst said he felt small private hospitals were in danger unless they meet a genuine community need and were equipped with the latest facilities and well-staffed. He said sometimes this meant community ownership.

TWO HOSPITALS

Hearne is a East Central Texas city of 5,072 with two hospitals.

Hearne General has not yet met medicare rules but Administrator Milton Aalen said it has integrated waiting rooms and hospital rooms and is trying again for approval.

With Hearne General not meeting medicare standards and Searcy-Fleming Hospital out of business, medicare patients are transferred to Bryan or Marlin, each about 20 miles away.

"I believe we could continue without medicare," said Aalen, "but we feel we owe the community an obligation to try to meet medicare standards. We won't make any money—I anticipate we'll lose some.

BEGINNING

"But medicare is just the beginning of government aid to hospitals," Aalen said.

Rosebud is in a neighboring East Central Texas county and has an estimated 2,189 population. A 14-bed Halbert Clinic and Hospital there is certified for medicare and is newer than Swepston's hospital but reports it is already crowded.

Swepston said his building, much of which is wood, did not meet fireproof standards of the government, and he had only two rather than three recommended registered nurses.

Strawn is a North Central Texas town of 750.

Two Killed In Chicago Rioting

National Guard Is Called Out

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois National Guard was called out today as three nights of disorders on Chicago's West Side swelled into full-scale rioting with sniping, looting and exchange of gunfire between police and lawbreakers.

In the third night of rioting, two Negroes were shot and killed, six policemen including a captain were shot and more than 300 persons were arrested. Numerous civilians also were wounded.

DAYLIGHT HOURS

For the first time, the violence spilled into the daylight hours today.

Police reported they were battling looters at two separate locations and police units at another location in the area sent out a call for more ammunition.

Gov. Otto Kerner ordered 3,000 guardsmen from 15 Chicago units of the Illinois National Guard to the scene at the request of Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

They will back up some 900 policemen who have been assigned to the area.

ARMED, READY

Policemen began carrying machine guns, shotguns, rifles and tear gas Thursday night in addition to pistols and night sticks to combat roving bands of vandals, looters, and snipers.

The Chicago Transit Authority shut down bus and elevated train service in the area and police blocked off most main thoroughfares in an effort to stem the looting and gunfire.

In one of the most violent incidents Thursday night, more than 100 policemen exchanged shots in an hour-long encounter with snipers in two high rise apartment buildings. Police finally moved in and cleared out both buildings.

Police filed charges today of conspiracy to commit treason against 13 of 20 persons arrested in the basement of one building raked by race rioting.

An officer declined to comment on the action except to say the charges were being filed as a result of a conference of police officials, the city attorney, and ACT, a civil rights group.

The Negroes slain were a young girl and a man.

The girl, Roseland Howard, 14, was hit by a stray bullet and killed as she stood on a front porch during a wave of trouble in the area, which is about four miles from the western edge of downtown Chicago.

SHOT IN HEAD

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Mt. Sinai Hospital. A spokesman at the morgue said she was shot in the head.

The man, shot a short time later, was identified as Raymond Williams, 22, of Robinsonville, Miss., by Cook County Hospital authorities. He also was dead on arrival.

It was not known who fired the fatal shots, police said.

Chicago hospitals said they had treated or admitted about 50 persons. Police said more than 200 persons were arrested.

At least nine Negroes were shot and wounded, police said.

Two policemen, including a captain, were shot in the back.

Four other policemen were wounded by gunfire and two policemen were injured by thrown bricks or stones. Three firemen also were injured as bricks crashed into their trucks as they answered calls in the troubled area.

More than 900 policemen were sent into the area Thursday afternoon in an effort to quell the disturbances which were touched off Tuesday night when police turned off a fire hydrant in a neighborhood three miles east of Thursday night's and this morning's unrest.

Police said Williams was seen looting a store in the area, chased into an alley and there Williams was shot and killed.

It was the same alley where a policeman, Donald Ingrahm, about 31, was shot a few hours earlier as officers attempted to find a sniper in a building.

Two Commie MIGs Down, U.S. Loses Navy Plane

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. fighter-bombers followed up Thursday's record high of 144 missions with new strikes at North Viet Nam today. The U.S. command announced a Navy plane was shot down and its pilot is missing.

Communist ground fire was reported to have felled the plane, an A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Ranger, 35 to 40 miles south of Hanoi.

A U.S. spokesman said the Skyhawk was hit while on a mission to knock out a missile site. The loss raised to 291 the number of American planes announced lost in combat over North Viet Nam since Feb. 7, 1965, when the bombing over the North began.

Earlier, radio Hanoi claimed three U.S. jets were shot down south of Hanoi Friday and one American pilot was captured. American authorities, following the customary practice, would not comment on the broadcast.

Communist MIGs clashed with American raiders four times Thursday.

During the day of furious action, U.S. Air Force and Navy jets also dodged surface-to-air missiles and reported knocking out a major bridge on the railroad line connecting Hanoi with Red China.

"It was a big day in the North," a U.S. spokesman said today.

In two encounters with MIGs near Hanoi, U.S. Air Force fighters shot down two late-model MIG21s. These kills were announced within a few hours of the action, but the Navy disclosed today that three F8 Crusaders of the 7th Fleet aircraft carrier Oriskany were attacked by two MIG17s 26 miles southeast of Hanoi.

One MIG and one Crusader were damaged but neither plane went down, a spokesman said.

In a fourth encounter, also disclosed today, two MIG17s made a firing pass at a flight of F105 Air Force Thunderchiefs and then fled without scoring hits, a U.S. spokesman said. The Thunderchiefs were attacking a missile site about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The U.S. spokesman said a flight of F4 Phantom jets from the carrier Ranger was fired upon by two ground-to-air missiles 30 miles southeast of Hanoi. He said the 36-foot long missiles exploded harmlessly well away from the U.S. planes.

Air Force F105 pilots reported destroying the Dap Cau railroad-highway bridge 19 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Powder Plant Explodes Again

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Another explosion ripped the Hercules Powder Co. plant near Carthage early today as demolition experts were preparing to inspect the already shattered plant.

It was the ninth blast at the sprawling, 1,200-acre plant since noon Thursday when shock waves reached Kansas City, 140 miles north, and Tulsa, 125 miles southwest.

The latest blast occurred shortly after 2 a.m. about one hour after a man was heard calling for help in the plant. A rescue party pulled out Maurice Crowell of Carthage.

Sheriff George Hickam said all of Crowell's clothing except his shoes were gone. The man was hospitalized in critical condition.

About 50 other persons were injured, most of them by flying glass as windows were smashed miles away.

A company spokesman set the replacement value of the plant at $6 million to $7 million, and estimated that 85 per cent of the plant was destroyed. Police said at least 45 homes around the plant were destroyed or heavily damaged.

Robert Good, plant manager, said the rest of the employes on the job had been accounted for.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes called out the National Guard and residents in a three-mile radius were moved from their homes.

Still No Progress In Airline Strike Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)— Deadlocked negotiations in the eight-day-old airline strike will continue through the weekend, Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said today.

Reynolds, directing the discussions, declined to comment on his meetings today with union representatives. He said the talks will continue this afternoon.

An airlines spokesman said at noon today that there has been no progress in the negotiations.

The talks at the Labor Department began last Saturday—a day after more than 35,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists walked off their jobs at Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United airlines.

In gloomy assessments after Thursday's joint session, both Joseph W. Ramsey, chief union negotiator, and William J. Curtin, chief airlines negotiator, made clear that the talks were stalemated.

Austin Given Lake Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)— A federal grant of $784,454 to Austin, Tex., to buy 3,753 acres for park and recreation purposes was made today by the Housing and Urban Development Department.

A lake with a 24-mile shore line, 8 miles east of the center of Austin, is to be created. It will be called Lake Decker.

Heinous Crimes Sometimes Heap Irony Onto Tragedy

CHICAGO (AP) — Philip Jordan was engaged to marry Suzanne Farris, a high school chum of his sister Mary Ann.

Daniel Kelly was a former boy friend of Gloria Davy.

A demented killer numbered Suzanne, Mary Ann and Gloria among his eight victims Thursday — and Patrolman Kelly was the first policeman to discover the bodies.

Heinous crimes are like that. Irony heaped on tragedy.

Aside from living in the same house — sharing hopes, and textbooks; friends, and cosmetics — the eight girls shared a common bond: Their yearning to serve humanity.

"The enjoyment one gets out of helping others is one that cannot be taken away," wrote Patricia Matusek in her application to the nursing school.

Nina Schmale was no different. On Sundays she helped care for the elderly poor in the DuPage County Home in nearby Winfield.

Nor was Gloria Davy. "She would always do more than her share," said a neighbor, Mrs. Thomas Doolin. "That's the type she was."

That's the type they all were.

Friends of the slain girls regarded their deaths as double tragedy — young lives, so full of spirit, confidence, ambition, so senselessly wasted.

"I have never liked to see people suffer," wrote Pamela Wilkening on her application. "A nurse is to help people, and I want to be someone who does this."

The hospital offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the killer. A. S. Daniel, executive director, who announced the reward, also said that the institution is creating a memorial fund.

Even Chicago police, hardened to the ugliness of murder that occurs in this city on an average of once a day, were unable to discuss the killings with their usual Stoicism.

"I've seen more people killed but I've never seen anything more horrible than this," said Police Cmdr. Francis Flanagan. "This is a man who took eight persons, one at a time, and murdered them. I don't know what kind of a human being that is."

But it was the victims more than the crime that caused Flanagan's dismay.

Lovely young girls like Suzanne Farris, who "sat in my back yard about a week ago while we drank some lemonade," recalled a neighbor tearfully. Like Mary Ann Jordan, "the best and sweetest girl you can imagine," said Margaret Brant, who owns the clothing store where Mary Ann worked on weekends while she was in high school.

"When she was a little girl I used to fit her in dresses," Mrs. Brant recalled. "Just now, in fact, I have a special order waiting for her. Isn't that terrible?"

Terrible.

Reason For Confidence In Viet Nam, Says Humphrey

FORT WORTH (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the United States has reason for measured confidence in the Vietnamese conflict, declaring:

"... We are gaining on all four major fronts—the economic front, the political front, the diplomatic and the military front."

The Vice President said in a prepared speech that his recent visits to Asia and the Pacific revealed neither opposition among national leaders to U. S. presence in Viet Nam nor this country's role there.

"They know that we are standing fast in Viet Nam — as we have elsewhere," he said, "to convince aggressors that the price of their aggression comes too high, and that man's right to self-determination is no less dear to us elsewhere than it is at home."

Humphrey flew to Fort Worth today for a schedule that included an address at Texas Christian University, a news conference and an appearance at a Congressional Club dinner for Rep. Jim Wright, Fort Worth Democrat.

Humphrey's itinerary also included inspections of the F111A fighter-bomber and the Huey Helicopter, a pair of military aircraft produced here, and a rendezvous with news executives.

OBJECTIVES

Humphrey said American adversaries should know that the country's objectives in Viet Nam remain unchanged:

"The halting of aggression from the north; the opportunity for the people of South Viet Nam to decide their own future; and the pursuit of a better life for the ordinary people of that part of the world."

In citing national gains in Viet Nam, Humphrey said:

"On the economic front, Viet Nam is taking the steps and decisions necessary to carry forward a program of economic development, and to defeat inflation.

"... Every day the Vietnamese economy — and the life of the Vietnamese citizens — become a little better, despite calculated Communist disruption in terror."

ELECTIONS

On the political front, Humphrey said, "Work goes forward toward election this September for a constituent assembly. Representatives of all major South Vietnamese groups have been meeting to prepare the way for democratic government.

"The Vietnamese people are finding their way for self-government, and they are doing it their own way — with tumult and confusion, it is true — but not under the direction of any Communist commissar."

Diplomatically, he said, the United States continues to search for a "just and peaceful solution" to the conflict.

Funds Seem Assured For Experiment Farm Here

Funds for the continued operation of the "Sandy Lands Soil Management Laboratory" (the U.S. Experiment Station) for another year now seem definitely assured.

Senator Ralph Yarborough has informed C. V. Riordan, former Howard County Democratic Committee chairman, that the Senate subcommittee has approved earmarking $56,500 for the project.

The House had already approved appropriation of the funds, through the leadership of Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Mahon had worked to restore the funds after they had been eliminated.

The Senate subcommittee has acted, and this is regarded as tantamount to final approval.

The budget office had announced some months ago that no additional money for the experiment station would be provided. This would have spelled the death of an agency which has functioned here for more than 52 years.

Astronauts Watch Celia

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Weather experts said today that if tropical storm Celia continues on its present course it could threaten Monday's scheduled launching of the Gemini 10 astronauts on a double rendezvous and space walk flight.

Space agency meteorologists expressed concern as the Gemini 10 pilots began an extensive physical examination expected to give them medical clearance for the launching.

The weathermen said that Celia—churning some 900 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy—remained a poorly organized and ill-defined storm, but that an expected move toward the north, away from land, had not materialized.

Wichita Falls Burning Up

By The Associated Press

People who live around Wichita Falls are about convinced it's going to be a long summer.

They saw the mercury hit a 102-degree high Thursday. It was the fourth straight day the temperature has climbed to at least 100 in Wichita Falls. In fact, there have been only two days this month that the city has stayed cooler than 100.

It was pretty much the same picture over the rest of Texas —continuing heat with occasional showers, mostly across the coastal plains.

Normally dry El Paso measured .62 inch of rain which helped hold the top temperature there down to 92.

By early today skies were clear nearly everywhere in the state except for a few showers in the north edge of the Panhandle.

Forecasts were almost carbon copies of those for the past week or more—more hot weather and isolated showers, this time in the area west of the Pecos River and in the Panhandle's northwest corner.

THE POLICE BLOTTER SAGA OF A MIGHTY BUSY BAKER

Bob Baker, city animal warden, is almost superhuman, according to the police department activity sheet.

He can evidently be shot and hospitalized, and ten minutes later be back taking care of his duties.

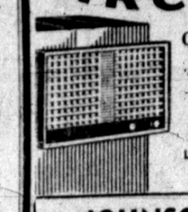

The story all started at 3:47 p.m. Tuesday when Billy Dean Griffin, Big Spring Herald newspaper boy, was bitten by a dog on Runnels Street. Bob Baker was notified.

At 4 p.m. Bob accidentally shot himself in the foot with a .22 Calibre pistol, and was taken to Malone and Hogan Hospital.

Ten minutes later the activity sheet shows that a resident at 200 NE 7th requested that some stray dogs be picked up, and that B. Baker performed the deed.

The answer? Officer Bill Baker, Bob's brother, immediately took over the animal warden's duties. Meanwhile, Bob is recovering but his sore foot is evidence that he is not superhuman.

Two Officers Are Honored

First Lt. James D. Erickson and Capt. James J. Finfinger will be honored on the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron's Point-with-Pride Boards during July.

Lt. Erickson, T-38 section, and Capt. Finfinger, T-37 section, were selected as 60th instructor pilots for June, it was announced by Lt. Col. Edward W. Luby, squadron commander.

Photos and letters naming the instructor pilots for their honors have been posted on the squadron board in front of the T-38 and T-37 shacks.

The letter naming Lt. Erickson read in part: ". . . volunteered to instruct other students while carrying four of his own. As element standardization officer, he did an excellent job of preparing students for the last standardization-evaluation visit. He spent extra time insuring their readiness, and he himself was evaluated as excellent. His bearing and attitude toward his job are exceptional."

