

Yates, Leach Named to New City Positions

The City Council in a meeting Monday night, Sept. 2, appointed two present employees of the City to handle the duties formerly held by City Manager Doc Barjenbruch. The announcement was made Tuesday, Sept. 3 by Mayor John Coleman.

Russell Yates, city clerk, was appointed Office Administrator, to be responsible for the city's affairs within its office.

Jake Leach was named Outside Administrator, to handle the work pertaining to the streets, the water system, and other work outside the office. He has been the maintenance foreman.

Each will be responsible to the City Council.

Mr. Yates has been an employee of the City continually since 1926, and has been away only during the period when he served in the Armed Forces in World War II.

Mr. Leach joined the City a short time prior to World War II, and he too was away only for his military service.

There was no change in the salaries, Mr. Coleman said.

The council also discussed the use of plastic pipe within the city.

Mayor Coleman said the Lone Star Gas Co., requested passage of an ordinance that would include plastic pipe among the types that can be used in the city.

The Council tabled this pending further investigation.

Rotary Serves Chicken Barbecue on Saturday

The Wellington Rotary Club is handling the barbecue in connection with this year's Collingsworth County Free Fair.

This organization will serve one of its famous chicken barbecues, beginning at 11:30 a.m. Saturday in Ellison Park, according to Billy Moseley.

All the traditional trimmings will be included on the menu.

Plans are being made to serve 300, Mr. Moseley said.

Tickets are available from any member of the Rotary Club, or they may be bought at Ellison Park during the time of serving, he added.

Brahman Class Set Up In Livestock Show

Several changes in the Youth Livestock Show, to be held Saturday, Sept. 7, in conjunction with the County Fair, were announced this week by County Agent Sammy Helmers. The show will be in the Youth Project Show Barn in the 600 block of Amarillo Street.

For the first time, Brahman calves will be judged in a separate class, he said. Twelve head are already entered, most of them weighing 600 pounds or more.

"We may have to tie them down—they're not that gentle," the county agent noted, but he added that by the time they reach major state shows, where they are headed, they will be gentle enough.

Most of the calves in the show are light, to be entered in the January and February livestock shows. So far, only six head, all of them Herefords and Angus, are being prepared for the Amarillo and Dallas shows, according to Mr. Helmers.

Approximately 30 head of swine are expected. "That's not a lot, but they are a lot better quality than in past shows," he commented. Most of these will be of Duroc and Hampshire breeding.

The Sears Swine Judging will be held at the same time. These five registered sows will compete in the regular judging, then will be judged separately under the rules by which the boys receive their pigs.

Former County Agent Lefty Thomas will be the judge.

Dodson School Elects Two, Enrolls 75

Dodson Schools have an enrollment of 75 for the current year, Supt. Lloyd Patterson announced Monday, Sept. 2. The 1968-69 session opened Monday, Aug. 26.

Two teachers were elected recently to complete the faculty, Mr. Patterson said.

Mrs. Tennie Scarbrough of Childress is teaching English in high school and reading and spelling in junior high.

A graduate of North Texas State University, she has taught 26 years. This includes Hobbs School near Rotan, Tell, Kirkland, where she grew up, Hines in Wilbarger County, Pleasant Hill and Swearingen in Cottle County.

Her husband, Earl Scarbrough, is a Childress business man.

Eugene Tucker of Dodson was elected to teach mathematics.

This is Mr. Tucker's first year to teach, but his work at Abilene Christian College and Oklahoma State University to

Fiddlers Contest Is Major Event

More than 30 fiddlers, many of them ranking among the best in the nation, will be in Wellington Saturday, Sept. 7, to compete in the second annual Old Fiddlers Contest, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lewis, chairmen, have said.

The crowd that comes to listen will be big, they say, but there is no way of estimating how big.

The contest will be held in Ellison Park, beginning at 1 p.m. and continuing until the champion fiddler is selected.

In case of rain, the contest still will be held, and will be in the Kelly Pigg building, which would place it next door to the exhibits in the community building.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have received assurances that they will be here to compete from fiddlers.

Old Settlers Gather for Annual Reunion

The annual Collingsworth County Old Settlers Reunion will be held at Ellison Park Saturday, Sept. 7, Riley Dunson announced this week. It is one of the events held in conjunction with the Collingsworth County Free Fair.

Working with Mr. Dunson, who is reunion chairman, are E. W. Fain of Lutie, assistant chairman; Mrs. R. H. Isbell, secretary; and W. S. Brewer, entertainment chairman. Mrs. Riley Dunson will assist with registration.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m. and the noon meal will be served from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m.

Lab Technician Added to Staff of St. Joseph's

A registered laboratory technician was added to the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday, Sept. 3, Sister Perpetua, the administrator, has announced.

Donald C. Smith, medical and radiographic technician, will be in charge of the laboratory on the local level. He comes here from Shamrock, where he was associated with the Shamrock General Hospital three years.

Under the regulations of the Joint Committee on Accreditation, a hospital laboratory must be headed by a pathologist, and Dr. C. T. Ashworth of Dallas serves in this capacity for St. Joseph's.

The addition of a registered laboratory technician to the hospital staff will result in many tests being done here that formerly had to be sent out of town, Sister Perpetua said.

Mrs. Ernest Harwell has done the laboratory work for St. Joseph's as well as the x-rays and assisting in surgery. She will continue in the latter two capacities and will assist Mr. Smith when it becomes necessary.

Mr. Smith received his training while he was in the Air Force, attending the school for laboratory and radiographic technicians at Gunter Air Force

11th Annual Collingsworth Fair Slated Friday and Saturday

The 11th annual Collingsworth County Free Fair opens its 2-day run Friday morning, Sept. 6, and will continue through Saturday night, Sept. 7. Pre-opening indications are that this fair will be one of the largest in the fair's history, and department heads have indicated that the quality will be some of the best ever shown here.

Final Fair plans were announced Wednesday morning by Fair Supt. Troy Marsh. His assistants this year are Donald Nunneley, assistant superintendent, and Billy Moseley.

The traditional parade, big and beautiful, will open the Fair Friday at 11 a.m. This is an hour later than parades of other years, Mr. Marsh reminded. Most schools in the county will be dismissed for the children to come to this colorful event.

Judging of exhibits in the Women's Open Division, Girls Open Division, Flower Show, and Community Products agricultural and horticultural divisions will start at 9 a.m.

Mr. Marsh requested that all entries be in place by 9 a.m. for the community building doors will be closed at that time and judging will begin. Judges have complained in past years of late entries, he said.

The exhibits will be open to the public about 11 a.m., so that people may go directly from the parade to Bura Handley Community Center, where the exhibits will be held.

Boys and girls will hold the spotlight Friday afternoon when the Youth Activity Horse Show starts at 2 p.m. at the VFW Arena. This will be the only horse event in connection with the Fair this year.

Saturday Events

A number of events formerly held on Friday have been moved to Saturday, to make this the major Fair Day.

Action will shift to the Youth

Revival Opens at Friendship Church Sunday

Friendship Missionary Baptist Church will begin revival services Sunday morning, Sept. 8, and they will continue through the evening service Sunday, Sept. 15.

Bro. Glen Burkhalter of Granite, Okla., will be the evangelist, according to Marshall Peters, who is helping with plans.

Special morning services at 7:30 are planned for those who work.

The hours of the other services will be Sunday morning, 10 a.m.; Sunday night, 7:30 p.m.; and week nights, 8 p.m.

Bro. Roland Jenkins is pastor of the church.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the services, Mr. Peters said.

Friendship Missionary Baptist Church is eight miles west of Wellington on FM 1056.

Norwood School Enrolls 165 in First Week

The Samnorwood Schools enrolled 165 students at the end of the first week of classwork, Supt. Robert Dwight reported Friday, Aug. 30.

This enrollment includes 87 in the secondary grades, 7 through 12, and 78 in the elementary grades.

"It is the first year to my knowledge that Samnorwood school has had more enrolled in the secondary grades than in elementary school," said Mr. Dwight. "It is this kind of trend that made necessary the reduction of one elementary teacher based on our average daily attendance."

More Acreage Available

Diapause Boll Weevil Spraying is Started

Diapause spraying for control of boll weevil in Collingsworth County was started Wednesday morning, Sept. 4, and two additional sprayings will be made at one and two week intervals.

The contract for the spraying went to Wellington Flying Service, owned by Cliff Hartman and Duggie Jameson.

L. A. Davis, an official of the Collingsworth County Insect Control Association, Inc., said there is still time for cotton growers to sign up, and there is still state money available to pay half the cost for those who wish to take advantage of it.

Approval was given by the Texas Department of Agriculture for 10,000 acres to be sprayed three times.

Anyone wishing to sign up should contact the association office which has been set up at the Wellington Flying Service office at Marian Airpark.

Cotton growers in all parts of the county are participating, Mr. Davis said, but emphasis is on block spraying for better weevil control.

The cost of diapause spraying is $1.92 per acre, with the grower and the state each paying 96 cents, Mr. Davis said. "This is a boll weevil control program, but it will definitely kill small boll worms while they are in the baby stage, up to three days old," said Mr. Davis, "because we are putting down a full 16 ounces of malathion per acre."

"The association is urging farmers to take advantage of this program, as we have the money appropriated for it. How much assistance we get next year depends on the interest shown this year," he continued.

The second spraying is set up for Wednesday, Sept. 11, and the third and final spraying Wednesday, Sept. 18.

Baseball Counselor Has Dream Come True

It takes some dreams years to come true.

But Barry Farris of Dodson had his come true three days after his 15th birthday.

Since 1962, when he first attended Bo Belcher's Baseball Camp at Chandler, Okla., Barry has dreamed of and talked about being a counselor at that camp, say his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Farris.

And so it was that on the third day after Barry became 15, Mr. Belcher called and invited him to come for the last session of the baseball camp to be a counselor.

Earlier this summer Barry played with the Wellington Youth Baseball Program.

Slower Parade Will Give Better Viewing

Several changes in the Collingsworth County Free Fair Parade which will open the 2-day event Friday at 11 a.m. were announced this week by Mrs. Troy Marsh, who is in charge of parade promotion.

All persons and organizations with floats, as well as other entries in the parade are asked to be at the assembly ground, between 8th and 9th Streets, in the east part of town, by 10:30 a.m.

The parade floats will be partially, if not fully, judged there, Mrs. Marsh said. The winners in each category will then be announced as they circle the square during the parade.

Approximately 20 colorfully decorated floats are expected. Plaques will be given to the winners and ribbons to second and third places in five categories: commercial floats, adult organizations, youth organizations, riding clubs, and the best rider as an individual. The latter may be riding a horse, on a float or even a bicycle.

The parade will be slowed down so that everyone can get a good view. The parade announcer will describe each float as it goes by. They will be spaced farther apart, also.

