Reject Demand Of Soviets On Red China Seat

PARIS, Nov. 5. (AP)—The fifth United Nations General Assembly rejected today a Russian demand that the question of giving China's seat to the Communists be given priority in the sixth assembly, opening Tuesday.

The vote was 11 for, 20 against and 11 abstentions.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik threw the explosive question of Chinese representation into what diplomats had hoped would be a non-controversial, ceremonial windup of the fifth session.

He angrily declared, "It is time to put an end to this disgraceful attitude toward the Chinese people."

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist Chinese delegate, denounced the Russian proposal as calculated to "decrease peace." He said the regime Malik proposed to admit has been denounced by the assembly as an aggressor in Korea.

Britain and France abstained on the vote. Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb said he abstained because he was sure the question would come up tomorrow, when the sixth Assembly convenes, anyhow.

Malik, arguing for his resolution, noted that a special committee of the assembly had been unable to agree on recommendations about who should represent China. He called this "astonishing."

Both the General Assembly and the Security Council have spurned Russian demands that the Red Peiping Regime be given China's seat. Russia boycotted the Council for six months in 1950 on the issue.

After rejection of the Soviet demand, the rest of the meeting went off as scheduled.

The big four — U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman — were not present.

Acheson and Eden were in conference at the American embassy.

ABDULLAH KING DIVORCED

Sheppard W. (Abdullah) King III, (left) wealthy Houston, Tex., cotton heir, happily goes over his Juarez, Mex., divorce papers in his El Paso hotel room with his attorney, John J. Herrera of Houston. A brief session in a Mexican court left King free to marry shimmy dancer Samia Gamal of Egypt. King plans to leave for Cairo early in December. He became a Moslem and took the name Abdullah to marry the dancer. The divorce freed him from his wife, Gloria, who had filed suit for an annulment in Houston.

New Plan Submitted On Buffer Zone In Korea

File To Drill New Well In NW Mitchell

Union Sulphur & Oil Co. has filed application with the Railroad Commission for permit to start drilling at once on an 8,000 - foot Strawn reef wildcat in Northwest Mitchell County 17 miles northwest of Colorado City.

It will be drilled as the No. 1 E. E. Erwin, 1980 feet from west and 703 feet from south lines of the north half of section 1-25-H&TC.

That puts it two miles southeast of Standard Oil Co. of Texas No. 1 Dunn, wildcat which was completed for about 500 barrels of oil per day, but which went to almost 100 per cent water and is now shutin.

No. 1 Erwin also will be three miles west of the Shallow Coleman Ranch pool.

BORDEN WELLS

Dana, Shay & Barker No. 1 Mrs. Myrtle McKnight, Northeast Borden County wildcat, has set pipe and is now waiting on cement.

Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Canon is drilling below 1,980 feet in anhydrite.

Brinkerhoff No. 1 Clayton and Johnson is drilling in shale below 6,890 feet.

Phillips Petroleum No. 4-A Clayton, projected Ellenburger test in Southwest Borden County, is drilling below 9,257 feet in lime and shale.

Strikers Try To Avert Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Insurgent AFL longshoremen were trying today to avert a back-to-work vote in New York's longest and costliest port strike by threatening to picket a union-sponsored meeting.

The wildcat walkout of stevedores entered its fourth week with an estimated 100 vessels and a billion dollars worth of goods immobilized in the world's biggest harbor.

Both New York State and the AFL international Longshoremen's Association, which has opposed the rebellion by some members, scheduled new efforts today to halt the strike.

In Boston, also tied up by the walkout, an all-day vote will be conducted, on whether to reutrn to work.

The port remained relatively quiet over the weekend. No pickets were out Sunday and some 1,500 non-striking ILA members worked.

An estimated 20,000 longshoremen have been striking here and another 1,900 in Boston.

The wildcatters want negotiations reopened. They demand a 25-cent-an-hour wage boost and other pact changes. The contract granted a 10-cent increase, bringing the pay to $2.10 an huor.

Used Hangar For Winston Field Sought

Eleven Snyder citizens, several of whom are aviators, met with the commissioners court this morning to discuss the matter of obtaining a hangar for Winston Field and were authorized to look for prospective purchases.

All three commissioners present expressed opinions favoring the purchase of a hangar to enhance the general value of the field, increase its revenue for the county, and accommodate individual pilots and companies owning aircraft here.

BENEFITS

The benefits of a hangar from the standpoint of city and county growth and prosperity were also discussed. It was mentioned that a hangar would increase air traffic through Snyder because many pilots will not use fields that have no hangar facilities.

The hangar offered the county for sale by the city of Eau Claire, Wis., last week has been sold. Edgar Taylor, county judge, said in today's meeting. The court a week ago authorized the judge and John Wilson, an engineer on the airport project, to go to Eau Claire to inspect it in view of purchase, but the trip was postponed when it was learned the hangar had open ends and no doors.

NOT HARD TO FIND

The commissioners suggested that each of the men present at the meeting today try to locate a hangar that might be phrchased and report to the court any findings. Several of those present thought finding a used hangar would not be difficult.

Those present besides the court were Horace Williamson, Wayne Boren, W. J. Ely, Dr. John Blum, Clyde Godwin, Lindy Clark, J.J. Dyer, Edward Bolger, Haskell Beard, E. J. Mills, and Nolan Watson.

King George Said Still In Need Of Medical Aid

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP)—A bulletin from Buckingham Palace said today ailing King George's health has steadily improved over the past two weeks "but the need for care remains."

The monarch underwent a hazardous operation Sept. 23 for removal of part or all of a diseased lung.

Bulletins since then had reported he was making a normal recovery and his doctors had not issued a report since Oct. 20.

UN Troops Recapture Points Lost To Red Armored Column

EIGHTH ARMY, Korea, Nov. 5. (AP) — A tank-led Red attack — the heaviest in two months — drove United Nations troops toff two key hills on the Western Front but Allied troops and strafing planes smashed back at the Communists today.

Elements of a Chinese division launched an armored attack west of Yonchon Sunday. An Eighth Army officer said it was the heaviest Red attack in two months.

First reports said Allied infantrymen and planes hurled back the Reds and regained all lost ground by Sunday midnight. An Eighth Army communique said U.N. forces were "heavily engaged" in continuing fighting in the area Monday morning. It said the Allies had withdrawn from two key terrain features in the west. It gave no details.

The Fifth Air Force said its jet pilots shot down two Mig-15s, probably destroyed two and damaged six in three fights Sunday over northwest Korea. No Allied plane was lost in aerial combat, but two were shot down in other parts of Korea by ground fire. Both pilots were presumed lost.

In all, 92 American fighter planes were pitted against 145 of the Russian-made Migs.

An Allied officer found no special significance in the Reds' heavy ground assault. He said it is a common Red tactic to hit an Allied outpost or advance position with a numerically superior force.

Across the peninsula Allied units pushed forward nearly two miles Monday in a limited objective attack northwest of Kansong on the East Coast. Other attacking U.N. units occupied a hill against light Red resistance south of Kosong.

The only action reported from the Central Front was a platoon-sized Red attack southeast of Kumsong. The attack was repulsed.

The main action on the Western Front Monday was west of Yonchon. Southwest of the battered town three light probing attacks by the Reds were hurled back.

The Red armored smash proved costly to the Communists. A front line officer said "The Chinese have not come close to cracking our line. Our troops killed a potfull of Chinks."

A soldier said, "it would take a battalion of ours just to count their dead."

Eighth Army Headquarters said about 20 Russian-built T-34 tanks supported the assault, which hit at three spots along an eight-mile front west of Yonchon.

The Reds threw Allied soldiers off two hills on the northeast, but U.N. infantrymen stormed back and recaptured the ground in hand-to-hand fighting.

5th Blast Set Off By AEC

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 5. (AP)—The fifth atomic blast in the current test series exploded at 10:31 a.m. (CST) today.

Thirty seconds later the atomic cloud customary in the detonations could be seen from Las Vegas rising over the Yucca Flat Test site, 75 miles away.

It was a big one, perhaps the biggest yet, reported observers here who have seen the previous blasts.

There was a purplish color to the mushrooming cloud.

An indication of the size and potency of this detonation was indicated by an unusual warning from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Radio stations in a wide area covering Goldfield, Beatty, and Caliente, Nev., were asked to warn residents to open windows in their homes and stores.

Presumably this would be to lessen effects of tremendous concussion expected.

Princess And Duke In Last Days Of Tour

STE. AGATHE DES MONTS, Que., Nov. 5. (AP) — With a small-sized blizzard swirling about them, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh began the last part of their 8,000-mile tour early today.

They left this snow-blanketed Laurentian skiing resort, 1,500 feet above sea-level, after a two-day holiday in which they concentrated on just plain fun.

The royal tourists headed down the Maritimes for Canada's four Atlantic provinces which will say the farewells. A little Newfoundland fishing fleet will escort the couple to their liner, the Empress of Scotland, Nov. 12. Less than a week later they will be home in England.

Violent Deaths In State Over Week End Claim Twenty-three

By The Associated Press

At least 13 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Texas during the week end. Another six died in plane crashes.

Four persons died of gunshot wounds, one died of burns and another of shock and exhaustion.

The latest reported deaths include:

John A. Veillon, 50, a prominent Beaumont attorney, was killed Sunday night as he crossed a street on the Port Arthur Highway near the Beaumont city limits.

The 6-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Chambers of Overton was killed Sunday night in a highway crash six miles north of Trinity.

Alfred Bailey Dewveall, 64, of Weatherford, was killed Sunday night when struck by a car as he crossed Highway 80 near the Tarrant-Parker county line.

Raymond Powell, 30, and Oscar Gerlach, 38, were killed in a plane crash Sunday southwest of Dumas. Powell, the pilot, is believed to be from Sunray. Gerlach was from Memphis, Tex.

Walter R. Wilcox, 41, and Mrs. Elva Sherlock, both of Waco, were found dead in an overturned automobile south of Waco Sunday.

Rudolph W. Loeswitz of Fort Worth dreamed Saturday night he had committed suicide. He shot himself Sunday in front of his family.

[illegible] were killed Sunday when their light plane crashed on a ranch near Kyle.

An instructor pilot and an aviation cadet from Goodfellow Air Force Base at San Angelo were killed Saturday when their training plane crashed about 20 miles northwest of San Angelo. The pilot was Lt. John D. Webb, 23, Albany, Calif. The aviation cadet was a youth from an Allied nation taking training at Goodfellow.

Mrs. Caroline Keller, 60, widow of a prominent San Antonio attorney, was found shot to death Sunday in a San Antonio burial park a few feet from the grave of her husband. Officers found a pistol and a note near the body.

At Electra, Mrs. Jewell Johnson of Archer City was killed Friday night in a two-car collision.

Four Dalhart High School students were killed early Saturday in a collision three miles south of Dalhart as they returned from a football game. The victims were Chester Dye, first string football player; Bowdry Bloxom; Helen Freeman and Rolene Jones. Their car and a gasoline transport truck collided.

Benjamin David Spector, 12, of Orange, was killed in a freak hunting accident Saturday. Five hunters in a skiff fired at ducks. When the smoke cleared, the boy was found dead in the bottom of the skiff. The accident occurred near Orange.

Mrs. Jerome A. Cararas of Shreveport, was killed Saturday near Carthage when she attempted to avoid some cows on the road. Her automobile overturned in a ditch.

James Rufus Hamby, 19, Olney oil field worker, was killed Friday night when the automobile in which he was riding overturned near Midland.

Ruth Tow of Colorado City was killed in an automobile collision.

Bradley O. Speight of Athens died in Corsicana of burns suffered Saturday in a gas explosion.

George William Saltzman, 69, Baton Rouge, died Saturday of shock and exhaustion after falling from a small boat into the intracoastal canal near Galveston.

John Ray Taylor, Jr., 24, of Carthage, was shot to death in Longview Saturday during a street fight. Charges of murder were filed against Worth Gregory, 37, Longview cab driver.

Brothers Held In Shooting Of Two After Father Found Dead

LAREDO, Nov. 5. (AP) — Two brothers were charged with murder today in the fatal shooting of two men involved in an argument with the father of the brothers just before he was stabbed to death Sunday.

Juan Gil, 60, was stabbed fatally near a South Laredo tavern.

Eloy Granados, 30, and Bernardo Ballesteros, 40, were shot to death with hunting rifles at the tavern later in the afternoon.