Capt. Finfinger received this accolade, with his choice as IP of the T-37 section: ". . . possesses wealth of tactical experience which makes him an asset to the unit mission. He is very conscientious in getting the job accomplished; his job performance is outstanding. As an element teacher, carrying students, Capt. Finfinger's students are showing excellent progress. His professionalism has instilled in his students an attitude and ability usually found only in more experienced pilots. For a two week period, he was the only supervisor available for duty in his flight. Still he accomplished student training and other jobs by putting in extra free time to do it."

Gibson Store Lost In Fire

AUSTIN (AP) — Fire discovered by a passing patrol car officer about 2 a.m. destroyed the big Gibson Discount Store on Austin's Airport Boulevard today.

One fireman at the scene estimated the loss might run as high as $250,000.

Named

Capt. Jake I. Sorensen, 3561st Student Squadron, was selected Classroom Instructor of the Quarter for April, May and June. He became an instructor pilot at Webb in July, 1964, and a training officer in July, 1965. He is now the senior T-38 training officer. The captain has a total of 3,250 hours of flying time, including 2,900 hours of rated jet time. He is a native of Lead, S.D. He has attended Howard County Junior College and the University of Maryland. He entered the Air Force through the cadet program in 1954.

Webb Supervisors Pleased With Performance Of Youth

A poll of Webb supervisors indicates that they are well-pleased with this year's Youth Opportunity Program.

"The kids are satisfied with their jobs, and they seem to think that Webb is a good place to work," reports Terry McDaniels, civilian personnel office. "The supervisors are happy with the work the kids are doing, and they are able to keep them busy a majority of the time."

McDaniels, a student of Angelo State College, is assisting Fred Doelp, personnel management specialist of the Civilian Personnel Office. This is his third summer at Webb, and his main job is taking care of the placement of these summer employes.

He said that the Youth Opportunity Program was new last year, and not well organized.

"More kids were hired this summer, and this year's program is a vast improvement," McDaniels remarked.

So far this summer, 88 youths have been placed on jobs here, and 12 more students are expected to begin working within the next week or two.

All the new employes are from 16 to 21 years of age, and the wage board portion of the campaign is planned to aid disadvantaged youths. Personnel officials stressed the fact that all selections were made on the basis of equal opportunity employment practices.

Students interested in elementary education were assigned to either the nursery or the youth center.

Several positions as office assistants were offered, and they were filled by high school and college students who qualified in a test in January.

Students working at Webb this summer are:

Louis Baldock, Richard Wright, Eddie Torres, Marcus Swann: Civil Engineering, Refrigeration; Michael O'Brien, Estafisias Dominguel, Roger Atkinson, Jesse Blewett, John McCullough, John Storen, Michael Jackson, Troy Fraser: Civil Engineering, Preventive Maintenance; Gilberto Martinez, Donnie Simpson, Raymond Subia, Gilbert Santiago, paint shop; Thomas Lopez, Eugene Long, William Read, Charles Pherigo: Civil Engineering, electric; John Green, James Henry: Civil Egnineering, plumbing; Glenn Person, James Berset, Buddy Owens, Ramon Rocha, Cheryl Whittington: Civil Engineering, utilities; Billy Morton: Civil Engineering, sheet metal; Hillary Sherrod, Harold Cagle: Civil Engineering, engineering branch; Judy Schurner: Civil Engineering, control center; Milton Shannon: Auto Hobby Shop; Sam Mims, Jesse Zapata: golf course; Ruben Lopez, Johnny Cooper, Don Malone, Pat McMahon, Florentino Daporta, Steve Cline, Graham Barnett, John Seltier, Billy Elliott: Aerospace Ground Equipment;

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Spray Makes Oven Cleaning Easier

Dear Heloise:

Recently, after a long illness, at last I was able to get up. I checked my home to find the most urgent job to be done in the hour I was allowed out of bed each day.

I noticed my white porcelain oven and quickly decided that was it.

HELOISE

The oven was warm from heating breakfast rolls. I sprayed it thoroughly with one of the new spray cleaners — remembering to spray once, then reverse the racks to upside down, and spray again.

While the spray was working, I moved my kitchen stool near the oven, filled my cleaning bucket with warm, soapy water and put it on top of the stool, complete with sponge.

I put my stove drip pans on the oven rack and sprayed again lightly.

I had a cup of coffee, then wiped the gukky mess off with paper toweling. I washed and rinsed the oven and racks and dried them with paper towels.

This may use a few paper towels, but we find them less expensive than a "Mother's time."

The oven looked like new . . . Mary

Dear Heloise:

When I go up on the sundeck in the summer, there is no water hose handy, so I take along a plastic squirt bottle of water to keep me cool while getting a tan! . . . Genny Johnson

* * *

Dear Heloise:

What in the name of common sense and comfort ever became of that lovely old custom of carrying a parasol on hot, sunny days?

Don't women realize what delight they might have walking under that blessed protection of a sunshade rather than melting under the merciless, sweltering sun?

Not to mention the added attraction of the pretty picture made by modern, gorgeous-hued umbrellas.

And often medical men tell us that some skin problems are caused by too much strong sunlight.

If you would give us the go-ahead, I'm sure many timid women would adopt your opinION. What IS your opinion? . . . Parasol Gal

* * *

I'm for you, gal, all the way. Know the difference in the temperature on a thermometer laid out in the sunlight and in the shade near the same spot? Most amazing . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I take a rectangular plastic foam sponge and make a slit in one end—then insert the end of a yardstick into the slit, and it's easy to wash and clean hard-to-get-into-spaces (where I need a long handle) . . . Mrs. Bob T. Briggs

* * *

Dear Heloise:

To prevent small children from locking themselves in the bathroom, drape a towel over the top of the bathroom door. . . . Elsie Mockler

* * *

Dear Heloise:

We don't like the crumbs when we get near the bottom of a box of dry cereal.

When there is about a fourth of a box of cereal left, I place a clean net produce bag over a bowl and pour the cereal on it. The pieces left on the net are just right for eating . . . Marian Bird

* * *

I hope you don't waste the crumbs that sift through—they are wonderful for topping casseroles, etc. . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

When going through my closet the other day, I found an old dress with big shoulder pads in it. I ripped a pad from the dress and now keep it on the end of my ironing board.

The pad is wonderful to tuck inside the shoulder of a dress or child's garment when ironing.

I don't know how I ever got along without it . . . June Viet

Family Members Visit Clawsons

WESTBROOK (SC) — Visiting in the P. E. Clawson home this week are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Era Clawson and Mrs. Clawson's sister, Mrs. Myra Skaggs of Corpus Christi. Sunday guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Clawson and son, Larry, of Coahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Laveral Sullivan of Odessa, and Linda and Kim Sullivan of Westbrook. Other guests recently were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Board and her mother, Mrs. Luke, of Enigma, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Board of Union. A. R. and G. I. Board are brothers of Mrs. Clawson.

Mrs. Ronny McGowan and daughter, Rhonda, have returned to their home in Hobbs, N.M., after a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Frank Oglesby.

Guests in the Ralph Bryant and W. S. Yarbrough homes during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Molen of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kimball and sons, Tim and Curtis, of Victoria. Mr. Molen is a brother of Mrs. Bryant and Mrs. Yarbrough, and Mrs. Kimball is a daughter of the Yarbroughs.

Seam Secret To Stop Stretching

To keep the seams of a nylon garment from pulling, sew flat hem binding along both edges of the seam just back of the original stitching. Then re-stitch the seam through the binding which doesn't ravel.

Family Reunion Held In Knott Over Weekend

KNOTT (SC)—A family reunion was held Sunday in the home of Mrs. Carrie Langham. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Johnson of the Great Lakes Naval Station in Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Carstensen and family and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Oaks and family all of Water Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Webb and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sims and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dannie Langham and family, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. George Hornbeck Jr. and Mrs. Laveta Ray all of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Sutphen and family and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sutphen and family, all of Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Langham of Ackerly.

* * *

Guests of Mrs. W. S. Shaw are her brothers-in-law and sisters, Dr. and Mrs. Leslie D. Bohl of Williamsburg, Ohio, and the Rev. and Mrs. Jack Ellsberry of Cincinnati, Ohio.

O. B. Nichols is now at a rest home in Lamesa.

Psalms Is Theme For Devotional

Mrs. Leila Buchanan brought the devotional thoughts from Psalms 1 Thursday morning when the Homemakers Class of Airport Baptist Church met at the church with Mrs. T. W. Blewett as hostess.

During the business duscussion the group agreed to have called - for prayer to close the meetings instead of unison praying.

A gift was sent to Miss Mary Kindle, an elderly former class member who has recently moved to Decatur.

Sewing Club Sets Annual Party

The Sew and Chatter Club will hold its annual picnic, with husbands as guests, at the home of Mrs. H. V. Crocker, 1707 Benton, at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 20. Mrs. Floyd R. Martin will be cohostess. The announcement was made when the group met Wednesday with Mrs. Tom Rossen, 108 Lincoln. A salad luncheon was served to eight members.

Newcomers Club Has Luncheon

The Newcomers Club luncheon was held Thursday at Holiday Inn with Mrs. Michael J. Carroll and Mrs. V. Castellina as hostesses.

Guests were Mrs. Bill Spain, Mrs. Ernest Boyd, Mrs. James Oxley and Mrs. J. E. White of Tucson, sister of Mrs. Bert Harris.

Game prizes went to Mrs. Carrol, Mrs. Robert Tinley and Mrs. Boyd, while the attendance prize was won by Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Tinley presided and introduced Mrs. Allen Miller a physical fitness instructor, who spoke on exercises for mature women.

The next meeting will be a Coffee-bridge July 27 in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Circle Discusses American Cults

STANTON (SC) — "Thriving American Cults" was the topic when the Mary Elizabeth Truly Circle of the First Baptist Church met Thursday morning in the Fellowship Hall.

Prayer for missions was offered and nominations for officers discussed. Mrs. U. A. North Sr. was hostess.

The next meeting will be Aug. 4 when the study will continue.

Gardeners Buy Book For Study

The plan to purchase two books to provide the year's programs was agreed upon when the Four O'Clock Garden Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Edgar, 4109 Muir.

The books are entitled "Stepping Stones for Garden Clubs" and "The Landscape Planning Book." Also, the group will denote a book to the Howard County Library in the name of Mrs. B. E. Reagan.

Mrs. J. E. Swindell presided as yearbooks were distributed and the announcement made that a member, Mrs. Guy Cook, is now a national amateur flower show judge.

The program on landscape design was given by Mrs. Bill Swindell. She distributed sheets on which each member is to draw her yard plan. At the next meeting, the plans will be examined and suggestions made for changes. Mrs. Edward Kohanek spoke briefly on "The Lone Star Gardener," and the group toured Mrs. Edgar's yard. Refreshments were served, and Mrs. Vern Gerstner was welcomed as a guest.

Can't See Ceremony

NEW YORK (AP)—Women's Wear Daily says its reporters will be barred from Luci Baines Johnson's wedding because the paper published some sketches in connection with the wedding.

The publisher of the trade paper, James Brady, said Thursday that Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, notified Women's Wear Daily its credentials to cover the Aug. 6 ceremony would be revoked.

The paper was accused of breaking a White House embargo on publication of sketches of the wedding clothes.

A LOVELIER YOU

Dieters Must Fight That 'Weak' Feeling

By MARY SUE MILLER

A homemaker writes: I need to lose weight, But when I diet I get an all-gone, weak feeling. I just want to sit down, and that's impossible when you have a home and children to look after. Please advise me.

The Answer: You may get hungry while dieting but, if you follow an approved regimen, you would never starve to the point of weakness. In the first place, when there's a cutback in calories, the body uses its own fat as fuel for energy. That is why you lose weight—fat.

Moreover, an approved diet allows you to eat sufficient food to refuel the energy fires. Those words, "approved diet," key weight loss without either fatigue or hunger. Always approved is a 1200 calorie diet that includes a balance of foods, with emphasis on proteins and vitamins. A pattern for one such follows:

Breakfast: Fruit juice; one soft-boiled egg and one slice protein toast, spread lightly with apple butter, or one serving high-protein cereal with skim milk and non-caloric sweetener; coffee, one teaspoon sugar and skim milk.

Luncheon: Jellied consomme; refrigerator salad—lettuce and favorite dieter's dressing tossed with slivers leftover roast meat or fowl, plus tidbits as string beans, carrots and celery; half grapefruit.

Dinner: Broiled liver; large baked onion; steamed leaf spinach; one hard roll, whipped butter; small slice sponge cake; black coffee.

In addition you may have a mid-morning glass of skim milk. If you follow the pattern and feel frail, it would be the spirit and not the flesh that's weak.

BEAUTY WORK

Attention Homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treament while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Party Held For Bride

Mrs. Barney Barnett, the former Kay Coyle, was honored with a bridal shower Tuesday evening in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. L. Collins, Mrs. F. D. Chandler, Mrs. B. B. Barnett, Mrs. J. R. Pike and Mrs. A. R. Jones. They presented the honoree with an electric can opener.

Ecru lace covered the refreshment table where the centerpiece was formed of the bridal figurines used on the couple's wedding cake and orchid carnations taken from the bridesmaids' bouquets. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Hours were from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and the guest list included 50.

Fulbright Loses Battle For CIA Committee Seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The concrete headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency are nestled in the wooded hills of Virginia, eight miles from Washington. Here, in a rustic setting, are planned cloak and dagger operations.

Here, also, is gathered, assembled and analyzed information—military, economic, political, industrial, scientific—the United States uses to guide its steps in a perilous world.

TOUGH STRUGGLE

The business of espionage and secret operations has been described by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as a "tough struggle going on in the back alleys all over the world."

It is also so sensitive the Senate took the unusual step Thursday of clearing the galleries of press and public, and locking its doors for 3½ hours to wrangle over the Senate's supervision of the CIA.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield felt the locked-door precaution was necessary lest some "rumors and hearsay" be spilled out in the heat of debate and damage both the CIA and the United States.

The issue was the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's attempt, through a resolution, to put three of its members on the present CIA watchdog subcommittee, headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee. Sen J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., heads the foreign relations group.

MAJOR FORCE

Arguing that his committee be given a role in overseeing CIA activities, Fulbright contended the intelligence agency is a major force affecting U.S. foreign policy.

". . . By its activities it is capable of exerting — and has exerted — a very substantial influence on our relations with other nations," Fulbright said.

But in a sharp exchange before the Senate had the galleries cleared, Russell accused Fulbright's committee of trying to muscle in.

Russell contended that practically all the intelligence information available to his CIA panel was available to Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee—except for the CIA's "methods and sources."

REFUSED INFO

Fulbright has argued that the CIA had refused to give him information at a briefing last February about whether the CIA was using any overseas research or scholarship exchange programs as a cover for agents.

After the doors were barred Thursday, informants said, the senators spent much of their time arguing over the jurisdictional issues in the dispute between the Armed Services and the Foreign Relations committees.

The senators had agreed not to divulge just what was said. A censored transcript is to be released later.

But in trying to win its point, the Foreign Relations Committee was fighting city hall.

Russell made a point of order that the resolution should be turned over to his committee because he contended it had the jurisdiction.

NO PRECEDENT

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, as presiding officer, said there was no precedent for this particular conflict so he turned the decision over to the Senate itself.

The Senate opened its doors and allowed newsmen and spectators to flow back into the galleries in time to see the senators vote 61 to 38 to support Russell's argument.

Russell was pleased with his victory. Asked by newsmen when he would hold hearings on the CIA resolution now that it was under his jurisdiction, he replied:

"They tried to pin me down on that. But I didn't promise them anything."

Asked for his reaction, Fulbright shrugged and said:

"I got beat . . . what more is to be done?"

Dr. John Hurt To Edit Paper

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. John Jeter Hurt of Atlanta, Ga., was named Tuesday editor of the Baptist Standard, official publication of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Hurt, 57, current editor of the Georgia Baptist Convention's Christian Index, will assume the editorship Nov. 1 on the retirement of Dr. E. S. James.

