24 Are Dead In Tornadoes

Towns In Louisiana And Arkansas Hit By Blows; About 200 Others Injured

(By The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 1—Freezing winds and rain added peril and discomfort today as rescue workers counted a mounting toll of lives and property in the wake of scattered southern tornadoes. The toll of known dead reached 24.

The cotton and oil belt of northwestern Louisiana and southwestern Arkansas was hardest hit, with 15 bodies counted in the almost demolished community of Cotton Valley, La.

Three were dead in the Memphis, Tenn., area, from another twister, and one fatality each was counted in Leton, Dykesville, and Haynesville, La., in Village and Altheirmer, Ark., and in Mantee, Miss.

Hundreds were homeless and about 200 were injured.

The intensive weather disturbance moved into the Ohio river valley with rain, sleet, or snow and proceeded northeastward at a 35-mile-per-hour clip. The Washington weather bureau issued a special warning for Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Tennessee.

High winds struck Montgomery, Ala.

Hazel, Marie and Wilnus Becton were killed when their farm home collapsed 10 miles north of Memphis.

A woman was fatally injured at Dykesville, La., and an unidentified negro was killed at Haynesville. At Village, Ark., a school superintendent was killed when a high school gymnasium was demolished.

A twister also struck Gilmer, Ark., destroying one house, but there were no deaths or injuries reported there.

The funnel-shaped twister was first sighted south of Vanceville, La., by Herman Jones of Bossier

SUPREME COURT JURIST VICTIM

Justice Alexander Is Taken By Death

* * *

JAMES P. ALEXANDER

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 1—Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the State Supreme court died here today of heart disease.

Chief Justice Alexander, 64, had been ill since late last summer. Recently he returned to the bench for a resumption of limited service with the state's highest court in civil matters.

A Former Professor

He was former professor of law at Baylor university and associate justice of the court of civil appeals at Waco. He had been McLennan county judge and judge of the nineteenth district court at Waco before his elevation to the appellate bench.

Alexander had served as chief justice for seven years.

When the tall, lean and youthful-looking Central Texas jurist and educator was elected to the office of chief justice, he told friends he had achieved a lifelong ambition.

Born On A Farm

He was born on a farm near Moody, McLean county, April 21, 1883. He attended the public schools and in 1908 was granted his law degree by the University of Texas. He worked his way through college by teaching school.

Alexander started the practice of law at McGregor, and in 1911 he moved to Waco. In 1916, he was elected McLennan county judge, and served two terms.

He served another four-year term as judge of the 19th district court at Waco after his election in 1920. At the same time, he was named professor of law at Baylor university.

Devoted Noon Hour

For 20 years, he devoted the noon hour each day to the teaching of a class in civil trial procedure at Baylor.

Justice Alexander retired from the district judgeship in 1924 to re-enter the private practice of law at Waco, and in 1930 became associate justice of the Court of Civil appeals there.

For many years he was a director of the Texas Bar association, and was a member of the State Civil-Judicial council. Alexander was active in civic, fraternal and

Car Thefts In City Reported

Three automobiles were stolen in Lubbock Wednesday night — two of them reportedly having been driven away with ignition keys stolen several days earlier — and an airplane stolen in Abilene was being sought in this general area, police said this afternoon.

Another automobile was reported stolen here Wednesday, by bailee, and still another, taken recently from a Lubbock resident in New Mexico, was recovered.

Owners Of Cars

The most recently stolen cars are owned by A. H. Faulkner of 1303 Nineteenth, Bill Stewart of 1811 Texas Ave., and Jim Black of 2431 Ellwood.

The car belonging to Black was stolen in connection with burglarly of the H. E. Wilkins, jr., service station at 1101 Sixteenth, investigators said.

Someone entered the station through a south window, took $1 in pennies, and left in the automobile, a green 1938 Buick sedan, license AL 6692.

Keys Were Stolen

Faulkner's car is a brown 1939 Buick sedan, license AK 5031. Police said keys to the car had been stolen several days ago by two young men who were partially described, and said keys also had been stolen last week to Stewart's car, a maroon 1946 Dodge coach.

Twelve Are Dead In Missouri Train Wreck

Blow Torches Are Used To Free Victims

Rear End Crash Occurs During Blinding Storm

(By The Associated Press)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 1.—Twelve persons were reported killed and an undetermined number injured today in a rear end collision of two Missouri Pacific trains during a blinding snowstorm near Syracuse, Mo., 95 miles east of Kansas City.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri highway patrol, reported that 11 bodies were found in a wreckage of a pullman car on the first section of the Missouri Pacific's "Missourian," en route from St. Louis to Kansas City.

One man, identified only as R. G. Gearhart, about 35, died at a Sedalia, Mo., hospital.

Body Is Crushed

Waggoner said the body of the pullman conductor was found crushed in the vestibule of the pullman, the last car on the train. He reported the engine of the second section, a mail and express train, had telescoped all but four feet of the pullman coach.

Reports from the scene were being relayed here by radio equipped cars of the patrol. Communications in the area were badly disrupted by a 24-hour sleet and snowstorm, which left highways in a perilous condition.

The engineer, fireman and brakeman of the second section were reported seriously injured and taken to a Sedalia hospital.

Icy Conditions Blamed

Waggoner said the accident apparently was the result of icy conditions disrupting the block signal system. A mail clerk on the first section said the train was traveling about 10 to 15 miles an hour when the crash came.

Three cars in the second section were derailed but did not overturn.

Blow torches were being rushed from Sedalia to cut away the debris and remove the bodies.

Colonel Waggoner said several persons were injured, but he said he did not believe any was in a serious condition. He said most of them were treated at the scene by physicians rushed from here and Sedalia.

A wrecking train was dispatched from here, but was not expected to arrive until about 12:30 p. m.

Missouri Pacific officials here said their communications lines to the scene were down due to the sleet and snowstorm.

Body Of Baby Girl Is Found

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Jan. 1 (U.P.)—The body of a tiny baby girl, dead from exposure, and her nearly-dead five-year-old brother were found in a swamp near here today, apparently abandoned by their parents as they fled after robbing a taxi driver.

Decatur County Sheriff R. A. Stephens said the seven-month-old girl was found dead on a small hill by a swampy river and the little boy "almost dead" in the bushes nearby.

He identified them as the children of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cook, of Bainbridge, Ga.

Shot Taxi Driver

Stephens said police had searched for the Cooks and a brother, Eugene Cook, 32-year-old ex-convict, since a negro taxi driver reported they robbed and shot him near here Monday night.

He said the trio stole $20 and the taxi from Charlie Burke, the negro, and fled in the car.

They apparently took the chil-

Man Tries To Kill Honduras' President

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Jan. 1. (AP)—Police said they frustrated an attempt by Antonio Castejon yesterday to assassinate President Tuburcio Carias after Castejon killed one man and wounded a policeman.

Authorities quoted Castejon as saying he came from his home in nearby Tatumbla expressly to kill the president. They said he stabbed Juan Ramon Midence to death in front of the presidential residence and then ran through the house before he was subdued. There was no explanation of his motive.

Teen-Ager Is Held In Double Slaying

YORK, S. C., Jan. 1 (AP)—Sheriff C. A. Moss of York county said today that Tommy Lee Phillips, 16, had admitted that he killed his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Phillips, at their home near Winston-Salem, N. C., yesterday.

Sheriff Moss said details of the reported confession would not be announced until two deputy sheriffs from Winston-Salem, I. W. Spease and George K. Fontain, completed their questioning of the youth later today.

COKE STEVENSON

No Promises Are Made By Ex-Governor

Year Of Political Retirement Ended By Announcement

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 1.—Former Gov. Coke Stevenson today announced his candidacy for the United States Senate.

With "no platform of political promises," the pipe-smoking "calculating" West Texan, who served as Texas' governor through the entire recent war period, declared in a speech prepared for broadcast over a statewide network that his candidacy is to be based solely on "certain fundamental principles of sound government" and his past record as a public servant.

Communism Is Flayed

In the address, Stevenson flayed Communism as a threat to world peace. He advocated help for "our friends in Europe," but criticized the giving of "the fruits of our own labor to the undeserving." He predicted that "if we are brave and strong and persistent, we need not find ourselves again in war."

His one announced "New Year's resolution" was:

"If you, the men and women of the sovereign state of Texas, choose to send me to the United States Senate, I resolve here and now to serve your interests and the interests of constitutional government to the very best of my ability and in accordance with the principles of American Democracy . . . so help me God."

Speculation Is Ended

Announcement of Stevenson's candidacy followed little less than a year of political retirement for the rancher-lawyer from West Texas. It ended speculation which had already virtually become fact that he would oppose junior Senator W. Lee O'Daniel in next summer's election.

The speculation had begun before Stevenson left the governor's office to his successor, Gov. Beauford H. Jester, last January and had been recurrent throughout the year which he had spent in whole on his ranch at Telegraph.

"I am not one of those who consider that the United States stands again on the brink of war," Stev-

Fast Start On 1948 Politics

(By The United Press)

The year 1948 is an election year, and Texas politicians began tossing their hats into the ring in large numbers today.

Bascom Giles, Texas general land commissioner, and Col Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission, led the parade of aspirants for state jobs who announced on New Year's eve that they would seek re-election.

Takes To The Air

Former Gov. Coke Stevenson took to the air shortly before noon today to announce his candidacy for the U. S. Senate in opposition to Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel.

O'Daniel has not formally announced for re-election to another term—his second full one—but it was widely presumed that he will be a candidate.

The announcements issued formally last night included:

Giles, who polled the largest vote any Texas Democrat got in the first primary of 1946—1,170,291. He had no opposition in that primary.

Seeks Fourth Term

Thompson, for a fourth term as chairman of the railroad commission, which administers oil and gas affairs as well as transportation. He has been a member of the committee continuously since 1932.

State Rep. F. C. Swanson, for re-election from the 51st district.

Kilmer B. Corbin, present county judge of Dawson county, for election as state senator from the 30th district. The 30th district now is represented by Sterling Parrish of Lubbock.

State Rep. Ottis E. Lock of Zavalla, for election to the state Sen-

Three Are Drowned After Auto Mishap

HOUSTON, Jan. 1. (AP)—A 15-year-old negro girl and two negro men were drowned early today when their car crashed through a bridge railing on Market street road about a mile west of Four Corners and plunged into 25 feet of icy water.

The girl's two sisters and another man escaped from the submerged car.

The party was returning from Houston to their home in McNair, near Highlands.

NATION WELCOMES THE NEW YEAR

Gaiety Reigns In A Troubled World

(By The Associated Press)

The revelry of joyous throngs, the reverence of worshippers with prayers for world peace, the somber appeal of a United Nations' leader for accord among the great powers: in this contrasting, but traditional setting, the nation observed the advent of the new year.

As millions of merry-makers frolicked and other millions jammed churches, the appeal for international unity was sounded by U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie who gravely told a nationwide Mutual radio audience he was "disappointed in the greatest hope of all"—the hope that the major powers would move toward an understanding on disputed issues.

A more optimistic note on the U. N.'s future had been struck earlier yesterday by President Truman who said he had "every faith" in the organization as "a means of general world peace, for the simple reason that we can't afford anything else."

Other leaders expressed hope, confidence and in some cases despair over what the new year would unfold.

But the day's accent leaned sharply to gaiety and from snow-choked Manhattan to the smallest hamlets, celebrating citizens roared tumultous greetings to 1948.

Restrained only slightly by the slushy remnants of a record blanket of snow, New Yorkers set the pattern for much of America with their traditionally boisterous blowout.

A police-estimated throng of 750,000—last year it was 1,000,000—surged through Times Square and cut loose with a mighty roar at the turn of midnight.

Fashionable night and supper clubs were jammed to the rafters and the Latin Quarter—a night

AMERICAN "FAGS" WORK WONDERS

"Cigaret Economy" Blow To Germany

(NOTE TO READERS: This is the fifth of a series of articles being written by the Editor of The Avalanche-Journal from observations and material gathered during a recent trip he made to Europe at the request and invitation of the Department of the Army. Mr. Guy and 13 other U. S. editors inspected general conditions and military government in the U. S. and British Occupied zones of Germany; also studied conditions in Trieste, Austria and concluded their European stay with a visit to Paris).

BY CHAS. A. GUY, EDITOR
The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal

THEY say in Berlin that you can buy what's left of the once proud Reichschancellery for a package of American cigarets with, maybe, a chocolate bar thrown in. Of course, that may be an exaggeration, although I doubt that the Reichschancellery, in its present wrecked state, is worth that much.

But the fact remains that under Germany's cockeyed "cigaret economy" of today, you can do wonders in trading—even if you have no more to offer than a half-gone bar of soap, a slightly used cooking apple and an old gum boot.

They told me in Germany that the value of the cigaret as a medium of exchange in Germany is not nearly so much as it used to be. I wouldn't know about that—but I do know that you can do more under certain conditions with a cigaret in Germany than you can do with a two-bit piece, sometimes even a four-bit piece, here in West Texas.

* * *

Three Reasons For "Cigaret Economy"

The reason for this topsy-turvy state of affairs is three-fold.

In the first place, inflated value of the Reichsmark—and the threat of even further inflation at any moment—has made it most unsatisfactory as a medium of exchange for the German people;

In the second place, good, American cigarets are much to be desired by the few Germans who can afford, through canny trading, to smoke them;

And in the third place, their intrinsic worth is established; by the package and/or the carton, the number of cigarets contained there-in is standard; they are very easy to carry and thus are always readily available for trading.

* * *

AS MORE American civilians go into Germany to take jobs in connection with military government, or to perform other governmental duties, the value of the cigaret slowly declines. The newcomers are prone to put less value on the fags than the old hands, who know their real value to the Germans.

"I wish you guys wouldn't be so generous with your cigarets," a Texas major grinned to me as I left two cigarets, instead of one, as a tip for a German waiter in an Army Guest house. "First thing you

Six Persons Die As Home Is Destroyed

HARLINGEN, Jan. 1 (AP)—Six members of a Mexican family were burned to death today in their temporary living quarters on a farm near Lyford, Willacy county. Two other members were critically burned.

The dead are:

Ora Juana Leon Ochoa, 36; her daughter, Elena, 15; Trinidad Ochoa, 10; Ysidoro Ochoa, 5; Juan Ochoa, 4, and Guadalupe Ochoa, three months old.

Pedroa Ochoa, 33, the husband and father, and his brother, Antonio, 18, were seriously burned. They were taken to a hospital at Raymondville, where physicians said Antonio probably would die.

None Is Injured In Airplane Shakeup

ATLANTA, Jan. 1. (AP)—Twenty-one passengers were shaken up but none was injured seriously when an Eastern air lines plane collapsed its landing gear during a sudden squall at the Atlanta airport today.

The plane was thrust into the air while rolling down a runway. The freakish gust then dropped the twin-engined airliner against the pavement with such force that the wheels collapsed.

DETECTIVE INJURED

FORT WORTH, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—A Fort Worth detective was in critical condition with injuries suffered when a truck overturned on him last night. Jesse Montgomery, 40, was pinned under the truck after it hit an embrankment and toppled over.

"People Say It Was Love At First Sight"

Princess Tells Of Love For King Mihai And Says She'll Go With Him Anywhere

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The London Star published today an interview with Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma in Copenhagen in which she acknowledged her love for former King Mihai of Romania and declared she would "go with him anywhere in the world."

The Star's Copenhagen correspondent, Geoffrey Mayhew, quoted the princess as saying:

"We met for the first time at Claridge's (hotel) when we were in London for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth. People say it was love at first sight. I never thought such a thing could ever happen to me.

"We prolonged our stay in London and then I went with King Mihai and his mother to Lausanne.

"When he went back to Romania we knew that pressure was being put on him, but no one tried to persuade him not to go. I did not think, nor do I believe he did, that the situation would end in abdication. I am glad he is safe."

The princess was quoted as saying that she had no knowledge of the young ex-monarch's plans.

She emphasized, the paper said, that when she returned from Lausanne her engagement had not been announced officially and that it was still unofficial.

"She is expected," the Star added, "to join Michael when he arrives in Switzerland while his mother, Queen Helen, comes to Copenhagen to make arrangements for the wedding."

Editor Can Make Only One Speech In City: Tuesday Night At High School

Because he has been asked to make more speaking engagements to Lubbock and South Plains organizations than he possibly can fill, Editor Chas. A. Guy, of The Avalanche-Journal, will make only one speech in Lubbock concerning his findings in Europe.

The Avalanche-Journal will present Mr. Guy at Senior High school auditorium next Tuesday night, Jan. 6, at 8 p. m. There will be no admission charge and all citizens interested in the Editor's observations in Europe are invited to be present as the guests of The Avalanche-Journal.

In addition to the speech covering his experiences in Europe, Mr. Guy will answer any questions he is able to answer regarding specific conditions in the U. S. and British Occupied zones of Germany and in the Free State of Trieste, hot spot of Europe.

"I wish I could accept all individual invitations," Mr. Guy said, "but if I did I wouldn't be able to do anything else for the next several weeks. To accept them all would force numerous people to hear me twice and I have a horror of boring people when it can be avoided. As a 'good neighbor,' I'm going to try to accept all South Plains invitations, because I consider that a duty. But one speech in Lubbock will give all really interested people a chance to gain additional information about Europe today."

The Editor will be introduced by Mayor Clarence Bestwick.

Icy Highways Bring Danger To Travelers

Worst Blizzard In Several Years Believed On Way

(By The United Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 1 — Snow, sleet and winds of gale force hit a vast expanse of the Great Plains today in a New Year's storm which weather observers believed might develop into "the worst blizzard in several years" at some points.