Juan Gil, Jr., 31, and Jose Angel Gil, 24, sons of Juan Gil, were charged with murder in the deaths of Granados and Ballesteros. District Attorney E. James Kazen said they made statement. No charges had been filed in the elder Gil's death.

Kazen said that the elder Gil, Granados and Ballesteros had an argument in the tavern. Gil was stabbed.

The sons, who had been hunting, found their father in the middle of the highway. Kazen said they located Granados at the tavern and Jose Gil started shooting.

Ballesteros came running up saying, "He's my pardner and his fight is my fight," Kazen said. Ballesteros then was shot.

Kazen said that the original argument started between Alberto Garcia, 23, a nephew of the elder Gil, and Granados. He said it apparently started early in the afternoon and continued.

Juan Gil, Jr., was arrested at the scene and Jose Angel Gil was arrested at the hospital where he had taken his father.

Warmer Weather Here

Snyder had a sunny, windy day yesterday with a maximum temperature reading of 71 degrees. The overnight low was 30 degrees, Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, weather observer, said, and the reading at 7:30 this morning was 40 degrees.

Argentine Ship Sunk When Hit By U. S. Vessel

BREMERHAVEN, Nov. 5. (AP) — The $4 million motorship Maipu-pride of Argentina's merchant fleet — was rammed by a U. S. troopship and sank in the foggy North Sea Sunday. The transport and German rescue craft saved all 238 persons aboard.

The Gen. M. L. Hersey, her bow stove in by the collision, limped into Bremerhaven with many Maipu survivors. A special train was chartered to take them to Hamburg, the Maipu's port of call.

The Maipu's captain, Juan Marquez, picked up by the German lightship Weser, said his 80 passengers and 158 crewmen kept calm throughout the ordeal.

"They left the ship quietly," he said. "There were no incidents."

The fact that the usually rough North Sea was calm under its fog blanket played a large part in the 100 per cent successful rescue.

The 12,000-ton Maipu and the 10,000-ton transport, groping through early morning fog, collided 15 miles off shore, near the German Island of Waneroog. The crash tore a big hole in the Maipu's port side.

The Argentine vessel began to list immediately, but stayed afloat three hours, another big factor in the successful rescue. Passengers aboard the stricken vessel included 38 women and eight children.

In Washington the number of those aboard the Hersey was given as: from the 43rd Division, 163 officers and 2,590 men; casual replacements, about 120 officers and some 120 men.

The Maipu, built recently in a Dutch shipyard for the Argentine Government Line, was en route too Hamburg, after a stop at Amsterdam, with a cargo of frozen meat, coffee and grain, and the passenger complement.

The trim Argentine ship could accommodate 800 passengers.

Jury Being Selected For Criminal Case In 132nd District Court

Selection of a jury from a panel of 40 men began this morning in 132nd Criminal District Court with Judge Ben F. Thorpe presiding. Charles Everett Hill, 24, the defendant, is charged with the armed robbery of Mrs. Ray Jordan, ticket saleswoman for the Aztec Theater on the Saturday night of March 3.

The jury is being selected and questioned and sworn in one by one.

District Attorney Bob Davie is representing the state in the case. The defendant is represented by John Ford of Snyder and Doss Hardin of Fort Worth.

Senator Wants To Use A-Bomb In Korea Now

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Sen. Johnson (D-Colo) urged today the use of atomic weapons against the Communists in Korea — and said the possibility of retalation by Russia is "too absurd to consider." Johnson, member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, spoke out against the background of the latest atomic tests in Nevada. He declined to discuss information he has about those tests, except to say they showed "great progress" in building America's atomic might.

The Coloradoan said he saw "no conflict at all" between his call for use of atomic weapons in Korea that the small countries of the United Nations "must strike a hard blow for Korean peace right now before it is forever too late."

Johnson said the United States and the other great U. N. powers have made only "futile efforts to end the violence" in Korea and had "forfeited the trust" placed in them. He added that the small nations should insist that the U. N. General Assembly convening in Paris Tuesday remain in session "until a just solution is found."

Johnson said those views and his advocacy of atomic warfare against the Communists in Korea are compatible because "we ought to conduct the war there on an all-out or a get-out basis — one or the other." Then he declared:

"I would use the atomic bomb over there if I had my way. I think it could be used to great advantage."

Shivers Urges Heavy Vote On 5 Amendments

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Gov. Shivers cautioned voters today not to let a minority dictate the state's fundamental law — its constitution.

That can happen, he said, if you fail to vote Nov. 13.

Five proposed changes in the constitution will be voted on. Some communities will also vote for representatives to fill vacancies in the Texas House.

"The records show that Texans habitually don't vote as heavily on constitutional amendments as they do in political races," the governor said. "That is unfortunate, for a change in our fundamental law may prove to be much more important in the long run than the outcome of a political race.

"The constitution ought not to be changed without the consent of a majority of the people — but that is just what can happen if we fail to go out and vote. On the other hand, it isn't right for a worthwhile amendment to fail merely because an organized minority opposed it."

Apartment House Blows Up, Injures 10 Persons

EL PASO, Nov. 5. (AP) — Ten persons were injured Saturday night in a blast that shook a five-block area and demolished four units of a nine-apartment enement house.

Fire Chief H. A. Davis said the explosion was caused by accumulated gas under the floor of the block-long apartment.

Amelia Godina, 42, was critically injured.

Reds Reported As Not Likely To Accept It

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 5. (AP) — The United Nations proposed today bypassing the cease-fire buffer zone stumbling block until a Korean armistice is ready for signing.

The U. N. suggested a permanent committee study the buffer zone issue while negotiators talk on other points that must be settled before the fighting can end.

Indications were that the Reds would reject the proposal. An officer said they called it "unacceptable, unfair, unjust, unreasonable."

FURTHER STUDY

But, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols said, they did agree to study the plan further. Presumably they will give their reply at a meeting scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday (5 p.m. Monday, CST).

Nuckols said the proposal, if the Reds agree to it, would permit "double progress" in reaching a solution to the cease-fire problem in Korea. He said the plan "contained more hope than we've had for some time."

If the Communists agree to the proposal, the full delegations would go to work on these remaining points:

Concrete arrangements to end the shooting and supervise the truce.

Exchange of prisoners.

Recommendations to the governments of the various countries concerned on both sides. (The Reds' demand that all foreign troops be withdraw from Korea comes under this heading.)

ALLIED PROPOSAL

The proposal came in a four-point formal statement read by Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes in Monday's afternoon session of two-man subcommittees.

It provided that:

Both sides accept the principle that any cease-fire zone will be based on the battleline at the time of the armistice signing, with "appropriate adjustments."

The zone be 2½ miles wide.

A committee of three officers from each side determine where the line of contact is and advise the full delegations at any time.

The subcommittees now meeting report their agreement to the full delegations from both sides "with the recommendation that the latter proceed with the discussion of other items on the agenda.

BUFFER ZONE TOUCHY

The proposal suggested the full delegations skip the touchy buffer zone proplem "until such time as it is possible to settle it definitely."

Under this plan, a U.N. officer said, the final cease-fire line "could be anywhere in Korea."

The eventual location of the buffer zone will depend on two things:

How soon agreement is reached on the other agenda items, and what changes take place along the battlefront in the meantime.

WEATHER

East and South Central Texas: Mostly cloudy, scattered showers this afternoon, tonight and early Tuesday. Colder Tuesday and in the interior tonight.

North Central Texas: Mostly cloudy with scattered showers this afternoon, tonight and early Tuesday except some snow northwest late tonight and early Tuesday. Colder tonight and Tuesday. Lowest 28-35 in northwest and Red River Valley tonight.

West Texas: Considerable cloudiness and colder this afternoon and tonight and in all except Panhandle and South Plains Tuesday. A few snow flurries Panhandle and South Plains late today and tonight and from Upper Valley eastward tonight. A few showers from the Lower Pecos Valley east and in Del Rio-Eagle Pass area tonight. Lowest temperatures 20-26 Panhandle and South Plains and 26-34 Pecos Valley eastward tonight.

Taft Supporters Happy About Stand Ike Taking On Politics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) claimed a new political weapon today in Gen. Eisenhower's refusal to choose publicly between the Democrat and Republican as his favored party.

Eisenhower goes to Blair House today for a luncheon with President Truman that may produce—as a sideline to military discussions — some understanding as to political plans.

Even if such an understanding is reached, Sen. Johnson (D-Colo) said he thinks Eisenhower "will have very great difficulty extricating himself — and that is really the right word — from the very responsible duty he assumed in Europe" to engage in a "presidential race.

DUFF BOOMING IKE

Sen. Duff (R-Pa) and others have been booming the general for the GOP nomination. Duff has said he wants to have a private chat with Eisenhower. Asked about that, Eisenhower replied that he hasn't heard from Duff "either directly or indirectly in a long, long time." He put emphasis on "directly, or indirectly."

Taft is an announced candidate for the Republican nomination and one of the chief campaigns of his lieutenants has been directed at killing off the Eisenhower boom.

One of their most effective weapons has been to cast doubt among the Republicans that Eisenhower is a member of their party.

DEMOCRAT OR GOP?

The general gave no comfort to his rooters who have contended they have assurances on this score by telling a reporter in New York who asked if he was a Democrat or Republican:

"Just because it's the football season, don't pull a quarterback sneak."

Eisenhower left open the road to speculation on his availability when he denied reporters permission to say specifically "c o m e what may, that he will not become a presidential candidate.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said he thinks President Truman would like to get Eisenhower to run on the Democratic ticket.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said he is convinced Mr. Truman will run again. "I know that he can't avoid running," Anderson said on a broadcast.

Harold E. Stassen said "the overwhelming majority of the American people" want neither Mr. Truman nor Sen. Taft for their next president.

U.S. Will Ask United Nations To Take Census Of World Arms

PARIS, Nov. 5. (AP) — The United States was reliably reported today to have decided to propose a world-wide arms census including a complete accounting of all atomic weapons.

The plan, which will be placed before the United Nations Assembly here this week, calls for a strict system of verification for the atomic accounting. This may prove a stumbling block which could hold up indefinitely any disclosure of the number of atomic bombs in the U. S. and Russia.

Informed quarters said the arms proposal was the heart of the reported peace plan which President Truman will announce Wednesday night and which Secretary of State Dean Acheson wil lay before the United Nations Assembly, perhaps Tuesday.

Inclusion of atomic weapons in the proposed arms census represents a drastic change in U. S. policy. The census question has been before the U.N. since 1948, but was blocked by the Russian veto because the U. S. refused to include atomic weapons.

Word of the U. S. policy shift leaked out as the 60-nation Assembly prepared to launch its 1951 meeting tomorrow. The U. S. was reported using Britain and France to support its new peace formula, timed to beat Russia to the peace punch before the Soviets have a chance to renew their expected peace offensive.

Main points of the arms census are expected to be:

A U.N. demand upon all countries for a complete accounting of all troops and weapons.

An ironclad system for sending inspectors into any country to make first-had verification of the figures submitted.

Russia has agreed in general terms to accept a system of inspection of atomic facilities, but her terms were never spelled out in concrete form.

The Russian idea was for inspectors to be admitted periodically to established facilities. The Russians never have said they would give inspectors free access to U.N. inspectors to travel anywhere in the Soviet Union at will.

The arms census plan is intended as a preliminary step toward general reduction of armaments and armed forces.

ATOMIC WEAPONS COUNT

President Truman proposed to the last Assembly that the U. N. combine atomic discussions with talks on conventional armaments. This idea has been accepted by the special committee which studied the question during the summer. It is now before the Assembly for final action.

The proposal to include atomic weapons in any general arms census thus is considered a logical follow-up to the proposed merger of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Commission for Conventional Armaments. The U. S. originally opposed this merger also.

First reports of this new approach circulated over the week end and were confirmed by British sources Sunday. Britain's new foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, had separate talks with Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Eden said he and Schuman had reviewed the whole list of problems before the assembly and were in full accord. This, he said, included the controversial Arab dominated area of Morocco, now a French protectorate.

The French are trying to keep the issue out of the U.N.

There was no indication what Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky would come up with. He arrived today from Moscow with the remainder of the Soviet delegation. Several others arrived earlier.

Western diplomats expect Vishinsky to renew his old demands for a five-power peace pact which would include Red China.

Safety Council Getting Ready For Millionth Highway Death

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP) — Some time next month Gene Miller, head of the National Safety Council's statistical department, expects to total up the 1951 traffic toll. He will punch the keys of an adding machine. But, in effect, he will be pressing the signal button for "M Day."

