Power of Gospel Isn't Losing In Modern Age, Reports Reveal; 5,975 Are Converted In Year

Funds Are Asked

Dr. J. W. Hunt, McMurry College President, To Ask For $500,000 For Institution

By HAMILTON WRIGHT (Associated Press Staff Writer). The power of the gospel in this modern age has not lost its power. At the morning session yesterday they reported a total of 5,975 conversions and 8,325 additions to the church. And the year—a political one—is usually regarded as a dull one.

Dr. Paul B. Kern, Travis Park Church, San Antonio, held a packed audience of 1,000 for a sermon on "The Cross."

Kern Preaches Tonight. Dr. Kern will preach again tonight.

For many years Kern was dean of the theological department of Southern Methodist University, and the author of a number of religious books, including a standard church text entitled "Ministry to the Congregation." He succeeded Rev. Arthur Moore at the San Antonio church about three years ago.

Commission Has Meeting Thursday

Removal of Portion of Stock Zone Limit Is Refused; Time Limit Extended To January 1

The city commission, at its regular session Thursday afternoon, after spending considerable time discussing a petition filed with them by citizens residing in the northeast part of town, requesting that the section named be kept out of the stock zone established by a recent city ordinance, decided to let the ordinance stand as proposed, extending the time for its enforcement, however, to January 1, instead of December 1.

The petition presented read as follows: "We, the undersigned citizens of Lubbock, respectfully ask that you take out of the stock zone recently passed in the city the following portion of the city: All the blocks east and north of the Santa Fe railroad, north of Broadway and east of the blocks immediately east of Avenue H. We feel that this portion of the city is not needed in the zone and that it would be unjust to the citizens to force the zone on them."

Slight Blow Is Blindness Cure

DENVER, Nov. 22. (AP)—Ten year of semi-blindness apparently had come to an end today for Alberta Colson, 18, in the same way they began from a slight blow on the side of the head.

When she was 8 years old, Miss Colson fell and struck her head on the frozen ground. The blow caused an injury to an optic nerve that caused her sight to gradually grow dimmer. The other day Miss Colson struck her head sharply on a metal projection in the bathroom of her home.

"I was stunned for a moment," Miss Colson reported, then I noticed the room suddenly had become lighter than usual. Out in the kitchen I was able to read distinctly the figures on a calendar. A short time later I was able to tell time by looking at a clock.

Today Miss Colson was able to read a newspaper. Oculists believe that the nerve, injured ten years ago, was snapped into place by the recent blow.

Congress Leaders Prepare for Short Session Projects

Committee Heads Advance On White House To Jockey for Position Of Measures; Farm Problem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Congress came out of its periodic inertia today as leaders advanced on the White House to jockey for position for some of the many legislative projects facing the approaching short session.

Twice revision, an extra session, farm relief, Boulder Canyon Dam and disposition of Muscle Shoals were among the subjects brought before President Coolidge during the day.

At the capitol, Chairman Borah and Hale of the Senate Foreign Relations and Naval committees, respectively, worked out a treaty for consideration of the Kellogg peace pact and the naval construction bill.

Demands of some western farm bloc senators for an extra session of the newly elected congress next spring after the Hoover administration takes office were bolstered materially when Representative Tilson of Connecticut, republican leader of the House, suggested at the White House that an extra session for consideration of tariff revision would be advisable.

Death Claims Mrs. Everett Thursday

Mrs. Buford Everett, 23, died at 3:45 p. m. Thursday at the family residence, 508 Avenue R, following an illness of two months. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church and had been a resident of Lubbock for the past year. Besides her husband, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hartwick, of Butler, Mo., and four brothers, G. E. Hartwick, of Bismarck, Mo.; Wade J. Hartwick, of Lubbock; Guy T. Hartwick, of Hannibal, Mo.; and Woodard Hartwick, of Butler, Mo.

The body will be sent to Butler, Mo., by Synnott Brothers, at 8:10 o'clock Saturday morning, where burial will be.

CHARGED IN ROBBERY

Three Men Arrested In Connection With Case

DENTON, Nov. 22. (AP)—Three men were charged with robbery with firearms today at the robbery of a mail train on the highway near here yesterday. Lionel Hammond and Francis Barnes were arrested in Gainesville and Thomas Balter was picked up here.

GIFT IS ANONYMOUS

Greater Baylor Fund Gets $25,000 From Someone

WACO, Nov. 22. (AP)—An anonymous gift of $25,000 reached the headquarters here today before the launching Friday of the Greater Baylor University campaign for $2,000,000. The gift swelled the aggregate of preliminary donations to $25,000.

State and Federal Appropriation On Highways Made

Million Is Voted for Upkeep In Texas by State Commission, Tuesday; Was Kept from Reporters

East Gets Largest

Action of Commission Was Not Made Known For Some Reason; Childress County Gets Aid

AUSTIN, Nov. 22.—About $1,000,000 in state and federal aid and appropriations for maintenance on Texas highways was voted by the State Highway Commission in executive session Tuesday. It was revealed by the minutes, not made available until today.

The closed session allotments were almost as large as the aggregate total of contracts for construction work let by the commission in its open sessions Monday and Tuesday. These amounted to $1,155,215.

After the executive session, members of the commission told reporters that only "routine business" had been transacted. That was Tuesday. Yesterday, Gibb Oldchrist, state highway engineer, said he did not think the commission had done much.

Most of the allotments were voted to highways in East Texas.

Three thousand dollars was appropriated to pay the cost of a location survey from Houston, Harris county, to a connection with highway 58 at or near Alvin, Brazoria county, and for the location of highway 58 from the Galveston causeway to Alvin to Angleton, and establish routes.

Assume State Maintenance. It was decided to assume state maintenance of highway 35 from Houston to Alvin.

An appropriation of $32,000 was voted for the extension of narrow road, way culverts and bridges on highways, 6, 21, 25, 40, 62, 66, 76, 81 and 93 in Anglin, Jasper, Newton, and other counties.

Party Will Stand, Marvin Jones Says

Amarillo Congressman Sees Future for Party Just As Past; Believes Its Spirit Stronger

Congressman Marvin Jones, of Amarillo, was a Lubbock visitor Thursday, remaining over for a day of visiting with his brothers, Earl, Hub and Frank, and his many friends here.

In speaking of the future of the democratic party, he said that he believed that organization would survive the recent defeat at the polls.

"The principles for which the democratic party long has stood, and still stands," said Congressman Jones, "are deep-lying and founded on truth. The party has suffered many defeats throughout its long years of service to the American people, and it is just as alive today as it was before this last very unusual election, if not more so."

To a query as to whether or not he thought the farmers would get some relief at the hands of the coming new administration, he said it depended upon what was meant by the word relief.

Convicts Escape From State Farm

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 22. (AP)—Three convicts escaped the Wynne state prison farm last night by cutting a hole in the floor of the building where they were housed. Captain Claude Williams, manager of the farm, revealed late today. One was recaptured today.

The men were A. J. "Bim" Andrews, given 50 years from Liberty county for robbery; Victory Artola, serving a life sentence from El Paso county for murder; and Augustine Villanueva, serving four years for theft in Webb county.

England Is Worried Over Condition Of King George

Anxiety Is Given For King; Cold Turns to Worse

(By Associated Press). LONDON, Nov. 22.—The cold from which King George has been suffering has developed into a slight congestion of one lung, a bulletin issued this evening by Dr. Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson, the King's physicians, said:

"The King had a rather restless day, owing to the persistence of fever. There is some congestion of one lung."

Causes Some Anxiety. At Buckingham Palace it was evident that the condition of His Majesty today had caused some anxiety.

The fact that 39 official bulletins had been issued in the morning, led the public to believe that the cold was following a normal course. The unexpected nature of the night report caused buzzing comment among the crowds gathered outside of the Palace to await the evening announcement.

Many of the gathering recalled the serious illness through which the King passed four years ago because of an attack of influenza. This was followed by bronchitis and he finally had to go to the Mediterranean to recuperate.

Since then his general health has been excellent. Because of his good constitution no real alarm has arisen over his present indisposition.

Robbers Are Caught Paducah Bandits Captured Near Quana Wednesday

PADUCAH, Nov. 22. (AP)—After they allegedly had robbed a store here Monday night and had staged a gun fight with their pursuers, two men were in jail here today having been captured in Quana last night.

Sheriff Payne, who returned the men to Paducah, said charges would be filed against them.

VIOLENCE IS FEARED National Guard Companies Stationed at Jail

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 22. (AP)—Three companies of the Alabama National guard, stationed here, were on duty at the Mobile county jail tonight as a precaution against possible mob attacks on seven negroes held there after they confessed the murder of C. C. Coffey, 70, former insurance man.

THREE ARE INDICTED Man, Woman and Mail Clerk Charged

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 22. (AP)—Three persons, one of whom was a mail clerk on the robbed car, today indicted for participation in the taking of $52,000 in cash from a Texas and Pacific railway mail car near Fort Worth on November 9.

The clerk, Mealing E. Pruett, was indicted along with his alleged co-conspirators, Travis H. Wilson and Miss Otte Bridges and the three were to be taken to Fort Worth for arraignment and trial.

Sterling's Plan Draws Criticism

Elwin Gerron, Ellis County Representative, Makes A Bitter Attack of Chairman's Highway Plan

(By Associated Press). WAXAHACHIE, Nov. 22.—A letter which carried the challenge of a debate and which sharply criticized state highway commission chairman, Ross Sterling, for his activities in the office was forwarded today to Sterling by Elwin Gerron, representative-elect from Ellis county.

"Your proposal to bond Texas $350,000,000 by taking taxes off the wealth of this state and placing them upon the backs of gasoline consumers is but an effort at commercial piracy," Gerron's letter said.

"Your statement and position shows plainly you think our present democratic form of government is a failure and that the people of

Local De Molays Select Officers

The first meeting for this season of the E. Y. Lee chapter, Order of De Molay, was held Thursday evening at 7 o'clock for the election of officers and other important business being attended to. Peanut Nudger Given Ovation

HARLINGEN, Nov. 22. (AP)—This city suspended business today to pay homage to Bill Williams, 15-year-old brotherhood of election bet losers.

The man who escorted a peanut 11 long, nose-racking miles from Rio Hondo because he made the mistake of thinking Governor Smith would carry Texas found his sun-burned ears still ringing tonight from the official welcome accorded him when he crossed the finish line at 11 a. m. today.

The nose which wore two-score goobers out on the nine-day trek, was burnt to a rich shade of mahogany and hands were puffed from their intimate and sustained association with hot pavement.

When the nabob of peanut nudgers attained his goal this morning three bands were playing "Hall, the Conquering Hero Comes," and an airplane was strutting goobers in his path from aloft. There were speeches and cheers from the thousands who had gathered from every part of the valley.

Gifts to the intrepid Bill included watches, watch charms, bouquets of flowers and numerous jars of massaging cream.

Four Ships Send Distress Signals Out From Ocean

Ships Go Scouring To Aid Crippled Steamers; One Is Reported Slowly Sinking; Locations Vary

(By Associated Press). Distress signals crackling through the air from widely separated coasts sent ships scouring to the aid of four distressed steamers yesterday.

The Greek steamer Virginia shot out an SOS picked up by Lloyds of London. She was reported submerged slowly off the Portuguese coast and running for shore.

At midday the coast guard cutter Gresham steamed out of New York harbor to race to the assistance of the seagoing tug Eastern, which had called for aid from a spot off the Delaware coast.

City Employees Banquet Tonight

All city employees, city officials, former employees and former officials, are expected to gather at the Lubbock hotel tonight at 7 o'clock for an annual Get-Together Party.

Following a dinner, city employees and officials will be given a well-arranged program, the principal purpose of the gathering being to cement the bonds of fellowship and understanding between the multitudinous departments of the city, which is the biggest business institution in Lubbock, more than 100 are expected to be present.

BUILDING CONTINUES Thursday's Permits Total $4,300; Year $3,064,109

Three building permits issued Thursday for as many small residences were for a total amount of $4,300, bringing this month's record to $128,850 for 33 permits and this year's to $3,064,109 for 644 permits.

Thursday's permits were to N. W. Brown, 1920 Texas avenue, four-room frame residence, $1,000. J. C. Deekelman, 1921 Avenue F, four-room frame residence, $1,800. W. S. Masomer, contractor, W. K. Dickinson, 1911 Avenue J, five-room frame residence, $1,500. J. L. Ballinger, contractor.

Jeannette Long Levelland Girl, Dies from Wound

Dr. C. L. Barnes Held Under $5,000 Bond for Death; Bullet from His Gun Strikes Girl

Argument Is Cause

Doctor and B. A. Maddox, Realty Man, Were Engaged In Argument As Girl Interfered

Dr. C. L. Barnes, of Hale Center, was released on $5,000 bond Thursday by the sheriff's department of Hale county, at Plainview, following the death early yesterday morning of Miss Jeannette Long who died as the result of a shooting affray at Hale Center Wednesday afternoon, in which Dr. Barnes is said to have been implicated. Whether formal murder charges had been filed against Dr. Barnes, the Avalanche could not be informed by the dispatches last night.

Miss Long, who was about 20 years of age, was the daughter of Mrs. James A. Long, of Levelland, and was employed in the office of B. A. Maddox, Hale Center real estate man, at Sengreigher.

Dr. Barnes and Maddox are said to have engaged in a heated argument, just outside Maddox's office in the Barnes building at Hale Center, Wednesday afternoon, and that Miss Long had attempted to placate them, today with the filing of the estate's appraisal at the state transfer tax bureau. The gross value was $194,328.514, with a net of $178,803.658.

The papers, prepared after months of work, showed that Mr. Whitely left more than $45,000,000 in public bequests, including gifts to New York hospital, Cornell university medical school and Yale university. This embraced also a trust fund of nearly $25,000,000 for the benefit of charitable, educational, scientific and literary organizations.

Gigantic Whitney Will Made Public

Late Financier and Sportsman Leaves $194,328,514 Estate; 45 Million Goes to Public Bequests

(By Associated Press). NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—How the late Payne Whitney, financier and sportsman, distributed his fortune of close to $200,000,000 became public today with the filing of the estate's appraisal at the state transfer tax bureau. The gross value was $194,328.514, with a net of $178,803.658.

The papers, prepared after months of work, showed that Mr. Whitney left more than $45,000,000 in public bequests, including gifts to New York hospital, Cornell university medical school and Yale university. This embraced also a trust fund of nearly $25,000,000 for the benefit of charitable, educational, scientific and literary organizations.

Widow Gets Largest Share. Helen Hay Whitney, the widow, daughter of John Hay, former Secretary of State, received the largest single share of the fortune. She will have, until death, the income from $24,000,000, together with valuable real estate and personal property both in New York City and at Manhasset, Long Island.

Sidelights On The Conference

BY HAMILTON WRIGHT
Special Staff Writer

Woodson Station, Orville B. Herring, pastor, reported a good year with everything paid in full, including superannuate endowment fund. Twelve additions to the church. Completed the first unit of $15,000 church. Raised for all purposes, $6282.

Rochester-Orbrien Charge, J. E. Harrell, pastor: two years pastorate closed with this conference year, having a total of 55 additions. Re-modelled Orbrien church this year, adding six Sunday School rooms, overhauled parsonage, raised for all purposes during the two years a little over $7250.

Lubbock will be thronged with many hundred visitors Sunday from neighboring cities and rural districts to attend the final session of the Northwest Texas Conference. The old fashioned "Methodist Love Feast," a high light spiritually, will be a great drawing card.

Young preachers seeking admission on trial into the conference are being quizzed rather strenuously by the "pie-rooting" committee as to whether they are addicted to the use of tobacco. They are asked to promise not to use it. Bishop Moore calls preachers who use tobacco after the promise has been exacted "bootleg preachers," not of hootch however. Many preachers rebel against the law because they say it was forced on the clergy at a general conference by preponderance of laymen with the help of a minority of ministers who do not use the weed.

Who's to be the new presiding elder of the Abilene district? That is what is uppermost in the minds of preachers. Dr. Lyon must move, having served his quadrennium.

And Lamesa is crying because it has lost Rev. Virgil Fisher, who was transferred to the Central Texas Conference and assigned to Polytchnic college, Fort Worth. Fisher is said to be sure-shot "baptistic" timber.

And in the meantime Lubbock wants to know "who's going to be our" "If you want to know, "ask the bishop."

Dr. Hunt, premier Hoover campaign during the hectic battle of a few weeks ago, is still talking Hoover. He kept the conference in an uproar Thursday evening.

The building of the more than 200 miles of new railroad on the South Plains is cause for the appearance of several new charges in this conference. Things build over night on these Plains, Plainview, and Lubbock presiding elders declare.

A new circuit is being created out of Muleshoe. A parsonage is waiting for some new preacher.

The McMurry Girls' quartet is making a hit with the conference. It was encored Wednesday night just before Dr. Paul B. Kern preached his masterful sermon on "Behold the Man."