From eastern Colorado and western Kansas eastward through Missouri, Arkansas, and north to the Great Lakes area, highways were treacherous with ice or were expected to become so in a few hours.

Snow In Oklahoma

Snow blanketed the northern half of Oklahoma, measuring six inches at Oklahoma City.

A freak wind storm riding above the snow and sleet front dipped to hit the Kansas City area in a blast which roared across the city at velocities ranging from 60 to 80 miles per hour. Winds of more than 54 miles per hour constitute gale force, weather observers pointed out.

Police said "hundreds of windows" in the downtown area were blasted out, trolley lines went down, and trees snapped off. "It was so bad," said a police dispatcher, "that we lost contact with patrol cars and it was every officer for himself and the neighborhood he happened to be in." Several airplanes grounded at the municipal airport here and at Fairfax airport at Kansas City, Kan., were reported damaged.

Houses Are Shaken

The wind storm apparently dipped to earth intermittently over much of central and eastern Kansas but there was no report of serious damage. At Newton, Kan., trees were damaged and residents said houses "shook as if they would give way."

Pittsburg, Kan., hit by "the worst sleet storm in years" had been without light or power since about 7:15 p. m. New Year's eve. Authorities said early today that they had no idea when service could be restored. Police and commercial radio stations were off the air. Mount Carmel hospital, lacking emergency power facilities, was without lights but attendants said there had been no emergency cases. They were gathering additional supplies of battery-powered lights.

Worst Yet To Come

Snow mixed with sleet generally ranged in depth from two to three inches throughout eastern and central Kansas and into western Mis-

Lubbock Has 9-Degree Low

With a 9 degrees minimum, Lubbock had the lowest reported temperature in the state this morning and was due according to the weather forecast to experience minimum temperature of from seven to 12 degrees tonight.

A light blanket of snow remained on the ground from Wednesday's snowfall, which stopped at 10:40 o'clock that night.

Few Injuries Reported

Motorists apparently were cautious on slick highways and streets. Although numerous accidents had been reported to authorities, few injuries were reported.

Snow and ice were reported general over the South Plains and Panhandle areas, and probably will remain on the ground the rest of the day, the U. S. Weather bureau station north of Lubbock reported. Some snow and ice may be melting as late as Friday afternoon.

The minimum nearest Lubbock's nine degrees, as reported by cooperative observers of the U. S. weather bureau, was 10 degrees at Amarillo.

Cold In New Mexico

Possible lower temperatures occurred west and northwest of Lubbock, but were not shown on official readings made by observers. Over the state line in New Mexico, Tucumcari reported 1 degree above zero.

The local forecast is for fair weather this afternoon, tonight and Friday; continued cold this afternoon and tonight; not quite so cold Friday afternoon.

Dropping to an expected minimum of 7 to 12 degrees Friday morning, the temperature is not expected to go above the middle or upper 30's all day Friday, the weather station reported.

Precipitation Is Light

Total precipitation recorded from Wednesday's drizzle and later snowfall was .04. Total amount of unmelted snow was estimated at .3. Following cessation of snow at 10:40 p. m., skies gradually clear-

Battered City Of Konitsa Now Claimed Relieved After Siege

ATHENS, Jan. 1 (AP)—The Greek war ministry declared today that the battered city of Konitsa has been released from siege by 5,000 Communist guerrillas who have been hammering at the town since Christmas day.

A communique said initial relief columns entered the embattled city at night. The weary, 1,000-man garrison was being evacuated. The relief column entered the city from the west, after dislodging rebel forces and "inflicting heavy losses" in a drive from the Bourozani bridge, the communique said.

Retreat To Mountains

The rebels, who fought desperately to take the city as a capital for a newly proclaimed Greek Communist state, presumably retreated into the Grammos mountains.

The war ministry made no comment on the direction of the rebel retreat. Previous reports said some of the rebels fled into Albania, north of Konitsa.

Capture of Bourozani bridge, 11 miles west of Konitsa, was announced by the government yesterday. The rebels took the bridge, the key points to the defense of Konitsa, on the first day of their assault on Konitsa.

Semiofficial reports said approximately 10,000 guerrillas took part in the general operation against Konitsa with 5,000 shock troops assigned the task of forcing a way into town. The remainder were scattered along lines of approach, particularly on the road from Kalapaki to Bourozani bridge. It was estimated that 2,000 to 4,000 guerrillas tried to keep this vital communications artery closed while waves of shock troops smashed unavailingly at Konitsa.

Violently attacking national forces, however, knocked out defense positions covering the road often in bayonet charges and hand to hand fighting while tanks and armored cars supported them from the highway proper.

It was the second time within a year that the guerrillas had attempted to seize Konitsa. Their previous unsuccessful effort occurred in July when guerrillas made an "invasion" from Albania amid unconfirmed reports that an international brigade was participating.

FUGITIVE FROM CHAIN GANG FEARS RETURN—"Do anything you want with me, but don't send me back. They kill you down there" was the plea Chester Owens, left, above, made to Racine, Wis., police. He was talking about the Georgia chain gang from which he escaped over a year ago. He's pictured after his arrest in Racine, where, with his 16-year-old wife, right, he had been living since July. She is expecting a baby. Racine officials are holding Owens until they learn if he still is wanted in Georgia.

New Teachers Don't Want Small Fry Jobs

NORMAL, Ill., Jan. 1 (U.P.) — Teachers with new diplomas apparently are shunning the small fry these days.

The job placement director for Illinois State Normal university said the biggest shortage of teachers this year is in elementary schools.

Dr. J. W. Carrington reported only 55 of the 194 now teaching from last year's graduation class went into elementary work. Not one is teaching in a rural school, he said.

Aluminum Workers To Have New Homes

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 1 (AP)—Before long, employes of the Aluminum Company of America not only will be making the metal but they'll be living in it as well.

The Butler Manufacturing Co. of Kansas City announced sale of 100 of their pre-fabricated aluminum homes to be set up at Bettendorf, Ia., the site of a new Alcoa sheet and plate plant.

The houses, featuring three bedrooms, are of metal panel construction and lock together with a patented key.

The skunk cabbage, which doesn't smell like a skunk, but more like mustard plaster and raw onions, is curious in other ways. Its flowers and fruit appear before the leaves.

Jewish Reprisal Forces Slay Four Arabs In New Outbreaks

JERUSALEM, Jan. 1. (AP)—Jewish reprisal forces blazed into two Arab villages today with chattering machine guns and bursting grenades, killing four Arabs and wounding 30, Palestine police reported.

The raid, made at 3 a. m. on the villages of Balad Esh Shiekh and Hawassa, were believed to be in retaliation for the massacre by Arabs of two score Jews Tuesday in the consolidated refinery plant at Haifa. Both villages are mainly occupied by Arab refinery workers.

Holy Land Toll 497

Haifa sources said two Jews failed to return from the raid on Balad Esh Shiekh. The Associated Press count of dead in Palestine since communal strife erupted following the United Nations decision Nov. 29 to partition the Holy Land rose to 497.

In the old walled city of Jerusalem, police said Arabs had virtually isolated several hundred Jews and the Jewish burial society opened a new cemetery to avoid the necessity for long corteges, many of which have been shot up recently.

Rail Line Blasted

The rail line between Jaffa and Tel Aviv was blasted in four places by Jewish bombs and there was sporadic sniping in other parts of the Holy Land.

A Palestine government spokesman said he "understood" that British naval forces had intercepted off the Palestine coast two large cargo vessels carrying approximately 15,000 visa-less Jews from southeastern Europe.

The spokesman said the two vessels, manned by American Jewish crews, apparently had offered no opposition when asked to steer a course for Cyprus. He added that the refugees would be disembarked at Famagusta and taken to nearby detention camps.

Private sources reported that two army camps had been cleared for their reception.

There are almost 700,000 beds in mental hospitals in the United States.

Car Crashes, Burns, Motorist Survives

TULAE, Calif., Jan. 1 (U.P.) — Highway patrolmen still don't know how he lived through it, but they had him, alive, in the county jail for proof.

Jose Vasquez, 25, was speeding along the highway when his car left the road. It leaped seven feet into the air, according to a sober witness, and struck a power pole at that height.

The car and pole burned. Vasquez was uninjured.

He was arrested for drunken driving.

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's motorists apparently steered away from wild driving in celebrating the arrival of the New Year.

An unofficial survey across the country today showed that 17 persons were killed in traffic accidents since 6 p. m. New Year's Eve as compared to 37 fatalities in the same period on Christmas a week ago. The violent death toll was 18, only one fatality not resulting from an automobile accident.

116 Died In 1947

The National Safety Council estimated that 175 persons may be killed in traffic accidents in the 30-hour period ending at midnight tonight. In the similar period on Christmas the violent death toll was 288, including 179 in traffic mishaps and 109 from miscellaneous causes. There were 116 violent deaths in the 1947 New Year's holiday, including 80 in motor accidents.

Inclement weather apparently was a big factor in holding down the traffic toll last night and early today. Driving was hazardous in many sections of the country. There was sleet, freezing rain and ice-coated highways from northern Texas through Oklahoma and into Missouri and Kansas and other parts of the Midwest.

First reports on the toll showed California leading with three traffic fatalities. Illinois and New Hampshire each reported two traffic deaths. Illinois also reported a third violent death. The following states each reported one traffic death: Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

MASS SUICIDES

In Japan, a great wave of harakari swept the islands when the common people were granted, for the first time, the privilege of meeting their ancestors in this fashion. In ancient times, only the upper classes were permitted such an honorable death, and the lower classes felt slighted.

Ten Outstanding Young Women In U. S. For 1947 Are Chosen

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Young women who excelled in the arts, in civic and world affairs, in science and in sports were named by Mademoiselle magazine today as winners of 10 merit awards for achievement in 1947.

The women, ranging in age from 19 to 33, were:

Elisabeth Ackermann, 22, of Irwin, Pa., chemist in the Westinghouse laboratories who, with chemist Fritz Nagel, developed a plastic glue strong enough to support a 200-ton locomotive.

Anahid Ajemian, 21, of New York, concert violinist who has appeared as soloist with major symphony orchestras.

Other Award Winners

Mildred L. Lillie, 32, a native of Ida Gorve, Ia., appointed to the Los Angeles municipal court bench by Gov. Earl Warren in April, 1947.

Carson McCullers, 30, of Nyack, N. Y., a native of Columbus, Ga., cited for achievement as a novelist, author of "The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter," 1940; "Reflections in A Golden Eye," 1941, and "The Member of The Wedding," 1946. In France as a Guggenheim Fellow during 1947.

Toni Owen, 30, of New York, a native of Chicago and graduate of the University of Wisconsin, cited sportswear firm founded with her husband a year ago.

Santa Rama Rau, 24, at present official hostess in Tokyo for her father, India's Ambassador to Japan, cited as a diplomat and writer. Miss Rau, a graduate of Wellesley college, wrote for Indian newspapers and magazines from 1939 to 1941, and for the U. S. Office of War Information during her college vacations from 1941 to 1945. She is the author of "Return to India," published here in 1945.

Warsaw Teacher Named

Barbara Ann Scott, 19, of Ottawa, Canada, who last year won the world championship as a figure skater.

Shirley Adelson Siegel, 29, of Los Angeles, a native of New York City, attorney and executive director of the Citizens' Housing Council of Los Angeles, Inc.

Anne Waterman, 22, of New Haven, Conn., youngest and only American teacher at Warsaw university.

Elaine Whitelaw, 33, of New York, national director of women's activities for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The magazine announced also the names of three winners of its Jobs and Futures competition. They were:

Additional Prizes

Rae Bette Ann Hesler, 21, of Long Beach, Calif., winner of $500, a round trip to New York and a six month apprenticeship on Mademoiselle.

Maria Del Refugio Aguilera, 24, of Colton, Calif., winner of $500 and a trip to New York, for photography.

Clara Crenshaw, 29, of Montgomery, Ala., winner of $500 and a trip to New York, for writing-editing.

TIME—THE GREAT HEALER—Three years have passed since terror-stricken Suzanne Oliphant, young survivor of a flying bomb blast in London, sobbed miserably in the arms of her rescuer, air raid warden Florence Kelly, as pictured at left. Time has erased the tragic fear from their faces, permitting them to smile happily when (right) they were reunited at the recent wedding of Miss Kelly to a former infantryman.

$126,885 Judgement Asked In Local Suit

Judgment in damages totaling $126,885 was asked in the suit of Emma Levetia Pigg and others against J. W. Starr, doing business as Starr Gas Co., Inc., Wednesday afternoon in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair.

The suit is outgrowth of a June 12 two-truck collision in which Leslie Dewey Pigg, husband and father of plaintiffs, and Carlton (Cowboy) Stidham, alleged to have been employed as driver for the Starr Gas company, were burned to death.

The suit identified Pigg as a driver of a transport gasoline truck owned by Homer Johnson. Both drivers lived in Levelland.

The plaintiff's petition listed residence of the gas company as being in Midland county.

Mrs. Pigg brought the suit individually and as community survivor of the estate of her late husband, and as guardian of the estates of J. E., James W., Joy Ann, Coy W., and Jerry D. Pigg, minors who range in age from 20 years to 11 months.

The collision was on U. S. highway 290 about five miles from the western limits of Lubbock. Stidham was driving westward in a butane truck, Pigg eastward in his transport truck and trailer. Both vehicles caught fire after the collision and were virtually destroyed.

The suit is the fourth to be filed in connection with the mishap. Wednesday's action was filed by Leo S. Hay of the law firm of Hay and Hudspeth of Lubbock.

It's "Miss 1948" In Lubbock This Year

Her name hadn't been selected at 2 o'clock this morning, but "Miss 1948" might be the title applied to the 7 pound 8½ ounce daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Trice of Slaton at 12:01 o'clock this morning.

The infant was the first 1948 baby in Lubbock county. She was born in West Texas hospital.

The Trices live at 1255 South Thirteenth in Slaton. The father is a sales representative for Stewart-Warner.

The fox wraps his tail about him, like a comforter, while he sleeps.

Wreck Victim Taken To Dallas Hospital

Billy Cathey, 26, of Lubbock, who was seriously injured in an auto accident 25 miles north of Roswell, N. M., on Dec. 6, has been moved from the veterans hospital at McKinney to the vets hospital at Lisbon, James Cathey, a brother, reported last night.

Cathey, recently moved from the Amarillo veterans hospital, suffered head injuries in the accident which required oral surgery. He was to have undergone surgery Wednesday morning, but X-rays taken Tuesday caused the operation to be postponed for further study of his condition. James Cathey said that information received here indicated that the surgery might be performed next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cathey, 2427 Nineteenth street, who journeyed to McKinney to be with their son during the holidays, have accompanied him to Lisbon, a suburb of Dallas.

INEFFICIENT THOUGH NOISY

Tests have revealed that steam whistles are as inefficient as they are noisy. A 12-inch whistle used 4000 horsepower in tooting just once.

In the near future every automobile will be equipped with an electric eye to dim the lights automatically when another car approaches.

Sabotage Threat

ROME, Jan. 1. (AP)—Italy's Communists today offered Premier Alcide De Gasperi as their New Year's greetings the threat of sabotage and force, if necessary, to attain their ends.

The Communist newspaper L'Unita printed seven columns of a speech by Luigi Longo, the No. 2 Italian Communist in which he declared "we are prepared to resist with force if you (De Gasperi) resort to force to crush these aspirations of the popular masses."

Our New Year's Wish

Our experience with Pontiac owners has taught us that a lot of pleasure and satisfaction comes into the family circle when a new Pontiac arrives.

That is why this New Year's Day seems to be such an appropriate occasion for us to wish that all of you who are waiting for new Pontiacs might have them to enjoy right now.

And it is a pleasure to tell you that the Pontiac factory is doing everything possible to help us make this wish a reality at the earliest possible time. An extensive factory expansion program has been virtually completed, and as fast as additional raw materials are made available, Pontiac production will be increased.

We also want to thank you for your patronage and for your patience and understanding throughout the year which has just come to a close. Our hope for 1948 is that we may continue to merit your business and your priceless goodwill.

Holiday Marriages Read For Many South Plains Couples

Weddings of South Plains couples are of interest in first of the year social news.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Snyder are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Bobbye White, to Jack K. Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Greene of Snyder, which was read Dec. 23 in the home of the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Mary Caton, in Lubbock with Dr. M. Norvel Young of Broadway Church of Christ reading a double ring service.

The vows were exchanged before the fireplace which was decorated with poinsettias and greenery and lighted with Christmas tapers.

The traditional wedding march was played by Miss Dorothy Donnell after a prelude of "Always" and "Clair de Lune."

The bride wore a white wool suit with powder blue blouse, black accessories and a corsage of deep pink carnations. She carried a white Bible for something borrowed; wore a gold ring belonging to Mrs. Caton for something old; put a penny in her shoes, gift from the bridegroom's grandmother for luck and wore blue earrings, gift from her parents, as something blue.

Miss Dossie Caton was maid of honor and Joe T. Alexander served as best man.

Close friends and relatives attended the wedding and a reception which followed. A two-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bridal couple, was served with coffee.

The couple will be at home in Snyder where Mr. Greene is employed. He recently received his discharge from the Navy, after serving two years on the West Coast and in the Pacific. Mrs. Greene has been employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

CHRISTMAS WEDDING IS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. G. A. Hayslip of Lubbock, Rt. 1, is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Miss Betty Lee Hayslip, to James Troice Rackler, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Rackler of Acuff, which took place Christmas day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hayslip, 711 Thirtieth, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Rev. Hershel Henkel officiated.