EX-AP MAN

A professional newsman, Hurt worked at Atlanta for The Associated Press before moving to the religious news field in 1947.

He will be the first layman to fill the post since the convention took over the paper in 1914.

"There is no man among the 10½ million Southern Baptists more capable of doing the job well," Dr. E. S. James, retiring editor, said.

Jury Finds Lamar Guilty, Can't Agree On Sentence

It took a jury in 118th District Court only 47 minutes Thursday afternoon to find Allen Lamar, 27-year-old Fort Worth Negro, guilty of robbery by assault but that same jury had deliberated nine hours at noon Friday and was still, to all appearances almost as far from agreement as it had been Thursday afternoon on the proper punishment to mete out.

Just at noon, the jurors sent a note to Judge Ralph Caton advising him they were still unable to agree and that the vote at the time stood 8 to 4.

As a result of the tieup, the prospects loomed that the case against Lamar, indicted for the holdup June 14 of the Ashley Grocery store, would terminate in a mistrial and the entire case would have to be tried again.

SET ASIDE

If the jury fails to agree on the punishment and is discharged by the court as deadlocked, the conviction it voted against the defendant is set aside.

Judge Ralph Caton said at noon he planned to leave the jurors in session until sometime Friday afternoon. If they have not agreed by that time on a punishment, he indicated he would excuse them from further deliberation and enter a mistrial.

Under the new Texas code, a jury determines only the guilt or innocence of a defendant in a felony trial. If the jury finds the defendant guilty it is the duty of the judge to assess sentence provided the defendant does not ask that the jury which convicted him also determine his punishment.

HIS REQUEST

Lamar made such a request at 3:40 p.m. Thursday when the nine men and three women on the panel had reported their verdict finding him guilty of robbery by assault.

A brief session was then held with the state and defense offering argument on the penalty in the case. The state asked for life — maximum possible sentence in the case.

The jurors filed out at 5:15 p.m. An hour later they sent a note to the judge asking how many years Lamar would actually serve if they assessed a sentence of life. The judge, as required by law, replied he could not answer the question and that the jury must not consider this aspect of the case.

Nothing further was heard of the jury until around 7 p.m. when they asked to go to supper. An hour later they trooped back into their chambers. At 11:15 p.m. Judge Caton called the 12 out. He asked if they had reached a verdict. Told the jury was still disagreed, the judge closed down operations and permitted the jurors to go home with instructions to report at 9 a.m. today.

It was said the jury was split four ways — on different lengths of terms — at 11 a.m.

Knott 4-H Boy Gets Cash Award

Bruce Nichols, 14-year-old member of the Knott 4-H Club, with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols and his brother, Keith, were in Lubbock on Wednesday where Bruce was presented a $65 cash award for placing fifth in the District 2 dry land cotton production competition. Bruce averaged 378.6 pounds of lint per acre off the five-acre tract he cultivated. There are more than 25 counties in the district.

The contest was sponsored by the Plains Co-Op. Six places were recognized at the dinner held Wednesday at which the prizes were presented.

Top prize went to a Garza County 4-H Club boy who produced the amazing average of 640 pounds per acre on his five-acre tract.

James Shelton, assistant county agent, was on hand with the Nichols family to see Bruce receive his award.

Webb Requests Building Bids

Webb's Base Procurement Office this week issued an invitation to bidders covering an addition and alteration to the Officers' Open Mess, Building 487.

The work consists of the construction of a 25 x 33 foot addition to existing facilities. Construction must match existing portion with concrete foundation and floor, wood frame, cement asbestos panel siding and built-up roof. Work includes necessary extension of electrical, plumbing, heating - air conditioning and fire protection system.

Alterations consist of relocating certain features, replacing light fixtures, and installing wall paneling. Folding partitions will also be installed in the ballroom. Contractors desiring plans and specifications may obtain them at the office, building 625, Webb Air Force Base.

Officers Test Murder Guns

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Weapons which officers think were used in the slayings of gas station attendants at Breckenridge and San Antonio are undergoing ballistics tests at Austin.

The guns, a .38 caliber Colt revolver and a .380 caliber automatic, were found here after an all-night search. Officers would not say where or how they came in possession of them.

Bexar County Sheriff Bill Hauck said he didn't expect a report on the ballistics tests until Monday.

The weapons experts will see if the .380 caliber automatic matches the nine .380 slugs fired into Clarence Swaim at Breckenridge July 4.

The .38 will be checked against a spent bullet dug from the ground near the body of Alvin Carnes at San Antonio.

Ronald Wilhelm, 22, of Graham, and Arthur McCain, 21, of Eastland, are being held without bond in the Bexar County jail on charges of murder in the Breckenridge slaying.

Residents Warned About 2 Suspicious Repairmen

Two "phantom" telephone repairmen are still operating in the Big Spring area.

Several persons have given identical descriptions of the two men and their car, and yet police are still baffled as to their whereabouts.

The fact that they are operating with a definite pattern in mind is evident, but who or what they are seeking is still a mystery.

Police know of five homes that were visited Thursday afternoon between noon and 8 o'clock. They believe that many more were visited that did not make a report.

Mrs. Roy Burklow, 105 E. 24th, reported that the men first came to her house Monday, asked for a drink of water, and inquired if her husband was home. They said they would return.

Most of the victim's last names begin with a W, and three was named Walker. This pattern has caused police to believe that the "phantoms" are searching for a particular person or thing. As yet, no one has been harmed.

Mrs. Carl Walker, 1102 E. 5th, said that two men driving a white car used the guise of telephone repairmen, entered her home and asked when her husband would return. They also asked if he would have a car when he returned, she said. The "repairmen" returned at 11 p.m., tried the door knob and told her to let them in. She said she told them to leave.

Mrs. Evelyn Walker, 1104 E. 6th, and Mrs. John Walker, 305 E. 19th, told police they were asked similar questions.

Airman 3.C. Robert J. Wanzell, 407½ E. 8th, said the two men came to his house under the pretext of making a telephone survey. He described one man as blond with short hair, short and heavy set, with a peach-fuzz mustache, wearing a white shirt and no tie. He said the other man was nondescript, wearing a white shirt with a loosely-tied tie.

Police have warned local residents, especially if they are women and are alone, not to admit any unauthorized personnel into their homes unless they are certain of the men's authenticity. Officers advised residents to report any suspicious persons that may come to their homes.

OIL REPORT

Completion In Dean Sand

Hubert J. Schmitz of San Antonio No. 2 T. S. Currie is completed from the Ackerly (Dean), perforations in the 8,360-8,650 foot interval, flowing initially 194 barrels of 41.0 gravity oil per day on a 14-64ths-inch choke, with a gas-oil ration of 799-1. The flowing pressure was 500 pounds; no stimulation activities or total depth reported. The venture was originally scheduled to drill to 9,000 feet. Drillsite is 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 32-34-3n, T&P survey, five miles southwest of Ackerly.

Three New Polio Cases Reported

AUSTIN (AP) — Three new cases of paralytic polio were reported in Texas during the week ending July 9, the Texas Health Department said today.

The new cases made a total of 22 reported this year, compared to eight for the same period in 1965.

The weekly report said the cases included two reported from McCulloch County (Brady) and one from Nueces County (Corpus Christi).

GOP Loses Bid To Limit Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has authorized the administration's $3.3 billion two-year foreign aid program after beating back by two votes a Republican-led attempt to limit it to one year and slash it by $250 million.

The measure, authorized by a 237-146 vote, now goes to the Senate which is considering a one-year foreign aid bill. If the Senate approves the measure in that form, a House-Senate Conference Committee will be convened to work out the differences.

Actual funds depend on appropriations measures to be considered later.

Four Republicans teamed up with the bill's supporters to defeat 193 to 191 a motion to recommit the measure to the House Foreign Affairs Committee and cut the development loan fund from $1 billion to $750 million.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., explained that he voted against the motion because "the longer term will save money and you need long-time planning."

The other Republicans who voted against the motion were Reps. Joseph W. Martin Jr. and Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts and Stanley R. Tupper of Maine.

Juarez Barmaids Losing Jobs

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—About 1,000 women reportedly have lost their jobs and five bars have been closed in what the Juarez mayor calls his "demoralization" campaign.

Juarez is just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex. The Juarez make it a center of many bars and cabarets in revelry for both U.S. and Mexican citizens.

Frazier Involved In Needles Crash

James Bruce Frazier, HCJC instructor was involved in a one-car accident on Route 66, near Needles, Ariz., late Wednesday, but was not injured.

According to his mother, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Frazier, with his two small sons and an employe of the Bennett House, Leon Stockton, were en route to Big Spring towing an ambulance with Frazier's station wagon. Mrs. Frazier said that the station wagon was crowded off the highway, Frazier lost control of the vehicle, and both cars rolled over twice. No one in the car was injured, she said, but repairs to the vehicles have delayed Frazier's return home. He is expected to arrive sometime late today, she said.

Mother Dies

Mrs. J. C. Brooke, Temple, mother of Bennett Brooke, 700 Dallas, died early today in Temple. Services are pending there. Mr. and Mrs. Brooke left early today to attend the services.

Criticizes Way LBJ Park Handled

AUSTIN (AP)—The three-man state Parks and Wildlife Commission handled the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park situation badly, says Weldon Watson, who quit last month as the agency's executive director.

Watson, whose resignation is formally effective July 31, said in an interview with the Austin American that financial arrangements particularly were ineptly handled.

"I think the commissioners made a mistake when they set themselves up as the sole trustees of this public fund, monies collected nation-wide to finance paying for land for the park," Watson was quoted as saying.

"What they should have done was gotten some other people to serve as a foundation to collect the funds, bought the land, then turned it over to the parks and wildlife department. Now, whether they want to admit it or not, this is sort of a semi-state fund, accountable to the people.

"I'd be curious to see some of the names that are on that contributors' list, and I'm sure, under the circumstances, that this information will by necessity be released in the future."

While executive director, Watson was silent about the park, referring all questions to Will Odom, commission chairman and trustee of the privately collected fund to buy land for the park.

Watson also criticized the commission's frequent practice of making major decisions in unannounced meetings.

"All the decisions (about the park), except for the one setting up the fund, were made in private administrative sessions, and this is the kind of thing politicians thrive upon, something that can be used in a political campaign.

"Since more land was authorized from the original announcement, there must be money or prospect of money in the fund to cover it. A lot of people would like to know just how much money is in that fund."

Street Coat Program Set

Monday the city will begin a seal coat program on 36 streets in Big Spring.

Plans call for the road crews to coat several streets each day until the project is completed, and officials estimate that the work will last about two weeks.

"We realize that it will create a temporary inconvenience for some persons," said Ernest Lillard, director of public works, "but it is just something that cannot be helped."

Residents will be asked to remove automobiles from the streets before the coating begins. After the asphalt is put down, residents will not be permitted to use the street or leave their driveway for about 30 minutes, Lillard said.

"This program is for the preservation and improvement of our city streets, and we hope that everyone will cooperate fully with workmen," he said.

Beginning Sunday, the city will release for publication those streets to be coated the next day so those residents concerned will be forewarned.

Water Demands Are Increasing

Water demands on the Colorado River Municipal Water District are climbing in the wake of continued sunshine and dry weather.

Production has been running at about the 50,000,000 galion per day level.

Figures for Wednesday showed Odessa hit its peak for this year with 24,810,000 gallons. Big Spring took 12,550,000 and Snyder 4,057,000. This gives 41,417,000 for the three member cities, explained Paschal Odom, assistant to the general manager. Ordinarily, oil companies take about 10 million gallons a day, which would boost the total past 50 million.

Guardsmen Showing Up

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Advance units of the 49th Armored Division began arriving here Thursday night and more rolled in today.

The National Guard outfit's approximately 8,000 men are due here in force by Sunday with 1,500 jeeps, trucks and transports crowding the highways to this Central Texas Army post.

Its 100 units will be here for 15 days of active training duty.

Selected

1st Lt. Everett W. Vaughn, 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, has been selected Instructor Pilot of the Month for June. He received his pilot training at Webb and has been an instructor pilot here since February, 1965. He has approximately 1,000 hours total flying time including 700 hours of rated jet time. He is a native of Ojar, Calif., and is a graduate of the Air Force Academy.

White Rites Set Saturday

Services for Richard L. White, 21, former Big Spring resident who drowned in Alaska July 7, will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. The Rev. Dan Oglesby, pastor, Midway Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Trintiy Memorial Park.

He was born Sept. 27, 1944, in Minden, La., and attended Big Spring Public Schools. He entered the Army in 1963 and was discharged in January, 1965. He married Miss Amy Tittus May 12, 1966, in Anchorage, Alaska, and had worked in Alaska as a commercial fisherman.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Amy White, Anchorage, Alaska; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. White, Big Spring; three sisters, Gloria White, Donna Maxine White and Mary Ann White, all of Big Spring; one brother, Gary Curtis, Big Spring; and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Thula White, Big Spring.

Pallbearers will be Walter Beauchamp Jr., Don Evans, Kay Bartlett, George Kunkle, Hermand Bouchard and Robert Pope.

Cemetery Paving Now Completed

Paving has been completed on the Mt. Olive Cemetery streets.

Thirty-two blocks of road were surfaced with asphalt, which will offer all-weather passage over the tract.

"The work went much faster than we anticipated," said Larry Crow, city manager. "This is a part of the general plan to beautify and improve Mt. Olive."

The cemetery operates under a perpetual care plan in which the city keeps the grass mowed and watered, and the site in general repair.

Winter Given Regular Rating

2nd Lt. James W. Winter, traffic management officer at Webb AFB, received an appointment for regular commission recently. The swearing-in was performed by Col. George E. Franks in the air base group commander's office.

Lt. Winter arrived at Webb in September, 1965 from Williams AFB, Ariz. He has been in the Air Force since June, 1965. A native of Clarksdale, Miss., he graduated from the University of Mississippi at University, Miss.

Weather Forecast

Friday night's weather will be rainy over parts of the Gulf Coast, mid-Mississippi Valley, Northern Plains and Southern Plateaus. Temperatures are expected to be a bit cooler in the northeast portion of the country as well as in the Northern Appalachians and Ohio Valley. There will be little temperature change elsewhere. BOB MONTANEZ

Montanez Leaves For Sorbonne

Bob Montanez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rodriquez, 207 NE 8th, has left for Paris, France, to begin his studies at La Sorbonne for six weeks.

Montanez, a graduate of Howard County Junior College and Texas Technological College, will meet a group of students in New York Saturday. The group plans to stop in Washington, D.C. for sightseeing and to chart an itinerary.

The program is sponsored by the Work or Study Abroad Schools from Wisconsin and Montanez's group is headed by a Texas Tech professor. Montanez will receive graduate credit at Texas Tech for his participation in the program.

Charged In Pond Murder

ATOKA, Okla. (AP) — McCurtain County stockman Clyde Crenshaw was charged Thursday with murdering a woman who allegedly was abducted while en route to a mental hospital in the company of her husband.

Crenshaw was to be arraigned today.

The body of Mrs. Ethyl Goodman, 45, was found in a farm pond Wednesday. An autopsy report attributed death to drowning. She had lived recently at Mount Pleasant, Tex.

Her husband, Charles, told officers his wife left his car while he was stopped at an Atoka gas station and departed with a man. Goodman said he was taking her to Central State Hospital at Norman.

Crenshaw had pushed Goodman's disabled car to the service station, Goodman related. Atoka County Sheriff Clyde Sheffield said Crenshaw claimed Mrs. Goodman left his car on her own and drowned herself, insisting he had no part in her death.