The Abilene District, W. E. Lyon presiding elder, reported 11 conversions, 1323 accessions to the church, 628 Sunday School credits, a total of $170,482 raised for all purposes. Salary 97 percent paid. Two new churches were built and one parsonage. The churches are at Tye and Smith. One new parsonage erected at Cross Plains. Orphanage paid, $31,500, on First Church Abilene; $7500 on Cross Plains church; $400 on Union church Trenton. During the quadrennium which he is finishing the elder reports church property values increased, increased 33 1-3 per cent. Lyon must move this year, having completed his four-year period allowed by Methodist law.

Amarillo District, W. M. Pearce, presiding elder, reported 144 additions, 505 on profession of faith and 94 infants baptized. Paid orphanage $3000; mission special $1235 superannuate endowment $2300. Paid on new churches and parsonages $112,140. Salaries 99 per cent and benevolences 91 per cent paid. Sunday School day offering $356; Sunday School missions, $646. A new brick district parsonage is being erected at Amarillo at cost of $10,000.

Clarendon District, W. M. Murrell, presiding elder, 680 professions of faith, 850 additions to church, 14 out of 20 charges paid salary in full; 122 Sunday School credits; raised for superannuate endowment fund, $2063; amount raised for building, repairing and paying church debts $49,148. Total amount raised in districts $146,500.

Lubbock District, D. B. Doak, presiding elder, This district covers 12,300 square miles and now has 33 churches. Built 8 churches, 3 parsonages, and dedicated six churches. Had 1500 conversions, 24 charges paid-fines in full. 70 percent of conference collections raised. Net gain in membership for year, 1000. 22 charges paid on superannuate endowment fund.

Plainview District, Mark Beavers, presiding elder: 340 conversions, 700 additions to church. 95 per cent of salaries paid. Built one church and two new parsonages.

Sweetwater District, L. P. Lipscomb, presiding elder: 855 conversions, 1287 members received with net gain of 700. Salaries 97 per cent conference collections 90 per cent. Paid superannuate endowment, $2715. Paid McMurry college $3,000. Orphanage quota 100 per cent. Three churches dedicated. One new $10,000 rural church erected at Dunn Snyder. About 250 Sunday School credits. Total finances raised $162,316, including Sweetwater First Church $24,900 and Big Spring $27,000. S. H. Young, pastor, Roscoe, had great year with salary increased $500. New parsonage erected at Sylvester, Fisher county, by Rev. L. E. Northcutt.

Stamford District, J. H. Hamblen, presiding elder, brought up an excellent report, both financial and otherwise, despite the dry weather which militated against crops. He reported 19 out of 23 charges paying salaries in full and about 83 per cent of the conference collections in full. This district possesses the loving cup for Epworth Leagues in the conference. Hamblen reported 520 conversions and 622 accessions to the church. A new church was built near Weinert and the basement of an extensive church at Woodson.

Vernon District, Rev. Joe Haymes presiding elder, brought up a splendid report. There were 475 conversions this year, 825 additions to the church, 535 Sunday School credits won. Paid on mission special $1434, orphanage $3703, on superannuate endowment fund quota 2232, 83 per cent of salaries and $2 1-2 per cent of benevolences raised. Built $25,000 educational building at Paducah, and erecting $16,000 church at King's Memorial Childress. Acme built a parsonage. Haymes reports district ready to start work on a new $7500 district parsonage at Childress. This district raised for all purposes during the year $165,000.

Daily Markets

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22. (P)—(U. S. D. A.)—The general trade in most classes of cattle at Fort Worth Thursday appeared dull, although little change occurred in prices. The market as a whole held to a steady basis. A few sales of fat cows reported in the $800 range and strong weight low-cutters sold around $3.85 to $4.15. Practically no good fat steers or yearlings included in the day's receipts. Some choice light stock steer yearlings sold up to 12.00 fully steady. Trade in slaughter calves ruled slow, quarter or more lower. Quality of fine calf supply rather plain. Good to choice heavy slaughter calves purchased on packer account around 9.50 to 10.00.

Hog prices dropped another notch Thursday. Most sales 10 to 15c lower. Carlot hogs made a top of 8.70 and best truck butchers at 8.40. Most of the desirable hogs in a variety of weights changed hands at 8.50 to 8.70.

The few sales of sheep and lambs today quothably steady. A deck of feeder lambs sold at 10.50 and a few short fat wethers at 7.00.

6,000 were American. Receipts 2,000, including cotton 1978.

AMERICAN SPOTS

New York 2045, New Orleans 1945, sales 5,701. Dallas 1910, to arrive 13,139. Houston 1960, sales 796, to arrive 11,947. Galveston 2,000, sales 173.

According to a member of a locally prominent spot firm, the basis is slightly weaker. Fifteen-sixteenths inch cotton is selling at about 160 to 165 off March, New York, snaps selling about 250 to 400 off.

SUMMARY

Market up about $1.50 a bale from Wednesday's close making the advance of the last two days total around $2.50 per bale. A heavy volume of spot trading in southern markets Wednesday caused buying of cotton today and it was reported that some big western interests were selling stocks and buying cotton. Liverpool was better than due, showing the market was steady with the outside interest broadening and that the cotton and Bombay were buying. Manchester reported doing the best business in the last few years. With public interest increasing and with the demand broadening the outlook for the cotton market is very cheerful but care should be exercised in following the advance too far. Norman-Mayer & Co. wired today: "Think advance has been a little too rapid and prefer to buy on setbacks."

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. (P)—Lively but transient upturns in wheat values today resulted from Argentine reports of crop damage by hot winds. Enlarged selling which came in particularly from the Northwest proved to be fully an offset, together with corn market weakness that was occasioned chiefly by assertions of exporters backing out of corn purchases aggregating more than 1,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8c lower, with corn 1-2c to 7-8c off, oats unchanged, and provisions unchanged to 17c.

NEW YORK STOCKS

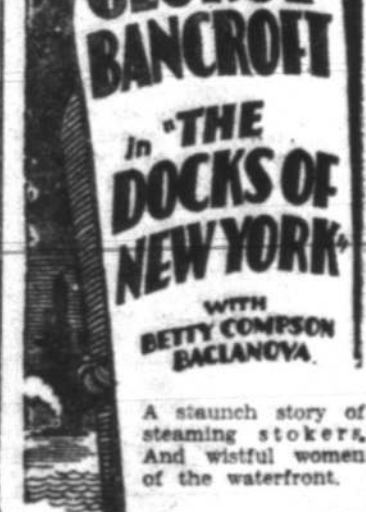

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. (P)—The "bull" campaign was renewed in spectacular fashion on the stock market today. Most of the ground lost in yesterday's setback was recovered and some 30 issues broke into new high territory, many extreme gains ranging from 5 to 51 points.

Total sales piled up to 5,827,600 shares, which would have been a new record a fortnight ago, but which was a marked falling off from the enormous volume of recent days. The pace was held in check somewhat by apprehension over the total of federal reserve brokerage loans, to be announced after the close, and the announcement gave Wall Street something to think about, with a gain of $176,315,000, carrying the total to the record figure of $5,157,132,000.

this exclusive shop for women

That's a rare combination to find—style—comfort and economy, but our footwear is selected so carefully that because it is priced lower does not mean that the importance of style comfort and quality have been disregarded.

Our buyers are continually in the eastern markets, and when a new style is shown and approved by fashion leaders, it is immediately sent to us for the approval of our patrons. The savings made possible by shrewd buying enable those who select footwear from this shop to possess two and three pairs without any sacrifice of style. A comparison will prove it!

Prominent Women In Missionary Work Of Methodist Conference Introduced At Tea Given Yesterday by Auxiliary

Mary Helm Society, Assisted by W. M. S. Entertains Visiting Women Thursday With Affair

Officers in the women's missionary society of the Methodist North-west Texas conference were introduced and other women who are attending the sessions here this week were extended a social courtesy yesterday afternoon when the First Methodist Mary Helm auxiliary entertained with a tea in the church parlors.

This social occasion followed the afternoon session of the conference and members of the church W. M. S. assisted the hostess society in entertaining. A program was given, tea was poured and dispensed with light refreshments and local and visiting women were afforded an opportunity of meeting.

Conference officers who stood in the receiving line and were introduced by Mrs. H. T. Kimbro of this city and a former vice-president, included the following:

MRS. ROLLINS HERE
Mrs. Nat T. Rollins of Abilene, president of the conference W. M. S.; Mrs. W. P. Garvin of Dallas, recording secretary; Mrs. J. M. Porter of Wheeler, corresponding secretary of the Gibson auxiliary; Mrs. O. P. Clark of Sweetwater, superintendent of the prayer league; Mrs. S. H. Adams of Slaton, former secretary of Lubbock district; Mrs. L. R. Smallwood of Tulsa, Oklahoma, secretary of the Phillips district.

Mrs. A. W. White, vice-president of the Mary Helm society, met guests at the door and introduced those who appeared on the program. Following her in the receiving line were Mrs. M. H. Smith, the conference officers; Mrs. A. W. Potts and Mrs. R. T. Campbell, president and president-elect of the W. M. S.; and all other officers of the Mary Helm and missionary societies.

Mrs. Herbert C. Maxwell and Mrs. Edgar Shelton greeted callers in the halls of the church and directed them to the parlors.

Welcome Visitors
A welcome to the visitors was extended by Mrs. White and Mrs. C. A. Buckley of Vernon, recorded for the conference. Mrs. Marvin McFarlin, who is a piano player, was played by Madeline C. C. Stinson and J. C. Powell and the McFarlin college quart sang three numbers.

Members of the quartet are Mrs. Margaret Jones of Seymour, Mrs. Beulah Taylor of Abilene, Mrs. Earl Nye of Abilene and Miss Sally Dean of this city.

Refreshments were dispensed from an attractively laid table which was centered with pink roses. White and yellow chrysanthemums decked the parlors for this occasion. Mrs. Paul W. Horn and Mrs. C. C. Wolfarth poured tea and all members of the Mary Helm auxiliary assisted in the receiving and entertaining.

Bits Of News And Personal Mention

One marriage license was issued Thursday by a court clerk, to W. C. Larkin and Mrs. Josephine Boone.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barron of Plains, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. C. Fred Litton, 1614 19th St.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hooten, of Abilene are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jones during the Methodist conference. Mr. Hooten and Mr. Jones were classmates at Southwest University.

How to Achieve Beauty

by HELENA
RUBINSTEIN

A BEAUTY REEL OF REAL INTEREST

To Insure Hair Health

BE VIGILANT IN YOUR FIGHT AGAINST DANDRUFF

TIGHT HATS IF WORN TOO MUCH OF THE TIME ARE BAD FOR THE HAIR

Helena Rubinstein

Beauty is always being menaced by some dragon—whether it is worry or neglect or old age. And hair beauty, being rather a special whiteness, has, as its menace, the great white plague, or dandruff. Now dandruff is one thing the particular woman cannot afford to overlook—for outside of the actual harm it does to the health of your scalp, it is a most embarrassing annoyance.

Any one who has seen the little white dust film on the shoulders of a dark gown is bound to feel that any cure is to be preferred to the disease. For dandruff is a disease—make no mistake about it.

Get dandruff as you would a skin disorder. Be sensible, faithful and scientific in your care.

Oil shampoos should have their place in your attentions. A good hot oil treatment followed by an invigorating shampoo is a bi-monthly treatment that should produce marvelous results in a very short time. Heat the oil—either balsam oil, castor oil or olive oil is good—the former is more easily washed out—in a little enamel cup—about two tablespoons of the oil is plenty. Separate your hair and massage the oil well into the parts. Reheat if necessary. If possible, retain overnight, binding your hair up in a lightweight towel. Shampoo thoroughly, using three or four lathers and gallons of hot water in the morning.

Try to give your head a "breath of fresh air" every now and then. Tight hats are bad for scalp circulation, and consequently a little dangerous in their tendency to discourage new and vigorous hair growth. Go without a hat all you can. It will aid immeasurably in the fight that this "dread-d," "turban-d" generation must wage against baldness!

Quite preparation, taken unaware. The sudden complete crumbling of your fortress will make him think that its walls were not, after all, so strong as he imagined. What he wins, or thinks he wins, easily, he will not esteem.

"Do not attempt to arouse a fatigued or worried man to demonstrations of emotion. When a man's tongue begins to wag of protesting his admiration, his spirit is weary too. Take care you do not tire it."

"Do not call attention to your own defects. A flaw which can be concealed should be concealed."

"Do not model yourself upon what a man tells you of his tastes, instead of observing them yourself, especially if he professes only virtuous preferences. A man may, for instance, insist that he loathes make-up; but see what happens if you take him at his word and appear with a shiny nose."

"Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever, is just so much appeasement as a slogan if you want to cop a man. Such in short is the headline of some seemingly excellent advice given to all women who want a man in a seductively perfumed new volume called 'The Technique of the Love Affair.'"

"One of the most painful lessons the virtuous have to learn is that people do not fall in love with virtue," the anonymous author begins a chapter which tells what is and what is not amatory bait.

There are seven distinct qualities which are attractions. She lists them in order of their importance thus: Beauty, Fame, Rank, Wealth, Social Popularity, Intellect, Domestic and other special talents exerted privately.

She combines all these qualities under the one word "Prestige."

"Prestige may grow from a variety of causes, and may exist in any quantity or quality," she writes (we just assume it is a she).

"There are numerous ways of acquiring it, and numerous ways of losing it; but the one certain way of flinging it to the winds is to let any man with whom you may concern yourself become aware that he is more significant to you than you are to him, and the one certain way of building it up is to be, or at least seem, spiritually independent of him."

BEAUTY FIRST
"And of these attributes of woman which most satisfy man's pride or vanity, none is more potent than Beauty. By being of all allurements the easiest to bring to the notice of every man, it produces prestige the most rapidly, and is therefore far and away the most valuable."

And this next, of course, is only what every woman knows and the old, old reiteration:
"As to intellect, when it is unaccompanied by Fame or Popularity it is more likely to prove a liability than an asset as far as the majority of men are concerned."

A supplementary list of those qualities which are effective in capturing men are—poise of manner, light-heartedness, neatness of apparel, and a talent for flattery.

Now come "the seven foolish practices whereby a woman may bring her love affairs to an untimely end."

SEVEN DEADLY SINS
"First, there is the folly of allowing yourself to be won without ado."

Bridge Played In R. Strong Home and Forty-two Is Played at Deckleman Home Wednesday

A bridge and a forty-two party were given on Wednesday evening under the auspices of St. Anne's Altar society. The bridge party was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strong and the forty-two affair in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Deckleman.

Mrs. Strong served refreshments following games in which high scores among the women players was made by Mrs. J. L. Ryan and high score for men by C. Quinlan.

Mrs. Roy Vaughn and Clyde Tatum made high scores in forty-two and low counts fell to Mrs. C. A. Busch and Frank Bowers. Refreshments were served at this party to Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Vaughn, W. S. Masoner, Clyde Tatum, Frank Bowers, J. C. Craig, H. W. Churchman, C. A. Busch, Jones, Miss Mary Bowers and Mrs. Mary Deckleman.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
Copyright by NEA Service, Inc.

I often wonder if we are getting too stereotyped in our ideas of child training.

Routine is an excellent thing but there is such a thing as becoming so mechanically perfect that we drain the whole affair of red blood, so to speak.

Children nowadays are run pretty much on schedule. They get up, go to bed, are fed, exercised, and taught by the clock. But aren't we, and they, losing something by this automatic arrangement of things in general.

The other day when we went to a friend's house for dinner it occurred to me that I had not seen her children for at least a year.

Followed Routine
I inquired for them. They were well. They were in bed. They had had their usual light supper at 5:30.

The last time I had seen them was one afternoon when they were brought into the living room to see some callers. They made curtsies, and did the usual things that well-behaved children do. But otherwise they were just like so much furniture. They soon were taken out. I know nothing about them or they about me.

Compare these children to those of another family where we went to dinner a few nights later. These children were, by the way, extreme examples of the "self-expression" school. Their parents announced when they were born that they were to do as they pleased.

Everyone has been aghast at some of the performances of "those kids." I myself have shaken my head in disapproval many a time. I was to have a surprise.

Gracious, Respectful
We were admitted by the oldest boy who stated that they were short of help and he was doing what he could to help out. The head doorman of Buckingham Palace could have been no more courteously and graciously in receiving kindly callers.

We were ushered solicitously upstairs, and to my apology that we were a bit late, this boy of 10 assured me that it didn't make a bit of difference and hoped we

Local Group To Go To Tulsa Sunday Afternoon

A group of young people from the First Presbyterian, First Christian and Cumberland Presbyterian churches is to go to Tulsa Sunday to attend a council meeting. Townsend Waddill said yesterday.

Those three children charmed me. They helped serve, and they knew how. It was an emergency which they had been taught to meet, and did.

I warmed to the whole three. They stayed while after dinner and then disappeared discreetly. But not before we had had a chance to sense the strong personality of each one. They knew all their mother's friends. They are not afraid to talk. They are part of the social life of the house.

As Transportation was Speeded up, the Refining of Gasoline had to Keep Step

The coming of high speed, high compression motors brought new refining problems to manufacturers of gasoline. A motor fuel with new characteristics had to be made.

With no old refinery equipment to contend with or try to bring up to date, Phillips found itself in an ideal position to produce such a gasoline. It is Phillips' 66. The long experience of the Research Department of the company has made it possible. It is a gasoline in which the volatility is intentionally controlled to give unvarying motor performance the year round—easy starting, power, and mileage every day—winter and summer.