The bride wore an ice blue tailored suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. Miss Hiavatha Hayslip, maid of honor, wore a gray suit with brown accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Dalton Rackler of Tahoka served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Roosevelt High school and has been employed in Lubbock for the past one and one-half years. Mr. Rackler is engaged in farming.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

Wedding guests were family members.

WEDDING VOWS ARE READ IN SLATON

SLATON, Jan. 1 (Special) — Mrs. Melba Young and J. B. Osborne of Lubbock exchanged wedding vows Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Fred Stottlemire, 305 West Garza, a pioneer resident of Slaton.

Rev. W. F. Ferguson read a single ring ceremony before the fireplace which was decorated to depict a snow scene. Tall white candles in two double candelabra burned on the mantle and the wedding party was reflected in a large mirror.

The bride wore a two piece aqua crepe dress designed with a sweetheart neckline and rippled skirt. Her corsage was of red rosebuds. She wore her maternal grandmother's wedding band for something old; for something borrowed, a pair of earrings belonging to Mrs. Clifford Young and she wore a penny in her shoe.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Young, Ethlyn Young and Calvin Roberts, all of Lubbock.

A reception followed the service. The bride's table was laid with a handmade lace cloth and centered with a large bowl of pink gladioli flanked with white candles in tall candelabra.

The bride's mother poured coffee from a silver service and a wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple, was served by Mrs. Young.

The couple left for a trip to Throckmorton, Houston and other South Texas cities and will be at home in Lubbock where Mr. Osborne operates the McGuire Drive In restaurant and she is cashier.

Princess Elizabeth's Romance Rates Her Position As The Woman Of The Year

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Woman's Editor

Because a royal love story for a while overshadowed news of threatened wars and current disasters, editors of Associated Press newspapers have voted Princess Elizabeth of England the woman of the year.

Results of the annual poll were almost unanimous, proving that even in a hard-bitten modern world, scarred by catastrophe, the romance of a beautiful princess and her Prince tops politics, intrigue and treason in public interest.

Among other women voted outstanding in their respective fields for 1947 are four new personalities who zoomed into the news spotlight for the first time this year.

Dr. Gerty Theresa Cori, joint winner with her husband, Dr. Ferdinand Cori, of this year's Nobel prize for medicine, was voted outstanding woman in the field of science. Both Drs. Cori are faculty members at Washington University, St. Louis.

Hailed as the singing sensation of the year, Dorothy Shay, the young singer who suddenly found herself famous for her hill-billy song, "Feudin' and Fightin'" won top position among women in radio.

Pretty June Lockhart, 22-year-old daughter of veteran character actors Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, was voted outstanding woman of 1947 in drama after her sensational hit in the play "Love or Money," which opened late this year.

Named this year's queen of beauty was Barbara Jo Walker, of Memphis, who was crowned Miss America 1947 at Atlantic City in September.

Familiar names make up the rest of the list. They are:

Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College, named for the second consecutive year the outstanding woman in the field of education.

Ingrid Bergman, two-time winner of the designation No. 1 woman of the movies.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, again voted outstanding in the field of sports, after becoming the first American woman to win the British woman's amateur golf championship.

Dorothy Shaver, president of the New York department store, Lord and Taylor, named for the second time outstanding woman in business.

Rebecca West, voted tops in the field of literature because of her recent sensational book, "The Meaning of Treason," expanded from her news stories on the trials of British traitors.

Eleanor Roosevelt, voted outstanding in public service because of her active role in the United Nations.

SERVICE HINT

An automobile's starter should always be used sparingly, as about 30 minutes of normal driving is required to replace electrical energy used from battery for each minute of starting operation.

Maedgens To Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, sr., 1811 Broadway, are entertaining in the late afternoon hours today with a New Year's open house for a group of friends.

A red and white motif will be featured in arrangements of red carnations and white tapers.

Favors will be bookmarks carrying out greetings from the hosts.

Four hundred guests have been invited to call between 4 and 6 o'clock.

Assisting in hospitalities will be Messrs. and Mesdames Marion Key, Lorenz Ellis, Charles E. Maedgen, jr., Leland Payne, Elmer East, Wayne Finnell, Robert Pendleton, Mesdames Mary E. Payne, H. I. Robinson, G. A. Foote, R. E. Karper, Miss Elizabeth Fagg of New York City and Miss Lucille Hvass of Temple.

Mrs. Lucille B. Sampson will register callers.

Piano music will be furnished throughout the receiving hours by Mrs. Kearby Nash and Dr. A. B. Samson.

Sub Debs And Cresas To Give New Year's Dance

Las Cresas and Sub Debs clubs are giving a traditional New Year's dance at Hotel Lubbock tonight. Dancing begins at 8 o'clock and will continue for four hours.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL . . .

Girl Asks Advice On How To Treat 'Best Friend' Who Muscles In On Dates; Mistreats Brother

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 15; my best girl friend, Sue, is 16; and my boy friend Bill is 17. My problem is Sue.

Whenever I am going out with Bill, Sue always seems to be on hand with no plans of her own, and Bill in order to be polite always asks her to join us, which she always does. Bill is getting very annoyed about this; and I might add that she makes rude remarks to him and behind his back.

Also, when other boys say "Hello" etc., to me, she always makes rude remarks to them; and when their backs are turned she makes fun of the way they walk, talk, etc. When I asked her to stop this she says, "Why should I? They aren't my friends."

BAITS LITTLE BOY WITH BAD EXAMPLE

At my request she comes to my house every school day afternoon for a snack, and used bad language around by 4-year-old brother; and as a result he gets punished for repeating it. She also heckles him in the street and strikes him when he slaps her for this. I have asked her to stop this but she won't.

How can I get Sue to behave as she should, and not always be hanging around my boy friend and me? Please answer soon.

V. C.

SO-CALLED FRIEND EXUDES BAD WILL

DEAR V. C.: Sue presents a behavior problem for a specialist. You can't change her. She is a badly twisted personality, definitely off on the wrong foot in life and can't be considered a friend of yours. Indeed it's absurd to apply the term "best friend" to her.

Who is a friend? A friend is one who is not hostile, who is not a foe, who is attached to another by esteem, respect and affection—and judging by Sue's rough-handling of all your other relationships, there is little, if any, good will, respect or affection in her feelings for you.

Then why does she hang around, humoring your delusion that she is your devoted crony? I suppose because she is enviously attracted by your popularity rating, which she jealously resents even while using it as a convenience to keep herself in social circulation. And also because she is making a play for Bill, in her characteristic roughneck way.

TIME TO OUST TROUBLEMAKER

FURTHERMORE, her jarring rudeness to your other boy friends signifies overall perverse rivalry. In the main she is trying to needle them into noticing her; and failing that, her secondary purpose is to tear down your appreciation of them, or any pride you may feel in their approbation.

In using bad language before your little brother—which gets him in trouble, as she knows—and otherwise cruelly baiting him, she is figuratively twisting your arm for liking him. I dare say—probably because family sentiment is an experience unknown to her.

As I've said, you can't change her. The best you can do in self-defense is to oust her from the role of best friend, starting now. The way to prevent her from spoiling your dates by tagging along is to give her a blunt direct brush-off, before or after your beau appears. That's simple common sense; and believe me, she'd make short shrift of you in similar circumstances if the tables were turned.

Needle Club Has Watch Night Party At Home

In the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Pettey, 3001 Thirty-second, Wednesday, members of 1941 Needle club and their husbands attended a Watch Night party.

Games of rummy and forty-two were played and a novelty gift exchange was held.

Attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Wesley Smith, A. E. Dietering, J. O. Pope, Merritt Clark, A. J. Holtkort, E. R. Trego, Oliver Cates and Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Holmquest.

Viennese Beauties Score Technical Win

Story Of Prospective Brides Has Cinderella-Like Climax

NEW YORK, Jan. 1. (U.P.)—Three pretty Viennese brunettes for whom cupid won a technical victory over United States law were expected to arrive here late today aboard a Pan American Constellation plane from Europe.

They were the last fiancees of former GI's to beat the midnight deadline for free transportation to this country for prospective brides of former soldiers, and their victory was won only because immigration authorities winked at the law.

The girls—Angela Huber, 19, Helene Buchanwald, 21, and Ludowika Machtinger, 22—left Vienna yesterday, racing against the expiration last midnight of the "GI Bill of Rights" law providing for free transportation to this country.

Time Running Out

But the plane was grounded at London by motor trouble. Authorities had set the deadline at 11:30 GMT, and told the girls that if their plane was airborne for its trans-Atlantic flight by that hour they would be permitted to continue to New York.

As that hour neared, the girls paced the London airport waiting room. Miss Huber wept a little, and the other two were very near to tears.

At 11:25 p. m., the pilot of the plane, which still was undergoing repairs, dashed into the room and told them:

If you're on that plane before 11:30 you will be considered on American territory, and can go on to the United States."

The next four minutes saw, in the words of an attache at the airport, "a God-awful scramble." But they all made it to the plane.

Plane Delayed

At midnight, London time, the bells of London's churches rang in the new year. But the girls didn't hear them. They heard instead a sound that was sweeter to their ears—the deep-throated roar of the Constellation's engines warming up.

At 12.08 a. m., the plane was airborne.

It originally was scheduled to reach New York at 11:30 a. m. but Pan American reported there had been further delay because of weather en route, and the plane was expected late today.

The girl's prospective husbands were Harold Thoms, Butternut, Wis., Wallace Wood, Pierre, S. D., and Bruce Olsen, Santiago, Calif.

Thoms and Wood waited impatiently at the airport. Olsen was understood to be in mid-Atlantic, en route back to this country by ship.

It is estimated that U. S. tourists spend more than $214 million a year in Canada.

"Dream Girl" Gets Marriage Annuled

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Sheriff's Capt. Stanley Kimball said he plans to release Francis Joseph Bressi, 23, Brooklyn, N. Y., who confessed that he was married to nine women.

Kimball said all nine wives had declined to prosecute Bressi.

Bressi told authorities he married the women while searching for his "dream girl." The ninth turned out to be her.

The dream girl, Margaret Camp of Tyler, didn't wait for him to clear up his marital difficulties, however. She got an annulment.

Tugboat Workers In Gotham Get Pay Hike

NEW YORK, Jan. 1. (AP)—A threatened strike of 3,500 tugboat workers in New York harbor was averted early today when operators and AFL union representatives reached agreement on a contract calling for 10-cent hourly wage increases.

TO SALUTE PLAINVIEW

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 1. (Special)—The "Queen for a Day" radio program from Hollywood is to salute Plainview and its new Pioneer air service Friday from 1 to 1:30 p. m. over the Mutual network of 412 stations, Wm. T. Kemp, president of Plainview Chamber of Commerce, announced.

Air Force Superfortresses Lost In Mountain Wilds Of Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 1. (U.P.)—An Air Force superfort was missing on a routine weather observation flight today, and search parties prepared to hunt through a mountain wilderness for its wreckage and traces of the nine men aboard.

Air Force officials feared the B-29 exploded and crashed yesterday less than an hour after taking off from Elmendorf field en route to the Fairfield-Suisun air base near San Francisco. Thirteen minutes after taking off the pilot radioed that one of his four engines was out.

Eyewitness Account

Several witnesses reported a "blinding flash in the sky" about the time that radio contact was lost with the plane two minutes later.

The reported crash brought to 14 the number of men missing or dead in connection with mishaps to Alaskan superforts in the past nine days.

Another B-29 crashed Dec. 23 into uncharted Mount Serpentine, about 600 miles northwest of the mountains rimming the Matanuska farming belt where the second B-29 was believed down.

All eight crewmen survived the first crash, but two paratroopers were killed in rescue operations and three other men still are missing.

Air Force search planes, dog teams and ground parties were standing by to comb the Matanuska valley, 25 miles north of here, at dawn (12:13 p. m. PST) for the second airplane.

To Resume Search

Occasional snow flurries, which prevailed at the time of the bomber's takeoff on instruments continued today. But it was hoped that helicopters and ski planes would be able to continue to search later in the day. No trace of wreckage was found in search operations yesterday.

The B-29 took off under poor conditions during a lull in the storm. After the plane was in the air, the snowstorm swept across the field again and prevented further takeoffs until morning.

A ground party, outfitted with an ambulance, a "weasel" designed to operate over rough snow-covered terrain, and two trucks set out for the area where the flash was seen.

The party has radio contact with Elmendorf field where a dog team was being readied to be flown to Goose Bay as soon as weather permitted.

Aged Janitor Shoots Rival

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 1. (U.P.)—John Manning, 72-year-old janitor told police today that he shot and killed his roomer, Carl Jensen, 74, in a fit of jealousy because Jensen persisted in bringing candy bars to his wife.

The shooting occurred during a quarrel yesterday when Manning complained about the attentions Jensen paid Manning's 62-year-old wife.

They Exchanged Blows

Mrs. Manning said her husband began quarreling with Jensen, a retired bridge tender, just before supper. She said the men exchanged blows and she stopped the fight, suggesting that Jensen pack up and leave.

Before Jensen could go, she said, Manning went to his room, got a .38 caliber pistol, and fired at the roomer three times. Two bullets struck Jensen in the head. He died immediately.

Manning surrendered willingly to police and corroborated his wife's story.

"We had an argument and I killed him," Manning said.

Mrs. Manning told Detective Lt. Rudolph Glaser that "there was nothing between Jensen and me."

A Good Boarder

She said he had been a "good boarder" during the eight years he had lived in the Manning house.

"My husband objected, though, whenever Jensen would bring me candy bars or talk to me," she said.

Manning was held today on a technical charge of murder. He will be charged formally tomorrow.

Robber Too Late For Spot News Broadcast

McALLEN, Jan. 1 (AP)—Listeners of Radio station KRIO almost heard an on the spot broadcast here yesterday of an armed robbery.

As announced Manfred Ishmael switched the station from a studio program to a radio network, a man walked into the studios. He pointed a gun at Ishmael and took $4 in cash.

Ishmael said the holdup would have gone on the air had the man appeared a few seconds earlier.

Japan's Population At 78 Million Mark

TOKYO, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Allied officials have found that the congested condition of the Japanese islands—diminished in area as a result of defeat—has reached an all-time peak.

The latest population figure was put at 78,220,840. That is an increase of 5,851,698 since V-J Day.

Repatriation of Japanese nationals from overseas areas accounted for four-fifths of the increase, while the remainder was due to a natural increase in the birth rate.

Robot Plane Pilot Hailed As Aid To Safety Of Air Flight

BY CHARLES CORDDRY
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1—"Watch him' take us in."

The nose dipped gently and we glided toward Washington National airport. The Douglas DC-3's throttles eased back without visible aid.

"He" was indeed taking us in to the runway, as Randy Mulherin, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Administration's flight inspection staff, said "he" would.

"He" is better known among airmen as "George," the electric automatic pilot. This autopilot does more than fly a compass course to a destination. "He" can be tuned in to very high frequency radio ranges and will fly across country in a straight line despite wind variations. Then "he" will take the plane in for a landing.

Weather No Barrier

"George's" prowess was being demonstrated by Mulherin and Edgar Rogers, his co-pilot. They do a lot of their flying when the birds are grounded, checking federal airways and testing new devices so that air travel will be safer and more reliable.

When the weather gets especially bad, "George" works more than ever. The autopilot, Mulherin says, is more reliable than humans can be, has quicker reactions and never gets nervous.

Moreover, the device frees the human pilots to supervise the plane's progress instead of constantly turning knobs and levers. Ice can cover the control surfaces and radio antennae, turbulence can set in, storms can blow up, an engine can conk out — and "George" will just keep flying the plane home.

Mulherin sat in the cockpit, scanning the instruments, alert for any deflection in the cross-pointers which stand at right angles on the instrument panel when the plane is on the beam. Rogers had only to handle landing gear and flaps. They figure such automatic flight is the next step for the airlines. Several now are testing and experimenting with the system.

Many Hours In Air

Paving the way for new navigation methods is one of the many tasks of Mulherin and the 35 inspectors, or patrol pilot, who work for him in the Civil Aeronautics Administration's nine regions. The men of each region log about 2,000 hours in the air each year. Most of the time they are keeping free of defects the myriad ground-based radio devices which the airlines use and contribute to the safety of your flight.

On our flight in Virginia and Pennsylvania and around the Washington airport, Mulherin and Rogers were checking federal airways, airport instrument landing systems, new types of radio range stations and demonstrating new navigation techniques.

Mulherin said he had been using the Bendix automatic pilot consistently since June and has never had anything go wrong with it. If something should, while in flight, he would get ample warning on his instrument board so that he could take over operation of the plane.

Zoo Keeper Has To Know Lots Of Things

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Seventeen new zoo keepers who passed examinations for their jobs at the Lincoln Park zoo here had to know everything from camels' beds to elephants' toenails.

R. Marlin Perkins, director of the zoo, compiled the test which said:

"A good zoo keeper should be an expert at making beds for the camels; preparing horse steaks for the tigers; cleaning the toenails of the elephants, and feeding very small reptiles with an eyedropper.

He said that among other things keeping the list of applicants down was the requirement that "a keeper should be adept at coaxing Bushman to eat."

Bushman is an enormous gorilla, reported to be the most valuable animals in captivity.

Scooter Patron Irks Columbus Bartender

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 1. (U.P.)—Frank Macioci, bartender, didn't mind if Benjamin Griggs stopped in for a beer—but he did object when Griggs insisted on bringing his motor scooter in with him.