HHH, OTHERS MAKE ST. LOUIS JUNKET

Demos Deny Favoritism For Busch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the head of the Justice Department's antitrust division flew to St. Louis this week in a plane furnished by the Anheuser-Busch Co. less than a month after the government dropped an antitrust action against the firm.

A spokesman for Humphrey said the vice president knew nothing about any antitrust action against the big St. Louis brewing company when he made the trip to attend the All-Star baseball game and take part in a luncheon of major Democratic party contributors.

INVITED

The Justice Department official, Asst. Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, said Humphrey's office invited him several weeks ago to accompany the vice president on the trip. Turner described the trip as a "social occasion."

Disclosure of the trip came one day after it was ascertained that Anheuser-Busch executives and their wives contributed a total of $10,000 to the President's Club, composed of persons who contribute at least $1,000 to the Democratic party.

The contributions were recorded May 24. Less than a month later—on June 17—the Justice Department dismissed an antitrust suit it had brought against the brewing firm in 1962 to drop acquisition of a malting plant.

In a House speech Thursday, Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., said "serious ethical questions" were raised by the department's dismissal of the case. He said the questions should be "speedily and fully answered" by the company and the Democratic National Committee.

AFTER STRIKE

Alfred Fleishman, the brewery's public relations counselor, said the company's plane was offered to transport the vice president and his party to St. Louis after a strike grounded five major airlines.

"We did not know until a day before when we were informed by the Secret Service who would accompany the vice president, nor did we recommend or suggest anyone who should make up the vice-presidential party," Fleishman said.

He said if there was any connection between the trip and the antitrust case, "we ought to be charged with the epitome of stupidity. The only thing they got on us was a time relationship."

"Everything that was done was done on the record," Fleishman told a reporter. "If there was any intrigue to be carried on, it wouldn't have been on the record. Nobody'd know anything about it."

DIDN'T KNOW

An aide to Humphrey said: "Neither the vice president nor anyone on his staff knew of any antitrust action involving Anheuser-Busch, past or present. And no one in or out of government mentioned it to him or his staff subsequent to the invitation."

Humphrey's office said Turner and his 9-year-old son were invited to make the trip because the vice president knew them "to be devoted baseball fans."

The vice president was invited to toss out the ball at the All-Star game by August A. Busch Jr., president of the brewing firm as well as the St. Louis Cardinals Baseball Club. He also heads the St. Louis Bicentennial Corp., which staged a celebration marking St. Louis' 200th anniversary. The All-Star game concluded the celebration.

Turner said nothing was said nor solicited during the trip about the company or any antitrust cases. "If that was the intention, it was misplaced," he told a reporter.

OTHERS

Humphrey's administrative assistant, William Connell, said others who made the trip to St. Louis in the plane included Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.; Howard Woods, a U.S. Information Agency official from St. Louis who was a member of the Bicentennial Corp.; Cliff Carter, Democratic National Committee executive director; and Arthur Krim, the Democratic finance committee chairman.

Connell said Carter and Krim were invited by Sid Salamon, chairman of the President's Club in St. Louis.

Official records showed that on May 24 contributions to the President's Club totaling $10,000 were made by August A. Busch Jr.; August A. Busch III, brewery vice president; Richard Meyer, executive vice president; and Fleishman, and wives of the four men.

CITE EVENTS

After Goodell made his House speech citing the sequence of events involving the contributions and dismissal of the case, Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., accused the New York Republican of "using honest reporting of political contributions in order to smear a Democrat who has made an above-board, fully reported, out-in-the-open contribution."

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the Anheuser-Busch case was handled "like all other cases, on the merits alone." He said it was dismissed upon recommendation of Turner and his staff.

Two Democratic party officials also denied any link between the contributions and the dismissal.

NOT DISCUSSED

Al Mark, Democratic National Committee information director, said no one from the committee "has ever discussed the Anheuser-Busch case with representatives of that company, members of the President's Club or officials of the Department of Justice."

And Krim said later in a statement that the President's Club is "not in the business of influencing government decisions. The club has never attempted to influence any decision by the government and would not tolerate any member who did so."

Kasch Brothers Get Big Project

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) —A Big Spring construction firm, Kasch Brothers, is apparend low bidder at $3,556,340 on a four-story science building at Stephen F. Austin State College.

Bids on the ultra-modern classroom building were opened Wednesday.

Dr. Ralph Steen, SFA president, said the firm's bid will be recommended to the colleges board of regents for approval at a meeting set for July 26.

Plans call for one-third of the building, 50,000 square feet, to be completed by September, 1967, with final completion scheduled for January, 1968.

MRS. McQUEEN GETS AWARD
Mrs. Van Vleet, congratulates her

Mrs. McQueen Receives Annual Honor Award

Mrs. Frances McQueen, 1304 Lamar, employe at the Big Spring State Hospital for the last six years, was the recipient of the "Psychiatric Aide of the Year" award in special ceremonies Thursday night at a meeting of the hospital's volunteer council.

Mrs. Claude Van Vleet, director of nursing, said that Mrs. McQueen "has the ability to work with the mentally ill understandingly and therapeutically. She applies herself in interpersonal relationships with patients in a way that creates a 'self-help' atmosphere. Her creativeness stimulates socialization in a large unit setting.

"She utilizes all available training opportunities and is practical in applying her knowledge. She seems to possess natural, innate professional skills in handling the emotionally ill."

Presenting the award was Mrs. Ernest Nelson, chairman of the state volunteer services council. Mrs. McQueen is now charge attendant on the afternoon shift on an intensive treatment unit.

Charles Butts, chairman of the council, presided at the meeting. The invocation was offered by the Rev. E. A. J. Seddon, pastor, St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

South, the declarer, at three no trump, held an unloaded pistol in today's hand. His opponent East, however, proved unable to diagnose the situation in time, and South ran for cover with nine tricks.

West opened the seven of hearts, the suit in which his partner had overcalled. North played the ten and East covered with the jack. The normal play by declarer is to win the trick with the ace and lead a spade to the jack. Observe that he has only seven top tricks—six diamonds and one heart—however, two more may be readily developed by dislodging the ace of spades.

If East has both missing aces, declarer can safely surrender the lead, for his opponent cannot play hearts without establishing North's queen. South feared, however, that West might hold either the ace of spades or the ace of clubs, in which case he could get in to lead a heart thru dummy—thereby enabling East to cash several tricks in that suit.

Declarer reasoned that he could improve his chances by holding off on the first trick. This is a calculated risk for, if East continues with a small heart, South is forced to play the ace and North's queen becomes exposed to capture.

When East held the lead with the jack of hearts, he was understandably uncertain how best to proceed. If South started with three hearts and West with two—as appeared probable from declarer's play—a heart continuation by East would give his opponent a cheap trick and ruin the defense.

East decided to shift to the ten of clubs in the hope that West could get in quickly for another heart play. South covered with the jack of clubs and West won the ace to return a heart. Declarer's ruse was successful for, now he could run for cover with nine tricks: six diamonds, two clubs, and one heart.

Made from a star-spangled recipe that's 25 years old

The cake above is something we whipped up to help celebrate the 25th birthday of the United States Savings Bond program.

Although there will be no confetti, no horn-blowing—in fact, no party, there are a number of reasons to celebrate this quarter-century observance.

Since that first one was sold on May 1, 1941, Americans have bought more than $150 billion worth of Series E and H Bonds and still buy them at a $4-$5 billion-per-year clip.

About $100 billion have been cashed and spent for homes, college tuition, new cars and furniture, emergencies—and helping dreams come true for millions of American families.

Over half the Bonds bought are purchased on the Payroll Savings Plan—a voluntary automatic plan that has worked wonders for people who might not otherwise save a nickel.

Today there are outstanding almost $50 billion in Bonds — a solid financial rock which millions of Americans stand on.

And today, above all, Savings Bonds are a sure way for all Americans to support our men in Vietnam. While they are there, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines.

NOW—
Savings Bonds Pay 4.15%!

Interest on new E and H Bonds you purchase has been raised to 4.15% when held to maturity. E Bonds mature faster —now in just 7 years. Your old Bonds will earn more, too. Savings Bonds are better to buy, and hold, than ever.

North Viet Air Force Getting Few Replacements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese air force which has lost about one-fifth of its strength in air-to-air combat with American planes has received few replacements from the Soviet Union or Red China, it was indicated today.

U.S. officials said there may have been some replacements, but only in small numbers.

Until late spring, these officials used a figure of 75 when discussing the size of North Viet Nam's fleet of MIG jet fighters and IL28 bombers. Now they peg that force at about 60 planes.

Seventeen MIGs have been downed in dogfights with American jets, 12 of them in the past three months.

Over-all only three American jets have been lost in aerial combat out of a total of about 290 U.S. warplanes downed over North Viet Nam in 17 months. The bulk of U.S. air losses in the North has been caused by conventional antiaircraft guns.

Lt. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, until recently Air Force commander in Viet Nam, said the MIGs have not been any real problem. With the exception of the three American craft destroyed in air combat, the North Vietnamese pilots have "always come out second best," Moore said.

The present North Vietnamese fighter force includes about 15 MIG21s which are considered a reasonable match for American Phantoms. Another 40 are older model MIG15 and MIG 17 types. And the North Vietnamese have, in addition, about half a dozen obsolescent IL28 bombers.

Officials said the MIG21s, the latest models owned by the Vietnamese, carry two types of missiles, one a heat seeker and the other a guided weapon.

They disclaimed any definite knowledge on whether both types have been fired by North Vietnamese pilots at their American foes. So far, according to official accounts, none of these Communist air-to-air missiles has struck American aircraft.

The MIG21s are believed to have been supplied by the Soviet Union. The MIG15s and 17s could have come from the Soviet Union and Red China.

The U.S. belief still is that the North Vietnamese planes are flown by pilots of that country, and officials said there are no signs of either Soviet or Red Chinese involvement in air combat.

After six may be too late!

83% of all that we learn in a lifetime is learned through our eyes; so it makes good sense to safeguard them from the very start.

Since the eyes reach full maturity at about the age of six, a pre-school eye examination can lead to the discovery of an otherwise undetectable malfunction of the eyes or vision process.

If discovered in time, such a malfunction may be corrected by proper treatment.

Ski-Lift Kills Two Of Seven

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A ski-lift chair tangled with a support brace in a Wasatch Mountain canyon Thursday and threw seven persons 30 feet to the ground. Two were killed.

There were about 25 persons on the lift. Twelve had hiked from a Mormon church youth camp nearby to go sight-seeing on the lift up the slopes of Mt. Timpanogas, about 15 miles northeast of here.

Sheriff Ralph Chapple of Provo siad Mrs. Sherman Peterson, 49, and Susan Carroll, 13, both of Provo, were killed.

Valerie Dunford, about 13, and Betty Anny Hansen, 13, both of Provo, were injured. Miss Dunford critically. Three other girls were treated at a Provo hospital for minor injuries.

Chapple said he didn't know what caused the accident.

Union Leaders Back Valley Farm Strike

AUSTIN (AP) — State AFL-CIO leaders turned to political talk Friday after placing the state labor federation squarely behind the Rio Grande Valley Farm strike with cash and a boycott Thursday.

The AFL-CIO Executive Board, meeting at a dude ranch, was expected to adopt a resolution saying, in president Hank Brown's words "A plague on both your houses" to candidates for U. S. Senate.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, whom labor did not endorse in the Democratic primary, is trying to unseat conservative Republican Sen. John Tower.

Also up for discussion was possible action—including a lawsuit—concerning the proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax, an act already accomplished by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Unionists and liberals oppose the amendment, which will be on the November ballot, because it requires an annual voter registration say it makes it harder to vote. They generally advocate permanent registration.

The board adopted a resolution placing the federation on record as supporting the valley strike and 400-mile march from the valley to Austin, where it is to end with a Labor Day rally on the capitol grounds.

Brown said $25,000 would be raised to support the march.

Holt Reveals Puckish Side With Stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia has revealed a bit puckishly what fellow prime ministers in Britain have done in more relaxed moments, such as kicking off their shoes and chatting—or improving (?) on a Rembrandt.

Holt was guest of honor at a White House luncheon Thursday. Afterward in replying to a toast by President Johnson he was in a story-telling mood. He had come here Wednesday from London and conferences with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

"Last Sunday night at Chequers," Holt related, "that historic establishment of British prime ministers, after his wife and mine had left us for the evening, he kicked his shoes off and lay down on a couch and for three hours we settled the problems of the world."

Holt said he told Wilson that Johnson had been so generous with him he felt that had he asked for it the President gladly would have given him the Statue of Liberty. He said Wilson asked him: "Why didn't you ask him for Ft. Knox?"

Earlier in the evening, the Australian visitor said, Wilson took him on a conducted tour of Chequers and along the way he saw a picture by Rembrandt illustrating the fable of "The Lion and the Mouse."

"It is a wonderful picture, of course, greatly celebrated and beautifully painted," Holt said.

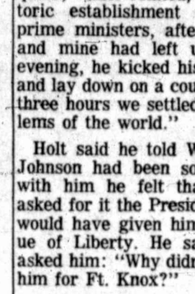

When Winston Churchill was prime minister, Holt said, he used to study the Rembrandt.

"He was, as you know, an amateur painter," the prime minister said. "In fact, I think he was almost a professional painter by the fees he got toward the end.

"Perhaps it was failing eyesight or Rembrandt had left something to the imagination. But he said, 'I cannot see the mouse.' So he painted in the mouse on the picture, and there it is. And so you have Rembrandt and Churchill on this particular picture."

WITNESS MAY BE ABLE TO TELL MORE

Police Search For Mass Killer

CHICAGO (AP) — Police hoped a petite Filipino girl would be well enough today to tell them the details of the night of horror when eight of her girl friends were butchered. Her dark, wide-set eyes, first beheld the nightmare scene—but she was too hysterical to give a coherent account.

Corazon Amurao, 23, an exchange student, is the only witness and survivor of the slaughter during Wednesday night of eight student nurses in a town house that served as a dormitory. She was heavily sedated after giving a fragmentary account of the night.

MEAGER LEADS

Her story, a sweat-soaked man's undershirt, and the blood-splashed, clothing-strewn house full of fingerprints were the pitifully meager leads.

The nurses were slain one by one — by strangling, stabbing or both. One girl's windpipe, carotid artery and jugular vein were cut. Tests to find if the girls were sexually molested were incomplete, although one girl was naked and five others in various stages of undress.

"We've got a subanimal here," said Police Cmdr. Francis Flanagan of the killer. "I've never seen anything more horrible than this."

ESCAPES MASSACRE

Miss Amurao escaped the massacre by rolling under a bed. She lay there, unmoving, until 5 a.m., when the ringing of an alarm clock shattered the deathly silence. Thinking that the noise might have frightened away the murderer, she waited another 20 minutes or so, then wriggled free from strips of bed sheeting with which she had been bound. She stumbled to a second-floor bedroom window and burst outside to a ledge, screaming for help.

Police talked to Miss Amurao for an hour, but she was so hysterical that doctors cut off the questioning.

Only the girl and the killer know the answers to these questions:

— What did the intruder look like?

— How did he enter? Leave?

— How did he conduct the mass slaughter without neighbors hearing even a single outcry?

—Why did Miss Amurao, cowering a few yards away, hear no scream?

"That's what's giving us a tough time," Flanagan said. "She seems to have totally lost recall from the time she went under the bed."

From the girl's fragmentary account, police searched for a man with short, probably crew-cut hair, slender and about six feet tall.

"I could fill Soldier Field with men who fit that description," Flanagan said. But, he added, Miss Amurao said she could identify the killer.

Acting on the vague description, police launched a massive manhunt, set up roadblocks, hauled in a half dozen suspects for questioning. None panned out. Forty policemen were assigned to the investigation full-time and the FBI worked on the case.

