The SDN COLUMN

The local elements of the hour undoubtedly influenced the subject as Jake Amato and Tommy Deffebach discussed ice fog Friday at noon while waiting for the Heart Research Day program to begin at the First Methodist Church.

Deffebach recalled that his first experience with that phenomenon occurred during World War II at Santa Fe, N.M.

Amato had seen it many times in Norway, his last duty station as a military officer. Ice fog is particularly deceptive if you are in a plane and looking down at the earth, Amato observed. The crystals, or whatever they are, hang vertically in the atmosphere. Thus, when viewed from above or below they do not obscure vision as sharply as they do when viewed from the side. So what appeared to be fairly good visibility from directly above may change to a thick curtain when viewed during a landing approach.

Also, Amato noted that ice fog often is localized and shifts frequently. In fact, he said he had seen three or four people create a small patch of ice fog by merely standing around talking on an extremely cold day. An airport runway may have ice fog at one end while the other end is clear, but during a single landing it may shift positions.

Such things normally are viewed from afar by residents of this area, but with the type of winter we've been having, who knows what may develop?

New Callup Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 50,000 National Guardsmen and Marine reserves would be called up under a plan tentatively proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to bridge a Vietnam war-caused home forces manpower gap.

But in sketching details of the JCS plan, sources said Thursday night it is only one of a number of options being considered to reinforce U.S.-based forces depleted by the war's needs for troops.

The sources said the JCS proposal—which also calls for putting on alert another 130,000 or so reservists for possible later callup—may differ from proposals by the Army and the other services for solving the problem.

National Guard sources said they anticipated a call-up of up to 90,000 Guardsmen and reservists, but other sources discounted such an estimate as premature.

Word of the JCS proposal leaked out as the chief's chairman, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, arrived in Vietnam after an unannounced flight from Washington for a visit expected to last several days.

Wheeler told newsmen in Saigon his purpose in making the trip was to get first-hand information on the war's course—information that presumably would include future troop requirements.

President Johnson has said the United States will up its troop ceiling—now set for July 1—if a larger number of force is needed.

A number of high-ranking members of congressional committees dealing with military affairs have recently bemoaned what they say is a reduction to dangerously low levels of forces based in the United States.

Such forces, ostensibly for use in emergencies that might arise around the world, were further reduced by last week's presidential order sending 10,500 Army paratroopers and Marines to Vietnam on a speeded-up deployment basis to meet a Westmoreland request.

Coliseum Is Filled For First Time

"We've filled her up."

That comment by Gold Coater Bill Seale was repeated several times last night as the Scurry County Coliseum experienced its first full house.

In fact, there were more people than permanent seating facilities as throngs of people from Lamesa, Lubbock, Snyder and other points assembled for the Lamesa - Lubbock Dunbar playoff basketball game. (Details of the game may be found on the sports page.)

Doug McGlaun, coliseum manager, said that 240 folding chairs were set up at the west end of the arena and most of them filled quickly. The 3,054 permanent, theater - type seats already were filled. McGlaun estimated the total crowd at 3,200 to 3,250. It marked the first time the seating facilities had been filled and of course it was the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in Snyder.

The Chamber of Commerce and coliseum managment had praise for groups who helped work at the game, especially the VFW members who directed parking in sub-freezing weather. Jaycees, Jaycee-ettes and the Producers Club members also performed chores in connection with the game.

TO REINFORCE HOLDOUTS

North Viets Storm Hue

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese threw a new battalion of troops at Hue's Citadel Thursday and on another front sent their heaviest artillery barrage in two weeks thundering down on the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

Military spokesmen said the Communist battalion of perhaps 500 men stormed the northwest wall of the 1½-mile-square Citadel in Hue in an attempt to reinforce the besieged Communist troops inside the fortress.

South Vietnamese officers in Da Nang said government forces counterattacked and drove the enemy off killing 223 Communist troops. They said South Vietnamese casualties were light.

After a quiet day around Saigon, a 30-minute firefight flared tonight at a South Vietnamese police checkpoint four miles northeast of the center of the capital on the highway to Bien Hoa.

Spokesmen said an enemy force of undetermined size attacked with AK47 assault rifles, but was driven back by combat police, army troops and helicopter gunships. Tracer bullets flashed in the night sky. There was no immediate report of casualties or damage.

With the battle for Hue in its 24th day, U.S. military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are "very desperately trying to reinforce" the Citadel, where an estimated 350 or more Red troops hold part of the southern wall and the adjoining palace compound where Vietnam's emperors lived in the 19th century.

The U.S. spokesman said the government troops were reacting quickly and effectively and killed another 126 enemy troops in a series of six lesser clashes, most of them holdouts or infiltrators in the northwest section of the fortress. Government casualties again were termed light.

Vietnam Press, the government news agency, reported that two companies of South Vietnamese marines captured one gate of the inner walled palace just inside the outer south wall. The Communist command post is reported to be inside the inner palace grounds.

U.S. Marines reported killing 21 Communist troops in clashes Thursday as they secured the east wall of the Citadel. But AP correspondent George McArthur reported from Hue that the Communists in strength still held the east bank of a canal running parallel to the east wall.

Just to the north and west of Hue, more than 1,000 U.S. air cavalrymen and paratroopers were fighting a running battle to block Communist reinforcements and supplies headed for Hue.

The U.S. Command reported that the American force had killed 163 enemy troops in the past two days and captured 92 gas masks apparently consigned to the Communist forces in Hue, where the Marines have been using tear gas on enemy positions. Twelve Americans were reported killed and 137 wounded in these operations.

On the northwest frontier where an estimated 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are poised, Communist gunners slammed 377 rocket, mortar and artillery rounds Thursday into the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh and Marine positions flanking it.

The barrages killed nine Americans, wounded 22, destroyed a big CH53 helicopter and damaged a twin-engine C123 cargo plane.

Twenty miles to the northeast, nearly 300 mortar and artillery rounds hit the Marine outpost at Con Thien, just below the demilitarized zone. But the bunkered Marines reported only two men wounded.

Air Force B52 bombers made two strikes Thursday and two more today on the enemy gun positions around Khe Sanh.

BATTLING HEART DISORDERS

Prevention Is Primary Goal

Spectacular and exciting research in the transplanting of hearts should not be permitted to interfere with conventional research into the causes of heart diseases, Dr. Thomas Hartley declared here Friday.

Speaking at the Scurry County Heart Council's "Research Day" event, Dr. Hartley, a former Snyder Physician now on the staff of Scott and White Hospital at Temple, said that prevention of heart disorders must continue to be the basic objective in this field.

Dr. Hartley said that transplanting of hearts involves many technical and ethical problems. The greatest physical problem concerns the human body's immune system, he explained. Each human body has a built-in immunity which attacks all types of foreign matter such as viruses, which may enter the system. This same system is responsible for the rejection of transplanted organs from the bodies of others, he continued.