The parade will enter from the southeast corner of the square on Ninth Street, turn north and encircle the square, and upon reaching the southeast corner again, it will turn south on East Avenue and dismount at some point farther south on that street.

Children with bicycles and people with horses are urged to enter.

"We'd like to have any person in Collingsworth County who wants to be in the parade," Mrs. Marsh said.

Several riding clubs have been invited and the National Guard has been invited to provide the color guard. There will be a section for farm implements.

That Skyrocket Band from Wellington High School will lead the parade.

Those in charge of parade entries are requested to notify the Chamber of Commerce Thursday if possible, so the list can be made up for judging.

Quality Hay Still Possible

There is still time to get high quality hay cuttings this season, but producers should follow some recommended guide lines to get best results. County Agent Sammy Helmers says.

The proper stage of growth for harvest is the time when the greatest amount of digestible nutrients per acre may be obtained. This usually means the best compromise between quality and quantity, he continues.

Generally, the younger the crop at the time of harvest, the higher the quality. The more mature the crop at harvest, the lower the quality.

To achieve this balance between quality and quantity in hay, it is best to cut coastal and common bermudagrass after about four weeks of growth. Native grasses, sudan hybrids and Johnsongrass should be cut before seed heads appear and legumes should usually be cut during the early bloom state, Helmers points out.

In only one week after the cutoff point for harvesting, hay can lose 15 to 20 percent of its palatability. And with many producers selling their hay on a quality basis, cutting and baling at the right stage can mean about $20 more per acre.

To get more cuttings of high quality hay before frost, the producer should cut his mature, less nutritious hay now and fertilize heavily to get more cuttings. The extra amount of added fertilizer will make up the difference from the earlier forage production where the soil nutrients have been depleted, Helmers concludes.

Savage Family Gathers Here for Two-Day, 29th Annual Reunion

The annual Savage family reunion was held in Wellington Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24, with approximately 80 members attending.

Present were all surviving brothers and sisters except one. These included Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Harris of Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Justice of Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Savage of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Savage of Muleshoe, O.

A. Savage of Stratford, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Easter of Fletcher, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stovall of Amber, Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bradley of Modesto, California.

The sister unable to attend is Mrs. Viola Richter of Phoenix, Arizona.

The reunion events were held in Bura Handley Community Center.

Held annually, the reunion continues a tradition started in 1939.

This family includes the descendants of Jesse Jasper and Lou Ella Savage, who were resident of the Arlie community from 1904 to 1920. They lived in Hollis before that.

The family came to this area in covered wagons from Bells, Grayson County. Eight of the Savage children made the journey and five were born here.

Plans were made to hold the reunion in 1969 at approximately the same date.

Group Here for Reception

A large group of out of county friends and relatives were here Sunday to attend the reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fires on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

These included their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Vaughan, also Mr. and Mrs. Dick Vaughan and Mr. and Mrs. Edd Pedigo and son, David of Sherman;

WMU Delegates at Meeting

Mrs. C. O. Cason and Mrs. E. H. Harwell attended a Woman's Missionary Union house party held at Waco Aug. 27 to 30.

The conferences were held on the Baylor campus during the day, and missionary services were held at night. The program was geared to the new organizational structure effective in churches Oct. 1.

The speakers were Paul Vasquez, a former Latin American scholarship student; Harvey Holman, a Negro scholarship student; and Pat Kelpatrick, nurse in Crystal City. Jack Taylor, pastor of Castle Hills Baptist Church in San Antonio, spoke each morning on "Equipping the Saints."

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fires

Mr., Mrs. Chester Fires Honored on Golden Wedding Anniversary

A couple who have spent all of their married life in Collingsworth County, and whose families have influenced the development of the Southeast Panhandle, observed their golden afternoon, September 1.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Richard Fires, and the reception that honored them was held in Bura Handley Community Center.

Receiving the guests with Mr. and Mrs. Fires were their children, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fires and Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughan of Sherman.

Others in the house party were their grandchildren and one great grandchild, a few close relatives and friends.

The 272 friends who called not only extended their congratulations to the couple, but many found it an occasion for renewing friendships and for reminiscing.

The registry table was laid with a hand embroidered cloth from Mrs. Fires' trousseau, and on it was a gold memory candle, with 50 gold grapes at the base. Presiding were Mrs. Sam Miller of Childress and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson, sister and cousin of Mrs. Fires.

Gifts were shown by Mrs. R. R. Crawley, Mrs. James A. Leslie of Adrian at a table draped in white net and banked in gold chrysanthemums sent by friends.

The bride's and groom's tables were set against a background of arched candelabras holding 50 votive lights, and decorated with palms.

The bride's table was laid in formal candlelight satin cloth, overlaid in Chantilly lace and swags caught with large tailored bows. The centerpiece was of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley and votive candles in a silver candelabra. Appointments also were in silver. Serving the cake was Mrs. Roger M. John of Columbus, Georgia, while Mrs. James A. Harris of Amarillo poured. They were assisted by Mrs. Tim Hatch of Lubbock and Miss Patti Lacy.

The groom's table was covered in a floor-length cloth of brown faille with silver appointments. Red carnations, votive candles and strawberries formed the centerpiece. The cake was served by Dick Vaughan and the coffee by Mark Fires, assisted by their wives.

Others in the house party were Capt. Roger John and Michael of Columbus, Georgia,

Party Honors Linda Wolf

Mrs. Bill Wolf honored her daughter, Linda, with a birthday party in Ellison Park on Wednesday, August 28.

After games were played, cake and cold drinks were served to Larry Lovell, Tommie Lovell, Judy Chandler, Susie Patrick, Sue Wolf, Susan Kimbro, Deborah Wood, Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Wolf and the honoree, Linda Wolf.

Style Show Plans Begun

Members of the City Federation of Women's Clubs attended a called meeting at Cherokee Inn dining room Tuesday morning, Sept. 3, to plan the annual fall style show that begins the club year in Wellington.

Mrs. Sam Adams, president, was in charge of the meeting. This year's style show will be in the form of a coffee at 10 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 19, in Bura Handley Community Center.

The theme will be The Tip-Top Fashions for the Top of Texas.

All club members are invited to attend, Mrs. Adams said. The coffee will honor Mrs. B. M. Sims, this year's president of the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and the incoming presidents of all federated clubs in Collingsworth County.

Delegates to the City Federation will not hold their regular meeting Saturday, September 6, because of the Fair, but will meet instead on Saturday, September 14, Mrs. Adams announced.

Party Honors Sam Warrick

A birthday party Thursday evening, August 29, honored Sam Warrick in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jenkins. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warrick of Hereford.

Gifts were opened by the honoree and favors were given each guest. Birthday cake and punch were served to Marty, Jim and Jay Warrick, Chad Holland of Amarillo, Drury Dan Lacy of Memphis, Mrs. Pat McAlister, Mrs. Glen Warrick, Miss Donna Zenor of Canadian, and Mrs. Velman Warrick.

ident of the 1924 Study Club, the City Federation of Women's Clubs, Parent-Teacher Association and Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

She has held membership in most civic organizations. Currently she is chairman of the Park Committee and of the Library Committee, and a member of the County Historical Committee.

Mrs. G. L. Jones left Tuesday to fly to California for a visit with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Riddle of Ontario, Calif. Mr. Riddle has been very ill for the past two months. Mrs. Riddle will be remembered as Juliette Aaron of Wellington.

QUAIL SCIENCE LAB

A new science laboratory was installed in Quail High School for the 1968-69 year. Here at one of the new tables and sink, and with a new microscope are some of the students who will be using them. From left, they are Regie Souder, Lonnie Needham, Jan Gosnell, Paula Langley, Pam Langley, Benny Carson, Mark White and Supt. E. P. Haynie.

Tyler, Trout, Talley Families Hold Annual Two-Day Reunion

Members of the Tyler, Trout and Talley families held their annual reunion in the Childress Park Saturday and Sunday, September 24 and 25, with members attending from as far as California.

Known as the 3-T Reunion, it will be held next year at the same place, and as near the same time as is possible.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Otho Talley and Barton; Aletta, Eddie, Ricky and Donna Holt; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Talley; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Talley, Debra, Stephen, Randy, Wilson, Jr., and Janice Talley; Mrs. Ramona Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Sain, Elvis, Oran, Mort, LaWana and Ada; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence

Black, Melvin Black and Lynval Black; Haskell, Wanda, Mary, Bill, Peggie and Douglas Talley;

Attending from other towns were Mr. and Mrs. Buck Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cox, Leanna and Pamela, Mrs. Armelda Orme and Teresa, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Tyler, all of Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Red Cruse, Ann, Bruce and Sharon Baker, of Hale Center; Mr. and Mrs. Mack McNabb, Cammie Lynn and Kirk of Paramount, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Hurshel Tyler and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Tyler, and Bill Tyler of Wellington; Don Wilks of Arlie; Mrs. Reba Hall of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Trout of Silverton; Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDaniel and Charles Leonard of Mangum; and Wayne and Jeannin Trout of Canyon.

Come to the Fair!

Everything Will Be There

It's Rich and Strong . . .

with the produce of our fields, the stock of our pastures.

It's Beautiful and Bright . . .

with the art and flowers and crafts, and the women's and girls' foods and fashions.

It's Lively and Gay . . .

with a barbecue and old fiddlers contest, a rodeo and all the other entertainment.

H & H Construction Co.

Ernest Harwell

Alvin Horton

Like the produce of our land spilling from a giant cornucopia, the harvest of Collingsworth's fields, its gardens and its orchards . . . the fat livestock from our ranges, will be seen together September 6 and 7.

Fair time is fun time, too, and good entertainment is always a part of the Fair at Wellington. We urge you to attend and enjoy every part of it.

We join many others in extending sincere congratulations to all who have had a part in making this fair possible.

Plugged Oil Test to Irrigate Proposed Commercial Orchard

M. A. Ray is a man who believes that Collingsworth County has a future in commercial orchards.

He believes it so strongly that he is returning here from White Deer to make his home and in June bought a 60-acre farm two miles east of Quail from Guy Owens.

This winter, he and Judge R. L. Templeton will put the entire place in fruit trees.

More than that, Mr. Ray, who was a welder at White Deer, has tapped a 35-year-old oil test, plugged as a dry hole, to bring in a fine irrigation well.

A man of many talents, Mr. Ray was a welder at White Deer. He bought the pump and motor and put them in himself. He also bought and installed the sprinklers in his irrigation system.

This summer he is raising watermelons, recalling that when he was a boy his family made a living on what is known as "the old Ray place" east of his present location.

Mr. Ray and Judge Templeton will put in a variety of fruit, the latter said. An experienced fruit grower in Oklahoma, Mr. Ray will plant peach seed, grown here, grow the seedlings, then grafting and budding the trees.

The two have chosen Ranger stock for the graft. This is one of the more recently developed peaches, bred especially for Texas.