Lank, long-legged Miller will take off strides down a corridor, dart into the public information office and drop a ribbon of paper on a desk. Paul Jones and Jack Horner, information chiefs, will glance at the figures. They will telephone Chicago newsrooms. If the total is, say, 999,975, they will report:

"Get set. It will hit the million mark in about six hours."

If the hands on the clock of death keep moving at the present speed, "M day" will have the most incongruous of all possible settings.

An air of gaiety will rule the main business streets of U. S. cities. Lamp posts will be decorated with festive holly wreaths. Store windows will sparkle with glistening new toys and glittering artificial snow and tinsel.

The bright eyes of youngsters, aglow with the joy of anticipation, will reflect the blue and red and yellow of strings of lights. Millions of Christmas shoppers will swing along to the strains of an amplified musical message: 'tis the season to be merry.

And on the news stands they pass will lay papers that will carry a black headline:

"Nation records one millionth traffic death."

The council expects the U. S. to reach this melancholy milestone during the third week of December.

To the end of September a total of 990,200 Americans had been injured fatally in accidents involving motor vehicles. During this dark period of the year fatalities average 110 or so per day. From now on, it is simply a matter of waiting and adding until the inevitable day is at hand.

The council has a plan to quicken the counting of the dead. It normally issues reports on traffic deaths once a month. But, starting Nov. 15, it will get weekly summaries from state accident records bureaus.

Only two factors could delay "M day" beyond the pre-Christmas period. One would be bad weather that would keep most automobiles in garages. The other would be a sudden shift to cautious driving on the part of motorists.

Drivers [illegible] start driving [illegible] haven't [illegible] far.

The council and other organizations began an all-stops-out campaign March 2 to delay "M day" as long as possible.

It was built around the theme: "Don't YOU be one in a million." But since then, 21,490 men, women and children have joined the one-in-a-million "Club." Each received an all-expenses-paid trip to a cemetery.

The death toll rose.

Who will be victim No. One million?

The council has compiled actual figures on traffic deaths since 1933. The statistics on deaths before that time are the best available records [illegible]

[illegible] passed the 30,000 mark in 1925, and beyond the 30,000 level in 1929. It peaked [illegible] in 1941, dropped during World War II, and then began a climb that reached a record high of 35,000 last year.

If present trends continue, the 1951 total will reach 36,000 by December 31, the council says. Then, by December 7, the killing of 1,000,000 Americans on streets and roads will have been accomplished in 51 years, four months and a few odd days.

If the slaughter continues, says the council, "it will take only 30 years to kill the second million."

Problems Of Space Flying Are Being Faced Realistically

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 5 (AP) Man is about to break the fetters that have bound him to earth for a million years.

He is so close to flying into space that scientists, sponsored by the U. S. airforce School of Aviation Medicine, are holding a symposium about it here beginning Tuesday, under the title, Upper Atmosphere and the Aeropause. The aeropause is the zone where air is so thin it tails off into empty space.

Our flyers are already up at heights which are military secrets but where, for the purposes of breathing, there is no air. Their equipment would take them all the way to Venus or Mars so far as air is concerned.

They are at heights where the pressure is so low their blood would boil at normal body temperature, and their tissues swell them to twice normal size, but for the pressure in their cabins. The pressures are good enough to last them anywhere in the solar system.

We have a rocket — the Viking — which outdoes the V-2, and could shoot from the moon to the earth. It cannot do the reverse trip, because earth's gravitation is too strong. We have shot a two-stage rocket to 250 miles, completely out in space.

Our fliers already are running completely out of gravitation for short periods — about half a minute — when planes take a course bringing on centrifugal force to counterbalance the earth's pull.

Our skyhook balloons — at 20 miles altitude — and rockets at 100 miles are sampling the radioactivity from cosmic rays which fliers will face when they go a little higher.

Astronomers will bring their calculations to this meeting on the rain of dust-size shooting stars whose 40-miles-a-second speed makes them a menace.

The symposium is held because some of the human problems of space flight already exist, and others will become urgent in a little while. Rocket engineers say the ships to fly into space for military purposes already are possible. The weak link is the unknown question—what can a man stand?

The fetters which have made man earth-bound are air to breathe, heat and cold, gravitation and unknown dangers such as radioactivity and possibly dangerous rays of other sorts from the sun and the shooting stars.

The air fetter is completely broken. The heat problem is almost solved, for fliers already are at altitudes where there is not enough air to protect their ships from the direct rays of the sun. They suffer unbearable heat which is met by air-cooling inside the plane, and by reflecting the sun's rays off the ship's skin.

The same means, with better reflecting metals on the outside, will protect a space ship from the sun's heat. Except in the earth's shadow, or the shadow of another planet, the problem will not be how to keep warm, but how to keep cool. Space itself has no temperature because there is nothing to get hot, except an occasional grain of dust. The side of a ship facing the sun will be nearly as hot as boiling water, and the shady side will drop to a hundred degrees below freezing. The temperature differences will give a ship both heat control and power, thus breaking another link in the fetters.

One of the studies this week is what will happen to us when there is no gravitation. Our bodies depend on gravitation for many things, but it is predicted we can do without this force surprisingly well. Breathing, eating, blood circulation and most physical functions will not be affected, because they are part of a closed system. That means our bodies supply their own power regardless of gravitation.

Essay Contest Announced By Auxiliary

"America Is Everybody's Business" is the essay contest subject announced to high school students today by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Any high school student is eligible to enter the contest, according to Mrs. Nat Chapman, Auxiliary president. Local winners will enter the state contest in which awards will be given by the state Auxiliary. Essays winning first honors in state contests are eligible for presentation to the final judges who will decide winners of the awards. First prize will be $1,000 cash and a gold medal. Twenty-three other cash prizes will also be awarded in the national contest, Mrs. Chapman said.

Mrs. R. L. Johnston, 3007 Avenue T, is local contest chairman. Local deadline is Feb. 1, 1952, at which time three cash prizes will be awarded by the Snyder Auxiliary, she said. Further information may be secured by calling her at 2611.

[illegible] must not exceed 1,000 words in length and must be submitted in triplicate. The essays will be judged on literary construction, interpretative views, and patriotic inspiration.

Abdullah King To Quit Juarez

By Sheppard [illegible]

EL PASO, Nov. 5 (AP) — Abdullah, king III planned today to put his wild three-day tour of Mexican night clubs behind him and head for the arms of his Egyptian betrothed.

The Houston oil heir, whose romantic high jinks led from Paris to the Rio Grande, planned to leave tonight or tomorrow for Dallas.

"The time will depend on how I feel," he said Sunday night before leaving for his third round of Juarez night spots.

After two weeks in Dallas he will fly to Egypt. His Cairo marriage to Egyptian Dancer Samia Gamal is set for Nov. 22.

King's marathon celebration followed his quickie divorce Friday in Juarez from his wife, Gloria. The two had been divorced before but remarried last June — a ceremony Gloria says, in a pending annulment suit, she doesn't remember.

[illegible] Mexican divorce courts in his flashy Cadillac after legal maneuvering in Houston postponed court action on the annulment matter until December.

The ebb Texan said he would remember his Juarez jaunt for two things — tequila (a fiery liquor) and the Mambo (a fiery dance). Nothing could make him forget the moon-drenched deserts of Egypt and his true love, he asserted.

"Just wait until I get my little Samia over here," King said. "She'll be the hottest little thing in the country."

Samia has scheduled a tour of U. S. night clubs beginning Jan. 1. Sheppard indicated he would travel with her.

Fines Increase Report Shows

Fines collected in corporation court last month amounted to $3,217, or about $100 more than for the previous month, Ray J. Keenan, police chief, said today.

In the monthly report Keenan said 143 persons were arrested and booked into the city jail. Intoxication headed the list of offenses with a total of 101 arrests.

Thirteen other persons were arrested on charges of intoxication in an automobile, and four DWI arrests were made.

Other arrests were: reckless driving 20, assault one, concealed weapons two, vagrancy three, illegal possession of explosives three, [illegible] to theft two, burglary one, affray two, interferring with officer one, and indecent exposure and molesting children one.

Average age of persons booked into the jail was 33 years.

An additional 113 traffic citations were issued for the appearance of offenders in corporation court, making a total of 256 charges filed.

The department investigated 157 criminal cases, and 21 traffic accidents.

Mrs. George Brown, 1914 Twenty-fifth Street, recently left Snyder to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Nacogdoches, Tex.

ALARM VOTERS

CHELSEA, Mass., Nov. 5 (AP) —Officials of this large city near Boston are going to do something to awaken the voters' interest in the municipal election Tuesday.

They're going to sound the loud fire alarm whistle every hour to see if they can get a bigger turnout of voters than expected.

Wounded Vet Paying Back Blood He Used

By HAL BOYLE

[illegible], Nov. 5 (AP) — A wounded officer whose one-man battlefield rampage won him the Medal of Honor is on a one-man campaign to get more blood for troops in Korea.

"It's a personal thing with me," said Capt. Raymond Harvey, who at 31 has been wounded three times in two wars. "I'd be dead except for the 12 pints of blood and plasma I got.

"And I want to pay it back."

Harvey got hit twice and won two silver stars for combat heroism as a company commander in the 79th Division in Europe during the second World War.

He went ashore in Korea as a company commander in the Seventh division, and made two amphibious landings.

The captain had been awarded a third Silver Star before the action March 9th that won him the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award.

During his convalescence Harvey worked as a technical advisor on a Korean war film, "Fixed Bayonets," and played a small role. He is now assigned to the Department of Defense's blood collection program.

Hospital doctors told him he should wait a year at least before giving blood himself. But recently, although his back still is draining from his unhealed wound, he insisted on making the first installment on his debt—a pint of his blood.

"It didn't bother me at all," he said, "and the doctor says I can give a pint now every two months. There's nothing to it really —no reaction. I gave four pints at different times before the Korean war began."

Harvey said he isn't disillusioned at the slowness of the American people to respond to urgent appeals for more blood.

"Our people never let their soldiers down before," he said. "I don't think they appreciate how desperately the blood is needed. If they could just realize that the blood they give is the chief reason that 98 out of every 100 wounded men in Korea survive, they'll support the program 100 per cent."

Awards Made In Right-Of-Way Hearing By Condemnation Board

A condemnation board of three special commissioners made awards to compensate for fence moving in widening road right of way along the property of four parties late Friday.

A. M. Cleghorn, near the east edge of town, was awarded $323.20 —exactly $100 more than he was offered previously by the commissioners court for expense in moving a turkey - proof fence. The previous award offered was in portion with the standard rate of $400 a mile the court is offering.

The award for Miss Faye Harrell, southwest edge of the city, was $400. The commission awarded her and her brother, I. G. Harrell, $411.40, jointly on another piece of property. Harrell, individually, was awarded $1,080 on other property.

They are allowed 10 days in which to appeal to county court for jury hearing on the matters before the presen awards may become final. They were represented by Ross Hemphill, Snyder attorney. Gene Dulaney represented the county.

Martin Wildcat Gets Salt In Ellenburger

Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 E. B. Dickenson, wildcat in South-Central Martin County, on total depth of 12,073 feet in Ellenburger lime.

That formation developed sulphur water on a drillstem test from 12,040 feet to 12,073 feet.

Location was in section 22-37-11n-T&P, and 10½ miles northwest of Stanton.

The Ellenburger was topped at 12,015 feet which gives it a minus datum point of 9,228 feet.

Coke Wildcat Set Near Robert Lee

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. has spotted location for the No. 1 B. D. Gartman in North - Central Coke County six miles north and slightly west of Robert Lee.

Drillsite will be in the J. M. Perry survey No. 2. It is on a 829.7-acre lease. No. 1 Gartman will be eight miles northwest of the McCutchen-Cisco field.

Rotary tools will be used to go to 7,700 feet.

Tom Green Prospector Quit In Ellenburger

Taylor Refining Co. No. 1 Rust, wildcat in Southeast Tom Green County, has been plugged and abandoned at 5,773 feet in barren Ellenburger, topped at 5,270 feet, 2,954 feet below sea level.

The failure was 2467 feet from south and 116 feet from west lines of section 19, TC survey, and 11 miles south of Van Court.

Improvements Made On Masonic Hall Here

Face lifting was completed last week on the Masonic Hall, and members will hold their first regular meeting since the remodeling Tuesday night.

Included in the remodeling project which got underway a month ago was the re - upholstering of 48 opera chairs in blue plush covers and four officers' chairs in red leather. Also finished in red leather is the altar in the middle of the hall.