We invite you to try a full tank. You can actually notice the difference—yet it sells at the regular price.

"Liquid gasoline must be vaporized before it will burn in an engine. Volatility refers to the ability of gasoline to vaporize."

Matadors Begin Training For Thanksgiving Classic

Tech Eleven Has Five More Days In Which to Prepare for Battle With Buffaloes In Season Final

Bull Fighters Snap Into Signal Drill Thursday Afternoon With Ginger and Enthusiasm

After a three day layoff, the Tech Matadors donned their mole skins Wednesday afternoon to resume training for their final game of the 1928 season with the West Texas Techers College at Canyon, Thanksgiving Day. Facing the team that upset the dope bucket last season and won a 12 to 9 victory over them, the Bull Fighters will go through a final training grind in the week remaining to build up a formidable combination for the Thanksgiving Day encounter.

Despite the two setbacks they have recently encountered, the Tech gridders got back to work with plenty of pep and ginger yesterday afternoon. Plays were run off with snap that makes things look bright from the Tech standpoint. Coach Freeland will have considerably more reserve material on hand for the tussle with the Buffaloes than was available for the Simmons game.

The entire squad with one exception will likely be ready for action when the Matadors make their last stand of the season next Thursday. Charley Woodruff, fullback, who received a bad cut over the eye in the Simmons contest, will likely be kept out of the lineup. Physicians have advised him against exposing the injured member further lest a permanent injury might result.

May Set Record Red Carpenter was missing from practice Wednesday with minor injuries but is expected to be back in the lineup within the next few days. If Carpenter is in the starting lineup next week at Canyon, the big Matador tackle will set what is believed to be a record in college circles. Carpenter, former captain on the Tech eleven, has started every game the Matadors have played in the last four years.

A first string lineup with Walker, Hodges, Brothers and Waller in the backfield and Payne, Westerfield, Reed, Rurham, DeWitt, Knowles and Barfoot in the line were clicking off plays in an impressive fashion yesterday. Passes flew in every direction and they were being snatched with lightning dexterity.

Drilling on new plays and further polishing up of the old ones will take a large part of the time the Matadors have left in which to prepare for the Bison.

REACH AGREEMENT Oil Belt Teams Get Together On Disputes

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 22.—(AP)—An agreement between Cisco and Ranger High schools not to play their football game unless the district championship depends upon it, was endorsed by the Interscholastic League executive committee here today.

Should Ranger defeat Breckenridge next Tuesday, and should Cisco defeat Abilene next Wednesday, the second game will be played. Ranger defeated Cisco 13 to 0 last week, but the game was ruled no contest when Lee Bennett, Ranger quarterback, was held ineligible.

THE DENVER ROAD

Aggies Will Enter Turkey Day Clash As Underdogs

Strolling Down Sports Lane

With Allan Carney
Avalanche Sports Editor

An ardent high school football fan has started the annual all-district talk by sending his all-star team with players picked from the leading teams in District One. Some of his selection were picked with rare judgment. In fact one who has seen all the teams in action could hardly do otherwise. On the other hand he has evidently overlooked a number of outstanding performers.

His all-star team includes one local player and several from Amarillo; Larsen (Amarillo) and Kowalski (Electra); tackles: Barton (Lubbock) and Hindman (Vernon); guards: Manis (Vernon) and Browning (Electra); center: Beatty (Wichita Falls); quarterback: Travis (Amarillo); halves: Walker (Amarillo) and White (Electra); fullback: Mills (Wichita Falls).

We believe the team named above could win any team in the Oil Belt with little difficulty. However to make it certain we would make at least three changes. Two in the line and one in the backfield. We offer Charley Wilson, Lubbock, in the place of Manis Vernon and Redder, Amarillo, in the place of Beatty, Wichita Falls. Cox of Vernon has proved a more valuable fullback to his team than has Mills of Wichita Falls.

In Wilson the Westerners have a guard that has yet to meet his peer in the district. Always aggressive, Wilson is a great fighter and there is no other lineman in the district that hits 'em any harder. Charley is a real bruiser. Charging fast and giving the opposition all he has on every down he seldom fails to wear down the man playing opposite him. In more than one game this season opposing backs have been carried from the field after being tackled by Wilson. He plays for the sheer love of the game and for the sake of winning.

Raymond Barton, tackle and line captain on the Westerners eleven, is recognized the district over for his outstanding performance. Barton is a born leader. He was re-appointed captain of the local team this season because of the spirit he has been able to inject into the team. Although lighter than the average tackle, Barton has never met a man that has been able to "shake him out" of the play. Aside from being a natural football player, "Whacker" plays great football because he loves the game. His blocking during his high school football career has been near perfect and his tackling has been deadly.

Whacker will be playing his last game in a Lubbock High uniform when the Westerners meet the Vernon Lions here Thanksgiving Day. Injuries have handicapped his performance since the Electra game, but despite this fact he has been eager to get into action every minute. His gameness has brought favorable comment from sport writers the district over, especially in the hard tussle with the Amarillo Sandies.

League Officials To Air Problems At Chicago Meet

Club Owners Will Thresh Out Individual League Problems Before Entering Joint Session

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Baseball's problems will be aired and some of them possibly settled when club owners of the Major Leagues assemble at the Congress Hotel Dec. 13 for the joint meeting of the two circuits. Baseball commissioner K. M. Landis called the meeting today.

Before going into the joint session, the club owners will have thrashed out their individual league problems in separate meetings. The National League will convene in New York and the American League in Chicago, December 11.

The yearly discussed draft question is expected to once again occupy the greater part of the time. If the minors have the draft rule untouched, the club owners are likely to convene and adjourn quietly. While the joint meeting promises to be a quiet affair, plenty of action is slated for the American League gathering. Nearly every club has players for sale or trade. E. S. Barnard, president of the Junior circuit, predicts a brisk business in trading transactions.

Slaton Merchants Hosts To Gridmen

(Special to the Avalanche)

SLATON, Tex., Nov. 22.—The Slaton High school Tigers, 1928 football team, were feted by Slaton business men Tuesday night when a banquet was given and largely attended at a local hotel. R. A. Zaldwin was toastmaster. Many talks were made by business men and team members. The team was highly praised for its grid work this season.

Arrangements were made at the banquet to send 400 or 500 people to Floydada by special train for the annual game to be played by Slaton and Floydada eleven on Thanksgiving day.

As few outstanding players as the Lubbock High school eleven. The Westerners have no one man in the backfield with the ability that compare with some of the backs on the Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Electra, and Vernon teams. The wonder of it all is that Henry Frka and Del Morgan have developed the team that they have with the scant material on hand. Undoubtedly, as the scores indicate, the Westerners have an offense that is second to none in the district with the exception of the Amarillo Sandies. Hard work, an indomitable fighting spirit, serious training and ideal team work has put the Gold and Black aggregation where it is today—in firm possession of second place in the district and a splendid chance to remain there.

We would feel sorry for the other teams in the district if the local coaches had the material that Electra or Amarillo has, or even Wichita Falls. It would just be too bad.

Scrimmages And Sermons Keep Penn Grid Star Busy All The Time

Swear words are taboo when this fellow is in the game. He's the Rev. Charles Urban, an ordained minister with a pulpit in Philadelphia, Pa. on Sundays. During the week and especially on Saturdays, he is Charley Urban, a substitute tackle on the University of Pennsylvania football squad—and a mighty good one, too. He is shown reading up on his next sermon.

More Superstitious Fans Favor Aggies Because Of Odds Against Them; Bible Has Fast Team

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 22.—Following a two-day period of rest, Coach Dana X. Bible's Texas Aggies Tuesday buckled down to the final grind of training that will carry them to their last conflict of the year, the Turkey Day meeting with the Texas Longhorns at Austin.

The first practice of the week found every member of the Aggie squad except Zafaronitis, outstanding defensive back and punter, at the eleven. In the peak of condition and ready for the unrelenting training schedule that confronts them in preparation for the Longhorn clash.

May Have Squad Intact Barring possible injuries from scrimmages this week, Coach Bible expects to have his squad intact for the Thanksgiving Day game and present indications are his men will be in the best mental and physical condition they have attained this season.

The Aggies will go into the Longhorn game rated as the underdogs by virtue of the records of the two teams this year, a fact that should make the more superstitious fans favor the Aggies, for in the past the favorites have lost far more times than they have won in Aggie-Longhorn games. The Longhorns in their five conference games have registered four victories and one loss to S. M. U. by a single touchdown. The Aggies, however, have only one victory and a tie in four conference contests played.

Irreversible Forces Something akin to what happens when the irresistible force meets the immovable object will probably take place when the fast, varied Aggie offense meets the powerful Longhorn defense which is one of the strongest in the conference this year. The Aggie offense has piled up an aggregate score of 238 points this season, just one point less than twice the total score of the Longhorns, while the Texas defense has held its opponents to a much smaller total score than has been made against the Aggies.

Stops Headache In A Few Minutes

The next time you have a headache, neuralgia, rheumatic or pericardic pain, try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capadine in a little water. Being liquid, Capadine acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders, and is more effective. Capadine relieves pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. It does not upset the stomach and contains no habit-forming drugs. At all drug stores—30c and 60c sizes. (adv)

1928 BY NEA Service Inc. AUTHOR OF "LOVE FOR TWO"

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Fate introduces JERRY RAY, a shopgirl, to wealthy ALBERT CARSTAIRS when he crashes his airplane into the camp she is sharing with her roommate MYRTLE. Her heart responds to his pilot, DAN HARVEY, but Albert is struck with her beauty and showers attentions upon her.
A letter from her mother revealing poverty and illness strengthens Jerry's determination to marry wealth.

Unable to buy a new gown for the party Albert has invited her to, Jerry yields to the temptation to take one from the store—intending to slip it back next morning. At the party LEONIE LE-LAUDY, who is infatuated with Albert, is responsible for the dress being ruined.

Jerry is in a panic. She confesses to the manager, who discharges her. She seeks another job, and is surprised one evening
when Dan calls on her. He proposes and she tells him love is a delusion and that she intends to marry for money. He leaves after trying to warn her.
Albert phones that he has a surprise, and takes her to the deserted summer camp where he has a servant spread a feast. He gives her orchids and a ring—
with a proposal which stuns
her. She repulses his insult and he seizes her in his arms. She is frightened until she hears Dan's whistle along the beach. Under cover of his presence Jerry forces Albert to take her home. He is winded when she says she has lost her job on his account, he promises to try to get her in a chorus. Next day he takes her to interview the producer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIV

The theatre was dimly lighted —and silently vast, it seemed to Jerry, who never before had been in an empty auditorium.
They walked down to the front row and sat down. Jerry could hear voices coming across the bare stage from the region that had always been a fascinating world of mystery to her.
"Lights," Mr. Weinert's bawled, and there was a flurry of feet in answer. A few seconds later the stage was flooded with light and the producer turned to Jerry with a smile.

"Will you walk through that door over there and go up on the stage, please?" he said.
Jerry glanced at Albert, her heart in her slippers. He took her by the arm and moved with her to the door.

"Don't forget what I told you, kiddie," he whispered. "Close your eyes while you dance and pretend you're a prima donna stopping the show."

Jerry forced a smile. Albert accompanied her to the stage and stood by while a piano was moved onto it as Mr. Weinert's order.
Then he left her, after dragging a chair from the wings and placing it near him.

A young man came out and seated himself at the piano. He did not look at Jerry and she thought he must have left some interesting occupation to play for her crowd.
He seemed so suddenly bored about something.

More lights were turned on and she feared that the trembling in her knees could be seen from the front seats. Where Albert had joined Mr. Weinert.

Suddenly a jazz tune jangled out from the piano and Jerry heard a voice calling to her to dance. She closed her eyes and attempted to obey. But her feet had become glued to the floor.
"All right, all right," Mr. Wein-ert shouted to the piano player.
Then to Albert: "Go up and get your little friend, Al."

The music crashed to a stop.
Jerry's heart turned to ice. She had failed, but they'd given her such a little time. . . .
Albert was leading her off the stage in silence. She was too humiliated to look at him.

Mr. Weinert was standing. He put out a hand and took one of hers.
"My my," he said; "what a cold hand it is. But that is fine, fine.
All the true artists have stage fright. The others—pooh—go on imagination. I would not want a girl even in my chorus who was like that." He pushed Jerry gently into a seat. "Now you'll sit here and get used to the theatre," he went on, "while we hear some singers."

Jerry felt a surge of relief come over her that brought tears to her eyes. She sank back in the seat with a big sigh. Albert began to talk rapidly, incoherently, and she knew that he, too, had been misled by Jake Weinert's calling her off the stage; that he was evincing relief.

They had to wait a few minutes before the singers arrived. Mr.
Weinert turned to Jerry and told her with unaffected frankness that her figure was good, very good.
She guessed that was why he was giving her a second trial. Apparently she had passed the first test.
"We're going to hear the singers," he went on, "who got by the auditions."

Jerry asked what an audition was. Ordinarily she would not have done that, but she wanted to say something, something about the theatre, and she knew practically nothing concerning it.
"It's the test we give to voices," Mr. Weinert explained. "Those singers Mr. Arradonde selects at his auditions come here and sing for me. They must be judged for appearance and stage presence, as well as for voice," he added con-versationally.

engage her for the chorus, but he hoped she realized that a lot of hard work was attached to the job. Jerry said she would be glad to work hard. It couldn't be, she thought, with an inward smile, so very hard to practice dance steps.
Why, dancing was fun. It was the fear of being rudely bawled out that bothered her.

She and Albert left the theater alone. Mr. Weinert's had other business there.
"Let's go to the Ambassador and dance," he said eagerly. "I'm proud of you, Jerry."

It was the first time Albert had taken Jerry to a fashionable hotel. Perhaps he was still making amends, she thought. Well, she wasn't ashamed of her appearance, and she was going to be somebody now. He might really be proud of her some day.

The tea room with its air of richness delighted her. She had to pinch herself once or twice to make sure that she wasn't dreaming and that she would not wake up presently and find herself back in her furnished room, with a day at Fane's ahead of her.

The women she saw at nearby tables were beautifully gowned and all of them wore at least one jewel. Jerry glanced at her own hands. They looked so bare with-

Wurzbach To File Contest On Votes

Defeated Texas Republican To Contest Victory of McClosky; Irregularities To Be Charged

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 22.—Plans for contesting the election of Augustus J. McClosky, democrat, to Congress from the fourteenth district were formulated today, when Harry M. Wurzbach, republican incumbent, began a series of conferences with friends.

Congressman Wurzbach said definitely he would contest McClosky's seating.

"I have requested the Congressional committee on elections to come to San Antonio," he said. "I do not know that this committee will investigate the election here, but I want them to inspect my brief filed with the county commissioner's court after the returns were canvassed."

The commissioner's court after canvassing returns, announced McClosky the winner by 309 votes.

Congressman Wurzbach, in his brief had charged irregularities in handling returns and the proceedings followed by the court in canvassing them.

PROHIBITS BINDING

Chinese General Waging Against Ancient Customs

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22. (P)—General Feng Yu-Hsiang has prohibited footbinding in the provinces of Honan, Shensi and Kansu which he controls and is conducting a tireless campaign for the improvement of social conditions throughout the country.

He says China has an estimated population of 400,000,000 persons but only about half of them serve any useful purpose because of the age-old custom of binding women's feet.

BIG SPRING.—The Big Spring Federated clubs will hold their 1st series of Bridge Tournaments Friday, November 23.

Odds & Ends Of the Day's News

Claims Religious Record

SALTILLO, (P)—H. H. Weaver, organizer of the first Sunday school in Mt. Vernon, Texas, 59 years ago, has put forward his claim for another record, that of constant attendance at religious services.

Weaver is authority for the statement that he has missed only three Sunday school services in 57 years. He served as Sunday school superintendent for 50 years and in recognition of his long record was made superintendent emeritus.

Al Dies of Broken Heart

HOUSTON, (P)—Al Smith, pet Spitz puppy of Floy King, 10-year-old daughter of District Judge Langston King of Houston, has died of a broken heart.

The dog started pinning away election night when the returns of the Hoover landslide were received over radio at the King home.

He was a normal pup, yelping playfully about the house until then. As the returns came in Al showed signs of illness, slunk to the back porch and curled up, Judge King said. From that time until his death he refused petting and even nourishment.

Spud Gets Engaged

PALESTINE, (P)—A truck grower here declared that he had unearthed recently a sweetpotato encircled by a diamond ring lost by his wife last spring.

When the potatoes were plowed one of them bulged out at both ends. Upon examination the potato was found to have grown through the ring, the grower said. As the potato matured it had been squeezed in at the center by the ring which caused the bulging at the ends, he explained.

The ring was described as being as good as ever.

Congress Is Faced With Measures For Army Legislation

Number of Bills to Be Considered by Groups During Coming Session; To Stress Air Improvement

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—In addition to the army appropriation bill before congress during the coming short session, there are a number of military legislative measures which will be urged for passage by Secretary Davis of the war department.

Authorization of appropriations for construction of military posts, for which the house has passed a bill involving $15,066,260 for improvements at many air fields and posts, both overseas and continental.