Unfortunately, the immunity cannot be reduced locally, but any reduction is system wide. Thus, a reduction in immunity may pave the way for tolerance of a transplanted organ, yet leave the patient a wide open target for some other disease, such as pneumonia, which otherwise would be resisted, Dr. Hartley said.

Moreover, a transplanted heart likely will fall victim to the same cause that deteriorated the original heart, Dr. Hartley declared. This, he said,

Weatherman Says 'Worst Is Over'

Snow, freezing mist and extremely low temperatures kept Snyder area residents shivering Thursday night and early today, but conditions already were improving by noon.

The mercury dipped to a low of 16 degrees in Snyder last night and at 7 a.m. today was hovering around the 21-degree mark. However, the sun broke through this morning and ice and snow were beginning to melt before noon. There was only enough snow to cover the ground here, and it resulted in only a trace of moisture.

The late winter storm paralyzed transportation in many areas of Texas, causing hundreds of traffic accidents and causing some schools to close for the day. But the Weather Bureau said "the worst is over."

"We expect a trough aloft to move to the east and take the snow with it," a forecaster said at the U. S. Weather Breau in Fort Worth.

Mayor M. L. Broman, whose second term expires in April, announced earlier that he would not seek re-election.

There are two candidates for Place 2 on the council, Wayne Monroney and Joe Sentell, and for Place 6 on the council, Rayburn Burgess and Bert Dickenson. Incumbent Jim Kincaid is unopposed for Councilman Place 4.

Burgess is seeking re-election, while Sentell and Monroney are candidates for the council post now held by Marshall Erwin, who is not seeking re-election.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We work in an office, and our hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We are usually here at 8:30 a.m. preparing for the day's business which requires getting our money and records out, etc.

Our problem concerns irate customers who stand outside the door between 8:30 and 9 a.m. banging on the door and rattling the knob until you think the building is coming down. Some of them even yell and signal, demanding that we open the door!

We have a sign on the door, plainly stating that we open at 9 a.m. On some occasions we have opened the door to some impatient ones feeling it's easier to let them stand inside than to put up with their infernal racket.

How can we tactfully let these people know that we are not prepared to let them in until 9 a.m.?

THE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: If you don't have a shade for your door, ask your management to get one, and keep it down until you're ready to open. If you aren't in evidence, you'll probably not be bothered. If you can't get a shade, go about your business and ignore the rude ones.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may sound silly to you, but it is very serious to me. For some years now, altho I am a male, single, and not considered effeminate, I have been wearing nylon panties under my outer male attire.

I like to sleep in baby doll pajamas and have a nice supply of ladies' lingerie, negligees, panties, hosiery, bras — the works, which I wear when I am alone. There is nothing "wrong" with me, but I like the feeling of these things next to me.

My problem is keeping a good supply of these items. No matter how carefully I launder them, they do not last forever, and I must keep shopping for them. Such articles are sold only in the ladies' departments, and they all have women salespeople. When I ask for pink panties (pink is my favorite color) in size 8 (I am rather hefty) I say they are for my "wife" but then my face gets as pink as the panties.

I have tried mail-order houses, but they are unsatisfactory as I like to SEE the merchandise before buying it. I don't care to divulge my secret to anyone, so I must do my own shopping, so I would appreciate any solutions you have to offer, as I do not like the embarrassment.

IN A QUANDRY

DEAR IN: Since you have already thought of all the alternatives and have rejected them, I can only infer that you aren't really seeking a solution to your problem — you just like to talk about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a plastic surgeon and a very busy one, but I am not too busy to write this letter asking you to PLEASE implore parents (especially mothers) to NEVER—and I repeat, NEVER allow their children to stand up in either the front or back of an automobile while it is in motion.

These last few weeks I have been called upon to make some heart-breaking repairs on some very beautiful little faces which had been pitifully mutilated from accidents that came about in just this way. All it takes is one abrupt stop for a youngster's face to meet a windshield, dashboard, or the back of the front seat with such force as to break face bones, knock out teeth and cause disfiguring injuries.

Today I nearly wept while I worked with an eye surgeon for nearly two hours in a vain effort to save the eye of a little boy who had been standing in the back of his mother's car when she slammed on her brakes. (The child's eye was gouged out as he struck the ashtray.) If you will print this I'll be most grateful.

further emphasizes the fact that research aimed at prevention of heart disease is much more desirable than a crash program on transplanting.

Although research in all fields, including the transplanting of organs, will continue to be watched with interest, Dr. Hartley said he hoped that the Scurry County Heart Council, the Texas Heart Association and the American Heart Association would continue to support research on prevention.

Dr. Hartley was introduced by Mrs. R. B. Pierce, R. N., who is secretary of the Scurry County Heart Council. She announced that the city-wide canvas in behalf of the Heart Fund will be conducted Sunday, under direction of Wilson Bright, chairman.

"Someone will knock on your door between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday and we hope you will contribute," said Mrs. Pierce.

The Snyder Rotary Club was the host organization for the meeting which was attended by members of other service clubs in the city and several other guests. John Thomas, Rotary president, presided.

south as Beaumont-Port Arthur.

The mercury plunged into the teens in Northwest Texas early today. Frigid readings included Amarillo 16, Lubbock 17, Childress and Dalhart, 19, and Midland 20. El Paso's 41 degrees was the maximum temperature in the state overnight. The mercury was sub-freezing along the Texas Coast as Beaumont and Port Arthur, Houston recorded 32 degrees.

The Weather Bureau said a blanket of snow and ice covered Texas from the New Mexico border to the Louisiana border and from the Red River as far south as the College Station area.

Travel was extremely hazardous. In Dallas, for example, police reported over 350 collisions or about one every 66 seconds. It wasn't even safe to go by rail. Nine cars of a 70-car Santa Fe freight train derailed on an icy track in Fort Worth Thursday night. There were no injuries.

Readings were bitterly cold. The mercury hovered in the 20s over all of north Texas and were freezing as far south as Houston. Only cities in the lower Rio Grande Valley escaped freezing temperatures.

Brezhnev Pledges To Build Forces

By JOHN WEYLAND
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev declared today the United States is the main cause of war in the world and pledged that the Soviet Union will build up its armed forces.

He lashed out at the "criminal, dirty war in Vietnam."

Brezhnev spoke at a special Kremlin meeting celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces. It was attended by other Soviet leaders, including Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny and defense ministers of various Communist countries.

Brezhnev accused the United States of "creating centers of tension in different regions of the world" and called it "the main forcce of war."

He told an audience of 6,000 in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses that in view of this the government "considers it its sacred duty to strengthen the defense capacity of the Soviet Union in all possible ways."

Brezhnev cited no figures but he asserted the Soviet army has "the most modern rockets and nuclear weapons."

Brezhnev, reading congratulations from the Communist party and government to the armed forces, made no mention of efforts to bring peace to Vietnam. He also avoided going into other current causes of international tension.

The Soviet leader made his speech after flying back today from a meeting of East bloc leaders in Prague, where increased unity was urged for the Communist movement.