Inlaid linoleum covers the floor of the meeting room. It was laid by Ed Thompson, member of the organization.

Tax Decrease Brings Telegram Charge Down

A decrease in telegram rates due to the cut in federal excise taxes and new word schedules is now in effect, J. J. Goben, Western Union manager here, has announced.

The excise tax decrease was one provision of the 1951 revenue tax act and ranges from 25 to 15 per cent according to the type service purchased. Western Union itself recently changed the minimum word charge to make the basis 15 rather than 10 words and liberalized additional word charges, Goben said.

Tax rates on other forms of communication were unchanged, Goben said.

Applications Filed For Sharon Ridge Wells

A. F. Roberts, Jr., of Lubbock has filed application to drill two projects on the A. C. Mills lease in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field of Scurry County.

The projects will be the No. 3 and No. 4 Mills. No. 3 is 330 feet from north and east lines of tract 7, O'Keefe subdivision, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. The No. 4 is 330 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of the same acreage.

Both are about nine miles northwest of Colorado City.

Projected depth is 1,750 feet.

Gatlin Warns Of Fire Danger

"We are now entering the season of fires now that cold weather has arrived," Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said today.

Gatlin warned that everyone should be careful with stoves and heating units to see that they are a safe distance from inflamable objects.

Leaks in gas lines and connections are also one of the leading cold weather hazards, he said.

When a heater is taken out of summer storage and put into use, all the gas connections should be carefully checked to see that there are no leaks since escaping gas is deadly in two ways, he said.

It can collect in a room or house and cause an explosion when a match or spark is lit, or it can asphyxiate persons in closed buildings without ever ignighting, he added.

Central heating units are dangerous too, he stated. Many times the exhausts to such units become clogged during the summer and cause lethal gasses to collect inside the house. Sometimes, too, the fire in such units does not burn as it should when first lit and can cause set the building on fire if it is not carefully checked.

Damage Suit Is Being Heard In County Court

Testimony began this morning in County Court under Special Judge Robert R. Patterson on the case of Lynn Fenton vs. Sun Oil Co.

Fenton, a stock farmer living eight miles southwest of Snyder, is seeking damages of $185 plus veterinary and attorney's fees for the death of one of his cows, alleged to have died last June 22 as a result of drinking from a Sun Oil Co. slush pit located on the land Fenton leases.

Fenton is represented by Jack Kennedy of Snyder, and attorney for the defendant is Morris G. Watson of Roby.

Mrs. Roy Brown, 1914 Twenty-fifth Street, is visiting with her daughter in Big Spring, Mrs. Vollie E. Sorrells, who is recovering from a recent operation.

REALISTIC DRILL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5 (AP)—Several buildings were purposely set afire in Rhode Island Sunday to give a touch of reality to the country's first state-wide civil defense drill since the war.

Some 20,000 persons demonstrated to the satisfaction of official observers that they know their parts should Rhode Island undergo an A-bomb attack.

Several condemned buildings were burned to give a realistic drill.

New Leaders In Southwest

DALLAS, Nov. 5 (AP) — Four new leaders pushed into Southwest Conference football today. Larry Isbell of Baylor took over in passing, Stan Williams of Baylor in pass-receiving, Val Jo Walker of SMU in punt returns and Ray McKown of TCU in punting.

Isbell replaced Fred Benners of SMU in passing. He has completed 65 throws in 141 times for 881 yards and seven touchdowns. Benners fell to second with 71 connections in 140 throws for 807 yards and five touchdowns.

Williams supplanted Bill Howton of Rice in pass-receiving. H. has caught 23 for 444 yards. Howton is second with 16 for 440.

Walker, who ran a kick back 92 yards for a touchdown against Texas, moved ahead of Johnny Cole of Arkansas in punt returns with three for 106 yards — an average of 35.3. Cole fell to third with 10 for 171 yards and Hale Lary of A&M stayed in second place with 16 for 297.

Isbell is the total offense leader with 995 yards on 167 plays. Lamar McHan of Arkansas went into second place with 881 yards on 171 plays.

A&M leads in team offense with an average of 368.7 yards per game and Baylor is second with 322.7. Texas is the leader defensively, giving up 213.7 yards per game. Arkansas is second with 217.7.

CIO Considers Peace Offer Of Rival Union

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—The CIO convened today, 16 years after it split from the AFL, weighing new peace offers from the parent labor group.

But the olive branch was treated lightly by CIO president Philip Murray in his report to the convention.

Murray commented that the AFL had deliberately broken up the United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC), in which the two big federations had cooperated for nine months.

He described the ULPC as "the most hopeful display of labor unity this nation has ever seen."

Murray said "I do not believe that the leaders and members of the unions of the CIO want organic unity on the only terms which the leaders of the AFL are apparently ready to offer — an organic unity in which the glorious record of industrial unionism will be subject to overriding by the craft union philosophy which still dominates the AFL."

It was that difference over craft versus industrial organization which caused the 1935-36 division within the AFL leading to creation of the CIO.

Murray's report was written before the latest move by AFL President William Green — a letter inviting the CIO to meet with the AFL and talk about merger.

Green conveyed to Murray the statement of the AFL convention in San Francisco in September, which expressed a desire for merger with the CIO and asserted that organic labor unity was needed now more than ever.

The AFL has more than eight million members, the CIO more than five million, according to reports of both groups.

Masons to Hold Stated Meeting Tuesday Night

Regular Stated Communication of Scurry Lodge No. 706, AF&AM, will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at Masonic Temple. All Master Masons are urged to be present. Visiting Masons welcome.

A Message of Importance
★ ★ ★ To Every Automobile Driver ★ ★ ★
In The State of Texas

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE NEW TEXAS "SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW"

1 Enforcement Begins January 1, 1952. On this date, the new Safety Responsibility Law, as passed by the Legislature, goes into effect. This law was designed to protect you against financially irresponsible drivers and owners of motor vehicles involved in accidents. It affects all drivers and motor vehicle owners (except Federal, State, County and City-owned cars).

2 What Must You Do After An Accident? Under existing laws, you must file a written report to the Department of Public Safety if your car is involved in an accident where there is a death, an injury or property damage in excess of $25. Under the new law, a written report must be filed within ten days if your car is in an accident resulting in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.

3 You Don't Have to Carry Liability Insurance, But . . . If you are not insured against bodily injury and property damage liability, you must be able to deposit with the Department of Public Safety security equal to the estimated damage, not exceeding $15,000.00, to cover all claims growing out of an accident anywhere in Texas in which you or your motor vehicle were involved. If you cannot establish financial responsibility for the future, your driver's license and your motor vehicle license plates are automatically suspended.

4 It's Easy to Establish Financial Responsibility with a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If you do not now have such a policy, call your local insurance agent today. He is a qualified insurance counselor who will be happy to advise you concerning your needs.

5 What is the Minimum of Your Liability? The law permits each driver to establish the following minimum limits of liability: up to $5,000.00 for injuries sustained by one person; up to $10,000.00 for all personal injuries resulting from one accident, and up to $5,000.00 for property damage. You do not have to establish such liability but it is the easiest way.

6 Select An Established Insurance Agent. — The agents listed below know the insurance business and represent well-known dependable capital stock insurance companies. These agents are not of the kind that are here today and gone tomorrow. Their names are listed in the telephone directory. A telephone call will find them ready to serve you—not only NOW—but YEARS from now. Call the one of your choice.

VON ROEDER SEED FARM STORE MOVES

Von Roeder Seed Farms store is moving from its down-town location to new and larger quarters just completed three miles west of Snyder on the Lamesa highway, Lindy Clark, manager, said. The new building, shown above, has a modern brick front, comfortable customer waiting room in the front and a spacious storage and stock warehouse in the back. It is located adjacent to the new Paymaster gin.—(Lee Watson photograph).

Russians Making Overtures To Japanese With Trading Offers

TOKYO, Nov. 5. (AP)—Russia came bearing a commercial olive branch to Japan last week.

The Soviet Union, which refused to sign the peace treaty at San Francisco Sept. 8 and therefore still is in a state of war with Japan, made the Japanese government several eye-catching trade offers.

Among them were coal for $10 a ton, compared with $30 now being paid for American coal; markets for Japanese textiles, vehicles and light industry products; and Soviet cotton, iron ore and petroleum, if Japan will agree to expand mutual trade.

In addition, Russia invited the Japanese government to send representatives to her ceremonies Nov. 7 celebrating the revolution.

When Russia's Andrei Gromyoko quit the San Francisco opera house shortly before the signing of the peace treaty with 48 other countries, observers wondered what the next Soviet move might be.

Apparently this was it.

Delegates from the Soviet mission to occupied Japan called Friday on a delegation representing the Diet — Japan's parliament.

The Russians were Andrei Ivanovich Dominitsky, deputy economic adviser to the mission; and Alekse i N. Mamin, assistant political adviser.

The Diet group included Reps. Etsujiro Euhara, senior member of the administration Libery party; Hideji Kawasaki, Democrat; and Miss Hide Tajama, Communist.

The discussions lasted two and a half hours.

To all appearances, Russia plans to give Japan "Favored nation" trade treatment, peace treaty or not.

Lacking normal diplomatic relations, however, it is doubtful if Russia will say anything about:

1—Japanese property the Russians took from Manuchuria in 1945.

2—The 370,000 Japanese prisoners of war still unaccounted for by Russia.

3—Salvage of Japanese ships sunk in waters off Russia.

Just how Russia expects to restore diplomatic relations with Japan remains a mystery.

When the Russians, followed by the delegates from Poland and and Czechoslovakia, quit the San Francisco conference, it was believed the Soviet countries would come along eventully with a peace proposal of their town.

So far the trade overture has been the only move.

French Deportation of African Embarrasses England, America

TANGIER, Nov. 5. (AP)—American and British diplomats were angered today at finding themselves caught in the middle of a controversy over French expulsion of a Tunisian Nationalist leader from this international zone of Morocco.

The British and Americans who participate in the international government of the 225-square mile territory opposite Gibraltar declared they had not been consulted on the deportation of Habib Bourguiba, head of the Neodestour (Constitutional) party of Tunisia.

Together with the nationalist disturbances during local elections in French Morocco, where six persons were killed and 70 injured in rioting Thursday, the incident was described by an American source as a serious threat to harmony in the Atlantic Pact.

Many workers stayed away from their jobs in this city of 100,000 in protest against the expulsion.

"Our employes have Bourguibisch (Bourguiba fever)," a cafe owner explained.

French troops trained machine-guns on the Arab quarter in Casablanca, French Morocco, and patrolled in light armored cars tonight. A police roundup netted 235 more arrests, but most of the 500 previously arrested were released.

International observers agreed that North Africa, from Tunisia to this northwestern tip of Morocco was in a ferment and that French handling of the situation was not helping matters.

(French foreign minister Robert Schuman returned to Paris unexpectedly from a political visit to Brittany and held conferences on the Moroccan situation. He met with U. S. Ambassador David Bruce and the French Resident General for Morocco, Gen. Augustine Guillaume.)

Disturbances at Casablanca broke out when they seemed most likely to attract the most attention to an Arab move to put the question of independence on the agenda when the United Nations Assembly meets in Paris next Tuesday.

The French want American support when the question comes up. French officials have been critical that Bourguiba, a prominent lawyer, was allowed to go to the United States recently in the interest of his movement.

Friday he was awakened by French police and hustled off by plane back to Madrid. He was informer he was being deported "by decision of the Control Council."

Pennsylvanian Wildcat Is Staked in Upton

Two and one-half miles southeast of Ellenburger production in the Pegasus - multipay field of Northwest Upton County, Magnolia Petroleum Co. spotted site for a 10,700 - foot Pennsylvanian wildcat.

It will be dug 662.5 feet from south and 669.4 feet from east lines of section 8, block 40, T-5-S, T&P survey as the No. 2-A American Republics. That puts it one miles southeast of Magnolia No. 1 American Republics, an 8,507-foot failure which was plugged in 1944.

Spartan Schedules Wildcat in Reagan

Spartan Drilling Co. and others staked location for a 6,700 - foot rotary wildcat in Northeast Reagan County.

It will be dug as the concern's No. 1 Calvin Sugg, two and one-half miles north and slightly west of the opener of the Sugg - Wolfcamp pool.

Drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 142-2-T&P. That puts it 25 miles north of Big Lake.

Elevation at drillsite is 2,635 feet.

Mrs. James Weathers was admitted to Sweetwater Hospital for an emergency operation yesterday morning. Hospital attendants reported the operation a success and her condition satisfactory yesterday evening.

