

WALKER AND KISELEV

By Robert Morris

(Editor's Note: Robert Morris, Past President of the University of Dallas, was formerly chief counsel of the Senate's Subcommittee on Internal Security.)

You may not agree with what General Edwin A. Walker says. You may feel that he should not have gone to Mississippi after the demonstrations had begun, just as some people feel that freedom riders from the north should not have carried their demonstrations into the south.

General Walker is concerned over our present policy of preparing to merge our military establishment with a U. N. Peace Force made up, for the most part, of nations hostile to our way of life particularly when the Assistant Secretary General in charge of disarmament and military affairs for the U. N. is the tough Soviet E. D. Kiselev. Walker has been a military man, a battlefield hero, and he feels it would be disastrous for the United States to dissolve the Army he served all his life, as our present policy provides for the years ahead.

Not The Issue

You may not agree with his concern on this or on his stand for states rights but whether you do or not, that is not the issue in the present Walker case.

While General Walker was engaged in what he contends was peaceable assembly in Mississippi he was apprehended by United States marshals, charged with four crimes bearing on insurrection and sedition, not allowed to post bail, ordered by a federal judge to a federal mental prison for a sixty to ninety day period and as I write this, five days later, still denied the precious writ of habeas corpus.

When the federal judge ordered him to undergo psychiatric examination, Walker was not even in his jurisdiction. He had no lawyer present. It was a clear violation not only of the Statute but of General Walker's rights under the Constitution.

Political Prisoner

Thus, General Walker becomes the first political prisoner in the United States. This is a situation that warrants a serious assessment of where we are and where we are going. If this legal precedent is set, we are in serious trouble in the months and years ahead.

All of this comes at a time when the Communist party here in the United States is openly defying the laws of the land that require it and its members to register with the Department of Justice. Apparently, and in contrast to the attitude in the Walker case, the Department of Justice is doing little or nothing about this defiance.

I was counsel to the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee for five years and had to watch the way Communists were treated after their arrests under the Smith Act, the various espionage acts and related legislation. Not one hard core Khrushchev henchman was treated the way General Walker is being treated now. Every Communist was scrupulously accorded his rights under the Constitution.

Good proof of this is that virtually every Communist arrested under the Smith Act has had his conviction set aside by judicial decision. And this is so even though every one of these people, incontrovertibly, has had the overthrow of the government of the United States as his goal. Every one of them has worked in concert with a hostile foreign power.

This dangerous double standard can be serious. It gives the impression to all the land and in fact to all the world that if you go along with the Communists all will be well. If you identify yourself with resistance to Communism as General Walker has, on the other hand, you encounter a plague of troubles.

Precedent Set

The Walker case involves a dangerous precedent. If it stands, a United States citizen in the future may wish to protest the action of the Federal Government in something other than overriding the authority of the State of Mississippi. He may wish, for instance, to protest being merged under the banner of the United Nations with Mr. Kiselev as his leader. If he engages in peaceable assembly to raise his voice in protest, he could be rushed off to a federal prison hospital, ordered held for psychiatric observation, denied bail, denied a public trial and denied even the writ of habeas corpus. You say it couldn't happen? It is happening to General Walker!

Sells Bros. Circus To Be Presented Here Mon., Nov. 5th

Mr. Edd Hartman of the Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department announces that they plan to sponsor the famous Sells Bros. Circus in Santa Anna on Monday, November 5th.

The show, a genuine old time 3 Ring Circus "under the big top", and the largest to play in this area in many years, will give performances at 4:30 and 8:00 p. m. The show grounds will be in the Little League Ball Park in the southeast part of town. The circus will be here one day only.

Sells Bros. 3 Ring Circus, "the oldest and proudest name in the circus world", presents over 30 feature acts in 3 rings, bringing all the thrills of Circus Day to young and old alike. The tented circus is not dead, and the Sells Bros. prove it with an outstanding array of talent from the four corners of the world. Aerial artists and wire walkers share the spot light with jugglers, tumblers and funny clowns; while amazing animal actors cavort in all three rings to show that Circus Day is still the happiest holiday of the year. Dogs, ponies, monkeys, bears, lions, and many more will hold the attention of the small fry, while the entire family will marvel at the performing herds of elephants.