ONE A GUEST

Miss Amurao and seven of the victims, all students at South Chicago Community Hospital, lived in one two-story unit of a row of town houses rented by the hospital. The eighth victim, Mary Ann Jordan—also a student—was an overnight guest.

This is how Flanagan reconstructed the crime from Miss Amurao's fleeting account and from the scene.

Six girls were in the house. The intruder's knock on a bedroom door awakened Miss Amurao between 10:30 p.m. Wednesday and midnight. She answered the knock, was confronted by a man holding a knife and pistol.

He herded all six girls into the back bedroom upstairs and bound them with 1½-inch-wide strips of bed sheeting.

ARRIVED LATER

The other two girls who lived in the dormitory, and Miss Jordan, arrived later. They, too, were forced into the back room, and similary trussed.

Then came the massacre. The girls went to their deaths one at a time.

Downstairs—

On a sofa, strangled, Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind. She was one of the three who came in late. ("This girl came in fully clothed," Flanagan said, "and was found naked.")

In one front bedroom—

Merlita Gargullo, 23, of the Santa Cruz District, Manila, her throat cut, ankles and wrists tied with a piece of sheeting;

Nina Jo Schmale, 24, Wheaton, Ill., multiple stab wounds in the neck, a band of sheeting tied across her mouth around the back of the head, and strangled;

Valentina Pasion, 23, of Jones, Isabela Province, in the Philippines, strangled and multiple stab wounds on the neck.

FRONT ROOM

In the other front bedroom—

Patricia Ann Matusek, 20, Chicago, strangled and wrists tied;

Pamela Lee Wilkening, 20, Lansing, Ill., stabbed in the left breast and strangled;

Miss Jordan, 20, Chicago, stabbed repeatedly in the chest, in the left eye, in the back of the neck. One wound went through the heart.

In the hallway—

Suzanne Bridget Farris, 21, Chicago, stabbed repeatedly in the chest and chin.

Dr. Andrew Toman, Cook County Coroner, said the killer used a two-edged knife—similar to a hunting knife. He said he believed the girls were strangled with strips of the sheet torn from one of the beds.

"We have to believe the man came in through the kitchen window," said Flanagan. "The screen was off."

SOMBER

And then he grew somber.

"When he brought victim numbers two and three into each room," he said, "can you imagine the thoughts they must have had?"

Miss Amurao had to stumble past the bodies of four of the victims to reach the bedroom window ledge from which she screamed:

"They are all dead! They are all dead! My friends are all dead! Oh, God. I'm the only one alive."

The first policeman to enter the house was Patrolman Daniel R. Kelly, 25, who had dated Miss Davy several years ago.

"I walked into the kitchen but didn't see anything there," he said. "Then I walked into the front room and I found a body on the couch."

It was that of Miss Davy.

INDESCRIBABLE

"It was indescribable, the worst thing I ever saw. It sickened me. She was on her face. I turned her over and I knew her. My wife is a nurse at the hospital."

The hospital is seven blocks away.

The three Filipino girls, all registered nurses, had been in this country only since May for postgraduate study. The American girls, all graduates of Chicago area high schools, were to graduate Sept. 7.

Their parents had the sad task of going to the morgue to identify the bodies.

The town house is in a far Southeast Side community known as Jeffery Manor. Eight student nurses lived in the unit next door and nine in the third unit.

LITTLE VIOLENCE

In a city where homicides occur on an average of one a day, Jeffery Manor had enjoyed unusual freedom from crimes of violence. It has more bicycle thefts than muggings. The area is considered industrial, but with modern, comfortable homes for the middle-income people who work in it.

Its residents were dazed by the tragedy.

"We have been trying our best to build and enhance this community," said Rabbi Elliott Einhorn of Congregation Kehilath Israel. "We simply can't understand how such a shocking and heinous crime could occur here."

The Rev. William Clark, at Our Lady Gate of Heaven Church, estimated about one-third of his parish is of Polish ancestry and there also are a number of German and Irish parishioners. He said about 40 per cent of Jeffery Manor is Jewish.

ENGAGED

Three of the girls were engaged to marry.

"We hadn't set a date, but we were planning for the future," said Peter McNamee, 23, who was engaged to Miss Schmale. He heard about the slayings on his car radio as he was driving to his job as artist and silk screen painter.

Miss Farris was engaged to Philip Jordan, brother of Mary Ann. Miss Farris' aunt, Della Sweeny, sobbed at the morgue that a spring wedding had been planned. "And now," she said, "it will never happen."

Miss Matusek was engaged to a male student nurse.

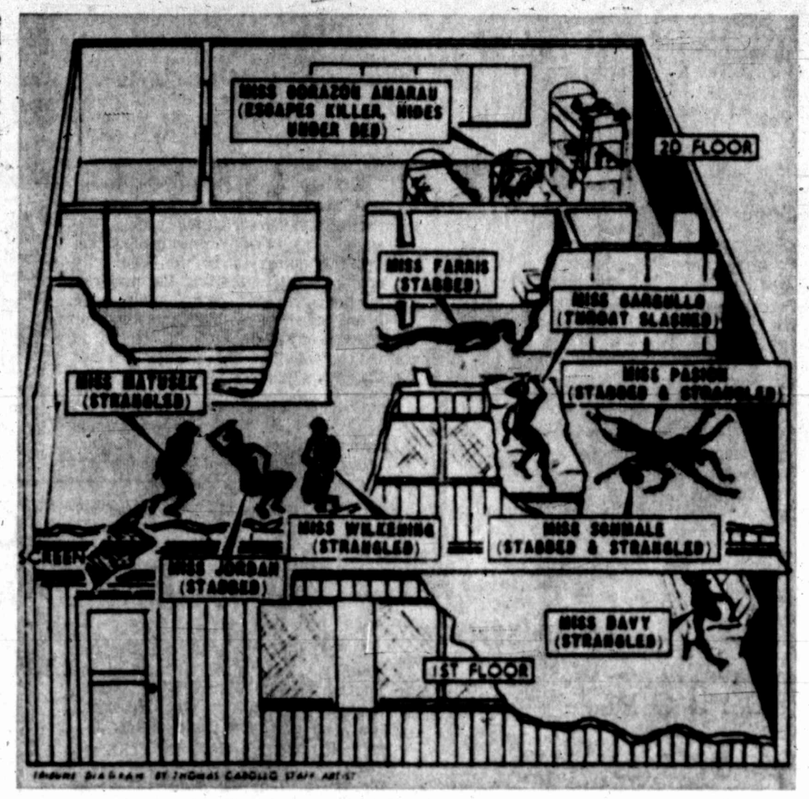

There was one irony to the survivor's story.

She quoted the intruder as saying:

"I am not going to hurt you. I am only going to tie you up. I need your money to go to New Orleans."

CONTRIBUTED

Said Police Cmdr. Flanagan: "It seems that the girls did contribute some little bit to this trip to New Orleans—but how much we'll never know. And how much could they have? These girls were student nurses."

Nation's Refinery Count Decreases By 14 In '65

WASHINGTON (AP)—A somewhat startling report—on the face of it—comes from the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

The bureau reports that the number of petroleum refineries in the United States declined by 14 in 1965, dropping total refining capacity by 282,000 barrels of crude oil daily, or 2.6 per cent.

But there's a ready explanation for such a turn in a period of economic growth generally. The 14 refineries were shut down, the National Petroleum Refiners Association explains, because their equipment had become obsolete.

New plants are replacing some of these older refineries and, in some cases, installation of new equipment is putting older plants back into production.

The bureau's report tells something of the modernization story. It says refining facilities capable of handling 455,500 barrels of crude oil daily were under construction in January, offsetting the 1965 loss and then some.

In operation Jan. 1, the bureau reports, were 286 refineries with a capacity of 10.5 million barrels a day. This total does not include two refineries in Puerto Rico with total capacity of 148,000 barrels daily.

Texas continues to lead in the number of petroleum refineries with 55 at the start of this year. Of these, 50 were operating Jan. 1.

Six Texans Die In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Thursday listed six Texas servicemen as killed in action in Viet Nam during the week ending July 9.

They included three Army and three Marine Corps enlisted men.

Army men identified were Pfc. Eliazar E. Garza, San Diego, Spc. 4 William R. Mindach, Corpus Christi, and Pfc. A. T. Howell, Denton.

A Devotional For The Day

It is God who works in you, inspiring both the will and the deed, for his own chosen purpose. (Philippians 2:13, NEB)

PRAYER: Dear God, forgive us when we live in spirit contrary to Thine. Through Thy redeeming resources, may we be holy, just, and wise. Grant that we may love Thee much and that our lives may be a blessing to those around us. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Hard To Explain

Prime Minister Harold Wilson can expect a somewhat cool reception when he comes to war-heated Washington July 29. In fact, the British press views Anglo-American relations now under worse strain than at any time since the 1956 Suez crisis.

President Johnson may resent—though no doubt he expected — Wilson's criticism of the Hanoi-Haiphong bombing. And he may not like Wilson's going to Moscow, before coming to Washington, in a so far futile search for a peace negotiating formula for Viet Nam. However, the U.S. administration understands the difficulty Wilson is having with his Labor Party's left wing and some of the Commonwealth nations over the Viet Nam issue.

The strongest resentment in Washington stems from the announcement that Britain, which has professed general support for U.S. aims in Southeast Asia, will not sell this country any weapons that could be used in Viet Nam. British Defense Minister Dennis Healey's recent statement of that policy has caused Johnson administration officials to recall bitterly that Britain, long our staunchest ally, has not hesitated to trade with Red China, North Viet Nam, and Cuba.

Britain has always insisted on a sharp distinction between business and politics in international trade. Wilson's "no arms" policy is being contrasted with then Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's argument for Britain sending buses to Castro less than two years after the late 1962 Soviet missile crisis in Cuba.

The United States does not seriously need British arms to prosecute the war in Viet Nam. But an arms embargo by Britain — which also is a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty which covers defense of South Viet Nam—is hard for Washington to take on principle. And Wilson's eloquence may be sorely taxed by Johnson's demand for a satisfactory explanation, especially in view of the arms aid the U.S. has given the British over past years without use strings attached.

Capital Punishment

When the 60th Texas Legislature convenes in January, the perennial question of whether or not to abolish capital punishment—the death penalty—will again be faced. That the coming session will take that step appears unlikely, but eventually one may.

A number of states, and other nations, have dropped the death penalty, some entirely and some with rare exceptions. And capital punishment is decreasingly applied in jurisdictions that retain it, including Texas. Analytical statistical comparisons indicate that the death penalty's deterrence value is overrated, that corrective imprisonment might better serve the public interest, safety and morality.

The U.S. Department of Justice recently took a stand against capital punishment.

A Louis Harris poll on American attitudes toward crime control found public opinion nationally 4 to 3 against the death penalty. (It also found 7-to-1 favor for corrective over punitive prison programs, 5-to-1 belief that better youth training is more important than bigger police forces.

Somewhat surprisingly the Harris poll found majority support for the death penalty only in the suburbs, with majority opposition in the crime-laden cities and the towns and rural areas of least crime. Curiously, too, opposition to the death penalty runs reverse to education, with the least educated 5 to 3 against it and college graduates evenly divided.

Whatever that may indicate, the most significant trend is that favor for abolishing the death penalty has spread at the same time that the national crime rate has soared.

When The Minority Takes Over

WASHINGTON — "Whatever happened to majority rule in the USA?" asked the Returning Traveler, who had been away for a while. "Did a small but superior group arise? Did this elite band take over the continent as the English colonists did long ago?"

NOT EXACTLY, he was told. The 12 per cent which disrupted America was inferior in education, in property and in just about any way you can measure good citizenship. They were even divided among themselves. Some favored violence, some were for non-violent demonstrations. Others were willing to let progress take its course—considering how far they had come in recent times through new laws and rising prosperity.

"Then," said the Traveler, "it must be that the militant forces in the minority took to the forests and rural areas and finally beat down the majority by the standard guerrilla tactics."

ON THE CONTRARY, he was informed, the minority took over the cities, including the Capital City. It drove out its opponents, who retreated to the suburbs and tried to establish new settlements to bring up their children. Soon, as in the case of Washington, D.C., the minority had saturated the urban school system with their proliferating offspring and insured the future.

"The city of Washington is not typical," said the Traveler. "Even if the minority overcome the majority in the nation's capital, there is no reason why the same thing had to happen in other cities."

THE TRAVELER was told that, nonetheless, the loss of majority rule had happened in nearly all the major cities. A small group of no more than 10 per cent had terrorized Omaha, Nebraska, over a Fourth of July weekend, forcing the Governor to call in units of the National Guard and causing the Mayor to institute a program of concessions which rewarded the uprising. Philadelphia and New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, had been subjected to repeated uprisings. The majority gradually abandoned its plain duty of keeping law and order, and supinely paid many forms of tribute to the trouble-makers.

"FROM WHAT YOU are telling me," declared the Traveler, "the disappearance of majority rule in the USA occurred by abdication. If the minority was inferior in many ways, if it showed little disposition or ability to govern itself and if it created slums and ghettos wherever it went, the blame for this deteriorating situation must belong to the 88 per cent of Americans who allowed it to happen."

There was a good deal in what the Traveler was saying, he was told. The 88 per cent had certainly been docile and foolish. It sustained TV programs which publicized the rioters. It made big sellers of books which virtually called for revolution-in-the-streets. It accepted the systematic degredation of the police as an institution in this country. It tolerated a progressive weakening of the anti-criminal procedures.

THE AMERICAN majority allowed its two major parties to give way to the nagging of the minorities. With rare exceptions the candidates and office-holders did not stand for majority rule at all. At such times when an authoritative figure like Barry Goldwater did arise, he was at once deserted by important members of his own party who feared what the minorities might do. When a man like Lyndon Johnson went about as far as anybody could go toward placating the minority, a man like Bob Kennedy would come along and try to out-do Johnson. If it is abdication of majority rule to let these things happen, then that is why the minority took over control of USA.

Billy Graham

My mother asks me to lie, but now that I am converted, what can I do? P. L.

The Bible says, "Children obey your parents in the Lord." (Eph. 6:1). It does not say, "Children obey your parents when they ask you to sin."

You do not explain the circumstances, but lying is not justifiable under any circumstances. If your mother insists on you lying, I would tell her that since you have accepted Christ, it is against your convictions to break God's law. She ought to understand this. It is possible that she does not realize that you have convictions against this sin. Let her know the change that has come to your life, and I feel sure that she will understand. As a matter of fact your testimony may have a profound impact upon her.

Before you were converted you probably told lies and thought nothing of it. It is interesting how God sensitizes our consciences when we are converted to Christ. In this day of dishonesty and lack of integrity, I wish that millions of Americans could feel as you do about being dishonest. We need a revival of old - fashioned Christian integrity. In Proverbs we read, "A lying tongue is an abomination to the Lord."

Perplexing Problem Of Bugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The report filed by the Justice Department with the Supreme Court this week on a 1963 eavesdropping case leaves at least three big questions unanswered:

When did the department first give FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover authority to approve the installation of "bugging" devices?

Did Robert F. Kennedy, who became attorney general in 1961, personally give Hoover the green light to continue FBI eavesdropping practices?

WHAT ARE the specific limits to the range of cases in which the FBI feels justified in "bugging" suspects in the interest of "national security"?

On the first point, the memorandum filed by Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall at the court's request in the Fred B. Black Jr. case said only that the "practice" was "in effect for a period of years prior to 1963."

Does that mean the practice started under Kennedy, under his immediate—and Republican —predecessors, William P. Rogers and Herbert Brownell, or earlier than that? The department did not say.