The Soviet government celebrates the anniversary of its armed forces on Feb. 23 to mark the battle at Pskov outside Leningrad in 1918. This was the first time that the newly created Red army fought a regular engagement.

The Soviet Union opened the celebrations with poetry and extensive displays in the newspapers.

Car Skids On Icy Highway

Considerable damage resulted but there were no injuries in a one-car mishap 1.7 miles south of Hermleigh on U. S. 84 at 10:40 a.m. yesterday.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Bob Clark said William Robert Hall of Port Arthur apparently lost control of his 1956 Model Hudson when the vehicle skidded on the ice. The car plunged into the barrow ditch and turned over. The driver and a passenger escaped injury.

They had recently been discharged from the U. S. Army and were enroute to Port Arthur at the time of the mishap.

Suspect In Burglary Arrested Thursday

Larry Cagle, who recently moved to Port Arthur, was apprehended yesterday in Portales, N. M., by City Police on a warrant charging burglary.

He is suspected of the burglary of Snyder Lanes last Tuesday. Bond was set at $1,000 in Justice of the Peace Court.

Warrant Issued For Hijacker

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — An arrest warrant has been issued for Lawrence M. Rhodes Jr., 28, of Welch, W. Va., on charges of hijacking an airliner and forcing its 108 occupants to fly to Cuba.

Rhodes, a native of West Virginia's coal mine region who told acquaintances he was the son of a rich New Mexico man, was accused by the FBI of hijacking the Delta Airlines DC8 Wednesday and kidnaping its occupants. The warrant was issued Thursday.

The FBI said Rhodes was also wanted in the Christmas Eve robbery of a $12,000 coal company payroll in West Virginia's Logan County.

"Rhodes is believed to have been living recently in the Tampa, Fla., area with his wife, Marjorie," said Fred Frohbose, special agent in charge of the FBI in Miami.

Havana Radio, in its account of how Rhodes jammed a pistol beneath a stewardess' ear and forced the captain to divert the Miami-bound plane, listed a St. Petersburg address for Rhodes.

The address belongs to Finley Oliver Ricard, a mortgage broker who said he met Rhodes on St. Petersburg beach recently while he was fishing.

"He did not live with me—never did," said Ricard. "I think he lived somewhere in St. Petersburg."

Ricard said Rhodes represented himself as "the son of a wealthy New Mexico man." He refused to elaborate on how long he had known Rhodes or discuss further circumstances of their acquaintance.

The Cuban government said it was considering Rhodes' request for political asylum.

Bacteria Thrive On Spaceflight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some plants and insects have a rough time during spaceflight but bacteria—including those of the food-poisoning family—appear to thrive on it.

Space scientists told about it in reports prepared for a symposium today outlining results Biosatellite 2 —a kind of flying farm of lower animal and plant organisms.

The spacecraft was launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration from Cape Kennedy, Fla., last September. Its experiments capsule was recovered from orbit near Hawaii after nearly 45 hours of weightless flight.

The symposium, jointly sponsored by NASA and the National Academy of Sciences, brought out these findings:

—In general, plants had trouble maintaining "proper orientation" during the zero-gravity or orbital flight.

For example, leaves of pepper plants twisted and curled downward, and wheat seedling roots grew upwards and sideways instead of downward as they do on earth.

The wheat made a good recovery after this bizarre start, and seedlings even grew slightly taller than their stay-at-home counterparts.

—Automatically applied radiation proved deadly during flight for flour beetles. Twice as many of their offspring failed to survive, compared with beetles similarly irradiated on earth.

—Wasp egg cells suffered considerable damage from radiation, but partially recovered as they matured further.

—Two strains of bacteria—including salmonella organisms that cause ills like food-poisoning and typhoid fever—grew substantially faster and seemed to tolerate radiation better in the absence of gravity than do similar microbes experiencing earth's gravity.

Another space traveler that fared well was that jelly-like subject of high school biology students—the amoeba.

The scientists said they felt the Biosatellite findings have substantial potential importance for understanding the effects of space flight on higher organisms, including man.

A Methodist Hospital advisory said Lombardo, 65, was "progressing most satisfactorily" following the Wednesday morning surgery performed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, internationally famous surgeon. It said the band leader entered the hospital last Sunday.

ON THE HOUSE

You can give the outside of your house a fresh and interesting look by the addition of shutters to one or more windows.

These shutters would be purely for the purposes of decoration and so would remain in fixed positions at all seasons of the year and in all kinds of weather. However, under certain circumstances they would have an indirect function — that of creating an illusion intended to correct a nonappealing structural detail.

A wide expanse of exterior wall, broken only by a narrow window, can be made less monotonous to the eye by placing a wide shutter on each side of the window. An extra - wide window or set of touching windows requires a narrow shutter at each side. Horizontal inserts would seem to add width to a house; vertical ones would make a house look taller. Almost any other desired effect can be obtained by the type of design on the shutters. For instance, a board placed diagonally across the shutter slats gives a rustic or farmhouse impression.

You can purchase shutters of various sizes and shapes and of almost any kind of material, including plastic and metal. If you make them yourself, you'll probably choose wood, since the construction of decorative shutters involves no carpentry skill but only the ability to measure, saw and fasten. And it permits you to exercise your imagination in producing shutters of individual designs.

Whether you paint the shutters or coat them with a transparent finishing material, remember that the joints as well as the visible sections must be protected from the weather. Therefore, before using nails and screws to attach two pieces together, be sure to apply the paint or spar varnish or whatever you are using to the parts being bonded. And, of course, always use a waterproof glue.

Since you will not be opening and closing the shutters, they can be attached directly to the house. If you wish to go to a little more trouble, you can attach them to the window frames with hinges, considered by some to be an advantage because it permits them to be swung outward for cleaning and future painting.

There are many uses for shutters other than to decorate the outsides of windows. The louvered types sometimes are used on the insides of windows, where they keep out the sun when they aren't just being decorative. They also are used as swinging doors between rooms where some privacy is desired without the use of full-length doors. They serve, too, as room dividers and radiator covers and to conceal household equipment.

QUESTION: As soon as the weather permits, I intend to paint and otherwise take care of the windows around my house, both inside and out. A friend of mine has recommended acrylic enamel because, he says, no thinner is required and everything, especially the brushes, can be cleaned up later with soap and water instead of a solvent.

He also suggests that I use acrylic caulking compound around the window frames. Should I follow his suggestions? Is what he says about acrylic enamel and caulk correct? I want to be sure I do everything right.

ANSWER: You can safely proceed with the products recommended by your friend. Because they have a water base, acrylic paints need no solvents, are virtually odor-free and dry quickly. And your hands and the brushes can be cleaned easily with soap and water as your friend told you.

Acrylic caulk, which also has a water base, has a low shrinkage rate and remains flexible under its tough outer skin, a necessary quality of caulking materials to take care of window frame shrinkage and expansion.

QUESTION: We have an old varnished bureau that I would like to paint. Can the paint be put on right over the varnish? And must I use any special kind of paint?