Macioci told Griggs to take his scooter and "git." The motor sputtered—and so did the two men.

Macioci told police he ordered Griggs to leave three times. Then his patience ran out, he said, and he threw Griggs and the scooter out.

Griggs lost three teeth and Macioci wound up telling it to the judge.

Academic Question From Lady Taxpayer

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 1. (U.P.)—County Collector Clifton F. Hurst answered his telephone.

Could he, a feminine caller wanted to know, tell her how much her taxes would be if she failed to pay them before Jan. 1? Hurst computed the penalty.

Would it be more, she continued, if she failed to pay before Feb. 1? It would, he replied, and told her how much.

"Thank you very much," she replied. "I'm going to pay my taxes tomorrow and was just wondering how much I was saving."

Author Says Germans Feel No War Guilt

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—The majority of the German people are not convinced that their nation committed any crimes during World War II, in the opinion of the noted French author, Paul Reuter.

Reuter expressed his views in an article in the law review of Notre Dame University.

Reuter said the war criminal trials failed to impress the German people with the possible exception of the recitation of horrors found in concentration camps.

Reuter said the trials had a negative effect on German opinion, and that only great strides in German politics and international organization will bring home to the people the full truth.

Vandenberg Is Not Candidate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (U.P.) — Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg's latest move to remove his name from the list of Republican presidential aspirants was seen today as a strong bid for "no politics" in the forthcoming fight on the Marshall plan.

The 63-year-old Michigan Republican is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee and his party's leader on foreign policy matters. Yesterday he wrote Republican leaders in his state to say he didn't want his name "presented or supported" in the GOP national convention at Philadelphia.

Called Non-Partisan

The letter marked his third move to take himself out of the presidential race. It came on the eve of congressional debate on the European recovery program which appeared destined to touch off the hottest battle over foreign policy in years.

Vandenberg's friends believed his letter was motivated by a desire to free himself of any suspicion of partisan motive in waging the kind of fight he thinks necessary to help save western Europe. While Vandenberg supports the principle behind the Marshall plan, he has not endorsed the plan as such.

WOULD TAG CHILDREN

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Dr. Edward Press, medical director for the U. S. Children's bureau here, believes all children should wear metal identification discs. Writing in the American Medical Journal Dr. Press said it not only would facilitate quick identification if a child is lost but would save lives by aiding doctors who might have to give the child emergency aid after an accident.

THEY'RE SET FOR A HAPPIER NEW YEAR—These two youngsters, both born legless, find new hope for the future in artificial legs. Valeria Iwanski, -year-old Bensenville, Ill., girl quickly becomes a big help to her mother around their house. She's spending her vacation at home away from Chicago's Children's Hospital, where she is learning to use the new legs. At right is Jerry Kvamme, 11, of Voltaire, N. D., who uses his newly-fitted limbs for the first time to accept a $50,000 check from Potentate John B. Morgan of the Medinah Temple, so that he and fellow-patients at Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children in Chicago may receive the best of care.

Burial Rites Today For Col. W. W. Carr

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 1. (AP)—Funeral services for Col. Warner W. Carr, U. S. A., retired, were held at Lampases this morning. Burial will be in the Fort Sam Houston National cemetery here this afternoon.

Carr, who served as adjutant general of the Third army here in 1942, died of a heart attack in Houston Tuesday night. He served as a battalion commander in the second division during World War I.

Survivors included his widow and daughter.

Slaying Suspect Is Returned To Santone

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Berniece Bissonnett, 38, accused slayer of Mrs. Margaret Oualline at a farm home near Macdona on Christmas eve, was returned to San Antonio late yesterday from Phoenix, Ariz.

Deputy Sheriffs Oscar Warnke and Joe Higdon made the trip by car much of which was through a blinding snowstorm, they reported, to return the ex-WAC here to face murder charges in connection with the shooting.

Thirty-Two Top Grid Squads Will Be In Action In Bowls

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—Headed by the grandaddy of them all, the Rose bowl, 32 football teams got down to the business of putting words into action today in New Year's Day bowl engagements scattered throughout the warmer climes from Florida through California and Hawaii.

Close to 500,000 fans will shell out some $2,000,000 to see the teams wind up belated 1947 seasons.

The big one, of course, still is the Michigan-Southern California Rose bowl attraction at Pasadena, although pairings for other games at New Orleans, Dallas, Miami, San Francisco and other cities promise some spectacular gridiron goings-on.

Weather Is Perfect

Almost perfect weather was promised the 93,000 spectators for the Rose bowl clash between undefeated and untied Michigan and Southern California (7-1-1), with the Big Nine champs a solid 15-point favorite.

Another clash of football might is slated for the Sugar bowl in New Orleans, where the Texas Longhorns (9-1-0) take on the Crimson Tide of Alabama (8-2-0).

The weather man says showers may reduce the expected 72,000 capacity throng, and hinder the aerial game of both clubs—their chief offensive weapon. The Longhorns rule a slight favorite.

Could Aid Lions

At Dallas, around 45,000 persons will watch an expected aerial-ground game duel between Southern Methodist (9-0-1) and Penn State (9-0-0) in another top pigskin presentation at the Cotton bowl. Cold and the possibility of showers could hinder the SMU Mustangs' aerial show, and aid the Nittany Lions, who rate slight underdogs.

The Miami, Fla., weatherman promised a warm, sunny day for the Orange bowl battle between Georgia Tech (9-1-0) and Kansas (8-0-2).

Approximately 60,000 will cram the enlarged Miami stadium for the contest, with the Tech Engineers a 13-point favorite among the odds makers.

A similar crowd of around 60,000 is due at San Francisco's Kezar stadium where the annual East-West Shrine charity game will be held.

The eastern players, hand-picked from schools east of the Mississippi river, are given a small edge over the western contingent, largely because of Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack.

Ole Miss Favored

University of Mississippi (8-2-0) rules a slight favorite in the Delta bowl at Memphis, Tenn., over Texas Christian (4-4-2), where a capacity crowd of more than 28,000 is forecast in spite of the weatherman's prediction of cold, rain and occasional sleet.

In another Florida attraction, Maryland meets Georgia in Jacksonville's Gator bowl before more than 20,000, with the Bulldogs a touchdown favorite to stop the Marylanders. While temperatures of 75-80 are forecast, so are clouds and possible showers. The season's totals show Maryland (7-2-1) and Georgia (7-4-0).

Showers also are in prospect for the Dixie bowl fray between Arkansas (5-4-1) and William and Mary (9-1-0) at Birmingham. Arkansas was rated about a touchdown superior to the Indians in this new bowl.

Others On Program

Others in the bowl program included:

Texas Tech (6-4-0) and Miami (O.) university, 18,000 in the Sun bowl at El Paso, odds even.

Hardin-Simmons (6-3-0) versus San Diego State, Harbor bowl at San Diego, Calif., 15,000. Hardin-Simmons favored.

College of Pacific (9-1-0) and Wichita (7-2-0), Raisin bowl, Fresno, Calif., 15,000. C. of P. favored.

Marshall, W. Va. college (9-2-0) and Catawba (10-1-0), Tangerine bowl, Orlando, Fla., 10,000. Toss-up.

Missouri Valley (10-0-0) vs West Chester (Pa.) Teachers (10-0-0), Cigar bowl, Tampa, Fla., 17,000. Even.

University of Hawaii (6-3-0) and Redlands U. (6-2-0), Pineapple bowl, Honolulu, 10,000.

North Texas State (10-1-0) and Nevada (8-2-0), Salad bowl, Phoenix, Ariz., 17,000.

Wilberforce (10-1-0) vs Grambling (10-1-0), Vulcan bowl, Birmingham, 12,000.

John Kelly, Jr. Gets Sullivan Trophy As Outsfanding Athlete

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 1—John B. Kelley buried the hatchet with, not in, the British today.

For all the dreams which the Philadelphia political leader had envisioned for himself finally came true for his son, John, jr.

The younger Kelly started the healing process on the Thames last July when he won the Diamond Sculls in the Royal Henley regatta. And today, off that effort, the husky University of Pennsylvania student was announced as the winner of the Sullivan Memorial trophy.

Olympics Still Ahead

Still ahead for the young oarsman are the Olympics.

It's a saga of satisfaction which goes back to the early 20's when John, sr., was one of the best with the sweeps. He won the 1920 Olympic single sculls title and the double sculls crown with Paul V. Costello in 1920 and 1924.

But when the elder Kelly attempted to compete in the Diamond Sculls he was refused permission. John, sr., it seemed, had worked as a common day laborer and so was not privileged to compete with the young gentlemen of Britain in the Henley regatta.

That slight festered within the breast of John Kelly. So when John, jr., was born he vowed that some day the kid in the cradle would make them swallow the spray they wouldn't let his old man scatter.

Kelly's personal vendetta got under way with a thorough bit of planning. Young John was prepped as an all-around athlete, playing football, basketball and other sports in high school. He was an all-academic center on the gridiron and, meanwhile, was getting the rudiments of rowing from his pappy.

Made Quite A Splash

In the lad, too, there was a love of shells skimming over the water. So it wasn't long before young John was making quite a splash in local circles. From there he went into national competition, winning the American championship, and then into international competition to win the Canadian crown.

But in the back of his father's mind at all times was the Henley regatta and a chance to even the score with the British.

So finally young John went to England and again the Diamond Sculls were ashes in the senior Kelly's mouth as the boy failed to win.

So in 1947 he went back once more, accompanied now by his parents and his two sisters. And again there was friction with the British. For the father, doing everything possible to make his dusty dreams come true, had taken food along to rationed Britain to assure his son the necessary sustenance. The British took a dim view of this, and there was much bitter comment.

But young John won at Henley-on-the-Thames last July 5, defeating Carl Fronsdahl of Norway in the finals, and the dream finally had come true.

On top of it, young John now receives the Sullivan award as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete and sportsman.

And Kelly, sr., rejected at Henley because he was a common laborer, must feel that the books are balanced. For the award to young John states with emphasis

"He is a gentleman in the fullest meaning of the word."

Oklahoma Ags Capture Title

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 1. (AP)—With only eight seconds left to play, Oklahoma A. and M's Bob Harris sank a field goal to give the Aggies a 32-31 victory over the Texas Longhorns and their fourth consecutive championship in the All-College tournament here last night.

Harris's shot, which meant Texas' first basketball defeat this season, helped land himself and the Aggies' A. L. Bennett on the tournament all-star team.

Others selected by officials and sportswriters to the dream-team were Slater Martin, Texas; Herb Bergman, Georgia Tech; and Jackie "Preacher" Robinson of Baylor.

Unanimous Choice

Bennett was also unanimous choice as most valuable player, the second unanimous selection for the honor in the history of the 12-year old event. The other such choice was another Aggie, Bob Kurland, in 1944 and 1945.

For the Longhorns the loss must have been bitter. The Texas team has lost only three games since the start of last season, once to the University of Oklahoma in the NCAA playoffs last spring, to the Aggies in the semi-finals of the 1946 All-College tournament and last night.

The Baylor Bears won third place in the tournament with a 29-24 victory over the Alabama Crimson Tide in a preliminary game to the Aggie-Texas clash.

Al Getz Is Victim In Stunning Upset

Al Getz, the Dutchman from Pittsburgh, Pa., was the victim of the most stunning upset of the season Wednesday night at Sled Allen's wrestling arena when he was defeated by Jack Kiser in two of three falls in the first main event of the mat card.

Kiser surprised the Southwestern junior heavyweight champion by copping the first fall in 13 minutes, but Getz evened the score with a 17 minute second fall decision. Kiser gained the decisive third fall in just nine minutes, although Getz protested the referee's decision.

"Lightning" Rod Fenton, the Edmonton, Canada, grunt-and-groaner, bested Gordon Hessel in the second feature go in one of the roughest bouts staged in the local arena. Fenton grabbed the lead with a 20 minute first fall victory, but Hessel took the second decision in 10 minutes. During the rowdy third encounter both wrestlers engaged in a slugging duel outside the ring and Hessel was unable to get back inside the ropes before Referee Billy McEuin finished his count.

Veteran Johnny Carlin of Tampa, Fla., gained a 15 minute, one-fall preliminary bout triumph over Olan Boynton of Amarillo.

PRO CHARITY GAME OUT

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 1. (AP) — A suggestion that the champions of the National Professional football league play the best in the All-America football conference here this winter for charity received a thumbs down today from the NFL. Bert Bell, commissioner of the NFL, holding that such a game would not be permitted under league rules.

Capacity Crowd Of 18,000 Fans Expected

Sunny Skies Are In Prospect For Today's Tech-Miami Tilt

EL PASO, Jan. 1. (AP)—T-formation minded Texas Tech and Miami, (Ohio) university meet in El Paso's 13th Sun bowl football game today.

Sunny skies but temperatures in the mid 40's were in prospect for the kickoff at 3:15 p. m. (CST). A capacity crowd of 18,000 is expected.

Miami puts on the block its undefeated 1947 record in seeking a third Sun bowl victory for a Mid-American conference team. Western Reserve of St. Louis won in 1941 and the University of Cincinnati took last New Year's game.

Odds About Even

Texas Tech, champion of the Border conference, won six and lost four this season. A single tie marred the Miami record.

Odds were about even on today's game.

New Contract Given Coach At Levelland

LEVELLAND, Jan. 1. (Special)—Coach Truett S. Rattan of Levelland High school is still winning.

The affable first-year coach, whose Lobo football team won for Levelland High school its first regional grid crown in its history, this week signed a three year contract as head football and basketball coach.

That is unusual here as coaches in the past all were hired for one year only.

The salary which Coach Rattan reportedly will receive is approximately $4,500 per year which is not only a local record, but is believed to be the highest figure paid a South Plains Class A coach.

When Rattan came to Levelland high last year his contract called for one year at a much smaller salary.

His first year record is one of the brightest in South Plains history. While he had exceptional football material with which to work he wasted no time developing a team which possessed plenty of drive and initiative and to win a regional title was called on to literally beat down a much heavier football machine before delivering its decisive blows.

Scoring Record Is Set By Texas Tech

FORT WORTH, Jan. 1 (AP) — Southern Methodist university took a 53-42 victory from Texas Wesleyan last night to capture the championship of Fort Worth's first annual invitation college basketball tournament.

Lanky Bob Prewitt dropped in 19 points for SMU.

SMU led 25-17 at the half.

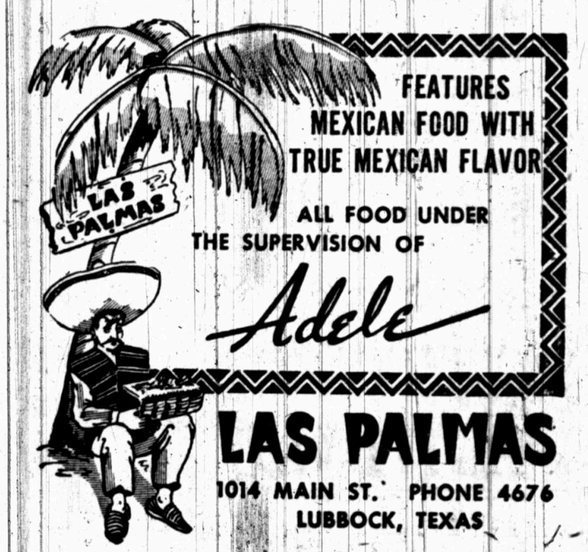

North Texas State nosed out Texas A. & M., 58-55, for third place. Louisiana State university trimmed Texas Christian 52-46 in the consolation finals. Texas Tech toppled Hardin Simmons, 77-58, in another consolation game to set a tournament scoring record.

Security Loan Drive Planned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (U.P.) — The Treasury plans to call its forthcoming savings bond drive the "Security Loan" to emphasize the value of individual savings, an informed Treasury official revealed today.

The campaign, part of President Truman's anti-inflation program, will start April 1 and will last until about June 15. The drive will stress self interest as well as the broader effect savings can have on reducing inflationary spending.

Although the formal drive is still a month off the treasury already has started to step up its regular campaign to sell bonds.

In a New Year's message Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder said inflation is the biggest danger ahead in the new year and that saving is the most "potent weapon" in fighting it.

He also relaxed the prohibition against individual buying of series E savings bonds in excess of $5,000 a year. At present, no person can buy more than $5,000 face value annually.

Without letting the bars down entirely, Snyder ruled that the proceeds from an issue known as the series C-1938 savings bonds which start paying off today can be reinvested in new E savings bonds without regard to the ceiling.

Can Turn Bonds

This means that a bond holder who already has purchased the $5,000 face value limit can take the money he gets for the old bonds and turn it into E bonds.

Snyder has also announced that he will continue to fight inflation by reducing the national debt. The debt, represented in large part by bonds held by banks is an inflationary force because these bonds create a credit basis for increased bank lending.

By fencing in this credit base through a consistent policy of refunding bank-held bonds, Snyder hopes to hold back further inflation-breeding bank lending.

Requests Pour Into Lubbock FHA Office

Applications were pouring into the Federal Housing administration office here yesterday following resumption of business under Title VI (veterans housing program) after the President had signed a bill authorizing an additional $750,000,000 intended to carry the program until next March 31.

Under the bill $250,000,000 is authorized immediately, and an additional half billion can be authorized on executive order. This portion of the national housing program was shut down last Nov. 12 when funds were exhausted, leaving many potential applications in the plan stage, according to J. A. Raley, jr., chief of the office here.