Remedial action on the promotion situation for which purpose a number of bills are pending.

Decide On Transportation Provision to permit procurement by the secretary of war of motor transportation believed best suited to the needs of the service.

Equalization of the rank of the chief of staff of the army with that of the chief of naval operations.

Jury Gives Watson Two Year Sentence

Local Man Faces Term For Pro Law Violation; To Try Harvey Case During Next Week

With completion of the case of J. A. Watson, charged with violation of the prohibition law, the Ninety-Ninth district court jury was dismissed for the week by Judge Clark M. Mullica Wednesday morning.

Watson was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The trial of Leonard Harvey, charged with a felony theft, which was set for today, could not be held.

because of the fact that Harvey is being held in jail at Midland under $5,000 bond on a similar charge being unable to make bond. The case against him here was reset for next week.

Because the state's main witness had disappeared, the case of I. F. McMorris, charged with violation of the prohibition laws, was continued until the next term of court.

ANTICIPATION

The rapid strides that have been made in the past decade of South Plains development have added much material to the annals of commercial history. New railroads, new industries of all kinds are added to the stability of this great country at a "fast gait." Supply is keeping a safe "one step ahead" of demand. Anticipation has reached a stable basis for operation . . . we can now keep "one pace ahead" of the steady influx of home seekers—and safely.

The Public Utilities is anticipating the growth of this wonderful country with a broad sense of service, yet, conservative.

Today it is equipped not only to care for Lubbock's present needs but should the city increase its population phenomenously OVER NIGHT it could depend upon having an adequate supply of electric power immediately available to meet its every need.

The Texas Utilities will always aid and encourage its growth and is always ready to put its constructive forces to work for the future development not only of Lubbock but all of those communities it is privileged to serve.

Second Gale Sweeps Over England And Atlantic Road Bond Campaign Goes Into Full Swing In County

Speakers For And Against Bond Plan Appear In Rallies

Joint Debate Is Held At Becton Community With Local Men Explaining Bond Program

Hold Discussions

Shallowater Gets Meeting For Election Explanation: Traveling Men To Meet On Issue Today

The $2,000,000 county-wide road bond issue campaign went into the joint debating sort of campaigning Friday night, when speakers for both the proponents of the bond issue and its opponents shared time and discussed the issue involved at Becton.

Approximately 50 or 60 Becton citizens were present to hear the joint discussion and intense interest was reported as having been manifested by those in attendance. For the bond issue W. W. Rix and Charles F. O'Neill spoke, and against it, W. W. Campbell and J. M. Marshall were the speakers.

In between the speeches considerable questioning was invited and many were propounded pro and con, some of them said to have been very pointed.

Hankins, Rix, Myrick and Others Talk at Shallowater

Following an interesting meeting, attended by about 30 people, held at Shallowater Friday night, a great many of those attending informed the plan as outlined. He said that the $2,000,000 bonds on December 1, and that that section of the county would give a good portion of votes favorable to the issue.

J. F. Hankins spoke on the value of good roads, stressing the equality of the plan as outlined. He said that he had not been for the proposition when first presented, but that the more he thought of it and realized the many ways the committee had prepared it had put in visiting various parts of the county, talking it over with all concerned, they had worked out a most equitable plan.

Al to Get Final Peanut of Jaunt

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 23. (P) Governor Smith is going to get a present from one who styles himself "Another good loser."

That gift will be the peanut with which Bill Williams finished an 11-mile nose-goobering trip. Williams noted it across a white line in Harlingen yesterday, completing his jaunt from Rio Hondo in slightly more than nine days—a trip made necessary because Williams lost an election bet on the New York governor.

Condition of King George Has Little Change On Friday

Public Concern Continues For Leader's Condition; Family Not Alarmed But Watch Bulletins

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 23.—(P)—All Britain stirred with an intense anxiety for the health of King George, who was relieved tonight by the issuance of a more favorable bulletin than many had dared hope for.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—King George, whose devotion to duty caused him to be so severely stricken by a rain-splashed car at the Armistice Day ceremonies, has developed congestion in one lung which has caused anxiety throughout his kingdom.

His Majesty passed a restless night and today the congestion was said to have increased slightly.

This afternoon, however, he got some rest and this was regarded as a hopeful development by Buckingham Palace.

Family Not Unduly Alarmed

While members of the royal household are very much concerned, the King is said to be quite cheerful, the state of his health caused public concern and bulletins from the royal bedside were awaited eagerly.

The Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the throne, is on a hunting trip to East Africa, with his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, is being kept closely in touch with the King's illness.

New Farm Relief Bill Is Prepared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (P)—A new farm relief bill, designed to meet administration desires, has been drafted by Chairman McNary of the Senate Agriculture committee and will be presented for a vote at the approaching session.

The measure, like the twice vetoed McNary-Hugan bill, calls for establishment of a federal farm board with a membership of twelve to take over control of the marketing of surplus crops. The board also would have authority to establish agencies to provide more efficient marketing.

The equalization fee is not included in the new provision.

Methodists Vote To Raise $500,000 On McMurtry Fund

Prospects of New Million-Dollar Methodist University at Amarillo Are Held In Abeyance

Five Young Preachers Are Admitted On Trial; Report of Treasurer Reveals $91,601 Raised

BY HAMILTON WRIGHT (Avalanche Staff Writer)

Holding prospects of a new million-dollar Methodist university at Amarillo in abeyance, Northwest Texas Methodist at their session yesterday bound themselves to raise $500,000 in the next three years for its own McMurtry college at Abilene.

$150,000 of which is to be apportioned to the permanent endowment fund. The action was taken after Dr. J. W. Hunt, president, Mrs. N. G. Rollins, prominent Abilene laywoman, Bishop John Moore and others stressed imperative and immediate needs for carrying on Christian educational work.

The sum of $150,000 will be raised by the board of trustees of the institution. Dr. J. W. Hunt, said.

McMurtry college is the only Methodist institution now within the confines of the Northwest Texas Conference. It is the sole survivor of a chain of colleges which have passed away one by one as lightning bugs in the dark night of Christian educational institutions. Those which remain only as memories are Clarendon college, last to succumb; Seth Ward, Stanford; and Stamford college, Stanford, Amarillo University, "died a burning."

As some members of the conference confessed yesterday, when Amarillo voted to raise the $500,000, the opportunity to match Methodist dollars.

The college plant now consists of six buildings—the administration

School Boy Held For Mate's Death

SEARCY, Ark., Nov. 23. (P)—An after school quarrel between two 13-year-old boys had its tragic aftermath today in the death of one while the other was held to await a hearing on a charge of murder.

Clarence Dodge was killed with a shotgun by George Smith, according to officers at the Smith home near Enright. A quarrel between the youths was started just after the school at Enright, was dismissed.

Officers quoted George as saying he shot the Dodge boy as the latter was picking up an iron rod.

TO CONDUCT PROBE

Special House Committee to Meet In McAllen Monday

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(P)—Representative Loring M. Black, Democrat of New York, announced today that the special house committee appointed to investigate campaign expenditures will convene in McAllen, Texas, next Monday. Among the charges to be investigated, he said, are allegations that Mexicans were brought across the international boundary to vote in elections.

VICTORIA, Nov. 23. (P)—C. A. Murray, 54, vice president of the Victoria Bank and Trust Company, died here today several hours after having been stricken ill at his desk.

More than 100 city officials, city employees, co-officials, former employees of the city and their guests, were present at the annual Get-Together banquet at the Lubbock Hotel Friday night, enjoying a varied program of music, readings and speeches which lasted from 7 until 10 o'clock.

As toastmaster, Mayor Harley D. Woods presided in a manner that made the three hours seem less than half their length with innumerable witticisms and all-around good nature that made everybody feel perfectly at home.

An eight-piece orchestra furnished music during the course of the banquet, furnished for the occasion through the courtesy of the hotel management.

the orchestra being the Original Blue Moon Quintet.

Departments Introduced

The heads of every department of the city were introduced by Mayor Woods, they in turn introducing the employees in their respective departments, and all former city officials, employees and members of the present and past board of city development also were introduced.

He's So Good He Stops The Show

WILL ROGERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(P)—The Examiner today said the name of Will Rogers, actor and humorist, had been withdrawn by his sponsor from nomination as an associate member of the exclusive Bohemian Club of San Francisco.

The newspaper reported that among the reasons for the withdrawal was an accusation that while Rogers was a "distinguished guest" of the club at its annual High Jinks last August he "stole the show" by occupying the limelight for an hour and a half instead of keeping to the five minutes allotted him.

Section Has Phenomenal Growth

This announcement from Washington follows close upon the statement made by the Avalanche-Journal a few weeks ago that a party of Santa Fe engineers were surveying the territory to be traversed between Reservoirs and a point in New Mexico. Phenomenal development in Gaines and Youkum counties, Texas, and Lea county, New Mexico, have been cited during the past year and it is these counties that will be most benefited by the proposed rail line.

There is now hardly a large section of land in the three counties that is not under lease to a number of the major oil companies, which are operating in the territory. Agricultural developments have been keeping pace with other developments in the area and the large ranches are slowly yielding to the onward march of South Plains settlement.

Phenomenal Development of Section Said to Warrant Rail Construction; Oil Plays Big Part Now

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—(P)—The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission today proposals to construct 68 miles of new railroad in Texas and New Mexico, with an application for approval.

Desire to undertake construction through the South Plains & Santa Fe company, a subsidiary, and build from Seagraves, Texas, to a point in Lea county, New Mexico, 29 miles north of the southern border of that state, was stated.

NOWATA, Okla., Nov. 23. (P) Two young men selected suits at a local clothing store here yesterday and told W. E. Weible, the proprietor, they would be back today.

Promises Bring Regret to Store

NOWATA, Okla., Nov. 23. (P) Two young men selected suits at a local clothing store here yesterday and told W. E. Weible, the proprietor, they would be back today.

They came back, but instead of purchase money, they brought guns. Not only did they take the suits, they took all of the available cash in the store—some $250 left Weible trussed in an orderly fashion in his back room and departed in a motor car they had parked in an alley.

Barometric Pressure Drops To 28.11, Lowest Since 1894; Four Are Killed In England By Heavy Wind

German Ship Sinks

London Suffers From Heavy Rain and Wind; Steamer Service Disrupted; Majestic Is Late Berthing

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 23.—Another autumn gale bringing loss of life, distress to shipping, interference with land transport and extensive property damage raged through England today. The wind was estimated at 100 miles an hour in Yorkshire.

Two persons were killed in Liverpool. One was a sandwich board man whose humble means of livelihood caused him to be blown under a motor truck. The other victim was caught under a falling tree.

School Girl Is Killed

Hull also reported two deaths. An aged man struggling homeward through the gale, fell dead from over-exertion. A schoolgirl was killed when a chimney collapsed as the pupils were leaving the classrooms.

At Edinburgh, the barometric pressure was 28.11, the lowest since 1894.

So fierce was the blow on the channel that railway steamer service between Dover and Ostend was cancelled at midday, as were airplane trips from Croydon to the continent.

London Drenched With Rain

In London roofs, shop windows, billboards suffered severely. The whole city was drenched with rain. Fishing fleets, caught away from their bases by the gale, were subjected for anxiety. It was believed, however, that all these small crafts managed to make port without loss of life.

The fury of the gale was felt more strongly perhaps at sea and along the coast than in the interior. The Spanish steamer Cantabria

County Educators Hold Meet Today

Lubbock County Trustees And School Men Discuss Fifteen Problems Of The Schools Scheduled

Fifteen very important problems confronting public education in the schools of Texas, as outlined by State Superintendent of Public Instruction S. M. N. Marx, will be up for extended discussion this afternoon at the Lubbock county courthouse, when a large number of county and city school superintendents, noted educators

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Fast introduces JERRY RAY, a shopgirl, to wealthy ALESTER CARSTAIRS when he crashes his airplane into the camp she is sharing with her roommate MYRTLE. Her heart responds to his, and DAN HARVEY, but Alester is struck with her beauty
and showers attentions upon her.
A letter from her mother revealing
poverty and illness strengthens Jerry's determination to marry wealth.
Unable to buy a new gown for the party Alester has invited her to, Jerry yields to the temptation to take one from the store—leaving to slip it back next morning. At the party LEONTINE LE-BAUDY, who is infatuated with Alester, is responsible for the dress being ruined.
Jerry is in a panic. She confesses to the manager, who discharges her. She seeks another job, and is surprised one evening
when Dan calls on her. He proposes and she tells him love is a delusion and that she intends to marry for money. He leaves after
trying to warn her.
Alester phones that he has a surprise, and takes her to the deserted summer camp where he has a servant spread a feast. He gives her orchids and a ring—
with a proposal which stuns Jerry. She repulses his insult and he seizes her in his arms. She is frightened until she hears Dan's
whistle along the beach. Under cover of his presence Jerry forces Alester to take her home. He is confused and when she says she has lost her job on his account, he
promises to try to get her in a chance. Next day he takes her to interview the producer, who promises to take her on after a stage test.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXV

"You will need this now," Alester said, flicking the ring a little nearer to Jerry. "Take it will consider you dearest if you haven't any jewelry."
Jerry did not pick it up.

"There aren't any strings tied to it," Alester went on, guessing at her thoughts.

"How about wishes?" Jerry asked giving him a straight look.
Alester leaned forward with a smile.

"Can you imagine what a mad world this would be if everyone could make his wishes come true?"
he said.

"If I know it would be no place for shop girls," Jerry replied, still eyeing him candidly.

"You mean for chorus girls," Alester corrected. "Forget your department store, Jerry and—his voice became very serious—"please forget yesterday. Let's declare a new deal. Take the ring, I chose it because it belongs to you, and I'll try to stop wishing anything you wouldn't like."

He picked up the ring himself and held it out to her. Jerry let him slip it over her finger, then she turned her head quickly to see if they had been observed. No one appeared to have noticed. Not that it mattered, she told herself, it wasn't an engagement ring, she wouldn't want to receive that in public. . . . anyway she needn't feel guilty . . . she was a show girl now. People expected them to accept presents.

Alester seemed to have an uneasy perception.
"You're going to be a success,
Jerry," he assured her, "and there will be more costly things than this ring for you . . . if you want them, but I hope you won't." "I'm afraid I shouldn't take this," Jerry returned doubtfully.

"I don't feel like a show girl yet."
"Wait until Jake's stage director gets through with you and you will," Alester grinned. "He punishes them hard, Jerry, and one thing I feel I must warn you about. Hile doesn't like having raw material run in on him. You may hear him say something pretty hot about pull, but don't lose your temper. He will make you if you're any talent at all. You can afford to overlook his remarks for the sake of a career. And there isn't a better man in the business than Hile to get started with."
Jerry promised to remember that.

"People are taking notice of you already," Alester told her when they were on the floor, dancing.
But Jerry wondered if the attention she was attracting was not mostly due to Alester's social prominence.
Surely the public must know who he was, especially here. It was nice of him to bring her among his own kind, she thought, softening toward him more than she had as yet since the scene at the shore.

"Maybe they guess that I'm very happy," she said, smiling up at him mislily. But even as she spoke the words she knew that they were not entirely true. If only Dan Harvey would stay out of her mind . . . and her heart . . .

Alester was charming the rest of the afternoon. Jerry saw a new and delightful side to his character. He seemed anxious to please her. Her softness toward him grew, but shortly before they left the tea room a jarring note struck discord into the pleasant tempo of her thoughts.

Two girls, exquisite elegants from his own world, came past the table where Jerry and Alester sat.
He rose at their smile, bowed and took his seat again, though Jerry was certain the girls had paused with the intention of speaking to him. His attitude had clearly been meant to indicate to them that he did not wish to introduce his companion Jerry thought.

She tried to tell herself that he could not be blamed for that, but she felt that he shouldn't have brought her here if he considered the people he would meet too good to know her.

They danced again, but she was no longer under the spell of the place, the enchanting music, and the fact that she danced with one of the world's most eligible young men. He appeared far less fascinating than he had an hour ago.

If Alester noted the change in her feeling for him, at least he did not comment upon it. They parted at her door without a date for the future other than Alester's promise to be at the theatre for her first rehearsal.

It was in his mind to give Jerry a little time to think things over.
He didn't want her to suppose he was going to seek to monopolize her simply because he had got her a place in the theatre. He sensed that she would be more grateful to him if he allowed her to find an expression for her gratitude in her own way. And there was the ring.
She must not imagine that he wanted anything in return for that.
No, Jerry would have to be handled with diplomacy, he perceived.
Jerry could not restrain a show of pride when she displayed the ring to Myrtle. The latter said it was too bad it wasn't set in platinum.

"But I like the jade," Jerry replied. "It matches my eyes."

Myrtle guffawed.

"That's some of Alester Car-stair's bloney," she jeered. "That bimbo's going to have you eating out of his hand yet."

"You should worry," Jerry retorted; but wait until my show opens; there's no bloney about that."

"I wonder what it cost Alester to get you in?" Myrtle mused audibly.

"Nothing," Jerry said with a flush. "Mr. Weinert was indebted to him."

"Then you don't owe him anything," Myrtle said pointedly. "And don't you let him forget it."

"I'll feel that I do if I don't make good," Jerry replied, with a hint of worry in her voice.