On the second point, Kennedy's office said Thursday the New York Democratic senator has said he "did not know of the existence or use of the listening device" planted in Black's Washington hotel suite.

THE DEPARTMENT'S vagueness may suggest the FBI was operating under general, rather than specific, authority. It may suggest, too, a lack of complete coordination between the FBI and other segments of the Justice Department on how the FBI obtains certain information.

On the third point, Marshall's memorandum said Hoover had the authority to approve the installation of eavesdropping devices "for intelligence (and not evidentiary) purposes when required in the interest of internal security or national safety, including organized crime, kidnapings and matters wherein human life might be at stake."

THE MEMORANDUM said Black, a public relations man, at the time of the 1963 bugging was being investigated for "possible affiliation with organized criminal activity." It added that this is "not intended to suggest that any wrongdoing" on the part of Black was uncovered by the monitoring.

The memorandum noted that in 1965, under President Johnson's orders, the use of listening devices was prohibited "in all instances other than those involving the collection of intelligence affecting the national security."

For each exception, the Marshall memorandum said, "The specific authorization of the attorney general must be obtained."

CLOUDY, TOO, is the authority for the general eavesdropping practice.

Marshall specifically said "no specific statute or executive order was relied upon in the installation of the listening device in question."

He noted, however, that federal law gives the attorney general "the authority to appoint officials for the detection and prosecution of crimes against the United States."

The case focuses on a problem that is particularly perplexing in a society which puts great stock in the right to privacy.

Exception To Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — An unspoken rule in every modern business office is — "Don't make waves."

The idea behind this is that all are better off if each individual respects the other's survival pattern. In other words: if you don't make waves that threaten to drown me, I won't raise a storm against you.

An exception to this live-and-let-live policy is the heat wave. Heat waves, of course, are phenomena of nature and are not manmade.

HENCE no one can be blamed for them with the possible exception of the company's management, which is darkly suspected of having a guilty hand in any catastrophe, no matter how innocent it may seem on the surface.

The white collar peasants fight summer heat waves in various ways, and the following characters may be noted in your own office zoo:

THE ENGINEER — He keeps the air-conditioning equipment purring like a kitten in December, and invariably goes on his vacation just before it clanks to a halt in July. If it is still broken down when he returns in mid-August, he hides out in the basement behind the boiler and plays gin rummy with the building superintendent until October. The air-conditioning gear then usually resumes working normally of its own accord.

The office girl watcher — "Who minds a little hot weather?" yelps this happy wolf in paradise. "Have you looked at the gals in the stenographic pool? Not a girdle in the whole gaggle!"

THE PSYCHIATRIST — "It's all in your head," he proclaims. On the theory that if you pretend the heat isn't there it doesn't exist, he shows up in a topcoat and a wool muffler. On the third day, delirious, he is taken to the hospital, complaining of the chill.

The amateur weather expert — "It isn't so bad if you understand what causes it," he says, drawing charts on the wall with a big black pencil. "We're caught in a doldrum, right now. But when this hot air mass rises, it will be swept away by this cold air mass building up in the Arctic. As I see it, we might even have snow by the end of the week."

Sciatica, A Special Kind Of Neuralgia

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the best thing to do for sciatica?—MRS. D. P.

The best thing to do for sciatica is, first, to find out what is causing it. Sciatica is the name we apply to neuralgia (or pain) when it attacks a certain nerve, that is, the sciatic nerve which extends down the backs of the thighs.

Nerves behave in more than one way. If somebody steps on your pet corn, it hurts. The pain impulses are transmitted by nerves. But you also feel pain if the nerve itself is damaged — irritated by infection, pinched, or whatnot.

Sciatica is the result of some irritation or damage to the sciatic nerve. This nerve originates in the lower segments of the spine. Therefore the pain, which seems to affect any or all of the area from the lower back down through the buttock, hip and thigh, can be the result of pressure at the root of the nerve. A damaged disc in the spine may be responsible. Or the spine may be pushed slightly out of normal alignment by arthritis. Or osteoporosis (a loss of calcium in the bones) of the spine may permit enough change in the bones so that pressure is exerted on the nerve.

Some toxic (poisoning) condition can be responsible. So, at times, can diabetes or gout. Tuberculosis of the spine and syphilis are examples of diseases which can affect this area. Or, indeed, infection in some remote part of the body can be responsible.

If only one side of the body is affected, a physical injury involving the nerve, or an injection given in certain areas of the buttock are possible causes.

From all this you can appreciate that a salve or massage or any such simple remedy is not going to be the answer. Rather the infection or pressure which is irritating the nerve must be relieved.

Sciatica is a rather common ailment, but that does not mean its cause is easy to find.

Your doctor, by making tests which you may think are far removed from your problem, may find that lurking infection, or by X-ray discover osteoporosis or arthritis of the spine, and then be able to give you some real relief.

In some instances he may have to refer you to a neurologist. If a damaged disc is involved, surgery may, occasionally, be the ultimate solution. Sciatica can be made to yield but only if you find out the basic cause. Do not make the mistake of expecting some easy, simple remedy to provide a quick cure.

Around The Rim

Soapboxing For A Dragstrip

We've advocated this before, with no results, but we're as stubborn as a cross between a mule and a drunken Irishman, so once more, into the breach.

A DRAGSTRIP is needed in Big Spring. Someone needs to sponsor it, someone needs to supervise it, someone needs to donate the land, and someone needs to pave it.

THE CITY goes all out for such as glider and model airplane clubs, and has offered to level out areas near Moss Creek Lake to provide the needed strips. Maybe the city would, if properly approached, do the same for draggers.

WE DON'T participate, but it seems just about every teenager in Big Spring and Howard County does. We spend many Friday mornings watching the goings-on in the local city court, and it seems that the majority of the contested cases lately have been on charges of "contesting for speed"—dragging on city streets, to the extent that the safety of other drivers is grossly impaired.

CORPORATION COURT Judge W. H. Eyssen Jr. feels, and so do the police officers we've talked to, that a dragstrip just might give the youngsters a place where they can let off steam and prove the vigor of their souped-up cars in a safe manner, away from the dangers of city thoroughfares.

The nearest strips are in, we think, Lubbock and Abilene, too far to drive during the week.

THERE ARE in Big Spring several persons who may be classified as professional drag-racers, and they would doubtless give of their advice in setting up such a course. The police officers mentioned above have indicated they'd be more than happy to give up some of their time to help supervise a dragstrip, if only someone would give the idea a push in the right direction.

One thing is sure and certain—dragstrips are safe, when properly supervised and constructed; and even the worst strip imaginable would be many times safer for everybody—draggers and Aunt Jane alike—than the present situation, where Aunt Jane's 1923 A-Model is blown off the street by GTO's and other exotica screeching by at 120 per, and Uncle Fred and even yours truly come home shaking from near-collisions with a 16-year-old in jazzed-up Galaxie-Ferrari-Studebakers with P-38 engines.

Reagan Has GOP Jumping, Too

LOS ANGELES—If Ronald Reagan's candidacy scares the wits out of the Democrats—the appeal of a smooth television personality who looks like the good guy of a fast-moving Western—it dismays many Republicans. They see Reagan as Governor cinching the hold of the conservatives in this richest and most populous state in the Union.

He would immediately become the right-wing candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1968. That conjures up for the moderates and liberals another ordeal like that in San Francisco's Cow Palace when Barry Goldwater arrived with the prize already in his pocket. This could mean a repeat of the disaster of 1968.

FOR REPUBLICANS in the moderate tradition of Hiram Johnson and Earl Warren it has the quality of nightmare. That Reagan, a former actor, one of the most articulate spokesmen for Goldwater and the whole Goldwater line in 1964, should be the heir to the moderate progressivism, so long a successful formula in California, is simply incredible.

One of the unhappiest Republicans is Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel who fits the Warren prescription to a tee. He was re-elected in 1962 by a big majority while Richard M. Nixon was losing the governorship to Brown. Kuchel kept silent in the Goldwater campaign, thereby earning the hatred of the ultra-conservative right that is broadly based in Southern California.

NOW ALMOST DAILY one or more of Kuchel's backers from past battles calls on him to come out for Reagan. Among them are wealthy contributors to past campaigns. Get on the band wagon, they argue, for it is rolling to certain victory and you won't have a chance ever again to run for office in your own party if you don't sign up. not yet come to a decision. It will be a bitter pill if he decides he has no other choice.

COACHED BY the public relations firm of Spencer, Roberts and Associates and with his own actor's sense of timing and crowd appeal, Reagan is following a tactic that it is hoped will be foolproof. He hits all the sensitive nerves—beatniks at the University of California (one of his best crowd pleasers), rising property taxes, violence in the Negro ghettos (the white backlash), crime in the streets. But he carefully avoids offering any alternative solutions for these problems. He talks instead about studies and commissions that will give him the answers when he is Governor.

GOV. EDMUND G. (Pat) Brown will say when the campaign warms up in the fall that Reagan will wreck the University at Berkeley, recently judged first in the country in almost every category, in a few years. He will disrupt the great project that takes water across the mountains from north to south where it is urgently needed. He will bring the swiftly expanding system of higher education to a halt. This is, of course, the staple of partisan politics.

ONE SEES HERE an ever-sharper division between left and right—the two poles of opinion having less and less common ground in the moderate middle which has been the safe haven of American political life. On the one hand are the fanatical opponents of the Viet Nam War, the peaceniks, many of them unquestionably sincere but subject to exploitation by the Communist party risen like a feeble phoenix from the ashes of the past. On the other hand are the impeach-Earl-Warren fanatics who believe the 20th Century can be rolled back. This polarization, it can hardly be doubted, will be accentuated in a political campaign that poses patriotism against communism.

Catering To Minorities

WASHINGTON—Mayor Lindsay of New York faced a problem this week that not only concerns every city in the country, but is related to the civil rights movement, the crime wave and the whole question of how to deal with "police brutality."

The mayor and police commissioner of New York City have appointed two Negroes and a Puerto Rican to the newly created police review board of seven. A white member named as chairman of the board—Algernon D. Black—happens to be a vice president and director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. There are three police officials—one of them a Negro—and four civilians on the board.

THE REAL TROUBLE is not in the composition of the board itself but rather in the motivation of the mayor, who felt he had to appoint representatives from minority and civil rights groups in order to satisfy public opinion. This is not a novel formula, though the principle is hardly one of which government—federal, county or city—can be proud. For presumably, when legal matters are under consideration, judges or members of quasi-judicial boards should be chosen not on the basis of their preconceptions or political beliefs or prejudices but on the ability or judicial capacity they may possess.

IN ESTABLISHING a board to review allegations of "brutality," every city is up against a preconceived notion that the police commissioner himself will always rule on the side of the police. The concept of a disinterested board is, therefore, understandable. But when it comes to selecting members, the question is whether the public interest is served when any consideration is given weight except ability and honest-mindedness.

It is doubtful also whether any racial or religious group will be satisfied with just a minority representation on any board. To meet such obligations, theoretically at least, it would be necessary to appoint to a civilian board seven Puerto Ricans or seven Negroes, as the case may be.

THERE IS NO way by which a civilian board can pass impartially on all cases if political or social prejudices are to be regarded as requiring special attention. Perhaps the only way out is to appoint a new board every time a controversy arises involving a certain race or color or nationality or religion.

In the long run, civilian review boards may do more harm than good. The policemen themselves may be hesitant to take effective measures in quelling disorders. Many policemen do not want to be placed under charges and required to stand trial as if they themselves were criminals.

THE MERE FACT that the mayor of a large city feels that he cannot administer justice without catering to special groups is a disappointing trend in American governmental life. Only in extreme cases where the evidence is clear-cut is justice likely to be obtained. Where there is doubt about facts, the members of a civilian board might be inclined to vote their prejudices against a policeman accused of wrongdoing. The controlling consideration will be sentimental or emotional.

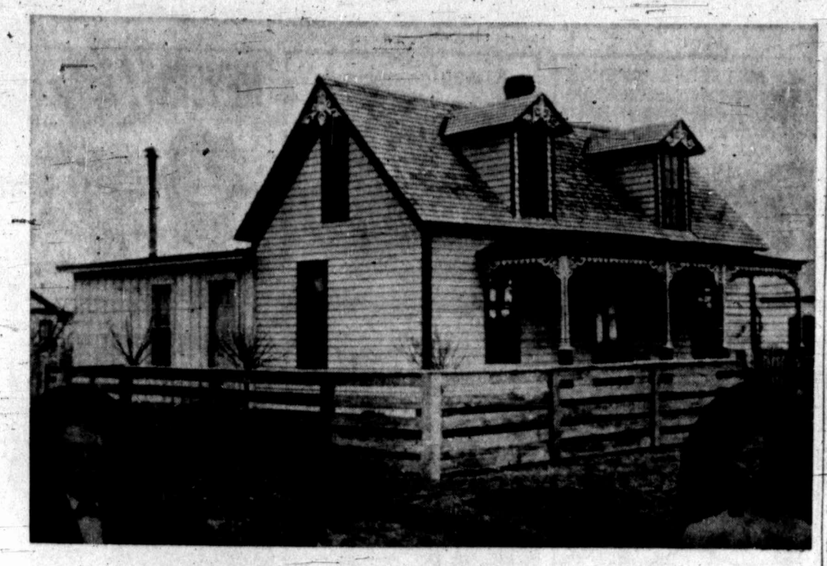

Demands for civilian boards to review charges of "police brutality" have raised controversies in Chicago and Philadelphia and other major cities. New York's experience will be watched with acute interest throughout the country.

Futile Risks Made

BEAUMONT (AP) — Firemen here risked death recently to rescue a small boy in a burning house, only to find that they were the victims of a false report.

"We were told when we arrived by a bystander that there was a small boy in the house," said Battalion Chief Rex Cluck.

FIRST MEETING-PLACE FOR FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
I. D. Eddins home where fellowship was organized in November, 1882

First Church Here Was In Eddins Home

By JERRY MONSON

The years 1882-1883 were memorable ones. Prof. Robert Koch announced, in Berlin, the discovery of the tuberculosis germ. The Triple Alliance of Germany, Austria and Italy was formed, which was to be denounced later (in 1914) by Italy. Here, on the American continent, the Brooklyn Bridge was opened.

In the rugged frontier town of Big Spring, the first newspaper, the Pantagraph, was rolling off the presses; a general mercantile business had been established; the Earl of Aylesford paid a visit to the "big spring"; and, in the religious life of the community, the first Christian body who "assembled themselves together on the First Day of the week" for communion and worship began meeting in the home of I. D. Eddins.

CHARTER MEMBERS

The First Christian Church had seven charter members when the first house of worship was constructed at 305 Gregg St. after a series of home meetings. At one time, the congregation had worshipped in the public school building; but later they were barred from using it. The church at 305 Gregg became, in later years, the old Heffernan Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Eddins, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. D. Boydston, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Robinson and Mrs. W. E. Barrett made up the charter membership. The little church grew steadily, from a handful of members to upwards of 400 in the 1930's.

In 1925 the church was relocated on the corner of Fifth and Scurry Streets, and later was moved to its present location at 911 Goliad.

LARGE MEMBERSHIP

The resident membership today is 710 persons, the building and all equipment have been recently renovated and a new parking area added. Some old-timers say that the site of the church's present location is where the first baptizing of members took place.

Mrs. M. E. Barrett, who came to Big Spring when the only inhabitable dwellings were buffalo tents, and Eddins, in whose old home the church met as a fellowship, were considered instrumental leaders of the church. They, along with several others, recall that the First Methodist Church was the first formal organization housed in a church for worship. St. Thomas Catholic Church, founded in 1911, is the oldest Catholic Church in Big Spring.