Raley said both sections of the Title VI program are affected. One section involves small improvements, and the other large scale construction. He said preferential consideration will be given to applications offering the best possibilities for production of houses at the lowest sale price or rental.

Raley pointed out one major change in section 608 (large scale program) which provides that regardless of amount of loan applied for, preferred stock must be issued to the FHA commissioner, and the project will be subject to the same rules and regulations governing rentals, reserves for replacements, etc., which were previously applicable only with respect to mortgages in excess of $200,000.

Dawson County Judge To Seek Senatorship

The South Plains' political pot began to boil yesterday with announcement by County Judge Kilmer B. Corbin of Dawson county that he is a candidate for state senator from the 30th senatorial district.

Corbin was the first candidate to officially announce for a major office in the area.

The senate post is now held by Sterling J. Parrish of Lubbock. He is serving his first term, and indicated Wednesday that he would make an announcement soon regarding his candidacy for re-election.

Arthur Duggan, Littlefield attorney, has also been mentioned as a possible candidate for the post, but as yet has made no announcement of his plans.

Rita Hayworth Gets Newspaper's Award

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 1 (AP)—The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes today selected Rita Hayworth as its choice for "Miss Cheesecake of 1947."

The newspaper said that during a visit to Germany last July the motion picture actress won the hearts of thousands of soldiers at military posts, hospitals and recreation centers.

Life Span For Man Spreads

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Despite the advance in medical science, statistics showed today that persons of middle age have a life expectancy only four years greater than George Washington had when he was 40.

However, medical science has turned to "geriatrics," the study of ailments common to middle age, in an attempt to prolong the life span.

The 40-year-olds can look forward now to living to the age of 70 while in George Washington's time they could anticipate the not much lower age of 66.

The greatest improvement in length of life is found among children who now, on an average, live to the age of 64. In the 1700's they lived to the age of 28.

Women generally have fared better than men although in earlier times they had a considerably shorter life span. The average woman now has four to five years more to live than her husband.

Scientific studies in the fields of sanitation, nutrition, and medicine are expected to aid the middle-aged group in prolonging their lives.

Relief Is Promised

LONDON, Jan. 1 (AP)—British males, who have been complaining that they are no longer able to keep their trousers up, were promised relief tonight.

The board of trade announced that all-elastic suspenders are to be manufactured again for the first time since 1943 when rubber became scarce, and should be on sale soon.

Intensification Of "Cold War" Appears Probable During 1948

BY R. H. SHACKFORD
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — The United States and Russia started the New Year today with every prospect that their "cold war" will be intensified many fold during the next 12 months.

Diplomats of many governments agreed that 1948 may be the crucial year in determining whether American-Soviet relations are going to continue to deteriorate, or whether bottom will be hit and a slow climb upward toward some kind of a working arrangement will be started.

Bleak Future

Most realistic diplomats feared that East-West relations will be worse rather than better at the opening of the next New Year.

At the moment neither side will admit of any virue in the arguments, tactics or strategy of the other.

The Soviet Union continues its denunciation of the United States, accusing it of deliberately breaking up the recent Big Four meeting in London and of following a policy of preparation for war against the Soviet Union.

The United States, on the other hand, is convinced that the Soviet Union is embarked on a world-wide policy of territorial and ideological expansion, and that it is again determined to impose Communism upon the world and thereby dominate it.

Marshall Plan Battle

Against these two extreme positions, every facet of day-to-day relations between the two powers will be measured in the coming months. But the major vehicle for the battle will be the Marshall plan, debate on which will start in Congress next week.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall, author of the plan, is convinced that the only way to save Europe from Communism and to restore its heritage of free institutions and the rule of law is through success of his European Economic Recovery program.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, committed to wrecking the Marshall Plan, continues to shout that the U. S. is only trying to impose "monopolistic capitalistic" control over Europe and to apply "dollar diplomacy" in that continent.

President Truman ended the year 1947—which saw the U. S. and Russia all but abandon everything but the most routine and formal relations—with two significant statements.

Truman's Remarks

One was volunteered at his press conference yesterday morning on the last day of 1947 at which he reasserted his faith in the possibility of world peace and "proper implementation" of the United Nations.

His second statement was delivered to the new Soviet Ambassador, Alexander S. Panyushkin, at the White House when the latter presented his credentials. The statement was short and curt and completely void of the usual references to "traditional and long-standing" friendship between Americans and Russians.

Mr. Truman told the Soviet Ambassador that the spirit of good will and confidence was a necessary prerequisite to settlement of postwar problems. He concluded with the statement that the American people wanted to live in peace with all nations and would respond to the people of any nation who make it clear that they have the same goals.

The 1948 Election

There is little prospect of any improvement in American-Soviet relations for a long time. For the next three months the United States will be up to its neck in debate over the Marshall Plan which the administration has presented as a plan to prevent the spread of Communism in Europe. During the same time, and for the rest of the year the nation will be in the midst of a presidential election campaign.

Neither of these events—attempts to get multi-billions from Congress and selection of a president—is conducive to the conciliatory sort of atmosphere needed to find even a beginning for untangling American-Soviet relations.

The Greek Problem

There is also virtually no chance of any further Big Four meetings of any kind on a high level at least until after the election here is over and until it is determined whether there is going to be a Marshall Plan which has a fair chance of working.

Thus the concern of most diplomats is whether the "cold war" during this coming most difficult year can be maintained as just a "cold war" or whether such explosive situations as Greece where shooting is in progress and other trouble areas may get out of control and start the ball rolling toward another general conflagration from which no one can escape.

STRENGTH BOOSTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—The National Guard boosted its strength to 208,374 men at the close of 1947, a long stride from the modest 19,703 it had when the year began.

Injunction Is Filed Against Bus Drivers

TEXARKANA, Jan. 1 (AP)—Striking drivers of the Southern Lines Bus company have been permanently enjoined by Federal District Judge Harry J. Lemley from picketing the Dixie Motor Coach corporation terminal here.

Lemley ruled yesterday that the Amalgamated Association of Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America were violating the Taft-Hartley act through coercion. Dixie spokesmen said the firm is opposed to the picket line since its employes, members of the Railway Brotherhood unions, notified them that they would honor any picket line established at the terminal.

The terminal, owned and operated by Dixie, is shared by two other bus companies as well as the Southern Lines.

The union has charged that Southern Lines was using the Dixie terminal as a "hideout" to evade pickets in front of its own terminal. The Dixie corporation denied this by saying its organization and Southern Bus lines have an oral agreement covering the sharing of the terminal for several years.

Dallas Plane Pilot Is Still Missing

WACO, Jan. 1 (AP)—Municipal airport attendants here said early today that Eugene Holstein, 29, Dallas pilot who has been missing since fog prevented his landing at a Houston airport Tuesday night, was still missing.

When Holstein attempted to land at Houston, has was advised to try to land at Waco. At that time Holstein said he had only enough gas for an hour and a half of flying.

Last night, Paul Bell of Dallas, owner of the plane, said that the pilot was cleared to the Bryan airport, 70 miles north of Houston, but had not been reported there.

Office Reopened

FORT WORTH, Jan. 1 (AP) — The Tarrant county tax assessor-collector's office was reopened after approval of new surety bonds for Assessor-Collector John Bourland by the commissioners court.

The office was closed Dec. 17 when Bourland's previous sureties went off his bonds. U. S. Trust and Guaranty company of Waco are the new sureties on the $150,000 in bonds.

BALDNESS CAUSES

Dandruff is the most common cause of baldness, but tight hat bands, which impede blood circulation, and impurities in industrial surroundings are other causes.

CARDINAL BECOMES A FIRE CHIEF—Francis Cardinal Spellman, left, archbishop of New York, receives the badge and helmet of an honorary deputy fire chief from Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle. The honor was bestowed on the archbishop at a Christmas party sponsored by the New York Fire Department for the children at Foundling Hospital.

Deportation Of Pair Delayed

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, says deportation proceedings against two U. N. foreign press correspondents will not be pressed further by the government without prior consultation with U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Austin gave this assurance to Lie yesterday in a letter replying to the U. N. official's protests against the arrest and subsequent release, of the two correspondents, Nicholas Kyriazidis of Greece and Syed S. Hasan, Indian newspaper representative.

The government sought to deport the two on the ground they are members of an organization advocating forceful overthrow of the U. S. government.

Violation Feared

Lie intervened on the contention that the actions might violate an agreement with the U. S. regarding U. N. headquarters and its attaches.

Austin said the agreement was drawn up last June, became generally effective Nov. 21 and applied specifically to interim headquarters at Lake Success and Flushing on the basis of a supplemental pact signed Dec. 18.

Kyriazifis was taken into custody Dec. 17, Austin declared, adding that it was not "entirely clear" whether the pact was in effect at that time.

"Regardless of any such technicality," Austin said, the government wishes to honor the agreement.

Roy Rogers And Dale Evans Are Married

DAVIS, Okla., Jan. 1 (AP)—Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, co-stars in 26 western-type motion pictures, were married Wednesday afternoon at the nearby Flying L ranch.

The vows were read by the Rev. W. H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian church of Oklahoma City, before the mantle in the living room of the sprawling ranch house.

The couple plan to spend about two weeks honeymooning at the Flying L ranch.

UTAH VISITOR

Father Escalante, a noted Spanish missionary, was the second white man to visit the territory of Utah. He made his visit in July, 1776, the same month and year as the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

MORE AND MORE, THE TREND IS TO PENNEY'S

New Rationing Drive Is Due

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Senator Flanders (R-Vt) said today he plans to confer soon with Secretary of Agriculture Anderson in an attempt to line up big packers in support of meat rationing.

The Vermont lawmaker told a reporter that after talking with meat industry representatives he has no illusions about the difficulty of winning them over, but he feels it is worth a try.

Want Stand-By Power

Flanders for several weeks has been advocating rationing as the only way of coping with the meat shortage which the Agriculture department has predicted will develop in the spring. Anderson, along with President Truman, also has been plugging for stand-by power to ration meat.

Flanders disclosed that he conferred in Chicago earlier this week with a group of packers.

"We were in general agreement that the meat situation is going to become critical by early spring," Flanders said, "but the packers naturally are opposed to rationing and prefer to let nature take its course."

Supply Already Reduced

The packers contended, Flanders added, that talk of rationing already is tending to reduce the prospective supply of beef.

"They reported," he said, "that cattle not only are being shipped to market at lower than usual weights as a result of the scant supply of feed grain, but that there also is a heavy shipment of calves, indicating that stock-raisers are dubious about next year's grain crop."

Industry Skeptical

Under these circumstances, the industry is skeptical about the chances for expanding beef production, Flanders said. They also are fearful, he went on, that rationing would drive prices down and discourage production.

In an effort to allay this fear, the senator said he plans to suggest to Anderson or his aides that the government's price support program be expanded to cover cattle. The effect of this would be to put a floor under beef prices, although at a level less than present prices, Flanders said.

Dan Topping Cancels Celebration Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 1 (AP)—Millionaire Sportsman Bob Topping isn't going to celebrate his birthday Jan. 9 in Hollywood, even if 400 persons did get invitations yesterday signed by him and movie actress Lana Turner.

Topping followed up the invitations with telegrams saying he found it impossible to be in California Jan. 9 and consequently, plans for the evening had been cancelled.

"Without my knowledge and through error, Lana Turner's name was mentioned in some of the invitations," Topping's wire stated.

Movie studio sources indicated that the original invitations were dispatched by John Meyer, public relations counsel who figured prominently in the Howard Hughes airplane contract investigation by the United States Senate.

Hollywood gossip had it that Topping was to announce his engagement to Miss Turner, but he said by telephone from Connecticut, where she has been visiting at the Topping estate, that she couldn't very well become engaged to a man who isn't divorced. Topping's decree from Arline Judge doesn't become final for three months.

Lana's romance with Tyrone Power recently ended with Power's return from an extended airplane tour.

Tornadoes Hit

City. He said he saw the funnel dip toward the earth as he drove along a highway. He abandoned his automobile for the comparative safety of a roadside ditch, he said, and watched as the funnel sucked up a house from nearby woods.

At the time, Jones said, the tornado was cutting a swath about 50 feet wide.

Romping across wooded and swampy sections of Bossier parish, the twister struck Cotton Valley from the southwest, damaging much of the business district.

Then it came back to strike the little town again, this time from the northeast, and demolished many homes.

Mayor Sam Coyle estimates 500 persons are homeless and that the list of injured in Cotton Valley alone will reach 200.

A check of hospitals in the stricken area showed at least 170 persons have been treated for storm injuries.

The storm roared on through Leton and Dykesville, La., before invading Haynesville where it struck the western and northern edges of the town, doing major damage to the business section. More than 30 buildings were destroyed or seriously damaged, including a number of garages, a warehouse, a news stand, a wholesale establishment and a lumber yard.

Mrs. R. L. Johns Of Slaton Passes Away

SLATON, Jan. 1. (Special)—Mrs. R. L. Johns of Slaton died about 6:30 o'clock this morning in Mercy hospital.

The body is at Williams Funeral home. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at noon today. Services are to be conducted Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. Johns is survived by her husband and one son, Raymond Lee Johns, of Plainview.

The son, who is manager of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and formerly was manager of Chambers of Commerce at Slaton and Lamesa, had been at her bedside about a week.

Mexican Draftees To Start Training

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1 (AP) — Draftees, 4,869 of them, reported today at the No. 1 military field to begin a year of training under Mexico's compulsory service law.

The young draftees, members of the class of 1929, were brought here from the states of Hidalgo, Morelos, Veracruz, Ciapas, Guerrero, Tlaxcala, Puebla and Mexico. The group was welcomed by Gen. Juan Flores Torres, commander of the third infantry division.

Gen. Flores Torres said the draftees spoke a dozen or so different dialects and some of them were unable to understand Spanish. He said there would be no class distinction among the draftees. "The poor will be mixed with the well-to-do and the dark skinned Indians will share quarters with the white skinned Mexicans," he said, "in order to emphasize our national unity."

During the first two weeks the draftees will be given an opportunity to become accustomed to army life and then military training will start.

Aged Pair Evicted, But Get New House

GALVESTON, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—The year 1949 promised to be a happy year for an elderly Galveston man and his wife whose neighbors worked hard to build them a new house after they were evicted from their old home.

Near tragedy struck when J. W. Cormack, 76, and his 80-year-old wife were told last September they had to move. The law wasn't on their side, and Cormack, suffering from a bad heart, was forced to make a vain search for a new place to live.

Galveston residents of all walks of life came to the rescue and built them a new three-room home—a home that came from the hearts and hands of people who never knew the meaning of selfishness.

The home began to take shape after one woman gave the ground on which to build. The materials, some hard to find in these times of shortages, followed while other people contributed their time and labor.

The little home, which belongs to the Cormacks as long as they live, was ready on Christmas day. No happier celebration was held in the whole city when the elderly couple held open house for all of their kind friends.

Final Rites Today For Vigil Overman

TAHOKA, Jan. 1 (Special) — Funeral services for Virgil Wayne Overman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest O. Overman, who died unexpectedly Wednesday morning at the home, were planned for 3 o'clock this afternoon in Tahoka Baptist church.

Rev. Levi Price, pastor, and Rev. R. L. Shannon of Meadow were to officiate. Stanley Funeral home announced burial would be Tahoka cemetery.

The boy's father had talked to him about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning before going to work and had said he would return for him about 10:30 o'clock. Upon returning, he found the boy dead, probably as result of a heart attack. The boy's mother also was working.

Pallbearers at services were to be Phill Barrington, Kenneth Pendergrass, Joe Burleson, Guy Blew, Henry Zarnes and Leroy Shannon.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include O'Neal and Clarence Overman of Fort Worth; a grandmother, Mrs. Josie Doggett of Fort Worth, seven uncles and eight aunts.

The boy was born Oct. 8, 1930 in Fort Worth.

1,500,000 Jam Route Of Rose Bowl Parade

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP)—Colorado street became a gigantic floral wonderland today.

The 59th Tournament of Roses parade also found the famous street jammed by 1,50,000 persons at parade time. They began arriving last night and in the pre-dawn chill to stake claim to choice vantage points along the two-mile route. Blankets, camp chairs, thermos bottles of coffee and sandwiches were standard equipment with the early birds.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley U. S. army chief of staff-designate, was grand marshal of the parade. Lovely Virginia Goodhue of San Gabriel as Tournament of Roses queen, rode in the place of honor with her court of six princesses.

Precocious Charley Really Gets Around

Leaves Home Broke, But Ends Up In Swanky Florida Hotel

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Charles Bachlor Crawford, 13, today was the guest of the local police department after a 1,200-mile runaway jaunt from his home in Bay City, Mich.

Charley's mother, Mrs. Tom B. Crawford of (702 N. Loop St.) Bay City, thought he was kidding when he said he was going to run away. Today they knew he meant business.

Precious Charley

It was no bum's trip for Charley, either. He did it first class.

He left home without a dime in his pocket, but when Patrolman J. J. Watts found the boy here yesterday, Charley was dressed up in a brand new cowboy suit complete with five-gallon hat and a new flashlight dangling from his belt.

Not only that—he traveled by pullman all the way and when he arrived he went straight to the super-swank Breakers hotel.

Patrolman Watts found Charley just in time to keep him from giving two negro men a lot of trouble. The wayward cowboy had them backed against a building at the point of a new hunting knife.

"I was gonna cut 'em," he said. "I didn't like 'em."

Police said Charley told them this amazing story:

He boarded a pullman in Bay City on Dec. 27 and slept under a seat on the train, eluding conductors all along the line. A kindly man bought him some dinner on the train.