Traveling on two vast convoys of motorized equipment, Sells Bros. famous 3 Ring Circus presents an all new show for the 1962 season. They boast a huge big top, with comfortable seating for thousands. No games of chance or gambling devices are carried with the show, and the sponsor draws attention to the fact that the Sells Bros. Circus is good, clean entertainment for the entire family.

Tickets are on sale now from any member of the sponsoring group, and the sponsor urges everyone to buy their tickets to avoid the line at the box office on Circus Day. All proceeds will go to local activities of the sponsor.

Large Number of Local Youth Show Lambs at Fair

A large number of local youths entered lambs in the Junior Lamb Show at the Dallas State Fair of Texas last week. A number of the lambs that had placed in the top bracket in Waco the previous week placed rather low in the judging at Dallas. There is no set standards as to what a judge will look for in placing the lambs.

Local youths showing and placing at the Fair were as follows: Class 1, Darlyne Jones, 6th; Steve Valdez, 8th; Les Guthrie, 12th; Joe Ed Wise, 14th; Donnie Henderson, 20th and 21st; Frank Valdez, 22nd; Joe Ed Wise, 31st; Frank Valdez, 32nd; Bobby Morgan, 33rd; Bobby Morgan, 60th; John Dillingham, 66th; Randy Brown, 67th; Leland Williams, 71st; and Stanley Hartman, 72nd.

Class 3, Wade Jones, 4th.

Class 5, Bubba Jones, 8th; Stanley Hartman, 10th and Darlyne Jones, 19th.

Halloween Carnival To Be Held Saturday Night

The Junior Class of the Santa Anna High School, will hold their annual Halloween Carnival at the school Saturday evening. The activities will get underway at 5:00 p. m. and continue for several hours.

Cornation of the Halloween Queen will be at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Admission to the cornation will be 25 cents per person, with the money being used as votes for the queen. The class decided not to place jars around over town this year for this purpose.

The Junior Class invites everyone to come out and enjoy the carnival activities.

Psychology Of A Clown To Be At School Auditorium

Art Jennings, a member of the Southern School Assemblies Agency, will present a program in the high school auditorium at 9:00 a. m. Friday, November 2. Admission will be 10 cents for elementary students from the first grade through the seventh grades; and 15 cents for eighth grade students and all high school students. Adult admission will also be 15 cents.

The program will last for about 45 minutes and is sponsored by the Santa Anna Student Council.

Combining more than 15 years of experience as an outstanding performer with an extensive study of the psychology of humor and a keen observation of human nature, Mr. Jennings has produced a program of exceptional merit.

During the course of his lecture entertainment, he not only gives much of the history and romance of clowning, but he also demonstrates by actual performance almost every step of the way.

You will see Mr. Jennings apply make-up and wardrobes, ride a unicycle, do lightening, cartooning, perform magic, demonstrate chapeauography and paper folding, exhibit remarkable juggling, and you will learn why and how these skills apply to the psychology of a clown.

The program offers education, humor, skill and sustained interest. You will enjoy every minute of it.

Share, Don't Scare It's Double Fun

Your Halloween treats can save lives. You may have a share in this program by contributing to the Children's Fund which goes to help the children throughout the world.

According to a speech by Rep. W. H. Judd of Minnesota before the House of Representatives on August 14 we quote: "I don't know any money we have spent anywhere that has done more good and been better administered." The accomplishments of UNICEF have been extraordinary. "I take pride in these accomplishments as can all Americans and those in other countries that have supported it." Whole-hearted endorsements by President Kennedy, former President Eisenhower, former Vice President Nixon and others were quoted in this same speech.

Milk distributed so far under this Children's Fund could fill UN Headquarters 22 times. If the empty vials from the penicillin used in this program were placed end to end they would stretch 450 miles. One cent will buy five cups of milk and five cents will protect five children against tuberculosis. These are only a few of the many worthwhile uses of this money. The money received by a nation must be matched dollar for dollar by that nation; thus encouraging them to help themselves.