ANSWER: You can apply any kind of paint over varnish. The important thing is that the surface be prepared properly. This means removing any gloss that still remains, either by using sandpaper or steel wool and then wiping off any grit, and leveling any irregularities.

If the varnish is dark in color, either because of age or because there is a stain underneath it, you may find that at least two coats of paint are necessary to cover properly, especially if a light color is being used.

Cinnamon Whizzes

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
½ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
¼ cup lard or part lard and part butter or margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup milk, scalded
2 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted

Topping: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), ¼ cup sugar, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Soften yeast in water. Add lard, sugar and salt to scalded milk, stirring to dissolve; cool to lukewarm. Add unbeaten eggs, softened yeast and flour; beat thoroughly for 2 minutes. Place in greased bowl, brush with a little of the ¼ cup melted butter. Cover and allow to rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Stir with four or five hard turns of the spoon; then dip spoon in melted butter before putting dough into each well greased muffin cup. Cover and let rise until double in bulk, about 30 minutes. Bake in 375 degrees oven 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 2 dozen.

Topping: While muffins are still warm, dip top of each in melted butter and then in sugar-cinnamon mixture.

This recipe is from "Easy-on-the Cook Book" (The Iowa State University Press); it is reprinted by permission of the publisher.

Mashed Squash

2 medium acorn squash
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter

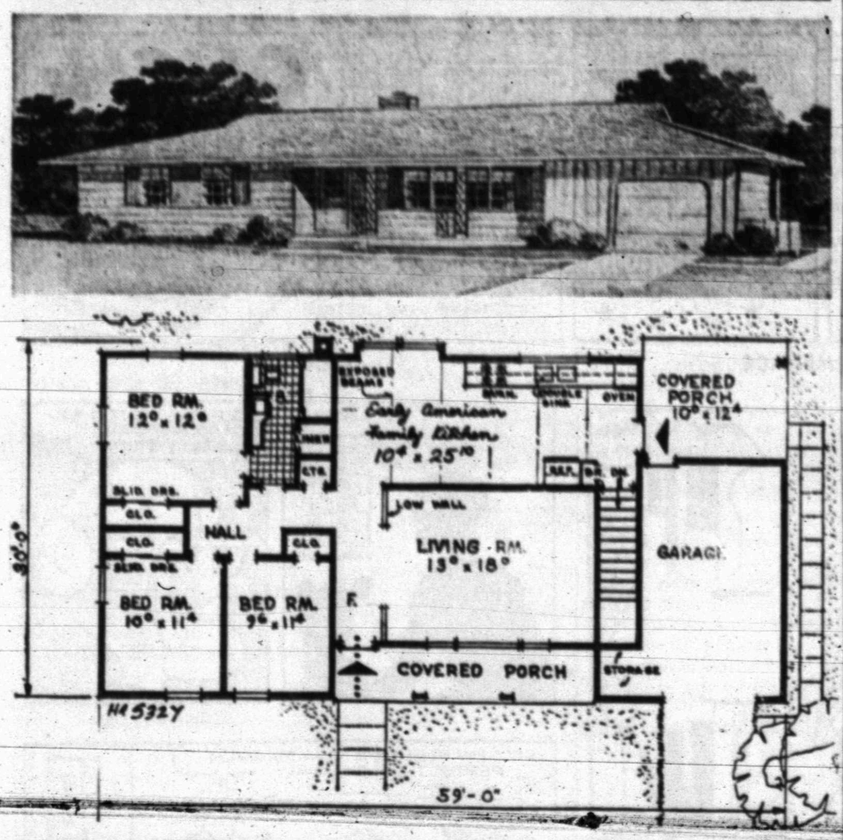

Wash squash and cut in half lengthwise; with a sturdy tablespoon scoop out seeds and strings. Place cavity side down in a small shallow pan; add water to come up about ¼ inch. Bake in 375 degree oven until very tender — 45 minutes to 1 hour. Remove skin; mash squash with remaining ingredients; reheat on rangetop. Makes 2 generous cupfuls — servings for 4.

Apricot Dessert

1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) whole peeled apricots in extra heavy syrup
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream

Drain apricots; pit and puree in electric blender; there should be ¾ cup. Add enough water to the apricot syrup to make 1¼ cups; turn into a 1-quart saucepan. Sprinkle the gelatin over the syrup and let stand for 5 to 10 minutes to soften; heat gently, stirring, until gelatin dissolves and mixture is very hot. Remove from heat; add sugar; stir until dissolved. Stir in apricot puree and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream; fold into apricot mixture. Turn into serving dishes or sherbet glasses. Chill until set. Garnish with orange sections and flaked coconut. Makes 6 servings.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A LARGE FAMILY will have plenty of room in this three-bedroom ranch style house which features a spacious early American family kitchen, a covered back porch for possible future enclosure as a family room and an over-sized garage. The lengthy house is emphasized by a hip roof which given an unbroken line across the front with unique louver treatment at the ridge. The entrance porch is covered and a separate foyer with low wall to the living room visually enlarges the living room area. The kitchen has a beamed ceiling and an attractive box-bay window table area. In the bedroom area, the main bath is quite large and has dual entrances, eliminating the need for an extra bath room. An exceptional feature of plan is the ample closet space throughout.

More Than One Husband?

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — President Sekou Toure is trying to persuade Guinean males to marry only one wife.

It's an idea unlikely to spread to West Africa's largest Moslem country, Nigeria, where there is even a whisper of support for the female version of multiple marriage, polyandry.

"Wake up fellow women and let us march to freedom," a determined feminist has written to the Ibadan newspaper, Daily Sketch. "Let us show our male counterparts that we are also capable of managing and directing them. . . polyandry is the only answer."

Similar letters have appeared in other newspapers.

Polygamy is common in Nigeria where about 13 million Moslem males are allowed four spouses by the Koran and where non-Moslem tribes nurture traditions of many wives.

The practice is common enough to inspire one French automobile manufacturer to advertise a new compact model as exactly what "a man with four wives needs." the maker claims the compact "is big enough to seat yourself and four buxom ladies in complete comfort."

It's one of the fastest selling cars in the country.

Women with several husbands are hard to find.

The Ibadan letterwriter, lamenting the sad state of women in Nigeria, said, "Perhaps it would be a happier life if the women were to have more than one husband instead of the men having many wives.

"I am not advocating that all these husbands should stay under the same roof because I know this will not be practicable — the woman may live alone. All she has to do is to rotate her husbands as to whom should spend the night with her on what day."

By a quirk of British colonial law, bigamy actually is illegal in Nigeria — as an accountant, Hezekiah Okedun, discovered recently when he married Beatrice Abike Ogunjimi at the Lagos marriage registry. According to court testimony, Hezekiah already had married Grace Oladunni by customery rite. He was released from jail under $280 bond.

Persons who marry at the registry, the same as British civil marriage, are subject to laws of bigamy. Persons who marry according to numerous, different tribal laws are not. Customary marriages far outnumber registry marriages.