A Broke Cowboy

When he got to Florida, the young cowpuncher was still broke. But he found a wallet containing $23 at the Breakers hotel. Police were at a loss to explain how he got into the exclusive resort spot of rich winter tourists.

Charley used the money to buy the cowboy outfit, flashlight, knife and some food.

He was immaculately clean, police said, with neatly-combed hair and tidy clothes. Charley explained that he had washed on the train and in bus station rest rooms, adding, "I can take care of myself."

Police telephoned Charley's mother and she said his family would either send someone to get him or else send money for his return transportation.

She probably figured Charley wouldn't have any trouble getting home by himself, after his experience.

Meanwhile he was enjoying his Florida vacation. He had already made plenty of friends at the police station and at Radio station WJNO. He will probably spend the rest of his vacation in Florida with them.

Julius Kerman will have as his subject "Is Peace of Mind Possible?" at the service at 8 o'clock Friday night at Congregation Shaareth Israel, Twenty-third and Ave. Q. Rabbi Kerman will discuss the book, "Peace of Mind," by Rabbi Joshua Liebman, continuing a series of discussions of books at first Friday services.

City firemen said there was no damage as result of a small fire about noon outside the city limits on East Broadway. At Rip's Repair shop, someone attempted to thaw pipes under a wooden water tower and wood caught fire, it was explained.

Firemen of Central station said damage was negligible when a residence three miles south of Lubbock on the Tahoka highway caught fire about 1:05 p. m. They said a water pipe next to the house was wrapped and the wrapping set afire to thaw water that clogged it. Paper under the stucco exterior caught fire, they said.

Chelsea Arts Ball Tops New Year Fetes

LONDON, Jan. 1 (U.P.)—London greeted the New Year with a wild brawl at the annual Chelsea Arts ball at which several young women revelers stripped to the skin as thousands of baloons rained down in stately Albert Hall at the stroke of midnight.

Some 4,000 dancers and 2,000 spectators attended the riotous celebration and a total of 22 bars served countless cases of champagne, whiskey and gin.

Festivities went on until 5 a. m.

Houston Contractor Is Gunshot Victim

HOUSTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—Ethbert Rosemon Spencer, about 45, a contractor, was shot to death here today by a 41-year-old woman who told police she pumped six bullets through her front screen door at the man after he had threatened her life.

Mrs. Nell Doran Keiser, 41, of Houston was charged in Justice W. C. Ragan's court with murder and was released on her own recognizance.

Scripture Is Read In Glow Of Cigaret Lighter During Bible-Reading Marathon

COVINGTON, Ind., Jan. 1. (U.P.)—The Scripture was read in the glow of a cigaret lighter today during the first hours of a Bible-reading marathon which is expected to last until Sunday.

Mayor-Elect Roscoe Sprague began reading the first chapter of Genesis in the courthouse at the stroke of midnight. About 160 Covington residents will read in 30-minute shifts until the Bible is completed.

When the electrical power failed during the fourth hour of the marathon, Reader Shirley Holder faltered. A spectator rushed to the high school student's side, flipped on the lighter. Miss Holder resumed reading in the wavering glow of the lighter until an oil lamp was brought in.

Rev. B. R. Minton, pastor of the Assembly of God church, said the marathon was being conducted "to focus attention on the book." He estimated that the reader would be completed early Sunday morning.

Lone Killer Is Still At Large

CANON CITY, Colo., Jan. 1. (U.P.)—A lone wolf killer lurked in the snow-covered mountains here today, the only convict who remained free after he and 11 other criminals broke out of the Colorado state penitentiary.

Within 24 hours of the break Tuesday evening, national guardsmen and posses killed two of the convicts, wounded five, and captured four others unhurt.

Hiding In The Hills

James B. Sherbondy, 29, baby-faced murdered of an Eagle county deputy sheriff, was believed hiding in the hills near here. A "mountain kid," Sherbondy was experienced in living in bitterly cold weather.

Temperatures in the Colorado mountains last night fell to 20 degrees below zero, the coldest since the convicts escaped late Tuesday.

John Klinger, 43, who faced a 40-year stretch for kidnaping, was shot and killed in downtown Canon City only a few hours after his desperate escape. At nearby Florence, Colo., a posse killed Orville Turley, 54, a murderer, after cornering him in a cabin.

Five Are Wounded

The five convicts wounded were: Richard Heilman, 24, kidnaper; Harold Hathaway, 37, robber; R. L. Freeman, 21, kidnaper; John Smalley, 36, thief; and Ringleader Werner Schwartzmiller, 36-year-old attempted murderer, who got a smashed head from a hammer-wielding farm wife.

Four other convicts, frost-bitten but otherwise unhurt, were: A. B. Tolley, 21, murderer; Billy Frank New, 21, burglar; George Trujillo, 24, thief; and Ernest La Vergne, 31, payroll bandit.

Snowed-In Gotham's Emergency Slackens

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—New York City's ban on non-essential trucking—imposed by Mayor William O'Dwyer to speed snow removal operations—will be lifted tomorrow but the embargo against private automobiles will continue until further notice.

Modification of the order, in effect since Tuesday, was announced yesterday by O'Dwyer after he had conferred with his emergency snow committee directing the still-staggering task of digging out from under last Friday's record 25.8-inch snowfall.

With almost 40 per cent of the city's 5,719 miles of streets already opened, the mayor predicted yesterday that by late tomorrow every thoroughfare in all of New York's five boroughs would be cleared for traffic.

Despite inclement weather, vehicle thieves evidenced an eye for sky as well as for ground transportation. They stole an airplane in Abilene, and Lubbock and other South Plains officials were asked to keep watch for it. The two-tone maroon and silver Cessna, had only three hours' gasoline supply, Abilene officials said. It's license number was listed as NC 76142.

When they hadn't returned by the next day, Mrs. Cook left the children and went for aid herself.

"She finally found a negro house, got some food and went back for the children, but she couldn't find them," Stephens said. "So she returned to the negro houses."

There she was found by Stephens and Police Chief R. T. Humphreys of Bainbridge, and she told them her story.

Treasury Receipts For '47 A Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. (U.P.)—The Treasury entered the new year with a cash surplus of about $1,500,000,000 on hand and expectation of a much larger one when June 30, the end of the fiscal year, rolls around.

Treasury receipts for the calendar year 1947 amounted to $43,631,000,000 (B), the largest income for Uncle Sam during peacetime in the nation's history. It was $2,000,000,000 (B) higher than 1946 income.

Thousands Witness Philadelphia Fete

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1 (AP)—Defying rain nd gusty winds, Philadelphia's Mummers put on their 48th carnival of splendor, merrymaking and music today.

The fancy division with elaborate capes billowing and hard to handle in the wind had barely reached city hall when a light rain began to fall. Seventeen string bands refused to start in the rain.

It was a march that cost an estimated $150,000 to put on the streets. Spectators outnumbered the estimated 500,000 who stood through sleet and snow to watch last year's show.

The parade, a Philadelphia tradition, had its origin as a neighborhood affair. It gradually achieved widespread attention and became a city-wide New Year's Day celebration in 1901. Marchers spend months preparing the silk and beribboned costumes which compete for $30,000 in prizes.

Coke Stevenson

enson said today.

"I believe with all my heart and soul that we, as a nation dedicated to the preservation of the Democratic ideal, can win the peace just as we won the war. We shall have to be brave. We shall have to be strong. We shall have to be persistent in working for peace.

He cited Communism as the "one threat to the peace of the world today."

"We can overcome this threat," he said. "You and I, and all loyal Americans working together, can meet and defeat this menace . . . If I am chosen as your senator, I shall constantly devote my best efforts toward the complete destruction of the Communist movement in this country."

Philosophy Is Set Out

The former governor, who won the title "Calculating Coke" through his cool, non-commital reactions to turbulent issues of the days of his administration, set out the following philosophy on international policy:

"I am talking to you about principles . . . I do not think one American dollar should ever be used to aid any European country whose policies are laid down in Russia . . . I am not an isolationist . . . Nations are dependent each upon the other. Yet we must not be so foolish as to put a weapon in the hands of our enemies.

"As for our friends in Europe—let us not be shortsighted in the help we give them. We can extend assistance to the deserving and still take care of our own . . . But let's not give the fruits of our own labor to the undeserving. Let's not give them our crops. Let us instead give them a hoe and a plow so they can produce their own crops. Let us strive to see that they have the means to produce—if they will work."

Too Prodigal With Money

Stevenson charged the federal government with being "too prodigal" with our money and our resources. He noted that Texas had built up cash reserves during recent years without levying one cent of new taxes.

"I say that if the state government of Texas can do that, the federal government can do the same," he said.

Stevenson said these were among the standards—rather than promises—that will guide his actions as U. S. senator.

"I shall not be a promising candidate," he repeated.

American Fag Works Wonders In Germany's Cigaret Economy

know, we'll have to do the same thing and with cigarets on ration that's not good."

Never-the-less, when you can get a shave and a massage, as I did at a cost of two cigarets (although I gave four to the cashier and two to the barber and still thought I had a bargain!) they seem to me to still be pretty potent as to value!

★ ★ ★

Laundry Costs A Bar of Soap

Cigarets, of course, are not the only medium of barter exchange. They simply are more frequently used because they are more convenient.

Chocolate bars, coffee, soap, cooking fats or lard-like preparations, are among the other items customarily used for barter.

Americans going to Germany these days, if they're wise, always take a bagful of such trading items with them. All the members of our party had cigarets, soap and chocolate bars. Several also had coffee and cooking greases.

A German chambermaid in an Army Guest house, or a hotel taken over by the Army and run for the convenience of Americans only, will do a laundry job of almost any size if you furnish a bar of soap and she can keep what's left. They do good laundry, too, but they aren't so hot at ironing collars.

★ ★ ★

AMERICAN authorities, operate two "barter marts," one in Berlin and the other in Frankfurt, which permit Americans to "swap" with the Germans on what is nothing more or less than a legalized black market. It is a good thing, though, because although the barter marts are black market operations, they give the German a better return for his offering while making available to American shoppers a quality type of merchandise.

In these barter marts there is set up a "point system" which may or may not change daily, in accordance with the shift of supplies.

Points are posted on a board in the entry-way of the barter mart—so many for coffee, so many for lard, so many for candy bars, shoes, overcoats, etc., etc.

The American leaves his bartering material with a clerk, receives in exchange tickets good for so many points each, up to the total of his leavings. He then goes into the "store" section of the barter mart, where Germans have left the things they wish to exchange for needed commodities. Price tags are in points, not in dollars or Reichsmarks.

Clerks are on hand in the cold, half-dark "store" to complete transactions which may encompass anything from a dainty figurine to a tapestry, or a silver service, any of which may have been in some hungry German's family for two, three or four generations. Needlepoint and laces also are popular barter mart offerings, along with beautiful bedspreads.

The day I was in the barter mart at Berlin I could have secured a beautiful coffee service, complete with tray, for $6 or $8 worth of the right commodities, including lard and coffee. I suppose I could have purchased the essential commodities at the nearest Post Exchange, but I didn't have room in my baggage to carry it. Even if I had, I probably would have been socked a couple of hundred bucks duty at the Washington customs!

★ ★ ★

Military Currency Largely Used

Americans in the U. S. Occupied zone of Germany use very few Reichsmarks. Since the only currency accepted at Post Exchanges is U. S. Army Occupation script, they trade their U. S. currency, or travelers checks, for Occupation script—dollar for dollar—and use it. Most of their shopping is done at Post Exchanges and they trade only enough Occupation script, at Army Finance offices, for Reichsmarks to pay their German servants and for the little other use they may have in dealing with Germans.

To use Occupation script — or, for that matter, American money—in dealing with Germans is "verboten" by military decree. However, Americans are Americans, abroad as well as at home, and there is more than a slight suspicion that almost every American, at sometime or another, violates the edict.

Germans, of course, are eager to get hold of Occupation script, or, upon the few occasions when they can, good, hard American currency. They can get a lot more for that sort of money than they could for the corresponding number of marks at the official exchange, which is less than one-third of the amount of the black market rate.

★ ★ ★

I HOPE nobody asks me what happens to all the cigarets in the final analysis, because I don't know the answer. Not the complete answer anyway.

I must have asked 100 people—American military, civilians and Germans— about the final winding up of the fags and I never did get a satisfactory answer.

Some of them—many of them, perhaps—wind up with the farmers who, with an average of hidden food to trade for cigarets can afford to smoke them. Others, perhaps also many, finally fall into the hands of the few rich people who are left among the Germans.

But because of their value on the black market, I can't believe all of them are eventually smoked—and, of course, cigarets being fragile, many must wear out while being passed from hand to hand.

The "cigaret economy" is good clean fun, of course, for the Americans in Germany. Even us Southerners have enough "damyankee" in us to get a big boot out of beating somebody in a trade.

But unless and until the "cigaret economy" gives way to a sound currency, Germany will continue to be the beggar at the American gate; the leper whose foul touch may upset the world's trade and throw even the prosperous U. S. A. into the worst of all depressions.

(TOMORROW: A West Texan skips a swank luncheon to eat in an ordinary German restaurant with a German he never saw before. "What we had to eat," says The Avalanche-Journal's Editor, "wasn't hay. In fact, I wish it had been!")

Rocket Story Probe Begins

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—A controversy between the Air Force and a magazine involving the right to publish information considered secret by the military landed in the Justice department today.

The Air Force referred to the government's legal branch for study the question of whether military security was concerned when the magazine Aviation Week printed a story last month reporting that the experimental rocket plane XS-1 had flown faster than sound at the Muroc, Calif., air base.

Secrecy Invoked

The Air Force had declined to discuss the story in any form.

Earlier, Secretary of Defense Forrestal had invoked security regulations directed specifically at keeping secret data on the Air Force's high speed flight work.

Robert Hotz, news editor of the magazine, told a reporter a copy of the article was shown to an FBI agent before it wash published. Asserting that the present case is a continuation of a long standing disagreement over aviation security policy, Hotz said:

"Aviation Week takes the stand that the Air Force should adopt a uniform and realistic security policy."

Story First Withheld

Robert H. Wood, editor of the magazine, said on December 21 that he had withheld the story from publication for several weeks at the request of Air Force officials. He added that he had decided to publish it when he learned the Air Force was preparing to release information that the XS-1 had attained supersonic speed.

The Air Force spokesman said no such release was being prepared.

An Air Force spokesman said no such release was being prepared.

There was no official immediately available who could suggest what line the Justice department investigation might follow. A voluntary censorship code, agreed to by the nation's press and radio, ended with the Japanese surrender in 1945.

Petrillo's "Never Again" Ban On Recordings Started Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 1. (AP)—James C. Petrillo's "never again" ban on the making of recordings and transcriptions by members of his American Federation of Musicians silenced recording studios across the nation this New Year's day and posed the question: "What happens now?"

No one ventured to answer for sure, but here are some of the angles mentioned among industry leaders and those who followed the progress of the previous ban imposed in 1942:

Built Up Backlog

In the hectic rush to beat the ban that lasted in some studios right up to the stroke of last midnight, record and transcription firms built up a backlog they estimate will last from one to five years.

They doubt that home record users and radio listeners will notice any effects of the ban before six months at the earliest, except possibly for the overnight success of some yet unwritten tune which couldn't be recorded.

For All Time

As for the length of the ban, Petrillo insists that it's for all time because records and transcriptions throw musicians out of jobs—a contention recording officials dispute. Some industry leaders and others have expressed the view that a major reason behind the ban is the provision of the Taft-Hartley law prohibiting union collection of royalties on each record sold as under the contract that expired at midnight. The royalties, up to five cents a record on $1.50 to $2 recordings, go the union's welfare fund over which the union has exclusive control.

Industry officials predict that in time some solution will be worked out and AFM musicians will again make recordings.

Survey Proves That Farm Cats Earn Keep

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 (U.P.) — The American Foundation or Animal Health contends that the cat does more than any other farm animal to earn its keep.

The more the cat eats (assuming his diet is rich in rats and mice), the more money he earns for the farm owner, the association said. An industrious cat with a healthy appetite will return a profit of at least $10 a year, the foundation reported.

Mrs. Delia Nichols Claimed By Death

Funeral services for Mrs. Delia Nichols, 71, of 1609 Twenty-seventh who died at 8:25 o'clock Wednesday night in West Texas hospital, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in Littlefield Methodist church.

Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of Calvary Baptist church in Lubbock, will officiate, assisted by the Littlefield Methodist pastor.

Sanders Funeral home will direct burial in Littlefield cemetery.

Mrs. Nichols suffered a fractured hip when she fell about two weeks ago at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Dora Kight, with whom she had lived the last three years.

Mrs. Nichols had previously lived in Littlefield 25 years.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Kight and Mrs. J. W. Fancher of McCauley; a stepson, Harry Nichols of Abilene and five brothers, one of whom, Arthur Hammitt of near San Antonio, had arrived last night.

Ultra-Violet Rays Used To Fight Colds

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 1 (U.P.) — A Peoria grammar school is fighting common colds with ultra violet rays.

John Dunlop, principal of Loucks School, said the rays work. They're supposed to eliminate germs from the air.

Dunlop installed several ray lamps in a first grade class room. He said tests showed the lamps cut absenteeism due to colds by at least 25 per cent.

Record-Breaking Building Year For Lubbock In 1948 Forecast

Another year of record-breaking building is in prospect for Lubbock during 1948.