The school children (1st through 5th grades) of Santa Anna will take part in this program on Wednesday afternoon, October 31, beginning around 4:30. Each child collecting for this very worthwhile cause will have a regular orange and black "Trick or Treat" carton in which you may place your contribution. The drive is made at this time in order that some who live in the country may participate.

When your doorbell is rung by one of these small children won't you contribute generously? Let's teach our children to share at Halloween — not Scare. Perhaps your contribution will save the life of the child who will develop a cure for cancer or will contribute greatly in our fight for Christianity and against Communism.

*This speech was entered in the Congressional Record. Free reprints are available on request.

Mountaineers Ready To Host Bulldogs Friday

The Mountaineers are ready to play hosts to the Cooperas Cove Bulldogs on the local field Friday evening. Game time is 8:00 p. m. This will be the third conference game for the Mountaineers, the fourth conference game for the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs have a rather small team, but they are well balanced and are fairly fast. Although they have won only two games this season, they will be fresh from a 42-6 win over Marble Falls last week and will be working hard to pull an upset on the Mountaineers.

The Bulldogs lost their first two conference games. Early beat them 28-0 in the season opener, then Goldthwaite took a 42-0 win from them.

The Mountaineers had a week of rest and recuperation, last week and are working this week to perfect their attack for the next four games. All the boys are in good shape and seem ready for the whistle to start the game Friday night.

The Mountaineers and Bulldogs have both played Goldthwaite. Goldthwaite whipped the Mountaineers 36-6 and the Bulldogs 42-0, which on paper seem to give the Mountaineers a slight advantage. As so often is said and proved, the paper advantage does not work on the field and the Mountaineers are going to have to be ready to play ball in order to win this game.

This is next to the last home game this season. There is a good possibility of fair weather for this game. There is not much telling what the weather will be by the time the next home game comes up. Your presence at this game will be needed as much as any other time. Be sure you are on hand to see the game.

Jr. Mountaineers Take 38-14 Win Tuesday Night

The Junior Mountaineers won their third game of the season Tuesday night by defeating the Junior May Tigers 38-14 at May. Coach Don Davis said the first string did not get to play a great deal of the game in order to attempt to keep the score down.

The boys scored twice in the first period and once in each of the other three periods. They attempted to run across all the extra points and made all of them but one.

The Sixth Grade boys played quite a bit of the game, giving them some valuable experience for future years.

Tax Collector Will Be Here All Day Friday

John Skelton, county tax assessor and collector, will be at the Santa Anna National Bank all day Friday, Oct. 26, for the purpose of collecting 1962 state and county taxes from property owners of this area.

Skelton said all taxes paid in October were subject to a 3 percent discount and urged everyone who can to take advantage of the early payment discount.

Contract Let On Two Sites On Mukewater Creek

The Douglas A. Lott Construction Company of Fort Worth was apparent low bidder for Sites 2 and 3 floodwater retarding structures on Mukewater Creek Watershed. Eleven bids were opened at the bid opening in the State Soil Conservation Service office at Temple on October 15, according to E. J. Hughes, Area Conservationist at Brownwood. The low bid was for $68,167.

Principal items involved in the building of the two floodwater retarding structures will include excavation and placement of approximately 150,000 cubic yards of earth fill material; 78 cubic yards of reinforced concrete and 323 linear feet of concrete pipe will be used in the principal spillways. Topsoil will be salvaged and placed in the emergency spillways to make possible the growing of grass on an estimated 35,000 square yards and wire fence to protect the dams and emergency spillways will amount to approximately 15,000 linear feet.

Construction should begin on the contract within 20 days from date of award. Ralph W. White, Project Construction Engineer with the Soil Conservation Service at Brownwood, will supervise construction on this job, Hughes said.

Misuse of Plastic Film Makes It A Lethal Weapon For Young Children

Austin — Plastic film again is headed for the number one position as the most frightening and unsuspecting child killer since abandoned refrigerators, the Texas Safety Association warned today.

The Association issued the warning after receiving two additional reports recently of accidental deaths from suffocation due to plastic film.

"Two Texas babies, living about 200 miles apart, recently died within hours of each other in almost identical accidents. Both suffocated when they got plastic covers over their faces while in bed," J. O. Musick, General Manager of TSA, reported.