"Marriage according to the Marriage Ordinance is very un-African," a newspaper columnist Bisi Bamigbetan, recently wrote, "I think that when a couple sign the marriage registry and contract to love each other for better, for worse, it is like signing one's death warrant. . . The truth is that man are polygamous by nature."

Possessing several wives is acceptable, especially in the six Northern states where about 21 million of Nigeria's 26 million Moslems live of a total population of 55 million). A Northern newspaper, the New Nigerian, recently published on its society page the photo of two wives of an eminent citizen sitting side by side each displaying her new infant, born a week apart.

The custom of marrying several women goes back to farm society when a man, needing all the help he could get for his crops, married it. Herbert Ogunde and Kola Ogunmola, two of Nigeria's most widely known actors, keep their troupes outfitted with leading ladies by marrying them all.

Polygamy also filled a need dictated by custom. A woman is likely to have nothing to do with her husband during her pregnancy and until she weans her child — a period of two years or more. The man solves his problem by finding another wife.

Despite Bi... Bamigbetan's belief "the idea of 'one man, one wife' is fast losing ground," some younger Africans see disadvantages in plural marriage. According to one male student:

"A man having two wives can hardly get peace of mind, and can take but minor part in world affairs. If these wives are so jealous of each other, one may kill the other or the husband will die instead. And if Africans keep dying in this way, how can they concentrate on their unity—"

Rough Life In Frontier Americana

GONE A HUNDRED MILES
By Heather Ross Miller

The harshness and isolation of life in rural America in the 1820s to 1840s are a part of this novel.

It is a story of an enigmatic, emotionally steely physician named Philip Tscharner, who migrated from Germany with his young French wife to Larkin County in North Carolina. Settling on the site of a mountain he began his practice among the crude farmers, most of whom he held in considerable contempt.

His wife gave him a daughter, Elizabeth, and then succumbed to the psychological and physical hazards of this wild environment. Soon the doctor fell under the spell of a barefoot youngster named Cassandra, the daughter of a crude ferryboat operator. He married her before their son Neil was born.

In the passage of time, Elizabeth developed a will of her own as a teen-ager; she ran off with Cassandra's earthy young brother, who was headed for the Ohio frontier. Thus the contrast between Tscharner's old and new worlds was completed in the flight of his daughter.

The author has a talent for capturing imagery in a bright web of words, although there are times when her style grows a little too extravagant. It is an interesting tale, but is told in an elliptical fashion that often obscures the delineation of character. And if there is a story line, it never seems to come full circle.

HIS BIGGEST JOB !

Rep. Mills May Exact Price For Support Of Travel Ban

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposed tax on American travel outside the Western Hemisphere has a big plus behind it that his income tax hike proposal lacks: the support of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills.

But the Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee—who steers that tax-writing panel according to his own economic views and not necessarily the White House's — may exact a price for his support the administration finds steep.

Mills has told associates there is no chance of corraling the House votes to pass a foreign travel bill unless it contains some attractions for members worried about competition that imports pose for products of their districts.

The push in Congress for quotas on imports or other similar devices worries advocates of international trade with minimum restrictions. This has been the proclaimed goal of U.S. policy from the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Cordel Hull.

Today tariffs have been bargained down until they are relatively insignificant and the United States was believed ready to tackle next the nontariff barriers to trade—quotas, border taxes, export subsidies and the like.

But the chronic U.S. deficit in international payments has strengthened the hand of those advocating protection of U.S. industries in the domestic market. This is true even though the United States has maintained a surplus of exports over imports. The payments deficit resulted from other factors, such as tourist spending, investment abroad and government military and aid outlays.

The administration has promised recommendations to improve the U.S. trade surplus as part of the larger program for righting the payments balance. Mills has pointedly told the administration to hurry up.

The question now worrying administration strategists is whether Mills will insist on stronger measures than the U.S. trade negotiators would recommend as part of the package with some form of travel tax.

The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, to which this country and its principal trading partners give allegiance, sanctions a few kinds of protection devices while banning most.

But if the United States tried to institute border taxes on imports, for instance, it would likely provoke complaints to GATT, which distinguishes among the kinds of taxes to be equalized. The U.S. system, under which an important part of the total tax levy is imposed by states and local subdivisions, is not exactly paralleled elsewhere.

In any case, much the clamor in Congress is for conceivably more drastic measures, such as quotas. Mills himself has introduced a textile quota bill, one of many such measures in behalf of a multitude of industries. Mills has not pushed his quota bill, but it does nothing to diminish his bargaining power with the administration.

Junior Editors Quiz on MICROPHONE

QUESTION: How does a microphone work?

* * * *

ANSWER: A microphone is a little instrument similar to a telephone transmitter. You speak into it — and the sound waves from your voice are changed into electrical impulses which can be sent over a wire. Microphones work by several systems and there are several kinds, used on stands or hung around the neck. We illustrate the kind of "mike" often used with the tape recorders we are getting so familiar with. Here, as Jerry records his humorous comments on his friend Steve's brain, the sound of his voice vibrates a small diaphragm inside the mike (diagram, (D) upper left). This is connected with a coil (C) mounted so it can move back and forth over a permanent magnet (M). The vibrations in the coil create electrical current of different frequencies which is led over wires to the tape recorder, affecting the magnetic tape so that it can be played back to produce a duplication of Jerry's voice. This is done by the electric signals vibrating another diaphragm, this time in a loud speaker. These signals produce sound waves exactly like Jerry's original ones. The apparatus at upper left is neatly fitted inside the small mike Jerry is holding.

Raquel Welch Hates Being Sex Symbol

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood sex symbols almost always weary of being mere sex symbols, profitable though their jobs may be.

After appearing on some 400 magazine covers, Raquel Welch, who has received one of the biggest glamor girl buildups since Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield, has reached this point.

"Being thought of as nothing but a glamor girl is my biggest hate right now," said the shapely, brown-haired star. "It seems to be synonymous with being empty headed."

Miss Welch's pert head is full of canniness. With the skilled aid of her personal manager and second husband, Pat Curtis, a former press agent, her career was launched with all the methodical spontaneity with which a new filter type cigarette is introduced.

The onetime San Diego beauty queen in three years has wowed Europe, made nine movies, and soon will appear with Frank Sinatra in "Lady in Cement."

In her earlier pictures—they range from "Fantastic Voyage" and "One Million Years B.C." to "Bedazzled" and "Bandelero"—she has worked with such leading men as Marcello Mastroianni, James Stewart and Dean Martin. Naturally a girl who has done that no longer has to ride home from the studio on a bus.

"I'm well off," Raquel conceded. "But up to now my pictures have been more lightweight than profound. I'd like to change my image.

"My reception heretofore has been based on glamor, physical appearance and comedy. Now I like to show I have other dimensions."

The dimensions that have contributed largely to her present fame can be summarized: 37-22½-35½.