"Gee, you're lucky," Myrtle said.
"To get a chance like that. Of course you'll make good. What's it like anyway, the theater in the daytime?"

"I haven't been back stage," Jerry confided and went on to tell

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your nerve—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. A. M. Owens, of 1716 Taylor St., Rt. 3, Box 34, Little Rock, Ark., says
"I was so weak I couldn't walk across the floor. I had spent a fortune trying to get well and would be in my grave if it weren't for Tanlac. Now I eat and sleep fine and have gained 22 lbs."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 20 years that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.
So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

her roommate all that she had seen. "It was awful," she said, "the way Mr. Wetters bawled that chorus girl out before everybody. I hope no one talks to me like that."

"Well, they will," Myrtle declared. "You don't want to be touchy, kid. Learn to hand it back. When are you going to rehearse?"

"Tomorrow morning at 10."

"Aren't you lucky! You can sleep until nine!"

But Jerry couldn't Myrtle disturbed her when she got up and dressed. At eight she herself was up. At 20 minutes to 10 she was at the stage door of the theater.

"Miss Ray of the chorus," she said to the doorman.

He smiled. "A greenhorn," he said to himself. "Go right in, Miss Ray. I'm sure they're waiting for you."

Jerry flashed her a look of alarm. Had she made a mistake in the time?

"Rehearsal begins at 10, doesn't it?" she asked excitedly.

The man smiled. "You got plenty of time," he said. "Go on in."

Jerry walked through the stage door into the magic world of backstage. There was an unpainted table, a chair of the kind that you find in general stores beside it, and a bulletin board on the wall of the place wherein she stood.

The floor was bare and not very clean. At one side Jerry looked into a row of painted backgrounds onto the stage.

The piano was there, and the pianist. He was playing. Jerry stood still and listened. His music flooded the darkened auditorium with rare sound. This was not jazz, or popular melody. Jerry was not acquainted with the music masters, but the compelling beauty of Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C Sharp Minor stirred her deeply.

She forgot that she had come to rehearse for the chorus and that she didn't know where to go.

The young man at the piano seemed to have forgotten the rehearsal, too. He played on until the first of the laggard chorus arrived and intruded upon him.

Jerry had moved slowly toward him, drawn by his music; the other girls did not see her in the wings.

"Listen, Jael," one of them shouted at the musician. "Don't play that second number so fast this morning. Get me. I had a hard night, trying to get the sugar off my gaidy." She laughed shrilly. The young man nodded.

Jerry did not know if it were in jest; she suspected he didn't want to talk to the girl.

The stage door was opening often now. She could see girls pouring in as if they had timed their arrival at 10 minutes to 10 precisely, not a minute before, and not a minute after.

Well, she'd better think about what she should do. Go to the office and inquire. The scrabble thing would be to find the stage about her.

She saw no one but the young man at the piano and the noisy chorus girls. She wouldn't ask any of them. The young man, taking her courage in her teeth she approached him.

"Will you please tell me where I can find Mr. Hule?" she inquired politely.

The young man was playing HIGH FLIGHT mechanically. He did not stop when he answered, after one glance at Jerry. "You're the Carstairs girl," he remarked, with a bitterness that Jerry could not understand at the time. Later she learned that Jael Thane had given a promising career as a concert artist to follow a show girl into the realm of jazz only to lose her after a few months to man who made a star of her.

He had never come back to his concert, or on from the place where she had left him—playing the piano for Jake Weinert's rehearsal.

Jerry turned away from him affronted.

"He'll be here in a few minutes," Jael called. "Better go on to the dressing room and tell the wardrobe mistress to fix you up."

Jerry was walking blindly in the direction she had seen the other girls take. She did not want to meet Mr. Hule just now. Another reference to the part Alister had played in putting her here and she would lose her temper. Alister had warned her not to let that happen, she remembered.

The sound of the girl's voices led her to the right dressing room.

She had taken Jerry by the arm and was hurrying her along to a place at the far end of a table. Jerry saw now that the room contained several like the one she had noticed first. A few of the girls turned their heads over their shoulders and watched their progress.

"High hat's found someone good enough to hand out a little conversation to," one of them remarked sneeringly as they passed her.

Jerry felt Evelyn's fingers tighten on her arm and guessed that they were the objects of the girl's comment.

When they came to Evelyn's place she pulled a stool up beside her own and then started pushing the jars and bottles on the table farther down to clear a space for Jerry's hat and bag.

"I'll tell you what to get," she was saying when a girl in a very short, black satin dress rushed up and wanted to know what in the blankety blank she thought she was doing.

Evelyn looked at her coldly. "I'm taking advantage of the rule you girls applied to me," she said calmly. "I wish to have Miss Hule say here—that's the rule, you know. Friends may have places together even if someone else must change."

"Is that so?" the girl in black satin drawled. "Well, I won't move, see?"

She jerked a stool before the place that Evelyn had cleared for Jerry and popped down on it with decisive finality. Jerry saw her feet twine about the legs of the stool as though they meant to stay there.

Evelyn said nothing more. She was tight-lipped with anger, but she controlled it admirably.

"Go call for help," the other girl sneered as she walked away.

Jerry realized soon that Evelyn had gone for the mistress of the wardrobe, for she returned with the latter in less than a minute.

"Don't make trouble, Lucile," the mistress said to the rebellious girl on the stool. "Miss Starr is right. She can claim your place for a friend. Remember your girls yourselves, started the custom."

"Aw, go to . . ."

"None of your swearing now," the older woman warned her quietly. "Move!"

Jerry was shaken by the scene. But no one else seemed to mind it. Evelyn was perfectly calm.

"Hurry," she said, and put on your suit." She pointed to a folded garment on the table and Jerry picked it up.

Her first stage costume. Gingham panties and blouse.

"I'll have your size next time," the wardrobe mistress was saying. "But you'd better shake yourself, little one. Old Hule is . . ."

"Everybody on the stage! Everybody on the stage. Everybody on the stage!"

She was going to be late at her first rehearsal!

Jerry turned faint.

Scurry County To Hold Poultry Show

Great Interest Being Shown In Exhibit; Indications Are That 1,000 Birds Will Be Shown

SNYDER, Nov. 23.—Greater interest is being shown in the Scurry County Poultry show than ever before, in all likelihood caused from the slow cotton-crop this year and the cotton farmer noting the daily and weekly checks received by their neighbors who have added poultry to their farm projects.

According to Supt. B. L. Baze, the annual show will get under way here December 6, 7 and 8 and now gives promise of being the best exhibit in years. Last year, 499 birds were entered and present indications point to nearly 1,000 birds being in the show. Some of the best chicken farms in Texas are located in Scurry county and out-of-county breeders know they must have a high type show bird to get anywhere here. Catalogs are already in the mail for the show and remarkable cooperation has been extended the prize list with money contributions from merchants.

Last Saturday, 45 cents per dozen were being paid by local stores to the farmers for eggs, they in turn getting 30 cents a dozen with eggs in any quantity being at a premium. The turkey market went the highest it has ever been here last week when 32 cents a pound was paid, over $18,000 in cash being handed out during the two days that price prevailed. Current prices now range at 30 cents.

NEW OIL PLAY IS Seen for Jones

(Special To The Avalanche)

SWEETWATER, Nov. 23.—Indications that another boundary of the Shabben-Bickley pool of southwestern Jones county may have been found were seen in the Sinclair Oil and Gas company's No. 2 Bickley well which drilled thru the lime yesterday morning at 2,454 feet, encountering a considerable quantity of gas and an oil show but no commercial production. The well is to be drilled deeper, however, with the hope that something better may develop. This well is one location south and one east of the Snowden McGowney No. 1 Bickley discovery well. It is one location south and one east of the Snowden McGowney No. 3 Bickley which came in for an initial production of about 1500 barrels and is one location north of the McGowney No. 1 Bickley, also a good producer.

Resolution Downed Wedding of Baptist Students Okeh

TEXARKANA, Nov. 23. (AP)—A resolution to require ministerial students receiving financial aid at Baptist institutions to refrain from marrying until they finish college has been withdrawn from consideration at the Baptist State convention here. The Rev. L. M. Sipes introduced it last night and there was lively discussion, during the course of which somebody recalled that Mr. Sipes himself was married before he was graduated from Ouachita college. He promptly withdrew his resolution.

THEN ALL-BRAN SAVED HIM FROM CONSTIPATION

A message for people who use laxatives

Mr. Skiles wrote us a voluntary testimonial after Kellogg's ALL-BRAN had saved him from dreadful constipation. Read his tribute:

"For years I have been so constipated. After trying every kind of drug possible, I could only get temporary relief. I became discouraged and gave up hope, when a friend told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I had read so many testimonials I had no faith. I was of the opinion testimonials were put out by friends. I will not only give you the privilege to use my name, but I will go on the witness stand and testify to my statement. I cannot express words great enough to meet with Kellogg's food."

Arthus Skiles, 225 N. Kedzie Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If constipation is preying upon your health, check it before too late. If you are using habit-forming laxatives, stop it before this harmful practice fastens its grip too tight.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Just eat two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. A 100% bran cereal—delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

How to Achieve Beauty

Styles of hair dressing have never been so charming, so varied, so individual or so flattering before. Why? Well for one reason every coiffure specialist seems to agree that one given style is never going to be suitable to ten million women. And instead of wasting their time trying to perfect and put across a 40 per cent success, they are preaching and praising individuality in hair dress.

There are a few general principles which I will set down for you here—but remember that the really chattering to do is to evolve a style of head dress that flatters you a little, suits you tremendously, and expresses your type.

While all kinds of coiffure variations are being shown successfully this year, almost all of the real "hits" have been built on one of two principles of waving. The first, which consists of large, soft waves is very flattering, particularly to the woman who is youthful in maturity, or past her early teens.

This type of wave may either be a marcel, a water or a permanent. Unless your hairdresser is well qualified, the water wave is most likely to prove a success. However, any competent operator should be able to exactly suit your requirements—so has the art of hair dressing progressed!

A very popular style which is steadily gaining ground among mature women is the bob that subtly suggests the long hair coiffure. Tiny hair pins, loose waves and a rather long cut are all that is necessary to achieve a success in this type of hair dress.

I mentioned a few lines back that there were two principles in popular vogue. The second is the charming, childish tight round curl. This style requires youth, daintiness and a pretty face—not to speak of an hour a day in preparation, but it is a most delightfully effective coiffure. Every wisp of hair is curled tightly—not combed out. The effect is not unlike the perfect hair of those entrancing bisque dolls which were the joy and pride of our little girl days.

Princess Mode Back

By MADEIRA
New York Fashion Correspondent
Central Press and The Advance
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The princess mode, it seems, is returning. It is seldom absolutely out of the fashion focus. And it is not disappearing in the limelight now, but here in New York it is seen occasionally in individual types of frocks.

As pictured it is incorporated in a luxuriant red velvet dress—a small patterned novelty trimmed with velvet bows. The circular cut, uneven hemline gives a modern touch to this recurrent fashion.

Marian Talley, who at 19, became a Metropolitan Opera prima donna and the envy and personification of the most fairy-tale-like dreams of thousands of American girls, and who now commands thousands of dollars every time she sings, confides that the one thing she now wants, her life's dearest dream, is a farm.

In explaining just why she wants her farm she insists that the things she has—fame, money, position, which make her seem the veritable fairy princess to American girlhood, is not worth so much and that she is little, if any, happier than when she was just an ambitious girl dreaming of the glory which now she has.

"I want a farm. I want to live on it, manage it and make it self-supporting," says Marian Talley. "I want my home and my real life to be my farm."

IT PUZZLES US
Things like this make some of us occasionally despair and wonder why we should struggle toward the goals we think we want. Is anyone ever satisfied with the goal attained, even with the rare experience such as Marian Talley had of attaining a goal so big, so rarely reached, that most people would have called her dream merely fantastic and pathetic?

If, and when, Marian gets her farm, will she be any happier and more contented with that? Or is the only thing which gives living a zest at all the longing for "the next thing," once the immediate dream has come true?

Is it as pathetic as it seems or is there hope in this fact, that all human beings are doomed to eternal seeking of the thing they think they want, only to find the treasure turns to dust even as they hold it first and feverishly in their hands?

The Paradise Ensemble

A scintillating Bird of Paradise struts its crystal and diamond chie across the shimmering beauty of the white satin gown of a new evening ensemble by Edridge Manning.

New York Black-White, with a touch of apple green chiffon in the facing of the long back panel of the frock, this ensemble is exquisitely individual.

The crepe satin gown hugs the figure snugly and has a unique method of achieving its longer back silhouette by a modernistic step-down panel. The sharply pointed V neckline is new, too.

The black velvet coat, with its white fox collar and white lined, with the crepe satin fashioning the turned-back cuffs. A smart little turban of white satin, encrusted with crystals and diamonds completes this lovely ensemble.

CARD CLUB MEETS

course, this whole "woman problem." The modern idea insists that any capable, intelligent woman can have her cake and eat it, too. She can have "home AND career"—not "home OR career." It sounds swell. It really means that papa will graciously permit mama to come home from her day in the office to run the vacuum cleaner at night, while he, home from his hard day's work, reads and smokes and engages in his own sweet devotions.

MORE SENSE
This, too, sounds like sense as Mrs. Calt goes on:

"The housewife without a career or income has her own worries, and dreary ones too. She knows that she is no longer the economic prop to the home that her mother was, and that no matter how many hours she works or how fatigued she may be at the end of the work-day, she has become an economic burden. She has suddenly discovered that she is the sole surviving unpaid worker in a world of pay-envelopes and she feels the humiliation of having none."

I, too, have said in this column again and again that no worker is so exploited as the housekeeper. To be sure, she is working for self as well as for the rest of the family, but so are all of us who get pay envelopes and regular working hours so soon.

The Morning Advance Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Apples, cereal cooked with raisins, cream, waffles, syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Baked macaroni and tomatoes, buttered cauliflower, canned fruit, cookies, milk, tea.
DINNER—Baked ham with raisin sauce, rice croquettes, steamed spinach, stuffed celery, porcine apples, milk, coffee.

Apples are carefully simmered in syrup until tender but not broken. They are then rolled in blanched and shredded almonds, and the reduced syrup is poured over them. After thorough chilling they are served with a garnish of bright jelly. The shredded almonds give the name "porcupine."

Three-fourths cup light brown sugar, 1-3 cup water, 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, juice 1 lemon, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 glass currant or grape jelly, 1-4 teaspoon ground cloves.

Put sugar and water in a sauce pan and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add butter, raisins, jelly and salt, pepper and cloves. Stir currant to a smooth paste with a little cold water and add to mixture when the boiling point is reached, stirring constantly. Cook ten minutes and remove from fire. Stir in lemon juice and serve. Only enough cornstarch is used as thickening to prevent thinness.

SNYDER, Nov. 23.—Scurry county reports 4,792 bales ginned up to this morning against 26,192 bales to the same date last year. Poor cotton crop has caused an interest to be revived in all sections of poultry and dairying, county banks are operating in adding good Jersey stock to county farms.

YOUR CHILDREN

There goes Mrs. Moore with a new fur coat. And her husband, poor thing hasn't had a new dud for a year. I have the same laundress she has and she says Mr. Moore's shirts are so worn out he actually has fringe on his cuffs. I suppose Mrs. Moore bought him a pair of good sharp scissors when she bought her coat. They say that she's driving him mad with her extravagance.

"Oh, have you heard about the Wilkinsons? Run out Ruth! Yes, I guess there's something in it because she was gone three days and Irene saw her in town shopping with her mother. She said the next time it happened she'd stay for good. I happen to know that for a fact because the Lathams are on the same telephone line and Mrs. Lathams heard her tell Carrie Brown all about it. Why, Ruth, are you still there? I thought you'd gone out. Now run out and play."

"Mother," said Ruth a day or two later. "I don't like Emma Cary and I won't sit beside her."

"Why? What's wrong dear?"

"I don't like her, that's all. Mother may I have a blue velvet dress with silver buttons and a little blue velvet hat to match?"

"Why?"

"Emma has one. She looks dreadful in it and she's terribly stuck up about it, but—"

"You mustn't talk that way about your friends. I'm afraid you're jealous. If you can't say nice things about them, don't say anything. Oh, there's the phone. See if it's for me, Ruth."

"Mrs. Miller! Tell her I'll be right there."

There came into her mother's eyes a look that Ruth had learned to know well. She knew that her mother and Mrs. Miller would gossip for half an hour over the telephone about people they knew. She was too young to associate her hostile attitude toward her schoolmates with the gossip habit of her mother. And too young to realize that many of her mother's sharp and unkind remarks were due to jealousy. Her mother herself didn't realize it. If you want your child to be a friend, you must be a friend yourself.

Parachute Motif!

A little French trottier suit designed for year under Southern skies, advances a most modern interpretation of the modish red, white and blue color scheme by using a new printed silk which has tiny parachutes for its design. The blue jacket is lined with the print, too. This print is one of the new "impressions decorative," designed by famous French artists, which promise great vogue next spring.

Bond Campaign

able and workable plan—the best to be had at this time.