It is large, later maturing and almost freeze resistant, Judge Templeton said. Dixie Red will be used for the earlier variety.

The men also plan to put out grapes, berries and apples. They are considering handling nursery stock.

It takes peaches four to five years to begin bearing, Judge Templeton said, but grapes and berries will produce in two.

The oil test, which apparently contained no oil but plenty of water, was drilled in 1933, Judge Templeton recalls. At the time it was abandoned, the well was sealed at a depth of 270 feet.

Mr. Ray has perforated the casing and water comes to within 60 feet of the surface. He is pumping a good four-inch well and has never been able to lower the water level, Judge Templeton reported.

At present, Mr. and Mrs. Ray have a trailer house at the farm, which they will use until a house can be moved in.

OIL TEST TO IRRIGATION

M. A. Ray, who moved recently to a farm near Quail, has tapped an abandoned oil test drilled in 1933, to bring in a good 4-inch irrigation well. In the top picture, Mr. and Mrs. Ray are shown with the pump and motor which he assembled. Below he is with the sprinkler irrigation system in operation.

More People Ask About Texas

AUSTIN.—More people than ever before want to know what to see and do in Texas.

Most of them ask—and get the answer from—the Texas Highway Department.

In fact, 46% more visitors were helped by the Department in the first six months of this year than in the same period of 1967.

Altogether nearly a million persons have requested and received travel services during the first half-year from the Texas Highway Department.

"Each of the Department's 11 Tourist Information centers are operating near-capacity now during the peak of the recreational travel season," State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall said.

"Trained travel counselors greet and assist visitors with their travels in Texas," he continued. "Our travel counselors strive to encourage people to see more of our state."

Most of the descriptive literature distributed in response to mail inquiries and by the Tourist Information Bureaus is produced by the Department. An estimated five million pieces of literature have been distributed this year.

Other services also emphasize that "highways are for people."

For example, approximately 1,100 safety rest areas, roadside parks and scenic turnouts are maintained on the state's 69,000-mile highway network.

New safety rest areas on Interstate Highways include comfort stations, drinking water and special Info-sites which call attention to historical, recrea-

Oil Emulsifier May Aid Ducks

A new oil emulsifier has been discovered which may cut down on the number of waterfowl that die because of oil spillage from tankers.

The oil is broken up into microscopic particles which, when contacted by the sun's rays, turn into a gas and evaporate.

This chemical is reported to have increased the survival rate of birds by 50 to 60 percent. In the past only 5 percent treated with a detergent-type solution were able to live.

tional and cultural resources nearby. Each Info-site also has a dispenser offering free maps to the visitor.

Texas is 620 miles wide.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Fielding and family of Norco, Calif., visited last week with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fielding of Quail, and with former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morrow. They also visited Mrs. Fielding's mother, who lives at Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Irwin of Lubbock spent the Labor Day week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Owens and Mark.

Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Johnson and sons, Jamie, Barry and Dickie, returned home Sunday from a two weeks vacation in south Texas and other states. They first attended a school reunion at Haskell. From there they went to Austin, Houston, Texas City, and then on to New Orleans, La. From there they went to Louisville, Miss., to visit Jamie's college roommate, Jamie will return to Baylor University next week.

Carol Blain, a graduate student in Texas Technological College, is visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ward. She also has visited in Fort Worth and Dallas.

Mrs. T. E. Young and her son, C. L. Young, and daughter of Abernathy were here for the week end to visit their daughters and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Moody.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maxwell over the week end were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Maxwell and Sabrina of Breckenridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sweat and Don Sweat returned Sunday after a few days fishing at South Fork, Colo. They reported good catches of rainbow trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Kent and Keverly of Dallas spent the Labor Day week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crane and family of Muleshoe spent the Labor Day week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Parker of Causey, N.M., visited Saturday with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Lacy and Renee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carson of Weatherford, Okla., are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carson of Marella.

Plastic Pipe May Be Answer For Range Water Facilities

COLLEGE STATION.—Water is necessary in the husbandry of range livestock but a point often overlooked is the use of water in grazing management.

Too, water is essential for the wildlife of the area, reminds B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist at Texas A&M University.

The development of a new facility in an underutilized area of a pasture offers an excellent method of getting more uniform and efficient utilization of the range forage. New watering locations may be necessary before a deferred rotation grazing system can be initiated.

Inefficient use is made of range forage when certain areas of a pasture are overgrazed while other areas go relatively untouched, he says. The location of watering places in undergrazed areas results in the livestock moving into these areas to do part of their grazing.

Often it is not feasible to drill a new well, a spring is not available or the soil type or area does not lend itself to the construction of an earthen stock tank. When this happens, plastic pipe (black polyethylene) lines can be the answer, suggests the specialist.

Conventional float controlled water troughs or the newer automatic fountains can be used. The plastic pipe should be placed beneath the soil surface to prevent deterioration from sunlight. It is not necessary to bury the pipe to frost-free depth provided the pressure is removed during the winter, he says.

A cow with calf requires about 10 gallons of water a day and a ewe lamb or nanny and kid about a gallon. In addition to the volume requirements, distance is an important consideration. Water locations should be no more than 1/2 mile apart in excessively rough areas while in flat country they may be up to 2 1/2 miles apart.

When developing new water locations, every effort should be made to develop the facility so wildlife can benefit, concludes Ragsdale.

The controversial movie "US" at HemisFair is shown on the world's largest screen, covering one-fifth of an acre.

Vacant House

Burns at Dodson

Wellington Volunteer Fire Department was called to Dodson Sunday night, Sept. 1, to put out a blaze in a vacant house, according to J. B. Oney, fire chief.

The house, in the south part of town, was a total loss by the time the department could arrive, Mr. Oney said. Firemen were able to keep the blaze from spreading, however.

The origin of the fire could not be determined, he added.

Pledge Explains Aim of 4-H Clubs

The 4-H pledge explains the "4-H's" and the aims of the youth phase of programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "I pledge my Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hands to larger service, and my Health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country." More than 3 million boys and girls are currently enrolled in the nation's 4-H Clubs.

MEDIEVAL ART brought a high price at a recent London auction. This enameled terra-cotta relief of the Virgin and Child is by Giovanni Della Robbia. It was sold for about $37,000 to an unnamed buyer.

UT Assists Job Seekers

AUSTIN. — Bulletin board watching can be a profitable pastime for students at The University of Texas.

The bulletin boards for job seekers to keep an eye on are located outside the Financial Aids Office on the third floor of the West Mall Office Building.

Edgar Lee Carpenter, director of student financial aids, emphasizes that persistence is the key for students who want to find part-time employment.

When city or campus employers notify the office of their need for part-time help, the request is posted on the board. Students may then be referred to the employers.

During the 1967-68 long session when the office conducted 15,176 interviews, made 9,262 referrals, and was notified of 7,970 acceptances.

Opportunities for employment range from the conventional — baby sitting, yard work, and typing — to the more unusual — selling antiques, acting as hostesses on a yacht, making lamps and serving as a morgue attendant.

Carpenter also pointed out that the office is available to students' spouses who wish to find full-time employment.

There is no charge for the service.

PUPPETRY

The origins of puppetry are prehistoric. Although it has been practiced the world over, puppet shows have probably been seen by more people in a 20-year period of U.S. television than all the audiences it attracted in the last 2,000 years.

MORE ABOUT FLOWER ARRANGING

In arranging flowers, you follow rules of line harmony. A stem that curves to the left should be placed at the extreme right of the container.

A stem that curves to the right should be placed at the extreme left. With this treatment, the stems in the center become easy to arrange.

And don't forget your own personality in arranging flowers. Also don't forget to exploit good old common sense.

Some people give flower arranging such higher meaning that it is frightening.

First and foremost, flowers must be displayed so that they may be seen. Broad leaves should never obscure flowers.

Keep in mind the other patterns to follow such as the fan, circle, square, or L-shape.

The Careful Shopper considers the extra bonus that comes with every purchase in the home business area

Some of us (not always thoughtful buyers) may forget that money spent away from home gets us goods and service...and that's all.

We forget that when buying at home we get about the same things, plus a bonus: We also get our share of the more plentiful opportunities, the higher incomes and property values, better schools and other social benefits that more business brings to any community.

→ Helen Gribble came home from visiting her daughter's family, Elizabeth and Don Hood, Marc and Caron, of Huntington Beach, Calif., and the L. E. Gribble family at Newport Beach, to report that no sooner had she gotten there than Dr. Joe and Ann Horn and their children arrived from Plainview. She also talked with Linda Singley Stansbury, who lives a mile down the street from Elizabeth. To round it out, she had lunch with Mrs. Roy Scrivner and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bryant of Shamrock.

→ Champion among peaches appears to be one grown by Sam Adams on his farm west of town. Of the Hale variety, this one weighed 13 ounces and measured eleven and one-fourth inches in circumference. He has the peach to prove it. Sam said the tree was sprayed, pruned and fertilized.

→ There have been three major scholastic events among Edith Lacy's daughters. Annel completed the work for her doctorate at Ohio State University . . . Faye Lacy Murphy received her master's degree at TWU . . . and Renee started to kindergarten.

→ Returning to St. Joseph's recently was Sister Amata, who visited for the first time in some 28 or 29 years. She was delighted with the changes that have taken place. With her was Sister Teresita, who completed her assignment here two years ago.

→ Ben Karnes, here from Breckenridge with his lovely little brown-eyed daughter, Alexa, told how he has solved that problem of piano teachers—the recital. By including guitar, accordion, and other instruments, he has found his students not only willing to play, but eager to appear.

→ Joe Bailey, now of Shamrock, saying his daughter, LaJuanna, has been offered the opportunity to attend Lake Erie College in Painesville, Ohio, which would include a year's study in Europe. A senior in Shamrock High School, she was in the University of Kansas on a math scholarship this summer.

→ Mrs. P. A. Crane was buying dress patterns the other day to send her daughter, Martha, now Mrs. N. A. Lestar-Jette and living in Santo Domingo. She and her husband are missionaries and have been there about two years. They have two children, Linda, 7, and Greg, 6.

Bufs Bid for National Spot

CANYON.—Led by All-America prospect Eugene "Mercury" Morris, the West Texas State Buffaloes will bid for national prominence this year following a second consecutive 7-3 season and a 35-13 victory over San Fernando Valley State in the Junior Rose Bowl. With eight offensive and four defensive regulars returning and a potent running game at full strength the Bufs of head mentor Joe Kerbel are anticipating their greatest season in West Texas State's 58-year football history.

Morris, the second leading rusher in the nation last year with 1,274 yards in 191 carries, heads an offense that should equal or surpass the 1967 team that ranked fifth nationally in total offense and second nationally in rushing. The entire starting backfield and four offensive line regulars will return.