Raquel draws a careful distinction between her own success and that of Jayne Mansfield and Marilyn Monroe.

"Jayne's build-up was bosom-oriented and Marilyn posed in the nude, which I have never done," she remarked carefully. "My build-up was based on the fact I had a certain figure.

I'm grateful for that build-up because it was a launching pad for me. But it is not something personally satisfying or something I want to foster as the basis of my career."

She has a deep sympathy for Marilyn Monroe, who she feels was destroyed by the conflict between her private woes and her career obligations. She is determined to avoid any such emotional disaster herself.

Prepares For Longer Stay In Coffin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Bill White, who claims he stayed underground in a coffin for 55 days, 23 hours and 31 minutes in 1966 at Largo, Fla., will be buried again tonight — still alive.

White, a former parachutist and wing-walker, wants to protect any challenge to his "record."

Irish bartender Mike Mealey was buried eight feet deep Wednesday in a vacant lot in London. His aim is two months and a new record.

So, at 8:30 p.m. CST White says he'll get in the underground coffin for an indefinite stay — just long enough to protect any threat posed by Mealey.

DPS Airplane Wrecked In Waco

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A Department of Public Safety airplane hurtled off the end of a Waco Municipal Airport runway Thursday and was wrecked, but nobody was injured.

The DPS pilot was Louis H. Bradfute of Mesquite. Passengers were DPS chemists Charles F. Mott of Waco and George E. Brown of Dallas.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the 4 p.m. accident occurred when the ceiling was very low.

The twin-engine Cessna did not catch fire.

Panthers Take Tight Defensive Tilt 47-44

Ho, Ho Ho, Two in a row!

That happy chant by Dunbar partisans last night informed the overflow crowd at Scurry County Coliseum that their Panthers had just eclipsed Lamesa in a showdown for the District 3 - AAA basketball crown. That was one. The other one obviously refers to the fact that the big Panthers earlier claimed the throne in the football race.

The talented Dunbar team overcame a 10-point deficit at halftime to take a 47-44 decision over the Tornadoes in a tight defensive battle. The outcome was in doubt until the final minute, and many in the crowd of 3,200 who witnessed the classic battle thought this tilt may have decided the state championship.

Lamesa, the defending state champion, can begin thinking about track and baseball now. Dunbar will represent the league in the state playoffs. The four district champs in the region — Dunbar, Andrews, Perryton and Wichita Falls Washington — will meet Sunday to determine whether they will have bi - district playoffs or a regional tournament.

Both teams Thursday night were cold in the opening half, but Lamesa dominated the early action, holding a 12-9 lead in the first quarter and a 23-13 lead at halftime. The Tors stunned Dunbar by holding them to only four points with a great defensive effort in the second quarter.

Jerry (Tap) Mason and Pat Fees hit well from long range to give the Lamesans their early lead. But, Dunbar came out pressing in the third quarter and scored three quick baskets in less than a minute of action to cut the margin to four points.

The Panthers outhustled the Tors in the crucial third quarter and took command of the game. They tied it at 26-26 with 4:42 remaining in the period on a free throw by Marc Wilson, who looked great on rebounds. Fees, who notched 13 points total, put Lamesa ahead again on an Annie Oakley at 4:13.

Then Dunbar tallied eight straight points on buckets by Jerry Phillips and James Skief and gratis tosses by Wilson and Phillips. The Tors didn't score again until 28 seconds remained in the period and they trailed 30-34 going into the final stanza. Several costly mistakes on the part of the Tors also contributed to the Dunbar success.

Phillips hit from the top of the circle as the last quarter got underway, but Mason dunked in two on a 1 and 1 situation and Fees hit a jump shot from the corner to narrow the margin to 36-34.

Fees fouled out with a little over three minutes remaining with Lamesa still trailing by only two at 40-42. Dub Minnix then dropped a couple of Annie Oakleys to knot the count at 42-42 with 3:07 left.

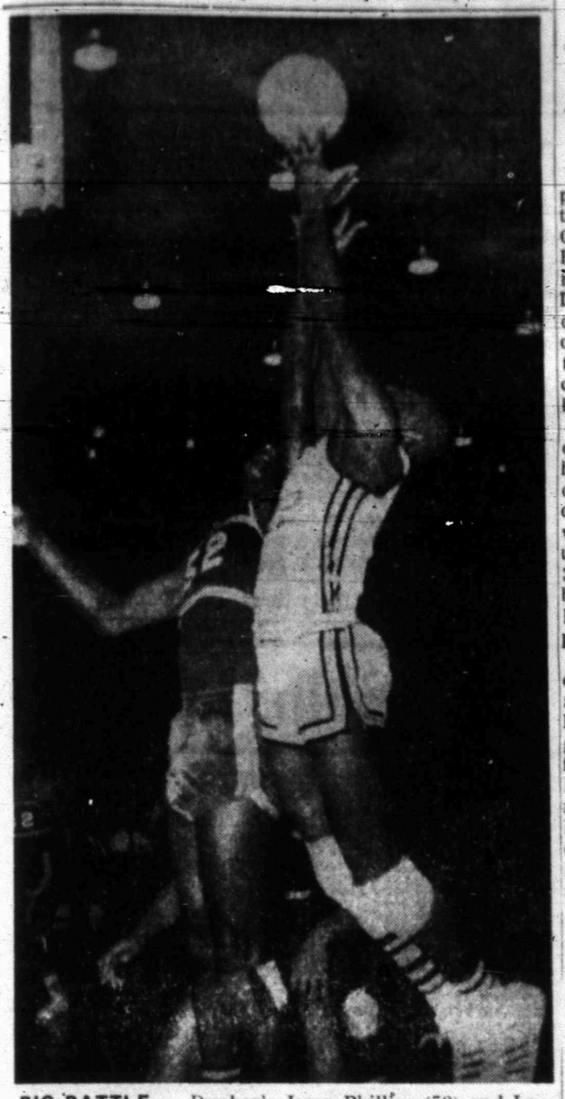

John Hollins then dropped one in close on the third tip as Dunbar grabbed a 44-42 margin with two minutes remaining. The Panthers retained possession on a jump ball in the Lamesa end of the court and Ronald Melton put in three straight at the free throw line to ice down the decision. Lamesa didn't score again until it was too late.

Lamesa outscored Dunbar in the first, second and fourth quarters, but the Panthers' 21-point production in the third frame matched Lamesa's total points in the second half and it was eight more than Dunbar was able to post in the first half.