Rix Explains Facts

Jed A. Rix, president of the Lubbock County Good Roads association, gave the gathering facts and figures on the proposed issue, showing the entire cost, if all bonds were sold and property owners taxed to pay them, at one time, the most it would cost would be 53 cents on each $100 assessed taxable valuations, or about $10.00 per quarter-section of land at the $1250 per acre assessment. He explained that the east part of the county was entitled to the lateral roads.

Walter Myrick, Jr., stressed the improvement of good roads as a direct help to the farmers of the county, especially those producing milk for the cash market. He stated that at Marshall, where farmers have good roads over which to carry their milk to town while it is still fresh and sweet, was at this time paying 58 cents as a basis for butterfat, while here the price is only 38 cents. He also spoke of the equality of the plan, stating that the east part of the county was not getting any more lateral roads than they were entitled to, as there are four times as many people living in the east half of the county than there are in the west.

R. F. Martin, who travels for an insurance company, told the gathering that he makes about 100 miles average each day in his work, traveling about 25,000 miles each year. Last year a great deal of his work was in portions of Texas where good roads obtain and claimed that he could travel for 3 cents per mile cheaper in that portion than he could in West Texas, where few good roads are to be found. He said he was in Lamesa Friday and that the people of Dawson county were watching the outcome of Lubbock county's bond issue, stating to him that if this bond issue carries December 1, Dawson county would soon get busy and bonds for building good roads through that county to connect with those from this county.

Dr. H. H. Bidwell said he was against the bond issue at first, but that since studying it from all angles, he is heartily in favor of it now and believes it equitable to all parts of the county and should be voted.

Salemen to Meet in City Hall to Discuss Program

A gathering of traveling men who make Lubbock their headquarters will be held at the Chamber of Commerce offices this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the $2,000,000 county-wide road bond issue that is to be voted on Saturday, December 1.

"Insane Delusions" Bring Deadlock in Will Trial

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Disagreeing as to whether the late William J. McDonald had "insane delusions" when he made a will bequeathing $350,000 to the University of Texas for an observatory, a jury was discharged here today without having reached a verdict.

HOKS AND SLIDES

Kearns Sings Old Story

Jed Kearns says he is through with the fight business as soon as Mickey Walker is washed up, and the temptation is too great to resist to say that Kearns is about through now.

The little piece herewith is not about Walker but about Kearns. Men tire of a tricky business such as boxing is after they have been in it as long as Kearns and want to get out of it. Few are able to do it, however. Either they have to continue as a means of livelihood or the fascination of the business holds them.

Bill Gibson swore when Tunney retired that he was through with the fight business. After having thrown away several fortunes, Gibson found himself with a roll big enough to keep him for life after he got his cut of Tunney's two Dempsey shots.

But Tunney hardly had made his announcement when Gibson was hot in the chase after Knute Hansen, the heavyweight, and when the contract squabbles are settled Bill probably will have the man.

But He May Mean It

Kearns probably means what he says and if he retires he no doubt will stick to it for two reasons. He is the smartest manager in the modern history of the ring in two ways. He is smart in handling his fighters and he is smart in handling himself. He has plenty of money now and he can do just as any whim or fancy strikes him.

There is another thing about Kearns also. He has a vanity. Babe Ruth never will play with a minor league club and Kearns never will associate himself with a bum fighter. Champions are his only dish and there aren't any near champions running around loose.

Wallace Back Again

Returning to the ring after an absence of almost a year, Billy Wallace made an impressive showing in beating Bruce Flowers. Wallace proved himself to be in good condition again and his timing was unusually good for a boy who had worked so long for a year.

But he seemed to have lost the power of a punch that made him one of the most dangerous hitters in the lightweight class several years ago. He hit Flowers with three crushing right hands in the first round and they didn't even shake up the negro. And Flowers is no Paulino. Wallace dumped him twice later in the fight but he couldn't keep him down.

Without a jaw-breaking punch, however, Wallace can go quite a ways in the class now if he keeps himself in shape and doesn't have any more accidents because the division has very little class in it outside of the champion.

New Voters

California, at the recent elections, voted down an amendment aimed to let boxing in the state. Massachusetts voters passed an amendment permitting Sunday baseball and football and Cleveland voted for a bond issue to build a huge stadium on the lake front in which the Cleveland Indians will play their games. It is possible that, with the same intelligent direction that was shown in the Massachusetts campaign, Pennsylvania may soon vote for Sunday baseball.

School Meet

for the meeting are, Senator-elect Pink L. Parrish, Representative-elect Carl Rountree, of Lamesa; Dr. A. W. Evans and Prof. J. T. Shaver, of Texas Technological college; County Superintendent W. M. Pevhouse, City Superintendent M. H. Duncan.

Effect Every School

As outlined by State Superintendent Marrs, the problems mentioned are financial and administrative and affect every school in the state, more or less. The 13 are included in Marrs' suggested Texas Educational program, which will be placed before the next session of the state legislature. They are as given following:

1. Provide for the per capita apportionment of $16 for each year of the biennium.

2. Adequate appropriations of the rural aid and payment of rural high school tuition.

3. Appropriate funds to match federal funds from the Smith-Hughes law and accept the civilian rehabilitation act.

4. Retire the penitentiary railroad bonds and refund the state bonds now owned by the state permanent school fund into bonds bearing a higher rate of interest and provide for their payment.

5. Submit constitutional amendment providing for county wide tax for the support of junior colleges and a county equalization fund for elementary and secondary education.

6. Provide for the appointment of county superintendents by the county boards of trustees.

7. Amend the scholastic census law so as to include children six years of age.

8. Enact legislation requiring the U. S. constitution to be taught in the public schools and require all teachers in elementary and secondary schools to be American citizens.

9. Amend the compulsory attendance law to require school attendance for six months and increase the age to 15 to harmonize with the child labor law.

10. Repeat the Fairchild Certificate law and also the limitation placed upon salaries.

11. Provide for a division of literacy in the state department of education to deal with adult education.

12. Enact a junior college law that will standardize such institutions, and also protect the elementary and secondary schools.

13. Enact a physical education law and provide for a state director of physical education.

14. Clarify the present statutes relating to rural high school districts and consolidation of rural schools.

15. Independent District—Repeat act authorizing county boards of trustees to create independent districts. Repeat all provisions of special laws pertaining to independent districts of fewer than 500 scholars in conflict with the general law, except those relating to taxation. Provide local option plan of divestment of independent school districts from municipalities.

condition of his father. Thus far, however, there has been nothing to indicate that his immediate return to England is contemplated.

Duke is Only Son Present

The Duke of York, only one of the four royal sons in England at present, came especially from his hunting lodge to London this morning and visited His Majesty. He planned to return to Northamptonshire tomorrow but will be kept in close touch with the palace. He will go to Chequers for the weekend, but will be at immediate call in case he should be needed in London in connection with the King's illness.

ASKS SIMPLE CEREMONY

Hoover Wants Inauguration To Be Void of Show

U. S. S. MARYLAND, EN ROUTE TO ANAPAPA, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Responding to importunities from many sources in the United States for re-establishment of elaborate presidential ceremonies next March 4, announced today that his inauguration would be as simple as possible.

"I do not propose to have any more elaborate ceremony than the most simple one of recent years," he said, in a statement to correspondents aboard the Maryland.

Get-Together

past city administrations for their fine work in laying the foundations for the present efficiency in all departments.

Overcome Difficulties

"The city light plant has overcome in many ways, past difficulties," the mayor said, in introducing John Graham, superintendent. "This department too, never sleeps. Of the street and water department, he said, when introducing Roy Houl, superintendent, that few people appreciate the difficulty this department has confronted in keeping water line and sewer line extensions up to the rapid pace of the city's growth the past several years. These men see to it that you are provided with water in your homes and that sanitary extensions are made."

"If any official in the city of Lubbock is cursed," said Mayor Woods, "it is this man I am about to introduce to you. He must have a happy disposition to meet all contingencies. I want you to meet Mr. R. A. Holland, city tax collector."

City Manager McCleary said, "this is one of the high points in the history of Lubbock." In speaking of the banquet, "I appreciate the presence of all here tonight, and am sorry that others could not get here because of their work, as well as the employees of every department. The city has approximately 100 employees," he said. "Monthly salaries are drawn by about 75, while there are about 25 day laborers on the payroll, as occasion needs them. Our payroll is about $12,000 a month, and the city has assets of $3,000,000."

Speaks of Rapid Growth

Mayor Woods then spoke of the rapid growth of the city making the present city hall, built 3 or 4 years ago, as being inadequate for housing the departments and other offices, such as the chamber of commerce, Boy Scouts and the Retail Merchants association, and stating that because of needed room by the city the Boy Scouts would move to seek other quarters.

Former Mayor Pink L. Parrish congratulated Mayor Woods on this meeting, "one of the finest things that could be had," he declared. "Two of the most pleasant years of my life were those I spent as mayor of Lubbock." He told some "inside" stories on certain members of the city commission and the mirth of those present. "I think Lubbock is in the best condition, from an administration standpoint, than it has ever been. The city can only function with the cooperation of every employee of it. The man working on the streets is of as much importance as any other member of the forces." Of the police and fire departments, he said he hoped the day would come when men who had served on these for 25 years would be pensioned, and urged that the city forever continue ownership of its light plant. "It saves materially for the citizens of Lubbock, and other parts of Texas has eyes on the city of Lubbock." Tech Freshmen Meet Canyon Yearlings In Final Today

Spectacular Games On Pacific Coast Hold Spotlight In Today's Program

Scholastic Difficulties May Keep Picadors From Showing Full Power In Last Game of Current Season

Yearlings Expected To Arrive In Lubbock This Morning; Locals Determined To Make Up For Loss

A determined aggregation of freshman gridiron warriors will take the field in their final appearance of the season on Tech field at 3 o'clock this afternoon as the Canyon Yearlings invade the stronghold of the Picadors for the only college game of the week from the local standpoint. After suffering a stinging setback at the hands of the Roswell Cadets last Saturday, the Highsmith-Ingerton gridironers make their last stand today determined to end the season with a victory.

Ineligibles are likely to reduce the offensive power of the local aggregation. Several members of the first string backfield, who have borne the brunt of the season, will probably watch the game from the sidelines. Aside from scholastic difficulties, however, the Frosh will be in fine fettle for their last encounter. Members of the squad who have been on the injured list for the past week have recuperated and the coaches will at least have their full strength in the line.

After four days of strenuous training, the Picadors went through a light workout Friday afternoon brushing up on the plays they are to use against the Yearlings today. The Canyon eleven is expected to arrive in Lubbock some time this morning.

The probable starting lineup for the Frosh follows: Ends—Edmonds and Strickland; Sides and Alchinson; guards—Carr and Simmons; center—Swift; quarterback—Buckler; halves—High and Chenoweth; fullback—Nixon.

Billies Wallon Teachers Eleven

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Daniel Baker Hill Billies kept their T. I. A. A. slate clean by downing the Southwest Texas Teachers College Bobcats from San Marcos 20 to 0, today. Neither team counted in the first half but the Billies won the game by putting on two touchdowns early in the third quarter.

Pirates Trounce Trinity Tigers

WAKARUSA, Tex., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter and another in the fourth, the Southwest University Pirates defeated the Trinity University Tigers, 19 to 6, here today. Jack went across with two of the Corsairs' touchdowns and Blackburn scored the other. Hill gave the Tigers their only counter.

OSARK WESLEYAN WINS

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Osark Wesleyan College of Carnegie, Mo., defeated the Bacone Indian University here today, 6 to 0, in a tense, nip and tuck football battle.

DENTON TEACHERS WIN

SHERMAN, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Denton teachers defeated Austin college, 6 to 0 here today.

Snyder Dedicates Athletic Stadium

Stanford High Wins Over Snyder Eleven In Bitterly Fought Game; Occasion Is Colorful

SNYDER, Nov. 23.—Amid one of the most colorful settings imaginable Snyder citizens dedicated their new $10,000 athletic stadium here this afternoon with Supt. C. Wedgeworth, master of ceremonies and Judge James Stinson of Abilene delivering the principal address. More than 2500 people attended and saw a field that is declared to be equal to anything in West Texas including the larger colleges.

The football game that followed resulted in a victory for Stanford, high 7 to 6 one of the most bitterly fought battles ever waged on a local gridiron. Snyder scored the first touchdown in first five minutes of play with Captain Huettis crashing over for a touchdown but failed to make point after touchdown. Particular stars for Snyder were B. Moore, Jenkins, Trigg, B. Martin, Curry and Huettis. Rucker made Stanford's touchdown with Corley shone for the visitors. Colorado high plays here Thanksgiving day and invitations have been issued to Anson and Colorado to play their district title game here the week following.

A campaign is on here for a new $20,000 brick gymnasium to have in readiness for West Texas Girls A. U. basketball tournament to be held here in February.

Towns Seek Entry In Class D Loop

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Reuben Eastland and Sweetwater for admission to the West Texas Baseball League will be considered in the first annual meeting of the league here Sunday. J. McAllister Stevenson, loop president, said here today.

As the Sunday sessions, officers also will be chosen. Eastland and Sweetwater already have deposited an entrance fee with Stevenson.

GRINNELL 20; Creighton 19.—Grinnell, Iowa, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Grinnell football team won a football game to Creighton University today after overcoming a 14-point lead and setting the pace, 19 to 14. The final score was 20 to 19, and the game was as hectic as the scoring itself.

"Newsy" Game Midget Gridsters Play Sunday

A mighty spectacle is promised grid fans of Lubbock Sunday when two local newsboy aggregations tangle up at Merrill Park in a battle for gridiron honors among the local newsies. The Broadway Wildcats with Milton Johnson at the helm boast a husky aggregation of gridiron warriors who can take the leather with equal ability. The members of the team will alternate at calling signals. Hope Fletcher, 60 pound quarterback, will captain the Main Street Lions. Fletcher reports that the Lions have a variety of running plays with which they plan to upset the terrible Wildcats. The game will start promptly at 3 o'clock. Four 30 minute quarters will be played with no time-outs.

Steers Scrimmage With Frosh Team

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Inaugurating a secret training session in further preparation for the Texas Aggie contest here Thanksgiving, the Texas University Longhorns participated in a lively scrimmage with the Froshman squad, Coach Littlefield said tonight. The Steers gradually are rounding into good form with Shelley, Wray and Meadows improving daily. Indications are that they will be fit when the game starts.

Slaton Trounces Brownfield, 39-20

(Special to the Avalanche) BROWNFIELD, Nov. 23.—The Slaton Tigers were forced to extend themselves here today to defeat the fighting Brownfield Cubs by the score of 39 to 20. Both teams used the aerial game effectively.

At the end of the first half the score was deadlocked at 14-14. The Tigers forged ahead but Brownfield came back and tied the score again in the third quarter at 20 all. A superior Slaton passing and running attack finally wore down the Brownfield eleven and the Purple warriors came out with the long end of the score.

OWLS ARE FAVORED

Rice Cross Country Team Is Likely to Win

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Rice Institute, with victories over Texas University, Southern Methodist University and Texas A. & M. college in dual meets, is favored to win the Southwest Conference cross country meet to be held here Saturday.

These four schools, and possibly Arkansas University, will be entered, each having a maximum of seven contestants, with the first five finishing to count on the score of their respective teams.

SNYDER, Nov. 22.—The Colorado Wolves high school football team are the undisputed winners of the western section of class B, district 5 with the announcement last night by Supt. C. Wedgeworth of Snyder high that Hubert Carney, star Tiger center was over-age. As quickly as Wedgeworth understood this to be the case he phoned Chairman L. M. Johnson of the district committee at Stanford, forfeiting every victory of the season.

Major Teams In Texas Have Their Coaches For Audience Today With Barren Stands In The Background

Arkansas University Only Team In Southwest Conference With Game Scheduled for Today

BY HAROLD BANKS Associated Press Staff Writer DALLAS, Nov. 23.—Except at Fayetteville, Ark., Southwest conference football stadiums which a week ago reverberated with cheering thousands, will be barren and deserted tomorrow as teams go through their paces before only the unadmirable eyes of coaching staffs. Arkansas university meets Oklahoma Baptist in an "outside" game, but elsewhere followers of the gridiron game must turn to other sources of amusement for off-days are the program at all Texas colleges which compose the organization.

Training Intensive Pandemonium may have a holiday but training programs outlined by mentors suggested that not by the greatest stretch of imagination could the afternoon be called a gala occasion for six squares. Earlier in the week Rice, Texas A. & M. and Texas University, Baylor, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian University athletes were given brief rest periods in order to allow those who had borne the brunt throughout the season an opportunity to rest. That period is now over and ceaseless training on new plays, the perfection of old ones and specially planned defensive tactics is the program that faces teams until training is tapered off with light workouts on the eve of Thanksgiving Day.

Cripples Recovering The principal object of coaches will be that of nursing injured squad members into playing condition.

The Southwest's leading scorer, Redman Hume, of R. M. U., still has an injured ankle and received weeks ago and it is undetermined whether he will be able to be in the line-up when the Ponies finish their schedule against Texas Christian. John Roach, stellar tackle who has not played since the Army game, is expected to be in the line-up.