The Rev. John Black, the First Christian Church's present pastor, has been in Big Spring seven years. His previous pastorates have included Idabel and Healdton, Okla.

Off To Mexico!

A group of five young people and one counselor from the Presbytery of the Southwest gather in the Rev. E. A. J. Seddon's office to review the itinerary for their trip to Mexico. Southwest Presbytery Youth Off For Tour Of Old Mexico

Twenty-nine young people and five adults from the Presbytery of the Southwest (Presbyterian Church, U.S.) left by chartered bus from Big Spring today for a two weeks' tour of Mexico. Youths in the group are from Big Spring, Midland, San Angelo, Ft. Stockton, Pecos, El Paso, Seminole and the Presbyterian Home in Itasca.

The party will cross the border at Eagle Pass-Piedras Negras where they will transfer to a Mexican chartered bus for the tour in that country. The purpose of the trip is to visit churches and institutions in Mexico and become acquainted with customs, traditions and worship there.

According to the Rev. E. A. J. Seddon, pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church and the tour director, the group will attend Sunday school and worship one Sunday at El Buen Pastor Presbyterian Church, Monterrey, and at El Principe de Paz Presbyterian Church, Mexico City, the next Sunday. They will also visit the Presbyterian Hospital in Morelia, Minchoacan, the Theological Seminary in Mexico City, and Bible schools and student homes in both cities.

"There will be ample opportunity for sightseeing and visiting markets and places of tourist interest," Rev. Seddon said. "Also on the itinerary are the Uruapan National Park and Zararacua water falls in Michoacan and the pyramids at San Juan Teotihuacan, near Mexico City."

Attending locally from St. Paul Presbyterian Church are Beverly Peters, Mickey Kelly, Janet Allison, Dee Ann Gibson, Joanie Knight, Lt. and Mrs. John Arnold and Rev. Seddon. Going from First Presbyterian Church are Lynne Puckett, Nancy Kennemur, Margaret Zike, Scott Porter and John Johansen.

Methodists Liberalize Missionary Policies

A liberalizing of its missionary recruitment policy has been announced by the Methodist Board of Missions, allowing young married couples, as well as single young men and women, to be accepted for special-term missionary service.

The board will be recruiting couples both as 3s (special-term missionaries overseas for three years) and as US-2s (special-term missionaries in the United States for two years).

The change from acceptance of single persons only to acceptance of young couples has resulted largely from the number of voluntary service agencies, such as the Peace Corps, VISTA and other denominations, that now use young marrieds in their work.

Information on special-term service, and on all types of Methodist missionary service, is available from the Office of Missionary Personnel, Methodist Board of Missions, 475 Riverside Drive, New York, N. Y.

WORSHIP OF GOD MARRED

True worship of God is marred by the presence of graven images which man still clings to today. The text for this Sunday's International Sunday School Lesson is taken from Exodus 20:4-6; 32:1-24; I Chronicles 16;29; Isaiah 46:1-4; John 4:7-24.

Man has always been guilty of idolatry and he has always known that it is bad. Moses tried to "cast out all graven images"; during the Protestant Reformation, all statutes and images in the churches were destroyed. Yet man still worships images—parents worship children; some men worship bank accounts; too many put their faith in churches, formed of wood and stone, rather than in the God the church represents.

Some, too, are guilty of worshipping the Bible instead of the Bible's God. God is not confined to places, like shrines or mountains; indeed, as Jesus once said to the woman of Samaria, God can be found on "any mountain."

Dr. Cooper To Speak At Area Brotherhood Meet

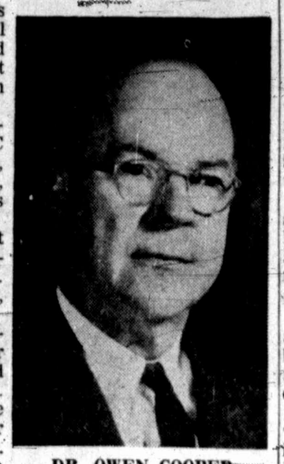

One of the top personalities among Southern Baptists will address an area Brotherhood meeting Saturday evening at the encampment grounds north of Stanton.

He is Dr. Owen Cooper, runnerup for president of the SBC in its recent meeting in Detroit, Mich. The Yazoo City, Miss., layman will speak on missions at the 8:20 p.m. meeting.

Earlier there will be a report from W. L. (Wimpy) Smith, Dallas, state Brotherhood president. Dr. H. M. Jarratt, Big Spring, area president, will preside.

The meeting begins with registration, swimming, and other recreation at 1:30 p.m., followed by the first service at 3 p.m. Rev. W. L. Smith will be the featured speaker during another session at 5:15 p.m. The Rev. John S. Rankin will be in charge of the meal at 5:40 p.m.

Cooper has his B.S. degree from Mississippi State College, his M.A. from the University of Mississippi and an LLD from Mississippi College. He is president of the Mississippi Chemical Corporation and Coastal Chemical Corporation, and is chairman of the board of the First Mississippi Corporation. He heads the Blue Cross board in Mississippi and is president of the state Chamber of Commerce. Cooper has served as president of his state Baptist convention, state YMCA, Mississippi State Alumni, and as a member of the SBConvention board.

Rev. Seddon Back From Conference

The Rev. E. A. J. Seddon, pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church, recently attended a conference on Latin American Ministry, which began Tuesday, July 5, at Trinity University, San Antonio.

The four-day conference was sponsored by the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. The theme for the session was "Culture in Chaos."

Delegates attended lectures and group discussions conducted by leaders and educators of Latin American culture. The conference was primarily conducted for church leaders who work with congregations with predominantly Latin American memberships.

Featured speakers were the Rev. J. Oscar Lee, secretary for program service of the Division of Christian Life and Mission of the National Council of Churches; Dr. Clark S. Knowlton, chairman of the sociology department of Texas Western College; and the Rev. Sherwood H. Reisner, president of Pan American College, Kingsville.

Rev. Black In Revival

The Rev. John Black, pastor of the First Christian Church, is in Montalba this week leading a revival. He is expected to return to Big Spring sometime Sunday.

NBC District Meet To Open Sunday

Four teams will begin competition in two baseball parks here Sunday in the NBC District tournament. Winner of the meet, which will be concluded Sunday, July 24, becomes eligible to take part in the State tournament at Lubbock.

Jim (Boom - Boom) Baum, manager of the Gage Oilers, will double as director of the tournament. Two defeats will be required to eliminate a team from title contention.

In addition to the Oilers, Webb AFB, Odessa and Snyder will be represented in the tourney.

Gage and Webb will clash in Steer Park at 1 p.m. Sunday. At the same hour, Odessa and Snyder square off on the Webb diamond.

At 4 p.m., winners of the first two games collide at Steer Park while the losers battle in an elimination game at Webb AFB.

The three surviving teams will resume activity Sunday week. At that time, a losers' bracket game is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Webb.

Admission price for each game will be 75 cents, Baum has announced.

This is the first tournament of its kind staged here in many years. If it is supported well at the gate, Baum has indicated that future meets will be booked here.

Winner of the tournament, in addition to qualifying for the trip to State, earns a big trophy.

Junior Tourney Ending Today

Winners will be determined in the 36-hole, first annual Junior Golf tournament this afternoon.

The event culminates a busy week at the Muny Golf course. Head pro J. B. Wetsel and his son, Jimmy, started it with a clinic for the youngsters in the 10 to 16 age group, inclusive and a total of 45 boys, three more than expected, registered for the three-day school. Most of those are competing in the tournament.

Eight trophies will be awarded, to both low gross and low net finishers in each of two age brackets.

The school has been declared an outstanding success and will probably be repeated next year.

First day scores:

10 TO 13 YEAR DIVISION

Gross scores — Howard Stewart, 87; David Hanson, 88; Milton Jones, 89; Mark McCraney, 92; Jimmy Stewart, 96; Charles Bailey Jr., 97; Bill Crooker, 98; Don Lewis, 102; Ray Ward, 105; Allen Hill, 108; David Faulkenberg, 111; Monty Hyman, 112; Terry Price, 114; Guy Condra, 114; Frank Acri, 116; Chuck Chrane, 121; Rickey Reeves, 124; Skip Huskey, 124; Tommy Welch, 127; Gary Travis, 128; John Robinson, 139; Larry Frank, 147; Richard Collier, 154; David Wheeler, 180; John Snyder, 224.

Low net scores—Richard Collier, 67; Gary Travis, 74.

14 TO 16 YEAR BRACKET

Gross scores—Rickey Falkner, 87; Jeff Thomas, 88; Tom Conway, 90; Steve Russell, 96; Bruce Bright, 96; Rickey Peuritoy, 97; Lee Harris, 98; Rockey Wooley, 99; Gregg Hahn, 99; Charles Kimble, 101; Dan Harlan, 101; Billy Spier, 101; Jerry Maring, 103; David Talbot, 105; Tommy Redden, 105; Gregg Grice, 112; Rush Crocker, 116.

Low net scores—Bill Spier, 74; Riley Falkner, Jeff Thomas, Steve Russell, Bruce Bright, Rush Crocker, 75 each.

Tiremen Tie For Top Spot

Big Spring Tire, with pitcher Jerry Don Paige supplying the big punch in the sixth inning, edged Morton's Foods, 2-1, here Thursday night to move into a tie for first place in American Softball league standings.

The two nines thus finished in a deadlock for first place in the standings with 13-2 records. Details for a post-season playoff have not been worked out.

Paige pitched a masterful game, limiting the Morton's team to three hits. He faced his biggest crisis in the sixth, when D. A. Miller singled and advanced on an outfield error. Paige settled to fan Jimmy Roger for the second out, intentionally walked the league's leading hitter, Jack Blizzard, and then fanned Don Ritchey.

Donnie Gooch opened Big Spring Tire's half of the inning with a single and came winging home on Paige's double. Paige walked only two and fanned eight in his stint on the hill.

In the second game, Pepsi-Cola mauled the Optimist Club by a score of 13-5.

Tito Arencibia drove in five runs in the contest. He collected two hits, including a second inning double that plated three team mates. Bill Reynolds and Kenneth Soles also had two safeties for the winners, as did Max Coffee and Sam Wrinkle of the losers.

Sox Benefit From Expert Pitching Job

By The Associated Press

Tommy John gave a boost to the Chicago White Sox, who have been having trouble getting off the ground, then left them up in the air for a week.

The 23-year-old, the big winner of Manager Eddie Stanky's staff with an 8-5 record, was set today to spend a week with the Indiana Air National Guard.

Thursday night, he pitched the White Sox into a sixth-place tie with the Kansas City Athletics firing a six-hitter in a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians that snapped a five-game losing streak.

John was due to rejoin the club next Friday, and Stanky said he plans to start him the next day.

The second-place Detroit Tigers upended the Baltimore Orioles by nipping the league leaders 4-3 under acting Manager Frank Skaff.

Coaching Skaff took charge of the Tigers after acting Manager Bob Swift was hospitalized by a stomach infection earlier in the day. Swift had taken the reigns from Charlie Dressen, the regular manager, May 16 when Dressen was stricken with a second heart attack.

In other AL games, the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 5-4, Minnesota beat Washington 3-1 and California took Boston 3-2 in 10 innings.

John also played an offensive role in the White Sox' victory. His sacrifice in the eighth inning moved Ken Berry to second, and Berry scored the winning run on Wayne Causey's double. Joe Azcue's sacrifice fly put the Indians ahead in the fourth, but the White Sox tied it in the seventh when Tommie Agee doubled home Don Buford.

Red Sox Win Over Lions

The Red Sox set the Lion championship express onto a temporary derail by winning a come - from - behind Sophomore Teen-Age League game here Thursday night, 10-9.

Jimmy Farris scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth on a wild pitch. The Sox chased six runs across the plate in that inning.

The Lions started out with six runs in the opening round but Smitty Swords, who came on in relief of John Sevey in that round, did a good job of muffling the Lion power.

Farris had a triple and a single for the winners while Sevey lashed out two doubles and a single and Raymond Delmasso two doubles.

The win was the Sox's fifth in ten assignments.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Texas Football magazine, which is now on the newsstands (price: $1), gives Stanton's Buddy Shanks a fine sendoff, although the Buffs are rated no better than third in District 4-AA, behind perennially tough Denver City and Post.

Of Shanks, the Waco publication states:

"The area's finest passer will fire for Stanton. He is Buddy Shanks (6-1, 185), an all-district choice for two years. 'The finest passing ability of any high school boy,' claims coach Bryan Boyd proudly. The supporting cast also looks first rate: 10 offensive and nine defensive regulars returning in all and many of them have size. Stout line play is expected from interior veterans Phil Payne (185), Bert Recker (197), Carl Herzog (190), Fred Newman (185), Don Burns and Randy Huckaby. While Shanks is the prominent name in the backfield, Allen Springer (185) is a good fullback and Larry White a promising halfback."

Morton, Slaton and Frenship are rated behind Stanton in that order in the 4-AA race by the magazine.

Is Linda Cathey Olympic material? In 1968, when the Games will be held in Mexico City, she will be 16 and should be approaching her swimming prime.

Some observers think so, after the Big Spring product prospered as she did in the 11th annual Southwestern AAU Senior Men's and Women's Swimming meet at Arlington.

A Dallas newspaper referred to Linda as the "fastest little gal in the west," after young Miss Cathey had won four events and easily finished as the high point winner with 36.

Red Barr, the SMU mentor, reasons Linda could develop fast enough to rate the 1968 American Olympic squad, which would be something.

Linda stands only 4-feet-9. The other big winner of the Arlington meet was Midlander Doug Russell, who towers 6-1. Together they make a real Mutt-and-Jeff combination.

Linda is staying in Arlington this summer where she works regularly under Don Easterling, coach of the Arlington State College swimming team. She plans to enter the AAU meet at Austin this weekend.

On the eve of the Southwestern AAU, the Arlington News Texan had this to say about the young girl's prospects:

"A tiny 14-year-old could easily steal the show in the women's division. Linda Cathey of Big Spring, who will compete unattached. She's only 4-9 and 85 pounds but Easterling labels her 'unbelievable' and affectionately calls her 'Termite.' "

Russell, who played basketball for Midland High a couple of years ago, became the first Texan to break one minute in the 100-yard fly stroke. He's just getting over an injured knee. His long range plan has been to make the Olympic team.

It's conceivable that two young people living 40 minutes apart in the far reaches of West Texas will rate the same squad.

* * * *

Even though she dominated her class in the Arlington splash, Linda wasn't overly pleased with her performance.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cathey of 2727 E. 25th St., were on hand to watch the meet. Linda approached them after her electrifying performance and expressed concern over the fact that her times were still not good enough to win against National competition.

Those times included 1:28.2 in the 100-meter breaststroke (nearly seven seconds better than the second place entry) and 5:22.4 in the 400-meter freestyle.

* * * *

Linda wanted to return here to take part in the YMCA Aquatic Meet Saturday but only by competing in the AAU meet at Austin tomorrow can she hope to take part in the Nationals. (Austin has a pool of regulation size, Big Spring hasn't). The Nationals, by the way, will be unreeled in Lincoln, Nebraska, starting Aug. 20, so Linda has about a month to bring down her times.

Linda has been swimming about 3½ years, having taken her first lessons under Y supervision. She swims summer and winter.

Other members of the family, in addition to her parents, include brother Jackie, prominent in Little League ball here a few years ago, now interested in the raising of stock; and Kim, her younger sister.