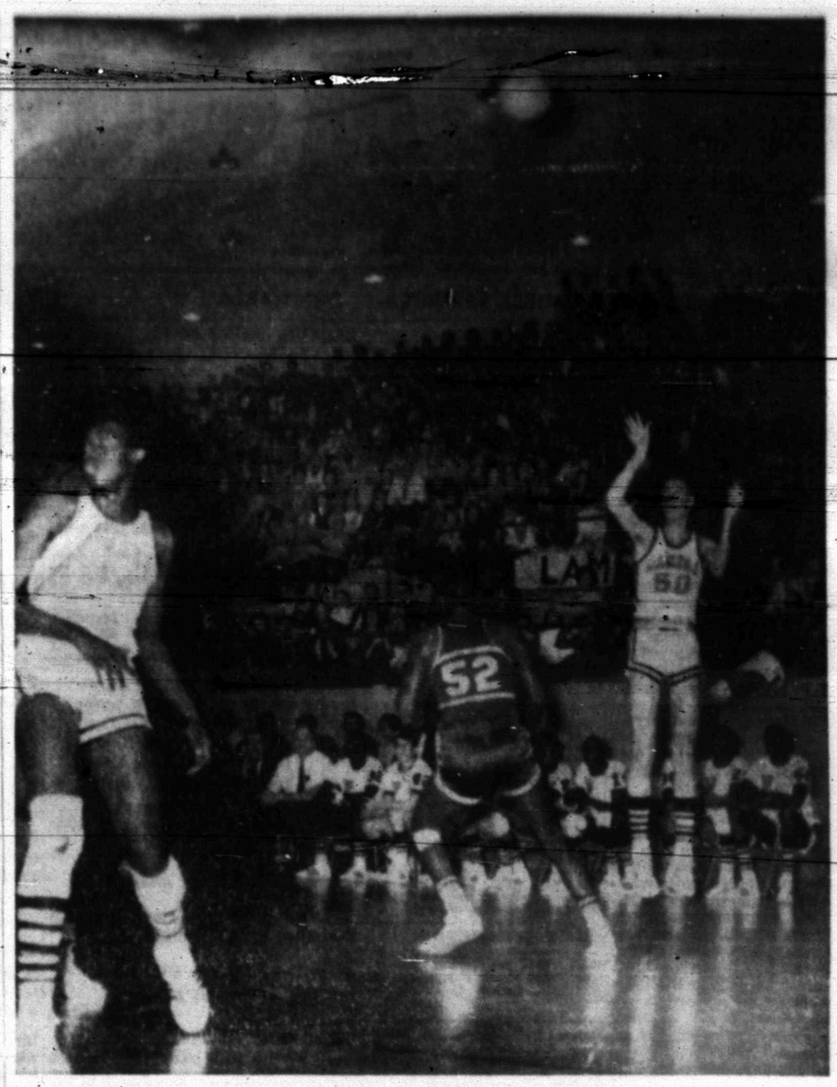

It was enough to dethrone the Kings of AAA circles.

Mason copped scoring honors with 18 points. He and Fees were the only two Tornadoes to finish in double figures. Phillips led Dunbar with 13, and Wilson and Skief each contributed 10 points.

BIG BATTLE — Dunbar's Jerry Phillips (52) and Lamesa's Jerry (Tap) Mason (white uniform) go high for a rebound during the 3-AAA championship thriller held in the Scurry County Coliseum last night. Dunbar won 47-44 and will represent the district in the basketball playoffs.

No Fib: McGee Leads

By STEVE BASSETT

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Jerry McGee, carrying a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament, behaves just like a 23-year-old second-year pro.

— He watched the score board the good part of his fine round on Thursday.

— He scrambled like crazy on some holes just to save a par.

— He was almost speechless after finishing with a seven-underpar 33-32—65.

— And he expressed surprise when he learned he was the first-round leader.

McGee, a 150-pounder from New Lexington, Ohio, carded seven birdies and not a single bogey as he humbled the 7,200-yard par 72 Tucson National golf course.

"I'm a little speechless," said McGee, after he holed a birdie putt on the 18th hole to carry a two-stroke lead over Dean Beman, 35-32—67, into today's play.

A stroke behind Beman at four-under-par 68 were Steve Oppermann, Bruce Crampton, Dave Stockton and John Lotz.

Fran Rejoins Wally

HOUSTON AP) — Fran Polsfoot, former St. Louis Cardinal receiving coach, has joined the coaching staff of the Houston Oilers.

Polsfoot, 39, spent seven years as coach with the Cardinals. In 1951 he set a pass receiving record while playing for the Cardinals with 57 catches for 796 yards.

By taking the Houston job he will be rejoining Oiler Coach Wally Lemm who formerly coached the Cardinals.

The word from Ford Country:

Torino's wheelbase is this much longer than 38 other intermediate size cars.

Any way you measure it, that adds up to more value.

We don't care if others do cost more. We Ford Dealers will match Torino in size, luxury, ride, and style against any intermediate at any price. UNITED NATIONS ACTION ASKED

Human Bondage Still Thrives

By HENRIETTA LEITH
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In a cultured Middle Eastern home, 8-year-old girls serve the table until 1 a.m. and are roused three hours later to begin their morning chores. Their owner calls them "lucky children."

In one African country, between 300 and 400 women and girls live in one man's harem—sold to the chief by those seeking favors from him.

African field hands work through the daylight hours with a 15-minute rest and a glass of water in midday, and their children do not belong to them, but to the man who owns them and several thousand other slaves.

And around the world, says the head of a British antislavery group, there are an estimated 10 million human beings living in these or other forms of bondage.

Col. Patrick Montgomery, executive secretary of the Anti-slavery Society for the Protection of Human Rights, cited examples of human bondage in an interview here and called for action by the United Nations to implement its 1956 convention on abolition of slavery.

"There should be set up within the United Nations," he said, "some body of knowledge available to states wishing to solve this problem. There is not a single person within the United Nations whose business it is to know anything about slavery, much less do anything about it."

Montgomery said U.N. policy on treatment of refugees and the illicit drug trade are backed up with efficient staffs of U.N. experts.

But the slavery convention, though ratified by 72 countries —more than either of the others —has never been made effective, he said.

Montgomery blamed the inaction on the "sensitivity" of newly independent nations. "The United Nations is most reluctant to handle this problem," he said, "very largely because of this sensitivity" and because the nations involved "now form a majority with the Soviet bloc."

Slavery in one form or another—classic "chattel" slavery, sham adoptions, serfdom and servile forms of marriage and concubinage—exists in some 30 countries and the 10-million estimate, Montgomery says, is "very modest."

Countries in which some bondage still exists, he said, "lie in a belt stretching all way around the world between latitude 10 south and 30 north of the equator, starting in Polynesia, all the way through southern Asia, the Persian Gulf, southern Arabia, central and Saharan Africa and the high Andes and Amazon forests of South America."

"In these countries where there is no birth control, there is appalling poverty and destitution, and a child will be sold into prostitution so the rest may eat for a little longer," he added.

Montgomery said the African harem and the dawn-to-dusk field slaves were described in a report to his group by a recently returned missionary. Many reports come from society members who travel around the world seeking evidence of slavery.

The little Middle Eastern girls, he said, were observed during the past year by a woman member of his group as she dined in the luxurious home of a native doctor. She was told, he said, that the children came from poor families in the nearby hills, and had been sold to the doctor for 10 years for a total of $40.