At A. & M. Coach D. K. Hable is confronted with the task of grooming a successor for Zarafemba, his best defensive back and kicker extraordinary. Zarafemba was stricken with influenza on the eve of the Rice game and may not be able to participate in the Texas contest on which hinges the final outcome of the conference race.

Conover is due to take over the punting assignment and Dorsey will fill in at the half back berth.

Wray and Shelley, both aces, have been the object of attention at Texas. Neither played against Baylor, nor T. C. U. due to hurt. With the conference hunting in their grasp, the Texas team has staked everything on having them in shape for the fray.

The Baylor squad is in good condition but Rice, yet unable to annex a victory against member teams, has been weakened by injuries to Alnoch and Ables, its best offensive bats.

AUSTIN—Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the bureau of business research at the University of Texas, and Wilford L. White, professor of business administration at the University, have been invited to address the annual convention of the American economic association which meets in Chicago December 28-29.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The next meeting of the Governors' Conference will be at New London, Conn.

Cattle Moving From New Mexico Into Texas Quarantined Unless Certificates Are Presented

(Special to the Avalanche) AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—Quarantine against cattle moving from New Mexico into Texas, unless they are accompanied by proper certificates showing them free from scabies infection, will be put into effect by the Texas livestock commission on December 1.

Governor Dan Moody today issued a proclamation covering the case. The quarantine affects all cattle originating in New Mexico and includes shipments billed for feed, water and rest at Texas points, even though final destination is some state other than Texas. The only exception is cattle shipped by-rail to slaughtering establishments for slaughtering.

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Judge A. H. Carrigan of Wichita Falls, has resigned from membership on the Texas State Prison board, Governor Dan Moody announced today. He said he had not appointed his successor and did not know what prompted the resignation.

Oklahoma 200 pound center, will play his position against the Baptists, making the forward wall a 200-pound proposition from wing to wing.

The Porker gridsters turned firemen during their final workout today when the University dairy building caught fire. With their assistance the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

Fleet St. Edwards Backs Make 28 First Downs To None For Bridges' Club; Cowboys' Worst Defeat

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Coach Jack Meagher's black-jeried St. Edwards University Saints sprang a magnificent offense to overwhelm the Simmons University Cowboys, 26 to 0, on Paramount Field here today. It was the worst beating given a Simmons eleven in modern history, and snuffed out the last of the Cowboys hopes for a Texas Conference title. The fleet, hard-plunging St. Edwards backs made 28 first downs to none for Simmons.

Slaton High Will Have Alumni Group

Graduates Of High School To Meet In Banquet During Holidays; 300 Are Expected to Attend

(Special to the Avalanche) SLATON, Nov. 23.—An alumni association for all graduates of Slaton High school since Slaton was founded as a young city back in 1911 will be formed here during the Christmas holidays this year when over 300 graduates will be invited to a home-coming banquet to be given under direction of C. L. Senn, Slaton superintendent of schools, assisted by teachers and patrons of the school system.

Invitations are now being prepared to mail to the graduates, most of whose present addresses are known. December 26 has been set as the tentative date for the banquet. Many former Slaton teachers will be invited also. The alumni association will be made a permanent thing, with graduates of the future being added as members, according to Mr. Senn.

Others Hold Interest At least four other games claim tomorrow's spotlight for various reasons: Carnegie's tartan battle to keep their unbeaten record clean against the formidable attack of New York University at Pittsburgh, Nebraska journeys to the home fort of West Point. The Navy steams out against the somewhat ferocious Tiger of Princeton in the neutral port of Philadelphia, while Wisconsin seeks to stop Minnesota and clinch the "Big Ten" title.

There is perhaps a better chance here to name favorites, for the majority of critics, if pinned down, will admit preferences for Carnegie, Army, Princeton and Wisconsin. Nebraska, its record spotted only by a scoreless tie with Pittsburgh, still has quite a voice in any debate for national honors and will have more to say if victorious over the Cadets. They must stop Red Cagle to do so, however.

McClure Nets $219 In Bio Rox Supper

Netting $219.77 at a hot supper and gift sale Friday night, the McClure school now has that amount of money to spend in improving its school facilities.

The school building was crowded to capacity for the occasion, several Slaton citizens being present. Superintendent Miller of the McClure school presiding at the meeting, Sam Stages, of Slaton, auctioned off the bones and Miss Vera Hall was the recipient of a large cake when selected as the prettiest girl present.

Magness Is Given Road Injunction

Local Man Gets Temporary Action Against County on Highway Location; Hearing November 26

Jim Magness, of Lubbock, secured a temporary injunction against Lubbock County, County Judge Charles Nordyke and County Commissioners N. A. Payne, J. T. Pinkston, W. L. Bruchman and L. O. Denton, in the Ninety-Ninth district court Friday, restraining them from appropriating a portion of land owned by him in the Jarrott addition to this city for a right-of-way for highway number 33.

Magness charges in his petition for the injunction that the county commissioners "unlawfully entered upon and attempted to appropriate a portion of land to their own use," as part of the highway leading from Lubbock to Brownfield, and that no reasonable compensation or agreement had been reached, or paid, for his land. He claims that because of a filling station, located on his land, to locate the highway as proposed, he would be to considerable expense in moving the filling station, in excavating and burying his gasoline storage tanks.

No objection is made to the commissioners' selection of the highway right-of-way, if just compensation is made.

Judge Clark M. Mullican, in granting the injunction, set the hearing for Monday, November 26.

GIRLS REQUIRED TO REGISTER

Girls who expect to go to Canyon to see the football game are to register their names in Dean Deak's office with the assistant dean, Mrs. R. W. Whitwood. This is an official announcement coming from the Dean of Women's office and girls must call at the office whether they go in cars or on the train.

"HEART OF TEXAS" CLUB FORMED

Fifteen students from the "Heart of Texas" met Wednesday night to organize a club to consist of the students from that part of Texas. No business, except the election of Earl Pfleger as temporary chairman, was conducted because of insufficient members present.

Another meeting is to be held soon for organization and election of officers. The Heart of Texas includes the towns between Hamilton and San Angelo and any student whose town is in this section is eligible to join.

BEAUTY PHOTOS ARE REQUESTED

Qualifications for pictures to be sent in to the Beauty Section have been announced by Wilbur Edelson, editor. The field is open for any girl in Texas who thinks she is pretty or for any one who thinks any girl is pretty and no one is barred from submitting a picture although of recently all of the pictures will not appear in La Ventana.

The requirements are: Pictures for the section may be submitted by any student either girl or boy; pictures must be in the hands of La Ventana staff by December 5; they must be made in an evening dress and no hat may be worn; the picture will be judged by an outstanding artist and placed in the annual in the manner he shall suggest; the choice of the pictures will not be made public until the annual arrives at the close of the year; pictures that are submitted will not be returned to the persons submitting them, and no deposit is required.

Due unchanged to two penny points higher Saturday. Sales 6,000 of which 1,000 were American. Receipts 17,000. Middling cotton 10.84.

AMERICAN SPOTS

New York 20.50, sales 300. New Orleans 19.52, sales 9,989. Dallas 19.20, sales 156, to arrive 15,937.

SUMMARY

Market up about eight points net from last night's close. Liverpool was better than due and the American markets opened higher. Buying was not as aggressive as on the two previous days but all setbacks were well met and the close was higher than that of Thursday. Spinner's takings were smaller than last week, being 430,000 bales against 510,000 and caused some selling. Norman Mayer & Co. wired, "Market sold off on disappointing mill takings and further December liquidation but favor buying on further setback."

WEATHER

Early weather map was dry with temperatures moderately lower over the cotton belt. Forecast: eastern belt, fair with frosts in N. C. and S. C. and Ga. fair and sunny in Ala. and Miss. Western belt generally fair and slightly warmer.

Daily Markets

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 23. (P)—No material price changes were registered around the 11-market circuit today with values weak to lower. The severe slump on killing classes of cattle this week should result in a curtailment on the supply the forthcoming week which would tend to clear up conditions at eastern dressed beef markets; trade interests expect a lighter supply of stockers and feeder steers as the movement of Colorado offerings is almost completed; aggregate receipts were estimated at 14,900 as compared with 13,456 a week ago and 35,728 the same day last year. Hog prices dropped to new low levels for the season and are the lowest since the fore part of this week; declines of 10 to 40c were general at most points around the loop; the days top of 8.99 was paid at Chicago while at Kansas City and St. Louis the best mark was 8.50; total offerings were around 74,400 an increase of 6,000 over last Friday and 3,000 less than a year ago.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (P)—The stock market cavorted about wildly as the pace of trading was quickened to another new speed record today, and ended up about where it started. Total sales touched 6,942,500 shares, nearer the 7,000,000 mark than ever before. Some two score issues were driven to new high levels in gains running to a maximum of 30 points, but some of the wide gains were more than wiped out, and the close found a wide sprinkling of net losses of 1 to 15 points. The "bull" campaign went forward at a terrific pace during the forenoon, but shied at a phantom at midday and turned a complete somersault, only to recover its footing and push forward in powerful fashion in the late trading. At the close scores of issues registered net gains of 1 to 20 points. Despite the emergency measure of omitting the volume of sales, the ticker fell nearly an hour behind the trading. The market paid no attention to last night's federal reserve announcement of a $176,000,000 increase in brokers loans at the opening, attributing a large part of it to the increase of more than $100,000,000 in bond offerings this week, and the fact that the member banks had been able to reduce their indebtedness despite the tremendous speculative activity was interpreted bullishly.

When it was announced before midday, however, that the federal reserve bank would make an important announcement at 1 o'clock, many traders had visions of a warning of credit inflation, took fright and began to liquidate their holdings. Added to this was the decision of the Exchange to close tomorrow to give the overworked brokerage houses a chance to dig their way out of the confusion of the two weeks of frenzied trading. This caused an abnormally large volume of week-end profit taking.

When the federal reserve statement proved to be only the announcement that George F. Harrison had been chosen governor to succeed the late Benjamin Strong, a number of traders who had sold out in the flurry hastened to buy back. In the final reckoning, the Associated Press average price of 20 industrials was depressed less than a point, and the average of 20 rails made about a quarter point gain. The days news was largely favorable, including a number of extra dividends and the announcement that an Exchange seat had been sold at the record price of $550,000, which was $20,000 above the last sale.

DUN'S REPORT

review tomorrow will say.

Interest in commercial conditions is largely centering now on developments in the retail field, where seasonal forces are exerting an increasingly potent effect. Apart from fluctuations in demand caused by variable weather, it is significant that holiday trade is opening earlier than usual, and that indications point to an exceptionally heavy turnover. Convincing proof has been frequently given that the general buying power, despite depressing influences in some localities, is sustained at a high level, and dealers are making active preparations to meet the further extensive purchases by consumers that are forecasted.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (P)—Wheat turned downward in price toward the last today owing a good deal to enlarged estimates of 1928 wheat yield both in Argentina and Australia. Reports of increasing receipts of domestic wheat southwest were also the subject of considerable notice.

Closing quotations on wheat were easy, 1-4c to 5-8c net lower, corn 5-8c to 1-4 to 1-3-8c off, oats unchanged to 1-4 to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to 35c down.

Wants No Publicity Aged Woman Aids In Routing Bandits

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (P)—Mrs. C. E. Simmons insists that if the newspapers print anything about her ruckus with a bandit last night they do so "without any frills or heroics."

"Did I strike him?" the gray-haired woman said, "well, what woman wouldn't, with her husband in danger?"

The doorbell rang and her husband, a broker, answered. Mrs. Simmons heard a scuffle and went to investigate. "A young man with a handkerchief over part of his face stood there, pointing a pistol at my husband. He struck Mr. Simmons over the head with the handle of the gun. I grabbed it from him. Did I strike him? Well, who wouldn't? Between us, we gave that young man a thrashing."

"The handkerchief came off his face, and he ran as fast as he could. I suppose he was glad to get away."

"But remember," Mrs. Simmons cautioned, "no heroics in the newspapers."

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

SCHOOL LESSON FOR
Nov. 25, 1928
General Topic: The Prayers of Paul.

Scripture Lesson: Acts 24:25-28;
Eph. 1:15; 16; 3:14-21.

Acts 20:36. And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down and prayed with them all.

37. And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him.

38. Sorrowing most of all for the word which he had spoken, that they should behold his face no more. And they brought him on his way unto the ship.

Eph. 3:14. For this cause I bow knees unto the Father.

15. From whom every family in heaven and on earth is named.

16. That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened with power through his spirit in the inward man.

17. That Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; to the end that ye, being rooted and grounded in love.

18. May be strong to apprehend with all the saints what is the breadth and length and height and depth.

19. And to know the love of Christ passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled unto all the fulness of God.

20. Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us.

21. Unto him be the glory in the church and in Christ Jesus unto all generations for ever and ever. Amen.

Eph. 1:15. For this cause I also, having heard of the faith in the Lord Jesus which is among you, and the love which ye show toward all the saints.

16. Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers.

Time: The interview with the Ephesian elders, A. D. 57. First Thessalonians written, A. D. 51; Romans, A. D. 57; Ephesians, A. D. 61 or 62.

Place: The interview with the Ephesian elders, Miletus, First Thessalonians written at Corinth (first visit); Ephesians at Rome, (first Roman imprisonment).

Golden Text: Rejoice always, pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks.—1 Thess. 5:16-18.

Introduction
Prayer was the main element in the fruitful life of Paul. He practiced his own precept, and was "instant in prayer," praying "without ceasing." The New Testament record of his prayers furnishes rare incentive to the prayer life and guidance that prayer alone can give.

Praise to God was so conscious a feature of Paul's prayers that our study of them is especially suitable for the Thanksgiving season. Therefore the lesson committee has selected for us some of Paul's most characteristic prayers, which we are to consider in order to increase our own power in prayer. The first is the prayer of Paul, with the elders of the church in Ephesus, who, on Paul's last journey to Jerusalem, went to Miletus at his request to converse with him.

Paul's Prayer at Miletus.
vs. 36-38.

These elders who had come down to Miletus from Ephesus were the leading men of one of the most important of the churches that Paul had founded. The success of the gospel in all that part of the world would be influenced by the Ephesian church. He had exhorted them at length in an impressive farewell address, but that word, he knows, is not enough; "when he had spoken," he prayed. "The wisest, most trenchant advice may well be clinched with prayer; and there's no better way of saying farewell than in a prayer."

Social Prayer
Prayer meetings are as old as Christianity. Our Lord said that where two or three were met together in his name, he would be in the midst of them. Prayer meetings were held in different parts of Jerusalem when Peter was imprisoned. As the early Christian churches went from house to house, for their meetings, the voice of prayer was constantly heard in their homes.

In social prayer, that is, in prayer meetings or when a congregation is led in prayer by the pastor, all hearts are bound together by the reason for the common expression. "Let us unite in prayer." "When we really pray together we are lost in God; and in God we find one another."—Bishop Charles L. Slatery.

Praying For Others, vs. 14:19
"For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father." Paul's letter to the Ephesians was really a circular letter to all the churches of Asia of which Ephesus was the center. Paul wrote the letter in his prison in Rome. "For this cause" goes back to the first verse of his chapter and repeats its opening words. Paul had been writing about the great spiritual temple of which the Ephesians were a part. "For this cause," the apostle prays fervently for them, that they may be worthy of their place in that temple of God. It is a prayer that every Christian may well offer for himself and for all other Christians.

That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, God is gloriously rich, infinitely rich, and can easily answer Paul's prayers for the Ephesians. God's answers to prayer are "according to" God's resources, and so they are always magnificent answers. "That ye may be strengthened with power through his spirit in the inward man," Paul refers to the Holy Spirit often in this epistle. He is the agent through whom God transmits His own power to the soul of every true Christian. There can be no greater object of prayer than this.

"That Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith." That is why we are to receive God's power through the Holy Spirit, that we may prepare our hearts as Christ's dwelling place.

them. And we find St. Paul exhorting us, in the most emphatic way, to engage in intercession.

"It is hard to conceive of an influence more likely to preserve in temptation and to strengthen for duty than the knowledge that prayers are offered on our behalf, or even the memory of prayers once offered. The voices, some hushed, that once pleaded with God for us—voices of father or mother or some faithful friend—pleaded with us still, and it is hard to resist such a plea."—James Hastings.

"For this cause I also," I, Paul, as well as others who are thinking of you Ephesians and praying for you. The "cause" is the goodness of God in the salvation of men, about which Paul had been writing.

"Having heard of the faith in the Lord Jesus which is among you." Members of the churches in Asia had visited the apostle in his Roman prison. "And the love which ye show toward all the saints." These are the two reports which would most cheer Paul's heart in his prison, news of the continued faith of his converts and of their practical love, "faith working by love."

"Cease not to give thanks for you." Paul's gratitude showed itself expressly whenever he prayed, and ran as a happy undertone beneath all his hours. "Making mention of you in my prayers." Paul named them over before God as if he wanted God to share his joy in them, one by one; and that is exactly what God did.

Gourmets Active Only 10,240 Cars of Onions Are Left

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (A.)—Gourmets with a craving for onions are confronting official announcement that only 10,240 cars are left to be shipped of the season's domestic supply.

This amount is hardly half as much as a year ago, according to a report today from the government Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Onion growers in some states have disposed of their entire crop.