The two deaths occurring on the last weekend of September, added to five accidental plastic film deaths reported to the Texas Department of Health's Division of Vital Statistics during the first eight months of the year bring the total for 1962 to seven.

"If this trend continues," the safety director noted, "the accidental suffocation fatalities in 1962 will surpass the record number of 10 reported in the state in 1959."

He explained suffocation fatalities related to plastic film began occurring about four years ago when the film was rapidly gaining popularity for many uses.

The first fatality reported in the nation in 1958 was considered a "freak" accident, but by the end of the first three months of 1959, 20 such accidental deaths had been reported in the nation.

Safety councils and manufacturers of plastic film bags, joined by other organizations, immediately began a safety campaign to reduce the danger of death from plastic film.

The campaign, spearheaded by TSA in Texas, resulted in a 30 per cent reduction in fatalities the first year. However, there were still seven fatalities in 1960 and eight in 1961.

"These deaths are tragic as they can be prevented easily. Also, it is sad to note that babies under six months old are the victims of plastic film," he said.

Of the 30 Texas fatalities reported from January 1, 1959 through August of this year, 27 were in this age group. The other three deaths were a seven-month-old baby, a two-year-old child and a 13-year-old boy.

Musick said carelessness on the part of adults is the contributing factor involved in the fatalities.

"However, recent studies reveal there are many parents who just are not aware of the dangers of the plastic film," he added.

More articles are being brought into the home every day which are enclosed in some kind of plastic bag or covering. These coverings often are saved for other uses.

"Mothers find plastic film a handy and useful material for mattress covers, pillow covers or pads to slip under babies," Musick noted.

The thin flimsy-type of plastic, not made specifically for these purposes, is the kind which causes tragedy. The film clings like tape and when covering anyone's nose and mouth immediately cuts off air.

"A baby or small child can't tear the material, nor can he pull it from his face," Musick said.

The plastic bag in particular is almost impossible for a child to remove. Even adults have been trapped in plastic bags and suffocated.

Ironically it may seem — a medical doctor, attempting to determine how the plastic suffocation, became entangled in a plastic bag and suffocated.

The 13-year-old boy in Texas also was trying out a bag to test results.

One aspect which makes the killer doubly hazardous is its deceiving appearance. Unlike fires, poisons and many other killers, the plastic film gives no forewarning of its dangerous nature.

Fatality reports show that unsuspecting parents have even given children plastic to play with. One father gave a six-month-old child a plastic bag to keep him amused while he helped the mother bring in the wash. Minutes later, the baby was dead.

A two-year-old, waked early from his nap and proceeded to investigate a collection of plastic bags in the back of a closet. She was found too late — suffocated from the plastic covering her face.

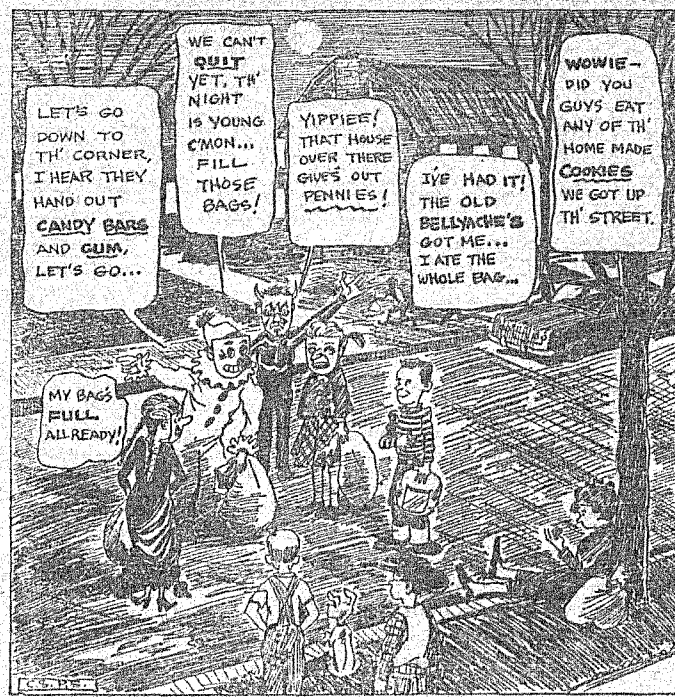

Most of the infant deaths in Texas occurred in the crib when babies either turned their faces into plastic protectors and inhaled, sealing the film on their faces or other wise became entangled in loose plastic.