In senior halfback Morris (5-10, 190), the Buffaloes have a genuine threat to capture the 1968 rushing championship and All-America honors. The 9.7 speedster from Pittsburgh, Pa., waged a game-by-game duel with Southern California's O. J. Simpson for the 1967 rushing title. Morris had 1,274 yards to Simpson's 1,415, but O. J. had 75 more carries in which to pad the margin.

Good Buymanship Covers Many Factors

Good buymanship covers many factors in purchasing food. Shopping carefully; using all the food knowledge you have available; and keeping in mind the likes, dislikes and nutritional needs of your family, Extension Consumer Marketing Specialist Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, adds that it means an honest assessment of the value of your time for both cooking and shopping. Reading labels and taking time to do a little calculation to determine cost per pound or cost per serving are other buymanship factors.

HOLDING ON for dear life, this old elm tree's roots cling to the hillside along a street in Potosi, Wis., forming an interesting art study by nature.

Mrs. L. Brown Dies Recently

Mrs. Leona Brown, 307 Fort Worth Street, died here Saturday, Aug. 17.

She was born April 20, 1910 and had lived here for a number of years.

Graveside rites were conducted at Fairview Cemetery, Tuesday, Aug. 20, with the Rev. J. P. Williams officiating. Burial was under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Survivors include a number of nieces and nephews. Her husband preceded her in death a number of years ago.

Destroy Pesticide Containers

"Empty" pesticide containers should be disposed of in such a manner so as not to present a hazard to man, animals or valuable plants, according to County Agent Sammy Helmers.

Each type of pesticide container—paper, metal, glass or aerosol—requires specific handling and disposal, Helmers adds.

Paper or other combustible containers should be burned, but read the label first for any special precautions. Dispose of the ashes by burying them at least 18 inches deep in an area not frequented by man or animals. Do not burn where smoke can come in contact with humans, livestock or desirable plants. Never burn herbicide containers.

Metal or glass containers should be buried at least 18 inches deep. Unused pesticide should be rinsed from metal or glass containers with a mixture of two quarts of water, ½ cup caustic soda (household lye) and two tablespoons of detergent. Pour the unused pesticide and rinse solution into the hole to be used for container disposal. Punch holes in metal containers and crush them. Place glass containers in the hole and then break them. Bury the containers in an isolated area or a designated disposal area where the drainage will not run into potable water.

Aerosol cans and other small pesticide containers, used by homeowners in urban and residential areas, should be wrapped in several layers of newspapers. Secure wrapping by tying a string around the wrapped containers and place the package in a covered trash can just before collection if possible. Do not burn aerosol containers and never pour unused pesticides into a sink, tub drain or toilet.

For more information on pesticide safety, Helmers suggests a call or visit to his office for a copy of L-369, "Handle Insecticides Safely."

Eggs Excellent Protein Buy

Eggs are an excellent protein buy. One good way to get extra eggs into the diet is to keep a supply of hard cooked eggs in the refrigerator. These are handy for deviled eggs, sandwiches, salads, casserole dishes and other occasion, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

Financial Facts

By Jeff Wilson

PERTINENT MONEY INFORMATION

Before the Civil War paper currency was issued by banks operating under government or state charters. The government did not issue paper currency until 1861. These were called Treasury notes and came in five, ten and twenty dollar denominations.

In 1862, the government issued notes that became known as greenbacks in denominations of one, two, five, ten, twenty, fifty, one hundred, five hundred, and one thousand dollars.

Today the Treasury Department is responsible for the manufacturing of all United States money. Coins are minted in three mints located in Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco, under the supervision of the Bureau of the Mint. The Bureau of Printing and Engraving manufactures paper currency and the securities of the United States.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

This is Fair Week and it should be entertaining and educational and will be worth your time attending. It is not the case in our agricultural community; but did you ever pause to speculate on how many young children are growing up in our vast land who do not have the slightest conception of where their food comes from? As they sit in front of TV watching the advertising of this package and that container, it is easy for them to come to the conclusion that meat, milk and fruit comes from a store and cereal from a factory. Where do they receive an inkling that the bread they eat came from a vivid green plant that turned a golden yellow before it was gathered to be sent to the elevators and the mills and the bakery. How are they to know that the milk they drink was once warm in the body of a cow? How many even know what a cow looks like?

One writer estimates that 80 percent of the children may be several years of age before they have any knowledge of such simple facts that all their food comes from the land, from plants and animals. As the percentage of agriculturists decreases in proportion to the total population it becomes increasingly important for the urban majority to have some perception and understanding of how their food is produced if the agricultural communities are to receive equitable treatment from business and government.

Congratulations to all those talented people who went to Amarillo last Saturday to put on the TV program advertising the Collingsworth Fair. They did a splendid job of representing Wellington and the area.

We have been having a miniature fair here at the newspaper office for the past few days. Sam Adams brought in a giant peach that weighed 13 ounces. We won't say much about Sam's peach since he did not leave it for any of us to eat; but we will say something about C. A. Winton who brought a pear that weighed 14 ounces. I was more interested in the Japanese ornamental pumpkin and the strawberry popcorn. The bottom half of the pumpkin is the usual color; but the top is a combination of red and green markings. The ear of the strawberry popcorn is shaped like a giant strawberry and when popped it produces red and white popcorn.

The City Council has appointed an administrator of office affairs and an administrator of outside affairs. Russell Yates has been appointed office administrator which is what he has been doing all along as city secretary. Hubert Leach has been named outside administrator which includes complete supervision of the water and sewerage system, streets and alleys. This division of authority seems to be about as reasonable as could be worked out at this time; but it is obvious to anyone who has ever served as mayor or city alderman that the big tough job rests on the shoulders of Jake Leach. The city has a lot of catching up to do since the floods.

Last Saturday I came across Doc Barjenbruch and Frank Ford sitting in Gene Morrow's hangar. They informed me I had arrived at the right moment since they intended to take off in Gene's plane in a few minutes and would take me with them. I told them I would fly with Gene or Jerry Nix any day; but that I would think it over for quite a while before I went up with either of them at the controls. Doc asked: "You don't think your life is any more valuable than mine or Frank's, do you?" I said: "It certainly is to me."

Note to Ben Ezzell, the Canadian editor: Mrs. Jack Colson saw a rainbow at night on the same days that I was at the end of one north of Paducah. It was well after dark when she saw the perfect double rainbow in the night sky. She was afraid to mention it until she read about my experience and that of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilhelm on the Silvertown-Memphis road.

All summer I have been admiring the toadstools that have appeared at intervals on the lawn of the Post Office building, and on the grass

During Week End

No Serious Injuries In Accident Series

A series of vehicle accidents gave officers their busiest week end recently, however, only one person required hospitalization.

Four young steers, identified by Sheriff John Rainey as belonging to Neal Gray, were killed when they strayed onto Highway 83 a mile and a quarter south of Lurie about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

He said they apparently were killed about five minutes before he, along with Highway Patrolman Doug Wright and James Haley arrived, but the vehicle that hit them had left the scene and has not been located. Several other head of steers were rounded up and put back in the pasture. Patrolman Wright headed the investigation.

A little later, a rear-end collision occurred between vehicles driven by Jesse Romo and Sidney Duncan, Patrolman Wright reported. There was not much damage to either vehicle and neither youth was injured, he said.

The accident occurred about 300 feet east of the US 83-State 203 intersection in heavy traffic from patrons leaving the drive-in theatre.

Assisting the patrolmen was Wellington Police Chief Donald Nunneley.

Brewer Injured

Rocket Effort Makes Up for Inexperience

Skyrocket football workouts are progressing, and there is general improvement throughout the team, Coach Thayne Amonett indicated late Tuesday, Sept. 3. But more improvement is expected before the Sept. 13 opener with Hollis, he added.

First injury of the season came when quarterback Gary Brewer strained a ligament in one knee. It isn't certain if he will be ready for the Hollis game, Coach Amonett said.

Twenty-four boys are playing on the varsity team, but graduation last year robbed the Rockets of much of their experience. There are an additional 23 on the B team, some of whom could be called up to varsity if the need arises.

Most of this year's first team played as substitutes or on the B team last year, Coach Amonett said. Neither does this year's team have much experience nor is there a great deal of size.

11th Annual

Project Show barn on Amarillo Street, between 7th and 8th streets, for the Livestock Show, to be staged by the 4-H boys and girls and Future Farmers of America.

Judging will start at 9 a.m., and continue until all swine and calves have been judged.

Terrapin Race

Up on the courthouse square, one of the major fun events of the whole fair will get under way at 11:30 a.m.—the terrapin race, sponsored by the Jaycees.

More than 50 terrapins are due to compete, and the fun comes from the unpredictable nature of the reptiles. Jaycees hint that they have something of a surprise awaiting terrapin owners!

Ellison Park will be packed with activity Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m. when registration for the Old Settlers Reunion begins. A section of the park is set aside traditionally for these men and women and their families, but they also may go over to the other action events.

The Rotary Club will begin serving its big Chicken Barbecue at 11:30 at Ellison Park. At noon, Youth, Incorporated in front of Greenbelt Electric. They are fascinating and beautiful and it was with regret that I noted that someone continued to destroy those at the Federal building as if they were weeds. They are not. They are poisonous mushrooms but will not become a pest for it takes just the right amount of moisture both in the ground and in the air before this fungus will venture forth. The Greenbelt caretaker left the toadstools on their lawn for people to enjoy as they gazed at the white diamonds nesting in the emerald grass. This morning I have ten in my yard. Four came up so close together they are now touching and the other six are grouped in the form of a skyrocket.

A 1963 Chevrolet, traveling north on the road north of the Needwood Cemetery, crossed the cattle guard but missed the sharp curve in the road immediately beyond and crashed into a steep bank, officers reported.

The driver was identified by Patrolman Wright as Carl R. Kammerzelle of Woodward, Okla. Two fishermen returning home about 4 a.m. found the wrecked car with Kammerzelle asleep inside and notified Sheriff Rainey. Kammerzelle was brought to Wellington for the remainder of the night. Patrolman Wright headed the investigation, assisted by Sheriff Rainey and Patrolman James Haley.

The last of the series of accidents came Sunday about midnight, and occurred two miles north and one west of Wellington on a county road that had been damaged by floods.

Sheriff Rainey said the car driven by Billy Neeley, with Rodney Kane as an occupant, went off a road gap where dirt had washed completely away from both sides of a large tin horn. The car came to rest on the horn, after a fall of several feet, the sheriff added.

Neeley was kept in St. Joseph's Hospital overnight for observation, but Kane was reported uninjured.

Lions Sweetheart

Jan Christner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Christner, is the Samnorwood Lions Club Sweetheart for the coming year. She will ride on the club's float in the Fair Parade Friday.

RC&D Steering Committees to Meet Friday

The steering committees from counties in the North Rolling Plains Resource Conservation and Development Program will meet at the Farmers and Merchants State Bank at Shamrock Friday, Sept. 6 at 1 p.m. to continue development of the application for approval.