Praiseful Prayer, v. 16.
"Wherever there is true prayer, there thanksgiving and gratitude stand hand by hand, ready to respond to the answer when it comes. Giving thanks is the very life of prayer."

Rev. Edward H. Bounds, D. D.
"How wonderful Paul's thanksgiving was, and how deeply it puts most of us to shame, we can only fully realize when we remember the fierce, hard life he was compelled to lead for the gospel's sake, face to face repeatedly with danger and death. How real, how near, how dear must Christ have been to him, to have lifted him so easily and triumphantly over afflictions so manifold!"—Prof. John Edgar McFadyen.

400,000 Laborers On Texas Farms Face Jobless Era

State Labor Commissioner Reports Critical Period For Workmen During The Next 8 Months

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—About 400,000 farm laborers in Texas will be out of work during the next eight months, Charles McKemy, state labor commissioner, reported today to Governor Moody.

This number consists principally of Mexicans who came into Texas to help gather the cotton crop, and who will "exist as best they can" until opening of the next cotton picking season in August, McKemy said.

Moody Requests Information
Governor Moody announced he had requested information as to state labor conditions so he could supply it to Senator James Couzens of Michigan, chairman of the committee on education and labor of the United States senate. The committee is making a survey of the nation under a senate resolution. "Texas being an agricultural state and its principal agricultural product being a crop that requires a large amount of extra seasonal labor for harvesting, our chief problem of unemployment arises from the necessity for procuring this seasonal labor and the inability of the agricultural interests to provide employment after the urgent seasonal demand has been met," McKemy told the governor.

More Files Suit On Insurance Firm

Damages of $2,500 are asked of the Security National Fire Insurance company, in a suit filed Friday in the Ninety-Ninth district court by J. Gline Moore, of Lubbock.

Moore claims that he held a policy of $2,000 on a house belonging to him, with the insurance company, taken out March 12, this year, and that on June 16 the house was totally destroyed by fire. He further alleges that the company failed and refused to pay the policy.

CONVICT GIVEN FURLOUGH
AUSTIN, Nov. 23. (P)—P. Lyle McGowan, serving a term of two years in the penitentiary from Dallas county, where he was convicted of receiving and concealing stolen property, was given a two weeks' furlough today to permit him to visit his mother who is seriously ill.

ISSUE 8,855 LICENSES

Automobile Total Expected To Reach 9,000 In County

With a total of 8,855 automobile licenses issued in Lubbock county, so far this year, for passenger motor cars, it begins to look as if the year will see more than 9,000 passenger automobiles before December 31. Truck licenses now number 847, and it is reasonable to expect this number to reach at least 1,000 by the close of this year.

Friday's new car licenses were issued as given below:
G. H. Brown, Lubbock, Hudson sedan; Peters, Strange and Bradshaw, Lubbock, Dodge sedan; Jake Hill, Slaton, Pontiac sedan; R. B. Lester, Lubbock, Hudson sedan.

GETS DIAL SERVICE
HOUSTON, (P)—Dial service will become available to all Houston telephone patrons early next year with the installation of dials in that part of the downtown area which does not have that service at present, it has been announced.

DAYTON TO HOLD ELECTION
DAYTON, Liberty county, (P)—A proposed $100,000 bond issue will be submitted to the voters here December 10. If the bonds are voted, $60,000 will be used in building a modern waterworks system and $40,000 in the extension of the Dayton sewerage system.

Q. A & P. Makes Connection With Denver Schedule

Slight Alteration In Time of Plainsman Schedule To Make Convenient Connections With New Line

(Special to Avalanche)
FYOLDADA, Nov. 23.—With a slight alteration of their schedule from Oklahoma City westward announced as effective at once, the Quannah, Acme & Pacific will make connections with west-bound train No. 7 of the Fort Worth & Denver out of Dallas and Fort Worth, leaving Dallas at 11:40 nightly.

The changed schedule will put the Plainsman out of Oklahoma City at 11:40 at night instead of 9:45 as heretofore operated, arriving at Quannah in the morning at 7:45 and leaving that city at 3:30 and arriving at Floydada at 12:40.

Cuts Out Five Hour Stop
The principal advantage is the fact that the new schedule will work out with the revised schedule of the Denver so as to make convenient connections for overnight passengers out of Fort Worth, Dallas and Wichita Falls. Passengers desiring to catch the Quannah, passenger heretofore had to leave Dallas at 6:45 in the evening and make a five hour stop in Quannah. Direct connections will now be made after leaving Dallas at 11:45 in the night.

What Will The Roads Cost YOU? What Are The Roads Worth To YOU?

If the experience of other counties, other sections, and other States can be taken as proof, there is no question but that the more complete a county's system of good roads is the more prosperous the county as a whole is.

The next question is, "What will the roads cost you as an individual tax payer?" and, "What are they worth to you as a citizen of the community and user of the roads?" You can figure the cost for yourself. Look up what property is assessed at by the County. (Not what the City or School District assesses it at. If your property is assessed at $1000.00 by the County, the most the good roads can cost you is $5.30 a year. It should never be this much. If your property is assessed at $2000.00, your maximum annual cost will be $10.60. If $3000.00, your cost $15.90. If $4000.00, your cost $21.20—and so on. Remember these are maximum figures and that your cost should never be this much. As the valuations increase, your cost will decrease. If valuations increase in the future as they have in the past few years, it will be only eleven or twelve years until your cost would be only one-half the above. If the State votes a State-wide bond issue and takes over the State highways, your cost will be cut one-half immediately that is done and for the life of the balance of the bonds. In eleven or twelve years your cost should be approximately one-fourth the maximum of $5.30 on the $1000.00 assessed County valuation.

Answers To Questions About The Road Bond Election In Lubbock County

ASKED BY LEVEL HEADED VOTERS

Question No. 1

How Was This Program Formulated

Answer

For a number of years there has been a widespread demand on the part of the citizenship of the City of Lubbock and of Lubbock County for a good roads program—for a County-wide system of paved roads. This demand has come from newspaper editorials, from civic clubs, and from various groups of individuals. Something like one hundred members of the Chamber of Commerce suggested a County-wide system of good roads as the outstanding need of the County over a year ago when a program of work was built for the organization.

In answer to this demand and in trying to carry out the objects and purposes of the Chamber of Commerce, which are to promote the development and upbuilding of the community, committees have been appointed at various times to study the needs of the County and the wants of the people.

In the summer of 1927 a committee was appointed that studied the situation and proposed a bond issue campaign to pave only the State and Federal highways in the County.

This committee found so much opposition to this project that it decided it would be impossible to carry a bond issue to pave only the State and Federal highways and decided that for the time being it would be impracticable to promote a campaign for a bond issue.

This past summer the Chamber of Commerce asked a committee to again investigate the matter, as the demand and clamor for good roads seemed to be growing and it appeared that the time was ripe to decide on a definite plan and submit it to the tax paying voters of the County.

This committee, at the direction and with the full approval of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce—the organization which has always taken the lead in promoting the progress and development of the community, as evidenced by the securing of the Tech. Denver Railway, the assistance and development of agriculture in any way possible, the bringing of many industries to the City, and in all movements for the upbuilding of the section—conferred with a large number of local citizens and also con-

After in this way trying to discover the wants of the people—after getting information as to the development in every section of the County, information as to the population of every school district and town in the County, and with the help and assistance of other Lubbock citizens and representatives from over the County, the Lubbock County Good Roads Association was organized with one director from every school district, three directors from Slaton, three from Idaho and six from Lubbock and this association mapped out the system of roads as proposed to be voted on December 1st.

It was the unanimous opinion of all consulted that the communities served by the so-called County or lateral roads were entitled to roads to serve their communities. The State and Federal aid system would provide only two roads on the east side of the County, while there are three such roads on the west side of the County. But as there are approximately four times as many people on the east side of the County as on the west, and as the east side of the County is at present much more highly developed, it was the judgment of every one that lateral or County roads were also needed at this time to serve that section.

Those working on the matter considered the lateral roads included in the present proposition as only the beginning of a complete system of County roads. They foresaw the time when a system of County roads should be built into every school district in the County, and if Lubbock County is to grow and prosper as it should, these roads must come time be built.

Lubbock is a rich County. This road bond issue, if voted, will bring her indebtedness to about ten per cent of her assessed valuation. This is a very small percentage of indebtedness for a county. There are many counties in the State that have an indebtedness of twenty, twenty-five and even thirty per cent. The assessed valuation of the County is not over one-third the value of the property contained within its boundaries.

WHAT ARE THE ROADS WORTH TO YOU?

Comparative Illustrations showing the saving in horse power on good roads over bad.

The above illustration shows that good roads not only save wear and tear on harness, wagons, trucks and the horses themselves, but that fewer horses are required to pull a given load over a good road than over a poor one.

In the above illustration one horse is pulling 6,270 pounds on a good macadam road, while it takes ten horses to pull the same load on a loose sand or mud road.

To put it another way:—

ONE HORSE CAN PULL

On a muddy dirt road from nothing to about 800 pounds.
On a smooth dry dirt road from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds.
On a good gravel road on an average about 3,000 pounds.
On a good Macadam road from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds.

This Same Ratio Of Pull Will Apply To The Horse-Power Of Your Automobile

Tests of the cost of operating automobiles over dirt roads compared with the cost of operating over paved roads have been made by the United States Bureau of Public Roads, by State Highway Commissions, by Engineering Colleges, and by many other agencies. The Iowa State College Engineering Experiment Station at Ames, Iowa, has summarized, balanced, and compiled these investigations and finds that the saving is 3.30c per mile on a concrete road over that on a dirt road.

To be safe, let us just figure a saving of 2c a mile. If you run your car 5,000 miles a year, your saving would be $100.00. If you drive 10,000 miles, your saving would be $200.00.

The proposed County system of roads is worth to you the difference in what the roads cost you in taxes and what you save in operating your car over paved roads instead of over dirt roads.

ing, two dormitories, one complete, a bookstore, heating plant and gymnasium. Improvements during the year to the athletic field cost $2,500. Over 40 young preachers and life service volunteers are receiving tuition.

New $40,000 Debt
Financially the school has a deficit on running expenses of over $40,000. During the summer the board raised $20,000 of the college debt, reducing it to something over $20,000.

The following will serve as trustees for the ensuing year: W. J. Pugh, J. H. G. Woolen, Henry James, J. W. Couch, George L. Munter, R. D. Green, W. R. Ely, J. W. Hunt, R. M. Jay, A. V. Smith, Nat. O. Rollins, L. S. Munger, Charles Bass, W. O. Hayter, E. R. McDaniels, all of Abilene; the pastors of the Abilene Methodist Churches, and the presiding elders of the conference.

Dr. J. W. Young, Roscoe; R. J. Moberly, Albany; D. P. Yoder, Snyder; William Bryant, Hamlin; Dr. M. O. Overton, Lubbock; Dr. L. O. Rudgson, Waller; Booth, Sweetwater; T. W. Stonerod, Colorado; Ocie Hunt, Bradshaw; T. G. Bragg, L. R. Thompson, Merkel; S. L. Forrest, Dr. J. C. Loveless, Lamesa; Rev. T. W. Brabham, J. M. Dodson, Pampa; Jack Farwell, Angerville; R. G. B. Pain, Plainview; P. E. Thompson, Dalhart; U. S. Davis, Vernon; and the confirmation of the following elected by the New Mexico conference as their representatives: Rev. A. I. Moore, Roswell; T. G. Mitchell, Marfa; Rev. W. R. McPherson, Pecos; and Judge C. E. Mead, Marfa.

The New Mexico conference is now a patronizing conference of the school and has adopted the dollar-per-member maintenance movement.

Kern Preaches Morning Sermon

the conference at the morning hour. His message was directed to the ministers urging them to make religion an experimental vitality in their lives and to transmit its message and vitality to the world through compassion, effective preaching and soul-ministering endeavors. The message was climaxed with accounts of personal experience with dejected, broken-hearted and misguided people, which brought flowing tears to many eyes. Kern preached to a packed auditorium again last night. His sermons tonight have been spiritual high points in the conference, inspiring ministers and laymen alike to greater religious conquests in the new fiscal year.

The echo of Bishop Moore's trenchant stricture on the use of tobacco by preachers gathered volume yesterday when the speakers used the habit among the ministry. The law against the use of the weed passed by a general conference about fifteen years ago was definitely for new preachers coming into the conference, but Bishop Moore put the interpretation upon it that its purpose was to inhibit the use among all ministers. Many Methodist ministers are addicted to tobacco, it developed. The Bishop urged the preachers to quit smoking and in an exclamatory reference to chewing used the high-sounding "my!" "my!" The preacher who uses the weed cannot wield the spiritual power with the young and mothers of the land as he who has quit the habit, the bishop opined. The five young ministers admitted to the conference on trial at the session yesterday are free from the use of it. G. E. Eames, chairman of the admissions committee, stated. All applicants who go before this committee, facetiously termed by preachers "the pierceoting committee" are required to promise to refrain from it.

Five Preachers Admitted
Admitted on trial yesterday were: Loyd Jones, 22, and C. W. Ferninger, 35, from the Abilene district; O. C. Stapleton, 39, Stamford district; Ivy Biggs, Sweetwater district; and Ewell D. Cooby, 32, Vernon district.

A class of ten preachers who have been on trial for the last two years were voted into full connection and privileges of the conference at the morning hour yesterday after Bishop John Moore exacted disciplinary questions from them and had addressed them in an advisory manner. These are G. C. Williams, J. B. Baker, R. O. Browder, G. C. McCullum, E. B. Thompson, C. R. Hardy, Hamilton, Wright, W. J. Knapp and Ray Lee and F. C. O. Ganser, the latter a deacon. With the single exception named all will appear before the bishop during the conference and be ordained as deacons. They have two years further study before being eligible for elder's order. Of the number there are at present preaching in the Lubbock district: E. R. Thompson as pastor at Wilson; G. P. McCullum, pastor of 19th Street church, Lubbock; and Hamilton Wright, Draw, former newspaperman.

$1,601 Is Raised
Despite unusual crop conditions and low financial status of the northwest this year the conference treasurer, John Eldridge, reports finances almost in full in the conference. A total of $1,601 was raised this year for the annual conference and for general work of the church. This does not include a large amount for district work, special missionary activities, preachers and presiding elders salaries, and concomitants. The conference allotted $1915 to provide meals for the preachers and delegates during the annual conference, the host city usually providing lodging and breakfast.

For annual conference work $32,324 is appropriated, distributed as follows: Education, $17,220; Missions, $12,202; Church Extension, $3,354; Board of Finance, $9,209; Epworth League $1,344; Sunday Schools, $4,604; Lay Activities $1,533; Harvard Plan $1,915.

For general conference work, the following apportionment has been made, according to Eldridge: Lay Activities $915; Missions $14,670; Hospitals $916; Negro Work $1100; Church Extension $3,355; Education $2,365; Theological Work $1,467; Federal Council $193; Board of Finance, $1,502; Epworth League $982; Sunday Schools $3,502; Bishops' Fund $4,125; American Bible Society $915; General Convention Expenses, $733; Temperance and Social Service work $440.

Dr. Clark Makes Appeal
"Jonah and the Whale" was an inspiring yesterday afternoon sermon, delivered by Dr. E. L. Clark, representing the general board, brought a missionary appeal to the congregation. Clark said the book of Jonah was the greatest Biblical missionary lesson.

The board session was presided over by C. A. Bickler, Vernon, Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, prominent laywoman and missionary society chairman, described the mission work of the church and the necessity for this line. She said that South-Western is now free of the debt of $1,000,000 for missions against the church last year. The special mission drive this spring over the conference was a great success, she said, but not so successful as last spring a year ago.

The conference for the last

Fourteen Cases Are Filed On Docket Of Lubbock Division Of United States Court; Session Opens On December 10

Suit Against Matador Land Company Is Transferred To Local Court; Sues For $29,350

Fourteen cases are now on file in the United States district court, Lubbock division of the Northern District of Texas, waiting for the first term of this recently established court, which starts December 10, to open, according to Mrs. Olive Fluke, clerk.

The latest case to be filed was transferred here from Motley county and is a case at law, being styled I. D. Gamble et al versus The Matador Land & Cattle Co. Ltd. It is a suit for commissions alleged to have been earned by the plaintiff as representative of the defendant.

As stated in the papers on file here, The Matador Land & Cattle company is a private corporation, organized under the laws of Great Britain and carrying on business and operating a cattle ranch in the state of Texas, with a permit from the state, with an office at Matador in charge of M. J. Relley, agent.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that a contract was held with the defendant to sell land for the firm at a 5 percent commission and that an agreement existed between the plaintiff and Matador McKenna, representing the defendant, that all lands sold, not listed for sale with the defendant, the same commission would apply.

Oil Lease Involved
On June 10, 1927, the plaintiff alleges that a purchaser was procured for the defendant's, for the purchase of oil and gas lease on all lands of theirs. The contract is said to have been with the Exploration Company of Texas, part of the consideration of the sale being $165,000 cash and 50 cents per acre per year lease for the entire acreage, to be paid on or before July 15, 1928, amounting to $170,500. This payment was made, it is alleged, and the defendant thereby became liable to the plaintiff for $29,350, which amount is being sued for.