Musick emphasized that the Association does not condemn plastic film. The plastic itself is not dangerous. Like refrigerators and automobiles, it is one of the conveniences of the twentieth century living.

"Only when it is misused does the plastic become a lethal weapon," he concluded.

Patagonia is at the southern end of South America.

HALLOWEEN TREATS...

Drugs Can Cause Accidents Same As Intoxicants

Drugs which relieve nasal congestion and combat allergies can contribute to traffic accidents, the Texas Safety Association warned today.

"It all depends on how these drugs affect the driver," TSA General Manager J. O. Musick said.

He explained that while relieving physical discomfort, such drugs may cause side effects such as inattention, confusion and drowsiness.

Musick emphasized that all persons do not experience side effects, but that those who do "certainly should not be driving a motor vehicle."

"A motorist driving under the influence of such drugs can be as genuine a threat in traffic as a person driving under the influence of alcohol," he explained.

Musick labeled the combination of drugs and alcohol in traffic "double-suicide."

The safety director noted that as the pollen count increases during the fall and people seek relief from the "sniffles," there will be more danger of accidents from the side effects of drugs.

He urged motorists under the care of a physician to heed his advice about driving while taking drugs and advised those persons making across-the-counter purchases of drugs to take note of warnings on labels concerning side effects.

"If a drug produces side effects, do not drive a motor vehicle — the life you save may be your own," he concluded.

LP Gas Safe If Handled Properly

College Station — LP gas, or liquefied petroleum gas, is now being used more and more on Texas farms and ranches as a fuel for tractors and for household purposes, says Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M College. As with any combustible fuel, safety precautions are necessary when using LP gas to prevent injury and damage by explosion or fire, O'Neal adds. One important precaution is to locate the tank at least 50 feet from any major building and 20 feet from other tanks containing flammable liquids, according to O'Neal. Also, the tank should be located so that it is isolated from open fires, sparks and other sources of ignition.

If a pump is used on the tank, erect a low fence around it to prevent accidental damage to the pump, hose connection, and the pipe fittings which may cause dangerous leaks.

Low spots and holes around the tank should be filled because LP gas is heavier than air and gas that leaks from the tank will settle in these low spaces and become a fire hazard, O'Neal says.

If leaks are suspected in the tank they should not be detected by using a flame, he warns. Keep away from the tank and call the local service man.

LP gas is a fuel and should never be used for cleaning purposes or to inflate tires.

According to O'Neal, LP gas is a safe fuel and can be used without fear of explosion or fire if proper care and safety practices are observed.

LABORATORY FOR ELECTRICAL POWER

West Texas Utilities Company maintains a laboratory and a full time chemist in each of the power plants to check the chemical content of water used by WTU. Chemical content of the water helps to determine the frequency of equipment overhauls.

Boilers, turbine blades, cylinders, piping, steam inlet valves, condensers, water pumps, and much other operational equipment is impaired by chemicals in the water. Close laboratory control of water conditions can prevent equipment breakdown before it happens. This is just one of the many maintenance procedures by WTU to assure you a continual flow of electrical power.

How your savings can help build your country's future as it builds your own

What are your plans for—say—8 or 10 years from now?

A new home?

College for your children?

Plans like these take money... money that you'll have if you start buying U.S. Savings Bonds now. For every $3 you invest, Series E Savings Bonds will pay you back $4 when the Bonds mature... even more if you hold them longer.

But your plans will take more than just money. You'll need the freedom to choose, to act, to decide for yourself. We Americans have these freedoms now. And when you buy U.S. Savings Bonds, you help your country preserve those freedoms.

You see, while your dollars are earning interest for you, Uncle Sam puts them to work to defend the cause of freedom. Your dollars help strengthen our economy here at home, and help our Nation stand up for freedom all over the world. And then they come back to you—with interest!

