On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr.

Wet weather continues to plague farmers who are trying to gather one of the biggest cotton crops we have had here for some time.

Football fever has just about got to epidemic proportions in and around Loraine since the Bulldogs are doing so well this year. It's a good thing for the school and community spirit for everyone to get enthusiastic about sports or anything else.

It is only a short time until Christmas. It is time Loraine is making some preparations for a Christmas program of some kind. One of our fallings here is to postpone doing something of this nature until the last minute and we do not get the full benefit of any program we may put on.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Haltom of Abilene hosted a dinner Thursday night complimenting her mother, Mrs. Howard Combs on her birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Combs visited in the Haltom home that night.

4-H'ers to Parade Again During Chicago Congress

The 4-H parade pictured above is one of the exciting demonstrations that will be repeated in the amphitheater of the International Livestock Exposition during the 37th National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Thanksgiving weekend will usher in 1,300 champion 4-H Club members, several hundred state and national 4-H officials and many friends of 4-H who help to make the annual Congress possible. They arrive by train and plane from every state in the nation, and will be joined by delegates from Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Canada and other foreign countries as well.

The Congress opens officially on Sunday morning Nov. 30, at the Conrad Hilton hotel and closes with a banquet for about 2,000 on Thursday night Dec. 4, when more than 200 national 4-H champions will be saluted.

This unique delegation of 1958 national, sectional, and state 4-H winners represent the best of 2,200,000 Club members. By diligent and successful application of 4-H principals and techniques to project work these ambitious boys and girls have climaxed their 4-H career by attaining state honors. They have participated in one or more of some 50 different 4-H award programs conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Among the wide range of projects and activities carried on in nearly 51,000 clubs are field crops, clothing, poultry, achievement, entomology, health, safety, leadership, foods, soil and water conservation, swine, and tractor. To be eligible for a state or national award, the 4-H'er must be over 14 years, and must have completed three years of club work.

Awards include $400 college scholarships and all-expense trips to the National Club Congress. They are provided each year by half a hundred business firms, educational foundations and private citizens. Some of these 4-H benefactors are: Ford Motor Co., International Harvester Co., Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp., Coats and Clark, Inc., Oliver Corporation, Garrettsville Company, Simplicity Pattern Co., Westinghouse Educational Foundation, Hercules Powder Co., Aradrian Products Department of Allied Chemical Corporation, Betty Crocker of General Mills, Winkipol Corporation, Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., Montgomery Ward, E. I. Lilly and Company, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Edward Foss Wilson, General Motors, Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, and Moorman Manufacturing Company.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he knied himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

Questions and Answers
Q. Does the VA accept GI insurance premiums in advance? I have some extra money, and if I could pay up my insurance for a year, it would save me a lot of trouble.

A. You certainly may pay GI insurance premiums in advance. You not only save the trouble of making payments each month, but you also save money. Premiums are discounted when paid yearly, semi-annually or quarterly.

Q. I am taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. Is there any limit on my training wages?

A. There is no limit on how much you may earn. However, when your earnings plus your GI allowance exceed $310 a month, VA is obliged to scale down your training allowance to bring the total within the $310 "ceiling."

Q. I understand there was a recent change in the law which extended the date for a World War 2 veteran to get a GI loan. How much time do I have now?

A. You now have until July 25, 1960, to apply for a GI loan. The law allows up to a year after that date to complete the deal.

Q. My son is eligible for college training under the War Orphans Education program. Would he be permitted to attend school in Canada, under the program?

A. No. Generally, War Orphans schooling in educational institutions outside the United States is prohibited by law.

There is no guessing when you read it in the paper. If you fail to get the meaning the first time, you can read it again.

PEP SQUAD NEWS

By Peggy Belvin

The Loraine Bulldogs suffered a defeat Friday night when Eldorado walked off with our first conference defeat. The score was close, however, and I think most spectators will agree that the Bulldogs played one of their best games of the season.

The pep squad are still trying to earn enough money for the Bulldog banquet. About $50 is still needed and we are working hard to meet the deadline. Help from the townspeople would be very much appreciated at this time. If all our football programs are sold and more people will have their names put on the cover of the programs we think we can meet the deadline. The pep squad would like to emphasize their appreciation to Miss Gladys Phillips this week. Miss Phillips is the real backbone of the Loraine pep squad. She shoulders the work and worry that always accompanies an organization such as ours. She is patient and each and every member is very fond of her. We sincerely believe we could have no better sponsor than Miss Phillips and we would like to express our heartfelt thanks to her for her time, energy, and heart warming kindness.

FUTURE FARMER NEWS

Approximately 40 percent of all Texans derive their livelihood from agriculture. About 11 percent of the state's population live on farms or ranches and do the actual producing; another 11 percent are engaged in supplying the producers with materials and 18 percent process and distribute the agricultural products.

Now is the time to treat your trees for peach borers. Trees infected should be treated between October 20 and November 15. The recommended treatment for the borers is paradichlorobenzene crystals (PPB) when the soil is dry. Remove weeds and loosen and level soil about one foot from the tree trunk. Place PPB crystals in a circular band about two inches from the trunk. Clean soil should be placed over the crystals. Avoid contacting the crystals and the tree since it is harmful and will cause injury to the tree. Treatment should include one-half ounce of crystals for two and three year-old trees, three fourths of an ounce for mature trees.
Ethylene dichloride emulsion will also give good results.

Some men die too soon from over eating, others die from strong drink, while still others just wither up and die because they have nothing else to do.