FISHERMAN'S CAST PULLS IN BATHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Elbert Sprecher went fishing for bass Sunday — and caught a drowning man.

The man, Robert Stuls, 59, likes to swim the year-round for his health. But a dip below 50 temperatures Sunday and choppy surf almost got the best of him Sunday.

Sprecher, 37, heard his cries and started casting his 36-point-test line into the surf at the thrashing swimmer. On the third try the weighted line coiled around Stul's body and pulled him in.

Minister Held Under Guard By Police After Wife Found Injured

BEDFORD, Pa., Nov. 5. (AP)—A Michigan minister is under police guard in a hospital today after he was found hitch-hiking six miles from where his wife lay injured near their burned automobile.

The Rev. Philemon Sebastiades, 59, of Lincoln Park, a Detroit suburb, was treated for burns and shock. His wife, in the same hospital, has puncture wounds of the abdomen.

Police said the couple have told conflicting stories and it is not yet known why the car burned shortly before the two were picked up Saturday.

Sebastiades, pastor of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church at Lincoln Park, is charged with suspicion of assault with intent to kill.

Gulf No. 1-Y Carrie Dean Is a Failure

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-Y Carrie S. Dean, wildcat in Northeast-Central Dawson County, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 10,930 feet.

It was 1,611 feet from south and 622 feet from west lines of section 35-2-t-6-n-TT survey and 10 miles northeast of Lamesa.

The No. 1-Y Dean is an old dry hole which was abandoned by James H. Snowden and associates at 8,733 feet. It was drilled as Snowden, et al No. 1-35 Dean.

Firm Here Has GoodSupplyOf Animal Feeds

The cotton seed department of Von Roeder Seed Farms moved last week to a new building two miles west of Snyder on the Lamesa highway.

The feed, poultry, and garden seed departments will remain in their present location, Lindy Clark, manager, said.

Although this is an "off" season for poultry and garden seed sales, the firm is still doing a brisk business in feeds for both poultry and livestock, Clark added.

"We have all the feeds necessary for healthy growth in animals and fowls," he said.

Proper feeding of poultry flocks will keep their egg laying about up to the average for warmer months of the year.

The firm is distributor here for Purina feeds, one of the best known and mostly widely used brands of feeds, Clark said.

The cotton seed store west of town will feature registered Western Prolific cottonseed—a strain bred in Scurry County by Nolan von Roeder and perfected for maximum production on the type soil here and under the existing climatic conditions.

Bentley Baize is manager of the cotton seed store. It is located adjacent to the Paymaster Gin.

Month's Ratio: 10 Marriages To 6 Divorces

The number of marriages in Scurry County does not far exceed the number of divorces, the ratio for last month being about 10 marriages to six divorces.

In October, out of 39 law suits filed in civil district court, 16 were suits for divorces. During the same period, six divorces were granted. None of those granted, however, was of the 16 filed for. A divorce cannot be granted until at least 30 days after filing of the suit.

But the number granted, compared with the number sought, is relatively consistent, according to records for previous months. The ratio is about the same month after month. Most suits for divorce either do not come to trial or are dismissed at the request of both plaintiff and defendant.

October's number of marriage licenses issued was not as large as that of June, but it is fairly in line with most of the fall and winter month figures.

Irion Test Is Failure

MJM&M Oil Co. No. 1 Calvin H. Sugg, Northwest Irion County, recovered 120 feet of slightly gas cut mud on a two - hour drillstem test at 7,418-7,531 feet and is preparing to plug and abandon. The test was made in the Pennsylvanian.

The wildcat has plugged back from 9,574 feet in barren Ellenburger.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 1948, Alex E. Patton survey.

The U. S. Geological Survey says the so-called "saber-tooth tiger" of 25 million years ago was neither a true tiger nor a cat.

WINTERIZE CAR NOW

If you haven't already had your car prepared for winter starting and driving, now is the time to do it, S. J. Trevey, owner of Trevey's Magnolia Service Station, 711 Twenty-sixth Street, said. Changing to lighter weight motor oil is one of the necessary steps to better car performance this winter. James White, attendant at Trevey's station, is shown above refilling a car engine with winter-weight Mobiloil.

Majority of Voters Agree In Calling Korean War 'Useless'

BY GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5 — There is evidence that Sen. Robert A. Taft struck campaign "pay dirt" with his recent remark about the Korean war.

The Ohio Senator called the war in Korea an "utterly useless war."

The majority of voters questioned in a public opinion survey say that they agree with that sentiment. The vote is approximately 5-to-3.

From this vote it would appear that the Senator has got hold of an issue that may play an important part in the coming political campaign.

Although opinion divides more or less along party lines, it is significant that one out of every two Democrats agree with Senator Taft's characterization of the Korean fighting. Republicans are overwhelmingly in agreement with him on the issue.

Here are the survey results:

"A U. S. Senator says that the Korean war is an 'utterly useless war.' Do you agree or disagree with this?"—

Agree	56
Disagree	33
No opinion	11
	100

Among persons who classify themselves as Democrats the vote is 49 per cent agree, 37 per cent disagree and the rest are undecided. Among Republicans the ratio is 65 per cent to 26 per cent in agreement with Senator Taft's views.

In terms of the 1952 political race the significance of the poll results is obvious. If the Korean war is still going on, or if the settlement of it is considered unfavorable to the United Nations, the Republicans may have a vote-getting issue to hammer home.

On the other hand, if Korea is settled favorably the Democrats will be in a position to take some of the edge off the arguments of Senator Taft and other Republicans.

WAR LONG UNPOPULAR

Institute surveys have for many months found the Korean war unpopular with the American people.

The change of sentiment came last year when American soldiers found themselves fighting against Red China, not merely North Korea, and the conflict became, in the words of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a "different war."

Still another reason for the changed attitude is revealed in a new survey just completed by the institute. This study posed the question of whether Russia really wants the Korean war to end. Most voters think not.

This question was put to a national cross - section:

"Do you think Russia wants the war in Korea to continue, or do you think she wants it to end?"

The vote:
Continue	76
End	9
No opinion	15
	100

Last week the Institute also reported that a majority of 3-to-1 feel Red China does not want the Korean war to end either.

New Casualty List

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—The Defense Department identified 233 more Korean war casualties today. Of the total, 76 are dead, 137 wounded, 14 missing and six injured in battle zone accidents.

The latest summary listed 14,393 killed in action, 68,641 wounded and 12,558 missing.

Mexican Yam Produces Tons Of Precious Hormones and Drugs

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5. (AP) — A fantastic poisonous yam now is yielding a harvest of two tons a month of potent sex and adrenal hormones.

The harvester is Syntex, a youthful Mexican firm, but already the world's leading producer of these steroid hormones. It makes half the sex hormones sold today in the United States. Its monthly output of 15 or more hormones supplies medicine for hundreds of thousands of people.

Syntex is building a new plant to make cortisone, the wonder hormone for arthritis, from the same peculiar yam. Once that plant goes into production, Syntex officials estimate they will double the present world's output of cortisone within a year, and boost it by ten times within two years.

The story of Syntex revolves largely around the yam, which grows wild in Southern Mexico. A relative of the sweet potato, it is known to botanists as Dioscorea, to Mexicans popularity as Cabeza de Negro. If you eat it, it destroys your blood. Mexicans have long used it for soap, and to poison fish to make them easy to catch.

Then came the discovery that the dark, dirty brown root of the yam is rich in sapogenins, a basic chemical for making hormones exactly like those made by your own body.

Today the root of the yam is harvested over large areas of Southern Mexico. They grow large, many weighing 50 pounds, and old yams even weigh a quarter of a ton. Tons of the root are shipped to Mexico City, chopped up and spread out on concrete beds to dry in the sun like coffee beans.

Syntex processes 10 tons of dried root daily — equal to 100 tons of original root before the drying.

All cortisone now in use comes from ox bile. The Syntex success in making it from yams probably won't effect the cost immediately, now about $30 a gram. The cost has been coming down steadily through the progress of American manufacturers.

Cortisone from yams was achieved by researchers, all but one of whom was under 30. The exception was Dr. Jorge Rosenkranz, 34, director of research. The others were mostly Mexican chemists, and a handful of foreigners, including Dr. Carl Djerassi, an American.

Syntex' huge output of hormones is tied right now to the amazing yam. Plantations to cultivate it were started several years ago.

But Syntex is looking for other and perhaps better ways of making hormones. One search is to learn whether fungi or bacteria or beasts can feed upon similar chemicals and transform them into complex hormones and steroids.

TCU FUMBLES BALL

Texas Christian back Bobby Jack Floyd (32) fumbles the ball when tackled by Baylor players in first quarter of game played at Waco. The ball was recovered by Baylor back J. Reid, not shown. Baylor players are center C. O. Broacato (54) and end Red Donaldson (83). No. 87 is TCU end George Wilson. TCU won 20-7 to take top spot in the Southwest Conference.

SW Conference In Muddled Title Race

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southwest Conference football teams with a mathematical chance at the championship are to submit preferential lists for the Cotton Bowl next week.

All seven members would have to turn in such lists. But Saturday at least three teams could definitely fade from the picture.

Baylor makes its last feeble bid at Austin against Texas, the team with the best season record but second in the conference race.

Rice, which, like Texas, has lost only one game, engages those fireballs from the Ozarks — the Arkansas Razorbacks — at Houston in a night game.

TCU THE LEADER

SMU, which could get back into the race only if everybody lost two games apiece, and Texas A&M, which could return only if everybody lost three, play at College Station.

TCU, leading the race with an unbeaten record with three games to go, takes the week off.

Last week found SMU, Baylor and the Aggies fading badly. Baylor, unbeaten but once tied, was knocked down by TCU 20-7. SMU, with one loss, was kicked around by Texas 20-13. A&M, with a defeat and a tie, took it on the chin from Arkansas 33-21.

Rice won an intersectional game from Pittsburgh 21-13. It helped conference prestige. This league now has won 14 games against outside foes while losing seven.

Two intersectional games left on the schedule. Baylor plays Wake Forest at Waco, Nov. 17 and Arkansas meets Tulsa at Little Rock Nov. 24.

Texas A&M continues as the leading offensive team, rolling up 368.7 yards per game. Texas is tops in defense, allowing only 213.7.

DAWSON TOP SCORER

Gib Dawson of Texas is the leading scorer with 48 points.

Two quarterbacks starred brightest in last week's games, with Lamar McHan of Arkansas accomplishing the most. McHan, the big blond sophomore, gained 263 yards passing and running, made two touchdowns and passed for another against the Aggies. Ray McKown of TCU rolled up 201 yards against Baylor, scoring one touchdown and setting up another.

Dick Ochoa led the Texas ground assault that humped SMU with 139 of the 237 Texas yards.

Two Games In Abilene Set

By The Associated Press

Abilene will be the center of attention this week in the Texas Conference pigskin chase, with Abilene Christian and McMurry colleges staging their homecoming games.

Abilene Christian, which had its title ambitions spilled with a 13 fo 14 loss to improved Texas A&I, last week, faces Austin College in a 2 p.m. game. McMurry meets Howard Payne in an 8 p.m. contest.

Abilene Christian, always at its best before its Exes, is favored over Austin. McMurry and Howard Payne should stage an offensive thriller. Howard Payne will be out to protect its two-game conference lead and have a clear record in its homecoming game with Abilene Christian Nov. 22.

The 1951 race can develop into a three-way scrap between Howard Payne, Texas A&I and Abilene Christian. Howard Payne has conference games remaining with McMurry and ACC; Abilene Christian has two left with Austin and Howard Payne, while A&I has its homecoming game Nov. 17 with Austin. A&I and ACC can still share the title if both win their remaining games, and Howard Payne loses either one of its two.

A&I moved into the conference picture last week with its upset of Abilene Christian. Fine defensive play by Al Lopez, who intercepted two ACC passes in the fourth period, aided A&I in its victory. Jackie Fink of the Javelinas completed 11 of 16 passes for 119 yards.

A fourth-period scoring splurge which netted three touchdowns by Fullback Robert Williams gave East Texas State a 38 to 21 triumph over Howard Payne at Brownwood. For three quarters it was a passing duel between the the Lions' James Gray. Both completed passes for two touchdowns. Davenport made 226 yards passing.

Sabin Hendrickson, McMurry's pile-driving fullback, scored two touchdowns as his team dropped a 13 to 61 game to the Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth.

U. S. Runs Up Golf Margin At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 5. (AP)—The crating job Arthur Lacey, nonplaying captain of Great Britain's Ryder Cup golf team, had hoped to have done on the international trophy has been postponed.