"The doctor and his wife were very indignant," he said, "at any insinuation that there was exploitation involved. They said the children were given lodging, food and clothing and were lucky little children to be sold to him instead of being sold into prostitution."

Montgomery said actual chattel slavery, where the slave is "owned like an animal" and all rights of ownership are vested for life in the slave-holder, exists in many countries and "an informed, inteligent guess is that there are probably some hundreds of thousands of chattel slaves in the world."

Montgomery said his organization does not want to lay the blame on new governments for not doing "what ought to have been done by colonial governments long ago."

"We would like to gain their confidence," he said, "and convince them that this is not just a way of washing their dirty linen in public."

Amarillo Lawyer To Speak At Church

C. J. Humphrey, prominent Amarillo attorney and Baptist layman, will fill the pulpit Sunday morning at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Mr. Humphrey is widely sought as a speaker, and has addressed church meetings across the Southern United States and overseas. He is a deacon in the First Baptist Church in Amarillo, and his wife is state Women's Missionary Union President for Texas Baptists.

Sunday will be Baptist Men's Day at Colonial Hill. The choir will be composed of men and a quartet of men will present the special music.

Be still

"And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." Genesis 2:7.

We cannot accept that man's just a light ape
Who varies in stature, in girth, and in shape
And that an appendix and a hirsute chest
Show anthropoid ancestry as Darwin expressed.
Only God who put all stars in their plan
Could create an intelligent creature called man!

Odd Things Do Happen

DALLAS (AP) — Some strange things happen during a Texas winter storm.

Wayne Cotton, a radio newsman at station KEAN in Brownwood, was driving to work Thursday in falling snow and passed over a large puddle of water. He called the city water department to report a burst water main.

At work Cotton tried to get a drink from the water fountain. He realized, while working outside in 20-degree cold with a burner trying to thaw the station's water pipes, what had happened.

Station KRLD-TV in Dallas put on a substitute weather man for its 10 p.m. news and weather show. Regular meteorologist Warren Culbertson was snowed in in Waxahachie.

Christians Shift View Of Judaism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A major shift in Christianity's theological view of Judaism is urged in a new study. It says Christians should recognize that Judaism, although not accepting Jesus as savior, continues to be a divinely sanctioned instrument of salvation.

Judaism's nonacceptance of Jesus "falls within the sovereign purposes of God," says the Rev. Dr. A. Roy Eckardt, a Protestant theologian and specialist on the subject who advances the case for a basic reevaluation.

He calls Judaism the "star of redemption" and Christianity the supplemental "rays of that star" for reaching out to a pagan world.

He deplores Christian efforts "to convert" the Jews as a "fatal distortion of the structure of the history of salvation" and in veiled form, an "attack upon the essence of the Christian faith itself."

He adds: "For if the Jewish people are not already members of the family of God, we who are Gentiles remain lost and without hope. The covenant into which Jesus the Jew ostensibly leads us would be revealed as a delusion."

But the divine covenant with Israel is "an enduring one," he says, and "all attempts to put it out of business by missions, however well intentioned, contradict God's purpose."

Dr. Eckardt, a Methodist and chairman of the Department of Religion at Pennsylvania's Lehigh University, has specialized in studying Jewish-Christian relationships for 25 years.

His new analysis, entitled "Elder and Younger Brothers," published by Scribner's, adds a timely note to the current observance of "Brotherhood Week," which continues through this Sunday.

It is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Enkardt calls for a basic change in the traditional Christian teaching that the church entirely succeeds Judaism as the "new Israel," leaving its predecessor outmoded.

As younger partner, the church can carry "forward Israel's sacred role" beyond Judaism, he says, but "the church does not annul the role of original Israel, nor can it ever, in human history, take the place of Israel."

Dr. Eckardt says "it is the Lord's faithfulness to His promises to original Israel that enables us to affirm theologically the peculiar and abiding integrity of the Jewish faith."

Only by such an affirmation, he says, can Christianity rid itself of its anti-Semitic tinge.

"There is no other cure of this plague, no other atonement for the dreadful crimes of Christendom against the people of God," he says.

"But neither is there any other way to establish and celebrate the unique truths of the Christian faith. Only a Jew (Jesus) could accomplish the miracle of opening the covenant to the pagan world."

Wedding Is Called Off

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) — Stan Kipling called off his wedding rather than move a model locomotive out of the bridal chamber.

The bride-to-be, Mrs. Janet Parkin, said the three-foot-high engine took up too much room in Kipling's bedroom. Last month the 62-year-old miner agreed to dismantle the engine, and the couple scheduled a March wedding.

Thursday Stan changed his mind.

"I just can't bear to part with the machine," he said in an interview. "It's my only hobby and I want to go on tinkering with it."

He added that the bedroom is the only place he has room for it.

Mrs. Parkin, a 66-year-old widow, collapsed on being told the wedding was off.

"I am being made to look a fool," she said, "but I will never take second place to a locomotive."

Tyler Voters Nix City Sales Levy

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Tyler voters turned out in heavy numbers and in snow and sub-freeing weather to defeat the one per cent city sales tax Thursday by a margin of 4,727 to 2,678.

Only one of the East Texas city's dozen voting boxes approved the plan for municipal income.

To Fight Mondale's Farm Bill

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major grain trade organization — The Grain and Feed Dealers Association — has announced it will fight a farm-price bargaining bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

This bill would establish a National Agricultural Relations Board with power to conduct referendums of growers to elect bargaining committees. The panels would deal with buyers of farm products in setting prices for these products.

Such price agreements would have the force of law.

In a newsletter to members, the grain association said the Mondale proposal would destroy the free enterprise system.

"Needless to say, in the controlled economic environment where prices are negotiated for the entire production of the commodity, such a commodity would probably move directly from the producer to the professor with country elevators (both independent and cooperative) being bypassed," the newsletter said.

"Furthermore, with the price being fixed, the need for future commodity markets and hedging would disappear. With a universal fixed price for each commodity, the normal buyer-seller relationship would be nullified and an entirely new concept of competitive relationship for processors would be established.

"The policy objectives of the grain and feed dealers association requires us to be in direct opposition to this bargaining bill."

Disruption Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — Timothy Leary says he and his LSD disciples will take part in any attempt to disrupt next summer's Democratic convention in Chicago. He told a news conference his followers would join "young people, blacks, peace and women's groups" in an attempt to block the nomination of President Johnson.

...Keep Plodding

That's the spirit of the turtle. But he must not be kept from the race if there is to be a winner. God planned so wisely in setting us in a world of competition. No one runs his best without a competitor. We raise better corn when our neighbor tries to outdo us. Every church is better because of the church across the way. Catholics work harder and are more devout because Protestantism appeared. The Jewish polity strives, with all of us, toward a better society under God. God wants progress from all. Sometimes the faithful plodder, like the turtle, is a greater inspiration than one with more ability.

May our pastor and our church grow into greater forces for good because of the faithful attendance and support of every member. May we keep plodding in wholesome competition.