Gary Reed, work unit conservationist with Soil Conservation Service, said that plans call for the selection of a board of directors, from among the steering committees.

An attempt will be made to put together the application for approval of the program to cover Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hall and Donley counties. Both Gray and Hemphill counties have indicated an interest in joining and are due to be represented at the Shamrock meeting Friday.

Upon completion, the application will be submitted to the State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, H. N. Smith of Temple. Upon its approval, a hearing will be held, possibly by Mr. Smith, to discuss the problems of the counties within the program and their possible solutions and the need for the program to help with their solutions.

Due to represent Collingsworth County Friday are the steering committee are Mr. Reed; W. R. Breeding, repre-of Amarillo will present its famous Up With People, a patriotic musical program which has gained it acclaim throughout the Southwest.

Also at noon, some lucky Fair visitors will receive major gifts—the first time such an event has been held directly with the Fair.

The Fair association will give away a shotgun and a blender. "We urge all our fair visitors to be present," said Mr. Marsh, "because someone is going to be mighty happy."

Earlier in the day a Shetland pony will be given away during the livestock show. This is under the sponsorship of that division of the show.

Under the auspices of St. Joseph's Hospital, a Tennessee Walking Horse, presented to the hospital by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hughes of the Mill Iron Ranch, will be given away at 3 p.m. at Ellison Park.

This fine animal will be on exhibit at the park, and it is also planned to feature him in the parade. Information concerning this Tennessee Walking Horse may be had from members of the Hospital Auxiliary, Mrs. John Sherman, Billy Moseley, or the junior auxiliary.

Fiddlers Contest

The second annual Old Fiddlers Contest will start at 1 p.m., drawing fiddlers from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, and possibly other states.

This will continue through the afternoon until the champion fiddler is determined.

The final big event of the big 11th annual Collingsworth County Free Fair will be the western dance sponsored by the Wellington Jaycees. It will begin at 9 p.m. and at 1 a.m. Sunday, the curtain will come down on this year's big county fair.

RHINO RATED HIGH

The rhinoceros was rated high on the list of favorite animals by ancient Roman circus crowds, and imperial expeditions sought the animal in the Sudan and Ethiopia to satisfy their demands.

Sunday Night

News Stand Burglary Loss May Reach $500

Burglars entered the Lowry News Stand Sunday night, Sept. 1, taking tapes, records, albums and possibly cigarettes, Police Chief Donald Nunneley reported.

A second burglary was attempted at Steve Owens, but as far as can be determined, nothing was taken, Chief Nunneley added.

Possum Lowry, owner of the news stand, estimated his loss at between $400 and $500. This included 35 tapes valued at $6.95 and $7.00, and approximately 40 record albums valued at $3.97.

Entry was gained through a small back window.

Chief Nunneley said the burglars attempted to enter Steve Owens business through the roof on the east side, then stepped onto the sheet rock ceiling, breaking loose a panel.

They frightened themselves away, officers believe. All doors were still locked and barred and an extensive check failed to reveal any loss, Mr. Nunneley said.

Other investigating officers were Sheriff John Rainey and Deputy Alvin Minatrea.

diers in Wichita Falls, White-wright, Tatum, N.M., Reserve, N.M., Hobart, Okla., Cheyenne, Okla., Caldwell, Kan., and others.

Last year's winners are due to be back, Herman Johnson of Shawnee, Okla., and youthful Byron Berlin of Caldwell, Kan., who played here as he was en route to Army service in Vietnam.

Deciding the champion from among these 30 top fiddlers will take most of the afternoon, and the public is invited.

Money prizes, which the Lewises raised themselves, total $175, with a prize also going to the top guitar accompanist.

Altogether, this is due to be one of the major fiddling contests of the year in the Panhandle-Northwest Texas area.

Baseball Counselor

Barry managed the team at camp that became the pennant winner as the season ended.

Beginning in 1962, he attended seven consecutive camps. He was in the film produced in 1964 by Universal Picture Co. of New York entitled "PeeWee Leaguers."

Bobby Richardson was the narrator, and the film, which had its premiere in Chandler, is still going around the world telling young baseball's story.

There are no other sports at Bo Belcher's Baseball Camp, and a typical practice day goes something like this: Early in the morning work starts aimed at improving the boy both as an individual player and as a team player, using innumerable drills, simulated game conditions, trap walls, target boards, batting cages, pitching machines, all under the direct supervision of coaches and on diamonds trimmed like the playing surface at Yankee Stadium.

Nine- and ten-man teams meet in intra-squad games, played often times under intense rivalries—again under the supervision of professional coach. Every boy plays. Each team has a manager on whose shoulders rests the responsibility of making out the lineup, naming the starting pitcher and making the split-second decisions that can mean the game. Barry returned home just a few days before the school term opened. This year he is a sophomore in Wellington High School.

Lab Tech

Base, Montgomery, Ala.

In North Africa, he continued his training under Capt. James Gunter, who wrote the training manual used in this field by the Air Force. Since leaving service, Mr. Smith was in charge of the laboratory of Santa Ynez Valley Medical Clinic at Solvang, Calif., at Phoenix, Ariz., General Hospital; Plainview Hospital and Clinic; and Shamrock General Hospital.

He also attended Hancock Junior College at Santa Barbara, Calif., and Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. He is married and the couple has six children, Cathy, 16; Debbie, 14; Susan, 12; Brenda, 11; Jimmy, 10; and Diana, 2.

Cecil Ingram of Dalhart flew into Marian Alpark in his Beechcraft Friday, Aug. 23, bringing several cattle buyers who had business with Wellington Livestock.

Bura Handley Community Center was the setting for the annual Ko Shari Social Club 1968 presentation on Saturday evening, August 31.

This ended the summer holiday season for Wellington's younger set.

Four pledges were presented. These and their escorts were Miss Mary Saled, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saled, Jr., escorted by Ricky Brown; Miss Judy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Jones, escorted by Bobby Saled; Miss Carole Cochran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cochran, escorted by Larry Denny; and Miss Jane Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Campbell, escorted by Johnny Holton.

The other group honored Saturday evening were the senior members of Ko Shari. They and their escorts were Miss Jane Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thompson, and Mark Owens;

Miss Kay Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Taylor, and Neal Roberts; Miss Vickie Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman, and Pat Slavin of Clarendon;

Miss Judy Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Porter, and Danny Brooks; Miss Wauleen O'Hair, daughter of Ross O'Hair and George Porter; Miss Patti Lacy, daughter of Mrs. Melba Lacy, and Alan Fires;

Miss Debbie Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, and Jerry Woodbridge; Miss Elaine Karnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karnes, and Chris Hubbard;

Miss Mickey Ann Kendrick, daughter of Mrs. Louise Kendrick and Mickey Kendrick, and Jimmy Campbell; Miss Karen Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jones, and George Leathers;

Miss Connie Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Hughes, and Earl Lynn Feemster; Miss Mary Lou Holton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holton, and Rodney Kane; and Miss Mary Karen Bearden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bearden, and Gary Brewer.

A white candy house with a chocolate bar door and candy sucker flowers formed the stage backdrop. Miss Sherman, Ko Shari president, welcomed the guests.

Girl Children Servers of Candy Land entertained with two songs, "The Good Ship Lollipop" and "Do-Re-Me," accompanied by Miss Karen Richardson and directed by Mrs. Billy Wilkerson, another sponsor.

The "Sweet as Cotton Candy" pledges and the "Sugar and Spice" seniors of Ko Shari, assisted by Mrs. Larry Oswalt, the fourth sponsor, were presented, coming across the Ginger Bread Bridge and down Taffy Lane. They were introduced by "Mrs. Candy Lady," Mrs. Jack Sanford, assisted by Larry Oswalt. At the end of Taffy Lane, they were met by their escorts and seated at tables decorated with centerpieces of huge lollipops surrounded by candy suckers.

At the end of the presentation, Miss Sherman and Miss Lewis, vice president, thanked those who helped make the presentation possible.

The guests were then invited to have refreshments from the Pink Lemonade River flowing into the Red Wishing Well.

The program ended with the Girl Children of Candy Land singing a goodnight song to those who had to leave.

A dance followed with the Motifs furnishing the music.

The servers were Connie Bearden, Vickie Bowling, Janet Holland, Joy Jesse, Susan Lowe, Jan McGill, Pam Patterson, Mitzi Pendleton, Nancy Shumate, Katy Sullivan, Landi White and Lillian Ann Rogers.

Okra

Okra actually has its place in American history. Originating in Africa, it spread through the warmer regions of the world. It finally reached America through the French colonists of Louisiana in the early 1700s. It gained outstanding popularity in French cookery in Louisiana, especially in the dish called "Gumbo".

Okra was slow in receiving any degree of popularity elsewhere in this country. By 1748 it was being grown as far north as Philadelphia; Jefferson said it was grown in Virginia from about 1800 onward.

For many years okra has held an important place among the garden vegetables of the Southern states. Some of the South's (in particular Louisiana) well known dishes contain okra.

Most modern day cooks suggest that okra should be cooked in porcelain, aluminum or earthenware utensils to preserve color. Copper, brass and iron cooking utensils tend to discolor the pods. South Louisiana cook however would not think of cooking okra gumbo in anything but the old iron kettle. Here is a little different way to prepare okra and it is especially good for winter meals:

CHICKEN AND OKRA GUMBO

1 qt. young okra
1 chicken, 3 to 4 pounds
1 slice ham, about 1 pound
4 T. butter or other fat
1 qt. fresh skinned chopped or cooked tomatoes
1 large onion, chopped
1 sprig parsley
3 qts. boiling water
Salt
A little cayenne

Wash and stem the okra and cut in 1/2 inch slices. Dress and cut up the chicken. Fry the okra in 2 tablespoons of the fat in a large kettle until lightly browned. Remove from the kettle. Melt the remaining fat in the kettle, add the chicken and ham, cover closely, and cook for about 10 minutes, turning when necessary. Add the tomatoes, onion, parsley, water and browned okra.

Simmer for an hour or two, or until the chicken and ham are tender. Add salt to taste and a little cayenne. Serve with flaky cooked rice.

Faye Lacy Murphy

Faye Murphy Gets Masters

Mrs. Joe Murphy of Fort Worth, the former Faye Lacy, received the master of science degree at the summer commencement of Texas Wesleyan University on Aug. 23.

She took her degree in the field of home economics.

Mrs. Murphy, a graduate of Quail High School, is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Lacy and the late Mr. Lacy. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from TWU and has taught homemaking at Azle two years and in the Boswell school system four years. Her husband is with the Internal Revenue Service in Fort Worth.

The couple has two small sons, Tommy, 6, and Timmy, 3.

Attending the commencement from Wellington were Mrs. Murphy's mother and sister, Mrs. Lacy and Renee, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Cummings.

for next washing. This will loosen the sand and make fewer washings necessary.