Uncle Sam's pros saw to that Sunday when they ran off with six of the eight singles matches and tied another to clinch the two-day competition by a 9½ to 2½ score, second highest margin since cup play began in 1927.

U. S. captain Sam Snead touched off the winning spark with a flurry of birdies and pars and his mates quickly fell in line with some strong play that made a shambles of the competition.

Snead handed Pinehurst Country Club's par 72 a five stroke lacing with a morning 67 to shoot four holes ahead of Max Faulkner, British open title-holder. In the afternoon Sammy was one under for 15 holes to close out the match, 4 and 3.

Open Champion Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Jackie Burke of Houston, Jimmy Demaret, Lloyd Mangrum and Stewart (Skip) Alexander all hopped the bandwagon.

Clayton Heafner had to settle for a deadlock with Fred Daly, 1947 British Open champion and only Ed Oliver wound up a loser. Oliver, lost to Arthur Lees, 2 and 1.

Hogan, 3 and 2 winner in Ben's initial appearance as a cup singles performer, was two up on a morning 73. He held that advantage through a brilliantly played first nine in the afternoon. Hogan's string of seven fours kept him on top and ran out the match.

Burke, needed only a par 72 for a six-hole edge over Jimmy Adams. The young Texan held that lead with a 38 on the front nine in the afternoon and, after yielding two holes, wrapped it up with a par three for a half on the 33rd.

Demaret raised his personal cup score to six victories without a setback after a 2 up struggle with little David Rees, a veteran of the 1937 British team.

Lake Superior is about 350 miles long.

EARLY CHRISTMAS

DETROIT, Nov. 5. (AP)—It was Christmas Sunday for a veteran army captain who soon will be back on active duty.

John P. O'Connell, 33, his wife, Patricia, and their three-year-old daughter, Janice, had a real Yuletide celebration, complete with decorated tree, presents, an extra-special dinner, and even an early snowfall.

Mrs. O'Connell said she planned the celebration as a surprise when her husband was recalled by the army because "he was gone so long during the last war that I couldn't let him miss Christmas again this year."

Old Rivalry In Border League Play Saturday

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5. (AP)—An old rivalry comes up for a new airing in the Border Conference this week as Arizona Wildcats collide with the Sun Devils of Arizona State at Tempe.

On comparitive scores Tempe and its pile-driving back rate a slight favorite. The Devils crushed West Texas 34-0 in their last game, a team that Arizona beat 28 to 13.

The Wildcats are sporting a startling new quarterback in Allan Stanton, who passed for four touchdowns and carried over for another in leading Arizona to its latest victory, 32-20 over New Mexico. This new asset is expected to give the Cats a spark that has been missing all season.

The Hardin - Simmons Cowboys who lost a 13-12 thriller last week to Cincinnati, will be host to Texas Western in another top conference tilt. The New Mexico Aggies will be at home to West Texas State. Arizona State at Flagstaff plays on its own field against New Mexico Western. Texas Tech, the loop leader, is idle.

Texas Tech asserted its superiority by spoiling Texas Western's homecoming 27-7. The issue was never in doubt.

Cincinnati overtook Hardin-Simmons with two scores in the second period.

Pro Players Keeping Foot On Ball With 14 Field Goals Sunday

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—The National Football League is doing a pretty good job of keeping the foot in football.

Fourteen field goals, varying from 11 to 40 yards, were kicked in the play-for-pay circuit's six games Sunday as the Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears held to their leads in the American and National conferences.

Ray Poole, New York Giants' end, and Bob Waterfield, Los Angeles quarterback, each kicked three three pointers.

George Blanda, playing an important role in the Bears' 27-0 shutout of Washington's Redskins, Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns and Joe Geri of Pittsburgh had two field goals each.

The Browns chalked up their fifth win in six games with a 34-17 decision over the Chicago Cards.

Poole had to share honors with Ed Tunnell and Charlie Conerly in the Giants' 37-31 conquest of the New York Yanks. Tunnell turned in a near-record gallop of a 100-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

Call McKown 'Accident' In TCU Circles

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5. (AP)—He doesn't look as much like a football player as the water boy.

He has no speed, throws the ball sidearm like a baseball pitcher, kicks as though he has stumbled backward and has as much grace as a bulldog on a slick dance floor.

Yes, that's Ray McKown, who's leading TCU toward the Cotton Bowl.

He was the fellow who shot down Baylor Saturday and removed the last unbeaten team from the Southwest Conference. He also kept TCU undefeated and untied in the conference.

McKown is a football accident-three guys who were supposed to play quarterback for TCU got hurt. McKown was the only fellow left to take over the job. And how he did it!

His greatest day was against Southern California. He made 340 yards rushing and passing.

McKown scored two touchdowns and set up a third with a cleverly executed onside kick in a last quarter surge that beat Texas A&M 20-14. The week before he engineered a last period drive that got three touchdowns against Texas Tech.

Ray was a defensive back when he started his sophomore season at TCU. He was only fair as a freshman and in spring training, Dutch Meyer was doubtful about it but put Ray in at Safety. McKown was the goat in his first game as Kansas threw two touchdown passes in the territory he was supposed to be covering. He also called for a fair catch in that game with his opponents 40 yards away and repeated the error against Nebraska.

The 19-year-old Texan improved and finally was accepted as a regular defensive back.

McKown boasts 545 yards passing — he's third in the conference — and 245 rushing. He leads the conference in punting with an average of 39.8 yards. He has scored five touchdowns.

TCU folk wish he looked like a football player but they certainly aren't complaining about the results.

Dams are located after extensive "coring" tests of the river bottoms.

OPEN SEASON

Tomorrow, although most persons do not know it, is the eighty-second anniversary of our popular football in the United States.

The game grew out of a similar English sport called rugby, and it still has many points resembling its ancestor. The first football game came between Rutgers and Princeton.

The history of game in our country is also much like the game of rugby. Here, like in England, it has met plenty of opposition from those who believe it is too strenuous.

Until about 1905, there was considerable confusion in the interpretation of rules. Solving of the problem began when a general conference was held among representatives of several colleges to set up an understandable set of rules, and the delegation decided to use four officials in the game to hold down the number of fouls among the players.

The history of football locally is vague, but it is believed that high school teams here began competition with teams from nearby towns in about 1910.

Since its beginning 82 years ago, football has become the greatest source of revenue for many colleges and has provided many hours of good exercise and entertainment for high school students.

District Championships Put On Line In Schoolboy Games

Associated Press Sports Writer

At least one district championship can be decided this week in the upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football.

Mainly the 47 game schedule in Classes AAAA and AAA is a "leveling up" but if Texarkana wins at Waco Friday it can sew up District 5 in Class AAAA.

The Dallas District also has a crucial game — Sunset vs Adamson. Sunset, Adamson and Woodrow Wilson are tied with 2-0 records.

Another important game matches Grand Prarie with Paris in Class AAA. The winner will become a prohibitive favorite for District 3.

CLASS AAAA CARD

Nine of the 16 districts in the two classes have undisputed leaders. They are:

Class AAAA — 1, Lubbock; 2, Ysleta; 3, Arlington Heights (Fort Worth); 5, Texarkana)6, Ray (Corpus Christi); 7, Lamar (Houston).

Class AAA — 2, Breckenridge; 6, Conroe; 7, Harlandale (San Antonio).

Only three undefeated, untied teams remain in Class AAAA. They are Lubbock, Ray and Lamar. In Class AAA there are only two — Grand Prairie and Palestine.

This week's schedule by districts:

Class AAAA

1 — Friday: Abilene at Lubbock, San Angelo at Borger; Saturday: Amarillo at Pampa.

2 — Thursday: Albuquerque, at El Paso (non-conference); Friday: Bowie (El Paso) vs Austin (El Paso).

3 — Thursday: Fort Worth Tech vs North Side (Fort Worth); Friday: Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) vs Poly (Fort Worth).

4 — Thursday: Forest (Dallas) vs Crozier Tech (Dallas); Friday: Adamson (Dallas) vs Sunset (Dallas), Texarkana at Waco, Milby (Houston) at Denison (non-conference).

6 — Harlingen at Laredo, Jefferson (San Antonio) at Miller (Corpus Christi), Austin at Brackenridge (San Antonio); Saturday: San Antonio Tech at Ray (Corpus Christi).

7 — Thursday: Davis (Houston) vs San Jacinto (Houston); Friday: Reagan (Houston) vs Lamar (Houston); Saturday: Sam Houston (Houston) vs Austin (Houston).

8 — Friday: Baytown at Pasadena, Port Arthur at Orange, Beaumont at Galveston.

AAA SCHEDULE

Class AAA

1 — Friday: Plainview at Vernon, Midland at Big Spring, Lamesa at Sweetwater.

2 — Friday: Breckenridge at Cleburne, Brownwood at Graham.

3 —Friday: McKinney at Greenville, Grand Prairie at Paris, Denton at Gainesville.

4 — Friday: Marshall at Kilgore, Gladewater at Henderson.

5 — Friday: Bryan at Corsicana, Temple at Lufkin, Palestine at Nacogdoches.

6 — Friday: Freeport at Port Neches, Texas City at Galena Park, Conroe at South Park (Beaumont).

7 — Thursday: Harlandale (San Antonio) vs Edison (San Antonio); Friday: Burbank (San Antonio) at Kerrville, Victoria at New Braunfels, Lanier (San Antonio) vs Alamo Heights (San Antonio).

8 — Friday: Edinburg at Brownsville, Kingsville at McAllen, San Benito at Alice.

Playoff In Gulf Coast Conference Saturday

By The Associated Press

The second of a three-game playoff to determine the Gulf Coast Conference championship goes on Saturday night at Denton.

North Texas State, which won the first game, engages Midwestern, making its conference start.

North Texas blasted Trinity 32-0 last week in the opening of title warfare.

The last conference game for the three-team circuit will be Nov. 24 when Midwestern plays Trinity.

The North Texas-Trinity game was the only one played in the league last week.

Southern Cal Or Stanford In Rose Bowl

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Illinois and Southern California were logical candidates for the Rose Bowl assignment today, but they still have some formidable obstacles to hurdle.

The Illini must get past Ohio State and Northwestern in Big Ten games. Southern Cal has a Saturday date with Stanford, an undefeated team that could throw the Pacific Coast Conference race into confusion.

If the Trojans beat Stanford, they then must whip UCLA, and they're in.

MICHIGAN DOWNED

Illinois Beat Michigan 7-0 Saturday. The score came on a pass from Tom O'Connell to Red Smith in the final 65 seconds. Before that, Illinois did not advance inside the Michigan 22.

Ohio State kept its hopes alive by beating Northwestern on a field goal by Vic Janowicz, 3-0; Wisconsin scored in the last minute to stop Indiana, 6-0, and Iowa came back with three touchdowns in the last quarter to tie Northwestern, 20-20.

Southern California gave an exhibition to New York and trounced Army, 28-6, in rain and mud. Stanford halted Washington State, 21-13.

In the Southwest Conference, where they're in their annual merry muddle for the Cotton Bowl spot, TCU is the team to beat this week. From Texas, to SMU to Baylor to TCU. Sounds like a triple play, but that's about how the favorites have come and gone.

Welterweight Fight

DETROIT, Nov. 5. (AP) — The winner of the Kid Gavilan-Tony Janiro welterweight fight here Wednesday will get a chance at Britain's Randy Turpin, Matchmaker Al Weill said today.

Both Sides Of Controversy Over Amendment Are Explained

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—The pros and cons of increasing state spending on public welfare have caused more fuss than any other issue of the Nov. 13 election in Texas.

Five proposed amendments to the State constitution will be at issue in the State-wide election.

The one that would increase the State's present $35 million ceiling on public welfare spending to $42 million is the only one around which definite battle lines are drawn.

The State gives its public welfare money to three groups of people — the needy aged, needy blind and needy dependent children. Most of the money goes to the needy aged for what are popularly known as "old age pensions."

In September Gov. Allan Shivers indicated he would summon a special session of the Legislature if the voters approve raising the public welfare spending.

The Legislature would have to decide where to get the added money and then appropriate it.

GROUPS CAMPAIGN

Three major groups have campaigned against the amendment. A group of citizens organized "The Committee to Keep Texas Pension Funds for Texas Citizens" to conduct an organized opposition by letters, pamphlets and speeches. Jim Cantrell of Princeton, Collins County, a former county judge, is its chairman.