There probably isn't a better way to put your savings to work, to help build freedom for your future. Why not start today at your bank...

This man has plans for your future too, but you wouldn't like them. An important way we can keep his ambitions in check is to keep strong financially—as individuals and as a Nation.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service Workers To Confer

College Station — Texas county agents and home demonstration agents will be missing from their offices next week, October 29-November 2. But, they'll all be back in the harness on November 4 fresh from their week-long State Conference at Texas A&M College better equipped to discharge their responsibilities.

In this day of change, they will hear discussed and will study the latest on science and technology, as it affects their work in the counties and the people they serve. And perhaps of equal importance, they will have opportunities to discuss with co-workers problems and programs of mutual interest. The State Conference, said Texas Extension Director John E. Hutchison, is a mighty important part of our continuing professional improvement program for field as well as headquarters personnel. The Conference brings together the largest single unit of the Nation's Agricultural Extension Services, a part of the Land-Grant System.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
THE EYE AND A CAMERA

We may consider the eye and its focus on objects much as we would a camera. If a camera is out of focus, one moves the position of the lens — he changes the distance. This is what we do with the eye — we place the eye in focus with spectacles or contact lenses.

Just because one requires a stronger lens to place the eye in focus does not mean there is a weakness present. It depends upon the cause. Generally speaking, we cannot say it is a weak eye in the true sense. Such an eye can be compared to a camera that is out of focus — it does not mean the camera is weak just because the focus is bad.

I would consider a weak eye one that is diseased. If it is not, and the changes would be caused by normal physiological means, then I would consider the eye healthy. That is why it is so important to visit an optometrist or ophthalmologist every six months for an eye examination.

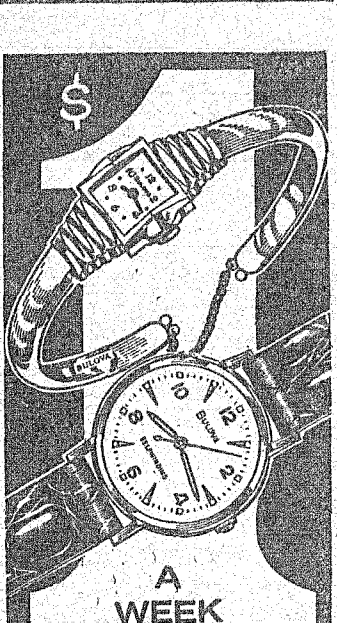

Eyes are made to work and see, and with proper care, there is no reason why our vision should not be at its best all of our lives.

ROUND-UP FOOTBALL

The Burnett Bulldogs took a commanding lead in District 9-A Friday night by trouncing the Goldthwaite Eagles 19-6 in the top game of the week for the district. This game leaves the Bulldogs with a 3-0 conference record and the Eagles with a 2-1 conference record. Burnett has a 6-1 record for the year, losing only to San Saba early in the season by a 3-7 score. The Eagles now have a 5-2 season record.

The Bulldogs drove across their first TD early in the second period, then kicked the extra point, giving them a 7-0 lead. The Eagles rallied late in the same period on a 13-yard pass for their only TD of the game with 17 seconds left in the first half. The Bulldogs drove 88 yards for a TD in the third period and 87 yards for their fourth period TD.

Copperas Cove blasted the Marble Falls Mustangs 42-6 in the other conference game Friday night. The Bulldogs scored 7 points in the first period, 8 in the second, 14 in the third and 13 in the fourth. Marble Falls scored their only TD in the second period when Halfback Jerry Terry returned a kickoff 92 yards in a dazzling run.

The Bulldogs also were creditied with a 90-yard touchdown run in the third period and a 50-yard pass interception for a TD in the third period.

The Early Longhorns ruined the Bangs Homecoming Saturday night by downing the Dragons 39-0. The passing and running of the Newbury and Lampkin team was more than the Dragons could cope with. Lampkin smashed for the first two TDs and Newbury passed to Gary Williams for the last three TDs. Earl Reynolds sprinted 20 yards for the third TD. Early now has a 6-1 season record and a 2-1 conference record, while Bangs has a 3-3 season record and 0-2 conference record.