Chances are better than even that most, if not all, of the records set during 1947 will be shattered. These include total construction costing $11,203,801 and 974 residences valued at $5,448,598 during 1947.

If there is to be any slackening at all in the 1947 pace, during the new year, it is not likely to appear for several months, at the earliest.

Uncertainties Noted

These views are shared without discoverable dissent among those who are in closest touch with building and prospects in this city.

At the same time, they acknowledge the existence of many uncertainties which might have drastic effect upon construction before the new year runs its course. A war, depression or other very serious world or domestic crisis, they say, might bring building to a virtual standstill almost overnight.

But, barring some such emergency, the opinion prevails that Lubbock building during 1948 will be limited largely by the labor and materials available and the willingness to proceed with construction despite high costs.

25 Percent Hike In '47

Since the indications are that labor and materials will be somewhat more plentiful during 1948 than 1947, and because of the building which must be done almost without regard to costs, the belief is that new records are likely to be set.

However, the records made during 1947 will be a tremendous challenge.

The final tabulations announced by City Building Inspector Lloyd Ross Wednesday afternoon showed that the total of $11,203,801 in permits during 1947 exceeded the previous record of $8,946,191 in 1946 by $2,257,610, or 25 per cent.

The permits for 974 residences costing $5,448,598 were far ahead of any previous records. The previous record for the number of residence permits was 786, with a value of $1,855,000, in 1938. The old record as to value was $3,380,790 during 1946, when 661 permits for dwellings were issued.

Public Buildings Slated

Nearly two-thirds, or 621, of the residence permits were issued during the last six months of 1947 and the belief of builders and contractors that this pace will be equaled, if not exceeded, during the early part, and probably the whole, of 1948.

The opinion is that the residence building pace will be maintained, and perhaps accelerated, if money is available through the FHA and for veterans' homes. All the information available here indicates the expectation that the money will be available.

If so, the prevailing guesses are that 1,500 to 2,000 residences will be built in Lubbock during the coming year. These would represent a total permit value of from $7,500,000 to $10,000,000.

Apparently there is no breakdown as to the other types of building which might be done except the generality, "all kinds."

Among others are $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 in churches, schools and other public buildings which almost certainly will be started. These do not include the new courthouse, the new city auditorium and coliseum and the new public library for which bonds have been voted. Present prospects are that none of these will be started during 1948.

Cost Reduction Unlikely

As to buildings of other types, reports indicate that several times as much construction is in the blueprint, drawing board or planning stage than was done during 1947. Much of this building will, of course, never get further than the planning stage. Much of it is duplicative.

For example, if an office building should be started—apparently not a likely prospect—it probably would kill off, or postpone indefinitely, several similar nebulous projects.

The chief deterrent to a great deal of contemplated building, it was agreed, is high costs. This deterrent is expected to continue through 1948 because, in the virtually unanimous opinion of those close to the industry, no reduction in costs is in sight.

Yet, somewhat strangely, the opinion is somewhat general that building would be retarded, at least temporarily, if costs should start downward. The explanation is that persons planning to build would wait a little longer, hoping for further reductions.

In brief analysis, the belief as to Lubbock is to be that as much building will be done as the available labor and materials will allow.

What that may total in building permit figures for 1948 is conceded to be pure guesswork.

But the average of the guesses —made by men who are qualified to guess—is that the final total for the year is more likely to be over $15,000,000 than under it.

Less Aid For Local Taxpayers Probable

The office of the Collector of Internal Revenue for the second district of Texas, headquartered at Dallas, announced Wednesday that it would be unable to furnish as much help to taxpayers in the preparation of their income tax returns for 1947 as it has furnished in prior years.

The staff of field deputy collectors was reduced 35 per cent on July 1, 1947, making it impossible to assign as many men to the work of assisting taxpayers as has been possible heretofore, Acting Collector of Internal Revenue John B. Dunlap said.

"Instructions have been issued to all deputy collectors to limit their assistance to the public in answering questions," Dunlap's announcement said. "Each taxpayer's time with any deputy must necessarily be limited to a few minutes, especially since there will be only one deputy on duty in some field offices."

Dunlap said he regretted the circumstances necessitating this curtailment of service to the public. He added that he felt the public would understand the situation and would cooperate with deputy collectors to the fullest extent in making possible assistance to as many taxpayers as possible by limiting their visits to a few minutes each.

BILL FOR U. S. HIGH

BERLIN, Jan. 1. (AP)—The U. S. military government said today American and British taxpayers shouldered a $508,674,000 bill this year to import 4,246,379 metric tons of food to the Germans in their zones.

Westchester county, N. Y., imported a few shorthorn cattle as early as 1792 and 1796.

Ex-Merry Gentlemen Who Celebrated New Year's Eve Are Handed A Little Advice

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—He who reads a newspaper on this blear day doesn't need my free medical advice; he who needs it can't see the headlines. Or even hold the paper in his shaking paws.

I don't drink the stuff, myself. Has alcohol in it. This causes a fellow on the morning after New Year's Eve to shut his eyes (despite the scraping noise they make) and contemplate death. It is for this pitiable hulk that I have assembled formulae for perhaps the most potent hangover cures ever offered a sufferer. Is it my fault that his eyes won't focus?

Some Recipes

Break two eggs in a water glass, sprinkle with chopped-up aspirin tablets instead of salt, float on a pony of brandy, close eyes, and gulp. Infalliable, says a source close to the administration.

Drink two quarts of milk, urges a leading Republican. Boil pulverized coffee into a brew the consistency of gravy (why does he have to mention the word, gravy, on a morning like this-) and drink quickly, claims a prominent lobbyist.

But these are mere amateurs talking. I also have obtained advice from those earnest searchers after the ultimate medication, who conduct their experimentation in a laboratory known as the National Press Club bar.

Here they have spent years with their test tubes and breakers, with one thought in mind. Combatting the effects of the demon rum. Among them are the unsung heroes, who have served as human guinea pigs in the battle of man against the hangover. They actually have swallowed alcoholic fluids and braved the aftermath.

Even as I walked into this galaxy of scientists, I spotted one who looked like Orson Welles on Mars. He was trying on a form-fitting ice-bag with peep holes, which had been delivered for its first crucial test by an Akron, O., rubber company. This ice bag fitted my scientist's head like a beret, came down over his ears and tied under his chin. "How," I asked "do you feel?"

"Cold," he replied.

Scientific Answer

That's one of the beauties about scientists. Ask 'em a question and they give you an honest answer. Other technicians in the laboratory produced other valuable hints.

"There is nothing so good for a hangover," said one, ordering a cold bottle of beer, "as a cold bottle of beer."

A small-sized researcher, whose dispatches in the daily press sway parliaments and, for all I know, earn him a good living, took umbrage at this suggestion.

"Beer, yes," he said, shuddering. "But not cold beer. Before the night before begins, it long has been my custom to open two bottles of beer and place them near the steam radiator by my bed. In the morning they are stale and flat, even as I am. I drink them down and the reaction is immediate."

Pure Oxygen Works

One of the younger physicians attached to the clinic said that before returning to newspaper work he had spent several years as an aviator in the navy. It was while riding around in one of the government's flying machines on the day following an unmentionable night, he said, that he discovered purely by happenstance the one sure cure for a hangover. Silence fell over the laboratory.

"Pure oxygen," he said. "That is the stuff. One whiff and I felt as good as new. Later I checked these results and each time I felt again that life was worth living."

And may these prescriptions, ex-merry gentlemen, help make your New Year a happy one. At least they can't make you feel any worse. Or maybe it'll be best after all if you just turn over and die.

NEWSPAPERMAN Stuff—Columnists who attempt to breathe life into their material are frequently shoved for indulging in "sensationalism." The best reply to that argument was given by editor Charles Dana: "The inalienable law of the newspaper is to be interesting. Suppose you tell all the truths of science in a way that bores the reader; what is the good? The truths don't stay in the mind, and nobody thinks any the better of you because you have told the truth."

• • •

Incidentally, no newspaperman can match Dana's swift success in the journalistic profession.

He started as a $10-a-week reporter on Greeley's Trib. In two years Dana was the gazette's managing ed.

• • •

PUBLISHER E. W. Scripps defended censorship. He ordered editors never to suppress news. One day Scripps was nabbed by gendarmes for drunken driving. His editor front-paged the news.

Scripps doubled the editor's salary.

• • •

Scripps was one of those publishers who never allowed a dollar-sign to influence his journalistic integrity. He once declared: "I felt I would rather lose a newspaper as a business than possess it as a fat, greasy, prosperous prostitute."

• • •

ALONG the same lines, AP news-chief Charles Boynton counseled his reporters and editors: "If anyone should ever come to you and ask for the publication or suppression of anything on the ground of some alleged acquaintance or relationship with me or any official or person supposed to be influential in the Associated Press—throw him out of the window and report it to the coroner!"

• • •

Among daredevil Civil War correspondents was Henry J. Raymond. He once penetrated Gen. Lee's battle lines and arrived in Washington with a first hand account of the battle plus a personal message from Gen. Grant to Lincoln.

Lincoln was so thrilled about the reporter's exploit—he impulsively kissed the newsman.

• • •

SOME years ago, a pro-Republican gazette exposed the nefarious activities of a group of GOPers. When the gazette was criticized for refusing to follow the party-line, the editor responded: "Corruption is not partisan—it is criminal!"

• • •

The strides newspapers have made in means of communication are best exemplified by this yarn: During the war of 1812—one newspaper scooped the field with the news that the war had ended—7 weeks after the peace treaty was signed!

Communications were so poor during that war that Andrew Jackson fought one of the biggest needless battles—because he hadn't been informed peace had been declared two weeks before.

• • •

DURING the first World War a Washington correspondent learned that the reports to the State Dept. of America's British ambassador were completely pro-British. He never relayed any criticism of British policies. The newsman checked the story with Pres. Wilson—who confirmed it—and okayed publication.

Before the newsman left, Wilson suggested this headline for the yarn: "The Revenge of George the Third!"

• • •

Think being a foreign correspondent is a cushy and glamorous occupation? O. D. Gallagher, of the London Daily Express, dodged bombs and bullets and traveled 100,000 miles in three years!

• • •

W. R. NELSON (one of Kansas City's great editors) once supported a political candidate who was bucking a corrupt and powerful political machine. The machine-made candidate copped the election . . . Later Nelson was told: "I see your paper lost the election."

Nelson intoned: "In a democracy the people never really lose an election—their victory is merely deferred."

• • •

Verbosity plagues many scriveners. One editor got fed up with the lengthy yarns in his gazette . . . He put a stop to it by ordering the removal of all typewriters—and forced scribblers to turn out their deathless prose in longhand.

• • •

GAZETTES will do anything for a good story. During the Russo-Jap war one American newspaper bought a fleet of yachts—in order to give its readers first-hand accounts of naval engagements.

• • •

A reporter named John Francis Coyle once had dinner with a stewed thespian who bitterly criticized a President and vowed to get him out of the way. The reporter wanted to get the story into print, but his editor nixed it as the "crazy babbling of a drunk."

You've guessed it. The actor's name was John Wilkes Booth.

• • •

THE next time you read of KKK leaders bragging about their patriotism and devotion to law and order, remember this: In 1920 the St. Louis Post-Dispatch sent the Klan into oblivion temporarily by exposing that Kluxers had murdered two anti-Klan war vets.

• • •

The biggest bribe offered a newspaperman to suppress a story was made by Boss Tweed. He offered a N. Y. news lad $5 million.

The newspaperman turned him down.

BY DREW PEARSON: POSTWAR PARIS IS NEITHER CAREFREE NOR GAY TODAY

French Wealth Is Ammunition For The Communists

PARIS—(By Wireless)—George Gershwin once wrote a song, "An American in Paris" which reverberated up and down the boulevards. That was the day when Paris was carefree and gay and sat in cafes sipping Dubonnet and watching the world go by. Those days are over. Today Paris is cold and drawn. Ride through the streets at 10 p. m. and you think there must be a curfew. No one is stirring. People are home in bed—the only place where they can keep warm . . . In the daytime, tired, discouraged people trudge through the streets, the color of their faces matching the gray of the buildings.

PEARSON

Paris is still proud, still loath to accept outside help, but discouraged—very discouraged.

The "New Look" the gals have been worrying about back home doesn't worry the women here. They have too much else to worry about . . . Not one French woman in a thousand even tries to let her skirts down to 13½ inches off the ground. They can't even afford new clothes, let alone new styles . . . Besides, they would much rather buy bread . . . The cost of food is soaring up toward the Eiffel tower these days. Before the war 10,000 francs were worth $400. Now, at the legal rate, 10,000 francs is worth only $85 . . . So you can understand why Frenchmen went on strike in order to get 10,000 francs a month . . . For butter sells for $5 a pound—when you can get it.

You can still eat well in Paris—if you are rich. In fact, at Maxim's swank restaurant you will see sleek businessmen and dowagers stuffing themselves daily . . . That's what gives the Communists so much ammunition . . . Despite this ammunition, the basic saneness of the French people won out in the recent strikes, and the anti-Communist pendulum has swung in reverse—with a vengeance. The trouble is it may swing too far to the opposite extreme.

• • •

Brrr!

When you go into a French house, you wonder at first why people keep on their overcoats. After a few minutes you understand why and put yours back on again . . . There's no coal. The English aren't mining enough for export. The Germans—thanks to the "Rebuild Germany as a Buffer" boys in the U. S. State department—are using the Ruhr coal themselves. And John L. Lewis has sent the price of coal up so high, the French can't afford to buy much from us . . . Consequently you keep your overcoat on here . . . Also you learn quickly not to drain the water out of your bathtub. You leave it in to warm up the room.

French newspapers have shrunk in size like a spring suit in a spring rain. Into one sheet, folded over, is squeezed everything . . . Nevertheless, the French people have been getting quite a lesson in geography from the French press. They have heard about the boy in Sidney, Nebraska, who auctioned off his shirt during a snowy night for the benefit of the friendship train . . . They have read about the people of Hawaii who donated an average of eight cents each for sugar for the Friendship Train . . . They heard on the French radio about the cities of Amarillo, Clovis, New Mexico, Ardmore, Oklahoma, and San Antonio, and the Lions club of Richmond, Virginia, and scores of other towns which contributed to the Friendship Train.

Most Frenchmen thought Odessa was in Russia, until they heard that Odessa, Texas, had sent them a car of canned milk. They also thought Stuttgart was in Germany until they heard that Stuttgart, Arkansas, had sent them one whole carload of rice . . . And they thought Rome was the capital of Italy until they discovered that Rome, N. Y., had sent them a carload of food.

Only One Accident

The French have entered into the spirit of the Friendship Train with the same gusto as the people who loaded it. They especially like the fact that it comes from the plain folks of America—farmers, school children, service clubs, businessmen, labor unions . . . The Communists have been telling the French that the U. S. A. is a nation of "warmongers, capitalists and imperialists," but the Friendship Train has proved otherwise . . . When the left-wing dockworkers' union worked until 2 a. m. to load up the first Friendship Train from Le Havre to Paris, they had only one accident. The carload of baby food sent all the way from Los Angeles got caught behind a drawbridge. The bridge was broken, so the baby food remained in Le Havre and didn't get loaded on the first train to Paris . . . It came up on the next train, however. Because French boxcars are small, it will take ten trains to different parts of France to handle the entire Friendship cargo . . . An American representative will ride on each train to explain how the food was collected. And since the Friendship Train in the U. S. A. carried no government officials on board, Henry Cassidy of NBC has formed a committee to have American newsmen or businessmen ride on each French train as a U. S. representative and explain how the food was collected.

• • •

The first truck in the parade of fifty French trucks carrying Friendship food up the Champs Elysee bore this sign, in French: "It would take 2,000 trucks like this one to carry all the gifts from the Friendship Train." . . . This truck happened to have been given France by the American field service in 1939. It went through some of the heaviest bombardments, from Normandy to the Rhine . . . The run from the Friendship Train to the orphanages of Paris was its last trip.

This was the first time in the peacetime history of France that trucks have been allowed on the Champs Elysee and around the Arc de Triomph. But French officials proposed that since it had been done in war it should now be done in peace—for friendship.

Panamanians Hail Exodus Of U.S. From The Canal Zone

WASHINGTON — When the Panamanian Assembly unanimously voted to reject the agreement recently concluded with the United States regarding this country's continued use of 14 military bases in Panama outside the Canal Zone, the people of the Panamanian capital literally went wild with delight.

They shouted, cheered and marched through the streets in an orgy of rejoicing that lasted for hours. It was balm to their pride to see their little country, one of the smallest in the Americas, defy the Colossus of the North.

Because Panama's actual and inescapable dependence on the United States is so great, the Panamanian people hunger for proof that their country is really independent, really master of its own destinies. Their politicians, acting like politicians the world over, are not loath to satisfy them with words and gestures.

Despite the good - neighbor policy, plucking the eagle's feathers is as popular and profitable a political pastime in some Latin-American countries as twisting the British lion's tale used to be in the United States.

The sorry fact is that anti-American sentiment has been mounting in Panama for some time.

The war saw a vast influx of Americans, both military personnel and civilians, into the Canal Zone. Some 134 air bases, radar installations, air strips and other installations were built by the United States on Panamanian soil outside the Zone. This action was authorized by a treaty concluded by the two countries in 1942.

One effect of this influx of Americans into Panama was to increase Panamanian touchiness regarding their country's sovereignty and their irritation over alleged acts of discrimination perpetrated by Americans against natives.

Agitators, including those not averse to playing Moscow's game, made capital of those irritations.