The committee maintains that the proposed amendment would abolish citizenship and residential requirements and allow so many more persons on the assistance rolls that the individuals would actually receive less money.

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce has waged an announced fight against the amendment for similar reasons.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, also opposing the amendment, says the removal of the citizenship clause gives the green light to all aliens over 65 in this state.

"If you vote against the amendment, everything remains as it now stands," the WTCC said in a Legislative bulletin.

"It is natural to assume that a special session of the Legislature will have to be called, and taxes will have to be raised to meet the needs of this program as outlined above."

AMENDMENT'S BACKERS

Major backers of the amendment have been principally its supporters who got it through the Legislature this past spring — Reps. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth and Lamar Zively of Temple.

Its supporters say that the amendment offers an opportunity to improve the State welfare program by increasing the maximum that may be spent.

With the increased cost of living, they say, present allotments are too low to provide the bare necessities.

They add: "The amendment provides that persons who dispose of property to become eligible for assistance will remain ineligible until proceeds of such sales have been lived up. Only recently has the Federal Social Security Act been extended to include agricultural workers and many others in Texas, making welfare assistance a necessity. Residence requirements remain the same."

The section dealing with citizenship and residence requirements of needy aged persons — about which there has been the most controversy — says: The Legislature shall have the power to provide assistance for: "(1) Needy aged persons who are over the age of sixty (65) years, provided that no such assistance shall be paid to any inmate of any State-supported institution, while such inmate; and provided that any resident of the State, if otherwise eligible, may not be excluded who has resided in the State for five (5) years during the nine (9) years immediately preceding the filing of the application for such assistance including the one (1) year continuously, immediately preceding the filing of such application; provided that the maximum payment per month from State funds shall not be more than thirty dollars ($30) per month."

Tough Domestic Foes Follow Bevan's Attack on Churchill

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Early newspaper and radio reports spoke of Winston Churchill's "victory" and of the British Conservatives being "swept into power." Sober analysis does not warrant these phases. As the returns now stand the Conservatives will have the majority previously possessed by Labor—a bare 18 seats. And this may be cut by one when Barnsley renders its decision. Death of a candidate there caused postponement of the election until Thursday.

The election registered not only who will govern Britain—the majority of seats in Commons—but the popular response of the country, and the popular vote shows the division to be even closer. In the last elections, with a lighter turnout, Labor garnered 46.17 per cent of the popular vote and the Conservatives 43.35 per cent. In this election the Conservatives garnered 48.03 per cent, but Labor toped them by 48.74 per cent.

The Liberal vote was radically cut, presumably to the benefit of the Conservatives. The Communist party, which put 100 candidates into the 1950 elections, offered only 10 in this one, and threw their votes to Labor. "Precisely," according to Communist leader Harry Pollitt, "because we believe a Tory victory would be a disaster."

• • •

British public opinion polls, like the American in 1948, fell far short of the mark.

The London Economist, assessing these polls on Oct. 13, and even writing down the envisioned Conservative majority, contemplated a majority of 116 Conservative seats over Labor.

We therefore see the continuation of an almost exactly divided country and a party in power with a marginal working majority. The new British government thus inherits a critical domestic and foreign situation without the confidence of more than half the Brisish people.

• • •

The British economy is in a tailspin. The whole sterling area shows a deficit and a relapse from the high point of a favorable trade balance and comfortable reserves to which the first Labor government plus Marshall aid brought it. Britain's essential imports are not covered by exports. The pound is being sold short everywhere outside Britain. And the British budget is burdened with a bill for rearmament amounting to $4,300,000,000 per year.

• • •

To produce these armaments and meet civilian demands Britain must purchase raw materials on a world market greatly inflated by America's own gigantic arms program. Armaments are products that can be consumed only by war. They do not come into the market, and in a country which must import to live and export to pay for its daily bread they are a dead load leading to consumer shortages and high prices.

Conservatives argue that by freeing and rewarding incentives and rationalizing production, Britain can improve the standard of living and meet both consumer necessities and the defense burden. This is possible theoretically but it is obviously impossible without the cooperation of Labor. The elections prove that British Labor still votes Labor, and votes Labor when the party, under the impetus of Aneurin Bevan, has moved radically left. Voting Labor means unwillingness to sacrifice any gain or make any radical readjustments of working habits.

Taxation in Britain, as in this country, can no longer be put chiefly on the shoulders of the middle and upper classes. That cow has been milked dry. Indeed, if the capital structure of the country is to be improved and incentives rewarded, skilled workers and managerial talents must be more reasonably compensated; workers must work harder and more efficiently and pay a larger proportion of the costs of their own social services.

But, on the basis of this vote, one is compelled to doubt willing cooperation. Trade Union Socialism establishes the real "dictatorship of the proletariat." Communism (in the name of the proletariat) disestablishes it and installs a state employer more ruthlessly disciplinarian than any private employer can be. Thus, if private enterprise fails to persuade the workers to produce, Communism will—not with carrots but with knouts.

• • •

If the Conservative program engenders resistance or revolt, the new government will fail. And during its entire lifetime it will have a powerful and formidable opposition, not like a gentle Socialist like Attlee, but by tough ones, like Bevan, training heavy artillery, not only on domestic but on foreign policy.

Truman's Speech On Wednesday Might Be More Than Coincident

MOSCOW, Nov. 5. (AP)—Foreign observers wondered today if it is by coincidence that President Truman is slated to make a foreign policy speech Nov. 7 — the day Russia celebrates the 34th anniversary of the red revolution.

Ordinarily some high Soviet official makes a major speech in Moscow Nov. 6 — eve of the anniversary — and it usually includes references to foreign affairs.

President Truman's Wednesday night address might be timed to answer one from Moscow.

Lubbock Pilot Gets Credit For 2 Migs

TOKYO, Nov. 6. (AP) — Maj. George Davis, Jr., of Lubbock, Tex., was credited with two Russian-made Migs "probably destroyed" in an aerial fight Sunday with jet fighters.

Davis is a jet fighter pilot.

Woman Murders Her Own Four Children With Butcher Knife

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 5. (AP)—"I don't want to raise my kids because I know they would be like me."

Police quoted Mrs. Hilda S. Kanzie, 35 as saying that was why she cut the throats of her four children early Sunday with a butcher knife.

The four, Annette, 9, Joseph, 8, dead in their beds when officers arrived.

Joseph M. Kanzie 51, the father, said his wife was released from the State Mental Hospital 18 months ago had been acting normal since.

He told officers he was awakened by his wifes shriek of: "Murder! I've murdered my kids."

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Weber and daughter, Shirley Ann, 3790 Dalton Drive, visited over the week end with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Weber, Jr., of San Angelo. The occasion was the celebration of the first birthday of Mr. and Mrs. Weber's granddaughter.

Crew of 45 Is Installing New Phone Wires

Forty craftsmen and five supervisors, all working under the direction of the chief supervisor, D. A. Prather, for the Western Electric Co. are moving about almost silently in the new telephone building while stringing wire and cable for the new dial system.

"We're on schedule, and the work is progressing smoothly," Prather said, adding that there was more work than most people realize in the installation of the equipment which weighs a total of about 40 tons.

Two pictures on this page show but a tiny part of the equipment compactly built into the tool terminal phase of the system, which occupies the entire west half of the ground floor in the 62 by 92-foot building.

Girl Flown Across Pacific For Operation

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5. (AP)—An 11-month-old Filipina — with pins in her stomach and lung — was in St. Francis Hospital today while specialists decided whether to operate on her here or in Chicago.

The child, Elvira Diuntuman, was flown from the Philippines. No bronchoscope in Manila was small enough for the operation.

Elvira, daughter of a $2 a week Manila laborer, swallowed nine pins but got rid of seven.

Seven Persons Killed In New Mexico Wreck

DEMING, N. M., Nov. 5. (AP) — Seven persons were killed and four injured near here Sunday in New Mexico's worst automobile crash.

East and west-bound cars collided head-on about 32 miles west of here on Highway 80.

Killed in the west-bound car were: Bob Blankenstein, 36, La Mesa, Calif.; Mrs. Blankenstein, 30; their son, Ray, 5, and Mrs. Dora Podsednik, 30, also of La Mesa.

Killed in the east-bound car were: Virgil T. Brown, 25; Donna Brown, 2, and Homer Brown, Jr., 1. All were from Clovis, N. M.

Critically injured were Homer Brown 23, driver of the east-bound car, and Laura Brown, 16. Also injured were Francis Brown, 14, and Mrs. Podsednik's son, Raymond, 8.

Housewives To Pass Hearing

MARSHALL, Nov. 5. (AP)—Ten Marshall wives protesting the collection of social security taxes from household servants want their protest aired at a public hearing.

The ten stood fast Sunday on their decision not to attend individual tax delinquency hearings Wednesday in Dallas with Treasury Department officials.

"We feel the public should have more information concerning the iron curtain with which the Internal Revenue Department has surrounded itself," the women said in a statement.

Ellis Campbell Jr., tax official, in Dallas, wrote the women that a public hearing could not be granted "because the Congress has made no provision for public hearings in the internal revenue service concerning specific tax cases."

Recently the internal revenue service took small amounts from some of the women's bank accounts. The wives said they were waiting for word from Washington on their request for a refund "of money confiscated from our accounts without due process of law."

Watches Helplessly While Father Drowns

LONG BEACH, Calif., Nov. 5. (AP)—"I'm too tired — goodbye," whispered Wilbur Cooper, 44.

Then he released his grip on his overturned skiff and slid into the depths of the Pacific.

His son Irving, 20, and a friend, Robert Oxenfeld, 20, also clinging to the boat watched helplessly.

A short time later, a passing cabin cruiser spotted the two young men and pulled them aboard, two hours after their boat upset offshore.

Communist Propose An All-German Election

BERLIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—East Germany's Communist government has made a new proposal for all-German elections — to have them supervised by the four occupation powers.

The West German government wants such elections under United Nations supervision.

The red offer to have the elections checked by Russia, the United States, Britain and France came in a letter from East German President Wilhelm Pieck to West German President Theodore Heuss.

Record Indicates FBI Reports On State Department Buried

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What happens to information on loyalty which is communicated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation — the FBI — to the Department of State?

This question is raised because of the statement just made by Chairman Conrad E. Snow of the Loyalty Review Board of the Department of State, who says publicly that Alger Hiss would not have been kept in government employ one day after his acts were discovered.

The same State Department spokesman on loyalty matters says that both Alger Hiss and Judith Coplon "worked in absolute secrecy — their best friends were ignorant of their acts."

But the FBI wasn't ignorant of those acts. It promptly prosecuted Judith Coplon, and it also laid before the Department of State certain information about Alger Hiss which the department officials chose to disregard.

But how high up in the department did the FBI reports ever get? It is plain from a reading of the book by the late Edward R. Stettinius, undersecretary of state and later secretary of state, that he evidently did not know what the FBI reported. In his book dealing with the Yalta Conference — published in November, 1949, by Doubleday & Co. — Mr. Stettinius pays tribute to the work of Alger Hiss and says:

"I never heard of any questioning of Mr. Hiss's loyalty from anyone inside or outside of the State Department or from the FBI during my term of service in the department."

Mr. Stettinius became undersecretary in September, 1943, and secretary of state in November, 1944. He resigned in June, 1945. That's a long period of time during which FBI information apparently never got to the secretary of state.

It is known that in 1939 Whittaker Chambers, confessed Russian spy, went to Adolph Berle, assistant secretary of state, and told him about the work that Hiss had done in our government as a Russian agent.

It is known that in the latter part of 1941 and early 1942, the FBI obtained the notes of Mr. Berle and gave the Department of State whatever information it had about Alger Hiss.

It is known that in March, 1945, just after the Yalta Conference — and before the United Nations conference at San Francisco, in which Alger Hiss played an official part — the FBI transmitted to the Department of State a comprehensive report about Alger Hiss that created quite a stir among some officials in the department.

Now Chairman Snow, in his public statement, says that the chief damage done by the Alger Hiss case was in undermining the confidence of the public in the Department of State, and he places as secondary the harm that Hiss did in the delivery of classified papers.

Evidently Chairman Snow has not given weight to the opportunities which Alger Hiss had to communicate directly or indirectly to the Russians what he knew of American policies and plans. For Mr. Stettinius reveals in his book that he "reviewed" with Hiss and only two other advisers certain questions for purposes of presentation to President Roosevelt at Yalta. Critics claim that America was "sold down the river" at the Yalta Conference. Chairman Snow points with pride to the record that since December, 1947 "not one case has been found of a present Communist working in the State Department," and asks: "What, then, is all the shouting about?"