• Add a cup of crushed pineapple to your usual pancake batter; serve with butter and brown sugar, and listen to the compliments.

• If you want to prevent a hard crust from forming on top of your hot cereal while you are keeping it hot, put a lump of butter in and cover the pan.

• For quick cinnamon toast, cream butter with sugar and spread on hot toast. It seems to taste better when prepared this way.

WHS School Calendar for '68-69 Listed

The Wellington School calendar for the 1968-69 school year was released by J. L. Harper, superintendent, this week.

With classes beginning Monday, Sept. 2, the first semester will end Friday, Jan. 17. The second semester will begin on Monday, Jan. 20, and school will close Friday, May 30.

Mr. Harper also listed the school holidays:

The first will be Friday, Sept. 6 for the County Fair, then the Thanksgiving holiday will be Thursday and Friday, Nov. 28 and 29.

School will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 20 for the Christmas holidays and classes will take up Thursday, Jan. 2.

A one-day holiday will come March 7 for the annual district meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association.

The last holidays will be for Easter, Friday, April 4 through Monday, April 7.

Largest Junior Hobby Show Due at Fair

The largest junior hobby show in the history of the Collingsworth County Free Fair is expected this year, Mrs. Leon Hartman, chairman, announced.

The exhibits, by the boys and girls of the county, will be on display both Friday and Saturday, Sept. 6 and 7, in Bura Handley Community Center.

All items are to be in place Thursday, Sept. 5.

Assisting Mrs. Hartman this year are Mrs. E. W. Clement and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell.

Entries will be judged in three age groups: 6 to 9 years, 10 and 11 years, 12 to 14 years.

Items which may be exhibited include stick purses, novelty purses, poodle dogs, number paintings, wood carving and craft, novelty pillows, metal traps, autograph hounds, leather crafts, doll dresses, and model cars.

Other items will be accepted upon approval of those in charge, Mrs. Hartman said.

First, second and third place ribbons will be given in each class and a grand champion will be selected over all entries.

BIKE BRIDES were married to their motorcyclist husbands during a two-day motorcycle show in Formosa. After the nuptials, the three couples led a parade on their bikes. Two of the young women shyly hid behind their spouses.

Begins at 2 p. m.

Youth Activity Horse Show Slated at Arena Friday

Action in the VFW Arena will be provided this year by the boys and girls, as they stage their annual Youth Activity Horse Show Friday, Sept. 6 at 2 p.m. It is the only horse show to be held during the Fair.

This show is open to boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 18 years, Richard Nall announced.

Mr. Nall and County Agent Sammy Helmers are co-chairmen, and their assistants are Mrs. Billy Williams and Mrs. Virgil Patterson.

Handsome trophies will go to all first place winners and ribbons will be awarded to second through tenth place winners.

There will be both halter and performance classes, Mr. Nall said.

Halter classes will include registered or grade geldings 14 hands and over, registered or grade geldings 14 hands and under, registered or grade mares 14 hands and over, and registered or grade mares 14 hands and under. All age groups compete together.

Performance classes will be divided into age groups, 6 to 9 years, 10 to 13 years and 14 to 18 years. These classes will be western pleasure riding, pole bending, barrel race and ring race.

Ties in the timed events will be re-run.

Mr. Nall said that all contestants must have their horses at the VFW Arena by 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Continuing an explanation of the eligibility, he said that horses shown must be owned by the boy or girl exhibiting the animal, or by his or her family. Each exhibitor can ride or show only one horse. More than one exhibitor cannot show the same horse in any class.

Each exhibitor must pick up a release from Sam Helmers at the county agent's office and have all necessary signatures before they are eligible to participate in any group.

NEW CARS & TRUCKS

William H. Crosby — BMW motorcycle.

H. S. Riggs, Wellington—Pontiac 4-door sedan.

Billy Waters, Wellington — Chevrolet pickup.

R. R. Hightower, Wellington—Chevrolet pickup.

Donna Waggoner and Jon Paul Waggoner, Lubbock—Ford Tudor Mustang.

The golf club used by Arnold Palmer to win the Masters, Ty Cobb's baseball glove and Sam Huff's pro football helmet are in the U.S. pavilion at HemisFair.

Improvise Shoe Trees for Travel

Rolled-up socks stuck in shoes that are to be packed will serve as trees and keep the shoes in good shape. Cover the shoes with shoebags or, if you have none, some old socks. If you have no case for a hand scrub brush, toothbrush, wash-rag or anything else that might be damp when packed—wrap the item or items in aluminum foil or put in plastic bags.

HemisFair boasts art works unequalled anywhere else in the world.

Welcome to the Fair! It Represents the Riches of Collingsworth

Welcome neighbors, to the big display of products, the fine crops and livestock, that's the wealth of Collingsworth.

We take special pride in this year's Fair. Many of the fat calves and pigs grew that way on Purina Feed. Many of the grains displayed sprouted from DeKalb seed. We are proud of our part in improving Collingsworth farming.

If you want more information about a livestock feeding program, or a crop program that has been proved, we invite you to visit us. We're here to help.

Singley Mill & Elevator

We'll Meet You at the Fair

We extend hearty congratulations to the men and women who have worked so hard to make the 11th annual Collingsworth County Free Fair a success. We believe it will be one of the best we've ever had.

As you visit the fair, we urge you to give wholehearted support to the parts concerning the boys and girls . . . the youth horse show, the livestock show, the girls division, the junior crafts and art show and others. Our youth needs our support and our encouragement. Their work is truly outstanding.

And may we remind you, there's always a hearty Collingsworth style welcome waiting for you in Tiny's Auto Supply. Come to see us.

Come to the

We believe everyone should come to the Fair. You will see on display the best of those crops that are the backbone of Collingsworth economy, and we invite you especially to study the displays of cotton. They are a preview of this year's Harvest.

Your gin is part of that crop . . . the part that in the end determines how much each bale brings . . . the line between profit and loss.

The Farmers Co-op Gin works at all times to see that every possible advantage comes to its customers. This may be possible by installing the latest machinery in the gin plant to process your crop better, or by discussing with you cotton varieties best suited to Collingsworth County.

Many Entries Due at Annual Flower Show

This summer's moisture has brought an abundance of flowers, and these should make possible one of the outstanding Flower Shows in county fair history. The event will last through both days of the Fair, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 6 and 7.

Mrs. Silas Crawford, chairman, has urged everyone who has flowers of any kind to bring entries.

"Even though you may have only one or two flowers, we urge you to enter them," she said.

This year's flower show will be held in the Community Building, as in the past. Assisting Mrs. Crawford are Mrs. B. T. Webb, Mrs. J. R. Henard, Sr., Mrs. Bob Hightower, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. Ray Clubb, Mrs. H. S. Riggs, Mrs. G. L. Jones and Mrs. Henry Vaughan.

All flowers should be in by 9 a.m. Friday, Mrs. Crawford said, and they are to remain until 9 p.m. Saturday.

All specimens must be in Coca Cola bottles or milk bottles, which are to be furnished by the exhibitor.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded in each class and a grand champion rosette will be awarded in each division.

Division I

The following classes are included in Division I:

Class 1: Hybrid tea roses in red, pink, white, ivory, yellow, bi-color or Peace; red or pink Radiance; one spray of polyantha roses, any color; floribunda in red, pink, yellow, salmon, white and blends.

Classes 2 through 9 include either one bloom or three blooms of dahlia, cockscomb, plumed celosia, zinnia, aster, petunia, snapdragons and verbenas.

Class 10: Vinca or periwinkle, three blooms.

Class 11: Three stems of straw flowers.

Class 12: One or three blooms of large marigolds.

Class 13: Three blooms of small marigolds.

Class 14: Three stems of cosmos.

Class 15: Unclassified flowers, one or three stems.

Division II

Potted plants: class 1, African violets; Class 2, flowering plants, must be in bloom; class 3, foliage plants.

Division III

Arrangements: theme, "Your Favorite Bouquet", fresh flowers or dried flowers.

Club Gets Certificates

Children who qualified to receive a Texas Reading Club Certificate were honored at a party held in the county library Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 29.

Change for 1969

Barley Included in Feed Grain Program

Barley is now included in the government feed grain program for 1969, just as are corn and grain sorghum, according to Millard Brown, ASCS office manager.

Farmers with a history of seeding barley in the base period, 1959-60, will have their feed grain base increased by their acreage of barley history, Mr. Brown said.

Barley planted on any farm which is participating in the feed grain program will count against the feed grain permitted acres.

Planting barley in excess of the feed grain base on a non-participating farm will have the same effect as planting corn or grain sorghum in excess of the feed grain base for off-setting compliance purposes and will make the producer ineligible for payment on any farm under the 1969 feed grain program.

Should a producer have any question concerning how this change in the use of the barley base for 1969 will affect his farming operations, he should contact the ASCS office immediately, Mr. Brown urged.

Jaycees Hold Western Dance Saturday Night

Wellington Jaycees will sponsor a dance Saturday, Sept. 7, as the final event of the 11th annual Collingsworth County Free Fair.

It will be held in the Veterans of Foreign Wars building at the west side of Marian Airpark from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. according to Donald Settle, Jaycee president.

This will be a western style dance with music provided by the Pioneers. Members of this band are Robert Gosnell, Don James, Jerry Cole and Elmer James.

The committee in charge of the dance are Ralph Owens and Leroy Belew, and other members of the Jaycees are assisting.

This is the first year Jaycees have sponsored a dance in connection with the Collingsworth County Free Fair, and the event was chosen in order to close out the Fair on an entertainment note, it was pointed out.

Linville Gets Army Promotion

Johnnie H. Linville, 24, was promoted to Army sergeant on Aug. 6, while serving with the 25th Infantry Division near Dau Tieng, Vietnam.

A radio operator in Company A, 3rd Battalion of the division's 22nd Infantry, Sgt. Linville entered active duty in April 1967 and completed basic training at Ft. Bliss, then took advanced training at Ft. Polk, La.

He is due to return home Sept. 12, his wife, Kathi, said this week. At the end of his leave, he will be stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga., and she will accompany him there.

The sergeant is the son of Mrs. Mary Linville of Clarendon and Johnnie D. Linville of Hedley. He attended Clarendon High School and also formerly lived in Wellington.

LOW LIFE EXPECTANCY

Life expectancy in the tropics, which account for almost half of the world's population, is lower than in northern climates due to the prevalence of disease and unsanitary conditions. In some areas, fewer than half the children reach age 15.

MORMON MISSIONARIES stand on Hill Cumorah near Palmyra, N.Y., scene of the annual religious pageant in which they portray soldiers in General Moroni's army. The spectacle depicts the rise and fall of a pre-Christian civilization in America.

Services Held Saturday for Mrs. Childress

Mrs. Bertha Novella Childress, a former Wellington resident, died in Lovington, N.M., Friday, Aug. 30.