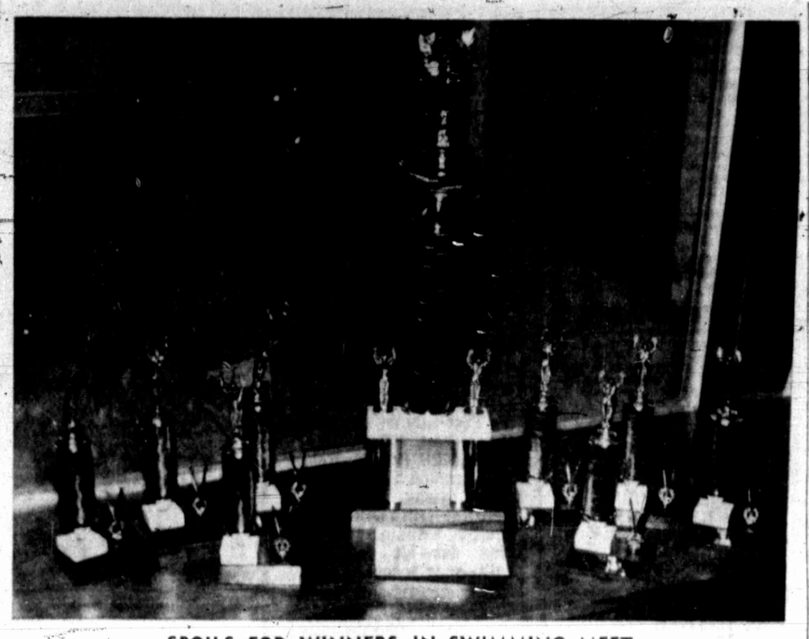

* * * *

Coach Easterling saw the potential in Linda last summer, when she enrolled in a four weeks' course under his supervision in Arlington.

* * * *

Big Spring has never had an Olympic performer.

It would be something if the community and the state, noted for its physical giants, would be represented by Linda, a lass no bigger than some of the fish she can roundly outswim.

Teams From 13 Cities To Vie Here Saturday

Competition in the 66-event third annual Big Spring YMCA Aquatic Club Swim Carnival, which will attract teams from 13 cities, will get under way at the City Park at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Competition will continue until about 5 p.m. The competitors, however, will take off anywhere from 90 minutes to two hours for lunch. The show is free to the public.

Midland, with 44 entries, and Lubbock, with 43, will send the largest squads here.

Other cities which will be represented, and the number of swimmers they are sending here, include:

Abilene and Andrews, 21 each; Amarillo, 10; Odessa, 29; Pampa, 1; Fort Stockton, 31; Snyder, 24; San Angelo, 12; Sweetwater, 24; and Oak Cliff of Dallas, 1. The host city will be represented by a team of 20.

Each entrant will be allowed to compete in no more than three individual and two relay events.

Boys and girls will compete by age brackets. There will be divisions of entries of both sexes in 10 years of age and under, 11 and 12, 13 and 14, 15 and 17.

Events which will be staged include:

50-yard fly stroke, 50-yard free style, 50-yard breast stroke, 50-yard back stroke, 100-yard back stroke, 100-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke, 100-yard fly stroke, 200-yard free style, 200-yard medley, 200-yard freestyle relay and 200-yard medley relay.

Co-sponsors of the giant show are the YMCA and the City of Big Spring.

Trophies will go to the first, second and third place winners in each individual event and ribbons to those finishing fourth through eighth.

The winning relay teams only will earn trophies. Teams finishing second through eighth will get ribbons. In addition, trophies for high individuals in each division will be passed out.

Jimmy Taylor will serve as director of the tournament while Jack Tayrien will be referee.

Doug Robinson Fashions No-Hitter In 9-3 Win

Doug Robinson tossed a no-hit game in leading the undefeated ABClub team to a 9-3 Hi-Junior Teen-Age league win over the Optimists here Thursday night. The pace setters have now won 14 straight games.

Errors, a hit batsman and two walks enabled the Optimists to score. The losers picked up one run in the third when Danny Parchman came in and their other two in the seventh when Parchman and Eddie Cook counted.

ABC started off with six runs in the first round and coasted in from that point. Ronnie Steen led the winners' eight-hit offensive with three singles. He reached base every time he went to bat.

Robinson fanned 11 in the seven-inning struggle.

Jacky Cupit Low In St. Paul Play

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The touring golf professionals have always been tough on St. Paul's Keller public golf course, but Thursday they overdid themselves.

They swept through the first round with 57 of them below par and another 24 at even par. Defending champion Ray Floyd shot a respectable 73 and tied for 101st place.

Jacky Cupit set the pace with a six-under-par 65 over Keller's par 36-35—71, 6,702-yard course. Six others were breathing down his neck at five-under 66, including Gene Littler, Bert Yancey, Charles Sifford, John Schlee, Randy Petri and Steve Spray.

Tied at 67 were Phil Rodgers, Rex Baxter Jr. and Bobby Nichols.

Koufax Wins, But He Has His Problems

By The Associated Press

Last season was Sandy Koufax's best and since he's winning games at a faster rate this season he must be pitching the best baseball of his life, right?

Wrong.

He's having trouble with his control, he doesn't trust his curve and he's not throwing as hard as he used to. At least that's what he was saying Thursday night after he had pitched the Dodgers to a 4-2 win over the New York Mets.

The Mets, victims of Koufax's 16th victory, were unimpressed. They managed eight hits off the Dodger lefty and though they got him into hot water by loading the bases in the fourth inning, Sandy bailed out by striking out Ed Bressoud.

Later, Bressoud homered, but there was nobody on then and the lead provided by Lou Johnson's three-run, first-inning homer stood up.

"The last two weeks I've had a little trouble with my control," Koufax moaned after the game. "Especially the curve ball. It wasn't too good tonight. I just don't trust it. It doesn't feel right. And it just seems to me I haven't thrown as hard as I have in the past." Ho hum.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia knocked San Francisco loose from first place with a 5-0 victory, Pittsburgh became the new tenant of the top spot by pasting Chicago 10-4, Cincinnati split a pair with St. Louis, winning 9-2, then losing 7-9, and Atlanta beat Houston 7-6.

Koufax, who is making his second serious bid in as many year for a 30-win season, is two days ahead of last year's 26-win pace. The hardest time of the year is yet to come, though. Last season, he went three weeks in August without a victory.

The Pirates got into first place by two percentage points with exactly the same assets that got them close — hitting, hitting, hitting. Jose Pagan, with a bases-loaded triple, Roberto Clemente, with a three-run homer, and Donn Clendenon with a two-run shot provided the power. Bob Veale got his 11th victory.

Drillers Win By 6-1 Tab

The Duncan Drillers won their seventh game in 13 Hi-Junior Teen-Age league starts by turning back the Kiwanians, 6-1, here Wednesday night.

Jerry Ryan went all the way on the mound for the Drillers, parceling out only three hits to the Kiwanis Club. In addition, he smashed three singles in as many times at bat.

Ryan fanned the first three batters to face him and wound up with 13 whiffs, in all.

Damage Suit

Rosa Hobbs has filed a suit against Paul G. Hallett in 118th District Court asking $35,000 damages. She claims she was injured seriously in a collision on Aug. 20 last year when her car was struck from the rear at the intersection of Goliad and 10th Street. Hallett is identified by the plaintiff as owner of the second car in the accident.

Restless But Driverless Cars On Bumping Spree

No, remote controlled cars haven't been perfected yet.

But two more driverless vehicles have rolled into city streets since Wednesday, bringing the total this week to six autos that have been damaged by three cars without drivers.

A car owned by Marvin Johnson, 1311 E. 17th, left the place where it was parked at the southeast corner of Fourth and Bell, rolled backward diagonally across the intersection and struck a car belonging to Shasta Ford Company.

A driverless vehicle owned by W. W. Parker, 4003 W. 4th, started rolling down a driveway and struck a garage door frame at 1408 W. 4th. The garage is owned by A. R. Jones.

Two other parked cars were damaged Tuesday by a third auto that rolled across Johnson Street, jumped the curb and struck them in the side as it rolled north down the sidewalk.

Accidents Wednesday and Thursday include the car of Jimmy Cavitt, 1106 NW 7th, which collided with a hit-and-run vehicle at Pollard Chevrolet's east parking lot; the cars of Maria Cauillo Roasa, 1910 W. 3rd, and Linda Kathleen Perry, Lake Thomas Vincent Road, Coahoma, at Gibson's Parking lot; the cars of Guadalupe Garcia, 3617 Calvin, and Harold Lee, Box 404, Levelland, at Fourth and Gregg; and the car of Phillip Sussett, 2802 Ann, which struck a parked car owned by Charles Anderson, 1904 E. 25th, on East 25th.

Headaches Of Emcee On A Beauty Show

By JACK LINKLETTER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —I will emcee the Miss Universe pageant Saturday for the third time.

To the average red-blooded American Male, this may sound like the softest touch in television. But the truth—and I hope my wife is reading—is that there are as many headaches as rewards to the job.

First, it is my responsibility, with the help of some able clock watchers, to see to it that the telecast lasts just 45 seconds short of 90 minutes. This means getting 70 girls to be on time.

Any man who has waited for his wife on a rainy street corner knows this is impossible. There are a few things you can't expect a woman to keep, and time is one of them.

If the show lags, it's not so bad. I simply persuade the girls to romp through their final paces at the speed of a Marine drill team. If we are under time, however, I try to pad the show by interviewing the new Miss Universe.

Even two or three minutes can be an eternity when you are interrogating a weeping, hysterical beauty queen in a language she doesn't understand and she's answering in a language you don't understand.

Some of the European girls have at least a passing knowledge of English. But others, I've learned, come prepared with only a few English phrases, such as "Hello," and "Thank you very much." These don't make much of an interview.

My most pressing problem, however, is a personal one. Like any other man, I find myself choosing favorites. It may be a girl who smiles the way my wife does, or who brushes back her hair in a particularly appealing fashion.

This is fine for the viewer at home. But I'm supposed to be impartial.

Usually I manage to mask such feelings. Two years ago, however, I found myself captivated by Corrina Tsopei of Greece. Here was the sort of classic beauty I, as a schoolboy, had pictured Helen of Troy to be.

The envelope containing the name of the winner was handed me. I glanced at it, then looked up. There were 15 pairs of eyes focused on mine, searching for the answer. As my eyes met Corrina's, she burst into a broad smile, followed by a torrent of tears. I hadn't said a word, but Miss Greece knew her name was on that little scrap of paper.

I like to believe that if another girl had won, neither the tone of my voice nor the look on my face would have betrayed any disappointment. That wouldn't have been fair.

Which brings up a question I'm asked very often. I am paid to do this show, rather than the other way around. That is not one of my problems.

Cooler Air Brings Hope

By The Associated Press

A slow-moving cold front offered a glimmer of hope today to areas blistering under a lengthy heat wave, especially in the parched Midwest and South.

In St. Louis and surrounding areas, where 124 heat-attributed deaths have been recorded since last Friday, the Weather Bureau has predicted the seventh straight day of temperatures of 100 degrees or more.

There was a slight chance, however, that a mass of cool air about 150 miles north of St. Louis might drop down into the area.

New England slipped out of the grip of a two-day heat wave Thursday, with the temperature dropping into the 80s and 70s. The forecast is for continued relatively cool weather.

In Denver, a high of 84 snapped a 12-day string of 90-plus readings, just one day shy of the 1878 record of 13 straight days over 90. The highest reading in the 12 days was 98.

Baltimore has had nine successive days in the 90s.

New York's acting governor, Malcolm Wilson, has asked the Agriculture Department to declare Jefferson and Lewis counties in the northern part of the state, drouth disaster areas. It was 95 degrees in New York City Thursday.

The 100-degree heat covered the southern half of the nation Thursday from the desert Southwest to the Atlantic Seaboard. But a large mass of cold air over the Great Lakes region is drifting slowly southward and eastward.

The clash of cool and hot air produced a belt of thunderstorms from the Mid-Atlantic Coast westward to the Rockies. Heavy rain fell in some areas.

Of the 124 deaths in the St. Louis area, 85 were in the city alone. Helen L. Taylor, city coroner, said most victims were elderly and highly susceptible to prolonged periods of heat.

Tropical storm Celia, located about 900 miles east southeast of Miami, is moving towards the west northwest at about 14 m.p.h., but is not considered a threat to any land area for the next 24 to 48 hours.

Soaring Rides Slated Sunday

The Odessa Soaring Club will bring their sail plane to the Howard County Airport Sunday for demonstration rides and instruction, it was announced today by Dr. F. W. Lurting of the Signal Mountain Soaring Society.

Dr. Lurting said that operations would start between 9-10 a.m. and continue throughout most of the day. Rides will be $3 each, he said, and two instructors will be available.

An organizational meeting of the society will be held Monday, with election of officers the main item on the agenda. Films on soaring activities will also be shown. All interested persons are to meet in the lounge of Malone and Hogan Clinic at 7 p.m.

Troop Attends Summer Camp

Boy Scout No. 179, sponsored by Kentwood Methodist Church, is attending the Scout Ranch camp in the Davis Mountains this week. The 15 boys, plus Scoutmaster Don Campbell and Assistant SM Bob Taron of Webb AFB, will return Saturday. The trip is being made in the troop bus, which was donated by White Weeks of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co.

DEAR ABBY

She's Due A Fair Break

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and having been going with a girl my age for three years. I led her a line only to keep her interested and now I am sorry because she thinks I am in love with her and will eventually marry her. She doesn't date anyone but me and she gets jealous if I look at another girl or want to spend an evening with my buddies.

I enjoy her company, but I am not in love with her and never could be. How can I get out of her clutches without losing her completely? She comes in handy on a rainy Sunday afternoon.

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: Do the girl a favor and level with her, but spare her the painful details. Tell her marriage is not on your mind. Then quit dating her, and get some good books for those rainy Sunday afternoons. It's high time you turned over a new leaf, Romeo.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a professional soldier now serving in Viet Nam. I have a wonderful wife and four children. I am due for a rotation back to the states next month. I recently received my assignment which is one every soldier dreams about but very few get.

I was thrilled and wrote my wife about the lucky break. She wrote back saying if I wanted to move I could go without her and the children as she wasn't moving there. I don't think this is fair to me. Should I try to get my assignment changed, or go there without her? I think I deserve more than an empty home to come home to.

LOST IN VIET NAM

DEAR LOST: So do I, but don't try to fight the battle of the home front at such a distance — wait until you get home. In the meantime, ask your chaplain for a few pointers on how to make a wife face up to her responsibilities before you bring up the heavy artillery.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Apropos people who bore their guests to death with tales of their trips, and add to it, endless hours of slides, may I share a wonderful suggestion given to me by a very wise drama professor at U.S.C.?

To test the interest of your audience, deliberately stop in the middle of a sentence, and if no one says, ". . . and then what happened?" Shut up!

I have tried it many times over the years, and each time I had to shut up.

Odessan Convicted Of Gambling Casino Robbery

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Jerry Ray James, 23, of Odessa, Tex., was convicted of armed robbery Thursday in an $11,500 holdup of the Red Carpet, a former gambling casino near Biloxi.

A circuit court jury found James guilty and Judge Leslie Grant sentenced him to three years in prison.

James is one of three men indicted in the March 25, 1965, robbery. He was the first to go to trial.

Another defendant, Charles Jordan, 48, of Tulsa, Okla., is serving 10 years in Federal prison for parole violation. The third man has never been identified nor apprehended.

The club manager, Harry Bennett, claimed three men held him up at gunpoint after terrorizing a large number of customers and employes in the casino.

James admitted taking money from Bennett but said it was $3,620, and he claimed it was money he had lost in crooked gambling games. The state argued that the holdup was planned.

Makes Talk

George Oldham, chairman, attendance committee, Big Spring Rotary Club, is in Snyder today making a talk on the local "Four-Way Test committee. Members of the committee are Col. Julian Baird, John L. Taylor, Lowell Jones and Olen Puckett.