• • •

U. S. Moving Out

Had the United States chosen to stand by the strict letter of the 1942 treaty, the action of the Panamanian Assembly in rejecting the new treaty could have been ignored.

The treaty of 1942 specified that the United States could continue to occupy and operate the wartime bases—the 14 in question plus 120 since relinquished—until a year after a "definitive treaty of peace" with Japan had gone into force.

This right the United States now has chosen not to exercise. Our forces are to be withdrawn from all bases in Panama outside the Canal Zone, including the Rio Hata field which was built to accommodate super bombers.

The unanswered question involved in our action is whether it will make the defense of the Panama Canal more difficult.

Up to now, military opinion has deemed it essential that at least some of the wartime bases built on Panamanian soil be continued in operation.

Particular emphasis was placed on the necessity of maintaining the Rio Hata base, and originally Panama was requested to grant a 60 to 99-year lease to the United States there.

Ultimately, as a result of Panamanian objections, this was reduced to a 10-year lease with the privilege of renewal for another 10 years.

Possibly, the military were overstating their needs. Yet insofar as the action of the Panamanian Assembly will tend to make the defense of the canal more difficult, if that proves to be the case, the inevitable consequence will be a search by the United States for alternatives to what is now the sole passageway, north of the Straits of Magellan, between the Pacific and the Atlantic.

• • •

CERTAINLY, that passageway is vital to the security of the United States. It is no less vital to the security of the entire hemisphere, including the Republic of Panama.

Panamanian patriots—and demagogues—would be well advised to study the reaction in Congress to the action of their Assembly.

For years strategic thinkers and planners in the United States have been alarmed over the possibility that, with one blow, an enemy power might completely paralyze the Panama Canal. They have urged the building of a sea-level route between the Atlantic and the Pacific to supplement and, if necessary, serve as a substitute for the Panama canal.

The pressure for the building of such a canal is now likely to be greatly increased. Yet the Panama Canal is not only this country's strategic lifeline, it is also the heart and lifeblood of Panama's economic well-being.

Fort Worth Rodeo Is Not Approved

DALLAS, Jan. 1 (AP)—The Dallas Morning News said today the Rodeo Cowboy association had threatened to blacklist the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, Jan. 30 to Feb. 8, if demands concerning a cash prize list were not met.

"The cowboy association directors have demanded $350 per event, per performance," the newspaper said. "Unless this prize sum is met, RCA members would be ordered to stay out of the Fort Worth rodeo."

The News said that a notice, signed by Toots Mansfield of Big Spring, world's champion calf roper and RCA president, had been sent association members informing them that the Fort Worth rodeo "is not approved."

Pint-Sized Bathrooms For Modern Dwellings

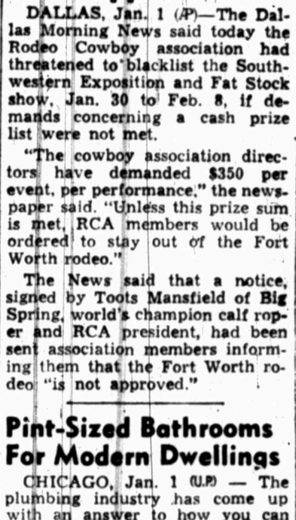

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 (U.P.) — The plumbing industry has come up with an answer to how you can have an extra bathroom even though you don't have much room.

A complete bathroom has been designed to fit into a space as small as six feet by five feet.

Many homes still have old-fashioned pantries which could fit into the picture. Or a partition could be built at the end of one of the larger bedrooms.

The secret of the pint-sized bathroom is a corner lavatory and a small, low bathtub. Overall dimensions of the tub are 42 by 31 inches. It is ideal as a shower receptor, and convenient for giving the children a scrubbing. The big folks can use it either for a shower or a foot bath.

Living In A World Of Peace Is Very Simple--On A Stage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — Dr. Frank N. Buchman's second big Moral Re-Armament pageant, "The Good Road," is now touring the country, aiming to point the way to world peace.

In this spectacle, a volunteer, unpaid—so they say—cast of 195 Americans and 80 Europeans from 10 countries show in dramatic form how easy it is for everybody to love everybody else.

EDSON

You are supposed to begin at home by being polite and considerate to members of your own family. It spreads from there so that people get along with their own neighbors. Then Labor starts loving Management and vice-versa by banishing from their negotiations a trouble-making hussy called "Miss Trust."

Next thing you know, nations start being polite to each other. It's as simple as that on the stage, with St. Francis, Joan of Arc, Tom Jefferson, Ben Franklin and Abe Lincoln uttering great truths in trick lighting effect blackouts.

You may recall that this Moral Re-Armament — MRA—movement stems from the Oxford movement, started in England by Doctor (of Divinity) Frank N. Buchman. It spread to America through organized, weekend house-party confessionals for young folks, with strange goings on. Most U. S. colleges soon kicked the moral movement off their campi, as not living up to its name.

• • •

Tried To Beat Draft

In England, during the war, the outfit was clamped down on for having certain Nazi influences. In the U. S., a number of MRA aliens tried to beat the draft on the ground they were aiding the war effort in other directions, but Uncle Sam ordered them to put on uniforms just the same.

Before the war, the movement's first dramatic spectacle, "The Forgotten Factor," had quite a build-up and run here and in England as something that would bring on industrial peace.

Last summer, Moral Re-Armament held assemblies at Mackinac Island, Mich., and Caux, Switzerland. At the latter, a number of U. S. congressmen were exposed to the movement briefly, and they came back filled with enthusiasm and testimonials.

Now Dr. Buchman himself is back in the U. S. with a "task force" of 300, intent on showing how America can save the world and which way lie peace.

The new vehicle for this propaganda effort, "The Good Road," is a strange mixture of an uplift musical revue and an old-fashioned morality play with overtones of amateurism, corn, hokum, and the Communist-doctrinal type of drama, intended to inspire the comrades to do and die for the dear old Soviet Union.

But the new Buchmanite cast is so young, so scrubbed-looking, so eager and so enthusiastic that it almost puts over the message. This seems to be that Materialism, with its co-partners of Fear, Confusion, Doubt and such characters, must be banished before Anyman—meaning Any American—can see which way to go to bring on world peace.

• • •

SEATS for four performances of this play in a big Washington auditorium were for free. It obviously takes a good bit of jack to keep a cast of nearly 300 on the road and in hamburgers, even if they are working for love and not for money.

Dr. Buchman's name is now quietly submerged in the literature and ballyhoo, but a lot of leading Americans, who aren't necessarily Buchmanites, have been sucked in and their names tacked to the letterhead.

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, of the Virginia, North and South Pole Byrds, is chairman of the National Committee of Invitation.

On this committee of over 50 prominent citizens and their wives, are 12 senators and four congressmen, both Republican and Democrat — Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, Byrd and Robertson of Virginia, Cain of Washington, Capper of Kansas, Flanders of Vermont, Hatch of New Mexico, Revercomb of West Virginia, Robertson of Wyoming, Smith of New Jersey, Thomas of Utah and Wiley of Wisconsin, and Congressmen Wadsworth of New York, Herter of Massachusetts, Lea of California and Mundt of South Dakota.

Among the others who may or may not have known they were sponsoring a revival of the Buchmanite movement in the U. S., with a new international pacifist twist, are Albert Goss of the Grange, William Green of AFL, Emil Schram of the New York Stock Exchange and Dr. John Steelman of the White House.

HOW TO LIVE TO 102

MOULTRIE, Ga. (U.P.) — Joseph Walker, negro, gives this advice on how to live to be 102: "I never played ball, never danced, never been in jail, never been to a picture show—only been drunk four times, but take a drink now and then to warm up my blood.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

EVERYONE in the group agreed that the woman, who was a stranger to them all, was charming.

What did she do to make a whole group of people like her immediately?

MILLETT

Actually, she didn't do much. She had quiet poise. She didn't flutter. She didn't do much talking, but she listened actively. She kept her eyes on the person who was talking, and her mind on what he was saying.

She laughed appreciatively at little bits of humor that, but for her, might have gone unnoticed by the crowd.

She didn't let her eyes wander around her hostess' living room, taking a mental inventory.

She didn't make the mistake of playing up to the men and ignoring their wives or of ignoring the men to trade household hints with the women.

• • •

SHE didn't try to make any particular impression. She didn't brag that she went to the right places and knew the right people.

A woman doesn't have to do any more than that to be welcomed as a charming woman wherever she goes. Yet, a surprising number of women go through life making poor first impressions, and having their friends feel called upon to explain them in advance with, "Don't let such and such bother you; she's really a nice person in spite of this or that."

Illegal Entries On Increase At Border

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Jan. 1 (U.P.)—Immigration officials in New Mexico, Texas and Arizona report a growing tide of illegal entries into the United States from Mexico.

The Dona Ana County jail at Las Cruces has become almost a "hotel" for aliens who risk capture to get high-paying laboring jobs in the United States. Federal District Judge Colin Neblett has been sentencing "repeaters" to jail at the rate of 100 a month.

U. S. District Attorney A. H. Clancy of Santa Fe, N. M., said the immigrants have much to gain and little to lose in trying to make it safely across the border.

"If they are caught, they get free transportation back to the border," Clancy said. "At the worst, they get a jail sentence, and in some cases they fare better in jail than they do at home."

CIVIL SERVICE OKAYED

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 1. (AP) — San Antonio voters yesterday approved operation of the new state police and fire department civil service act, 6,237 to 4,857, but voted down a proposed city charter amendment which would authorize the city to operate parking lots. The charter change amendment vote was 3,279 for and 7,583 against.

Today's Journal Editorial

THE WORST TAFFIC MENACE

Results of a survey announced in Dallas a few days ago and further emphasized the vital importance of greater care in determining those who are allowed to drive automobiles if real progress is to be made toward traffic safety.

The Dallas survey showed that 85 per cent of the traffic accidents in that county over a period of years have been caused by 11 per cent of the drivers. More extensive surveys in a larger territory have revealed about the same result.

Making up large parts of the 11 per cent were those who make a practice of driving while under the influence of liquor and those who suffer from nervous disabilities and thus are not temperamentally fitted to be trusted at the wheel of an automobile.

The obvious remedies for the condition are greater care in determining those who are issued driver's licenses and more vigor in cancelling the licenses of those who abuse them. The remedies, of course, may seem severe to those who are affected. But until they are adopted, there can be no hope of avoiding probably the worst of all traffic hazards—the incompetent and dangerous driver.

"Try And Stop Me"

DESPITE all the warning signs in the smoking room, a passenger aboard the Queen Mary, who fancied himself as a bridge player, became involved in a game with three soft-spoken but beady-eyed strangers. A few hours later he came out on deck, where his wife greeted him by remarking, "Those three gentlemen you were playing with looked like very clever hands at cards."

"They certainly were," he answered ruefully. "They struck up an acquaintance by telling my fortune. Now they're counting it."

Prices Chosen Top News Story Of '47

By PAUL R. MICHELSON
Associated Press General News Editor

The biggest story of the crisis year of 1947 was told in millions of newspaper headlines and in show windows in every city, town and hamlet in America. With sinking hearts American wage earners and housewives read:

Butter $1 per pound . . . steak $1.25 . . . milk 23 cents . . . bread 16 cents . . . candy bars 6-10 cents . . . good homes for immediate occupancy $15,000 to $35,000.

Newspaper editors, asked by The Associated Press to name the 10 biggest stories of a year that seemed to develop a crisis of some kind almost every day, had a difficult time deciding between the high cost of living and its attendant inflation and this nation's wide open rift with Russia but when the final ballots were counted the bread and butter story drew the Number One position. The worry about the Russian Bear's giant, encircling paws was on everybody's mind, in everyone's conversation but the rantings of Ma and Pa over high prices upon their return from shopping went deeper. It affected even small children. Some didn't get enough to eat.

A woman was offered a wire pushcart to gather her groceries when she entered a large store.

"Oh, I won't need that," she said sadly, "I've only got $5 to spend."

As the year passed into history, President Truman and the lawmakers were trying and studying ways to trim the high cost of living. Prospects were dim. Everything was up or going higher.

On March 12, President Truman stood before a taut-faced, tense and anxious Congress. In mild tones of sympathy he dealt in detail with the plight of Greece and Turkey. His voice hardened as he struck out at aggressive totalitarianism. He said:

Existence Threatened

"The very existence of the Greek state is today threatened by the terrorist activities of several thousand armed men, led by Communists, who defy the Government's authority . . . Totalitarian regimes imposed upon free peoples by direct or indirect aggression, undermine the foundation of international peace and hence the security of the United States."

It was a historic turning point of American foreign policy. The President asked for $400,000,000 to help Greece and Turkey. He didn't name Russia but it was a plain attack. The speech and its after effects was rated the second biggest story of the year. The open fight against Russia was on without letup, carrying into the Foreign Ministers' Conference at London where Secretary George Marshall refused in mince words as the old year passes.

The remaining eight biggest stories were arranged in this order by the editors:

3. THE TAFT-HARTLEY LAW. Republicans were back in the saddle in Congress. Sure they understood one of the reasons that carried them back, they and enough Democrats who thought likewise over-rode President Truman's veto to pass into law perhaps the most controversial labor bill of this century—the Taft-Hartley law. The new legislation, bitterly attacked by organized labor, left collective bargaining, the strike and the strike threat as vastly important factors in the American scene but limited labor unions in what they could do and what sort of contracts they could get from employers.

One provision developed more headlines than perhaps all others combined. It specified the National Labor Relations Board can not help a union unless the union has filed certain information with the Government, including statements from their officers swearing they are not Communists. There was hell and fury about this provision. Many unions first announced they wouldn't comply. And yet, within four months of the date the law became effective, most of the unions had fully complied.

4. TEXAS CITY EXPLOSION. It was a quiet news day in April. In the war-swollen area known as Texas City, Tex., dock workers toiled under the warm April sun. Suddenly a terrific explosion was heard for miles around. A nitrate-loaded French freighter was obliterated. Its entire crew perished. A chain of explosions was set off, and before it was all over much of the boom industrial city was destroyed. Hundreds died. Thousands were injured, millions of dollars lost. A former war correspondent, flying over the flaming city, likened it to Nagasaki, Japan, victim of the second atom bomb.

5. U. S. AID TO EUROPE. Editors picked this heart-warming but controversial story as number five. It could have been first. Tied up in it was not only a story of a great nation's mercy but the economy and cost of living of an inflated but well fed nation. In it was the Marshall plan to feed hungry Europe thereby to stop encroachments of Russia. It had all the elements — mercy, politics and danger.

6. WAR CONTRACTS INVESTIGATED. Uncle Sam, like any person who had undergone great expense was checking back on the cost of war. Into the early picture stepped plane maker Howard Hughes. Then his press agent, plump and babyish looking Johnny Meyer, followed almost in turn by a retired airforce general, Bennett Meyers. The Congressional investigators and their witnesses heard everything from big business deals to nightclub adventures to scandals and it was one field day after another for headline writers and photographers.

7. INDIA'S FREEDOM. A new day, some of the hours in it shaded with blood, dawned for long troubled India. India's 400,000,000 people shed their hated role of subject peoples in August. A new chapter of two independent dominions began.

8. ELIZABETH'S MARRIAGE. Princess Elizabeth wed her Prince amid glittering pageantry as Britain, harassed and hungry, cheered the great romantic tidbit of British life. It was a real royal love match, we were told, and the British loved it all.

9. PALESTINE TROUBLES. As the old year flickered, blood was being spilled in the Holy Land. The partition of Palestine, designed to give a homeland to Jews, led the Arabs to swear a Holy War. It was the biggest single work of the hoped-for United Nations.

10. FLORIDA HURRICANE. Everyone knew one of the worst hurricanes in Florida's history was approaching. Years of planning and study braced the people for the shock. But when it came it landed feinting, jabbing and jolting like Joe Louis fighting an outclassed opponent, spreading death and millions of dollars of property damage, not only in Florida but along the Gulf Coast and into New Orleans.

Plane crashes, tornadoes and sports fell among the also-rans in the editors' selections of the biggest news stories but some came out for an eerie occurence that could get headlines perhaps only in America. It was the story of the Flying Saucers, round, high-speed mysterious objects in the heavens. They were seen day and night; they roamed over the United States from June 25 to July 12, and they stopped as suddenly as they began —without explanation, except as an illusion of people who are still worried about a coming war in the air. These editors perhaps regarded the news of the year as a Flying Saucer. It truly was.

APPLICATION IS OKAYED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. (AP) — The Communications commission today granted the application of the Citizens Broadcasting Co., Inc., for a standard station at Abilene, Texas, to operate on 1340 kilocycles, 250 watts, unlimited time. With this action a competitive application of Abilene Broadcasting Co., was denied.

Education Ministry Purges Jap Teachers

TOKYO, Jan. 1 (U.P.) — Nearly half the Japanese teachers screened by a commission of the Japanese education ministry during the past two months have been purged, including one Communist.

The commission announced that out of 225 teachers screened in September and October, 105 had been rejected as unfit. One purgee was Mrs. Yayoi Yoshida, director of the Tokyo Women's College. Another was Shinichi Matsumoto, director of the Central Labor School.

Rejection of Matsuomoto was one of the first known instances in which a Communist was purged. Previously, purge lists have consisted chiefly of pre-war ultra-nationalists and war criminals.

RICH MAN'S GROCERS

Although grocers made their appearance in the 14th century, only the rich could afford to patronize them. Townspeople bought from "chapmen," or traveling grocers, who carried their wares in packs on their backs.