Born Feb. 24, 1893, she was the daughter of the late Lee and Bertha Dora Young.

She was married to Ivan Frank Benson and lived at Mangum, Okla., until after his death in 1937. Later she was married to the late J. R. Childress, and made her home here until after his death. Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in Kelso Chapel with the Rev. Leroy Gaston officiating.

Burial was in the family plot in Riverside Cemetery, Mangum, under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Ernest Maxwell, C. L. Moody, Milburn Derryberry, Junior Mitchell, Dugie Jameson and Jess Young, Jr.

Survivors are two sons and a daughter: Frank Benson and Wayne Benson of Lovington, N.M., and Mrs. Beulah Mae Collier of Altus; two brothers and a sister, Jess Young and Oliver Young of Wellington, and Mrs. Bessie Stockton of Pampa. There are 12 grandchildren.

Read, Follow Directions on Pesticide Bottle

A basic rule in pesticide safety is to read and follow directions and precautions on the container, advises Extension specialists at Texas A&M University. Do it each time you use a pesticide; don't rely on your memory. Always remember that many pesticides can be harmful to people and pets if they are not handled, applied and stored with care and caution. Safe storage is particularly important to avoid accidents involving young children.

Vandals Damage Telephone Booth

Vandals threw pop bottles and beer bottles through the telephone booth at Langford Brothers Station some time Sunday night, Sept. 1, Police Chief Donald Nunneley reported Monday.

Two glass sections, one on the north side and one on the south, were broken, Chief Nunneley said.

This is the first vandalism reported here recently, he added.

High Plains Field Day Set Sept. 12

The Twelfth Annual Field Day of the High Plains Research Foundation will be held on Thursday, Sept. 12, at the Foundation Research Farm at Halfway, Texas. Dr. Tom Longnecker, director and executive vice president, in announcing the date said, "The second Thursday in September has long been established as the date for our Annual Field Days."

Five of the commodity Committees of the Board of Trustees are planning to have exhibits of plants and products of each commodity.

Field tours of the Research Farm featuring studies underway at the Foundation will begin at 1 p.m. and continue until 4:45 p.m. Guides for each large truck will be professional agriculture personnel.

A popular feature of the field days has been the display of the latest in farm equipment and supplies. The various manufacturing firms supply the display and have representatives on hand to explain and sometimes demonstrate.

The evening program will begin at 4 p.m. An outstanding agricultural speaker is a feature of the evening program. Attendance prizes will be drawn using names of those who register. Another drawing will be held for current members of the Research Foundation.

Dr. Longnecker stated that the attendance for the last several years has numbered from 3,500 to 8,000.

Boys Ranch Cites O-Ki-Hi

The O-Ki-Hi Camp Fire Girls have received from Cal Farley's Boys Ranch a framed certificate in appreciation for a gift made to the Ranch at Christmas 1967.

At that time the girls sent the ranch eight stick horses to be given to the youngest boys living there, said Mrs. C. T. Shumate, their leader.

Not only have these gifts provided fun through the year, they were "ridden" in the parade of small boys in connection with the annual Labor Day Rodeo.

The certificate makes the Camp Fire Girls "Partners for Life for Helping Provide a 'Shirt Tail to Hang Onto'."

The O-Ki-Hi Camp Fire Girls have now gone into Junior High and the unit is being disbanded, said Mrs. Shumate, who has worked with the girls five years.

Those who helped to make the stick horses were Jeannie Reynolds, Janie Reynolds, Betty Burba, Della Shumate, Ginger Wilson, who has moved to Hedley, Judy Chandler, Judy Peters and Nancy Shumate.

HemisFair will close Oct. 6.

GEM of an outfit was created by jewelry designer Jules Van Ronge. The pearly ensemble was shown at a costume jewelry show in New York City.

Hospitals and You

Admission Procedure Eases Hospital Stay

"The admitting office is frequently referred to as the nerve center of the hospital," Sister Mary Perpetua, administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital, said in a discussion of hospital admission procedures.

"This identification," she explained, "results from the increasing scope and complexity of this department, which is charged with governing the flow of patients in accordance with hospital policies and serving as a screening point through which all patients must pass."

Sister Perpetua said, "A patient's first impression of a hospital remains with him and conditions his feelings during his entire stay. This impression is often influenced," she added, "by the feeling of apprehension and fear many patients experience when faced with the necessity of becoming a hospital patient. Hospitals generally strive to put the patient at ease from the moment he arrives."

"It is a surprising fact that many people do not realize it is necessary for a physician to refer them to the hospital for admission," Sister said. "In other words, a patient cannot admit himself without a doctor's request. Therefore, it is very wise for everyone to have a personal physician."

"A patient can be of great assistance to the hospital and to himself," Sister pointed out, "by bringing with him his hospitalization insurance policy or policies, or complete insurance information including name of company and policy number, also his personal identification. If the patient is covered by Medicare, he should also bring his Medicare card with him. It is wise for an individual to carry with him at all times a complete listing (including policy numbers) of all hospital insurance coverage. In fact," she added, "this information is quite valuable in emergency situations such as an accident."

On the other hand, the patient is advised not to bring valuables to the hospital such as large sums of money, jewelry, furs, etc. If he comes with these items they should either be sent home with members of the family or a friend, or given to the hospital for safekeeping during his hospital stay. They should never be taken to the patient's room because hospital personnel are too busy tending patients to assume responsibility for safeguarding personal property.

The patient should advise his physician the type of hospital room he desires. The physician, in turn, will make the request of the hospital. There are times however, when the need for hospitalization is immediate and the desired accommodation is not available. In these cases the need is met in the best possible manner at the time and the patient is transferred as soon as his request can be granted.

Sister Perpetua concluded, "Hospitals are dedicated to the provision of good patient care. They are anxious to assist the patient in every way from the first moment he comes to the hospital. I would urge everyone to acquaint himself with hospitals in his community before he has need of their services, and to select a personal physician before a hospital admission becomes necessary. By observing these simple, but important suggestions, you can make your hospital admission when it comes, a simple and satisfactory experience."

It's a Big and Colorful Fair We'll Hold This Week

The 11th annual Collingsworth County Free Fair stages its two-day run Friday and Saturday, September 6 and 7. There is every evidence it will be held in the tradition of our past successful fairs which have brought this county much acclaim.

Some of the events to which we are accustomed will be missing, but others will be there to take their place. It is probable that more people have worked together to produce this fair than any other we have had. Co-operation has been county-wide.

It is also apparent that the quality of many exhibits will be the best we have had. It reflects the determined effort on the part of some of the committees to upgrade their departments.

The 1968 Fair truly reflects the strength of Collingsworth County, in its agriculture and livestock, its homes, its fine arts, and in the preservation of its traditions.

But there is one part which must be present in every fair if it is to be successful and that is people. This is only place our products are exhibited that we can say is all our own. Elsewhere we must share the spotlight. One of the ways in which we can express our belief in Collingsworth County and its future is by attending the Fair and taking part in its events.

OTHER EDITORS SAY . . .

Who Are The Deprived? Plight Is Worsening

In a Christian nation such as ours, concern for the deprived is proper and is to be expected. Indeed, it is the history of our people that concern for the deprived has prompted generosity admired by the entire civilized world.

Within our own borders, however, concerned for some of the deprived has slackened. And the deprived are grievously in need. Federal funds and projects have not been enough. Appropriations and budgeted bounties have not done the job. There have been commissions and authorities. Experts have been empaneled. Yet the plight of these deprived in our country grows worse, not better.

The woman whose purse is snatched from her hand in the street.

The teenage daughter of a neighbor who is deprived of her virginity, by force.

The homeowner who returns to a house from which the TV, the radio, the silverware and the piggy-bank have been stolen.

The taxpayer whose family automobile has been stolen.

The jobholder who has a knife or a gun jammed into his ribs a block from home, is mugged and beaten and robbed.

The vacationing family who returned to find the house stripped of even the furniture.

These are the deprived in our land. The really deprived. They outnumber the people on welfare, the poverty program people and the black-power marchers by ten to one.

Our police have, in many cases, had their hands virtually tied behind their backs. Our lower courts have been hamstrung by decisions of the higher courts.

It is well and good to protect the rights of the accused. But it appears that it is time that the pendulum swung back the other way. The rights of the victims and the intended victims deserve a little more than passing consideration.

Yes, we are the deprived—we who pay the taxes, we who suffer pain and loss—of property and even life.

HUGLUND'S HAPPENINGS

SEPT. 4, 1609—Henry Hudson, an English explorer employed by the Dutch East India Co., sailed his sloop, the Half Moon, into what is now New York harbor and discovered Manhattan Island.

AUSTIN.—Until this year no one could vote in any election in Texas unless he had lived in the state for a full year. "Not so now," says Secretary of State Roy R. Barrera.

As the result of a statute passed by the Texas Legislature in 1967, following voter approval of a constitutional amendment in 1966, voting rules have been changed.

Barrera, as the state's chief election officer, advises that any citizen of the United States, 21 years of age or older, who has resided in Texas less than one year and for at least 60 days as of the day of the election, who satisfies the conditions of a qualified voter in the state from whence he came to Texas and would have been qualified to vote had he remained there, may vote in the Presidential Election this fall.

However, Barrera points out the voter can not vote on any office except that of president and vice president of the United States.

Furthermore, he must apply for a ballot at the office of the county clerk in the county of his residence . . . sometime during a 15-day period, beginning Sept. 6.

State Income Tax

Constitutional Revision Commission finished its first full review of recommendations for a new constitution after a battle royal on the question of state income taxation.

Commission wound up recommending that the current provision allowing an income tax be retained, but there was considerable support for prohibiting income taxes.

Revenue and Taxation Committee, headed by George Wilson of Dallas, president of Lone Star Steel Company, had recommended retention of the clause authorizing such a tax. But Wilson quickly joined forces with Houston Rep. Bill Archer during the full commission meeting in an effort to forbid income taxation.

Wilson said a prohibition on the income tax "would be helpful to our chambers of commerce in recruiting industry." San Antonio Mayor Walter McAllister termed income taxes "socialistic, communistic and Marxist."

By a vote of 7-5 (most of the 25-man commission were absent or failed to vote) the prohibition of the income tax was approved. But Denton Rep. Alonzo Jamison forced reconsideration of the issue when he moved that the sales tax be limited to its current level, "if we are going to bind the hands of the legislature in the matter of one tax."

By a 10-2 vote the income tax prohibition was opened for reconsideration, and the prohibition on income tax was then defeated by a vote of 9-6.

Texas Stock Exchange

A legislative committee and the University of Texas at Austin will begin a study this fall on the feasibility of a Southwest stock exchange centered in Texas.

Advocates of the idea say that Texas and Southwestern stock-market transactions have grown so much in recent years that such an exchange soon will be a necessity and may be desirable now.