Yet in his own public statement Chairman Snow says that between December, 1947, and today, eight employes have been found to be "security risks" and "about 40 other employes have elected to resign during the process of investigation and adjudication of loyalty." He adds frankly:

"What might have been found in their cases, had they gone to hearing, of course, I do not know."

The FBI furnished a file on every one of those cases. When the chairman of the loyalty board in the State Department eliminates 40 loyalty cases because they didn't go to a "hearing," does that mean the background of each of those 40 cases was unimportant?

There is another pertinent fact on which the fullest candor is essential. How much pressure, if any, was put on the 40 loyalty cases to "resign"?

TEXAS BRANDS

2E HIM HER

BY JOHN M. HENDRIX

The town of Palo Pinto, county seat of Palo Pinto County, bears almost as unique a distinction in the development of West Texas and its cattle industry as does Victoria in South Texas. For one hundred years it has been cow country and was the jumping off place for some of the major cattlemen of West Texas as they pushed their holdings and herds further into the state to make these too cattle country.

It was from Palo Pinto County that C. L. Carter, who held the office of first president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, came. These early citizens had not only the business of developing cattle at hand, but had to defend themselves against hostile Indians while doing so. There are many records of its scattered citizenship "forting up" for defense against Indians in the earlier days in Palo Pinto town. It was from Palo Pinto County that veterans like the Slaughters, Cowdens, Jowells, Atkinsons, Bill Curtis, and many other names and herds were to become famous throughout West Texas and the United States had their origin.

There has been registered in the county since its organization a total of 5,290 brands. Unfortunately there is no record of the first and second brands to be recorded in the county, but the first brand of record was the 2E registered by M. E. Harris on July 4, 1857. HIM was recorded by E. A. Hunter May 11, 1877, and HER was the next brand recorded by James Cunningham in June, 1877.

Down through the years the brands indicate, as was the case that cattle were being turned loose on the ranges and that it would require hard work and easy reading brands if they were ever to be recovered for their rightful owners. Some used their entire name, others the home state from which they had emigrated, and others highly expressive brands selected from some occurrence in the new country. These brands were to represent the ambitions, successes, and failures ever characterizing this form of pastoral. There are few, if any, old timers in Palo Pinto County who could give accurate information as to these brands, their origin, and final disposition. They are, however, highly expressive of the day and time in which they were current.

'Animalizer' Puts Out Book

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—"I am a loafer," says Alan Devoe, who writes 50 to 60 thousand words a month.

What he means is, that he does the laziest-looking kind of research:

"I just stretch out on my stomach in the fields or the woods. I've spent thousands and thousand and thousands of hours 'working' that way."

He's a naturalist. Since he's leery of a word that includes both Thoreau and Kinsey, he thinks of himself as an "animalizer." He has had "absolutely no scientific education" but is "intensely responsive to the excitement of animal life." So he's done a book, "This Fascinating Animal World," published this week.

His material comes from years of observation of birds and beasts on his New York Farm. He calls his 160 acres Phudd Hill, which was the title of an earlier book of his.

This book answers about a thousand and one questions: Are snakes slimy? Do all animals drink? Do all fish lay eggs? Can salamanders live in fire? Do all birds build nests? Do hippopotamuses sweat blood? Can porcupines throw their quills? Do insects have red blood? Do snakes sometimes sting with their tails?

Mrs. J. M. "Speedy" Moffett has learned through experience how to stay happy through winning or losing football seasons. She and her husband, head coach of the Tiger team, are rearing three young football enthusiasts shown above with her. Mary Ann is the "pep squad" for brothers, Mike and Stevie, the baby, who naturally choose footballs as favorite toys.—(Lee Watson photograph).

TALK OF THE TOWN

SUE HOLMES

Does football season mean you are left at home while the husband follows the progress of Snyder's pigskin toters?

If you are a wife whose interests don't run to football or whose small children restrict you to home base, you have something in common in a mild form, with four wives in Snyder who hear "football" the year round.

These four, the wives of the coaches, tag themselves "football widows," and each has her pet peeve about her husband's occupation.

Mrs. SPEEDY MOFFETT, soft-spoken wife of the head coach, has been consoling and cheering her husband 11 years. Mike, the Moffett's nine year-old son, has been mascot of the Tigers since his father began coaching here three years ago. Seven - year-old Mary Ann has her own medium sized football and Stevie, nearly two, place kicks and passes his tiny football in mimicking his big brother.

"Coaching is death on pockets, Mrs. Moffett says, telling of her husband's nervous habit of jabbing his hands deep into his pockets during tense moments of a game. She used to attend every game her husband's team played, but since the children need early bedtimes, she has to skip out-of-town games.

"He calls me after each out-of-town game, though," she says. People are generally very understanding about the team's losses, she believes. Once she did hear a spectator, not knowing she was the coach's wife, say, "Ah, I don't see anything so speedy about that man."

Lasting friendships are one of the chief compensations for the erratic home life of a coach's family, Mrs. Moffett says. They are planning to attend the Cotton Bowl game New Year's Day with a man Moffett coached in Greenville 10 years ago. And she takes a personal interest in each boy her husband talks about, whether or not she ever gets to meet him.

Is she merely making the best of her life, or does she sincerely like football? She answers that by pointing to a recent magazine article concerning organized football. In it the author says boys who play under a coach are better off than those who play sand lot ball, because their excess energy is worked off under supervision, and their training assures them correct diets and proper rest. Those, Mrs. Moffett says, are her sentiments, and if her sons choose to play ball when they are older, she'll be all for it.

• • •

Just down the street from the Moffetts lives Mrs. HORACE BOSTICK, who is somewhat of a newcomer to the ranks of the "football widows." She met and married her husband, who is junior high coach here, when they were both teaching in Rotan schools. She's not so enthusiastic about her husband's profession yet, and rather hopes Clark, their nine-months-old son, will lean toward playing in the band rather than on a team.

Her husband scouts out-of-town games and the baby is too young to make the trips, so she must stay at home. She says she always regrets the complaints she voices about the coaching business, and under Mrs. Moffett's sisterly interest she's learning gradually to feel a part of the crowd.

• • •

Mrs. HAL BATTLE, a former airline stewardess, knew just what the life of a coach's wife would be and was a little more prepared for the long hours her husband spends with the "B" team.

She and her husband were childhood sweethearts in Big Spring and they were married during the time he played on the Sul Ross State College team at Alpine, Tex.

Her pet peeves are the Sunday afternoon sessions the coaches are required to hold, since that cancels week-end trips and visitors. Whereas coach Moffett is hard on pockets, Mrs. Battle's husband "takes out his emotions on hats."

"Of course Bob will play football if he wants to, but I hope he prefers baseball where there isn't so much physical contact," she says. She and son Bob, who's nearly three years old, accompany the coach on scouting trips out-of-town.

• • •

"I like sports myself and that helped," Mrs. ERNEST KINNEY, wife of the Tiger backfield coach, says. Her husband is also head basketball coach at the high school and that was the sport she favored in her school days.

"He wouldn't be happy in any other profession, so we make the best of things—but I do complain about the long coffee sessions where they rehash the games" she says, telling of driving to Monahans by herself in order to see the Snyder team play. Their daughter, Diane, is seven, and Ronnie, the four-year-old, has already shown interest in playing football.

Looking over the new changes in excise taxes which went into effect Thursday, we at first suspected some enthusastic fishermen in Congress. Taxes went up on most sporting goods EXCEPT on fishing equipment where the rate remains at 10 per cent. And the 15 per cent tax on fishing boat trips has been eliminated completely. But on second thought, perhaps soaring beef and pork prices are making fishing a means of livelihood rather than a source of pure entertainment.

Several informal affairs are planned for Pvt. ALLAN C. ROLLINS who is home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. ROLLINS. He leaves Nov. 15 for Seattle, Wash. He's been stationed for the last seven months at the Red River Arsenal at Texarkana.

ASK MILDRED

Please send your questions to Mildred Sparks, County Home Demonstration Agent, Courthouse, or to the Daily News.

I am a widow and I am wondering if I should continue to use my husband's name or initials? Mrs. J. L. S.

I got this information from Emily Post's book "Etiquette", The Blue Book of Social Usages. I quote, "A man gives his name to his wife for life—or until she herself through remarriage relinquishes it. A widow, therefore, should always continue to use her husband's Christian names. She is Mrs. John Hunter Titherington-Smith (or, Mrs. J. H. Titherington Smith, but never Mrs. Sarah Smith, if she cares at all about good taste. In business and in legal matters it is often impossible to avoid addressing a woman by her own Christian name, because she uses it in her signature. But one should never address a personal or social letter "Mrs. Sarah Smith," unless this is what she prefers to call herself. In best taste a woman who has earned a professional title uses her title or professional name in public, and in private life uses the name of her husband."

Our living room is rather small and we have it full of furniture but we want to add a radio console and book cases. Could you give me some suggestions as to the best use of space for this sort of addition? Mrs. V. S.

A pleasing arrangement might be the open type shelves and cabinets built to the side and above your radio. Shelves could be made adjustable to accommodate different height books etc. As a space saver book shelves should be only wide enough to accommodate the books. Preferably all book shelves should be within easy reach. If you choose open book shelves you will want to remember that books need proper care and that may call for frequent dusting out here in West Texas.

• • •

I want to make little individual cakes for my daughter's birthday dinner, for the dessert course. Would you suggest a way to fix them? J.S.

Using your favorite recipe. Pour batter into greased cup cake pans filling them 2-3 full. When done, cool and cover with seven minute frosting and sprinkle thickly with shredded coconut. Arrange on a large platter and insert candle holder with a tiny candle in each cake. Light candles just before serving.

• • •

There is a rather large blood stain on the upholstery of my divan. How can it be removed? V.M.

According to United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1474 Stain Removal, the following is suggested: Use a starch paste to remove blood stains on thick material which cannot be soaked in water. Mix raw starch to a paste with cold water, apply the paste thickly to the stain, and brush it away when it dries. Repeat the treatment until the stain disappears.

• • •

Who is the Cuban Ambassador to the United States? B. T.

Dr. Luis Machado.

• • •

Was Snyder named for a man or how did it get its name?

According to the Texas Almanac the town was named for Pete Snyder, who built the first store, operating a trading post for buffalo hunters as early as 1872.

Ignorance of Driving Rules Is Widespread, Patrolmen Say

A large percentage of automobile accidents are caused by drivers who forget the right of way rules, highway patrolmen here say.

This is the way it is because the average driver does not know most of the few simple rules of right of way and many drivers who are familiar with the rules would rather bluff the courteous drivers than to abide by the rules.

IGNORANT OF RULES

Bill Davis, drivers license examiner here, believes many drivers study the rules religiously in order to pass the written and driving tests then forget most of them.

Green agrees: "If you questioned drivers at random about right of way rules, 50 per cent of the ones who had driver's licenses would probably know half the rules," Green said. About 15 per cent of the persons who regularly drive motor vehicles do not even have licenses, according to figures [illegible]

One of the most commonly violated rules is known as the "first car" rule, the patrolman said. "This is so called because the first car entering an intersection has right of way over those entering later, provided the driver of the first car has entered the intersection properly and made any signals necessary."

For instance, if a driver enters an intersection properly, signaling for a left turn, a car approaching from the opposite direction but not yet inside the crossing is supposed to yield right of way to the first vehicle. "Most drivers don't know this," Green said. "Many of them have the erroneous idea that the driver planning to continue straight ahead just naturally has right of way over any and all cars attempting to turn."

On the other hand, a car continuing straight ahead does have right of way over a turning car, provided they both enter the intersection at about the same moment.

"SAME TIME" RULE

When two cars approach an intersection, each traveling perpendicular to the other, the "first car" rule applies unless both enter at about the same time. If both enter at the same time, the vehicle on the left should stop for the one on the right. This is called the "same time" rule, he said.

"First car" and "same time" rules only apply at intersections where there are no stop signs or lights to control the traffic involved.

Green said he recently stopped a driver who disregarded a stop sign. "Do I have to stop even when no cars are coming?" he asked the patrolman. Green said he then asked the man whether he stopped at all stop signs while taking his driver's test. "Yes, sir," he answered, "but I thought that was just for the test."

Davis said that one day this week, 91 per cent of applicants failed their written tests. "It appears that they just don't study the driver's handbooks," he said. "Everything they need to know in order to pass the written test is clearly set out in the book, and the books are given free to all who want them."