The Mountaineers took a much needed rest over the weekend and are working hard this week preparing for the final four conference games. Early this week all the boys were in good physical condition and seemed ready to get the final stages of the season underway. The Mountaineers have a 4-2 season record and a 1-1 conference record.

Sidewalk Superintendents watching a new building going up in New York City have been accommodated as never before. They look through a specially constructed clear plastic fence 300 feet long and 8 feet high, a big improvement over the usual portholes. Radio and TV stars describe the operation over a public address system.

TOWARD SOCIALIST AMERICA

According to Associated Press reports, the annual convention of the National Education Association in Denver heard a panel discussion last June which advised teachers and educators to fight back at "right wing extremists." This was the advice of several educators in a session on "Thunder on the Right and Education." One of the speakers lumped the "right wing" with the Communists when he said that the only way to counter all the extremist revolutionaries is to expose their methods.

Whatever happened to educators who consider ideas? But this is the way it goes. One of the panelists, a prominent educational leader, called upon "true lovers of freedom" to challenge "openly, aggressively, and unrelentlessly" their opposition. But what opposition? The Communists? No, he was calling for this kind of action against Americans who have been aiming the most telling blows at Communism. Anybody who exposes the Red menace must be heckled and belittled.

Liberals Captured

This sort of thing makes it obvious that the Communists have outfoxed the Liberals. Having won them over to fight their battles against the anti-Communists, they continue to use them in their purposes of making Socialist America. Many well-intentioned Liberals remain blind to the inroads being made with their help toward the Socialist State. Many of them seem unaware that the policies and ideas to which they are devoted could lead us into Communism.

Do the Communists bother to support legislation that tends to be socialistic? You can bet they do! One has only to read their publication, "The Worker," to see that they like anything that looks like the welfare state or more government spending. Do Communists work for programs they like? Richard Arens, formerly on the Un-American Activities Committee staff, has said that the Reds can pour 50,000 letters into Congress in 72 hours, supporting any bill that resembles socialism. The support they are able to obtain from Liberals is the greatest hoax of our time.

Peaceful Conquest

Whittaker Chambers commented in his book, "Witness," that when he took up his sling and aimed at Communism, he hit something else. "What I hit," he wrote, "was the forces of that great 'Socialist revolution' which, in the name of liberalism has been inching its icecap over the nation for two decades." Lenin vowed that the U. S. would be forced to spend itself to destruction, and now the promoters of the American socialistic state are trying their best to follow through for him.

Is Mr. Khrushchev pleased by our march toward socialism? Well, apparently he is continuing to count on it to bring victory to the Reds, for the Communist Party here and in Russia has many times urged our peaceful acceptance of socialism through legislation. Why should the Soviet army undertake military campaigns, when a little patience plus infiltration can do a thorough job of conquest? The Reds have the experience to prove that their plan works. They think it will work with America.

Internal Threat

Mr. Khrushchev has voiced this idea many times. An example was in a speech last June in Rumania, quoted by the Associated Press: "I am convinced that tomorrow the Red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag. It will be eves, cotton ginning and mechanization specialist, Texas A&M College, the cotton moisture meter can be used as a good indicator of quality.

This device makes it possible to determine the proper time for harvesting and the way to conduct the ginning operation to preserve cotton quality, the specialist adds. The moisture content of the cotton fiber when harvested and when in storage prior to ginning and during ginning is definitely correlated with spinning quality.

The fiber strength, the length, uniformity of the fibers, and the amount of tangled fibers or neps in the cotton affect its spinning quality, and the fiber moisture level in turn affects these. Research has shown that moisture levels above 8 percent make more drying necessary in the ginning operation and cotton with excess moisture tends to deteriorate in storage prior to ginning, says Reeves.

Cotton moisture level is also affected by the amount of trash in the harvested fiber. When trashy cotton is stored for long periods moisture moves from the trash into the cotton, explains the specialist. Therefore, dry, careful harvesting is needed to produce quality cotton and a moisture meter can help achieve this he adds.

Reeves recommends that you buy a moisture meter if your operation justifies it or have the moisture content checked at the gin, but take advantage of this aid to quality cotton production.