Rep. Dave Finney of Fort Worth chairs the committee, which includes Reps. Don Cavness of Austin and Dick McKissick of Dallas. The UT research will be carried on by Dr. Ernest W. Walker, professor of finance, and a graduate student.

They will report to the 61st Legislature in January.

Gas-Storage Committee

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, appointed a special subcommittee to study Texas laws on the storage of gasoline.

Rep. Charles Jungmichel of La Grange will chair the committee, which will include Reps. Bud Atwood of Edinburg, Jack Blanton of Carrollton, Ace Pickens of Odessa and Rayford Price of Palestine.

Highway Program

Texas Highway Commission announces a $60.0 million state Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm-to-Market Road Improvement Program for 1969, including 1,177 projects in 224 counties.

Bulk of the work will serve to increase safety on the highways, and another large portion is for the reconstruction of highways and FM roads, including widening, improvements to shoulders and construction of improved surfacing.

Anthrax Reported

Texas Animal Health Commission has received a report on an outbreak of deadly anthrax disease in the area around the juncture of Val Verde, Kinney and Edwards counties.

Nine premises have reported deaths from the disease among cattle, horses and deer.

Commission has also reported 696 screwworm cases confirmed in Texas in July. Mexico reported 1,982 cases in roughly the same period.

Rehabilitation Study

A report by the Texas Research League on vocational rehabilitation has prompted the State Board of Education to appoint a committee to look into the situation.

William H. Evans of Lubbock is chairman of the committee composed of Porter M. Bales Jr., of Tyler, Doyle Corley of New Boston, E. R. Gregg Jr. of Jacksonville, Charles E. Hart of Bryan and James W. Harvey of Archer City.

League was prompted to make its report because of the sudden expansion of the rehabilitation program in the last five years.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

The startling news has kind of shook up some folks in this countrified area, but it's reported that Attorney General Clark says the Justice Department is planning to enforce such of our laws as he decides are significant.

Old-fashioned anti-civil rights laws against arson, looting, cop killing, etc., don't appear to be included in the promised crackdown, presumably on account of such laws interfere with significant citizens' desires.

My dissident neighbor don't reckon he'll ever qualify as a law-immune significant, because he is both white and hooked by the shave-and-haircut habit.

Lowry Finishes Advanced ROTC

FT. BENNING, Ga. — Henry Neal Lowry, son of Mrs. Jack Lowry of Samnorwood, a student at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, has completed the nation's only basic Reserve Officers' Training Corps summer camp at Ft. Benning, Ga., July 19.

The basic summer camp provides active-duty training in lieu of two years on-campus study, allowing him to enter the advanced ROTC program at the university.

During the six-week encampment, he received intensive training in leadership, rifle marksmanship, physical conditioning and other military subjects.

Upon completion of the advanced ROTC program and his graduation from college, he is eligible to be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

Cadet Lowry is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and a 1963 graduate of Samnorwood High School. His wife, Pollye, lives at 3515 30th St. Lubbock.

Mr. Ford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ford and was graduated from Wellington High School.

County Men on Honor Roll

Three Collingsworth County men and a former resident qualified for the dean's list at Southwestern State College at Weatherford, Okla., at the end of the 8-weeks summer session.

They were Randall Warren Woodbridge of Wellington; Howard Wayne Lindley of Samnorwood, and John Wesley Carson, Jr., of Quail.

Also on the honor roll were Billy Ray Alexander and Jacquelyn Janette Hogan Alexander of Paducah. He formerly lived at Lutie.

These students had B averages.

To be eligible for the honor roll during the summer, a student must have been enrolled in at least six semester hours. Any student who made a grade lower than C was automatically disqualified from the dean's list.

Screwworm Fly Cases Rise

Screwworm fly cases have taken a sharp rise this year, and producers are being asked to remain on the alert for infestations in their herds, County Agent Sammy Helmers says.

Many factors have added to the increase of activity of the pest in Texas, but only by good management can the fly be brought under control again. Some ranchers have had a tendency to become lax in their efforts to keep the pest from their herds. Treating all dehorned, sheared or castrated animals with approved screwworm "dope", coupled with close observation of livestock can once again rid the state of the profit-robbing, Helmers says.

Although wet weather has kept many ranchers from getting close to some animals in their herds, now is the time for them to inspect all livestock for open wounds and possible infestation by screwworms.

Ten specimens should be taken from an infested wound and sent to the Mission laboratory for identification so that control measures can be initiated in the area if the sample is positive.

For more information on collecting and shipping samples of suspected screwworms and for mailing containers, Helmers suggests that livestock producers stop by his office in Wellington.

HemisFair will close Oct. 6.

FAR AWAY PLACES

Some strange sights in far away places are in store for the 64 members of the Texas Farm Bureau-sponsored world tour which will visit nine countries around the globe Sept. 6-Oct. 6. The 31-day tour includes such diverse scenes as the ancient ruins of the Six pillars of the Temple of Jupiter (upper left) at Baalbeck, Lebanon; lush mountain-side rice terraces in the Philippines (upper right); and glittering Buddhist temples overlooking the teeming riverfront at Bangkok, Thailand (below). Countries to be visited include Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Thailand, India, Lebanon, Israel, Greece and Italy. The good-will-educational tour will include visits to farms and marketing facilities, meetings with importers and briefings at U. S. embassies. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Coleman will be on this trip.

Junior Division

Art Exhibit Expanded for 1968 County Fair

One of the major attractions of this year's Collingsworth County Free Fair will be the greatly expanded art exhibit. For the first time, there will be a junior arts division, completely separated from the adult art exhibit. The art section will be in Bura Handley Community Center.

Miss Bonnie Willis is chairman of the exhibit, with Mrs. John Sherman as co-chairman. Assistants are Mrs. Claude Cason, Henry Sullivan, Bob Goforth and John Sherman.

Mrs. Weldon Cleveland, Jr., heads the Junior Arts Division and Mrs. Larry Oswalt is co-chairman. "All professionals are barred from entering competition, and paintings may not be entered that have previously been entered," Miss Willis said.

All divisions must be in place by Thursday, Sept. 5, from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Both the adult and junior divisions will be judged Thursday afternoon with Gwen Southers of Higgins, one of the Panhandle's outstanding artists, as chairman of the judges.

The show is county-wide, and all artists are urged to bring entries.

"We especially want the kids to enter," said Mrs. Cleveland. "We have a lot to show the area with our talent."

All participants in the Junior Arts must be entered in junior high or high school, and Mrs. Cleveland emphasized that this, too, is county-wide.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded in each class and a grand champion rosette will be awarded in each division.

The divisions are the same for both adult and junior exhibits.

Division I: Oils and acrylics: 1, portraits; 2, landscapes; 3, still life; 4, abstracts; 5, figures.

Division II: Water color, pen and ink, pastels, charcoal and pencil drawings: 1, portraits; 2, landscapes; 3, still life; 4, abstracts; 5, figures.

Division III: Sculpture: 1, wood; 2, terra cotta; 3, metal.

INSTITUTION'S BOATS

The Smithsonian Institution has a room full of boats and ship models. The exhibit contains a representation of everything that has ever borne man upon the water.

New Residents Can Apply for Ballots

Voters who have lived in Texas less than a year must apply for a ballot during a 15-day period beginning Friday, Sept. 6, if they want to vote for President and Vice President in the coming election, Lorene Jenkins, county clerk, announced today. Applicants must appear in person at the county clerk's office.

This will be the first time that persons having less than a year's residence in the state will be able to vote in a presidential election, Mrs. Jenkins said.

A law passed by the Texas Legislature last year permits a voter who moved to Texas from some other state less than a year before general election day to vote for President and Vice President, but for no other offices, if he will have lived in Texas at least 60 days on election day. In order to vote, he must possess all the qualifications required of electors under Texas law except the ordinary residence requirements, and it must also be shown that he was either a qualified elector in another state immediately before his removal to Texas or that he would have been eligible to vote in the presidential election in the state where he formerly lived if he had remained there until election day.

Mrs. Jenkins said that a person who had been issued a voter registration certificate, voter identification card, or other document showing that he was a registered voter in the state from which he moved should take this document with him when he goes to the county clerk's office to apply for a ballot. If he does not have written proof of his registration, it will be necessary for the clerk to obtain verification of his voting eligibility from the voter registrar or other appropriate election official at the place of his former residence before he will be accepted for voting.

Applications must be filed with the clerk by 5 o'clock (the closing hour) on Friday, Sept. 20. However, the voters will not actually vote until the period of Oct. 21-Nov. 1, when they will return to the clerk's office and cast their ballots. Mrs. Jenkins said that each applicant will be given written notice informing him whether his application has been accepted after the clerk receives a reply from the voter registrar in the state of former residence.

Persons voting in the presidential election under this special procedure need not be registered as voters in the county where they now live.

Mrs. Jenkins emphasized that this voting procedure applies only to persons who will have lived in Texas less than a year on election day. If a person moved to Texas before Nov. 5, 1967, he must be registered with the county tax assessor-collector in order to vote in the general election on Nov. 5, and he will vote in the regular manner on election day. However, only those persons who became residents of Texas after Oct. 1, 1967 may register at this time, and they must register by next Oct. 5 in order to vote in the election on Nov. 5. Registration for persons who became residents on or before Oct. 1, 1967, closed last January 31.

Odds Given on Having Your Income Tax Returns Examined

There is one chance out of 124 your place of business will be field audited, if you file a 1040 income tax return form, according to Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue reported to the treasury secretary on its 1967 activities saying this number compares with one out of 121 chances in 1966.

For the Internal Revenue Service to audit your tax form in their office, the chances are one out of 30 compared to the previous rate of one out of 26.

The specialist noted that more individual returns showed mathematical errors than in fiscal 1966. Errors in favor of the taxpayer averaged $87, compared to $63 in favor of Uncle Sam. The previous year was $91 to $58.

Figures also show more taxpayers are refusing to accept examining agents' claims for additional taxes and are appealing their disputes to the Appellate Division of the Treasury. The settlements averaged about 31% of deficiencies claimed by the treasury.

But it doesn't seem to pay to go to court, says Mrs. Myers. In the Tax Court, decisions during fiscal '67, the treasury won 230 cases, while taxpayers were victorious in only 77. The won-lost ratio in the Court of Claims was about even, but in the District Court, taxpayers won only half as many cases as the treasury.

Mrs. Myers says it is considerably less difficult now to appeal to successively higher authorities with a tax disagreement with a Revenue agent.

The first step is an informal hearing before a District Conference, and then, if there is no agreement, a hearing before the Appellate Division. If the dispute involves less than $2,500 no formal written protest is required at either level. This is much simpler than the past system of requiring a formal protest to get a hearing at the Appellate Division Level.

Mrs. Myers says of course, this new procedure is not necessary, even in cases involving under $2,500 if the person feels filing a formal protest will help his case.
